Having seen and consider d this Alphabetical Dictionary of the Greek and Latin Antiquities, we cannot but approve of the same, and recommend it to all those who desire perfectly to understand the Classic Authors, and the Ancient Historians.

August 1. 1700.

Matt. Shortyng, D. D.

Master of Merchant-Taylors-School, London.

Rob. Uvedale, L. L. D.

Tho. Walker, L. L. D. Master of the Charter-House-School, London.

Sam. Mountfort, A. M. Master of the Grammar-School, in Christ-Hospital, Lond.

DICTIONARY

Greek and Roman Antiquities;

Explaining the Obscure PLACES in Classic Authors, and Ancient Historians,

Relating to the

Religion, Mythology, Hiftory, Geography and Chronology

Ancient GREEKS and ROMANS;

Their SACRED and PROPHANE

Rites and Customs; Laws, Polity,

Arts and Engines of WAR:

Also an Account of Their

Navigations, Arts and Sciences,

The INVENTOR'S of them;

Lives and Opinions of their Philosophers.

Compiled Originally in FRENCH, at the Command of the French KING, for the Use of the DAUPHIN, the Dukes of BURGUNDY, ANJOU and BERRY: By Monsteur DANET.

Made ENGL'ISH, with the Addition of very Ufeful MAPPS.

Printed for John Mithotfon, at the King's Arms, in Little-Britain; The Rembersough, at the Golden-Bal, in St. Paul's Church yard; and John Wolflood; And Sold by M. Harker, under the Ryal-Exchange; and B. Goods, at the Fareple-Care, in Heer-fires: MD CC.

DES DIG 7 тнв

PREFACE.

HE Greek and Roman Antiquities lying dispersed in somany large and chargeable Volumes, are almost lost to those who have not either Money to procure, or Leisure to peruse them; and the few Compendium's which have been made, being either very imperselt, or so immethodical, that it required a great deal of Time to be tolerably informed concerning any particular Antiquity: Our Author thought it very nucessary to digeit that sort of Learning Alphabetically, that by that means it might be more readily consulted, and the Authors in both Languages better understood.

His Delign is very extensive, and comprehends both the Ancient Greek and Roman Religion, Mythology, History, Chronology and Geography; Sacred and Prophane Rites and Customs; their Laws, the Opinions of their most famous Philosophers; their Polity, Architecture, Art of War, Warlike Engines and Navigation; the Lives of Men Illustrious for Arms and Arts, &c. All which, with vast Industry and Judgment, he has collected from the Ancients themselves, and the best of the Moderns, well attested Medals, Inscriptions, Statues, Relievo's and Bassio-Relievo's.

The Necessity of a Work of this Nature will be very evident to those whoplease to consider a few Instances, of a great many which might be produced.

Every Scholar knows that Volumen is derived from volvo, to roll up, andthat Volumen it self signifies a Book; but, perhaps, does not know, that before the Use of Paper, Men whole on the Skins of Beasts, or Bark of Treeslengthwise, which they rolled up as sast as they similified their Lines; whence evolvere Librum signified, to read a Book, because the Manuscript being rolledup, it was impossible to read it without unrolling it.

Likewife how could that Expression of Horace, ad Umbilicum ducere. Opus, be understood to sinish a Work, if we did not know that the Romans used to roll up these Skins or Bark when written upon, and join them together at both Ends with Two Bosses of Horn or Ivory, each like a Navel, which occasion'd that of Status?

Binis umbilicis decoratus Liber.

The PREFACE.

Alfo another of the fame Author ;

Multaque pars mei, Vitabit Libitinam.

is very much illucidated, when we know that Libitina was the Goddess which presided over Funerals.

Who again can well apprehend that other of Horace, Sat. 1x. Lib. 1.

Divina mota anus Urna.

without being informed, that in this place Horace speaks of Divination, by the Urn and Lots, which was performed by throwing several Letters and entire Words into the Urn, which being well mixed, what Chance produced by the Ranging of the Balots, composed the Divination and Answer?

Cicero calls the Letter A, litera salutaris, because the Judges used it in publick Sentences, causing it to be inscribed on the Balots, which they thren into the Urn, to express their Absolving the Person accused, for the single Letter A signify'd Absolvo.

Thus it appears, of what Importance it is to be acquainted with the Mythology and Antiquities of the Greeks and Romans, confidering there are innumerable Difficulties which cannot be conquered, and Beauties which may be passed over and lost, without a competent Knowledge of them.

Our Author baving gain'd a sufficient Reputation by his former Dictionary, and being by the Illustrious Duke of Montausier, Governour to the Dauphin, thought very capable of Compiting this Work, for the Use of his Royal Pupil, and his Sons the Dukes of Burgundy, Anjou and Berry: The Translator had rather leave his Performance to the Judgment of the Learned, than anticipate the Reader by saying any thing in its Praise. He cou'd have wish'd he had found the Original illustrict with those Mapps, which were absolutely necessary to be added, and has only this to say, that Care has been taken to have them performed after the best Originals, and improv'd by the best Information that cou'd be procur'd.

The TRANSLATOR is sensible, that some Faults have escaped Correction, but since they are merely Typographical, 'tis hoped, they won't injure the Sense of the AUTHOR.

DICTIONARY

Greek and Roman ANTIQUITIES.

Alphabet in all Languages. The Hebrews call it Aleoh, and the Greeks Alpha, but our Nation as the Latins, call it fimply A. Of all the Vowels it is the most open and simple, and that which is most easily pronounced, being the first articulate Sound which Nature puts forth at the crying or fmiling of Infants. It is often used to express the Passions of our Mind, as in case of Admiration, loy or Grief, and to render the Expression more vehement, we sometimes prefix or subjoin the Letter b to it, and fav be or ab. When this Letter makes a whole Syllable the Children call it A by it felf A.

The Antients diftinguished exactly in their

Pronunciation when this Syllable or Letter A was long, and in their Writing they did often repeat this Vowel, to fignifie that it was a long Syllable; which Usage, as Quintilian testifies. continued till the time of Attins: fometimes they inferted the Letter & between the double a, to render the Pronunciation more vehement. as in Abala for Als, or Asla, and fometimes by firiting out the first s, they made it Mala : But afterwards, for shortness sake, they only drew a fmall Line at the top of the Vowel, to shew that it was long, thus a.

This Letter A does often fignifie an intire Word in the ancient Marbles, A. Aulus, A. Augustus, A. Ager, A. Aiunt, &c. When it is doubled it denotes Augusti: and when it is tripled it fignifies Aure, Argento, Ere. When it occurs after the word Miles, it denotes that he was Toung, as Ifidore affirms.

This Letter A was also used by the Ancients as a numeral Letter which fignified 500, as may be feen in Valerius Probus. There are fome fometimes Privation, and comes from are

Is the first Letter of the I which describe the Letters signifying Numbers. whereof this is the first.

Poffidet A numeros quingentos ordine rello. When a streight Line was drawn above the A. it fignified 5000.

In the Tryal of Criminal Caufes at Rome, an Adrawh upon the Balots which were given to the Judges, and thrown into an Urn, fignified the whole Word Ablelve, or, I ablelve the Person accused; whence Cicero calls A a faving Letter. Litera falutaris, because it was the fign of difmiffing the Accused with Absolution. This we learn from Asconius Pedianus in his Commentary upon Cicero's Orations. The Judges (fays that learned Interpreter) cast one Balot into the Urn, upon which was engraven or drawn the Letter A, to fignifie, I absolve the Person accused; another upon which was the Letter C, to denote Condemno; and a third marked with the Letters N and L, Non Liquet, to order. That the Matter flould be further enquired into; for the Judges hereby testified that the Cause was not sufficiently plain, and that they could not decide it while it remain'd fo; which they fometimes expressed, viva voce, by this word Amplius, as we may plainly fee from this Paffage of Cicero, Caufam pro Publicania dixit Calius; Confules, re audità, amplius de Confilit lententis pronunciarunt : Calius pleaded for the Publicans, the Confuls, after they had heard him, by the Advice of the Senate, pronounc'd. Let this Matter be further inquir'd into.

In the Affemblies of the Romans, where the People gave Suffrage upon Scrutiny, by Balots mark'd with the Letter A, it fignified Antique, and Abrege, or I reject the Law proposed, I abre-

ALPHA is likewise the first Letter of the Greek Alphabet, which in Composition denotes ancient Verses related by Baronius and others, without; fometimes Augmentation, from ayer, much; and fometimes Union, from aus, together. It was used for the most past for a L ter of Order to denote the First, and of Number to fignifie One; but when it was a Numeral Letter, a little Stroke or an Acute Accent was drawn above it thus 'A, to distinguish it from the A which was a Letter of Order.

Alpha and Omega in the Divine Writings fignifie the Beginning and the End, and therefore the Hieroglyphic of God is marked with these two Letters, A and Q, as if you fhould fay, that God is the Beginning and End of all things; and fo God himfelf fays in the Revelations, am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End. Thus Virgil having a mind to bestow a singular Encomium upon Augusta, by an Extens of Flattery, tells him.

A te principium, tibi definet.

These three Characters were anciently engraven upon the Tombs of the Ontbillete. to diftinguish them from the Arrism: for the Name of JESUS CHRIST was fignified. as he himself says in the Gospel, by these two Letters, A which is the first of the Greek Alphabet, and & which is the last of it; Bye fum Alpha & Omega, principlum & finis : and from hance he proves that he was truly God as well as his Father, which the Arrion deny'd. They are also to be met with in the Letters Patents of Christian Princes, and on the Collars of Apha mark'd with a fpiritus after, and an acute Access A, is also safed for the Pronouns es and fus, in Homer and others: but with a Spiritus afper and a tircumflen Accent A it fignifies the fame with 842, abi, at may be feen in the Poet Thescritar. Alpha with a Spiritus lenis and a circumflex Accent A, isan Interjection of one who is in some trouble, which moves him to complain or admire; but when it is doubled with a fairtus lenie and a circumflex Acsent, it is an Interjection of one who is in a mighty Consternation, being under some great Affliction ; if it be doubled and mark'd with a firitus lems and a grave Accent A; it is an Interjection of one who is transported with Joy, or she agreeable Surprise of something very plea-

ABAZ, is a Greek Word, from whose Genitive acase, the Latito have formed their Word Abacus, which has many Significations: for it fignifies fometimes an ABC, fometimes a Table of Numbers for catting up Accompts, which was of Brafs, and called by the Ancients The Table of Pythagorae. It fignified also the Figures of Numbers, and the Arithmetical Charafters, which were drawn upon a Table cofeu in Sat. 1. vat. 131.

Net qui Abaco numeros & felle in pulvere metae.

It fignifies also a Capbeard, which the Malians call Credenze, upon which were plac'd in order the Pots, Glaffes, and the Deffert of a Feast, viz, the Salads and Sweet-meats, and on which the Carver cut out the feveral forts of Meat, and ferv'd up some part of them in Plates to each of the Guefts. In Furuvins, and all those who have treated of Architecture, Abucus is nothing elfe but the four-fquar'd Table which makes the Capital at the top of a Column, and which, in the Corinthian Order of work, reprefents that kind of Square Tile which covers a Basket or Pannier when it feems encompass'd with Leaves, but in the Cormbian Compolite, or the Modern Intick Order, which was taken from the Temple of Concord, and other ancient Temples, it was dug and cut inwards.

AB-ADDIR (a Tent of Mythology) is the Name of a Scone which Saturn Swallow'd, according to the Fable, instead of Spiter : for he knowing that the Fates had decreed he should be dethroned by one of his Children, eat them all up to preferve bimfelf from them. till fuch time as Ops his Wife put a trick upon him, and made him swallow this Stone instead of Jupiter whom the had a mind to fave. Prifcian and there in their Gloffes make mention of it, and Papies testifies that this word does sometimes fignifie a God. And indeed, fince that Ab-addir is as much as to fay Pater magnificas.

ABADDIRES is the Name of certain Gods. St. Aufilm, writing to Maximus of Medours, fays, that the Continginians had forme Gods call de de middres, where Priests were named Barraddires : In Sacerdetibus Raccaddiret, & in Numinathus Ab-addires. Thus the Gods Ab-aulitres of the Carthaginians, were without doubt thate whom the Greeks and Lasias fornetimes called. Magnot, patenter, feletter Deor.

ABALIENARE, (a Term of Ranas. Law,) to make a pure and fungle Sale to a Remes Citizen of the Goods which were called Res mancupii or mancipli, which were Efteres firoate in Rome or fome place of Italy, and confifted in Lands of Inheritance, in Slaves and Cattel. This Sale or Allenation was not valid but between Roman Citizens, and for the Payment a certain Ceremony was observed, with a Balance and Money in hand, or elfe the Seller was to transfer and fenounce his Right before a Judge, as we learn from Cicera .. in his Topicks, Abalienatio ejus rei qua mancifii erat, aut traditie alteri nexu, aut in jure ceffin.

ABATON, a Greek word which fignifies ver'd with Dust or finall Sand, according to a Building fo very high that no Man can come the Testimony of Martinus Capelle, and of Per- at it, and which is inaccessible. We have a fine piece of Antiquity concerning this fort of

Building in Vierneim I. S. c. 2. The Rhodien | and a mournful Tone, and the whole City was being vanquish'd by Queen Artemisis the Wife of Manfalus, the Story fays, that the erected a Trophy in the City of Rhodes with two Statues of Brais, whereof one represented Rhodes, and the other was her own Image, which imprinted on the Front of that which represented the City the Marks of Slavery. A long time after the Rhodians, who scrupled the demolishing of thefe Statues, because it was not lawful to destroy such Statues as were dedicated in any place, confulted how they might hinder the View of them, by raising a very high Building round about them, after the manner of the Greeks, who call'd it diane.

ABAZEA or ABAZEIA, ancient Coremonies inflituted by Dienyfius the Son of Caprins King of Afin ; fo called from the Greek word acano, which fignifies filent, because these Peasts were observ'd with a profound Silence. Gieers focales of them in his third Book

Of the Nature of the Gods.

ABDERA, a City of Thrace, fo called from one Abderus a Favorite of Hercules, who was torn in pieces by the Horses of Diemedes. Herewer reveng'd the Death of his Friend, canfing his own Horfes to eat him up, and then beating out their Brains with his Club; he built also this City in his honour, which he called from his Name. It was afterwards called Claremens, because the Claremenians who came from Alla into Thrace, enlarged it very much. It is now called Polifyle, according to Sophism, and was the place where Pretageras the Sophist, and Democritus the great Laugher were born. Near to this Place is a Lake called Biffonie, in which nothing will fwim, and the Pastures round about it, make the Horses mad that feed in them.

ABDERITAE or ABDERITANI. The Inhabitants of Abders in Thrace, who were efloemed flupid and dull because of the Grossness of the Air in which they breath'd, from whence comes that Expression of Mertial. Abderitana pellera plebis haber, i. e. You are a flupid Aw: in which place he fpeaks to a certain Criminal, who was pardoned upon condition, that in a full Theatre he would represent upon himfelf the Action of Methas Scavels, who burn'd his Hand, with a Stokal Confrancy, in the prefence of King Perfense, to punish himfelf because he had not kill'd him, but mis'd his Aim by striking one of his Courtiers infread of him. The Natives of Abders, fays Lucian, were formarly tormented with a hurning Fever, which ceased on the feventh day, either by a Sweat or by Lofs of Blood and, which is very flrange, all that were feiz'd with it repeated Tragedies, and particularly the Andreweds of Euripides, with a grave Air full of these Tragedians, who started up on a fudden, and running to and fro in frightful and horrid Difguifes, cry'd out, O Leve, the Tyrant of the Geds and Men, and in this mad Frolick acted the rest of Perfeus's Part in a very melancholy manner. The Original of this Mifchief was the Actor Archelaus, who being in mighty Vogue, had acted this Tragedy with much Applause in the hottest time of Summers for by this means it came to pass, that many upon their return from the Theatre went to bed, and the next day fell to imitating him, having their Heads still full of those tragical and bombast Terms they had heard the day be-

ABDICARE, (a Term of the Regions Law) to Abdicate a Son is to abandon him, to turn him out of your House, to refuse to own him for your Son; it is also a common Phrase. abdicare Magistratum, or se Magistratu, to re-nounce the Office of a Magistrate, to lay in down, to abandon it, either before the time prescribed, for some private Reason, or for fome Defect that happened in the Election, or at last after the time is expir'd for the discharge of that Office. We read also in the Law, Abdidicare fe fratu fue, to renounce his Condition. to become a Slave, and be degraded from the Privileges of a Roman Citizen, when any one was abandon'd to his Creditors, not being able to make them Sarisfaction.

ABDICERE, (a Term of Roman Law) which fignifies to debar any one of his Demands and Pretentions, or not to allow them. And in this Senfe 'tis faid, Abdisere vindiciam or vindieias, i. e. Not to allow one the possession of the thing which is controverted : on the contrary, dicere & addicere windicias, isto grant and allow them the Poffession of that which is conteffed.

Abdicere is also an Augural Term, and fignifies to disapprove, to reject a Design or Enterprife, not to favour it. For understanding this piece of Antiquity, we must know, that the Remem never undertook any thing of confoquence, till they had first consulted the Will of the Gods by the mediation of the Augurs: who, for this end, confider'd the flying and finging of the Birds, their manner of eating and drinking, and according to the Rules and Observations of this Augural Science they approy'd or disapproy'd of any Delign; and anfwer'd those who consulted them, Id aver abdicunt, the Gods disapprove this Design, whose Will has been manifested to us by the Birds which we have observed,

ABIGEI and ABACTORES. (in the Law) are the Smales of Cattle, who carry away whole Flocks, or at least a great part of between the words Fererand Abetterer; for the former, say they, are those who steal only a Sheep or two, whereas the Abatteres are those who carry off a whole Flock, or the greatest part of it. ABIRE This Word, besides the Signisications I have already given of it in my Latin and French Dictionary, has also some other relating to the Roman Law, as Abire ab emptione, to fall off from a Bargain, to break it, to refuse to hold it: fo in Cicero we find, Res abiit à Sempronie, Sempronius fail'd in this Affair, it flipt out of his hands.

Abire, a Term of Imprecation, as may appear from these Passages of the Comic Poets, Abi in malam rem, Abi in crucem, or in maximum magnum malum, Go in an ill hour, Go hang your felf, Go to the Devil. The Word Abire is also us'd in the Form of granting Liberty to Slaves, as Abite que voler, que lubet, nihil te morer, or, Liber effe atque abito quo voles, or, Tu vero abeas, neque te quisquam meratur : I make you free, go now whither you will, no body detains you, you may go where you please. It is also used in the Law after this manner, Abitt dies aftimis, the Time of Profecution in this Caufe is over, or, according to the common Phrase of the Court, There's an end of rhis Suir, it is quite out of doors, and cannot be brought on again. ABJUDICARE, (a Term of Law) to take away fomething from a Person by a Sentence, to declare that it does not belong to ABJURARE Creditum, or, Si quid creditum eft, to deny a Depofitum or Pledge in a Court of Justice, to make oath that there was no fuch thing left with me. Plautus fays, Quique in jure abjurant pecuniam, who deny in Court that the Money was left in their hands.

ABLUERE fe, (a Term of Religion us'd in the ancient Sacrifices) to wash and purific our felves before we offer Sacrifice. The Reman look'd upon it as a part of Religious Worthip, to wash their Hands and Feet, sometimes she Head, and oftentimes the whole Body, when they were to facrifice to their Gods. And therefore Virgil brings in Anem telling Anchifer, that he could not discharge his Duty to his Houshold-Gods, till he was purified in some running Water, because he was defiled with Blood and Slaughter, at the Sacking of Trey, Denec me flumine vivo abluere. We read alfo in the fame Poet, that Dide, having a mind to facrifice to the Infernal-Gods, told her Sifter, that the must first wash and purifie her felf in running Water,

Die corpus properet fluviali fpargere lympha. The People and Affiftants were also purified them. The Lawyers do put a great difference | with a Wafer which was called Laftral, according to the Practice of Amer at the Funerals of Milenus in Virgil, for he tells us that he fprinkl'd Luftral Water three times upon his Companions with an Olive-branch,

Idem ter socies pura circumtulit unda Spargens rore levi & rame felicis eliva.

They us'd fometimes a sprinkling Instrument to throw that Lustral Water, which they esteemed holy, because the Link or Torch which had been used at a Sacrifice was extinguished in it. It was their Custom also to place, at the Entrance into their Temples, Veffels made of Marble triumphant (as Du Choul calls it) fill'd with Water, wherewith they wash'd themselves. A Custom which, without doubt, they learn'd from the Jews, fince we read in Scripture, that Solomon plac'd at the Entry into the Temple, which he erected to the true God, a great Laver, which the Holy Text calls a Sea of Brasi, where the Priests wash'd themselves before they offer'd Sacrifice. having before-hand fanctified the Water by throwing into it the Ashes of the Victim that was flain in Sacrifice.

ABOLERE, (a Term of the Remen Law) to abelifh, to annihilate, to reduce to nothing. to destroy a thing after such a manner that nothing remains, not fo much as the Remembrance of it. And according to this Notion of the Word is the Phrase Abslere crimen, to abolifh a Crime, and Abolere nomina reorum, to rafe or expunge the Names of the accused our of the Table or Register, to strike them out of the Lift of the Prisoners.

ABOLITIO, Abelitien, the Remission of a Crime. Amnesty is a general Abelition of all that has been committed during a Civil War, or in any popular Commotion. This Abelities was granted after three different manners: Either by the Prince on a day of Triumph. and for some remarkable. Victory obtained by the Commonwealth: or elfe it was granted by the Magistrate, when the Accuser delisted from his Profecution before him; or laftly, it was granted to the Accused after the Death of the ABOLLA, a kind of Purple Garment doubled, which was very large, had many Plaits, and was adorned with great Buttons, which the Remans were to defend themselves from Cold and the Injuries of the Weather. This Garment was used by Military Men, Perfons of Quality, and even by Philosophers, as the Veries of Martial and Juvenal do plainly prove. We read in Suetonius, That the Emperour Caligula was much offended with King Ptolomy for appearing at the Theatre with this double Garment of Purple, which attracted the Eyes of all the Spellators towards him. Abominantes,

- ABOMINANTES, (a Term of Execration) These who abber any bad Presage, and pray the Gods to prevent its falling upon their Heads. They made use of certain Latin Expressions frequent in the Comic-Poets and others. Quod Dit omen avertant; quod ego abuninor ; procul omen abefto ; procul fit omen ; procul het avertant fata. Qued Dii probibeant ; Dii meligra ; Dii melius : & Dii melius duint, for dent. Which God forbid, which I pray the Gods to remove far from us, and to turn away from falling upon our Heads; which Mischief may it never come upon us; which may the Gods preferve us from. ABORIGINES, a very antient People of Italy, about whose Original there are four principal Opinions: the first is that of Aurelius Viller who calls them Aberigines, as who should say Aberrigines, i.e. Vagabonds, wherein he disowns that Division made by Berefus of Janigenes and Aberigines, and affirms on the contrary, that these Aberigines were wandring and vagabond Septhians, who came and fettled in that part of Italy. Nevertheless, against this first Opinion it may be faid, that if thefe Aborigines had been Scythians, they would never have employed the Greeks against the Scythians, but, on the contrary, would have made use of them as safe Auxiliaries to aid them against the Natives of the Country, and against the Greeks, who were lately come thither. S. Jerom and Denit of Halicarnaffus think, that they were call'd Aborigines, as who should say ablque origine, without beginning; or rather as being the first Natives of the Mountains, from these Tuscan and Armenian words, according to the Talmuds : for Ab fignifies a Father, ori a Cavern or hollow place, and MG fignifies a Race or Posterity, as who should say, Men born in Coverns. Some think that Chamalenus, alias Cham, the Son of Noah, who was the Saturn of the Egyptians, having gather'd together divers wandring and vagabond People, conducted them into that part of Italy which at present is call'd Romania, and at that time was call'd Latium. Titus Livius and Dionyfius Halicarnaffeus affert, that the first Aborigines came from Arcadia into Italy, under the conduct of Oenstrus the Son of Lycam, and that they learn'd the Letters of the Alphabet from Evander, who was then King of it. Genebrard, one very well vers'd in Rabbinical Learning, thinks that the Abarigines were a People driven by Joshua out of the Land of Canaan, who crofs d over the Mediterranean Sea, and came and dwelt in Italy, where they had for King Sabatius or Saturn, who was fet over them by Jamu, and reign'd there Thirteen Years: They were banish'd beyond the Tyber, on account of the corruption of their Manners : But as to James, he fettled on this fide of the River, upon a Hill which he call'd Imiculum.

ABROGARE, (in the Roman Law) to Abrogate, make void, annul, to bring into difuse any Law or Custom. This word has reference to these other words, regere, &c. when they are spoken of Laws whose Confirmation was demanded of the People. First, Royabatur Lax, a Law was proposed to the People for their Approbation, which they gave in these Terms: Uti regat, I approve it, Be it fo as is requir'd : 2ly, Abrogabatur, it was abrogated. 2ly, Deregabatur, fomething was taken away from it. Sometimes, Subregabatur, fome Claufe was added to it. And laftly, Obragabatur, fome Exception or Limitation was put to it. Lex aut regatur. i. c. fertur ; aut abregatur, i. c. prior lex tellitur ; aut deregatur, i. c. pars prima tellitur : aut subregatur, i. c. adjicitur aliquid prima legi : aut obregatur, i. e. mutare aliquid en prima lege. Ulp. in Leg. 1. D. ad Leg. Aquil. And Cicero 1.2. of Ep. to Atticus : Si quid in hac regatione scriptum eft, qued per legem Claudiam promulgare, abrogare. derogare, obrogare, fine fraude fus non licest, And again, in lib. 3. of the Republick : Hinc legi nec obrogari fas eft, nec derogari ex hac aliquid licet. neque tota deregari poteff, 'It was not lawful to change this Law, or take any thing from it. neither could it be wholly abrogated

ABSOLVERE, (in the Roman Law) to absolve a Person accused, to acquit him of a Crime or any Accusation laid against him. to difmis him with Absolution. The ordinary method in these Cases was this; After the Caufe of the accus'd had been pleaded on both fides, the Pretor us'd the word Discrust, i. e. the Advocates have faid: and then three Balots were distributed to each Judg, one mark'd with the Letter A. to absolve the accus'd, another with the Letter C, to condemn him, and a third with the Letters Nand L, to respite Judgment till further information. There was often alfo a fourth, which Suctonius calls Tokula remissionis, which was a pardon for a Crime whereof the accus'd was found guilty. In a Suit concerning a forg'd Will (favs the fame Historian) all the Witnesses who had fign'd it being declar'd guilty by the Lex Cornelis, not only two Balots were given to the Judges for absolving or condemning the accused, but a third also for pardoning the Crime in those who had been furpriz'd or drawn in to fign it by fraud or mistake. Cum de testamento falfi ageretur, omnesque fignatures Lege Cornelia tenerentur. non tantum duas tabellas absolutoriam & condennatoriam fimul cognoscentibus dedit, Sed tertiam queque qua ignosceretur iis, ques fraude ad fignandum wel errore inductor constituffet. The Judges having receiv'd these Balots, took an Oath. that they would indg according to their Conference, without Partiality to either fide, either for Love or Hatred: After which Oath, they threw one of the Balous into the Um, according as their Judgment was, either for abfolving or condens-ning the Perty accus'd. If the accus'd was condemn'd, the Judy gave his fentence in thefe words. Videtur facille: The Crime is proved, he is arrainred and convicted of it; and concluded his Sentence in thefe Words, I life. lige of palum, expedi virgar, when the Coiminal was not condemn'd to death ; But if the Crime was capital, then he wood thefe words, I Litter, collige manus, coput abnubite, infelici arberi fufcover his Face, and hang him up, by verme of the Sentence new pronounc'd against him : But if she Porton accus'd happen'd to be Abfole'd, the Judg pronounc'd Sentence upon him thus, Videter was facifie, or Nibil is so domnationis diamem invenia, or. Nen invenia in es can-Con: which Expression was mid by Pilete, being a Remor, in his Answer to the Jews, who had a mind to force him to pur lekes to death, whom he had declar'd so be innocent.

ABSYRTUS, otherwife call'd Esiglue, (accounding to Pacquine,) the Son of Ete-few King of Gelshu. Tis faid, that his Sifter Medea, when the fled from her Father's House with Jalen, whom the level, tore the Body of her Brocher Alfrew in piaces, and fcatter'd them up and down in the way, on purpose to hinder her Father from purfining after her, by meeting with those fad Remains of his Son, which he was oblin'd to mather up, as Citere tells us in his Oration pro Lage Manilie. Us Medan illa en parte profugiffe duttur, quam pra-digent in fuga fratris fui membra, in its locis quà se parent persequeretur differentife, se corum colle- Walks, for entertainment of his Friends with Sie dispersa, marerque patrius celevisatum perso-quendi retandaret. Valerius Ruccus, Lib. VIII. Angunant. Says, That it was not her Father Friendship; and the Officer of a civil Life, and Beefine who went after her, but that he sent his particularly his Academical Tremises, so call'd Son Afron with a Naval Force to purfue her. and that coming up with her at the month of the Danbe, when John and the were upon the point of Marriage, he broke off the Match by threatning to burn them both, together wish cheir Ship. Ani novus incuptes impeditt bymenees. Turbavitque teres, & facra colentia rupit. Grahou thinks that Etelian commanded Abbreverto go after his Sifter and fetch her back again : but that he following after her, by a mischance fell into the River Phase, and was drowned, and true; but if it flink to the bottom, the Oath that his Body was afterwards east by the Waves | was judg'd falle. spon the little Islands which are call'd from his Name Abspride: But Pliny on the contrary tells us, that he was kill'd on the Coasts of Dalmatia, where thefe little Islands are fituare. which from his Name are call'd Abfyrtides. Abfirtides Geaist ditta à fratre Mudea ibi interfette, one which grows wild, and is full of Prickles, Musium relates this Story: Etelius, fave he, he ing inform the this Daughter Medes and Jafon had fled away from him, he fent his Son Abfrom in a Ship after them, who purfu'd them as far as the Adriatic Sea along the Coasts of Solutions, and found them out at the House of King Alcinous. At their first meeting they were ready to go to blows, but the King interoor'd his Authority, and offer'd them his Mediation, which they accepted of. The King refolv'd to reflore Media to her Father, provided that Jafon had not yet enjoy'd her : But Jafm being inform'd of this by the Queen. to whom the King had entrufted this Secret. enjoy'd her that night, and by this means ob-tain'd Modes for his Wife. Abjorts fearing the Anger of his Pather, continu'd ftill to purfue after them, when they retird into the Country of Argu; but Tajon at laft, by killing him, was deliver'd from any further purfuit. There are fome Authors who fay, that it was his own Sifter who croelly tore him in pieces.

ACADEMIA, the Academy, a place built near to Abou, and planted with Trees by one deadenus, according to Diagner Laertius, or according to others, by Cadmus a Phenician, and the Restorer of Police Learning among the Greeks. In this place Plate taught his Difciples Philosophy, who from thence were call'd dos-

., Atque inter filvas Academi quarere verum. id eft. To enquire after Truth in the Academy. at the School of the Divine Plate. Citere call'd one of his Country-Houses by this Name, where he planted Groves, and made very pleafant Discourses upon Philosophical Subjects, such as thefe, Concerning the Mature of the Gods; Of from the place where they were composed. In process of time all places, where Youth were taught the Liberal Arts and Sciences, or other Exercifes, were call'd by this Name.

ACADINA, a Fountain in Cilicia near the Lake of Delsi confecrated to Caffer and Pallass. The truth and fincerity of an Oath was prov'd by the Water of this Pountain ; for the Oath was written upon a Table and caft into this Pountain, and if the Table did fwim above the Water, it was a fign that the Oath was ACANTHUS, "Anno S. Bearsfoot, in Latin Brancha-urfera, fo call'd, because its Leaves refemble Boars Feer; and in Greek den 96, because one kind of it is prickly like a Thiftle. There are two kinds of Acanthus, seeme attives: lib. 3. cap. 2. Let us fee how and another which grows in Gardens, which out Prickles. The Greek Sculptors adorn'd their Works with the Figure of the latter, as the Gothic did with that of the former, which bears Prickles; which they represented not only in their Capitals, but also in their other Ornaments. The occasion of their fo doing, according to the relation of Vitrania, was this, A young Woman in Corinth happening to dve when the was just upon the point of Marriage. her Nurse laid upon her Tomb, in a Casket, forme Veffels which the had priz'd in her lifetime; and because they lay open to the Weather, to preferve them from walting too fall. the cover'd the Casket with a Tile : But this happening by chance to lye upon the root of an Acouthur, it so happen'd that in the Spring-time, when the Leaves began to shoot forth, the Casket which lay upon the middle of the root, was encompais'd with the Leaves of the Plant growing up about the fides of it, till meeting with the Tile that cover'd it at top, their extremities were forcibly bent into spiral Lines, like a Skrew. Callimachus, the Sculptor, passing by this Tomb, observed how the growing Leaves encompais'd this Casket, and represented the manner of it in those Pillars which he afterwards made at Garinth.

ACARON, the God of Flies. See Acceren and Acher.

ACCA LAURENTIA, the Wife of Faufinlas, who was Shepherd to Numitor, and the Nurse of Remus and Romalus : This latter in gratitude erected an Altar to her after her death, and appointed a Feast, which he call'd Laurentalia, which was celebrated in the Month of April, according to Varre, or in the Month of December, according to Owid, Lib. III. Fall. Platarch attributes this Festival in the Month of December to another Aces, who was a famous Courtezan, and had amass'd great Riches by her lewd Practices; for the at her death left the People of Rome her Heirs, who in grateful acknowledgment of the Favour, confectated Plays and a Festival to her Memory. Macrebins tells us, that Ace Laurentia, who ferv'd as Nurie to Ronnilus and Remus, was this fame prostitute Whore, which gave occasion to the Fable, That a Wolf nurs'd them the Latins using the word Lups for a debauch'd Woman. She married afterwards a very rich Man, who gave her vast heaps of Wealth, all which she left to the People of Rome, who therefore beflow'd great Honours upon her. This Relation appears to be true, which Macrobius had extracked from fome antient Authors.

ACCARON, the God of Flies, according to Pliny 1. 10. c. 28. Paufanias relates in his Elegiacks, That Hereules facrificing one day

Fingil calls mellis, became it is foft, and with- to Ofmanias, was much annoy'd with Flies, but that having invok'd Jupiter, appeil , of the Fly-Chafer, he was deliver'd from them, thefe Infects flying all away to the other fide of the River Alphout. From that time the Elems continually offer'd the fame Sacrifice to Juster the Fly-Driver, to obtain of him the fame Payour. See Acher.

ACCEDERE and ACCESSIO (in the Raman Law) regard a thing which . tho separated from the Bulk or Gross of any Effate, Commodity, &c. yet of right belongs to it. The Tyles, for instance, which are taken off a House to be laid on again, are an Accessory when the House is to be fold. Tegala que detraffa funt ut repenerentur, edibur accedunt, Leg. 18. de Affion, Empti & Penulti. The Cask which contains the Wine that is left for a Legacy, is an Accessory to a Legacy, and not a Legacy. Vafa, acceffio legata penus, non lagata funt, Log. 4. de Pen. Leg.
A C C E N S U S, an Officer of the Remine

Magistrates, and of the Military Men.

ACCENSI Permier, Officers of the Roman Magistrates, vie. of the Consuls, Decemvirs. Pracors, or Proconfuls and Governours of the Provinces of the Republick . They were taken out of the number of the Enfranchis'd, and their Function was eather laborious than honoumble, as Giere testifies in a Letter to his Brother Quimus, Proconful of Afia, Accenfus co etiam numere, que cum Majeres noftri effe voluerunt, quad bec non in beneficit loce, Sed in laboris aut Manéris, non temere nife liberts: deserebant, quibus non multo secus quem ser-wis imperabant. They walk'd before the Magistrates, and received their Orders, which they executed. Their chief Bufiness was to call the People together to Affemblies : and from this part of their Office, fays Varro, they were called seconf ab acciondo. The Form wied by the Magistrates for calling any to a Meeting, was this, Poce ad concionem owner Quiriter but ad me. Summon, call an Affembly of the People, cause them to meet together immediately. The Accensus cry'd, Omnes Quirites ite ad continuem. Go to the Affembly, Gentlemen Citizens. Their Office was also to affift the Prieter, when he fat on the Bench, and to give him notice with a loud Voice every three hours what a Clock it was, as, for inflance that it was ninea Clock in the Morning, that it was Noon. and that it was the ninth Hour or three a Clock after Noon. Accenfus inc. amabat boram effe tertiam, meridiem & nenam. For three a Clock. among the Romans was the ninth hour, as nine a Clock was the third hour; because they did not begin to reckon the first Hour of the day. till x a clock in the Morning; fo that the third how was nine a Clock, according to us,

ACCENSI, in the Roman Armies, according to the opinion of Feftus, were the fupernumerary Souldiers, who ferv'd to fill the places of those who died, or were disabled to fight by any Wound they had received. Accensi dicebantur, quia in locum mortuorum militum fubite fubrogantur, ita dieti quia ad ceufum adjiciebantur. Afconius Pedianus affigns them a Station in the Roman Militia, like that of our Serjeants, Corporals, or Trumpeters. Accensus nomen eft ordinis in militia, ut nunc dicitur Princeps, aut Commentariensis, aut Cornicularius. Titus Livius informs us, that Troops were made of these Accens, that they were plac'd at the Rear of the Army, because no great matter was expe-Sted either from their Experience or their Courane. Tertium vexillum ducebat minima fiducia

ACCENTUS, an Accent, fignifies a certain Mark which is set over Syllables, to make them be pronounced with a stronger or weaker Voice. The Greeks were more curious Obfervers of the Accents than the Mederay. Cardinal Perron fays, that the Hebrews call'd the Accents Guffut, which is as much as to fay, the Sawce of Pronunciation. There are three forts of Accents, the Acute', the Grave', and the Circumflex". The Jews have Accents of Grammar, Rhetorick and Musick. The Accent of Mufick is an Inflexion or Modification of the Voice or Word, to express the Passions or Affections either naturally or artificially. Mr. Christian Hemin, a Hallander, wrote a Dissertation to shew, that the Greek Tongue ought not to be pronounced according to the Accents; wherein he fays, that they were invented only to make fome Distinction of Words; that Books were formerly written without any fuch Distinction, as if they were only one Word, that no Accents are to be feen in Manuscripts which are above 800 years old; that none are found in the Pandects of Florence, which were written about the time of Justinian; that they were not commonly used till about the tenth Century, or in the time of Barbarism, and then they were taken to be the Rule of Pronunciation; that there is no use of Accents in most Nations, neither in Chaldas nor Spria, nor among the Sclavenians, Mesceviter, or Bulgarians, nor was among the antient Danes, Germans or Dutch, and that they were unknown to all Antiquity. He believes that they were an Invention of the Arabians, which was perfected by Alchalit, about the Death of Makemet. He adds, that the Mafforetes of Tiberias, about the middle of the fixth Century adopted this Invention, and introduced it into the Bible with the Vowels, in the time of Justinian; and that

Ben David Ching, a Native of Fez, in the eleventh Century ; and that they were first used among the Greeks, only in favour of Strangers, and to facilitate the Pronunciation of Verfe.

ACCEPTILATIO, (a Term of the Roman Law) Acceptilation. A Discharge which is given without receiving of Money: a Declaration which is made in favour of the Debtor, that no more shall be demanded of him. that the Debt is fatisfied and forgiven, and he is acquitted of it. The manner of doing this was by a certain Form of Words used by both Parties, Qued ege promisi facifne, or habefne acceptum? faid the Debtor ; Do you acknowledg that you have received that which I promise you? Are you fatisfied, do you acquit me of it? the Creditor answered, habes or facio, I confels I have received it, I discharge you of it. But this wasanciently used only in Obligations contracted by word of mouth.

ACCEPTUM, 2 Receipt. Tabula acce. pri & expensi, a Book of Receipts and Disbursements. Ratio accepti, an Accompt of Re-

ACCEPTO ferre, (in the Law) to hold for received, to write Received upon the Book. Accepte & acceptum ferre, accepte & acceptum facere, to confess that 'tis received. Expensum ferre, to write down what is disbursed. to keep an Accompt of what is laid out and expended.

ACCIA or ATTIA. Accis the Mother of Caius Offevius Cafar, furnamed Auguflus. Suetonius relates, in the Life of this Prince, that Accis his Mother having gone one night. with other Reman Dames, to folemnize a Feaft of Apello in his Temple, the fell alleen there, and thought in her fleep, that she faw a Serpent creep under her, which foon after difappear'd : when the awoke, having a mind to wash and purific her felf, she perceived upon her Belly the Track of a Serpent, which could never be obliterated, and upon the account of this Mark the was obliged for ever after to forbear the publick Baths. She became afterwards big with Child, and was brought to bed, at the end of ten Months, of Cafar Augustus, making the World believe, that she had conceived by Apolle. Augustus also gloried in it, that he was his Son; and Torrentine mentions a Silver Medal of this Emperour, upon the Reverse whereof was feen the Figure of . spells holding a Harp in his hand, with these words, Cafar Divi Filius, Cafar the Son of the God Apollo.

A CCIPIO, (being spoken of a Law) to receive, approve and hold fit: as Regationem accipere, to accept a Law proposed. Accipio Omen, I take or hold this for a good Omen.

ACCIPITER, any Bird of Prev in general, as an Hawk, &c. Ovid informs us, that an Hawk was a Bird of ill Omen, because it in Briffonius de Formulis. was very carnivorous, Odimus accipitrem quia semper vivit in armis. But the same Bird was a good Omen in Marriage, according to Pliny, because it never eats the Hearts of other Birds, which gives us to understand, that no Differences, in a married state, between Husband and Wife ought to go fo far as the Heart; and Care was alfo taken, in the Sacrifices for Marriages, that the Gall of the Animals which were flain, should he raken our.

A CCIUS, a Latin Poet, who wrote Tragedies in a very harsh style, according to Cicero. He was of an illustrious Family, be-Soranus. Decius Brutus held him in great e-Temples with this Poets Verses, and erected a Statue to him in the Temple of the Muses.

ACCIUS Navins, one of the most celebrated Augurs, who liv'd in the time of Tarquinius Priscus: He opposed the Design which that King had of adding new Centuries of the Roman People, to those which were already Gods by the Flight of Birds. Tarquin, in raillery, bid him confult them, to know whether his present Design was feasible or no: Accius did it, and brought him back word that it was. I would know, replied the King, whether you can cut that Stone with this Razor which was whetted upon it: The Augur immediately took the Stone and cut it in two with the Razor. This wonderful Action gained great Credit and Authority to the Augurs in the following Times; and the King caused a Statue to be erected to Accius in the place of their Affemblies, having his Head cover'd, and holding in his Hand the Stone which he had cut, to perperuate to Posterity the Memory of this A-

ACCLAMATIO, Acclamation, a loud Expression of Joy, the Applause given to Perfons and Things, a practice used upon several Occasions. The Romans never failed to use these Acclamations, which included their Prayers and Wishes for the Welfare of their Emperours, when they bestowed upon them any Largeffes for fome Victory obtain'd over the Enemies of the Empire. These Acclamations were often expressed by one word, feliciter; or by many,

Di tibi dent quicquid, Princeps Trajane merevis, Et rata perpetud, que tribuere, velint. Or in these words.

Augent imperium nostri ducis, augent annos. Many other Forms to this purpose may be seen

The Senate in like manner made Acclamations to the Emperours, either at their accession to the Throne, or in Acknowledgment of fome Favours they had received from them. which they very often inferted into their publick Registers, or caused to be engraven on Plates of Brass, or Tables of Marble. They frequently deified their Emperours, and chofe their Magistrates by sudden Acclamations, of which I shall relate some Examples.

Aurelius Victor informs us, that Divine Honours were decreed to the Emperour Pertinax, after his Death, and that the whole Senate rais'd great Acclamations in his favour : Acclamatum ing descended of two Confuls, Macrinus and eft, Pertinace imperante, Securi vizimut, neminem timuimus, Patri pie, Patri Senatus, Patri benerune fleem, took great pleasure in adorning the omnium; We liv'd in perfect Security under Pertinax, cry'd the Senate, we fear'd no People. Pertinan was to us a Father full of Tenderness, the Father of the Senate, the Father of all good Men. Trebellius Pellie relates the Acclamations which were made at the Election of Valerianus to the Office of Cenfor: Acclamatum eft, Valerianus in tota vita fua fuit Cenfor, prudens Senator, modestus Senator, amicus bonorum, inimicus tyranestablished by Romulus, representing to him, norum, hostis criminum, hostis witisrum. Hums that he ought first to consult the Will of the | Cenforem owner, hunc imitari volumes. Primus genere, nobilis Sanguine, emendatus vita, dottrina clarus, meribus fingularis, exemplum antiquitatia: These Acclamations were made, Valerianus was a just Cenfor during his whole Life, a prudent and a modest Senator, a Friend to good Men, an Enemy to Tyrants, an Enemy to Crimes and Vices. We have all chosen him to be our Cenfor, he is illustrious for his Nobility, regular in his Life and Conversation, commendable for his Instructions, and an Example of Antiquity. The fame thing happened at the Election of Tacitas to the Empire; for after the first, who gave sentence for him, proclaim'd him Emperour, the whole Senate cry'd with a loud Shout, Omnes, Omnes: And this good old Man endeavouring to excuse himself upon the account of his great Age, which render'd him unfit to bear the Weight of the Empire, they fhouted again and cry'd, Caput imperare, non pedes ; Animum tuum, non corpus eligimus, Tacite Auguste ; Dii te fervent ; It belongs to the Head to rule and not to the Feet ; we chuse your Mind and not your Body , O Tacitus Augustus, the Gods preferve you long. In the Armies the Roman Souldiers did often chuse the Emperours and their Generals by fudden Acclamations, without waiting either for the Order of the Senate or the Confent of the People; as happen'd at the Election of the Emperous Prabus; for the Colonels having exhorted the Souldiers to chuse for Emperour a Man of Pro- I In eating they lay along on their sides, having biry, probum; all on a fudden they made a great Noise with confus'd Voices, which proclaimed Probus to be Emperour. Probe Imperator, Die te servent. These Acclamations were alfo us'd at Shows in the Theatres when they pleased the People's Humour, as it happen'd at the new Comedy of Pacivoius, Qui clamores fapè tetà caved exauditi funt in M. Pacuvii nova tabu a: The like Acclamations were often heard over all the Pit, when the new Play of Pacuvius was acted.

As the Romans were accustom'd to make these Acclamations to testifie their Joy and fignifie their Satisfaction, fo they were a fo fometimes us'd in Imprecations, to express their Indignation, as they did after the Death of the Emperour Commodus: Let this Enemy of his Country, cry'd they, be despoil'd of all Honour, ler this Parricide, this Gladiator be cut in pieces in the place where Gladiators are kid up when flain or wounded : Hofii patrie bonores detrabantur, parricida, gladiator in Spoliario lanietur, &c.

A C C O, the Name of a foolish and ridiculous Woman, who pleas d her felf with fpeaking to her own Image in a Looking-glass, and made a fliew of refuting that which flie most passionarly defired; from whence dud-Course is afed for Pretending to refuse, for Diftimulation and Disguise.

ACCUMBERE, to lie upon Couches for eating, to fit down, to feat your felf at Table, as the Greeks did, and in imitation of them the Romani. For at the beginning the Romans did ear fitting at a Table as we do. before the Greeign Luxury and Softness had corrupted them, as may appear from this Verse, Perpetuis feliti patres confiftere menfis. But afterwards they were wont to eat after the fashion of the Greeks. For this end, in a lofty Hall a Table was fix'd, of a round or oval Figure, which the richer fort made of fome preclous Wood, adorn'd with Plates of Gold and Silver, or rather inlaid with fome pieces refembling Mother of Pearl: this Table was supported with Feet of Ivory, or some other that the Accusers had two days given them to matter, which represented the figures of divers Animals : round about it were plac'd two or threeCouches, from whence it was call'd Biclinium and Triclinium: these Conveniencies for leaning at Table were cover'd with richer or meaner Stuffs, according to the Quality of the Perfons, and adern'd with Quilts and Pillows that Honour, and appear'd in a careless Habit : he they might lye more foft and eafily upon them. They did commonly place no more than three apon a Couch, and to lay a greater number upon it, was accounted a lign of fordid Avarice, as Horace tells us,

Sepè tribus ledis, videas canare quaternos, their Heads rais'd up with Pillows : He who fill'd the middle place was in that which is most honourable, as we learn from Virgil, - Aulais jam se regina superbie

Aurea composuit sponda, mediamque locavit. He who was at the head held the fecond place. and the third was at the lower end, or in the last place. They went into a Bath before they plac'd themselves at Table, and chang'd their Cloths, putting on a Garment which they called Veftis canatoria, and putting off their Shoes that they might not dirry the Beds. They bound about their Heads Fillets of Wool, to prevent the Diftempers of the Head, which the Fumes of Meat and Wine might cause : for which reason they used afterwards Garlands of Flowers. Their Women did not eat lying after this manner, fuch a Posture being esteem'd indecent and immodest in them, except at a Debauch, where they appear'd without any Shame or Modesty; yet in an antient Marble which is at Rome, we find the figure of a Woman lying at a Table upon a Bed as her Husband does; and Virgil also seems to attest this, when he represents Dide lying at Table at a Feast which she made upon the Arrival of Enew, unless he means that she was already fmitten with Love with her new Guest.

ACCUSARE, (in the Law) to Accuse, to draw up or lay an Accufation, or Process. The antient Lawvers put a difference between these three words Postulare, Deferre and Accusare : for first leave was defired to lay an Action against one, and this was called Poffulare and Poffulatio : after this he against whom the Action was laid was brought before the Judg, which was call'd Deferre and nominis Delatio; and lastly the Acculation was drawn up, accufabatur.

The Accuser was obliged by the Law to fign his Accusation, at the head of which he plac'd the Name of the Conful, which fignified the Year, when the Romans reckon'd Years by their Confuls ; he fet down also the Day, the Hour, and the Judg before whom he intended to profecute his Accufation. We learn from Tacitus make their Complaint in, and the Accused three days to make his Defence; and that fix days were allow'd between them both to prepare themselves. From the very moment that any Person was accused of a Capital Crime that deserved Death he was stript of all his Marks of was obliged to give Sureties that he would appear in Court when there was occasion, which if he did not, he was laid up in Prison to secure his Person. The Libel being drawn, the Accused was summoned to appear at three Market-days, in trinundinum; and he always who were concerned for him, and threw themfelves at the feet of the Magistrates and People guilty. If the Accused refus'd to appear, he was fummoned with the Sound of a Trumpet before his House or Castle, and after the time allow'd was expir'd, he was condemn'd for Contumacy. The Accuser had two hours wherein to fpeak against the Accused, and three hours were granted to the Accused to make his Defence, which was meafured by an Hour-glais an account in its proper place; which made a Greek Orator fay to the Judg, when he had a mind to fignifie to him the Goodness of his Caufe, That he would beftom part of his Water on bis Adversary, i. e. of his Time, which the Lex Pompeis, made by Pampey in his third Confulthip, allowed him for his Defence. If the Accufed was found guilty, Sentence was pronounced against him in these words, Videtur committed the Crime: If, on the contrary, he was found not guilty, he was then declared innocent in thefe terms, Videtur non feciffe, i. e. to make way for the Criminal to escape and obrain Absolution; or at least, that he had defifted from and given over Protecution with and without a lawful Caufe, then he was fentenced by the Magistrate to suffer the same Punithment which the guilty Person deferv'd.

used in the Church of Rome at this day. An Incente-Box for burning Perfumes upon the Alrars of the Gods, and before the dead Bodies. finest Perfumes to their false Deities,

Et plena supplex veneratur Acerra. cused for making a Bow, and throwing some grains of Incense into the Fire that burnt upon the Altars.

Seaman who was very carelefs, and always artributed the bad Success of his Voyages to the destroy'd all the Country round about by its Moon; from whence comes the Latin Proverb, frequent Inundations, Hercules confin'd it with-Accessed Luna, to fignific a lazy and negligent in its Channel by cutting a Stream from it, fort of People, who always throw off the which is the Horn that he pluck'd off, and came attended with his Neighbours and Friends | Success, the their own Negligence was the on ly Cause of it.

ACETABULUM, a fmall antient to beg fayour for him in case he were found Measure, which contained about the fourth part of an Hemine, being about two ounces and an half of either liquid or dry things, as Pling explains it towards the end of his twelfth book. This Measure held a Cup and an half, and anfwers to our Quartern; but is now more in use among Druggifts and Aporthecaries than Victua allers, both for Liquids and Solids.

It was also a kind of Spice-Box, which conof Water, called Cloffdra, of which I shall give rained all forts of Spices, whereof the Antients used to make their Sauces, to season their Vichuzk together with Vinegar and Verjuice : It was made in the form of a Pyramid, and had several Drawers, wherein were pur different forts of Spices, as Pepper, Nutmegs, &c.

ACHELOUS, a River whose Springhead rifes on Mount Pindus in Theffaly, and from thence croffes over Acarnania, which it separates from Etolia, and then dividing it self fecific, i. e. he is attainted and convicted of having into two Streams, it runs into the Gulph of Corinth. This River was called Theat, according to Stephanus, and afterwards Achelous, from one Achelous who came from Theffaly to inhabit he is cleared from all Sufficion of Guils. All thefe in thefe parts, with Alemeon the Son of Amphia-Circumstances which were observed in Accu- rate, who kill'd his Mother Emphile: (he is fations, are related by Gicero and Tacitus. But commonly called Afpri, and according to others if it appeared by the Event, that the Accuser | Catochi.) He was, according to the Poets, the was a Calumniator, i. e. that he had fallly ac- Son of the Ocean and the Earth, or of Thetir, cufed the other Party; or that he was a Pre- as Servine would have it, who makes him the varicator, i. e. that he had betray'd his Caufe, Father of the Syrens. He wrestled with Hereules for the fair Drianira, whom her Father OFnue King of Calydon would not befrow in marriage upon any Man but him who was victorious in out the Leave of the Magistrate or the Prince, this kind of Exercise : Achelous, finding himself too weak, was put to his shifts, and changed himself sometimes into a Serpent, and sometimes into a Bull; but this avail'd him nothing. ACERRA, a little Pot which held the for Hercules overcame him and pluck'd off one Incense and Perfumes for Sacrifices, such as are of his Horns, which the Naiades took up, and now made in the form of a fmall Boat, and are having fill'd it with Fruits and Flowers they call'd it Cornecopia; the Horn of Plenty. He therefore being confounded with this Defeat, for shame hid his Head, that had lost a Horn. The Rich, fays Horace, offer'd Boxes full of the | under the Waters of the River Theas, which ever fince bear his Name.

Strabo, lib. 10. interprets this Fable allegori-And the Poor, according to Lucian, were ex- cally, and favs, That Achelour is faid to be changed into a Serpent, upon the account of the Course of that River, which is winding like a Serpent; and into a Bull, because the ACESSEUS, the Name of a certain Noise which the Waters make resembles the Bellowing of a Bull. And because this River Blame from themselves, in case of any bad that became the Horn of Plenty, by reason of rhe Fertility of that Earth which was enrich'd for a long time after by the fat flime it left behind.

Virgil takes the Waters of the River Achelous for Water in general, in this Verse in the first Book of his Georgicks, Poculaque inventis Acheleia miscuit uvis. Which gives fufficient ground to suppose, that Scaliger did not without reason affirm, That the Latin word Aqua came from a word like it in the antient Greek Language, from which the River Achelous took its name, viz. Agus and Aufe, lavare. Maximus Tyrius the Philosopher mentions also a Contest between this River and Hercules, who pluck'd off from it one Horn, whereof the Nymphs made thellom of Plenty, having fill'd it with Fruits and Flowers. Servius explaining this Verse of Virgil,

Carniger Helperidum fluvius regnatar aquarum. fays, That the Floods were painted with Horns because of their winding Course, which twines about the Land like a Serpent. Thus the River Achelous was represented with Horns as well as the Po, whereof Virgil Speaks. Diedorus Siculus gives an account how this River falling down at first from Mount Pindus, ran over the Rocks and made a great Devastation in the Country whereupon Hercules opened a more large and united Channel, and so well water'd one Field with it that it became very fruitful. This is the Meaning of the Fable, and what Ovid has express'd in describing the Horn of Plenty,

Dum tenet, infregit : truncâque à frante revellit. Natade: boc pomis & odoro flore repletum

Sacrarunt, divefque mes bons copia carnu eft. Metamorph, lib. 9

ACHERON or ACHERUNS, according to Plautus, a River of Hell, which Homer places in the Country of the Cimmerians, thinking that Country to be Hell; being a day's Journey from Circe, which is a Mountain in the Country of the Latins. Circe speaking to Ulyffer when he embark'd in the Country of the Cimmerians. Navem quidem illic liftite in Oceane profundorum verticum. Ipfe autem in Plutonia eas demum obscuram, ubi in Acherontem fluunt, & Cocytus qui Stygie aque est emenatio. Servius explaining these words of Virgil, Tenebrofa palus Acheronte refufo, feems to confirm what Homer fays, and to place these dark Cavities and Rivers of Hell in the Country of Ita'y. All Geographers place the River Acheron in Epirus, which joins to Arcadia. Greeks was nothing but an Imitation of the Fuabout them, Pratum verò & habitationem Defun-Storum confictam, effe locum junta paludem Acherunerationes iftic veragi, dum cadavera per annem which were nothing but Trinkets for Women.

Acherusiam paludem depertata in craptic illic sitie depenunt; The Field which the Souls of the dead inhabit, is a place joining to the Morais of Acherula near the City of Memphis, whither the Egyptians carry the Bodies of the dead to inter them. Which gave occasion to the Fable, that the Souls of the dead pass'd the River Acheren in a Boat. This River is encompass'd. on all fides with high Mountains, fo that the Sun never fhines upon it; and this gave occafion to the Name of Acherm, which is deriv'd from the Greek words, an play, or from and pho , i. c. the River of Anguilb and Pain, or at least the reason of the state of Toy and Pleasure, for a fruch as the Sun, which is the Father of Nature, never thines there. The Poets make this River the Son of Titan and the Earth, and fay that he was banished to Hell by Jupiter for furnishing the Titans with Water in the War against the Gods. ACHILLES the Son of Peleus and Thetis: he was a very magnanimous Grecian Prince. whom his Mother dipt in the Waters of Styn while he was very young, and by this means made him invulnerable in all parts of his Body but his Heel, by which she held him when she dipt him. She caused him to be educated by Chres the Centaur, a Man very skilful in the Noble Arts, as in Medicine, Musick and Drawing the Bow, who inftructed him in these Sciences and Exercises with great Care, and fed him only with Honey and the Marrow of Lvons and Boars, to make him the more flourand formidable. Themis, whom his Mother confulted about the Destiny of young Achilles, having forerold that he should be kill'd in the War which the Greeks were to undertake against the Traigns, to revenge the Rape of Helen by Paris the Son of King Priam, the address'd her felf to Neutrose, conjuring him to fink the Boat that carried that Princefs; but this being deny'd. because the Decree of Destiny was inviolable, the refolv'd to fend him, under the Difguise of a Girl, into the Isle of Scyre, to the Court of King Lycomedes, that he might there be educated with his Daughters, and by this means be from away from the Greeks, and hindred from going to that Fatal War. While he folourn'd there he became very intimate with the young Deidama, the King's Daughter, infomuch that fhe became big with child, and was brought tobed of a Son, who was call'd Pyrrhus, from the diffusifed Name of Achilles who was called. Diadorus Siculus shews, that the Hell of the Pyrrha by reason of his Hair, which was of a shining red colour. Nevertheless he was disnerals of the Egyptians: For thus he discourses cover'd by Ulysses and Diomedes, who landed on the Isle of Serre in the habit of Merchants, and having exposed the Merchandize they had fiam : Picrafque enim & maximae Agyptiorum fu- brought with them to Sale at the King's Court, with fome Arms; Achiller, tho under his Difguife, never concern'd himfelf about the Trinkets, but presently seized upon the Arms, and thereby discover'd himself, and follow'd Ulysles to the War of Troy. Thetis his Mother feeing this fatal Necessity, obtain'd of Vulcan a Suit of Armour for him, fo excellently temper'd that it was impenetrable. He fignalized himfelf at out of indignation against Agamemnon for robbing him of his Mistress Brifeis, he retir'd from the Grecian Camp, and laid down his Arms. which he would never take up again till the Death of his Friend Patroclus, who was kill'd by Hellor, which did fo fenfibly touch him. that he return'd to the Camp, and reveng'd the death of his Friend upon Hellor, by killing him and dragging his dead Body about the Walls of Troy; but he, falling in love with Polixine the Daughter of Priam, and having demanded her for his Wife, was treacherously flain by Paris with an Arrow shot at his Heel, which was the only place of his Body wherein he was mortal. Divine Honours were decreed to him after his Death to be performed upon his Tomb, and in obedience to the Oracle of Dodona, the Theffalians offer'd there every year a Sacrifice of two Bulls, one white and the other black, which they brought from their own Country, whither also they took care to bring Wood from Mount Pelion, and Water from the River Specchius, together with Garlands made of Flowers, which were called immortal because they never faded. Philoftratus on the Picture of Achilles, and Quintus Calaber in lib. 3 of his Paralipomena, do not agree to all the Circumstances in the History of Achilles here related. The common Opinion is. That he was educated in the Island of Serre with the Daughters of King Lycomedes, which is the Sentiment of Hyginus. But Philoftratus thinks that he was fent by his Father against the Island of Serre, to revenge the Death of Thefens, whom Lycomedes had cruelly put to death. Paulanias in his Attica is of the fame Opinion, for he tells us, That Sopre was taken by Achilles, as well as the King Lycomedes. Quintus Calaber maintains that Apollo kill'd Achilles with an Arrow; Apollo, fays he, being angry at the infolent Answer which Achilles gave him, drew a Bow and shot him in the Heel with an Arrow, of which Wound he died : And Hyginus tells us, that Apollo, to give him this Wound, affumed the shape of Paris.

ACHOR, otherwise call'd Myagris or Myodes, the God of Flies, to whom the Greeks and Crreniam facrific'd, to drive away the Flies which annoy'd them, and infected their Country. S. Gregory Naziauzen in his first Investive against whom they call'd Beelzebuth, i. e. the God of Flies. Pliny relates, that Hercules had been very much annoy'd by these Insects at Ohmpia. but after he had facrific'd to Jupiter, under the Name of 'Ausar G, or, the Fly chafing Ged, they flew all away over the River Alphaus, and never annoy'd him more, nor any of those who facrific'd to him in the Temples built for him the Siege of Trey by many brave Exploits; but after he was plac'd among the number of the Gods: For Solinus tells us, that no Flies nor Dogs could ever enter into a Chappel built to Hercules at Rome by Offavoius Herennius.

ACIDALIA, an Epithet given to Venus, the Goddess of Love, because she was the cause of great Uneafiness and Vexation to those who were in Love. Some think that she was also fo call'd from a Fountain of that Name, wherein the Three Graces, which always attended her, us'd to bath themselves.

ACILIA, the Name of a very illustrious Roman Family, from which was descended the generous Conful Acilius Glabrie, to whom the People of Rome erected a Statue cover'd with Leaves of Gold, for having defeated the Army of Antiochus in the narrow passage of Tempe, and made a great flaughter of the Aflaticks. This Conful erected a Statue on horseback of pure Gold, which he plac'd in the Temple of Piety. and confecrated to the Memory of his Father. whose Effigies it was. This was the first Statue of that precious Metal that was ever seen at Rome, from the time of its first foundation.

ACINACES, a kind of Cutlass or Scimetre us'd among the Perfiant.

ACNUA, a jort of Measure for Land, among the antient Measurers call'd otherwise Aduique dratus, which was a Square, whereof each fide was 26 foot long, which contain'd, as Authors tell us, the moiety of a Jugerum, or, of the Acre of the Latines. Vessius fays, that it is plainly read Acrus in the Manuscripts, yet he would have it read Acres, to give credit to his own Etymology, which derives it from the word ... answa or axwa, which is a Measure of twelve feet. as he himfelf tells us; he adds afterwards, that exwe fignifi'd also a Measure of 26 feet. but this he does not prove.

ACONITUM, Walvesbane, an Herb very venomous, whereof there are many kinds; 'tis faid that its Name comes from Acono, a City of Bithynia, round about which it grows in great abundance. The Poets feign, that this Herb forung up from the Froth which the Dog Carberus cast forth when Hercules drag'd him by force out of Hell; for which reason, great quantities of it are found near to Herasles of Pontus. where is the Cavern by which Herealer descended thither. 'Tis faid, that all its Venom is in Julian, calls him Accaron, because the Accaro- its Root; for there is no hurt in its Leaves or mites, a People of Judea, made an Idol of him. Fruit. The Symptoms of this Poylon are thefe, the Stomach, causes frequent breaking of wind backwards. Nevertheleis the Antients us'd it as a Medicin against the biting of a Scorpion, the burning heat whereof, the bare touch of Wolvesbane did presently extinguish.

ACONTIUS, a young Man of the Isle of Gea, who coming one day to Delo to the Sacri- it happen'd unluckily that the Bar hit against fice of Diana, fell in love with the fair Cydippe : but fearing a Denyal, if he should defire her in Marriage, upon the account of the inequality of his Birth and Fortune, he contriv'd this Stratagem to win her; he wrote thefe two Verfues upon an Apple.

Juro tibi fane per myftica facra Diane, Me tibi venturam comitem sponsavaque futuram and then threw the Apple at the Feet of Cydippe who taking it up, read thefe Verfes, and bound herfelf to the Oath which was upon it. Whereupon every time she had a mind to marry. she was presently taken dangerously sick, which the interpreted to be a just Punishment for the Violation of her Faith, and therefore to appeale Diana, the married Acoutius.

ACRATES, the Genius or Demon of the Bacebantes, whose Mouth only was represented in Figures, as Paufanias tells us. ACRISIUS, the last King of the Arriver. and the Brother of Pratus, to whom he fucceeded. according to Eufebius. He understanding by the Oracle that he was to be kill'd by a Son of his Daughter Dames, that her up in a Tower of Brass, to preferve himself from this Mischief. But Jupiter falling in love with this unfortunate Princels, found a way to come at her; for he changing himself into a shower of Gold, unaccountably pass'd through the Tiles of the House, and the was found with child of a Son, who was call'd Perfew. Acrifin being inform'd of this, caus'd his Daughter, with her Child, to be fleet up in a Cheft, and commanded them both to be cast into the Sea: The Cheft fwimming for fome time upon the Water, was at last thrown up upon the Isle of Sociebe, where Polydelles reign'd, who receiv'd them graciously, and fell in love with Dance : But she refuling to agree to his love, and yield herfelf up to his passion, he resolv'd at last to force her; and the better to cover his Delign, he remov'd her Son Perfew a great way off, and fent him to the Gergener, with an Order to bring back to him the Head of Medufa, that he might make a Present of it to his Mistress Hippodamia, hoping that Perfew would be kill'd in adorn 'em; in Ships, this word fignifies the this Enterprize, and then he should be in a condition to prevail with his Mother to condescend to his Detires. But things fell out quite otherwife than he imagin'd; for Review by good luck return'd fafe from this Expedition, brought back the Head of Medule, and was married in

Is makes the Eyes water very much, oppreffes his Voyage to Andromeda, whom he deliver'd from the Sea-Monster, which was just ready to devour her. He returning to Argor with his new-married Spouse, to prefent her before Acri-fine. his Grandfather, found him celebrating Funeral-Games; whereupon he having a mind to exercise himself with throwing a Bar of Iron . Acrifini's his Leg, and gave him a Wound, whereof he died in some days after; and thus the Oracle was fulfill'd.

ACROBATES, a fort of Dancers upon the Rope. We learn from Boulanger, in his Treatife of Dancers on the Rope, that there were Four forts of 'em: The First were those who vaulted about a Rope, as a Wheel turns about its Axeltree, and hang'd upon it by the Feet or the Neck. Nicephorus Gregora fays, that in his time these Dancers vaulting about a Rope were to be seen at Constantinople. The Second fort of them were those who flew from a high place down to the ground upon a Rope, which supported their Breaft, their Arms and Legs being extended. Of these Manilius Nicetas, and Vepileus fpeak in the Life of Carmus. The Third fort were those who are mention'd by the same Manilius, who run upon a floping Rope, or came down it, from a higher to a lower place. The Fourth fort were those who not only walk'd upon a diffended Rope, but jump'd high, and cut Capers upon it as a Dancer would do upon the ground at the found of a Flute : And of this kind Symposius is to be understood.

ACROSTOLIUM, a kind of Ornament for a Ship, made in the form of a Hook, which was plac'd at the end of the Stem or Stern: To these may be compar'd those polish'd and sharp pieces of Iron resembling the Neck of a Duck, which the Venetians use at the Stem of their Gondoles. It may also be that Ornament of a Stern, which they call'd Anferculus, a little Goofe, whereof Bayfius gives us the Figure like the Head of a Goose.

ACROTERIA, anesticue, the extremities of any thing: This word in Greek fignifies generally any extreme part; fuch as are in Animals, the Nofe, the Ears, and the Fingers : and in Buildings, the Turrets or Battlements of Houses, and the little Pedestals on which Statues were plac'd, and which were scituate at the middle, and the two Extremities of a Frontispiece, or the Statues of Earth or Copper. which were plac'd on the top of Temples to Beaks, which are call'd Roftre; they are also Promontories, or high places which are feen afar

ACTA, which has in the Genitive Adle. Cicero and Virgil use this word, speaking of a Meaden pleafant for its greenness; and Voffius

ACT thinks that it must only be us'd in speaking of mies Ships; he increas'd also the Pomp of the Sicily, as these two Authors did.

ACTA PUBLICA, the Records or publick Registers, wherein were written what concern'd publick Affairs, to preferve the Memory of 'em. ACTA DIÙRNA, a Diurnal, wherein is fet down what paffes every day,

ACTA CONSISTORII, the Editts, the Declarations of the Council of State of the Emperors, which were express'd in these Terms : IMPERAT. DIOCLESIANUS ET MAXI-MIANUS A. A. 'IN CONSISTORIO

DIXERUNT; DECURIONUM FILII NON DEBENT BESTIIS OBJICI.

The August Emperors Dioclesian and Maximian. in Council declar'd; That the Children of the Decurions ought not to be expoi'd to wild Bealls in the Amphitheatre,

The Senate and Soldiers fwore often, either through Flattery or by Compulsion upon the Edicts of the Emperors. Tacitus tells us, that Nero raz'd the Name of Apidius Meru's out of the Register of the Senators, because he would not fwear upon the Acts of the Emperor Auguftus.

ACTEIUS, one of the fix envious and maligh Demons, whom the Greek call Telchines who bewitch Men out of their fense, and of whom fabulous Antiquity would make us believe, that they fprinkle the Earth with the infernal Stygian Water, from whence arose Pestirence, Famin, and other publick Calamiries.

ACT AON, the Son o' Arifleus, and Automore the Daughter of Cadmus, who was brought up in the School of Chirm the Centaur. He was a great lover of Hunting, and continually follow'd this Sport One day as he was purfuing a Hart, he spy'd Diana bathing her felf with her Nymphs: But the Goddess enrag'd to be feen in that condition, threw Water upon him. which chang'd him into a Hart, and afterwards he was torn in pieces by his own Dogs. Paulanias mentions a Fountain of Aftern near Mears, on the fide whereof the Hunter was wont often to repose himself when he was tyred with the Chafe: and there it was that he faw Diana has thing her felf.

Plutarch mentions another Alleon, the Son of Militur, a Corinthian, who was carryed away by force, and whom his Friends tore in pieces while they endeavour'd to recover him out of the hands of his Kidnappers.

ACTIACA VICTORIA, the Adiac Victory which ... Ingustus obtain'd over Mark Antony near Ctory to Posterity, built the City Nicepelie, i. e. Magnificence the old Temple of Apollo, where-folemn Games, call'd Ladi Attiaci, which were celebrated every fifth Year in Honor of this God. after the manner of the Olympic Games: Stephens would have 'em observ'd every Third Year, and thinks they confifted of a Race by Sea and Land, and Wreftling.

ACTIUM, a City and Promontory of Epirus. a place famous for the Defeat of Anteny and all the Forces of the East, by Cafar-Augustus, who built there a new City, call'd Nicopelis, i. e. the City of Victory.

ACTIO, (in the Law) an Adies in a Court of Justice, a Process entred either by the Prosecutor or the Defendant. There were many Formalities observ'd in judicial Actions that were commenc'd against any Person: First, A Petition must be presented to the Judg, to have leave to bring the Person before him : The Judg anfwer'd this Petition by writing at the bottom of it, Attimem de, I give leave to bring him : On the contrary, he wrote Actioneen non do, when he deny'd the Petition. All Actions, especially Civil and Pecuniary, commenc'd after the Petition was prefented, by a Citation or fummoning the Party, which is call'd in Law Vocatio in jus, and in jus vocare. This was antiently done vive vote by the Party himfelf. who meeting him against whom he intended to bring his Action, declared his Intention to him, and commanded him immediately to go before a Magistrate and make his Defence : if he would not go willingly, he might force and drag him along against his will, unless he gave Security to appear at a day agreed upon : bueif he fail'd to appear at the day appointed, then the Plaintiff, whenfoever he met him, might take him along with him by force, calling any By-flanders to bear witness, by asking them, Vis anteftari, who prefently turn'd their Ear towards him, in token of their Confent to do it. This Horace expresses in these Verses in his Satyr against the Impertinent, lib. r. Sa-

- Gafu venit obvius illi Adverfarius. Et quò tu, turpiffine? magnà Exclamat voce : Et licet anteftari. Eco verò Oppone auriculam: rapit in jus; clamer utring; By chance, fays Horace, be meets his Adverfary, and cris to him with a loud voice. Whither art then flying, thou infamous Fellow? and then addreffing himself to me, he prays me to bear witness, whereupon I turn my Ear to him ; and then he feines upon ; the Party, and drags him before a Court of Justice. the Promontory and City of Adium. This with a great Noise on both fides. The Verses pre-Prince to perpetuate the Memory of that Vi- ceding these discover that he had fail'd to appear at the day and hour appointed by the Cithe City of Victory; he adorn'd with great tation. But because this kind of Proceeding was attended with fome fort of Outrage and in he dedicated the Beaks or Reftes of the Ene- Violence, therefore Persons of Honour who was to express the Cause of Action, i. e. to contain the Complaint of the Profecutor, which they called edere Actionem.

ACTOR (upon the Theatre) an Affer; one who acts a Part, and represents some Perfon in a Tragedy or Comedy. In former times many Regulations were made about their Salary. and for punishing those who indulg'd themselves in too great a Liberty. The chief of them, as Tacitus fays, were these, That a Senator could not visit them at their Houses, nor a Reman Knight walk with them in the Street ; That they could not act but upon a publick Theatre. only, which agrees to the Sun. The Senate had a mind to give the Prater a Power of chaftifing the Actors with Rods: But Haterius Agrippa, the Tribune of the People, opposed it, and by his Opposition gain'd the point; because Augustus had declar'd the Actors exempt from whipping, and Tiberius would not violate his Orders.

ACTOR, (in the Law) He who has an Action against another, he who prosecutes another in a Court of Judicature.

ACTOR, the Name of one of Herculer's Companions in the War against the Amazans. He was married to the Nymph Ægina, the Mistress of Jupiter, by whom he had Menetius, who was the Father of Patroclus, who from thence was call'd Afforides.

ACTUARIOLUM and ACTUARIUM NAVIGIUM, a Brigantine, a little Veffel at Sea, very light for failing or rowing.

ACTUARIUS, a Netary or Scribe, Who in former times wrote very fwiftly at the Bar the Pleadings of the Advocates, and for that end used Cyphers, or fingle Letters, or certain Abbreviations to fignifie a whole word.

ACTUARII PALI, Stakes, which were fer up in a piece of Ground of twenty fix feet, which was the Length of one of the fides of the Measure for Land, which the Latins call'd Altus quadratus.

ACTUM EST (a Phrase antiently used in the Comick Poets) 'Tis done, there is no Re-

ACTUM NE AGAS, 'Tis done withal, it cannot be helpt.

ACTUM AGIS, 'Tir loft labour, this is to begin a thing after 'tis done withal.

ACTUS, a piece of Ground of 120 feet. There were three forts of this Meafure : Allus minimus, the least, which contained 120 feet in Length, and four only in Breadth; the fecond which they call Affur quadratur, a Souare. had 120 feet every way; and the third was a double Square, being 240 feet long, and 120 broad, which made an Acre of Ground, or as much as a Yoke of Oxen could plough

ACTUS. on AC; the name of certain Divisions which are made in Dramatic Poems, to give some Respite to the Actors and Spectators. Comedies fometimes confifted of three Acts, but generally of five. ADAD, the Worship which was given to Adad, 1, e, to the Sun, was eafily transfer'd to Adad the King of Syris, and the Founder of many Temples dedicated to the Sun in the City of Damas, as Josephus tells us. Some think that the Prophet Isiah speaks of this Worship of the Sun under the name of Achad: for the Hebrew word Ached is the same with the Chaldee Adad, and it fignifies unicus, i. e. One

ADDICERE, (a Term of the Roman Law) to adjudge a piece of Land, or an Inheritance to any person. Licetur Ebutius, deterrentur emptores partim gratia, partim pretio, fundur addicitur Ebutio ; Ebutius bid money, the Buyers were hindred by Favour and Money, whereupon the Land was adjudg'd to Æbutius for the Price he had offer'd. The Custom was then, as it is at this day, not to adjudge a piece of Land to any Person upon the first Offers that are made, but to prescribe a certain time for admitting Buyers to come in, which being expir'd, the thing was adjudg'd for the Price that was offer'd. And upon this account 'tis commonly faid at this day, Tis adjudg'd, faving the eighth or fifteenth day, i. e. provided that in eight or fifreen days no more is offer'd. Ille fundus centumq;efto tibi emptus, fi quis intra Calendas Janu-arias proximas meliorem conditionem non fecerit, quo res à domino abeat ; This Land shall be yours for an bundred Crowns, provided another do not give more for it before the first day of January. ADDICERE, (an Augural Term) to approve, to authorize an Enterprize. After the Augurs had confulted the Will of the Gods by the Flying of Birds, if the Signs were favourable, they answer'd thus, Id addicum aves. the Gods favour this Enterprize. Cum omnium Sace lorum exaugurationes admitterent aves, in Termini fano non addixere; The Birds having approv'd the Prophanation of all the other Temples, did not approve of this Prophanation in the Chappel of the God Terminus.

ADDICTIO

ADDICTIO, a Judgment for deliver- | (a Term belonging to Sacrifices) to burn Ining the Goods of the Debtor into the hands of his Creditor, when he had not fatisfied him according to the Sentence of the Prater, who condemn'd him to pay the Debt : for then the Judg. by a fecond Sentence, deliver'd over him and all his Family into the hands of his twelve years to twenty five for Boys, and to Creditor.

A D O

ADEONA, an antient Deity, worship'd by the Remans, as St. Auftin tells us, the enabled People to walk.

ADIGERE ARBITRUM, or Arbitrium or ad Arbitrum, and ad Arbitrium, (Forms of Speech which were used by the antient Lawyers) to old. In lib. 2. de Orstere, he says, that there constrain, to force, to oblige one to submit to were some Works of Lucius Graffus which he Arbitrators. They used also to say, Adigere aliquem in sua verba per jusjurandum, to oblige a Perfon to take his Oath.

ADJICIALIS COENA and ADJICIALES EPULAE, a folemn Banquet or Feast which the Remans made at the Confecration of their Pantifices, or on a Day of Publick Rejoicing.

ADDIR, Pater Magnificus, this Word is often attributed to God : even the Philiftimes themselves gave him this Name for smiting Egept with many Plagues.

ADMETUS, a King of Theffaly, who entertain'd Apollo, when he was driven out of Meaven by Jupiter, to take care of his Flocks. In acknowledgment of this Favour, he affifted Admetus in his Amours with Alceftis, Daughter to King Pelias, who refolv'd never to beftow her in marriage but to one who should have a Chariot drawn by two disproportion'd Animals. Apollo therefore furnish'd him with a Lyon and a Bear to draw the Chariot wherein he was to carry off Alcefis. This God obtained also of the Parce, or three fatal Sifters, that he should die by Proxy, and so, when he fell dange- famous among the Affyrians or Caldenn, who roully ill, his Wife died in his flead. But Hercules, going down to Hell, brought her back again, and restor'd her to her Husband : or Proferpina her felf restor'd her to Life again. being mov'd by the Complaints of Admetus for lofing her.

ADMISSIVE AVES, Birds of a happy Omen, which approv'd of an Enterprize : on the contrary, they were called Arcula Aves, when they discouraged and disapprov'd it.

ADOD, Phile Bibles, explaining the Theology of Sancheniathin, fays, that Adad is the King of Gods, "AAAG Banadis Sin. The Kings of Syria Mum'd this Name : for Josephus recites the words of Nicelas of Damafeus the Historian, when he mentions Adad King of Syria and Damascus. Josephus also fays, that Adad King of Syria, and Hazael his Son, received Divine Honours for adorning the City of Damascus with magnificent Temples. See Adad. ADOLERE and ADOLERE THURA cense upon the Altars of the Gods, to pay them Divine Honours.

ADOLESCENS, and ADULESCENS, a young Man, who is not yet past the age of growing. They commonly reckon'd this Age from twenty one for Girls. But if we confider the Use of this word among the Antients, we shall find that they used indifferently the word Adolescens and Juvenis, for fuch as were not yet forty five years old. Cicero lib. 2. ep. 2. calls Carie adelescent, who was more than thirty years wrote in his Youth, & es ipfa adalefcentem feria pta reliquiffe. Salluft calls Gefar adolescentulum. when he obtained the Pontificate, and he was then at least thirty five years of age. Valerius Maximus calls Scipio Amilianus admedum adolescentem, who was more than thirty four years old. And laftly, Gicere calls Brutus and Coffins adolescentes, in the year of their Prætorship, i. e. in the fortieth year of their age. All which Paffages plainly prove, that it was not only in Writing that this word was used for one so far advanced in years.

ADONIS, the Fair Admis, born of the incestuous Conjunction of Cinarus King of Cyprus and his own Daughter Myrrhs, Venu and Preferoms fell both in love with Admis, and the former descended often upon Mount Libanus to fee him, but Proferpine transported him into Hell: but afterwards, being mov'd by the Tears of Venue, the gave him to her for one half of the Year, and the other half he remain'd in Hell. The Worship of Admis and Venus his Mother, fays Macrabius, was very antient and were the first Astrologers in the World, and from them it paffed to the Phanicians. Admis is the Sun, who during the fix fuperiour Signs of the Summer is with Venus, i. e. in that Hemifohere of the Earth which we inhabit : and. during the other fix inferiour Signs of the Winter, is with Proferpine, i. e. in the inferiour Hemisphere of the Earth which is inhabited by our Antipodes. These are the Physical Reasons of the Earth's alternative Sadness and lov. according as the Sun retires from it in Winter, as if it fell into the hands of Death or Proferpina; or approaches nearer to it during the Summer, as if Proferoins had restored it to Venus. When the Poets feign'd that a wild Boar gave Admis his Deaths-wound, they design'd by that to represent the Rigor of the Winter. Ammianus Marcellinus fays, that the Mysteries of Adonis represented the Corn, which is hid fix months under ground, before the time of Harvest approaches; wherein he does only transfer the Mysteries of the Sun to the Corn, which is a Symbol of it. St. Cpril, Archbilhop of Alexandria, relates at large, in his Commentaries upon Jacob, the History or Fable of the Greek Boers about Adons; that Ginarus bring passing summer d misbebe Charms of his Daughter Myrrha, had a Son by her of extracrdinary Beauty, called Adonis, with whom the toscimions Venus fell in love; but Mars, being jealous of her, transfermed himfelf into a Bear, and kill'd Adonis at a Hunting Chace. Whereupon Vemus descended into Hell to fetch him back again. but Proferpina would not releafe bim : Yet at laft, being moved with Compassion for her Tear, they de-greed together, that each of them should vajoy him alternatively for one half of the Year. This is the Accasion of the Grief and Joy that appear at the Feflivals of Adonis. This Father adds, That it was this fort of Uncleanness which the lews imitated, of which Ezekiel fpenks when be fort, the Wamen lamented Thammus, which is Adonis, Exponitur motem Thummeus, Admis : And that the Letters and Meffengers mentioned by Ifaiah, are nothing elfe but the Letters and Meffengers which the Ginies of Egypt fent interchangeably to one another, tagine metice shat Adonis was found again : Quid ubi illa famina Veneris amica, and cum Epiftola vaganifent, perinde ne ft reperten fulfet à l'enere

Admis, hillum pendeant,

ADONIA SACRA, the Mysteries and Sacrifices of Admir, which were celebrated every year at Byblir, in the great Temple of Heme: for in this Country, fays Lucian, in his Des Spris, he was kill'd by a Boar, and in memory of this Misfortune every year a publick Mourning was observed, at which the People beat themselves, and lamented, (and celebrate his Funerals as if he had been dead, tho on the next day his Refurrection was folemnized, because, they say he slew into Heaven,) they shave their Heads as the Egyptians do at the death of their Ox Apis. The Women, who will not be flav'd, are forc'd to proftitute themselves a whole day to Strangers, and the Minhey they get by that Debauch is confecrated to the Goddels. There is also another wonderful thing in this Country, a River, which goes by the Name of Adonis and descends from Libenss into the Sea, changes its colour at certain times, and dyes the Sea as red as Blood; which is look'd upon as a Miracle, this being the time which is dedicated to the Celebration of the Mysteries of Admir, because 'tis believ'd that then he was wounded in the Ferest of Li-

Батия... ADOPTARE, to Adopt, to take a Stranger, and incorporate him into your Family, to take him for your Son, to delign him for your taken from that of his own Father. 'Twas a. Custom to put the Children who were adopted under a Mantle or Gown, fays Furetiere in his Diffionary, as if they would thereby represent that they were the proper Children of those who had adopted them. And from thence came the Cuftom of putting Natural Children under an Umbrella when they are legitimated at a Marriage

ADOPTIO, Alonias, an act by which any one is adopted. The Custom of Adopting was very common among the Romans, yet it was not practis'd, but for certain Caules express'd in the Laws, and with certain Formalities usual in fuch Cases. He that would adopt any Perfon, was to have no Children of his own, or to be past the Age of getting any. In the Infancy of the Republick he was to address himself to the Pontifices, that he might have leave according to Law. This Right of the High-Priests lasted but a little while, and after that application made to the People to obtain it. in the presence of his Father who was to be adopted, to whom the Question was put. Whether he would abandon his Son, together with the full extent of his paternal Authority, and furrender up the power of Life and Death over him, which Question was call'd Adregatio. The ufual Porm upon fuch occasions was this; Velitis jubentis, ati L. Valerius Licio Titio tam lege jureque filius fibi fiet, quam fi ex co patre matreque familiae ejus natus effet, utique ei vita necifque in cum poteffas fiet uti pariundo filio eft. Hoc ita, ut dini, its wes, quirites rege. In the last Age of the Republick, when it was just expiring. Adoptions were made by the Sovereign Authority of the Emperors, who granted that Ptivilege even to Women who had no Children, by their Letters of Concession, the words whereof were thefe; Queniam in felatium amifferum tuerum filierum cupis privignum tuum vicem legitime fobolis obtinere, annuimus votis tuis, & eum perinde atque ex te progenitum ad vicem naturalis legitimique filii habere permittimus, Imper. Dioclesianus & Maximiaus A. A. "Since, for your comfort, " under the Lofs of your Children, you defire " to adopt your Son-in-Law, we grant your Request, and permit you to take him for your " natural and lawful Son. Adoptions also were practis'd in their last Wills, either as for Name or Goods ; In ima cera C. Offavium etiam in familiam numenque adeptavit; "He adopted into "his Family, and to bear his Name C. Offavius " in the last page of his Will. Tiens Livius, tells us, that Cacilius adopted Atticus when he was dying by his last Will, Gecilius morient testamento Atticum adoptavit. Those who were adopted affum'd the Name and Sir-Heir. He who was adopted was enter'd under Name of him who adopted them, and to dethe Paternal Power of the Adopter, and was, note their Family and Birth, they added only at the end the Name of the Family from which I they were descended; or the Sirname of their privateFamily, with this difference nevertheless, fays Lipfius, that if they us'd this Sirname, they made an Adjective of it : As for instance, M. Junius Brutus being adopted by 2. Servilius Capio Agalo, he assum'd all these Names, and retain'd only the Sirname of his own Family, calling himself & Servilius Capio Agalo Brutus. Offavius, on the contrary, retain'd the Name of his House, and chang'd it into an Adjective. calling himfelf C. Julius Cafar Offavianus, which yet did not hinder but they might retain the Sirname which they had affum'd, as Atticus did, who being adopted by 2. Cecilius, was Sirnam'd & Cacilius Pomponianus Atticus, or acquire a new one by their brave Exploits, as Offevius did, who was afterwards firnam'd Augustus. 'Tis with reference to this Rule of Adoption. that we must understand what Suetonius says of Tiberius, That be being adopted by M. Gallius, a Senator, took possession of his Goods, but would not affume his Name, because he was a contrary Party to Augustus. Tacitus, Lib. XV Cap. 8. of his Amali, tells us of the feign'd Adoptions which were condemn'd by the Senate : A pernicious Cuffom, fays he, was mireduc'd, of making many feign'd Adoptions, when the time drew near of chufing Magistrates, and dividing the Provinces among them by Lat ; for when they had obtain'd their Office and Employments, they emanci-pated these whom they had adopted: Whereupen the Perfons aggriew'd came and made their complaint to the Senate, alledging the Law of Nature, and the trouble of Education against these short and fraudulent Adoptions : And therefore it was ordain'd, That for the future no regard should be had to thele Adoptions, either in Offices or in Succeffiens to an Inberitance.

ADO

ADOR, or ADUS, a kind of Corn which was usually offer'd to the Gods at their Sacrifices. The word comes from Ane, ariffa, changing the 8 into &, as from Osds, comes Deus ; or from the word eds, whence it came to pass, that they faid formerly Eder for Ader, according to roafted.

ADOREA, the Goods of this World, in Planthe and Varro; Glery, Homour, and Riches, in Solinus and Apuleius; a Prefent which was made to Soldiers when they were victorious, according to Pliny; and Victory it felf and Triumph, according to this Verse of Herace, Lib. 4. Od. 4. Ille dies qui primus alma risit Adorea.

a Day celebrated upon the account of the first Victory obtain'd by the Romans over Hannibal.

ADORARE, to adore; a kind of Worthip which the Romans gave to their Deities, by putting their Hand to their Mouth and kiffing it, as we learn from Pliny, Adar are, manum ad or admovere. The Romans ador'd their Gods both flanding and kneeling, with their Heads cover'd : and after they had turn'd to the right hand and gone round about their Statues and Altars, they proftrated themselves before them. and lifted up their Hand to their Mouth and kis'd it. Sature was the only God whom they ador'd with an uncover'd Head, that being a Custom which they learned from the Greeks: which gave occasion to Feffus to fay, Lucem facere Saturno facrificantes, i. e. capita detegere, to uncover the Head when they facrifice to him. And we are inform'd by Apuleius, in his Saturna-lia, that it was accounted a ftrange Cuftom to facrifice to this God with a bare Head. Hine eff aund ex inftitute percerine, buic des facrum sperte capite facium: For 'tis certain that the Romans did never facrifice to their Gods, but with their Head cover'd, and their Face veil'd, for fear left in this principal Action of Religion, they should either be diverted by the fight of an Enemy, or distracted by some Objects, or interrupted by some sinister Omen. This we learn from Virgil, Lib. 3. Eneid. V. 403. "For " when your Ships are come into the Harbour, " fays the Sibyl to him, and you have crefted Altars by the River fide to facrifice to the Gods, cover your Head and your Face with a purple Veil, for fear left in the time of facrificing, you should be interrupted by the the presence of some Enemy: Remember always to adore the Gods after this manner. and command your Posterity to observe the Quin ubi transmissa fleterint trant equera classes. Es positis aris jam vota in littere solves ; Purpureo velare comas adopertus amilia: Ne qua inter fancies ignes in honere Deorum. Hoffilis: facies occurrat, & emina turbet. Hunc fecii merem facrorum, bunc ipfe tenete, Hac veftri maneaut in religione nepoter.

Aurelius Victor also tells us the fame in his Abridgment of the Remen History, where speaking of Aneas, he relates, That this Trojan Prince facrificing by the Sea-fide, perceiv'd the Festus, or lastly from adure, because it was Navy of the Grecians approaching, wherein was Uliffes, and fearing left the fight of his Enemy should disturb him in this Action, he cover d his Face, and fo ended his Sacrifice, without one minutes interruption.

In the Second place, The Romans turn'd to the Right Hand round about the Statues of their Gods, and their Altars. Plantur, in his Curculie, makes Phadromus fay, Que me vertam nescie? I know not to which fide to turn me. Palimirus answer'd him, playing upon the word, Si deos falutas, dentro verjum confeo, " If you "mean to adore the Gods, I advise you to "turn to the Right; alluding to the Cuftom of the Romans, of turning to the Right when they worthip their Gods. Pliny confirms the fame thing: " When we adore the Gods, fays ! " he, we carry our Hand to our Mouth, and er we turn round about the Altar, In aderande deutram ad ofculum referimue, tetumque corpus cirsumagimus. In the following Times they proftrated themselves before their Gods, which is the most humble manner of adoring them. Titus Livius, speaking of the Carthaginian Ambaffadors, tells us, That when they arriv'd at the Roman Camp, and came into the General's Tent, they proftrared themselves at his Feet, in the posture of those who adore the Gods, More adorantium procubucrunt; from whence come these Latin Phrases, Advelui aris, Procumbere ad aras, "To proftrate themselves at "the seet of the Altars. The proud and haughry Emperors exacted the like Adorations from those who came to make their Reverence to them; but the wife and modest Emperors rejected this kind of Adoration, as did the Emperor Aexander, by the relation of Lampridius as well as Maximianus, who faid, " God forbid that any one should adore me, " by proftrating himfelf before me; Dii prebibeant ut quifquam ingenuerum pedibut meir ofcu-

ADORATI IMBRES, Sen. Diffributien, The Largesses which the Emperor gave to the People of Rome, which descended like a Shower of Gold, for which they returned Thanks, by Adoration and very fubmiffive bowing before them.

ADRIANUS, furnam'd Eliss. Adrian whom Trajes adopted, and who was the Son of Elius Adrian his Coufin-German. At his accession to the Empire, being willing to gain the good Will of the Senate, took a folemn Oath, That he would not punish any of that Body, but by a Sentence of their own. He remissed all the Arrears of Taxes and Revenues which were due from private Persons either to himfelf or the publick Treasury of the Empire. He burnt publickly the Bonds of some private Men to the value of Two Millions of Gold. He persecuted the Christians outragiously, until Quadratu and Arifiider, two Christian Philosophers, allay'd the Fierceness of his Rage, by their Apologies written in Favour of the Christians, which prevail'd so far with him, that he wrote to the Governours, forbidding them to manish the Christians for their Religion. The Jews, in his time, shook off the Yoak of the Remans, under the Conduct of a notable Impostor, call'd Barchechebas, i. e. the Son of a Star, who call'd himfelf the Star of Jacob, foretold in the Scriptures, who was to deliver their Nation. The Cause of this Revolt was the Temple of Japiter, which Adrian had caus'd to be built overagainst the Ruins of the Temple of Jerufalem. Adrian having notice of it, fent fome Troops to Rufus the Governour of Syria, wherewith he defeated the Rebels in many Battels: Those who remain'd after the Defeat, were fold as Slaves at a very mean rate, and were never fuffer'd to return again to Jerujalem, whose Name Adrian chang'd. and call'd it Elia Capitelina. He caus'd alfo, fays Eulebius, to be plac'd in bas relief, upon the Gate of Bethlebem, the Figure of a Swine, which was an Animal that was most abhorr'd by that Nation, either to fignifie the Impurity of this People, or to denote that they were now fubject to the Yoak of the Remans, who had a Swine for one of their military Signs or lastly, to shew the Contempt he had for their Religion. The Emperor being not yet farisfied with this mark of Slavery, built also a Temple in Honour of Venus on Mount Calvary, and another to Jupiter in the place from whence our Saviour afcended, and a Third to Admir in Betblebem, where the Son of God was born. which continu'd there until the time of the Emperor Conftantine, Adrian was feiz'd with a Bloody-Flux, whereof he dyed with intolerable Pain, after he had reign'd Twenty Years and Eleven Months. He was a Prince endow'd with excellent Qualities both of Mind and Body : he affected much the Reputation of being Life which he published under the Name of Phlages his freed Man, do plainly prove this. Photiss fays, that he had feen Declamations of his making, whose style was easie and agreeable. A little before he gave up the Ghoft, he compos'd fome Verses, wherein he address'd himself to his Soul, and speaks of its Departure: He wrote also a long Letter against the Physicians, whom he accuses of having hasten'd his Death. By the knowledg he had of Aftrology. he has left us a Journal of all things which were to happen unto him, being besides mightily addicted to the Superstitions of Magick. The Senate were upon the point of abrogating all that he had done, and hindering him to be rank'd among the Gods; but Antoninus, his Successor. prevented it, and built him a Temple at Putceli, founded a College of Priests to facrifice to him. and appointed Games to be observ'd every Fifth Year in Honour of him.

ADROGATIO, and ADROGARE. (Terms of the Roman Law) Interrogation, a Demand made in the presence of the People for Adoptions. It was ask'd of the Father of him who was to be adopted, Whether he confented that his Son should pass under the Power of another to be his Son, and of him who was to adopt him? Whether he consented to do it? An wellet eum quem adoptaturus effet, justum sibi fi-lium effe? And of the Son, An id fieri pateresur? Whether he would fubmit to it? See Arregatie and Artigare.

ADSERERE aliquem manu, To fet one at liberty. To give him his liberty. It was one of the antient ways of granting liberty to Slaves, To take him by the hand and fay, Hunc manu affero. Or Liberali causa manu affero, & affero manu in libertatem, I declare him free.

ADTESTATA fulgars, Redoubled Thunder, which feems by the redoubling of the noife, to confirm the good or bad Prefages that were made from it.

ADVELITATIO, (in a Fight) a Skirmish. the action of shooting off an Arrow, or throwing a Javelin to begin a Bartel.

ADVENTITIA bons, Windfals, Goods that come to us besides our expectation, Prustus pradierum adventitii, Fines, Leafes, or two Fifths of an Estate paid by the Tenants.

ADVERSARIA, Papers, or Table-Books, in which a thing was halfily fet down for a help to the Memory, which was afterwards to be written fairly. A Memorandum, or Stone-Book, a Paper-Journal. This word was deriv'd from adverte, because things are noted down in it. to put us in mind of em; or rather, at adversa pagina, wherein were written the Ditburfments, as the Receipts were written on the backlide. But if the Disburfments and Receipts were found to be equal, this was call'd Utramque paginam facere, or perjure among the Ramans; the contrary was call'd Reliquari, to be behind-hand.

ADULTERIUM, the Crime of Adultery, which was always detested by the generality of Mankind, and even by those People that were most barbarous. The Greeks, as well as the Romans, enacted severe Penalties against those who were guilty of it, as Herace informs us in his Book De Arte Poetica, v. 400. - fuit bac sapientia quendam Concubitu probibere vago, dare jura maritit, Oppida meliri, leges incidere ligno.

Ne quis fur effet, neu latro, ne quis adulter. Solon, the wife Law-giver of the Lacedemoniane. would have a Woman taken in Adultery to be punish'd, by stripping her of all the Ornaments that belong to her Quality, by banishing her from all religious Affemblies, and from the Sowho should be found guilty of this Vice, shou'd be personated upon the Theatre, that so they might be exposed to publick Infamy.

We have a famous Law among the Reman Laws, call'd the Lex Julia, which was made by Augustus, and not by Julius Cafar, as some have imagin'd, being deceiv'd by the word Julia; fince 'tis evident, that Offavius, who was furnam'd Augustus, having been adopted by the testament of his Great Uncle, was afterwards | quenti demine nen refiserunt. call'd Julius Cafar, according to the custom of Adoptions, to assume the Name of the Families of the adoptive Fathers. This Law enacted very fevere Penalties against Adulterers. condemning 'em to be fin'd, and to be banish'd into fome defart Island; to be fcourg'd, and to be made Eunuchs, as we may perceive by these Verfes of Horace, Sat. 2. lib. 1.

His fe pracipitem telle dedit : ille flagellis Ad mortem casus ; fugiens bic decidit acrem Pradonum in turbam : dedit bic pre corpere num-

Hunc perminuerunt Galenes ; quin etiam illud Accidit, ut cuidam tefter, caudamque salacem Demeteret ferrum. -

One, finding himself surprixed in the Att of Adul-tory, threw himself headlong from the House-top; another was whipe to death; another bought his Purden ; the other war pifi'd upen by the moft abrett Slaves; and laftly one was made an Eunuch.

Lucian, in the Death of Peregrinus, tells us, That this Philosopher, being taken in Adultery, was forc'd to throw himfelf from the Top of a House down to the Ground, with a Radish at his back, after he had been severely beaten. The Laws declare Adulterers infamous, and incapable of giving any Testimony in a Court of Judicature. The Athenian Laws allow'd the Father of the Woman, the Hufband, and even the Brother, to kill a Man taken in Adultery, with Impunity. Upon this Subject we have a very eloquent Discourse of Lyfias, which is extant. Tacitus gives us an Account, that Emilia Lepida, being accus'd of Adultery, was condemned to the Punishment of being interdicted Fire and Water, which was a kind of Banishment. The same Author informs us also, that Augustus called the Adulteries of Princesses trayterous and facrilegious Crimes. Tacitas further tells us, that Adultery was very rare among the German, and when it was discover'd, it was immediately punish'd: The Husband shav'd his Wife, and having stript her in presence of his Neighbours, he drove her out of his House, beating her with a Stick, and thus led her about in Difgrace through the whole City. By the Law of God. a Woman taken in Adultery was to be fron d ciety of Ladies of Honour. The Thurism or- to death, as we learn from holy Writ. The dain'd, by an express Law, That the Persons Reman Laws did not grant any one Liberty to kill an Adulterer, but only the Father of the Woman : But if the Husband was fo far transperted by his just Resentment to revenge the Diferace by killing him who had debauch'd his Wife, or oven his Wife her |elf, the Fault was parden'd, and neither he nor his Slaves were punifo'd as Murtherers : Si Maritus in adulterio deprebenfam uxorem ocidat. quia ignoscitur el, non tantum mariti, sed etiam uxoris servos pana liberari, si justum dolorem excapetitioned at Rome, that they might affift at Trials with their Presence and Authority, and provide the Expences of the Law for those who were to plead a Cause, which were called Ora-

ADVOCATI, are also the Witnesses which are fetch'd to be Spectators of a thing. Ebutium cum armatis fuife plaribus, cum Advocatis perpancis es veniffe Cacimam, fays Cicero, Ebutius came thither with many armed Men, and Cacinna appear'd with a finall number of Witmeffes.

ADVOCATUS, in Quintilism and Taction is an Advecate who pleads Caufes, and defends the Widow and Fatherless. Let us see what Tacitus fays of Advocates, in the eleventh Book of his Annals, Of all the Villamies which were committed with Impunity, there was none more common than that of Advocates, who betray their Clients for Meney : for an illustrious Roman Knight named Samius, after he had given ten thoufand Crowns to Suillius to undertake his Defence, run himfelf through the Body with a Swerd, in his prefence and at his Houfe, after be underftood that be had betray'd him : which occasioned all the Senators ananimously to demand, That the Lex Cynica might be reftor d. and that the Advesates for the future fould be forbidden to take Prefents or Money. But Smillius and others being concern'd in point of Interest, opper'd shis Advice; against whom Silius maintain'd it, and fbem'd, by the Example of antient Oraters, that they proposed to themselves no other and of their Labour and Study but Honour and Reputation : He alleg'd, that we muft not defile aspassine it ausga, was we all no with fitty Lucre, wer make a Trade of Eloquence; that Fidelity was always to be supplied when it was bought; and that this would foment Discord and prolong Suits, if they were made gainful to Advocates, as Difeafes are to Physicians; that they fould fet before themfelver, for a Pattern, Afinius and Melfala, and thefe later Oraters Arruntius and Eferuinus, who arriv'd at the greatest Dignities mitheut taking any Fee for their Eloquence. This Advice was unanimously received, and the Senators were just ready to condemn all those of Bribery, who Could be convicted of taking any Money, when Suilling, Coffutianus, and others encompasi'd the Empercur to beg his Pargen; and after he had fignify'd the Grant of it, they profecuted their Defence after this mammer; They represented, that there was no Advacate fo wain as to promife himself eternal Fame, as the Remard of his Labours; that they fought by this means on y to maintain their Credit and then Family; and that it was the Interest of the Publick, that Min Should have same to defend them ; that, after all, their Elequence had cost them femething, and while they took pains about the Affairs of another they could not mind their own ; that no body

ABVOCATI, those who in antient times , proposed to himfelf an auprofitable Employment, and a fruitlef: Profeffon ; shat it mat cafy for Afinina and Melfala, being curub'd with the Spails of the Civil Wars, and for Eferuinus and Arruntins. being Heirs to great Eamilies, to make Honour and Glery she end of all their Pains and Study ; but withal, there wanted not Examples of Orators who bad-received Benefit by their Studies, and that all the World knew that Curio and Claudius took great Same for pleading; that, after all, there was no other Gate but this by which the People could onter into Dignities, and that by taking away the Reward of Learning, it would in time be whelly neglected. The Emperour being moved by these Reasons, altho they were rather profitable than benourable, permitted Advocates to take Money in a Caufe, at far at the Sum of two hundred and fifty Crowns; and erder'd that these who took more should be pumish'd as enity of Bribers.

ADV

ADVOCARE, (in the Law) to pray any one of his Kinfolks and Friends to affift him in his Affairs with their Presence, Advice and Credit, and to furnish him with means to defend himfelf. The Person thus requested waited upon the Judges at their Houses, to solicite them, and was prefent at the Trval.

ADY TUM, alumy, a Secret Place, a Rerirement in the Temples of the Pagans, where Oracles were given, into which none but the Priests were admitted. It was the Santhuary of the Temples, Ifque adriis bac Triftia ditta reportat. Virgil, Æneid. 11. V. 115.

A, was in old times written and pronounc'd as A and E feparately, and fometimes as A and D, and at this day is pronounc'd as a fingle R. It was also written AI, and afterwards A: Mufai for Mufa, Kaifar for Cafar, Juliai for Julia, and in other the like Inflances : from whence it came to pass that in some words the A remain'd alone; as Aque ab Equando, fays St. Ifdere. It cannot be deny'd but upon the Corruption of the Language & was pronounced as a fingle E, whence an E was often put for an A. as Eger for Eger, Etas for Etas, Es alienum for As alienum : and fometimes, on the contrary, an IE was put for a fingle E, as Awcatus for Evecatus, and the like, whereof the old Gloffes are full : and for this Reafon Bede in his Orthography puts Ages among the Words that were written with a fingle E.

ÆACUS, the Son of Jupiter and Egina, the Daughter of the River Afopus. Juniter fearing left June should discover his Passion for Egine, transported her into the Isle of Deler, and had by her this Son called Lacus : Bitt June having discover'd the Intrigue, convey'd a Serpent into a Fountain of which the People drank, which so possoned it, that all who drank of it died instantly. Knew feeing himfelf deprived of Inhabitants, prayed to Jupiter, | ference betwirt Alder and Templam is this, therethat he would turn an heap of Ants into fo many Men; which Jupiter granted him, and these Men were called Myrmidens , because miena fignifies an Ast; and the Ifle was call'd Egina, as we learn from Paufanias in his Corinthiaca. Eacus had for his Sons Peleus who was the Father of Achilles, and Telamon the Father of Ajax. Lucian, in his Dialogue Of Mourning, speaking of Hell, At first after your Descent, you meet with a Gate of Adamant, which is kept by Bacus, the Confingerment of Pluto. And in another place he brings him in faying, That be return'd from thence for fear left Some Death fould elease him. This is certain, that he makes him one of the Porters of Hell, in company with Gerberne, who was a Dog with three Heads. Yet Quid, lib. 13. Metamorph, makes him one of the Judges of Hell, rogether with Mines and Rhademanthus, upon the account of his Wifdom Eacus buie pater eft, qui Jura filentibus illic

Reddit

ÆDEPOL, See Ædes.

ÆDES in the fingular, or ÆDES in the plural number. Verry thinks that it was need for Ades, qued eas plane pede adirent ; but fince it was formerly written Aides, it feems rather to come from the Greek at 29, an old Word, which is to be met with in Pinder and Euflethiw. and fignifies the fime with Edes. ÆDES, in the fingular number, is commonly taken for an Holy Place, a Temple ; and Ades, in the plural number, for an Houle, althe this Rule is not without Exception. When the word is used for an Holy Place, 'tis commonly join'd with some other word which determines it to that Senfe, as Ades Sacra, Ades Sacra, Edes Jovis, Edes Pacis, Edes Deorum, the Temple of Jupiter, the Temple of Peace. the Temple of the Gods. If no fuch word be join'd to it. tis commonly to be understood of a Prophene Place, altho in ftrictness of Language. Edes Sacra and Templus were two different things, for Templum was a place dedicated by the Augurs, and defigned by them for fome private Use, but not consecrated; whereas Ædes Sacra was an Holy Place, and confecrated to some Deiry, but not founded by the Augurs. But if this Place was dedicated by the Augurs, and confectated to fome Deity, it was called Templum and Edes Sacra. And for this Reason doubtless we find these words confounded by Cicere and others, and used one for the other : for the Temple of Vertue and Honour, which Cicero called Templum, was called by Aurelius Victor Edicula, by Titus Livius Edes and Cella, and Pliny only Edes; unless they meant hereby to fhew that the Romans us'd their words indifferently. Another remarkable DifTemplans was built upon an high Place to which Men ascended by many Steps, having a large compass of Ground about it, which afforded an unbounded Profpett ; Edes, on the contrary, was built in a low Place, the Entrance was without any Afcent, and it was encompaffed with Houses.

ABDES, in the fingular number, is a House in general, whether publick or private, in the City or the Country : yet according to exact Propriety of Speech, Edes was used for Houses in the City, and Ville for those in the Conntry. Nevertheless, in the Numbring of the People made by the Confers, Villa were called

The Remans, till the time of Prorbus, i. e. for more than four hundred Years, had their Houses built after a very plain fashion. They were made like a Terras, cover'd with Slates and Straw, according to the Testimony of Varre, Scandulis robufteis & ftramente tetta. But in after-ages the Magnificence of their Buildings grew to fuch an Excess, that the Author of the Preface to Vitravius fays, the House of a private Perfon was found to amount to near fifty Millions: and an Ædile caufed to be built, in lefs than a year's time, a Theatre, which had three hundred and fixty Pillars, whereof the lowermoft, which were of Marble, were farty feet high; those in the middle were of Brafs, and these in the third rank were of Cryftal: 'tis faid alfo that this Theatre was adorn'd with three thou and Statues of Brafs; and, after all, that this le magnificent Building was to ferue only for fin.

We shall elsewhere give an account of the Magnificence of their publick Building.

The Pomp and Accommodations of the Reman Honfes were remarkable for their Height. the great number of Apartments they had for Summer and Winter, for divers Ornaments of Atchitecture used about them, as well as for the Beauty and scarceness of the Marerials of which the Bulk of the Building confifted. They raifed their Houses to such a monstrous Height, that to prevent the Ruine of many Houses, Augustus confin'd their Height to feventy feet, and New to fixty only. The Orator Ariftides confidering this excellive Height, fays, That if one flould take afunder all the Rafters of their Houses, and range them in order one beside another, they would cover all Italy from Tim ber as far as the Ionian Sea. Thefe Houses had many Partitions confifting of feveral Apartments, which made them to be taken for fo many Towns. Tue a ftrange thing, fays Valerius Maximus upon this occasion, that the Grandees of Rome thought their Houses were confin'd within too narrow bounds, the they were of as large extent as the Inheritance of Cincinnatus : Anguste fe habitare credunt, querum domus tautum patet, quantum Cincinnati rura patuerunt. Seneca adds, That they built Courts as large as Towns, and House as high at Moustains. Ovid informs us, That Vedeius Pollio having left, as a Legacy by his Laft Will, to Augustus, a very magnificent and sumptuous Honfe; this wife Prince, who then discharg'd the Office of Cenfor, thought that the exceffive Magnificence of this flately Houfe was a bad Example, and therefore can'd it to be demolifhed. After this Livia built in the Same place a Temple, which the dedicated to Conjugal Concord. We scarce sead any thing elfe in the Historians and Poets but Invectives against the Houses of the Grandees of Rome, which had coop'd up the Country Farmers within a very narrow compass, which took up whole Countries, and enclosed Canals of Water, round and four-fquaged, of very large extent upon the great Lakes of Italy's whereas in former times, the Houses of private Men were fmall, and the Republick great, all fumptuous Buildings were referv'd for the publick Conveniencies of Cities, or the Adoming of Temples. This is what Herace cells us in thefe Verfes, Tam pauca aratre jugera regia Males relinquent : undique latius Extenta vilentur Lucrino Stagna lacu, platanusque calebt Buinces ulmos, --- Non ita Romali Praferiptum, & intenfi Catenis Aufpiciis, veterumque norma. Privatus illin census erat brevis : Commune magnum - oppida publico Sumtu jubenter, & Deerum Templa neve decerare faxe.

Od. 15. lib. 11. This Poet elsewhere blames one of his Friends, who had reason to apprehend the approach of Death, and yet was still projecting to build Works of Marble; The his whole Thoughts eight to be employ'd upon Death and the Grave, yet the Earth was not large enough for his Defigns, and he undertook to turn back the Sea, to make way for his Buildings; he drove away his Neighbours, whose Lands were added to his own, instead of thinking in how few days be himfelf fould be laid in a Grave, which would take up no more room than thele he had driven awas from their Possessions. The same Complaints we may make at this day, of the greateft part of the Grandees, who enlarge their own Lands at the expence of private Men : Non ebur, neque aureum

Med renides in dome lacunar -Tu fecanda marmera Locas sub ipsum funus : 🗗 sepulcri Immemor fruis demos : Marifaue Baile obstreventia urees Summe vere littera. Parina locuples continenteripa.

Quid quad ufque proximes Revellie agri termines ? & ultra Limites clientium Salis avarus ? -- Quid ultrà tendis? Æqua tellas Pauperi recluditur. Regumque pueris, &c. Od. 18. lib. 11.

ÆDEPOL, as if one fhould fay, per #dem Pollucis, By the Temple and Deity of Pollux : an Oath of the antient Remans, common both to Men and Women. This God was the Protector of the Ramans, who built him a Temple

ÆDICULA RIDICULI, the Chap-

pel of the God of Joy and Laughter, built at two miles diffance from Rome, without the Gate Capena. The Occasion of the Building of it was this; Hamibal, after the Battel of Came, came and belieged Rome, on that fide where was the Gate Capena; but being forced to raife the Siege with great Difgrace, because of the Inundations and Storms which happen'd at that time; the Rement, upon this Occasion, rais'd a very loud Laughter, and therefore they built a little Oratory, under the Name of the God of Zoy and Laughter. 'Tis true they were not the first who built a Temple to him : for Plutarch tells us, in the Life of Lycurgus, the Lacedemonians rear'd up a Statue to this Deity. and the Inhabitants of Hypats in Theffaly facrificed to him every year. Paufanias also makes mention of a God called 300s years, the Ged of Laughter. The Remans kept a Feaft to him every year, during which they did nothing but laugh and play childish Tricks.

ÆDILES, Roman Magistrates, who had the over-feeing of Buildings, both holy and prophane, and of Baths and Aquadusts. There were three forts of Ediles ; the Ediles of the People, who were called Ediles Plebeii, or Mineres Ediles ; the Ediles Carules, or Majores Ediles ; and the Ediles of the Corn, call'd Ediles Gereales.

The Ædiles of the Commonalty, or fuch as were taken from among the People, were two in number, and officiated the fame time with the Tribunes of the People: for these latter Magiffrates foreseeing that they should be embarrafs'd with the multitude of Affairs, defired of the Senate that they would allow them some Officers, with whom they might intrust matters of leffer moment, for which they should be accountable to them. This the Senate was forc'd to grant them, and they were chosen every year, in the fame Affembly, with the Tribunes. This Office of the Ædiles included feveral Functions, which render'd it confiderable in process of time. Besides the Care of Buildings, both publick and private, facred and prophane, they took care also that they should be built in due proportion, and in a fa Consulfhip for the People, and the Patricians ftreight Line, without fuffering any of them to jet forth beyond the work, into the Streets and publick Places. And it was chiefly upon the account of this part of their Office that they were called Ediles, according to the Opinion of Varre, Edilis qui facras Edes & privatas procurares, didus. In the fecond place, they took care of the Streets, the High-ways and publick places, of keeping up the Bridges and Banks, of cleanling the Streets and Sinks, and laftly, of providing for Aqueducts and publick Works, about which they made Edicts called Editiones, Edilitia. Thirdly, the taking care of Weights and Measures was part also of their Duty : they destroy'd false Weights and Meafures, and laid great Fines on those that used them; they confifcated Commodities which were found to be decay'd, and threw fuch as were naught into the River Tiber: which made Plautus fav in his Rudens. Ita folet Neptunus, quamvis fastidiosus Ædi-lis eft.

Si que improbe funt merces, jaifat omnes. Alluding, without doubt, to this part of the Ædiles Office. In the fourth place, they had the Overlight of the Victuals for the Ciry and Provisions for the Army: they fet a price upon them, and took care that no Monopoly should be made to burden the Publick : they permitted no Ufury in Commerce, and when they discover'd any Usurers, they summoned them to appear before the Tribunes, that they might be punished, as Titus Livius informs us. They took cognizance of Debauches that were usual in Taverns, and forbad the felling of any extravagant Delicacies, according to the Testimony of Suctionius, in the Life of Tiberius, 1. 34. They punish'd debaucht Women, and fuch as play'd in Gaming Houses. They kept the Orders of the People, which were lock'd up in the Temple of Ceres. And Polybius relates. that the Treaty of Peace between the Cartharinians and the Remans was intrusted with the Ædiles, who plac'd it in the Temple of Jupiter Capitolinus. Twas one part of their Office to review Comedies and other pieces of Wit. they also were obliged to grant to the People, at their own Expence, magnificent Sports. fuch as those of the Circus, and of the Goddess Flore; and because they were once excused from doing it, this gave occasion to the Creation of the Ædiles Curules, of whom I shall next fpeak.

The Ædiles of the People being arrived to fo high a pitch of Honour, by fo many confiderable Offices; the Patricians or Sons of the Senators, had a mind to have a fhare in them. and to this purpose a favourable Occasion prefented it felf: for the Tribunes having obtain'd a Preter of their own Order, the Senate thought fit, for appealing all Differences on both fides, that publick Thanks should be given to the Gods by Sacrifices and magnificent Games, which they order'd the Ædiles to grant: But they excusing themselves upon the account of the great Expence they were forced to be at ; the Patricians faid, they were ready. for the Honour and Service of the Gods, to be at the Expence, if they would admit them to the Office of the Ædila. Whereupon their Offers were received, and M. Furius Camillus. being then Diffator, nam'd to the People, by order of the Senate, two Patricians who were created Ædiles Curules, in the year 285, or 288 from the Building of Rome. The two first Patrician Ædiles were Cornelius Quintus Capitolinus and P. Cornelius Scipio, according to the relation. of Titus Livius, in the beginning of his feventh Book. These Ediles were called Majores and Curules, because they had the Privelege to be carried in a Chair of State which was adorn'd with Ivory, and to fit upon it in a Chariot, when they gave Audience: whereas the other Ædiles fat only upon Benches, as the Tribunes and Queffors did. They had also the Privilege, according to Ascenius Pedianus, of wearing the Garment called Pratexts adorn'd with Purple. and of having Liffers walk before them with Bundles of Rods, as Apuleius fays; but Aulus Gellius feems to contradict him, when he remarks, that the Ædiles never punish'd any Person, nor beat him with Rods; which may be understood of the Ædiles of the People and not of these superiour ones. The chief Office of the Ædiles Curules was to look after the Celebration of the great Roman Sports, to be at the charge of Plays, and the Shows of Gladiators to the People; the publick Farms and Fines, which were allow'd to defray the Expence of them, being but a finall matter, they chose many times to make no use of them, to the end they might the more infinuate themfelves into the Favour of the People by this Difinterestedness and Liberality, and by that means be the more eafily promoted to other Offices of the Republick. They had a share in all the other Offices of the Plebeian Ædiles. whereof we have already fpoken. Above all, they took care that no new Religious Worship fhould be introduc'd either into publick or private Assemblies, nor any new Doctrine taught without the Order of the Pontificer, and of this they were bound to inform the Senate. They were careful also, at least under the Emperors, to prevent the publishing of any ill Book, and when any fuch appear'd, they order'd it to be barnt, after they had examin'd it, and condemn'd it as pernicious to the State. Labienus publifh'd published forme Books of this fort, seconding f to the Relation of Scheck, Librer Labieni per E.

diles cremanitos cenfuere Patres. Ediles Ceresles, the Ediles that prefided over the Corn, were allo appointed and taken out of the Order of the Patricians by Julius Gafar, to supervise the Corn. 'Tis probable that these two last were created only to ease the four former, who were oppress'd with a multitude of Business. There were also Ediles in municipal Cities, like those at Rome.

ÆDILITAS, Ædility, the Magistracy of the Ediles, which lasted a year. It included many Magistrates and their different Offices, fuch as there, of the Conful, the Chief Juffice Surveyor of the High-ways, and the High Treasurer. This Office continued in the Empire, according to Juftus Lipfius, till Configuriner's time, who suppress'd it, together with other Magiftracies of the Empire.

ADITUUS or ADITIMUS, a Saoif, or Sexton, a Treasurer to the Temples of the Falle Gods, who took care of the Offerings and other Ornaments of the Gods.

EDITUA, a Sucrift of the Female Deities. with whom was intrusted the keeping of the Treasures of the Temple. ÆDON, the Wife of King Zether, the Brother of Amphiron ; the by miftake kill'd her own Son Bylus, instead of the Son of her Brother-in-law, whom she hated. She designed to have kill'd her felf when she found her miflake; but the Gods in compassion chang'd her into a Limet, who is always complaining of this Misfortune in her Song.

ÆGEON, a Giant. See Briarens.

ÆGEUS, the Son of Pandim King of Athen, who begot Thefew upon the Nymph Ethra. Minos King of Candia declar'd War against him, to revenge the Death of his Son indregeus, whom some of the Athenians had kill'd. In this War the Athenians had confiderable Losses, which forc'd them to defire a Peace, and it was granted them, on condition that they should send every year six young Men, of the better fort of Families, to be expos'd to the Minatoure, for appealing the Ghoft of his Son. The Lot fell upon Thefeus, the Son of King Beins, who efcap'd the Fury of this Monfter : But Egens feeing the Ship return, which had carry'd this cruel Oblation, and not percieving the white Flag fet up, (as had been agreed between them) he supposed his Son was dead, which put him into fuch a Fit of Despair, that he threw himself headlong into the Sea. The Athenians institused Fealts to his Honour, and facrific'd to him as a Sea-God, and an Adopted Son of Netherwife call'd debipelage, or the White-Sen. Tis a part of the Gulph of the Mediterrantan Sea, which begins at the Eastern part of the Ifilmous of Cwinth, or the Promontory Saniam, and reaches as far as the Hellefont, dividing Greece and Europe from Afia. Suides would have this Sea call'd the Agem, upon account of Egens, who threw himfelf headlong into it. fuppoling his Son Thefear, who went to fight the Minoraure, had been flain. Others give it this Name upon the account of a Rock, which lies between the two Isles of Tenedor and Chie, having the fhape of a Goat. The Illes of this Sea were divided by the Antients into Cyclades and Sperades : they reckon'd fifty of the Cyclades, which encompais'd the file of Delerlike a Circle; but the Sperades were fcatter'd here and there rowards the Ifle of Crete or Candia.

Æ G I

ÆGERIA, a Nymph, or Deity that was worthip'd in the Forest Aricins, which Time Livius places feven miles from Rome, but Fellus fays it lay only a little way without the Gate Collina. Nums Pempilius, the fecond King of Rome, feign'd that he had frequent Conversation with this Deity, that he might add greater Weight and Authority to his Laws and Ordinances, and root them deeper in the Minds of the Romans, making them believe that this Nymph Egeris dictated them to him. Ovid makes her the Wife of Numa, who was changed into a Pountain by Dians. Faft. lib. 3. ver.

Egeria eft que prabet aquat, Des grata Ca-

Illa Numa conjux, confiliumque fuit. She was reverenc'd by the Romans as a Deity; and the Women with child pray'd to her. in the time of their Travel, that by her Aid they might be fafely deliver'd of their Children, as we learn from Feftus : Regerie nymphe facrificabant pragnantes, qued cam putabant facile conceptum alvo egerere. She was also call'd Fluinia, because she stop'd the Bloody-flux in Wo-

ÆGIALA, the Wife of Diemedes, whom Venus inspir'd with fo brutish a Passion, that fhe profituted her felf to all Commers, in revenge for the Wound the had receiv'd from her Husband at the War of Troy. Diemedes not being able to endure the Whoredoms of his Wife, abandon'd her, and retir'd into Italy, where he agreed with Danisus for one part of his Kingdom, which was call'd Gracia Magna : He built there a City call'd Argos Hippium, and in after times Argyripps, as Servius fays upon the eleventh of the Eneids.

ÆGINA, an Island with a City of the fame Name, near to Peleponnesus and Attica, which was distant only four Leagues from the EGEUM MARE, the Agem See, 6- famous Port Pyneum, in the lower part of Athens. It was also so call'd from Agira the Daughter | mention'd by Firgil in his first Belogue. This of Asper, King of Bestis, by whom Ispite, in is a Greek word, which lightful Light or splesa Difguise of Fire, had two Sons cail'd Eacus | der and Rhadamanthus.

ÆGIOCHUS, a Surname given to Jupiser, from a Goat, which the Greeks call ATE. Gen. aire, upon the account of the Milk with which he was nourifu'd in his Infancy, by the one of the Priefts of his Temple. For Paule-Nymphs Amalibas and Meliffs. The Poets tell us, that when this Goat died Jupiter cover'd his Shield with its Skin; but afterwards he brought it to life again, and plac'd it among the Celestial Signs.

AEGIS, the Gost-skin of Jupiter; a Buckler cover'd with the Skin of the Goat of Amalthan the Nurse of Jupiter. This Buckler he gave to Pallar, who painted the Head of Medula upon it, the bare Sight whereof petrifi'd borh Men and Beafts. Jupiter took upon him the Name of Ægiochus, i. e. the Goat-skin-Bearer.

ÆGIS, a frightful Monster, born of the Earth, which vomited Fire, wherewith all the Forests of Phrygis were consum'd, from Mount Taurus as far as the Indies. This forc'd the Inhabitants to abandon the Country: But Mnerwe kill'd this Monster and cover'd her Buckler with its Skin, that it might ferve not only for Defence, but also for a Mark of her Victory. Thus Natalis Comes relates the Fable, lib. 4. cap. 5. & Egidem feram vacam menftrum prope inexougnabile obtruncavit, Ort.

AGISTHUS, born of the incestuous mixture of Threfles with his own Daughter Pelonia. He was exposed to Beafts by his Father, in order to conceal his Crime; but the Shenherds fav'd him, and fed him with the Milk of a Goat, from whence he was call'd Ægyfibus. When he came to age, he kill'd his Uncle Atrew, the Father of Agamemnas, and afterwards Agamemnon also at a Feast, by the help of his own Wife Clytemnestra whom he had abus'd. But Orefter the Son of Agentemman reveng'd the Death of his Father, by killing Egyfthur and the faithless Glytennestra

ÆGIOCHUS, Airlox . the Surname of Jupiter, the same with Agiochus. There are feveral Medals of the Emperours Philip and Valerian, upon the Reverse whereof is reprefented a Goat, with this Infcription, Jour Can-Savateri Augusti, and on the other fide a Goat carrying Jupiter an Infant on his back, with the Mother of Arts and Sciences, and in the thefe Words, Javi mejemei.

Waly, and one of the Halperides, who had a Gar- from the Overflowing of the Wile hat waters den near to Lixa, a City of Mauritania towards it, and fattens it with the flimthe Frontiers of Echiopie, where there were | hind when it retires into its C. Trees laden with Apples of Gold, which were | was reduc'd into a Province by Aug guarded by a Dragon; but Hereules kill'd it after the Defeat of Clespatra, who was the laft and carry'd off the Bruit. There is also ano- Queen of it, in the year of the World 4015, ther Aigh, the Daughter of the San and Mears, according to Pitawin, or in 3915, according

EGOBOLUS, an Epither given to Barchus, upon the account of a Goat which the Pomians facrific'd to him instead of an Infant, to expire the Murder they had committed on nias relates, That one day when the Pomians were facrificing to him in his Temple, they get drunk, and in that drunken Fit kill'd one of his Priefts, who in revenge feut a Plague among 'em, which made their Country defelate : To put a ftop to this Milchief, they had recessife to the Oracle, who order'd to fatrifite to him every year a young Boy, to appeale him ; but Some time after the God was contented with the Sacrifice of a Goat inflead of a Boy.

ÆGYPTUS, the Son of the antient Belev. He had fifty Sons which he marry'd to the fifty Daughters of his Brother Danew, who all cur their Husbands Throats the first Night of their Marriage, Hypermuestra only excepted, who follow'd not this cruel and barbarous Direction. but preferv'd her Husband Lyncous alive, who drove Daness away from the Kingdom of the Argives. Ægypsus, according to Eusebius, gave name to Egypt, which was formerly call'd Octana, .lerea and Ofirina.

EGYPTUS, Egypt, a large Country of Africa, water'd by the River Nile, which renders it very fruitful. It was at first inhabited by Mifraine, the fecond Son of Cham, which fignifies Egypt. Tis divided into two parts. the Upper and the Lower. The Upper contains Thebair, which the Prophets Elay and Jeremy call Phetrey: The Greeks call the Lower Egypt, Delta, upon the account of the likeness of its figure to that of their Letter A. The Original of the founding a Kingdom in this valt Country is uncertain and fabulous : only we know that it had Kings from Abraham's time. Mifraim was the Father of Ludim, from whom the Ethippian are descended, who difpute the Antiquity of their Original with the Egyptians; but this they did out of vanity only and upon very bad grounds. The first Kings were called Pharaobi, and the latter Ptolimy's. Egypt was represented in the antient Medals by the Goddels Ift, the great Deity of the Egyptgou; the held in one hand a Sphere, as being other a Veffel or Amphira fill'd with Ears of ABGLE, the Daughter of Helperse King of Corn, to thew its Fettility, which proceeds aves beto Calvifism, and in the year 717. from the Building of Rome. ÆGYPTII, the Egyptians. Who were the first of all the Nations that we know of (fays Lucian in his Syrian Goddess) that had any knowledge in Divine matters, and who founded Temples, and inflituted Mysteries and Ceremonies ; for the Astyrians learn'd these things of them some time after, and added to the Worlbip of the Gods, the Adoration of Idols, because there was none of them at first among it the Egyptians. Thele are they (favs the fame Lucian in his Judicial Aftrology) who have cultivated Aftrology, measur'd the Course of cach Star, and diffinguish'd the Year into Months and Seasons, regulating the Year by the Course of the Sun, and the Months by that of the Moon: They divided then Heawens into twelve parts, and represented each Conftellation by the Figure of some Animal, from whence comes the Diversity in their Religion ; for all the Egyptians did not make ule of all the parts of the Heawens for their Gods : These who observ'd the Properties of Axies ador'd a Ram, and fo of the reft. 'Tis faid also that they worship'd the Ox Apis, in memory of the celestial Bull ; and in the Oracle, which is conscerated to bim. Predictions are taken from the nature of this Sign ; as the Africans do from Aries in memory of Jupiter Hammon, whom they ader'd under that figure. The Egyptians worship'd Water in publick, but they had other Gods whom they ader'd in private : Some worship'd a Bull or an Ape; others a Stork or a Crocodile ; fome worfbip'd Onione, others a Cat, or a Monster wish a Dog's Head ; some ader'd the Right Shoulder, others the Left, or half of the Head ; and fome an Earthen Platter or a Cup. Laftly, Diederus tells us, That they ader'd the Privy Parts : and even the very Excrements, according to Clement, in his fifth Book of Recognitions. Their Cuffom was to Salute their Gods in the Morning, which they call'd Adoration. They Sang Hymns to their bonour, which were describ'd in Hieroglyphic Charatters upon facred Parchments, and none but thefe who were initiated into their Myfteries could read or decypher'em, as being Figures of different Animals, whereof each had its proper Signification, which none elfe could penetrate into, at leaft not till they were explain'd. ÆLIUS, a Name common to many il-Instrious Romans of the Ælian Family; as to Ælius Gallus, a Roman Knight, who carryed the Roman Arms into Arabia; to Elin Petus, a Conful, who having a mind to raife the fiege before Arctium in Tuscany , loft there his Army and his Life in the view of the belieged; to Elius Pertinax, who fucceeded the Emperor Commodus, and enjoy'd the Empire only Three Months, to Elius Adrianus and Elius Verus, who were likewise Emperors. See Adrianus and Verus.

ALIA CAPITOLINA, the City of Jerufalem was thus call'd by Elius Adrianus, who caus'd it to be rebuilt, after he drove all the Jews from thence who had rebell'd against the Romans.

ENE ÆLIANUM JUS, the Elim Code. which contain'd a Treatife of Personal Actions: It was compos'd by Sextus Ælius, a Lawyer and carries all away by force. ÆMILIUS, the Name of a Reman Family, from which many great Men were defeended, and among the rest Paulus Æmilius the Conful. Tacitus relates of him this piece of History; The diffolute Life of the Priefts of Ifis. who were call'd Galli, oblig'd the Senate to order That the Temple of this Goddels, and of Serapis, Should be raz'd to the ground. There was no perfon found lo bold as to execute this Order , because every one Crupled it: Lawfulnesi in point of Religion. Paulus Æmilius feeing this, put off his magifiratical Robe, and was the first who, with an Az, begun to demolift this Temple, which had ferv'd for a Retreat to the most infamous People, and by his own Example he encourag'd the Workmen. When he was Pro-Conful, finding himfelf belieg'd in his Camp by the Ligarians, who had amus'd him in vain. he try'd all ways possible to disintangle himfelf; but being very much press'd, without any hopes of receiving Succours, he forc'd his way through the Enemies, and then defeated 'em, reduc'd 'em to beg a Peace, and to deliver him Hostages. Perfeus, King of the Macedonians, having pitch'd his Camp advantagiously upon Mount Olympus, Paul Emilius endeayour'd by all means to diflodg him from thence, and having discover'd a Path which led to a Hill, whereon was built the Temple of Apello Pythius, he fent his Two adopted Sons, Scipio Africanus, and Fabius Maximus, to feize upon it. Perfess having notice of it, flopt up their Paffage, but was forc'd to decamp, and give him battel, which Paul Amilius joyfully accepted : The Fight was well maintain'd on both fides, but at last the Victory fell to the Romans, who left 20000 Macedonians dead upon the place. Perfens efcap'd with the Cavalry, but diftrufting their Fidelity, he came and furrender'd himfelf to the Proconful, who led him in triumph to Rome, with Three of his Children ; The youngest, call'd Alexander, became very skilful in the Art of Turning, and Joyners Work. Such was the Fate of the last Succesfor to Alexander the Great, and by his Defeat, Macedonia was reduc'd into a Province, and made tributary to the Romans, after it had been govern'd by Thirty Kings, during the space of 923 Years.

Philosopher. AELLO, one of the Harpies to whom this Name agrees, because it signifies One that.

ÆNEAS, a Phrygian by Nation, descendfrom the Kings of Trey in this order : Dardanus was the Father of Erichtonias, and he was the Father of Tree, who had Three Children, Ilus. Affaracus and Gamimedes. From Ilus descended Launedon. Daughter Clytidora, the Daughter of Laomedon, by whom he had Capys, and Capys had Anchifes, the Father of Eness by the Nymph Nais; and Anchifes had Eneas by the Goddels Venus. Wheof Eneas caus'd the Name of the Goddess of the Graces to be given unto her, or that Auchifes had a mind to conceal her true Name, and invented this Fable to render his Son the more venerable, or that he thought thereby to raife the Value of his own Merits; I fay, whatever was the cause of it, this is certain, that no other Name of the Mother of Eness is to be met with, but that of Venus. From hence it appears, that Virgil had reason to call Eneas a Dardanian; for belides that he descended from Dardanus, there was also occasion to call him fo, because his Fathers ordinary abode was in Dardania. Upon the first noise of the Descent upon the Greeks, Eneas threw himfelf into Trey to defend it. Dyctis Cretenfis expressy accuses him of giving the Palladium to Diomedes, and betraying the City. Titus Livius does not accuse him of Treachery, but he is of opinion, that the for refloring Helena, who was the cause of that War to ber Husband Menelaus. Sabellicus having rejefted the Opinion of Die, advances another of his own : Eneau, fays he, not being able to perswade the Trojans to Peace, and being otherwise discontented, treated secretly with the Greeks, and let them in by one of the Gates of the City, upon which was the figure of a Horfe. This gave occafion to the Fiction of a Wooden Horfe, which is mention'd by Homer, and after him by Virgil. Dionyfius Halicarnaffæus, on the contrary, af. firms. That Aineas made extraordinary Efforts to defend Troy and the Palace of King Priam; that be feeing himfelf abandon'd, the Citadel forc'd, and Priam kill'd, retir'd, with all his Family, and thefe who escap'd death at the facking of the City, to Mount Ida, by the favour of the Night, while the Enemy was bufie in taking the Spoil; that then be Mountain, and after he had equip'd 'em with Necefferies, he embarqu'd with the reft of the Trojans upon the Hellefpont, and made his first Descent into a Peninsula of Thracia, call'd Pellena, where be built a City of his own Name. From thence be fail'd to Delos, and from Delos to Cythera, from Cythera to Zacintha, from Zacintha to Leucada, from Leucada to Ictium, from Ictium to Ambracia. After this be coafted along the Sea-fide, and caft Anchor at Buthrota, from whence be transported himself to Dodona, and there having consulted the Oracle, he was confirm'd in his design of going into Italy ; whereupon be reimbarqu'd, and fleer'd his

Lameden, and from Lameden, Priam, the last course toward: Sicily, and made a Descent upon King of Trey. Affaracus married his Grand- Laurentum, after he had pali'd through many Dangers at Sea, which proceeded from the Hatred of the implacable Tuno. After be landed in the Country, he discover'd in it many Springs of Water. and perceiv'd a Som in a Wood, with Thirty [mall ther it were that the Perfections of the Mother | Bear-Pigs, as the Oracle of Dodona had foreteld to > Littorels ingens inventa fub Ilicibus fue Triginta capitum fatus enixa jacebit. Alba folo recubans, albi circum ubera nati: Is locus urbis erit. -

Æn, l. z. v. 200. & lea. King Latinus and the Rutuli being alarm'd at the arrival of these new Guests, came forth to fight em, and drive 'em out of their Country : But the Latines having fuffer'd many Loffes, and Turnus being overcome by Eness in a Duel, at last a Peace was concluded, by the Marriage of Lavinia to Æneas, who built a City call'd Lavinium, from the Name of his Wife. This for the present united the Aborigines and Treians under the common Name of Latines, in Honour of his Father-in-Law Latinus. (This has no relation at all to the Etymology of Latium, à latende, in which there is some reference to Greeks treated him favourably, as well as Ante- the Prophecies of Numbers of Daniel, which nor, because these two Princes were for Peace, and | are justifi'd by the Event.) Æneas was kill'd in a Battel against the Rutuli, on the Banks of the River Numicus; and because he did not appear again after this Fight, this gave occasion to the common Report that he was carried up into Heaven, tho' 'tis much more probable, that he fell into the River when he was fighting, and was detain'd at the bottom by the weight of his Armour : Nevertheless, a little Temple was built to him with this Infcription, Patri Dei indigeti , qui Numice amnis undas temperat. And here it may be observ'd, that the Kings dom of Latium feems rather to have given Name to Latimu, than that this King frould give his Name to this Kingdom; for Latines was before Latinus, who reign'd 43 Years over the Latines. S. Auftin has abridg'd the Hiftory of Æneas, Lib. 8. De Civ. Dei, cap, 19, After the facking of Troy, Eneas came into Italy with built many Ships with the Trees he found upon that Twenty Ships, which carried thither the furniting Trojans. Latinus was then King of it, but after bie death Aneas reign'd Three Years in Italy : Because his Body did not appear after his death, the Laring made a God of him. Homer makes Aneas appear very glorious among the great Heroes of his Iliads, and fays, That the Trojans reverenc'd him as a God. The younger Philostratus, in his Heroicks, equals him with Hetter for his fize and Mien, but fays, that he furpafs'd him in Virtue and good Senfe; and that the Trojans call'd Hetter their Arm, and Ænear their Head. 'Tis agreed among all these Authors, that Aness came into Italy under the Reign of Latinus the Son of Faunus : but the difficulty is, to know what Year he came, of which Titte Limiss. and many others fay nothing. Dissyliss Halicarnaffaus thinks, that it was in the Forty-Fifth Olympiad; Coffedorus in the Twenty Fifth: and Viewers in the Twentieth: infomuch that 'tis difficult to determin in a matter fo much contested; yet there is some reason to believe, that Bucar landed in Itale in the Thirty Fourth Year of the Reign of Latinus.

A N E A S Secondus, or Latinus Sylvius, as Sextus Vider calls him, or Silies and Peftbumins, as Mellale calls him . was the posthumous Son of Russ and Laumia. The Name of Silving was given him because he was brought up in the Woods, whither his Mother retired for fear of Ascenius her Son-in-Law. He had a great Contest with Julus, his Nephew, the Son of Ascanius: but the Aberigines favour'd in his Perfon the Blood of their antient Kings, and advanc'd him to the Throne, and pacifi'd Juliu by promoting him to the chief Honours and Employments of the State. The Cefers glory in their descent from him. Silvius reign'd 29

AE NEAS Tertian Silvian reign'd 21 Years. AROLUS, the Son of Junter and Acels. or Sergelle, the Daughter of Hipporter, a Traine, who is thought to have liv'd at the time of the Trojan War. He commanded the little Mes, call'd Rolling, and was by the Poets made King of the Winds. Virgil speaks of him as Such. Aucid, Lib. 1. v. 6.

- Hic wafte ren Rolm autro LuBantes ventes, tempefintefque foueras Imperio premit, ac vinclis & carere frenat.

But the Worship of the Winds was more antient chan the Reign of Melus. The Persons and Scuthiess ador'd them, according to Strate and Lucion , and yet they never board a word of the King of these little liles. All the Entern Liolaters gave Monour so the Winds, before ever the Pable of Belu was fore'd. 'Tis probable that the Sicilians and Balians took occafrom the nature of these Isles, so make when the Dominion of the Winds, because shey frequently faw flores of Smoke, Wind, and Pice iffeed out of them. Diederus Siculus and Varre, funpor'd that the Poets attributed the Government of the Winds to Eslar. because he perfectly understood the Nature of them, and was the first that invented Sails for Shires. Velorum alum docuit, nautice rei fludiolus: an ignis quoque prodigiis diligenter observatie, qui mansi inernituri ellent incipenis cerso madant. Unde venterum prafes de difpenfator à fabula declaraout of. Servins faid that there are Nine Ifles in the Sicilian-Sea, whereof Varre tells us Æalus was King: And from hence came the Fiction. That the Winds were under his Government.

because he foretold Storms that thould happen. by observing the Vapors and Smoke which proceeded from these Isles, and chiefly from that which takes its Name from Valcan. But this learned Grammarian, after he has related this Fable, confesses it was founded upon Reafon. Pliny fays, That the Ific Strangyle was one of these burning and smoking lifes; that the Inhabitanes, by its Smoke, foretold the Winds Three Days before, and that upon this account it was feign'd, that Relat was Lord of the Winds. Brase remarks out of Pelitins, concerning the Ifle of Lippers, which is the greatof the Seven Rollin Illes, that before the South Wind blew, it was cover'd with to thick a Cloud, that it hindred the near Neighbours of the light of Sicily; but before the Morth-Wind blow, that then this great Ifle vomited up clear Flame, and made an exceeding great noise and roaring; upon which account, the King of these likes was called the King of the 尼OLIE INSULE, the Rollim or Valentian Ifter, near the Promontory of Pelerus in Sially, where Rolu reigns. They are Seven. of which, the most considerable is that of Lipers, from whence proceed Winds, and forms of Fire and Plames, together with terrible Earthquakes, which occasioned the Poets to fay. That it was the Habitation of the Winds. and the Forge of Vulcan, who, with his Cyclope, were the Smiths of the Gods.

AE OUIMELIUM, a great place in Rome before the Temple of the Goddels Tribu. at one end of the Street call'd Enterable. This place was fo call'd from Sestimus Melius, a Remen Knight, who had a House there which was raz'd to the ground by the Sentence of the Dictator L. Quintius Cincinnatus, because he aim'd at usurping the Sovereign Power, by beflowing Largelles on the People. L. Minutius. Commiffary General of the Provisions, discovering the fecret intrigues of Melius, gave notice of 'em to the Senate, who judg'd it an Affair of to great confequence, that immediately they created a Dictator, call'd Cincinnatus. The next day after Meline was cited to answer the Accusation, but he refus'd to appear, and endeavour'd to make his escape, but was purfu'd and kill'd by Servi ins. The Diffator order'd that his House should be raz'd to the ground, and that no person for the future thould build woon the place where it flood: And to perpenate the memory of this Perfidiousness of Molius and of his Punishment, the place was call'd ever after Aquimelium, quafi ab aquata domo Mdii, pro domo fua. Cicero, in his Oration, relates the Story thus; Melii regrams appetentis domus eft complanata, & quid aline comem accidiffe Mela P. R. judicaret ? Nomine ipfo

Rquimelii

Rentinelit finditie pana comprehato eft. Titus | mually a part of the Produce. These Lands Living relates the Story at large, Book IV. Dec. r. AER. See it after Ærerhu.

ÆRA, a Number stampt upon Money. to fignifie the current Value of it, according to Latilias ; it fignifies also the fame with Epoch, i. e. A certain Time from whence to particular way of reckoning Time and Years. And in this last fense the word is thought to be corrupted, and to come from the cuftom of the Spaniards, who reckon'd their Years by the Reign of Agustus, who, for shortness sake, they commonly fer down thus, A. E. R. A. to fignific Annu erat regn: Augasti. The Transcriber not understanding this sufficiently, in process of time, made of thefe Letters the word Ara in the first fense the word comes from Al. and Are in the Plural Number, from whence was made the Ære of the Feminine Gender. bither because in their Accompts to every parcicular Sum, they prefix'd the Word Æra. 25 we do now them, or because the Number of Years was mark'd down in Tables with little Brafs Nails

ÆRA MILITUM, in Suetonias, the Soldiers Pay, because that Money was antiently tnade of Brafs.

ÆR ARIUM, the publick Treasury, the Revenues of the Roman Common-wealth, for deflaying their necessary Expences both in time of Peace and War.

ERARIUM MILITARE, the Funds fettled by Cafar-Augustas, for maintaining the Roman Armies, which were managed by Three Treasurers.

ERARIUM VICESIMARUM, a Treasury or Fund which arose from the Twentieth part, and was kept as a Referve for the extreme Necessities of the Common wealth. As foon as the People of Rome became powerful enough to enlarge the Bounds of their Empire, and conquer almost all the World, they held it their utmost Policy to make themselves absolute Masters of the Conquer'd and their Poffeffions; and therefore all the Gold and Silver, and even the precious Moveables which could be carried away, after some part of 'em had been diffributed among the Soldiers, were carried away to Rome, where they forv'd, first to make up the Pomp of their Triumph, and then were lock'd up in the publick Treasury, to be kept as an eternal Monument to Pofterity of the Glory of the Conquerors, and the Shame of the Conquered. The Victors referv'd to themselves the entire Propriety of the Lands and Immoveables, permitting the Vanquish'd to be Usu frustusrii, which was only to enjoy the Products of the Earth, on condition that they cultivated it, and paid them an-

were call'd Agri velligales, or Pradia tributaria & flipendiaria, because they paid a fort of Tribute or annual Acknowledgment. The Inhabitants, but especially those who refus'd to capirulate or furrender themfelves, were made Slaves, and fold : but because there was not compute or begin the new Year, or fome always a quick Market for them, and it was thought disadvantagious to the Republick to depopulate whole Countries, they often left a part of them free in the enjoyment of their Estates, charging them with a Tax and annual Acknowledgment, besides a Poll, and Service and Homages, which they were obliged to render to the Romans as their Mafters : This Capitation was indifferently levyed upon all forts of persons, without respect to Sex or Condition, the Males from Fourteen, the Females from Twelve to Sixty Five Years; the Fathers were oblig'd to pay for all their Children. The People of Rome, as Plmy informs us, were not deliver'd from this Tribute till after Puelus Æmifins had conquer'd Macedonia, and led Perfins, its King, Captive to Rome, Ann. Rom. 186. Paulus Amilius Perfeo rege Macedonico devillo, fre. à que tempere Pepulus Romanus tributum pendere defir. This Poll-Tax was only paid upon account of each particular Persons Estate, and therefore, every Fourth Year, a firit account was taken of all the Subjects of the Empire, and their Effate, by certain Officers, who were call'd at firft Cenferes, and afterwards, under the change of the Government, Confirmer, Perequitores, & hapettores, because they numbred the Citizens, and valu'd their Eflates, in order to tax 'em the Hundreth part annually. Hence it was, in the Remen Common-wealth, there were Two forts of Taxes, one that was paid for their Head, and another which was paid for their Goods or Lands : Cenfus five tribution : aliad pradit, aliad capitis. There was also annother Tax paid for every Head of Cattel. 'Tis not easie to tell exactly what these Five forts of fettled Taxes amounted to yearly, which made up the Revenue of the Common-wealth; butwe may eafily judg, that these Taxes amounted to vaft Sums, fince they contain'd the Eighth or Tenth part of the whole Revenue of those vaft Provinces, which reach'd from Herceles Pillars as far as the River Euphrates, without reckoning the Money they made of their Paffures. Many have endeavour'd to make a Calculation of it, but they have not done it with any Exactness. To this common Revenue a Fourth was added, which accru'd by the Impolitions on the importing and exporting of Commodia. ties, not only on the Frontiers of the Empire. but at Havens, Sea-Ports, Gates of Cities. Bridges, High-ways, and Rivers; but this was not fo certain as the former, being very uncertain :

on the account of the Diversity of places and 4 Archers and Guards, made use of 'em as Mi-Alteration of Trade: Yet the most common way was to pay the Twentieth, fometimes the Fortieth or the Fiftieth part, the least that ever was paid was the Hundreth, and the highest was the Eighth part. Foreign Commodities which ferv'd only for Luxury and Delicacy, paid the greatest Tax: But we must distinguish betwire this Duty and what was paid as Tol-Money at Bridges and Gates, fince they were Two different things. The Officers and Magiftrates of the Common-wealth paid nothing for the Carriage of Goods which were for their own use. There was also, another Revenue, which was no less considerable than the former which was rais'd from Mines of Gold and Silver, and other Metals, as also from Marihes

All this may give us a general view, wherein the Revenues of the Roman Common-wealth confifted, which ferv'd to maintain all publick Offices and Expences under the popular State, and whereof a great part was return'd into the publick Treasury : But when the Government was chang'd by Civil Wars, which confum'd the Revenues and exhausted the Treasury, and the Supreme Power was vested in the Cafars, this was the occasion of a new Expence for maintaining the Princes Family and his Officers; and therefore Augustus made a Partition of all the Revenues we have now mention'd, allowing one part of it to the People, and referving the other to himfelf : From whence there arole Two forts of Treasuries, one for the People, which was call'd Erarium publicum, and another for the Prince, which was call'd Fifeus, the Exchequer, whereof we shall speak in its proper place. And fo Authors do commonly put a difference between Erarium and Fifcus as Suetenius, who in the Life of Vefpafian, fays of that Prince, Necessitate compulsus, summa ararii fiscique mopia: Yet there are some who confound these two words, because the Prince did equally dispose of 'em both, although they were divided for preferving fome Memory of their antient Liberty.

At the beginning of their Conquells under a popular State, there was no other Method for railing them but this; the People of Rome hawing made both the Persons and Estates of the Conquer'd tributary to 'em, after the manner we have already declar'd, fent into each Prowince a Governour, who was call'd Proconful, Prætor, or Pro-Prætor, because he exercis'd in that Province the Office und Authority of a Roman Conful and Prætor, with whom was joyn'd another Magistrate, who was a kind the Seat of the Empire was translated to Conflanof Treasurer, whom they call'd Quaster, who levy'd the publick Revenues: These Two was wholly chang'd for that which follows, Magistrates having under 'em a Company of wiz. Every year towards the End of Summer, nifters for executing Justice and levying of Taxes, which were laid up in a Cheft, out of which they took what was necessary for the Governors and military Men, and for all publick Affairs, and then fent the remainder to Rome, to be kept in the publick Treasury, which was in the Temple of Saturn under the Care of a Questor, whom they call'd Presettus ererii, the Treasurer; and out of this Treasury was taken whatever was necessary for the publick Buildings, for Games and Shows, for the Mainrenance of their Armies by Sea and Land, and for the Reception of Ambaffadors from foreign Nations. This first Custom of gathering Taxes by the Quaffers did not last always : for a new way was introduc'd of Letting out all the publick Revenues in each Province to private Men, who farm'd them commonly for five years at a certain Sum, payable every four Months, for which they gave good and fufficient Security. Nevertheless the Governors and Questors of Provinces were not changed; they still gave Authority to these Farmers, had the Overlight of them in levying the Taxes, and determin'd all Differences that arose about them; they took care also that the Farmers should pay the full Value of their Leafes, notwithstanding any Deficiencies that might happen, which they run the rifque of. Of thefe Farmers Companies were made, whereof fome were Farmers for one kind of Tribute; and others for another; fome were Farmers of the twentieth. the tenth, the eighth, fome of the hundredth part, and of the other Taxes before-mention'd, and were therefore call'd Offavarii, Decimarii, Vigelimarii, Ce. "Those who farm'd the Gathering of the Tribute were call'd Mancipes. Redempteres vettigalium, and Publicani ; this laft Name, which at first was honourable, according to the testimony of Cicere, in his Oration for Manlius, became afterwards very odious, for their Harshness and Injustice in exacting upon the People; infomuch that Nero was fully refolv'd to abolish them, and had done it, if he had not been hindred by the Remonftrances of the Senate; but he oblig'd them to fet up Writing-Tables in their Places of meeting, to specific what Tribute was to be paid for each thing.

This way of Farming the Publick Revenues lasted a long while under the Emperours, and from hence it comes to pass, that in the Law-Books and chiefly in Pandetts, there is a Title De Publicanis, or Of Men of Bufmelt. But after

Affairs under the Prince, drew up a general Accompt of all that was to be impos'd and levy'd upon the People, and after they had fhared this among the Præfectures or Provinces. and stated the particular Sum which each Province was to pay, they fent Commissions, which they call'd Delegationes, to the four Lieutenant-Generals of the Empire, who were called Prafetti Praterio, among whom it was divided; but they had under them many Provinces, and each Province had itsown peculiar Governour. These Lieutenant-Generals having received that Accompt which belonged to their share of the Empire, fent particular Commissions to each Governour of a Province. and he fent them to the Municipal Magistrates in each City, call'd Decuriones, who in each City made a kind of Corporation, or Municipal Senate, and took care of the Affairs of that City. These Magistrates, whom we may after a sort compare to our Mayors, Sheriffs, Aldermen, Common-councilmen and Judges of the City. were bound, upon receiving the Tax which was to be imposed, to name fome Persons of their Corporation, who were to lay it equally upon each particular Person, upon which account they were call'd Perequateres or Discusfores; and after this was done, the Publick Notary or Town-Clerk enter'd down every Man's Name in a Roll, and the particular Sum he was to pay; which was afterward's publish'd, that every one might know what he was rated at, and what he must pay to the Collectors, who were call'd Susceptores. The Sums of Money which were rais'd by these Taxes, were first in the Province, and the Remainder was fent to Rome, to be kept in the publick Treasury, in the times of the first Emperours was call'd Prafectus Ærarii, and after Conftantine's time, Comes facrarum largicimum ; or elfe it was put into the Prince's Privy-Purse, and intrusted in his hands, who took care of it, and was call'd Comes Rei Privata. The Treasurer sent into the Provinces one of his Officers, who was to press the sending of the Money, and a month after another Officer, who was call'd Compulfor; and both of these were maintain'd ar the Expence of the Governour.

These were the offinary ways that were us'd in the Roman Empire for levying the Taxes which were laid upon Perfons and Lands in the conquer'd Provinces: But as for the Customs | five and Feminine, as we learn from Seneca in upom Goods imported or exported, these were collected, by those that farm'd them, at the Sea Ports, or the Gates by which they enter'd into or went out of a City, according to the Tax which was laid on them.

ÆRARIUS, he who was liable to be tax'd, from whence comes the Phrase Ergring fieri, to be made subject to Taxes, to want the Right of voting in his Tribe, to be depriv'd of the Privileges and Immunities of a City, and forc'd to be oblig'd to contribute to the publick Expences. Ex grariis aliquem eximere, to restore one to his Rights and the Privileges of a Citizen, to exempt one from Taxes.

AER, the Air, which by the Antients was taken for a Deity. Anaximenes the Milelian, and Diogenes Apollonistes affirm'd the Air to be their God : but Cicere and St. Auftin confute them by very firong Arguments. This Holy Doctor informs us, that these two Philosophers did no otherwise attribute Divinity to the Air, but as they believ'd it was fill'd with an Infinite Intelligence, and an infinite number of particular Spirits who made their abode in it; and so their Opinion is co-incident with that Idea of the Platenifts, who thought that God was the Soul of the World, and that all the Parts of the World were full of Spirits and living Substances. The Affriant and Africans gave the Air the Name of June, or Venus Urania and Virgo, as we learn from Julius Firmicus, de Err. Prof. Rel. The Egiptians gave the Air the Name and Worship of Minerva, as Eusebius testifies, Aera verò aiune ab iis Minervam vecari. But Diederus Sieulus has better unveil'd the Mystery of this Doctrine. speaking of the Egyptians, he says, Aeri porrò Athene, feu Minerve nomen quadam vocis interpretatione tribuiffe. Jovifque filiam hanc & virginem putari ; co quod Aer natura corruptioni non obnoxino fis, & fummum munds locum obtineat. Unde etiam fabula è Tovis vertice illam enatam. Vocari autem employ'd to pay off those who bore any Office | tritogeniam, quod ter in anno naturam mutet, were, eftate, hieme; & glaucam dici, non quod glaucos, id eft, caffer habet oculos, infulfum enim boc effet : which was under the Care of a Treasurer, who | fed quod Aer glauco fit colore : To the Air was given the Name of Athena or Minerva, who was thought to be the Daughter of Jupiter, and a Virgin, because the Air by its nature is not liable to corruption. and it possesses the highest place of the World : from whence arefe the Fable, that Minerva came out of Jupiter's Brain; and she is faid to be begotten thrice, because the Air changes three times in a year, Viz. at Spring, Summer and Winter; her Eyes were faid to be blue, because the Air appears to be of that colour.

The Greeks and Romans did most readily call the Air by the Names of Jupiter and June; and thus they diffinguish'd two Vertues in the Air, the one Active and Majouline, the other Pathis Natural Questione; Aera marem juditant, qua ventus est : feminam, que nebulofus & iners. Yet it must be confess'd, that Jame was most commonly taken for the Air; and fo the Greek Name of June des, is faid to be nothing elfe but a granfpetransposition of site. After this manner Gierro explains the Fable of June ; Aer, ut Stoici disputant, interiedus inter mare & celum, Junonis nomine confecratur, que eft foror & conjux Jouis, qued ei similitude eft atheris, & cum es fumma conjunctio. From whence we may fee the reason of the Affinity and Marriage between Jupiter and June, i.e. between the Heaven and the Air, and also plainly understand that other Fable of Homer, That Jupiter hang'd June in a Chain, having Two-Anvils which were faflen'd to his Feet, which fignifies nothing but the dependance that the Air has upon the Heaven, and which the Sea and Land have upon the Air.

ÆS. See after Esculapius. ÆSCULANUS, the Æfculan God, who was the God of Riches, according to S. Austin in the City of God, because Brass in former times was us'd for Money.

ÆSCULAPIUS, the God of Phylick, whom Sancheniathen makes the Son of Jupiter, and Brother of Mercury; and Clemens Alexandrings affirms to have reign'd at Momphis. La-Elastius, in his short History of the Greek Æfculapins, affirms, that he was born at Meffina of uncertain Parents, and nurs'd at Epidaurus by a Birch, and educated by Chiro, of whom he learned Medicine. Paulanius, upon the Picture of the Phlegyans, relates, that a Shepherd having found the Infant Affaulapius, when he was just born, nurs'd him by a Goat of his Flock, and guarded him by his Dog. Feftus contradicts him, and favs that Alfenlapine was nurs'd by a Bitch, and that in Memory thereof, Dogs were kept in the Temple of Alculapius. Hemer and Ouid following him, fay, Apollo was his Father, and Coronis the Daughter of King Phlegyas, his Mother, who, when the was big with Child with this Æfculapius, of whom Apelle was Father, proftituted herfelf to a Fellow call'd Ilchy, the Son of Elster. But Diana, Apelle's Sifter, refenting the Affront put upon her Brother, kill'd Ceronis with an Arrow the shot at her; and as she was ready to be laid upon the Funeral-Pile, Mercury came and took the Child out of her Womb, who was call'd Æsculapius from the Egyptian word Esch, which fignifies a Goat, and Cheleph, which fignifies a Dog, because he was nurs'd by a Goat and guarded by a Dog. Pinder, in his Third Ode of his Pythia, fays, That Apollo himself took the Child out of its Mothers Womb. There are fome Authors would have him to be the Son of Arfinee, the Daughter of Leucipps the Melfinian : But that was contradicted by the Oracle of Delphos, which Apollophones of Arcadie confulted ; for that Oracle answer'd him, That Æ feelspins was born at Epidsurus of the Nymph Coronis, the Daughter of Phlogras. Indeed the Epidaurians were the first who appointed a Festival to be kept in Honour of him, wherein they were follow'd by the Athenians, who call'd thefe Festivals Epidaureana, and plac'd Æsculapine among the number of their Gods, as did likewife the Inhabitants of Pergamus and Smyrna, who built him a Temple by the Sea-fide. He had also a Temple at Cyrene, under the Name of the Physician, by way of Excellency; and the fame Worship was paid, and the same Sacrifices offer'd to him there as at Epidmerus, except that Goats were offer'd to him only in the Temple at Creek. The Statue of this God, which was plac'd in the Temple of Epideurus, was of Gold and Ivory, made by Thrafymeder the Son of Arignetus of the Isle of Para; it was seated upon a Throne of the same matter, holding in one hand a knotted Battoon, and the other leaning on the Head of a Serpent, with a Dog at his feet. There were many Pictures to be feen in that Temple, on the Walls and Pillars of it, wherein divers Difeases that had been cur'd. were reprefented, and the Medicines that had been us'd for that end.

Sanchoniathen afferts, that the first who was

nam'd Æsculapius was an Egyptian, and he ranks him among the Gods, call'd Cabires, or The patent Gods, together with Mercury; and therefore Pliny had reason to say, That the Egyptims boulted themselves to be the first Inventors of Physick. There is no doubt but there were many of that Name, and that the most antient was he who was the Egyptian; whence it came to pass, that Autonimus the Senator, built a Temple at Epideurus to Health. Apollo, and Acculaping, Surnam'd Egyptian. But Æsculapius of Epidaurus was the most famous in all Greece. Cicere rockons up Three Alculatiui's in Greece; the First was the Son of Apollo, worfhip'd by the Arcadians, who first found out the Ligatures and Bandages of Wounds; the Second was the Brother of the fecond M.rcury, who was kill'd by Thunder, and interr'd at Cynefura; the Third was the Son of Arfippus and Artimes, who taught first how to purge and draw Teeth, whose Sepulchre is to be seen, with a little Grove which was confectated to him in Arcadia. Bfculapierum primus, Apellinis, quem Arcades colunt, qui fpecillum inveniffe, pri-musque vuinus obligavisse dicitur. Secundus, secundi Mercurii frater ; is futine percuffus, dicitur bumatus offe Cynofuris. Tertius, Arfippi & Arfinoe, qui primus purgationem alvi, dentifque evulflonem, ut ferunt invenit ; cujus in Arcadia fepulchrum er lucus oftenditur. By which we may plainly observe, that when once the Name of Afenlapins was brought from Egypt into Greece, it was given to many others who invented any new way of Drelling Wounds or Curing Difeases.

Herculei's to be Fifty Three Years after the taking of Troy, which agrees very well with Homer, who speaks of Machaen, the Son of Æsculapius, among those who were at the Siege of Troy : And to him Diodorus Siculus refers | it ; and then immediately the Plague ceafed. what Cicero faid, That he was Thunder-ffruck. This Historian, to fet forth the admirable Knowledg of this excellent Physician, relates. as Hiftory, what probably is nothing but an from the dead by his Medicines. Plute complain'd of this to Jupiter, who ftruck Æ culapius with a Thunder-bolt : Apollo reveng'd his bolts, and kill'd them with his Arrows : Jupiter nunish'd Apollo by condemning him to feed Admetus's Flocks. Pliny affirms, that there was no other knowledg of Phylick at the Siege of Trey, but only to cure Wounds, and after that, it was neglected until the Peloponnesian War for then it was that Hippocrates, as 'tis faid, compos'd his Treatifes of Phylick from the Infcriptions in the Temple of Esculapius, where Persons were oblig'd by a Law to set down all the Remedies which the fick had us'd with fuccefs for their Cure. He adds, That the anrient Romans rejected all Physicians, and therefore the Temple of Affeulapius was plac'd without the City; the 'tis more probable to think, that it was rather done to fignifie, that the Country-Air is purer and better for recovery of Health.

The reason why the Romans built a Temple to Æsculapius, in an Island of the Tiber, near to Rome, as it is related by Aurelius Villor, in his Book of Illustrious Men, was, The Romans, Says he, at a time when the Plague rag'd at Rome, and the places round about it, confulted the Oracle, which gave them this Answer, That if they would be freed from it, they should fetch the God AEfculapius from Epidaurus : Whereupen they fent thither Ten Deputies, the chief whereof was Quintus Ogulnius, who arriving at the City, went immedistely to pay their Respects and Adorations to At culapius: but at the fame time, while they were admiring his Statue, which was of extraordinary bigness, they fam a great Serpent come out of a Vault near the Idel, which imprinted upon the minds of all Men a profound Veneration, rather than any Terror : It paled through the midft of the City across the Streets, and went directly to the Ship that waited for the Romans, where it pofted it felf in the Cabin of Ogulnius. The Romans being allenifo'd at this Judden and happy success of their Voyage, fail'd away prefently to carry off the God, and arriv'd Jafe at the Pert of Antium, where they made fome

Difeases, a The most antient Esculapius a- | flay, during which time the Serpent crawl'd a-shoar. monest the Greeks was not born till a thousand and went into a neighbouring Temple dedicated to Years after him of the Egyptians. S. Clemens Alculapius: Some days after it return'd to the Alexandrinus reckons his Apotheofis, as well as Chip again, and continu'd there till the Ship in its course arrived at the Tiber : But when they were come overagainst Rome, this facred Serpent quitted the Ship, and retir'd into a neighbouring Island. where the Romans took care to build a Temple for

Paufanias relates a Story fomething like this in his Corinthiacs, where he tells us, That Nicagora the Mother of Agasticles, and Wife of Echetion, brought along with her from Evideningenious Fable, viz. That he rais'd Hippolysus | rus Æsculapius, under the figure of a living Serpent, in a Litter drawn with two Mules, as far as the City of Sicyona, where the was born. Philostratus adds, That he had read somewhere. Death upon the Cyclopes, who made his Thunder- that this Serpent was formerly kept by Eleulapius, under Mount Pelion, when he was a young Man. Lucian, in his Dialogue, entituled Alexander,

or The falle Prophet, discovers to us what gave occasion to represent Æsculatius under the figure of a Serpent. He fays then, That the falle Prophet Alexander, having affociated himself with a Byzantine Analist, call'd Cocconas, they went together into Bithynia, where they observed that great Serpents were kept fo tame, that they fucket the Breafts of Women, and playd with Children without doing them any hurt: (from whence doubtless comes the Fable of Olympius, who is faid to lye in Bed with a Serpent.) They bourhe therefore one of the largest and fairest of 'em. (which is the Source and Original of the Serpent of Æsculavius,) and made choice of Paphlagonia. where the Spirits of Men are more dull and superstitious, as a fit place to fet up for cheating the People. and venting their Impostures. Alexander therefore having a long head of Hair well comb'd, and clad in a Cloak of purple strip'd with white, which was couge'd over with a Surplice, bolding in his hand a Faulchion, like Perfeus, from whom he faid he was descended by the Mothers side, hid forme Plates of Braft in an old Temple of Apollo, which is as Calcedonia, and wrose upon them, That Alculmius would quickly come with his Father Apollo, to fettle his abode in this place : But withal, he fo order'd the matter by his Tricks, that these Plates should be found out, and presently the News of them was spread over all Pontus and Rithynia: informed, that the Inhabitants decreed a Temple to be built for thefe Gods, and begun to dig the Foundations of it. Our Prophet transported himfelf in the Night-time to the place where they were digging the Foundations of the Temple, and having found there fome Spring, or at least some Rain-water, be hid in it a Birds Egg , wherein he had inclos'd a very little Serpent which was newly hatch'd : The next day, very early in the morning, he came into the Market-place flark naked, baving only a gilded Girille about him to cover his Nakedness; and holding his Faulchion in his band, he mounted upon an Altar, and began to hold forth to the People, faying, That this place was happy, for being honour with the Birth of a God : At thele words the whole City, which had flock'd together to fee this Sight, became very attentive, and fell a-making Vows, and faying Prayers, while he was pronouncing Come barbarous words in the lewish or Phoenitian Language. After this, he ran to the place where he had hid his Birds Egg, and going into the Water, be fell a finging the Praifes of Apollo and Æsculapius, and invited the latter to descend, and thew himfelf wifibly among Men : At the Speaking of thefe words he dip'd a Cup into the Water, and drew out of it that mysteriour Egg which held a God inclosed in it, and while he had it in his hand, be told the People, That it contain'd Æiculapius: The People being very attentive to behold this wonderful Myftery, be broke the Egg, and out came the little Sexpent that was loded in it, which twin'd round about his Fingers : And immediately the Air was fill'd with Shouts of Joy, which were intermix'd with Bleffings and Praifes; one defired Health of the God, and another Honour and Riches. In the mean sime our Impostor return'd to his Ladging very joyful, bolding in his band Æsculapius born of an Egg, and not of a Crow, (as was faid of him in former times, who was the Sen of Coronis, which figuifier & Crow) and be that himfelf up in the House with him, until the God was become a great one and one day when all Paphlagonia came flocking about him, he fate upon a Bed in bis Prophetick Habit, and holding that Serpent in his Bofom which be had brought from Macedonia, be fben'd him to the People folding about his Neck, and drawing after him a long Tail, fo predigious was his bignest.

This Truth is also confirm'd by many Medals coin'd by the Emperors and the People. upon which Esculapius is represented like a great Serpent. The First is the Reverse of a Brafs Medal of Antoninus Pius, coin'd by the Inhabitants of Abeniteiches, whose Tail made many Foldings, and which without doubt was the Figure of that of Alexander the Impostor, fince these two words are added to it, ABO-NITEIXITON FATKON, the Gircon of the Abeniteichites, i. e. the Inhabitants of that City of Paphlagonia which is call'd Aboniteicher. or the Castle of Abonas. By this Medal we Jearn, that the true Name which Alexander gave to Esculapius, when he return'd to the World under the form of a Serpent, Was Glycen, which comes from the Greek word Nauxis which is as much as to fav. Sweet and beneficial to Man-

bind_ We have feen also this God sepresented in the Medals of the Nicomedians, having the Body of a Serpent and the Head of a Man, with this Infeription upon a Marble CNEUS

GNAVIUS. Philmimus confectated this Marble in testimony of his Thankfulness to Ælculapius the Conferver and Preferver of Mankind, and to Health, which the Greeks call Hygia. and the Latines, Salus, which they fay was the Daughter of Esculapius : She is there represented as giving him fomething to eat or drink, and holding in her Left-hand a lighted Torch.

We have also a Medal of Anteninus Pius, whereon is engraven Two Serpents, with the Name of Aboniteichites, whereof the one is biting the Head of the other, to fignific that Apelle, the God of Phylick, communicated his Knowledg to his Son Æsculapius; and also a Medal of the fame Emperor, which represents the Arrival of Afenlapius at Rome in an Island of the Tiber, under the shape of a Serpent, as Aurelius Victor has inform'd us.

The first Inventer of Physick, according to the opinion of the Greeks and Romans, was Apallo, the Father of Esculapius, as we learn from Ovid, in these Verses, wherein he brings in Apollo thus speaking, Inventum Medicina meum eft, opiferque per orbem. Dicor, & herbarum elt subjecta potentia nobis. Meram. 1. 1. v. $2.1.

And thus the first God which Hippocrates taught his Scholars to fwear by, was Apollo the Phylician ; and then after that they fwore by Æfeulapius, Hygia, and Panaces. Yet Hyginus, the enfranchis'd Slave fays, that Apollo was only the Inventer of Medicines for the Eyes, and that Chirm was the Author of Chirurgery, and Elculapius of that fort of Phylick which is call'd the Clinics, i. e. which teaches how to visit and treat the sick which are confin'd to their Bed ; tho Lucian tells us, that he fet up an Apothecaries Shop at Pergamus; but this looks like a piece of Railery of this Satyrift.

There are also antient Medals of Brass and Silver, done by the Family of the Acilii, with the Head of Esculapins crown'd with a Laurel on one fide, either because he was the Son of Apolle, to whom that Tree was confecrated, or because it supplies Medicines for the Cure of Wounds.

Abricius describes Esculapius in the habit of a Phylician, with a long Beard of maffy Gold, which Dienysius, the Tyrant of Syracuse, took away from him, alledging in Railery, that it did not become the Son to be represented with a Beard, fince his Father Spolle, who was much older than he, had none. In this figure Æforlapius holds his Beard with his right-hand, as if he were in a profound study, and in his lefthand a Staff, about which a Serpent is twining; the Serpent intimates to us that Difeafes with respect to Physicians, are like a Serpent which casts off its old Skin, because Physicians are to free the Sick from Difeafes and Infirm - ties, and make them healthful and vigorous: another reason why this Animal is consecrated to the God of Phylick, is, because the Serpent being the Emblem of Prudence, it fignifies, that this Virtue is more especially requilite for a Phylician. Pliny thinks that the Serpent was dedicated to Æsculapius, because there are some Salts extracted from this Animal, which are Ingredients in many Medicines that are neceswas likewise given to him to signifie that those persons who are raised up from a sick Bed, had need manage themselves well to prevent a Relapfe, or rather because Physick is the Comfort and Staff of Life; this Staff had Knots in it, to fignifie the Difficulty of this Arr, and that it was not easie to cure Diseases.

ÆS, a Metal which was found in the Bowels of the Earth, whereof Money was antiently made : which gives me occasion to speak of several kinds of Money and their use.

Tis certain that at first People traffick'd one with another, by Exchanges of Commodities which their own Country produc'd, for those of Forein Countries: But the Difficulty they found in ballancing these Exchange, pur them upon the Invention of Money, made of Metal or other Materials, according to the Divertity of Countries. The Lacedemonians had no other Mony but little round pieces or Ingots of red aron, which had been quench'd in Vinegar. Cefar, in his Commentaries, lib. 7. fays, that in England there was no other Money but what was made of Copper and Lead, together with fome Buttons and Rings of Iron, which they weigh'd.

Authors are very much divided about the Invention and antient Use of Money: Some think that it is not very antient; and thefe ground their Opinion upon the Authority of Homer, who fays, Iliad. lib. 7. the Greeks bought the Wine which was brought to them in Ships from Lemnos, by giving in exchange for it Copper, Iron, Skins of Beafts, Cattel, and fometimes Slaves. This Opinion is also confirm'd by another Passage in Iliad. lib. 6. where the Poet relates that Glaucus exchang'd his Armour of Gold, which was reckon'd to be worth an hundred Oxen, for that of Diomedes, which was only of Brass. But Pollux lib. 9. c. 7. understands by these Oxen, not any living Animals, but pieces of Money on which was frampt the figure of an Ox; which is justify'd by the Authority of Plutarch, in the Apothegms of Agefilian, who complains that he was driven out of Alia by thirty thousand Men of the King of Persia's, which were arm'd with Bows and Arrows; by which he meant fo many pieces of Gold, call'd Daricks, which were flampt with an Archer.

Others, on the contrary, will have it that Money made of Metal has been used in all times, from the beginning of Mankind. This Opinion they build on a passage in Josephus, in his tenth Book Of the Jewill Antiquities, where he makes Cain the Inventor of it, and fays that he increas'd his Riches by the Mony which he amais'd from all parts. In the twentieth Chapter of Genesu, 'tis observ'd, that Abimelech made fary for the Preservation of Life: the Staff a Present to Abraham of a thousand pieces of Silver, Ecce mille argentees dedi fratri tuo. And the Sons of Jacob carried pieces of Silver into Egypt to buy Corn with during the Famine. for the Scripture tells us that Joseph their Brother order'd the Silver to be put into their Sacks together with the Corn.

We cannot therefore clearly discover, in these dark times of Antiquity, who was the first Inventer or Coiner of Money. We read indeed in Genesis ch. 4. v. 22. that Tubal-Cain, the Son of Lamech and Sella, was a Worker in Brass and Iron; but 'tis not said that he coin'dany Money : All the Certainty we can find in this matter, is only the use of pieces of Gold and Silver in Commerce from the beginning of the World, which may be prov'd by many places of Genefis and Exodus, and by the 43 ch. of the Prophet Exekiel.

The Hebrews or Ifraelites us'd many pieces of money in their Traffick.

The Great Gicar, or the Talent of the Sanctuary, which weigh'd 100 Mine, or 250 Remonpounds.

The Manch or Mina, which weigh'd two nounds and a half, or 20 ounces. The Shekel of the Sanstuary, which weigh'd half an ounce or 20 Oboli. The Drachma, which had an Harp on one fide, and on the other a Bunch of Grapes.

The Little Shekel which weigh'd two drams. The Gers or Obelse, which weigh'd from 14 to 15 grains

Herodotsus favs, that the Lydians were the first who coin'd pieces of Gold and Silver: But there are fome Authors who attribute the first Coining of Money to Erichtheuse the fourth King of Athens; and others who afcribe it to Jones King of Theffaly, of whom Lucan is one, in lib. 7. of his Pharfalia.

Plutarch, in the Life of Thefau the tenth King of Athens, fays, He caus'd eneces of Silver to be coin'd of the value of two drachma's, having on one fide an Ox, in favour of the Marathmian Bull, or the Captain Minotaurus; and on the other Jupiter with an Owl. He caus'd also another piece to be coin'd, which was stampt on one fide with a Minerus, and on the other with two Owls, to shew that it was of double the value; they were call'd Statera, (being worth two shillings and four pence) and weigh'd four drams.

The Money of the Pelepennefians was flampt with a Snail, which gave occasion to that Proverb, & agertui, zi & oveier vigarres Maires The Snail surpasses Wildom and Vertue, which is as much as to fay, All things are procur'd by

Philip, the Father of Alexander the Great caus'd pieces of Gold to be made, which bore | dringentesimo ellegesimo quinte, quinque annis ante his own Image and Name. Plautus mentions | primum bellum Panicum them in his Bacchides; Ducentes nummes auros

Philippeos probos dabin'? The Cyzicenians who liv'd in Bithynia caus'd pieces of Silver to be coin'd of a very fine Metal, wheron was engraven the Goddess Cvbele on one fide, and on the Reverse was a Lion.

the Romans, Servius Tullus their King was the first who caus'd Brass-Money to be coin'd, for in former times they used Bruss in the Lump of a Pound-weight, which was call'd As grave, as Piny affares us, Servius rex primus figuravit es, antes rudi wfer Reme Timeus tradit. The first Money therefore that the Remans us'd was made of Brafs, about the year 180 from the Building of Rome : It was frampt with a Sheep, or, according to Varre, with an Ox : from whence comes the word Peccaia to fignific Silver : tho fome think that the word comes from the Leather-Money which Name caus'd to be made, ex affibus scorteis.

Mevertheless Platerth mentions a Money more antient, which Satura caus'd to be flampt. having on one fide his own figure, and on the other a Ship : that he might leave to Posterity a Monument of his Flight, and Arrival in Itabr on Ship-board.

Macrebius fays. It was Janus who caus'd this Money to be frampt in honour of Savers, which Ovid confirms in these Verses. At bons posteritos pappim formavit in are Malbiris and ventum teltificata Dei. Whether it were Saturn or Janus that coin'd this Money families little: nevertheless it makes it evident that Servius Tullus was not the first who coined Brass-Money, unless they mean that he was the first who stamp'd Figures of Animals on it, and gave it a Currency throughout Italy.

Aurelius Viller mentions a certain Game amongst the Romans, by toffing up a piece of Janus Money , faying Navi an Dil? which will you have, a God or a Ship? because it had the Head of a God represented on one fide, and a Ship on the other, (like our Crofs or Pile.)

Yer the pieces of Copper-Money, which were made in a Mais of a pound-weight, were not used of a long time : for the first Pay that the Roman Legions received, was of this Monev. according to Titus Livius; also Pacuniary Mulcis were paid in this fort of Coin.

But, according to the Fafti Capitalini, in the year 485, and five years before the first Punick War, under the Confulfhip of & Fabius Maximus Piffor and L. Quintius Gulo, certain Silver pieces were coin'd which were called Denarii. because they were of the value of ten Affer; Argentum figuatum, favs Pliny, anno Urbis mua-

This is the Sum of what hath been hitherto faid of the Reman Money. In the time of Nums the Romans wied Leather-Money, Nummie fcorten; and for two hundred years after, Copper always in a Mass of a pound-weight. Servius Tullus, their fixth King coined pieces of But it does most clearly appear, That among a less value, which he call'd Trientes and Rusdrantes, these had the Figure of a Ship stampt upon them : He also coin'd other kinds, which he called Sextantes, and Unciales, or Unciaria Stips. These are all the forts which were currant among the Remans all this time. There were also several small forts of Leaden Money, according to Martial, lib. 10. epigr.

Centum merebor plumbees die 1910.

Silver pieces were not coined till the year 485. viz. the Denarius, which was ten Affer in value : the Semidenarius, call'd Quinarius, or five Affes; the fourth part of the Denorius, call'd Seffertisom; and laftly, the Termeius. All these forts of Money were Silver, flampt on one fide with a Woman's Head, which represented Rome. and on the other with a X, or a V, or fome other Letter to fignific the Value. Upon fome of them was flament the Images of Caffer and Pollux, two Roman Gods. There were other kinds alfo, on which was represented Vistory on foot crowning a Trophy with Garlands. feated on a Triumphal Chariot, holding out Garlands, ready to crown the Victorious. Feflux and Titus Livius call them. Nummi Victorati. Bigati, Quadrigati.

In the latter Ages of the Commonwealth. the Masters of the Mint caus'd the Heads of fuch Persons as were famous either in War or Peace, with a Representation of their great Actions to be flampt on pieces of Money.

Pieces of Gold called Nummi surei, were not used in Commerce, till the Consulship of Claudies Nere and Livius Salineter, which was in the year $46, after the Building of Rome, and fixty two years after these pieces of Silver began to be current; they weighed two drams and an half.

Per es & libram, or Ære & libra, were Phrafes used among the Romans in felling by weight

Their Adoptions, Obligations, Expertations, Payments, Sales, and Purchases, were made in Copper, by guess and weight, as we shall shew under Denarii aperti.

A.S. this Word also fignifies a Bell, with which the Romans us'd to give notice that the Publick Baths were open, or going to be flut; as we may learn from that of Martial, lib. 14. epigr. 163.

Redde pilan, fonat et thermarum.

ÆSO, Æſm, the Father of Jasm, whom Mides reffor'd to his Youth again, by the power of her Magick.

ÆSOPUS, Æfop, who compos'd the Fables, so ingenious, and full of good Instru-Stions, there being not any one of them but contains excellent moral Advice, which may make us just and prudent in the conduct of our Lives. We may with pleafure fee there most natural Representations of all mundane Transactions. The Pictures are not drawn with dead Colours, but with living and fenfitive Creatures, which do not only reprefent to us the Faces and outward Shapes of Men, but also the Dispositions of their Mind. Æfop was a Phrygian Slave, of finall stature, very deform'd, being bunch'd behind and before. He obtained the Gift of making Fables of Mercury, as we learn from Philoftratus in his Description of Fables; When I was a Child (fays he) my Mother sold me a flory of Fables. ÆSop (continues he) being a Shepherd, commonly fed his Flock near a Temple belonging to Mercury, into which he often went to gray that God to inspire him with Knowledge, to which he had a great Inclination. Several Persons frequented the Temple upon the Same account; but the Offerings they made to that God were much more valuable than Æfop's, who had nothing to give him but a few Honey-combs. and the Stroakings of the Milk of his Sheep, with a few Flowers with which he cover'd his Alters. Mercury, as a bountiful and generous Drity, was willing to reward their Devotions, and answer'd their Prayers; to some he gave Wisdom, to others Eloquence; to Some Afrology, and others Poetry: Æion only was forgot in the Distribution, and complain'd of it : Mercury not knowing what remain'd to give him, call'd to mind a Fable which the Hours, his Nurses, had taught him in his Childbood, of a Cow that fpake to a Man, and had made hm defire the Oxen of the Sun, whereupon he refalv'd to give Æfop a Faculty of making Fables, in which he became very excellent There was another of that Name, who was a Comedian, and Cicero's intimate Friend. Plmy fays of him, That one day he made a Banquet of fuch an excellive Expense, that one Rarou, made of the Tengues of these Birds that imitate Man's voice, which thought to coft fix bundred Sefterces, or fifteen thousand Crowns. He had a Son as extravagant as himfelf, who at a Feast drank feveral Pearls of extraordinary Value, bear to powder.

AESTAS, Summer, the hottest Seafon of the Year, which is between Spring and Anrump. The Summer herecofore contained fix months, the Year being then divided into two parts only, Winter and Summer: for the Summer was reckon'd from the Equipment of March to the Equinox of September, and the Winter from the Equinox of September to the Equinax of March. But the Aftronomers have now divided the Year into four equal parts, or Seafons, Spring. Summer, Autumn and Winter: the Summer Solffice begins in the Sign Concer, June 12. when the Sun is nearest us, and makes the longest day in the Year. Poets represent the Summer in the Form of a Goddess crowned with Ears of Corn, holding a Sickle in one hand, and a Sheaf of Corn in the other.

ESTIMATIO, Estimation, or Valuation, a Term of the Roman Law, used in buying and felling, and is taken not only for an Apprainment. Value or Price, but also for the things appraised. They say, astimare litem, to signifie. to tax the Cofts of a Suit.

ÆTAS, an Age in general, contained no more at first than twenty five or thirty years : but afterwards it was counted an hundred years. Servius observes, that an Age is taken fometimes for the space of thirty years, for an hundred and ten years, and fometimes for a thousand.

'Tis necessary to say something here of the four Ages of the World, according to the Poets, both Greek and Latin, who have reduc'd them to two, the Golden Age, or as we Chriftians fpeak, the State of Innocence and Hanpiness before the Fall of Man; and the Iron Age, or that of Sins and Miferies, after the

What the Scripture informs us concerning that Innocence and Happiness in which God created the first Man, feems to have given occalion for what the Poets have faid of the four Ages of the World, viz. the Golden, Silver, Brafs, and Iron Ages. Ovid in his Metamerph. lib. 1. ver. 80. has described the Golden Age. which is the State of Innocence, thus,

Aurea prima lata est atas, que vindice nullo. Sponte sua sine lege fidem restumque colebat.

That is called the Silver-Age, in which the Spring was no longer the only Seafon of the Year, but the Earth refused to produce its Fruits, unless forc'd by the long Labour of Tillage. In fine, when Men had need of Cloths to defend them from the Sharpness and .. Injuries of the Weather, and to apply themfelves to Arts and Sciences, to supply the Neceffities of Life.

- Subiit argentea proles Auro deterior.

and Iron, degenerated yet more, and run into all forts of Crimes and Vices.

Tertia poft illas successit abenea proles

Servier ingeniis, &c., Villa jacet pietas, terras Aftras reliquit.

The Golden Age, or Age of Innocence, if we may believe the Poets, was common to many Nations; for Ovid faith, that in the times of Janus and Saturn the Italians enjoy'd the Company of the Gods, and liv'd in Innocence, Justice, Peace, and all other Advantages of the Golden Age; this he speaks in lib. 1. Fasterum. The Golden Age was then in Italy, when Saturn and Janus reigned there.

Virgil has taken notice but of two Ages, one before the Reign of Jupiter, the other after : for it was in the Reign of Jupiter that Men began to divide and till the ground. 'Twas then that Jupiter condemn'd Men to a hard and laborious Life, and forc'd them to invent Arts.

Senece follows the fame Method, diftinsmithing the two Ages of Men into just and happy, and unjust and unhappy, viz. the Golden and the Iron Age.

Heffed lived many Ages before these Latin Poets, and made this Diftinction of Ages before them. He describes the three first much like those of Ovid. He also calls them the Golden, Silver and Steel Ages; the fourth he makes an Age of Justice and Valour. This fourth Age of Hefied may be computed about the time of Meab, when there was a Restauration of Juflice. This is not the only Point in which Heffed hits upon the Truth ; for he has plainly discover'd that it was Woman by whom all Evil entred into the World : Sed Mulier manibus magnum operculum cum dimovisset, dispersit, hominibus autom immiste curas, v. 92. This is the Description he gives of Pandors, who was the first Woman made by the hand of God. This was that Panders who open'd the Fatal Box of Evils which over-spread the Earth, in which Heffed is follow'd by the other Poets ; as Paulaniar observes.

The Life of every Man is likewise divided into Four Ages, or Four different Times of which 'tis made up, viz. Infancy, which continues till the Fourteenth Year; Youth, to Twenty Four; Manhood, to Sixty; and Old Age, to the end of our Life. The Age or Term of Life at which a Man was qualified for Offices, war differently appointed in the Common-wealth of Rome, and under the Emperors. A Man ought to be at least Seventeen years old to be Soldier. None could obtain a Quæftorship till the Age of Twenty Seven. They would not allow any to be Tribunus Plebis till Thirty Years old. None could be an Ædile before he was Thirty feven

The two following Ages, wiz. the Brass | Years old. Nor a Pretor or Conful till Forty. These fix'd Times could not be dispens'd with, especially under the Emperors.

Tacitus teaches us, that at first they had no respect to Age, even in bestowing their greatest Dignities, and he mentions young Men who were Dictators and Confuls. It does not appear that those Ages were settled till the Year 373. under the Confulthip of Pefthumius Albinus and C. Calpurnius Pifo, when Julius the Tribune made a Law, as Titus Livius relates, which ascertain'd the Age for all Offices.

ÆTERNITAS, Eternity, was reckoned among the Gods worshiped at Rome. It is differently represented to us upon Medals; her Statue was fometimes drawn in the Habit of a Roman Lady, holding a Javelin in her Right-hand, and a Cornu-copis in her Left, fetting her Left-foot upon a Globe. The Emperor Adrian caus'd her to be graven holding two Heads in her Hands. Upon some Medals of Philip, Eternity is also represented fitting upon an Elephant; on a Chariot drawn by two Elephants or two Lyons, with this Motto, ETERNITAS.

ÆTHER, Jupiter, or the more fine part of the Air, which is easily inflam'd, and where the Thunder and Lightning is formed out of the fubrle Matter, which is fet on fire there: Hence it is that the Poets fay, that Jupiter caufes the Thunder, and darts Lightning upon the Earth. This word comes from al Sw. uro, to burn; and 'tis likely that Jupiter is also nam'd Zais, because (dis comes from Cia, ferves, to

ÆTHIOPIA, a very large Country of Africk. It was first call'd Arberia, after that Atlantis, and fince Ethiopia, from Ethisps the Son of Vulcan, according to Pliny; or rather from the word aide, ure, to burn. The Hebrews call it Chus, that is to fay, Black Geographers place Ethiopia under the Torrid Zone, between Arabia and Egypt. The exceffive Heat of that Climate hath given Birth to many monstrous Men and Beasts, of which the Historians Pliny, Strabo, and others speak.

Æ THIOPES, The Ethiopians, or People of Ethiopia. Hefiod calls them ardess zwares. Black Men. Homer gives 'em the Epithet of Blameless. They go to fight dancing, as Lucian fays, and before they draw out their Arrows, which are fet round their Heads in form of Rays, they leap and dance to affright their Enemies. They were the first who found out Aftrology; for tis a subtile Nation, which excels all others in Ingenuity and Knowledg. Homer calls them Thrice happy. They treated Jupiter, with all his Train of Gods. Twelve whole Days at their Sacrifices, as we learn from the fame Lucian.

Horfes of the Sun; the First is call'd Pyrois, i.e. Red, because the Sun, when it ascends above our Horizon, being overspread with Vapors from the Earth, appears red; the Second is Eout, i. c. Shining or Bright, because the Sun being mounted up, and having dispers'd the Vapors, appears clear and bright; Æthon is the Third, which fignifies Burning, as the Sun is at Noon, when it is in the middle of its courfe, and when it fcorches us with its Heat and Fire ; the Fourth is 'call'd Phlegon, Ruffetcolour'd, as the Sun is when it fets.

ÆTHRA, the Daughter of Oceanus and Their, and Wife of dilar, by whom the had a Son named Hyas, and Seven Daughters, who fo lamented the Death of their Brother Hyas, who was torn in pieces by a Lyon, that they dyed of Grief: Jupiter chang'd em into fo many Stars, which the Astronomers called Hyades, or Rainy.

ÆTION, the Father of Andremache the Wife of Heffer, who was flain at Thebe: by the Greek, with his Seven Sons. He was particularly honoured at the Olympick-Games, fays Lucian.

ATION, Action, a famous anrient Painter, who has left us a famous Piece of the Amours of Reseme and Alexander , which he shewed to the Publick at the Olympick-Games; he drew a magnificent Chamber, where Rexans face upon her Bed thining in glorious Apparel, but more glerious yet by her Beauty, although the looks down for thame at the prefence of Alexander, who flood before her : A Thousand little Capids flew about her, of whom some lifted up her Veil behind, to thew her to the Prince, others undreft her, others pull'd Alexof Modesty, and presented him to his Mistris: He throws his Crown at her Feet, accompanied by Epheficen, who holds a Torch in his Hand, and learning upon a beautiful Boy. which represents Hymenaus. On his side are other little Capide which wantonly play with his Arms. Some carry his Lance bowing under fo heavy a burden, others his Buckler, upon which there is one fitting whom they carry in Triumph, while another lies in ambush in his Breaft-place, who attends 'em in the passage to affright 'em. This Piece gain'd Action fo great Reputation, that he who prefided over the Games, gave him his Daughter in Marriage. ÆTNA, Æms, a burning Mountain in Sicily, which was also call'd by some Mount Gibel, which fends forth from time to time Whirlwinds of Fire and Smoke, and Clouds of Ashes. This Fire is fed by Veins of Brimftone and Bitumen kindled by the Winds, which are inclosed in these subterraneous Ca-

A. T. HON, the Name of one of the Four | verns. Fabulous Antiquity would make us believe, that Jupiter having flain the rebellious Gyants with Thunder, thut them up in this Mountain; that the Bellowings, which are heard to come out of it, are the Groans of those Gyants, who are overwhelm'd with the excessive weight of that Mountain, and that these Fires that iffue out of it, are the Breath and Wind of these miserable Creatures : This Virgil describes in these Verses of Lib. 2. of his Eneids, v. 578. & feq.
Fama est Enceladi semustum fulmine corpus

Urgeri mele båc, ingentemque in uper Ætnam Impositam, ruptis flammam expirare caminis : Et feffiem quoties motat latus, intremere omnem Murmure Trinacriam. -

AFFIXUM, or AFFIXA, that which is fixed or joyned to a Building. The things which are added to an House, and are over and above the Building.

AGAMEMNON, the Son of Atrent

and Europe, and Brother of Menelaus, was King of Mycene, one of the Kingdoms of Peleponnelus. Going to the Siege of Trey to revenge the Rape of his Sifter-in-law Helens, he left with his Wife Clytemnestra, a musical Poet who was faithful to him, to divert her in his absence, and so hinder her from acting any thing contrary to the Fidelity she ow'd him. Beiftbens the Son of Thyestes, who endeavour'd to debauch her, feeing that this Poet broke all his Meafures. and oblituited his Deligns, carry'd him away into a defart Isle, and left him there to die of Hunger, and returning to Mycene, debauch'd Clytenmelirs, and got possession of the King-dom. Agamemnes, at his return from the Tra-Jan War, was flain by his own Wife at a Ban-quet which she had prepared for him, having inclosed him in a Gaiment without a Bosom when he came out of the Bath. Orefler revengd the Death of his Father upon his Mother, and Refilient, who debauch'd her, for he kill'd em both. Agametanen was chang'd into an Eagle after his Death.

AGANIPPIDES, an Epithete which the Poets give the Muses, from the Fountain Aganippe, or Hippacrene, which was confectated to AGAVE, the Daughter of Cadmus and Hermiene, who in the shape of a Boar tore in pieces her Son Pantheus, King of Thebes, because he abolish'd the Orgia or Feasts of Bacchas in his Realm, upon account of Debauches committed in them.

AGE, Quodagis, a Form of Speech us'd in the antient Sacrifices, which was often repeated to the Person that offer'd, to make him more careful and attentive; as if it were faid to him, Mind what you are about ; Let not your Thoughts makes us active, and to whom the Romans built a Temple upon Mount Aventine. rais'd upon the Tombs of the Antients; Virgil makes mention of them in his Eneids, Lib. XI.

— Terrina ex aggere bustum.

as also in v. 6. of Lib. VII. Aggere composito tumuli

Sidenius writes to one of his Relations named Secundus, that coming from Lyons to Clerment in Awvergne, he observ'd that Time and Water had almost laid plain an Heap or Bank of Earth, which cover'd the Tomb of Apollinaria his Kinfman, who was Prafellus Praterio, A. C. 409. Catulus speaks also of these Tombs, and calls them, Concervatum buftum excelfe aggere.

Aggere Tarquinii, the Ramparts of Earth which Tarquinius rais'd between the Mountains, Viminale, & Esquilina, from whence Sustains Tays, they cast down Criminals head-long: Venberatum per wices agerent , qued pracipitaretur en

AGLAIS, One of the Three Graces, which the Greeks call'd Charites, the Compamions of Venus the Goddess of Beauty. They were the Daughtert of Jupius and Essymme.

AGLAURA, the Daughter of Cecrops, and Sifter of Hirle, with whom Mercury fell in love: This Messenger of the Gods, to gain the Favour of his Miffris, engag'd her Sifter Aglaurs, who promis'd to ferve him, by giving her a Sum of Money. This provok'd Minered fo much, who could not endure fuch fordid Avarice, that the commanded Easy to make her jealous of her Sifter Hirfs; while the was contriving to crofs Mercary's Deligns, he turn'd her into a Statue of Salt.

AGLIBOLUS, forme learned Men guels, that this word comes from Alyalus and Bulken, to east a light, to shine. Helychius lays, that Aiglieu, which signifies Shining, is a Name of the Sun; and so Adibolus is the Sun. Mr. Spon, in his CURIOUS ENQUIRIES after Antiquities, fays, that there was an antient Marble at Rome, in the Vineyard of Cardinal Carpegns, on which was the Portrait of two Syrian Deities, with an Inscription in Greek thus englished.

To the Honour of Aglibolus and Malak-belus. The Gods of the Country, and he affirms, that Aglibolus is the Sun, and Malak-belus the Moon. He fays, that the Habit of Aglibolus is not after the Roman Fashion, but, like the Syrians, short. with a fort of Cloak uppermost, which ought not to feem firange, fince thefe Figures were drawn in Spria, and every Nation is clothed after their own Fashion, as Theodoret fays. The Habit of Malak-belus is fomething like that

A GENORA, the Goddoss Agenus, who | which the Runnu were in their Wars, which they call'd Paludamentum, with a Cloak over it. But the Crown is not like the Reman, no more AGGERES, Heaps of Earth which were than the Hair which the Remons usually thav'd; and this gave occasion to Vefpasian, as Sucremius telates, to tell the Romans, when they were frighted at the fight of a Comet with a long Tail above their Horizon, that that Comet did not belong to their Country, but the Kingdom of Persis, who wore long Hair, and had most reason to fear the effects of it. Salmasius is of another opinion in his Commentaries upon the Historia Augusta, for he will have Malak-belus to be the Sun, and Aglibelas the Moon, but he gives no reason for the Conjecture, and 'tis likely he never faw the Marble, which I have fpoken of.

AGNATI, are the Relations on the Fathers fide, and who are of the fame Race. In the Civil-Law 'tis faid, Ad agnatos deducere aliquem, To put any one under a Guardian, To forbid him the Administration of his Goods. by the advice of his Relations.

AGNO, a Fountain of Arcadia, fo call'd from a Nymph fo nam'd, the Nurse of Jupiter. When the Water of it was us'd in facred matters, it afcended in the form of a Cloud, which after fell down in Rain.

AGNODICE, a young Maid, who being defirous to learn Phylick, conceal'd het Sex, and went to be inftructed by Hersphylu a Phylician, the particularly soquir'd the Skill of Midwifery. The Phylicians much envy'd her. because the was preferr'd before em, fummon'd her before the Judges of the Arme-ger, accuring her of debauching the Women the deliver di- But having different der Sex, the convicted them of a Calumny, which occation'd the Judges to make a Law, allowing free-born Women to profest Midwifery.

AGNOMEN, is a Name added to the Sur-name which was given from fome particular Action; as one of the Scipie's was named Africanus, and the other Afraicas, from the brave Achievments which the one did in Africa, and the other in Afia. Without all doubt fome Persons had heretofore a particular Sur-name, which was as it were a Fourth Name. The Author to Heremius makes mention of this Agnomen, when he fays, Nomen autem cum dicimus, cognomen & agnomen intelligatur opertet.

AGONALIA, was an immoveable Feaff appointed by King Name, which was celebrated every Year, on January 9. in Honour of the God Jamus, as we learn from Ovid, Lib. L. Farforum, v. 317. Quatuor adde dies ductie ex ordine nonie

Jamus agonali Lucepiandus erit,

The Ren Sucrerum at this Feaft facrific'd a Wethet to the God Janus. Authors differ in their opinions opinions about the Occasion of this Feast. | Mother of Penthess, which was never afted by Varre will have it fo call'd from a Ceremony used in all Sacrifices, where the Priest being ready to offer Sacrifice, asks the Sacrificer, Agen which was used then for Agamne Shall I ftrike ? Feffus derives this Word either from Agmia, which fignifies a Sacrifice. which they led to the Altar, ab agendo, from whence these forts of Ministers were call'd Agenes; or from the God Agenius, the God of Action; or from Agencs, which fignific Mountains, and fo the Agonalia were Sacrifices which were offer'd upon a Mountain. Indeed the Mount Quirinalis was called Agonus, and the Colline-Gate which led thither Ports Agmenfis, which the same Festus will have so call'd from the Games which were celebrated without that Gate in Honour of Apelle, near the Temple of Venus Erycina; where the Cirque of Flaminius was overflow'd by the Tiber.

AGO

But it is more probable, that this Feast was called Agonalia, from the Greek word a wir, which fignifies Sports and Combats which were us'd in Greece, in imitation of those which Hercules appointed at Elis first, and confecrated to Jupiter, as these Verses of Ovid shew, Lib. I. Fafterum, v. 359.

Fas etiam fieri silitis atate priorum Nomina de Ludis Graca tuliffe diem. Et prius antiquus dicebat, Agonia, ferme Veraque judicio est ultima causa meo.

There are Two Feasts celebrated at Rome of the fame Name, one upon April 21. which falls on the day of the Palilia, on which the Building of Rome is commemorated; and the other on December 11. according to Feftus.

AGONES, the Salii, of whom Varro fpeaks, in his Fifth Book of the Latin Tongue. See Salii.

AGONES CAPITOLINI, Games which were celebrated every Five Years in the Capitol, instituted by the Emperor Demitian in his Confulfhip, and that of Corn. Delabella Sergius. All forts of Exercises both of Body and Mind were represented there, as at the Olympick-Games, as Players on Instruments, Poets, lack-Puddings and Mimics, which strove, every one in his own Profession, who should gain the Prize.

The Poet Statius recited his Thebais there, which was not well lik'd, as he complains in feveral places of his Silva. This ferves to explain a place in Juveral not well understood, -Sed cum fregit subsellie versu Eferit intaliam Paridi nili vendat Agaven. Sat. VII. v. 86.

But his Thebais not having the Success he expected, and he having procured no Patron by it,

Paris the Stage-Plaver. Sorge Commentators explain this place of Juvenal otherwise, and think the Poet meant the contrary, that his Work was well receiv'd and univerfally applauded. Altho this Explication be allowable enough, yet 'tis evidently contrary to the Complaints which Statiss makes in feveral places of his Poems, unless we think it better to fay that Statius complains that after he had receiv'd Applause for his Thebais, he was nevertheless ill requited for it afterwards. In these Exercises the chief Conqueror receiv'd a Laurel Crown adorn'd with Ribbands, but the others receiv'd a plain One without any Ornament, as we may fee by these Verses of Aulmius. Et que jamdudum tibi palma Pectica pellet Lemnisco ernata est, quo mes palma caret. Poets thus crowned were call'd Laureati.

These Sports were so much esteem'd by Demitian, that he changed the Account of Years, and instead of reckoning by Lustra, which is the space of five years, they counted by 4x0nalia and Agenes Capitolini, from their Institution to the time of Conformus.

AGRARIA LÉX, the Agrarian Law, was made for the dividing Lands got by Conquest, which the Tribuni Plebis would have to be shared among the People by Poll. Spurins Caffins Vicellinus being Conful first propounded this Agrarian Law, Anno U. C. 267, which was the cause of a very great Quarrel betwint the Senate and the People; but it was rejected the first time. There are two Agragrian Laws mentioned in the Digefts, one made by Julius Cafer and the other by the Emperour Nerva, but they had respect only to the Bounds of Lands, and had no relation to that we now speak of

Caffins perceiving the ftrong Opposition which fome made that this Agrarian Law might not be received, proposed to distribute among the People the Money which arose from the Sale of the Corn brought from Sicily, but the People refused it.

After this first Attempt, a peace was settled in Rome for some years; but in the Consulship of Cafe Fabius and Amiliu: Mamercus, Lacinius Stele Tribune of the People proposed the Agrarian Law a fecond time in the year 269 from the Building of Rome. This fecond Attempt had no better Success than the former, tho it was pass'd over calmly enough. Nevertheless the Conful Cefe feeing the People fond of this Law, and that the Senate was politive it ought not to be received, contriv'd a way to fatisfie both Parties, as he thought, by propoting, that only the Lands of the Vejentes, conquer'd dyed of Hunger, and after being to sublist under his Consulfhip, should be divided among himself by selling the Tragedy of Agave, the the People, but this met withno better Success than the other.

the Opposition of the Senate drew up many Accufations against the Patricians and Noblemen before the People, and caufed many of them to be fined and banish'd, which so much provok'd the Coufuls, that they caused Genutius the Tribune to be flab'd: this Affaffination raifed a great Tumult in Rame, and flir'd up the People to revenge, till the Conful Sempremius was condemned to pay a large Fine.

Lastly, In the year 320 from the Building of Rome, Mutius Scavola put Tiberius Gracthus, the Tribune of the People, in mind to have the Agrarian Law established against the Will of the Senate, Nobles and Rich Commons. Offsvius, his Partner, being rich, was not of the fame mind, and opposed the Law. Gracshus, feeing that, accused him before the People of Prevarication and Unfaithfulness in his Office, and caused him to be depos'd with Difgrace. This Obstacle being remov'd, the Agrarian Law passed, and Commissioners were appointed to divide the Lands.

AGRIPPA, feveral Perfons among the Antients bore this Name, which was usually given to fuch as came into the World with Difficulty, or which were born with their Feet forward, as Aulus Gellius affirms. The most eminent of this Name were, AGRIPPA SYLVIUS, the twelfth King of the Latins, the Son of Tyberinus Sylvius, whom he fucceeded; he reigned thirty or forty years, and Aremalus fucceeded him in the year of the World 3281.

AGRIPPA MENENIUS, furnamed Lanatus; he was chosen General of the Remani against the Sabins, whom he conquer'd, and obtain'd the leffer Triumph called Oustion : he was endow'd with admirable Eloquence, which made him undertake with Success to reconcile the Senate and the People of Rome; to this end he went to the Aventine Mount, where he pathetically represented to the People, that all the Commonwealth was but one great Body of which the Senate is the Head and Stomach which feems alone to devour all that the Labour and Industry of the other Parts can get but in Reality 'tis only to distribute it to the self of the Body to nourish and strengthen it; and if the Members do not daily supply them with the usual Nouristament, they themselves would foon be found to be without Vigour, Heat or Life. This excellent Comparison was fo aptly apply'd, and fo zealoufly explained by Agrippe, that the People were reconciled to the Senate, who confented to the Election of 2 Tribune, chosen out of the People, to protest them against the Authority of the great Ones. This Magistrate had a right to oppose the Confultations of the Senate, by faying this | Emperour, he was flruck on a fudden, as he

The Tribunes of the People, being angry at | Word, Pete, I. e. I oppole it, and forbid you, to proceed further.

AGRIPPA, named Marcus, a Man of a. mean Original, a Favourite of Augustus, Admiral of the Empire, a great Captain, and a Companion of that Prince in his Victories. He affifted him much in obtaining that Victory which he had in the Sea-fight against Sextus Pompeine, of which Virgil fpeaks. Augustus bestow'd the Confulship upon him twice together, and, as a Surplus of his Pavour, he made him his Son-in-Law, by marrying his Daughter Jakis to him, who had been first married to Marcellus his Nephew, who died without Children. This Agrippa had two Daughters and three Sons, viz. Calar, Lucius, and Agripps, who was a Posthumous Child, i. e. born after his Father's Death. Augustus adopted Caius and Lucius before they were seventeen years of Age; he had them proclaimed Princes of the Youth, and earnestiv defired that they might be chosen Confuls. The first married Livis the Sister of Germanicus. These two Princes were soon taken from him. by the Wickedness of another Livia their Mother-in-Law, or by their own Misfortunes; one in a Voyage to Spain, whither he went to command the Armies, and the other in his Return from Armenia, from whence he came ill of a Wound. As for Agripps the posthumous Child, Augustus complain'd of him, and caused him to be banish'd by a Decree of the Senate, into the Isle Planafia. He was indeed a stupid and brutish Prince, and withal a simple Man. Tiberius, who fucteeded Augustus, made his Access to the Empire remarkable by the Death of Agripps, who being furpriz'd was flain by a Centurion, whom he fent on purpose, without making any Defence. Tacit. Asnal. lib. 1.

AGRIPPA, Hered, the Son of Ariflebulas, whom Hered the Elder put to Death. He was King of the Jews, and had the Favour of the Emperour Caligula, who at his coming to the Crown released him from Prison, where Tiberius had shut him up, for wishing Caligula had his place. This Emperour, besides his Liberry, gave him a Chain of Gold, of the fame weight with that which he had worn out of Love to him while he was in Prison, and gave him the Tetrarchy of his Uncle Philip, who died without Children, and allow'd him to take upon him the Title of The King of the Jews. He made himfelf infamous at his Arrival at Jerusalem, by the Death of St. James the Great, and the Imprisonment of St. Peter. But his Cruelty was not long unpunish'd, for as he was in Cafarea Palaffine, bufied in the Celebration of the Publick Plays for the Health of the AIA was making a Speech to the People, with a f furprising terrible Pain, of which foon after he died.

AGRIPPINA, the Grand-daughter of Augustus, and Daughter of Mareus Agrippa, was the Wife of Germanicus the Son of Drusus the Brother of Tiberius, Some believe that her Hufband was poisoned by Cn. Pife, the this Crime was but weakly proved at the Condemnation of Pilo. She carried her Husband's Ashes to Rome, and laid them in the Tomb of the Cafors. Tacitus fays, she was a Woman of an haughty and untameable Spirit, but she aton'd for her Passions by her Chastity, and the Love the bare to her Husband.

AGRIPPINA, named Julia, who married, at her fecond Marriage, the Emperour Claudius, who was her Uncle; but she foon after poifon'd him with what she put into Mushrooms, which afterwards at Rome were called The Food of the Gods. Britannicus, who was Claudius's Son by his first Marriage, ought to have fucceeded him in the Empire; but Agripping advanc'd her Son Nero to it, contrary to his Right, that the herfelf might reign under the Name of her Son. She had him by Domitius Encobarbus her first Husband, and Claudius adopted him into his Family, which opened a way for his Accession to the Sovereign Dignity. But this ambitious Princess was well rewarded for it, for Nero caufed her to be flain by Anicetus, and, for compleating her Infamy, order'd that the Day of her Nativiry, should be recken'd among the unfortunate Days.

AJAX, the Lecrian, the Son of Oileus, fo named from the City and Country of Locris, near Mount Parnaffus. He fignaliz'd himfelf at the Siege of Trey by many notable Exploits. After the taking of the City, he pluck'd Caffandra, the Daughter of King Priam, from the Altar of Minerva, to which she was fled as an Alylum. Some fay, he ravish'd her, and that Minerus, being provok'd, reveng'd the Fact by flaying him with a Thunderbolt, which fir'd his Ship, and fo drowned him in the Sea. But Philoftratus fays the contrary, that Ajax offer'd no Force to Caffandra, but that Agamemnon took her away from him, having feen her in his Tent, and to avoid the Mischief he might delign against him, fled by Sea in the night, and fuffer'd Shipwrack by a Tempest that overtook him. The Greeks much lamented him, and made an extraordinary Funeral for him, for they fill'd a Ship with Wood, as if they would make a Funeral-Pile for him, flew feveral black Beafts in honour of him, and having also set up black Sails in the Ship, they fet it on fire about break of day, and left it to run into the Main Sea all in a flame, till certain Engines, but at last he perithed by a it was confum'd to Ashes.

ATAX TELAMONIUS, the Son of Telamon, King of Salamis, and the fair Eribes. according to Pindar. He was one of the most valiant Greeks that was at the Siege of Troy. After the Death of Achilles, he pretended that his Armour belonged to him as the next of kin : but Theris exposing them to the Publick, that every one that pretended a Right to them might claim them, Uisser disputed it with him and gained them. Aiax was thereupon fo much enraged, that he fell upon a Flock of Sheep. with his Sword drawn and brandished, and flew them, fuppoling them to be Grecians, and then he thrust himself through with his own ; Sword and died.

AIUS LOCUTIUS, a Speaking Poice, to which the Rement erected an Altar, according to Cicero and Aulus Gellius, or a fmall Temple, according to P. Viller, in the Newfireet. The occasion of it, as Cicero and Livy relate, was thus; One named M. Ceditius, a Plebeian, went and acquainted the Tribunes. that passing through the New-street in the night. he heard a Voice more than human over the Temple of Velta, which gave the Remans notice that the Gault were coming against Rome. This Information was neglected upon account of the Person who gave it; but the Event prov'd the Truth of it. Hereupon Camillar thought. that, to appeare the angry Gods, he ought to acknowledge this Voice as a new Deity, under the Title of The Speaking God, and to build an Altar to offer Sacrifice to him.

ALA, a Worg, in the Roman Armies, was made up of the Cavalry and Infantry of the Confederates, and which cover'd the Body of the Roman Army, as the Wings cover the Bodies of Birds. There was a Right and a Left Wing, both mix'd with the Cavalry and Infantry, which they called Alares, or Alares Copie. They were made up each of four hundred Horsemen divided into ten Squadrons. and 4200 Foot. Some fay that Pan the Indian. a Captain of Bacchus, was the first Inventor of this way of drawing up an Army in Battle. whence it comes to pass that the Antients have painted him with Horns on his Head, because what we call Wings they called Horns. ALADUS or ALADINUS SYLVIUS Eutropius calls him Romus Caffiodorus, and Sextus Victor names him Aremulus. Titus Livius, Meffala. and Sabellieus call him Remulus. But the there are different Opinions about the Name of this Prince, there is an univerfal Confent in the Abhorrence of his Tyranny, and a general Agreement about his extraordinary Death. His Pride transported him so far as to equal himself with Jupiter the King of the Gods in his Age. He counterfeited the Noise of his Thunder by Tempelt :

vain. Fire from Heaven confum'd his Palace : the Lake, in the middle of which it was built, flowed extraordinarily, and contributed to the Destruction of his Family. He reigned nine-reen years. ALAPA, a Box on the Ear. Majoris Alaba mecum veneunt. Phad. I do not grant them Liberty to eafily. (Boxes on the Ear were usually given to Slaves when they were fet at Liberty.)

ALAUDA, & Lark. The Poets fay it was Scylla the Daughter of Nijus King of Megara, whom the deliver'd into the hands of Mines King of Crete, having cut off his fatal Hair, which was of a purple Colour. The Gods changed her into a Lark, and her Father into a Hawk, which continually purfues her, fays the Fable to punish her horrible Treason.

ALAUDA, the Name of a Roman Legion of a French one, according to Buchart; the Soldiers of which carried a Lark's Tuft upon the cop of their Helmets. ALBA, a Name given to three or four Cities, of which the principal was Alba Longa, fo called by the Antients because it extended to a great Length in the Territory of Rome, it was built by Afcanius the Son of Enems, from whence the Inhabitants are called Albini. A senius built it in a place where he had observed a white Sow, thirty years after the Foundation of Lavinium, which his Father had built. This number of Years was fignified to him by the thirty Pigs which that Sow then fuckled. He would have transported the Gods of Tray, which Anes had brought with him, into this new City; but he found the next day they were carried to Louiniam : whereupon Afeanise left them there, and contented himfelf with fettling a College of fix hundred Trojens, to ferve them according to the Worship used in Phrygia. Egiftheur was chosen to be the it the furtheft end toward; the East, and where al-Chief of those Priests. This City had several Kings, and maintained fierce Wars against the Combat between the three Caratii on the Albins parts, and the three Heratii on the Rejest to the Romans, as both Parties had agreed I have observed by Water-Clocks, that the Nights are before the Combat, Metius Suffetius was made | fbereer in these Parts than they are in Gallia. the first Governour of it.

ALBINUS, a Native of Adrumetum in Awhich came from Reme, having the Whitenel's places, and meft of the inhabitants live upon Milk of the Europeans, but a frizled Beard like those of that Country; his Stature was tall and pro- for Clothing. portionably thick, he was of a melancholy

All the English paint their Badiet with Woad, Temper, and had a wide Mouth; he was also which makes them of a blewish Colour, and renders

Tompeft and Thunder as real as his own were | That he eat at one Breakfast five hundred Fig. one hundred Peaches, ten Melons, twenty pounds of Raifins, one hundred Wood-peekers, and four hundred Orfers: which without doubt is rather an Hyperiole than a Truth. After the Death of the Emperour Pertinan, Albinus was chosen Emperour by the Troops which he commanded in Great-Britain; and at the fame time Severus, who had just defeated Pescennius Niger, was likewise chosen Emperour by the Eastern Troops. Albinus, fearing least he should be feiz'd in England, went into France with fifty thousand Men. and Severus had about as many. Albient being fecure, because the City of Lyons took his part, gave Severus battel. He had an Advantage at the first Onset, and Severse himfelf, being faln from his Horfe, had thoughts of giving over the Battel; but at last Albinus was conquer'd, and the Conquerour caus'd his Head to be cut off and fent to Rome, and cast his Body into the River Rhofne.

ALBION or BRITANNIA, England. Cafer, L. S. e. 3. of the War with the Ganls, gives this Defcription of it ; the interiour part of Britannia is inhabited by the Natives of the Country, but on the Coafts by the Gauls, which, for the most part, keep still their Names : the Island is well peopled, and their Houles much like the Gauls : they have much Cattel : they use Copper Money, or Iron Kings by weight, for want of Silver : they have Mines of Tin in the middle of the Country, and of Iron on the Coafts, which vield no great Revenue, but the Copper which they use is brought them from abroad : all forts of Wood grow there as in France, except Beach and Fire : the People foruple to est Harer, Geefe and Henr. altho they breed them up for Pleasure : the Air is more temperate than in Gallia, and the Cold left violent : the life is triangular, the fide which is opposite to Gallia u above an hundred and twenty Leagues in length, from the County of Kent, which most all the Ships from Gallia do land, to the other which is Southward : the Western Coast, which lies Romans; which did not cease till the famous overagainst Spain and Ireland, contains near 180 Leagues in length. Ireland is not half fo big as England : between them lies the lile of Mon, or mans fide. The three Caratii were flain, and Anglesea, where some say there are thirty Dans and by their Death their Country became fub- all Night in Winter; but I found no fuch thing, only

The most cruiliz'd People of England are thefe of the County of Kent, which lies along the Coafts. frick : He was descended of a Noble Family The inward parts of the Country are not till'd in all and the Flesh of their Flocks, and wear their Skins

a great Eater. A certain Writer, named Co- them more formidable in Battel. They shave off all drus, has told incredible things of him, faying, their Hair except that of their Head and Whiskers. Their Women are common to ten or twelve, but their | He will not follow the Example of Old Albutius Children belong to those who married them.

Tacitus, in the Life of Agricola, gives us this Character of England ; It is the biggeft Ifte which is yet known : it has Germany on the East, Spain on the Weft, Gallia on the South, and the Main Ocean, which has no Bounds, on the North, Fabius and Titus Livius, the two most elequent of our Hi-Berians, as well antient as modern, have compared it to a long Buckler, or the Head of an Ax, because the hither fide is of that figure. It was not known till our time that 'twas an Ific, after a Tour was made about the Northern Coast of it, where there are discover'd other Isles at a further distance called the Orcades, and Island it felf, which a perpetual Winter keeps from our View. The Original of the Inhabitants is not known, whether they are Indigenæ or Strangers. The Scots have Hair and a Stature like the Germans. Thoje who dwell on the fide next Spain, have frinled Hair, and are of a Tawny Colour. The reft are like the Gauls, to whom they are Neighbours.

The Sky is always thick and cloudy, but the Cold is never very fierce: the Days are longer than in France, but the Night is very clear, especially about the extreme parts of the Ifte, where there is but little diffance between the End of one day and the Beginning of the next; forme fay, that in a clear and ferene Sky, they do not whelly lofe their Light, but it feems to turn about alove the Herizon ; fo that, properly Speaking, they never fee the Sun either rife er fet. They have neither Vines nor Olive-teees, nor other Fruit-trees which grow in het Countries, altho athermife it is very Fruitful : their Fruits come out of Greece. His Courage and Conduct were early, but are a long time in ripening, for want of Heat, and by reason of the abundance of their Meiture.

ALBO-GALERUS, a fort of Cap made of white Weel, which had a Tuft on the Top, and upon which they were Branches of Olives embroider'd. The Flamen Dialis, or Priest of Jupiter only had a Right to wear it. ALBULA, a River where Tiberius Selvins was drown'd, who was King of the Albini. from whom it was immediately named Tiber. ALBUNA, a Goddess worshipped in the Country of Tiber [now Treeli.] Some think the was he the Daughter of Athamas, who fearing her Husband, cast her felf headlong into the Sea with her Son Melicersa. Other Authors confound her with the tenth Sibyl, call'd Tiburtina, because she was born at Tibur, ALBUTIUS, the Father of the Sorcerer Ganidius. He was extraordinarily nice in his Victuals, and in the Cookery of it, infomuch that he beat his Servants before they offended. Herace Speaks thus of him, lib. 2. Sat. 2. v. 66.

- Hic neque Servus, Albutt fenit exemple, dum munia didit, Savus eris.

when he commands his Slaves any thing,

ALCESTIS, the Daughter of Pelias and Wife of Admetus King of Theffaly. Apollo obtained of the Destinies, that if Admetus could procure any Person to die in his stead, he should live as many years as he had done already. The Pather and Mother of Admetus having refus'd him that Favour, his Wife Alcelis offer'd to die for him. Hercules came unexpectedly, and, having heard what had pass'd, went to the Tomb of Alcesia, and rescu'd her from the Jaws of Death, and restored her to her Husband. Others fay, he went down into Hell, and took her from Proferning.

Euripides, in his Alcefin, relates, That Hereules was entertained by Admetus the day that Alceftis bis Wife died, and all his House was in Mourning. Admetus ledg'd him in an Apartment by himfelf, that he might not disturb his Guest by lo doleful an Objett. Hercules requited his Haft well, for he undertook to encounter Death, who had taken away the Soul of Alceffis ; be char'd Death away. brought back her Soul to her Body, and reftor'd his Wife alive to Admetus. This feems to be the History of Eliss counterfeired, who sais'd the Son of the Shunmite from the dead.

ALCIBIADES, the Son of Clinics and Dinemache, he was the most beautiful Man in the World, and of the neatest shape that ever was feen. The Grandees of his Family gave him as great preheminence above all the Atheniam, as Athens had above the rest of the Cities shewn in the Wars against the Lacedamenians and Perfiems. But this Great Man had fo great a Mixture of Vices and Corruptions, with these rare Endowments of Mind and Body, that he was condemn'd to Death, and his Goods to be confiscated, because he blasphemed the Gods. When he repented of his Extravagances, after this Difgrace, he banish'd those that had debauch'd him, and put himfelf under the Instruction of Secretes, who made him a good Man. Afterwards flying to King Artaxerxet, he was basely flain by the Lacedemonians, who bore him a mortal Hatred, and had made themfelves Masters of Athens and all Grecce. His Statue, because he was one of the most Valin ant Greeians, was fet up, by a Decree of the Senate, in a publick Place at Reme, according to the Pribian Oracle.

ALCIDES, an Epithet given to Hercules. from the Word and, which fignifies Strength and Virtue ; or from Alcaus his Grand-father by the Father's fide.

ALCITHOE, a Theban Woman, who despiling the Orgia, or Festivals of Bacchus, and beginning a Journey whilst they were celebrating, was changed into a Screech-Owl, and her Sifters into Batts.

ALGMEN A, the Daughter of Eletrys, | which she had conceived by her Husband daand Lylidica, whose Father was Peleps, and Mother Hippodamia, the married Amphitryo her Cofin-German, upon condition that he should revenge the Death of her Brother, which the Thelebeans, a People of Atelia had kill'd. While Amphitrye was employ'd against them, Jupiter, who was in Love with Alemens, took the shape of Amphieryo, and lay with her a whole Night, which he made as long as Three, having commanded the Night and Sleep, by the Media-tion of Mercery, not to leave Men for that time, and by this Conjunction Alemens became the Mother of Hercules. Lucian has related this Fable in his Dialogue between Mercury and the Sam, which we shall fet down here entire Phabus, Jupiter favs you must not drive to day to morrow, nor the next day, but keep within; that during that time there may be one entire Night; bid the Hours unharness their Horfes, and do you put out your Light, and repole your felf a while. Saw. You bring me very firange News, Mercary; I do not know that have in the least drove beyond my just limits, or diffurb'd the Mountains; why then is he fo angry with me, to make the Night thrice as long as the day? Mercury. Not in the least. this is not to be for a continuance, he only now defires that this Night may be long on his own account. Sam. Pray, where is he? From whence fent he you on this Errand? Moreny. From Bestis Phabus, he is with Amphitrye's Wife, whom he is enamour'd with, and now enjoys. Sus. And will not one Night be fufficient? Mercury. No, for he intends to get a great and warlike Hero, and this is impossible to be done in one Night. San. Let him ings in Satura's time; he never defil'd Rhes's Red, nor left Heaven to fleep at These, but Day was then Day, and Night had only, its proportion of hours, and nothing was frange and out of due course, nor did he ever meddle with mortal Woman; but now for the fake of this Wretch, all things must be inverted; my Horfes will grow unmanageable for want of working, the way will become difficult to travel in, and Men must live in difmal Darkness ; thus must they sleep for the Amours of Jove, till he perfect this mighty "Champion you talk of. Mercary. No more words. Phabus, left it prove prejudicial to you. I must make hafte to Luns and Semus, and tell "em what Jupiter's Orders are, that the may retard her Motion; and that he do not leave "Men, that they may not perceive that the Night was fo long.

This is the reason why Lycophron calls . Hereuder the Lum of Three Nights. Alemens having sone her time, first brought forth Iphyclus, phitrye. But jeajous June hindred her when the was about to bring forth Herculer, which the had conceiv'd by Jupiter; for the brib'd Lucius, the Goddes of Child-bearing, that instead of affifting her, she, on the contrary should obftruct her, by making certain Figures with her Fingers. Panfanias, in his Beatrice , fays, That June fent the Pharmacides or Sorcerereiles into the Chamber of Alemens in the time of her Travail, to hinder her by their Enchantments : But Jupiter dispell'd all their Charms. by declaring himfelf from Heaven by Thunder, in favour of his Son, and reconcil'd desphitryen and Alemens, who were fall'n out.

Alemens dyed in her return from Argus to Theber, as Paulanius fays, on the Confines of Megara. There was a Dispute between the the Herschter about her Burial, some desiring that her Body should be carryed to Argu, and others to Thebes; but the Oracle of Apelle at Delphos ordered, that her Tomb should be made in Megars.

ALCMON and PASSALUS, rather Achemen, or Achmen and Paffalus, Two Beon there who were of very wicked and debauch'd Inclinations; they were the Sons of a Woman called Semmens, who us'd to tell Fortunes : She had them beware of a Melampurus, i. s. a Creature whose back-parts were black and hairy. Wherefore meeting one day with Horonics. who was afleen leaning against a Tree, they took up a refolution to kill him; but Hereules awaking, and perceiving their delign, feiz'd on em, and hang'd 'em by the heels on his Chub, and as he merch'd with 'em in this poflure, they perceiv'd his back-parts, and remembring the Prediction of their Mother, they look d upon themselves as undone a But Hercales having learn'd of 'em the cause of their fear, let 'em go.

A L C Y O N. The King: Fifber, a Bird much extoled, of whom this Fable is told; That Aleymor the Daughter of Eoliu, having loft the beautiful Gers, her Husband, in the Sea, who was the Son of the Day Star, tormented herfelf with vain Grief ; till the Gods, mov'd with Compession, chang'd her into a Bird. which still searches about the Water for him the loft there. It is a fmall Bird, and its Note is very mournful. To requite her Love, when the makes her Neft, and firs on her young ones, the Winds are still, and the Sea calm in the tharpest time of Winter: These serene Davs are call'd Haleyenian from the Akyen, and during them, the Sky is calm, and the furface of the Sea as smooth as a Looking-Glass.

Pliny gives this Description of this Bird, Lib. X. cap. 22. Is is, fays be, a little bigger than a Sparrow, and of a blue colour, but loate fome red

ALB and white Feathers. The Smallest of them fing come crifices. In choosing their Kings they much monly among the Reeds. They breed about the mid- respect their Birth, and in their Governours dle of December. Their Nefts are round, in the their Vertue. None but the Priefts among form of a large Bowl, having only a little Hole to em have right to imprison and punish. Of all

ALCYONEUS, a Gyant, who had many Daughters, which after his Death cast themselves head-long from the Cape of Pillena into the Sea : Amphurite mov'd with Compaffion for 'em, chang'd 'em into Birds.

ALECTO, One of the Three Furies of Hell, according to the Poets, the Daughters of Acheron and Nox, or of Plute and Proferning. They are reverenc'd by the Antients, as the Goddesses, by whom Crimes were punished. they are painted with a furious Afpett, and wearing a Cap of Serpents, holding Whips and lighted Torches in their Hands.

ALECTRY O, a young Man, a Confident of Mars in his Amours. One Day when Mars was gone to fee Venus, and lye with her in the absence of her Husband Vulcan, he left him at the Gate to watch when the Day appear'd, but this pretty Youth falling afleep, the Sun discover'd the whole Intrigue, fo that Fulcan caught both the Lovers in his Ners. Mars, angry at this, chang'd this young Man into a Cock, who still keeps the Crest of the Helmet which he had before he was chang'd; and all his Generation ever fince, to retrieve

ALEMANNI, the Germans : These People, fays Tacitus, were never debauch'd by Commerce or Alliance with other People, which is the reason that they are all alike : for they have yellow Hair, blue Eyes, a fierce Afpect, and an advantagious Stature, yet they cannot bear long Fatigues, and are only brisk at the first; Heat and Thirst are very unsupportable to 'em, but they endure Cold and Hunger very well, by reason of the Constitution of their Country. Those that inhabit our Frontiers value Money upon the account of Commerce, and know fome antient Pieces of our Coin, which they value more than others, as those that have a Saw or a Chariot on them. The rest traffick by exchange of Goods still, as the first Men did. Their Cavalry carry only a Lance and a Buckler: Their Infantry carry also Dares, of which every Soldier has foveral, which he knows how to cast with great Force and Dexterity, being not at all hindred by his Clothes or Arms; for their only Garment is a long Coat. If we consider their Troops in general, their Infantry is the best. which is the reason that they mix it with their Cavalry. 'Tis fuch a Difgrace among 'em to quit their Buckler, that they who have done a, never dare come to their Affemblies or Sa-

the Gods, they chiefly worship Mercary, and facrifice even Men to him at certain Solemnities. They think it not agreeable to the Grandieur of the Gods, to paint them as Men, ot that them up in Temples, but they only confecrate Groves to em, and adore fuch as are most folitary. They are much given to Aururies and Lots, which they perform with little Ceremony. They cut a Branch of a certain Fruit-Tree in feveral pieces, and having mark'd them with certain Characters, cast 'em carelesty upon a white Cloth; then the Priest. or Mafter of the Family, if it be a private House, after he has made a Prayer to the Gods. lifts up each piece three times, and interprets them according to the Marks on 'em. They also consult the flying and chirping of Birds. and the neighing of Horses is with them a certain Presage : To this end they feed white Horses in their dedicated Groves, and will not fuffer them to be prophan'd by the fervice of Men ; and when they have a mind to confine 'em, they yoke 'em in a Chariot of their Gods, and the Priest or King follows them to observe their Neighing; there is no Augury to which they give more Credit. They make use also his Honour, give notice of the approach of the of another Invention to know the Event of their Wars; They take a Captive of their Enemies, and match him with one of their own Party, and judg of the iffue of the War by the fuccels of their Combat. They count by Nights and not by Days, as we do; and in their Orders of State, they fet down on fuch a Night. and not on fuch a Day; because, as they think, the Night was first. They meet in Council armed, and the Priefts alone have power to enjoyn filence, as they have also to punish: Their Punishments are different, according to their Crimes: they hang Traytors and Deferters on Trees; the cowardly, the bafe, and the infamous they smoother in Puddles, and then throw an Hurdle upon em. Their Coat. which is all the Garment they wear, as I have above observed, is fasten'd with a Button or Clasp, the rest of their Body is naked: The richest of them have their Garments not large and full, as the Parthians and Sarmatians, but close, according to the shape of their Rodies . They also clothe themselves with Furs. The Womens Garments are much like the Mens. fave that they wear a kind of Linnen Shift with our Sleeves, border'd with Crimfon Silk, which leaves their Arms and Bosom naked. Their Marriages nevertheless are untainted, and their Chaftiry is not blemished by their Meetings. Festivals, and publick Shews. They neither fend nor receive Love-Letters or Billet-Douxes, | in this Country; and Ulffer himfelf, in his infomuch that Adultery is feldom found among fo great a People: they allow not fecond Marriage, and a Woman takes an Husband to be united to her, as one Body and one Soul. Tis an edious thing among 'em to destroy a Child in the Womb or hinder Conception; every one is brought up in his own Family, without any other Nurse than his own Mother. There are few People that take more pleafure in entertaining Strangers; 'tis a Crime for any Man to shur his House against them, whosoever they be : When any one comes to their Houses, the Mafter of it gives him whatever he has, and when he has nothing left, he will carry him to his Neighbour, who receives him with the fame Refpect and Freedom. They drink Beer. for no Vines grow in their Country. Their Food is very plain, wild Fruits, Milk curdled and Venison, and they live without Dainties and Expence. They have but one fort of publick Show, their young Men dance naked on the points of Spears and Javelins. They do not divide the Year into Four parts, as other Nations. The Aurumn is as little known as the Fruits of it. Their Funerals are without any Pomp or Magnificence, they only burn the Bodies of fome Persons of Quality with a particular fort of Wood, putting nothing upon the Pile but their Arms, and fometimes the Horse of the deceas'd without Perfumes or Garments; their Graves are made of Turfs, and they contemn the Costliness of our Tombs. In fine, they are great Drinkers, and very great Gamesters, infomuch that they will play away themselves after they have lost all their Goods.

They celebrate in old Verses, of which all their History is compos'd, a God born in their Land, called Tuijce, and his Son, Men, who were the first Inhabitants of the Country. Cefer speaking of the Germani in his Sixth Book, De Bello Gallico, tells us, That they have neither Priests nor Sacrifices, and own no Deity but fuch as they fee and feel the Effects of, as the Sun, the Moon, and the Fire; and that War and Hunting were their only Exercises.

ALEMANNIA, Germany. This Country, fays Tacitus, is bounded with the Rhine. Danube, and Ocean, except on the part next Sarmatia and Dacia, where it is bounded with the Mountains, on which a very warlike People inhabit The Ocean there makes great Bays and large Isles. The Rhine takes it rife in the Country of the Grifons, and falling from the top of the Alps, discharges it felf, after a long course, into the North-Sea, inclining a Little toward rhe West. The Danube falls from Mount Abnoba, and empties it felf into the Buxine-Sea at fix Mouths, for the feventh is loft in the Marthes. Hercules is faid to have been Captains of Daries in a pitch'd Battel, and long and fabulous Travels, was carried by a Tempest into Germany, where he built a City upon the Banks of the Rhine, which is still called Aschelburg, from the Greek Name which he gave it : Some add, that he had an Altar confecrated to him there, under the Title of the Son of Lacries, and that there remain to this day some Monuments of him with Greek Infcriptions in the Borders of the Grifens and Germany, which I neither affert, or call in question the Truth of:

ALETIDES, antient Sacrifices which the Athenians offer'd to Icarus and Erigone, in which they danced Puppets. Icarus was the Son of Æbalus, and Father of Erigone, who having receiv'd of Bacchus a Bottle full of Wine, gave it the Shepherds of Attica to drink, who were very thirfty, because of the Heat of their Countrey ; they drank of it till they loft the use of their Reason, and supposing themselves to be poyfon'd by that Liquor, they fell upon him, and killing him, cast his Body into a Pit : He had a little Bitch named Mara, who went, and pulling his Daughter Erigone by the lower part of her Garment, brought her to the place where the Body of her Father was; fhe feeing him in this condition, hang'd herfelf for grief, and many Athenian Virgins, who lov'd her extraordinarily, follow'd her Example, The Birch also pin'd away with Grief, and Jupiter translated her to Heaven under the Name of Canicula, i.e. the Dog-Star. Icarus was chang'd into that Sign of the Zodiac which is called. Charler's Wain, and Erigone into another Sign call'd Virge. The Oracle of Apollo being confulted, order'd that a folemn Sacrifice should be offer'd to the Ghosts of Erigone and her Companions, in which the Images of the Virgins hanged were represented; and 'twas in this Solemnity that some Virgins swung themselves about in the Air.

ALEXANDER, furnamed the GREAT, was of a middling flature, and rather small than great, as his Medal represents him on the Reverse, and as Historians speak of him, which has given occasion for this Verse, Magnus Alexander corpore parvus erat.

He had a very lofty Countenance, and his Eyes placed very high in his Head, well-shap'd, and generally flooking upward. He was the Son of Philip, King of Macedon, and Olympias; he fucceeded his Father in his Kingdom, which he found full of Tumults, and wavering after his Death; but he foon fettled it by the Punishment of his Murtherers, and made Greece tremble by the Destruction of Thebes. He advanc'd his Arms farther than any King before him, and passing the Hellespont, defeated the conquer'd all the Provinces as far as Cilicia, and 1 vanouisht Darius, King of Persia. Lastly, not to mention Tyre or Arbella, he fubdu'd Afia, as far as the Indies, and then the Indies themselves, making the Ocean the Bounds of his Empire. He dved at Babylon of Poyton, or a Feaver, being 32 years of Age, having reign'd Twelve lov'd Glory and Learning. He is accus'd of Cruelty to his Friends who had not Complai- bus libertit meis, quei bec testamento manu mifi, fance enough to flatter him, and believe him the Son of Jupiter. He kill'd Clitus because he would not approve that he should use the Customs of those he had conquer'd, nor that Ariftobulus, one of his Captains, reading to him, as he was failing upon Hydasper, a Relation he had written of his Battel with Porus, in which he flatter'd him very much ; Alexander threw the Book into the Water, and told him, that he ought ro do fo, because he was so base-spirited to attribute false Actions to Alexander, as if he had done no real ones. In like manner he reprimanded an Architett, who would have cut Mount Athos after his likeness, and make him to hold a City in one Hand, and pour a River out with the other. He would not meddle with Darius's Wife, and took care of his Mother and Children.

ALEXANDER SEVERUS, the Son of Varus and Mammaa. He was made Emperor of Rome before he was 16 years of Age, and was one of the wifest and most learned of the Emperors. He would not fuffer any Offices to be fold, but gave them to Persons of Meric. His Council was made up of the most virtuous and able Lawyers of the Empire, viz. Ulpian, Calliffrasus, and Modeflimus. He was a great Lover of Arts and Sciences. He was liberal without Profuseness, valiant without Cruelty, a fevere Judg, yet was every way just and equitable.

He discover'd a great Inclination to the Christian Religion; for he fet up in his Chappel the Image of Jesus Christ, together with he intended to build him a Temple at Rome. His Severity, tho' just, yet was fatal to him. and provoked the Soldiers of the German Legion to flay him near Mens, after he had reign'd Thirteen years.

He retain'd fo great a Modesty in his highest pitch of Honour, that he never would fuffer himself to be call'd Lord; for he order'd that all Salutations to him should be utter'd in these words, Ave Alexander, and condemn'd by his Modesty his Predecessors, and chiefly Heliogabaks, who would be falured thus, Deminus, ac have it fo : As Suetenius faith.

ALIMENTA, an Allowance of Mean given to a fingle person to live on for a Year or a Month. The Romans did often in their Wills, give a certain Sum to ferve for an Allowance of Meat to their Children. In pueros. puellasque singulas damnas esto dare cibarii nomine aureos decem. They also extended this Libe-Years. He was liberal and magnificent, and rality to their Free-Men, as we learn from the Lawyer Scavola : Quifquis mihi bares erit, amnie alimentorum nomine in menfet fingulot certam pecuniam date. i.e. I charge him that is mine Heir. to give monthly a certain Sum for an Allow-Cultoms of those he had conquer'd, nor that he should be ador'd as a God: Yet 'tis said, that I have given Liberty by this my Will.

They practis'd also the same thing towards those whom they called Alumnes and Alumnas, as these words in the Law do testifie; Mevie infanti alumno meo quadringinta dari vole, que peto à te suscipias, & usuras et quincunces in annum ufque vicefimum atatis prafter, eumque fufcipias.

ALIMENTARII pueri, & ALI-MENTARIÆ puelle, is spoken of young Boys and Girls, which were brought up in publick places, as in our Hospital of Christ-Church: For the Romans had certain publick places where they brought up and maintain'd poor Children and Orphans of both Sexes, at the Expence of the Treasury, or of such Banks of Money as the Emperors, and private Persons had made, and given by their Will for the Maintenance of these Hospitals. These Children were call'd, if Boys, Alimentarii pueri; if Girls, Alimentaria puella: They were also often call'd by the Names of their Founders. Julius Capitalinus, in his Life of Antonomy, furnamed Pius, fays, That this Prince founded an Hospital for Girls, which were call'd Faustine. Fauftines. from the Name of his Wife, Puellas alimentarias in honorum Faustine Faustinianas confituit. The fame Author, speaking of the Emperor Alexander Severus, tells us, that he follow'd the Example of Antoninus, in erecting an Hospital for Boys and Girls, and gave them his Abraham: And fome likewife conjecture, that own Name, calling em Mammeani and Mammaana. Puellas & pueros, quemadmodum Antoninus Fauftinianas inflitueras Mammaanas O Mammeanes inflituit.

ALLÍENSIS PUGNA, a Fight near the River Allier. The Tribunes going against the Gauls, with a more numerous Army than the Romans had ever fent out before on foot, gave them battel having the River Allier on their backs. The Fight was fierce and obffinate on both fides, but at length the Gauls were Victors, and flew many of the Romans, because the River hindred their Flight. This day. Deux nofter fie fieri jubet, Our Lord and God will being the first of August, was mark'd in the Roman Kalendar, as a fatal and unfortunate day, in the year from the Building of Rome 365. This Lofs was more felt, and prejudicial to the Romens, as Givere fays, than the facking of Rome by the fame Gault; Majores noftri funeftiorem diem effe voluerunt Allienfis pugna, quam urbis

ALLOCUTIO, an Oration or Speech of a General of an Army to his Soldiers, either to animate them to fight, or to appeale Sedition, and keep them to their Duty. To this end they raised a little Hill of Earth, as it were a kind of Tribunal of Turf, upon which the General mounted and spoke to his Soldiers, who were drawn up in their feveral Squadrons round about the Tribunal, and having their Captains at the Head of them. If the General's Speech pleased them, they shew'd their Approbations by lifting up their Right-hands, and clashing their Bucklers one against another; but if they diflik'd it, a humming Murmur ran thro their Ranks, or elfe they discover'd, by a fullen Silence, that they were not pleafed.

. If the Enemy push'd on the Battel, the General thought it fufficient to go through the Ranks to encourage the Soldiers, calling them every one by their Names, putting them in mind of their Courage, and the Victories they had gain'd, and promiting them the Plunder, or fome other Largels, if they obtain'd the ALOIDES, two Giants, the Sons of Alesus, who in their infancy attempted to pull up Mount Offs by the roots, and to fet it upon Olympus, and Peliss upon that, that they might make use of them as a Ladder to climb up into Heaven, and make War with Jupiter; but these young and rash Fools were punish'd for their Madness, and shot to death by the Arsows of Apello and his Sifter Diana. Virgil brings in Enew relating that he faw thefe two Giants in Hell:

Hic & Aloidas geminos, impania vidi Corpora, qui manibus magnum rescindere calum

Virg. Æneid. lib. 6. v. 582. Homer affures us. That they formerly bound the God Mars, and that him up in Prilon for thirteen Mouths, from whence he could not be releas'd but by the mediation of Mercury

ALPHABETUM, an Alphabet ; the orderly Disposition of the Letters of any Language. This Word comes from the initial Letters of the Greek Tongue, Alpha, Beta.

ALPHEUS, a River of Areadia. Paufanias, in his Eliaca, tells us, That Alpheus was an antient Hunter, who lou'd Arethufa, and alfo delighted much in Hunting. He fought her in Marriage, but the deny'd him, and flying into an ifle near Syracufe, the was turn'd into a Fonutain, and Alpheus into a Kiver : which, as thei an amorous Impatience, forces its sourfe through the Sea, and mixes its Waters with Arethufa.

Lucian, in a Dialogue between Neptune and Alphens, introduces them speaking thus: Nept. Whence comes it that fuch a fine River as you, paft through the Sea without mixing with its Water any more than if you were Ice, like thefe Fowls who dive in one place and rife in another? Alph. It is an amorous Milters which you ought not to condemn, because you have been in love your self. Nope. Who are you in love with, is it with a Woman, a Nymph. or any one of the Nereides ? Alph. No, no, it is with a Pountain. Nept. With what Fountain pray? Alph. With Arethufa. Nept. 'Tis a fine clear Spring, which rolls its Silver Streams through the Stones with an agreeable Murmur. Alph. An! bow well you delcribe ber, 'tis fhe that I purfue. Nent, Go, and be bappy in thy Amour ; but tell me when haft then feen her, then being in Arcadia, and the in Sicily? Alph. You are too curious, and prefs too far for me to answer you. Nept. You are in the right of it, and I to blame, to retard a Lover in the pursuit of his Mistrest; and when you have met with her, jain your felf fo close to her that you two may have but one Bed hereafter.

Paulanias enlarges this Fable a little more in his Arcadica; Alpheus, fays he, parts the Lacedemonians from the Tageares, and bounds them both : its Source is from Phylace. At fome diftance from bence he receives the Waters of Several Small Springs called Symboles, or A Concouse of Waters. This River has this particular Quality, that it lofes its Waters under the Earth, and they rife again in other places; it goes into the River Eurotas, and then lofes it felf, and rifes again in a place which the Arcadians call The Sources. It rame into the Territories of Pifa and Olympia, and difcharges it felf in the Adriatick Gulph; from whence it paffes, without mixing it: Waters with the Sea, and rifes in Ortygia in the Fountain of Are-thufa, with which it mixes. Hercules cut a Canal from this River, to cleanse the Stable of Angens, which was fill'd. with the Dung of three thousand Oxen for thirty years.

ALTARE, on Alter, upon which Sacrifices were offer'd to the Gods of Heaven. This Word comes from Altus, high, because, according to Servius, they facrificed on them to the Gods on high, or in Heaven. This is the Difference he makes betwixt these Words Ara and Altare: Novimus, fays he, aras Diis effe superis & inferis confecratas, altaria verò effe Superiorana tentum Derrum, qua ab altitudine confrat effe nominate. We find also another Difference of these Words, which is this, Abare was built in an high place to which they went up by Stais, as the great Altars in the Remifb Churches : whereas Are is a low Altar, like their little.

ALTHÆA.

ALTH & A, the Wife of Eness King of | Tonais and Thermodos, which conquer'd great Calrdonia. She reveng'd the Death of her Brethren by the Death of her own Son Meleager, burning the Log of Wood which was to prolong his Life, as long as it lasted and was not confum'd by Fire.

AMA

AM ALT H Æ A, a Sybil furnamed Cumas, famous in Antiquity for her Propheties and Predictions of the coming of the Meffias, who was to be born of a Virgin. We learn of Servise, that the wrote nine Books of Prophefies foretelling what should befal the Empire of Rome, addrelling her felf to Tarquinius Prifow, the prefented them to him, demanding three thousand Crowns in Gold of Philippick Money : but the King rejected her Prefent : whereupon she burn'd three of them in the presence of that Prince. Returning within a few days, she demanded the same Price for the remaining fix, and being again deny'd, fhe burn'd three more. This aftonish'd the King so much that he bought the three which were left, at the fame Price she had requir'd for all the nine. They were kept with great care, and certain Persons appointed to look after them. These Books contained the Fate of the Empire, and were never confulted but in the time of fome publick Calamities.

AMALTHEA, the Daughter of Meliffus King of Candia, who nurs'd Jupiter with Goats Milk and Honey. Some Authors will have it that this Goat was called Amalthan, and that Jupiter in gratitude placed it among the Stars : giving to the Nymphs one of her Horns. which had this Vertue, to furnish them with whatever they defired; from whence it was called Cornecepie, or the Horn of Plenty.

'Twas also the Name of Atticus's Country-House in Greece, which he called so to intimate. that all things abounded there : for it is very well known that this Word fignifies Plenty. Gis. l. 1. ep. 2. ad Astic,

AMATHUS, a City in the Ille of Cyprus, confecrated to Venus, whose Inhabitants built a flately Temple to her and her Minion Admis, They facrificed at first Strangers upon her Altars; but the Goddess abhorring such cruel Sacrifices, chang'd thefe Inhabitants into Bulls. and depriving their Wives of all Modesty. because they had contemned her Worship, made them to proftitute themselves to all

AMAZONIUS, the Month of December was so called in the Reign of the Emperour Genmedus by his Flatterers, in honour of a Concubine which he loved extreamly, and whom he had caused to be painted like an Amazon, as Lampridius affores us.

AMAZONES, the Amazons, Women-Warriours of great Courage. They were Afia. heretofore Wemen of Soy: his, who dwelt near part of Afa. They liv'd without Men, and proftituted their Bodies to Strangers, but kill'd all their Male Children, and burn'd off the left Pap of their Daughters, to make them fit for fighting. From whence fome fay their Name is derived from & & ude, non mamma, which fignifies Without Paps.

Strate denies that there ever were any Anazoni. Pliny and Mels make mention of those of Scythia. Hippocrates fays, that there was a Law among them, which condemn'd their Daughters to remain Virgins till they had flain three Men of their Enemies. He also fays that the Cause why they cut off the Right-pap, was, that their Right-arm might become the ftronger, because it gain'd the Nourishment of the Breaft; and they difforted the Legs of their Male Children, that they might always be Mistresses over them.

Some affirm, that in Africk there was a Realm of Women only, who flew all the Boys that they brought forth by their Completion with the Neighbouring Nations, as we learn from Juan de les Sanctes, a Grey-Fryat of Pertugal, in his Description of the Eastern Ethiopia. Eneas Sylvins relates, that he faw in Behemie. for feven years, a Common-wealth exactly like that of the Amazans, establish'd by the Valour of a Woman called Valalca.

The Names of the most famous Amazons were. Marthelia, Orythea, and Pembelilea, whom Virgil, in his Eneids, fupposes to be flain by Achilles.

Herodorus, speaking of the Amezons, says. that the Greeks having defeated them near the River Thermeden, carried away those that remain'd Captives in their Ships, who after the Defeat watch'd their opportunity fo well that they feiz'd the Arms of the Greek and made a great Slaughter of them; but because they understood nothing of Navigation, they were cast by the Winds upon the Coasts of Scribia: where mounting upon the Horfes that came in their way, they fought with the Scythians : who being defirous to make an amicable end of the War which they had begun, endervoured to perfuade them to furrender themfelves, and hoping to gain them by their weak fide, told them, that in case they would do fo. they should not be enjoy'd by their Lame, but by the handsomest Men. They stope their. mouths with this Answer. That their Lame were their best Men; which is fince passed into a Proverb among the Greeks, "Agest 200 Aus offer. Novertheless a Peace was made, and the Scribians gave them a part of their Country, where they fettled themselves on the Southfide of Tensis. This is what Heredotus fays of the Amezons of

Philoftratus,

Philoftratus, in his Picture of Neoptolemus, relates, that they which fail upon the Euxine Sea do affirm, That along that Coast, between the Rivers Thermoden and Phasis, there are Amazons. which fay, they are descended of Mars, who bufie themselves wholly in Warlike matters, as to draw a Bow, and ride on Horses; they will not permit a Man to live among them, but when they delire to have any Children, they go to feek out Men among their Neighbours, and when they bring forth Boys, they cause them to be gelt, but their Daughters they bring up to warlike Affairs, feeding them with the Milk of Cattle, and Dew which falls in the form of Honey upon the Reeds in their

The chief Expeditions of the Amazons were the War which they made against King Priamus, the Affistance they brought him at the Siege of Trey, and their Invalion of Artica, to revenge themselves of Thesess who had taken away Antiepe. As for their Expedition into the Isle of Achilles, at the mouth of the Danube, it is a Fiction of Philoftratus, which no ways redounds to their Honour, because they shew'd themselves very cruel there. 'Tis true Philefiratus is not the only Man that has represented the Amazons as wicked, for Apollonius describes them as Salvages, that have neither Faith nor

The Monuments which preferve the Memory of these Warlike Women are, the City of Thermiscira, the Metropolis of their State, fituate in Cappadocia, near a River well known by the Name of Thermoden: the City of Epheliu and Temple of Diana are two Works of their hands. Duny sise Afer fays, that they built another Temple to Diana upon the Stump of a young Elm. The Cities of Smyrna, Thyatira, Cuma and Magnefia are commonly thought to be founded by them. Apollonius will have it, that they confecrated the Temples even in the Areopagus, and in the Territories of Lacedamo-

The Statue of Diana at Ephefus was adorned with Paps, because the Amazons consecrated those to her which they cut off.

It appears, by fome Medals, that the Amazone wore Garments like Men, but by others they feem cloth'd after the usual manner of their Sex.

The ingenious Mr. Peth has written a Treatife which contains things very learned and curious about these Heroines, as about their Sepulchres, the Reasons why the Names which they bear are all Greek, and the Chronology of their History, which may be consulted.

AMBARVALE or AMBARVALIA, The Feast of Perambulation. The Procession they

nour of the Goddess Cares; like the Processions of the Papifts at this day, celebrated upon the Feafts of St. Mark and Rogation-days, with larger or shorter Litanies. There were two Featls at Rome of that Name, one in April, or according to other Authors, in the End of 74nuary; and the other in July.

Twelve Arval Brothers, or Priests, of which I shall speak in their place, went before a publick Procession of the Citizens who had Lands and Vineyards without the City. The same Ceremony was practifed in the Country by other Priests among the Inhabitants of the Villages. They went three times round the Ground, every one being crowned with Leaves of Oak. and finging Hymns in honour of Ceres, the Godden of Corn. This Ceremony was called Ambarvalia, ab ambiendis arvis; the Sacrifices which they offer'd after this Procession, they call'd Ambarvales Hoftie.

There were three forts of them, viz. a Sow, a Sheep and a Bull, which is the Reason that this threefold Sacrifice was called Susvitaurilia, which is a Word compounded of Sas, Ovis and Taurus. In the first Sacrifice they pray'd to the Goddess Ceres and the God Mers, that they would preferve their Corn from Mildew and Hail, and bring it to perfect Ripenels; and in that of the month of July, they pray'd to them to bless their Harvest.

Care has left us the Form of Prayer used on this occasion, in cap. 141. De Re Rustica, but this Prayer was made to Mars only.

Mars Pater, te precor quasoque uti fier volens propitiufque mibi, domo, familiaque noftra : que jui rei ergo, agrum terram, fundumque meum luovitaurilia circumati juffi, uti tu merbos viles invifofque, viduertatem vaftitudinemque, calamitater. insempeftafque probibeffis, defendas, averruncefane : uti tu fruges, vineta, frumenta, virgultaque grandire, beneque evenire finas : paftores, pafcuaque Salva fervaffis, dici que bonam falutem, valetudinemque mihi, domo, familiaque nostra. Harumce rerum erge, fundi, terræ, agrique mei lustrandi. lustrique faciendi ergo, sicut dixi, matte bisce suovitaurilibus lattantibus immelandis efto. Mars Pater, ejusdem rei ergo, matte bisce suovitaurililibus lattentibus efte. Item, Cultre facite ftruem & fer-Bum uti adfiet.

The fame Author hath left us also another Form of Prayer, which was made in the fecond Feast of Perambulation, in the month of July, in which they facrific'd a Sow before they began their Harvest, which they call'd Porca pracedanes. This Prayer was put up to Janus, Jupiter and Jame, and not to Ceres any more than the former. Priusquam percam faminam immelabis, faith Cate, Jane ftruem commo veto fie : Tane Pater, te bac firue commovenda bonas precer, made about the plow'd and fown Fields in ho | precer uts fier welens, propitius mihi liberifque meis.

AM B dome , familiaque mea , mastus boc fersto. Ferdum Jovi moveto & madato fie : Jupiter, te bec fereto obmovendo benas preces precor uti fies volens propitius mihi, &c.

Poftes Jano vinum dato fic : Tane Pater, ati te firmem commovendo bonas preces bene precasus fum. eiuldem rei ergo, matte vino inferio efto.

Poftes Joui fit : Jupiter, made fertte efto : ma-He vine inferio ello.

We find likewife that this Ceremony was perform'd by the Master of the Family, accompany'd with his Children and Servants. every one of them being crowned with Oaken Leaves, as well as the Sacrifice, which they led three times round the Lands and Vineyards. finging Hymns to his honour : after which they facrific'd to him fweet Wine with Honey and Milk; as we may fee by the Verfes of Virgil, Georg. lib. 1.

This manner of Procession was always us'd in the Country, were they had no Arval Priests

AMBEGNÆ or AMBIGNÆ, Vitims, which were accompany'd and encompass'd with other Victims, fays Varre.

AMBITUS, fignifies in the Law of the XII. Tables, A space of Ground of two feet and an half, which was left to go about an House, for the Houses of old were not contiguous for fear | Baia. Cruquim is of another opinion, and says, AMBITUS, an earnest Solicitation to ger into publick Offices. Properly, tis the furrounding a Person to have his Vote in Electi ons, being always bufie about him, embracing and careffing him for that end. The Romans made it a Crime to folicite Offices by too eager Applications, as by extraordinary Gifts, Threatnings or open Force : they made fevesal Laws to hinder this foliciting, and punish those that were found guilty of it. The most confiderable of them was that which was made in the Consulship of Cierre, called from his only blemish'd, as a Body scarr'd with Burn-Name Lex Tullia. By that Law, the Candidates were forbidden to beflow any Combats of the Gladiators on the People, to make any publick Feast, or to cause themselves to be fol- kill'd by Thunder were call'd Confampti, low'd by a Crowd of Clients, for two years whereas those were termed Ambusti who were before they put in for any place.

A Senator, who was guilty of a Breach of this Law, was punish'd with ten years Banish. ment; others were fin'd and render'd incapable of any Dignity for ever; as may be feen in Gicero's Oration against Vatinius and Sextius Nevertheless, these things had gone so far in the corrupt times of the Commonwealth, that fome would publickly tell the Tribes what | brave Actions, which he did against the Re-Sums of Money they would give them for their Votes, which was call'd Pronuntiare in tribus, fays Cicere. They made use of three forts the Bargain, per quos pattio inducebatur, fays A-Sconius Pediamus : Sequeftrer, who are the Trustees, in whose hands the Money agreed for is deposited: and lastly Divisores, Dividers, who were to distribute the Money to every particular person in the Tribe. AMBROSIA, the Food of the Gods, according to the Poets. Lucian, rallying their Poetical Gods, tells us, that Ambrofia and Ne-Har, of which one is the Meat and the other the Drink of the Gods, were not fo excellent as the Poets describe them, since they will leave them for the Blood and Fat which they come to fuck from the the Altars like Flies.

Ambrosia, was also a certain Feast which the Remans celebrated on the 24th. of Nevember, instituted in honour of Bacchus by Romalus which the Romans call'd Brumalia, but the Greeks Ambrofia.

AMBUBALE, Syrian Women, which dwelt at Rome, and play'd on a Pipe in the Cirque and other Places of Sports, like our Gipfies, who play upon the Tabor, and pretend to tell Fortunes, and do a thousand other cheating Tricks, to tharp People of their Money. Turnebus affures us, that they liv'd after this tricking manner, near the Hot Baths at they were a fort of Women who fold Colineticks and Drugs for painting the Skin. Horace speaks thus of them.

Ambabaiarum collegia, pharmacopole. Sat. 2. lib. r.

AMBURBALIA and AMBURBALES Roftie. See Ambarvalia, which is the fame thing.

AMBUSTA, the Marks of Burning which remain'd upon the Skin. It is a Title in Valerius Maximus, Ambuftarum lib. 8. cap. 1. Speaking of two Women whose Reputation was ing, tho they were not condemn'd by any publick Sentence.

So, among the Antients, those who were only Thunder-struck. For which reason it was that miss was furnamed Ambuftus, as was also his whole Family, because he was smitten. with Thunder in the hinder-parts: Us Jovis dicatur fi ius, in partibus Fabius aduritur mellibus, obsignaturque posticis.

AMILCAR, the Admiral of Carthage. who raised the Honour of his Nation by many mans. He ordinarily faid of his three Sons, that he nourish'd three Lions, which would one day tear Rome in pieces, and he made his of Persons for this purpose, which they call'd eldest Son, the Great Hannibal, to swear upon at peace with Rome.

AMISSA, Things left. These were the ways which the Antients made use of to find the things they had loft. Marfur teaches us, that they fix'd Papers upon fome Post or Pillar in publick places, declaring what was loft, the Name of the Person who loft it, and the place of his Dwelling, promiting a Reward to him that should bring it, as it is practifed at this

Quae fiquis mibi retulerit, denabitur aure.

I puer, & eitus hat alique propone columnet: Et daminum Exquidit feribe habitare tuam Apaleins tells us, that they caus'd the thing to be cry'd in the Crofs-ffreets, promiting likewife a Reward to him that should restore it : Si quis à fugă retrabere, vel sceultam demonfrare potuerit regis filiam, Veneris ancillam, nomine Pfychen, conveniat retro metas Marcias mercurium pradicatorum. They went also to the Preter, and ask'd of him fome Persons to make fearch for the thing loft, as we learn out of Pleasur: - Ad Pratorem illicò amuibus. Qui illam ivaftigent, qui invenient.

Ile, arabe, ut conquisitures det milit in mieit

AMMONIUS or HAMMONIUS, Taniter Annen, worthin'd in Libre under the figure of a Ram, of which fome fay this was the Reafon; Beccher having fuben'd Afia, and paffing with his Army through the Defarts of Africa, was in great Want of Water, and ready to periffs with Thirth; but Jupiter his Father affurning the shape of a Ram, led him to a Ponatain where he refresh'd his Army, and in requital of fo great a Benefit, Baccher built him a Temple there, under the Title of Jupiter Housens, i. e. Sandy, because of the Sands of Africa. Others fay he was call'd Ammen from a Shepherd of that Name, who built an Altas to him there.

The Latin Interpreter of Armeur, who is called Boffes or Germanicus Cafar, writes, That the Rom which frem'd the Fountain to Bacchus, when he amdulted his Army thro the Defarts of Libya, man placed among the Celeftial days; and Bacchus credies a magnificent Temple to Jupiter in the place where he found the Buntain, about nine daye Journey from Alexandeia, who, from the Sand that was there, was call'd Jupiter Ammon. You may confult upon this Subject Ruintus Cartius, tib. A. Dinderu Siculus, lib. 17. CE Arrian, lib. 4. de Extedit, Alexand.

Juster was figur'd with a Ram's Head beunie his Oracles were always very intricate, if we may credit Servins. But Heredows gives e betree Reafon, when he tells us that the de-

the Alters of the Gods, that he would never be | meniate borrow'd this Worship of the Egyptams. of the City of Theber, where Japiter had a Ram's Head.

Strabe relates, with fome appearance of Reafon, that the Place where Jupiter Ammon's Temple flood, was formerly near the Sea, and that the great Concourse of People, which came to confult this Oracle, is an evident Proof of it; for a place fo far diffant from the Sea, and flanding in fuch valt Defarts of Sand, could never be fo frequenced. He speaks elsewhere of the Travels of Hercules, Perfew and Alexander to confult this Oracle.

This Relation supposes always, that Japites Ammon was King of Egypt, whose Worthip, after his Apotheosis or Deification in Eggs, pass'd into the distant Provinces. Diederus Sicular, describing a Tradition of the Libyaur, gives us a Relation that proves the thing, with That Jupiter Ammon was a great King, of whom was made a fabulous God, and a fictirious Oracle after his death. This Historian cites another more ancient Writer, who faye, That Ammen reign'd in Libys, and marryed Rive the Daughter of Celus, and Sifter of Saturn and the other Titans; that Rhes divorcing herfelf from darmen, marryed Saturn, and put him upon making War with Amoun, in which he was victorious, and forced . Armen to fave himfelf by Sea, and fly into Crete, where he made himfelf King. Arrism fays, That Perfess and Herculer accounted themselves the Posterity of Japiner; and that Alexander being envious of their Glory, call'd himself also the Son of Anne, who was the Jupiter of Libys.

A M O R, Love, according to Plate, is a God more beautiful, antient, and better than all the fabulous Deities of Antiquity. Simmider makes him the Son of Mars, and Venus the Goddess of Beauty; as also doth Lucian in his Dialogues. Anklaur will have him the Son of the Air and Night; Saple of the God Calar and Penus. Hefiat, in his Theogonia, fays, that he was born of Chew and the Earth; and that before the Creation of the World, he was in the Divine Effence, because it lov'd its Creatures from all Eternity, before they were created.

He bath also diffuled the fame Spirit of Love among them all, which is nothing elfe, according to Empedicles, but the Divine Vertue which inclines the Creatures to defire an Union one with another; or to fpeak more properly, a Divine Intelligence, which hath imprinted that Spinit in Nature it felf : From whence arifes the Harmony of the Elements, and the Copulation of Assimals.

The beavenly Souls, and Spirits themselves; according to the Platenift, descend by the means of Love into the Body: For which res-fon it is, that Orbbew will have it, that Love has the Keys of Heaven Gates, and so he represents him, as holding them in his Hands. 'Tir Love or Cupid, fays Lucian, that conquers all the Gods, and Venus herfelf, who is his Mother. He can do nothing with Pallas, nor the Mufes, nor dares to attack Diana, but he fears not Jupiter or his Thunderbolts. He is painted in the form of a beautiful Child with Wings, and a Fillet over his Eves, who carries a Quiver upon his Shoulders, holding a Bow and Arrows in one hand. and in the other a lighted Torch.

The Wings which are given to Cupid denote his Levity and Inconstancy : A Bow and Quiver full of Arrows are attributed to him, because he wounds the Hearts of Lovers : He is painted blind, because nothing is more blind than Love.

Love is call'd by the Greeks fees, from the earnest folicitation which Lovers make one to the other. They also call derrigue, Mutual Low, which they make a God, and affirm him to be the Son of Mars and Venus, as Gicero tells us, Lib. 3. De Nat. Dear. whom they myflically represent with two Torches lighted joyned and tyed together. Paulanias, in his Eliaca, makes mention of a Statue of Cupid and Anteres, who strives to fnatch a Palm-Branch which the other holds in his hand. And Perphyrius, the Philosopher, has left us a Fable upon this Subject ; That Venus perceiving that little Cupid did not thrive, and that he fell into a languishing condition, went to ask Advice about it of the Goddels Themis, who answerd her, That he had need of an Anteros, or mutual Love to relieve him : whereupon. a little time after, Venus conceived Anteros, and he was france born, but Cupid apparently grew, and became more beautiful every day. The Athenians, fays Paulanias, erected an Altar to the God Anterer, upon the account of a certain Milesian, who was much lov'd by Timagoras. This last being delirous to give some proofs of his Love, cast himself headlong from a Rock, and kill'd himfelf; at which the Milesian was so troubled, that he also cast of Argor, to war against Eshcecles, King of Thehimself down after him, which made the Athenians worship the Ghost of Timageras, under the Name of Anteres, as a Revenger of the too great Rigour of the person lov'd toward the Lover. Some also call him Anteres, who difengagesunhappy Lovers from that Love which cannot find a futable return. Dide feems to allude to this in Aneid. Lib. IV. v. 478. Invent, Germana, viam, gratare foreri

Que mini reddat cum, vel eo me folvat amantem

Ovid, in like manner fays, that they call'd him Forgetful Love, Lethaus Amor, who had a Temple at Rome near the Colline-Gate :

Est propè Collinain templam menerabile portam

Eft illic Lethaus Amor qui pellora fanat. Inque fuas gelidam lampadar addit aquam. In Remed. Amoris.

Some have had recourse to Magicians and Charms, to make em love. Lucian brings in an Harlot named Meliffa, who defired Bacchis to bring some Magician to her, who gave Philtres to cause Love, and allure Lovers. She tells her, That she knew a Syrian Woman, who made a Lover return to her again, after Four Months absence, by an Enchantment which she then declar'd to her. She shall hang. fays fhe, the Calces or Sandals of the Lover upon a Peg, and fhall put upon them fome Perfumes, then the Shall cast Some Salt into the Fire, pronouncing thy Name and his ; then drawing a Magical Looking Glass out of her Beson, she shall turn every way, muttering feveral words with a low voice.

We meet also with other Enchantments fet down in Theoritus's Pharmaceusria, in Virgil and Juvenal. Josephus alfo, the Jewifb Historian. testifies, that Moses having learn'd the Ægyptian Philosophy, made Rings for Lovers and Forgetfulness, as also did King Solomon against Witcheraft.

Whatever Effects these Love-Potions might have, what Ovid tells us is more probable, That Beauty, and fomething elfe, not to be mention'd, are the only Philtres, which engage any Man to love.

Fallitur Emonias fiquis decurris ad artes : Datque quod à reneri fronte revellit equi-Non facient, ut vivat amor, Medeides herbe. Mixtaque cum magicis Marja venena fonis. Phasias Æsonidem, Circe tenuisset Ulyffern.

Si medò servari carmine poffet amor. Nec data profuerint pallentia philtra puellis

Philtra nocent animis, vimque furoris habent Sit procul omne nefas : Ut ameris, amabilis efto : Qued tibi nen facies, folave forma dabit. Art. Amand. Lib. II. v. oo

AMPHIARAUS, the Son of Occleus, or according to fome, of Apollo and Hypermnefira; being unwilling to go with Adraffus, King bes, hid himfelf, to avoid the Death which he knew would happen to him in that Expedition ; but Eripbyle, his Wife, being gain'd by Adrastus with the promise of a rich Chain, betray'd him, and discover'd the place where he was hid. Amphiaraus, enrag'd that he was fo basely betray'd by the Treachery of his own Wife, commanded his Son Alemeon, before his departure. That as foon as he heard of his death, he should revenge it upon his Mother Eripbyle, as the only cause of his Misfortune. The Enterprize against Thebes provid very unfuccesful; for of the Seven chief Commane ders, Five of them were flain at the first On-fet, and .tmphiaraus was fwallow'd up was retreating.

Philefratus gives this account of Amphiaraus, in his Second Book of the Life of Apellonius; Amphiaraus, the Son of Oecleus, at his return from Thebes, was swallow'd up in the Earth. He had an Oracle in Attica, whither he fent the Dreams of those who came to confult him about their Affairs : but above all things they muß be 24 hours without Meat or Drink and Three days entire without the ule of Wine. Pausanias, in his Attica, speaks of a Temple confecrated to him ; At the going out of the City Oropus, upon the Sea-Coafts, about 12 Furlongs from thence, there stands the Temp'e of Amphiaraus, who flying from Thebes. was fmallowed up with his Chariet. Others fay, that it was not in that place, but in the way that leads from Taches to Chakis. Nevertheless, 'tis evident that Amphiarous was first deifi'd by the Orapians, and afterwards the Greeks decreed him divine Honours. His Statue was made of white Marble, with an Altar, of which only the third part is dedicated to him, and the rest to other Gods. Near to this Temple there is a Fountain call'd the Temple of Amphiaraus, out of which 'tis faid he came when he was plac'd among the number of the Gods. None were permitted to wash or purify in that Fountain, but when they had an Answer from the Oracle, or found their trouble remov'd; then they cast some pieces of Silver or Gold into the Fountain. Jophe of Gneffus, one of the Interpreters of Amphiaraus's Oracles, publish'd them in Hexametet Verse, which brought the People to his Temple.

Amphiarau, after he was deifi'd, instituted the way of fore-telling things to come, by Dreams; and they that came to confult his Oracle, must first facrifice to him, as to a God, and then observe the other Ceremonies prefcribed. They factificed a Sheep, and after they have flead it, they spread the Skin upon the ground, and flept upon it. expecting a Refolution of what they asked, which he gave them in a Dream.

The fame Author, in his Corinthiaca, tells us alfo, That in the City of the Philafium, behind the great Market, there is an House which is called the Prophecying or Divining place, where Amphiaraus having watch'd one Night, began to fore-tell things to come.

Plutarch, speaking of the Oracle of Amphiarant, fays, That in the time of Xerxes, a Servant was fent to confult it concerning Mardonius. This Servant being afteep in the Temple, dreamt that an Officer of the Temple chid him much, and beat him. and at last flung a great Stone at his head, because be would not go out. This Dream prov'd true ; for alive in the Earth, with his Chariot, as he | of Lacedamon, beering rectived a Blew with a Stone upon his bead, of which he dyed. This is almost all that Antiquity has left us about Amphiaran and his Oracles.

AMPHICTYON, the Son of Helenus : This was he, fays Strabe, who appointed that famous Affembly of Greece, made up of the most vertuous and wife of Seven Cities, who were called after his Name, as were also the Laws which they made.

Cellus would have us believe, that he was the first that taught Men to mingle Wine with Water. There was another of that Name. the Son of Deucalism, Governour of Assics after Cranaus, who is faid to be an Interpreter of Prodigies and Dreams.

AMPHILOCHUS. Lucian, in one of his Dialogues, entituled The Affembly of the Gods, tells us, That he was the Son of a Villain that flew his Mother, and that had the confidence to prophecy in Cilicia, where he foretold all that Men defired for about Two pence; so that he took away Apello's Trade. And the same Lucian, in his Lyar, brings in Eucrates Speaking thus about Amphilechus; At I return'd, fays he, from Egypt, having heard of the Fame of the Oracle of Amphilochus, which answer'd clearly and puntiually to every thing any person defired to know, provided they gave it in writing to his Prophet, I had the curiofity to confult him as I passed.

AMPHINOMUS, and ANAPIUS, two Brothers who were eminent for their Piety, having faved their Parents, by carrying them upon their Shoulders, with the peril of their own Lives, out of the City of Catanea, which was fet on fire by the Flames of Ætna.

AMPHION, the Son of Jupiter and Antiope, the Daughter of Nycetus King of Beetia. Antiope was first marryed to Lyou King of Theber: but he divorc'd her, because she had profitured herfelf to Enaphus, King of Sicyon. Jupiter, who was in love with her, enjoy'd her under the form of a Satyr. Derce, the Second Wife of Lyens, caus'd her to be imprison'd, out of Jealousie; but she having escaped, and feeing herfelf purfu'd, hid herfelf in Mount Citheren , where the brought forth Twins , Zethus and Amphion, who were brought up by Shepherds, and being grown up, reveng'd the Wrongs done to their Mother by Lycus and Derce, whom they caus'd to be pull'd in pieces, having ty'd them to the Tail of a mad Bull.

Amphyon was very excellent at Musick, and learn'd of Mercary to play upon ftringed Inftruments, in which he grew fo great a Proficient, as the Poets fay, That he built the Walls of Thebes by the found of his Harp, and that the Stones put themselves in order to Mardonius was flain by the Lieutenant of the King make that Building. Having married Niebe, the Daughter of Tantalau, he had by her Seven | Altar, upon which they facrificed Men before Sons. and Seven Daughters, of which their Mother was fo proud, that the preferred herfelf before Latena, the Mother of Apolle and Diana, for which the loft all her Children, except Cloris, they beingflain by Apollo's and Diana's Darts. Amphion, to sevenge himfelf, attempted to destroy spollo's Temple; but that God flew him, and punish'd him in Hell with the lofs of his Sight and Harp.

Amphien receiv'd his Harp of Mercury, who was the Inventer of it, as spolle speaks in Lucian : He made (fays that God to Vulcan) an Inframent of a Tertaife-Shell, on which he play'd fo excellently, fo that he made me jealous, who am the God of Harmony.

And after he had shewn it to Apollo, and the Muses, as Pausanias says, he made a Present of it to Amphien : 'Aupiere To Oncala dieer.

AMPHITHEATRUM, the Amphitheatre, a place built round or oval, which encompassed the Roman-Theatre, and was furnish'd with Seats, on which the People sitting, faw divers Shows and Sports'which were expos'd to view. It is evident, that in Vitruvini's Rome; and therefore 'tis a miltake in Pliny, for keeping the Athleta, i. e. Wrestlers. when he speaks of Pumpeii Amphitheatri, inbuilt at Rome, in imitation of the Greeks, of which the most famous was Nero's, which was built all of Tybertine-Stone, which is as hard and beautiful as Marble. It was call'd the Amphitheatre of Nero's Colossus or Statue. It was 135 feet broad, and 525 long, large enough to contain 87000 persons sitting at their ease; phitreatre. These Words are almost the same and the height of it was 165 feet. Amphi- with Pling's, and feem to make that Tribune theatres and Theatres at first were not built for continuance, being only of Boards, which they pull'd down after the Plays were ended. Dien Caffins fays. That one of thefe Amphitheatres fell down, and crush'd a great number of People under the Ruiner of it. Augustus was the first that built one of Stone in the Campus Marrius, at the Expence of StatiliusTaurus, A.U.725, and this Amphitheatre remained till the time of the Emperor Velpasian; for the first being burnt in Nero's time, Vespasian began a new one, in his Eighth Confulfhip, two Years before his Death, but Titus finish'd it.

Pliny relates, that Curio made an Amphitheatre that turned upon huge Iron-Hinges, fo that two Theatres might be made of that Amphitheatre at pleasure, on which different Plays might be represented at the same time.

The Amphitheatres were confecrated to Diana Taurica, OI Scythica, Jove Latino, Or Stygie, as Martial will have it, and at last to Saturn. Minutius Felix tells us, That there was an fitting at their cafe.

they began their Sports.

The Amphitheatre was divided into Three principal parts; the Firft, which was the Theatre, was the lowest, and made as it were a plain of Sand, which was call'd the Cavea, that is to fay, the Cave; because it was full of artificial fubterraneous Caverns, of which some were used to thut up Beasts in, and others ferved to hold Water for the imittaing of Sea-Fights, and for the conveniency of the Spectators. This place was plain, even and fandy, whence it was call'd Arens, or the Sand, and from it proceeded that Latin figurative Phrase, In arenam descendere, which is as much as to fay To enter the Combat, because the Gladiators fought upon that Sand, or on that Sandy Place.

The fecond part was the Circle about the Arena, which contain'd a great number of Seats, with divers Ascents one above another, that the Spectators who fat nearest might not hinder those that fat further off from feeing.

The third part was us'd for the keeping of divers kinds of Beafts, as Horses for Races and time the true Amphitheatres were not built at Hunting of Wild-Beafts, for Criminals, and

It is very hard, fays Justus Lipsius, to set down flead of Pempeiani Theatri, as Lipsius observes, the precise time when Amphitheatres were There were afterwards several Amphitheatres first built; yet that Author does not doubt to fix the Invention of them about the Declenfion of the Commonwealth, and believes that Cario's Theatre was an Amphitheatre, because when they pleas'd they could divide it into two parts, and when they chang'd its Form, and us'd it in its full Extent it was a true Amof the People the first Inventor of Amphitheatres; for in the same place 'tis expresty obferv'd, that the Diversions of the Scene were so artificially dispos'd, that altho there were, as it were, two Theatres, yet the Contrivance of the Machine-maker did order things so well, that when they pleas'd there appear'd but one Inclofure or Amphitheatre.

Nevertheless Statilius Scaurus, that famous Ædile, may be thought to have preceded Curio in that Delign : for, as Pling fays, Scaurus was the first who expos'd to the People an hundred and fifty Panthers: and Bullenger adds, that he us'd his Theatre as an Amphitheatre.

However 'tis most evident that Julius Cafar. was the first Inventor of Amphitheatres; and Bullenger affures us, That after be had Subdu'd Alia and Africa, be built a Theatre of Wood in the Campus Martius, which was called an Amphitheatre, because of the Ascents that were round it. and upon which the Spectators might fee the Plays, of Alceus and Laonoma, the Daughter of Guneus, according to Paulaniay in his Arcadica. He marry'd Alemena of whom the Story is famous for the Birth of Twins, whereof one was whom some name Ilia and other Rhas and Sylnam'd Hercules, who was the Son of Jupiter, and was furnamed Alcides, either from his big as fhe was facrificing to Mars in a Wood, Grand-father Alcaus, or elfe from the Greek Word ann, which fignifies Strength or Valour, because of his extraordinary Strength, by which he fubdu'd fo many huge Monsters, and clear'd the Earth of them. See Alemena.

AMPHITRYO.

AMPHITRITE, a Greek Word which fignifies encompaffing. The Poets make her a Goddess, the Daughter of Oceanus and Deris, and Wife to Neptune the God of the Sea.

AMPHORA, an Earthen Vessel with two handles, wherein were put things dry and liquid, as Herace fays in his de Arte Poetica, v. 21. - Amphora cepit

Inflitui, currente rota cur urceus exit ? The Potter had a Defign in turning the Wheel to make an Amphora, and nevertheless he made a Pitcher only.

This Veffel contain'd four Sextaries and an half of Wine, which is about nine Gallons. Suetonius tell us a Story of a Man who frood for the Quæstorship, and who drank an Amphora of Wine at one Meal with the Emperour Tiberiut, Ob Epotam in Convivio propinante (e vini am-phoram. This Measure contains also three Bushels of dry Measure, the Standard of it was kept at Rome in the Capitol, to prevent false Measures, as Rhemnius Fannius Polemen, who was Lucan's Master, testifies; from whence it was called Amphora Capitalina. It was a foot square in all its Dimensions, as Length, Breadth and Depth, and confequently it was Cubical.

AMPLIARE and AMPLIATIO [Terms of the Roman Law,] to delay the Judg. ment of any matter for better Information, to declare that we must proceed in Law by Writing and Allegations, when a matter is not fufficiently discover'd or prov'd ; for when such a thing happen'd in Suits, the Judg pronounc'd with a loud Voice Amplies; or he cast into a Pot a Ballot mark'd with an N and an L, which is as much as to fay, Non Liquet, that is, The Matter cannot be determin'd as it ftands.

M. Acilius Glabrio and Calpurnius Pife forbad Ampliation or Pleadings by Writing in Lawfuits, as Gicere testifies in his first Oration against

AMULA, a fort of Vessel, wherein the Lustral Water, in the Roman Sacrifices, was

AMULIUS SYLVIUS, King of Alba, the Son of Proces, and Brother of Numiter. The Kingdom of right belonged to Numiter, Venus often came down upon Mount Ids to en-

AMPHITRYO, a Techan Prince, the Son | and his Father gave it him at his death; but Amulius invaded it, and to fecure his Ufurpapation he caus'd Egefus the Son of Numitor to be flain in hunting, and forc'd his Daughter, vis, to become a Vestal Virgin. She grew and was after deliver'd of Twins, Rhemus and Romulus, who reveng'd their Uncle's Death by flaying Amulius the Usurper, and restoring Numuter to the Throne.

AMYMONE, one of the fifty Daughters of Danaus, whom her Father forced every day to go and draw Water in the Lake of Lerna, a City of Argos, and who had her Water-pot in her hand, fays Lucian, because the City was very dry. But Neptune having feen her fell in love with her and took her away, and firiking a Rock with his Trident he rais'd up a Fountain in her stead. She was the only one of all her Sisters who, after her Death, was not condemn'd to fill a Tub, full of holes, with Wa-

ANALEMMA, a Greek Word, that fignifies those forts of Sun-Dials, which shew only the Height of the Sun at Noon every day. by the Largeness of the shadow of the Gnemon. 'Tis not properly a Dyal, because it does not .. shew the Hours, but the Signs and Months only. Of late Analemma's and Dials are joined together, which shew the Month by the length of the shadow, and the Hours by the Declina-

ANCEUS, the Son of Neptune and Aftypales, who much delighted in tilling the ground and planting Vines; when he had fpent feveral Nights in planting a Vineyard, one of his Servants told him that he should never drink of the Wine of that Vineyard; but when he had gather'd his Vintage, and caused some of the New Wine to be brought him to drink, he call'd that Servant to convict him of a Lye; he nevertheless held firm to his Prediction, repeating the Proverb.

Multa cadunt inter calicem supremaque labra.

Inter et & offam multa cadant.

While these things pass'd. News came to Anceus, that a Boar was got into his Vineyard, and had made much waste in it: he thereupon let fall his Cup, and went to hunt the Boar, which run at him and flew him. Paulanias, in his Arcadica, makes mention of another Ancaus, the Son of Lycurgus, who went in an Expedition to Ghelchet, and was flain by the Calydenian Boar, hunting with M:leager.

ANCHISES, the Son of Capys, lived in the Defarts of Phrygia, where he fpent his days in keeping his Flocks. The Fable fays, that Prince, was born, who in the Destruction of Trop fav'd him from the flames, carrying him upon his shoulders. He dy'd at Drepanum, and his Son celebrated anniversary Games in honour of him, of which Virgil speaks in his fifth Rook.

ANC

ANCILE, fee ANCYLE.

ANCULI and ANCULÆ, the Gods and Goddeffes of Slaves, whom they honour'd and pray'd to in the Miferies of their Bondage. ANCUS MARTIUS, the Grandson of Nums, and fourth King of the Romans. He fucceeded Tullus Holiilius, and was valiant contrary to the Hopes of his Neighbours. He fubdu'd the Vejentes in two feveral Fights, and took fome of their Towns. He enlared Rome, and fortifi'd Janiculum. He built the City Oftia. at the mouth of Tiber, to facilitate and fecure Navigation. He reign'd 24 years.

ANCYLE, or rather ANCILIA, a fort of Buckler fo call'd from the Greek Word ayκύλη or ανκών, which fignifies an Elbow. The Bucklers were cut and hollow'd into a Semicircle in the middle, and larger at the two

There was a Festival kept at Rome in March. called The Feast of the Holy Bucklers. The Occafion of its Institution was thus; In the Reign of Numa, Rome was afflicted with fo great a Plague, that all feiz'd with it dy'd without any Poffibility of Cure. One day as Numa was going in one of the Streets of the City, there fell down from Heaven upon bim, an Holy Buckler, or Ancyle, which he took as a Token of the Divine Protection ; for the Plague began to decrease, and the Nymph Ægeria told him, that the Fate and Happiness of his City were annexed to it. as beretafore those of Trov were to the Palladium of Minerva. He found no great Difficulty to perfunde the People to thele things, and, that their Enemies might not take away this Fatal Buckler, he caused Veturius Mamurius to make Eleven others, so exactly like it, that the Holy Buckler could never be distinguished from the others.

He put them into the Temple of Mars, under the Conduct of twelve Priests call'd Salii ; of whom I thall speak in their place.

Mamurius received this Remard, to be celebrated in the Hymns compoid in honour of the God Mars. as Ovid tells us in thefe Verfes, lib. 2. Fallorum

Inde Sacerdotes operi promissa vetusto

Pramia perfebunt . Mamuriumque vecant. Plutarch, explains this otherwise, for he favs That when the Salii made mention of Veturius Mamurius in the Hymns of Mars, it was only through a Corruption of their Language, and that they ought to have faid, ob veterem memoriam.

iov his Love; and of her Eneae, the Trojan | Salij gui cautant Veturium Manutium, Genificant veterem memeriam. But the greatest number of Authors are for the former Opinion, which feems the most natural and least strained.

The Feast of Holy Bucklers began the first of March, and lafted three days. It had feveral Names, some call'd it Salierum Festure, Salieres Or Martiale: Ludi, Antylierum feftum; Mamuralia. The Salli carry'd the Bucklers through the City dancing, and the Festival was ended with a fumptuous Feast, which was by way of Eminency call'd Saliaris Cana, Harace describes this Feaft, and what pass'd in it lib. 1. Od. 37, Nunc eft bibendum, nunc pede libero Pullanda tellus : nunc Saliaribus Ornare pulvinar deorum Tempus erat dapibus, fodalas.

None could marry, nor go about any Businels when these Bucklers were carry'd, because as Ouid fays, Arms denote Discord, which. ought not to be found in Marriages.

Arma movent pugnam, pugna est aliena maritis : Condita cum fuerint, aptius omen erit. Fast. lib. 3. v. 395.

Tacitus, in the first Book of his History, attributes the ill Success of the Emperour Othe against Vitellius, to his Departure from Rome, while these Holy Bucklers were carrying.

ANDROMEDA, the Daughter of Copheus, King of Ethiopia, and Calluge, who was fo rath and prefumptuous to dispute with June and the Nereides for Beauty: to punish this Sauciness, her Daughter was condemn'd to be expos'd naked upon a Rock to be devour'd by a Sca-monster, but she was rescu'd by Perseus, (who flew through the Air with the Wings which Minervs lent him to fight against the Gorgons, and who, by the help of the Buckler of that Goddefs, wherein he faw the Image of Medula as in a Looking-glass, had taken her by the Hair and cut off her Head, and then escap'd, while her Sifters were afleep,) for as he was on his Return on the Coasts of Ethiopis, he faw Andromeda just ready to be devour'd by the Monfter, and being mov'd with Love as well as Pity for the Misfortune of fuch a fair Unfortunate, turn'd the Monster into stone by shewing it the Head of Medula, after he had flun'd it with a Blow of his Sword; then loofing the Virgin, who was ty'd half naked to the Rock. he help'd her to get down the fleep Precipice, and carry'd her back to her Father, who, to reward him, gave her to him in Marriage. Lucian gives us a further Description of this History, in his Commendation of an House : Behold, fays he, Perfeus, who flew a Sea-monfter and refer'd Andromeda : Confider bow in a [mall space the Painter, has well expressed the Fear and Modefly of this young Fair one, who all naked wiew'd Varro is of the fame Opinion, lib. 5. Itaque | the Combat from an high Rock. Confider the terrible the amorous Courage of the Hero, See bow he held up bis Buckler against the Monster, which turned him into flone by the force of Medufa's Look, while he gave him a full Blow upon his Head with a Back-(word.

The History of Andromeds may be compar'd to that of Iphigenia. Andromeda being expord to a Sea-monfter, to expiate for the Pride of her Mother, who prefer'd her own Beauty before that of the Nymphs, she was deliver'd from it by Perfeus, who marry'd her after he had flain the Monfter. This Perfeus is nothing elfe but an Horfeman, according to the fignification of the Hebrew word Pharas, Equus. The place where Andromeda was expos'd is Joppa, or Jopha, upon the Coasts of Phanicia, as Pliny fays, In que vincularum Andromeda vestigia ostendunt.

The same Author assures us, that the prodigious Bones of this Fish tr which Andremeda was expos'd, were carry'd by Seaurus of Joppa to Rome : Bellue, cui dicebatur fuiffe expolica Andromede, offa Roma apportata ex oppido Judea Joppe oftendit inter reliqua miracula in edilitate (u. M. Scourse. 'Tis evident that it was fome Whale, taken at Joppa, whose Skeleton Scaurus shew'd at Rome; and that he might make his new Story more plaufible, he fet it off with the old Fable of Andromeda, Voffius is of opinion that this Sea-monster to whom ...indromeds was expos'd, and from whom Perfess deliver'd her. was nothing else but a Ship, or the Captain of a Ship, who had fuch a Monster for his Flag, and courted Andremeds, to marry her.

ANDRONES, a Greek Word which fignifies. The Apartment of Men, where they were accustom'd to make their Feasts, into which Women were not allow'd to come.

ANGELI, Angels, These are spiritual Inrelligences, which God makes use of, as his Ministers, to do Men Good or Evil, and to execute the Commands of his Divine Providence upon them. The Greeks and Latins acknowledg'd Angels under the Name of Good or Evil Genii or Damens. It is a Truth which Homer was well fatish'd in, that Angels of Demons do ftir up many Motions and divers Paffrons in the Mind and Heart of Man.

Heffed rells us, that there are thirty thousand Gods or Angels dispers'd over all the Earth, to observe the Conduct of Men ; Ter enim decies mille funt in terra Dir lovis, cuftoder mortulium bominum, qui judicia observant & prava opera. aere induti, paffim oberrantes per terram : thefe Words Dii Jovis fignifie Angelr: "Tis the Do-Strine of the Church, which even the Poets acknowledg'd with Hefind, That the Providence of God watches over the Universe, and to the bottom. that he hath thirty thousand, i. e. an infinite number of Angels, the Ministers of his wrath.

Lukt of the Menfer, who came to deven her, and I In fine, These Divine Guardians and Observers of our Actions are invisibly, yet most certainly in the midft of us, and encompass us on all fides.

Euripides, in Citere, makes the unfortunate OEdipus fay, that he withdrew himfelf for fear left the Evil Genii should hurt the City upon his account, the new additioner; &c. That's the Name he gives those Gmii or Damens which he believ'd were appointed to every particular Person, and were dispos'd to hurt them, as there were others who delighted to help and benefit them.

This Opinion of Hefied, agrees with Varre's and Plate's, who also assign several Orders of Demons or Intelligences in the Heavens, the Air, the Earth, and the subterraneous parts. that all the Universe might be fill'd with Life, Reason and Understanding, and consequently have a perfect Beauty. Nevertheless this Difference is remarkable, that Plate will have those Intelligences, which people and fill the whole Universe, to be created and appointed to their Offices from the beginning of the World ; whereas Hefied supposes them to be partly the Souls of the deceas'd.

ANGERONA, a Goddess, who is pray'd to against a certain Distemper call d'a Quessie, in Latin Augina. Pliny will have her the Goddess of Silence, and Calmness of Mind, who banishes all Disturbances, and heals all forts of Melancholy. The Remans instituted a Feast toher, which they call'd Angermalia, because she cur'd their Flocks, which were troubled with the Quinfie. She is painted with her Month cover'd, to shew us that Pains and Griefs should be born without impatient Complaints. They facrifi'd to her in the Temple of the Goddeis Felipia, where her Statue was fet up.

ANGIBATA, a Greek Word that comes from an dien and fignifies a Transparent Veffel. in which little Images feem to move up and down in the Water, which are inclos'd in it and feaf'd up hermetically. This wonderful Effect, which makes a kind of Enameli'd Figures to fwim in the Water, is feen in an Angibata, which has lately been found out, in which a fmall Image rifes and falls, turns about and flands ffill as you pleafe. This is done by fraitning and comprelling the Water more or less with the Thumb, which stops the end of a long Glass Pipe or Tube fill'd with Water. The Contrivance is, The little enamell'd Image, which is hollow and has a Weight fo proportion'd to its Largeness, that it will fwim upon the Water, yet fo, that by the Addition of a fmall Weight it will rife and fink

ANGLIA, England, fee Albien.

ANGUIS, a Serpent, which was an ill Omen | it shews us, that the Soul had forfaken the Boy in Marriages, as we may fee by those Verses of Terence in his Phormie, He will fay that lately there bappen'd to bim ill Omens, & Serpent fell from the Tiles through a Gutter. The God Efculapins is ordinarily represented under the figure of a Scroent, because he came from Epidaurus to Rome in that shape.

ANGUSTUS CLAVUS, a finall Button in the shape of the Head of a Nail, which the Reman Knights did Wear upon their Garments, call'd from thence Tunica Angusti Clave, whereas the Senators wore them larger, and their Coat was therefore call'd Tunica Lati Clavi. From hence it comes that these Words are often in Latin Authors, and chiefly in Suetonius, taken for the Dignity of Knights and Senators.

ANIENSIS TRIBUS, the Tribe of Anio, or the Inhabitants near the River Anio. In the Confulfhip of M. Fulvius and F. Manlins, the Cenfors P. Semprenius Sopho and P. Sulpisius Severas made a Cenfus, i. e. took an Account of the number of the People, to which they added a new Tribe call'd Anienfis.

ANIGER or ANIGRUS, a River of fant, but afterwards turn'd bitter and flinking, because the Centaurs wash'd their Wounds in it, which they had seceiv'd from Hercules, as the Fable favs.

living Creatures in general. This Word comes from artuG, which fignifies Wind or Breath ; the Latin fay, Ammen efflare, to express the Darkness. vielding up the last Breath, Or at the last Gasp .-

The Antients were feveral ways miftaken about the Nature of the Soul. Some, as Lactantius fays, believ'd that the Soul was Air. Varre, following this Opinon, fays, The Soul is Air receiv'd in at the blouth, purified by the Lungs, warmed by the Heart, and from thence dispersed this Quality alone they think they can prove through the whole Body. Some have form'd to themselves an Idaa of Souls, as certain thin Subffances like Shadows, yet visible, performing the same Functions and having the same Organs with the Bodies which they animate, fince they fee, fpeak, understand, and have need of Boats to carry them over the Rivers of | Spirits. Hell; fo that according to their Argument they are only more fubril Bodies. This Error pass'd among the Primitive Christians, notwithflanding the clear Light of the Gofpel; and so the Antients in their Emblems have re- ter their Deaths. Now this presupposes that presented the Soul by a Butterfly flying from they believed that the Souls of Kings were the Body, which may be observed from a Basso Relieve of Marble, which represents a young ces which govern the Stars. Thus the Apo-Man lying upon a Bed, with a Deaths-head at theofis or Deification of the deceafed, was an his Feet, and a Butter-fly flying over him, evident proof of the common belief of the which fignifies his Soul, and by its flying away Immortality of Soul.

dy, to which it was united.

The Butter-fly feems to have come out of the Mouth of the deceas'd, because the Antients thought, as the Vulgar still do, that the Soul took its flight from the Body at the Mouth. which made Honer fay, in his Iliads lib. 9. That when the Soul has once pass'd the Fonce of the Teeth. it can never return again.

They have exprest the Soul by a Butter-fly, which perpetuates its Being by changing its shape several times. For after this manner the Pythagoreans believe that we change our Genus or Species by the Transmigration of our Souls. Moralis tells us of an Epitaph, by which it appears, that a dead Man order d his Heirs to make a Butter-fly over his Ashes :

Haredibus meie mando etiam cineri ut meo Volitet ebrius Papilio.

There is yet extant a Representation of a Capid endeavouring to fix an unfleady Soul, by fastening it to a Tree, for a punishment of its Inconstancy, nailing it to a dry stump, and by that means hindring it from entring into the Body it defir'd.

Nicetas Choniates fays, That some were of opinion. Theffaly, whose Waters were sweet and plea- that there are two Natures in the Soul, one luminous and the other dark. This last has its Original from below, and comes through some subterrancous Caverns ; the other descends from the Height of Heavin all inflamed to adorn the Body ; but in its De-ANIMA, the Soul, which animates all frent it is especially caution'd to take care, that while it endeavours to adorn its earthly Habitation by its Light, it doth not obscure it felf by the others

> The Soul is more particularly faid to be that which gives Life to Animals and Vegetables. The Vegetative Soul is in Plants and Trees, the Animal in Beafts, and the Rational and Spiritual in Man. The Cartesians define the Soul of Man a thinking Substance, and by its spiritual and immortal Nature. As to the Soul of Beafts they fay 'tis an Automaton, or a Machine that moves of it felf and by natural Springs, that their Soul is a thin an active Substance, which participates of the Nature of Fire, and is the Source of the Vegetative

The Immortality of our Soul was not only the Opinion of the Poets, but of all Mankind. The first Idolatry was either the Worship of the Stars, or of Kings, which were Deities afmuch of the fame Nature with the Intelligenof the inward belief of the Souls Immortality; for Men would never have taken fo much pains to have eterniz'd their Name and Memory, if the Soul had been mortal: So Harace tells us, That he should not dye entirely, but that the greatest part of himself would survive after death. Non omnis moriar, multaque pars mei Vitabit Libitinam.= And Ovid fays the fame in these Verses ; Parte tamen meliore mei super alta perennis Altra ferar.

Cieere, in his Oration for the Poet Archiae explains the Immortality, fo much celebrated by the Poets; he affures us, that it was the Opinion of wife Men, That immortal Glory, the love of which was fo ardent in Man, suppofes immortal Life, which could tast the Sweetness of that Glory. This learned Man treats upon this Subject in his Tufculan Queftions, and observes there, that their very Burials, Funeral-Elegies, the Examples of those who have devoted themselves to Death for the Good of their Country, the Love of Glory, wherewith Men are so inspired, and lastly Call that is faid or believed of Hell, and all that in the Heavens, or in the Coeleftial Spheres, is read concerning it in the Poets, are evident Proofs of the Immortality of Souls, and of the Belief that all Men have of it, and explaining the reason which induc'd Men to describe Hell after the manner that the Poets had represented it; he says, 'twas because they thought Souls immortal, and not being able to apprehend any thing but what is material; they had describ'd Souls, and the Punishment of Hell, by corporial Representations; as we may learn by Homer, and other Poets.

Euripides, in his Deification of Cafter, Pellux. and Helena, tells us, That the Soul of Man, after Death, hath no Enjoyment of this fensitive Life. but hath always the same Understanding, and goes to take up itmabode in Heaven, propules d'eges d-Savalor.

Herodotus affures us, That the Egyptians were the first who deliver'd the Doctrine of the Souls Immortality.

Plate tells us, That after Death, our Souls are conducted by a Genius, who the Poets fay is Mercury, to the place where they shall be judged; and that they receive Punishments or Rewards proportionably to the good or evil they have done in their Lives. Quemlibet morientem cujufque Genius & Buigur, quem viveni fortitus fuerat, in locum quendam ducit, ubi omnes judicari oportet. Judicantur & qui bonefte, jufte & fantle vixerunt ; & qui nen, & qui mediocriter.

ANIMALIA, Animals, which are divided into Terrestrial, Aquatic, Birds, amphibious Creatures, and Infects. The Pagans ado- but the People had only three Reasons for it,

The earnest desire of Fame is a secret proof, red Beasts, and creeping things, as Deities; and the most superstitious, as well as the most antient Worshippers of this kind, were the Berptians. Thus, when Cafar made himself Mafter of Egypt, Lucian tells us, That he made a magnificent Treat of many of the Egyptian

Non mandante fame, multas volucrefque fe-

Ægipti posucre Deos. Ouid, Lib. V. of his Metamorphos. telates the Flight of the Gods into Egyp: from the War of the Gyants, and when Typhew purfu'd them. they concealed themselves under the shape of divers Animals, to avoid his Fury.

Herodotse affures us, that the Egyptisms were the first that made Statues, and engraved Animals in Stone: They represented Jupiter with a Rams Head, because Heracles being earnestly defirous to fee him, Jupiter appeared to him with a Ram's head. He fays alfo, That Pan was one of their greatest Gods, and they represented him as a Goat, tho' they knew very well. that he was like the other Gods. Luciandeclares, that the Signs of the Zodiack, and the other Constellations, were first painted by the Egyptians whose Images they would have afterwards to be upon the Earth in the fame Animals, whose Nature, they affirmed, depended upon the Nature of those Constellations, and upon their Impressions on fublunary beings. It is also probable, that this Fable of the Flight of the Gods into Egypt, and their Transformation into Animals, was taken from the Opinion of the Astronomers, who attributed the shape of these Creatures to the Constellations, and of the Constellations to the Gods, that is to fay, to the Coelestial Intelligences. 'Tis certain that they distinguish'd the Gods from the Animals that were confecrated to 'em, and that they did not give any Honour to those Beafts, but with relation to those Gods to whom they put up their Prayers, and not to Animals. Heredetus has given us the reason, why the Egyptians gave fo much Honour to the Ibis, or the Hawk; 'twas because, in the Spring, a valt number of flying Serpents came out of Arabia, to build Nefts in Egypt, but were driven back by these Birds. 'Twas without doubt to the God, who had fent them these Helps. that the Egyptians intended to give Honour, by worshiping the Animals which was confecrated to him. Diedorus Siculus afferts, after Heredetus. That the Egyptians affirm'd, That they worshiped those Animal which were consecrated to the Gods, in Honour to those Gods; and he affures us, that the Egyptien Priests had fecret and mysterious Reasons for their Worship; of which the two former feem to be formething , expose themselves to be stoned by the Exprises. fabulous, wie. That the Gods, at the beginning. being affaulted by a rout of wicked Men, conceal'd themselves under the Form of these Animals, and ever fince they had honour'd them. Secondly, That the Egyptians having been often victorious, after they fet up the Figures of these Animals for their Standards. Thirdly, That all these Animals were extremely useful for the preservation of their Goods and Lives.

Plutarch tells us, That we ought to interpret all these Fables in a pious and philosophical fenfe, piè & philosophice : That if the Egyptians did honour Mercury under the Name of a Dog, 'twas because of the Watchfulness of that Creature.

There was nothing fo lewd as the Worthin of the Goar, which they call'd Mendes; the Greeks, Pan ; and the Latines, Faunus and Silvanus. The Sileni and Satyrs related to this. The Figures of these Deities were yet more immodest and impure than the Animals themfelves; for they were the original, as I may fay, of the Priapus of the Greeks. All thefe Idolaters protested nevertheless, That their intention was by these Symbols, to honour the Fruitfulness of Nature, that continually produced an infinite number of Beafts, many of which are Masterpieces of the Fecundity of the divine Power. Some think that the greatest part of these Transformations of the Egyptian Gods into Animals, or the divers ways of reprefenting 'em under the Figures of these several Animals, arose from nothing else but some Allusions of the Names to a more antient Language; for Bechartus observes, that if Isis were changed into a Swallow, as Plutarch fays, 'twas because that Sis in the Hebrew Tongue fignifies a Swallow : If Anubis were painted with a Dog's Head, 'twas because Nobach fignifies to bark : If Apis was worshipped in the shape of an Ox, 'twas because Abbir fignifies an Ox : If Jupiter chang'd himfelf into a Ram, 'twas because El. which is the Name of Ged, fignifies also & Ram: If Ofiris, or Bacchus be changed into a Goat. 'tis because Seir fignifies a Geat : If Diana be changed into a Cat, 'tis because, in the Egyptian-Language, Bubaftis tignifies a Car, and that's the Name of Diana : Vinus is chang'd into a Fifb, because Atergatis come near to Dag, a Fifb : Laftly, June, or Aftarte, takes the figure of a Cow, because Haftaroth signises Herds of Oxen.

Tis not to be doubted, but from the time of Moses, the Egyptians worshipped their Gods under the figure of Animals, fince Mofes himfelf answers, That the Ijraelites could not offer a folemn Sacrifice in Egip:, lest they should whose Gods they must facrifice to the true ANNA PERENNA. This fabulous

Story is told of her :

This Anna, according to fome Authors, was vanquish'd by their Enemies, at length became the Daughter of Belis, and Sifter of Dide, who fled to Battur, King of the Isle of Malta, after the death of her Silter, when Hierbas, the King of the Getuli, attempted to take Carthage. When the perceiv'd herfelf not fafe with Battut, because of the Threats of Hierbas, she fled into Italy to Laurentum, where Encas was fettled ; and as he walked one day along the Bank of the River Numicius, he met Anna, and presently knew her, and conducting her to his Palace, he treated her according to her Quality. Lavmia was troubled at it, and fought her Destruction, as being her Rival; but the being admonished of it in a Dream, escaped to the River Numicius, whereof the was made a Nymph, as the told them that searched for her, and ordered them to call her for the future Anna Perenna. because she should be for ever under these Warers:

----- Placidi fum Nympha Numici Amne perenne latens, Anna Perenna vocor. Ovid. Fast. Lib. III. v. 653.

This News oblig'd the Albans to make great Rejoycings along the Banks of the River in Dances, and Feafting; and in imitation of them, the Romans did the fame on the Banks of Tiber. The Virgins rook very undecent Liberties, dancing and lasciviously sporting without any Modelty : Owid has describ'd these Feasts, which were made on the 15th of March, They facrific'd to her to obtain a long Life, Annare, O' Perennare. Some have thought that the was an old Woman of Boville, who brought Mean to the People of Rome of old, and then fled into the holy Aventine-Mount, and in Gratitude this Feast was appointed in Honour et her by the Romans :

Pace domi factà fignum poluêre perenne. Qued fibi defectis illa ferebat opem. Ovid. Faft. Lib. III. v. 672.

ANNALES. Annals, a chronological Hiftory, which describes the remarkable Events of a State yearly, as the Annals of Cornellus Tacitus : Whereas History, fays Aulus Gellius, descants upon those Events, and upon the Caufes which produc'd 'em. It was allow'd at first to the Chief-Priets only to write the Annals of the People of Rome; that is to fav. the confiderable things that happen'd every Year; and from thence they were called Annaies Maximi, non à magnitudine, sed quòd cos Pontifex confecraffet ; fays Feffus.

ANNALIS LEX, The Law which appointed the Age at which any Perfor was promoted to for one to be made a Remen Knight; and Twenty five to obtain a Confulship; and fo for other Offices. The Reman took this Law from the Athenians. ANNALIS CLAVUS, The Nail which the Prætor, Conful, or Dictator fix'd every Year in the Wall of Jupiter's Temple, upon the Ides of September, to shew the Number of Years. But this Custom was after changed, and the Years were reckon'd by the Confuls.

ANNIBAL, an African, the Son of Amilear, and General of the Carthaginians in the Wars against the Remans, whom he beat and defeated in feveral Battels. He pass'd from Spain to the foot of the Alps, in his way to fral, and went up to the top of those Mountains in Nine days time, notwibstanding the Snow with which they were covered, and in fpight of the Relistance of the Mountaineers which inhabit there, whom he shut up in a Rock, which they used for a Retreat; and by an unheard of Invention, he cut a way through that part of this Mountain which most obstrucled his passage, with Fire and Vinegar. After this, he over-run all Italy, and brought Terrour and Dread with him into all Parts, and chiefly after the Battel of Canne, which is a finall Village of Aulis, in which the Remans loft Forty Thousand Men, together with the Conful Amilia. Annibal fent Three Bulhels of Gold Rings to Carthage, and made himfelf a Bridg of dead Bodies. 'Twas at this Battel that he shew'd, that the greatest Men commit the greatest Faults; for he forgot himself, and loft by his own Carelefness a complete Victory; for instead of attacking Rome, he went and drown'd all his Glory and Hopes in the Pleasures of Capus. He dyed at the Palace of Prafias, King of Bithynia, having poyfon'd himfelf, because he apprehended, that this barbarous King would deliver him into the hands of the Romans. Thus dyed this great General, after he had made War Sixteen Years in Italy. won feveral Battels, brought feveral Nations to a Submission, either by Force or Agreement, besieg'd Rome, and made himself Master of divers Cities.

Juvenal having briefly run over the great Exploits of Annibal, concludes, that all this Glory ended at last with being conquer'd, banish'd, and living as a Fugitive; reduc'd to fo mean a condition, as to court a petty King of Asia; and lastly with killing himself by a Ring, which was a fort of Revenge on him for that incredible multitude of Rings which he had taken from the Reman Nobles slain in the Battel of Canna.

Lucian makes him freak thus of himfelf in one of his Dialogues of the Dead : Having past'd

Offices of State. Eighteen Years was required out of Africk into Spain mith an hamiful of blan. I first made my self famous by my Valour, and after the death of my Wives Brother, having the command of the Armies, I fubdu'd the Spaniards and Western Gauls; then marching over the Alps, I conquer'd all Italy, as far as Rome; after I had gain'd Three great Battels, and flain in one day fo many Enemies, that I measured the Gold Rings which the Knights were, by the Bushel, and marched upon a Bridg of dead Bodies. Being recall'd into Africa. to oppose Scipio, I obey'd, as if I had been one of the meaneft of the Citizens; and after being unjustly condemn'd, I bore my Banishment patiently. ANNONA, the Viduals, or the provision of Corn for a Year. Amena Civilis, the Corn with which the Granaries of Cities were fill'd every Year, for the Subfistance of the Citizens. Annes Militaris, the Corn which was laid up in the Magazines for the Sublistance of an Army during the Campaign.

ANN

ANNULUS, a Ring which the Antients wore on their Fingers. There are Three forts of 'em ; one fort was call'd Annuli Spenfalitii, Promubi, or Geniales, Rings of Espousals, or Marriage-Rings, which the Bride-groom gives his Bride at their Marriage; others were call'd Annuli Henerarii, Rings of Honour, which were us'd as Marks of Honour, and diftinction between the different Orders of Men, and with which those also were rewarded, who had done fome figual Service to the Commonwealth; the Third fort were call'd Annuli Signatorii, or Sigillatorii, which they used to feal their Letters with.

The Rings which the Romans used to give the Women betrothed to them, were ordinarily of Iron, and they put them upon the ath Finger of the hand. I have feen fome also of Copper and Brass, with little Knobs in the fafhion of a Key, to fignifie, that the Husband. by giving this Nuptial-Ring to his Wife, puts her in possession of the Keys of his House, of which the ought to have the care. Some of them are found with these Inscriptions. Bonam Vitam. Amo te, ama me.

Rings of Hensur, were Marks of Merit in the Persons who were them. The first Rement wore only Rings of Iron, as fittest for a warlike Nation, and they prefer'd 'em before Rings of value. Tarquinius Prifeus was the first that wore one of Gold; but for a long time the Senators durst not wear 'em. Afterwards a Cuftom prevail'd of giving Gold Rings to them that went on an Embaffy into strange Countries about the Affairs of the Commonwealth; but yet they wore them only upon the days of their Entries, or Audiences, as a Badg of their Dignity.

But afterwards the Senators were them of | Signatorii, or Sigillaterii, with which they feal'd Gold, as also the Knights, to distinguish themfelves from the common People; as they were known from Senators by a Robe woven with Gold, and by their large Buttons. This happen'd about the Second Punick or Carthaginian-

We read in Appier of Alexandria, that only Colonels in an Army had a Right to wear Gold Rings, which they used as a Mark of Nobility.

It is true, that in the Diforder and Confusion of Civil-Wars, the People, and Soldiers took she liberry to wear'em, as also Women-Slaves. and those who were made free, which obliged the Confuls, C. Afinius Pollio and C. Antiflius, under the Emperor Tibernes, to make an Order forbidding the Common-People to wear Gold Rings, at least those whose Father, or Grandfather by the Fathers fide, hid not a Revenue of 400 great Sesterces with a right to take place in the Fourteenth Afcent of the Theatre, which was granted to the Roman Knights when they were present at those Shows.

It is also true, that from the time of the Emperor Commodus, the Slaves made free were honoured with a Gold Ring.

Aurelius Victor fays, That the infamous Maerinus, the Son of an enfranchis'd Slave, receiv'd a Gold Ring, and was thereby equall'd to the Knights, as these Verses of the Poet Statius shew .

Mutavitque genus, lavdque ignobile ferrum Exuit, & celfo natorum equavit bonori.

They affected to wear 'em of an extraordinary weight; I have feen fome that weighed Four Pistoles and a Iraif of Gold : which puts me in mind of what juvenal fays wittily in his their Seals: Tabella testamenti aperiuntur hoc me-Seventh Satyr, That no body will give 200 Pieces to an Orator to plead his Caufe, although he be as elequent as Cicero, unless they see an extraordinary rupto lino, aperiatur & recitetur. Jul. Paul. great Ring flining on his Finger :

---- Ciceroni nomo ducentos Nunc dederit nummer, nisi fulsirit annulus ingens.

Satyr. VII. v. 139. · Pliny tells us, That in his time the Excess was fo his Comedy, entituled Cafina, Obsignate cellar, great, that it feem'd to bim, as though every one referte annulum ad me; And the fame Poet would be valued only by the Number and Weight of his Gold Rings, wish which they loaded rather than aderned their Fingers. This is the same rhat Seneca, the Philosopher, fays, Oneramus annulis di- fignant cum falc. gites, & m omni articulo gemma disponitur.

These Rings were often adorned with Beazels made of the same Matter, or precious Stones graved feveral ways.

dered to be made of the fame Metals, and not of precious Stones. The feveral forts of were fortunate in Dreams. Petronius, speaking Engravings which were fet in the Beazels of of the Rings which Tremalcion wore, tells us, their Letters, which they impress'd upon their Records; as also in their Houses upon their Cellars, where they kept their Provisions.

They feal'd their Letters, as we do at this day, faving, that instead of Silk they used Thread or Flax, with which they wrapt about the Letter on the outfide, and then laying upon it a fort of foft Clay or Wax, they flampt the figure of their Seal upon it, after they had a little foftened it with Spittle. Gicero has defcrib'd the manner of it to us in his Third Oration against Catiline ; Tabellas proferri justimus, que à quoque dicebantur date ; primum oftendimus Cethege, signum cognovit, nos linum incidimus, legimus : We caused the Letters to be brought, show'd 'em to Cethegus, who acknowledg'd the Seal, we cut the Thread, and read them, Plautus has describ'd the same thing to us more elegantly in his Bacchides : Cedo tu ceram. & linum, actutum age, obliga ob signa citò : Give me the Wax, and Thred, quickly; bind up the Letter, and feal it : This Flax was call'd Vinculum Epifiola; and Juvenal calls the Impression of the Seal upon the Wax, that was fostened with Spittle, Gemma Uda.

They feal'd their Contracts in the fame manner, as also their Wills; for as foon as the Witnesses had heard the Will read, it was feal'd in their presence, and they fix'd Three Labels to it, upon which they put Wax, and fet their Seals. This was decreed by the Senate, in the time of Nero, as Suetonius relates. It was likewise necessary, when a Will was opened, that either all the Witnesses, or at least most of 'em, should be present, to own do, ut teftes ve maxima pars corum adhibeantur. qui signaverint testamentum, ut ita agnitis signis,

These Seals were also made use of to feal their Cellars and Pantries, where they kept Provisions for their Families; for Plautus brings in a Mistris of a House, who was going to vilit her Neighbour, thus fpeaking in brings in a Slave complaining of his Master for fealing the Salt-Box, for fear he should take any Salt ; Ifti parci promi qui falinum fervis ob-

ANNULI Samothracii ferrei, Rings call'd Samothracian. They had fomething in them which fecured from Envy, and from other Evils, as Varro fays. Thefe Rings, as Artemido-Under the Emperor Claudius, . Seals were or- rus fays, which were Iron on the out-fide, and to which Art had imparted fome falutary Virtue, Rings made the Seals, which we name Annali That that which was upon his Little Finger was of Gold, fet thick with small Stars of Iron. | which made Virgil say in his Georgicks, lib. 2. 4. Isidore, after Pliny, teaches, Than the Slaves cover'd their Iron Rings with Gold. These Samothracian Rings may be faid to be Talismans, of which the Iron was wrought under some Constellation. Such also were those Rings which Solomon taught Men to make, as Josephus fays, which would drive away Devils : and those hollow Rings of Artemidorus, which inclosed in 'em some supernatural and divine Virtue. The People of the Isle of Samothrace much addicted themselves to the study of the Secrets of Nature, and Pythagoras taught them a forr of Philosophy which he call'd Divine, and is the fame with the Talifmans, or Rings made under acertain Constellation. The Gods of Samethrace were those who presided over the Talismans. Tertullian mentions three Altars, dedicated to three forts of Deitics, Magnis, Potentibus, Valentibus; and adds, 'Tis credible that thefe were the Gods of Samothrace, who were potent for the Execution of difficult Designs, and who presided over great Undertakings.

ANNUS, the Year. 'Tis, properly fpeaking, that Time which the Sun takes in paffing through the 12 Signs of the Zodiack. After feveral Observations, Astronomers having determin'd, That the Several Receffer of the Sun have certain Periods, after which that Planet Jeems to return to the fame Points, in refeet to us, and much about the Jame time makes the Jame Alteratoins of Seasons, and Temperature of the Air ; call'd the Year that Number of Days which the Sun is is the greatest of all, that in Albategnius the least, to be Heaven and Earth.

Varre calls them Divi Potentes, and supposes 'em

Stances and Recesses.

ter Exactness, did first acknowledge, That the who liv'd about the end of the last Age but mum Mobile, or Higheft Orb. Then they obfery'd. That the Sun, besides this Motion which is common to all the Planets, had another also proper to it felf, which was from West to East, round the Posture they were in before. Same Globe of Earth, in the Ecliptick, which cutting the Requator obliquely, rifes on both fides to- tion, that the Term of this Period is about wardt the Polet, as far as the Tropicks. And 1716 years, in which time the Solar year runs laftly, That the Sun running, in one T.ar. through the full Extent of this great Circle of the Ecliptick, which they have divided into twelve Parts or Sigm, by its Motion causes two very different Seasons, viz. Summer and Winter, when it arrives at the Tropicks, that is to fay, at the two Points of the Solffices; and two other more temperate, viz. Spring and Autumn, when the Sun cuts the Atquator, or the Aguinoctial.

The Year is call'd in Greek 179 and enaules, that is to fay, Returning into it felf; whence it is, that the Egyptians have represented the Year

Atque in |e sua perveftigia volvitur annus. The Year is either Natural, which is otherwife call'd Tropical, or Civil. The Natural or Tropick Year is that exact Space of Time which the Sun takes in passing through the Ecliptick, which is not always rhe fame, because of the Inequality of the Sun's Motion; which feems to have been observ'd in the most antient Times by the Egyptian Priests, and Sacrificers to Jupiter Ammon, by means of the different Quantity of Oyl which was burnt continually before the Statue of that God; for measuring with all the exactness possible what they spent in the whole year, they found that there was a confiderable Difference between one Year and another, and from thence infer'd rhat the Years were not exactly equal.

Aftronomers have fince by the Exactness of their Calculations and Observations, proved that the Mechanical Conjecture of the Exptians for the Term of the Solar Year, oblerv'd in the time of Hipparchus and Prolemy, and about 750 years after by Albategnius, was still found very different in the time of Alphonius King of Castile, which was abour 400 years after, and the Modern Discoveries that have been made from the most curious and diligent Observations have no Agreement with the Antients.

And as the Duration of the Solar Year, which we have from Ptolemy's Observations, paffing through those several differences of Di- fo that in Aphensu's time is in some fort a Mean between both, but that of our time Those who observ'd these things with grea- feems to come near the greatest. Coperaicus,

Sun did run from East to Weft, round the Earth in one, took occasion to conjecture that these, twenty four Hours, by the swift Motion of the Pri- tho different Inequalities , had their determin'd Periods; and that, in a certain Revolution of time, they pass'd through all these Differences, and then return'd to the fame

He has found out, by a laborious Computathrough all rhefe feveral Changes.

But because it would be very hard to fix unon a Computation of Years, according to fuch nice Differences, which confift in some few Minutes for each year, the Aftronomers have, for rhat reason, made use of a mean Duration between the greater and the lefs, which contains 365 days, 15 hours, and about 49 mi-

The Civil Year, which is commonly us'd by all Nations is very different, both as to its Beginning and Duration; which nevertheless by a Serpent turning round and biting its Tail : may be refet'd to three different Heads, for of the Moon, or of both. The Hebrews had two forts of Years, the Secular or Natural Year, and the Sacred or Ecclefiaftical.

The Secular had respect to the Civil Government for buying and felling, and began at the Autumnal Equinox, in the month called Tifri, which answers ro our September, because they believed that God created the World at that time.

The Sacred Year had reference to their Religion, and began at the Vernal Agumox, in the month called Nifan, which answers to our April, at which time they kept their Paffover.

The Expriant, Chaldeans and Affyrians were the first that measur'd their Year by the Course of the Sun, and they thought at first, that the Solar Year had 360 days only, which they divided into twelve months containing thirty days each; at the end of which, as we may conjecture by the Story which Platarch relates concerning Rhea and Saturn, Mercury added five days, which he called san popular, i. e. Added, by which means the year became 365 days long, without counting the fix hours or thereabouts, by which the Solar Year exceeds that dinary in 30 years; which they do by means number of days, and which, making one day of a Cycle of 30 years invented by the Arabiin four years, is the cause that That, i.e. the Egyptian year has no determin'd and fix'd place in any part of the Solar Year, which it anticipates one day every four years, and one month in 120 years, running through its whole Course in the space of 1440 years; after which it returns to the fame point from which it first began.

This way of reckoning the Years has been a long time in use among the Ægyptians, till, after the defeat of Mark Anthony by Augustus at the Battel of Adium, their Country was made a Province of the Roman Empire, and they were forced to submit to the Laws of the Conquewas the Julian, keeping only the Names of the months, which answer'd after such a manner to the Roman Months, that their That, the first day of the Year, always happen'd upon the the first day of the Exprise Year, which is alfo call'd the Coptick Year, is four whole months and three days before the Kalends of January, which is the first day of the Roman Year.

The Persians count their Years as the Ægyptions do. ever fince Cambyles became Master of Egypt. For having rantack'd the Sepulchre of of the rime of the Solar Year above the 365 Simmidius, he found a Circle of 365 Cubits round, every Cubit representing a day of the year, which was graven and matk'd by the rifing and fetting of the fix'd Stars, which years; which oblig'd them to change their In-they either follow the Course of the Sun, or mentioning the hours. Quintus Cursius tells us. that the Persians adore the Sun, and have an holy Fire, kindled by its Rays, to be carry'd before their King, who is follow'd by 365 young Lords, cloath'd with yellow Robes, to represent the 365 days of the

The Arabians, Saracens, and Turks, at this day reckon their Year by the Course of the Moon, making it to confift of twelve Moons, whereof fome have rhirty, and fome twenty nine days, alrematively one after the other. which make all together but 354 days; fo that the Duration of time being less than the Solar Year by about eleven days, ir follows, that their Month Mubarran, which they count for their first place in the whole Course of the Solar Year, which it precedes 11 days every year, and more than a month in 3 years; fo that in less than rhirty four years it runs through all the feafon of the Solar Year, and returns to the Point from which it first be-

And fince the exact time of the 12 Moons, besides the 354 whole days, is about 8 hours and 48 minutes, which make 11 days in 30 years, they are forc'd to add 11 days extraoram, in which there are 19 years with 354 days only, and 11 intercalary, or Embolismical, which have every one 355 days; and thefe are they wherein the number of hours and minutes, which are Surplus to the whole days in every year, is found to be more than half a day, fuch as 2, 5, 7, 10, 13, 16, 18, 21, 24, 26, and 29, by which means they fill up all the Inequalities that can happen.

The Greeks confider the Motions of the Sun and Moon in their Year, and as they fuppos'd in antient times, that the Moons Courfe was exactly 30 days, they made their Year to confift of 12 Moons, and by confequence of 360 rours and their Computation of years, which days; but quickly perceiving their error, they took out 6 days, to bring it to the Lunar Year of 354 days, which being less than the Solar Year by it days, they found it convenient. for reconciling the Inequalities in the Motions 29th of August; whence it comes to pass that of these two Luminaries, to infert at the end of every fecond year an intercalary month of 22 days, which they call'd, upon that account. euleatuaier, id eft, a Month added, or infer-

They understood afterwards, that the 6 hours they had omitted, which yet are a part days, and make one whole day in four years, were the cause that their Year anticipated the true Solar Year one day at the end of four made them fix their year to 365 days, without | tercalation, and put it off to the fourth year :

and then leaving only 354 days to the 3 first, 1 Year to consist of fix months, and Justin tells under the name of the Common Year, they reckon'd 399 days to the fourth, by the addition or intercalation of one month and an half, confifting of 40 days, arifing from the 11 days by which every Solar Year exceeds the Lunar, being four times counted, and the day which arises from the adding of the fix hours in four years. And to render the Intercalation more remarkable, they made a noble Confectation of it by instituting the Olympick Games, in the Lunar months. 3. Of Julius Cefar, who diftime of Iphites, at which all Greece met together every fourth year, and hence came the Computation of time by Olympiads, every one of which confifted of four years, and are to famous in History.

Nevertheless they found at last, that this space of four years did not rectifie all the Irregularities that happen'd in the Courses of the Sun and Moon, which oblig'd them to double em, and make a Revolution of 8 years, and because they were not hereby yet fully fatisfy'd, they introduc'd another of 11 years.

Notwithstanding this, the athenians did not receive fuch fatisfaction as they hop'd for by this last Period of 11 years, but they had still remain'd in a perperual Confusion, had not one of their Citizens, nam'd Mete, an Aftronomer of very profound Judgment, at last difcover'd, that all these different Changes which happen'd betwixt the two Motions of the Sun and Moon would be accommodated by a Period made up of the two former of 8 and 11 years, i.e. in the space of 19 years, after which those Stars return again to the same place where they were at first.

This Period of XIX. Years of Mete, was ordinarily call'd The Euneaderus eternis, and was receiv'd with fo great Applaufe among the Athenians, that they would have it written in large Characters of Gold, and fet up in a publick Place, which gave it the Name of the Golden Number, and the use of it became common not only in Greece but also among the Jews, who made use of it to regulare their years, afterwards among the Romans, and laftly, among the Christians.

The Athenians began their Year at the New-Moon after the Summer Solftice, in the Month call'd Exerquicaier, i. e. berween the months of June and July. All the Magistrates, Says Pinto, must meet in the same Temple the day before the Kalends of the Summer Selflice, when the New-year bėgins. Some made their Year to confift only of three Months, others of four, as we read in Macrebius his first Book of his Saturnalia, Chap.

us. That they reckon'd but fifteen days to their

Month. · The Romans had three forts of Years: 1. That of Remulus, which contain'd but ten months, beginning with March, whence is comes that December is call'd the last Month. 2. Of Numa, which corrected the grots Miflake of Remulse, and added two months to the year, viz. January and Rebruary, making it to confift of 355 days only, which makes 12 covering a further Error in the Calculation. viz. That there were ten days more than Names reckon'd, made a Year of 365 compleat days. and referving the fix hours to the end of four years, made a whole day of 'em, which he inferred before the 6th of the Calends of Merch; fo that in that year they counted the 6th of the Calends twice, Bis feste Calendas, whence came the word Biffentile; and the year had 366 days. and was call'd Biffestile. And this way of computation has continued to our time, and from its Author is memed the Julian Year.

Now the 10 days which Celar added to the year were thus diffributed, to January, August, and December, each of 'em two; to April, June. September, and Nevember, each of em one.

But because in these latter times there is still an Errour found in this Calculation, and the Equinoxes infensibly go back from the point where Juliu Cafar had fix'd them, they have found out, that the year had not just 365 days and fix hours, but wanted about 11 minutes. which in 131 years, make the Bquimmer go back about a day; for an hour having 60 fuch minutes, a day must have 1440, which being divided by 11 make 130 and 10 over, fo that the Engineer were come back to the tenth of March. For which reason in the year 1582 Pope Gregory XIII, to reform this Error, caus'd 10 days to be taken from the Year, to bring the Equinoxes to the 21 of March, and the 22, and 23 of September, and to prevent the like for the future, he order'd, that fince 131 thrice counted make 393, i. e almost 400 years, this marter should be regulated by Centuries, to make the account more easie and compleat, so that in 400 years, the Biffextile of 3 years should come to 100 Biffextiles. And this is that which is call'd The Gregorian Tenr.

The Jews count their years by weeks, and call the feventh Subbatical, in which they were not allow'd to plow their Ground, and were oblig'd to fet all their Bond-Servants at liberty. They had also their Year of Jubiles and Release. which was every 50 years, or according to ethers every 49 years, fo that every year of Jabilee was also Subbatteal, but yet more famous The Carions and Acharmonians made their than others, and then all Poffellions, and what-of which every one contain'd the space of four whole and complext years. These Olympiads rook their Names from the Olympick Games. which were celebrated near the City of Pila. otherwise call'd Olympia in Peloponnesus, from whence they were call'd Olympicks. These years were also called Iphitus's, because Iphitus first appointed them, or at least reviv'd that Solemnity.

ANS ever else had been alienated, return'd to its | next after Esfer, about the twenty fifth of first Owner. The Greeks counted their years by Olympiads.

The Remans counted by Lustra, of which every one is 4 complex years, or the beginning of the fifth. This word comes from Lue, which fignifies to pay, because at the beginning of every fifth year they paid the Tribute impos'd on them by the Cenfers. They also counted their Year by a Nail, which they fix'd in a Wall of the Temple of Jupiter Capitolinus,

The Year is divided into four Parts or Seafons, wie. Spring, Summer, Aurumn, and Winter. The Egyptus divided it but into a Vow to build Neptuse a Temple of the Sculls three Parts, Spring, Summer, and Autumn, of those he kill'd. He attack'd Hervala, who allotting to each Seafon four months. They represented the Springby a Rose, the Summer by an Ear of Corn, and the Autumn by Grapes and other Fruits. . Nomins, at the end of his Lib. 11. of his Dionyfisca, describes the four Seasons of the year thus, The Seasons, faith he, appear to the Eye of the Cilour of a Rofe; the Daughters of the inconfient Tear come into the House of their Father. The Winter casts a feeble Ray, having her Face and Hair cover'd with Snow, and her Breaft with Hoar-Froft, ber Teeth chatter and all her Bedy is rough-coated with Cold. The Spring, crowned with Rafes, fends forth a fweet Smell, and makes Garlands of Flowers for Venus and Adonis. The Summer holds in one hand a Sickle, and in the other Ears of Corn. And laftly, the Autumn appears crowned with Vine Branches, loaden with Grapes, and carrying in her hands a Basket of faid to have deliver'd the Palladium of Trey to-the Creation of the World, on the first of Sep-

At Rome there are two ways of reckoning the Year; one begins at Christmasi, because Padua of the Nativity of our Saviour, and the Nofaries of Rome use this Date, setting to their and Brother of Capid. See Amer. Deeds & Nativitate : and the other at March, because of the Incarnation of Jesus Christ, this is the Reason that the Popes Bulls are thus da-at the Death of St. Martin, who dy'd in the year of Christ 401, or 402. They began not in France to reckon the year from January till 1564, by virtue of an Ordinance of Charles IX, King of Branes, for before they began the day

ANQUIRERE capite, or pecunid (in the Reman Law) to require that a Perfon be condemn'd to Death or fined. ANSER, & Goofe. This Domestick Fowl was in great Efteem among the Romans, for having fav'd the Capitol from the Invasion of the Gauli, by her Cackling and clapping of her Wings. They were kept in the Temple of June, and the Cenfers, at their entrance into their Office, provided Meat for them. There was also every year a Feast kept at Rome, at which they carry'd a Silver Image of a Goofe in state upon a Pageant adorn'd with rich Tapftry, with a Dog which was hang'd, ro punish that Creature because he did not bark at the arrival of the Gauls.

ANT ÆUS, the Son of Nepsune and Terra, and one of the Giants which dwelt in the Defarts of Libys. He forc'd all Travellers to wrestle with him, and kill'd them. He made taking him by the middle of his Body, choak'd him in the Air, it being impossible to kill him otherwise, for as often as he threw him upon the ground, that Giant recover'd new Strength. which the Earth, his Mother, supply'd him.

ANTECESSORES, this Word properly fignifies those who excel in any Art or Science. Juftinian has honour'd those Doctors of Law who taught publickly with this Title : there were four of them in every College, and they made up the Council of State.

ANTECOENA, the First Course, the first Dish fet upon the Table ; it was either Fruits. or Sweet Wine, or some part of the Entertain-

ANTENOR, a Trejan Prince, who is the Greeks, which was the cause that the City The Greeks begin to count the Years from was taken. After the City was taken and deftroy'd, he came into Selavenia, about the Streights of the Adriatick Sea, where he built a City of his own Name, which is fince call'd

ANTEROS, the Son of Mars and Venus,

ANTESTARI, in the Law, fignifies to bear Witness against any one; whence it is that Horace fays in his Sat. 9. lib. 1. v. 76. Vis anteted, Anne Internations, [lun]: Will you bear Winness? And he that would, The antient Ponth Historians began the year did only offers the Tip of his Ear, Ego ours sppono auriculam : I offer my Ear immediately to fhem that I confent.

ANTEVORTA and POSTVORTA Deities honour'd by the Romans, who took care of what is past and what is future, and whom

ANTICYRA, an Island lying between the Streights of Meliacum, and Mount Octa. There grew, fays Pliny, the best Hellebore, which is an excellent Herb to purge the Brain ; from whence comes the Proverb, Naviget Anticyram, as much as to Jay, That a Man that has a diftemper'd Head, or a crackt Brain, fould go to Anti-

Cyra to cure it with Hellebore. ANTIGONE, the Daughter of OEdipus King of Theber, the ferv'd as an Eye to her Fr ther, after he had loft his Sight in his Banishment. Going to pay her last respects to her Brother Polynices at his Funeral, against the express Command of Creen, she was condemn'd by him to be flarv'd to Death in Prison ; but fhe prevented her Death by hanging herfelf. Prince Hamen, Creen's Son, who was about to marry her, flew himfelf also upon her Body in a Fit of amorous Despair. The Poet Sophoeler handles this Tragical Subject in his Tragedy of that Name so nobly, that the Athenians gave him for his reward the Government of the Ifle of Sames.

There was another Antigone, the Daughter of Lasmedon, whom June changed into a Stork, because she equall'd her in Beauty.

ANTILOCHUS, the Son of Nefter who accompanied him to the Siege of Trey, was flain by Memmen, whilft he endeavoured to ward the blow from his Father Neffer. Xenaphon tells us, in the beginning of his Treatife of Hanting, That Antilochus having exposed his own Life to fave his Fathers, deferv'd lo well, that the Greeks gave him the Name of Philopator. true Lover of his Father. Quintus Calaber relates the matter otherwise, That Antilochus having feen two of his Father Neftor's Captains, Erenthus and Pheron, flain by Memnon, attempted to revenge their Death upon him; but having pusted bim with bis Javelin, Memnon run bim through with his Lance. Neftor commanded his ether Son Thrafymedes to fetch off the Bedy of his Brother : but Achilles interpofing, flew Memnon. Nevertheless, Ovid tells us, That Antilochus was flain by Hellor.

ANTINOUS, of Bithmia, the Empe-FOT Adrian's Favourite, who was drowned in the Nile, in a Voyage from Egypt. The Emperor was fo fensibly touched with his Lofs, that to comfort himfelf, he plac'd him in the rank of the immortal Gods, causing Temples to be built to him, erecting Alters, and appointing Priests and Sacrifices.

He caused several Medals to be stamp'd to perpetuate his Memory, and plac'd his Statues in the Colleges. We have Three Medals of his; upon the Reverse of the First there is the Figure of a

they made the Companions of Providence. I the Nile, in Honour of him, with these Greek WORDS, AAPIANOE OKOAOMHEEN, Adriamus confirmair. At the bottom of this Temple there is drawn a Crocodile, a Creature that abounds in the Nile, where Antineus dyed.

Leonicus, in his Hifteria varia, fays, That he faw at Venice a Silver Medal of Antinous. on which were these words, ANTINOOE HPQE, that is to fay, Antinous the Here. On the reverse of this Medal is represented a Sheep, with an Inscription quite worn out.

There is yet a Third Medal of Antinous. wherein, on one fide is the Portraiture of this young Bithmian Lad of extraordinary Beauty, with thefe Greek Letters, OETIAIOE MAP. KEAAOE O IEPETE TOT ANTINOGT TOIS AXAIOIS ANEOHKE, Hofilius Marcellus Sacerdes Antinei Achais dicavit : On the reverse is the Horse Pegajus, with Mercury having his winged Shooes on, and his Caduceus.

ANTIOPE, the Daughter of Nytheus, and Wife of Lyous, King of Thebes, whom Inpiter enjoy'd in the form of a Satyr, which was the cause that her Husband divorc'd her, and marryed Diree, who imprison'd Antispe; but the escaped and fled to Mount Cuberen, where the brought forth Twins, Zethu and Amphien, who being grown up, reveng'd the Wrong done to their Mother upon Lyou and his Wife Dirce.

ANTIUM, a Sea-Town built by Afcanius, according to Selinus; or as Dienyfius Halicarnaffus will have it, by one of the Children of Ulyffer and Circe, upon a Promontory, or the top of a Rock, 32 Miles from Offia; it was the Metropolis of Velfei, with whom the Remens had War for Two Hundred Years. Camillus took it from them, and carryed all the Beaks of their Ships away, and laid 'em up at Rome, in the place of their Comitie, or Affemblies, called from thence Roffra. This City was given to the old Pretorian Soldiers; and Nere caufed a Port to be built there. Antum, fays Suetonius, coloniam deduxit afcriptis veteranii, e pratorio, ubi & portum operis sumptuosiffimi fecit.

ANTONINUS, the adopted Son of Adrian, to whom he fucceeded : He was Surnamed Pius, for his excellent Morals and fweet Temper, to which a reverse of a Medal alludes, which represents Eness carrying his Father Anchifes upon his Shoulders from Trey. (This was the Badge of Piety and Love towards Parents, among the Antients.) Anteninut had a long Vifage, which the Physiogmonifts fay, is a fign of Good Nature and Kindness, to which we may add a sweet, modelly and majestick Air, and a due proportion of all parts of his Face, as in the rest of his Body. He must be acknowledg'd to be a Prince good, Teruple, with the Emperor Adrien built upon merciful, juft, liberal, fober, and eloquent, one that was truly worthy to govern fo great | ple, whereas a Stag's Head was commonly an Empire. This Emperor was compard to Numa. and indeed they had a very great refemblance one to the other, both as to their Minds and the Lineaments of their Face. He caus'd the Temple of Augustus, which was much ruined. to be rebuilt, and rais'd a new one to his Predecessor Adrian, who adopted him. He dyed in the Seventieth Year of his Age, and was as much lamented, as if he had been a very young Man; and 'twas observ'd, that he gave | Palm-Branch. up the Ghoft as if he had been in a fleep, Heaven recompensing the sweetness of his Life by the easiness of his Death. He govern'd the Empire Twenty two Years and Seven Months. or Twenty four Years, according to others. ANTONINUS. See Marcus Aurelius Amoninus.

ANTONINUS HELIOGABALUS. See

M. ANTONIUS, Mark Anthony, a Trium-vir, the Grand-Son of Mark Anthony the Orator, and Brother of Lucius. He took Cafor's part, when he was Tribune of the People, and Augur. He went into Gallia, and engag'd him in a Civil-War against Pempey and his Followers. Attempting to polless himself of Musine, Brutus's Province; he was declar'd an Enemy to the Senate and People of Rame, by the perswasion of Cierro. He establish'd the Triumvirate of Offavius Cefar, Lampidius, and himfelf, which they all Three manag'd with much Cruelty. Cefer abandon'd Cuero to the Refentments of Anthony, who caus'd his Head to be cut off as he was carryed in his Litter, and fet it up in the Roffram where the Roman Orators us'd to plead. In the beginning of his Triumvirate he divorc'd his Wife Falvia. to marry Offavia the Sifter of Augustus ; but he left her a little time after for Clespaira, Queen of Egypt, with whom he was extremely enamour'd, which fo enrag'd Augustus, that he rais'd an Army against him, and defeated him at that famous Sea-fight near Adium. The year following he pursu'd him as far as Alemandria, whither he fled : but feeing himfelf deferted by his Friends, he kill'd himfelf at the Age of so years.

ANTRONIUS, the Creatian, had a Cow of wonderful Beauty, and he had learn'd of a certain Diviner, that he who facrific'd it to Diana upon Mount Aventine, should make his own City Mistris of the whole World by that Sacrifice. This Oracle being told to Servius Tullus, he commanded Antrinius to wash himself in the Tiber, before he offered his Sacrifice. In the interim Servise prevented him; and facrific'd if one of his Accomplices had not clear'd him the Cow, and fasten'd her Horns to the Temple of the Goddess; whence arose the Custom to revenge himself for this Calumny, which hang'd up in other Temples belonging to the fame Goddefs.

ANUBIS, the God of the Egyptians, pictur'd with the Face of a Dog, wrapp'd up in Linnen. Diederus Siculus thought him the Son of Offris, call'd Jupiter, under whose Name Mercury was worshipped, whom Apuleiss defcribes with a Dogs Head, carrying in his Right Hand the Ceduceus, and in his Left a ANXUR, or AXUR, as it is found on a Medal of Panfa, Jouis Axur, otherwise call'd Terracina, a City fituate upon an Hill that reaches along the Sea-side from Osis to Naples. which is Forty Miles from Rome. It was made a Colony in the Year 424. under the Confulfhip of Emilius Momercus and L. Plautus. who fent thither Three Hundred Citizens, to every one of whom they gave a confiderable parcel of Land. 'Tis thought by fome, that it was call'd Anxur, because Jupiter Anxurus, or Beardles Jupiter was worship'd there ; for this word Anxer or Axer, fignifies quafi ard Evel. without a Razor.

Circaumq, jugum, quels Jupiter Annuris arvis Prafidet -

Æneid. Lib. VII. v. 799. APATURIA, a Surname given Minerus by Ethre (the Daughter of Oceanus and Thetis) who confecrated a Temple to this Goddess, according to the Admonition she had given her, and order'd that the Trazamenian Virgins should for the future dedicate their Girdles to her at their Marriage. There were also Feasts called Apaturia, celebrated by the Athenians in Odeber, in Honour of Bacchus, Jupiter, and Pallas, where the young Men and Maids frent their time in Sports and Feafts, which lasted for several days.

APELLES, of the Isle of Coor, one of the most excellent Painters of the Antients: He drew feveral Pictures, all which were great Master-pieces. He drew the Image of Fortune lying on a Bed, holding upon her Left Arm her Corne copie, having her Right Hand fupported by a Wheel, to flew her Instability and Inconstancy, with this Inscription, Fertune Reduci ; and when he was asked, Why he painted Farture in that posture, he answered. Because she never is at rest. Being on a time accus'd by a Painter who envy'd his Fame, that he had conspir'd against King Pielemy, and caufed Tyre to revolt, and Pelulium to be raken, the Prince was thereupon very angry with him, as a Traytor and Affaffine, and had cut off his Head, when he was upon the Rack. Apeller therefore of fastening the Horns of an Ox to that Tem- had done him so much mischief, designed this Picture, He painted a Prince with great Ears, as Midas is only drawn, fitting upon a Throne attended with Sufpicion and Ignorance, reaching out his Hand to Calumny, who was coming towards him with a fiery Countenance ; (he held in her Left Hand a Torch, and with her other dragg'd a young innocent Child by the Haw; before ber went Envy with a pale Face and blear Eyes, accompanied with Fraud and Deceit, which dreffed and adorn'd Calumny, to make her appear more agrecable; after them came Repentance, under the Figure of a Lady clad in Mourning, with her Clothes all torn. who turn'd her Head towards Truth, being full of Sorrow and Shame.

Temple of Diana at Ephefus, under the Ligure of a Jupiter, holding a Thunderbott in his Hand, who feems to be iffuing out of the Picture, as well as the Thunderbolt. . Pling fays, he had Twenty Talents of Gold for this rare piece. He has left us the Lines which he drew at Protogener's House, which are to very fine, that they feem to grow invitible; but this did not gain him so much Reputation and Esteem as his Venus proceeding from the Sea, although that Picture was never finish'd by reason of his Death.

APEX, a fort of Bennet, or Cap, very plain and light, which draws to a point on the top ; used by the Priests call'd Salis.

Feftus and Servius derive the word from the Verb Apere, which is an old Latin word fignifying to join or bind ; because of the two woollen Strings, which coming from the Bonnet, were used to tve it under the Chin.

APHRODITE, a Name given to Vemus, because she was generated of the Froth of the Sea, and from hence her Feasts were call'd Aphrodifiana.

APIS, otherwise called Offris and Serapis, the Son of Jupiter and Niebe, who marryed Is, the Wife of King Inachus, and was named afterwards Ifis. He left his Kingdom to his Brother Egialeus, and going into Egypt, he civiliz'd the Egyptians, which made Hermes Trifmegiftus think that Apis was a great Philosopher. He was put to death by one named Typhe, who cast himself into the Sea : When his Wife Is fearched for him, a very handfom Bull appegared to her, which the believed to be her Husband, whom the afterward caus'd to be honour'd in Egypt, under the figure of that Animal. He was taken out of the midft of the Herd, but then he was to be white-headed black in the Body, with a white Spot upon his Back, the figure of a Snail upon his Tongue. and the Hairs of his Tail were to be tied double. When this God happen'd to die, no body valu'd his Mair (tho he had the Periwig of Ni-fes, says Lucian) but he shav'd it all off, in token of his Grief. When he readily took the Meat that was offer'd him, this was look'd upon as a good Omen; but on the contrary, if he refus'd to eat, this was look'd upon as a bad one. Thus Germanicus, in his Voyage from Egypt, drew a Prefage of his own Death. from this Animal's refuling to eat Meat out of his Hand. This is the Fable, the History fol-

APIS, was one of the most antient Gods of Egypt, and as he was honour'd under the figure of an Ox, many have thought that it was Joseph himself, who was represented and ho-He also drew the Picture of Alexander in the nour'd under that mysterious figure. Julius Firmicu Materma, who liv'd in the time of Conflantine the Emperour, was of opinion, That the Expriant ador'd Joseph under the name of Apis or Scrapis, which Name he thought was derived from Sara his Grandmother; and that all this Worship was given to Jeseph, as being the Preserver of Egypt, during the great Famine of feven years : Jesepho pest mortem Egyptii patrio gentis fue inftitute templa fecerunt : & quia Sara pronepos fucrat, Serapis dictus eft.

This Historian afterwards relates the opinion of others, who thought that Apia was a King who distributed great Quantities of Corn among the People in a time of Famine, and that after his death a Temple was erected to him, in which an Ox was kept, as the lively Symbol of an Husbandman: Alii repertum in Hifteriu Gracerum weteribus ferunt Apim quondam patrem-familias, five regem in Ægypto Memphis tofitum, cum famis tempore frumenta abud Alexandriam defecifient, ex proprio affatim civibus alimenta prabnisse: quo defuncto, in honorem ejus inflituerint apud Memphim templum, in quo bos, quafi indicium optimi agricole, nutritur.

The Worship of Apis was, without doubt. more antient than the City of Alexandria, which was built by Alexander: but either this was a Mistake in the matter of Fact, which does no ways prejudice the rest of the History, or elfe under the name of Alexandria we must understand a little City which was formerly in the fame place.

See what St. Auflin fays of Apis, cap. 5. lib. 18. de Civ. Dei. At this time Apis, King of the Argives, baving fail'd into Egypt, and dying there, became the famous Serapis, the greateft of all the Egyptian Gods.

Now, the Reason given by Farre, why he was no more called Apis, but Serapis after his death, is very natural and easie, because the Greeks call a Coffin roeis, and the Coffin of Apis having been honour'd before any Temple was built to him, from hence he was at first called Serefapis or Serapis, and after that by the change of one letter, which often happens, Serapit.

It was also ordained, That whosoever should call him a Man should be punish'd with death; and Varro adds, That all the Statues of Ilis and Serapis had a Finger upon their Lips to fignifie this Prohibition. As to the Ox which Egypt kept fo tenderly in honour of him, out of a firange fuperstitious Humour, because they worship'd it only while alive, and not when it was in the Coffin, they call'd it Apis and not Scrapis. When the Ox died, another was fubflituted in his room, having the fame Marks with the former, which pass'd for a great Miracle; but certainly it was not difficult for Evil Spirits, who took pleasure in deceiving this People, to reprefent to a Cow, when the went to Bull, an Ox having the fame Marks with the former ; as Jacob made the Goats and Sheep of the fame colours, by placing speckled Rods before the Eyes of the Dams, at the time of Conception. The Author of the Book de Mirabilibus Scripture, which is among the Works of St. Auftin. affirms, That the Egyptians eretted the figure of an Ox near the Sepulchre of Joseph. Suidas fays the fame thing, viz. That Apis was the Symbol of Joseph, or of some other rich Person, who had furnished the Egyptians with Corn in the time of a great Famine; and that a Temple was built to him after his death, wherein an Ox was kept, as being she refemblance of an Husbandman, is & Bus ares oin, aulicodor esque ne mapy . There is a very great Agreement between Joseph and this interpreted Pharaoli's Dream by the Power of Divine Wisdom, and that he took the seven fat Kine to be figns of the Fruitfulness of the Land. Now, 'tis hardly to be imagin'd, but this miraclous Prediction of feven Years of Plenty, and feven of Famine, and the Prefervation of Egypt by laying up great Quantities tor. of Corn, must inspire the Egyptians with a great Veneration for Joseph; and it was impossible but the great Opinion they had of him must, in process of time, degenerate into Superstition, in a People who had so frrong an Inclination to it. In fine, Trogus Pompeius, or his Epitomizer Justin, fays, That considering the Veneration that Nation had for Joseph, 'twas impoffible that they, who made all their Benefallors Gods and Demigods, foodld not give him Divine Henours.

The Name of Apis agrees very well to Jefeph, for fince the Egyptian Tongue must needs have a great affinity with that of the Cansanites or Hebrews, Apis may be derived from the Hebrew word Ab, which fignifies a Father, from whence we have the word Aver. Now, Joseph was truly a Father to Egypt, and therefore Pharach caused him to be proclaimed every where with this Epithet Abrec, which fignifies Pater Tener, 1. c. a Tender Father.

A PIUM, Smallage, an Aquatick Plant, that grows by the water-fide; which, according to Philefiratus and Hyginus, was occasioned by the Death of young Archemorus, whom his Nurse Hypsiphile left lying upon Smallage near a Fountain, where a Serpent kill'd him. Garlands were made of this Plant, which were given to those who were victorious at the Nemean Games, that were instituted in honour of him. Plutareb, in the third Queftion of his Sympofiacks, fays, that this Plant was used for the fame purpose at the Ishmian Games, that were in honour of Palemen. Hence it was that Timoleon, in the War of the Sicilians against the Carthaginians, took it for an Omen of affured Victory, that the Souldiers had Bundles of Smallage, fince the Victors at the Ishmian Games, that were celebrated near Carinth, were crowned with it; and hence also the Admiral Ship of King Antigenus was call'd Ishmien, because a Smallage grew of it felf upon the Stern of that Ship.

This Plant was peculiarly confecrated to the dead, according to the Testimony of Plin, Defunctorum epulu dicarum Apium. And Agrippa. in chap. 25. of his' first Book of Occult Philosophy, informs us, That the Cypreli as well as Smallage was a direful Plant dedicated to Pluto, which is was not lawful for any to crown themselves with ou Festival days.

APOLLINARES LUDI, the Apollinarian Games, instituted by Augustus in honour Symbol, for tis very well known, that Joseph of Apollo, as an Acknowledgment for the Victory he obtain'd, by his means, over Anthony and Cleopatra, near the Promontory of Atlium. These Games were celebrated every Year. fometimes on one day and fometimes on another; but afterwards they were fix'd to the fourth day of July, by Lucius Varus, the Pra-

> APOLLO, a famous God among the Greeks and Romans, to whom they attribute the Invention of many excellent Arts, and to whom they erected many Temples and Statues made by the most skilful Artificers.

Cicero, in lib. 3. de Nat. Deorum, informs us. that the Ancients worthin'd four spelle's: The first and most ancient was the Son of Vulcan, whom the Athenians took for their Tutelary Ged : The second was the Son of Corybas, born in the Ifte of Crete, and who contended with Jupiter for the Government of that Ifle : The third was efteem'd the Son of Jupiter and Latona, who came from Scythis to Delphos: And the fourth was called Nomion, who was born in Arcadia, and to whom the Arcadians gave that Name, because he had been their Legiflator ; for vou G- in Greek fignifies Law : yet 'tis believed that this Name was given for fome other reason, which may induce us to think that the fecond and third spille were one and the fame Person, accor- | his Courtflip, ding to the following Fable, 'Tis faid therefore that Jupiter having heard the Complaint which the Infernal Spirits made against the Physician Æsculapius, the Son of Apollo, who cared the Sick with his Medicines, and even raifed the Dead to Life again, as he did Hippolytus, (which depopu-lated Pluto's Kingdom) deftroy'd him with a Thunderboit : Apollo being irritated against Jupiter. reveng'd it upon the Cyclops, who made the Thunderbolt, and kill'd them with his Arrows : for this Action Apollo was driven out of Heaven, and forced for a Lavelyhood , fays Lucian , to bire himfelf out to Admerus in Theffaly, as a Shepberd to look after his Flocks; and afterwards in Phrygia to Laomedon, in the company of Noptune, where they paffed their miferable time in making of Bricks, wherewith they built the Walls of Troy, and were fo unfortunate as never to be paid for their Labour. From hence it appears that he was call'd Nomion from roude, which fignifies a Shepherd. The Fable also relates of him, That Mercury, Joon after be was born, fiele the Flack of Admetus from him, by playing upon an Inftrument made of Tortoife-fhell ; but when Apollo would have for an Arrow at bim, be found that be had also rob'd him of his Bow and Arrows, at which the God fell a laughing, as Horace tells us in thefe Veries, Te, boves olim nisi reddidisses Per delum amotat, puerum minuci Voce dum terret, viduus pharetra Rifit Apello.

Carm, Lib. 1. Od. 10. I intend not in this place to treat of any other Apollo but him who was the Son of Jupi ter and Latms, who was brought to bed of him and Dians in the Ifle of Delse, according after. to the most common opinion, the Tacitus is of another mind, when he tells us. How the Enhefians in former times represented to the Senate, that Apollo and Diana were net bern in the Ifte of Delos, as ignerant People believe, and for proof of this, he fays, they flew'd at that time a confecented River and Forest in their Country, where Latona, being big with thefe Deities was happily deliver'd that the Olive-tree on which foe lean'd in the pains of her Travail was fill remaining after so many A-ges; that the River was called Cenchris, and the Ferest Ortygia; and that Apollo retir'd to this place when he fled from the Wrath of Jupiter, after the Raughter of the Cyclopes. Plutareh, in the Life of Pelepidas, thinks that Apollo was born in the City of Tegres, where there were two Fountains, one of which was called the Palm, and the other the Olive, with a Mountain called Deles. Bur whatfoever was the place of his Birth, 'tis certain that the Antients believ'd phefied. Apello to be the Inventer and God of Harmony

Per me concordant carmina nervis. In the fecond place they made him the God of Phylick and Boneny, which conflit in knowing the Virtue of Plants : and this was the opinion both of the Greeks and Remans, upon which account Ovid brings him in speaking thus, Invocation medicina meum eft, spiferque per

Dicer, & berburum fubjetta peremia nebir. Meram. lib. 1.

Thus Hispocrates order'd his Disciples to Iwear by Aprile the Gold of Medicine; yet Higines makes spolls to be only the Inventor of Medicines relating to the Eyes, fuch as our Oculifts profess to know. M. Fabrius Nebilier being Confor in the year 574, built a Temple to him under the Title of The God of Medicine ; and the Falifei instituted Sacrifices for him, and a Society of Priests upon Mount Seratte, where his Priests have been fren to walk unhurt upon burning Coals, for a proof of their Sanctiry, and of the Protection they receive from this God, as Virgil tells us,

Summe Delim, & finiti cuft or Seruttis Apollo, Daem primi colimus, cui pineas arder acerco Pafcitur, & medium freti pietate per iguem Cultures wuled prominus weftigia prand

Æneid. lib. 11. v. 785. In the third place, the Invention of Bows and Arrows is attributed to him. and therefore he is made the God of Archers who shoot out of the Long-Bow, or the Crofs-Bow. He killed the Serpent Python with his Arrows, from whence he was furnamed the Pythian : And obliged the Greeks to institute the Pythian Games in honour of him, of which I shall speak here-

> Inflitait facres celebri certamine luiles, Pythia de demita ferpentis nomine dilles. Ovid. Meram. lib. r.

He was accounted the God of Musick, and of Poetry, and was always painted with his Harp when he was in their Company. The Poets commonly invoke him when they begin their Poems, to the end he may inspire them, and enable them to fing the Praises of Gods and Men in fuitable Strains.

Antiquity also believ'd him to be a Prophet, who foretold things to come, and deliver'd Oracles to Cities and Private Persons who confulred him with Water, Incense and the Tripod, about their Undertaking : And when he was about to deliver bis Oracles, fays Lucian, the Colour of bis Face chang'd, bis Hair flood on end, his Threat freell'd, his Eyes roll'd about, and his Body trembled ; at laft be open'd bis facred buth and pro-

The places which were most famous for his as he himfelf boalts to Daphne, who despifed Oracles, were Deles, Clares, Tenedas, Cyrehe and Paters, and from these places he was furnam'd | placed in a Semicircle who lift up their hands at Paters in Lycis, during the fix Months of Winter : the Dilians therefore, fancying that he return'd to Delss at the beginning of Summer, came all to welcom him there with the Sound of Musical Instruments, dancing and playing antick Tricks, as Virgit has observed in theie Verses.

APO

Qualit ubi bybornan Lyciam, Xanthique fla-

Deferit, at Delum maternam invifit Apollo. Inflouratque cheres, &c. Æneid. lib. 4. v. 143.

The Greeks called this Solemnity imperiuals, and the Removing of the God amedular 'A-

At Delss there was an Altar in his Temple, which pass'd for an extraordinary piece of Art. it was made of little pieces of Horn, fo exactly join'd together, that they feem'd all to be but one entire piece. It was call'd Ara Apollinis. and Ara Cornes. Martial mentions it in his Book of Shows,

Nee Trivia templo malles laudentur honores. Diffimuletque deum cornibus ara frequens. Epigr. 1. v. 2.

On this Altar Sacrifices were offer'd to him. not fuch as were bloody, as Macrobius fays, lib. 1. of his Saturnalia, but of the Fruits of the Ground, with the Sound of Trumpets and other Instruments of Musick, while the Altar was crown'd with Vervain. This we learn from a passage of Cate in his Fragments of Hi-Rory : Nutrix has omnis faciebat in verbenis ac tubis fine boftsis Deli ad Apollinis genitoris aram. Nevertheless Victims of Animals, as of Bulls and the like, were also offer'd to him ; which may be proved out of Lucian in his Dialogue of Sacrifices, where he introduces Chryfes a Prieft of Apollo, and perfectly well skill'd in his Mysteries, complaining to the God himfelf, That new his Temple was flighted which had been highly effeem'd in former times, when they burnt upon his Altars the Thighs of Bulls and Goats.

He had also a Temple at Clares, a little City one fide, and on the Reverse a Temple stand- on one fide, and on the other Equestrian Staand under the Stairs of the Temple, these Brass, done by the hand of Myran, and thereand round about it there are thirteen Persons counted more beautiful than Jano, or rather.

Delian, Clarian, &c. He deliver'd Oracles at on high, with this Infeription under the fides Dels during the fix Months of Summer, and of the Medal, EIII KA APIZTIONOS. IE-PEOE IONON KOAOOONION . i. c. Under Claudius Ariftion, a Prieft of the lonian Colephonians. This last Word discovers to us, that the Colophonians stamp'd this Medal, for their City was one of the most famous in all lonie : and that which chiefly render'd it famous was the Temple of Clarian Apollo, which, next to that of Ephefus, was the most considerable in all lania: altho it was never finished, as we learn from Paufanias in his Achaica, yet it was very famous for the Oracles which Apallo gave there. It was not built in Colopbon it felf, but in Clares a little City belonging to the Territory of Co-

The most celebrated and the richest of all the Temples which Greece crected to this God. was that at Delpho: all the Nations of the Earth vy'd with one another in fending rich Prefents thither, and People came from all parts to confult this God there. Crafas fent thither Ingots of Gold to build an Altar in that Temple : and Phalaris, the Tyrant of Agrigentum, made a Present to it of a brazen Bull. which was a Mafterpiece of Art, and a Testimony of his Pierv.

The Romans likewife made many Altars. and built many Temples to him at Reme, and in other Cities of the Empire; but the most famous of them all was that which Augustus built upon Mount Palatine, after the Victory of Allium which he obtain'd over Authory and Cleopatra Queen of Egypt; from whence Apollo was called by the Names of Apollo Palatinus. Attiacus, and Navalis: for this Prince could not fatisfie himfelf with building to this God (to whom he had address'd himself before the Fight) a Chappel upon the Promontory of A-Hium, with Games and Sacrifices in honour to. him; but he had a mind to give yet more fignal and remarkable demonstrations of his Piery, by erecting flately Temples to him in the Capital City of the Empire, whose Structure and Magnificence is almost incredible. It was built of the Marble of Clares, with divers Orin the Territory of Colophana, where there was naments within and without of richer Matealso a Mountain and a Grove dedicated to the rials: There you might see a spatious Portice; Clarian Apollo. This is represented to us in a for the holding a Library of Greek and Latin. Greek Medal of the Emperour Trebmian , in Authors : Upon the Walls of this Temple was which there is the Picture of the Emperour on | painted the History of Danque's fifty Daughters. ing upon four Pillars ; over the fore-part of tues of the Children of Pepps: In the place bethe Gate Apollo fits holding a Harp in his hand, I fore the Temple there were four Cows of. Letters are to be read TO KOINON IONON, fore called Armenta Mirania, which reprefented the Corporation of the Isnians. Under thefe Let- the Daughters of Presus the King of Arges, who ters is an Ox to be seen at the foot of an Altar, were chang'd into Cows, because they were because this Change of 'em was made in their | Jasper, on which the Tripod of Apolle is to be own imagination by a black Melancholy, whereof Melampus cur'd 'em with one Dose of Hellebore, according to the Relation of Pliny. In the same place grew a Laurel-Tree, which was of the same Age with Augustus, and had been planted before the Palace of that Prince. The Gates of this Temple were of Ivory, enrich'd with many Baffo-relievo's, which reprefented the Gaules when they threw themselves head-long from the top of the Capitol, and the Fourteen Daughters of Niebe the Daughter of Tantalus, who perish'd miserably through the Pride of their Mother, who had provok'd the Wrath of Apollo and Latona against her.

In the Frontispiece there appear'd a Chariot of the Sun of massie Gold, whose Figure was crown'd with Rays, which darted fo much Fire, and so vigorous a Light, that they were taken for the true Rays of that Star. Within the Temple was plac'd the Statue of the God made of Marble, done by the hand of Scopes, an excellent Statuary; together with another Giant-like Statue made of Brass, being Fifty foot high. There also was to be seen a Candleftick in the shape of a Tree, on whose Branches the Fruit hang'd, which were like fo many sparkling Lamps; and on these Branches the Poets hung their Poems which they offer'd up to Apollo, as Horace tells us, Ep. 3. 1. 1. Et tangere vitet

Scripta, Palatinus quacunque recepit Apollo. The fame Poet in Compliment to Augustus, invites him to examin these Poems, and consider whether they were worthy of Apollo ;

- Si minus Apolline dignum Vis complere libris, & vatibus addere calcar. Horat. lib. 2. cp. 1.

Augustus caus'd also an Image of the same God to be made of Silver, which wore Sandals upon its Feet ; and for this reason he was call'd Apelle Sandapilarius, or rather because this Statue was plac'd at Rome, in Sandapilario vice.

The Greeks represented Apello as young and heardlefs, having Hair dishevel'd, and flying up, as it were, with a blaft of Wind, carrying upon his Back a Quiver furnish'd with Arrows, and holding a Bow in his Hand, as we fee in the Medals of Nere, where he is drawn crown'd with Laurel, having his Quiver upon his Shoulder, and the Star of Phabus by his fide, with thefe Greek words, AHOAAQN ΣΩΤΗΡ, i.e. Apollo the Saviour.

We have also other Medals whereon he is represented, sometimes holding a Harp in one Hand, and a Branch of Laurel in the other : and sometimes clothed with a long Robe, having a Harp in one Hand, and in the other a Cup, which is the Emblem of his Divinity. There is yet remaining an antient Figure of feen, and the Crow which was confecrated to him, having at his Feet a Harp on one fide. and on the other a Branch of Laurel. The Emperor Gallienus, after his Expedition in the East, caus'd him to be represented in the shape of a Centaur, holding in one Hand his Harp, and in the other a Globe, with this Device, Apollini comiti. Probus made him appear like a Charioteer, mounted upon a Chariot crown'd with Rays, who holds the Reins of his Four Horses, with these words, Seli invitto. The other Emperor, as Confiantius, Amelian, and Crifpus, stamp'd an Image of him upon their Money, which shew'd the Figure of a clear Sun, crown'd with Rays, holding in the Right Hand a Globe, and in the Left a Whip, with this Device, Soli invitte comiti; which fignifies, that they had vanquish'd and subdu'd many Provinces by the Affiftance of Apollo, or the Lucion in his Des Syris informs us, that there si a Temple in that Country, where the Statue of Apollo has a Beard, and appears to be of perfeet Age, and not like a young Man, as he is usually represented; because, say they, this is an Imperfection : His statue there has also this peculiar to it, that it is clothed, whereas all the other Statues of this God are not. In this Temple Apollo delivers his Oracles himfelf. whereas in other places it is done by his Priefts. When he has a mind to fore-tell any thing, he fliakes himfelf, then the Priests take him us upon their Shoulders, and if they do not, he moves of himfelf and fweats: When they hold him, he leads them whither he will, and guides them as a Coachman does his Horfes, turning here and there, and going from one place to another : As foon as the High-Prieft asks him what he has a mind to know, if the thing difpleafes him, he goes backward, if not, he goes forward. Thus they divine what his Will is : and they do nothing either in publick or private until they have first consulted him; and he foretells the Change of Times and Seasons, and even Death it felf. Among Animals, the Wolf, the Raven, the Crow, the Cigale [the Cicada of the Antients, a flying Infect like a Grashopper] the Cock. and the Spar-Hawk; as also the Laurel, and Olive-Tree, among Trees, were confecrated to him by the Antients.

Apollo was esteem'd a God different from the Sun; for the latter was suppos'd to be the Son of Hyperion, one of the Titans, from whence he was call'd Hyperione natus, and Titania proles; whereas Apollo was the Son of Jupiter and Latina; nevertheless they are frequently confounded.

Volfing thinks that the Jubal mentioned in | with him to bear witness of his Death, not so Holy Scripture was Apollo, to whom the Pagans attributed the Invention and Honour of Vocal and Instrumental Musick. Bochart has obferved that the Isle of Deles, where Apollo was born, takes its name from Dahal, i. e. Terrer Latona was brought to bed, is deriv'd from Chanat, i. e. in lucem edere. This Fable then of Apollo comes originally from the East, and Apollo is an Egyptian God, according to Paula- History. mias, who relates that a Senator call'd Antoninus Built at Epidaurus a Temple to Apolio and Ejenlapius, Egyptian Gods; for of the four Apollo's mentioned by Cicero, the three latter were certainly of Greek original, but the most antient was he of Eerst.

Lastantius proves that Apollo was no more than a mere Man; and that he was like other Men, not only in his Birth but in his Crimes, which tho the Fable did not invent, yet could not conceal.

Vossius further tells us, That the Fable of the Raven fent by Apollo, is plainly copied from the History of the Roun fent by Noah; for as the Raven, fent to discover whether the Waters of the Deluge were gone off from the Face | gion. The Emperour Caracalla and the Epbefof the Earth, did not return again into the Ark; fo the Poets feign'd, that Apallo having fent a Raven to fetch Water, this lazy and unfaithful Bird rested on a Fig-tree, and waited till the Figs were ripe, to eat them, as Ovid

Bechart remarks, with great probability, that the Fable of the Serpent Python kill'd by Apollo, took its original from Phanicia, because the Name of Python or Pethon in the Hebrew Tongue fignifies a Serpent, and from thence Apollo was call'd Prihian.

APOLLONIUS TYANÆUS, a Philesopher and Magician, who was for some time one of the Friends of the Emperour Demitian, but this Happiness lasted not long; for being accused of having foretold his Accession to the Empire, and facrificing an Infant upon this occalion, he was first ignominiously shav'd, and then fentenc'd to die; but when the Sentence was just ready to be put in execution, he made himfelf invilible, and vanish'd out of their fight who were present, by the Help of a Demen, who transported him to Pourcel. The Church of Christ never had a greater Enemy than this Magician; for, by the feeming Innocence of his Life, and his deceitful Tricks, which were accounted true Miracles, he gave occasion to Hierocles, a Philosopher, to compose a Book, wherein he compares him, with mifchievous artifice, to JESUS CHRIST. After much as Danis his dear Disciple, and the Companion of all his Impostures. No doubt he had a mind to make People believe that his Body, which never appear'd any more upon Earth, was carried up into Heaven, and that Dess; that the name of Mount Cynthus, where in this also he resembled JESUS CHRIST. whom he pretended to imitate in his Life-time. Philoftratus has given a large account of it; bur it is rather a well-contriv'd Fable than a true

As he was one day haranguing the People of Ephelus, he ftopt all on a judden, and going back two or three paces, while he look'd down upon the ground with frightful Eyes, he cry'd out, Smite the Tyrant, Smite the Tyrant, meaning Donnitian ; his Auditors were mightily aftonisht at this Discourse, and all of them expected he should explain himself, which he did immediately, by telling them, That in that very Hour Domitian was killed; the News of his Death came quickly after, and the Curious finding that his Words did so exactly agree with the Action, which happen'd at io great a distance from him, this wonderfully increas'd his Reputation to the Prejudice of the Christian Relian erected a Statue to him under the Name of Hercules 'AneliguG, or He that drives away Evils : and the Emperour Severus had his Image together with that of JESUS CHRIST ID his Oratory

APOPHRAS, a Greek word, us'd among the Athenians to fignifie an Unhappy Day, on which nothing was to be undertaken; or for fome great Defeat which happen'd on that day. or for any other publick Calamity.

APOTHEOSIS, the Confecration or Deification of Great Men after their Death. The Greeks and Remans plac'd the Inventors of Liberal and Mechanical Arts amongst the Gods: fo they did Ceres, Bacchus, and Vulcan : they deified also the Founders of Cities, great Generals, and, in process of time, their Kings and Emperours. This we learn from Horace lib. 2. Ep. 1. where he writes thus to Cafar Augustus :

Cum tot fuftinens ac tanta negotia folus; Res Itales armis tuteris, moribus ornes.

Prasenti tibi maturos largimur honores. Jurandasque tuum per nomen ponimus gras.

The Description which Quid gives of the Apotheofis of Hercules, made by Japiter himfelf. cannot be read without Admiration; and every one must apply it to the Brightness of a pure Soul, when it goes out of the Filthine's of Body and Matter, that then being purified from all the Stains of this Mortal Life, it enhe had a long time deceiv'd the World by his | ters upon a Life altogether Divine. These are Erodigies, he died all alone, having no body | the words of Jupiter to the other Gods:

Deteas fpernite flammas. Omnia qui vicit, vincet, quos cernita, ignes : Nec nifi materna Volcunum parte porentem Sentiet. Eternum eft, & me mad tranit, &

Atque immune necis, mulifiq: demabile flamma. Idque ego defundium terra, caleftibus oris Metam. 1. 9. v.250. Accipiam, &c. In another place of the fame Poet, Venu de-res of Jupiter the Deification of Eneas: Quamvis par vum, des, optime, Numen ; Dummedo des aliqued. Suris eft inamabile reg-

Afpeniffe semel, flygios semel iffe per ammes. ibid. l. 14. v. 489. Affenfere Dei. The Meaning of the Poet is, That Eneas having made a Defect into Hell, out of Piety and Religion, in his Life-time, it was not just that be hould descend thither again after his Death. The Expiation of his Mortality was made, not by Fire, but by Water, and for this end a Commission was granted to the River Numicius, which wash'd away the stains of his Mortality:

Hunc jubet Ence quecunque abnazia merti, Abluere ; & tacito deferre fub aquera curfu. Corniger exequitur Veneris mandata; fuifque Quicquid in Enea fuerat mortale, repurgat, Es respergit aquis : pars optima reflitit illi. Lustratum genitrin divino corpus odore Unnit, & ambrofil cum dulci nettare mintl Contigit os. fecitque Denm. ibid. v. 500. The Apetheofis of Romulus is thus describ'd: - Corpus mertale per auras Dilapfum tenues : ceu tată plumbea fundă Miffa folet medio glans intabofcere calo.

Pulchra subit facies, & puboinaribus altis Dignier eft, &c. These Deifications were to be authorized in Greece by the Oracle of fome God, and at Rume by a Decree of the Senate, which declar'd an Emperour to be of the number of the Gods, and order'd Temples to be built, Sacrifices to be offer'd, and Divine Honours to be paid him. When Alexander the Great had a mind to adore Ephiftien as a God; one Phile, who came from Babylen, gave an account that an Oracle of Jupiter Hammon, had commanded Ephestion to be worshipt as a God, and to offer Sacrifice unto him, as Diederus Siculus tells us in lib. 17. Alexander testified so great Joy at this Deification, that the Historians fay he was the first that offer'd Sacrifice to him, and that he kill'd for that end no less than ten thousand Victims. But the Athenians did not only adore Great Men after their Death, but they worship'd them, and facrific'd to them even while they were alive. This they did to Demetrias Polyer-cetes, as Demechares teffifies in lib. 20. of his

History, where he relates, That Demetrius re-

came out to meet him being crown'd with Garlands of Flowers ; that they made Libations of Wine, and were accompanied with Singing-Men and Musicions who fung Hymns to his Honour; that the Common-People prefirated chemfelves before bim, crying with a tend Voice, that Demetrius was the only true God. We Salute thee, faid they, Son of Venus and of the Almighty Neptune, and we conjure thee to Rive as Peace, for thou art the Lord, the other Gods are after in the time of our Necessity, and are deaf to our Prayers. Upon this Subject you may confult Athenaus and Duris the Samian. Pythageras, who was the first that assum'd the Name of a Philosopher, i. e. a Lover of Wifdem, having dwelt twenty years at Crotons, went afterwards to Metapontum and died there. The Metapontines, admiring his profound Do-Grine, confecrated his House into a Temple, and worship'd him as a God. All Greece decreed Sacrifices to be offer'd, and Altars to be erected to Lyfander after his Death, upon the account of his Vertue; and Duris remarks, That he was the first of the Grecians to whom Diwine Worship was given, and in boneur of whom Hymns were fung; which must be understood during his Life, tince there were many others to whom Sacrifices were offer'd and Altars erected after their Death, a long time before Lyfander. The Remans follow'd the Example of the Greek, and made Gods of their Emperours. The Senate decreed to them Divine Honours, Sacrifices and Temples, and instituted Priests, Festivals and Games in honour of them, as the Greeks had done before them. The manner of Deification us'd among the Remans, was, by letting an Eagle fly, which came out of the top of the Funeral-pile on which the Body of the Emperour was burnt; and their Superftition inclin'd them to believe that the Soul of the Emperour by this means flew up into Heaven among the Gods. Thus they deified Julius Gefar, Augustus, and other Emperours whether good or bad; the good for the great efteem they had of their Vertues, and the bad our of

Flattery, and in compliance with the Torrent APPELLATIO, as Appeal from any Sentence, when we are not fixisfi'd with it. An Appeal, fay the Lawyers, is nothing elfe, but a complaint made by a Perfon who has loft the Caufe to a fuperiour Judg, against the Injustice of an inferious and subordinate. In the Remen Liw; he who would not abide by a Sentence, was oblig'd at the inflant it was given, or at least in two or three days after, to declare, either vive vece or by writing, that he did appeal from it; fince that the time was limited to ten days, after which no Appeal was to be turning from Leucada to Athens, the Athenians admitted. In France any one may appeal within the space of thirty years.

and the adverse Party. If the Judg consented to the Appeal, he gave the Appellant a Writing containing a Summary of the Caufe, and the Reasons of his Sentence, which he carried to the superiour Judg; and if he did not confent, nevertheless he gave a Writing containing an account of the whole matter, and the Reasons why he would not confent nor admir the Appeal. But whether the fubordinate Judg did confent to the Appeal or not, still the Appellant might always carry the Suit before a fuperiour Judg. This was a very good Cuftom tho it is not at present used in Prance.

In Civil matters none but he who had loft the Cause could appeal; but in criminal Caufes, when a Man's Life was concern'd, any Person was admitted to bring an Appeal, tho he who was condemn'd did not defire it APPELLATORIUS LIBELLUS.

Writ of Appeal, a Writ which is obtain'd in Chancery for admitting an Appeal, and for fummoning the Advertary before the Judg. when he has obtain'd a Sentence in his favour. to fee if it can be fet aside. APPIADES, are five Pagan Deities which were ador'd under that general Name, viz. Venus, Pallas, Vefta, Concordia and Pax, whose Temples were at Rome near Cefar's Market-place.

where were the Fountains of Appius, from whence the name Appiades was given them. APPIANA FAMILIA, the Appian Family; most illustrious among the Romans, Its Original was from L. Appius, who obtain'd the Prize at the Nemean Games in Achaia, There were many Confuls of this Name who always maintain'd the Authority of the Senate, against the Attempts and Violence of the Tribunes and People APPIUS CLAUDIUS, furnamed the Blind, when he was Cenfor, caus'd the way to be pav'd, which leads from the Gate Capena to Brundusium, and which from his Name was called Via Appia. He made also an Aquadutt, which brought the River Anie into Rome, the Water whereof was carried up as high as Mount Aventine. He, understanding that the Senate was just upon the point of concluding a Peace with King Pyrrhu, caused himself to be carried into the Senate, where by feveral notable Arguments he diffuaded them from it, till he had withdrawn his Troops out of Ealy. APRILIS, the second Month of Romulus's Year, which contifted only of ten Months, and commenc'd with March; but it is the fourth Month of Nume's Year, which confifted of twelve Months, beginning with Janua-Macrobius derives the word Aprilis from the Greek acesy, as if one should fay Aphrilis, i. c. One descended of Venus, or Born of the Scum

This Appeal was to be notified to the Judg of the Sea, because this Month was dedicated to Vends by Remulus. There are other Authors who think this Word may more probably be deriv'd from the Verb Aperire, which fignifies to open, because in this Month the Flowers begin to blow, and the Earth does fend forth Seeds and Plants.

These Festivals and Solemnities were observed by the Remans, during this Month.

On the Calends of the Month, which was the first day, there was no pleading of Causes; but the Roman Ladies being crowned with Myrtle, and wash'd under the same Trees, offer'd up a Sacrifice to Venus. Ovid relates the Original of this Ceremony : He tells us, That one day as Venus was drying her wet Hair by the River-fide, the Satyrs perceiv'd her quite naked, which caus'd in her fo much Shame and Confusion, that she cover'd ber felf prefently with a Myrile. And this the Raman Ladies imitate by this Ceremony. On the same day the Maids, who are fit for Marriage, facrifice to Fortuna Virilie, praying her to hide the Defects of their Body from those who have a mind to marry them, as Ovid tells us, Faft. lib. 3. w. 150.

Us tegat hoi, celetque vires, Fortuna Virilia Praftat : & bec parve ture regata facit. They facrific'd also to Venus furnam'd Vertis cordia, to make the new-married Husbands prove faithful to their Conjugal Vow. On the fifth, which was the day of the Nones.

the Festival of Megalesia began to be solemniz'd in honour of the Mother of the Gods, which lasted for eight days together. See Megalesia.

On the fixth, the Commemoration of the Dedication of the Temple of Fortuna Publica was celebrated on the Quirinal Mount, which P. Semprenius vow'd, and Martius Abala dedicated ten years after, appointing the Memorial of it to be observed every year. On the feventh, the Commemoration of the Birth of Apollo was in like manner observed.

On the eighth Games were appointed for the Victory which J. Cefar obtain'd over Juba and Scipie, after the Battel of Pharfalia. On the ninth and tenth the Games of Ceres were celebrated in the Circus called Cerealia. which were instituted by G. Memnius, Edilis

Curulis. See Gerealia. On the twelfth, according to the new Calendar, was observ'd the great Solemnity of the Mother of the Gods, and particularly of her Arrival at Rome, with Processions and many Games to her Honour. On the thirteeenth, which was the day of the Ides, a Sacrifice was offer'd to Jupiter Victor and to Liberty, because on that day their two Temples were dedicated at Rome, one by 2 Fabius, in performance of the Vow he had made at the War against the Sammiter ; and the ! other by T. Gracehas, out of the pecuniary Fines of the Commonwealth. the Fordicides, at which thirty Cows ready to calve were facrificed. See Fordicidia.

On the same day the Governess of the Vestal Virgins burnt the Calves which were taken out of these Cows, and of the Athes a Perfume was made, wherewith the Romans perfum'd themselves on the day of the Palika, or of the Foundation of Rome. On the fixteenth, Augustu was surnamed four Principles, viz. Air, Fire, Water, and Imperator.

On the eighteenth, there was a Horse-race, call'd Equirse, in the Great Circus; where were also to be seen Foxes running cover'd with Straw, which was fet on fire to divert they look'd upon as the Temple wherein their the People. The occasion of this Diversion was thus : The Sen of a certain Pealant in the little City of Carleoli, walking about his Corn, perceiv'd a Fox catch'd in a Snare ; he takes him and binds him about with some Straw, and having fet it on fire, lets him run among the Corn, which he burnt all up : and the Romans, in revenge for this burnt the Foxes after this manner, cover'd all over with Straw : as Ovid informs us, Faft, lib. 4. v.

Utque luat panas, gens hac Cerealibus ardet : Quoque modo fegetes perdidit, spfa perit.

On the nineteenth, or thirteenth of the Calends of May, the Anniversary of the great Solemnity of the Feaft of Ceres Eleufina was obferv'd, at which the Roman Ladies, clad in white Linnen, and holding Lamps in their hands, facrific'd to her a Sow, with great So-

On the twentieth or twenty first was celebrated the Feast of Palilia, or the Foundation of Rome, dedicated to Poles the Patronels of Shepherds. See Palilia.

On the fame day a Sacrifice was offer'd to to the Immortal Gods, for the Victory which Julius Cafer obtain'd in Spain over Pempey's Sons, the News whereof was brought to Rome by a Courier, the Night before the Palilia.

which was call'd Vinalia Priera, at which a Sacrifice of New Wine was offer'd to Venus, and according to fome, to Jupiter; of which none were permitted to drink till they had first offer'd this Sacrifice. See Vinalia.

On the twenty feventh, was the Feast call'd Robigalia, from Rabigus the God of Mil-dew and Hoar-frost which blast the Corn. See Rebigalia.

nour of Flore, the Goddess of Flowers, was kept, which was called Floralia.

On the last day, some Sacrifices were offer'd lace of Angufus.

AQUA, Water, one of the four Elements. or the four Principles which concur to the On the fifteenth, was kept the Festival of Production of all Beings. Thales Milesius, one of the Wife Men, thought Water was the Principle of all things; but Heraclisus faid it was Fire. The Priests, call'd Megi, admitted the two Principles of Fire and Water; and Euripides, the Scholar of Anaxagoras afferted the two other Elements of Air and Earth; but Pythageras, Empedocles, Epicharmus, and the other Philosophers, affirm'd that there were

> The Egyptian Priests, to signific that all things fublift only by this Element, cover'd and adorn'd a Vessel full of Water, which God refided, and proftrating themselves on the Ground, with Hands lifted up to Heaven. they gave thanks to the Divine Goodness for > his admirable Inventions. Pliny, in lib. 31. ch. I. makes an Encomium on Water, wherein he reckons up fo many excellent Qualities of it, as make it probable that this gave occasion to that superstitious Worship which was paid to it : For he tells us, That the Empire of the Waters confifts in ruling over all the other Elements, in over-flowing the Earth, extinguishing the Fire, in raifing it felf up into the Air, and continuing there suspended. in mounting up as high as Heaven, and descending again with that fruitful Vertue, which makes the Earth produce all forts of Plants and Animals. Upon this account it was that the Poets invented Fables, to make the Wonders of this Element more grateful.

> The Book of Wisdom deplores the Blindness of those Idolaters, who worship'd not the Almighty Power of the true God, but the Force and Abundance of Water, which has fomething very beautiful and terrible at the fame time, Biam vAn.

Platerch fays, That the Egyptians ader'd the Waters of Nile, whose hundations serv'd them inflead of Rain. Thus the Nile was held to be On the twenty first, the Festival was kept | their Jupiter, who was thought to be the cause of Rain ; and fo in Athenaus we find this Prayer address'd to the Nile, as being the Jupiter of Egypt, Airwiffia Zad Neine.

The Eastern Nations had no less a Veneration for their Rivers : Heredotus and Strabe fay, the Persians reverenc'd the Rivers so much. that they durst not throw nor fuffer any Excrement to fall into them, nor fo much as wash their Hands in them. Xerxes sacrific'd On the twenty ninth, the Festival in ho- white Horses to the River Strymon, according to Herodotus : and Tiridates did as much to the River Emphrates before he pass'd over it, according to the Relation of Tacitus. Pliny fays, to Vofta, upon the Palatine Mount, in the Par | that the fame Tiridates would not put to Sea, in it.

Atergatis the Goddess of the Affriant, of whom we shall give an account in the proper place, was also the Goddess of Waters, for the was drawn as half Woman and half Fish.

The Greeks confider'd Water as one of the four general Principles of all fublunary Beings, and call'd it in former times Nigge. There are feveral forts of Water, that of the Sea, of Rivers, of Springs, of Lakes, and Rain-Water, which is gather'd and kept in Water-houses and Cifeins. Of all these forts there is none better than Rain-Water, fays Vitruvius, because it is compos'd of the lightest and most subtil Particles, which are extracted out of all other Waters, and which the Air has purified for a long time by its Motion, till they are diffolv'd, and fo fall down in Showers upon the Earth; for the Earth being heated emits its Moisture out of its Breast, after the same manner as our Eodies, when they are hot, do fweat. There are hot Springs whose Waters are not proper for ordinary Drink, altho they have no ill Taffe; and thefe are only to be used for the Cure of some Diseases, which require Dryness and Heat. There are cold Waters whose Smell and Taste are unpleafant, fuch are the Waters call'd Albula, which are near to Tiveli, and those in the Springs which are near to Ardea. All hot Springs have a Medicinal Virtue, beaufe after they are heated, they have another Effect than common Water; for the Sulphureous are good for Difeases of the Nerves, which they fortifie by heating them, and besides they confume the bad Humours. The Aluminous cure those Bodies which are weaken'd with the Palfie, or any other fuch like Difeafe, by reducing the Parts, which are diftemper'd by Cold, to their natural state by Heat. The Biruminous, by purging, expel the Difeafes of the inward parts.

There are also cold Waters which are nitrous, fuch are those near Penns, a Country of the Vestini, and in the Country of the Cutifiani. which are drank for purging and diffolving in the horny part of a Mule's Foot. 'Tis faid scrophulous Tumours.

There is another Water which is not very clear, and besides has Scum or Froth which | der was, and that it was its Poison that kill'd fwims at top, of the colour of red Glass : one | that King. of this fort is to be feen, chiefly near to Athens, where it is convey'd to make Water-Spouts, and is made use of for washing, but not for drinking.

Water, which have different Properties; fuch | in which are found the Bones of Serpents, Liis the River Himers in Sicily, which, after it zards and other venemous Beafts. There are rifes from its Spring-head, is divided into two also some Fountains whose Water is source;

because he would not lose that Reverence which Branches, whereof one, which runs towards he thought was due to the Ocean, by spitting Mount Eina, is good to drink, because it paffes through a fweet Earth; but the other. which runs through an Earth that yields Salt. has a very faltish Tafte. Likewise in the Paretonian Fields, through which there is a way to the Temple of Jupiter Hammon, there are found fenny Lakes, whose Waters are so falt. that the Salt fwims at top congeal'd.

There are other Waters to be met with. which percolate through Veins of unctuous Earth, and which feem as if mixt with Oil ! fuch is the River Lipsris, which runs to Soli 2 City in Cilicia, where all those that bath in it. when they come out of the Water, look as if they were anointed. Near to Dyrrachium and Apollonia, there are Springs which throw forth great Quantities of Pitch. There are also Springs which the Moisture of the Earth from whence they rife, makes very bitter; fuch is the River Hypanis in the Kingdom of Pentus, which from its Source for the space of about forty miles is fweet; but when it reaches to a place 160 miles distant from its Entrance into the Sea, a little Spring, which runs into it, makes its Waters bitter; this Bitterness proceeds from a Mine of red Arfnick, which is found near the Head of that Spring.

There are Waters also which are dangerous to those that use them, by reason of the venemous Juices through which they percolate: fuch is that Fountain at Terracina, call'd Neptuniana, whose Waters are poisonous; such also was that Lake near Cyderes in Thracia. whose Waters kill'd not only those that drank of it, but even those that wash'd with it. In Macedonia, near the Grave of Euripides, two Rivulets join together, one of which has a Water fo good that Paffengers ftop there on purpose to refresh themselves ; but the Water which run on the other fide is so pernicious that no body dares come near it.

In that part of Arcadia which is call'd Nanacris, there diffils from certain Mountains a Water extremely cold, which the Greeks call SUNG Volue, the Water of Mourning, which cannot be taken up in any other Vessel, but only that Antipater made his Son Ieles carry fome of this Water into the Province where Alexan-

There is also another Water in the Also. in the Kingdom of Cotton, which makes all that drink of it fall down fuddenly.

In the Country of the Falifei, near the Road There are also found many other kinds of which goes to Naples, there rifes a Fountain, fuch is that of Lyncestis, that of Feline in Italy, I which was near the Parts Capens, wherewith and that of Theam in the Terra Laberts, which have a Virtue to diffolve Stones in the Bladder. There are also some Fountains whose Water feems as if it were mixt with Wine; fuch is that of Paphlagonia, wherewith a Man may snake himfelf drunk

In the City of Equicoli, which is in Italy, and in the Country of the Medalli, in the Alpr, there are Wagers which make the Throat thought that the Angel of Death, or Satan, fwell.

call'd Clitor, near which there is a Cavern, ceas'd, in that Water, from whence a Spring tifes, which makes those who drink of it have Wine; because in this Fountain, Melampus, having first offer'd Sacrifice, purified the Daughters of Prettu, to the Water, and to convey it through a Canal cure them of their Folly, and by this means de did in effect restore them to their right Wits again. In the lile of Chie there is a Spring which makes them mad who inconsi- trical paces long. derately drink of it. At Suza, the Capital ter makes the Teeth fall out.

Water indifferently for their Lustral Water, wherewith they purified themselves at their Sacrifices. The Remans commonly fent to fetch it from the Fountain Juturus, near the River Numicius; as the Athenians fent to that Fountain which they call'd Calirrhee; the the Persians to the River Cheaspes. They althe Sea, which they blefs'd after their manner. Hespinianus and Pontanus think that the Antients us'd only that Water which was perfeetly pure, without any Mixture, to make their Luftral, which Opinion they ground on that paffage in the fath Book of the Eneids, ver.

Idem ter focios purá circumtulit unda. Spargens rore levi.

Yet Du Choul, speaking of this Lustral Wawhich was made use of for burning the Villim, or of some pieces of Cedar, of Hysop and Cumin, which they threm into the Fire, when they were about to extinguish it, and of these Ashes made their Lustral er Holy Water, which they plac'd at the Entrance into their Temples in great Veffels, and wherewith shey parifi'd themfelves when they enter'd into them. They had also little Veffels, or Hely-Water Pots, wherein they put some of the Water, and with it they sprinkled those who were present with a kind of Brufh : not unlike that now used in the Church of Rome.

Merchants sprinkled themselves, thinking thereby to blot out the Sins of Injustice and Fraud, which they had committed in their Trading.

The Antients, when any Person was dving, were wont, out of a superstitious Fancy, to throw out all the Water in that House where. he was, and the neighbouring, because they who appear'd to all Dying Perfons, would wash . In dreadia there is a Ciry very well known, his Sword, wherewith he had kill'd the De-

> AQUÆDUCTUS, an Aquedutt, a Structure made of Stone, flanding upon an uneven Ground, which was to preferve the Level of from one place to another. The Remans were very magnificent in their Aquæducts, which were fomerimes an hundred thousand geome-

The precise time when Aquaducts first be-City of Parfis, there is a Fountain whose Wa- gan to be made at Rome is not certainly known. Pliny informs us, that Ancue Martius, the King. AQUA LUSTRALIS, Lustral Water. Was the first who began to bring Water from a The Antients did not make nie of all forts of Fountain call'd Aufeis, which was aftewards call'd, from his Name, Aqua Martia, Prentinus who liv'd under the Emperour Nerve, and has wrote a long Treatife upon this Subject, attributes the first Aquaduet to Appius Claudius, Confor together with M. Plantius Venez, who in the year 441, under the Confulship of M. Va-Trezenians to the Fountain of Hippacrene, and lerius and P. Decius, built a fubterraneous Waterpassage of strong Stones, vaulted at top; the ways made use of Running Water, which rais'd Arches were of Brick or very hard Stone. was clear; fuch as that of rapid Rivers or of and were call'd, Subfiruttiones, opera arcusta, aerii fornices, & camerati arcus, which are mentioned by Caffiedorus.

The Height of the Aqueduct of Aqua Martis, which Q. Martin built, was level with the Top of the Viminal Mount ; and that of Aqua Appia was rais'd an hundred feet above the Ground

Some have reckon'd up fourteen Aquaducts which convey'd Water to Rome, that were of admirable Structure; but Frontinus, who was ter, fays, That they took the After of the Wood the the grand Over-feer of these Waters under the Emperour Nerge, fays there were but nine Aquaducts, in his time, at Reme. The first was that which convey'd the Aque

Appia, fo call'd from Appius Claudius, Cenfor, who gather'd Water together from many places in the Territory of Frejessi, about feven or eight Miles from Rome, and from thence convey'd it through Canals and Arches into the City; the Current of this Water from irs Spring-head, as far as to the Sabini, near the Forth Tergemins was eleven thousand one hundred and ninety paces long : it was divided Ouid has alfortold us of the Water of Mercury, at Rome, near the Mins Teffaceus, into twenty Caffiles or Repositories, called Caffella, and af- | First Book of Aquadutts. This was also the work terwards distributed by many Pipes into several Quarters of the City.

The fecond was that of the Water of the old Tiverme, call'd Anie Vetus, begun by the Cenfor M. Curius Dentatus, in the year 481, under the Confulfhip of Septimius Carbilius and L. Papyrius (for the building whereof he employ'd all the Spoils he had got from King Pyrrbus) and at last finished by Fuluius Flaceus the grand Overfeer of the Waters. The Canal began about twenty miles from Rome, above Tiveli, its Course was forty two thousand two hundred eighty feven paces. This Water ferv'd only to wash withal, to water Gardens, and for Drink for Beafts.

The third Aquadust was that of the Aqua Martia, made by the Industry of Martius surnamed Rex, which was begun by Ancus Marrius the King. This Water came from the Fountain call'd Piconia, which is in the utmost part of the Mountains of Peligni; its Courfe extended to fixty one thousand seven hundred and ten paces, through fubterraneous Channels, and Arches equal to Mount Viminalia: It entred into the City by the Porta Esquilina, and having furnish'd two Mountains of Rome, the Viminal and Quirinal, it emptied it felf into fifty one Cifterns, for the Convenience of many Parts of the City, for this Water was the clearest and best to drink. This Aquæduct was built in the year 609, under the Confulthip of Sulpitius Galba and Aurelius Cotta.

The fourth Aqueduct was that of the Water called Tepula, which the Cenfors Cn. Servilius Scipio and L. Caffius Longinus, convey'd from the Territory of Freseni to the Capitol, being twelve thousand paces long. This Spring had no certain Source, but only fome little Veins or Branches, which met together in the Canal of the Aqua Julia : one part of this Water was convey'd to the Country, and the other to the City, which was kept in fourteen Confervatories, and distributed into the feveral Quarters of the City.

The fifth was that of Aqua Julia, which M. Agripps erected in the time of Augustus, and to which, in honour of it, he gave his Name. This Water was collected, from many Sources into one great Water-house about six miles from Rome, its Course extended to fifteen thoufand paces and an half; it pass'd through the Porta Esquiling, and the Trophies of Marius, and emptied it felf into feventeen Cifterns, for the Accommodation of the feveral Quarters of the City.

led, because a young Maid first discover'd its | genere, to thirteen millions eight hundred Spring-head to the Souldiers when they were feventy five thousand Crowns: Vicit antecedent fearching for Water, as Frontinus tells us in his | tes Aquarum ductus moviffmum impendime ofthe of Agripps which he finished in one Year, and about thirteen years after he had built the former. Its Canal began about eight miles from Reme, in the Territory of Tufculum, near the Bridge Salare, and its Course extended to fourteen thousand one hundred and five paces. It passed through the Campus Martius, and emptied it felf into many Cifterns, for the convenience of the feveral Quarters of the City. This Water, to this day is still called Aqua Virginia, and is the only ancient Aquadust that remains: Pope Nicolar V. repair'd it.

The feventh Aquaduct was that of a Lake called Alfietina, four thousand paces diftant from Rome, and fix miles to the right-hand from the Via Appia. This was the Work of Augustus, and from his Name it was called Via Augusta. It served only to fill the Circus with Water for the Naumachie or Sea-fights, and for watering Gardens.

The eighth was begun by the Emperour Caligula, but Death prevented his finishing ir: Claudius his Successor thought the Defign was too brave to leave it imperfect. Pliny never speaks of this Work but with great Admiration. It convey'd the Water of two fine Springs, call'd Caruleus and Curtius, which were in the Country of the Lating, thirty eight thousand paces distant from Rome, holding its Course for the space of forty six thousand pa-ces in length, through many Arches, which terminate at laft in the Ports Nevis, and rife as high as Mount Aventine. This Water was called Claudia from Claudius, and was very good to drink.

The ninth was also begun by Caligula, and finish'd by Claudius in the same year with the former. It derives its Water from a place further off than any of the rest, viz. at the distance of fixty two thousand paces from the City, from a muddy River call'd Tiverone or Anie, from which another Aquaduti was formerly made, and this latter is nam'd Anio Novus. Claudius thought fit, for purifying his thick and muddy Waters, to make, at the distance of four thousand paces from their first Rifing, a Pool or Pond, wherein the Mud might fettle to the bottom, which was call'd Piscina Limeria; but notwitslanding all this Precaution, when the Rains fell, the Water came to Rome very thick.

Thele two Works were worthy of a great Prince, as well for the Height and Magnificence, as for the excessive Expences that were laid out upon them, which were found to a-The fixth was that of Aqua Virginis, fo cal- mount, according to the Computation of Vi-lavide quadragefimo ad eam extelfitatem, ut in omnes Urbie montes levarentur. Or.

mus treats of, that had 13594 pipes, which he calls Quinaries and were one inch in diameter and 3 in circumference. The first Aquaduct of the Aqua Appie had 694 pipes: The Anie Vettu, or the Teverene, had 1981 : That of the Aqua Marsia had 1741: The Tepula had 445: The Julia 755: The Aqua Virgo 2504: The Alfierina 592 : The Claudia and Anie Novus 4882. Of all these Pipes there were only 10350 which convey'd Water for the City, the rell were for the benefit of the Countrey.

There are also other Aquæducts made at Rome fince Frontinus's Time. Pope Pius IV. built one in the Year 1363, which brought Water at eight miles distance from Rome, between Tiveli and Pranefie; 'tis thought to be the ancient Afietina. Sixtus Quintus built an Aquaduct of the Aqua Felix, in the year of Grace 1581, as may appear by an Inscription engraven upon an Arch, near the Gate of St. Laurence, Sixtus V. Pont. Max. Dullum Aqua Felicis Rive paff. fubterrance Mil. XIII. Substructione arcusta VII. Šuo Sumptu extruxit Anno Domini M. D. LXXXI. Pontificatus L.

Let us now fee how the Partition and Di-Bribution of these Waters was made into the feveral Quarters and private Houses.

There were in all Parts of the City Conferwarories or Water houses, which were called Dividicula or Caffella, into which the Waters emptied themselves, and from which they were convey'd on both fides by Pipes. Agrippe alone, during his Edileship, made an hundred and thirty of these Water-houses, adorned with Statues and Pillars of Marble.

There were Over-feers appointed, to whom called Castellani, who distributed the Water by divers Conduits into feveral places of the City. and even to private Houses, and hindred any private Person from misapplying the Water to his own Use without Leave first had; which was granted upon conditon of a certain Duty to be paid, which was more or less according to the Quantity of Water any one had a mind to have. Marlianus informs us, That Agrippa was the first who invented this Partition of the Wasers by Inches and Ounces, as well for the Ufe of the Publick as of Private Perfons. The Revenue of these Waters, according to the Computation of Vigenere, amounted yearly to fix millions two hundred and fifty thousand Crowns.

inche ati à Cafare & peratti à Claudio : quippe à | that of Toverene, emitted it felf into Lakes, and ferv'd the Beafts to drink, and to walk withal; it was us'd also for Baths, for dying, These are the nine Aquaducts which Fronti- and tanning of Hides, for milling of Cloth, and for representing the Naumachia or Naval Fights in the Campus Martius. And after they had ferv'd for these several uses, they were all gather'd together in the Clasce, or common Gutters, and from thence emptied themselves into the Tiber.

Nere, after the Burning of Rome, fays Tacitus, hinder'd private Persons from applying the publick Water to their own use, as they had been accustomed to do, made Conservatories, which might ferve for quenching Fires, and appointed some Persons to look after them. The Cenfors, and after them the Ædiles Curuli. took care of the Aqueducts and the Waters of Rome. But under the Emperours Overfeers were appointed, who had under them many subordinate Officers, who distributed them for use of the Publick and Private Persons, upon payment of a certain Duty, and enjoy'd the Benefit of it, not as a Property, but only for . Life.

AQUARIUS, One that pourt forth Water 'tis a Sign in the Zodiac, which is the eleventh reckoning from Aries. The Sun moves thro it in the Month of January, and this Sign is of the Nature of Saturn ; 'tis mark'd thus ass. The Poets feign'd, That this was Ganymede, whem Inpiter ravifo'd under the fhape of an Eagle, and carry'd away into Heaven, to ferve as Cupbearer in the Room of Hebe and Vulcan.

AQUILA, an Eagle, the King of Birds: He is call'd The Bird of Jupiter, because he flies highest of all Birds, and aims, say the Poets, so batch his young ones in his Bolom. After this the Fable adds. That there was formerly a King of the Ifte of Cos, call'd Merops, whom Juno chang'd into an Eagle, when he was just ready to put him-felf to death for the Losi of his Wife. But Agloofthenes relates. That Jupiter being carried away the Care of them was committed, who were from Candia, was transported to Naxus, where, as as be was preparing to make War againft the Titans. he fam an Eagle with his Thunderbolt, which he took for a good Omen, and ever after that this Bird was taken into his Protection. Some Authors tell us. That Mercury being finisten with the Love of Venus, and not being able to obtain any Favour from her ; One day as the Goddess was bathing her felf in the River Achelous, Jupiter cau'd an Eagle to take away one of her Sandals, which he carried to Mercury, and foe to get it again fatisfied the Paffion of her Lover. Nevertheless Ovid and Lucion inform us, That it was Jupiter who transformed bimlelf into an Eagle to carry of the Beautiful Ganymede from Mount Ida.

It was a Bird of good Omen, when it came The Water which was not good to drink, as | flying on the right-fide with expanded Wings.

Thus Ariffunder the Soothfayer foretold, That | The Poets represent it to us, With the Tail of a Alexander fould be villorien, because be bad feen an Eagle flying from his Enemies Camp into his own. Snow and Ice. Hefood, who has given us the Thus when Lucumm, call'd Tarquinius, came to Genealogy of the Winds, makes this, as well fettle at Rome, with all his Family, an Eagle as the reft, the Son of the Stars and Aurera. prefag'd to him that he should be King ; for as he came near the Janicula, an Eagle came on a from ardes, which fignifies to burn, because Perfudden and lit upon his Head, and having tain the Air, and then put it on his Head again ; Tanaquilla his Wife, who was afterwards call'd Caia Cacilia, being a Thican by Nation, and very well vers'd in Augury, interpreted this Prodigy in favour of her Husband, and affur'd him that he should be King ; which was justified by the Event. In the Roman Armies the Eagle was the Enlign that was carried in the first Company of the Legion ; it was of Silver, and was born upon the top of a Pike, with expanded Wings, and fometimes it held in its Talonsthe Thunderboltof Jupiter, as being just ready to dart it, It was of Stiver rather than Gold, fays Pliny, because Silver is feen at a greater diffance.

The first who carried the Eagle in their Enfigns were the Perfians, according to the Testimony of Xenophon. The Romans having formerly carried divers other Enfigns, at last fix'd upon the Eagle, in the fecond year of the Confulfhip of Marius, which they made the Enfign for the Colonel's Company in each Legion, and was carried on the top of a Pike. Some fay, That Conftantine was the first who appointed an Eagle with two Heads, to fignifie, that the the Empire feem'd to be divided, yet it was but one Body. But this opinion is confuted by an Eagle | That it was made of the Afbes of the Villims that with two Heads, which Lipfius observ'd in the the Pillar of Trajan, and from the Custom of later times, wherein the Eagle had but one Head, as in the Seal of the Bulla Auren, which was made in the time of Charles IV. Emperour. The Conjecture of Father Menefirier is more probable, who fays, That as the Eastern Emperers, when two of them fat upon the Threne, flamp'd their Money with a Croft having a double Bar, which each of them held with one hand, as being the Sceptre of Chriftians ; fo the Romans did the Eagle in their Heraldry, and instead of doubling their Escutcheons and Eagles, they join'd them together, and represensed one Eagle with two Heads, which Cuftom was follow'd by the Emperors of the West for same time after.

The Confuls carried a Bartoon of Ivory as a fign of their Dignity, on the top of which there was an Eagle, as we learn from Martial,

AQUILICIANA, Festivals which were celebrated at Rome during a great Drought, for obtaining Rain of the Gods. The Priefts were call'd Aquilices, quia aquam eliciebans, because they Laurel Leaves, those of Herculer with Poplar, brought down Ram upon the Earth by their Prayers. AQUILO, the North-Wind, which blows

Serpent, having its Beard and Hair cover'd with ARA, an Altar. Some derive this Word

fumes and the Entrails of Beaft were burnt on ken off his Cap, it play'd for some time with it it. Others derive it from the Greek word ded. which fignifies Prayer, from whence comes zeralps, which fignifies burrecation. Whatever the Etymology of the Word is, there is certainly a difference between Ars and Altere, which comes from altu, i. e. high, for according to Servius they did not Sacrifice on the latter, but only to the Gods on high, or Celefial Deitiet, but upon Ara's they facrific'd both to those and the Infernal Gods. There is also another Difference between these 2 Words, that there were Steps for afcending the Altars which were call'd Alsaria, but there were none to those call'd Ars. which were indeed rais'd upon the ground, but in a plain and even plat. Yet notwithflanding these Differences, Authors have confounded these Words, and do often take one for tother. We must now enquire what was the Matter of which Altars were made, what was the Figure and Ornaments, what was their Confecra-tion and Ufe. The Matter of Altars was different according to feveral Countries and Times.

At first they were made only of Turf heap'd one upon another. Paufanias, in his Elegiaca, describing the Altar of Jupiter Olympius, fays, were facrific'd to him, and was 22 feet high, and that the Steps for afcending to it were also of Afbes : and that every Year, on the 19th of February, the Aruspices were went to carry the Ashes of the Prytaneum, and make an Alter of them, tempering them with the Water of the River Alpheus. The fame Author mentions another Altar of Apello Spadius which was made after the fame Fashion. In following times Altars were made of Stones, of Marble, of Wood, and even of Horn, as that of Apollo in the Ifle of Deles.

The Figure of Altars was different, some were round, others four-fourre or oval ; but they were always turn'd towards the East, and flood lower than the Statues of the God, which were plac'd upon Bases above the Altar. These Starues were crown'd and adorn'd with Ornaments convenient for them, which expresi'd Da nunc & wolurem firstro que surgit courno. their Divinity : thus also the Altars were adorned with Festoons of Leaves and Flowers which had been dedicated to them; and fo the Statues and Altars of Apollo were adorn'd with Jupiter's with Oak, of Venus with Myrtle, and those of Pallas with Olive Leaves, Neverthefrom the North-fide, which is cold and dry. less the same name Verbrue, was commonly HOON Terence's Andria, Ad. A. Se. A. Ex ara bine fume werbenes sibi : upon which words he fays, verbene funt redimicula araram, feve emmes berbe, frondesque feste ad aras coronandes.

These Altars were consecrated with Ovl. which was pour'd upon them. The People of Elis for this end made use of the Ashes which they took from the Prytaneum, and temper'd with the Water of the River Alphous, and with thefe they rub'd over their Altars. They dedicated them afterwards to some Deity, and put on them the Name of the God, together with his who made the Dedication. I will here fubioin a Form of the Dedication of an Altar :

C, Domitius Valens Dunmvir pracunte D. Julio Severe Pentifice legem dinit in ea verba que infra

Cripta funt.

Jupiter Optime, quandoque bodie tibi hanc aram dabo dedicaboque, ollis legibus ollifa; religionibus dabo dedicaboque, quas bic bedie palam dixero; uti infimum folum bujus ara oft, fi quis bic boftiå facrum fecit, quod in augmentum ne pretellat, idcirco tamen probe fallum efto. -

Sicuti dixi hauc tibi aram, Jupiter Optime, Mazime, dico dedicaque, uts fis volens propitius mihi collegi fque meis, decurionibus, colonis, incolis Colonia Martie, Julie, Salonie, conjugibusq; liberisq; mostrie. Here follows likewife the Inscription of an Alter, which the Inhabitants of Narion erected to Cafar Augustus in their City. T. Statilio Tauro.

L. Caffie Langine, Coll. X. Kalend, Octob. Numini Augusti votum susceptum A plebe Narbonensium in perpetuum.

Quad benum, faullum feliuque fit Imp. Calari Divi P. Augusto P. P. Pontifici maxime Tribun, petestate XXXIIII Conjugi, liberis, gentique ejus, Senatui, populoq;

Romano & colonie incolifque C. I. P. N. M. qui numini ejus in perpetuum colendo obligaverunt, plebes Narbon, aram Narbone in fore posuit, ad quam quetannis VIIII. Kal. Off. qua die eum feculi felicitae orbi terrarum Rectorem edidit, tres Equites Romani à slebe & tres libertini hostias singulas immolent, & colonis & incolis, ad supplicandum numini ejus, tus & vinum de suo ea die prastent : & VIII. Kal. O. tus. vinum colonis & incolis item praftent : VII. quoque Idus Januarias, qua die primim Imperium erbis terrarum auspicatus est, ture, vine supplicent, & hofties fingulas immelent. & colonis incolifq: tus winum ed die praftent.

By these Inscriptions we see, that the first use of Altars, was there to offer Sacrifices and and Prayers to the Gods to whom they were dedicated.

The fecond use of them was to render Alliances more folemn. Treaties of Peace more firm, Marriages more indiffoluble, and Oaths given to them all, as we learn from Donates | Ser'd Sacrifice to the Gods to witness the Sincerity wherewith they swore that Alliance, and conjuring them to bring the Infractors of it to fome miferable Death. Thus K. Larima fware an Erernal Peace with Energ, in the prefence the Armies of the Trojans and Latines.

Tango aras, mediofque ignes & numina tefter : Nulla dies pacem banc Italis, nec fadera rumpet, Æn. 12. v. 201. The Remon observed the same Ceremony in the Oaths they took about divers Civil Affairs, and prescrib'd certain Words to be us'd by him who fwore, while he laid his hand upon the Alter of the Gods. Thus Gripus in Plantes makes Labrax fwear, while he held by the Altar of Venur. to restore to him a Portmanteau, and makes him repeat after him the Words of his Oath : All. 5. Sc. 11. Rud. v. 46, Gr. Tange aram banc Veneris. La. Tanco. Gr. Per Venerem hanc jurandum eft tibi. La. Quid jurem ? Gr. Qued jubebe. La. Prei verbis qued vis -- Gr. Tene gram banc. La. Tento - Gr. La. Venus Cyrenenfis, softem to tefter mihi : Si vidulum illum, quem ego in navi perdidi. Cum auro atque argento fabrum inveltigavero. Ila: in patellatem meam pervenerit - I.a. Tunt ego buic Gripo dico, Venus, ut tu enaudias. Gr. La. Talentum argenti magnum continuo dabe. Gr. Et fi fraudaffit, dicito, uti in quaftu tue Venus erndicet caput atque atatem tuam.

By which Passage it appears, that they us'd Imprecations against those that should violate their Oath. From this Custom came the Latin Proverb, Amicus ad aras, which Pericles first made use of, meaning thereby, that he would ferve his Friends in every thing fo far as he could without offending the Gods, wives 18 Bous old Graul. This Answer he gave to one of his Friends, who defir'd him to hear false witness in his favour ; Ari pa eupmedrile vils cinois, anne miyes Bound? I ought to ferve my Friends, but without touching the Altar. From thence came also that other Phrase, pro aris & focus puguare, which fignifies, to fight for the Insereft of the Gods and Religion,

The third use of Altars was to serve for an Afriam or place of Refuse and a Sanchuary to all those who fled to them, whatever Crimes they had comitted; for it was exprelly forbidden by the Laws to take any one from them by Force, and especially from the Alter of Concord ; which Privilege belong'd also to those that held in their arms the Statues of the Emperors. This happen'd often to Slaves, who being unfaithful to their Master, ran to the Altars and Statues, which they embrac'd as a most safe Afrium, as Plantus tells us in this Verfe,

Nemo accufat, Syre, ncc tu aram tibi nec precacaterem parabis.

Upon this account the Altars were call'd Are confugii, and Euripides calls them the Retreat of more facred; for the two Parties having of Slaves, as the Caves are of Wild Beafts.

Sensier was the first who appointed thele places of Refuge in the Temples, and at the Alters of the Gods, that by this means he might People his new City ; during the Triamvirate it was exprelly forbidden to take any Criminals by force out of the Temple of Julius Cefer, who had fled thither and embrac'd his Altars. In fine, the privilege of these Sanctuaries came to fo great an height, that at Rame and in the Cities of Grecce, the Temples were fill'd with Debtors, fugitive Slaves, and Criminals, and yet the Magistrates could give no Orders about them, nor put any Rep to the fury of the People, who protected shele funerfritions as facted and mysterione

ARA, a Celeftial fign to call'd from the Altar which the Cyclopes erected, and on which the Gods swore to affift Jupiter in his War against the Giants; for after their defeat this Altar was plac'd among the Stars.

A R AR, certain Rocks in the Sea, at which Luttatim Catulm obtain'd a Naval Victory over the Carthaginians, and where a Peace was made between them and the Romans. which put an end to the first Punick War in the Year from the building of Rome DXII. Sana vecant Itali, mediis que in flutibus arac.

&c. Virg. 1. Æneid. v. 112. Ara Maxima, an Altar call'd the greatest.

from the great quantity of Stones of which it was built, as Servius tells us. This Altar was erefted at Rome to Hercules in the Marketket place for Oxen, near the Schola Graca, and hard by the Entrance of the Circus maximus . The occasion of building it was this. "Ca. our being kill'd by Hercules, Evander, who had observ'd something very great and extraordinary in his Phyliognomy, defir'd to " know his Name; and understanding that he was call'd Hercules, he cry'd out immediatly, that it was he of whom his Mother "Carments had foretold extraordinary Prodi-" gies of Courage, for which an Altar was to be erected to him which should be call'd. " Ars manima ; that he himfelf should appoint his own Sacrifice, and prefcribe the manner of it to Posterity : Immediatly Hercules facrific'd a fine Heifer out of the Herd. " and appointed those of the Family of the " Patitii and Pinarii to be his Priefts: Or, according to Properties, this Altar was areeled to him for finding sgain his Drove of Cartel. Maxima qua gregibus devota est ara reportis :

Ara per has, suquit, Maxima falla manus. Ara Lugdunensis, an Altar in the City of Lyons, dedicated to Augustus, in the Year of Rome DCCXLIV. This Altar was in a Temple, which was erected at the common charge of Sixty feveral Nations of the Gauls, together with fo many Statues, which bore the Names of each of these Nations. In this Temple the Emperor Caligals appointed Ludi Academici, as Suetonius fays, to which great numbers of Orators and Poets came from feveral parts of the World, to perform their best in Eloquence and Poetry. But because it was ordain'd, that they who were our done should be plung'd in the River Saone, if they did not like the performance of their Tongue; this gave occafion to Juvenal to express any great fear, by way of Proverb, by the timerousness of an Orator, who was to harangue before the Altar

Palleat ut nudis preffit qui calcibus auguem, Aut Lugdemenfere Rheter dieburus ad aram. Juv. Sat. 1. v. 43.

Arachne, the Daughter of Idmen of Lidia, very skilful in the art of Weaving She was fo rash that she would be esteem'd more excellent than Minerva; but this Goddess punish'd her by tearing her Work in pieces, and giving her a blow with her shuttle, which so mightily offended Arachue that fhe hang'd her felf in despair : But Minerva afterwards pirying her misfortune, chang'd her into a Spider, which still makes Cobwebs in the Air.

ARBITER, an Arbitrator, a Judge in an amicable manner, whom the Pretor appointed for Partners to end their differences: and Arbitrators in general, are such as are chosen and agreed upon by Two Parties for determining any Controversies between them: To which end they fign'd a Bond of Arbitration to fubmit to the Award given about the differences, under the forfeiture of a certain Summ of Money to be paid by those who refus'd to stand to it.

ARBORES, Trees. The Pagan Gods. fays Phadrus, in ancient times made choice of certain Trees which they had a mind to take into their Protection : Thus Jupiter choic the Oak-tree, Vensu the Myrtle, Apello the Laurel. Cybele the Pine-tree, Hercules the high Poplar, Minerus the Olive-tree, and Bacchus the Ivv. Men did then also reverence Trees. Woods and Plants, as being the Temples, or Bodies of fome living and intelligent Divinities. The Lyptians abstain'd from Onions and Leeks, because they durst not handle these Gods which grew in their Gardens, as we learn from Javenal,

Porrum & Cape nefat violare & frangere merfu. O Janitas gentes quibus bat nafcuntur in hortu Namina ! | Sat. 15. v. 9:

Pliny tells us, that if the Ancients ador'd Trees, it was only because they look'd upon them as the Temples of some Divinity. This Testimony of Pliny shews plainly, that if the

Romans ador'd Groves and their Silence, [Lucos | King Pelafgus first taught them the use of & in its ipfa filentia adoramus] this Worship was only paid to fome intelligent Divinity, or to fonie Genius, which they believ'd to prefide over, and also to have their Residence in these Trees. Ovid speaking of an impious Profaner of facred Groves, and of a great Oak, under which the Dryades often us'd their innocent Diversions, tells us, that this Oak being struck with an Axe by the bold Profaner, declar'd that a Nymph lodg'd in the Tree, who died at the fame time with the Tree, but that her Death should not long remain unpunish'd. He mentions elsewhere a Mother who was chang'd into a Tree, and defir'd her Son never to touch any Trees, but look upon them as the Bodies of fome Nymphs. Harace devoted a Pine-tree to Diana. at which he engag'd every Year to offer Sacrifice.

Monsium cufter, nemerumque Virgo, Imminens ville sue pinus effo. Quam per exactes ezo letus annes, Perris obliquum meditantis ictum Sanguine donem, Lib. 1. od 22.

ARCAS, the Son of Jupiter, and Califle the Daughter of Lycam King of Arcadia. with whom Jupiter fell in love. June, to be reveng'd of her Rival, chang'd her into a Bear, which Diana shot dead with her Arrows in complaifance to June. Paulanias in his Arcadica, fays that the was then with Child of Areas, and that Jupiter fent Mercury to fave the Infant alive, and plac'd the Mother in the number of the Stars under the Name of Urfa major, i. e. the great Bear. When Areas grew up to be a great Boy, he was prefented by fome Hunters to Lycam his Grandfather, who yet did not know him : But it hap'ned that Jupiter came one day to fee Lycam, and this King having a mind to try whether he was truly a God or no. caus'd Areas to he kill'd and cut into morfels, and fo ferv'd up as Meat for Jupiter : But he immediatly punish'd his cruelty, by changing him into a Wolf, and Areas into the little Bear, Urfa minor. Thefe Two Bears, fays Pitruvius, are plac'd in the Artic Circle, fo that their Backs touch one another, having their Bellies turn'd a contrary way, one to one fide, and the other to the other fide. The litt'e Bear is call'd by the Grecians Cynolura, and the great one Helice: Their Heads are opposite to one another, and their Tails also remove from one another for each Head as it goes forward on each fide is to the right of each Tail.

ARCADES, the Arcadians, who are fuch Sots, fays I neign, as to believe that they were Born before the Moon, and for that reafon would never receive Aftrology. Their Acorns, for before his time they liv'd only upon Herbs and Roots : But Areas the Son of Jupiter and Califle , according to Vigenere, upon the Pillures of Philoftratus, first thew'd them the Art of tilling the Ground, of fowing Corn and making Bread, with which they afterwards maintain'd themselves, and forfook their Acres: This he learn'd from Triptelemus the Son of Ceres, and the Country where they dwelt, which was formerly call'd Pelafeia, was after wards call'd Arcadia. Among other Deities they worship'd Pan and Diana. as Virgil fays, Pan Dew Arcadia. They facrific'd Men to Jupiter Lycianus, according to the relation of Pliny. Ariffetle tells us Book 4th. of his Mescers, that the Wine of this Country being put inro the Skin of a Hegoat, and plac'd near the fire, calcines itfelf. and is reduc'd to a Salt.

ARCHAGATHUS, the Son of Lifaniar, was the first Physician who came from Pelopmnefus to Rome, under the Confulfhip of Lucius Æmilius, and Marcus Livius, in the Year of Reme DXXXV. Calling Hemina, an ancient Writer, favs that the Freedom of a Citizen was given him, and a Shop was purchas'd for him at the expence of the Publick, in the Crofs Street of Acility. "Tis faid also, that the Epithet of Healer of Wounds was given him. and that at first he met with a wondrous good Reception ; but that within a little while after, when he was oblig'd to cut and burn fome Members of the Body, for these unmerciful Operations they gave him the Nickname of a Hangman, and were much diffeusted at Rome with Medicine and Physicians, at least with that part of it which is call'd Surgery

ARCHEMORUS, the Son of Lncm. according to Guichard, or of Lycurgus King of Thracia or Nemas, according to others, was kill'd by a Serpent, and after this manner. " The Ar-"gives going with their King Adrassus to the "War of Thebes in favour of Polynice, were "extremely diffressed with thirst, and the " Nurse of the young Prince, call'd Hypsiphile, " whom they met, went along with him to "fhew them where they might have Water; "but fearing to lay the Infant down upon "the ground, because of the Prohibition of "the Oracle, she laid it upon a smallage "Plant, and thither a Serpent came and choak'd it. Adrasius and the other Grecians "ran to the Place, and found the Serpent "fill fucking the Blood of the Child, where-"upon they kill'd it : And to comfort the King for this lofs, they appointed the fo-"lemn Games, call'd Nemean, to be celebra-"ted every Fifth Year, at which the Con-" querors

" querors were crown'd with smallage, and I "the Judges that profided over rhem were "clad in Mourning. Clemens Alexandrinus informs us, that a Funeral Oration in honour of him was also repeated at rhem.

ARCHIGALLUS, the High Prieft of Cybele Mother of the Gods, who was wont to cut and gash himself, as the other Priests of that Goddess did, who were call'd Galli Cybeles.

ARCHIMAGIRUS, appendienco, the Master Cook.

ARCHIMEDES, of Syracule, a most skilful Mathematician, who by his Engines defeated all the Attacks of Marcellus at the Siege of Syracule, and burnt also the Gallies of the Romans that were there. The Invention of the Cachlea, or Water-skrew, is commonly attributed to him, which is call'd the Mechanical Power of Archimedes, although Vitruvius does nor make him the Inventor of it. Diederus Siculus, who liv'd near the time of Vitruvius, atcribes the Invention of it to him. But as to the famous use which he says was made of this Machine, to make Leypt habitable, by draining the lower grounds which had formerly been overflowd with Water, it may be doubted whether it is not much ancienter than Archimeder. Gicero glories of difcovering the Sepulcher of Archimeder at Syracule, without the Gate Acraeana, cover'd all over with Brambles and Thorns which grew in that place: He fays, that he knew ir by observing a Cylinder and a Sphere carv'd upon the Stone.

ARCHIMIMUS, Lyming, the chief Buffeen, or an extraordinary Mimick, who imitares the Gate, Gesture, and Words of any Person dead or alive.

ARCHITECTONICE, downsolepurif, and ARCHITECTURA, the Mrt or Science of Building. Archirecture is divided into Civil and Military: Civil Architecture teaches to make any Buildings whether publick or private, facred or profane : Military Architecture teaches to forrifie Ciries. Paffes, and Sea-ports. Architecture, fays Vitravius, is a Science, which should be accompanied with great variety of Studies, and requires a vast compass of Learning; for by this means it must indee of all the Works of other Arrs. In effect Architecture, or the art of Building comprehends all Sciences, and therefore the Greeks gave it a Name, which fignifies a fuperiority, or fuperintendence over all the rest : and when Cicero would give an Example of a Science that is of a valt extent, he inflances in Architecture.

This Art, like all the rest, had but weak and imperfect beginnings, and was not perfected till after long use and experience. At first Houses were made only for necessity : and because in the first Ages Men often chang'd their Habitations, they did not trouble themselves to make their Houses either beautiful or lafting. But when in process of time, every one endeavour'd to fettle in fome particular Country, then Men began to build their Houses, more folid and strong that they might be able to hold out against rho injuries of time : At last, when Luxury was spread among the most rich and powerful Nations, then they began to mind the Beauty and magnificence of their Buildings and having observ'd what contributed most either to the Strength or Beauty of them. they fet down Rules about them, and fo fram'd the Art of Building well, which is call'd Architecture, as those who are perfect Mafters of this Arr are call'd Architests. The necessity of making feveral forts of Buildings first induc'd the Workmen to fertle different Proportions, and from their different Proportions they compos'd different Orders of Architecture. The Orders which the Ancients established at several times and upon divers accidents are the Tulcan, the Daric, the ionic, the Corinthian, and the Composite. That which forms each of these different Orders, is the Column with its base and Capital, and the Entablature, i.e. the Architrave. the Frise and Cornish; for these are the only parts which in Buildings constitute that which is call'd an Order, and each Order has its own peculiar measures. Vitruvius is the most ancient of all the Architects whose Writings we have ; he liv'd in the time of Tulius Calar and Augustia, and had view'd the stately Edifices which were then in Greece and Italy. Several learned Men have also written many excellent Volumes of Architecture, as Fuffitius, Varro, Septimius and Gellus : and Coi-Jutius a Roman Citizen was fent for by King Antiochia, to finish the Temple of Tubicar Olympiss in the City of &bent.

The Original of the Tulcan Order was in Tulcany, one of the most considerable parts of Italy, whose Name it still keeps. Of all the Orders this is the most plain and least ornamental: 'Twas feldom us'd, fave only for fome Country Building where there is no need of any Order but one, or elfe for fome great Edifice, as an Amphitheatre, and fuch like other Buildings. The Tufcan Column is the only thing that recommends this Order. The Doric Order was invented by the Derians a People of Greece, and has Columns which stand by themselves, and are more ornamental than the former. The louis Order has its Nan.e

Wane from noise a Erovince of Life, whose Columns are commonly fluxed with Tweasy four Gutters: But there are frome which are nor thus furrow' and hollow'd, but only to the third part from the bottom of the Column; and that third part has its Gutters fill? with little Rods, or round Stenous acording to the different height of the Column which in the upper part is channel? and hollow'd into Groves, and is altogether empty.

The Corinthian Order was invented at Gorinth, it observes the same measures with the limit, and the greatest difference between them is in their Capitals.

The Competite was added to the other Orders by the Romanu, who placed it above the Corinties, to show, as some Authors fay, that they were Lords over all other Nations; that this was not invented till after Angullus had given Peace to the whole World. This more arramental this the Orinities, but yet is more arramental this the Orinities, but yet is more arramental this the Orinities.

Besides these Five Orders, there are some Authors who add yet Two more, viz. the Order of the Cargatides, and the Perfic Order. The former is nothing but the Imic Order, from which it differs only in this, that inflead of Columns there are Figures of Women which support the Entablature. Pierawise attributes the Origine of this Order to the Ruine of the Inhabitants of Carya, a City of Pelspennefus. He fays, " That thefe People having joyn'd with the Persions to make "War upon their own Nation, the Grecians "routed the Persians, and obtain'd an entire " Victory over them ; after which they be-" fieg'd the Inhabitants of Carya, and having "taken their City by force of Arms they "reduc'd it to Alhes, and put all the Men " in it to the Sword : As for the Women and " Virgins they carried them away captive, " but to perperuate the Marks of their Crime " to Posterity, they represented afterwards " the Figure of these miserable Captives in " the publick Edifices which they built, where " by making them ferve inflead of Columns, " they appear'd to be loaded with a heavy " burden, which was, as it were the Punish-" ment they had deferv'd for the Crime of " their Husbands. The Perfic Order had its rife from an Accident like this : For Paulanias having defeated the Perlians, the Lacedemenians, as a Mark of their Victory, erected Trophees of the Arms of their Enemies. whom they represented afterwards under the Figure of Slaves, fupporting the Entablatures of their Houses. From these Two Examples divers kinds of Figures were afterwards made nifies, and support the Corbels and Reactions: There are still some ancient footsteps to be Seen near sthese, of these Figures of Women which carry Panniers on their Head, and funply the room of the Cargatides. There are alto Figures of Men, who are commonly call'd Atlantes, according to Vitratius, the' the Romans call'd them Telamones. The Gracks had fome reason to call them Atlanta, from Atlan whom the Poets feign'd to bear up the Heavens, but it does not appear why the Lating gave them the name of Telamones Bendur in his Dictionary upon Virgoias, fave. that 'tis probable, he who first us'd this Word to fignifie thefe Statues which bear fome burden, wrote not Telemenas, but Thisseres, which Greek Word fignifies, these we milerable and labour bard which exactly agrees to these forr of Figures, which support Cornifbes or Corbels, and which we commonly fee in the Pillars of our ancient Temples. under the Images of some Saints, or some great Persons.

ARCHITECTURE confilts of Three Parts: The first trests of the Building of publick and private Edifices; the fecond is about the Art of Dialling, which treats of the Course of the Stars, and the way of making several forts of Dials; the third is about the Engines which are made use of for Architecture and for War.

A R C H I T E C T U S, an Architest. He ought, fays Pirrewiae, to be skill'd in Writing and Deligning, to be instructed in Geometry, and to have forme knowledge of Opericks: He ought to have learn'd Architectick, and to be well vers'd in History, to have studied Philosophy very well, and to have seeme insight in the Musick, Laws, Astronomy, and Physick.

He should be well skill'd in Designing.

that he may the more easily perform all the Works he has projected according to the Draughts he hath made of them : Geometry is also a great help to him., especially to teach him how to make use of the Rule and Compass, how to lay out things by the Line. and do every thing by the Rule and Plummer: Opticks ferve to teach him how to admit the Light, and to make Windows according to the Situation of the Heavens : Arithmetick instructs him how to calculate the Charges which his Work amounts to. Hiflory furnishes him with matter for the greatell part of the Ornaments in Archisecture. of which he should be able to give a rational account. Philosophy is also necessary to make a perfect Architect, I mean that part of Philofophy which treats of things Natural, which use of in Architecture to bear up the Cor- in Greek is call'd Physiology. As for Musick

he thould be a perfect Master of it, that he may know how to Order the braten Fipes, which are lodg'd under the Stairs of Theatres, so that the Voice of the Comedians may strike the Ears of the Auditors, with more or less force, cleaneds and tweetness.

An Architect ought also to be skill'd in the Laws and Customs of places that he may know how to make partition Walls, Spouts, Roofs, and Common-shores; how to order the Lights of Houses, the Drains for Water, and feveral other things of that nature. Aftronomy is also wieful to him for making of Sun-dials, by teaching him to know the East, West, South and North, the Equinoxes and Solftices, c. He ought to be knowing in Physick, to understand the Climates and Temperament of the Air, which is wholfome and which Infectious; also the Nature of Warers. For without confidering thefe things, he cannot build an healthful Habitation. I fo much knowledge is necessary to make a complete Architect, 'tis to be fear'd there are but few perfect Mafters of that Art.

ARCHON, the chief Magistrate of Athen: The Nine Magistrates who took upon them the Government of that City, after the Death of Godres who was the last King of it were also call'd so : At first they were chosen to be perpetual Governors; but in process of time their Office was limited to Ten Years, and at last reduced to one. This Republick was govern'd by Nine Archentes, or chief Magiffrates, Six whereof were call'd, The metheta, i. e. Lagiflaturs; the other Three were, Baeindig, the King ; Honing XO, the General, and the Archen, by way of eminence fo call'd, as being fuperior to all the reft. They decided with fovereign Authority all religious causes and matters of State : They were chosen by lot, and afterwards examin'd and approv'd by the People in their Assemblies. This Name was also given to the Ghief Prefident, call'd Prytanis, who prefided in the Courts of the Fifty Judges, taken out of the Five Hundred, who judg'd by turns every Month the Affairs of private Persons.

ARCTOPHYLAX, a Conflellation, which is preparly nam'd, the diretter of the Bear, but is otherwise call'd Beater.

ARCTOS, the Biar, a Conffellation, call'd by the Greeks Artin and Helice, which is fituated in the North, having its directors mear it, which is not far from Virge.

ARCTURUS, is a Star of that Conficiliation which is properly called Artispiplars. This Word fignifies the Tail of the Bear, because it is very near it. It riles on the first day of September, and fets on the 13th day of May: and never appears but when it brings fome Hail or Storm. The Posts Sign'd that it refides amongh! Man in the Day-time, a flyw upon their Actions, and afterwards giver an Account to 'Jupit'r of their perfolious and mujuft dealings in Trade, or in Courts of Juftice: This is the meaning of Plane in their Vorfes of the Pralague to his Reduct, &c.

Nomen Arthure oft milii Notin from in culo clarus atque inter dess, Inter mortales ambaloque interdies: Hominum qui faita, mores, pietatom & falem Notic

Rui falfae lites falfs teftimmits Petunt, guique in Juse abjurent pesuniam, Resum reforimus Nemina esforips a ad Journ. The Poets made him the Son of Jupiser and Calife, and others faid he was the Son Lycan-Arcule aver, Bird; which gave bad smenr either by their flying, or their manner of eating. Because they hindred Men from undertaking any Business, they were thus namid, Arcula aver, quia archant mequid first.

ARCUS, a Bow. The Bow and Arrows were the first Arms which Men made use of, as may appear from the 21th. Chapt. of Gonefis, where it is faid of Ismael, that he was an expert Archer; and from the 27th. Chap, where If our commanded his Son Efau to take his Arms, i.e. his Bow and Arrows and go a hunring. Pliny in B. 7. Chap. 56. attribures the Invention of Bow and Arrows to Soythes the Son of Jupiter, from whom the Seythiani, who are now the Tantari, took their Name, who were very dextrous in drawing the Bow : Plutarch also in his Banquet of the Seven Wife Men , afcribes to them the Bow, and to the Greeks the Invention of ffringed and wind Musick. But the Authority of Pliny is of no value, wherein he differs from the holy Scripture, which doubtlefs he never had any knowledge of.

menu Caelelli, the Kailobon which appears in the Clouds a natural Meteor; but after the Deluge it was appointed to be a Sign of the Covenant which God made with Moh, and of the Promife he gave that he would never again drown the World. The Poets feign'd that the Rainbon, or Iris, attended June, and carried her Orders from all parts, as Mercary did those of Jupiters. See this Fable more at large under the World Pris.

Ariu., a Triemplat Arch, which was restled to the Emperors, and other great Men in ancient times, in honour of them for their brave Actions; feveral of them were crecked at Rese; but the most nacient was that of Trius, which was very ingeniously and magnificantly unlik: On one fide of it, there was the Triumphal Chariot of a Prince, with a Sparae of Victory behind him, which form'd to hold out a Crown to him; the Ark of the Old Tellament and the bundles of Rods were carried before him: On the other fide was the reft of the Triumphal Pomp, at the Two Tables of the Decalogue, the Tables of Gold, the Veffelt of Sofown I comple, and the golden Candlettick which had Seven Branches.

The Senate and People of Rome screeches likewife a Triumphal Arch to Septimize Severate, at the foot of the Capitol, after the Victory he obtain? I or the Capitol, after the maximum and dradium. Victoria was the represented with great Wings, holding in their hands Trophies and Crowns, with this Infection.

Iop. Cof. Issis Sopismis M.
Bl. Sever. Vita portinasi. Aug.
Patri Patric Parthic Arabica.
Et Parthic Addicatica. Pantif. Maxima.
Trismic, perfit. XI. Iop. XI. Coff. III. Proceff.
Et Iop. Coff. M. Aurellis. I. Ell. Autonina.
Lang. Pio. Edici. Trismic, perfit. VI. Coff. Precef.
P. P. opismis fertificing; Principlass. Oc.
Rev. publicam reflituram, Imperiumque Populi
Reman propagatam, Infegnitus virtuibus.

Eorum Domi, Florisque S. P. D. R.

There are fill many other Triumphal Arther to be feen ar Rome as that of Titus and Velsasam, that of Septimius Severu, that of Gailenss which was built after a very rude manner, being of the Duric Order with one Arch only, which has this Inscription upon the Frize.

Galino Clementissimo Principi, Cujus invicta Virsus folâ piesaro Superara est M. Aurelius Vistor dedicatissimus Namini Majestatis; ejus.

There is also an Arch of Mercus Mardium, and of Peru, and of Gentlami junies, and alltly, one of Confiamine, which the Senate erected to him for the Vistory he obtained against Maxemias at the Pens Milvius, in the Suburbs of Rose. This last was all of Martie, and of the Conimbian Order, and had leight great Columns and Three Avenues. On one of its sides there is this Inscription, Imp. Col. H. Confiamine Maxime.

P. F. Augusto S. P. Q. R.
Quad inflindu divinitatie
mentu magnitudine cum exercitu suo, tam de tyranno quam de omni fastione uno ten pere justu Rempublicam ustus est armit.

Arcum triumphii infignem dicabit.
On the other fide near the Riting Sun were Watten these words, Firit X, and on the less hand Potis XX. On the Roof of the Arch about the middle on one fide were thefe words Liberatori Urbis, and on the other Fundatori quietis. Above the Capitals of each Column were represented in emboss'd work the most eminent Captives, whose Bodies were of changeable Marble, and their Hands and Feet of white Marble of the Isle of Paros. In the Frize of the little Arches was the Statue of Confiantine, holding in his Hand a Scrowl, which he feems to throw among the People for a Largels. Succenius calls these Scrowls Teffers & Miffilia, and alfo Teffera Nummaria. For thefe Scrowls contain'd certain Summs of Money, and those who catch'd them were to demand them at the Exchequer, or the Lot wherewith they were mark'd, as is done in other Lotteries.

AREMULUS or Remus Sylvius, the Son of Agrippa Sylvius XII. King of the Latiner, who was killed by a Thunderbolt after he had reigned 19 Years.

ARENA the bottom and middle of the Amphitchaetre, for called, because that Place was covered with Sand, for concealing, from the View of People, the Blood of the Gladiators that was split there at the Combaces, which was done either by removing the Sand which was flained with Blood, or laying some fresh upon it.

AREOPAGUS, a famous Place in the City of Alban, fo called from the Temple of Morn, the Greek Word and Spenignifes as Burrough, and Town, and Anser, in the Continuous and Anser, and Anser, and Anser, who was accused by Meptane for killing his Son Hallirathing, for violating the Chaftiry of his Daughter Acipse.

Varre, as St. Auflin tells us, B. 18. Ch. 10. of the City of God, will not allow the Areapagus, s.e. she Village of Mars to be fo called. because Mare, whom the Greeks called "Aene being accused of Homicide before 12 Gods. who judg'd him in this Village, was there acquitted, though he had but Six Votes for him, according to the common cuftom of that Place, which was always favourable to the accufed. He rejects therefore this common Opinion, and endeavours to find out another Original of this Name, in some old obsolete Histories upon pretence that it is a reproach to the Deities to attribute to them Quarrels, and Lawfuits : And he maintains that the History of Mars is no less Fabulous than that of the three Goddesses June, Minerus and Venus, who contefled before Paris for the Golden Apple the Prize of the most beautiful.

Arcopagita, the Arcopagites, the Judges of Mkm, who decided all Caufes, as well publick as private in the Acception, with a Sovereign Authority, and whose Decisions were elterem'd impartial. They heard Caufes only in the night time, and did not allow the Advocates to use the Ornaments of Rhetwick in defending their Clients.

ARG

A R E T H U S A, the Daughter of Nevens, and Doris, the Companion of Diana, with whom Appears of Aradia, was in Love; but Aretbula, too, hun his Courthip, fied into Strip to an Ille near Syraulf, where the was changed into a Fountain, and her Lover into a River, whole Water runs fo fwiftly that it paffes through feveral Rivers, and even throthe Sea itelf, without mingling with them, until it comes to the Fountain of Arcthola, and then it unites fo with that, that they are no longer two, but one Channel. See Alphear. Arcthola is a Fountain of Greece, which, as the Poers figird, was below d by the River Alphear, who purfues it even in the fubberraneous Channels through which it field away, as far as Saidy, where Diems received it in the little Ble Origin. Strade places agreed deal or places to refute this Fable, and has proved that the River Alphear difchargd it felf into the Sea like other Rivers. Tis alledged that fuch things are found in the Blaton of Articulas, as were thrown, or had fallen into the River Alphear, which feems to be a proof of the fubberraneous Communication between them. Bacharr has given a very ingenious explication of this Fable : For he fays, that the Arethusa is a Phanician Word, that Arith in Syriac fignifies a Brook, that 'tis probable the Phenicians call'd this Fountain Hen-Alphe, i.e. The Fountain of Willows, or the Fountain for Ships, because it held a very great quantity of Water, and its Banks were all cover'd with Willows, which occasion'd the Ships to put in there, and take in fresh Water. Ovid calls this Fountain Alpheias in his Metamorphofes. The Greeks after this having discover'd this Fountain to contain such abundance of Waters, that, as Cicero describes it, 'tis fons aque dulcis incredibili magnitudine. and understanding that it was call'd not only Arethufa, but Alpheius, hereupon feign'd that it receiv'd its Waters from the River Alpheus in Greece by fubterraneous passages.

ARGET, or Joga, in the Neuter Gender; were certain Places at Rome confectated by Moma in memory of fome Grek Princes who were buried there. Every Year a Sacriface was offerd to them on the 15th of Markand the Veftal Virgins threw into the Ther Thirty Images made of Rufler which were called Joges, from off the Pomy fublicity at Rome. The Remains, or Prifels of June, was then clad in Mourning, with her Hair difshevell'd, in a careless dress, without any Ornament, in a word, in a pensive and forrowful filence, as we learn from Aulus Gellius, [Flaminica cum est ad Argeot, neque caput comito, neque capillum depetito : | Plutarch in his 22d. Roman Queftion, fays, that the Inhabitants of Latium had fo inveterate an hatred against. the Grecians whom they call'd Argive, that they never forgot to throw them into the Tiber from the top of the Pens Sublicius, till Hercules coming to Reme diffuaded them from this Violence : And yet, to fatiffie in some measure their hatred, they dress'd up every Year Thirty Men of straw after the Greek fashion, and caus'd them to be thrown headlong from the top of this Bridge into the Tiber, by the Vestal Virgins and the Chief Priests, after they had offer'd Sacrifice to the Manes of the Greeks, whom they had formerly put to death.

Edisar Pittler, about the end of his Book, fays that this word comes from one Argus, who was the Holt of Evander, and came with Herailey to dwell at Rome in ancient times when it was called Satismin, as being under, the Rule of Satism, and that the Plain which is at the bortom of the 7 Hills was called the Argus, with if the Argus promoted in the Argus, diffused in the Argus, diffused the Argus promoted in the Argu

Argentum, Silver, a Metal dug out of the Bowels of the Earth, which holds the ad. rank among Metals.

Agentum, fignifies also Money which is us'd in Trade and Commerce. It has in all times been us'd somewhere, though not in all Nations. Jefephus in B. ift. of his Jewigh Antiquities fays, that Cain amass'd together great Riches, which he had extorted autor I d olker anhirat gentedror apraying ni Blag: And 'tis observ'd in the 20th. Chap. of Genefit. that Abimelech King of Gerar, made a Present to Abraham of a Thousand Pieces of Silver. Ecce mille argentees dedi fratri tuo. Plutarch in the Life of Thefew, the 10th. King of Athens, fays, that he stamp'd Pieces of Silver of the Weight of two Drams. Servius Tullus was the first King who stamp'd Money of Copper at Rome, but pieces of Silver begun firit to be coined in the Year 483. to the value of a Denarius, i. e. 10 Affes. [which in English Money is 7 Pence half penny.]

Arginiei, or Sieli, are the fame thing, as may easily be proved by the Septuaginis. Translation of the Bible, and by the Latin Version of St. Jerom. in the 2d. B. of Kingi. ch. 18. Ege desifiem tibi, says Took, decen argent sicher, and the other answers, si appendiers in manibus meis mille argentess. This ficle of Silver was of the value of 2 Shillings att

777.4

Six Pence in our Money.

ARGILETU W. a long Street in the City of Rome over against the Mens Palatimus. which reach'd from the end of the Velabrum or Tufcan Street, as far as the Theatre of Marcellus to the Herb-Market. It was fo called from one Arms who a had mind to kill Evander, but he himfelf was flain and buried there. Verre thinks that this Place was alfo call'd by this Name, from Argilla, or fat Earth, whereof there is a great quantity in that Place.

ARGO NAVIS, the Ship of the Argenautt, in which Jajon fail'd to Cokher, to ferch the Golden Fleece. This Ship was built by Argus, with the help of Maervs. of the Pine Trees in the Forest of Peless or Dadens. Phadres in the 4th. Book of his Fables, Fab. 6. fpeaks of it after the following manner. "I would to God that the Theffa-"lian Ax, had never cut down the high Pines " of the Forrest of Peless, and that the sub-"til Argus, having a mind to go upon the "Waters a daring Voyage, expos'd to many " visible dangers of Death, had never fram'd " a Ship by the Art of Palles, which by ope-" ning the 1st. Entrance into the Sea, that "hitherto had continued inaccessible, has "been fo fatal both to the Greeks and Bar-"barians. You will tell me doubtless, con-" tinues the fame Author, that all this Pray-" er is impertinent, and founded upon a mi-" flake about the 1 ff. Ship, fince it is certain " that a long time before the Argmanter, " Mines overcame the Violence of the Egran " Sea, by covering it with a great Fleet, and " reveng'd the Death of his Son by a Punishment no less just than Exemplary.

ARGONAUT Æ, che Argmants, a great number of Illustrious Greeks, who embark'd with Jafen to go and fetch the Golden Fleece, viz. Hercules, Thefesu, Cafter and Pallux ; Orpheus, Typhis, Lymans and some others, who arrived all fafe at Colches, after they had efcap'd fome Dangers.

AR GUS, the Son of Apis fucceeded his Father in the Kingdom of the Argives, and from him the Argives took their Name, for they were not fo call'd before, It was under his Reign, that Greece ift, began to malure the Ground, and fow Corn. Argus after his Death was honour'd as a God, and Temples, and Sacrifices were appointed for him, which Honour had been given before him to one called Homogyrus, who was firuck deal with a Thunderbolt, andwas the if. who yok'd Oxon to draw. St. August. B. 3. Of the City of God, Chap. 6.

Argu, the Son of Anter, a vigilant Prince and one of great Circumspettien, to wi the Poets gave a hundred Eyes to denote his Vigilance. They also feign'd that Jame amploy'd him to observe the Actions of Justier her Husband, and to guard fothe Daughter of ment whom he lov'd. But Mercury killed this Arem by the order of Jupiter, after he had lulled him afleep with the found of his Pine. Jame to recompence the Faithfulnels of her Spy, chang'd him into a Peacock, which has as many golden Circles in his Tail, as degas had Eyes.

Ariadne, the Daughter of Miner, King of Crete or Candia, by Pufshae. When Thejene was fent to Candia by the Athenians, to be devour'd by the Minotaure, the instructed him how to get out of the Labyrinth in which this Monster was enblos'd, by giving him a Clue of Thread, which fucceeded to well that after he had killed the Monster, he got out of the Labyrinth, though the escape was very difficult by reason of the many turnings and windings that were in it. After his Escape he forgat his Benefactress, and abanden'd her in the Ille of Chie or Manes, where the married Bacabas, who plac'd the Crown the had then upon her Head amongst the ARICIA, a little of City Latium in Italy, which was built by Hippelian the Son of Thefess, in Memory of his Wife, who had the fame Name, as Martial tells us, B.4. Her Name was also given to a Forest, wherein Diene concealed Hippelytur, after he was rais'd from the Dead by Efculspius; as an acknowledgement for so great a Benefit he erected a Temple, to him whose Priests were to be fugitive Slaves. Hard by there was a Fountain facred to the Nymph Egeria, where King Mone, having learned Hydromancy, or the Art of Divination by Waters, boafted that he had frequent Convertation with that Nymph, that he might the more firmly establish his Empire, raile his own Reputation to a higher Pitch, and conciliate greater Authority to his Laws among the common People. Salieus and Caffius Hemine, think that the City of Aricia, was built by Archilacus the Sicilian, in the Year 405, from the building of Rome. It obtain'd the Priviledge of the Roman Freedom, and was at first a Municipal City, and afterwards a Roman Colony, as Florus tells us. Marin: Anthon. Ariciam & Lavinium colonias devaftavis. It was the Place of the Nativity of Acris, the Mother of the Emperor Agustus.

ARIES, aRam a Warlike Engine us'd by the Ancients. It was a great Beam of Wood ftrengthned with Iron at the end.

which represented the Head of a Ram, wherewith the Ancients were to batter the Walls of Cities, there were Three forts of them, one was hang'd upon Ropes, another run upon Wheels, and a third fort was born up in the Arms of those who made use of it.

This Machine was first invented after this manner; when the Carthaginians laid Siege to Gades, they thought it convenient immediatly to demolish a Caftle which they had taken, but having no proper instruments for that purpofe, they made use of a great Beam of Wood which many Men bore up in their Arms, and striking the top of the Walls with the end of this Beam by their redoubled blows, they made the uppermost Stones to come down, and so descending lower from one Lay of Stones to another, they batter'd down the whole Fortification. After this a Carpenter of the City of Tyre, call'd Pephafmener, taking the hint from the former Experiment, hang'd one Beam upon another like a Balance, which being thrust forward with great force, by many repeated blows he bear down the Wall of the City of Gader.

Cetras the Caeledonian was the 1ft. who made a Cart of Wood which moved upon Wheels. Upon the Carr he laid many pieces of Timber, whereof some flood upright, and others lay athwart, which he join'd together and made a Hut of them, in which he hung up a Ram, and then he cover'd it with Ox-hides to fecure those who play'd the Engine for battering down a Wall : And this Hut was called a Snail to the Ram, because it moved but very flowly. Polydus the Theffalian at last perfected the Engine at the Siege which King Philip the Son of Amyneas laid to Bizantium. This is what Firmvius tells us B. 10. Ch. 17. But Athenaus in his Book De Machinis, thinks that Geras the Carthaginian was the Inventor of this Engine: He fays also, that this Architect did not fling his Ram in a Hut, as Vitravius explains it, but that it was carried by feveral Men who push'd it forward by the strength of their Arms.

ARIES a Ram, the first fign of the Zodiack. This was the Ram according to the Fable of the Golden Fleece, which carried Phrysus and Helle through the Air, and which Jupiter plac'd among the Signs of the Zediack. This Sign to this Day makes the Vernal Equinex; although Vitravius, tells us that when the Sun has reach'd the iff part of the Sign Aries, it makes the Vernal Equinox, Columella gives the reason why the Sellicer and Equinoxes among the Ancients were not at the entrance of the Nigns, but at the 8sh Part :

low'd the Festivals which had been appiouted about that rime of the Year, at which, Budexus, Mete, and other ancient Aftronomres thought that the Points of the Againstes and Selflices happen'd, though they were at the beginning of the Signs, as Hipparcus thew'd afterwards.

Aries, the Ram with the golden Fleece, fo famous in fabulous Stories Strate relates the Expeditions of Phrysus or Jefen, and the Argmanter into Calches, for feizing and carrying off the great Treasure that was there. and chiefly the great Mass of Gold which was gather'd out of the Sand of a River by the straining it through a Ram's Fleece; and from thence he concludes that all which the Poers have faid of it, is nothing but a true History, either from the Nature of these Places, or from the fuccefsful Voyages which have been made thirher at divers timer.

Pliny gives a ftrange account of the Riches of Colches, and he forgets not the golden Fleece, because the best Gold is that which is gather'd out of Rivers by the help of Fleeces which gave occasion to the Fable.

Bechart thinks, that when the Poets ex. press the Riches of the King of Colches by golden Fleece, it may proceed from the Ama biguity of the word Gafa, in its original Language which is Syriac, for it fignifies a Treaiure, and also a Fleece, and in allusion tthis, the Poets took occasion to Pun. Heo adds as a probable Conjecture that the two Bulls which guard the Treasure are nothing elle but the two Walls which encompass the Castle wherein it is kept, because the Syriac word Sour fignifies a Bull and a Wall; and that the Dragon which guarded the Treafure, was nothing elfe but the Iron Gate of the Castle, because Nachas signifies both a Dragon and Iron.

ARION, a Native of Methymna in the Ifle of Lesber, an excellent Player upon the Harp, and a Lyric Poet, growing rich, and being defirous to return into his own Country, fays Pkedrus, that there he might thew great Riches. Having therefore embarked in a Ship, the Seamen, a faithless and inhuman fort of People, having a mind to throw him into the Sea, that they might take his Riches to themselves, he pray'd them that before they did it, they would give him leave to make his own Funeral Oration, and to fing an Elegy to his Harp: After that when he threw himfelf into the Sea, with the most precious things that he had about him, the Dolphins which came running to the Ship, being charm'd by the fweetness of his Mufick faved him from drowning, and one of This came to pais, fays he, because then fot them carried him upon his Back as far as Te-nars, whence he went to Periander, who being acquainted with his Story, caus'd all the Seamen to be hang'd in the Place where the Dolphin had fet him on Shore : For fometime after the adventure of the Dolphin. is happen'd that the Ship on which Arien had embark'd was by a Storm cast upon the Coasts near Corinth, and then Periander caus'd all the Seamen to be brought before him; and having enquir'd of them what was become of drion, they answer'd him that he was dead and they had buried him : Whereupon immediately he caus'd them to be carried away to a place near the Monument he had erested to the Dolphin, which died after it had carried Arim a shore : And there he made them fwear that Acien was dead, and then brought forth Arien before them, in the same kind of Habit which he had when he threw himfelf into the Sea to avoid their Fury, and he caus'd them all to be hang'd near the Monument of the Dolphin. The Gods also to recomnence the Friendship of this Dolphin and eternize its Memory, plac'd it among the ARISTEUS, the Son of Apello and Cyrene, who was desperately in Love with Euridice the Wife of Orpheus : She died of the Bite of a Serpent, as she fled from the amorous pursuit of Ariffau; the Nymphs enraged at this Misfortune killed all Arifleur's Bees, but he by the advice of his Mother confulted Proteus about this Lois, who order'd him to facrifice 4 Bulls and 4 Heifers to appeale the Ghost of Euridice, which being done, immediately there came forth Swarms of Bees out of the Entrails of the flain Victims. 'Tis faid that he first invented the way of extracting Hony from the Wax-combs which she Bees make, and of making Oyl out of Olives, and of curdling Milk. He was plac'd among the Number of the Gods after his Death, and ador'd by the Shepherds.

The Education of Bachus was committed to Ariflaus, according to the Traditions of the Liphinan, which are related by Diadarus Scudat. The fame Author ellewhere gives us an Account, that Apille transported into Lybia a Grazian Virgin called Gyrnan, and built there a City of her Name by whom he had a Son call'd Arian; and cauted himto be mart'd up in a Wildernefs by the Nymphe who rought him the Culture and the Use of Cities, of Sees, and Milk-meats, as Batters, Cheefe, &r. which he in process of time communicated or Markindo. After divers Voyages at length Arifleus came into Sardnie and Striy, and having publi over from thence in-tig, and having publi over from thence in-

into his Mysteries, who taught him many things useful for human Life. At last wifam died near Mount Howis, and was thera honour'd as a God, not only by the Thracians but also by the Gracians Heraksus, relates a Story of Arifless, in which Apsile is very much concerned. He was of Presentlus, where it was commonly thought that he was dead; but he appeared again at Options at one return'd from the dead: He disppeared yet once more, and Jay Vears after he flewed himself again to the Meatannian: in Italy, whom he affirmed to be the only Persons of all the Haslans, whom Apsile had honour'd with his Presence, enjoin'd them to creft a Statue to him in the Temple of Apsile, near that of Apsile himself. The Meatannian confuled the Oracle about it, which commanded them to obey him, and fo they did.

ARISTANDER, a famous Diviner, who forefold a Victory to Alexander, having feen an Eagle fly round about him, Quint. Curt. B. 4. and 7.

ARISTARCHUS, a Grammarian of Samatinatia, who was the Difciple of Arispebaus. He methodic'd the Veries of Hamper by the command of Pifferstar the Tyrane of Athena, and took the Liberty of rejecting fome of them as did not pleafe him. From hence came the Cuffon of calling any one by the name of Aristachus, who is a critical and fevere Centiner of other Men's Works. Alian fays that he wrote more than a 100 Commentaries. He flourish d in the time of Pislemass Philimater, to whose Son he was Pracecoro.

ARISTIDES, furnamed the Juft, who was the Son of Lysimachus. He restor'd Aritheracy, or the Government of the Grandeer in diheur, and upon that account by the perswasion of Themistocles who maintain'd the Popular State, he was banish'd by Offracism. He maintain'd always an even and unimitable Temper of Mind, in Profperity as well as Adversity. The evil Treatment which he received from his Enemies, never made him in the leaft depart from the Rules of Justice, and he neither govern'd himfelf by Passion, nor by Prejudice. He had so great a Love for Poverty, that when he died the Publick was obliged to Inter him, leaving nothing behind him. Lucion in his Description of Calumny, fays, that as just as he was yet he conspir'd against Themistocles, being Jealous of his Glory; for the best Men have their Faults and their Paffions.

sij, and having pas'd over from thence into Thracis, he was there initiated by Backhar chee, who led an effeminate idle Life, in senfind Pleasures and Feastling. He was very ingenious in the Art of Luxury, and was always maintain'd at Alban, or the Court of the Kings of Siei, y, who elterm'd him highly, because he understood good eating, would dance after drinking, and knew exactly how to make the best Sauces and Ragoo's. He fiew'd himself of excellent in this Art, that the Princes Cooks would come to the Orders from him, and he would not receive them unless he was in the humour, says Lutim.

ARITHMETICA. Arithmetick, a Science which teaches the Art of accompting, and all the Powers and Properties of Numbers. The 4 first Rules of Arithmetick are Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication, and Division.

There was a Digital Arithmetick, which is more ancient as well as more Natural; for this way of reckoning by the Fingers feems to have been inflitured by Nature, which has given us this Expedient as more eafy than any of the reft. The Fingers are limited to 10. which is a mylterious Number, and reprefers any thing that is most perfect and compleat: Thus we plight our Truth to one another by joining our two right Hands together.

Ten is also composed of the 4 first Numbers. 1, 2, 3, 4. Which Vists commends at the beginning of his Timest; for these Numbers being join'd together make the Number to. And when we arrive at that, we begin again at one, for 10 and 1 make 11, 10 and 2 make 12, and 6 of forwards Pliny tells us, that the Ancients reckon'd no further than to Those who in Progress of Time invented the Cypher, and the Arithmetical Figures which we now make use of, have given us no more than 10 of them. And the Pythageream, after the Penish Cabbalists, maintain that all Tens are full of Divine Mylleries, which gave occasion to the Institution of Tenths as due to God, by which we pay him Allegiance and Honage for all the Fruits which the Ground produces by his Benedition.

Befides this digital Arichmetick is very ancient, Neurobusi na Greek Epigram rells us of an old Man, who begun again to recken his Years upon his left Hand. St. Jeron informs us as to this matter, that the number of a 100 was corried on from; the left Hand to the right, and was reckend upon the fame Fingers, but not on the fame hand; upon which account Juvanii peaking of the happy old Age of Nellow, tells us, that he reckend this thereto the number of his Years upon his right. Nama erected a Straue to Janus, according to the Relation of Philips, who he Fingers of its right Hand were 10 disports are tight end where 10 disports are tight end with the house of the through the house of the head of the hand in the house of the head of the house of the hou

It will not be impertinent to our present Subject to relate a Discourse which Ermeir the 1st. had one Day at Dinner as it is set down in Vicente.

A Discourse was begun in Praise of Augu-Hur, whose custom it was to keep always in this Chamber two great Registers, one in which were entred the Receipts; and the other, in which were the Expences of fo vaft an Empire. " As to my felf, faid the King, I have likewife 2 Registers which I never part with "Night nor Day, viz. my 2 Hands, whereof the Lefe represents to me my Receipts ; for the Thumb, which is the ftronger of all the Fingers, fignifies my Demains, which is also the most folid and lawful Revenue that a good Prince can have: the " Fore-finger fignifies my Aids and Subfidies, the middle Finger, which is the longest, denotes the Taxes, the Finger next to it, the cafual Forfeitures ; and laltly, the little Finger, the Salt and Excise. The right Hand reprefents to me my Expence in general: "the Thumb fignifies the Maintenance of my " House, the Salaries of my Menial Servants, " the great and little Equeries, and the Trea-" fury, the fore Finger fignifies the Fund re-" ferved for the Necessities of the State, the middle Finger, a Fund for the Armies by Land; the Ring Finger, or the 4th, the " Payment of all the Officers of the King-" dom, and parricularly of the Judges in the " Courts of Justice, which I ought to admi-" nifter Gratis to my Subjects, and the little " Finger a Fund for the Armies by Sea. The Ronaus mark'd their numbers by Lerters, which they disposed after this manner. One Five 10 Ten Fifty 100 C a Hundred 500 D Five Hundred. CID 1000 a Thousand 5000 133 Five Thousand 10000 CCIDD Ten Thousand 100000 CCCI Fifty Thousand CCCIDDO CCCIDDO a Hundred Thousand dred ninety fix.

There

These are the Figures of the Riman Num- | from one to five, and then from Five to bers together with their fignification and value; for as Pliny observes, the Ancients had no Number above a 100000, but when they reckon'd higher, they fet down this Number twice or thrice, from whence also comes the Custom of counting, by these Phrases, Bis, ser, quater, quinquies, decies centena millia.

For the better understanding the Roman Numbers we must consider. 1st. That there are but & different Figures which are the & first. and that all the rest are compos'd of the I. and the C, yet so that the C, is always turn'd toward the I, whether it be before or after, as is eafy to be feen. 2dly. That when ever there is a Figure of less value before another which is of greater value, the former fignifies that you must take so much off from the latter : As IV. Four, XL. Forty, XC. Ninety. From hence it appears, that there is no Number which may not be express'd by the Five first Figures. 3dly. That in all these Numbers the Figures encrease gradually, ift. By a quintuple Proportion, and then next by a double of the last before it : Thus the 2d, is 5 times as many as the 1st. and the 3d. is twice as many as the ad, the ath, is s times as much as the 3d and the 5th, twice as much as the 4th, and fo of all the reft. 4thly. That the Figures begin always to multiply on the right fide, after fuch a manner that all the as which are put on that way are counted by Fives, as those which are on the other fule are counted by Tens: And fo we may easily find our all fores of Kumbers how great foever they are. Thus when an Author of the last Age, in a Lift of the Roman Emgire, had fet down the names of its Citizens, in the following Figures contrary to the Cufloin of the Ancients CCCCCCCODDDD--#0000000 CCC0000, CCC00, taking the C next to the I on the left Hand for a 1000 or the first 3 which is on the right Hand for 500, and to going on to the end by a decuple Progression in each Figure, on ! one or on the other fide. I perceive quickly that there are here in all, one Million, Five Embred Millione, a Hundred and Ten Thousand Citizens : Which may be thus expres'd in the Malie Figures, 1900/19000.

Now if we sellect upon this way of accompting, we may eafily understand, that it had its original only from hence, that Men anving begun at 1ft, to reckon upon the Fingers, they counted till it came to five upon one Hand, and then having added the other to that Number, they made of them both Ten, which is the double of the former: and this is the true Reason why the Progression in their Numbers is always

Ten.

All the Roman Figures themselves are also owing to the fame original. For what can be more natural than to fay, that the I is the fame thing as if a Man thew one by holding forth one Finger only, andthat the Figure V. is the same thing as if a Man catching the 3 middle Fingers, should hold forth only the little Finger and the Thumb, as containing the whole Hand, and that if you add to there the fame two Fingers of the other Hand join'd to either at the top, they will make as it were two V's, whereof one will run across under the other, and so make an X, which signifies

Manutius fhews also that all the other figures are deriv'd from the first, because an V is no. thing elfe but two I's join'd at the bottom, fo an L is nothing but two I's, whereof the one is perpendicular and the other horizontal, and if to thefe you add a third at the top then they fignifie an Hundred by ther Figure, in Lieu of which the Transcribers for the greater eafe made use of a C. If a fourth I be join'd to the other three fo as to make a fquare thus, I this Figure fignified five Hundred, in lieu of which they us'd afterwards, ift. the ID, and then the D. At last by doubling this Square, [][] they made their Thousand, instead of which the Copiers either for Ornament or better Convenience, began first to round the Figure. and make it with one froke of their Pen thus. 60 and after that, thus, e, frem whence it comes to pais, that we often meet with an Eight, made horizontal, or a Greek Omera, to fignifie a 1000. But afterwards they mark'd it thus, CID. and then thus, CD. and at laft, because this has a great Affinity with the Gathic M. they us'd a fimp'e M. to denote a. Thousand, as the C. a Hundred, and the D. for Five Handred. And from hence it comes to pass, that there are just Seven Letters which are us'd for these fort of Numbers, viz. C. D. I. L. M. V. X. unless you will add to them the Q. alfo, which some have us'd for five Hundred, according to Veffin. We must also observe there are some who maintain, that when there is a line - above the Figures, this makes them fland for for many Thoufands, as V. is Five Trouland, X. is Ten Thenfand. I know not whether any examples of this can be found among the ancients; but as it is certain that the way of accompting maintain'd by Prifeian, who thought that for fignifying the Tens of Thoufands, we muft place an & between C thus, CXD is altogether falle and contrary to Antiquity, and that his Error proceeds only from his Ignorance of the true original of this | between two C's thus CLO, or the like, way of reckoning, which he had a mind to accommodate to our prefent way, which encreases always by a decuple Progression. But if at any time there be found an L

tis only a Fault of the Transcribers, who finding in these Cases the I to be commonly . bigger than the C. mistook it for an L.

nagelimus fextus. ..

GENERAL TABLE

Of Characters for Numbers

	O	Chara	cters for	Numbers.
The ARABICK.	1	GR	EEK.	1 20	MAN.
1 Que.	d. or	1	E,	lı "`	Unum.	•
2 twe.	B'.	11	Air -	lir .	duo.
3 three.	3	III	Tris	liir	tris.
4 foure.	5.	1111	Tiwass :	lî v
5 five.	á.	П	જારીક	ĺv'	quarnor. quinque.	- 1
6 fix.	5.	пт	$	İντ	fex.
7 feven.	ζ.	IIII	श्री वे	lvii	feptem.
B eight.	á.	пии	ČKTIŽ	lviii	octo.
9 nine.	9.	niii	177 64	1 X	novem.
10 ten.	14.	Δ	Nes	x	decem.
11 eleven.	ıå.	ΔI	to Are	l X I	undecem.
12 twelve.	ıø.	ATT	Si See	XII .	duodecem.
13 thirteen.	12	AIII	TELLES SETE	XIII	tredecim.
14 fourteen.	15.	AIIII.	Transparai Au	XIV	quatuordecim.
15 fifteen.	16.	ΔΠ	mrnzaiAza	lx v	quindecim.
16 fixteen.	15.	ΔΠΙ	inx a Stra	l x v I	fexdecim.
17 Seventeen.	15.	AHII	inflagaife a	XVII	feptemdecim.
18 eighteen.	rú.	APIT		XVIII	octodecim.
19 ninetcen.	10.		corranaidese	XIX	novemdecim.
20 Imenty.	×.	44	- xoa	ХX	viginti.
30 thirty.	A'	$\Delta \Delta \Delta$	TOLKETTE	X X X	triginta.
40 forty.	μ.	4144	TI WELPEXOFIE	XL	quadraginta,
50 fifty.	2.	[4]	MITTH XOT &	L	quinquaginta.
60 jixty.	ξ.	د [م]	i-hrepla	LX	fexaginta.
70 livinty.	á.	101 00	ecoperixorla	LXX	feptuaginta.
So cighty.		ددد [د]	oydonxools	LXXX.	Ottoginta.
ge ninery	14:1	۵۱۵۵۵۵	evernxorla.	ХC	nonaginta.
100 a hundred.		н	LE THE	C	Centum,	•
200 two hand ed.	0'	нн	dia xoota	C C .	ducenta.
300 three bundred.	7.		Perandera	CCC	trecenta.
400 four bundred.	Ü.		Time caxique	CCCC	quadringenta.
geo five bundred.	•	(H)	ty to no aid.	D, er, I)	quingenta.
600 fin hundred.	ìχ.	HH	1 noora	D.C.	fexcenta.
700 Jeven hundred.	4.	HHH	i Maxiona	DCC	feptingenta.
800 eight hundred.	d.	HHHH	Lourende	DCCC	octingenta.
900 nive handred.			derta nista	DCCCC	noningenta.
1000 a thoufand	4.	X	Siyiz	M, or, CID .	mille.
2000 two thouland.	β,	X X	diginia.	M M,	bismille.
3000 three thouland.	γ.	XXX	nergiara	MMM	ter mille.
4000 four thouland.	s.	XXXX	TETHORINGALE	MMMM	quater mille.
5000 five thou and.	4,-	X:	TOV THE HIGH XICE	CCI ro, MV	quinquies mille.
6000 fin thoufs d.	٠.	X X	ecanolitia.	VIM	fexies mille.
7000 Jeven ther fand.		XXX	Manginia	VIIM	fepties mille.
8000 eight thoufand.	¥.	XXX	OKTORIQÍA I A	VIIIM.	octies mille.
9000 nine thouland.	٠, و		er year rigition	IXM	novies mille.
10000 ten thousand	4	м.,	priesa	CCIOD to .MX	decies mille.
The year 1696, one	ે 29 👫	16 4X45	Myleson grano-	Annus (M DC	XC VI) millefimus	S thousand fix han-	i	•	agonitanes ago		fexcentefimus no	j

ĞA.789

ARISTOTELES, the Son of M. chemachas a Physician, and Phestia: He was very deformed ; but he was one of the greatest Genius'sofhis Age. He studied to Years under Plate the Philosopher, and was Pracepter to Alexander the Great, by whom he wasvey much eleem'd. He was the Author of the Sect of Philosophers, called Perspateticks : He died at 63 Years of Age, and some think that he threw himfelf into the Straits of Eurippur, out of Vexation because he could not comprehend the Caufe of its Flux and Reflux He is call'd the Genius of Nature, and Plate nam'd him the Philosopher indeed. His Books lay a long while conceal'd at Athens. and were not transported to Reme, till after the taking of that City by Sylla; this Treasure was preferv'd and brought to Light by the means of Tyrannion the Grammarian, and Andronicus the Rhodian. Lucian rails at him in his Dialogue of the Dead, and introduces Akrander speaking thus to Diogenes. "Why dost "thou weep poor Fool, fays Diogenes, did not " Arifforle teach thee, that all this is but Va-" nity? Alexander answers him, what dost " thou fay, Diegenes, of him who was the ba-"feft of all my Flatterers ; pray do not force " me to publish his Faults, and to tell thee " how he hath abused my good Nature, and " the extreme Passion I lad for Learning. "Sometimeshe cajol'd me for my Beauty, scme-" times for my Riches, which he was so har-" dy as to rank in the Number of good things, " that he might neither be afhamed to ask nor " receive them. This is what I learn'd by " his Introctions. To take these things for " good which are not fo the Lofs of which "does now afflict me. The fame Author tells " usalfo, that Ariffule, did only give a rude " Draught of the Art of Paralites. His Do- I Etrine which is now in the Schools, has met with various Entertainment, fometimes good, and sometimes bad : On this Subject the Resder may confult. Mr. de Lanney de varia Ariflotelis Fortuna.

Arishmetics, fee before Artifisteles.

Arms, Arms, which Men made use of, either for artacking others, or defending themselves. This certain that the Arms of the ancient Heroes, as well Detensive as Offentive, were of Copper or Brass. This is what the Poot Lowestiar tells us. "The first Narms lays this Poet, were Hands, Nails, Tech, Storast, and Stickes: Afterwards from invented Arms of Iron et Brass; but "those of Brass, were it, us'd.

Arma amiqua manut, unguet, dentesse; surve. Es Lapides, & item situarum fragmina, rami; Possevians ferri vis est arisg reporta. Sed prior aris crat quam serri cognitus usus, Lucr. 1. 5. v. 1182.

Tubal-Cain, one of the Posterity of Cain. according to the Scriprure, was the Mafter and Father of the Smiths, and of all those who work'd in Iron and Steel, Tubal-Carn fuit Mallester & Paber in cuntta opera area & ferri. Gen. 4. 8, 22. Now this Tubal-Cain was the Vulcan of the Pagans, as Diederus Siculus tells us. [A Vulcano fabricationem aris, auri, ferri, argenti, & caterorum omnium qua ignis operationem rejiciunt inventam] lib. 5. p. 341. Josephus fays that Moses was the first who arm'd any Troops with Iron, and that he gave them in Egypt the Buckler and the Head-piece. Plut arch relates in the Life of Thefeur, that Ginen, the Son of Militader having a mind to carry the Bones of this Hero from the Ifle of Seyres to Athens, found the Point of a Lance which was of Brass, together with a Sword of the same Metal. 'Tis certain also from the former Paffage of Lucretius, that Arms of Iron and Steel were used among the Greeks and Remant, both for their Cavalry and In-

They divided their Infantry into those that were heavy arm'd, and those that were light arm'd, whom they call'd Velites, and who had casting Weapons: Such were the Slingers who threw Stones, the Darters who cast the Javelin, and the Archers who shot with Bows; these had their Head covered with a Murion, carried a little round Buckler upon their Arm, and a thort dagger by their fide. Under the Emperors, Trajan, Adrian. and Antoninus Pius, thefe Veliter, or Skirmithers wore a Corflet of Iron, or a Curiafs, adorn'd with Scales refembling Fishes, like that of the Archers: But the Slingers were clad in nothing but their usual Habit, having the lapper of their Coat tuck'd up to put Stones in it: The Archers, or fuch as drew the Bow, were armed with a Helmet upon their Head, and Armour adorn'd with Scales, having on their right fide a Quiver furnished with Arrows, on their left a Dagger, or Sword, holding a Bow in their Hand, with which they that their Arrows.

As to the Souldiers which were heavy arm'd, their Had was guarded with a Cafquet or H-lmer of Iron, which came down very low before, and behind defrended as far as their Shoulders: Their Body was arm'd with a Coat of Mail, togetier with Kneepieces and Bracelets. They carried on their Arm a Shield 2 Foot broad, and 4 Foot long frengthened with an Iron Plate that went round about it: In the middle was an Iron-bot jutting out very ferviceable to keep off Blows for glance of Darts and Stone, 1 They had alfo a Sword by their left Side, and a Dagger which cut with two edges. Befdes all this they were armed with a Dart, and two Spears 4 Foot long, having Iron Spikes at the top. The Greeks were not so heavy arm'd; they carried long Pikes, or Sariffa's [a peculiar fort of Spear which was used by the Macedeniani] which were Staves 18 Foot long. wherewith they forced their way across the Battalions of their Enemies. Die, in the life of Anteninus Caracalla the Son of Severus, refares that the Macedonian Phalanx [being a Four fquare Army confifting of 8000 Footmen fet in close Array] in the time of Alexander the Great, made use of a Salade or Headpiece made of the raw Hide of an Ox, and had their Body cover'd with a Jacket, or Coat of Mail, made of Flax or Hemp twifted into Cords, and 3 times doubled [which were called Thera:es trilices, from the number of Cords fir'd one upon another] Homer in the 3d. Book of his Hinds, arms thus the famous Paris : He first put on his Greaves, or the Armour of his Legs; then he clothed himfe!f with the Coat of Mail, tied his Sword by his Side, took his Shield, and armed himfelf with a Helmer adorn'd with Feathers of divers Colours.

Now follow the Arms of the Reman Cavalry. A Horieman carried a Lance in his right Hand, and a Shield on his left (which was an ancient kind of offensive Weapon, made in the form of a light Buckler, which the Horse of the Houshold who fought with a Lance, in former times carried on their Arm) his Body was cover'd with a Coat of Mail (which is a piece of Armour made in the Form of a Shirt, and wrought over with many rings or little marks of Iron) which came down as low as his Knees : His Hands were cover'd with Gantlets (which were large Gloves of Iron for arming the Hard of a Horseman) and his Fingers covered with thin Plates of Iron, join'd together in the Fashien of Scales; and his Arms with Bracelets (a Piece of defensive Armour which cover'd the Arms) as also his Knees with Greaves (a kind of Boots, or Armour for the Legs) on his Head he wore a Morion with a Crest adorn'd with Plumes of Feathers and various Figures of Beafts-upon it. Their Horse were arm'd with a Coar of Mail and Plates of

The light Horfemen carried a Javelin, or Haif-Pike in their right Hand (which Javelin was 5 Foot and a half long, and had a Head of Iron with three edges which was flarp pointed) and in their lieft Hand they held a great Shield, and wore a Casque upontheir Head.

There were also some Throwers of Darts which were light arm'd. They carried on their Back a Quiver full of Arrows; and had a Bow out of which they were to shoot them: They wore a Sword on their left Side, and some of them had a Dagger on the right side; their Head was arm'd with a Casquer, and their Legs with Greave,

The socient Names of the Greek and Roman

A Slinger was one who threw Stones with a Sling. The Slingers were a part of the Roman Militia.

1. A Sing is an Inftrument made up of two Strings, having a little Pouch like a Net in the middle for holding the Stones that are thrown out of it.

2. A Dast is a missive Weapon, made of Wood, that is arm'd with a sharp-pointed bren at the end, which is thrown with the Hand.

3. A little Shield, or a kind of a round Buckler, wherewith the Infantry in former times was arm'd.

4. Pilum, The ancients called any Shaft of Wood armed with Iron by this Name, and fo all forts of Arrows and Darts which they let fly were called Pila

5. A Dagger is a large Ponyard, which anciently they us'd in fighting.

6. A Salade, is a flight covering for the Head, which the light Horlemen wore. It differs from a Helmet in this, that it has no Creft, and is hardly any thing but a Wea-

7. A Morion, is the Armour of a Souldier being a Por which he wore upon his Head to defend it: It was used by Foor Soul-

s. A Cariafs, is a defensive Armour made of a Place of Iron very well beaten, which covers the Body from the Neck down to the Waft, both before and behind.

9. Greaves, a kind of Boots or Armour for the Legs.

ne Legs.

10. A Braceles, a piece of defensive Armour which covers the Arm.

1. A Pavice, is a Piece of defensive Armour which the ancients wore in the Wars, it was the largest fort of Bucklers; whole two fides bended inwards, like the Roof of a House, or a shed of Boards for Souldiers; and so it differed from a Target.

12. A Target, in Latin, Pelia, is a Buckler us'd by the Romans, which was bended in the Form of a half Moon, and of an oblong Fi-

13. A Coat of Mail was a piece of Armour made in the Form of a Shirt, and wrought over with many little Rings of Iron.

14 A .

14. A Jackes is a thort Coat which the Cavalry in ancient times were over their Armour and Curiaffes; it was made of Cotton or Silk ftirch'd between two light Stuffs; and fometimes also of Cloth of Gold.

15. A Head-Picce, is a Piece of defentive Armour for covering the Head and Neck of & Cavalier, which is otherwise called a Hel-

The offensive Arms or Engines which the Romans made use of in attacking Places.

1. A Rhaleltra, a great Engine for throwing of Darts; the Invention of it is attributed to the Phanicians. Vegetius fays that in his sime Scorpiones, which M. Perrault has translated Arbalefires were called Manubalifia, to diflinguish them from their great Balific or Catapatte which were not portable, after the fame manner as our Harquebusses and Pistols are dittinguished from Cannon.

2. Balifla, an Engine which the Ancients made use of for throwing Stones; it differ'd from the Catapulta in this, that the latter threw Darts, but both of them let fly after the fame manner.

3. Aries, the Ram, was a vast long Beam, Brengthned at one end with a Head of Iron, which was hung on two Chains, wherewith they us'd anciently to batter the Walls of Cities. There were 3 forts of them, one was hang'd upon Ropes, another run upon Wheels, and a ad. Sort was fuftain'd by the Arms of those who plaid it. When the Carthaginians belieg'd Gades, they judg'd it expedient fuddenly to demolish a Castle which had been taken, bur wanting proper Instruments for that purpose, they made use of a Beam which feveral Men bore up with their Hands, who thrust forward the end of it with so great Violence against the top of the Wall, that by their redoubled Blows they beat down the uppermost Lavs of Stone, and so descending from one Lay to another, they at last demolift d the whole Fortification. After this a Carpenter of the City of Tyre, called Pephal-20-20, taking the hint from this first Experiment, hang'd one Beam to another, like a Balance, and by the force of the many great blows which the Beam gave while it was play'd, he batter'd down the Wall of the Cir; of Gades.

Cetras the Chalcedonian was the first who made a Car of Wood which was driven upon Wheels, and upo wthis Car he reard up many Posts standing upright, and Beams lying a-crofs, whereof he made a Hut, and having hing'd a Ram in it, he cover'd it over the Engine for battering down the Wall-; Since that time this Hut was call'd a Tortoife to the Ram, because it advanc'd but very flowly. Such were the first Eslays of this kind of Engine ; but Polydar the Treffalian improv'd them to the highest Perfection at the Siege which King Amyntas laid to Byzantium, who invented also many other forts of them. which might be made use of with very much eafe.

. Atheneus, in his Book of Machines, fays that Geras the Carthaginian was the Inventor of the basis of this Engine, and he adds, that this Architect did not hang the Ram up in it. as Vitravius explains it, but that it was born up by many Men who thrust it forward: He fays also that some others supposed it to run upon Wheels; befides, Turnebus had reason to think, that Vitravius took from Athenaus the greatest part of what he relates here of Warlike Engines, though Calaubon holds that Athe. new liv'd a long time after Vitravius, and grounds his Opinion upon the relation of Trebellius Pollio, who fays that the Emperor Galienus caus'd many Cities to be fortified by Byzantine Architects, whereof one was called Clesdamae, and the other, Athenaus. Vollius follows the Opinion of Twnebus, because Atheneur's Book is dedicated to Marcellus, who liv'd before Vitravius.

4. Catapulta, a Warlike Engine, which the Ancients us'd for casting the larger fort of Darts and Spears upon their Enemies. Some hold that the Catapulta was invented by the Syrians.

5. Corvus Everfor, the demolishing Crow, which was also called the Grane. It does not appear by the Descriptions we find in the Ancients. of the Engine called the Crow, that it could be of any use for demolishing; J. Pollax and Polybius speak of an Engine which is called the Crane, and another called the Crow, but both the one and the other were made for hooking in, drawing too, and taking away by Force; for the Crane of Pollux was us'd on the Theatre for raifing Weights, and the Crow of Polybine was employ'd for grapling the Ships of the Epemies in a Fight.

6. Sambucus or Sambuca: This Engine is fo call'd from a Greek Word which fignifies a Triangular Instrument of Musick, made in the Form of a Harp, for this was a Triangle composed of Strings that made one of its Sides, and of the Body of an Engine, which made the other Two. The Warlike Engine of this Name was the same with that which we now call a Portable Bridge. When this Bridge of the Sambuca was laid down, it was fupported by Ropes, and thus the Befiegers with Ox Hides, to fecure those who play'd made use of it for passing over from their

7. Scerpimes, were the larger fore of Balifla's. which the Ancients made use of for attacking and defending Walls; they were Engines made up of unequal Circles, and were called Scorpiess, either upon the account of the effact they produc'd, which was to wound with little Arrows, like a Scorpion which wounds with a finall Sting, or elfe upon the account of the Figure of their Bow, which represented two Arms bending backwards like the Feet of a Scorpion. After this mannor Ammianus Marcellinus describes the Scorpien, which he supposes to resemble a Balista, rather than a Carapules, for he fays, that the Scuries was made for throwing Scenes by the help of a Wooden Beam which he calls Stylur, and which was join'd in the Ropes that were faften'd to the two bended wooden Beams, (which are like those that are us'd in the Engine for fawing) after fuch a manner that the Styles being drawn back by 4 Men, and after that let go, it throws out the Stone which was in one of the Slings falten'd to the end of the Styles.

ARM

8. Helepalis, was a Turrer which deffroy'd Cities. King Deputries, who was called Polistieres; uson account of his resolute Attacks for taking of Cities, caus'd Epimachus an Architect to build an McGoolic against the Rhedians : It was 125 Foot high, and 40 Foot broad cover'd with Hair-Stuff, and Hides lately flead off. Diagnetus rendered this defign of it ineffectually against Rhoder, and freed the City. He brought the Helepolis into the City, and fet it up in a publick Place with this Infeription ; Diegnetus made this Present to the People of the Spoils of their Enemies.

9. Teftude, a Tertoife, is an Engine which the Ancients made use for undermining and battering of Places. It was a Fence made of Wood that run upon Wheels which ferv'd to cover the Souldiers when they were at work. Facere Teffudinem was a kind of icaling us'd among the Ancients, which was done by the Souldiers when they flood close together, and cover'd themfelves with their Bucklers, for so they made a kind of Ladder for their Companions by which they might climb up upon the Walls. The Invention of this Tifude is attributed to Artenen the Son of Cla-ZORNANCS.

10. Malledi, or Pyreseli, according to Nexnu and Vegetius, were Engines fet on Fire by a mixture of combuffible Marrer wherewith they were belimear'd, and which being clos'd at the end, according to the Deferi-Prior of Ammianus Marcellinas, were ther cut

Tucces of Wood unto the Walls of the I of a Bow, to fet on Fire any military Engines or Ships on which they lighted. Cafor in his Commentaries fays, that the Gods fir'd the Camp of Q. Cicre, by throwing into it with Slings fuch Balls of Earth as were kindled before they were thrown. Armifalii, a fort of Dancers in Armour, who danc'd the Dance called Pyrrishs, which is perform'd with Arms, by keeping time while they ftrike their Swords and Javelins against their Bucklers.

Arquites, Archers, who fhot Arrows our of a Bow.

Ars, on Art, is a Collection of Precepts. Rules, Inventions and Experimenes, which being observ'd give success to our underrakings in any Affairs, and render them ufeful and pleafant. In this Sense Art is divided into two Branches, whereof one comprehends the Liberal, and the other the Mechanick Ares.

The Liberal Arts are the Sciences, fuch as Poetry, Mulick, Painting, Philosophy, Mathematicks, Architecture Civil and Military. Physick, Geometry, Arithmetick, &c.

The Mechanical Arts are those which require more the Labour of the Hand and the Body, than of the Mine.

Thetres fays, that in the time of Nosh a certain Egyptian call'd Vulcan found out Fire. and invented those Arts in which Fire is employed, and that the Greek Poets having been Educated in Egypt, transported them into Greece, and attributed the whole Glory of thefe Arts to their own Nation.

'Tis certain that Neab was the first Inventor of all Arts, as well as of the cultivating of the Vine; yet it cannot reasonably be deny'd, but that during the Sixteen Ages which pass'd between the Creation of the World and the Deluge, Men had invented many Arts and Sciences which Noah could not be ignorant of, having liv'd Six Hundred Years before the Deluge; thefe therefore he reftor'd after the Deluge, or elfe invented fome of thefe Arts a new Artemifia, was the Wife of Maufelus King of Caria: When he was dead and his Body burnt and reduc'd to Alhes, Artemifia mix'd thele Ashes with sweet-scented Waters, and drank them up, because she thought she could not better teffifie the extreme Love flie had for her Husband, than by drinking his Ashes, and making her felt by this means his Sepulchre. Yet fhe built him a ffately Monument in the City of Halicarne fin, enrich'd with Images of Marble, which was accounted one of the Wonders of the World, and a Mafter-Piece of Architecture. This Work has fo.

far merited the approbation of all Ages, I " is one of the 7 Wonders of the World that all the magnificent Monuments of Kings and other Heroes are nam'd from it, Maufoles. Artemifia died 2 Years after her Husband, for grief that fhe had loft him. We must not here conceal a brave Action which the did after the Death of Maufolus, which was this. "Having taken upon her the Govern-" ment of the Kingdom, the Rhedians could "not endure that a Woman should reign " over all Caria, and therefore they equipt out " a Flect to make themselves Mailers of the " Kingdom. But Artemifia being inform'd " of it, gave orders that a Fleet of Ships " should lie hid in the little Harbour which "the King had caus'd to be cut, toge-"ther with Gally-Slaves, and fuch Military "Men as had been accustom'd to fight at " Sea, and that the rest should appear open-" ly upon the Ramparts. Then the Rhodians "approaching with their Fleet very well "equipp'd, as it was just ready to enter into "the great Harbour, the Queen gave a fignal from the Walls to give them to under-"fland that the City would furrender. "Whereupon the Rhodians left their Ships and went into the City, and immediately Artemifia caus'd the little Harbour to be " open'd, out of which came the Fleet, and " went into the great Harbour, where the " Rhedians had left their Ships ; thefe her Fleet " carried away with them into the open Sea, " afeer they had furnish'd them with Seamen "and Souldiers; and at the fame time the " Rhodian: having no means left of escaping " were 2lt kill'd in the publick Place wherein " they were found that np. Nevertheless " the Queen went streight to the Isle of " Rhedes with the Ships of the Rhedians; and "the Irliabitants feeing the Ships return "crown'd with Laurel, receiv'd their Ene-" mie, whom they took for their own People returning Victorious : But Artemifia pofles'd her felf of their City.

Virgoias, from whom I have taken this History, fays that the Maufoleum was built in the City of Halicarnaffut. " Although Maufo-" lur. favs he, was born at Mylaffer, yet he " refolved to fix his abode at Halicarnaffus, "feeing that was a Place of a very advanta-" geous Situation, and very convenient for "Commerce, as having a very good Har-"bour. The Place on which it flood, was " bending after the manner of a Theatre; " and in the lower part of it which was near "the Harbour he defign'd to build a pub-" blick Exchange, but in the middle of the " Declivity of the Hill, he made a great " and wide Street, in which was built that excellent Work called the Maufoleum, which

There is a Medal of Queen Artemilia which on the Reverle has the Figure of the Pyramid of the Maufaleum which the built for her Husband : It is of Silver and well cut. On one fide of it there is the Face of the Princefs, having her Hair encompassed with a Royal Diadem; on the other there is the Pyramid of the Maufeleum, and on the top of it there is a Man standing upright leaning upon a half Pike, and upon the lowermost Leg of the Pyramid there is the Greek Letter 4. to fignifie the Affection which Artemifia had for her Husband, together with thefe WORDS APTEMIZAT BASIAISTHE

There is also another fort of Medal of Brass on which there is the perfect and entire Figure of the Maufokum, ARTEMISUM, a Temple in Italy, in the Forest of Aricia, whose Original was as follows. " Pylades and Orefles having fuf-" fer'd Shipwrack when they were just ready to be Sacrific'd, kill'd those that guarded them, and maffacred K. These; and after that carried away captive the Priestels of Diana. " and the Goddess her felf to whom they were to be offered in Sacrifice: They " landed in Italy, and built a Temple to Diana, which was called Artemifium, or Disnium. where Slaves are facrific'd to that Goddefs. and whose Priest ought to be a fugitive Slave

ARVALES, the Fratres Avales, So called ab arvis, i. e. from the Fields, because they Prefide over the Sacrifices that were offered to Bacchus and Geres for the . Preservation of the Finits of the Earth. Fatgentise gives the following Account of their Original. "The Nurse of Remulus called ; Act Laurentia, had a custom of offering every Year a Sacrifice to defire of the Gods a plentiful Crop, and in doing this fhe was accompanied with her 12 Children: "But one of them being dead, Remulter who " was very willing to countenance this De-"votion of his Nurse, put himself in his stead " to fill up the number of Twelve, and gave " this Society, the Name of the Tweive Arval " Brethren, which they have kept ever fince. They held their Asiemblies commonly at the Capitol in the Temple of Concord, or in a Wood confecrated to the Goddeis Dia, about e Miles diffant from Rome, and whichlies in . that way which now is called Via Campana. They wore a Crown made of Las of Corn tied up with a white Ribbon. Those who were promoted to this Dignity w re made Noble, and exempted from all Offices in rhe City and from Taxes. Some Authors have thought that they had the Authority of determining the Limits of Lands and Inherirances; but others arribute this Authority to certain Persons who are also called Arvales Sacerdotes.

ARUSPEX, One that divin'd by Infpection of the Entrails of Beafts, which the Ancients kill'd in Sacrifice to the Gods, from which they drew Prognofticks of future E-

ARUSPICINA, Divination by the Entrails of Beafts flain to the God's. This fort of Divination is very ancient, and was practis'd by the Chaldeans, Egyptians, Greeks and Africans, and afterwards by the Tolcans. who became most excellent in it. From them the Romans learn'd this Science; Romulus at first instituted Three Aruspices, one for each Tribe, into which he divided his People; afterwards the Senare ordain'd that a certain number of Young Men of a noble Family fhould be fent to Tujeany, to be better inftructed in this Science. Cuero limits the Numbers to Six, Valerius Maximus makes 10 of them, and fome others 12.

'Tis faid, that Tages the Son of Genius and Grandion of Jupiter taught the Tufcans this Art, and Cicere in the 2d. Book of Divination relates to us fomething of the Fabulous Story of this Tages. " viz. That when a Peafant " was tilling the Ground, the Coulter of his "Plough happen'd to cut deeper than was "ufual; and then he faw a Clod affume the " Figure of a young Infant, whom the Inha-"bitants called Tager, and that this Tager " instructed the Peafant presently how he might predict things to come by Animals: This is also confirm'd by Ovid.

Indigina dixere Tagem, qui primus Hetruf.

Edecuit gentem cafut aperire futures, Ovid. lib. 15. Metam. v. 558.

This Art took its Conjectures of things future, either from the Motions of the Animal which was to be facrific'd, or from its. Entrails which were pull'd out, or last'y, from the Fire into which they were thrown after they had been carefully examin'd.

It was observ'd whether the Anima' went without flrugg'ing to the Sacrifice, whether it did not make unufual Noifes at the time of Immolation, or whether he did not g.t away out of the Hands of those who led it. After this the Entrail's were examin'd which the Arufper pull'd out, fuch as the Liver, the Heart, the Sp'een and the Reins, their Colour was carefully confider'd, and Brick enquity made whether there was any Spot or B'emish in them. After this there parts were cast into a look'd carefully whether the Smoke and Flame ascended together like a Globe, and whether they parted, one going to one fide, and the other to another. From all thefe Signs they took Prognosticks good and bad which moved them either to pursue or delift from any Undertaking.

Pretages also were taken from confecrated Wine or Water wherewith the Villim was sprinkled, and it was observed whether the Wine of which the Libation was made, did not lofe its Colour or Taft; as it happen'd to Dide, who at the time of facrificing found the Wine chang'd into black Blood, that it was corrupted in the Vessel into which the had put it, as Pirgil relates,

Latices ingriffere facros. Fufaque in obscenum fe vertere vina cruorem. Eneid. 1. 4. v. 455.

And thus it happen'd also to Xerxes, who on the Eve before he attack'd the City of Sparta, faw the Wine which was pour'd out for him to drink, three times chang'd into a very bad Blood, as Valerius Maximus tells us, Infusum nempe patera ejus vinum, in fanguinem, nec femel, fed iterum ac tertie conversum.]

We must not think that Wiscenen among the Roman gave credit to thefe foolifh Fables about the Inspection of Entrails, which were believ'd only by the ignorant People, as Cicero tells us in his ad. Book of Divinarion. [Aufpicina ego Reignblice caufa communisque Religionis colendam confeo, fed foli fumus.]

Princes made use of it to keep the common People and Souldiers in their Duty: So did Agefilans, according to the Relation of Plurarch : " For he being in Bgypt, and perceiving the " Souldiers to be wavering in their Duty, thought fit to confirm their flaggering Faith by writing on the Palm of his Hand in great Greek Characters, NRH, which fignifies V. dory; and after this having flain a Victim, he took its Entraits reeking hot into his Hand, and held them there to long " till thele Characters were imprinted upoh, " them, and then having shown them to all " the Army he remov'd their Fears and give "them freth Courage, by this word which "appear'd upon the Entrails of the Victim," " f r now they all believ'd that the Gods did " promile them Victory."

At, is deriv'd from Es according to Varre, " and formerly After was us'd for the Nominative: It fignifies the weight of a Roman Pound; which was only 12 Ounces.

dr, a piece of ancient Roman Money, made at ift. of Copper in a Lump which weigh'd a Pound, and which did not begin to be Fire newly sindled, and den the Diviner I flamp'd till the time of Service Tien, and spects only the weight, and cannor agree both to one and t'other. Now because at first they weigh'd their Money, from thence came the Words Impenfa, Expences, Difpenfator a Steward, and Libri-seus a Treafurer. Tis not easy to know certainly when the Romans first began to make use of SilverMony: Pliny writes that it was five Years before the firft Punick War, and Parre thinks that Servins Tallus was the first that brought it into tife.

An As according to our Money at prefent in Value a Half-penny-farthing, as may be feen in the Tables annex'd to the late Combridge Dictionary.

An As is us'd alfo for any entire thing. which is divided into twelve parts, as an Inheritance, an Estate, in which case the parts are called Junces : Which Observation will help us to underftand many Expressions fcatter'd in Latin Authors, as Heres ex affe, a general Heir, or an Heir to all the Goods; Bares ex beffe, an Heir to two Thirds ; Hara ex semiffe, an Heir to one Moiery; Hares ex dadrante an Heir to 3 Fourths, and fo of the rest which may be casily understood by the following Table.

The whole and entire Ai, call'd alfo Libra and Pendo, 12 Ounces. I think divifible by 12. Eleven Twelfile. Deum, 11 Ounces, to call'd Because there wants an Ounce. Ten Tweffehs. Decume, to Ounces, that is to fay decem Five Sixths. Uncia. Dodrant, 9 Ounces, Nine Twelfthes

Three Fourths.

Eight Twelf.hr

Seven Twelfibe.

A half Pound-

Six Twelfths.

Five Twelfthe. Fear Tac Ethi

Two Thirds.

Belles or Bellis 8 Ounces, because deeft triens, according to Varre. Septune, 7 Ounces, as much as to fay fep-because deeft quadrant.

tem uncie. Semiffis for Semiaffit, fix Ounces.

> Quinenna, 5 Ounces. Trient, 4 Ounces, i. e.

Muntrate, 3 Ottnets. Sentans, 2 Ounces. eis, i Ounce and a One Third. One Pharen. Oue Sistri. One Eight it.

Und satt Chance. On The effth.

ASAROTA, 4 for of Floor. Plins fays, that painted Pavements, wrought artiff cially, came from Greece, and that among the reft, the Pavement of Pergamu, which was done by Sajus, was the most Carious. This word Marnet, figuines that which is an jury? away. [ab d Privative & stife] and, this Stame was sherefore given it, because they faw upon the Favement the Crumbs, and other things which fell from the Table white they were at Mear, fo lively represented, that they feem'd to be Realities, and that the Servants took no Care to Iweep the Rome clean. This Paversent was made of fmall Shells painted with divers Colottes, and that which was moft admir'd in it, was a Dove drinking, whose Head caft a shadow upon the Water. Monfieur Perrault rejects this opinion of Pling about this word, and thinks it more probable, that there black Pavements which by realon of their driffels drank un all that was foilt upon them, fhould rather be call'd d'ou je m cither becaufe it was reithen convenient to fweep them, of wipe them with Spunges, as they did other Floors, an effe because they appear a not to be fwepe

ASBESTOS, i.e. Metmbuftible, is a fort of Stone, of which Cloth was made which would not burn, though it was thrown into a great Fire. Iliny mentions a Flan that grew in the Indies, which he calle afbeffun.

Some think that the dead Bodies of the Remans which were burnt, were wrapp'd up in this Cloth to preferve their Athes, But Pliny affures us, that it was kept for the Kings of those Countries upon the account of its fcarceness. Strabe and Plutarch relate that the like Cloth was also made of the Stone Amianta. and that fome at that time had the fecrer of Spinning it, which is not incredible, as many perswade themselves, since it is a Stone that may bo all drawn our into Threads.

ASBOLUS, a Centaur which Herenler hang'd upon a Gibbet.

ASCANIUS, the Son of Anens and Creufa, who came with Amar his Father into Italy. After the Death of Eneat, Afcanist was belieg'd in Laviniam by Mezentini after such a manner that he law he could not long b"the Wood of the Funeral Pile to be pogefend kimfelf : Whereupon he fent to him to fide for Peace, which was offer'd him indeed, but tipen very diffeonourable Territe ; and therefore he relolv'd to use his utmost endeavour to oppose him by a vigorous Sally : But before this was put in Execution, he obferv'd a good Omen; for having made a Dihal's a from the right to the left in a ferene Day, which gave him great Encouragment to execute his delign. Having therefore for this end made choice of a very dark Night he made some falle Atracks upon the weakest of the Effemies Quarters, but his chief affault Was upon the Place of the greatest frength, which was less carefully guarded. This Stratagem fucceeded very well for him, for his Enemies were defeated, and Mezentus his Son loft his Life upon the Place. . After this Vi-Bory Afcanius went and built the City of Mid lette 36 Years after Lavinium, in the Place which was mark'd out to him by the 38 little Boar-pigs of the white Sow. He feigin'd al Years.

Sab Afria dedicavit. Monfieur Spin in bis Antiquities of the City of Lyons, Chap. 4. Says, " we have hitherto faid nothing of this Phrafe, " lub Acis dedicare, which we meet with fo "often in Inferiprions upon the Tombs of the ancient Pagant. Monlieur Cherier, who " fas deferib'd the Aritiquiries of Vienne, exa plains it very ingenioully : oue, fays he "fignifies in Greek a Shadon, from whence a comes the word anla, and in Latin Afrik, a which fignifies a Flace without a Shadow ; and "it was usual with the Amcients to fet up their Tombs in an open Place, or in a Place

" without a Shadow.

Tis true the generality of Antiquaries ufe the word Afrie for an Infirument, wherewish they at and polifi a the Stone which was to be laid tipon Graves: From whence it comes to pass that in the Laws of the 12 Tables we have this Claufe. Rogum Afoia ne polito, that me Bould not polift the Monuments of the dead. But this Law was difus'd and the Romans growing filter powerful and rich, would not lofe their Pomps and Vanities even after their Death : Witness the many flately Maufolen, which are to be feen in all Italy and other Provinces of their Empire. Some think that a certain Figure made in the form of an Ax, which we often meet with upon ancient Infcriptions. is that Alas whereof we are now fpeaking. Guickerd in his first Book of Funerals, speaking of these words rells us, "that the Law of the 12 Tables forbad to polish the Wood of " the Funeral Pile, but that this Law was " not at all oblery dian't that every one caus'd

"lish'd, and adorn'd it with Pictures made " of Wax of divers Colours; to whichCuftom adds he, we may refer thefe 3 Words fub Afria delicare. I do not think continues he. that the Roman added at the end of their " Epitaphs thefe Words to fiet that the Ma . "ble had been pohish'd, for as which as the "Az which is there represented is not a Tool proper for polishing Marble or Stone, efpecially feeing that part of the Stones where thefe words, and that Figure is to be found, " are rough and unpolified.

ASCLEPIADES, a Creek Physician, of whom we read this Inscription at Roffe. L. ARUNTIO SEMPRONIANO ASCLEPIADI.

Imp. Demittati Medico. T. F. L. In Fronte P. XX. In Ax. P. XX.

Authors mention two of this name who were Physicians : He who was Physician to Demitian possibly was the last of the two. and he who was Circle's Friend, the first. But here we must observe, that these Greek Phyficiaris when they came to Rome, took upon them a Premmen, the name di'a Family, and a Surname, although in their own Country they had only one Name or Surname. And the Reason of this was, because their Freedom being given them at Rome, they were incorporated into the Tribes, and adopted into the Families of the Republick. Thus Melepiades, who according to the Cuftom of the Greeks had but one name, affirmed here 3 preceeding Names; Lucius Aruntius Sempreniantis, that of Afelepiades continuing fill as an A nemen or 2d. Surname

Reinefins, in his Inscriptions publiffe'd a little while ago, makes this Aclepiates different from him, who is mention'd by Authors as famous for the Books he wrote about Medicaments; and he thinks that he who is meant in this Inscription was the Son or-Grandfon of Auntius the Phylician, to whom 250 Seftertis magnd, were given as Plini tells us at a Reward, Book o. of his Hiftory.

There is a 3d. Achpiades according to an . Inscription which we find at Arienan. C. CALPURNIUS ASCLEPIADES. Prufa ad Olympum Medicuis.

Parentibus & flie fratrib. Civitate VII. à dive Trainne imperavit. Mittee III. Neine Marties, Domitiane XIII. Cor. esdem die que & detr eine VERONIA CHELIDON. com que vixit en. LI. fludierum & merum caula.

probatus à vivis clariff. adjedit Magiftratibus Pop. R. ita ut in aliis & in Prov. Afis Cuftodiar ---- in arna Sudicum

Vixit enn. L X X. "CAIUS CALPURNIUS AS

"CLEPIADES, a Physician of the City of Prusa at the Foot of mount Olympus, " obtain'd of the divine Emperour Trajan, 7 " Cities for his Father and Mother, himfelf " and his Brethren ; and was born the 5th. " Day of March, under the 13th. Confuiship of "Domitian, on the very fame day that his " Wite VERONIA CHELIDON " was born, with whom he liv'd 52 Years " being approv'd by Persons of the first Quality " upon the account of his Learning and good " Behaviour, he was Affestor to the Magi-" ftrates of the People of Rome, not only in " Afia, but a fo in other Provinces. He liv'd " 70 Years.

This Ajelepiades was never made a Freeman, as Reinefins thinks, fince he took upon him the name of CAIUS CALPUR-NIUS ASCLEPIADE S, and there is no Lin the Inteription to fignific that he was Libertus. His Country was the Ciry of Prula. which is full to this Day call'd Pruffe in By sonia, at the Foot of Mount Olympus. From this Place the oft Afelepiades originally came. who was Ciere's Friend, and the Author of a Sect which pretended to cure Difeates by a moderate way of living rather than by Medicines; for Strabe and Galienus fay, that he was of the City of Prula in Bythmia: And if we compute the Times in which thefe 2 Af. elepiadas's liv'd, he who is meant in this Infcription, might be Grandson to the former, and inherit his Learning and Reputation; fince he obtain'd by the Bounty of the Emperor Brajm, probably upon the account of delivering him from tome dangerous Difeales, the Possession of 7 Cities, which is a very remarkable particular of History. He was born under the 13th Confulfhipor Domition. which answers to the Year from the building of Pam. DCCCXL, and to that of our Lord, LXXXVIII, and he died in the 70th. Year of his Age under the Empire of Antoninus Pill, in the Year of Rime DCCCCX, and confequently he was Phylician under Traign. H. d. anus, and Antoninus, and also under many Magilirates, which shews that he was in a free Condition and highly effeem'd.

B. itses thele ; Alche adei white were Phyfictions, we find also another call'd TiTU's ÆLIUS ASCLIPIADES, in Gruter, who was made free by the Emperor ; and one nam'I PUBLIUS NUMITO.

RIUS ASCLEPIADES, a Freeman and Sextum-vir of Verms, and laftly one LUCIUS FONTEIUS FOR. TIS, of the Race of the Afelepiades's, or at least of their Profession; for in succeeding times the Name of Afelepiades was us'd for the Title of a Sect, or of Professors of Phy-

- ASCOLIA, certain Games in Honour of Bacchus, at which People danc'd upon Gost-skins, which were blown up like Bladders and anointed with Oyl, that fo the Dancers might make the Divertion more Pleasant to the Spectators by their Fall.

ASPHODELUS, the Daffodil, an Herb which has a ftrong Smell when it is in Flower. Lucian thinks that a Meadow was planted with these Daffodils in Hell, through which the River of Oblivion runs. ASSA vix. &.

ASSA TIBIA, The Voice alme : One Finte slone, Without being accompanied with the Voice.

ASSARIUS of ASSARIUM. the fame with At among the Ancients, favs Charitius. Dionyfins Halicarnaffins also fays, that Affarium was a piece of Money of Copper, of a Pound-Weight : Yet Helychius explains it to be 70 xxxler, a little piece, and according to Suidas awaisa are iConel. little Pieces of Money of Copper. Agricola in B. 2. de pend, takes it for the half of an At. which he confirms by Josephus and Waserus; but of an Ar minted, and reduc'd to half an Ounce, so that this would be no more but the 4th. part of an Ounce. 'Tis certain that it was a very little Piece, and fo much its Termination sufficiently shows, that it is only a Diminutive from Alia A S S E U M, a Stove or Bagnio, a Place where the Air only is heated to make People (west. ASTARTA, or ASTARTE, The Goddess Afterte is call'd in Scripture. Alhiere'b, which fignifies Sheep or Flocks. Scaliger thinks that this Name was given her upon the account of the Multitude of her Vidimt, den Sydoniorum. Sanchertathen fays that the Godde's Affarte is Venus-Grania, or the Moon, which is the fame with Vimis-Urania, or Ca'effis ; Aftarten l'enerem Phanices praditant: They fay a'fo that she has the Head of a Bull, as a token of her Sovereignty, which agrees to the Crefcent or New Moon.

This made Bochart believe, that fhe was le the Goddels of the Greeks, which was transform'd into a Cow. Cicero in B. 3. De Natura Borum would have her to be Vimu, and having diftinguish'd many Vinu's, he lays, that Vinus of Syria, or Tyre, Was Affartes Quarta Venus Syria Tyrogue concepta, que Affarto weater. This is also the Opinion of Saider : But St. Auffin on the contrary thinks that Affarte was June, which he proves from the Judgment of the Carthaginians, who could not be ignorant of the Religion of the Phanicient. & fervierunt Bast & Aftaria; Thefe are the words of Scripture which this Father explains of Jupiter and June, in Lib. Jud. 9. 16.

Lucian, on the contrary fays that Allarte is the Moon, although he relates that the Phamicians made her pass for Europa, the Daughter of King Agener, who was carried away into Candia by Jupiter when he was transform'd into a Bull. " There is also a great Temple "in Phanicia, among the Sidenians, which is " dedicated to Affarte, whom I believe to "be the Moon; although a Priest of the "Temple told me, that the was Europa, the "Sifter of Cadmus and the Daughter of Acc-"mr, who dilappear'd I know not how; " and that afterwards the People of the Coun-"try built her a Temple, and gave it out " that Jupiter had ravish'd her for her Beauty. " She is still to be feen engrav'd upon their "Money, fitting upon a Bull; but there " are fome who do not believe that the is the "Person to whom this Temple is dedi-"cated.

There is some Ground to conjecture that in this Case we have an Example of the Cufrom of the Phanicians mention'd by Phile, the Interpreter of Sanchiniathon, viz. that they gave to the Stars the Names of their Kings, and fo they paid Religious Worthin to them as well as to the Stars. They might then attribute to the Daughter of King Acener the Temple built in Honour of Affarie, i e. according to Lucian, to the Moon. Jelephus speaks of the building of the Temp'e of Hercules, and of that of Affarre at Tyre, whose Names are manifeftly deriv'd from this Divinity : fuch as.

ARISTARTUS, BELOA. STARTUS, i.e. BELUS ASTAR-TUS.

ASTRA, the Stars, Luminions Bodies, which move in the Heavens above the Elementary Region. Perphery had reason to fav. that the Ancients admiring the extraordinary Beauty and Splendor of the Star P-nue thought that by her Influence she contributed very much to Generation, which mov'd them to represent her under the Figure of a Woman of extraordinary Beauty. This Planet Venus is also call'd the Star of the Shepherds. It is call'd Lucifer or the Morning Star, when it goes before the Sun, and Velour, when it follows him. M. reury is another Pianet which fearce ever parts from the Sun, I tupon which Account he is rarely visible, and the Ancients confounded him fometimes with the Sun, and faid that this Planet was as it were his Soul and Intelligence, for which reason they made him the Teacher of Wisdom and Knowledge.

From whence ir appears that the Gentiles look'd upon these Stars as living and intelligent Beings, and that they managed their Influences by their Intelligences.

Horace Calls learned Men Viros Mercurialis. as being more plentifully enrich'd with the Gifts and Influences of Mercury. In this Sense we must understand the beginning of the first Book of Manilius, where he fays that the Stars know and work our Deftiny by their Wifdom and Influences.

Helychius fays, that the Babylonians call'd the Star Mercury, Sechez. The Western Nations were no less perswaded that Mercury was a Star that had Dominion over Reason, Discourse and Understanding.

The Gaules mention'd by Cafar in his Commentaries, regarded more the Fabulous History of Mercury, than the Nature of the Star that goes under that Name. From the fame Principle it was, that the ancient Representations of Mercury had neither Arms nor Legs, to give us to understand, if we may believe Plutarch in this Cafe, that the Wit and Wifdom of the Mind alone can compais all things, without the help of the Senfes, and the Members of the Body : [Propteres Mircurios Seniores fine manibus & fine pedibus fingunt, boc obscuras quasi per Anigma inducentes hand quaquam à l'inibus requiri ut corporis ministeria obeant, ammedo eratio fit efficax & facunda.

ASTRÆA, the Daughter of Jupiter and Themis, the Guardian of Justice. The Poets have feign'd that she descended on .Earth in the Golden Age; but when Men in fucceeding times became corrupt and perfidious, this Divine Woman re-ascended into Heaven, and was p'ac'd in the Zodiack in the Sign Virge.

ASTRAGALUS, a Greek Word, and a Term of Architecture, is a little Round Menleing wherewith the top and botrom of Pillars are adorn'd, which is made in the form of a Ring or Brace'er: Somerimes it is cut in the Shape of litt'e Beads, from whence it has the name of a Chapler.

ASTROLABIUM, an Afrolabe, is a Mathematical Instrument that is flat after the manner of a Sphere describ'd upon a Plain. It ferves chiefly at Sea, for observing the height of the Pole and of the Stars ; it hangs upon a Ring, and hath an Alhidade, or moveable Rule fernish'd with little Pins, which Thews the heights upon the Circle which are on its fides being divided into 369 Degrees. There is a hole within its Limb, wherein di-vers Plates are, on which are, mark d the Azimuchs and other Circles, for making various Observations; and that at the top which is pierc'd through, and is therefore call'd dranes, ferves to make many Observations on the Stars.

ASTROLOGIA, Aftrelogy, a Conjectural Science, which teaches us to judge of the Effects and Influences of the Stars, and which pretends to foretell all forts of Events. It is a very vain and uncertain Science.

ASTRONOMIA, Afrancy, which treats of the Nature of the Heavens and the Stars The Athiopians, as tis faid were the first who discover'd this Science, because their Air is very clear, and they have not fuch change of Seafons as we have : Belides that this Mation is very fubtil and furpalles all others in Wit, and knowledge. Afterwards they improved this Science with great Application of Mind, for they measured the Course of each Star, and diffinguish'd the Year into Months and Seatons, regulating the Year by the Course of the Sun, and the Months by the Motion of Moon. Moreover they divided the Heaven into 12 Parts, and represented each Constellawhence proceeds the Divertity of their Religion and Gods, for those who more particularly oblery'd : e Proprieties of the Ram ador'd it, and fo on of all the reft.

The Chancars were above all others addifled to this Science, infomuch that they would be effected the Inventors of it. As for the Greeks they learn'd it from Orphew, who gave them the first Light into it, though but obfourely, and under the Veil of many Mysteries and Ceremonies: For the Harp upon which he celebrated the Orgia [i. e. the Baschanslia and plaid Hymns and Songs, was compos'd of Seven Strings which teprefent the Seven Planets, upon which Account the Greeks plac'd it in the Heavens after his Death and have called a Constellation by its Name. And therefore he is painted fitting upon a Haro, encompais d with an infinite number of Animals, which are a Representation of the Celestial Fires.

In the time of Atreus and Thyeftes the Greeks were arriv'd to great Knowledge in Aftronomy; and the People of Arges having decreed that their Empire should be given to him who was most skilful in it. Thyestes discover'd to them the Proprieties of the Ram, from whence fome took occasion to lay, that he had a Ram or Go d : Atree observ'd the Course of the Sun to be contrary to that of the Primum Mibile, which caus'd him to be preferr'd before hisRival. The fame Judgment is to he given af Bellevophen, for 'tis not believ'd that he ever had a winged Horfe, but only that his Mind foaring up into Heaven, made many nice Observations about the Stars. The same is to be faid of Phrymu the Son of Athemas, Who is faid to have gon through the Air upon a Golden Ram. Dadalm and his Son were lakewife very learned in Aftrology, for one of them confounding himfelf in this Science perhaps gave Occasion to the Fable : Alfa Pafiphee, hearing her Pather discourse of the Celeftial Bull and the other Stars, fell in Lova with his Doctrine, which gave occasion to the Poets to fay, that the was enamour'd with

There are some who have divided this Science and affigued to each Aftronomer his different part. Some have oblery'd the Conrie of the Moon, and others the Morion of the Sun, or of fome other Planets, with their different Influences. Thus it was with Phartan and Endymies, whereof the former left us this Art imperfeet by his untimely Death, and the latter perform'd his Part fo well that he is faid to have lain with the Moon, and enjoyed har Love. From hence it is that the Poets make Anes to be descended of Venus, Minus of Jupiter, Afcalaphus of Mars, Autolycus of Mercury, because they were born under these Planets, and because they always retained fomething of that Planet which was afcendane at their Birth, therefore Miper Was a King, Anas was a beautiful Man, Acalaples was valiant, and Autolysus thieville. Neither must we imagine that ever Jupiter did chain up Settors, or throw him down headlong into Hell, as ignorant People believed. but the former part of the Fable was feign'd upon the account of his flow, and fluggifla Motion : and the vaft distance of the Æther in which he moves, from this Earth, was taken for the Abyss of Hell. All that the Poets fay of the Adultery of Mare and Venue, and the manner of discovering it, is taken from Aftrology; for the frequent conjunction of thefe 2 Planets gave occasion to their Fictions.

Lycurgus, the great Lawgiver of the Lace-demonians, fram d his Common-wealth upon this Model of the Stars, and forbad his Citizens to march out to Battel, before the full Moon, because then its Body is more vi-

The Areadians are the only People who would not entertain Aftronomy, because they were fuch Fools as to think that they were born before the Moon.

ASYLUM, ander, a place of Safety where none durft fiege a Criminal that flies to it,

Some pretend that the first Afylum of Greece was that which was defign'd by the Oracle of Jupiter Dedonaus, mention'd by Paulanias, who affures us that the Athenieus obey'd the Oracle, and granted their Lives to all those who fled for Refuge into the Areopague to the Altars of the Goddesses.

The fame Paulanias tells us, that the Phlia-Gans very much rever'd a Temple of the Goddess Hebe, to which this Privilege was granted, that all Criminals should find there the Pardon of their Crimes, without any Exception whatfoever; and that they faiten'd their Chains to Trees which were before the Temple. This Author elfewhere mentions a Temple of Minerus in Peloponnelus, where Criminals were fo ftrongly protected, that none durft fo much as demand them back again: But this Historian has also given us what is more remarkable concerning the Antiquiof Sanctuaries, or Places of Refuge : For he favs, that because Neoptolemus the Son of Achilles had put Prismus to Death, although he retir'd near the Altar of Jupiter Herciense, yet he was kill'd near the Altar of Apallo of Delphos; from whence it is called the Punishment of Neoptolemus, when one fuffers the same Mischief which he had done to another. Thus the Afila of Altars and of Temples was ancient in his time. About the rime of Solemon, and of the Foundation of the Temple of Terulalem: there is an Afrium mentioned in the Book of Kings.

But the Alylum of the Altar among the Ifradites is far more ancient than that of the Temple of Solemon, and the time of Homer or the Trojan War, for it is mentioned in Exodie, as a thing establish'd in Moles's Days,

The Alylum of the Temple of Diana at Ephelus, was one of the most Famous, Strabe rells us, that feveral Princes allowed it fometimes a larger, and sometimes a less extent beyond the Temple itfelf.

There were whole Cities of Refuge among the Hraclites, which were counted Alylum's ; allo the League of the People of Smyrna. with King Seleneus flews us, that that King granted the Privilege of being an African to the whole City of Smorna.

The whole Island of Samothrace likewise enjoyed the fame Privilege according to Titus Livius.

Herodotus affures us, that from the Trojan War there was a Temple of Hercules in Azypt. whither Bond flaves fled, and after they had received the Marks or Badges of that God, to whom they had devoted themselves, they could never be retaken by their Mafters.

Statius has made a curious Description of ded by the Posterity of Hercules, who were particularly careful of that Protection.

Sic facraffe leco commune animantibus arris Confueium. &c.

There are some Authors, that attribute Afyla's to Cadmus, who invented that Expedient to People his new City of Thebes, which Romulus imitated, when he built Rome, for he left a place cover'd with Wood on purpose, between the Capitol and the Tarpeia: Rock, which he promifed to make a fafe Afrlum to all Persons that fled thither, whether Slaves, or Freemen, as Ovid tells us in his 3d. Book of his Fasti.

Romulus ut faxo lucum circumdedit Alto Cuilibet huc dixit, confuge tutus eris, V. 421.

" This Afylum at Rome remained facred, and " was not violated till the Reign of Augustus, " and Tyberius, who feeing its abuses, abo-"lished it. For the Liberty of Afylum's, as " Tacitus reports, Lib. 3. of his Annals, was " come to to great an height, that at Rome. and in the Cities of Greece all the Temples " were full of Debtors, Fugitives, and Cri-" minals, fo that the Magistrates could not regulate them, nor stop the Fury of the " People, who defended these Superstitions, " as the most facred Mysteries. Upon which " account it was refoived that the Provinces "thould fend their Deputies to the Se-"The Ephelians came first in, and represen" ted. that spollo and Diana were not Born in "the Isle of Delos, as the ignorant People be-" lieved, but that they had in their Country " a River, and facred Forest, where Latena be-" ing big with these Deities, was happily deli-" ver'd; that Apollo had fled into that place to " avoid the Anger of Suprece after he had con-" quer'd the Cyclops, and that Bacchus having " vanquished the Amazens did pardonall thole "who had escaped to the Altar. That Her-"cules being Maffer of Lysia did enlarge the "Immunities, and Privileges of the Tem-" ple. Then the Magnefish were heard, who pleaded that So pio after the Defeat of in. "tiochus, and Sylls after the Victory over " Mithridates, had rewarded their Fidelity " and Courage with an inviolable African, " in the Temple of Diana Leucophryna. The " People of Aphrodifium and Stratonice, alledged their Privileges granted them by Ce-" far, and confirmed by signification the Ser-"vice they did their Party, and were pub-" lickly commended for continuing con-"flant in their Alliance during the Par-" thian Invalion. The Deputies of Hierocafa-"rea derived their Afylum's higher, and faid, " that their Temp'e confecrated to the Perthe African, and Alter of Clemency, foun- I'll fian Diana was built by Cyrus, and konon-

" Inhabitants of Cyprus maintained the Glory " of the Goodels of Paphos, and Amathufia, " of whom they had two Temples in their "Island, they defended also the Privilege of " that of Tupicer of Salamis built by Teucer, when " flying from the Anger of his Father Tila-"mon, he took Sanctuary in their Coun-

"The Senate fays Tacitus retrenched this "Privilege, and ordered that these Decrees "fhould be graven up in Brazen Tables, and " put in their Temples to preferve the Me-"mory of this Regulation, and to prevent " any Attempts for the Future, contrary to "the Determinations of the Senate under a " pretence of Religion.

Afterward it was discovered, adds Taci-" tur, which was concealed with much Grief, "for the more Vitious tock the Liberty to " reproach the Virtuous, and to ftir up envy "against them, by embracing the Statue of the Prince. The Magistrates themselves "upon this account were afraid to offend "their Slaves and Freemen, which ob-" liged Seffius to declare in a full Senate, that "Princes were like the Gods, but the Gods "would not hear wicked Mens Prayers. "nor allow a retreat into their Temples to "the Feet of their Altars, or to the Capitol, " for Criminals to abuse them.

These Declarations were the cause that thefe words were fet and engraven upon many Statues, a fervo tanzi ne fas eff. as I have feen theie words written upon a Statue of Mars. Mavorsio (acrum hoc fignum; à serve sangi ne fas eft.

At last Allum's would protect on'y those who were quilty of fmall Faults, for notorious Offenders were taken by force from the A tars and Statues of the Gods, and often burnt, as Plautus teaches us in his Comedy, entitled R U D E N S. where he makes Latrax speak thus to the Old Demons.

L. A. Mihi mon licent meas Ancillas Veneris dè ar à abd icere ?

D.A. Non licet, ita eft Lex apud nor. L A. Imo bafce ambas bic in arâ ut vivas comburam, &c. Ast. 3. Sc. 4.

ATALANTA, the Daughter of Schaneus, King of the Isle of Seyrus, who being of an extraordinary Beauty, attracted feveral Lovers to her, whom after the had overcome in a Race she put to Death, for as she excelled all in her time for fwiftness, so she resolwed to marry none but him, that should excel her in running. Hippomenes the Son of Marr entred the Lifts with her and gained the

"red by Perpenna Hauricus, and feveral other i Victory, by casting three Golden Apples. Captains, who had enlarged the Privilege | which Vinus had given him out of the Garden " of it two Miles round on every fide. The of the Hefperides in her way, for the Stopping to take them up, her Eyes were dazled with their shining, and he overcame her by this Stratagem, and enjoyed his Love, but lying with her in the Temple of Cybele, the Goddels was angry at the action, and metamorphofed them, the one into a Lion, and the other into a Lioness.

ATE, a Prophetels or Goddels, according to Flutarch, In his Banquet of the leven wile Men, whom Jupiter cast down headlong from Heaven to Earth at the Birth of Hercules. wherein June deceived him. Homer makes Are the Daughter of Jupiter, who was fent to Men to be the Source of all Evils, in the Company of the Lite the Daughters of Japiter, who comfort them, but because they are very old, lame, and blind, they come often very late.

Homer also makes mention of Ate, whom he affirms to be a Goddess formidable to Men. Gods. and even to Jupiter himfelf, although fhe is his Daughter. And after he has related the Surprize that June put Jupiter in, when the cauled Euryfibeus to be born before Hertules, which gave him Power over Hercules, he fays, that Jupiter being angry with Ate cast her down headlong from Heaven to Earth, fwearing that the should never return thither again. So that Ate concerns her felf wholly with humane Affairs. Illico corripuit Aten, & jurawit firmum juramentum, nunquam in Olympum, de Calum fellatum redituram Aten, que omnes infortunio afficit, a mirrus da rot, fic fatus eficit & Calo ficliato, manu retant fulgur, mex autem pervenit ad opera bominum. It is evident, that the name of this Goddess comes from a rules, macco. who if Homer makes the Daughter of Juniter, 'tis because no Evil happens to us but by the permission of Providence; that if this Goddess was heretofore in Heaven, and was banished out of it, 'twas because the Division among the Angels was but once made, when they became Evil of Good, as they were created, and by their own Sin separated themfelves from the Company of Bleffed Spirits. The Banishment of Ate to the Earth signifies nothing elfe but the terrible Effects of divine Juitice, which thews itself only upon the Earth, because that's the only Theatre of In-

. ATELLANÆ COMOEDIÆ. Atellan Comedies, or Farces, which were acted at the end of Comedies to divert the People. The Original of these Farces was talled. a City of Apulia in Campania, between Capua and Naples, whose Inhabitants were very Satyrical, and full of filthy, and obscene words.

These Farces were acted by the Youth in) certus under the Name of Palemm or Por-Mafouerade, as Feffus observes, and Titus Livisu adds, that the Atellans would not fuffer any to act their Farces that were Stageplayers or Comedians, for they were not removed from their Tribe as infamous, nor prohibited from going to War, as other Comedians were. Terris Species eft Sabularum latinarum, qua à civitate Ofcorum At-Ila, in qua primum capta Atellana dicta funt. Diomedes the Grammarian, Quad genus Indorum ab Ofcis acceptum tenuit juventus, nec'ab histrionibus pollei paffa ett ; edinftitutum manet ut affores Atellanarum, nec tribu moventur, & fipendia, tanquam expertes artis ludiera, faciant.

ATELLANI VERSUS, Verfes, of which these forts of Farces were compoled, which were very free, and a little lascivious.

ATHAMAS, King of Thebes, and Son of Æslur. He married Mobele, by whom he had two Children, Phryxus and Helle, Nephele heing rurned mad by Bacchus, Athamas divorced her, and married 7h. milto the Daughter of Hypfeus, by whom he had Sphincins, and Orchamenus, but being also divorced from her, he married In the Daughter of Cadmus, by whom he had Learchus and Melicartus. Themisto being very angry to fee her felf fo funplanted refolved to put Iue's Children to Death, and hiding her felf in a Place of the Palace the flew her own Children instead of her Rivals, being deceived by the Cloaths which the Nurse had put on them. This cruel Mistake made her flay her felf : Ino being thus rid of Themifte's Children, contrived to take off Nepheler's Children, whom she hated, and to that end procured a Famine in her Country, being advised to parch the Corn, and not fow it, which caufed a Famine and a Plague. Athamas fent to confult the Oracle at Delphos. how he might be delivered from thele Evils, but his Messengers being bribed by Ine, told him that the Orac'e had ordered that he should facrifice his Son Phryxus, who offered himfelf voluntarily to Death, notwithstanding Athemas was against it. But as they went to facrifice him, the Accomplices discovered to Athamas the Malice of Ino, who immediately delivered her, and her Son Meli- 1 certus to Phryxus to be revenged on her, but as he was going to put them to Death, Bacchus whom she had nursed delivered them, by covering them with a Cloud. Athamas was punished with Madness by Supiter, and flew his Son Learchus, whom he took for a Lyons Whelp, In effaped with her Son Melicertus, and cast her self headlong into the Sea, where Neptune Deifyed them; In under the name of Leacethea, or the Mother Mutata, and Meli-

ATHEN Æ A. Feasts at Athene dedicated to the Honour of Minerus, of which fome were kept every Year, and others every Five Years, according to the Institution of Eri-Ethonius, King of Athens, as Paufanias fays.

ATHEN EUM, a Place at Athens confecrated to Minerva, where the Greek Poets went to make an Offering of their Works, as the Latins confecrated them in the Tenple of Apollo. This Place was like a publick School, where they taught the Liberal

ATHENÆ, Athens, the most famous City of Greece, lituated in that part of Achaia. which lies upon the Coast, from whence it was called Acte and after Attice. The first Founder of it was Cecreps in the time of Males. from whence it was called Cecropia or Ionia. from Ion the Son of Xuibus, and afterwards Athens from Minerus, for ASign in Greek fignifies Minerva. This City was famous for Learning, and Eloquence, and the Defence of all Greece, lays Lucian in his Praife of Demofibence, "I might, adds he, freak of the Gods, to " whom it owes its beginning, their Amours, " Dearces, Dwellings, Presence and Mysteries. I might (peak of its Laws, Decrees, Affemblies, Colonies, Victories and Trophies, which are fo great and many, as well by Sea, as by Land, that he must be " more eloquent than D moffhenes, which can " fufficiently describe them. It was governed by Kings, for the Space of 460 Years, of whom the first was Geerens. but their Power degenerating into Tyranny, the People shook of the Regal Yoke, which ended in Codrus. They were governed for a long time after, by 500 Magistrates, named PRYTANES, who ruled by turns, so at a time, and after by Nine Magistrates, of whom the Chief was called ARCHON. This Government did not continue above 460 Years, and their Commonwealth or fomewhat like it being often interrupted by Tyrants, who affumed an absolute Authority. This City anciently fo great is now reduced to a small Castle, and a few Fishermens Huts, but the Ruins of it gives us a sufficient Proof of its Antiquity.

Varre gives this Account of the Original of the word Athens, "An Olive Tree, fays "he, growing up out of the Earth on a fud-"den in a certain Place, and a Spring of "Water rifing in another, these Prodigies " aftonished the King, who fent to Apollo at " Delphor to know the Signification of them, " and what he should do. The Oracle an-" fwered that the Olive Tree fignifyed Mi-

"nervs, and the Water Nepsune, and it be..." gin, where they fet her Image of Gold and in the integer to them to fee from which of those "vory made by the Hands of Phadias, 39 two Golds they would name their City." "Foot high, who engraved on her Shield

" Hereupon Cecrops affembled all his Citi-" zens, as well Menas Women (for the Women at that time had a Voice in their Councils.)When then they came to vote,all "the Men were for Neptune, and all the Wo-" men for Minerva, and because there was one " Woman more, Minerus carried it, and the "City was named A: bens, which is taken " from that of Minerus, whom the Greeks call "A Snyd. N.prune being incensed at it depo-"pulated the Country of the Achinians with " his Waves, and to appeale him says the same " Author, the Women suffered 3 sore Punishments. First, that from that time they " should never have a Voice in their Coun-" cils, the 2d that none of their Children " fhould bear their Name, and laftly, that "they should not be called Athenians but " Articks.

"Thre gives us also an historical and not if fabruleus Reason of the Name of Lebrus," and tells us that there happened fo great a Difference between Neptume and Minerus about it, that Spells durft not be an Arbitenton between them, but left the Decision of eff to OMen, as Spelier did that of the three Goddesses to Para, and adds, that Minerus carried to by the number of Votes.

AT ILENIENSES, the Libraians, a

ATHENIE NIE NSES, the zibminu, a People of zinta, white chief City was Ahem, very civilized and polited by Learning, and being brought up in the Poverty of Philofophy, were fuch Enemies to Luxury, that they reformed even Strangers who came among them, fo far were they from fuffering themselves to be corrupted by them.

They particularly honoured the Goddefs Mineroa, to whom they built a Temple, where certain Virgins kept Celeftial Fire near the Image of the Goddefs, and their Money, as also their Banners bore her Image. They also gave a special Worlfn to Gress, appointing a Feast to her, during which time the Worr on were not allowed to marry, and abstain d from eating, Jying upon the Ground Nine whole Days. They put Malefaltors to Death, by making them drink the juice of Himlock.

We read in the Difcourse of Phildsteam,
"Of the Nativity of Memerus. That the Rhadian wanting fire for the Sacrifices, the Goddifferent the Sacrifices, the Goddifferent the Sacrifices, the Goddifferent the Sacrifices, the Goddifferent the Sacrifices are the National Albert, to which the gave her Name. The 'Inhabiteans' having a fine and polified Mind gave her a particular Worflip, building her a Temple in their Castle, under the 'name of Particular, which signifies a V.r.
'name of Particular, which signifies a V.r.

"gin, where they fee her Image of Gold and "Ivory made by the Hands of Phidias, 39
"Foot high, who engraved on her Shield, or Buckler, the Battel of the Amazans, with the Ahmann, as allo that of the Giants with the Gods, and upon her Slippers the Fight between the Centaurs and Lapttha.

The Athenians, fays Elian, wore Purple Garments, having their Hairs tyed with Ribbons of Gold and Silver, adorned with golden Grashoppers.

The children in the beginning of his History, calls the Ahmian, many peopse that is to fay, Warers of Grafbappers, and the reason he gives for it is this. He says 'twas to diffusion the same thing. The says Lucian tells us the Lime thing. The says to say, that the Grafhappers which the Ahmians wore, were to show, that they were great Speakers, and very projut in their Discourse.

ATHLETE, Wriftlers, or Combatants, courageous and firong Men, who addicted themselves to bodily Exercises, as running, fighting and others of like Natures, among the Greeks, and Romans, and for whom the Ancients apoly Remans, and for whom the

These diblet were in great esteem among the Greaks but were infamous at Rome, for some time Ulpian the Lawyer freed them from the Marks of Infamy. This is the way, by which they were matched in the Plays of the Cirque. " They " took an Earthen Pot, into which they put " certain Balls about the bigness of a Bean, on " which was fet an A,or a B,or some other Let-"ter, and always two Letters alike. Then, " the Champions come forth one after another. " and made their Prayer to Jupiter, before "they drew, and then put their Hands into " the l'ot, but the Herald of the Plays ftretch-" ing out of his Rod hindered them from read-" ing their Tickets till they were all drawn, " Prefently one of the Judges, or some other " Person took every ones Ball, and joined " them together who had the fame Letters ; "If the Number of the Athlete were odd, he " that had the fingle Letter was to fight with " the Conqueror, which was no small Advan-" tage, because he came fresh to the Com-"bate with him who was weary. Their Food was Barly Bread, which was the Reason they were called Herdeavil, i. e. Barly-eaters, and alfo another fort of Bread, called Colipbia, of xi-Aa, Membra, and iqua, Robufta, because it irade their Bodies ffrong and robuft. Some fedthem with foft Cheefe, and Dromeus was the first who fed them with Meat according to the Testimony of Paufanias in his Eliaca, who gives us the History of Four famous Athlete.

of extraordinary Strength, of whom the first was POLYDAM A Sthe Theffalian, who in his Youth encountred and flew a Lion of a vast Bigness, which harboured in Mount Olympus, and infested the whole Country round about. Another time he took a fierce Bull by the hinder part, and pulled off both his Feet, and with one hand he stopped a Chariot in its full Course. The 2d was Mile of Grotona, who knocked down a Bull with a Blow of his Fift, after he had carried him a long way upon his Back. The third was THEAGENES the Thalian, who took a Brazen Image off its pedeftal, and carried it a great way. The 4th. was EUTH I-M U S a Native of Locris in Italy, who fought against an evil Spirit, which very much diflurbed the Inhabitants of Themelia, and conquered him, infomuch that he married the Damofel, who was carrying to be facrificed to it. and freed the Country from that mischievons Damon.

A THO S. Mount Ather, fituate between Micedenia and Thrace. Xerxic cut away through ir to make a Paffage for his Army, when he went into Greece. Lucian relates that the Architect Dimerater, when ne went into Greece. I wait in telates that the Architect Microarder, offered him to cut Mount Atles into the Shape of a Man, who should hold in his left Hand a great City, and in his right Hand a Cistern which should receive the Waters of all the Rivers which fell from that Mountain, and to convey them into the Sea.

Alexander commended his curious Defign, but did not allow of the Place, because there were no Fields about the City to furnish the Inhabitants with Corn for their Substitute.

ATIS, a Young Man of Playzia, of extraordinary Beauty, who was padinonately loved by Cylele the Monher of the Gods. The Poets make her run in a Eury to Mount Ma, being transported with Love, and fearching the Forests and Kocks for him, riding in a Chariot drawn by Lions, and followed by the Copylanter, who make the Mountain refound the Cries, and Revellings; the made him Overfeer of her Sacrifices upon condition that he should preferve his Virginity, but having violated at, Cyleleto punish him for it, made him for mad that he wounded and would have flain himself, if that Goddes had not changed him into a Pinetree.

There is a Temple in Spria, faith Lucian, dedicated to Rhea, or Chile, by Ain, who deficted the Men her Myferies, for all that the Lydians, Phrygians, and Samothracians knew of them, came from him who was abdian. After Rhea had made him an Eunuch.

he lived like a Woman, and assumed that Hibbit and in this Garb he went over the World, and divulged her Ceremonies, and Mysteries. When he came into Syria, and faw that the Temple on this side of Euphratic would not entertain him, he stayed there, and built a Europle to the Goddess, as is to be observed from many things for her Stattue strain upon a Charior drawn by Lions, she hidding a Drum in her Hand, being adorted with Towers, a state Lysiam paint her.

By the Fable of Air the Favourite of Cakit, who was afterwards made an Ennuch died, and was railed again. Julius Fanician muleiflands Corn, and the other Fruits of the Earth, which are cut with an Hook, or Sickle, die in the Granary, and rife again by the Seed which is fown in the Earth.

ATIS. or CAPETUS SYLVI-US, or ÆGYPTUS. Dionyflur named him, Copeus; Eulebius, and Livy call him only Atis, and Caffindorist terms him, Ægyptus, a King of the Latins, over whom he reigned 30 Years.

ATLAS, King of Mauritania, who becaufe he was much addicted to Aftronomical Observations, gave occasion to the Fables, which will have Atlas hold up the Heaven, and that Hercules took his Place for a Day to eafe him, because Aclas being the first, who taught the Course of the Sun and Moon. the fetting and riling of the Stars, and all the Motion of the Heavens, which he had difcover'd with much Ingenuity and Labour. The Painters and Carvers in Memory of it have represented him as holding up the Heavens upon his Shoulders. Ovid tells us, that Allas was changed into a Mountain by Perfew, at his Return from his Expedition against the Gorgens, for refusing to entertain him, but Hyginus fays, that Atlas having fided with the Giants in the War against Jupiter, when he had overcome them, the God confrained Atlas for favouring them to bear the Heavens upon his Shoulders.

Indeed there were 3 Mia's, the 1st. King of haly the Father of Elitirs the Wife of Coytus. The 3d was of Aradia, the Father of Maia, of whom Mercary was born. The 3d. of Mauritania, Brother of Primethaus, of whom we have already jooken.

Hirodotu knew no other Atla, but a Mountain in Africa, which feemed to touch the Heavens by its heighth, fo that the neighbouring People called it the Pillar of Heaven, and derived their Name from it. But Diadonu Situlus tell us, that in the furthermost Parts of Africk, Hifperu, and Atlas wo Brothers had Flocks of Sheep with red Wooll, from whom the Poets took occasion to make

theie

thefe red Sheep to pais for golden Apples, because the Greek Word wind signifies Sheep and Apples, Helperides gave his Daughter Helperis in Marriage to Atlas, who had 7 Daughters by her, who were called Hefperides or Atlantiades, who Busiris King of Egypt fole, but Hercules travelling through Africk conquered Bufris, recovered Atlas's Daughters, and reftored them to their Pather. Atlas to require this Favour taught Hercules Aftrology, in which he grew famous, and gave him a Celeftial Globe. Hereales carried this Science and Knowledge into Greier, and the Greeks feigned that Atlas fupported the Heavens, and was released from it by Herceles.

ATLANTIDES, the Daughters of Atlas, whom the Greeks call'd Plesades, and the Larines, Vergicia, were plac'd among the Stars. They thew the convenient time for putting to Sea, and are a fign of the Spring.

ATREUS, the Son of Pelops, King of Mycone and Argot. He made his Brother Toyelles ear two of his Children at a Feaft, viz. Tantalus and Pliffments, to be avenged of him. Toyefter made an escape fearing the Cruelty of his Brother Aircus. The Poets tell us, that the Sun abhorring fo great a Wickednets, hid himseif, and retreated back into the Egyftheus, the natural Son of Thyeftes revenged the Death of his Brother u pon Atreus, whom he flew with his Son Agamenmon, at his Return from the Siege of Troy, by a correspondence with Chremnefire his Wife.

ATRIUM, is generally taken for all the inward parts of the House. Virgil uses this Word in the fame Signification as Vitruwith when he writes.

Porticibus longis figit, & vacua atria lustrat. Aneid. lib. 12. v. 528.

Apparet Domus nitus, & atria longa patefount.

Ibid. V. 48 1. For 'tis easy to see, that Virgil in that Place understands by Atria, all that can be feen within the House, through the Gare when it is open, as the Courts and Porches. Firmuins suplies to all the kinds of Arriums two Ranks of Pillars, which make two Wings, that is to fav, three Walks, one large One in the n.iddle, and two narrow Ones on each

ATROPOS, one of the three Destinies, which cut the Thread of Mans Life. See PARCAS.

ATTALUS, King of Pergamus, who ar his Death made the People of Rome Heirs of his Kingdom, and of all his Wealth by Will, which raifed a great Diffurbance at | to come ab avibus from the Birds of Prey of Rome, and caused a war in Asia, for Tiberia Gracchin Tribune of the People, demanded that the Goods of Arrain might be diffribe. ted among the People. The Senate opposed this Demand, and ordered the Conful to put Gracehus to Death, which he refused to execute. but Scipie Naffica Chief Prieft of Jupiter, throwing his Garment upon his Head, faid, they ther love the Good and Preservation of the Common-wealth, let them follow me, and going immediatly up to the Capitol, he was followed by the Senators, who flew Gracehus and all his Parties in their Seats in the Capitol. Ariflonicus, who affirmed himfelf to be the Son of Accalus, and in that Quality thought to enjoy the Eltare, which the Renams claimed as Legatees of the King, was an occasion of a 2d war in Alia.

ATTELLANÆ, See ATELLA.

ATTILIUS REGULUS, a Reman Conful, who won many Victories against the Carthaginians. He flew with a Stone toft out of a Balifla, a Scipent of a very great bigness and fent the Skin to Rome, which was 26 Foot long. The Carthaginians fent an' Embaffy to Sparta to defire a General, who ient them Xanthippus, who defeated the Reman Army, and took Regulus Pritoner. But after they had loft a Sea Fight, and fuffered feveral other misfortunes, they lent their Embaffadours to Rome, with Regulus their Prifoner, to detire a Peace, but he disswaded them from it. This generous Reman would return to Carthage to keep his word : the Carthaginians being angry with him, because he had not obtained a Peace for them, put him to death by a new kind of Punithment. They drove an Hogshead full of great Nails. and having put him into it, rowled him about to long, till he died with the repeated Blows.

These was one Marcus ATTILIUS. a Duum-vir, whose Office it was to keep the Books of the Sibyls, whom Tarquinius canfed to be thrown into the Sea, fow'd up in a Leathern Bag, because he had permitted Petronius Sabinius to copy out thefe Books, and this manner of Punishment was afterward infli-Eted on Parrieides. Et juftiffime quidem, quia pari windicata parentum, ac Deorum Violatio, expianda eft. It being just that an Offence against Parents should be punished after the same manner as an Offence against the Gods. ATYS, fee ATIS.

A VENTINUS, Mount Aventine, at Rome, which was 13300 Foot in Compais. Authors give us feveral Originals of the Word. Nevint will have the Name Aventine Tiber, and the adjoining Marshes, who roofted there at Night. Virgil feems to cenfirm this Opinion speaking of it. Dirarum n' dis domus Opportuna volucris.

Æneid. Lib. VIII. v. 233.

Tieus Livim maintains that this Mountain was cailed Aventine from AVENTI-NUS, King of Albany who was buried there. Others think 'twas called Aventine, ab adventu, from the great concourse of People, who came thither to facrifice to Diana, who had a Temple built there. This Mountain had feveral other Names according to Effar, it was called MURCIUS, or MURCUS. labies Pictor calls it alio REMURIUS. from Remus, to whom Remulus confecrated it after his Death, not permitting any Persons to dwell upon it, because the Auguries were not favourable to his Brother. It was also called the Hill of Diana, because of her Temple that flood upon it. Ancus enclosed it with Walls and gave it to the Latins for their Habitation, but it was not reckoned within the Precincts of Rome, till the time of the Emperor Claudius, about 800 Years from the Foundation of it, contrary to the Judgment of the Diviners, who held that Place as unfortunate, because of that which happened to Remus, who was buried there, and because of the Birds of Prev that lodged there

Temp'e of Diana, those of Bma Dia, Victorious Hercules, Queen June, Luna, Victoria, Libert ar, and an Altar to Japiter Elicius,

AVERNUS, the Lake Avernus in Camania near Baie and Puroli. This Lake fent forth such ill Vapours, that a Bird could not fly over it but it died, Fabulous Antiquiry harh dedicated this Lake to Plute, and believed that it was the Entrance into AVERRUNCUS DEUS, the God which averes Whisfortunes, and evil Acciduts. The God to whom the Remans prayed to avert, and remove any Evils that threatned them. Apollo and Hercules were of the Number of these Gods among the Greeks, as Caffer and Pollux among the Roman and they were from hence called impression, that is to fay who turned away Evil.

AVES, Bird, which the Sooth-fayers confulted in all Undertakings of the Common-wealth, observing their Chirping, Flying, and the manner of their feeding, and from hence they foretold, the good, or ill success of their Attempts. There were some Birds of a good and happy Omen, and others which they called Ofaner from whose thirping they prefaged, and others called, Prapetes, whose flight they observed. An Eagle flying on the right Hand was an happy Omen, on the contrary, if a Vulture happen to overturn an Eagles Neft, and tread upon the Eaglets, this fignifies Trouble and Ditgrace, as it happened to Tarquinius Superbus. and to Dionyfius of Syracuse, who lost his Kingdom after an Eagle had taken a Javelin by Force out of the Hands of one of his Souldiers and cast it into the Water. But I shall speak of this more at large under the word AUGUR.

AUFEIA, a Fountain, whose Waters were excellent to drink. It has its Rife in the Mountains of Atruzzo, and runs up to Rome, after is has passed through the Country of the Marfi. And the Lakes Celamus, Ancus Martins brought it to Rome, and for that reafon 'tis called after his Name, Aqua Martia.

AUGEAS, or AUGIAS, King of Elis, rich in great Cartel, having Stables, in which he kept continually 3000 Oxen, infomuch, that the Dung and Filth which was heap'd together for leveral Years, filled the Air with Infection. Angens agreed with Hercules to cleanse his Stables, allowing him the tenth part of his Flocks. Hercules performed it by the means of the River Alpkous, by turning an Arm of it, and making it run rhrough the Stable, it carried away all Upon this Mountain fland, befides the the Dung. This made the Stable of Augeas to become a Proverb, to describe an infamous Man full of all forrs of Vices, as Lucian has done in bu fa'fe Prophet. " According to the " Example of Hercules I will labour to cleanse "the Stable of August, and I will shew you " fome Filthiness, by which you may guels "how great a Quantity of Dung there was " which 3000 Oxen had raifed in the space of " several Years, but I fear we shall be both "ashamed, I for discovering so many Villa-" nies, and you for inviting me to it.

Aggins not making a graceful Acknowledgment of the Service that Herenles had done him, and refusing to make good his Word, Hercules flew him.

AUGILES, a People of Cyrene in Africa, who worshipped no other Gods, but dead Mens Ghoffs, whom they invoked in all their Affairs, and in all their Undertakings, and by whom they fwore fitting upon their Sepulchers.

A UGUR, a South-Sayer, which comes ab avium garritu, the Chirping of Birds. Nevertheless this word is of a more large Signification, being taken for all those, that foretel things to come by the Heavens, or the effects of Nature.

This Art is very ancient, for it is forbidden by Mifes in Leviticus, Chap 17 and in among the Chaldeans, who made it a particular Profession, the Greeks learned it of them, and afterwards the Tulcans became very expert

The Romans valued it to highly, and thought fo well of this Science, that by a Decree of the Senate it was expresly ordered, that the advice of the Augurs should be exactly followed, without the least deviation from it, as we learn from Cicero in his 2d. Book de Legibus AUGURI PARENTO, Ronnelus d'd not begin to build Rome, till after he had confulted the Augurs, and the other Kings fo lowed his Example in this, having for that end fent for the most skufu-Augurs of Hetruria, to inftruct the young Romin Nobility in that Science, for they did not think it fit to make the Art common, least it should become contemptible, and mere mary, as Cicero tells us, Ne ars tanta propter tomicatem bonduem à Religionis Autoritate abdurentur od varvedem, arque quastum. Remulus made a College of a Argurs only taken out of the 3 Tribes, into which he divided the Pe p'e of Rome at first. Servius Tullus added a at . They were all of the Linage of the Nobility, to the Year 454, when under the Confulfhip of Q. Apolious, and M. Valerius Corwars, the Tribunes of the People demanded that the Commonalty should be raised to the Dignity of the Augurs, which was granted after fome Contest, and five of the Peop'e were advanc'd to that Office, and fo the College of Are are was made up of nine Persons till time of Stille, who increased the number to according to Florus, and Titus Livius, and a cording to others to 24. They were govergid by a Perfen who was called Magifter Collee Auguram. Belides the publick Augurs the Figurerors had fome peculiar to themselves. wich had their dwelling in their Pa-

The August were at first chosen by the Peon'e divided into Curie or Pariflies, yet we first that when any one of them died, two of the most ancient chose one of those who fludied the Science of Augury, and prefented him to the whole College, who received him after lixamination, and confulted an Augury upon that account to know the Will of the God 5.

Nivertheless we have an Example in Titus Let as of an Augur chosen by the People, but for a fav it happened only because there was a Contest among the Augurs about the Ele-Stion, for 'tis evident, that the College had Right to choose till the Year 651, when Mirise being Conful the third time, and Lucius Aurelier Oreffes, Cy. Domitius Anebarbus, Tri-Lune of the People being angry with the Au-

" Deut. Chap. 18. It was in very great esteem [gwes, because they did not choose him to that Dignity, caused a Law to be made called Demitia, which gave the right of choofing the Augurs, Chief-Priests, and other Priests to the people of Rome assembled by their Tribes, that he might make the greeter Confusion, and fatistie his own Pattion the more, as Cicero speaks in his ad. Book of the Agrarian Law.

This was easy for him to do in the Confulthip of Marius, who owed his Dignity and Fortune to the Tribunes of the People. Sometime after Sylla repealed the Domitian Law. and reffered to the Augures the Right of Ele-Ction, but Titue Atticus Labienus Tribune of the Peoples under the Confulfhip of Cicen and Antonius, repealed this last Law, and reflored the Domitian, which he effected by the Solicitations of Julius Cafar, who thought that if he restored to the People who loved him, the Liberty of choofing Chief-Priefts and Augurs, he should himself be infallibly chosen Chief-Priest, which accordingly happened after the Death of Merellas Pius, when Cafar was dead, Antonius being Conful, he abrogated the Domitian Law a fecond time, and received Sylla's, that he might have M. Almia ius Lepidus cholen Chief Priett, whose Son he had married to his Daughter.

The Face of Affairs foon changed again, and the Domitian Law was reflored by a Decree of the Senate, which nulted all the Acts of Antonius made on that account, in the Confid. thip of C. Vitius Panfa, and Aulus Hirtius, but Augustus having put an end to the Civil Wars. abouthed the Domittan Law for ever, and refiored the ancient Privileges to the Auren and other Priefls, till at laft the Emperon affuming an absolute Authority, took to themselves the right of making Chief-Prieft and Augurs, which continued till the Empefor Triesdofius as is evident in Pliny Junior, who requelted of Trajan that he would pleafe to honour him with the Dignity of one of the? Epulous, which were a fort of Priefts, of whom we shall speak in their proper Place.

The Person who was chosen to be an Argur, ought to be of a blameless Life, and fair Reputation, as well as without any bodily Defect. The Ordination of an Augur wis not to be reverfed, and he could not be de prived of the Dignity upon any account Whatfoever. He made a Magnificent Feaflat his Entrance upon the Office, to all the reft of the College called Cana Auguralia

Their Authority and Power fufficiently appears by this Confliction taken out of the Law of the XII Tables, where it is exprelly oregred, that nothing should be undertaket without them, and whatever they approve of condemn shall be approved or condemned. Que Augur injusta, nefasta, vitiofa, dirave dixerit, irrita, infestaque funto, quique non paruerit capitale effo They had Power ro diffoive Affemblies and remove Magistrates, as Livy relates in feveral Places. C nful i Augures vitisfum Dictatorem pronunciarum. The Judgment of one Augur only was not to be depended on, but all the College being met, was to pronounce the Judgment together, upon the matter propounded, as Alexander ab Alexandrofavs. Sed tamen foli Auguri fine Collegio aufpicia interpretari non licuit, totum enim Collegium confere, & fententian ferre decebat. Which was enacted to pievent any Inconvenience that might as ite, by the Ignorance or Malice of a fingle Perion, who might be corrupted.

The Senate might meet in no Place, but what was confecrated by them, and if while ir was affembled, they observed any Sign of ill Luck, they had a Power to difinits it, as alfo to depote any Magistrate, when his Ele-Rion was made contrary to the Solemnity of

There were feveral Sorts of Augurics, and diverse Ceremonies observed in taking of them.

To understand this, we are to know, that the Word AUGUR, taken in a general Signification, comprizeth Divination by the Entrais of Beafts, which they flew; but to take it in its proper and natural Signification, it fignifies only, a Prediction by Birds, of which there are three Sorts, AUGURIUM. AUSPICIUM, and TRIPUDIUM SOLISTIMUM,

When the Auguries favoured any Action. they called them Proform, and the dugues being confulred answered id aver addicum; bur when they opposed it, they termed them adversa, infaulta, & piacularia, and the Augur answered, id aves abdicunt.

If the Auguries presented themselves before the Augurs fought them, they were called Oblativa, but if they appeared not till begged, they were termed imperrita

The Auguries which were taken from certain Appearances in the Air, were the most confiderable, and fo'emn of all others, as not being capable to be reiterated the fame Day. and diffolved Affemblies, if a Magistrate defired to prevent an Affembly of the People, or put it off to another time, he would fet up in the Crofs-ways that he observed the Signs of the Heavens that day, and so 't as wholly put off ; alio die dixerit,

But the Senate perceiving the Abuse, which that Custom had brought in, ordered, that notwithstanding these Notices, an Assembly from fitting.

This Sort of Augury, which they called Augurium de Calo, or, fervare de Calo, was taken from extraordinary and fudden Signs, which they observed in the Heaven.

Now among these Signs there were some called Bruta, or Vana, which foreshewed nothing, others were called Fatidica, which portended Good or Evil, and of these last, some were called Confiliara, which happened when they were deliberating about any Affair, and feemed to advise it others Aufforitativa or Autheritaris, which came after the thing done, and confirmed or approved it.

Lastly, there were others called: Postularia. which obliged to repeat the Sacrifices, and other Monitoria, which admonished what to

All times, and every Day of the Year were not proper to take Augmies. Plutarch tells us, that Metellas the Chief-Priest, forbad to take Auguries after the Month of August. because the Birds flied their Feathers at that time : Or in any Month of the Year immediately after the Ides, because the Moon then began to decrease, or on any Day after Noon.

The Place on which an Augury was taken. was a riting Ground, and for that Reafon Was called, Timplum, Arx, or Auguraculum, according to Fillar, There was a Field fee apart for it a little distance from Rome, called Ager effatns, as Servius upon Virgil observes.

When all things were fitly disposed to take an Augury, and after all Ceremonies were performed, the Augur entred into his Tent or Pavilion, cloathed with his Augural Robe. called Lena or Trabea, holding in his right Hand his Augural Staff called Lituur, crooked at the top much like a Bishops, or Abbots Crofier, where being fer down, he casts his Eyes round him, and divides the Heaven into Four Parts with his Staff, drawing a Line from the East, named Antica, to the Well. named Polica, and another Cross it from South to North, called Dextra and Sinifira.

This Ceremony being performed he facrificed to the Gods, making this Prayer to them, as it is related to us by Livy, at the Election of Nana.

Jupiter Pater, fi eft fas hanc Numam Pompilium cujus ego capu: tenco, Regem Rome effe,ut tus figna nobis certa & clara fint inter cos fines quos feci. This Prayer being made, the Augur returned to his Seat and poked about very attentively to observe from what Part, and in what manner the Sign from Heaven ap-

There was a deep Silence for that time. every one joining his Prayers and Vows fummoned in due form, should not defist to the Prayers and Vows of the Augur. This Mews us the meaning of that Latin Expression, sedere Augurem, which is as much as to say to attend the Augury, or some sign from Heaven to know the Will of the Gods about any undertaking.

When he faw any Lightning appear, or heard any Clap of Thunder from the left Side, that was taken for a favourable Prefage, as Wrgil teaches us.

Audiit & Cali genitor departe ferena. Intenuit Lavum, Æneid. lib. IX. v. 620.

Donatus explaining these Verses assures us, that what they heard from the less stifted came from the right of the Gods. Ruis serificantis Latur lavum, dextrum est ejus, qui possulta largiur.

If there appeared nothing but a Wind, they trock notice from what Quarter it came, supposing that the Winds were the Messengers of the Gods, which discovered their Will to Men, as Statius teaches us, &c.

Bellorum proferre diem

Which is confirmed by Lutiatim, who tells us that the Augur knew future things, by the blowing of the Wind. Solent Augures ventaring faiting future sognoficere.

When the August had received some favourable Prefages, he came down from the Place on which he stood, and declared it to the People in these Words. Id aust additions, the Gods approve it, the contrary is, id aust additions. The Gods disallow it.

They observed, that the Gods confirmed a Presage by some new Sign, as Virgit makes Eneas speak to Anchiles.

Da deinde aunilium Pater, atque hac omnia firma. Æncid. Lib. II. v. 691.

All that we have faid about taking Auguries from the Signs of Heaven, is likewise practified in the Auguries taken from the chirping or flight of Birds. The Augurdistinguishes with his Augural Staff the Regions of the Heaven and Earth, in which compails he intends to take an Augury, having fift made a Prayer to the Gods. This Augury is called Oficinum, and they that take it Of-

The different manner of the flying of Birds, makes them fometimes be called 'simfnee, an ill Omen, fometimes Functive or Arcule, Fatal, and which prohibit any Action; fometimes Povie; which flew a Difficulty in the Execution; fometimes Rumers, which hinder in and fometimes Rumers, which birds for and fometime flatbre, which betoken fome Impediment; and laftly, fometimes Altere, when a fecond Prefage deflroys the first.

The Ancients were fo much addicted to these Superstitions, that they never would undertake any thing without taking a sign from the Birds. In the great Affairs of the Common-wealth, they consulted the Signs of the Heaven, in those of Wars, the chattering, and flight of Birds, and their manner of eating their Mear, and for that end they fed Poultry in Coops, which they called holy Pullen, and which they fetched commonly from the Hand of Embea, and he that had the keeping of these Poultry, was called Pullarius, Saith Citers.

The Conful gave him Notice, who had the Care of this Poultry to get all things ready to take the fign; then he flung Corn to the Poultry, if they ear it greedily, moving fathwith their Feet, and crowding about, this was a favourable Omen, but if on the contrary, they refused to eat or drink, it was, an unfortunat Sign.

This is the Form which they used in taking a Sign. They always confulted fome skilful Persons in those forts of Divinations. " Quinte Fabi, te vole mibi in Auspicio effe, or in Auspicium adhibere, dicito fi filentium effe " videtur. Quintus Fabins, I defire that von " would affift me in taking a Sign ; tell me, " if all the Ceremonies used in the like Case, " have been exactly observed, and if the Sign "be not defective: He answered, Silentum " effe videtur, nothing is wanting. DICITO, " fi pascuntur Aver? qua? aut ubi? Acculit in. caves pulles Pullarius. Tell me, whether "the Birds eat or no? They eat and the " Poultry keeper hath brought the Pullen into. " the Coop.

The Veneration for Anguries, was fo frongly imprinted on the Minds of the Remans, that they looked upon them as Impious Perfons, who contemned or derided them attributing the Misfortness which happened to Claudius Pulcher, to the Anger of the Gods, who feeing that the Poultry would not eat, threw them into the Sea, faying in Raillery, They'ld rink at leaft if they will not eat,

There was a College of 300 Augurs, at AUGUSTUS, Otherine Cofer furnamed Angeflus, by the Senate, an Epithet, which the Romans gave to their Gods, as well as Emperors. He was the Son of Otherine the Prestor, and Actie, great Grand Child of Inlias Cofer who adopted him. Observe what Vernavius says in his Presace to his Six Books of Architecture, which he dedicated to

"When I confider, Sir, that by Vertue of your divine Genius, you are become "Mafter of the whole World, that your in"vincible Valour has vanquifhed all your "Enemies, and glorioufly proteted your "Subjects, for which all Nations pay Hom"age to you, that the People and Senate of

 Ame do build the Assurance of the Peace  which they enjoy, upon the Wisson of your Government only. When I reside tupon is the large Extent of your Mind, whose cares are not consined to the Asirs of State, but has regard to the most minute advantages of the publick, I observe, that you are not content to make the City of  Anne the Mistress of fo many Provinces, as have submitted to her, but you make her admirable for the excellent Structure of her admirable for the excellent Structure of her agreat Buildings, and that you will have doin Magnificence to equal the Majesty of your Empire.

Indeed there never was a Prince, that was more Magnificent in his Buildings, or more Liberal than Augustus, having built many Temples to the Gods, at Rome and elsewhere.

He composed several ingenious Works, which discover his Personal Learning, but they are lost through the Injuries of Time, As his Exhertations to Philosophy. 13 Boos of his Life, the Funeral Crations of Julia his Aunt, Ollawia his Sister, Drusun Marcellus and Agrippa, his Treatises of Government, a Poem on Sicily, the Tragedies of Jax and Achillus, and severalother Greek and Latin Works, which he read, says Suerosius, in the Senate, and before the People.

Being Consul the fixth time, and feeing his Power established by the Defeat of Lepidus and Autonius, which put an end to that cruel Tri-umverate, he abolished the Laws which he had made in his Usurpation, and made others, fays Tacitus, by which the People might live in Peace under his Empire : He died at Nole in the 67th. Year of his Age, and left only one Daughter, and fhe very loofe and wicked. His Will was brought to the Senate by the Vestal Virgins; he made Tiberius and Livia his Heirs, adopting him into the Family of the Cefars, and giving her the Title of Empress. He gave to the People of Rame, 43500000 Sefferces, 2 1000 to every Souldier of his Guards, and goor to them in the Legions. His Body was carried to the Fire upon the Senators Shoulders, and burnt in Mari's Field, which he had appointed for his Burial. He refused the Dignity of Dictater and King, and was content with a more modest Title, the Prince of the Senate. His Funeral being performed, Temples, and Divine Honours were appointed him, not only at Rome, but also almost in all Places with Sacrifices and Priefts.

A Society of 25 Priests was instituted in Imitation of that, which Thus Tatim introduced long before at Rame, to preserve something of the Religion of the Sabern. This Society conflitted of 21 of the chief Men of the City, which were chosen by Lot, and 77berius, Drajus, Claudius and Germanicus were added to them.

One Month in the Roman Calendar, which before was called Seatilit, was named from him, Augustus. He was the first that bore the name of Pater Patrie, according to the Testimony of Pliny, which Title also Ouid gives him.

Sancte Pater Patrie, tibi plebs, tibi Curie.

Hec dedit. Fast. Lib. II. v. 127.

Tiberius his Successor began to build him 2 Temple at Rome, which was finished by Caligula, and repaired by Antoninus Pius, as his Medals shew.

AUGUSTALES, and SODALES AUGUSTALES. Augustines, or a Society of Priefts, instituted in Honour of Augustus, after the Romans in Flattery had ranked him amongst the Number of the Immortal Gods. It was the Emperor Tiberius, who founded this Seciery or College, which he called A U G U-S T A L E S. to offer Sacrifices in the Temple he had built for him, appointing a Revenue for their Subfistence. This was not only done at Rome, but also in the Provinces of the Gauls, and chiefly at the City of Lyon:, where he had a Magnificent Temple built to him at the Expence of Twelve Cities, in which was a Statue for every Province, to to shew to Posterity; that they all had contributed to the adorning of that Temple.

Tis credible, that that Temple flood where now is the Abby of Alfray at that Place, where the Saws and the Rebne join, for there are yet fome Ruins of it, which are Cast Pillars, as is justified by a certain ancient Marble, which is to be seen at Lyons in the Church of St. Peter belonging to the Nuns.

JOVI OP. MAX.
Q. ADICINNIUS URBICI.
F. L. MARTINUS SEQ.
SACERDOS ROMÆ ET AUGUST.
Ad aram ad Confluentes Araris, & Ricedoni FLA MED.

THUS Flattery and Superfittion increasing.

Communities of Priefls were at length inflitured in Honour of the Emperors whom they drifted after their Death, and called them by the general Name of Augustales, or by the Name of the Emperor to whose Service they were consecrated, as FLAVII, ADRIANALES, ÆLIANI, AN TONINI.

Bur that which made thefe Societies more eminent and famous was this that the new Emperors themselves entred among them in Imitation of Tiberius, who entred himfelf into the number of the Priests of Augustus, and caused Drufus Germanicus and Claudius to do the like. N.re also did : he same, and therein was followed by other Emperors.

AUGUSTALIA, Feasts, celebrated O.fob. 12. for the happy Return of Augustus to Rome, after he had lettled Sicily, Greece, Syria, Ajia, and Parthia in Peace, and to that end an Altar was buist with this Title. Fortuna Reduci.

AUGUSTALES, Plays instituted in Honour of Augustus. The publick Plays. fays Tacitus, newly confectated to the Memory of Augustus were interrupted at the first Show by the Emulation of the Actors. This Prince had before shewed, that he was much pleafed with these forts of Diversions in Favour of Macenas, who was passionately in Love with a Mimick, named Batillus.

AURELIUS, Marcut Aurelius, the Roman Emperor, who was adopted by Antoninus. His Medals represent him with a grave and modest Countenance, which the Philotophers affected. He imitated them with their long Beard, and was furnamed the Philosopher, to honour him for the Inclinarion which he had for their Learning and way of living. The title of the Speech of Athenagoras who was fent to this Prince to make an Apology for the Christian Religion. is in thefe Terms. TO THE EMPE-RORS MARCUS AURELIUS ANTONINUS, AND LUCIUS AURELIUS COMMODUS, ARMENIANS, SARMATIANS, AND WHICH IS MORE, PHI-LOSOPHERS. And the beginning of the Life of Marcus Anrelius written by Capitolinus is in th-fe Terms. MARCO ANTONINO IN OMNI VITA PHILOSO-PHANTI VIRO. He also often repeats this Sentence of Place. That thefe States are most flourishing where Philosophers ruled, or where the Rulers fludied Ph. lofophy. He was a meek Prince, a Wife, Prudent, Soher, Liberal, and great Captain. He was fickly through his App'ication to Study.

AURELIA PORTA, the Aurelian Gate, above the Janiculus, to called from one Aur liur, a Person who had been Contul. 'Tis called at prefent, St. Panerace Gate

AURELIANUS, an Hungarian, (fome Affign Dacia or Mysia for his Country) a Man of an obscure Birth. He was raifed to the Throne by the Legions, after he had with Honour, which was the Reason that the Senate and People received him with great Applaufe.

He fubdued the Scythians and Marcomami. after which Victory he exercised great Cruelties at Rome, upon all Sorts of People. Nevertheless he did one Act of Clemency, when he rook the City of Tyana in Cappadocia. "He met with to great Oppositions, that he' "Iwore in his Wrath, he would not leave fo much as a Dog alive. He got into the " City by the Treachery of One of the Inha-" bitants, and when the Souldiers began to "plunder, and put all the Citizens to the "Sword, according to his Resolution he told "them, that he would allow them to kill " a'l the Dogs.

He made War with Zenobia, who kept the Eaftern Enpire after her Husband Odenatur. The Queen knew all the Oriental Languages perfectly, and ipoke the Greek and Latin in their Purity. Trebellius Polito fays, the was the fairest and most valiant of all Women, the made the whole East to tremble, beat the Leiutenants of the Emperor Gallienus, and maintained a flout War against the Romans, in which the Emperor Aurelian conquered: herand carried her Captive to Rome. Several blamed him for this Action, but hewrote a Letter to the Senate and the Peopleof Rome to excuse himself, and in it gives fuch a Commendation of this unfortunate-Princefe, as if the were one of the most formidable Enemies, that the Empire ever had.

After this famous Victory, Aurelian built a Temple for the Sun at Rome, and enriched it with the Spoils of the Palmyrians, and the Images of the Sun and Belus which he brought from Palmyra, as Herodian affures us.

He was flain between Byzantium and Heracles, as he went to the War against the Persians, by the most valiant Men of his Army, who believ'd this a false Slander of his Secretary, named Menefibeus, that he fought their Livesin the 6th, or 7th year of his Reign.

AURIGARII, AURIGÆ, AURIGATORES, Coach-men, who in the publick Plays of the Cirque disputed with the Competitors, with whom they contended in driving the Chariots for the Prizes, which were proposed. They made up certain-Colleges, or Societies, which are diffinguished by Colours, of which we read the 4 Principal in Guters Inscriptions, viz. Ruffatam, the Red, Prainam, the Green, Veneram, the Blew, and Aleatam, the White. The Ancients thought that the 4 Seafons of the Year were represented by them, in which Nature takes a new Habit, or as we now speak, evepaffed through all the Offices of the Army | ry Troop representing one of the Seasons by in colour, the Green, the Spring, the Red. the Summer, the Blew, the Autumn, and the White, the Winter, because it is covered with Snow and Ice.

AUS

AURORA, the Mother of Memnon. The Poets have feigned her to be the Day-break, which gives notice of the rifing of the Sun shove our Hemesphere, as Orpheus speaks, affahteia Ges mravos. She was the Daughter of Hyperion, and Thia, as Hefford tells us in his Theogonia, and according to others of Titan, and the Earth. Some give her the Epithet of Auguadipie G, Torch bearer, because of the Light the imparts to the Earth, as also xau-Brighinels. The Poets represent her drawn in 2 Chariot, having her Fingers dropping with Dew. The Fable is that having one Day at the rifing of the Sun cast her Eye upon Tithonus the Brother of Laomedon, a young Prince of fingular Beauty, she fell in Love with him, and carried him into Ethiopia where the had Memnon by him.

AURUM, Gold, a yellow Metal, the most thining, ducti'e, heavy, and precious of all Metals. It is taken out of the Mines in 3 Forms. 1. Of Grains, of which fome are round, others bood and long. 2. In a kind of Stone. 3. In Duft, or Sand. The most famous Country for finding of Gold is Caribana in Peru, and Pallivia in Chili. Pliny fays, that Gold was bro ght into the indier by flying Aunts; but he wir misinformed.

The Poets have feigned Awam to be the Son of the Sun, as being its best Production, Pin-dar fays, that Gold is a bright bite that things in the Night.

Homer compares it to the Graces, for there is nothing to agreeable and we'come as Gold, which ? A ter himfelf makes use of to gain the Favour f his Miftreffes, as he did ro Dange, by changing himfelf into a shower of Gold.

Gold was very fearce at Rome at firit, but it became more common afterwards. Appian tells us, that m'us Celar brought from the Gauls to Rome 100 Markes of Gold in 2822 Crowns by the Victories which he had gained there, and this Gold was called Aurum Coronarium. The Go'd which the Conful Copie took out of the Temp'e of Jupiter at Thelouse, amounting to 900 o of Go'd, but it proved unlucky to him, being diffeated by the imbri, whence came the Proverb, AURUM THOLOSANUM, to fignifie a fatal Thing, wh h brings Ill-luck.

AUSPICIUM, it was a kind of Augury mongh the Ancients, when they confidered the Fright and Chirping of Birds, to know whither any Undertaking which they were about, would prove Happy, or Unfor gunate. Pliny attributes the Invention of Au-

Spicium to Tirefias the Tinban, who studied the Flight of Birds, ab avium alpettu; and of Augury to Caras, ab avium garritu, from their Chipping, and Chattering. Clemens Alexandrinus will have the Phryzians to be the first who observed the Flight of Birds, which they called, Prapeter, as those were call'd Ofeiner, who observed their Chirping, and manner of Eating.

In this Senie we must understand this Verse of Horace, lib. III. Od. 27.

Oscinem corvum prece suscitabo Solis ab orsu.

The Three most considerable Birds, were the Raven, the Crow, and the Owl, as also the Eagle, Vultur, and Kite.

Romulus instituted Aufpicia at Rome. A USPEX, he that took the Auspicium by the flight of Birds, fee A U G U R.

AUTUMNUS, Autumn, the ad. Seafon of the Year, when they gather the Grapes, and Fruits.

Hand in his Theogonia makes the Seafons the Daughters of jupiter, and Themis, and counts but three, as Orpheus does, in which Poidias follows him, having carved but 3 Statues of these Goddelles. The Egyptians owned by three, Spring, Summer, and Autumn, a owing each 4 Months, and reprefenting them by a Role, an Ear of Coin, and an Apple, of Grape. Nonnus about the end of the E'eventh Book of his Dionyfiacks, reckons 4 Seal as in the Year, as does Philefleatur, Winter, Spring, Summer, Aurumn. The Sections fay he, have Eyes of this Colour of dryea Roles, the Jau hters of the inconflant Year, twift of Foot, and Storm of Wind.

There is at Midon an Autumn of Marble. made by one vr. James a Native of Augustelme. under the Figure of a young Man Crowned with Vine Branches, and Grapes, which he. made at Rome in the Year 1550.

S the 2d. Letter in the Alphabet in all Languages, the Hebrews call it Beth, and the Greeks, Beta, and the Latines, Be, as the English do, and its Pronunciation imitates the Cry, or Bleeting of Sheep.

This Letter is in the number of those Confonants, which we call Mutes, because they. have a Sound more low, and indiffine than

B. and P. have so near a Relation one to a. . nother, that Quintilian tells us, that in obeinuit. Reason Requires, that we write a b, but the Ears can hear nothing but a p optimust. This is the cause that in ancient Interiptions, and old Glossaries; these two Letters are of ten pur one for the other; as aplens, for ab-Jens, obrimus, for optimus, pleps, for plebs, poplicus, for publicus, and the like. Hence it is, that we ftill write Suppone, for Subpone, oppone, for obpone, and feveral Nations often pronounce one of these Letters for the other, as the Germans, who fay, ponum vinum, for benum vinum, and the like.

The Greeks often change thefe two Letters, one for the other, and Plutarch affures us, it was usual with the Priests of Delphos to fay, Baler, for mier, and Binger, for minger. From whence it comes to pals, that as often as it follows an S. we still change b into p. Scribo, Scripfi, as the Greeks fay, AniBu, Aniwa, &c. B. fays, Prifcian, can never be put before S. in any Syllable.

'Tis in conformity to this use that the Latins have taken paice, from Bosne, papa, from SaBai, buxus from mi G., pede, from BNo. pureus, from Bid. and the like; as the Greekes have taken mier @ Turris, from the Phanician Word Bours.

'Tis also common to these two Letters to creep into words without occation : as abforte.for afporte obstendit,for oftendit obstentui for effentui, and from hence it comes, that from urre, we fay comburers, and according to Nonmias, celebre is used for celere.

B. has alto a great fimilitude with V confonant, and hence it is, that when Words are changed into another Language, they are often taken one for another, as Bie, vive. Bie. vis, Bana, volo, Bairo. venio, Badilo, vado, Bbe-Mes, vefcor, Con, vox, Boege, vorax, Bicain, voves.

From hence also it comes, that the Greeks tometimes translate those Latin Words, by a B, that begin with V, as Baline, for va-1 12.

But this affinity of B with V, does but little favour the Pronunciation of the Spanisrds, and Gascoiners, who alway pronounce

V for B, and B for V.

And although this Error be no small one, yet 'tis more ancient, than it is commonly thought; for not only Adamantius speaks very particularly of it in Caffiedorus, but we meet with many Examples of it upon Old Marble, as BASE for VASE, CIBI-C. A, for CIVICA, and in like manner V is put for B, VENEFICIUM for BENEFICIUM; SIBE for SIVE. And in the Pandetts of Florence, Av to for ares, VOBEM, for BOVEM, VE-STIAS, for BESTIAS, and the like.

But besides this Resemblance that B has with V conforant, it has the fame with F. or &, for we fay Bruges for Fruges, as Cicero orderves : from Prime comes freme, and on Cirk.

the contrary we fay, fifilare for fibilare, from whence come the French Word Siffer; af mehis is used for ab nobis, and we still write Suffere for Subfere, Sufficit for Subficit, and Suffusie for Subfusio, And according to Pestus, Album is derived of shoor afort of white Scurfe, or rough Tettar : and from inew comes Ambo.

Bamong the Greeks is a Numeral Letter. and fignifies Two, but when an Acute Accent is fet at the bottom of it, it expresses Two Thousand.

BAAL, or Bel, is named the most frequently in Scripture of all the False Gods. The Hebrew or Phanician Word figfignifies a Lord. It was commonly used by the Africans in Carthage, as descending from Tyre in Phanicia, as Servius explains thefe Words of Virgil.

Impieveritque meropateram,quam Belus & omnes A Bele folisi. ABneid. Lib. I. v. 733. and uses these words. Lingua Punica Bal Deus dicitur, apud Affyrios autem Bel dicitur Saturnus. & Sol. All these proper Names, whether African or Affyrian come from it, Annibal. Afdrubal, Adherbal.

Servius Was not the only Person, that believed that Baal was Saturn. Eufebint fpeaks the fame in his Chronicon, Thare anno XXIX. Affyrierum Ren primus Belus mertuus eft, quem Affyrii Deum nominarunt, & alii dicunt Saturnum.

theophilus Archbishop of Antioch, tells us also that the Eastern People Worshipped Chramus, or Saturn, Belut or Bal.

But if on the other fide, Serviss fays, that Bal is the Sun, he has fome that defend his Opinion. Helyebius tells us, that Bina, fignifies HAIRS, & Bathles Phrygierum lingua (Rex) The fame Author adds, that in Cree the Sun was worsnipped under the name of Abelius, The Emperor Heliogabalus feems to have had both the Names of the Sun, MAISS, and Bal. or Bel united in his. Selden, from whom this is taken fays that Heliogabalus comes from Harel Bant, id eft Retundus D.w., which agrees with his Image, which was according to Heredian a round Stone in shape like a Cone. Eusebius is of the same opinion, or at least affures us, that it was the Opinion of Sauce. niathen, who fays, that it was to the Sun. that the Name of Beelfamen, that is to fav, the King of Heaven, was given.

We must not believe that these two Opinions are contrary to one another, because the Phanicians take Sasurn for the Sun, as-Servius tells us in the fame Place, Affries conflat Saturnum, quem eundem & Selem dicunt Junonemque coluiffe, BABYLO, Babylon. The Scriptures. gives us this account of the Original of this " When-

"When Men were multiplied after the af- 1 nifiaca are usually taken for the same, but " ter the Flood, they departed from the Eaft, " and found a Plain in the Country of Shinar, "where they fettled themselves. Then they " faid one to another, come, let us make Bricks, "and burn them in the Fire. Then they " took Brick instead of Stone, and Slime in " flead of Mortar, and said, let us build us a "City, and a Tower, whose top may reach " unto Heaven, and let us make our felves " fpoken of, before we are feparated one "from another. But the Lord came down " to fee the City and Tower which the Chil-"dren of Men had built, and faid, let us go "down, and confound their Language, that "they may not understand one another, and "from hence it was called, Confusion, This City thus named Confusion is Babylon.

and profane History much celebrates it, by which it feems that the Giant Nimrod was the Founder of it. This the Scripture had intimated before, faying. "That Babylan was "the Chief of his Kingdom, although it was " not come to that Point of Grandure, which "the Impiety and Pride of Men had deter-" mined to bring it. Bedinur and Sabellicus confound it very unfitly with Sufa, and others with Bagdat, Or Bagdet, or Bagadet in our times, for the one was fituate on the Banks of Emphrates, and the other flands on the fide of Treris. Some Ruins of it are to be feen at this Day, Forty Miles diffant from this latter. as the Authors who have feen it reftify. Joleshu will have it, that this Work was undertaken, that they might have a Retreat from an other Flood if it should happen, but that's only the Imagination of this Author. Some make Semiramis the Foundress of this City, but the only increased and beautified it, having encompassed it with a Brick-wall cemented together with Slime, after the had built several beautiful Ædifices with very pleafant Gardens, in which she set on work more than 300000 Men for several Years.

BABYLONICI, Babylonians, a very voluptuous People, who worthipped the Fire. They washed their Bod es after their Death, and wrapping them up in Cerecloth covered them over with Honey. Ninus, one of their Kings, being flain in the Battel which he loft with Zeroaffres King of the Balfrians, was buried in a Tomb, and O'A Belus caused himself. to be put after his Death into a glass Urn full of Ovl. which he ordered to be inclosed in a Magnificent Monument.

BACCHANALIA, Bacchanali, celebrated in Honour of the God Bacchar, and which were called Liberales, or O.g.e, or

The Orgia, Bacchanalt, Liberales, and Die-

there was a difference between those Paran : Ceremonies, for the Feafts of Liber, or Libera, were celebrated in Honour of Liber or Bucchus every Year on March the 17th, when the Young Men between 16 and 17 Years Old. pur off their Garment bordered with Purple, called Pratexta to take the Toga virilia from the Hands of the Prætor with a Sutname, which made them capable of going to the War, and of the Offices of the Commonwealth. But the Bacchanals were kept every Month, and the Dionysiaca or Orgic every Three Years, which gave them the name of Trieterica.

Macrobius, in the first Book of his Saturnalia. Chapter 18. Having proved by good Reafons that Bacchus and spells are but one thing, adds, that the Bacchanals were celebrated every two Years upon Mount Parniffit, dedicated to Spolle, and the Mufes, where the Saires

Authors refer the Institution of the Feast of Bacchie to the Athenians, which paffed at first for very honest Plays, and Merriments among the Pagans. They carried a Barrel of Wine wound about with Vine-Branches loaded with Grapes. They drew an Hee-Goat by the Horns, to facrifice him with a Basket full of Figs and Grapes, having their Heads crowned with Vine Branches, and the Baccha which were the Priests of that God, held in their Hands Staves twifted with Ivy, dancing and wantonly playing in the Streets, and crying Evobe, that is to fav. an hatpy Life.

But these Feasts were in length of time changed into a licentious use of all Sorts of Debaucheries.

Varro tells us, that in certain Places of Ita. ly, thefe Fealts of Liber or Bacchus were celebrated with fuch Liberty, that they worshipped in Honour of him, the Privy Members of a Man, and that not in fecret to preferve themfelves from Difgrace, but in publick, to glory in their Wickedness; for they placed them honouraby upon a Chariot, which they drove through the City, after they had first cirtied it through the Country. But at Lavinium there was a whole Month fpent in the Feafts of Liber only, during which time the greateft Fi'thinesses were acted, till the Charior had croffed the publick Place, and was come to the House where it was appointed. that the thing it carried flould be put ; after which, the most honest Marrons of the Ciry, was obliged to go and crown that infamous Depolitum before the whole Multi-

The Ramans were not more moderate in their -

these abominable Practices. It was a certain the Hebrew word Thaha, that is to say, to Greek, of a base Birth, a Priest, and Diviner, skilful in the hidden Mysteries of these Sacrifices, as Livy fays, who first settled this Feast in Tulcany, and from thence it came to Rome. A Company of married Women only, met in the Night to celebrate those Mysteries of the God at first, but a Woman named Paucula of Pauua, a Stage-Player by Profesfion, admitted Girls and Boys of all Ages, and conditions to them, who in the darkness of the Night defiled themselves with all Sorts of Abominations, and Lewdnesses, but at last the Disorder and Looseness of these Feafts grew to high, that the Confuls Spurius, Posibumius, Albinus, and Quintus Martius Philippu, made fecret Enquiry into the Superfition of these Bacchanals, which they performed in the Night with fuch abominable Lascivousness, and urrerly abolished them, having found Seven Thousand Persons of that infamous Society.

Nevertheless part of those Superstitions Ceremonies were again effab ished according to the Humour of those Times, and an clo Woman went about crowned with Ivy having a Company of other rearing Women to attend her, who imitated her in her Gate, and lafcivious Postures, who all cried out with a loud Voice, Evobe.

She carried a Cake made with Honey. of which the gave a Piece to every one the

The Athenians also celebrated a Feast to Escaper, during which the young Maids carried gilt Baskets full of Fruit, and this Feast was called CANEPHORIA, and the Maids CANEPHOR Æ, from the two Circek Weeds, which fignify to carry a Bafket. The cerimbians put a Serpent into this Basker, for the Celebration of their Mysterice, dedicated to the Worship of Bacchus, This is what Catullus would have us to underfland by rhis Verfe.

Pars obligia cavis celebrabant Oreia Ciftis. They had a Cover, that they might preferve the Mysteries of Bacchus, and hide them from the Eyes of those, that were not initiated, whom they treated as Pro-

BACCHA, Priesteffes of Bacchus, Menades, Baffarides, or Thyades, the Ministers of the God Bacchus, who celebrate his Orgia or Mysteries.

The Bacche, which accompanyed the Troops of Bacchus took their Name from the Hebrew Word, Baca, which fignifies to lament and howl, for Lamentations, Cryings, and Howlings were very common in the Mysteries of Racchus. They were also called Thyades from cry and run up and down. They are also named Mamallonides, from the Hebrew Men mallelar, i.e. Praters and Talkative-Perfons. .

These raving Women were clothed with Tygers and Panthers Skins, with their Hair all loofe, throwing their Head backward. They were crowned with Ivy, carrying in their left Hand, a Thyrfe, which was a Pinco Staff. Tacitus speaking of one of these Baca che, fays. Ipfa orine fluxo thyrjum quatiens. and Sidenius Apellinaris describing the Troops of Barchus, makes mention of the Thirfe, Tiger-skins, and Drums.

They went through the Mountains in the Company of Bacchur, crying out like mad Perfens, and often repeating Evole Bacche. that is to fay, let Bacchus live happily. (An Epithet, which was given him by Jupiter, when in the War with the Giants, Bacchur being transformed into a Lion, vented his Fury on them, and tore them in pieces.)

BACCHUS, the Son of Jupiter and

Semile. Apollodorus in his third Book of the Original of the Gods, gives us this Relation of the Nativity of Bacchus. " Cadmus, fays he. " had Four Daughters, Antinoe, Ino, Semile. "and Agave, with a Son named Polydorus. Ino married Athamas, Antinoe Ariflaus, and " Agave Echion. As for Semele, Jupiter was " in Love with her, and withdrawing him-" felf from the Embraces of June, he gained " the Favour of his Mistress. June envying "the Happiness of her Rival, disguised her " felf to cheat her, and taking the Shape of Beroc Semele's Nurse, the informed her that to " be affured of the Love of Jupiter, the ought " to pray him to shew himself to her, in all "his Glory. Jupiter having confented to it, "Semele was not able to endure his Splendor "and Majesty, but the Fire of his Lightning "laid hold on the Roof of the Chamber, " and confumed it. All that could be done "in this Susprize, was to fave the Child " (for the had been big fome Months) and to put him very hot into Juniters Thigh. " where he fultilled his time, at the end of "which he came out, and was put into the "Hands of Mercury, the Messenger of the Gods, and the Consident of their Love, who " carried him first to Inchis Aunt, and to her ' Husband Athamas, to take care to nurfe "him and bring him up, but Morofe June, refolving to flew her Displeasure to them. " caused Athamas to flay his eldest Son Lear-" chur as he was a hunting, taking him for a " Deer, whereupon Ine cast her ie f into the " Sea with her Son Milicerta. Then Jupiter to free little Bachus from the Fury and Per-" fecutions of June changed him into an Hee-

Goat for a certain time. When he recover'd " his first Form, Mercury carried him to the " neighbouring Nymphs of the City Nyla in " alis to compleat his Education, who na-" med him Diony fus from the Name of his "Father and of his Country. Lucian fays, that Bacchus affumed the Shape of an Hee-Goar, to furprize Penelope, the Daughter of karus, whom he forced in Arcadia, and had Pan by her.

The Theology of the Egyptians, and ancient Greeks teaches us, that Bacehus or Dionyfur is an Emanation or divine Power, and confounds him with Phebut, Apello, Plute, Apis, Anabis, and Ofris.

It also confounds him with Janus, and Neab, and repretenrs him by a Triangle, which is a Figure of the Divinity according to the Ancients; and Plutarch undertakes to prove, that Batchus is the God of the Hibrews. and that all the Observations of the Jews are nothing elfe but the Ceremonies of Bac-

Homer as well as all the rest of the Greek Poets makes Bacchus the Son of Jupiter and Semele; but Paufanias delivers the reft of his Story after a different manner. "The Inha-"bitants, faith he, of the City of Brafias hold "that Semele having brought forth Bacchus, "Cadmus her Father being augry at it shut " up both the Mother and the Child into a " Chest, and threw them into the Sea, which " cait them upon the Colft of the Brafians, " who taking it out of the Water, opened it, " and found that the Mother was already " dead, but the Infant being alive, they cau-"fed it to be nourished and brought up. "They add, that Ine wandring at that time " was his Nurse, and they shew a Cave, " where she nursed him, which to this Day " is called Bacchus's Cave. Upian in Athe-" neus's Dipnosophistes, after Eubemerus of the " Ifle of Coos, in Book 10. of his Hiffory, relates that Cadmus the Grandfather of Bacchus, was Cook to the King of the Sidonians. and having debanched a dancing Maid of that Kings, named Harmonia, he had by her Semele the Mother of Bacchas.

Lucian in his Dialogue between Jupiter and June makes them theak thus. June. "I am alhamed, O Jupiter, to have fuch a drunken " and effeminate Son, as this of thine is, "who is always in the Company of certain " mad Women, and who are more masculine "than he. Jupiter. But this effeminate Man " has conquered Theacs and Lydia, and fubje-" Red the Indies to himfelf, having made the "King Prisoner with all his Elephants; and " which is most strange, he did all this with "his leaping and dancing among the Women, at the found of the Drum and Flute. and for the most part drunk. If any One dare speak of his Mysteries, he will take them in his Chains, and Agave herfelf, has "torn in Pieces her Son Penthius. Is not " this Great and Worthy of Jupiter? What " will he not do when he is fober, fince "he does fo great things when he is "The fame Lucian in Bacchut, relates his " Expedition to the Indies thus: Bacchus fays "he, attempted the baller, notwithstanding "the Raillery of some, and Compassion of " others who believed that he would be crufn-" ed by the Elephants, if he elcaped the Fury " of their Arms, for his Army was only made "up of Women moved with divine Fury, "who instead of Bucklers carried Drums, " and Cymbols; for Javelius, Staves twifted a-"bout with lvy; for Arms, Garlands of "the same Tree, and for Armour, Skins of "Hinds and Panthers. They were attended " with a Troop of Satvrs, who did nothing "but leap, and skip like Kids, whose Tails "and Horns they have. Bacchus also had "Horns and was without a Beard, cloathed "with Purple, and gilded Buskins, and ha-"ving Vine Branches loaden with Grapes, "woven between his Locks of Hair. He " rode in a Chariot drawn by Tygers, which was all he had terrible; his Two Lieute-" nants were, the One a little old Man with "a flat Nofe, trembling all over, cloathed in "Yellow, with large upright Ears, and a " great Belly, riding for the most part of his "time upon an Afs, and for want of that "fupported by a Staff, but in all things elfe "a great Captain; the other a Satyr with " Horns, his Thighs hairy, with the Beard " and Feet of an Hee-Goat, holding in his " lest Hand a Flute, and in the other a crooked Staff, and runs through all the Plain, " leaping and dancing, and much terrifying " the Women, for he was hafty and paffio-" nate, and when he came near them, they " ran with their Hair flying about their " Shoulders, crying, Evohe, as acknowledg-"ing him for their Mafter : Nevertheless " these mad Women, among their other ex-" ploits, tore Flocks in pieces and eat their " Fleih raw.

"The Indians feeing fuch a ridiculous "Crew, more fit for a Ball than for a War-"like Encounter, difdained at first to take " Arms, and thought to fend their Women " to fight them, for fear they should difgrace "their Valour by fuch an unworthy Vi-" Ctory, but when they understood, that that " Army, though ridiculous, kindled a Fire " every where (for Fire is the Dast of Bac-

"chru, which he hath borrowed from the ! "Thunder of his Father) they armed them-"felves in halt, and mounting upon their " Elephants came full of Rage and Anger to " encounter these Incendiaries.

"When they came in fight of them, they " put themselves in order for Battel, cove-"ring the Front of their Troops with their

" Bacchas also mustered his Army, and fet " Silene on his right Hand, which is that " great flat Nos'd Captain above mention'd; " and Pan on his left, and plac'd himfelf in "the middle, after he had disperted the Sa-" tyrs every where, as many Officers, and "Captains, and given them for their word, " Evale. Immediately the Bacche founded a " Signal with their little Drums and Trum-"pers, and a Satyr having blown his Horn, " the Als of Silene began to bray lo terribly, " that being joyned with the howling of the " Bacchæ (who then discovered the Iron of " their Thirfes, and the Serpents they were gir-" ded withal) the Indians and their Elephants " fied before they were within reach of " their Spears, and to they were defeated, and ties gives an historical Relation of Bacchiu, and tells us, that the most wife of the Indians fay, that Bacchus invaded their Country with a great Army from the Western Parts, and that he over-ran all the Indies, not finding any City that dare oppose him; but the great Heats of the Country much incommoding his Army, he left the Plains, and retired with his Army into the hollow of the Mountains, which he called the Thigh, which gave an occasion to the Greeks to feign, that Jupier put him into his Thigh. He taught them afterward how to plant, and drefs a Vineyard, caused several Cities to be built among them, and furnished them with Laws, and died after he had reigned over them 52 Years. Antiquiry has given Bacchus feveral Names. He is called BIMATER, that is to fav. One who had Two Mithers, viz. Semele and Tupiter, in whose Thigh he fulfilled his Time, efter he was taken out of the Belly of his Mother. He was named Dionylise, from Aide in Nuisa, from Jupiter his Father, and the City it/a, where he was nurfed. Diodorus places this City in Arabia, or in Egypt on the Confines of Arabia. Arrian, and Quintus Curtius fay 'tis in the Indies, of whose Opinion is Pomponius M la, thus speaking of it. "The " fairest and la gest of all the Cities in the " Indies, is Nyfa, where Bacchus was nurled, "which gave occasion to the Greeks to feign "that as was fl.u- up in Jupiter's Thigh. Pliny speaks of another City called Nysa, which is in Caria. Stephanus reckons Ten of the fame Name in feveral Kingdoms.

Diolorus in his fecond Book of his Antiqui-

Some give him the name of Liber, either because he rejoices, and frees the Mind from the Troubles of Life, or because he obtained Liberty for the Country of Bastia.

He is also furnamed BROMIUS The Beeuffe, from Fear or and the Beertie from Thunder, being born of a Mother, who was confumed by Jupiter's Thunder.
He is called LY ABUS from the Greek word Aver to drive away, or because Wine excels Grief.

Laftly, some give him the Epithet of Evan. which in the Indian Tongue fignifies Ivy, which is confecrated to him. We fee him fometimes represented to us in the Shape of a Child, holding in his Arm a Bunch of Grapes, and fometimes in the Form of a Man carrying a Pine-branch. We have a reverse of a Medal of Severus, and Julia. where is the Figure of a Chariot drawn by Two Panthers, in which is fet a Young Man holding a Pot in his left Hand, and in the other a Tygers Skin, to shew us, that Bacchus was the Conqueror of the Indies, and other Eastern Countries, because he is pictured in a Triumphal Chariot with a Dart in his Hand, and his Enemy proftrate at his Feet. The Philotopher Albricus tells us, that some have painted Bacchus with the Face of a Woman. with naked Breafts, and Horns on his Head. crowned with Vine-leaves, and riding upon a Tyger, carrying a Pot in his left Hand, and a Bunch of Grapes in his right.

Some picture Bacchus both Male and Female, as is visible on the Confular Medals of the Caffian Family, which shew us the Figures of Liber, and Libera, i.e. Bacchus both Male and Female. Orpheus in his Hymn against Mile has positively afferted, that Pacchus was ever thought to be of both Sexes; as the greatest part of the Gods are. He had a Magnificent Temple at Rome, in which they facificed to him Hee-Goats, because they destroy the Vine-branches, and eat the Grapes, as Virgil teaches us.

- Baccho Caper omnibus aris Caditur, Georg. II. v. 180.

BACCHUS, the Son of Jupiter and Semile, otherwise called Dionysius, from the fland Dia, now Naxus, after he had over-run all the East with his Army, subdued the greatest part of the Indies, and taught Men the use of Wine, was put by them into the Number of the Immortal Gods; but when. the Thebans disputed his Dignity, publithing that he was not the Son of Jupiter, but of some Man who had left his Mother, he filled their Women with a divine Fury, fo that they ran with their Hair flying about their Shoulders loofe into Mount Cytheron, crying Euche. Tirefias and Cadmus were by this Action convinced of his Divinity, and none but Pentheus opposed it, discourting of the Superstition of the Orgie, and Jabouring entirely to abolish them; at which the God heing provoked, made him mad also, and drove him into Mount Cytheren, where he was torn in pieces by the Theban Women, who were before turned Furies, and took him for a Lion, and his Mother Azave was the Woman that cut off his Head, not knowing who he was.

The Tyrrhenians, famous Pirates in the Mediterranean Sea, as they were robbing upon the Coasts of the Egean Sea, met with Bacabus upon the Shore, and having taken him Captive, thought they had got a confiderable Prize, whereupon they began to infult over him, and to offer him tome Indignities; but the God feeing their ill Deligns, changed them into Doiphins to punish them, as we learn from Philoftrates in his Character of the Tyrrhenians.

Tretzes thinks that Noab lived at the same time with the Bacchus of the Indians, and Ofirit of the Azyptians, and that he had for his Servant. Mercurius Trifmegiflus, who was the first Inventer of Learning, and Arts, from the Instructions which he had received from Noah, who had preferred Arts, Learning, and Sciences, which had been invented, and exercifed, during the 16 or 17 Ages which preceded the Deluge. The same Author says elfewhere, that near the Mountains of India, are to be feen the Pillars of Bacchus, not of the Bacchus of Thebes in Greece, but of Ægypt, who found out the dreffing of Vineyards, who bears the Name of Ofiri, and is no other Person but Noah. Prope montes India columna quedam conflitute funt, columna Dionyli, non Thebani, fed Vini Inventoris.

Vollius thews us the Similitude there is between the History of Moles, and Fable of Bacthus. " Moses, fays this learned Man, was "born in Ægyps, and Orgheus in the Hymns "attributed to him, testines the same of Li-"ber or Bachus, making him the Son of the " Goddess Ills, and faying that he was born "upon the Bank of the River Nile, where " Mofes was exposed. His Nurses may also represent to us the Sifter and Mother of Moles, to whom Pharash's Daughter entrufted Mofer to be nurfed.

" Mafes after his Birth was first exposed "upon the Banks of Nile in a little Aik made " of Bulrushes woven together. Paufanias al-

" fo relates that the Brafiate in Lacedemoria in "Greece, affirm that they took their Name from the little Boat, or Ship, wherein Bacchus being thue up, was cast upon their Coast, and The cuestant, Incole ea fermonibus " vulgarunt, que neutiquam alii Gracorum Populi confitentur : Semelem quidem Jovi Liberum pa-"trem peperiffe, a Cadino vero deprehensam cum puero recens. Nato in arcam conjectam, cam arcam aftu jactatam in fines fuos ejectam.

"The Name of Males comes from his being taken out of the Waters, (Moles i.e. extratina) "Orpheus in his Hymns, or in his Myderies, "gives to Bacchus the name of M.jer. and calls him a Perion born of the Waters,

وندسي وع كان

" Myles had two Mothers, One that bore "him, and another that adopted him, and educated and kept him in thekings Palace 4> "Years, and we know the Region, why Ba-" chie was called, Duritue, a Child of two " Mothers, because Jupiter compleated what was wanting of his time.

" Bacchus was educated in a Mountain of " Arabia. called Nyfs. Diodorus Siculus, and " feveral others make mention of it, and we " know, that Mofes lived Forty Years in Ara-" bia before he returned into Agypt to take " upon him the Conduct and Government of "the Children of Ifrael. Mofes also is we'll "known to have frequented Mount Sinai, " which by a fmall Transposition of Letters, "is Nyla, and 'tis possible that Mountain " might have those two Names. Voffius also observes, that the Alexandrian Chronicle fpeaking of Twelve famous Mountains ufes thefe Words, Now G. Eina en AcoCia. " Some fay that Nysa was a City, which shoul upon Mount Meres, which fignifies in " Greek, wie @, a Thigh, and from thence " came the Fable of Juniter's Thigh. Others think, that Nysa stood upon the side of a " Mountain, which the Hebrews call, Jarkere " bar, crura Montis.

" Plat arch speaks of the Banishment of Bac-"chia, which is apparently the Flight of "Mofes into Arabia, after he had flain an " Ægyptian, who was about to kill an innocent " Ifraelite.

But the Poet Nonnia, who has written " the Fable of Bacchus at large, speaks plainly " of the Flight of Bacchus towards the Red "Sea, yhanger, Esugrains im Sirale nuna Sa-" Adone. He could not have tooken any thing " more politive, nor more exactly like the " History of Moses, stripped and freed from " the Disguise of the Fable of Bacchus.

" Mofes had many Battles in Arabia, and " gained glorious Victories, alfo Diederus " Sigulus relates out of the Poet Antimachus, "how Bacchas found a Potent Enemy there," which was Lycurgus King of Arabia, who " had resolved to destroy him, and all his Minades, or Bacha,

"The Army of Bacchus, which over-run "all drabia with him, was made up of Men " and Women, according to Diodorus Siculus. "Wasknow also, that Mofes passed through all " the Deferts of Arabia, with an Army of " 600000 fighting Men, but it was followed " with a much greater Number of Women " and Children.

"Orpheus in his Hymns, Euripides in his " Bacche, and Sophecles in certain Verses fet " down by Strate, fay, that Bacehus had upon " his Forehead the Horns of a Bull muedniger, " weeuirwe , which agrees with the Horns of Light, i. e. those luminous Rays which " came from the Face of Mofer, when he returned from Converting with the Ora-" cle of God. The Hibrens give this Ray of " Light, the name of an Hotn, Koren, whence " comes the Kioge, of the Greeks, and the Cor-" nu of the Latins ; to which agrees the Latin "Tranflation, qued cornuta effet facies Mosis. " Moles ftruck rhe Rock which his Rod, "and there came out a Stream of Living " Water : now Euripides in his Bacche, fays as " much of a Baccha that followed Bacchus ;

" Thyrfum autem quedam arripiens percussit Pe-" tram, aque proceffit humor. "One of the most faithful Servants of Mo-

"fer, is Celeb, who gave fuch illustrious "Proof: of his Courage and Fidelity, when " he went to observe and discover the promi-" fed Land, and brought back with the other " Spies, that famous bunch of Grapes: In " like manner the Poets make a Dog to have "been the Companion of Bacches, the He-" brew word Celeb fignifying a Dog. Nonnes " relates the Discourse of Bacchus, when he "translated his Dog to the Stars, and made " a Constellation of it, called Mara or the " Little Dog, which contributes to the ripe-" ning of the Grapes.

" Orpheus gives Bacchus the Title of a Law-" giver, Gemesée .attributing to him a dou-" hle Law, as if he alluded to the Two Ta-" bles of the Law of Moles, or to Deuteronomy " which is one of the Books of Mofes. Laftly " Volus observes that 'tis absolutely neces-" fary, to diffinguish between the Bacchus of " the Indians, and Bacchus of Egypt and Ara-" bia, which is Males, and acknowledges that "thele are, as it were the two Originals, " from which the Greeks have taken the Co-" py of their Bacchus of Thebes, who is much " that of the Indies.

with Bacchus, as well as Diodorus Siculus, when tells us, that Cadmus made the Baftard Son of his Daughter Semele to pais for the Son of 74 piter, and for another Ofiris, and how Orphens brought all the Worship of Ofiris, or Dienyfint. and Bacchus into Greece.

The fame Authors relate elfewhere, that Cadmus was obliged by the Commands of his Father Agenor, King of Phanicia, to go and find out Europa his Sifter, folen away by Jupiter, and not finding her, he staid in Brotis, where he built the City of Theber, and that Simele conceived by Jupiter and had Bacchus by him ; but Eulebius tells us at the lame time, that the Greeks had done nothing but copied out the Actions of other Nations more ancient than themselves; and Diederus Siculus owns in the fame Place that there was another Bacchus more ancient, named SABAZIUS, the Son of Jupiter and Proferpina, whose Mysteries were celebrated in the Night.

This BACCHUS SABAZIUS was a Phanician, and one of the Gods Cabiri. according to the Scholiast of Apollonius of Rhodes. Quidam ferunt Cabiros prius fuiffe auor, fenierem quidem Jovem, & Bacchum, Jumorem. We have proved that Noah was the first to whom the Affyrians or Babilonians applyed the History or Fable of Bace

Cicero mentions five feveral Bacchus's. Disnyjios maltos habemus, primum à Tove er Proferpina Natum ; Secundum Nilo, qui Nysam dicitur interemiffe ; tertium Caprio patre, eumque Regem Afie prefuiffe dicunt, cui Sabania funt inflituta ; quartum Jove & Lund, cui facra Orphica putantur confici ; quintum Niso natum & Thione, à que Trieterides constitute putantur. De Natur. Deor. lib. III. 'Tis not eafy to diftinguish all these Bacchus's. Diederus Siculus makes but one of the first and third of Cicere, faving, that Sabazius was the Son of Jupiter and Proferpine; the Fourth is the fame with that of the Greeks; He that reigned in Alia, may well be that of the Albrians. Cicero had no Knowledge of the Bacchus of the Arabians, which they call URO. TAL.

Diodorus Siculus distinguishes between feveral Bacebus's, but allows the greatest Antiquity to him of the Indies, where Wine was first found out. Nomulli tres diversis temporibus extitife afferunt. & fua cuique facinora attribuunt ; inter ques emnium vetuftiffimus natione Indut fit. Hic qued foonte ob benient tatem Aeris, & Jolis temperiem regio illa vilater than that of Egypt, as this Posterior to | tium fertile eft, premus racemes torcularibuse pressit, & emolumenta wini observavit. His that of the Indies. preffit, & emoluments vini observavit. Hit Eusobius has observed that Ostrie is the same sile Bacthus sient, arms per universion orbem einimetulit, & vineas conferendi rationem edacuit. 'Tis hard not to acknowledge, that this is the History of Nah, who planted a Vineyard in Armenia, which may pass for one part of the Indies, for some give the Name of Indies to all the Eastern Provinces. Diodorus fays, that Bacchus is faid to be born twice, because the Vine was before the Deluge of Deucalion, and grew again after the Deiuge, when all thought it was dead.

BAL.

Phileiratus affures us, that the Indians held that their Bacchus came to them out of Affria, wherefore the first Bacchus was the offgrian, and so can be no other than Noab.

The Lybians according to Diodorus, had alfo their Bacchus the Son of Jupiter Ammon, and Amalthea, whom they also paint with Horns. They maintain that he was much more ancient than the Azyptian or Gracian, although Diederus owns, that the Gracian, though the last swallowed up all the rest, fo that their Antiquity was then almost for-

The Romans never knew any but the Bacthus of Greece, the Memory of all the rest being quite lost through their very great

Antiquity. Politionius the Dictator vowed, and built a Temple to Liber and Libera.

Nonnut thinks that the feveral Names of Bacchus are for the most part the Names of the true God, which the Impiety of Idolaters attributed to their false Gods. Diomilius may come from Jehova Miffi, that is to lay, Donninus venillum muin. IACCHUS may come likewise from Jehous or Jao, for fo the Greeks fometime pronounce Jehova. ADONEUS plainly comes from Adonas. ELELEUS comes from El, Elchim, that is to fay Deus Deorum. HYES comes from bu es, i.e. ipfe ignis. ATTES comes from atta es, i.e. tu ignit, for Baccines was born according to the Fable among the Fires of the Thunder of his Father Jupiter. Bacchus is often represented by the Poets under the Form of a Bull, becaufe God is often called in Scripture, Abbir, which fignifies the Strong, and a Bull. E V O-HE is a Term, which the Scripture ufes in speaking of Drunkards. Cui va, tui cuohe, iu qui vino immerantur. BASSAREUS comes from Batfar, which fignifies, to gather the Vintage. DITHYRAMBUS comes from the Syriack, dithert abban, which is the fame with Andrug i.e. who hath Two Fathers. IACCHUS come from the Syriack Janks or Jacco, which is the fame with Puer La-

Henr, and fuch is Bacchus often represented. 'Tis feigned that he was born of Jupiter's Thigh, because 'ris a Phrase used among the Hebrews to express ordinary Generation. Nasci de famore Patris. If toine say he was, born upon the Mountain Merus, uness, 'tis because the word fignifies a Thigh, or rather because the Hebrew Tongue casts those parts of Mountains, Jerre, Tarkete, Tright, which we call the Sider. If Bacchus has been called BRISZEUS, and BRESS ÆUS, it comes from the Siriack bres apubla, that is to fav. lacus mellis, for all the Ancients have made Bacchus the Inventor of Honey. As to the name LIBER, Buchart believes, that it is an Imitation of the H. brew Word Her, kurim, which fignifies Noble and Free Perfons, as in Ecclefinftes, Filius Hurim, is the fame with Filius Heroum.

B Æ TYLIA, rough and fhapele's Stones, which were the first Statues, which Men began to adore. This Namecomes evidently from Bethel, which was the Name which Tacco gave a Stone, upon which he laid his Head to fleep, and which he dedicated in the Morning to God, pouring our Oyl upon it, in Memory of the Vision he had seen of a Mysterious Lad-

BALISTA, a Sling, a Warlike Engine, which the Ancients used to cast Stones with Slings, fays Viernvin, were made after diverte manners, rhough all used to the fame Purpole. One fort was framed with Levers, and Bars, another with Pullies, another with a Crane, and others with a toothed Wheel. This Engine was made much like a Crofs-Bow, which cast Bullets.

BALNEÆ, or BALINEÆ, Batha, to bath and wath in, very common among the Greeks, and Romans.

Two things are understood by this word, the Buildings, in which thefe Baths were inclosed, called Balnearia, and the Tubs wherein they bathed.

'Tis not certainly known, who brought in this Custom of Bathing, but 'tis plain that the Greeks used it before the Romans. We also find that the Carthaginians had fome Baths for Persons of Quality, and others for their common People.

The Romans at first used Baths, very seldom, contenting themselves to wash their Feet, Arms, and Hands every Day after Travel, unless on Feasts, when they washed their whole Body.

In these early times when Luxury had not difordered their Manners, they did not aim at any Magnificence, or Pleafure in building Baths, but afterwards things came to fuch an excess, that in the time of Sylla, a certain Man named Sergius Orata built a Bath hanging in the Air, at great expence. Hie eft Sergius Orata, qui primus Baneas penjiles kabuit.

M. Agripps to gain the good efteem, and favour of the People of Rome, caused an 170 publick Baths to be built in that City, with all the Ornaments and Magnificence imar inable.

But the most extravagant Expences in building Baths, was in the time of the Emperor singular, when they appeared as fo many Cities for their valt extent, and for the Variety of Apartments which they contained, the one being for Summer, and the other for Winter.

The most famous Baths were these of M. Agripoa, Niro, Domitian, Alexander Severus, Vilos ian, lieus, Gordian, Aurelian, and Train, but that of Autoninus Caracalla, which was built at the Foot of Mount Avenine and that of Dieck fian, did much excel all the self before mentioned, in Grandeur and Beauty.

The Romans went into the Baths for their Health, conveniency, and often for their Pleature only, for they thought that the Bath conduced very much to their Health, by provoking Swear, and helping Digestion. to that when they found their Stomachs over-charged with Meat, they went to the Bath, as welenin from Juvenal's First Satyr, where he inveighs against those who having gorged themselves with eating, were forced to go into the Baths to relieve them-

Pana tamen prafent, cum tu deponis amichus Turgians, & crudum pavenem in Balnes portes.

They found also, that a Bath was good to refresh themselves after some considerab'e Faigue or Travel, as Celfus the Phyfician tells us, which makes Plantus fay, thar all the Baths in the World were not jufficient to remove the Weariness he felt, Nunguam adepol omnes balinca mihi hanc laffituainen evinnent.

The Bath in like manner was very convenient to cleanfe the Body from Filth. and any Naftiness, which stuck to it; the-Romans having not the use of Linnen, they made their Limbs, more supple and vigorous, being rubbed and anointed, after they had left the Bath.

In fine, nothing was more furprizing, than the largeness and coffiness of these Baildings; 'tis too little fays Ammianus !

Marcellinus to compare them with Cities because they equalled whole Provinces. Lavacra in modum Provinciarum extru-

These stately Buildings contained Porches, Walks, Groves, Fish-Ponds, Tennis-Courts, Halls, and infinite Variety of A. partments, fome to undrefs in, others for fweating, and others to be rubbed and anointed in with the most costly Per-

The most rare and precious Marbles were used in building these Places; in them they raifed many Pillars and feveral Figures of Jafper, Alabaster, and Porphyry; Gold, and Azuse flined from all parts. The Floors. and Ceilings were of inlaved, or Mojaick Work: Arabian Perfumes niled those Places with their Odours; the Waters fell by degrees, and by their Fall made very pleafant Cararacts to the fight, which were after received into Cifterns covered with Silver, and went away through Pipes of the fame Materials; the Roofs were of Stone. and the Walls were plaistered over in the fide with a Cement, called Maltha, from whence the Walls were called, Malthati

The Water was carried into these Baths through Pipes, which came from the Aqueducts of the City, and fell into spacious Cifterns, which they call by a general Word Baptisteria, lavacra, lavabra, & alvei. There were three forts of them, One for hot Water, another for warm, and another for cold.

These Baths were so large, says Lipsius, that in those of Antoninus Caracalla 1800 Persons might bath themselves without any Inconvenience.

" Lucian gives us the Description of a Bath " which Hippias, an excellent Architect, made, "which I think fit to fet down here. It "was built upon a very fleep Ground. " which he had levelled at the bottom, " with a Foundation suitable to the largeness "of the Building, which was well joined from top to bottom for long continuance. "The building answered to the extent of "the Place, and agreed very well with the " plat Form in all its Proportions. At the entrance of it was a large Porch, into which they afcended infenfibly by broad "Stairs. Through this they paffed into a great Hall, which would hold all the Ser-"vants very conveniently : On the left " Hand were Chambers for Pleafure, ha-"ving in them private places very conve-"nient, and very lightsome. Then were

"Apartments for Persons of Nore, which "had on their fides Wardrobes to undress in. " In the middle was a ledging very lofty, "and open, where were fet Three Baths of " cold Water; it was lined within with La-"conick Stone, and adorned with ancient " Statues of Marble, of which, One repre-" fented Health, and the other Afeulapius; " from thence they went into an Oval A-"narrment, where they at first felt grateful "Heat, which increased by little and lit-"tle. From hence they palled to the right "Hand into another lightfome One to "anoint themselves, which had Privacies on "both fides, to receive those that came " from the Exercises. Farther was another "Apartment, more beautiful and conve-"nient than all the rest, as well to stand, "asto lie down or fit in. Then there was "an hot Anti-Chamber, lined with Numidian "Stone, which led into the last Apart-"ment which shined on all Sides. This had "likewise Three Baths of hot Water, from "whence they might pass into the cold "Baths through a Stove, without going "through the Places by which they came "in. Thus ends the Description of the " Bath of Hippias.

Some have reckoned Six Hundred and Seventy publick Baths at Rome, and Eighty Two private Ones. Publiar Victor counts Eight Hundred and Sixty Publick Ones. Befides the Water-Baths to wasin in, there were dry Stoves in an Hall, whose Roof was made in a Semicircle, in the midd's of which was an Hole to let in the light, with a Buckler hung up in it, by means of which they could encrease or lessen the Heat, by letting it down, or raising

This Place was called LACONICUM, because the Lacedemonians were the Inventots of these dry Stoves for sweating, using them ordinarily from the time that Apellonius Trangus forbad, by the advice of the Ephori hot Baths, which were of little use. unless to make Men lazy and effeminate. Senica the Philosopher calls their Paces, Sudatoria, and fometimes Scherificia, from their Spherical and round Figure, as Suetonius calls them in the Life of Vefparan. Creere names them Affa, and Cornelius Cellur, Affas Judationes ; they were very prefitable for Digestion, and by fweating to drive out a Quantity of Water from all parts of the Body, which made them more active, and better disposed.

There were in the Bith diverse Cham-

the Stoves. Some were for undreffing called? by the Greeks awo Juniera, and by the Latines. Speliatoria, that is to fay, Chambers of Spoil; others for wiping and drying the Body... after having been in the Barhs, and others for subbing and anointing, named in Greek, and in Latin, Unatuaria.

Pitruvius describes to us the manner of making thefe Stoves.

" Hot, and warm Stoves favs he, ought to "have their Windows out of the reach of "the cold, or if the Place will not bear it, "turned to the South, because the time for " bathing according to Custom, is from "Noon to the Evening. It should be con-" trived that the hot Bath for the Men, and "that for the Women, thould be near one " another, that they may both heat with the " fame Furnace. There must be placed upon this Furnace, three large brazen Vcf-"fels, One for hot Water, the other for "warm, and the third for cold, and their " Veffeis to ordered, and dispoted, that that " which holds the warm Water, shall go fo "far into that which contains the hor, as "to take its heat from it, and in the like " Proportion shall the cold Barh go into the " warm; the Under-part of the Baths shall be heated by one Furnace only. This Bath cught to be lightforme above, that it be not darkned by those that are about it. The " Sears about the Bath should be fo large, 28 "to hold those who wair, till the first Comers was are in the Bath come out

Although Baths were built for the publick, yet there were fome, at which certain Fees were paid for bathing in them, which for that Reason were called Balneas meritorias, but what they gave was but a finall Matter, viz. the Fourth part of an Allis. quadrans, which was paid to the Keeper of the Baths, which gave Occasion to Somes to call the Baths, Rem quadrantariam, and Horace to fay, Lib. 1. Sat. 3. Dum tu quadrante Lavatum

Only Infants under 14 Years of Age paid nothing, as Juvinal teaches us in this

Nee pueri credunt, nisi qui nondum are lavantur. Sat. 2. v 152.

It was not permitted to go into the Bath at all Hours of the Day, but only at certain fixed Hours.

The Emperor Adries published an Edict. forbidding to open the Barh before Two a Clock in the Afternoon, Alefs in cale of Sickness, ante ellavam horam in publico nebers for several uses, as there were also in minem, nift agrum lavare juffum eft. (Now the Eighth Hour was our two a Clock in the Afternoon, because they began the Day from our Six a Clock in the Morning, or thereabouts.)

The Hour for going into, and coming out of the Bish, was made known by the Sound of a Bell, which was called, Tintinnabulum, as these Verses of Marrial resti-

Redde pilam, fonat es Thermarum, ludere per-

Virgine vis fold lotus abire domum.

Give over playing at Ball, the Bell founds for the Bath, for if you hold on your Play ye cannot both your felves unless in the cold Bath, called Firgo. (which was a Water that came to Rome.) Mart. lib. XIV. Epigr.

i-rom hence we learn, that the Romans did not go into the Baths, till after Noon ardmarily, un'els upon the Account of Sickness, because then they were more free. and left troubled with Builness, for they alletted the Morning to wait upon, and court the Favour of the Grandees of Rome, and to follow their own business, after which they eat loberly, and then either took their Eafe, or went to some Exercise, and to take their Pleafures. From whence they went into the Bath to dispose them for their Supper, as Perfes tellifies in this Verie.

His mane edicum polt pranaia Callirhoen do.

I allow, fays this Poet, thele loofe Fel-"lows to go in the Morning to the Præ-" tors Court to hear the Judgment there. "and after Dinner I permit them to court "the Women, for Callirhoe was a famous "Harlet,or rather(according to another Inter-" pretation of this Verse of the Persian) I per-" mir them to go into the Bath, because Cal-"livia was a famous Fountain of Athens, and " fo by an ufua! Figure common among the " Poets, Callirhoe is taken in general for a " Bath. Perf. Sat. 1. v. 134.

After they had bathed, they had their Bodie, rubbed, and the Hair pulled off with Pincers, or finall Twitchers of Silver, and then rubbed them with a Pumice Stone to fmooth the Skin, which they anointed with a perfamed Oyl, pouring it out by Drops, out of a small Vest I, which they called Guerus, Giane, Ampulea, or Lecythus,

They often made a Collation of Fruits. and taked of things pleafant, and divert az, from whence it came that the Baths Weit ca'led Girrala Balnea.

BALNEARII SERVI, the Servaces belonging to the Bath. Some were appointed to heat them, which were called Arnacatores; others were called Capfarii, who kept the Cloaths of those that went into them: others were named Alipta, whose Care it was to pull off the Hair, and others were called Uncluarii, who anointed and perfumed

BALSAMUM, Balm, a Shrub of India, which is of great use in Medicines. When the Boughs of it are full of Sap, they make an Incition with a Flint or Potfherd (for it will not endure Iron) and there diffils out of it a thick Juice of a Pleafant Smell, and it is used in the Cure of feveral Wounds, and fome Diftempers of the Body.

BALTEUS, a Belt, a large Girdle of Leather Bied to carry a Sword, and a Dagger infet with Boffes of Gold, Silver.

BAPT Æ. Athenian Priefts of the God. dess Correte, who was the Goddess of La civiousness, and whose Feasts and Sacrifices were kept in the Night, with all the Beaftliness imaginable. Eupolu was thrown into the Sea by the Priests, for having made a Comedy in which he discovered the filthy Actions, and lewd Conversations.

BARBA, the Beard, the Hait that grows on the Face. The Romans for a long time were it without shaving or cutting, and the time is not exactly known, when they began to do it. Titus Livius feems to tell us, that this Cuftom was in use from the Year 369, for speaking of Manlius Capitelinus who was taken Prisoner, "He relates " that the greatest part of the People being "troubled at his Imprisonment, changed "their Cloaths, and let their Beards, and "Hair grow. If this were fo, then we may infer that out of times of Mourning they had their Hair cut and their Beards

Nevertheless Varro speaks clearly, that the first Barbers came out of Sicily to Reme, in the Year 454, and that a Man called Ticinius Menas brought them. From that time the Young Men began to have their Beards cut, and Hair, till they came to be 49 Years old a but it was not a lowed to be done above that Age, fays Pliny. Scipio Africamus had himfelf shaved all his Days, and Augustus did the same in Imitation of him.

The Young Men did not begin to shave themselves, till they were Twenty or Twenty one Years of Age, as did Nero and Caligula, but Augustus did not do it, till he was Twenty five Years old.

The Day wherein they were shaved the first time was a Day of rejoicing, and they were careful to put the Hair of their Beard into a Silver or Gold Box, and make an Offering of it to some God, particularly to Jupiter Capitolinus, as Nire did, according to the Testimony of Suctionius.

Only the Philosophers let their Beards grow, and wore them very long, without cutting, or shaving.

BARDI, Bards, ancient Poets among the Gruls, who described in Verse, the brave Actions of the great Men of their Nation. They were so called from one BARDUS, the Son of Drayis, who reigned over the Gauls.

There were Four forts of Men comprized under the general Name of DRUI-DES, viz. The VACERES, who atrended upon the Mysteries of their Religion; the EUBAGES, who were employed in judging of Proligies; the BARDES, who celebrated in Verse the Heroical Actions of their great Men; and the SAR-RONIDES, who administred Justice, and instructed the young Gauls in the liberal Arts and Sciences.

BASILICA, a Greek Word that fignifies a Kings Palace; it was a publick Building at Rome, magnificently raifed, in which they administred Justice. It was covered. and by that a Bafilica was diftinguished from the FORUM, which was a publick Place open to the Air.

In these Basilica's were large Halls with Roofs, and Galleries railed upon rich Pillars. On both fides of these Galleries were Shops, where the finest Wares were fold. In the middle was a large Place for the Conveniency of Men of Bufiness and Merchants, as is at a little distance from the Palace at Paris.

The Tribunes administred Justice there, as well as the Centum-viri. In them were alfo Chambers built, where the Lawyers and Pleaders maintained by the Common-wealth refided, to answer to all Points of Law, when they were consuited. This is doubtless, what Cicero means, Epift. 14. lib. 2. ad Att. Basilicam habee, non villam frequentia formianorum because Men came from all parts to corfult him in his Country-house, as if he were in a Ballica.

The principal Bafilica's at Rome were thefe, Julia, Porcia, Pauli, Sifimini, Sempromi, Caii, Luii, & Argentariorum, the Bankers.

Others were also built for the Conveniency of Traders, and Merchants near the great Roman Place. The Scholars went thither to make their Declamations, that they might appear, and have the more Auditors to hear them, according to the Testimony of Quintilian, Lib. 12. Chap 5.

Large and spacious Halls were first called Bafilier's, because they were made for the People to meet in, when Kings admini-fired Justice themselves; afterward, when they were left to the Judges, Merchants built them for themselves; and lastly, they were taken for Churches by the Christians. Then it happened that they built most of their Churches in the Fashions of Basilica's, which differed from the Temples of the Ancients, in this, that their Pillars frond within, whereas in Temples they flood without. Basilica's were for Tradesmen and Pleaders, as now the Halls of a Palace are, where they administer Justice.

BASSAREUS, and BASSARI-DES, Epithets given to Bacchus, and the Bacehe, from the long Robe Baffara, which they are faid to wear, as Hefychius, and Pollux teach us; and as we learn from the Statues of Bacchus. Phornutus, and Acron, the Scholiast of Horace, think that this Word Baffara, comes from a City of Lydia, called BASSARA, from whence the Fashion of it came.

The Grammarian Cornutus upon Persius will have them to be fo called from Foxes skins, which in the Thracian Language are called Baffares, with which the Bacche were cloathed.

BATTUS, a certain ridiculous Poet, who used the same Repetitions frequently in his Poetry, which has given occasion to call a Discourse full of Repetitions. Battology, from his Name.

It was also the Name of a Shepherd of the City of Pylus, who was changed by Mercury into a Touchstone, because he had not kept his word with him about the Theft. which he made of the Sheep of Admerus's Flock, kept by Apollo to his Difgrace.

BATUALIA, Fencers, exercifed with blunt Arms: for we fav, rudibus has tuere, to fight with dull Weapons, or in ieft.

BATHILLUS, a Buffoon and very good Dancer, whom Macenas loved to an excessive Degree. He made him his Freeman, and he lived in the time of Augustus and Nero.

BEELPHEGOR, of whom it is spoken in the Book of Numbers, that a Part of the Ifraelites gave themselves to the impure and execrable Worship of that false God. and that God took a dreadful Vengeance on them : Initiatufque Ifrael Beelphegor, occidat .. onusquisque proximos suos, qui initiati sunt Beelphegor. Tis probable that the God which was honoured upon Mount Phegor or Phogor, was Saturn, according to Theederet. St. Jerom believed, that Beelphegor was the God Priapus. Fornicati funt cum Madianitis, & ingress funt ad Beelphegor idolum Madianasarum, quem nos Priapum poffumus appellare. He fays also the fame thing, writing against Jouinian. Proprie quippe Pheger lingua hebraa Priapus appellatur.

BELIDES, Belides, or Danaides, were the Fifry Daughters, of Danau, the Son of Belus, furnamed the Old, who flew their Husbands, the Sons of the King of Egypt, the first Night of their Marriage, except on y One, named Hypermnestra, who did not flav her Husband Lynceus.

BELLEROPHON, otherwise named HIPPONOMUS, fon of vilausur King of Corinth: he flew his Brother Beller, and from thence was furnamed Bellerophon, as much as to fay, the Aurtherer of Beller. After he had committed this Murther he fled to the Court of King Press, who received him favourably, but his Wife falling in Love with him, and not being able to induce him to fatisfy her unchaft Defires, the accused him to her Husband for attempting her Challity. The King being angry at the Action, but unwilling to break the Rules of Hospitality, which he had allowed him, contented himself inflead of flaying him, to fend him to his Father in Law Jobates King of Lycia, with Letters fignifying his Condemnation. Jobates willing to execute the King's orders, fent him to fight against the Chimera, but he brought it to an happy end by the help of his Horse Pegalus; the King admiring his extraordimary Valour, gave him his Daughter in Marriage. The Fable adds, that being defirous to fly up into Heaven by the Help of his Horse Pegalus, he was cast down Headlong by Jupiter, to punish his proud Rathness, and being made blind by his Fall, he died a wandring Vagabond.

Homer gives us this Account of Bellerophon. in the Sixth Book of his Iliads, v. 160. Oc. "BELLEROPHON, the most " beautiful and valiant of the Argives, was " paffionately loved by Antis the Wife of Pratus, who being not able to perswade "him to yield to her unhawful Defires, " went to her Husband and told him. You must either dye, or put Bellerophon to "Death, who has attempted my Chastity, although 'twas she her felf, that had sol-" licited him to love her.

" Pratus was very angry, but would not " put him to Death, but fent him with pri-" vare Letters to his Father-in-Law in Lycie, " which ordered him to put him to Death. "He went into Lycia under the Protection of the Gods, where being arrived near the River Xambus, the King looked fa-"vourably upon him, and gave him all "the Honours imaginable. He stayed " Nine Days together with him, facrificing "every Day an Ox. At the end of that "time he asked him the Reason of his com-" ing, whereupon he immediately gave him "the Letters of Pratus his Son-in-Law, and "having read them, he fent him to fight "the Chimers (an horrible Monfter to behold, for he had the Fore part of a "Lion, who vomited Fire and Flames, the " middle of a Goat, and the Tail of a Serpent.)

BEL

" He subdued this Monster by the Pro-" rection of the Gods, and killed it. After this Victory he went to War against the " Solymi, and then against the Amazons, and " because he returned Victorious, King Jo-"bates fent an Ambush to kill him, but "he defeated them all. This induced the "King to give him his Daughter in Mar-"riage, for the fake of his Courage and " Vertue.

"But to return to the Allegories of this " Chimers, and Bellerophen. Palephates Speaks thus of them. Some fay that Bellerophen 'rode upon a winged Horse, which is both " ridiculous and unpossibe, unless they " could lend him all the Feathers of the " fwiftest Birds. Others would have us alfo believe, that Bellerophen flew the Chi-"mara of Amisodar, a Monster which had "the Fore-part of a Lion, and the middle " of a Goat, and the hinder parts of a Ser-" pent. Others will have it, that it had on-" ly the Three Heads of these Creatures, "which is less credible. This then is the " Foundation of all these Fictions.

BELLEROPHON, was a young Man of Corinth, very beautiful, and liberal, who having fitted a Ship which he named Peralus, he went to coast along the Phrygian Shore, where at that time reigned Amiledar, near the River Xanthus, along by which there arises a Mountain named by the Inhabitants, Telmessus, to which there is an Afcent from the Plain on two fides of it. On the fide next the City Xanthus, there were very good Pastures, but on the side next Caria it was barren, and inacceffible; in the middle there was a Gulf, from whence there came out at certain times Flashes of this Mountain is joined another, named Chimers, upon which there was a Lion, and at the Foot of it a great Serpent, which did much harm among the Flocks, which fed thereabout, as well as to the Shepherds, and Inhabitants round it. But Pellerophon landing on these Coasts with his Ship, named Pegajus, because it was a good Sailer, and very swift in its Course, went to those Mountains, and ferting the Woods on Fire, destroyed those Monsters. which gave an Occasion to the Fable to fay, that Bellerophon being mounted upon Perafus, had killed the Chimara of Amilo-

BELLONA, the Goddess of War, the Wife, Mother, or Nurse of Mars; some will have her to be Minerva, and Pallas. This false Deity was so much honoured by the Cappadocians, that they built a Temple to her in the City Comsna, and her Prieft, or Sacrificer was the first Person in Honour and Dignity next to the King. She is painted in Armour with a menacing or furious Countenance, holding a Trumpet, and a Whip in her Hand, and fometimes a lighted Torch.

Appius Claudius, who was after firicken blind for having profaned the Priefthood of Hercules, built her a Temple at Rome, according to the Vow he had made to her in the Battle against the Samnites. This Temple was in the Circus of Flaminius near the Carmental Gate. In it, foreign Embaffadours were admitted to audience, and they hung up their Bucklers, and other Arms, as Appius did according to Pliny. Poluit in Bellonæ ede Majorum Juorum Cly-

There was near this Temple a Pillar named BELLICA, from which the Confuls, or Herald caft a Javelin, as far as they could, as if they had cast it into the Enemies Countries, to declare War against pess.

The Feast of this Goddess was kept upon the Fourth Day before the Nones of June, because on that Day, Appius dedicated a Temple to her.

The Priefts of this Goddess, which from her Name were called Bellmarii, drew Blood from all parts of their Bodies, to appeale her with that Sacrifice. Some thought that they had a Gift of Prophecy, to foretel the great Events of War. For that end they entred in a Fury, and holding naked Swords in their hands, they cut deep Gashes

Fire, and Flames and Clouds of Smoke. To Blood that iffue out of the Wounds, men king a Sacrifice to Bellons, not giving her any other Victims, as Tibullus tells in their Verfes, > Hac ubi Billone motu est agitata, nec acrem Flammam, non amens werbers torts timet. Ipfa bipenne suos cadit violenta Lacertos. Sanguineque effuso spargit inepta Daam. Statque latus prafixa veru, flat faucia pettus, Et canit Eventus, quos Dea magna movet.

BELUS, the Ancients do not tell us very clearly, what fort of Deity Belus

Helpchins fays, that it was the Heaven. or Jupiter, and that the Sun was called Bela.

St. Jerom, and St. Ilidore are of Opinion. that Saturn was named Belus.

Herodian in the Life of Maximinian affures us, that the People of Aquileia gave the Sun the Name of Beles. Some Manuscripts and Infcriptions call him Belinus or Bele-

The God Baal, or Baalphegor, who is mentioned in the Old Testament, was the fame Belus, who was the Author of the Idolatry and Priefthood of the Chaldeans.

There was another Belus the Son of Newtune, who married Is after the Death of Apis her first Husband, when Gerrops reigned at Athens. Ægyptus and Danaus were his Sons, and thence it comes to pais, that the Fifty Daughters of Danaus were called B E-LIDES.

BEEL, or BELUS, favs Parro, is the fame with Jupiter the Son of Saturn. He was the first as St. Cyril tells us in Lib. 3. against Julian the Apostate, who took upon himself the Name of God, and set up Idolatry, causing Temples to be built, Altars to be made, and Sacrifices to be offered in Honour of himself, which his Son Ninus. and Queen Semiramis much promoted.

BERECINTHIA, the Name of a Mountain, and City in Phrygia, where Cybele the Mother of the Gods was most zealoufly worshipped, and was from thence named Berecinthian.

BERONICE, Berenice, Queen of Egypt, and Wife of Prolomeus Euergeres her own Brother, who having vowed her Hair to the Goddess Venus, if her Husband returned fafe from a Voyage, which he made into Asia, consecrated and laid up her Hair in the Temple of the Goddels to fulfil her Vow, but it being not to be found, the in their Arms, and Thighs, and with the Magician Conon a little after, that he might gry for the loss of it, perswaded him, that it was put among the Stars, and changed into those Seven Stars, which appear in the Form of a Triangle at the Tail of the Czleftial Sign, called the Lion. Callimachus made a Greek Elegy upon this Subject, which Catallas has turned into Latin.

BEROSUS, a Chaldean, to whom the Athenians erected a Statue with a gilded Tongue, upon the account of his excellent Bredictions.

BES, or BESSIS, the Mark, or 8 Ounces, part of the Affis. BES, for BIS, which is Two Triens, which are each Four in

BESTIÆ, Beafts, either wild, or domestick Creatures, which were presented at Rame, in the Plays of the Amphitheatre, for Shows to the People. Some pleafed the People with hunting of these Beasts, in which they made them fight with Men, or one with ano-

Vapileus has given us a curious Description of an hunting, which the Emperor Probus made upon the Circus, after his Triumph over the Germans. " He gave, fays he, a great hunting, where the People got an " advantage by the Havock made in it. He " caused his Scu'diers to pluck up Trees by "the Roots, and by covering them with "Earth, fet them again, fo that the Circus "feemed on a fudden to become a flourish-"ing Wood, which he filled with Otri-"ches, Stage, Wild Boars, Bulls, and Wild-"Goats. All these Beafts were left to the " People, and every one catched what he "pleafed. Another Day he gave an hunt-"ing of an Hundred Lions upon the Am-"phitheatre, which being let out, made a "Noife like Thunder with their terrible "roarings. In the same Place an Hundred "Lybian Leopards, and as many Syrian; and "an Hundred Liche, and Three Hundred " Bears, were prefented fighting toge-"ther.

Men entred the Combate with fierce Beafts. The Fencers and Slaves fought artificially with Lions, and Leopards, and often conquered and flew them.

Criminals also, who were condemned, were exposed to Beafts without any Arms to defend themselves, and often they were hound, and the People were pleafed to fee them torn in pieces, and devoured by those Mingry Creatures. This was the most usual Punishment, which the Pagan Emperors inflifted upon the first Christians, whom they win the Favour of the King, who was an- ordered to be given to the Beafts, damest at Belias.

Some Freemen also to give proof of their Skill and Courage would fight with Women themselves, according to the Relation of Suctonius, would dare to divert the Emperor, and People, by engaging with the most cruel Beasts.

Lastly, Theie Creatures were made tofight one with another, Lions with Bears. Rhinoceros's with Elephants, which would fhew much Activity and Cunning in fo great BIAS, of Priese, a Philosopher, and one. of the Seven wife Men of Greece. The City, where he lived, being taken, he fled, and would not carry any of his Goods with him. His Fellow Citizens asked him, why he did not take his Goods with him, he replyed. "All that is mine, I have with me : meaning his Wildom and Mind.

BIBLIOTHECA, a Library, a Room filled with Books.

The Kings of the Race of Attalus, being Lovers of Sciences and Learning, built a Lie brary at Pergamus. King Prolemy did the like at Alexandria. Plutarch writes, that the Kings of Pergamu's Library contained Two Hundred Thousand Volumes, but was much inferior to that of the Kings of E. gypt, which Aulus Gelliss affures us had Seven flundred Thousand; and Gallen tells us. that the Kings of Egypt were so very zealous to increase the number of the Books of their Library, that they would give any price for the Books, which were brought them, which gave an Occasion of forging abundance of Books, and attributing them to fuch Authors, as did not compose them, that they might put a greater value upon

This Library was burnt by the Roman in the first War, which they made in Egypt. Aulus Gellius fays, that it was fet on Fire through mere carelessness, and that not by the Roman Soldiers, but by their Auxiliary Troops; which he may be thought to speak, that he might free his own Nation from the imputation of fo barbarous an action, fince the Perfiams, as illiterate as they were thought', spared the Library of Athens, when Xerxes had taken that City, and fet it on fire.

The Roman Emperors erefted diverse Libraries at Rome with great expence, and much magnificence; and Augustus caused a beautiful and spacious Gallery to be made in Apollo's. Temple, that he might put sherein a Library of Greek and Latin Books.

BIBLIS, The Daughter of Miletus and the Nymph Cyane, who being fallen in Love with her Brother Caunus, and finding no way, to enjoy him, banged herfelf. Ovid in his Metamorpholes fays, that the Gods changed her into a Fountain, which bears the fame Name.

BIG Æ, a Chariot for Rucing, drawn by two Horfes a-breaft.

RIGATINUMMI, Pieces of Money, stamped with the Figure of a Chariot drawn with Two Horses a breast.

BISSEXTUS, the Odd day, which is inferted in the Kalendar every fourth Year, that the Year may equal the Course of the Sun. This Intercalation . or Interpolition was found out by Julius Cafar, who having observed, that the Sun finished its course in Three Hundred Sixty Five Days, and about Six Hours, added one whole day every Fourth Year, that he might take in these Hours, and this Day he inserted next the 23. Day of Fibruary, which at that time was the laft Month of the Year among the Remant. It was called BISSEXTUS, because the Sixth of the Ca'ends of March was then twice counted, bis fexto Calendas Martiat, and that Year had 366 Days

BITO, and CLEOBIS, the Sons of Argia, the Priesters of June. When their Mother was going to the Temple of that Goddels in a Chariot drawn with Oxen, and the Oxen moved too flow, thefe Brethren drew their Mothers Chariot to the Temple of June, and their Mother when she had facrificed to the Goddels, begg d a Reward for her Children, who voluntarily fubmitted their Necks to the Yoke. This was granted; for when they had feafted plentifully upon the Sacrifice, they lay down to fleen, and were both found dead together without Pain, and had the Honour of that

BITUMEN, a black Juice, which will grow hard, by putting into Vinegar, yet will fwim upon Warer. It cannot be cut with Iron, nor Brais, nor will it mix with Menfirmous Blood. The People of the Country affure us, that Biromen runs together on heaps, and is driven by the Winds, or drawn to the Shore, where it is dried both by the heat of the Sun, and the Exhalations of the Earth, and then they cut it, as they do Stone or Wood. There was fuch an Abundance of it at Babylon, fays Vitruvius, that they used it for Morter to . build their Walls.

BOCCHYRIS, King of Egypt. He was so just in his Judgments, that according to Diodorus, the Egyptians made use of his Name, as a mark of just and upright Judgment. 'Tis said that in his time (which was in the Days of Romulus and Remus, the: Founders of Rome) a Lamb spoke.

BOEDROMIA, Feafts, which the Athenians celebrated every Year in Honour of Apollo, for the Victory which Thefeus gain -ed over the Amazons. From it Apollo had the name of Boedromius.

BONA DEA, the good Goddess, named by the Ancients, Fatua, or Senta. This Deity was had in great Veneration by the Reman Ladies. She was Dryas the Wife of Faunus, of an exemplary Chaftity : They facrificed to her in the Night, in a little Chappel, into which it was not permitted to Men to enter, or be present at her Sacrifices : whence it is that Cicere imputes it to Gledius as a Crime, that he had entred into this Chappel in a Difguife, and by his Presence had polluted the Myfleries of the good Goddefs.

This Sacrifice was kept Yearly in the House of the High-Priest, and that by his Wife with the Virgins confecrated to the Good Goddeis. By her, some understand the Earth, and 'tis for that reason, that she is facrificed to by the People, because nothing is fo dear to them as the Fruits of the Earth. This is no just Ground, why the Romans might not understand by this Deity an ancient Queen of Italy, named Fauna, for most of the Heathen Gods had a double Relation in this kind; and this was the Occalion of it.

It is certain that in the primitive Times, all their Worship terminated upon material Beings, as the Heaven, Stars, Earth, Sea, Woods, Rivers, and other things of the like Nature, which the first Men through Ignorance believed to be the fole Causes of all the Good or Evil that happens in the World: Bur as Opinion can find no flop, when once the Bounds of Nature are passed over, the religious Respect, which they entertained for these Beings, extended itself with more Reason to the Persons themselves, who had invented this Worship, and had perswaded | others to it. This Adoration increased more and more in following Ages, through the Respect which Antiquity begets, and great Preeminence it gives to all things, and because Men have always had an inclination to think the Gods like themselves, for this Reason, which Gieero gives (which is) that there is nothing, that appears fo excellent to Man, as Man himself, they came by Degrees not only to deify the Inventers of there Worships, but also to confound them with the Deiries, which they had found out. Hence it came to pais, that the fame God was worshipped in several Places of the World under different Names, as all the Mythologists confess, because they bore the Name of those eminent Persons, who had each of them fettled their Worship in those Countries. Wherefore 'tis probable, that 'twas Fauna, who first began the Worthip of Tires (or the Earth) at least in Italy; fince the was after confounded with that Deity there. She was called Bona Da, or the Good Goddess by way of Excellency, and that for the best Reason in the World. because there is no being that does Men more good.

If the Sex of this Queen were not enough to make us think this Deiry rather to be a Female than a Male, fince they are often not diffinguished, yet that which bears Fruits as the Earth doth, hath to much greater likeness to a Woman, than a Man, that we need fearch no farther for a Reafon; and this is the manifest cause, why Women were only to perform her Service, and Men totally excluded.

This Non-admission might also proceed from this Story. That this devout Queen was so chast, that no Man, but her own Husband ever faw her, nor knew her proper name, for the was called Fauna in after Ages for no other Reason, but because her Husband's name was Faunus. In Respect therefore to her fignal Chastity it was, that all Men are forbidden to be prefent at her Worship, the High-Priest himfelf in whose House it was performed, and who was the Chief-Minister in all others, not excepted; for he was obliged to depart out of his House before they began, and carry along with him all the Men which were there, of what Quality foever they were. All Pictures also which represented any Male were covered; the vestal Virgins were fummoned to it. Of all Plants with which the House was to be aderned, only the Myrtle was forbicden, because it was consecrated to Penus, and her Service began just at Night.

- Velari şiltura jubetur Quecunque alterius Sexus imitata figuram eft. luv.

BOOTES. Charles's Wain, a Constellation in the Heavens called by the Greeks. Artophilax, which fignifies, the Keeper of the Bear, because he drives a Chariot drawn by Fourteen Stars after the manner of an Ox-

BOREAS, the North Wind, called also Aquile ; it blows between the Griental and the North Solflice. The Poets feign him to be the Son of Aftreus, and falling in Love with Orythia, ftole her, that he might have the Enjoyment of her.

Philofirates makes Boreas the King of the Winds, who fent his Two Children, Zethes (that is to fav, a strong Blast, and Calais i.e. a gentle Gale) in the Expedition to Colchos. "But Apollonius Rhodius gives us 2. " more particular Account of this Fable. "The Children of Boreas, fays he, were al-" fo in the Expedition at Colcher. He begat "them of the Nymph Orythia, whom he " (tole from Athens.

These Two Persons had gilded Scales, which covered their Shoulders, and Wings on their Feet, with a long Purple Head of Hair. They drove the Harpies which much molested Phineus King of Thrace, into the Island Strophades, but were warned by Iris, to defift from the Pursuit, that they might not hurt Jupiter's Dogs, as the Harpies

Paulanias tells us, that the People of Megalopolis in Greece, gave as great Honour to the Wind Boreas, as to any God whatfoever, because he had affisted them with a great Force against the Attempt made upon them by the Lacedemonians.

They dedicated, fays the fame Author, in his Eighth Book, Page 513, an Altar to the Wind Boreas, and the Citizens offer'd a Sacrifice to him every Year. Borem ara dicata eft, cui anniversarium Megalopolitani Sacrumfaciunt, &cc.

When Homer fays, that the North Wind was transformed Into a Stone-Horse, and covered feveral fine Mares, of which he begat Twelve Colts fo fwift and light, that they could run upon the tops of flanding Corn without breaking it, and upon the Waves of the Sea without making any Impression upon them, 'twas becaute he really believed that they were ce of the Wind.

Virgil relates that as a true Story of the Well Wind, which Homer speaks of Boreas, as Fable.

BOS, an Ox, a Beaft, which the Ancients offered in Sacrifice to several of their Deiries, as Jupiter the Chief of their Gods, and fuch an Ox according to Homer ought to be Five Years old. Yet Plut arch affures us, that Solon forbad by his Laws, that Oxen fhould be facrificed ; but Elian explains it of Oxen used in plowing.

Oxen were also sacrificed to Cybele the Mother of the Gods, and those Sacrifices were for that reason called Tauropelia, to return Thanks to that Goddess of the Earth, for teaching Menthe Art of taming shofe Creatures, and using them in tilling the Ground.

The Greeks also offered black Bulls to Nepsune, to denote the raging of the Sea when it is moved.

The Superstition of the Ancients proceeded to far as to offer Hecatombs, or Sacrifices of an Hundred Oxen to Jupi-

Strabe teaches us, that thefe Hecatombs came from the Laccdemonians, who every Year offered a Sacrifice of an Hundred Oxen in the name of an Hundred Cities, which were under their Command and Go-

But these Expences appearing too great to some Persons, they educed these Sacrifices to Twenty five Oxen, and Juppofed through a Childish Distinction, that because these Oxen had each of them Four Feet, it was fufficient to make an Hecatomb, that there was the number of an Hundred found in those parts. One of the Ancients finding himfelf in great Danger upon the Sea, through a Tempest, promised to offer an Hecaton b, if he escaped; but being not able to discharge his Vow by reason of his Poverty, he contrived to make an Hundred fmall Oxen of Dough. and to offer them to the Gods that had delivered him. Some attribute this false Hecatomb to Pythagoras; for Diogenes Larring tells us, that the Philosopher having found out a new Demonstration in his Trigonometry, offered an Hecat-tomb of these Artificial Creatures to the Gods.

BRABEIA, the Rewards, which the Ancients gave to Actors, Dancing-Wo-

Mares, that would conceive by the Influen- | men, Jack-puddings, Vaulters, and Stage: players.

> BRABEUTES, was he, who in the publick Shows and Plays, ordered them, provide the Expence, and distributed the Rewards.

> BRACCE. Breeches, the Linnen which covers the fecret Parts, as our Linings, This word is from the Celta, who gave the Name of Gallia Bracata to that part of France called afterward Gallia Narboneniis. They were a fort of Breeches, or as others think, a fhort Gown: Mr. Du Cange accounts them, that part of the Cloaths, that cover the Thighs, as our Breeches do; that the word comes from Brace, or Brace, because they were thort. Salmalius will have it to be derived from Begins, and others think it comes from the Hebrew Beret, which fignifies a Knee, because that Garment reached no further than their Knees.

> BRACHIALE, a defensive Armour to secure the Arm.

The Compleat Horsemen of Oil wore them. The Switz-Foot also do so now. but they are only the Pike-men.

BRACHMANES, Brachmans, Philotophers, and Poets among the Indians. Strabe gives us an elegant Description of these Brackmans, and represents them to us. as a Nation devoted as much to Religion, as the 7ems were.

"As foon as their Children are born, their "Doctors come and blefs their Mothers. "and give them some virtuous Instructions. "While they are in their Infancy, they an-" point them Masters, and accustom them to "a thrifty way of Living. They teach "their Philosophy in Woods, and allow "none to marry, till they are Thirty Seven "Years of Age; Their Life is very labo. " rious and mortifying, but after that they allow fomething more Liberty. Their Do-" Etrine was, that this Life is only a preparation and passage to an eternal and hap-"py Life to those who live well; That "the joy, and grief, good and evil of this "World are but Dreams and Fantoms "They were much of the fame Opinions " with the Greeks; that the World had a "beginning, and should have an end. That "God made it, governs it, is present in it, " and fills it.

" Strabe afterward relates a Discourse, " which Alexander the Great had with one "of the most famous Brachmans, named Calan " nut, who laughed at the rich Garments "of Alexander, telling him, that in the "Golden Age, Nature produced a great "Plenty of those things, but now Jupiter "had changed the State of Affairs and ob-"liged Men to procure themselves another " fort of Plenty by Arts, Labour, and Thrif-"tiness; that Men began to abuse this "fecond Favour, which was a just Reason "to think that the World was now quite " changed.

"St. Clement of Alexandria speaks of the " Brachmans almost in the same manner as " Strabo. He affures us that they would " not eat any living Creature, nor drink "Wine: observed a continual Continency, "ear but once a Day, and some of them on'y "once in Two or Three Days; and that "they looked upon Death, as a Passage into " another Life.

BRANCHIDÆ, the Priests of Apolla Didymeus, who uttered his Oracles near the Promontory of Ionia. This Name was from one Branchus a Theffalian, who affirmed himself to be the Son of Apollo, and to whom Sacrifices were offered, as to a God.

BRIAREUS, one of the Giants, the Son of Culum and Terra, who had an Hundred Arms according to the Fable. He was chosen by the Sun and Nestune, to decide their difference about the Territory of Corinth, which he adjudged to Neptime, and gave the Sun the Promontory above the City.

BRITANNICUS, the Son of the Emperor Claudius and Messalina. His Mother-in-Law Agrippina, raifed Nero to the Empire, to his Prejudice, by means of Tiberius. He was poisoned at the Age of Fourteen Years by Nero's Order. The Account which Tacitus gives of him, is this. "Among " other Pattimes, which the Youth used at "the Feast of the Saturnalia, there was a " certain Play, in which they made a King, "who commanded all the Company. It fell "to Niro's Lot to be chosen, who gave tri-"fling Commands, fometimes to one, and " fometimes to another; but when he came " to Britamicus, he ordered him to rife up, " and reherfe some Verses, thinking to make " him laughed at : but he not feeking to ex-"cufe himfelf, began a Poem, wherein he " complained of the Wrong done him, and " described the Misfortune of a Prince, who had been deprived of his Kingdom, where by he moved the Compassion of all pa-"fent. Then Nere being nearly touched " with this Affront, refolved to kill him ims " mediately by poisoning him, and to that end gave a Commission to the Captain of " the Praterian Band, named Pollie, who "had in his Custody, that famous Woman "for poisoning, named Locusta, whom he " had before made use of, to destroy the Father of Britannicus.

"It was a Custom for the Emperors. "Children, to dine with the other Princes, " who were of the same Age, at a Table "that was not ferved with fo much State, "Wherefore to prevent that the Person " who was to tast Britannicus's Meat and " Drink thould not be poisoned, they gave "him fome Drink a little too hot, which " when he had tafted he gave to the young "Prince, who refusing to drink it, they "gave him fome cooler Water, which was poisoned, and seized all his Members in " fuch a manner, that he loft his Speech, and "Life in an Instant. He was carried into " Mars's Field with very little Ceremony, "but in fo great a Tempest, that the Pco-" ple tool: it for a mark of the divine An-"ger, who detefted so black and infamous an Action.

BRONTES, one of the Cyclops, who wrought in Vulcan's Forge, fo called from the Greek Word Reservi which fignifies Thunder, because of the Noise and Clatter, which he makes upon his Anvil. Hefied makes him the Son of Calum and Terra, as well as the other Cyclops, Styropes, and Pyrac-

BROTHEUS, the Son of Vulcan and Minerva, who feeing himfelf derided for his Deformity, cast himself into the Fire. preferring Death before a contemptible

BRUMALIA, the Saturnalia, which were kept at the Winter Solftice, or upon the shortest Day of the Year. See SATUR-NALIA.

BRUTUS, the Name of Several Remans. Lucius Junius Brutus, the Founder of the Liberry and Common-wealth of Rome, which had been governed by Seven Kings Successively. He had feemed till the Death of Lucretia to be of a very dull and flow Wit. but the Death of that famous Woman change him on a fudden, for he delivered a functal

Oration in praise of her so well that the People looked upon this Proof of his excellent Wit and Elequence for a Prodigy, and Miracle from the Gods. The People at the Conclusion of this Speech cried out, LIBERTY, and made Bratus Conful, giving him an absolute Power. He was flain in a fingle Fight with Arms, the Son of Tarquinius, but flew his Enemy at the fametime. The Reman Matrens lamented him, and wore Mourning for him a whole Year, acknowledging him the Revenger of the violated Ghaftity of their Sex, in the Person of Lacretia.

BUL

M. and Decins Brutus, were the Institutors of the Shews of Gladiators at Rome, which before had never been used in any Mans Memory. They introduced them in Honour of the Funerals of their Fathers.

According to Florus these Shews did not begin till Three Years after.

There was another Eretus of the fame Family, who was one of the Murtherers of Julius Calar. He was driven from Rome by Authory, and killed himfelf in the Phiboick Field, a little time after.

BUCCINA, a fort of Trumpet, used by the Remens in their Wars.

BUCEPHALUS, the Horse of Alexander the Great, that is to fay, Ox-head, because of his Cross-fight, which made him flay, and Fiery, or because he had a Neck and Head like a Bull. He would not fuffer that any Person should mount him but Alexander, In the War with the Indians, he exposed himself to the Enemies Darts to fave his Master, and finding himfelf wounded, he fled out of the Battle, and when he had carried Alexander to a Place of Safety he died, at which this Prince was much troubled, and made a Magnificent Euneral for him. In the Place where he was buried, he built a City, which he named from him Bucephalia, twas in the Indies, as Pliny relates, lib. 6. c. 10.

BULLA, a Boft, or Ring, or Medal, which the Romans wore upon their Breaft, and was used as an Omament for such as rode in Triumph. The Children of the Nobility wore it with their Garment. called Pratrata, bordered with Purple, and never went without it, till they put off that Carment, as Perfius tells us.

Cum primum pavide cuftes mihi purpura ceffit, Bullaque succinttia Laribus donata pependit. Sat. V. v. 30.

Pliny discovers to us the Original of this Ornament thus. He fays, that the Son of Tarquinius Prifess, the Fifth King of Rome, when he was but Fourteen Years of Age, shewed an extraordinary Courage in the War against the Sabines, and flew one of his Enemies Captains with his own Hand. His Father commended this Action before all the People, and as a Reward of it, gave him a Robe edged with Purple, and adorned with this Bulla, or Ring, which he hung upon his Breaft, and came down as far as his Stomach, as the Popish Bishops Croffes do. In thefe Bulle they had Prefervatives against Enchantments, and Witchcraft. In after times it became a Custom to give this Ornament to Noblemens Children, animate them by this Badge of Vertue to behave themselves valiantly in War, and at the same time to preserve them from the Contempt of Men.

These Bulla were made in different Shapes. as we may observe, but chiefly those that were worn against Enchantments, for they often resembled the Privy Parts of Beasts. and Men.

BUSIRIS, the Son of Neptune, who under a Pretence of entertaining Strangers flew them, and offered them in Sacrifice to Jupiter, which flirred up Hercules to kill him, to revenge that cruel Inhumanity. Hence this Name was made Proverbial, to express such as love Murther and Blood-

BUSTUM, a Pile of Wood, or the Place where the Bodies of dead Perfons were burnt in ancient times. They whose Businels it was to prefide over it, were called BUSTUARII.

BYRSA, the Tower of Carthage. The Word is Greek, and fignifies a Skin, because 'tis faid, that Dide flying from the Anger of her Brother came into Africa, and boughe as much Ground of Jarbae, as a Bulls Skin could cover, but the contrived. to cut the Skin into Thongs, and by that Means gained a large piece of Ground, big enough to build a Castle on, and named it BYRSA, as we understand from Virgil, Liber. 3. Eneid. v. 374.

Marcatique folum facti de nomine Byrfam. Taurino quantum postint circundara tergo,

This Densius explains of the Leather Money, which anciently was in use, and with which Dids paid King Jarbas for the Land she bought of him.

C

The third Letter of the Alphabet, and one of those Consonants, called Mutes.

It is pronounced different ways, but usually like a K, unlefs before the Vowels, A, O, and U, when 'its pronounced fometimes like an S, and then a little Line is drawn from the bottom of it C, which the Printers call a C with a Tail, but the Fench's a Cadille.

C, is a numeral Letter among the Ancients, and stands for an Hundred, but with a Line drawn over the top, C, it signifies an Hundred Thousand.

When we meet in History with a fingle C, it denotes Cenjul, when with a double CC, it for the most part fignifies Confuls.

This Letter has a near Relation to G, and Q for G, is but a diminutive of C, in the Judgment of Zuintilan, fo like are they one to the other, for of welspinn, we make Gubranton, va.69, Girls, and of Egi, altum. Reintillan further adds, that its not material whether Gain or Gneiss, be written with a C, or a G, and of persisere, (which is fill in use in Sacrifices) is made purigere, and the like

There is the like Affinity between C, and Q, so that several Grammarians have cash out Q, as a superfluous Letter, affirming that C, and V, are sufficient to express whatever is written with Q, and 'tis worth our Observation, that the Greek lawe no Q, which is taken from the Coph, or Koppa of the Syriam, and in French it has not a different Pronunciation from a single K, or C, before A, Q, and U.

This Letter was accounted a fad, and, faral Letter among the Ancients, because they made use of it, in the Sentences of Criminals, being fet upon their Tickets, or Ballots, for, I condemn the accused, Condemns.

CABIRI, the great Gods of Samethrace. Varre calls them Divi patentes, and they are the same which the Samethracian name.

Among the Greeks, this Letter has a Shape of the Round C Sigma, much in the ancient Monuments engraved in the Times of the Roman Emperors from to Confantine.

GABALA, an Hebrew Word, which fignifies Respite, which is a feerer Rnowledge that the Jow pretend to receive by Tradition and divine Revelation, by which they explain all Myferies of Divinity, and all the Operations of Nature. They foend most of their Time in making Myferious Comparisons of things to the Lecters of the Hebrew Alphaber, in which they shew much Ingensity, but with as much Vanity and Superstition. Dr. Rabing Fluids an Eurliph Man has made large Difficutives and Apologies for it, in his Nine great Volumes, which may be consulted.

CABALISTA, a Cabalift, one who is well skilled in the Jewish Cabalifical Learning.

CABALLUS, the Horfe Profest to which the Pable has given Wrings, as he flew to Mount Helicon, he caused a Fountain to rise out of a Rock by a Blow of his Hough, from whence it was named Hippacrons, or the Fountain of the Ionfa It was confectated to Apils and the Maja, and upon that account its feigned that the Poests drank of that Water to make their Poems to be admired and approved. Prins would have us to understand that much by the first Verses of his first Settler.

Nec fonte Inbra prolui Gaballino : Nec in bicipiti somniasse Pernasso Memini, ut repente sic Posta prodirem.

I never dipped my Lips in the Waters of the Fountain of the Horse Pegalus. I do not remember, that I ever stept upon Parnassus, which has Two Tops, that I might immediately commence Poet.

The Quirinal Mount at Rome was called Caballus, in the time of the Roman Emperors, because of the Marble Statue of Alexander the Great, taming his Horse Busephalus. Set there. mine, the contential Gods, which are Colum and Iteras. Apallenius in the first Book of his Augustate, will have their Gods to be Four in Number, to which he gives thefe barboros Names, though forbidden to discover them. A X I E R O S, which is Certs, A X I O k E R S A, which is Fleter, and C A S M I L L U S, or C A-MI L L U S, which is Mercury. Others fay, they were but Two, J U P I T E R, and D I O N Y S U S, forme think, they were called Codivir from certain Mountains of Phrysia, which have the fame

CIB

The Fragment of Smemiathus quoted by Befehrs, tell us, that at British in Phomicia, they worshipped certain Gods called Cabirif, nifes Great and poserful. We are also taught from the same Fragments, that the God Cabiri, were the Sons of Jupiter, and were called D I O S C U R E S, i.e. Children of Jupiter, S A M O T H R A C E S, because they were worshipped in the Isle that bears the same Name.

Herudetus relates, that Cambyfes being in £gypt, and treating whatever the £gypt stars counted Holy with Contempt, and Ralliery, went into the Temple of the Cabiri, and laughing at their Images, burnt them.

The other Nations of the World imitated the Ægptism, and had their Cabiri, as well as they, whom they honoured in their. Temples.

The Scholiast on Appllonia Rhodias, says, that there were at first but Two Cabin, Justice, and Bacchast, but names others afterward, wize. A X I E R O S, A X I O L E R S A, and A X I O K E R S A, and A X I O K E R S A, which is M E R C U R Y.

M. Bulbard derives these Names from the Hebrew Tongue, for he tells us that A X I. EROS, is the same with Actins eritz, that it to say, the Earth it my Polysium, so that it can be no other but Gers, A X IO & ERSOS, and A X IO & ERSOS, and Profession is Death and Deffreylina; as for enablated by Plute and Profession; is so to consider the was rather a Minister of the, Gods Cadiri, then one of them, for Plutarch says, that the Greeks and Remens gave that Name to a young Officer in Jupice's Temple, as the Greeks gave it to Marsor, having that it have it, that in the Tuskas Lan-grage, Mescary was called Cafmillur, 4s being the Minister of the Gods.

Strabs mentions the Opinion of Some, who held that there were but Three Gods, Cabiri, as also Three Nymphs Cabiri, Cabiris it is the Nymphs Cabiri, Cabiris it is the Cabiris in the there were a first, but Thace Cabiri, as Torsullian afferts positively in his Book at 35 getlesulis. Marchisus is of Opinion, that the Gods, which Euses carried from Try into Luly, were these Gods Cabiri, and 'cis for this Reason that Virgil calls them the ereas Gods.

Dimpfine Halizamaffesu relates at large from the Credit of Califfratus, the Story of these great Gods, which Dandsmus carried out of Arcadia, into the Isle of Samusiarace, and from thence to Try, where he placed the Fate of Try. He adds that Emeir carried them afterward into Italy. Herothitus gives the Name of Casiri to the Gods of Samusiarace, and says, that they were the Pelassi, and themisast together, that carried them into Samusiarace.

CACA, the Sister of Cocus, worshipped by the Romens in a little Chappel, called after her Name, where the Vestal Virgins went to offer Sacrifices.

CACUS, the Son of Vulcan and Medifa. whom the Fable represents to us with Three Heads, casting Fire and Flames out of his Nostrils. as Plutarch tells us. Cacus according to History was the Servant of Evander, a very wicked Man, who committed great Robberies. He attacked Herceles, as he returned out of Spain, and robbed him of most of his Cattel, drawing them into his Cave by their Tails, that his Robberty might not eafily be discovered; but Hircules having found it by Cains's Sifter, and by the lowing of the Cattel, he flew the Thief and buried him in his Cave throwing it down upon him. Hercules in Gratitude built an Altar to JUPITER the FINDER, near the Gate called Triremine, and facrificed a Bull to him upon

CADAVER, a dead Corple. Lation in his treatife of Mourning has made a pleafant and useful Description of the Ceremonies used about dead Perions, and fave

"After the nearest Relation has received "a dead Person, and closed his Eyes, his next Bulinels is to put a piece of Money into his Mouth to pay the Ferry-man of Hell, who is Charen, but never considers whether it be Money that is current in "that Country, fo that in my Opinion he had better give him nothing, than that he should be constrained to fend it back again. After this Ceremony he washes the Body of the dead Person with warm Water, as if there were no Water below, " or that he were to affift at a Festival, at "his first Arrival : Besides this, he per-"fumes him, crowns him with Flowers, "and puts him on his best Cloths, either "because they fear he will dye of cold by "the way, or that otherwise he will not be treated according to his Quality. All " is accompanied with Complaints and " Mourning, Tears and Sobs, to agree with " the Mafter of the Ceremony, who orders all " Matrers, and recites with fuch a mournful "Voice all his former Calamities it would " make them weep, if they had never feen him. "Then some tear their Hair, others beat "rheir Breafts, or fcratch their Faces, " fome rend their Cloaths and cast dust up-"on their hieads, or fall down upon the "Ground, or throw themselves against the "Walis. So that the dead Man is the most "happy of all the Company, for while his "Friends and Relations torment themselves, "he is fer in some eminent Place, washed, " cleanfed, perfumed, and crowned, as if he " were to go into Company. Then his "Father or Mother if he had any, leave the Gompany and go to him to embrace thim with fuch ridiculous Lamentations, "as would make him burft with Laughter, "if he could be fensible of it: There are "feme, who at the Death of their Relations, kill their Horses and Slaves, to send them for their Ufe into the other World, " and burn or bury with them, their most " valuable Goods, as if they would be ufe-"ful to them. Nevertheless, all that these "People do, is neither for the Dead, who "can know nothing of it, though they "cried Ten Times as loud, nor for them-"felves, for then they might act in Silence. "So that, if it be not done meerly for " Custom fake, 'tis only for fear they should "be thought to have no Friendship for, or "good Opinion of their Neighbours. " If he could be fensible of what they do, "doubtles be would fay, why do ye lament "me fo much, and torment your felves for me, who am happier than you? Is it "besauft the Darknels wherein I am frights you, or because you think I am Imothered with the Weight of my Tomb ? But a Dead Man has nothing to fear, fince now. " he is past all Apprehensions of Death, and my burnt or putrified Eyes have no need to fee the Light. Belides, were I miferable, what good could all your Complaints do, or the imitings of your Breaks to the Tunes of Inflruments, and this " crowned Tomb, these Tears, and Lamen-"tation of Women? Do you think this "Wine which you pour out, runs down to "Hell, or is good to drink in another "World ; as for the Beafts which you but. " in Sacrifice one part of them rifes in Smoke and the rest is confumed into Ashes, which " are very indifferent Food.
U 2

"This fort of mourning for the Dead, "was much alike at Rome and Greece. But their Burials differ according to the Diatrick and the Burials differ according to the Diatrick and the Burials differ according to the Diatrick and the bury them, and the other embaim them." I have been prefent at the Fealts in "Expr. where they for them at the end of their Table; and fometimes a Man or "Woman is forced to deliver up the Body of his father or Mother to conform to that "Cultom."

"As for Monuments, Columns, Pyramids, and Inferiptions, nothing is more uses left; there are fome that celebrate Plays in Memory of the Dead, and make Fan erail Orations at their Burials, as if they would give them a Certificate or Toffinmonial of their Life and Manners.

"After all this, fome treat the Company, where the Friends comfort you, and define you to eat. How long fay they, will you lament the dead? You can't reall them to Life again, by all your Teart? Will you kill your felves with Despair for your Friends, and leave your Children or The San Leave you may moura the longer. Thus far Lucian.

When the Body is laid upon the Pile of Wood to be burnt, fome Person opens his Eyes, as it were to make him look up to Heaven, and having called him several Times with a loud Voice, his next Relation sets Fire to the Pile of Wood with a Torch, turning his Back. upon. it to thew that he does that Service for the Dead with

Pliny is of Opinion, that burning of the Bodies of the Dead, was not ancient at Reset

Rust. We do not, fays he, find, that any of the Cornelian Family were burnt, till Syl le; but Pliny feems to contradict himfelf, when he writes, that King Name forbad to pour Wine upon the Fires, which were kindled for the burning of the Dead; and Platerch affures us, that Name did ftrictly forbid that his Body should be burnt after his Death, but he ordered Two Tombs of Stone to be built, in one of which his Body should be laid, and in the other those holy Books which be had written about Religion, and the Worship of the Gods, which is Proof that burning of Bodies was very ancient, and that it was at least uted in his Time. The Laws of the XII Tables, which were made Three Hundred Years after the building of Rome, which forbad the Burial, or burning of Bodies within the City, does not at all favour the first Opinion of Pliny, for nothing elfe can be concluded ; but that there were Two ways of disposing of dead Bodies in use, burying, or burning, and both were forbidden within the City to avoid Infection, and fecure is from the danger of Fires, which might happen by that means.

Citero reaches us, that the Cultom of burying Bodies was introduced at Atlent, by Georpt, and that they buried them with their Faces to the Wift, whereas at Megara they turned their Faces to the Eafl. The Cultom of burying Bodies lasted a very long time rhroughout all Greece, and that of burning them came from the Gymmlophistic of India, who had used it long before.

The Egyptians embalm the Bodies of the Dead, to preferve them from Corruption. The Ethipians had diverfe ways; sometimes they cast them into the Currents of Brooks and Rivers, fonetimes they burnt them or put them in Earthern Vessels, according to the Testimony of Heredossu and Strebs.

The Indians eat them, that by this cusious Secret, they might give them a fecond Life by converting them into their own Subfrance.

Those People whom Heredotsu calls, the Macrobies, or Lang-lived dry the Bodies, then paint their Faces with white, and forestore them to their Natural Colour and Complexion.

Then they wrapt them up in a Pillar of Glass, in which having kept the Body a whole Year they set it up in some place sear the City, where all might see it.

Disdous Siculus relates that there were certain People, who after they had burnt the Bodies, put their Alhes and Bones into Statues of Gold, Silver, and Earth, covering. them over with Glafs.

The Garamantes bury their dead on the Shore in the Sand, that they may be washed by the Sea.

When the Body of the dead is confumed by the Fire, and all prefent have taken their laft farewell, Val atternum nu coording, you Natura volucit, fequency, the nearest Relations gather up the Afnes and Bones, which they sprinkle with holy Water, and then put them into Urns of different Marter, to set them in their Tombs, pouring out Tears, upon them, which being catched in small Vessels, called Lacymateria, they are likewise reposited with the Urn in the

It is very uncertain how they could gather the Ahes, and keep them mingling with those of the Wood and other things, which were burnt with the Bodies. Pliny mentions a fort of Linnen which grows in the Indies, called by the Greks, Abblin, Abgling—art to be burnt, of which is made a Cloath that will not burn, although it he cast into the Fire. In this the Body being wrapped up, the Ashes of it may easily be kept together without mixing with those of the Wood; but this is not probable, fince the same Pliny tells us, that this Cloth was very rare, and was preserved for the Kings of the Country only.

Perhaps they made use of another Cloath made of the Stone Amiantar, which Pliny fays, they had the Art of spinning at that Time, and Plutareh assures us, that in his Age there was a Quarry of that Stone in the Isle of Ngrypost, and the like is found in the Isle of Cyprus, Tines, and elsewhere.

They might have also some other Invention, as to let the Body upon the Fire an a Coffin of Brais or Iron, from whence ar was easy to gather the Ashes and Bones that were not confirmed.

C. A. D. M. U. S., the Son of Jagener, King of Phombics, who was font by his Father to find out Europe, which Jupiter had zaken away, but not hearing of her after feveral long and dangerous Voyages, he went to confluit the Oracle of Daphi, who ordered him to huild a City in the Place, whither an Ox flouid lead him. And preparing in the first place to factifice to the Gods, he Jeno his Companions to the Fountain of Direc, which was near, to fetch him fome Water, but they were deveured by a Dragon. Mineres to comfort him for this Lofs, advised him to go and flay the Monster, and to fow its Teeth upon the Earth. This being done, he faw armed Men immediately to grow up, who flew one another, except Five who furviving that Slaughter helped him to build the City, which he called Theles, and reigned there feveral Years. He married Harmonia, or according to Ovid, Hermione, the Daughter of Mars and Venus, by whom he had feveral Children, which came all to miferable ends. Cadmus was expelled out of Thebes by Amphion, and went into Europe with the Phanicians. 'Tis faid that he brought with him Sixteen Letters of the Greek Alphabet, that he taught to write in Profe and that he was the first that fer up Images in the Temples of the Gods He was changed into a Serpent with his Wife, through the Anger of the God Mars, because he slew the Dragon which kept the Fountain of Direct.

Cadmur was one of the Gracian Heroes, of which the Pagans often made their Gods.

Bothars informs us, that Cadmus was one of thole Cadmmites, of whom Mojes speaks in Genefis. The Name of Cadmonites, was given them, because they lived about Mount Hermon, which was the most Easterly Coun- I ral Articles. try. It is probable that Hermiene Cadmus's Wife might have taken her Name from that Hill. And because these People were part of the Hivites, it was feigned that Cadwas and Hermione were changed into Serpents, because the Springk Word Hevens fignifies a Serpent. The Fable fays, that Cadmus having fown the Serpents Teeth, there came up armed Souldiers, which flew one another, and there furvived Five of them only, which subdued Bastis. Bechart ingeniously conjectures, that these are only Allufions to the Phanician or Hebrew words, for these Two Terms, feni nam, fignify both the Teeth of Serpents, and Points of a Sword. Hyginus tells us, that Cadmus found out Steel first at Theber, as also the Metallick Stone, of which, Steel and Copper is made, still called Cadmis. The armed Souldiers were at length reduced to Five. because the word Hames signifies Five. It imports also s Soldier girded, and ready for Bartle, because the Souldiers girded their Body about the fifth Rib.

Nevertheless fome Interpreters of Pindie relate, that Cillians and Hermine lived to a very old Age, and were by the special Page vour of the Gods carried into the Eliffer Fields in a Chariot drawn by two Dragons, which doubtlets was the Occasion of the Eubemerus, of the Isle of Cos, in the third Book of his Sacred Hiftery, will have it that Cadmus was the Cook of the King of the Cydenians, one of whose Maids, a Player the Flute he debauched, and had by her Semele, whom the put in a Cheft with Barchus, and cast her into the Sea, because the profituted her felf to Tupiter.

CAD

Such as have allegorized this Fable, fay, that Cadmus was a very valiant Prince, who conquered the Kingdom of Bastia, by force of Arms, which was then governed by a King named Drace; that he endeavoured to divide it among his Subjects, but they quarrelled and destroyed one another, and fo he invaded the Kingdom. This Hiftory made the Poets feign that he flew a Dragon, and fowing the Teeth their fprung up Men, which killed one another.

CADUCA BONA, Escheats, Goods which are forfeited to the Kings Treasury. by the Laws of Escheats which were made in the Time of Augustus, to encrease the Treasure, which was exhausted by the civil Wars. These Laws were contained in seve-

1. Thar all Persons who lived a fingle Life, should enjoy no Legacy, if they did not marry within the time limited by the Law, and if they did not, whatever they had bequeathed to them by Will, should be naid into the Treasury.

2. That those who had no Children should lofe one Movery of what was left them by Will, and this is that which the civil Law calls, Pana orbitatis.

3. All that was given by Will to any Person, who died in the Life of the Teffator, or after his Decease before the Will was opened, was an Escheat, and belonged to the Treasury.

4. Every Heir, who was negligent in revenging of the Death of him, whole Effate he inherited was deprived of hisInheritance, and it came to the Treasury. In a Word, Caducum, in the fense of the civil Law is meant of any Legacy, or Gift of Inheritance, which is void. There is a Title in the Civil Law. de caducis tollendis.

CADUCA

Signs by Birds, which are of no Ufe.

CAC

CADUCA VOTA, & CADU. CE PRECES, Fruitles Vons, and vain Provers which are not heard.

CADERE CAUSA, or LITE, to lefe his Suit or Caule. An ancient Term of Law.

CADERE VOTIS, to make Vows in vain which are not heard. To hope

CADUCEUM, en Heralds Staffe. The Wand which Mercury according to the Fable received of Apollo, in exchange of the Seven-stringed Harp, which he gave him, was fo called.

The Poets speak of many Vertues, which this Wand of Mercury had, as to lay Men alleep, and to raile the Dead. The Word comes from the Latin Cadere, which fignifies to fall, because this Wand had a force in it to appeale all Differences, and make Mens Arms to fall out of their Hands, as Mercumy proved by Two Serpents which were fighting, for he threw it down between them, and they were Friends, and from that time ofercury always carried it as an Enfign of Peace.

This Wand according to the Egyptian Mythology was streight, adorned with Two Serpents twining round it, and as it were joined together about the middle of their Bodies which feek to kifs one another, making an Arch of the highest part of their Bo-

The Amhassadours of Rome fent to make Peace carried a Wand of Gold in their Hand, and were upon that account called. Caduceateres, as those who were fent to declare War, were called FECIA-LES.

The Ancients have attributed many wonderful Effects to the Cadmaans, alluding to the Rod or Staff of Mofes, with which He did fuch Miracles in Egypt, before Phareah, and the Magicians of that Coun-

CÆCIAS, the East Wind, which blows from the Parts where the Sun rifes, and raifes Clouds, from whence comes the Proverb. It is attended with Mischief, at the Cecias with Cleate.

CADUCA AUSPICIA. Vain | CACILIUS, of Epirus, who was the Freedman of Attitus a Roman Knight. He taught Grammar at Rome and was the first who read Virgil and the other Latin Poets to his Scholars.

> There was another of that name, who was a Gaul, who has written of the Civil-Law, and of the fignification of its > CÆCUBUM, a Town of Campania, whence came the excellent Wines which Herace and others of the Poets speak so often of. Their Vineyard was destroyed by Nere; as Pliny relates.

> CÆDERE pignera; or Sellienem pignorum instituere, or pignera auctione distrabere (In the Reman Law are used to fignify) to fell by Auction, or by Parcels, the Goodswhich were feized from any one.

> CÆLIUS, one of the Seven Mountains of Rome, fo called from Celius Vibenus King of Tuscany, who assisted Romulus against the Latins. This Mountain was inclosed within Rome by Tullus Hostilius, who built his Palace there. There were many beautiful Temples upon it, viz. That of Faunus, Venus, Cupid, and the Fourth to the Emperor Claudius.

C Æ N I S, the Daughter of Elatheur, one of the Lapitha, who was beloved by Neprune, and changed into a Man that was invulnerable. He fought against the Contaure for the Lapitha, and received no Wound, but he was crushed by the Fail of some great Trees. Virgil informs us that the refumed her Sex after his Death, but Ovid will have her changed into a Bird.

C ÆR US, was called by the Greeks the God of Opportunity, and by the Latins, of Occafion. The Elians confecrated an Altar to him. Calliftratus the famous Carver has represented this God under the Form of a fair young Man, having his Hair loofe, and blown about by the Gales of the Wind, and holding a Rasor in his Hand. A certain Poet alfo calls him the youngest of Saturu's Children. Phadrus in his witty Fables has described him in the Shape of a Man with Wings, having Hair on the fore part of his Head, but being bald behind, that none can regain him when he has fuffered him, once to pals him, because he went so swife, that he could run upon the edge of a Razor | turned the Raman Empire. Cafer-was even without hurting himfelf.

CÆSA & PORRECTA. these are the Entrails taken out of a Sacrifice, when it is opened, which the Sacrificer confiders attentively, before he into the Kingdom of Pontus, where he concasts them into the Fire, to observe whether there be any Blemish, which may interrupt the Sacrifice, or cause it to be renewed, and from hence arises the Proverb used by Cicero, Evist. 18. lib. 5. ad Atticum. Multa imo omnia, quorum napakasov ne quid inter Cafa & porretta, ut aiunt, oneris mihi addatur, aut temperis. You fee all that is in my Lerrers, refer to this Head, That being upon the point of learning my Office and relinquifbing my Government, none shall involve me against my Intention and Design in new Affairs, and to oblige me to remain in my

CÆSA, and RUTA, some understand by these Words. Things moveable, which are not fastened either by Hooks or Nails to the Foundation, or any part of the Building, as belonging neither to the Maion, or Car-penter's Work. "Cum ades Paternas vende-"res, ne in ruit quidem, & cacis selium tibi " paternum recepilti. When you fold your Fathers " House, you did not referve so much to your " felf out of all his moveables, as the Chair wherein

C.ESAR, Caise Julius, Who was the first Reman Emperor.

He was the Son of Lucius Talias Calar, a Reman Conful and Prætor.

This Word Cafar, was the Surname of the Julian Family, either because the first of them was cut out of his Mothers Belly, or because he was born with much Hair : or laftly, because the Grandfather of Caise flew an Elephant, which in the Punick Language is called Cafar.

CAIUS JULIUS C ÆSAR. was of a good Stature, he had a pale Complexion, brisk Eyes, a large Nofe, fomething rifing, all Marks of a great Soul; a lover of Honour and Command, Being made Conful he went into Gallia, and fubdued it by Force. He first cressed the Sex, and made old Albion, now England, to pay tribute to the People of Rome. He made Pompey and Craffus Friends, by marrying his Daughter Julia to the former; but afterward they quarrelled in fuch a manner, as becar a civil War, which had almost overthe Conqueror, and utterly routed all Person pey's Porces in Egypt, and in the Pharfalian Field, and fo he got the Government into his Hands,

He marched from thence into Syria, and quered Pharnaces, vanquished Juba with Selpie, and Cate in Africa. Returning to Reme. he triumphed Four Times together, vie. over the Gouls, Egypt, Pontus, and Africa, and further a fifth Time for fubduing Pempey the younger in Spain.

After all these Victories he was chosen perpetual Dictator, and proclaimed Emperor, which so flirred up the Hatred and Envy of the Noblemen of Rome, that they confpired against him and slew him in the Senate-house, having given him Twenty Three Wounds with their Daggers, of which he died. Brutus and Coffins were among the Conspirators. He was Fifty Six Years old at his Death. Dr. Andreas an Italian, a Scholar of the famous Argeli, has given an excellent description of him in writing upon the Medal of this Emperor. " It is my Opinion, fays he, that Julius Ce. far being of a tall Stature, and having "brisk Eyes, and of a pale Skin, was of " a passionate Disposition, but a little me-" lancholy; his large Nose a little rising "between the Eyes, his Nostrils turning fomething upward, and flat on the top, " make his Note fomething like an Eagle's, which denotes great Courage, a lover of "Glory and Empire. His brisk and black " Eves, his Forehead a little finking in the middle, flew, that he was a Man of great " Defigns, and confrant in his Undertakings : "his Head was well shaped with Two ri-" fings behind and before, and his Forehead "lean, all which joined rogether discover "his Firness for Study and Eloquence." " He was bald on the fore part of his Head, "which fignifies his Inclination to love, " from whence it became a common faying " of his Souldiers which they fang at his Re-" turn from the East, O ge Romans, we have " brought you the bald Adulterer.

There never was any Man, who had more, Valour, feariefs Boldness, and Courage, than he, nor greater Experience in warlike Affairs, or the Art of governing, by which he subdued 300 Nations, took 800 Cities, and conquered 3 Millions of Men in feveral Battles.

He was very resolute and daring, which made him to crofs the Rhine and the Ocean to attack Germany and England, though the Wars of the Gauls, were not yet finished.

tions of Plays, and Triumphs, in which he exceeded all that had been before him, and swal- staken, when he says that it was a kind of Club, lowed up, if I may fo fay, in that prodigal Ex- for it was only a Strap of Leather, ftrengthned pence, all the Roman Bravery, and Wealth. The with Lead, or Plates of Iron, wherewith, after large Reach of his Wir was proved by his Re- the Manner of Chains lying a-crofs, they encomformation of the Time and Laws, the former of which is an hard Work still, and the other his Death prevented him from finishing, as also his should be broken, or dislocated by them. Eloquence in his learned Commentaries, which he has left of the Civil Wars, and the War with I the Poets and Painters have given to Venus and the Cauls.

He was the mildeft Prince in the World, and their Dignities, and often heaped new Honours Senate decreed, that in grateful Acknowledgment, a Temple should be built to Clemency, his Device was, Veni, Vidi, Vici, i. c. I came, I fam, I conquered.

CÆSAR OCTAVIUS, furnam'd Augustus, the Nephew of Julius, and adopted by gently rifing near the Forehead, his Hair fomewhat cur.'d. He succeeded Julius Cafar, and was Heir to his Name as well as his Vertues, and happily finith'd those Deligns of Monarchy the other had laid. He reveng'd his Death upon his Murderers, who died all a violent lieuth, and fome of them by the fame Dagger wherewith they had affathnated him. This I rince had a generous Soul, and a charming and infinuating Wit. He was prudent and brave without Offentation. His Eye-brows joining over his Nofe, according in the middle. to fome Phyriognomitts, fignified his Inclination

Life, in the Judgment of Hippocrates, and some Winter. Phyticians: But, perhaps, his Sobriety made a-Rheum, the Schatica, the Gour and Gravel.

Suctionius also remarks, that he commonly fell other fide of the River: fick about his Birth day. See Augulus.

He shewed his Magnificence in his Prepara- | Wrestlers made use of when they fought at Fifty-cuffs in the publick Games. Calebin is mipils'd the Hand, and also the Wrift and part of the Arm to guard them from Blows, left they CASTUS or CESTUM, a Girdle which Funo: Trus Pallas in Lucian advises Paris to take away Venus's Girdle, that he might the better we may fay, that his whole Life was nothing but Judge of the Beauty of the Three Goddeffes; a continual Example of Mercy and Bounty; for because, adds the, Venus is a Magician, who keeps he not only pardoned his Enemies thro' the forme Charm conceal'd within her Girdle. This Greatness of his Mind, but he restored them to Word comes from the Greek 2500's, which fignihes a Cirdle, or any other Work embroider'd upon them; which made Cicero fay, that he had with the Needle, which was commonly wore by conquer'd Victory, because he freely deprived Women. It was a large Strap, which ferv'd for himself of that which the had given. Where a Girdle, made of Wool, and which the Husband fore 'twas nothing but Juffice to him, that the juntied for his Spoule the first Day of their Marriage, before they went to Bed; as we learn from Fiomer, Nose d'e margerine Carne; and 0vid, Caltaque fallaci zona recinita manu. And this relates to the Girdle of Venus, which Tuno borrow'd of her to entice Fupiter to Love; for this Girdle. fays Homer, B. 14. Of the Iliads, conhim: His Stature was tall and proper, he had a tains the Passion, Wishes and Charms, by which comely Face, a tweet and modest Look, a Noie Venus unites the Hearts of new married People; which made Martial lav.

> Ut Martin revocetur amor fummique Tonantis, Ate Juno perat cejion, & ipja Venus. Lib. 6. Epig. 13.

Some Authors fay, that this Castus of Venus was a little liflet or Diadem, wherewith the Heads or Deities were encompas'd, which had a Point

CHYX, King of Taracinia, the Son of to Vertue; others thought that this was a Sign | Incider, or the Morning-Star, and Husband of of his Lachartion to Study, because it denotes | Alcione; who going to confult the Oracle about M-lancholy, and there must be a little of that the Government of his Kingdom, was Shipor study : He was a Lover of Learning, and wreck'd at Sea; which fo fembly touch'd his had a pleatant Way of Writing both in Profe! Wife, that for Grief the threw her felf Headand Verte, from whence it was that in his Time long into the Sea : But the Gods having Comthere were such able Men, as Virgil, Horase and pathon on them, chang'd them both into Birds, call'd Hal your, (i. e. Kingsfifters) who make The Teeth of this Prince being finall and thin the Sea calm when they haven their young enes fet, according to Sucroniss, prognofticated fhort in the Sea-rufhes, during the fharpeft Storms of

Lucian in his Dialogue, entituled, Aleyon, remends for this Defect, fince he liv'd to 76 Years lates the Fable after another manner, for he inof Age, although he was often troubled with troduces Socrates, speaking thus to Cherephon, whose pleatant Sound had ftruck his Ear from the

"Tis Aleyon, fays Socrates to him, who is to CASTUS, a large Gantlet mide of a raw "much extoll'd, of whom this Fable is told; That Hide, adoined with Lead, which the ancient 'the Daughter of Eolus having left the brave *Coyx her Husband, the Son of the Morning-flar, in Allom water. Shooes were made of the wasted her felf with fruitless Complaints, until Skins of Cows, Calves, Deer, Goats, Or. from · Halcyon- Days.

CAIUS or GAIUS, a Surname given to many illustrious Romans, upon the Account of the loy their Parent felt at their Birth, a gaudio pa-

CAIUS, furnam'd Offavius, the Father of the Emperor Augustus, who defeated the Fugi- made them also of Flaxen Cloth very white, emtive Slaves, and destroy'd those that remain'd of broider'd and enrich'd with Pearls and Dia-Catiline's Conspiracy.

CAIUS MEMMIUS, a Curvle, Edile, who first celebrated the Feast Cercalia, or the leftival of Ceres, as appears by this Motto, Memmius adilis Cerealia primus fecit.

CALABRA CURIA, the Calabrian Court, built by Romulus upon Mount Palatine. near his own Habitation, according to Varro; or according to others, near the Capitol, in the Place where the Magazine of Salt now is. It was call'd Calabra, from the Latin Word Calare, which ignifies to call together; because Romulus defign'd this Place for the general Affemblies of the People ; but fince that time, the Rex facrorum fummons the Senate and People to meet there, to give them Notice of the Days for Games and Sacrifices. You may confult Macrobius about this Word, Lab. 1. Saturnal. and Feftus.

CALANTICA, a Kerebief, the ancient Head-dress of the Roman Women.

Voco, fignifies to call together, or affemble the oftendere eum voluisse. They made use also of People, from whence comes the Word Calenda, Wood, whereof they made Wooden Shoes, and which is as much as to fay, the first Day of each Sandals or Galloches, which were the Shoes of Month, because he who presided at the Sacri-the Poor, and of Parricides when they were shut fices, affembled the People in the Capitol, after up in a Sack, as Cicero tells us, Si quis parentes orbe had observed the New Moon, to nignifie to eiderit vel verberavit, ei damnato obvolvatur ot them the Feafts and Games of that Month.

the People, who were call'd together for the E- Shoes which were used by the Ancients. lection and Confectation of Priefts, and for Wills which were made in the most ancient Times of ni, Calige, Gallica, Crepida, Socci, Perones, Othe Commonwealth, in the Presence of the Peo- cree; to which we may add those which were inple, as Theophilus fays, in Book 2. Infin. See troduc'd by Cultom, borrow'd for the most part Comitia.

CALCEAMENTUM, the Shoe of the Matter and Form : It was made at first of a raw I symphides, Persica, Scythica, Iphicratides: Ot each Hide, with all the Hair on, which they call'd of which we shall speak according to the Order Carbatinas crepidas: But in fucceeding Times, of the Alphabet. the Hides were prepared, curried, and fleep'd the Gods mov'd with Compassion, chang'd her whence comes the Raillery used by Martial, of into a Bird, which ftill fearches on the Waters one who had a Cap of fine Leather, to whom for him, whom the cannot meet with upon he fays, that his Head was shod. They made Earth. And to recompense her Love, while use also of the Bark of a Tree, which they wove · the makes her Nest and hatches her Young, the or knit, as Martianus Capella tells us, Cakeos Winds are fill, and the Sea is calm, even in the praterea ex papyro textili subligavit; which fharpest Weather of Winter : And so to this are also mention'd by Benedictus Balduinus, in Dav, these fine Days are call'd from her Name Book 3. de Calceis anviquis. These fort of Shoes were especially used in Egypt, for the Priefts wore them when they facrific'd to the Gods : They made them also of Broom and Rushes, and they were call'd spariei and juncei calcei, which Fashion came from Foreign Countries; and these the Spanish Peasants wore, as Pliny testifies. They monds. Hiftory informs us, that the Emperor Antoninus, furnam'd Philofophus, and his Succesfors till Conftantine's Time, wore Shoes of this fort. They made use also of Mettals to make Shoes, as Iron, Brafs, Gold and Silver. Empedocles wore Shoes or Slippers of Brass ; which gave occasion to that Apostrophe of Lucian, in his Dialogues to him, God preferve you good Mafter Slip-boe. The Romans had Shoes of Iron, but they were nied for the Punishment of Christians, during the Perfecutions. They put great Nails into them, which they cans'd to be made red hor, as was done to Sr. Bafil, ferrem crepidas ignitis clavis confixas calceaus. They wore also Shoes of maily Gold, and others which were only gift. Plausus, in his Bacchides, fpeaks of a very rich Man who wore Shoes, whose Soals were of Gold; Eliam rogas qui foccis babeat auro suppadium folum. Julius Cafar wore Shoes of Gold, and others which were only gilt, according to the Teffimony of Seneca, Qui excusant eum, negant id insolentia fallum, aiunt CALARE, from the Greek Word καλέω jocculum auratum, imo aureum margaritis diffinilum folliculo lupino, folca lignea pedibus inducantu. CALATA COMITIA, an Affembly of reere follow the Names of the feveral forts of

CALCEI, Muller, Solea, Sandalia, Corburfrom the ftrange Fashions of divers People; which are the Campagi, Phacana, Sicyonia, Alci-Ancients, which was different from ours both in biada, Amiclaida, Anaxyrides, Arpides, Laconica,

CALCEUS, which we now call a Shoe,! The Shoes of Senators, Patricians and their was different from ours in this, that it covered | Children, had something like a Crescent at the half the Leg, and was open in the Fore-part, End, which made the Figure of a C, to shew and was tied with Thongsor Straps, which they that they were descended of the Number of called corrigios calceamenti: This may be easily the first 100 Senators or Fathers which Romu-

Et concurrentibus anfis Vinclorum pandas texunt per crura catenas.

This Shoe was extream close upon the Foot, when they had a mind to be handsomly shod. and thence it was called serfum calceum or sensipellium, and it was a Sign of Careleffness or Poverty, to have a Shoe too hig, and your Feet loofe in it and bagging out, laxum calceum, follentem. or follicantem, which made Ovid caution his Miffres to take heed that her Shoe was not too big.

Nec vagas in laxá pes tibi pelle natet.

Thus St. Ferom fays, that all the Care of worldly Men was to be handsomly cleath'd and shod, Omnis bis cura in vestibus, si bene oleant, si pes in have the Emperor Dioclefian to be the first who laxa pelle non folliat. To shun this, they took wore precious Stones upon his Shoes, and that care to tie their Straps close, as Tibullus tells us. Ansaque compressos alligas arita pedes, and to ftuff them with Locks of Wool, and fuch like Things, as we learn from Tertullian, Stipabant tomento; rus; and Pliny Speaks of this Cuftom as an Abuse upon which Words Rhenanm fays, Stipani ne fol- very common in his Time. lices calcem, they ftuif it with Wool for fear left in it.

The Toe of the Shoe ended in a Point bendcalceia repandis.

tianus, that Alexander Severus forbad Men to ple of Isaly, had one Foot shod and the other caution a young Man to take heed left his Mi-Canidia that famous Magician, acquaints us that fire's should cuff him with her red l'atten, foles she went barefooted, objurgabere rubra.

observ'd from the Passage of Sidonius Apollinaris, lus instituted after the building of his new City; Plutarch gives other Reasons for it. Besides, this Crescent was upon the Instep, and ferved to tie the Shoe close, as now our Buckles do, if we will believe Balduinus, who pretends to prove it by this Verse of Statine.

Primaque patricia claufit veftigia luna.

And by the Authority of Triaguellus upon the fifth Book of Alexand. Neap. Lunula, fays he, in calceis erant fibula eburnea ad inftar Luna corniculantes. These Crescents were made of different Matter, as Gold, Silver and Ivory adorn'd with Diamonds and other precious Stones.

The chief Roman Magiffrates were commonly red Shoes, on Days of Ceremony and Triumphs. The greatest part of Writers will he presented them to be kis'd by those who did him Reverence. Yet we find that Heliogabalus wore them before him, as also Alexander Sevs-

The Slaves wore no Shoes, but went barefoot, it should have Wrinkles and the Foot turn about and for that Reason they were called cretati, or gypfati from their dufty Feet. There were also iome Free-men that went barefooted, and Taciing a little backwards, which they called calcum ius observes, that Phocion and Cato Uticenfis and roftrasum, repandum, uncinasum, and those who many others walk'd without Shoes; but these wore them so were called unipedes, as Tertullian Examples are rare, and generally speaking all tells us in his Book de Pallio C. 5. Such were Persons that were of a free Condition walk'd the Shoes of Juno, as Cicero informs us, cum always shod, except at some religious Solemnity, or in the Time of some publick Calamity: The common Citizens were black Shoes, and for we learn from History, that when the great the ordinary Women wore white: And there- Mother of the Gods was wash'd, the People went fore Lipfins feems to be mistaken, when he en- in Procession barefooted, and that the Roman deavours to prove that the Shooes of the Romans Dames put off their Shoes at the Sacrifices of Vella. were white, and grounds his Opinion upon a Tertullian relates, that the Pagan Priefts very Paffage of Marsial, where 'tis faid, Calceus can- often order'd Proceffions to be made barefooted didior fit prima nive. But this learned Man in a Time of Drought : Cum flupet calum & aret doubtless did not take Notice, that in this Place annus, nudipedalia denuntianter. The principal Marial blames Cecinna, because he had a very Roman Knights at the Death of Julius Cafer ganafty Gown, and wore Shoes as white as Snow: thered up his Afhes, and being clad in white What is armem'd by Horace and Juvenal is more Tunicks they walked barefoot, to fignific at once probable therefore, that they wore black. Ne- both their Respect and Sorrow. Lycurgus and verthelefs 'tis true, that fome Men wore white the Lacedemonian young Men went always bare-Shoes under the Emperors, for we read in Spar- foot, and the Etolians and Hernicians, a Peoale them, and permitted the Uie of them only naked, as also the Magicians in their Magical to Women, who were also some that were red, Mysteries: Virgit and ovid tell us, Unum exuta and force of other Colours, which made Perfins pedem vinclis. 4. Eneid. Horace speaking of

CAL

Pedibus nudis, passoque capillo.

CALCULUS, this Latin Word fignifies a Stone, because the Ancients made use of little on this Day, and Feaths were kept everywhere, Flint itones inftead of Counters, for reckoning up any Sums whether multiplied or divided in of Friendihip. their Computations, either in Astronomy or their Suffrages with Two small Stones, and the white Stone, and unfortunate with a black Stone, – Albo autnigro notanda Ispilio.

CALENDA, the Calends. The Romans called the first Day of each Month by this Word, lendar. which comes from the Greek Word xantan, CALENDARIUM, a Calendar; an Alwere, because reckoning their Months by the Moon, there was a Priest appointed to observe Weeks and Months, and shews the Festivals the New Moon, who having feen it, immediarely gave notice to him who prefided over the Sacrifices; and he prefently called the People topronouncing Five times this Word 22220, if they happen'd on the Fifth Day, or Seven times if they happen'd on the Seventh Day. These Calends, or first Day of each Month, were conferrated to Juno, upon which Account the was turnam'd Calendaris Juno.

The Greeks had no Calends as the Romans had, and therefore when one would fignifie a Time that thould never happen, they made use of that expression, al Gracas Calendas, i.e. at latter Lammas, or never. Augustus was the first who brought this way of Speaking into Fashion, as Suermius relates, upon the Occasion of certain People a Calendar in Despite of the Priefts Debtors, who were become intolvent, Cum ali. and Smate. quis nun juan exfolueuros significare vult, al Calen les Gras a folusuros air. Inftead of the Name of Calends, the Gereis made use of the Word Niopavia, i.e. the Day of the New Moon, which was the same thing with the Calends among the Fomans, as this Paffage of Plutareb in the Life of Galba plainly proves, επηλθε the Tapeian Mount where Fanus had an Altar. reckoning their Days, fee hereafter the Seventh Although the Calendar of January was a Festival Paragraph before the Calendar of Julius Calas. Day for them, yet they did not fail then to begin any new Work, every Man according to his Profession, that they might never be idle the rest of the Year, having begun it with

Λαλέσ

The Magistrates entered upon their Office and Prefents exchanged between them in Token

The Fealts of the Calends, fays Matthew Ba-Geometry. The Kings of Lacedemonia gave lastris, was kept on the first Day of January, and there was great Rejoycing, because the New Romans marked their fortunate Days with a Moon happen'd on that Day, and it was commonly believe, that if they diverted themselves well at the Beginning, they should pass the whole Year the more merrily. This Day brought no Sorrow to any but only to Debtors, who were oblig'd to pay their Interest and Arrears, upon which Account Horace calls them trifles Ca-

manack which contains the Order of the Days, which happen during the Year. The Roman People at first had no Calendar, for it was only in the Hands of the Priefts, from whom they gether in the Capitol, and declared unto them | learned the Festivals, and the other Solemnities how they must reckon the Days until the Nones, of a civil Life. They took great care to-write down in it every Thing that happened each Year, and marked moreover the Days on which there were Pleadings and on which there were none; And therefore this Calendar was called Faftus, or in the Plural Number, Fasti, and also Annales publici, because in it were fet down the most considerable Actions of the Great Men of the Commonwealth: And from hence come these ordinary Forms of Speech, Conferibere nomina fastis, or Referre in fallos & in annales publicos, i. e. to tranimit your Memory to Posterity. Cn. Flavius, Secretary to A pius Claudius, gave the

Romulus was the first who divided Time by certain Marks, to serve for the Use of the People that were subject to him, and being much more skillful in Military Affairs than in Affronomy, he made the Year commence with the Spring, and gave it only Ten Months, whereof the first was the Month of March, and next after that was A pril, May, June, Quintilis, Sextilis, September, remnia Te mpore unpos, ny Kanipaus lavengias October, November, December. He gave 31 Days to each of these Four Months, March, May, Quin-The Calends of Fanuary were more confider lills and ollober, and only 30 to each of the other able than the Calends of the other Months, be- Six, to that they made altogether 304 Days, which caute they were particularly confectated to Juno | was that Duration of Time wherein, as he imaand the God Fanus; upon which Account the gin'd, the Sun run through all the differed Sea-Romans then never fail'd to offer Vows and Sa- funs of the Year, as may be feen in the following crifices to these Two Deities; and the People Calender. But as to the Division of Months into being clad in new Gowns, went in Crouds to Calends, Nones and Ides, and the Manner of

The CALENDAR of Romulus, containing 10 MONTHS, and confifting of 304 DAYS.

i	M	rcb.	1 1	pril.	I M	ay.	1 7	un.	1 2	intiis.
- 1		Kalend.	1.	Kalend.	1.	Kalend.	i 1.	Kajena.	1 1.	Kalend.
į	2.	VI	1 2.	IV	2.	VI	2.	IV	2.	VI
- 1	3.	Ÿ	3.	iii	2.	v	3.	111	3.
- 1	4.	IV	4.	Prid.	3. 4.	IV	3. 4.	Prid.	4.	· 1V
- 1	7.	iii		Non.	1 7	ш	5.	Non.	5.	III
- 1	5. 6.	Prid.	5.	VIII	5.	Prid.	5. 6.	VIII.	6.	Prid.
- 1	7.	Non.	7.	VII		Non.		VII	7. 8.	Non.
ı	7: 8.	VIII	8:	VI	8.	VIII	7: 8.	VI	8.	VIII
٠ ١	9.	VII	9.	v	9.	VII	9.	v	9.	VII
- 1	10.	Υï	10.	ίγ	10.	VI	10.	IV	10.	VI
- 1		¥.	11.	III	11.	v	11.	ш	11,	v
- 1	12.	ıv	12.	Prid.	12.	IV	12.	Prid.	12.	IV
	13.	iii	13.	ld.	13.	111	13.	Id.	13.	111
i	14.	Prid.	14.	XVIII	14.	Prid.	14.	XVIII	14.	Prid.
- 1	15.	Id.	15.	XVII	14.	Id.	15.	XVII	15.	Id. XVII
- ;	16.	XVII	16.	XVI	16.	XVII	16.	XVI	16.	XVII
1		XVI	17.	XV	17.	XVI	17.	XV	17.	XVI
į	17.	XV	19.	XIV	19.	ΧV	18.	VIX	19.	XV
- ;	19.	XIV	19.	XIII	19.	XIV	19.	XIII	19.	XIV
i	20.	XIII	2ú.	XII	25.	XIII	20.	XII	20.	XIII
- 1	21.	XII	21.	XI	21.	XII	21.	XI	21.	XII
- }	22.	. XI	22.	x	22.	XI	22.	x	22.	Χt
ı	23.	x	23.	IX	23.	x	23.	1X	23.	X IX
- 1	24.	ix	21.	VIII	24.	IX	24.	VIII	24-	IX.
- 1		VIII	25.	VII	25.	VIII	25.	VII	25.	VIII
1	25. 26.	VII	25.	VI	26.	VII	26.	vı	25.	VII
1	27.	VI	27.	v	27.	V1	27.	v	27. 28.	VI
- 1	28.	v	27.	IV	28.	v	28.	1 V	23.	v.
- 1	29.	IV	29.	111	29.	IV.	29.	ш	29.	IV
ı	3ú.	. 111	30.	Prid.	30.	111	30.	Prid.	30.	III
•	3 1.	Prid.	1		- 3 1.	Prid.			31.	Prid.

1-	Sextilis.	September.	08.	ber.	l Nor	vember.	Dec	ember.
		1. Kalend.	1.	Kalend,	1 1.	Kalend.	1 1.	Kalend.
1 2		2. IV	2.	VI	2.	IV	2.	IV
		2. III	3.	v	3.	111	3. 4.	III Prid.
l ă	Prid.	4. Prid.	4.	IV	4.	Prid.	1 4.	Prid.
4 5	Non.			ш	5.	Non.	5.	Non.
1 6	VIII	6. VIII	5. 6.	Prid.	5.	VIII	6.	VIII .
			7: 8.	Non.	8.	VII	8:	VII
8	. VI	7. VII 8. VI	8.	VIII	8.	VL.		VI
1 5		0. V	9.	VII	9.	v	9.	v
16	. IV	Io. IV	15.	VI	10.	IV	10.	IV
1 11	. 111	11. 111	11.	v	11.	ш	11.	III
1 12		12. Prid.	12.	17	12.	Prid.	12,	Prid.
13	. Id.	13. Id.	13.	ш	13.	Id.	13.	td.
14	XVIII	II. XVIII	14.	Prid.	14.	XVIII	14-	XVIII
115	. XVII	15. XVII	15.	Id.	15.	XVII	15.	XVII
1 10	. XVI	Ió. XVI	16.	XVII	16.	XVI	16.	XVI
17	. XV	17. XV	17.	XVI	17.	ΧV	17.	XV
12	XIV	18. XIV	18.	XΥ	18.	XIV	19.	XIA
119	. XIII	19. XIII	19.	XIV	19.	XIII	19.	XIII
20	. XII	20. XII	20.	XIII	20.	XII •	20,	XII
21	. XI	21. XI	21.	XII	21.	ΧI	21.	ΧI
22		22. X	22.	ΧI	22.	X	22.	X
23	. IX	23. IX	23.	X	23.	IX	23.	IX.
2	. VIII	24. VIII	24.	IX	24-	VIII	24-	IIIV
2:	. VII	25. VII	25.	VIII	25.	VII	25.	VII
25	. V I	26. VI	25.	VII	26.	VI	25.	VI V
27	. v	27. V 28. IV	27.	VI	27.	v	27.	ıv
			28.	v	28.	IV III	23.	III
25	. 111	29. 111	2	IV	29.	Prid.	29.	Prid.
30	. Prid.	30. Prid.	30.	III Prid.	30.	Priu.	30.	riju.
		 	31.	Prid.

'Tis true, there needed no long time to dif- | wanted of the Solar Year confifting of 365 Days cover that this Account was too fhort, and that | and Six Hours. Of these the Greeks made Three his Year must begin long before the Solar Year, Months, each whereof had 30 Days, which they and therefore to reduce these things into Order, called auconipus, and which they intercalated he ordain'd that all the Days which were over after the Third, the Fifth and the Eig-h Years; and above what he had reckoned in this Calen- but Numa made Four Months of them, and indar, should be inserted amongst the rest without tercalated one every Two Years, after the any Name, by way of Intercalation, which was Feast called Terminalia, which happened on the done with little Care. But under the Reign of Sixth of the Kalends of March, i. e. on the 24th Numa Pompilius the Calendar was first reform'd. of February; and the first Month intercalated This Prince had private Conferences with Py he made to confift of 22 Days, and the next of chagoras, from whom he learn'd many things 23, that so the whole Intercalation in the Space concerning Aftronomy, which he chiefly applied of Four Years might make up the Number of to this Purpole; and he followed very near the fame Order which the Greeks then observed in the Greeks in their Olympiads. This Month interthe Division of Time. 'Tis true, that inftead of calaged every Two Years was called Mercedonius, 354 Days, which they gave to their common Years, he gave to his 355, because he would have the Number to be odd, out of a superstitious Opinion which he learned from the Egyptiens, who had an Aversion to even Numbers which they accounted unfortunate: And therefore he took away one Day from each of these Six Months, April, June, Sextilis, September, No-vember and December, to which Romulus had given 30 Days, that they might have but 29, and left to the rest 31 Days which they had before; and then adding these Six Days to the 51, which Romulus's Year of 204 Days wanted, to make up his own Year of 355; he made them in all <7 Days; which Number he divided into Two to make of it Two other Munths, which he placed before the Month March, viz. January confifting of 29 Days, and February of 28, Which . Month he delign'd for the Sacrifices which were offered to the Infernal Gods, to which this even Number as being unfortunate feem'd mort properly to belong.

Thus he made the Month of January, which he plac'd at the Winter-joiffice, the first Month of the Year, inflead of March which was the first before, and which Romulus had placed at the Vernal Equinox: And to make this Inflitution everlafting, he made use of the Intercalation of 00 Days every Eight Years, which Number was made up of the Eleven Days and a Quarter, Manner of reckoning Days. See hereafter the which the Lunar Year contisting of 354 Days | Paragraph before Cafar's Calendar.

45 Days, which was equal to that effed among and the Intercalary February.

The Year of Nums which confifted of 355 Days, ending one Day later than the Greek Year, it was easie to observe, that since their Beginnings were fo far from agreeing together, they would in a little time recede very far from one another: And therefore the same Numa, to obviate this Inconvenience, ordain'd, that in the Space of Eight Years the whole oo Days should not be intercalated, according to the Custom of the Greeks, but only 82 Days, which were to be inferted in this Order: At first in the Space of Two Years an Intercalation was made of 22 Days, next after that, an Intercalation was made of 23 Days, at the Third time an Intercalation was made of 22 Days, and at the Fourth an Intercalation was made of 15 Days only, in lieu of 22 which should have been inserted, this Deduction was necessary to take off in Eight Years time, the Eight superfluous Days he had added to his Year.

Numa's Year therefore confifted of Twelve Months, viz. January, February, March, April, May, June, Quintilis, Sextilis, September, October, November and December, whereof Seven had 20 Days, and the reft 31, except February which had only 28, which may be feen in the following Account of his Calendar. But as to the Division of Months into Calends, Nones and Ides, and the

The CALENDAR of Numa Pompilius, containing 12 MONTHS, and consisting of 355 DAYS.

January. February. March. April.
2. IV 2. IV 2. VI 2. IV 2.	May.	June.
12 111 1 2 11 12 14 14 17 12		1. Kalend.
3. III 3. V 3. III 3.		2. IV
14. Prid. La. Prid. La. IV		3. III.
	Prid.	5. Non.
1 0 1/1 1/2 1/2 1/2 VII 1 7	Non.	7. VII
9. V 9. V 9. VII 9. VI
10. IV 10. IV 16 VI 15 IV 1.5		9. V 10. IV.
11. III 11. III 11. V 11. III 17.		10. IV.
12. Prid. 12. Prid. 12. IV 12. Prid. 12.		11. III. 12. Prid.
11à Vun 1.2 v. 1.3 2.7 (-3. 14. 14.	ш	13. Id.
	Prid.	I4. XVII
16. XV 16. XIV 16. XVII 12. 30 12.	id. Xvii	15. XVI 16. XV
17- XIV 17- XIII 17- XVI 17- XIV 17-	XVI	16. XV
	Χv	17. XIV 18. XIII
19. XII 19. XI 19. XIV 10. XII 10.	xīv.	19. XII
21. X 22. X 22. XIII 20. XI 20.	λIII	19. XII 25. XI 21. X 22. IX
21. X 21. 1X 21. XII 21. X 21. 22. XI 22. 1X 22. 1X 22. 22. 1X 22. 22. 23. 24. 25. 25. 25. 25. 25. 25. 25. 25. 25. 25	XII	21. X
23. VIII 23. VIII 23. X 22. VIII 22.	Χī	22. IX
124 VII 124 VI 124 IV 127 VII 125	X IX	123. VIII
25. VI 25. V 25. VIII 25. VI 25.	viii	24. VII 25. VI
	VII	126. V
100 111 150 501 150 14 127. 17 127.	VI IV	27. IV 23. III
20 Prid 20.	v
29. IV 29. Prid. 29. 30.	IV.	29. Prid.
31. Prid. 31.	Prid.
2uintilis. Sextilis. September. Officher. No.	vember.
		December.
	Kalend.	L. Kalend.
3. V 2. IV 2. IV 2. VI 2.	IV	1. Kalend. 2. IV
3. V 3. III 3. V 3. III 3. V 3. III 3. V 3.	IV III	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III
3. V 3. III 3. III 3. III 3. V 3. 4. Prid. 4. IV 4. Prid. 4. IV 4.	IV III Prid.	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid.
2. V 2. IV 2. V 3. V	IV III Prid. Non.	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non.
2. V 2. IV 2. VI 2. VI 3. V 3. III 3. V 3. III 3. V 3.	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII
2, 1V 2, 1V 2, 1V 2, 1V 2, 1V 3, 111 3, 111 3, 111 3, 111 3, 1V 3, 1V 4, 1V	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII VI	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI
2. V 3. III 3. III 3. V 3. III 3. V IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII VI V IV	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI 9. V
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII VI IV III	I. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI 9. V 10. IV
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII VI IV III Prid.	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI 9. V 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid.
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII V IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id.
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VII V IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VI 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id.
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VI IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII XV	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3- III 4- Prid. 5- Non. 6. VIII 7- VII 8. VI 9- V 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13- Id. 14- XVII 15. XVI
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VI IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII XV	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3- III 4- Prid. 5- Non. 6. VIII 7- VII 8. VI 9- V 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13- Id. 14- XVII 15. XVI
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VI IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII XV XIV XV XIII	L. Kalend. 2. IY 3. III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 8. VI 9. IV 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id. 14. XVII 15. XVI 17. XIV 18. XIII 18. XIII
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VI V IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII XVI XVI XIII XXII XXII XXII	1. Kalend. 2. Kalend. 2. VIII 3. III 4. Non. 6. VIII 7. VIII 9. V 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id. 14. XVII 15. XVI 17. XIV 18. XIII 19. XIII 20. X
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VI IV IV IV IV AVI AVI XVI XVI XVI XVI XVI XXI XXI XXI XXI X	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 9. VII 11. III 13. XVII 14. XVII 15. XVII 16. XVII 16. XVII 19. XIII 19. XIII 19. XIII 20. XII 20. XII
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VI V IV IV III Prid. Id. XVII XV XV XIV XIV XIII XIII XIII XIII	1. Kalend. 1. Kalend. 2. Xiii 2. Xiii 3. Xiii 4. Yiii 5. Non. 6. Yiii 7. Yii 8. Y 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id. 14. XYII 15. XYI 16. XV 17. XIV 18. XIII 19. XIII 20. XII 20. XI 21. X 22. XIII 22. XIII 22. XIII 23. XIII 24. XIII 25. XIII 26. XIII 27. XIII 28. XIII 29. XIII 20. XIII
1	IV Prid. Non. VIII VII VI VI V IV IV IV AVI XVI XVI XVI XVI XVI XVI XVI XV XVI XVI	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3. III. 3. III. 5. Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 9. V 10. IV 11. III. 13. Id. 14. XVII 15. XV 16. XVII 16. XVII 16. XVII 16. XVII 16. XVII 17. XV 18. XVII 18. XVII 19. XVII 20. XII 21. X 22. IX 22. IX 22. IX
1	IV III Prid. Non. VIII VIII VII VI IV IV III A III Prid. III XVII XVI XV XIII XI XXI XXI XXI XXI	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3- III 4- Prid. 5- Non. 6. VIII 7. VII 8. VV 9. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id. 14. XVII 15. XVII 16. XV 17. XVII 16. XV 18. XVII 18. XVII 20. XX 21. XX 22. XX 22. VIII 22. IX
1	IV Prid. Non. VIII VIII VIII VI IV IV III III IV III XVI XV	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3- III 4- Prid. 5. Non. 7. VIII 8. VII 10. IV 11. III 12. Prid. 13. Id. 14. XIII 15.
1	IV Prid. Non. VIII VIII VIII VIII VI IV IV IV IV IV I	1. Kalend. 2. iV 3- iIII 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VVII 8. VI 9. VV 10. IV 11. Prid. 11. Prid. 11. Prid. 11. IV 11. XVII 11. XVII 11. XVII 12. XVII 15. XVII 16. XVII 16. XVII 17. XVII 18. XVII 19. X
1	IV Prid. Non. Non. VIII VIII VII VI IV IV Prid. XVII XVI XVII XVI XVI XVI XVI XVI VII VI	1. Kalend. 2. IV 3- III 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VIII 8. VI 9. IV 11. III. 11. Prid. 12. Prid. 13. XVI 15. XVI 16. XVI 17. XIV 18. XVI 18. XVI 19.
1	IV Prid. Non. Non. VIII VIII VII VI IV IV Prid. XVII XVI XVII XVI XVI XVI XVI XVI VII VI	1. Kalend. 2. iV 3- iIII 4. Prid. 5. Non. 6. VVII 8. VI 9. VV 10. IV 11. Prid. 11. Prid. 11. Prid. 11. IV 11. XVII 11. XVII 11. XVII 12. XVII 15. XVII 16. XVII 16. XVII 17. XVII 18. XVII 19. X

rity to this Law, he appointed the High-priefts Odober, which had each 31 Days in Numa's Cato put it in Execution, and enjoyn'd them to fig- lendar; but to make room for the Ten Days, nifie to the People the Time and Manner in whereby the Solar Year exceeded that of Numa, which this Intercalation of extraordinary Days he added Two Days to each of these Three must be made : But these Priefts, either thro' Months, January, Sextilis and December, which Ignorance or Malice, brought the Account of had only 29 Days before, and to he made them Time and other Matters depending upon it into fo great Confusion, that the Festivals happen'd at such Seasons as were directly oppointe to the Times of their Institution, and the Feasts of Autumn fell out in the Spring, and those of Harvest in the Middle of Winter.

This Disorder came to so great a Height, that when Julius Cafur was Dictator and High-prieft, after the Battle of Thu falia, he thought the Retornation of the Calendar to be a Thing well worthy of his Care, and necessary for the good Government of the Empire: And for this purpole he ferth'd one Sofigenes from Alexandria, who was effected the best Astronomer of that Time, and he by the Order of the Emperor, atter he had several times corrected it himself, declared that the Destribution of Time in the Calendar could never be fettled as certain and unalterable, unleis a principal Regard was had to the annual Course of the Sun, and that it was necessiry for the Future, by a Method contrary to that which had been hitherto practited, to aljust the Lunar Year by the Motion of the Sun, rather than accommodate the Course of the San to the unequal Laws of the Moon's Motion. And because it passed then for a thing certain among Aftronomers, that the Annual Period of the Sun's Courie was premiely 365 Days and Six Hours, therefore he relolved to give the whole Time of 365 Days to the Year in his Calendar, referving the S.x Hours to the End of Four Years, when they made a whole Day, which he then added to the rest by way of Interculation; to that this Year dil not confift of 365 Days, as the other Years dil which he called common, bur of 366 Days. And muce according to the Latitution of Numa Pompilius, the Intercalation of the Month Mercedonius was made towards the and of Februay, the same Sofgeres by order of the Emperor, used the tame Time for the Intercalation of this Day, which happened to fall our on that Day which they called Regifugium, because the Romans in ancient I imes had drove to pals, that the Julian Year in all succeeding Day which follows another redivel called Termi- Le. the first Day of January, which is about nalia, i.e. on the 24th Day of Feb. uary, or to ipeak in the Language of the Ronans, on the Sixth of the Calends of March; and because this Day was called the fecond Sixth of the Calends, which in I min is Biff mins, therefore the Year in which this Intercalation was made, was called Biffexille or Intercalary.

of the Months, nor yet in the Number of Days 1 ed, Nempeex Edito, yet, quoth he, by vertue

And to add the greater Weight and Autho- To these Four, viz. March, May, Quintilite and equal to the other Months which had ? 1, but he added only one Day to their Four Months. April, June, September and November, and fo made them contilt of 30 Days, and to the Month of February he left 28 Days for the common Years, and 29 for the Year called Biffextile, that so there might be no Change made in the Ceremonies of the Sacrifices, which were offered in this Month to the Infernal Gods.

As foon as these Things were thus order'd. and Sofigenes had nnished his Work, the Emperor publish'd an Edict, wherein he fet forth the Reformation he had made of the Calendar, and commanded it to be used through all the Roman

And because of the Negligence of those to whom the Care was committed of distributing the Intercalatory Months, the Beginning of the Year was then found to anticipate its true Place 67 whole Days, therefore this Time must be tome way frent to restore the first Day of the next Year to its due Place at the Wister-foiffice. and to this end I wo Months were made of these 67 Days, which were ordered to be intercalated between the Months of November and December, from whence it came to pais, that the Year of the Correction of the Calendar by Julius Cafar, which was called the Julian Correction, comifted of 15 Months and of 445 Days; and uponthis Account it was call dithe Year of Confusion, because in it that great Number of Days was to be absorb d which brought so great Confusion into the Account of Time.

But to accommodate the Matter in some measure to the Genius of the Romans, who had been to long accultomed to the Lunar Year, the Emperor would not begin his Year precifely on the Day of the Winter folftice, but only on the Day of the New-Moon which followed next after it, which happened by Chance at the time of this Correction of the Calcular, to be about Eight Days after the Solltice, from hence it comes

Julius Cafar drew a great deal of envy upon himselt by this Correction of the Calendar, of which we have an Inftance in that picquant Kaillery of Cicero upon this Occanon; One of his Friends discourants with him, happen'd to fay, that Lyra was to let to Morrow, Cras Lyra occi-He chang'd nothing in the Order nor Names | dir, faid he, to whom Cicero immediately reportof an Edict. Yet this did nowise hinder this Months which was instituted by Numa Pompi-Reformation from being generally received and lius, and fuch as we have fet down before. observed after the Death of Casar, which happened the next Year atter is. And to give the May, Quintiliu or July, Sextiliu or August, Odogreater Authority to this Ulage, it fell out alfo, ber and December have each of them 31 Days; that Marcus Anunius in his Confulfhip order'd, and thefe Four April, June, September and Nothat the Month called Quintilu, which was that vember have only 30, but February for the comin which Julius Cafar was born, should bear his mon Years has only 28 Days, and for the In-Name, and for the Yuture be called Julius; as tercalary or Biffextile it has 29. it happened afterwards to the Month Sextilia, to which was given the Name of Angultus, called Litera Nundinales, is continued without intercalated Twelve Days in the Space of 36 D, which is at the 5th, the 13th, the 21st of Years, whereas Nine only should have been in the same Month, Ge. for the Letter A being tercalated in that Space, and io they put back found at the 27th of December, if from this Day the Beginning of the Year Three Days: Which we reckon Eight Letters, besides the Letters being observed by Augustus, Successfor to Julius B, C, D, E, which remain after A in the Month Cafur, he presently caused this Error to be a- of December, we must take Four other Letters mended, by ordering that for the first Twelve at the Beginning of fanuary in the next Year, Years to Intercalation should be made, that by A, B, C, D, and so the Letter D, which is first this means these I hree superfluous Days might found in the Month of January will be the 9th be absorbed, and Things might be restored to after the last A in the Month of December pretheir first Institution, which continued ever- ceeding, and consequently it will be the Nundifince without any Interruption, until the End of nal Letter, or that Letter which notes the Days the last Age, when some thought themselves set apart for these Meetings, which may be also oblig'd to take Pains in making another Cor- called by the Name of Faires or publick Markets.

Calendar which some curions Antiquaries have of the Fourth B, and so on of the reft, ungathered together out of divers Monuments that less their happens some Change by the Init might be published. There are Six different tercalation. Columns in it; the first contains the Letters 4. To understand aright what is set down in which they called Nundinales, the Second notes the second Column, we must know, the Days which they called Easti, Nefasti and That to fue one at Law, (which we call trying Comittales, which are allo fignified by Letters; of Causes or sitting of Courts,) was not allowed the Third contains the Number of Meto, which among the Romans on all Days, neither was the is called the Golden Number; the Fourth is for Prætor permitted on every Day to pronounce the Days in Order, which are marked with Arabick Figures or Characters, the Fifth divides Do, Dico, Addico; but these Days were called the Month into Calends, Nones and Ides, accord- Fafti, on which the Courts late to administer ing to the ancient Way of the Romans; and the Justice, quibus fas eset jure agere, and these were Sixth contains their Festivals and divers other called Nejati, on which this was not permitted, Ceremonies, of which we shall treat more largely here after.

In this Calendar, to which we have given the Name of the Calendar of Julius Cafar, although it appears to have been made fince Augustus's Time, is to be feen,

2. These Seven Months, Fanuary, March,

3. This Series of Eight Letters which we have both which Names are fill continued down to Interruption from the first to the last Day of the Year that there might always be one of them to 'Tis true, the Priests by their Ignorance com- fignishe those Days of the Year on which those mitted a confiderable Error in the Observati- Meetings were held that were called by the Roon of the first Years, for not understanding mans Nunding, and which returned every Ninth this Interculation of a Day was to be made e- Day, to the end that the Roman Citizens might very Four Years, they thought that the Fourth come out of the Country to the City to be in-Year was to be reckoned from that wherein the formed of what concerned either Religion or preceeding linercalation was made, and not Government: Thele Letters are so placed, that from that which follow'd next after it, by which if the Nundinal Day of the first Year was under means they left only Two common Years in the Letter A, which is at the 1st, the 9th, the flead of Three between the Two Intercalary 17th, the 25th of January, &c. the Letter of Years, from whence it came to pass, that they the Nundinal Day for the next Year must be Thus by the same way of Calculation the Nun-Here follows the Copy of an ancient Roman dinal Letter of the Third Year will be G, that these Three solemn Words, or this Form of Law, quibus nefas effet, as we learn from these Two Verles or Ovid, Ille Nefaftus erit, per quem tria verba filentur; Festus erit, per quem jure licebit agi.

i.e. That Day was Nefastus on which these Three 1. The same Order and Succession of the Words were not pronounced, Do, Dico, Addico, CAL to Day, and that Day was called Faftus, on which Days of the Romans might correspond. it was lawful to fue at Law, or try a Caufe.

called Comisiales, which were marked with a C, on which the People met in the Campus Martius, for the Election of Magistrates, or treating about the Affairs of the Commonwealth, and these Days were so called because the Assemblies of the People held on them, were nam'd Comitia. There were also some set Days on which a certain Prieft, (who was called among them Rex Sacrorum) was present at these Assemblies : And laftly, on a certain Day of the Year they were wont to cleanse the Temple of Vesta and carry off all the Dung in it, which was done with fo much Ceremony, that it was not lawful on that Day to try Caules.

This being supposed, 'tis no wife difficult to understand what is contained in this Column, for where ever we meet in it with the Letter N, which fignifies Dies Nefaltus, this denotes a Day on which Justice could not be administred, or if we meet in it with the Letter F, or Fastus, that fignifies a Court-Day; or if we meet with F. P. or Fastus prima parce diei, that fignifies that the Court fits on the former part of the Day; or it we meet there with N. P. or Nefastus prima parse diei, that fignifies the Court does not fit on the former part of the Day; or if we meer there with E. N. or Endotercifus feu intercifus, that fignifies the Court fits tome certain Hours of the Day, and not at other Hours; or if we meet there with a C. that denotes that these Affemblies were then held which were called Comitia, or if we meet there with these Letters Q. Rex. C. F. or Quando Rex comitiavit, fas, they fignifie, that the Court does not after the Priest called Rex has been present at the Comitie; or laftly, when we fee thefe other Letters Q. S.T. D. F. or Quando ftercus delatum, fas, they fignifie, that the Court does fit immediately after the Dung is carried out of the Temple of the Goddels Veft a.

5. The Third Column is for the 19 Figures of the Numbers of the Lunar Cycle otherwise called the Golden Number, which tignifie the New Moons through the whole Year, according to the Order in which they were thought to happen in the Time of Julius Cafar, when their Figures were thus disposed in his Calendar.

6. The Fourth notes the Succession of the Days of the Months, by the Numbers of the Arabick Figures or Caracters; but then we must not imagine that they were thus disposed in the Tables of the Faiti, i. e. in the Calendar ufed by fent, and differn what are the Days as we now left Part of their Affairs both publick and private.

as who should say among us, The Court does not fit | reckon them, to which the Peftivals and other

7. The Fifth Column contains that famous Di-Befides, there were certain Days which they vision of the Days of the Months into Calends, Nones and Ides, which was in use among the Romans; and though this Division was not into equal Parts, as were the Decads used by the Greeks, but into very different Portions of Time, yet this Variety is well enough expressed in these Two Veries.

Sex Maius Nonas, October, Julius & Mars, Quatuor at reliqui. Dabit Idus qui libet ofto.

e. These Four Months, March, May, July and Odober, have Six Days of Nones, and all the reft have only Four; but in every one of them there are Eight Days of Ides. This must be underftood after this Manner, that the first Day of each Month was always called the Calends of that Month; after that in Four Months, March, May, July and Odober, the Seventh Day of the Month was called the Nones, and the Fiftenth the Ides, whereas in other Months in which the Nones lafted but Four Days, the Fifth was called Nona the Nones, and the Thirtenth Idus the Ides; the other Days are reckoned backward from the Beginning of the next Month, and the Number always leffens as, you come nearer to it.

The Days which are after the Calends until the Nones take their Name from the Nones of the Month current, the following Days which are between the Nones and the Ides, take their Name from the Ides of the same Month; but all the reft from the Ides until the End of the next Month, take their Name from the Calends of the next Month: All which we shall explain more at large under the word Menfis.

Besides, you may observe, that the Tables of the Falti, by which the Romans described their Months and their Days throughout the Year, in Process of time were called by the Name of Calendar, because this Name of Calends is found written in great Characters at the Head of each Month.

8. The last Column contains those Things which chiefly belong to the Religion of the Remans, fuch as the Festivals, the Sacrifices, the Games, the Ceremonies, the fortunate or unfortunate Days, as also the Beginning of the Signs, the four Cardinal Points of the Year, which make the Four Seafons; the Rinng and Setting of the Stars, &c. which were very much much opferv'd by the Ancients who made use of them for a long time, to denote the Difference of the Seatons, inftead of a Calendar; at leaft, until it was reduced into a more regular Form the Ancients, for they had no Knowledge of any by the Correction of Julius Cafar. We find in fuch thing: Yet we thought it convenient to most of the aucient Books, that they govern'd place them here, that we might the better com- themselves wholly by the Observation of the Ripare the Manner of naming and reckoning Days ling and Setting of the Stars, in Navigation, in that was used by the Ancients with ours at pre- tilling the Ground, in Puynck, and in the great-

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. JANUARY. Under the Protection of the Goddess Juno.

Nundinal Letters ABCDEFGE	Days.	Golden Number.
Á,	F	, 1	1 1	Kalen.	Sacred to Janus, to Juno, to Jupiter and Afculapine.
B	F	1	2		An unfortunate Day. Dies Ater.
Q	C C	IX	3		Cancer sets.
P	С	1		Prid.
E	F	XVIII		Non.	Lyra rises. Aquila sets at Night.
E	F	VI	6
G	F C C		8	VII
쁘	С	XIV			Sacrifices to Janus.
A		Ш	9		The Agonalia.
В	EN		10		The middle of Winter.
	NP	XI	11		The Carmentalia.
P	C		12	Prid.	The Compitalia. [the Habit of Women:
E	NP	XIX			The Trumpeters make Publications thro' the City in
F	EN	VIII			Wicked Days by Order of the Senate
G	_	1	15	XVIII	To Carmenta, Porrima and Postverta.
삠	C		10	XVII	10 Concord. Leo begins to fet in the Morning.
A	Ċ.	V	17	XVI	The Sun in Aquarius.
R	C.		18		·
19	C	XIII
15	00000000	II	20
빌	C.		21	XII
	C	X	22	XI
1	0	3777777	23	X	Lyra fets.
[7]	Č	XVIII			Festi Sementini, or the Feast of Seed-time.
A	C	VII	25
P	-	3777	26
H	C	XV	27		To Castor and Pollux.
GHABODEFGHABODEF		IV	28
티	F F	ווע	29	IV.	Equiria in the Campus Martius. The Pacalia.
	F		30	III	Fidicula lets.
G		1 /	31	Prid.	To the Dii Penates.

The CALENDAR of Julius Casar. FEBRUARY.

Under the Protection of Neptune.

Nundinal Letters HABCDELGHABCDE	Days.	Golden Number.
H	N	IX			To Juno Sospita, to jupiter, to Hercules, to Diana. The
A	N		2	IV	[Lucaria.
B	N	XVII	3	III	Lyra fets, and the Middle of Leo.
ICI	N	VI		Prid.	The Dolphin fets.
P		22777	5	Non.	Aquarius rises.
周	N	XIV III		VIII VII
F	$N \\ N$	111	7 8	VII
2	N	ХI		V	The Beginning of the Spring.
17	N	VI	9	IV	The pegiming of the abruig.
6	N	XIX	11	iii	Genialic Games. Artturus rises.
12	N	VIII		Prid.	Commercial and commer
IЫ	NP	1 *	13	Id.	To Faunus and Jupiter. The Defeat and Death of the Fabii
F	c.	XVI	14		The Rifing of Corvus, Crater and the Serpent.
F	NP	v	15		The Lupercalia.
Ğ	ENL		16		The Sun in the Sign Pifces.
H	NP	IIIX	17		The Quirinalia.
Α	C	II	18	XII	The Fornacalia. The Feralia to the Gods Manes.
			119	XI
BCDEEGH	C C F	X	20
D	F	1	21		To the Goddess Muta or Laranda. The Feralia.
E	C	XVII			The Chariftia.
F	NP	VII	23		The Terminalia.
G	N	1	24		The Regifugium. The Place of the Biffextile.
		XV	29		Arcturus rises at Night.
A	EN	IV	20		E i i i de Come Monitor
A B C	NP	1	27		Equiria in the Campus Martius.
C	C	XII	28	Prid.	The Tarquins overcome.
-	1		1	1
	1	1	1	1
4.		1	_	1	I

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. MARCH.

Under the Protection of Minerva.

Cold Cold	····
en Nun Doys. ine ibe
[3] 3	·
D NP I I Kalen. The Matronalia; to Mars, the Feast of	Ancylia
E F 2 VI To Juno Lucina.
F C IX 3 V The fecond Pifces fets.
$G C \downarrow A IV \downarrow$
H C XVII 5 III Arcturus sets. Vindemiator rises. Cancer ris	es. [Priest.
A IVP V O Prid. I he Veltaliana, On this Day In Casar man	and Treat
B F 7 Non. To Ve-Jupiter in the Wood of the Asylum.	Pegalue riles
C F XIV 8 VIII Corona rifes.	- 5700 11103.
D C III 9 VII Orion rifes. The Northern Pifces rifes. E C 10 VI F C XI 11 V	1
E C 10 VI
	1
G C 12 IV
HEN XIX 13 III The Opening of the Sea.	1
A NP VIII 14 Prid. The Jecond Equiria upon the Tyber.	1
B NP 15 Id. 10 Anna Parenna. The Parricide. Scarp	io fets.
$Q \in [XVI](8 XVII)$
DNP V 17 XVI The Liberalia, or Bacchanalia. The Agonalia	Milvius Sets
E C I o X I ne Sun in the Sign Aries.	1
F N XIII 19 XIV The Quinquatria of Minerva, which last	Davs.
[O] C II 20 XIII
H C 21 XII The 1st Day of the Century. Pegasus sets in t	he Morning
14 1 A 22 A1
B NP 23 X The Tubilustrium.	I
Q Q R XVIII 24 IX D C VII 25 VIII The Hilaria, to the Mother of the Gods	[Equinox.
D C VII 25 VIII The Hilaria, to the Mother of the Gods.	The Vernal
E C 20 VII
	lexandria.
G C IV 28 V The Megalesia.	,
H C 29 IV	t
G C IV 28 V The Megalefia. H C 29 IV A C XII 30 III To Janu, to Concord, to Salus and Pax. B C I 21 Prid. To the Moon or Discourage the Association
Bl C I 31 Prid. To the Moon, or Diana upon the Aventine	Mount.

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. A P R I L.

Under the Protettion of the Goddess Venus.

١
Nundinal Letters. ODHHOT	Days.	Golden Letters.
Lett	"	3
13		5		To Fortuna
1	N	IX	I Kalen.	10 V enus With the Howers and my
10	C		2 IV	The Pleiades set.
E	c c	XVII	3 III	and and a color Code for the
E	č	VI	A Prid.	The Megalesian Games to the Mother of the Gods, for the
	Ŭ	1	5 Non.	[Space of 8 Days
딥	NP	X۱۷	6 VIII	To Fortuna publica primigenia.
A	N	III	7 111	The Right of Apollo 200 DIANA.
R		Ι.,	8 VI	Plays for Casar's Victory. Libra and Orion set.
IC.	N	IX.	9 V	a u o: C. Alia CinamGan Comes
Ď	N	1	IO IV	Cerealia. Ludi Circensis, the Circensian Games. Finour of Ceres for 8 Days
BCDEF	N	XIX	II III	nour of cares for a Days
F	N	\vIII	12 Prid.	The Mother of the Gods brought to Rome. Plays in ho
G	NP	ĺ	13 Id.	To Jupiter Victor, and Liberty.
H		XVI	14 XVII
A	NP	V	15 XVII	Fordicidia, Or Fordicalia.
B			16 XVI	Augustus saluted Emperor. The Hyades set.
C	N	XIII		Equiria in the Circus Maximus. The Burning of the Foxes.
D	N	11	18 XIV	Equired in the Circus in the Sign Tanger
E	N	1	19 XIII	Cerealia. The Sun in the Sign Taurus.
F		X	20 XII	Paliliana, or Pariliana. The Nativity of Rome.
G		L	21 XI	The second Ageniana, or Agenalia.
H		XVII		The first Vinalia to Jupiter and Venus.
A		VII
В			1-4
IC	NP		1 7	The Dog-star rises. The Goat rises.
E	F	1V	1 -1 -	T E on the Many lacer
Į.	C		1 1	I of I'. for the Space of K lave. I he Coal like
E	NE	XII	29 III	The Dog-ftar fets at Night. [the Morning
1	C	1 *	30 Prid.
E	1 -	1	1301	107 9,000
4	1	1

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. M A Y.

Under the Protection of Apollo.

L_
Numdinal Letters. ABCDERGHABCDERGHABCDERG	Days.	Golden Number.			•
A	N	IX	1		To Deu bona. To Lares prastites. Ludi Floria for the
В	F		2	VI	The Compitalia. [Space of the 3 Days.
C	c	XVII	3		The Centaar and the Hyades rife.
P	C	VI	4
E	C		5		Lyra rifes.
F	C N	XIV	6		The Middle of Scorpio fets.
G	N	Ш	7		Virgilia rifes in the Morning.
뛰	F		8		The Goat rifes.
A	N	ΧI	9		Lemuria at Night for the Space of 3 Days. The Lumi- [naria.
B	C	*	10
Ы	N		11		Orion fets unfoitunate Days to marry on. To Mars the Avenger at the Circus.
띰	NP	VIII	12		Lemuria. The Pleiades rise. The Beginning of Summer.
F	N C	XVI	13		To Mercury. Taurus rifes.
티	NP	V	15	Id.	To Jupiter. The Feast of the Merchants. The Birth of
	F	v		XVII	[Mercury. Lyra rifes.
14	ć	XIII
R	č	il		ΧV
	C C				The Sun in Gemini.
Б	C	х		XIII
E	NP		21		The Agonalia, Or Agoniana of Janus.
F	N	XVIII		XI	To Vejupiter. The Dog-ftar rises.
G	NP		23		The Feria of Vulcan. The Tubilustrium.
H	Q.REX		24
11	C.F.	1
A	C	\ XV	25	VIII	To Fortuna publica. Aquila tises.
В	C	IV	26		The second Regisugium. Arthurus sets.
ABOOME	CCCC	l	27	VI	The Hyades rise.
P	C	XII	28
E	C	I	29
E	C	l	30	III
G	C	IX	31	Prid.	·

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. TUNE.

Under the Protection of Mercury.

15	1	Golden
12	. 1	lde
2.	Ď	ä			· · ·
15	Days.	Ž.			. •
13		180
3		Number.
Nundinal Letters. 1	N	XVII;	11	Kalen!	To Juno. To Monera To Tempestas. To Fabaria. Aquila.
17	F	vi	2	IV.	To Mars, to the Goddes Curna. To Hyades rife. [rifes.
A B	c	V1	3		To Bellona.
B		37757			To Hercules at the Circus. [Father
CDHEGH	C	XIV	٠,
14	N	Ш	5		To Fides. To Jupiter Sponsor, or Deus sidius, holy half
브	N				To Vesta. [rus rises.
F	N	ΧI	7		The Piscatorian Days in the Campus Martins. Arth-
G			8		To Intellectus, at the Capitol. [ing of Assess
H	N ·	XIX	9		Vestaliana. The Altar of Jupiter Pistor. The Crown-
A	Ň	VIII	10		Matralia, of Fortuna fortis. The Dolphin tises at Night.
B	N		II	III	To Concord. To Mother Matuta.
C	N	XVI	12
D	N	V	13		To Jupiter Invictus. The lesser Quinquatrus. The Begin-
E	N		14	XVIII	[ning of Heat.
F	O.ST	XIII	15	XVII	The Carrying of the Dung out of the Temple of Vesta. The
	Q.ST D.F.	1	1 -		[Hyades rife.
G	C	l II	16	XVI
H		1	17	XV	Orion rifes.
A	C	x	18	XIV	The whole Dolphin rifes.
В	C	-	10	XIII
ľč	C	lxviii			To Minerva upon Mount Aventine. The Sun in the Sign
D	C	VIII	21		To Summanus. Serpentarius riscs. [Cancer.
E	c	*	22
F	C	l xv	23	1
G	C.	ΪV	.24		To Fortuna fortis. The Summer Solftice.
H	C	1 * *	25		10 200 mm jurist 1 me dammer engineer
A		XII	26		The Girdle of Orion rifes.
B	C	I	127		To Jupiter Stater and Lar.
C	C	1	28		10 Japaner Dimor But Enr.
E	F	IX	29		To Quirinus on the Quirinal Mount.
		1 ,7
E	F	1	'3C	gria.	To Hercules and the Muses. The Poplifugia.

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. QUINTILIS, or JULY. Under the. Protection of Jupiter.

Nundinal Letters. H. G. I	Days.	Golden Number.
F	N	XVII			Removing from one House to another.
G	N	VI	2	VI	in .
H	N		3	V	Commission of the second
A	NP	ΧIV	4	IV III	Corona sets in the Morning. The Hyades
B C	N	III	5	III Prid.	The Poplifugium. [minina.
Ы	N N	χį		Non.	Ludi Apollinares for the Space of 8 Days. To Fortuna Fe- The Nona Caprotina. The Feast of Maid-servants. Ronna-
	N	Λ,	8	VIII	Vitulatio, or wanton Rejoycings. The [lus disappear'd.]
E	ĒΝ	XIX	9		Cepheus rises at Night. [Middle of Capricorn sets.]
G	Ĉ	VIII	10		The Etesian Winds begin to blow.
H	c .		11	V
A	NP	l xvi	12	IV	The Birth of Julius Cæfar.
В	C	V	13
C	C	1	14		To Fortuna Feminina. The Merkatus, or Mercuriala for
D	NP	XIII			To Castor and Pollux. [6 Days.
E F G H	F	п		XVII	The foremost Dog rises.
F	C	١	17		The fatal Day of the Battel of Allia.
G	C	Х	18
H	NP	V1711		XIV	Lucaria, Games lasting 4 Days.
A	C	VII	21	XIII XII	Plays for Cæsar's Viltory. The Sun in the Sign Leo.
ľ	C	1 vii	22		Lincoln rate
lö	1	l xv			The Games of Neptune.
F.	N	liv	24
F	NP	1	25		Furinalia. The Circensian Games lasting 6 Days. Aqua-
G	C	XII		VII	The little Dog-ftar rifes. rim lets.
H	C	1	27		Agnila rises.
A B C D E F G H A B	C		28
В	C	IX	29
C		L	30		Aquila sets.
n D	C	XVI	ŀ.	Prid.

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. SEXTILIS, or AUGUST. Under the Protection of the Goddess Ceres.

I
Number of Parties of A D D D D D D D D D D D D D D D D D D	1 1	Golden		İ
Į.		de
E	Days.
7	1 5	Letters		1 1
Iŝ	1 1	3
3
E,	N	VI	1 Kalen.	To Mars. To Hope.
F	CCCFFCC	XIV	2 IV	Feria, upon the Account of Cæsar's subduing Spain.
G	C	Ш	3 ^t III	The Middle of Leo rifes.
H	С		4 Prid.	The Middle of Levinies Mount
Α	F	ΧĪ	5 Non.	To Salus on the Quirinal Mount.
В	F			To Hope. The Middle of Arthurus fets.
C	C	XIX		The Middle of Aquarius sets.
P	C.	VIII	8 VI	Soli Indigeti on the Quirinal Mount.
E	NP		9 V	To Oak and Cours
F	С	XVI	10 11	To Opis and Ceres. To Hercules in the Circus Flaminius. Lyra fets. The Be-
G	C
Н	С		12 Prid.	The Lignapesia. Lignning of Autumn. To Diana in the Sylva Aricina. To Vertumnus. The Feast
A	NP	XIII	13' Id.	The Dolphin in the Morning. [of Slaves, and Ser-
IB	F.	11	14 AIX
P	F C C NP		15 XVIII
IP	C	X	16 XVII	Portumnalia to Janus.
E	NP		17 XVI
E	C	XVIII
G	FP	VII	19 XIV
Н	C		20 XIII	Vinalia Ruftica. The Grand Mysteries. Consualia.
A	NP	XV
	EN	IV		Vulcanalia in the Circus Flaminius.
1	NP	VII	1 71 1	The Ferie of the Moon.
F	C		7
E	NP	I	25 VIII	Ope Confront in the Supressi
TOWELL	C	IX		Volturnalia. Etesian Winds
2	NP	¹ ^	27. VI 28. V	To Victory in the Court. Sagitta sets. The End of the
F	NP	XVII	(1
A	F	l vi	1-71	The Ornaments of the Goddess Ceres are shown.
ķ	F	1 1	30 III	Andromeda rises at Night.
_		•	13

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. SEPTEMBER. Under the Protection of Vulcan.

١
	Nundinal Letters	Days.	Golden Number.
- 1	D	N	XIV	71		To Jupiter Maimattes. Feafts to Nepsune.
	E F	N	III	2	IV	To the Victory of Angustus Feria.
1	F	NP	I	13	III	Dionysiaca, or Vindemia.
	G	С	XI	4		Roman Games for the Space of 8 Days.
	G	F	l	15	Non.
		F	XIX	6	VIII	To Erebus a Ram and a black Sheep.
	A B C	CCCC	VIII	17	VII
	C	С	1	8
	D	С	XVI	و ا	V	The Goat rifes.
	E	C	l v	10		The Head of Medusa rises.
	DEFGH	C		11		The Middle of Virgo rifes.
	G	N	XIII	12		The Middle of Arcturus rifes.
	Н	NP	II	13		To Jupiter. The Dedication of the Capitol. The Nail
	A	F		14	XVIII
	В		Х	15	XVII	The Grand Circensian Games, dedicated for 5 Days. The
	C	С		16		Departure of the Swallows.
•	D	C	XVIII	17	XV
	B C D E F	С	VII	18		Spica Virginis rises in the Morning.
	F	0000	1	19		The Sun in the Sign Libra.
	G	С	ΧV	20		The Merkatus for the Space of 4 Days. The Birth of
	Н	C	IV	21	XI	[Romulus.
	Α	C		22		Argo and Pifces fet.
	В	NP	XII	23		The Circensian Games. The Birth of Augustus. The Cen-
	C	C	I	24		The Autumnal Equinox. [taur rises in the Morning
	D	C	1	25	VII	To Venus, Saturn and Mania.
	GHABODEF	C	IX	26	VI
	F	C		27	V	To Venus the Mother, and Fortuna redux.
	G H	C				The Last of Virgo's rising.
		F	IV	29
	A	F	XIV	30	Prid.	A Feast to Minerva. The Meditrinalia.
	l			•	J

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. OCTOBER.

Under the Protection of the God Mars.

L_
Number of Authors SOCIETE GEARCHES OF ABOUTED A	Days.	Golden Number.
B	N	111	1	Kalen.	,
ld	F		2	VI
Ы	r	XI	3	V
E	č		1	IV	Boores fets in the Morning.
15	č	XIX	5		The Ornaments of Ceres shown.
	5	VIII	1 2	Prid.	To the Gods Manes.
	E	V	7	Non.	20 1110 0020
	F C C C C F F C	XVI	Ŕ	VIII	The bright Star Corona rifes.
10	-	v	وا	l	1100116410011
12	C	' '	اردا		Ramalia.
12		хш	li i	I	Meditrinalia. The Beginning of Winter.
P	370		12		Augustalia.
Ŀ	NP		١.	1	Fontinalia. To Jupiter Liberator. Games lasting for 3 days
F	NP	x	13		Tommana, 10 Japaner Laver Laver Cultico succession 3
	NP	1 ^	14		The Merchants to Mercury.
н	NP	VOID	15	XVII	Popular Games. Arthurus fets.
Α	F	AVIII	ilio	VVI	Popular Games. Mumm ices
В	C	I ATT	117	XVI XV	Comes
C	C		18		To Jupiter Liberator. Games.
P	C NP	XV	15	A.IV	Armilustrium.
Æ	C	IV	120	XIII	The Sun in the Sign Scorpio.
F	C		21		Plays lasting 4 Days.
G	C	XII			Turning Code
H	C	I	2		To Liber Pater. Taurus sets.
Α	C	1	2.		·
В	C	IX	2	SVIII
lo	C	1		6 VII
la	000000000	XVI		7 VI	Plays to Victory.
Ī	C	VI	12	8 V	The lesser Mysteries. Virgilia set.
F	C	1		9 IV
k	c	XIV		o III	The Feria of Vertumnus. Games consecrated.
i.	C	Ш	13	1 Prid	Arthurus fets.

The

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. NOVEMBER. Under the Protection of the Goddess Diama.

Nundinal Letters, ABODE FOTABODE FOTABODE FOTABODE F	Days.	Golden Number.		The Banquet of Juniter. The Circensian Games. The
A	N F	ХI	1 Kalen	The Banquet of Jupiter. The Circensian Games. The Arsturus sets at Night. [Head of Taurus sets.]
B	F	VI	2 111	The Fidicula rifes in the Morning.
Ы	•	XIX	4 Prid.
E	F	VIII	≼ Non.	Neptunalia. Games lasting 8 Days.
F	F.			A Show of Ornaments.
	C	XVI V	7 VII 8 VI	Scorpio rises with a clear Light.
	000000	Ņ	9 7	20070
В	C	XIII	10 11
C	C	II	tt III	The Shutting up of the Sea. Virgilia fet.
D	C		12 Prid.	A Feast commanded. The Lettisternia.
E	NP	X	13 Id.	The Tryal of Horses.
1	F	V17111	YVII	Popular Games in the Circus for 3 Days.
띹	6	VII	LIGIXVI	The End of Seed-time for Corn.
A	C	٧	17 XV
В	C	XV	18 XIV	The Merkatus for 3 Days. The Sun in the Sign Sagittarus.
C	C	IV	19 XIII	A Supper of the Priests, in Honour of Cybele.
Þ	C	l	20 XII
받	+000000000	XII	21 XI 22 X	To Pluto and Proferpina.
F.	c	1	23 IX
H		ıx	24 VIII
A	C		25 VII	The little Dog-star sets.
В	C	XVII		Funeral-Sacrifices to the Gauls dug up, and to the Greeks,
C	CCCCC	VI	27 V	[in the fore boarie.
L	1 0	XIV	201
)E	F	\Aiv	30 Prid
ľ	1 *	1 	13-1-1

The CALENDAR of Julius Cafar. DECEMBER.

Under the Protection of the Goddess Vesta.

-			-	44. 114	entering the second sec
Nundinal Letters	Days.	Golden Number.			: i.
		I XI	-	Kalen.	To Farrana Samining
U	N	A.	2		To Fortuna Feminina.
A	ĺ	XIX	3	1 1
R	1	VIII	3		To Minerva and Neptune.
ď	F	1	5	1 1	The Faunalia.
Ď	l c	XVI	6	VIII	The Middle of Sagittarius sets.
BODEFOR	CCCC	v	7	VII	Aquila rifes in the Morning.
F	C	1	8	VI
G	C	XIII	9	V	To Juno Jugalis.
H	C	II .	10	IV)
A	NP		11		Agonalia. The 14 Halcyonian Days.
BC	EN		12	1 1
C	NP		13	Id.	The Equiria, or the Horse-Races.
E	F	XVIII			Brumalia. Ambrosiana.
EFC	NP	VII		XVIII	Confualia. All Cancer rises in the Morning.
F	C			XVII
C	1	XV	17		The Saturnalia, lasting 5 Days.
HAROLER	C	IV	18		Cygnus rifes. The Sun in the Sign Capricorn.
1	NP		19		Opaliana.
E	C	XII		XIII	Sigillaria lasting 2 Days. [Wine mix'd with Honey
10	NF	' I	21		Angeronalia. The Divalia. To Hercules and Venus with
L	$C \mid C \mid NP$	IX	22		Compitalia, Feria dedicated to the Lares. Games.
E	C	1 *^	23		The Feria of Jupiter. Larentinalia, or Quarentinalia. Th
C	C	XVII			Juvenalia. Sports. [Goat fet The End of the Brumalia. The Winter Solfice.
	C	VI	26		THE ENG OF THE DIMINANA. THE WINTER SOUTHER.
1		+ "	27		To Phabus for the Space of 3 Days. The Dolphin rifes
É		XIV			[the Mornin
ĺĉ	F	III	29		Aquila fets at Night.
lì	F	1	30		Canicula fets at Night.
I	F	XI	31	I
_

were now become Mafters of the World in the a caliga ad confutarum pervenific: Thus Agrippina Time of Augustus, to cause this Correction of the caused her Son Caise to be nam'd Caligula, be-Calendar made by Julius Cafar, to be every- cause he being born in the Army, she caused him where receiv'd, and to introduce the Use of it to wear these Buskins like a common Soldier, to among all Nations, even those which were most gain their Good-will by this Complaisance. remote, at least fo far as concern'd the Political Diffribution of Time. For this Reason the Middle of the Leg, and had at the Top the Fi-Greeks did no longer make use of a Lunar Year, guie of the Head of a Lion or Leopard, or only nor make their Intercalation of a Month and a of the Muzzle of these Animals: It was garnish'd Half to each Olympiad. The Egyptians also were with little Nails of Iron, and sometimes even of oblig'd to fix their Thos to the first Day of their Gold and Silver, and had a Sole of Wood. Year, which moved before through all the Sea- There was a Fund fet apart for providing these fons, and to fix it for ever to a determinate Point. In like manner did the Jews, for they rium, and the Officers that distributed it were quite left off their way of intercalating of a called Clavarii, of which Number was the Father Month in the Space of 120 Years, as they had been used to do, and submitted to the Intercalation of a Day once every Four Years.

Tistrue, the Observation of the Julian Ca-Countries, but each of them ftill retain'd the of Tacum, in L. 3. of his Hiftory. free Use of their own Cuftoms and Traditions for Divine Worthip. Thus the Fews continued in the ancient Observation of the Law, without or Ceremonies; and herein the other Nations of figerent. the World did injitate them, although they were fubiect to the Roman Empire. The primitive Christians made use of the Di-Romans, to whose Power they were tubiett, except fuch Cuftom: as were reculiar to the City of Rome, or favoured of their blind Superstition and Idolairy. They kept therefore the fame their Days, the fame Divition of these Days into Calends, Nones and Ides, and the fame Intercalation of a Day every Four Years, in the Year which was called Biffextile or Leap-year. They lett out the Nundinal Letters which were nied placed other Letters to tignifie every hely Sun-Devil, and in their flead introduced the Feafts and Ceremonies of the true Religion.

must understand that Passage of Suctoniza, in the Years. Life of Augujius, Coronas murales fape estam caliof the Luemies Cities; and also that Proverb the Hymns made in Honour of the Gods. which Senera uses, speaking of Marim, that from

It was not difficult for the Romans, when they a common Soldier he arrived at the Confulfibro.

These fort of Shoes came up as high as the Nails for the Soldiers, which was called Clavaof Suetonim.

The Soldiers did very often defire of the Emperors the Clavarium, i. e. the Money of this Fund, for buying Nails to adorn their Shoes; lendar brought no other Alteration into thele to they did of Visellius according to the Relation

Fustin tells us, that all the Soldiers of Antiochu's Army cauled their Bulkins to be adorn'd with Nails of Gold, Argenti certe aurique tanchanging any thing as to their Sibbath, Festivals, tum, ut etiam gregarii milites caligas auro suf-

CALIGULA CAIUS, the Fourth Roman Emperor, the Son of Germanicus and Agrippina, he fucceeded Tiberius in the Empire. He vision of Time according to the Custom of the was furnamed Caligula from the Military Shoes which his Mother caused him to wear in the Army, and which were called Calina. He had an ill-shaped Body, a small Neck, a large Forehead and flender Legs; he affected tometimes, Names of the Months, the same Number of says Suctonius, to put on a terrible Countenance. to ftrike a Dread into the Minds of those who came near him; his Chin turned up, which was a Sign of Cruelty, but he would put on a modeft Look, which was only a Copy of his Countenance, fays Tacitus, to cover his naked Dengns. in the Calendar of the Ronans, and in their flead He gave an Example of all ores of Vices, and committed the most enormous Crimes. He enday throughout the Year. They took no Notice deavoured to gain the Good-will of the People of their Dies Falti. Nefalti or Comisiales, because by Largestes and Shows of extraordinary Exthey were employ'd only for some Uses peculiar pence and Magnificence. He caused a Bridge to the City of Rome; but they rejected with to be built upon the Sea a Mile long with Moles. Abhorrence the Festivals and Games of the Ro | upon which he erected Towers and built Houses. mans, as being Ceremonies confecrated to the out of a foolish and ridiculous Fancy, that by this means he had subdued this Element. He caused many of the Statues of the Gods to be maimed. CALIGA, a Boot or Buskin, a fort of Shoes breaking off their Heads, that he might place that were worn by a common Roman Soldier in his own in the Room of them. In fine, he was a time of War, from whence the Word Caligatus | Monster of Cruelty and Prodigality. His own comes to fignifie a common Soldier: And thus we Servants killed him after he had reigned Four

CALLIOPE, who was the Mother of Or-Ratis tributs, that he often gave the Mural Coro- pheus, and the first of the Nine Muses, according net to common Soldiers who first scal'd the Walls to the Poets, who presided over Harmony and fuffered her felf to be debauched by Jupiter; whereupon the Goddess being angry, chang'd her into a Bear: But afterwards her Lover placed her in the Heavens: and this is that Constellation which is called the Great Bear.

CALUMNIA, Calumny, of which the A sbenians made a Deity, and to which they built a Temple. Lucian has given us an Embl-m of Calumny, in a Dialogue under the same Title. Apelles, Tays he, being accused by a trainter scribes, where she was working Hangings with e jealous of his Glory, that he had conspired a rigures in them. gainst Ptolomy, and caused the Revolt of Tyre, and the taking of Pelufum, and being acquitted from this Acculation by one of the Pain- Curie by his Reproaches; although he had for ter's Accomplices, Ptolomy was to fentibly touch. his Share the rich Countries of Syria and Egyp, ed with Sorrow for what was done, that he and all Affrica, as we read in Genefis, yet he gave Apelles 100 Talents, and deliver'd up the Accuser into his Hands, to do with him as he Nephews, and planted there such Vices as were flould think fit. Apelles therefore to be revenged on Calumny which had done him fuch an ill turn, made the following Picture. He painted does not reckon him among the first Founders a Prince with large Ears, as commonly Mides's of the Italians. are painted, fitting upon a Throne encompatfed with Suspicion and Ignorance, and while he is in having a Face very bright, and sparkling with extraordinary Charms and Enticements: She holds in her Left hand a forch, and with the other drags an innocent young Man by the Hair, the Ægeids. who holds up his Hands to Heaven and implores its Affiftance: Before her marches Envy with a pale Face and fquinting Eyes, which fet off and dressup Calumny to make her the more acceptable: After her comes Repentance under the bigure of a Lady in Mourning-Habit, with her into the Place of the Assemblies at Rome, which Garments rent, which turns her Head towards were afterwards called Roftra, being the Tribu-Truth, who weeps for Sorrowand Shame.

CALYPSO, was one of the Nymphs, the Daughter of Oceanus and Testys: She reigned in the Isle of Ogygia, where the entertain'd Ulyffes kindly, when he was cast upon it by a Storm. They lived together for Seven Years in great Privacy : But Ulyffes at laft forfook it, and pre- the Invasion of the Gauls. He arrived at Rome ferred his own Country and his dear Penelopy to his new Mistress.

* as he was going out of the Ifle of the Bleffed, " Ulyffes took him afide and gave him a Letter to Calpple, without the Knowledge of his Wife, and that he arriving within Three Days after in the Ife of aggie, broke open this Letter for fear left this crafty Knave (hould put some had given Notice to the Romans of the Arrival Trick upon him, and he found written in it what follows: I thould not have left you before, but that I inffer'd Shipwrack, and hardly a escaped by the Help of Lemosbens in the Coun- to Juno Monera, and the Goddel's Matura. The try of the Pheaces. When I returned home, Romans in Acknowledgement of fo many Bene-

CALLISTO, the Daughter of Lycam, I who confumed my Goods; and after they were killed, I was affaffinated by Telemachan whom I had by Circe. At prefent I am in the Ifle of the Bieffed, where I remember with Grief the Pleafures we enjoy'd together, and wish that I had always continued with you, and had accepted the Offer you made me of Immortality. If I can therefore make an Ricape, you may reft affored that you shall see me again. Farewel. He delivered this Letter to Calypla. whom he found in a Grotto, fuch as Homer de-

> CHAM, or CHAMESES, the Son of Noab, who brought upon himself his Father's made Inroads into the Countries possessed by his not known before. He continued Ten Years in lealy, and was driven thence by fanus. Fulling

CAMILLA, the Queen of the Volfei, who was much addicted to Hunting, and was never this State, he reaches out his Hand a great Way fo well pleased as in shooting with a Bow. She off to Calumny, which advances towards him, came into the Help of Turnus and the Latinsagainft Aneas, and fignalized herfelf by many brave Exploits: She was treacherously killed by Aronzius, as we learn from Virgil, in L'11. u

CAMILLUS, Camillus Furius, an illufirious Reman, who was called a fecond Romnius for reftoring the Roman Commonwealth. He vanquished the Antiera in a Naval Fight, and caused the Prows of the Ships to be brought nal for Orations. When the Capitol was belieged by the Gauls, he was chosen Dictator, although he had been banished by his ungrateful Country-men. Affoon as he heard this News he folicited the Ardeasa to come in to the Affistance of Rome, and invited all Italy to oppose in that very Moment when the Citizens were weighing 2000 Pounds of Gold in Performance Lucian in L. 2. of his true History fays, 'That of a I reaty they had made with the Gauls to oblige them to raise the Seige : But he charging them on a fudden, forced them by this Surprise to draw off with Shame and Lofs.

After this Defeat and Deliverance of Rome, he made a Model of a Temple for that Voice which of the Gauls, and which they had flighted : He inflituted Sacrifices to it under the Name of Dent Locusius. He caused also a Temple to be built I found my Wife courted by a fort of People fits, erefted to him an Equeftrian Statue in the died of the Plague at Eighty Years of age. CAMILLUS, or CASMILLUS, was the Minister of the Gods Cabiri: Thus Platarch fays, that the Romans and Greeks gave this Name to a young Man, who served in the Temple of Jupiter, as the Greeks gave it to Mercury : Mi nistrantem in ade Jouis puerum in flore attiu diei uie of them also against Enchantnients, and par-Camillum; ut & Mercurium Gracorum nonnulii ticularly after the Moon was eclipsed, which Camillum a ministerio appelleuere. Varro thinks that this Name comes from the Mysteries of the Samothracians. Macrobius informs us, that the young Boys and Maids, who ministred to the Priefts and Prieftesses of the Pagan Deities were call'd Camilli and Camilla: Romani quoque pueros puellafve nobiles & inveftes, Camillos & Camillas appellant, Flaminicarum & Flaminum praminifiros. Servius fays, that in the Tufcan Tongue Mercury was call'd Camillus, as being the Minister of the Gods. This Word Camillus obtained among the Tufcans, Romans, Greeks, Samothracians, and the Egyptians; and came from the East into the Weft. Borbart thinks that this Word might be deriv'd from the Arabick chadama, i. e. ministrare ? And tis well known, that the Arabick has much Affinity with the Phanician and Hebrew Tongues. Grotius derives Camillus from ChamarimWritings wherein this Term fignifies Priefts or Augurs.

CAM that was never done to any Citizen before. He Bell, to go and fup together.

CAMOEN Æ, the Nine Mules, the Daughters of Jupiter and Mnemolyne, fo call'd from the Superbus challeng'd to himfelf the Use of it; Sweetness of their Singing.

Vessel which was made in Campania.

CAMPANA, alone, or NOLÆ, Bells. Pancirollus fays expresly, that they were not in- and particularly a great Field cover'd with Corn vented until about the Year of F. C. 400, or without the City, which they confecrated to the 420, when they were first found out by the God Mars, by throwing all the Corn into the Bishop of Nola in Campania, call'd Paulinus : Tiber ; Ager Tarquinius qui inter Urbem & Tibe-And that for this Reason they were call'd Cam- rim fuir consecratus Marti, Martius deinde campus pane from the Country, or Nole from the City fuit. Liv. where they were first used : But Salmuth upon this Paffage of Pancirollus tells us, that it was an reaches to the Gate call'd Popolo, and even as ancient Error to think that Paulinus first invented the Use of Bells, fince they were in use from to the Topography of Cluverius. It had on one the Times of Moles: for the High-Priest among the Jews had a great many little Bells of Gold Mount, the Capitol and the little Hill of Garat the lower part of his Garment, to give No dens. Its lowermost part was call'd Vallie Martice to the People when he entred into, and tia, which reach'd from the Arch of Domitian when he came out of the Sanctuary. The Prieft | as far as the Gate Popolo. Strabo Speaking of the of Proferpina among the Athenians, call'd Hierophurus, rung a Bell to call the People to Sa Notice of the Field of Mars, which was of a crifice. The Romans likewise had a Bell in the prodigious Compass, and much longer than it publick Baths, to give Notice of the Time when they were open'd and thut up; as may appear from these Verses of Martial, L. 14. Epigr. 163.

Redde pilam : sonat æs thermarum : ludere pergis Virgine vis fola losus abire domum.

Market place of Rome, which was an Honour tain Greeks who affembled at the Ringing of Adrianus Junius affures us, that the Ancients used Bells for the same End as we do, that they rung them at the Death of any Person, as is done to this Day, out of a superstitious Opinion, which was then generally received, that the Sound of Bells drove away Devils. They made they thought came to pass by Magick: Thus we must understand these Verses of Juvenal,

- Fam nemo tubas atque ara fariget, Una laboranti poserit sucurrere Luna.

CAMPESTRE, the Lappet of a Gown, or lower part of a Caffock, that went round the Body; a fort of Apron, wherewith they girded themselves, who perform'd the Exercises in the Campus Martius, which reach'd from the Navel down to the middle of their Thighs, to cover their Privy Parts.

CAMPUS MARTIUS, a large Place without Rome, between the City and the River Tiber. Some Authors affirm, that Romulus coniecrated it to the God Mars, from whom he faid he was descended, and that he devoted it to the Exercises of the Roman Youth. Others, as particularly Tiens Livius, think that Tarquinius and that when he was driven away upon the CAMPANA SUPELLEX, an Earthen Account of his Cruelty, and the impudent Rape of his Son committed on the Body of the chafte Lucresia, the Romans conficated all his Goods,

> This Field contain'd all that great Plain which far as the Pons Milvius, or Ponte-mole, according iide the Tiber, and on the other the Quirinal

In this Field the People affembled to chuse Magistrares; Review was taken of the Armica, and the Confuls lifted Souldiers. This Place ferv'd also for the Exercises of the Youth, as to ride the Horse, to Wreftle, to shoot with the Bow, to throw the Quoit, or Ring: Plutar b in his Book of Sympifiacts speaks of cer- And after these Exercises they bath'd themfelves in the Tiber, to refresh themselves, and little Officer of very small Esteem among the to learn to fwim.

chie, or Sea fights, which were shown there for and other Judicial Afts, very much like our Retheir Pleasure and Diversion. Here also were gifters or Deputy-Registers. They were paid to be seen the Statues of illustrious Men, and a by the Roll for their Writing; as Salmasius has vaft Gallery built by Antoninus Pius, together observ'd when he relates a Passage out of the with that Pillar 70 Foot high, whose Ascent was Laws of the Lombards: Volumus ut nullus Can-106 Steps, that were enlightned by 36 Win- cellurius pro ullo judicio aut scrippo aliquid amplius dows. Here also was the Obelisk, which Augu- accipere audeas, will dimidiam libram argenti de flus fetch'd from Egyps, that supported a Sun- majoribus seripsu; de minoribus autem infra dimidial: Moreover, in this Place were to be feen diam libram. Doubless this Officer was a very the Arth of Domirida, the Amphitheatre of the inconfiderable Person, fince Vopifcus tells us, Emperor Claudius, the Naumachia of Domitian, that Numerianus made a very shameful Election, the Manfoleum of Augustus, the Sepulchre of when he preferr'd one of these Officers to be Marcellus his Nephew, the Trophies of Marius, Governour of Rome, Prafedum Urbi unum & Canand a vaft Number of Sepulchres and ancient cellariti fuit fecit, quo radius nee cogitari potuit Monuments all along the River-lide.

the People and their Estates in the Year 319.

to build the Campus Martius, and incluse it which were call'd Cancelli forences; and that afwithin the City. He offer'd to make the Septa terwards those were call'd Chancellors, who sate or Inclosures, into which the People entred one in the first Place between these Bars. The Reby one to give their Votes, of Marble, which be- gifter in Sea-Port-Towns, i.e. in the Maritime fore were only of Wood: But the Civil Wars Places in the Levans, was also call'd Chanwhich fell out unexpectedly, hindred the Exe. cellor. cution of this great Delign.

to her Honour.

were enterr'd alive.

Laughter.

the Dignity nor the Power of him whom we now less of the Temple of the true God. call Chancellor in England ; for he was only a

Romans, who fate in a Place that up with Grates In this Place the People beheld the Nauma or Bars, to write out the Sentences of the Judges aliquid, nec dici. Monf. Menage fays, that this At one End of this Place there was a little Word comes a Cancellin, from the Bars or Latrifing Ground, call'd Mons Citorim, or Citato- tice, within which the Emperor was when he rum, on which the People mounted to give their administred Juffice, because the Chancellor Votes at Elections. Very near to this was the flood at the Door of that Apartment, which fe-Town-house, where Foreign Ambassadors were parated the Prince from the People. M. Du receiv'd, lodg'd and entertain'd at the Charge Cange following herein the Opinion of Foannes of the Commonwealth, during the Time of their de Janua, thinks that this Word comes from Pa-Embally, as Time Living relates upon occasion of lessine, wherein the Tops of Houses were flat, the Macedonian Ambassadors, Macedones deducti and made in the Form of Terrass-walks, having extra Urbem in villam publicam, ibique eu locas & Bannisters with cross Bars, which were call'd lastia prabita. In this Place also the Censors Cancelli; and that those who mounted upon made the first Assessment, and the Enrolment of these Tops of Houses to repeat an Oration, were call'd Cancellarii: and that this Name was In Cicero's Time C. Capito made a Proposal extended to those who pleaded within the Bars, CANDELABRUM, a Candleftick. The CAMPUS FLOR E. the Field of Flora, Candleftick of the Temple at Ferusalem which a Place confectated to that Goddes, wherein was of Gold, which weigh'd 100 Mina, i.e. were shown the Games call'd Floralia, instituted Pounds, differ'd from the Candlestick of the Romans, in this, that the latter had but one CAMPUS SCELERATUS, a Place Stem with its Foot, and one Lamp at top, where which was near the Porta Collina, where the as the Candleftick of the Temple of Solomon had Veftal Virgins, which were lewd Profittutes, feven Branches, three on each fide and one in ere entert'd alive.

CAMPUS RIDICULI, a Place where fosephus says. Du Choul, in the Religion of the Hannibal encamp'd when he beineg'd Rome, which anciens Romans, has given seven Branches to he might early have taken, if he had not been their Candleftick, as Foleph did to that in Solofrighted with vain Dreams and Fancies, which mon's Temple; but then he allows to it only hindred him from continuing the Siege; for the feven Lamps, whereof that in the middle is Romans perceiving the Siege to be railed, and greater than the reft, and represents the Sun, their City by this means to be deliver'd, upon as the fix other do the Planets. This Candleftick this occasion burst out into a very loud Laughter, with the Vessels and other Rarities of the Temand henceforth erected an Altar to the God of ple at Ferufalem, ferv'd for Ornaments to the Triumph of Titm and Velpalian, after the Sack-CANCELLARIUS; he who went by ing of ferufalem; and it was laid up in the this Name in the Roman Empire, had neither Temple of Peace, together with the Sacred Velthe Defence of the Commonwealth.

In the first Year of their Canvassing, they they declar'd to them, that they delir'd to ob- then the Tribunes would exclude them. tain such an Office by their good Opinion of . The most general and essential Defect which dates, which they call'd, Edere nomen apud Pratorem aut Consulem: And there was this diffean office, and being admitted by the Magistrate to petition for it; that no Person was ever hindred from defiring a Favour of the People, but every one was not admitted by the Magistrate to put in his etition in publick on the Day of Election. For, as toon as the Magistrate had seen the Petition of the Candidate together with the Recommendation of the People, he call'd together the Ordinary Council of Senators; and after they had examin'd the Reatons he offer'd for of his Life and Behaviour, the Magistrate gave him leave to put in for the Place, in these Terms, rationem babebo, renuntiabo; or else he rejected him, and answer'd, rationem non babebo, non renuntiabo, i. e. I will have no regard to you. We have an infinite Number of Examples to this purpose: Ajconius Pedianus writes, that Catiline delir'd the Contulfhip of the People at his return from Africa; and jet the Conful Volcatius Autilius put in for the Office of Cenior, but | Q Lucretius Ofella with his own Hand, for deli-

CANDIDATI, the Candidates, of fuch the Confuls protested that they would have no as afpir'd to Offices in the Commonwealth; regard at all to his Name, non renuntiabe. This were so call'd from the white Garment they Opposition was so powerful, that it prevail'd were oblig'd to wear during the two Years of above the Favour of the People, and even above their folliciting for the Place. This Garment the Authority of the Tribones. It was never was to be wore fingly without any other Cloaths, known that any Man did more powerfully folaccording to the Relation of Plutareb, in the licite, or had greater Favour shown him than Life of Coriolanus, to avoid any Suspicion the Pelicanus had for obtaining the Consulthip, for People might have of conceal'd Money for pur- he was supported by the Tribunes, and favour'd chaing Votes, and also that they might the by the People; and yet the Conful Pifo declar'd more easily show to the People the Scars of with a loud Voice, in the Presence of the Peothose Wounds they had receiv'd in fighting for ple, as Valerius Maximus relates it, that he would not name him at all, non renunriabo.

The Tribunes also very often opposed the ask'd leave of the Magistrate to harangue the Candidates, when the Magistrate appear'd not People, or to make a Speech to them by some to be sufficiently inform'd of their Desects, or of their Friends. At the End of these Speeches plainly diffembled his knowledge of them, for them, and pray'd them to have regard to their excluded any Person from Offices, was his bad Ancestors, and the Services they had done, of Life and wicked Actions: A second Defect which which they gave a large Account: This was render'd any Perion uncapable, was the want of call'd profiters nomen fuum, and this Year was that Age which was prescrib'd by the Laws to call'd annus professionis, which was wholly em every one that should obtain the Offices of the ploy'd in making Friends among the Grandees, Commonwealth. Tacitus informs, that at the and Populace, either by Games and Feafts, or Beginning of the Commonwealth the Person's by building some Work for the Publick, or by Age was not at all consider'd, but any one was defending at the Bar fuch as were fued. At the admitted indifferently to Dignities, and even Beginning of the second Year they return'd to to the Consulfhip, the Young as well as the Old; the Magistrate with the Recommendation of the but in succeeding Times they were forc'd to People, which was commonly express'd in these make Laws, which prescrib'd a certain Age for Terms, rationem illius babe, and they pray'd him Offices. One must be 27 Years of Age to be to let down their Names in the Lift of Candi- Quæftor, 30 to be Tribune; and the Office of the Major or Curule Edile could not be adminifired by any one under the Age of 37 Years; rence between profizeri apud populum, & profizeri nor of Prætor under 39, nor of Conful under and Magistratum, i. e. Between declaring their 43 Years of Age: But according to the Opini-Intention to the People, and petitioning them for on of Jufius Lipfius none could be Quartor until he was 25 Years old, nor Tribune or Edile Major until he had entred upon the 27th or 28th Year of his Age; nor Prætor until he was 20 Years old, nor Conful until he had entred upon the 43th Year of his Age. Nevertheless they did very often dispense with the Rigor of these Laws; for Scipio was made Conful at 24, and Pompey at 34 Years of Age.

There was also a third Defect which render'd them uncapable of Offices, and that was when defiring such an Office, and inform'd themselves they endeavour'd to obtain the greater Offices before they had paffed thro' the leffer: Thus it was forbidden that any one should put in for the Office of a Contul, until he had first passed thro' the other inferior Offices: Upon which account Cicero in his Book, entituled, Brutus, calls the Petition of Cafar for the Office of Conful, An over-hafty and unutual Petition, Extraordinariam & pramaturum petitionem ; because he had been formerly no more than Edile: And we learn tius, having call'd the Senate together, declar'd, from History, that Sylla testified so great a Zeal that he was by no means to be admitted, C.Mar- for the Observation of this Law, that he kill'd ring the Confulfhip, before he had exercised the smost was declar'd Magistrate, who after this Office of Quartor or Prator. The Reader may Declaration never fail'd immediately to return confult the Word Amus, where we have given Thanks to the Assembly, and from thence he asan Account of the Years which were prescrib'd for the feveral Offices.

The Magistrate having admitted the Pretender to put in a Petition for the Office, he made it his Business to find out Friends, which were of great Credit and Authority among the Grandees of Rome, and the Populace, that by they made use of all manner of Civilities, and the little Arts of pleafing, to gain the Good-Will of the Voters; they courted private Perfons, not only with Complements but Gifts, and in the corrupt Times of the Commonwealth, they came at laft to that pass, as to purchase openly the Votes of the Tribes : For buying their Votes, they made use of three forts of Persons, who were call'd Interpretes, Divisores, Sequestres Interpretes, i.e. Brokers who help'd to make the Bargain, per quos pattio inducebatur, favs Afconius Pedianus; Divifores, Diftributers, who divided the Money among the Tribes, and Sequefires, Persons in whose Hands the Money was deposited, to give it to the Voters, in cale they did not fail to give their Votes according to Agreement. To remedy this Diforder, many Laws were made, which were call'd leges de ambitu; but fill they found out from time to time feveral ways to evade them.

The time of Election being come, the Magiftrate appointed an Affembly to be held three feveral Market days, that so those in the Country, who liv'd in the Municipal Cities and Colonies, and had the Right of Voting, might have time to come to the City. When the Day of Election was come, the Candidates or Preten. ftro suffragio suam dignitatem teneant. ders to Offices, being cloath'd in white, were present very early in the Morning, accompanied Right of Election from the People, and transwith those who befriended them, at the Quirinal Mount, or upon the little Hill of Gardens, call'd Collis Horsulorum, which overlook'd the and the Senate did only take care to produim in Campus Martius, that so being upon a high Place, the People might the better fee them. From thence they deteended into the Campus Marsius, where they continued their Sollicitations and Canvaffings; as Horace informs us in these

- Hic generofior Descendar in Campum peritor ; Moribus bie meliorque fama Contendat ; illi turba clientium Odar. L. 3. Od. 1. Sit major.

Then the Prefident of the Affembly after he had named aloud the Pretenders to the Offices, and related the Reasons which every one had to fland for them, call'd the Tribes to give their | were to be married, offer'd to this Deity Baf-Yotes; and these being counted, he who had kets full of little Pieces of Work wrought with cended to the Capitol, there to fay his Prayers to the Gods.

This good Order was a little chang'd under the Emperors. Augustus canvass'd for his first Confulfhip, after a Manner fomething new, being no more than 20 Years old; for he caused his Army to march near to Rome, and fent a their Interest he might obtain it. To this end famous Embassy, to desire the Office for himself, in the Name of the Legions; and the Captain of this Embaffy, call'd Cornelius, perceiving that the Answer to his Petition was delay'd, laid his Hand upon the Hilt of his Sword, and had the Boldness to speak these Words, Hie facier, & non fecerizis.

In process of Time, when Augustus was advanc'd to an absolute Power, he himself canvals'd for those whom he had a Mind to favour, until he went to give his Voice in his Tribe, and these Candidates were call'd Candidati Cafaris. Suetonius adds, that afterwards he left to the People only the Power of naming the Inferior Magistrates, referving to himself the Right of naming to the greater Offices, Cajar comitia cum populo partitus eft, ut exceptis Confulatús competitoribus, de catero numero candidatorum pro parte dimidia, quos populus vellet, renuntiarentur. Moreover, he encroach'd upon the People's Power of electing to Offices, which he had granted them, by making them disperse Tickets in his Name among the Tribes, who by this means were forc'd to chuse such as he recommended to them. & edebat per libellos circum Tribus millos scriptura brevi. Casar Diltator illi tribui e commendo vobis illum & illum, ut ve-

Tiberius, Succeffor to Augustus, took away the ferr'd it to the Senate : Nero reftored it to them again, yet they never made use of it afterwards; the Campus Marsius fuch as were chosen to Offices, thinking by this means still to retain iome Shadow of the ancient Manner of Elections.

of all the Magistrates which were chosen, none but the Cenfors entred immediately upon the Discharge of their Office, the other Magifirates continued tome Months before they entred upon it, in which time they were inftructed in the Duties belonging to them; for they were choien in the Beginning of August, and they did not enter upon their Office till the First of Fanuary, and so they had the Space of Five Months for Instruction.

CANEPHORIA, a Feaft of Diana 2mong the Greeks, at which all the Maids that they were weary of their Virginity, and had a Delire to tafte the Pleasures of Matrimony. The Athenians also celebrated a Feast to Bacchus, during which the young Women carried Bafkets, or little Chefts of Gold full of Fruit, from whence this Feaft was called Canepboria, and the Women Canepbora, Basket-carriers. Suidas speaks of these Baskets consecrated to Bacchus, Ceres, and Proferpina; as also the Poet Theorrisus in his Idyllia. They had a Cover to preferve the Mysteries of Bacchus, and conceal them from the Eyes of thole who were not initiated into them, and who upon that account were treated

CANIS, the Coeleftial Dog, is a Conftellation, of which there are two forts; the Great Dog call'd Sirius, which is a Confedition confifting of Eighteen Stars, according to Prolomy, of the Nature of Jupiser and Venus, the principal Star whereof is held to be greater than any other Star, nay, than the Sun it felf . The little Dog, which is otherwife call'd Canicula, or Progrow, has only Two Stars, whereof one is of the first Magnitude, and of the Nature of Mars, which is the Cause of the great Heats in Sum-

CANIS, a Dog, an Animal which was kept in the Temple of Asculapius, and which was confecrated to the God Pan. The Romans never fail'd to crucifie one of this Kind every Year, because the Dogs had not given Notice by their visible to us, since it never rises above our Hobarking, of the Arrival of the Gauls, who be- rizon. fieg'd the Capitoly which was intended for a Punishment to the Species; whereas on the contrary, to do Honour to a Goole, they carried one of Silver in an Etbow-Chair, laid upon a Pillow, because she had advertised them of the Coming of the Gauls by her Noise. Ælian relates, that the Egyptians held the Dog in great Veneration, because they look'd upon it as a Symbol of the Coeleftial Dog, whose riling gives encrease to the Nile. This Author says else- dida Capena, and Martial, Capena, grandi porta where, that there was a Country in Etbiopia, where they had a Dog for their King, and they took his Fawnings or Barkings to be Signs of his Good-will; and for his Authors he cites Hermippus and A ifforle. Plurarch also speaks of this Dog which some of the Eshiopions held for a He reign'd 24 Years. King, and to whom all the Nobility paid Ho-

Nations, concerning the Supremacy of their be killed by his own People; from whence we may

the Needle, and by this Offering fignified that I Gods; and while each Nation maintain'd that their own God was Supreme, it was at laft decreed, that he among the Gods who should conquer the reft, should be acknowledg'd for sovereign over them all: Now the Chaldeans adored the Element of Lire, which eafily melted down or confum'd all the other Gods, made of Gold, Silver, and other fufile or combustible Matter; but when this God was about to be declar'd the Sovereign Deity over all the reft, a certain Priest of Canopus, a City of Egype, stood up, and advised them to take an Earthen Pot that had many little Holes made in it, such as the Egyptians used for purifying the Water of Nile; then having flopt up these Holes with Wax, he fill'd it with Water, and placed it over the Head of the God which they adored, whereupon the Contest was presently begun between it and the Fire, whose Heat having melted the Wax, the Water run out immediately and extinguish'd the Fire; whereupon "the God of Canopus was acknowledg'd for the Sovereign over all the Gods among these Na-

CANOPUS, is also a Star, which we have no knowledge of, fays Vitruvius, but by the Relation of those Merchants who have travell'd to the uttermost Parts of Egypt, as far as these Countries which are at the End of the World, (and in the other Hemisphere) because it turns round about the South-Pole, and so is never

CAPENA, a Gate fo call'd at Rome, according to Festus, from a Neighbouring City near the Fountain Egeria: It was also call'd Appia, because it was the Gate thro' which they went to the Via Appia; and Triumphalis, because the Generals to whom a Triumph was decreed, made their Entrance into the City thro' this Gate, and Fontinalis from the Aquadud's which were raifed over it; when e fuvenal calls it maquæ pluit gutta. CAPETIS SILVIUS. King of Alba. Dionyfius calls him Capetus : Eufebius, Tieus Livius, Meffala and Jacobus, of Augol, call himbarely Aus; and Callindorus names him Egyptus.

CAPIS SILVIUS, King of Latium: He is faid to have laid the Foundation or Capus in CANICULARIS PORTA, a Gate at the Terra Laboris, tho' others attribute this Rome, according to Festus, where Dogs of Red Foundation to the Trojan Capis, the Father of Hair were facrifie'd to the Dog-flar, to ripen Anchifes; but without any probability. Suetonius speaks of certain Plates of Brass, which CANOPUS, the Sovereign Deity among were found at Capua, in the Tomb of Capis, in. the Egypsians, of whose Original Suidas gives that Year that Julius Cafar was kill'd, on which the following Account : 'There aroie, fays he, Greek Letters were engraved, which fignified, one Day a great Controversie between the E- that at such time as the Bones of Capis should be "gyptians, Chaideans, and the Neighbouring discover'd, one of the Pesterity of Julius should draw an uncontestable Proof that Casis was not Hent to defire of the Romans all their Maids to be a Trojan, for if he had, 'tis very probable, that given in Marriage, which they refuled to grant, Greek Characters would not have been used in and thereupon the Ganis presently declared Was his Monument.

CAPITOLIUM, or MONS CAPI-TOLINUS, the Capitol, or the Capitoline | Senate, and put the Remans in great Trouble and Mount, which was called at first Saurnim, because Saturn dwelt there; afterwards it was called Tarpeim from the Veftal Virgin Tarpeia, who was fniothered there under the Bucklers of the Sabines; at last Capitolium, from the Head posed to the Senate, that she and the other Feof a Man called Tolus, which was found by the male Slaves should be sent to the Latins instead Workmen when they were digging the Foundation of the Temple of Jupiter, who upon this Cloaths like them. This Delign was approved Account was called Jupiter Capitolinus. This Mountain was the most considerable of all those | Slaves reforted to the Enemies Camp, who upthat were at Rome, as well for its Extent, as on their Arrival prefently fell a drinking and for the Buildings that flood upon it, which were rejoycing. When Philotic perceived that they one Fortress and Sixty Temples, whereof the most famous was that dedicated to Jupiter under this Title, F. Opt. Max. which was begun by Tarquinius Prilcus, finished by Tarquinius Saperbus. Torch, they came presently and fell upon the dedicated by Horatius Putvillus. It was burnt Latins, and finding them buried in Wine and 424 Years after its Dedication: Sylla begun to Luxury, they eafily deftroyed them. In Merebuild it, and Quintus Catulus finished it, and mory of this Victory the Romans ordained that confecrated it anew. 330 Years being expired after the Renewing of this second Confecration, Nones of July to Juno, who was called Caproting the Souldiers of Vitellius fet it on fire, and Velpa- from the wild Fig-tree, which in Latin is called fian caused it to be built again. In this Caprificus. These Female Slaves having by this Temple Vows were made and jolemn Oaths. here the Citizens ratified the Acts of the Emperors, and took the Oaths of Fealty to them. and laftly, hither the Magistrates and the Gene where they sport and jeft with them, and throw rals that kept a Triumph came to give Thanks Stones at one another to represent the Stones to the Gods for the Victories they had obtained, wherewith the Latins were overwhelmed. and to pray for the Prosperity of the Empire.

Twelve Signs of the Zodiac, into which the Sun whence it comes to pass that old Men who are enters at Winter-folftice. The Poets feign that on the Brink of the Grave and just ready to die, Capricorn is the God Pan, who to avoid the Pur | are called Capulares fenes; and those Criminals suit of the Giant Trebon, changed himself into a who are condemned to die, are called Capula-He-goat, whose lower Parts were of Fish. The res rei. piter admiring his Cunning placed him in the Heavens under this Figure. Others think that Septimim Severm and Marcia: He was declar'd Capricorn was the Foster-brother of Jupiter ; for Amalibea to whom he was put out to nurse having no Milk of her own, fuckled him with the Milk of a Goat, which Jupiter in Acknowledgment for the Kindness placed among the Signs of the Zodiar.

against them. I his War happening just after their late Misfortune mightily perplexed the Confernation, who could not rejolve with themselves thus to abandon their Daughters. While they were in this Consternation, a certain Woman-flave called Philotis or Tutola proof the young Roman Maids, being drefs'd up in and prefently put in Execution, for those Female were plunged into an Excess of Riot, the climbed up a wild Fig-tree, and having from thence given a Signal to the Romans with a lighted every Year a Festival should be kept at the Stratagem preierved the Empire, were fet at Liberty; and on this Day they give always a Treat to their Miftrelles without the City,

CAPULUS, a Bier, on which the Bodies CAPRICORNUS. Capricorn, one of the lof the Dead were carried to the Grave, from CARACALLA, Antoninus, the Son of Cafer, and made Partner in the Empire with Gera his Brother by the Father's Side. In his Youth he had fucked in the Principles of Chriftianity, having Evodus for one of his Governours, whose Wife and Son were instructed in the Christian Religion. Thus at first he gave CAPROTINA JUNO, and CA- good Signs of a very (weet Disposition, which PROTINE NONA; the Occasion of procured him the Love of every Body; But giving this Name to Juno, and to the Nones of his Father having removed from his Person those the Month of July, which were called Caproting, that inspired him with a Relish of true Piers, was a follows. The Gants having drawn off their choaked that good Seed he had received, and Army after they had fack'd Rome, the Lating had made a Moulter of him when he thought to a mind to make an Advantage of this Misfortune, make him a great Prince; for he intended to of their Neighbours, and therefore entred into have usurped the Sovereign Power by Parricide; a League with the Gauls, and refolved utterly having laid his Hand upon his Sword on purpose to defroy the Roman Empire; and that they to draw it and kill his Father, when he was one might give some Colour to their Defign, they Day coming behind him on Horie-back, and him had not cryed out and hindered him. The Horror of an Action to black brought Severm into fuch a deep Melancholy, that he died in it He cut off the Head of Papinian a celebrated Lawyer, because he would neither excuse nor these Marks make up the Countenance of a to Henry II. Man who is thoughtful, crafty and wicked, and indeed he was one of the cruellest Men in the World: Besides, he was addisted to Wine and Venm, viz. Aglaia, Euphrosyne and Thalia. They Women, fierce, infolent, hated by the Soldiers, and even by his own domestick Servants, infomuch that at last he was killed by one of his own Centurions called Martialia, in the 43 Year of his Age, and the Sixth Year of his Reign. It might feem wonderful that fo wicked a Prince should be placed among the Gods, as we learn that he was by the Title of Divine, which was given him, and by the Confectation we see in his Medal, but that we have this to fay in the Case, that Macrimu who succeeded him, and was the Cause of his Death, had a mind by doing him this Honour to clear himself of all Suspicion of this Murder, or rather, that this was an Age of Slavery, and the People being enflaved bestowed the most fordid Flatteries upon the worft of Princes.

CARIATIDES, Statues in the Shape of Women without Arms, habited genteelly, which ferved for Ornament and Support to the Chapiters of Pillars in Edifices. Vieruvius in L. 2. C. 1. of his Architesture, relates the Story of them knew but Two of them, Cliva and Phaenna; thus, That the Inhabitants of Caria, which was a City of Peloponnefus, in former times had joyn'd with the Persians when they made War against the People of Greece; and that the Greeks having put an End to that War by their glorious Victories, declared afterwards to the Cariates, that their City being taken makes them the Daughters of Jugiter and Enand ruin'd, and all their Men put to the Sword, synome. their Women should be carried away Captive ; and that to make the Differace the more rerimes an everlafting Monument of the Punish- Sacrifices were offered to her; A Festival also had certainly done it if those who were about 1 ment they had endured, and to inform Posterity what it was, the Architects of that Time inftead of Pillars, placed this fort of Statues in publick Building. Some remains of this within a Year after. Carealla being thus ad fort of ancient Statues are ftill to be feen at vanced to the Empire, killed his Brother Geta Rome. Montiefins, who had much ado to find in his Mother's Bosom, that he might reign out some Signs of these Cariatides, which Pling alone without any Partner upon the Throne. fays were placed by Diogenes, an Athenian Architect to ferve for Pillars in the Panthem, relates that he faw Four of them in the Year 1680. defend the Murder of his Brother; which Ex- which were buried in the Ground as high as ample of a generous Courage in this Lawyer, the Shoulders on the Right-fide of the Parties. who was then Prafett Pratorio, should make in Demi-relief, and which suffain'd upon their Christians blush, who so easily excuse the Crimes | Heads a kind of Architrave of the same Stone. of Kings when they have Hopes of rifing at | This kind of Cariatides is still to be feen at Court. We have some Medals of this Prince, Bourdeaux in a very ancient Building which they which represent to us what kind of a Person he call Turcles; as also in the old Louvre at Paris was after he came to be Emperor. For when in the Hall of the Swifs Guards: They are Stawe observe in his Medal, the Space between tues Twelve Foot high, and support a Gallery his Eye-brows knit, his Eyes funk in his Head, enriched with Ornaments which are very well and his Nose a little turned up at the End, cut, done by Goujon, Architect and Engraver

> CARITES, or the Three Graces, which were Three Sifters, the confrant Companions of are painted young and beautiful, with a smiling Countenance, clad in fine thin Stuff, without a Girdle, and holding one another by the Hand-Seneca explains to us this Picture. He favs.

They are painted young and beautiful, because their Favours are always agreeable for their Novelty, and the Memory of them can never be loft. They are clad in fine thin Stuff, because the Kindness they do you ought to be without Diffimulation or any Difguile, and thould proceed from the Bottom of the Heart : Their Garment is not girt about, because Benefits ought to be free and unconftrained: They hold one another interchangable by the Hands, to show that Favours should be reciprocal.

We ought to believe that the Graces were only Moral Deities. Paulanias has written a large Discourse about them, wherein he says, that, Execcles was the first who consecrated Three of them in Baoria; that the Lacedamonians that the Athenians allo held Two of them in Veneration, Auxo and Hegemo; that Homer marries one of the Graces to Vulcan without giving her any other Name, though he elfewhere calls her Pafithae: Laftly, that Hefiod nam'd the Three Graces, Euphorsyne, Aslais and Ibalia, and CARMENTA, the Mother of Evender. and one who was a Prophetels, from whence the 'markable, their Ladies of Quality should not be had her Name Carmenta, a carminibm, because 'fuffered to put off their Garments, nor any of the ancient Sibyls gave their Oracles in Versetheir usual fine Dresses. Now to make the Ca- A Temple was built to her at Rome, wherein was inflitted to her, which from her Name; the Roman Dames affembled together, and was called Carmentalia.

ty well to Themis; for Servim fays, that the was the Senate, that they granted them the Pricalled Nicofrata, and that the affumed the Name viledge of being carried in a Litter to the Shows of Carmenta, because the gave her Oracles in and into the City. Plutarch thinks, that for Verse, that she was the Mother of Evender, the this Largess they had only the Priviledge of ha-Son of Pallas, King of Areadia; and laftly, that ving Funeral-Orations after their Death. Yet the was killed by her own Son, or according to we read in History, that the Right of the Litothers, the inftigated her Son to kill his Father ter was taken from them, which provoked them Pallas; which forced Evander to flie away into fo much that they would no longer keep Com-Italy: Evander patrem fuum occidit, fuadente ma pany with Men. This is what Ovid and Pluwe Nicoftrata, qua ettam Carmentis difta eft, quia tareb tell us. Upon this Account the Senate to carminibus vanicinabatur. Ovid relates this Hi- appeale them, was forced to reftore their anftory after such a manner as is something more cient Priviledge unto them; and then they cauto the Advantage of Evander, in his L. 1. fed a Temple immediately to be built to Car-F.461. He makes him an innocent Fugitive, menta, called by the Greeks Themis and Wicoand one that was always maintained by the Pro frata, at the Bottom of the Capitol, and anphecies of his Mother, whom he made a Goddess | pointed a Prieft for it called Flamen Carmentalia, of in Italy. Virgit lays as much in L. 2.

Me pulsum patria, pelagique extrema sequentem, Fortung omnipotens & ineluctabile fasum His posuere locis, matrifque egere tremenda. Carmensis Nympha monisa, & Deus auto Apollo.

Dionysim Halicarnassam says, that Evender made this Voyage into haly Sixty Years before the ferried over the Souls of the Dead in his Boat, War of Troy, and that Evander was the Son of a Nymph who was named or furnamed Themis. because the foretold Things to come. Nympha Arcadia filius Evander, quam Graci Themin fuife dicuns, & divino affain inflindtam, i. e. That the Ancients put always this Piece into the Evender imposing upon the Simplicity of the Aborigines, who were still wild and incivilized, made his Mother pass among them for a Prophetess and for the Themis of Italy, and so obliged them to pay her Divine Honours. Plusarch alfo in his Romen Queftions fays, that Carments was named Themis; and he adds that the the River, and then they were to be ferried was furnamed Carmenta, as who should fay, Carens mense, because the Livine Spirit of Prophecy affumed the Place of the Humane Spirit; City of all Africk and the Rival of Rome. It and that Verses are called Carmina from her was founded by a Tyrian called Charcedo, which Name Carmenta, because the prophesied in Honour of Carmenta, which are folemnized faying, that Dide founded Byrfa the Caftle of twice in the Month of Fanuary, viz. the first Carthage, and so the Poet without any great time on the Eleventh (or the Third of the Crime might firetch this to the City. But how Ides, as may be feen in the Roman Calendar,) to reconcile what Vigenere fays with what Velleius because then this Deity perswaded her Son E- Paterculus and Justin say, I know not, for the vander to leave Arcadia, and to go and dwell former fays, that Carthage was built 45 Years, at Italy ; the focund time this Festival is cele- and the latter, that it was built 72 Years after brated on the 15th of the same Month, the Rome; whereas, if we may believe Vigenere, Occasion whereof is variously reported.

Some fay, that when a Prefent was to be made to Apollo of Delphor, of the Tithe of the Plunder of the City of Veii, there being a De- Punick or Carthaginian Wars. The first |lasted brought in to the Magistrates their Ornamenta Carmenta, fays Pather Thom ifin, answers pret- of Gold and Silver; which was to pleafing to and hence the Gate of the City which leads to this Temple was also called Porta Carmentalis.

CARMA or CARNA, a Deity which presided over the good Habit of the Body. A Sacrifice was offered to her on the first of June, together with a Pottage made of the Meal of Beans and with Bacon.

CARON, the Ferry-man of Hell, who according to the Fable, that they might afterwards be judged by Rhadamanthus and Minos the Judges of Hell. He received an Obolus from all the Dead for their Passage, and for this Reason Mouth of the Dead, that they might have wherewithal to pay the Ferry-man. Virgil describes him to us as very ancient and fat, having a long Beard and very bufhy. The Souls of those who had no Bur'al, were to wander for the Space of a Hundred Years on the Side of CARTHAGO, Carthage, the Capital confounds the Measures of Virgil, who had a mind that Dide should be the Foundress of it. Per-CARMENTALIA, Feafis infittuted in haps this Difference may be accommodated by Rome was founded after Carthage more than 200 Years. This City bore the Brunt of Three great Wars against the Romans, which were called the Actioncy of what was necessary to make it up, 24 Years according to Polybius, and 22 according to marionius: The second under the Conduct of own Mother, and her adulterous Lover, as al-Hannibal lafted Eighteen Years, in which the fo the Murderer of his Father. come by the foft Pleafures of Capua, and there- at Rome. Rome. It lasted only 660, or 700 Years.

to fignifie Knavery, or a descriptul Promise.

were to behold this cruel Spectacle with a Stoi- | Conftellations. cal Conftancy, and without any Compassion.

her extraordinary Beauty. This God bestow- Crown, and placing it under the Feet of Androcome, in hopes that the would grant him her the Conftellation of Caffiope, and the Left over her, and so ordered the Matter, that though it, which are dedicated to them. the spoke the Truth in what she predicted, yet L. 2. of the Aneids, V. 246.

Tunc estam fasts aperit Callendra futuris Ora, Dei juffu, non nunquam credita Teucris.

the Locrism, although the had embraced the at her Feet. Statue of Pallas.

Share of Agamemnon, by whom the was carried ing smitten with the Beauty of Leda, transaway into his own Country, and by the Way formed himself into a Swan to enjoy her Emthe gave him Notice, that he was to be affash- braces, who growing big with Child, was at nated by his Wife Clytemnestra, and her adul- length brought to Bed of Two Eggs, in each at all to this Prediction of his own Misfortune; the first Pollux and Helena were included of Jubut after he was come to his Palace, when he piter's getting; and in the other, Cafter and his Wife Clytemnestra clave his Skull with the Blow of an Ax, having first entangled him in a Shirt without a Bosom; and afterwards Trndarides. falling upon Callandra, the killed her after the same manner : But Orefles the Son of Courage, for they cleared the Seats of Pirates,

Roman Empire was fo shocked, that it was re- | CASSIDARIUS, He who had the Care

duced to the very Brink of Ruine. But at laft and Overfight of the Salades and the Armour for Hannibal their formidable Captain was over- the Head, which were kept in the Arienals by gave the Romans fuch a time of Respite, that | CASSIOPEA, the Wise of Cepbens, they repaired the Losses they had suffered. In King of Esbiopia, who incurred the Indignation the third War Carebage was utterly destroyed of the Nereides for being accounted more beauby the Grandson of Scipio Africanus. There tiful; which was the Cause why her Daughter went out of the City no more than 5000 Per- Andromeda was exposed to a Sea-monster, that fons, who were the only fad Remains of this fo the Mother might be punished in the Daughmagnificent Cicy, which had with fo much Vi- ter: But Perfew at his Return from Libys, refgor disputed the Empire of the World with cued her from the Jaws of this Monster, when it was just ready to devour her; and in Acknow-CARIHAGINE NSES, the Carthagi- ledgment of this Kindness, Cephens gave her to nians, or the Inhabitants of Carthage, who are him in Marriage. Caffiope was taken up into accounted a fort of faithless Feople in the World, Heaven by the Favour of her Son-in-law, where to whom no Credit is to be given; from whence the Aftronomers represent her to us as fitting came the Proverb, Punica fides, Punick Fairb, upon a Chair in the Milky-way, between Cepheus and Andromeda, who touches our Summer They facrificed their Children to their Dei- Tropick with her Head and Hand. Virruvius ties in the Presence of their Mothers, who has given us the following Description of these

Perseus leans with his Right-hand upon Caf-CASSANDRA, the Daughter of Pria fiope, holding with the Left, which is over Aumus King of Troy, who was courted by Apollo for rigs the Waggoner, the Head of Gorgon by the ed upon her the Gift of foretelling Things to meda: The Right-hand of Andromeda is over greatest Favours ; but she not keeping her the Northern Pifes. Caffiope is in the Middle, Word with him, Apollo was very angry with and Capricorn has the Eagle and Dolphin above

CASTALIUS FONS, the Castalian the never was believed: And this was the Caule | Fountain in Phocis, fcituate at the Foot of Mount of the Ruine of her Country, as Virgil tells us, | Parnassus, which the Poets seign'd to be dedicated to Apollo and the Mules, which from thence were furnamed Caffalides.

CASTITAS, Chifting, which the Romans made a Goddess of, and which they represented in the Habit of a Roman Lady, holding a Scep-She was ravished at the Sacking of Iroy by Ajax | ter in her Hand, and having Two white Doves

CASTOR, the Son of Tyndarus, King of The Greeks having divided among them the | Laconia, and of Leda the Daughter of Theftim. Booty of the City or Troy, Caffandra fell to the The Fable gives us an Account, that Jupiter betrous Keeper Agilibm: He gave no Credit of which there were Two Twin-Children: In was going out of the Bath to fit down at Table, Chremnestra of Tinda as's: All these Children though gotten by different Fathers, were nevertheless called from the Name of one of them

Caftor and Poliux were brave and of great *gamonnon, coming in by Steatth, killed his carried off their Sifter Helena by Force, when the was ravished by Thefeus, and they went with whereas Simonides, who wrote their Encomina Jajon to the Conquest of the Golden Fleece. Caftor being descended of a Mortal Father was Phedra recites this History more at large in the killed by Lynceus; but Pollux his Brother being 4th Book of his Fables, Fab. 22. The Greek and descended of Jupiter, was Immortal. They were placed in the Number of the Dit Indigetes, or Genitales, by the Greeks and Romans, because they descended originally from the Country.

Diodorus Siculus relates, that the Argonauts being deftreffed with a great Tempest, Orpheus made a Vow to the Gods of Samothracia, whereupon the Storm immediately ceased, and Two Coeleftial Fires appeared over the Heads of Caffor and Pollux, who were amongst the Argonauts ; from whence comes the Cuftom of could not come to declare a Victory obtain'd by invoking the Gods of Samothracia in a Tempeft, Vatienus. and or giving the Names of Cafter and Poller to those Two Coelestial Fires.

Lucian in the Dialogue of Apollo and Mercury bring in Apollo speaking thus upon the Occasion kept in Honour of them, at which a Man sitting of these Two Brethren. Apoll. Can you learn upon one Horse and leading another, runs full to know Callor from Pollux, for I am always de- fpeed, and at the End of the Race leaps nimbly ceiv'd upon the accont of their Likenels. Merc. He who was Yesterday with us is Castor. Apoll. How can you discern them, they being so like one another?

Merc. Pollux has a Face black and blew by a Blow he received in fighting, and particularly at Bebryx in his Voyage with the Argonauts. Apol. You'll oblige me to tell me of Things par- velins twelve or fiften Foot long. The Deticularly, for when I fee their Eggs-shell, scription of a Catapulta, says M. Perrault in his white Horse, Spear and Stars, I always confound Notes upon Viruvius, is understood by no Body, them together, but tell me why these Two Bro- tho' many great Persons have applied themthers never appear in the Heaven at the same selves to it very carefully, as Justim Lipsius has Time. Merc. Because it being decreed that observed. The Descriptions which Arbenaus, theie Two Sons of Leda should one be Mortal, Smmianus Marcellinus, and Vegetius have given and the other Immortal, they divided their of it; the two Figures, which are in the Book good and bad Fortune like good Brethren, and of a nameless Author, entituled, Notitia Inio live and die by Turns. Apoll. This is a great perii; that which Will. de Choul fays, he took Impediment to their Love; for, fo they can ne- out of an ancient Marble, that which Lipfin ver fee, or discourse one with another. But saw in the Arsenal at Bruffels, and those which what Art or Trade do they profes? For every are drawn on Trajan's Pillar do none of them one of us hath his Business: I am a Propher, my agree with the Description of Viruvius. Cafe Son is a Physician, my Sister a Midwite, and Cijuranus, who is the first who after Joundan thou art a Wreftler. Do they do nothing, but drew the Figures of Viruvius with the greatest eat and drink? Mer. They succour Mariners in Exactness, has not attempted to draw a Casa Tempest. Apol. That's a necessary Employ- pulsa, but when he had translated and explained ment, provided they perform it well.

carrying on his Victories in Perfia, facrificed one cundus declares, when he gives us his Figure of Day to Cafter and Poliux, inftead of Hercules, to it, that he did it not to explain the Text of Viwhom that Day was dedicated by the Macedo- truving, because it did not agree with it, and niens; and that while the Feaft lafted after the he owns that he did not underftand either his Sacrifice was over, he talked sometimes of the own Figure, nor the Text of Vieruvius. great Actions of Caftor and Pollux, and at other | All that we know in general of the Carapula

times of Hercules.

befel Scopes, because he had spoken contemp- Stinction is not observed by latter Latin Autibly of these two Brethren Dieferides, being thors, who have always expressed both these crushed to Death by the Fall of his Chamber, Engines by the Word Balista. Lucan tells us, was called out of them by two unknown Perfors Roman History is filled with the miraculous Appearances of these two Brethren, either to obtain a Victory, or publish it when it was gained. for they were feen fighting upon two white Horses at the Battle, which the Romans fought against the Latins near the Lake Regillm.

But Cicero tells how we must credit these Relations : He fays, that Homer, who lived a little after these two Brethren, affures us, that they were buried in Macedonia, and consequently

The Romans did not omit building them a magnificent Temple, where they facrificed to them white Lambs, and appointed a Feaft to be upon the Horse which is in his Hand, having a bright Star upon his Har, to shew that only one of the Brothers was alive, because, indeed, the Stars of Caftor and Pollux are to be feen above our Horizon, and fometimes not.

CATA PULTA, a Warlike Engine fo called, with which the Ancients used to throw 74-Vitruvius as far as that place, he leaves the Arian fays, that Alexander, while he was Work, and Benedidus Jovius finished it. 3.

is this, that they were made to cast favelins, as Cicero relates a wonderful Judgment, which Baliffa were used to cast Stones, tho' this Die that a Catapulta cast Favelins with so great a his Name. He was the first that worthipped Force, that they would pass thro' several Men Jupiter in Greece, and was the Author of Idolaafter another, and would carry them quite try. He began to reign at Allens 274 Years crofs the Danube.

who came from the City Tufulum, from whence the Neighbouring Country by Mount Parnaffus. was their Original.

M. CATO, the Cenfor, named at first Prifcus, and after Cato from his excellent Wildom, only. He was the Author of Idolatry in Greece, and ftrictness of Manners. He executed all the and the first that acknowledged Jupiter for a God. Offices in the Roman Commonwealth with Re- appointing him Sacrifices: He brought up the putation and great Integrity. In fine, he was Cuttom of burying the Dead, as Cicero observes very learned. He has left us his Books of Huf- in his 2d Book de Legibus. bandry, which are written in pure Latin. He died very old.

and Nepuew's Son of Cato the Cenfor, lived a of Jupiter and Terra, of whom Virgil has given very frist and severe Life like his Great Uncle. us a Description in the 2d Book of his Ancids. He reformed divers Abuses which were crept See Harpyia. into the Management of the Revenues of the he flew himself in a Fit of Despair, being 48 Attempts of his Enemies. Years of Age, after he had read Plato's Treatife of the Immortality of the Soul.

which were facrificed there to appeale the Heats had a Power to fummon all the People together of the Dog-star.

CATULUS, the Surname of the Luctatian

first of that Family, who conquered the Cartha- Metamorphofes, v. 280. ginians in a Sea-fight, in which they loft 600 of their Ships. There was a Poet of that Name born at Verona, whose Poetry is elegant and foft, but very lewd and fatyrical. He composed some Elegies and Epigrams, which still remain.

fame Family, who was Contul with Marius in brew fignifies a very bard Stone. his fourth Confulfhip, whom he forced to kill his Death upon Marius, Junior.

Bones covered with Fat.

lived in the Times of Mofes. He built the City tizen. First they created Two Censors of the of Albens, which was first called Cecropia from Patricians, viz. Papyrius and Sempronius. Cenfui before the Siege of Troy. The Floud of Deuce-CAT O, the Surname of the Porcian Family, lion happened in his Reign, who was King of This Deluge overflowed only Greece; as that which happened before under Ogrges, did Egypt

CELENO, one of the Seven Pleiades, the Daughter of Atlas, and the Nymph Pleione. CATO UTICENSIS. Cato of Utica, She was also one of the Harpyes, the Daughter

CELERES, were 300 young Men, whom Commonwealth, and the Military Discipline. He Romulus chose to attend his Person, that they refused at first to join with Pompey, but at length might be at hand always to defend him, and united with him against Cajar. After the Battel execute his Commands. He called them Ceof Phar alia, were Pompey was defeated, he fled leres, i. e. ready and active. This Body of Men to Utica, which was in King Juba's Dominion, guarded him in all Commotions of the People, but not being able to bear his great Misfortunes, and made him able at all times to oppole any

The Captain of this Guard was called Tribunus Celerum, and he was the second Officer of CATULARIA, the Name of one of the State, for he had the Command of all the Sol-Gates of Rome, so called from the Red Dogs, diery, which he ordered as he pleased: He also into the Campus Martius.

CELMIS, or CELMES, one of the Fa-Family, from the Word Caius, crafty and judi- vourites of Jupier, who faying that that great God was a Mortal Man, was changed by him in-Q. LUCTATIUS CATULUS, was the to a Diamoud, as Ovid tells us in his 4th Book of > Te quoque, nune Adamas, quondam fidiffime parve Celme Tovi.

There was another of that Name, and of the This Word comes from Chalamis, which in He-

CENSOR, a Roman Magistrate, which himself by eating live Coals. Silla revenged numbred the People of Rome, and who was the Correcter of their Manners. The Occasion of CAUCASUS, a Mountain in the Nor- making this Officer in the Commonwealth of thern Parts of the Indies, near the Caspian Ports, Rome was this: The Consuls seeing themselves where Jupiser bound Promesbeus, according to wholly taken up with Affairs of State, and not the Fable, to punish him for making Man, and being able to attend fo many different Sufineffes, imposing upon him at a feast, by giving him the Senate to ease them propounded to make Centors in the Year after the Building of Rome CEBUS, a certain Monfter which had the 311, in the Confulship of M. Geganius Macrinus, Face of a satyr, and the l'ody of a Dog and and T. Quintius Capitolinus, whole chief Office ir should be to take an exact View of the Peo-CECROPS, the first King of Athens, who ple of Rome, and value the Estate of every Ciagendo populus suffragiis prafecis Censores; abs re their Collegue happened to die, or would refign appellati, &c. Liv.

and were chosen by the great Council called bunes imprisoned the latter, and no Body would Comitia Centuriata, as the Confuls were, Cen- follow the Example of the former. fores quinto quoque anno creari folabant, fays Afcomius Pedianus.

she Confuls at laft, and the Dictator Mamereus flood by Mars's Altar, and thanked the People Emilius thortened it, and brought it to Eighteen for the Honour they had done them. Then Months. The Cenfors hating Mamercus for they went up to the Capitol, were they took thortening their Time, blotted him out of his Possession of their Office, and received the En-who pay Tribute. To attain this Dignity, it was at first required, but in all things to follow exactly the Rules of that they should be Noblemen born, but this Equity and Right. continued only 100 Years; for, after the People were allowed to be made Confuls, and other fifted in taking the Number of the Citizens, great Officers, we fee, that Caius Martius Ru- and their Effates, and the other in reforming vilius, who was the first Diftator chosen from Manners, and rectifying Abuses. among the People, was also created Censor with Manlius Navius; and at length the Dictator and Effate of every Person, as also of their Q. P. Philo made a Law, by which he ordained, Children and Slaves, being very careful to place that one Cenfor should be chosen out of the People. 'I is aifo observable in History, that from among the common People. Before the second Punick War, it was not necessary to have executed any great Office before to be a Cenfor, because we learn from Livy, that Publius Licinius Craffus, who never gain peopled, which the Civil Wass had conhad been any thing but an Adile, was chosen fumed. Cenfor and High-Prieft at the fame time, but but fuch as had been Confuls. This Office was never executed more than the State to execute that Office twice.

time of their Office, or would voluntarily re- of a Right of Voting, and making them pay fign it, his Collegue was obliged also to refign Taxes as Strangers. it, althorthere was no Law which commanded it, but a Cuftom established by a Religious were obliged to give an Account of their Acti-Scruple: For when Incins Papirius, after the ons to the Tribunes, and the great Adiles; and Death of his Collegue C. Julius had put M. we read in Livy, that the Tribune Appius Me-Cornelius Meleginemus into his Place, that he tellus imprisoned both the Censors M. Furius Phimight retain his own Office, it happened that lus, and M. Astilius Regulus, because when he Rome was taken by the Gauls, which was impulwas Quæftor in the foregoing Year they had reted to that Adion of Papprius; whereupon all moved him from his Tribe, and made him pay those that succeeded him, left their Office if Taxes. A Law then was made to oblige them

'Tis true, that Appius Claudius Cacus and Ami. They continued in their Office five Years, lius Seaurus would have kept it, but the

When the Cenfors were chosen in the Cappage Martius, they immediately feated themselves in This length of Time became a Grievance to their Sella Curules, or Chairs of State, which Tribe, and put him among the Cerites, or those figns of it. They rook an Oath to do nothing either for Hatred or Favour in their Places

Their Office had two Parts: The first con-

They kept an exact Register of the Name every Citizen in his Tribe or Century according to his Effate, removing them every five Q. Pompeius, and Q. Metellus were both taken Years, either higher or lower, according as their Effate was increased or lessened.

They punished a fingle Life with heavy Fines, chiefly fince the Law of Furius Camillus, who forbad it, that the City of Rome might be a-

They also regulated the Expences of the pubafterwards they never choic any to that Office lick Sacrifices, and caused consecrated Geele to be kept in the Capitol.

The other part of their Office was to reform once by the same Person, and we read in Vale- Manners, populi mores regunto; and to that end rius Maximus, that M. Ratilius being made Cen- they took a View of the three Degrees of Men, for a fecond time, represed the People fharply which made up the Commonwealth, viz. Senafor having fo little Respect to the Laws of their cors, Knights and People. They had a Power Ancestors, who had thought it convenient to to put those out of the Number of the Senators shorten the Time of that Office, because it whom they judged unworthy thro' their corrupt made them too powerful, and fo they afted Manners, and place others in their room. They centrary to them, in choosing a Man a second could take their Horses from the Knights, and deprive them of their Pay, which they received Plinius Junior, did the fame in refusing it, from the Treasury, when they fived not like because he judged it not for the Advantage of Persons of Honour. They could remove the Citizens from their Tribe, by turning them If any of the Cenfors happened to die in the down from an higher to a lower, depriving them to give their Reasons, why they had degraded a | equum; but if on the Contrary he had any thing Citizen, and branded him with Difgrace, by de- to blame him for, they took away his Horse and riving him of his Priviledges.

Altho' their Power was very large, yet they

feparably annexed to the Imperial Power.

CENSURA. The Conforship, the Office such's Words, in the Life of Marcus Caro, 'That he demanded the Centorship ten Years after he and the highest Degree to which a Roman Ciwernment of their Commonwealth.

CENSUS, the general Survey of the People of Rome, which was performed every five Years firam conditum, i. e. the Survey finished. by the Cenfors. King Servius appointed this People to be numbred, that he might know exactly how many fighting Men he was able to Account of all his Estate, Children, Staves and Freemen, upon pain of having their Goods confiscated, which he concealed.

The Cenfors on their part were obliged to keep a perfect Regulter of all these Marters. and to be very careful that no Stranger should pungo, and rauf , taurus. be registred unawares, Ne quis in censorias sabulas irreperes.

This Survey was made every five Years thro' all the Orders of the Commonwealth, viz. the Senates, Knights and People. The first was Lellio & recisatio Senatus; the fecond, Cenfio, recentio & recognitio; and the third, Cenfus, or Lustrum. For the Cenfor being set in his Chair of State commanded the Purisyant to call over the Senators by their Names, legebant or recitabans Senatum. They rased out of the Lift the Names of those whom they intended to depose for their ill Manners, and put others in their Place taken out of the Knights, which they expressed by these Words, legere in Senatum.

Then they took a Survey of the Knights, whom they called over one by one, and if they had nothing to object against their Behaviour, the Cenfor laid to every one, prateri & tradus his Pay. Equus adimebatur. After this they But this Office decreased in its Power with went on to juryey the People, not only of the the Declention of the Commonwealth. Under City of Rome, but also of other free Cities, which the Emperors it was wholly laid aide, because had a Right to the Roman Freedom, whose they affumed to themselves all those Functions; Names were sent to the Censors: If they had for Suctionius relates, that Augustus took a View any thing to object against their Manners, they of the People with I'en Men, which he required deposed them, deprived them of their Right of the Senate, which was practifed by the other of Voting, and made them subject to Taxes, Emperors as far down as Theodofius, who endea- arrios fieri & in Caritum tabulas referri, (bevoired to restore it, but the Senate opposed cause the Inhabitants of that little City Cares him, and from that time the Cenforship was in- gained indeed the Title of the Roman Citizens, but had not obtained a Right to vote.)

The Survey being thus ended, an Affembly or Dignity of Cenfor. We may judge how was appointed upon a certain Day in the Camconsiderable this Dignity was at Rome by Plu- pas Marsius to be present at the Sacrifice of Lustration. The People came in Armies and were divided into Classes or Centuries, according to had been Conful, as the Perfection of Honour, the Appointment of Servius, and offered a Sacrifice called Suoveraurilia, because they facritizen could be preferred, because this nigh Sta- ficed a Boar, a Sheep and a Bull, to implore tion was the Crown of all Offices, and of all the Gods to be pleafed with the Survey they the Authority which could be had in the Go- had made, and that they would preferve the Commonwealth in its Splendor and Honour. And with this Ceremony the Survey ended, Lu-

CENTAURUS, a Centaur, half a Man Survey, and he was the first that caused the and half an Horse, which had its Female Centaur, half a Woman and half a Mara. This is a fabulous Monster feigned by the Poets, who raife, and what Suins of Money he could raife have applied that Shape to those who invented Riding, or the Art of Horsemanship, so when Every Citizen of Rome, or he that had the it's faid, that Chiron the Centaur was the Ma-Right of Freedom, was obliged to give a true feer of Achilles, no more is meant but that he was the Man who taught him to ride an Horie: and the right of the Centaurs is a Battle of Horsemen. The Word comes from the Greek xirtaup & which is compounded of xertie

> Lucian describes the Picture of a Centaur drawn by Zeuxes, of which he affirms, that he faw a Copy at Arbens, the Original having been carried away by Sylla.

' It is a Female Centaur lying upon the Grass, of which, the Part like a Beaft is firetched out on the Ground, and that like a . Woman is half raifed and supported by her Elbow. She lays her Hind-feet at length, and folds up her Fore-feet, bending the one and leaning on the Ground with the other, as . Horses do when they are about to rife. She inclines a little to one Side that the may let her young Ones fuck, of which she holds one in her Arms which the fuckles with the Breaft of a Woman, and the other hangs upon those which she has like a Mare. Upon the Top of : the Picture flands an He Centaur, as Centinel. who appears but half, and thew them a Lyon's

"Whelp which he has taken. Although he leems ! felves in hunting on Horfe-back, but chiefly in to fmile, yet he has a fierce Afpect, and a cafting Bulls upon the Ground by taking them terrible Head of Hair, beides that, he is all by the Horns. hairv. but his Wife is as lovely as he is favage, of Theffaly, which were never yet tamed, and the other half like the finest Woman in the "World, fave that her Ears are firaight and Father, and the other more tame and humane.

were ever any Centaurs, nor Hippocentaurs, nor Onocentaurs, that is to fay, half's Man and half an Als. Lucion also is of the same Opinion, otherwise, that Ixion, King of Theffaty, being but speaks more plainly than Lucretius, when one Day upon Mount Pelion, saw several mad he fays, Et populum Pholoe mentita biformem.

For 'tis certain, that it is a Lye or Fable that there were ever any fuch monftrous People.

and of their Battles, is but a Fable built either upon the Idea of fome fuch Monfter, or upon fome new Invention of Fighting on Horse-back, in which these People did excel all others.

Plutarch fays in his Banquet of the Seven Wife-men, that a Shepherd brought them in a Basket, a Child which a Mare had brought forth, having the upper Parts of the Body like a Man and the lower like an Horfe.

Pling also affirms the same Things, and says, that he himfelf had feen an Hippocentaur, which was brought from Egypt to Rome, embalmed efter the manner of those Times with Honey Phlegon the Trallian relates the fame Story, and Tacirus seems to allude to it, when he says, that the Birth of some Monsters did foreshew the Death of the Emperor Claudius.

St. Ferom gives us a Description of an Hippocentaur which St. Anthony met in the Defart, when he went to feek for Paul the Hermite. The same St. Ferom writing against Vigilantius, begins his Discourse with a Diffinction of Two forts of Monsters, of which the one was really produced, and the other feigned by the Poets, and puts the Centaws among the Creatures that were true, but monftrous.

The Truth is, that the People of Theffaly called Centaurs, were either the first or the most expert at taming Horses, or fighting on Horseback, which is the Reason that they bare the Name of Hippocentaurs. Their King named Centaurus was the Brotner of Piritbous the famous Friend of Thefeus, and fought with the Lapitha which were commanded by Polypages the Son of Pirisbons at the Seige of Troy. In Times of Peace these People exercised them-

Fulius Cafar was the first that introuced this and hath one half of her Body like the fine Mares fort of Hunting into Rome in the Shews, as Pliny teftifies, and was imitated in it by Nero, as we learn from Suctonius.

Lucian tells us also, that Ixion, King tharp, as a Satyr is painted. Of her Two of Theffaly, whom Jupiter invited to a Feaft of young Ones, one is favage and hairy like the the Gods, because he was a very brave Man and good Company, fell in Love with June and that Funiter to deceive him formed a Cloud Lucretius would never believe that there into the Shape of June to gratifie his Paffion in some measure, and by these Embraces a Centaur was produced. But Palephasus tells the Thing Bul's which he durft not come near, and which made a Destruction in the Country round about: he promifed a great Reward to him that could drive away these mad Creatures. and immediately some young Men of a little Village, in the Mountain called Nephele, i. c. 4 What Ovid speaks of the Nation of Centaurs, Cloud, getting upon their Horses, offered themfelves to right these Bulls, and did it with so great Success that they killed them all, and from this Victory they were call'd Centaurs, from REFTET and Taugo, as much as to fay, Bullfighting. If aus Trerres is of Opinion, that this Jupiter who loved Ixion was a King, who had a Wife of very great Beauty, with whom Ixion fell paffionately in Love, and the discovering Ixion's Kindness to her Husband, he put one of her Chamber-maids named Nephele, or a Cloud in her Place, by whom he had a Son named Imbrus and furnamed Censurus, of xsy Tay and au eas that is to lay, pricking a Slave.

" Mr. Abbot Feuresiere relates this Story otherwife: 'A King of The faly, fays he, having fent some Horse-men to seek his Bulls, that were gone aftray, they that faw them on Horse-back (it being a Thing new and extraordinary at that Time) thought them to be made up of a double Nature, a Man and an Horfe, which was the Original of the Fable of the Centaurs and Hippocentaurs.

CENTENARIA COENA, a Feaft wherein the whole Expences could be no more than an Hundred Alles, which was a Piece of Roman Money. See As.

CENTESIMA USURA, The "Humdredth Penny, One per Cent.

CENTONARII; it was a Military Trade, and they were fuch as provided Tents and other Equipage for War, called by the Remans Centones, or elfe those whose Bufinels it was to quench the Fires which the Enemies Engines kindled in the Camp. Vigetius in his Fourth Book speaking of an Engine used in the Camp to make a close Gallery or Fortification, Men, with different Arms, and Liveries fays, that for fear it should be fet on Fire, they covered it on the Out-fide with raw or freth Hides or Centones, i. e. certain old Stuffs fit to or Companies, of which 40 were appointed to refift Fire and Arrows: For Fulius Cafar in the Third Book of his Commentaries of the Civil War, fays, that the Soldiers used these Centones | Men from 16 to 45 Years old, who bore Arms. to defend themselves from their Enemies Darts The Colleges of the Centonarii were often joined with the Dendrophori, and the Mafters of the Timber-works, and the other Engines of War, called Fabri, as may be feen by an Infcription of a Decurion of that College.

AUR. QUINTIANUS DEC. COLL. FAB. & CENT.

That is to fay, Aurelius Quincianus, Decurion of the College at the Mafters of the Engines and Centonaries.

CENTUM, a Numeral Word, a square Number made up of Ten multiplied by it felf. the first Classis, for they carried a large Tar-This is the Number which begins the Third Column of the Arabian Characters fet in an Arithmetical Order, 100.

CENTUM-VIRI, may be called the of the Fourth 200. Court of 100 Judges, which were Roman Magiftrates chosen to decide the Differences among the People, to which the Prætor fent them as to the highest Court made up of the most learned Men in the Laws. They were elected out of 35 Tribes of the People, Three out of each, which makes up the Number of 105, and although at length the Number was increafed to 180, yet they still kept the Name always of the Court of 100 ludges, and their Judgments were called Censumviralia Judicia. These Magistrates continued a long time in the Commonwealth, as also under the Emperors Vespasian, Domitian and Trajan: Under the laft of these they were divided into Four Chambers each having 45 Judges.

CENTURIA, a Century, a Part of a Thing divided or ranked by Hundreds. The his Century. People of Rome were at first divided into Three Servius Tullius contrived the Institution of a Cense, i. e. a numbering of the Citizens of Rome with an Account of their Age, Children, Slaves and Estates, as also in what Part of the City they dwelt, and the Trade they followed.

The first Cense was made in the Campus Martius, where were numbred $0000 Men able to bear Arms, as Livy tells us, and Fabius Pillor, an ancient Historian tell us, or $4700, accord fors, and sometimes the Proconculs and Chief ing to Dionyhus Halicarnsflaus,

This Roll coming into the Hands of Servius, he divided all his People into Six Classes, each Proconful into Spain by one of these Assemblies. containing feveral Centuries, or Hundreds of cording to the Proportion of their Effaces. The first Class was made up of 80 Centuries

guard the City confifting of Men of 45 Years and upwards, and the other 40 were of young Their Arms were all alike, viz. the Head-piece, the Back and Breaft-plates, a Buckler, a Javelin, a Lance and a Sword. These were called Classici in the Army, and were more honourable than those which were said to be infra Classem. as we learn from Aulus Gellius. They were to have 100000 As's in Estate, which make about 1000 Crowns of French Money. Alconius Pedianus makes their Estate to amount to 2500

The Second, Third and Fourth Classis were made up each of them of 20 Centuries, of which Ten were more aged Men, and Ten of the younger fort: Their Arms were different from get inftead of a Buckler, a Pike and Javelin. The Estate of those of the Second Class was to be 700 Crowns a Year, of the Third 500, and

The Fifth Classis contained 30 Centuries, which had for their Arms Slings and Stones to throw out of them, and Three of them were Carpenters and other Artificers necessary for an Army. They were to have 125 Crowns E-

The Sixth was a Century made up of the Rabble or fuch as were exempted from Service in War and all Charges of the Republick: They were called Prolesarii, because they were of no other use to the Republick but to flock it with Children: They were also named Capite Cenfi. because they gave their Names only to the

CENTURIATA COMITIA. Those Comitie or Affemblies of the People of Rome by Centuries, where every one gave his Vote in Thefe forts of Assemblies were first instituted . Tribes, and these Tribes into 30 Curia, but by Servius Tulius, who divided, as is above said, the People into Six Classes and each Classis into Centuries.

These Assemblies had a great Share in ordering of all State Affairs, for they were fummoned together to make great Officers, to approve any new Law, to proclaim War against any People, and to implead any Citizen of Rome after his Death.

They also chose the Coasuls, Prætors, Cen-

Livy tells us, that P. Cornelius Scipio was fent.

of Rome in the Campus Marsius, and one Part of Iwered, Silensium effe videsur; nothing hinders the People were armed during their Meeting it, but if the contrary happened, obnuntiabat, for fear of any sudden Invasion, and a Standard he said, that the Signs did not approve of that was fet up on the Capitol which was not taken Affembly.

down till they had ended. When the Senate had ordered this Affembly. the Confus appointed it to meet after Three free Fairs or Markets, which made 27 Days, that fuch as had any Right of Voting might ters to be treated of were let down and the lefthem to make any Presages upon the Day of

When any Law was to be approved in these Advantage of the Law, which they termed Conprobation of the Law, it was hung up in Publick the Votes given according to the Laws. Three Market-days, the Preamble of it being in these Words, quad bonum, fauftum, felixque Reipublice, populo, liberifque corum effet: And thus the Laws of the Twelve Tables were propounded.

nor de calo fervaffe veliz.

Market-days, he that proposed it, either himfelf or by some able Orator diffinelly explained fell was called the Prerogative Tribe, because all the Circumftances and Advantages of it. This Action was called promuleatio legis per trinundinum; and discovers to us the Difference observed till the Year DCXV, when Gabinius between these Two Latin Expressions, proponere the Tribune of the People made a Law, that legem, which is to fet up, and promulgare legem, they should for the Future do it by Balots or to explain it viva voce, as also between these two Tickets; this Law was called lex Tabellaria. Phrases, Lator legis, and Autor legis; the first The People much liked this Change, for bewas he that barely propounded the law, and fore they could not give their Votes freely, the other was he that perswaded the People to left they should incur the Displeasure of their accept it, after he had proved the Benefit, and Great Men whom they were afraid to disoblige. Diefulnels of it to them.

to do it in the Absence of the Consuls but only him in these Words, Dicito fi filentium effe videtur: Tell me whither there be nothing that pre-These Assemblies were held without the City vents this Assembly : to whom the Augur an-

This first Ceremony being finished, this Magiftrate fet up his Pavilion, or Tent in the Campus Martius, where he made a Speech to the People to exhort them to respect the Good of the Commonwealth only, and to do nothing thro' Humour have sufficient Notice: This they called edicere or Interest in the Matters that should be propocomitia in trinundinum. This Appointment was fed to them, and then fent them every one to published by Bills fer up in all the great Towns, their own Century to give their Votes, Secediti or in the great Streets of Rome on the Three in censurias vestras, & de iis deliberate. Then Market days next following: In them the Mat- the Centuries separated themselves one from another, and gave their Votes viva voce, till the fer Officers were forbidden in the Conclusion of Year DCXV, after the Building of Rome, when Balots or Tickets were commanded, which they their Meeting: In edillo Confulum, quo edicunt put into an Earthen Pot or Urn, made for that Quis dies comitiis Centuriatis futurus fit, fie feri purpofe. Every Century had its President, bitur ex veters formula; Ne quis Magiftratus mi- named Rogator, who gathered their Votes. After they had confulted a while, the Conful called the first Classis to give in their Votes. If they Affemblies, this was the Order observed; He were all of a Judgment, he called none of the that propounded it, who was called Rogator legis, other Classes, because the first had a greater made a Speech to the People, or caused another Number of Men than all the rest, and so their to make one, shewing them the Necessity and Voices carried it: But if their Votes were divided, he called the fecond Classis, and all the rest cione declarare; if the People declared their Ap- in their Order, till he had the tull Number of

The Advantage which the first Classis had above the other was often the Caufe of Tumults, because they could not endure that their Votes should be at any time ineffectual. To prevent which they contrived this expedient : They made While it hung thus in Publick for Three all the Classes to draw Lors who should be accounted first, and that upon which the Lot their Judgment was first had in all Matters.

· This way of giving their Votes was strictly Grata est tabella, says Cicero in his Defence of The Day appointed for the Meeting of the Plancus, que frontem operit, bominum mentes te-Affembly being come, the Conful went early in gir, dasque eam libertatem, us quod velins faciant; the Morning into the Capitol, or some other and in his second Book of the Agrarian Law, high Place, being attended with the Augur, he calls this way of Voting, vindex libertatis & whom he ordered to observe the Signs of the principium justiffima libertatis. Yet, even this then-pot the Prerogative Classis, he order- Horns. ed the Herald to pronounce it with a loud Voice, and then they went into an inclosed Piece farther Side for that end.

CER tiret, tabella vitiofum occultaret luffr tum.

This done, the Conful numbered the Votes. and declared the Officer chosen in these Words, Robber, who insested all the Country of Artica Plurality of Voices.

Notwithstanding, all these wife Cautions, no Tilket should be given to absolve a Man or Rites of bona Dea.

Sixty in a Legion.

at it and killed his Wife Procris.

water and laying it in the Sun upon the Grafs Mount Ida. in the Spring time, that it might be often moiftened with the Dew, for want of which it must citi Mylia, because they might not discover their be continually sprinkled with Water. All this Religious Rites. The Sacrifice offered to her was done to refine the Wax, by driving out was without Wine, as we learn from Plautus in the Honey which was mingled with it and made his Aulularia A& 11. Scen. VI. it vellow.

fed with Walls, which was nied to walk in, in aliatum eft. it were the Tombs of thole famous Men who died in Defence of their Country, and many Statues erected in Memory of them with Inferiptions, which published their great Actions, and the Praises they deserved for them.

anciently inhabited by a very cruel People, binus is much perplexed with these Two Author had its Inconveniences, as Cicero himfelf owns Which Venus changed into Bulls, as Ovid fave in his third Book of Laws : Non fuit latebra dands in bu Tenth Book of his Metamorpholis. Ceralis populo, in qua bonis ignorantibus, quid quijque fen- lignifies in Greek, bearing Horas, and this Ille was so called from the great Number of Moun-When the Conful had taken out of the Ear- tains in it, whose Tops something resembled CERBERUS, Pluto's Dog, who had Three Heads and as many Necks. The Poets of Ground, over very narrow Bridges, and as feign him to be the Keeper of the Gate of they entered, certain Persons called Diribitores, Pluro's Palace in Hell, and suppose him to be gave each of them Two Tickets, which they produced from the Giant Typho and Echidna. ant into the Urn or Earthen pot fet on the He was bound in Chains by Hercules, and brought out of Hell, as Homer fays.

CERCYON, the Arcadian, a famous Qued bonum fauftum, fortunatumq; fit mibi, Magi- with his Robberies and Murders, and forcing all firatuique meo, populo, plebique Rom. talem Con- Travellers to fight with him, and then killed fulem, aut Pratorem renuntio. I publish, that I them when he had conquered them. Thefeus fuch an one is chosen Consul or Prætor by slew him in the City Eleusins. Ovid Lib. 7. Mesamorph.

CEREALIA, & CEREALES Lufoul chalings could not be prevented, for fuch DI, Feasts and Plays appointed in Honour of as had Interest, and would have a Law re- Ceres. Memmius Adili Curuli was the first jested or a Perion condemned, contrived, that Institutor of these Feasts, as appears on a Medal on which is the Effigies of Ceres holding in receive a Law, as it fell out in the Cale one Hand Three Ears of Corn, and in the oof Clodius, who had prophaned the Religious ther a Torch, and having her Left-Foot upon a Serpent with this Inscription, Memmins JE. CENIURIO, a Centurion, a Roman Of dilli Cercalia prists feets. The Athenians long ficer which commanded an Hundred Soldiers; before had kept a Feast to her, which they calthere we e Six Centurions in one Cobors and led The mophoria & Eleufia, upon this Occasion. Ceres fearthing all Places for her Daughter Pro-CEPHALUS, the Son of Aclus, and ferpina, came to Eleufina, where the undertook Husband of Process, the Daughter of Erichtheus to be the Nurse of Triptolemus, the Son of King King of Athens. He was carried away by Au- Elufius, and when he was grown up the taught rora who was fallen in Love with him: She him the Art of fowing Corn and making Bread. could not periwade him to a Compliance, yet In Requital for fo great a Benefit he appointed Process was very jealous of him, and contriving her a heaft, and Priefts called Eumolpides from to watch him as he returned from Hunting, she his Son Eumolpus. Crowns of Flowers were not hid herielf in the Bulhes, but Cephalus Suppo- used in this Feast, but of Myrtle and Ivy, befing it had been some wild Deer, that his Dart cause Proserpina was stolen while she was gathering of Flowers; they carried light Torches, CERA PUNICA, white Wax, which was calling Proferpina with a loud Voice, as Ceres whitened by dipping it feveral times in Sea- had done, when the was fearthing for her upon

The Priefts of this Goddess were called Ta-

Staph. Cererine, mi Strobile, bas funt fafturi CERAMICUS, a Place in Abens inclo- nupriss? Strob. Qui? Staph. Quia temeti nibil

. Sta. Are you celebrating the Marriage of Ceres? Strob. Why afk you that? Stapb. Because you have brought no Wine.

Yet Cato feems to affirm the Contrary, and will have Wine to be used in the Sacrifices of CERASTIS, the life of Cyprus, it was Ceres: Postea Cereri exta & vinum dato. Lam-

CER felf, flies to the Diftinction of the Greeks and Romans, and fays, that the Greek Women facrificed without Wine, but the Romans used it: Yet Plantus, who was a Roman, is against offer Ulages and Ceremonies of Agypt. This Hiing Wine to Ceres. After the Sacrifice was over, they made a magnificent Feaft where every coming of Ceres to Athens was nothing but the one diverted themselves as far as was convenient, in feeing the Sports of Fencers and Horferaces, over which the Ailes prefided. Nevertheless, the Roman Women being cloathed in White, expressed the sorrow and Complaints of Ceres's Mourning for the taking away of her Daughter Proferpina, holding Torches in their Hands.

CERES, the Daughter of Saturn and Rhea. Varro fays, that Ceres was fo named from the Word Geres, because she bore all forts of Fruits; que quod geris fruges, Ceres. Others derive her Name from creare, because she raised Fruits. Vollius thinks, that the Name Ceres comes from the Hebrew Word cheres, that is to fay, arare. In Scripture we meet with the Word Geres to fignifie the Fruits of the Earth, from whence comes the Greek Word yapus, which is one of the Names of the Earth in Helychius. 'Tis probable that from this Hebrew Word Geres and the Greek yigus, the Namo of Ceres is derived.

Ceres is called the Law-giver, legifera, because before Men had the Use of Corn they lived upon Acorns in the Woods without Law or Government; but after Corn was found out, they divided and tilled the Land, which was the Original of Government and Laws, as Servius affures us. Leges Ceres dicitur invenife, nam & facra ipfins The mophoria, id eft, legum latio vocantur ; jed boc ideo fingitur, quia ante frumentum inventum a Cerere, paffim bomines fine lege vigabantur : Que feritas interrupta eft, poftquam ex agrorum diferetione nata funt jura.

Ceres was the Mother of Proferpina, and yet both of them are the Earth. Rhea is the Mother of Ceres, and yet neither of them are any thing but the Earth. Truths are real and natural, but Genealogies are poetical and figurative. Some confider the Earth in diverse Resp-Rs, and will have Rhea to be the Globe of the Earth Ceres the Surface, which is fown and seaped and Proferping is the Hemisphere of our Antipodes. This is the Opinion of Vollius. Diodorus Siculus relates, that the Agyptians from Tradition believe, that Ifis is the same with Ceres who found out Tillage and the Ule of Corn, and published most just Laws, from whence the became an Agmian Goddels But because he could not quite conceal the Truth he owns that it was Ereditheus, who failed out of Aggs into Greece with a great Quantity of every Year in Argos, and the lefter once in

rities opposite one to the other, and to free him | Corn to relieve it in a Time of Famine, and the Grecians in Requital of fo great a Benefit made him their King, and he appointed the Rites of eres at Aibens, according to the ftorian fays also in the same Place, that the Transportation of Corn from Egypt into Greece: Deam illo tempore in Atticam veniffe tradieur, quo fruges e jus nomine infignes Atbeniu funt importate, quarum femina sum Cereris beneficia quafi denud reperta videantur. There is the fame Reason to believe, that the Wandering of Ceres through all the World, was nothing else but the Transportation and Giving of Corn to all the World, eirher the first time when it was first fown, or in Process of time when Famine had made the Land barren. For if there were some Places which imparted their Corn to other Countries, and by Consequence were affirmed in a Poetick Stile to be the Country of Ceres, they were without doubt Ægypt and Sicily, but chiefly Agpt, because of the Overflowing of the Nile. The true History thereof is this, that Ifis, Queen of Agypt is the fame with Ceres, and that she communicated Corn and the Art of Tillage to other Parts of the Earth. Finally, in Confirmation of what has been faid, the fame Author adds, that the Ceremonies and Antiquites of the Agyptians are alike. I pass over other Places in the same Author where he endeavours to answer the Reasons which Sicily, Artica and the Isle of Crese and Agypt had produced to challenge to themselves the Glory of having been the Places of the Birth place of Ceres, which was the Inventor of Corn.

Herodorus confesses, that the Rites of Ceres, whom he calls the Law-giver, were brought out of Agypt into Greece.

The Cities of Greece, as Paufanias fays, but chiefly Athens and Argos disputed together, as the Agyptians and Phrygians did, about the Beginning and Antiquity of the Rites of Ceres and the Gift of Corn. He tells us, that the Mysteries of Ceres and Isis were so secret, that it was not permitted to any to fee her Statue except her Prietts, and he adds elfewhere, that it was not allowed to any who were not admitted to those Religious Rites to inquire into them, much less to be prefent and Spectators at them. He speaks also of another Temple of Ceres, into which only Women might enter, affuring us, that the Mysteries and Sacrifices of Ceres Eleufina were the most facred that Greece had. Some diftinguish the great Mysteries, which they call TEAGGS from the leffer, which theycall must need. The great Ones were observ'd and the latter in Autumn, as if they had a Refeet to the Approaches or Departure of the the City Care, who entertain'd the Vestal Virthey celebrated feveral forts of Combats.

Parts of the World, where she had a Statue which no Man ever knew more of than if there never had been any; Men never went into her who performed all the Offices of Briefts. Sacrarium Cereris est apud Caranenses cadem religione qua Roma, qua in cateris locis, qua prope in toto Cereris per-antiquum, quod viri non folum cujufmodi effet, fed ne effe quidem feiebant. Aditus enim in il facrarium non eft viris: facra per mulieres & vingines confici folem.

If we will find out the Original of the Myfteries of Ceres Eleufina, we must remember fome to Ceres, who taught it Triptolemus, by o-Trobon had put him to Death, and to which Ceres or Ifis gave those infamous Honours.

St. Augustine in his Seventh Book de Civitate Dei, fpears thus of Ceres: ' Amongst the Myfteries of Ceres, the most famous are those of "Ceres Eleufina, Which the Atbenians celebrated with much Pomp.

All that Varro fays respects the Invention of Corn, which he attributes to her, and the Stealing of Proferpina by Plute, fignifies only the Fruitfulnels of the Earth. This Fruitfulnels, adds he, failing for tome time, and the Earth becoming barren, gave Occasion to this Opinion, that Pluto had ftolen the Daughter of Ceres and kept her in Hell, i. e. Fruitiulness it felt; but after this Calamity, which had caused publick Grief, when Fruitfulness returned, Pluto was thought to reftore Proferpina, and fo publick Feafts were appointed to Ceres.

We have feveral Medals upon which Ceres is represented to us. That of Memmius Edilis

Five Years at Eleufis, the former in the Spring | Chariot drawn with Two flying Dragens. CERTES, a People of Italy, inhabiting Sun. The leffer lafted Nine Days, and after it gins when they fled from Rome in the Invafion of the Gauls. The Romans acknowledged this Cicero tells us, that at Casanea in Sicily Ceres Benefit, and granted the Freedom of the City was honoured, as she was at Rome and in other of Rome to these People, yet without any Licenie to vote in their Assemblies or to execute any Office in their Commonwealth, and from hence arises the Proverb, In Certium tabulas Temple, but only Women and those Virgins referre aliquem, to deprive a Citizen of his Right of Voting.

CEROMA, a Mixture of Oyl and Wax, a Sear-cloth, with which the Wrestlers rubbed orbe terrarum. In co facrario mitimo fuit fignum themselves. It not only made their Limbs more fleek and less capable of being laid hold of, but more pliable and fit for Exercise.

CEROSTROTA, In laying: Salmafius thinks it should be read Cestrota, as coming from the Greek Word x50 Tpa, which fignifies an Iron-Spis, because the Divisions in the Wood are that the Invention of Plowing is attributed by burnt with an Iron Spit, which is ftill done in our In-laying, when by the Help of Fire the thers to Jacobus. For the great Mystery of little Pieces of Wood which make up the Fi-Bacchus instituted by Isis or Ceres, who came gures, are made black to represent the Shadows. in after-times out of Agpt into Greece, was This Author is yet of Opinion, that we might the Worship of a Phallus, or the Privy-member still retain the Word Ceroftrata, because for of ofiris, which could not be found by Ifis after the more eatie burning of the Wood, it is rubbed with Wax. Philander derives this Word from xipas, which fignifies an Horn, which is much used in In-laying, being died of several Colours.

CHALCIDICA, Banqueting - boufes; fome are very cautious, fays Mr. Perrault, to know what this Word fignifies. Philander thinks, that this Greek Word fignifies the Places where Money-matters were decided, or the Office for the Mint, supposing that Word comes from xaxxis, Brafs, and Sixu, Juffice, Some will have it read Causidica, as much as to fay, an Hall for pleading. Festus informs us, that Chalcidica was a fort of Building first found out in the City of Chalcu; Arnobus calls Chalcidica the fine Halls, where the Poets feigned, that the Pagan Gods supped. Barbaro and Baldus think it a proper Name for that fort of Buildings, which Dion fays, was erected by Julius Cafar in Honour of his Father. Palladio follows Barbaro in his Delign, and draws this Building in the Fashion of the Judgment-seat, described by Vivuvius in the Temple of Au-Ears of Corn in her Right-hand and a light gulfus, which was joined to the great Church Torch in her Left. Another of C. Volteius re- of Fano. But Aufonius interpreting a Verle presents her in a Chariot drawn by Two Ser- in Homer, where he speaks of an old Woman pents, having Torches in her Hands, and fet- who went up into an high Place, makes use of ting her loot upon a Sow, which is ordinarily Chalcidicam to express υπερώου, which fignifies offered in Sacrifice to her, hecause that Bealt in Greek an upper Room, Cifaranus and Caporali defroys the Corn. Her Statue also is carved think also, that Chalcidica is a Noun Adjective, in the Habit of a Roman Matron with a Crown and lay, that in longitudine Chalcidica implies, of Garlands and Ears of Corn, holding in her that a Palace built in a spacious Place, ought Hand a Crown of Poppies, and riding in a to have the fame Proportion with the great Churches of the City of Chalcis; but the true kept its Name, for fo Orphem calls it in Ovid. Confirmation of the Text will not bear that Interpretation. Let us then take the Opinion of M. Perrault upon these Words: 'Being asfured by the Testimony of Ausonius, that Chal-Story, I think, that thefe Chalcidica's were in the Highest Heavens, who raised all these large and lotty Halls, where Justice was admi-'niffred, erected at the End of their Palaces, even with the Galleries through which they

the I leaders walked.

the greater Afa, who above all others practi- which according to Mojes, animated the Wafed the Art of Aftrology. The Prophet Datters of the Chaos and covered them in some niel was instructed by them. They worshipped the lire. The fews likewise affirm, as ferom fays, that these Words of Scripture, which say, that Abraham came out of Ur of the Chaldees fhew, that he was miraculously delivered out of the Fire, into which the Chaldeans had caft him because he resused to adore it. 'Tis credible that these Chaldeans did worship the Sun and Stars, which they looked upon as Eternal Fires, and that in keeping a perpetual Fire burning upon their Altars, they defired to keep and preferve a Resemblance of them continually betore their Eyes.

CHAOS, Confusion, a Mixture of all the Elements, which the Poets feign was from all Eternity, before the Stars were placed in that Order in the which they now appear.

Manilius confesses, that Hesiod makes the World to be produced out of this Chaos in his Theogonia, where after he has pray'd the Muses He then observes, that it was God who gave Night.

covered the Chaos, and this is what the Poet into Heavenly Truths and Eternal Love. calls Erebus and the Night, for the Greek Word Eps39 comes from the Hebrew Harab, which fignifies Darlnefs. The Day as well as the Heaven proceeded from the Chaos or the Earth, because the Stars were really in the Chaos, as were also the Heaven and Firmament before God took them out of it. Hell allo itself role out of the Chaos, and

Per chaos boc ingens, vastique silentia regni.

Oppian affures us, that it was Jupiter, that dwells Bodies and all the Parts of this vaft Universe out of the confused Chaos, Zeu paxap is de σε πάντα, κ' εκ σέθεν ερρίζοιται, Jupiter beate. went out of one Room into another, and where in te omnia, & ex te orta funt. We may explain that of Love, which Oppian speaks of CHALD & I, the Chaldeans, a People of the Agreement of fecond Causes. The Spirit, measure, according to the Hebrew Text, to make them fruitful, may be accounted for Love.

Diodorus Siculm mixing Fable, Hiftory and Philosophy together, makes the World to proceed from Chaos, as also do Euripides and Plutarch.

ovid among the Latin Poets speaks very diflinctly of the Chaos, which was before the Creation of the Warld.

Ante mare & terras, & quod tegit omnia calum, Unus erat toto natura vultus in orbe, Quem dixere Chaos, rudu indigestaque moles, Nec quidquam nift pondus iners; congestaque to teach him what was the Original and Be- Order, Dittinction and Light to this dark Chaos. ginning of the Earth, the Gods, Rivers and We may fay, that this Poet follows Mofes closely. Seas, he brings in the Muses answering, that since he separates first the Heaven and Air Chaos was the first Being, that the Earth fol- from the Earth, makes the Waters to fall into lowed, then Hell and Love; Darkness and the hollow Places of the Earth, out of which he Night came out of the Chaos, and the Hea- causes Trees and Plants to spring; after this he ven and Day fprung out of the Bosom of forms the Stars, produces Fishes, Fowls, and the Bearts of the Earth, and concludes his Six Days Although this Chaos of Hefiod is very con- Work with the Creation of Man, for Ovidexfused, yet it is no hard thing to find that it is actly follows this Order in God's Works, as a counterfeit Description of that of Moses in they were all performed in the Six Days. Genefis. The Chaos which was a confuted Heap Laftly, He describes the Creation of Man as of all Things, was before all other Beings in the chief Piece of his Workmanship, in whom their proper and diffinct Nature. The Holy he put some Rays of his Holmers, Divinity, Spirit which rested upon the Chaos, was that Dominion and Sinctity, yea, his own Image, Love which Hefiod mentions. The Darkness that is to say, an Understanding penetrating > Sanctius bis Animal, mentisque capacius alte. Deerat adbuc. & quod dominari in catera poffet, Natus bemo eft. Sive bune divino femine fecit Ille opitex rerum, mundi melioris origo, &c.... Finxit in effigiem moderantum cuntta Deorum: Pronsque cum ipellent animalia catera terram, conversed, that he gave them Dominion over ly, Our of the Frying-pan into the Fire. all the World, being of a Divine Original aniand governed by his Laws.

Non bene juntarum discordia semina rerum.

Os komini sublime dedit, calumque tueri Juffit, & ereltos ad fidera tollere vultus.

COGNATIONIS, The Kinsmens Feast. was marshy, was full of Serpents. So Ovid This Feath was to be kept in the Month of Fe- tells us. bruary in the Ruftick Calendar, which ftill remains at Rome upon an ancient Marble, but in Constantine's Time this Feast was called Charistia, which tignifies the fame thing. Valerius Maximus, L. 2. C. 1. N. 8. teaches us what it was: 'Our And because Bellerophon was the First that awelt Ancestors, says he, appointed a solemn Feast, upon that Mountain, 'twas feigned, that he which they called Chariftia, in which none met flew the Chimera. Pliny fays, that the Fire of but Kinsmen and near Relations, that if there that Mountain was nourished with Water, and were any Difference among them it might be could not be extinguished but with Earth or ended most easily in the Mirth of a Feast, Mud. Some say, that this Monster had Three Convivium etiam solemne majores instituerunt, id- Heads, the one of a Lyon, the second of a que Chariftia apellaverunt, cui prater cognatos & Goat, and the third of a Dragon, because that affines nemo interponebatur; ut fi qua inter necef. Mountain had Three Tops or Three Points, . farios querela effet orta, imer facra menfe & inter which refembled the Shapes of these Creahilaritatem animorum famoribus concordiæ adbibi-, tures. tis tolleretur. Ovid also may be consulted about CHÁRITES. See Carites.

CHARMIS, a Phylician of Marfeilles, who being ambitious to out-do others, condemned warm Baths, and bathed his fick Patients in cold Water, even in the Winter.

CHARON. See Caron. Sea near M. fina, now called commonly Galofa- whose Names fignifie these Three forts of ro, into which Ships being driven by Tempelts, Creatures, Ayrus comes from ari, which figniare wrecked by the Rocks that lie hidden under fies a Lion, Arzalus from arzal, which is a kind Water; which has given an occasion to the of Wild goat, and Tosibis is as much as to fay, Poets to feign that Charibdis and Sylla were two a Serpent's Head. terrible Sea Monsters, which swallowed up Ships; Strabo says, it was a Mountain of Lycia which and changed into that Gulph, which is scituated the Foot Serpents. in one of the Streights, upon the Coasts of | Plutarch will have it to be the Name of an discovers plainly enough, who were the Authors of a Dragon on the Poop, and of a Goat in of them, for Seylla comes from Secol, which tig- the Middle, whom Bellerophon conquered. nifies exitium, and Charybdis comes from chor oblem, i. c. foramen perdicionis.

Strabo gives the Name of Charybdis to a Place in Syria, between Apamas and Antioch, where the Orontes finks into the Ground, and runs 40 Stadia, before it rifes again. Thefe Words, In-These Verses clearly express that the History cidit in Scyllam cupiens viture Charybdin, are beof Genesis teaches, that Man was created an come a Proverb, to express, To full from a less holy and religious Creature, with whom God into a greater Mischief; or as we speak common-

CHIMERA, a fabulous Monster, which mated by his Spirit, honoured with his Image, has, as the Poets feign, the Head of a Lion, the Belly of a Goat, and Tail of a Serpent, which, When Seneca in common Speech gives the they fay, Bellerophon subdued riding upon the Name of Chaos to Hell, nodis aterna chaos, a- Horse Pegasus. The Original of this Fable is ver[a Superis regna; he shews us, that that Part taken from a Mountain of Lycia of the same of the World still retains the Name of Chaos, Name which casts out Flames, the Top of it as having in it Darkness, and Confusion of all was a Defart where nothing but Lions inhabited, the Middle had good Pastures, which CHARISTIA, or DIES CHAR & fed Plenty of Goats, and the Foot of it, which

> - Mediis in parzibus bircum, Pedlus & ora lea, caudamque ferpentis babebat.

Hefiod in describing a 'Chimars, fays, that this Monster had the Parts of Three Creatures, a Lion, a Goat, and a Dragon, Ante leo, retroque draco, medióque capella.

This Monfter was nothing elfe but a Chiming of Words, for there were Three Captains which CHARIBDIS, a Gulph in the Sicilian Bellerophon Subdued, Agrus, Arzalus and Tosibis, and that 2 Women having robbed Hercules of his cast out Fires, upon the Top of which there Oxen were stricken with Thunder by Fupiter, were Lions, and in the Middle Goats, and at

Arch-pirate who robbed in a Ship that had The Hebrew Original of these two Names the Figure of a Lion in the Fore-part or Bow, CHIRON, a Centaur, the Son of Saturn an Arrow by Apollo and Diana, because her and Phillyra. Cato tells us, that Saturn being Mother preferred her felf before Latona. Overy much in Love with that Nymph, was vid, Lib. 6. of his Metamorphons. afraid left Rees his Wife should surprize him CHORUS, the Chorus in a Connedy was in the Parsuit of his Amours, and therefore but one Person only, who spoke in the ancient changed himself into an Horse that he might Composures for the Stage; the Poets by Deenjoy her, which was the Cause that Chiron grees added to him another, then Two, afterwho was begotten of her, was born half a Man and half an Horse. Others makes him the Son of Ixion and the Cloud he embraced instead of Chorus, and were only so many Lestures of Funo. He became an excellent Phylician, and very skillful in the Knowledge of Simples, Musick and Military Discipline. Achilles was educated by him, and was made a fkillful Wariour, for he fed him only with the Marrow of Lions and Bears, that he might put into him the Strength and Courage of those Creatures, and taught him to ride an Horse and hunt, as Preparatives for War. He learned Physick of Afficulapius and Aftrology of Hercules. Clemens Alexandrinus tells us, that Chiron taught Men to worship the Gods, and sacrifice to them, the Method of administring Justice one to another, and the Form of Oaths.

He was wounded by Hercules with an Arrow dipped in the Blood of Hydra, which fell of the Twelve Signs of the Zodiac, called Sa-, her Head. gittarius.

in He brings in Chiron and Menippus speaking, Filius, Marci Nepos, Cornelia tribu Cicero. Thus places him in Hell.

drink and Sleep, and the Pleature of Life con- thele Verses of Silius Italicus. fifts in Change. Menip. But how did you bear Death after you had left Life for it? * Chir. Without any Trouble, because there is fuch an Equality among the Dead as I like well, as in a popular State where one is not greater than his Neighbour; and 'tis not material to me whether it be Day or Night, and belides, there is this Advantage here below, that we are not troubled with Hunger or Thirft, or other Inconveniences of Hu-

CHLORIS, a Goddess of Flowers, called by the Romans Flors, who was married to the flittetion, spent his Lite for the most part at Ar-Wind Zephyrus. Ovid in bis Fifth Book of Fasti.

There was another of that Name, the Daughter of Ampbion and Niebe, who was flain with wards Three, and at last more: So that the most ancient Comedies had nothing but the Vertue, for as Horace fays, they ought to encourage the Good, reconcile Enemies, pacifie the Enraged, applaud the Just, and command Frugality, Juftice, Laws, Peace and Fidelity in keeping Secrets; intreat the Gods to debale the Proud, and pity the Milerable.

Ille bonis faveaique, & concilietur amicis, Et regat iratos, & amet pacare timentes. Ille dapes laudes menfæ brevis ; ille falubrem Auftitiam, legefque, & apertis otia portis. Ille tegat commiffa, deofque precetur, & oret, Ut redeat miferu, abeat foreuna superbis. De Arte Poet. V. 195.

CHRYSAOR, the Son of Neptune and by Chance upon his Foot, and put him to fo Medufa, who had Gerion by Callirboe, accordgreat Pain by that Poilon, that he could not ening to Hyginus; but Hesiod in his Theogenia dure to live, although he was Immortal, where makes him to be born without a Father, of the upon the Gods in Compassion made him one Blood of Medusa, after that Perseus had cut off

CICERO, M. TULLIUS, M.F. M. N. Lucian in his Dialogues of the Dead, where- COR. CICERO; Marcus Iulius, Marci : was Cicero, the Prince of Roman Eloquence, call'd: " Menip. I have heard, O Chiron, that tho' Marcus was his Pranomen, because he was the you were Immortal you wished for Death, elder Brother: Tulius was the Name of his Fahow could you delire a Thing so little to be; mily, because he was descended of the ancient bloved & Chir. 'Twas because I was weary of Family of the Tullii, who were of the Kings of the Life. Menip. But were you not fatisfied and Polfei, as we read in Eufebius's Chroniton. Plupleased to see the Light? Chir. No, because tarch derives his Pedigree from Tulius Attius, "I did every Day the same thing, eat and King of the Vollei; which is confirmed to us by > Tullius æratas raptabat in agmina turmas, Regia progenies, & Tullo fanguis ab alto : Indole prob quanta Juvenis, quantumque daturus Aufonia populis ventura in fecula civem ! Ille fuper Cangem, fuper exauditus & Indos, Implebit terras voce ; & furialia bella Fulmine compescer lingue, nec deinde relinques Par decus eloquit cuiquam fperare nepotum.

MARCI FILIUS, his Father was called Marcus Tullius, who being a Man of a weak Conpinum in Learning. Q. Calenus failly afferts, that he exercised the Trade of a Fuller, and that he dreffed Vines, and Olive-Trees.

to give Vote by Scrutiny.

CORNELIA, of the Cornelian Tribe, which was one of the 35 Tribes of Rome into although at first he embraced Cafar's Party, which all the People were divided, and which included the Inhabitants of Arpinum.

CICERO, because he had a Wart like a Chick-pea upon his Face. He was born on the Third of the Nones of January in the Consulship of Servilius Cepio, and C. Attilius Serranus, 103 Years before Jesus Christ, and in the Supplement to Eutropius prove.

He came very young to Rome, where he frent his first Years in studying the Greek Learning, as he informs us himfelf in his E- | Cajeta. His Head and Hand were brought to piffle to Tininnius. I remember, fays he, that Rome, and laid by Antony upon the Orators in my Child hood one Plotius taught Latin | Bench, from whence he had often spoken to the at Rome, I was troubled that I was not one of his Scholars, because he was an ingenious 4 Man and taught very well, but I was diverted from him by the Opinion of very learned Men, who thought that the Greek Learning improved the Mind better: Equidem memeria teneo pueris mobis primum Latine docere capiffe in the 63d Year, 11 Months and 5 Days of his L. Plotium quendam: Al quem cum fieres con- Age, upon the Ides of December, in the Year cursus, quod studiosiffimus quisque apud eum exer- of the Building of Rome 710. ceretur, dolebam mibi iden non licere. Contineexistimabant Gracis exercitationibus ali melius lo the Academick, Law under Scavols, Rhe- inimitable. torick under Apollonius Molo. He travelled into Greece, and tarried Three Years at Aibens, Two Epicurean Philosophers, and Antiochus of tray'd by his own Servants, he was killed at Ascalon, a Person of rare Eloquence. He mar the same time with his Brother Cicero. ried Terensia, and divorced her afterward, alftate, with which he paid his Debts.

Casiline by his Vigilance and Care, for which never came out but in the Night. he gained the Name of Pater Patrie. He accufed Clodius, and profecuted him vigoroully, born in a mean Place, but great for his Vertue but at length he was forced to yield to the and Courage; as he was plowing a Field of prevailing Interest and the Fierceness of Clo- Four Acres the People of Rome made him Difta-

MARCINEPOS, the Grandson of Mar- | dius, and flie from Rome into Exile. But the cut, who dwelt at Arpinum, and who opposed Senate and all good Men bore his Absence so M. Gratidius the Author of the Lex tabellaria, impatiently, that they caused him to be recalled toon. At his Return he found a Civil War kindled between Cafar and Pompey, and vet at laft he turned to Pompey, but after the Battle of Pharfalia he was reconciled to Fulius Cafar, who was tlain a little after in the Senate. Offavius Cafar, furnamed Augustus, iucceeded him, and when that cruel Triumvirate of Antonius. Lepidus and Cafar was formed to the Ruine of the Commonwealth and all good Men, Cicero was in the Year of the Building of Rome 617. His abandoned by Offavius Cajar to the Resentment Father was named M. Tallius and his Mother of Antony, whom he had made his Enemy by his Helvia and not Olbia, as some fallely read it Philippisks; so that he was banished, and purin Plutarch, as Eufebius and Paulus Diaconus fued to Death by Popilius Lanatus, whose Life he had faved a little before. He cut off his Head and his Right Hand, having taken him as he was flying in his Litter towards the Sea of People, and delivered his eloquent Orations for the Deience of the publick Liberty. Fulvia the Wife of Aniony, having uttered a thousand Reproaches against these sad Relicks, pulled his Tongue out of his Mourli, and pricked it feveral times thro' with her Bodkin. He was flain

We have several of his chief Pieces of Orabar autem dolliffimorum beminum aufteritate, qui tory, but many are lost through the Injury of Time, of which he gives us a Catalogue in his ingenia posse. He studied Philosophy under Phi- second Book de Divinatione. His Epifties are

His Brother Quintus came to the same unhappy End as himfelf, for he was also one of those where he applied himself to Phadrus and Zeno that were banished with him, and being be-

CIMMERII, a certain People of Scythia. though he had Children by her, viz. a Son na- which inhabited a Part of the Kingdom of Ponmed Iullius, and a Daughter called Iullia and Ius near the Bojpborus, called after their Name Tulliola, and married Popilia, who was very the Cimmerian; because they dwelt in a Counyoung, rich and handsome. Terentia said, he try compassed about with Woods and always married her for her Beauty, but Tiro, Cicero's covered with thick Clouds, which caused a great -Free-man tells us, that it was for her great E- Darkness, it gave an Occasion to the Proverb, which calls great Darkness Cimmeria Tenebra, The great Defert of this excellent Man being fuch as were in Agypt. . Feflus and some Aujoined with his Eloquence, raised him to the thors with him say, that there were certain Peochief Offices of the Commonwealth; he was ple of that Name in Italy between Baje and first Prætor, then Quæstor and Conful, and in Cuma near the Lake Avernus, who dwelt in his Confulship he distipated the Conspiracy of Caves under Ground, never saw the Sun, and

CINCINNATUS, a Roman Captain

tor, which they had not done but that the | He exercised so much Cruelty and Rapine, Affairs of their Republick were in a desperate that he became intollerable among his own Condition. He accepted of that Dignity un- Soldiers in his Army who thereuson flew him willingly, and having fettled the Publick Af at Ancona. fairs in Seventeen Days, he left it freely, and returned to his Plough as before. CINCIUS, a Senator of Rome, who caufed the Lex Fannia to be received, by which he moderated the superfluous Expences of public Augustus, as an Acknowledgment of his Falick Feafts. He was also the Author of the Law which was called Lex Muneralis, made against such as bribed the People with Money to obtain any Office; it forbad those who canvaffed for any Offi e to come clad in Two Ga:ments into the Affemblies, to prevent their hiding of Money they used to bring to buy from a Mountain of the fame Name in the CINERARIUM, an Earthen-pot to gather the Ashes and Bones of burnt Bodies.

CINERES and RELIQUIÆ, the Ashes and Remnants of the Bodies burnt at Rome. When a Body was burnt, the Mother, Wife, Children, or other Relations of the Dead, cloathing themselves in Mourning, gathered the Ashes and Bones that were not confirmed by the Fire. They began it by in- give Juno, because they make her the Godvocating the Dit Manes and the Soul of the dess that presides over Marriages, when the Deceased, praying him to accept that pious Husband takes away the Girdle from his Spoule Duty which they were about to pay him, then in the first Night of their Marriage. washing their Hands and pouring Milk and CINYRA, is an Hebrew Word, which Wine upon the Fire, they gathered the Ashes was after used both by the Greels and Launs. and Bones and sprinkled them with Wine and The Fable makes Cinyras King of Cyprus, and Milk. The first Bone which they gathered will have him to be the Inventor of the Inwas called Os rejectum, according to Varro, or ftrument called Cinyra, as Suidas fays, in Ciexceptum, because it was made use of to finish nyra, at the Time or the Trojan War. Lastly, the Remainder of the Funerals. The Reliques It fays, that he contended with Apollo about being thus fprinkled, they put them into an the Excellency of Singing and Mulick, which Urn made of different Materials and wept over was his Ruine. But the Truth of Scripture it; they carched their Tears in small Glasses, and of History shew the Falshood of this Facalled Lacrymatoria, which they put at the Bot- bie, deducing the Antiquity of Mulick and of the tom of the Usn, then the Priest sprinkled the Musical Infirument Cinyra from the Ages be-Urn and all present to purifie them with a fore the Houd. Laban who was several Ages Branch of Rolemary, Laurel or Olive, (as A. before the Trojan War, makes mention of this ness did at the Funeral of the Trumpeter Mi- Instrument in Genesis, C. 21. fenus) and dismissed the Assembly with these v. ords, I licer, you may go, or depart.

thered when they were mixed with so many Riches of Cinyras, to fignific a very rich Animals and other Things, which were burnt Man. with the Body, but we may find this Difficulty cleared under the Word Cadaver. CINNA, a Roman Captain who was Conful Four Times in the Days of Sylla and Ma this Prodigy, they faid, it toretold his Regal rius. He was expelled out of Rome by Cneus Power as foon as he entred into the City. But citavius, because he endeavoured to recall the that Great Man scorning to enslave his Counbanished Slaves and make them free. He join- try would never go into Rome, but choic raed with Marius and the banished Slaves, and ther to live in voluntary Exile than to be so invading Rome made a great Slaughter among injurious to the Commonwealth. the Citizens.

There was another of this Name who was much beloved by Cafar Augustus, and preferred by him to the great Offices of the Commonwealth; when he died he left all his Goods vour. Some reckon a third of the fame -ame, who was pulled in Pieces by the People at the Funeral of Julius Cafar, because he was suspected to have been one of the Con-(pirators against him.

CIN I HIUS, an Epithet given to Apollo Ific of Delos, where he was brought up, and where he had a Temple.

> Cinthius aurem Vellit & admonuit. Virg. Bucol.

Apollo pulled me by the Ear and admonish-

CINXIA, an Epithet which the Poets

CINYRAS, King of Coprus, who committed Incest with his own Daughter Myrrbs, Here we might observe the Difficulty, how which he had by Adonis. He was a Man so the Ashes and Bones of the Dead could be ga. rich, that he gave Rie to the Proverb, The > CIPPUS, a Roman Prætor, who returning Victorious to Rome, leemed to have Horns upon his Head. The Diviners being confulted about

CIRCE,

CIRCE, the Daughter of the Sun, and | Upon the Day appointed for these Plays Perfeit the Daughter of Oceanus, who married they went in the Morning to the Capitol, the King of the Sarmata. She was famous where all the Furniture for the Plays was for Magick and Poisoning, if we may believe ready, from whence they returned in good the Poets, she poisoned her own Husband that Order, and passed through the publick Places the might reign alone, as also several of her and principal Streets of Rome, and from thence Subjects to try the Strength and Effects of her to the Circus, where they took feveral Turns Poilons, which caused them to revolt from to shewthe Pomp of the Plays the better. her, and drive her out of the Kingdom in Difgrace.

She went and dwelt in an Isle near Tuscany, Name, The Cape of Circe; there she fetched sed rode, and several other Chariots after them. down the Stars from Heaven by her Charms, of Phoreus into a Sea-monfter, as also Picus, took their Places to see the Sports. King of the Latins into a Bird called a Woodpecker: The Navy of Unffer being cast upon | Starting place for the Race, riding upon their fent to view the Country, upon which he was to enter the Lifts. caft by a Tempest.

should offer to be Friends with him, and entertain him, and engage her felf by the Great | Colour. Oath of the Gods not to hurt him in any thing. Ulyffes followed Mercury's Advice exactly, and Circe reftored his Companions to their former Shape.

the Circus much used at Rome, in Imitation of took an Urn into which they cast Balots of the the Olympick Games in Greece; these last were Bigness of a Bean, on which was written an dedicated to Jupiter, and the former to the A or a B, or some such like Letter, and always were vowed on the Seventeenth of the Calends up one after another and made their Prayer of Ollaber, (i.e. Sept. 15.) and shewn the 9th of the to Jupiter, and after that they put their Hand tinued Five Days.

they cast as far as they could. The fourth was lianging out a white Flag, they entred the Lift, their Bodies all anointed with Oil, laid hold upon the Race: They were to turn first seven times, on another, and endeavour'd to throw each other and afterwards five times about certain Pofts Heels. The fifth was Fighting at Fifty-cuffs, great Art. This is what Horace tells us in these at which they armed their Hands with great Verses: Straps of a raw Ox-hide with Boffes of Lead, which they called Cellis, with thefe they ftruck each other imartly, and often killed one another.

Before them went the Chariots which carried the Images of the Gods, and of the most illustrious Romans; then came other Chariots, upon a Promontory which was called by her in which the Roman Ladies most finely dref-

After this the Statues of the Gods were and miraculously changed Scylla the Daughter brought into the Circus, and the Roman Ladies

Thole, who were to fight, appeared in the rheie Conffs, fhe by her Inchantments, chan- Chariots drawn with Two, Four or Six Horses ged all his Companions into Hoggs, which he a Breaft, who expected nothing but the Signal

There were usually Four Companies of Mercury kept Ulyses from falling into the Fighters, or Four Squadrons diffinguished by fame Mistortune, having given him the Herb the Colours of their Garments. The First Moly to preferve him from her Charms, and Squadron was called the Green, the Second at the same time admonishing him, that when the Blew, the Third the Red, and the Fourth the struck him with her Red he should draw the White. The Emperor Domesian added his Sword and threaten to kill her till she the Gold Colour and Purple to make Two other Squadrons who bore the Name of their

The Spectators were divided into Parties for the Combatants, some wagering for one Squadron, and others for another.

The Names of the Combatants were drawn CIRCENSES LUDI, the Plays of by Lot, and matched after this manner; They God Confus or the God of Counsels. They Two of a Sort: Then the Champions came fame Calends (i. e. Sept. 23.) These Games con- into the Urn; immediately one of the Judges took every ones Balot, and matched those that Five forts of different Games were shewn: had Letters alike: If the Number of the The first was the Race of Chariots, which Fighters was unequal, he that had the odd Letwas the most ancient and chief of the Roman ter was to fight the Conqueror, which was no Exercises and Divertisements, as it was or the small Advantage, because he came fresh to fight Greeks. I he fecond was Leaping, who should leap against one who was already tired. This done, heft and higheft. The third was Quoits, which the Lifts were opened at the Sound of the Trumwas a Piece of Stone or Plate of Iron, which pet, and when the laft Signal was given by the Wreftling, in which Two Wreftlers naked and and they run who should get first to the End of upon the Ground, by tripping up one another's without touching them, in which they shewed - Metaque fervidie Evitata rotit. Od. 1. Lib. 1. in an Alphabetical Order.

CIRCIUS. See after Circus.

or Oval Figure, erected by the Ancients to other Circus's were, with feveral rows of exhibit Shews to the People. There are some Benches one above another, Galleries, Porches, Ruines of the Circus's yet to be feen at Rome, Shops, and other Buildings: It bore the Name Nilmes, and other Places. The Romans were of the Conful that built it. The Senate often great Lovers of the Circunfun Games, as this met there when they came down from the Ca-Verse of Juvenal testifies.

...... Arque duas tantum res anxim opeat, Panem & Circenfes.

Some will have the Name to come from Circus, there. to whom Terrullian attributes the Invention of them. Caffiodorus fays, that Circus comes from circuirus. The Romans at first had no other a Temple to the Wind Circius among the Gaule, Circus for their Races, than the Shoar of Tiber, who were much troubled with it, because it with the Bank on the one fide, and a Pallifade blew down their Houses; yet these People of Swords flanding upright on the other, which thought themselves much benefited by it, bemade these Races dangerous, as Servius ob cause it cleared the Air. Hear what Senecasays serves: From hence it is, that Ifidore lays, that of it ; Galliam infestat Circius, cui adificia quafthese Sports were called Circenfes, from circum fansi tamen incola gratiae agunt, tanquam falubrienfes : But Scaliger laughs at this Etymology, tatem cali fui debeant ei. Divus certe Auguftus Tarquin was the first that built a Circus at Rome templum illi, cum in Gallia moraretur. & vovit & between the Aventine and Palatine Mounts, as fecit. Dionysius Halicarnassaus tells us. It was 2204 Foot long, and 950 Foot broad, which was the Reason it was called the Great Circus.

Hulius Cafar adorned it with rich and magnificent Buildings, which he encompassed about Calls them Flying Chairs. with fine Canals of Water, called Euripi, to represent Sea-fights in them. The Spectators, the yery numerous, could fee the Sports conveniently, for they fat on Benches one above another, in the Form of an mill, so that they which fat before did not hinder those behind from feeing. Augustus enlarged the Circus, fore famous for the Oracle of Apollo, who from and crected a great Obelisk of 125 Foot high. The Emperor Claudim built Grnaments of Martain Fountain, whose Water inspired Men to deble for the Dens of wild Beafts, deligned for the liver Oracles, when it was drank, but it also Fleafures of the People, which till that time shortned their Lives. were made only of Earth or Wood. Caracala caused divers parts of it to be painted and gilded, returning home by Land, after Trey was taken And laftly, Heliogabalus-covered the Floor with with Amphilocus, the Son of Amphiloraus, paffed Gold, and Silver-Duft or Sand, and was troubled through Claros, where he found much more exhe could not do it with Ivory; likewife by an pert Diviners than himself; for, when Cakhar excessive Luxury he filled the Pits with Wine, to try one of them, asked him, How many Pigs and represented a Sea-fight on it, as an ancient a Sow, that was big, should bring forth, Moppes, Historian relates.

or Devotion built for the Ornament of the Ci- to give an Answer in his turn to this Question, ty: That of Fluminius was the most famous for How many Figs a Fig-Tree had, and Mopfus tel-Plays, and for the Glasshouse, where they had ling him how many, he was so discontented, that the Secret to harden Chrystal, so as to resist he died of Grief to see himself out-done in his Fire. Those of Antoninus and Aurelian were

I will explain the other Plays of the Cirque, adorned with curious Obelisks, and divers other Ornaments.

CIRCUS FLAMINII, the Circus of CIRCUS, a great Building of a Round Flaminius was a large Place compassed about as pitol. It was appointed for some Sports, as the Apollinaries, and Horse-races, and for the As-semblies of the People by their Tribes, which was the most general way of meeting, because the 35 Tribes, with the Inhabitants of the City included all the People of Italy, which met

CIRCIUS, the Wind, which is about the Caurus, and is called North Woft. Augustus built

CISIA, Coarbes with two Wheels. The Ancients had these Coaches with two Wheels. which they called Cifia, which they used for greater Conveniency and Expedition. Cicero CITHERON, a Mountain in Baoria, at whose Bottom the River Asopus runs. It was confectated to Bacebus, and his Orgia were celebrated there, as ovid tells us, Lib. 3, of bis Meramo phofis.

CLAROS, a small City of Ionia, heretothem was furnamed Clarias. There was a cer-

Strabe informs us, that Calchas the Diviner who was the Diviner, answered, That she should Some fay, there were Eight Circus's in Rome, have but three, two Males, and one Female, of which leveral were either through Vanity which proved true. But Calchas not being able save G. & Lot, because it fell to Apollo in the Division. Some Authors say, it comes from shaist, to weep, because Manto the Daughter of Tirefies the Diviner, to whom the Foundation of that City is attributed, flying from Thebes after the Epigoni had destroyed ir, landed in those Parts, where pouring out her Tears, she made a Fountain, which gave Name to that Place.

It is also an Isle in the Archipelago, between Tenedos and Soio, dedicated to Apollo, as Callimachas teftifies in thefe Verfes, τΩ πόλλων, πολλοί σε Βοπδρόμιον καλέκσι, TOANOI SE KNEPION. &C.

CLAU DIA, a Vestal Virgin, who taking the Ship, which brought the Statue of Cybele, the dess to clear her in Publick, and immediately without any trouble, which undeceiv'd the People, ovid, i. 4. Fastorum.

who paved the Way called from his Name, Via | Entrails of Beafts. Apple, and made the Conduit at Rome; as also

Augury himfelf, he perceived, that the Poul- ther into his Throat, of which hedied. trey were not at all moved by the Corn they | CLAUDIANUS, Claudian, a Poet own Art. Nearthus derives this Word Claros from | Claudius in his Apocologyasofis, where he imputes to him all imaginable Defects. Sucronius tells us, that he was not ill made. It is true, that he had weak Legs, and a Trembling in his Head, but these Defects were caused by Poison given him when he was young, which made him simple, forgetful and timerous, so that he gave himself up to be governed by his Freemen: He had a fat Neck, and his Lips were always foaming with Spittle, which, some think, is represented upon his Medals, as well as mentioned by Historians, with all other Signs of Weakness, which betrayed the Defects of his Mind. Nevertheless he feemed defirous to make amends for thefe Imperfections by his Study, for he applied himfelf closely to the Greek Tongue, History and Grammar. He likewife compused a Book before his Reign, to prove the Necessity of adding Three Letters to the Latin Alphabet, and when he was Emperor he put them into it with too much Care in dreiling her ielf, caused her ease, but they died with him, for we find them Behaviour to be suspected, and her Chaftity to only in the Inscriptions of his Time. He exebe questioned; but she deared her self by a cuted the Office of a Censor with great Severi-Prodigy, that happened thus: For the feeing ty, and reftrained the Liberties of the Theatre by most rigorous Edicts: He was exasperated Mother of the Gods, flicking in the Sand, fo by the Infolence of the People, who publickly that it could not be got ashoar by all the Arts affronted the most eminent Roman Ladies; and and Labour they could use, pray'd to the God- Publius Pomponius, who had been Conful, because he had made a Play which was afted. He caffing her Girdle upon it, the pulled it to Land forbad also lending Money to the Children under Age, because to save themselves from the Hands of their Creditors, they were tempted to CLAUDIANA; the Claudian Family, very il- feek the Lives of their Fathers. Afterwards he luftrious among it the Romans, from which leveral | finished the Aquaduds, begun by Caligula, which of the Emperors were descended, as Clandin brought the Water from the Simbruin Fountains and Nero. It came from Appine Claudine, King | into the City, and made some Regulations in of the Sabines, from whom came Appin Claudim, the Science of foretelling Things to come by the

He put his Wife Melaling to Death, who was Appins Claudius Cacus, and Appins Claudius one of the lewdest Princesses that ever lived, Craffinus, who made himself Dictator. See for the was married to Silius in publick, while her Husband was alive. He after married A-CLAUDIUS PULCHER, who loft gripping the Daughter of Germanicus, and his own the Battle against Astrabal, at the Seige of Lili- Niece, who poisoned him some Years after with baum. His Defeat is attributed to the Con- a Dish of Mushrooms by the Help of Locusta, a tempt, which he cast upon a Presage made from Woman famous for Poisoning, and the Empethe Holy Poultrey; for when the Coop was ror's Phylician, named Xenophon, who pretendbrought before him, that he might take the ing to help his Vomiting, put a poison'd Fea-

gave them, whereupon he cast the Coop and known over all the World, whom all learned holy Poultrey into the Sea, faying these Words | Men agree to come nearest the Majesty of in Raillery : Let them drink, fince they will not Virgil of any that have endeavoured to imitate him, and to have been least intested with the CLAUDIUS, the Roman Emperor, who | Corruptions of his Age. His Investives against was the Son of Drujus, the Nephew of Tiberius, Ruffinus and Eutropius are the best Pieces he and Uncle of Caligula, whom he succeeded has written, and perhaps nothing can be more after his Death. Seneca has given us a Descrip- compleat in their kind. Scaliger in his Treation of the Perfon and Intellects of this Emperor | tife of Poetry, fays, that he was tired with the

meanels of his Matter, but he supplied all De-1 CLELIA, whom Dionyhus Halicarnalleis fects by his Readiness of Wit, for his Fancy is names Valeria, and makes her the Daughter of happy, his Expression apposite, his Verse un- the Consul Valerius, being delivered for an affected, his Judgment accurate and his Orna- Hoftage to King Porferna for the Security of

ments pleafant for their Ingenuity.

pelled the Romans to flie to the Ceremony of Romans have confecrated to Clette's Vertue in driving a Nail, which had never been done before but to keep an Account of the Years, ac- | CLEMENTIA, Clemency, which the cording to an ancient Law. That the Great Pre- Ancients made a Goddels, and which they tor should drive a Nail on the Third Day of pictured holding a Branch of Lawrel in one Sentember. From this Time th's Political Cere Hand and a Spear in the other, to thew that mony was turned into Superfittion, and fimple Gentleness and Pity belonged only to victorious People were made to believe, that this Action Wariours. The Romans dedicated a Temple would be effectual to avert publick Calamities, to her by the Order of the Senate, after the and to fasten them, as I may fay, with this Death of Julius Cafur, as Plusarch and Cicero Nail.

ven into the Wall behind the Chappel of Mi- Tiberius and Vitellius caused her to be stamped nerva, in the Capitol, on the Right-hand of upon their Moneys. the Temple of Jupiter Capitolinus; and to per- | CLEOBIS and BITO, the Children of form this Ceremony a Dictator was made.

VIUM, or TUNICA-CLAVATA; and upon her Chariot to the Temple. And these ANGUSTUS-CLAVUS, or ANGU- are the Men which Solon calls the most happy, STI-CLAVIUM. a Gown or Coat, which in his Answer to Crassus in Charon, or the Conthe Roman Senators and Knights and High- templator. See Biro. Priefts were, upon which were fet Buttons ha- | CLEOPATRA, Oueen of Egyma ving Heads like Nails, more or less wide, ac- Daughter of Prolomy, furnamed Dionyfius, the cording to the Quality of the Persons or Of- last King of Fgpt. She was first beloved by fices. This Coat thus adorned with Buttons Julius Cafar, who gave her that Kingdom ain the Shape of Nail-heads was a Mark of Di- gain after he had conquered it, and by him fie flinftion, Senators were them large, and to had a Son named Cajario, but after Mark Anwere called Laticlavii instead of Senatores, as tony fell so passionately in Love with her, that Suctonius calls them Bini Laticlavii, for Two he was not content to give her the Provinces Senators, and when they were degraded this of the lower Syria, Phanicia, the Isle of Cyprus, &c. Coat was taken from them; on the Contrary, but promifed to give her the whole Roman Knights wore a Coat with Buttons more nar- Empire in Requital of the Pleasures he had row, and from thence were called Angusti- with her: For Love of her he dworced his clavi.

from thence it was called Tunica rella, where- War against him. Antony, though he had the as the Knights wore a Girdle about it. The Affiftance of the Agyptian Army, fell by the Priefts likewife might wear the Coat with Victorious Arms of Cafar near the Promontory large Buttons when they facrificed, called from of Adium: Cleopatra fied to Alexandria in A. thence Laticlavus Sacerdotalis.

Honour and Diffinction upon the Governours Conqueror's Triumph, she killed her self by of Provinces and such as had served the Em- the biting of an Asp upon the Tomb of Asperor faithfully, as the blew Garter and Mar- tony her Lover. fhal's Staff is in France.

They laid afide this Ornament in Times of publick Mourning or Calamity as a Sign of Sorrow.

a Truce, the cast her felf into the Tiber and

CLAVUS, a Nail. In the Confulfhip of fwam over on Horse-back. King Profession. L. Genusius and L. Emilius Mamercus, in the when the was brought back to him by the Year 43 52. according to the Fulian Account. Conful Valerius, admiring her Courage, gave 3600 of the World, and 362 before Fefus Chrift, her an Horse finely equipped, and this is the the Plague continuing to lay wafte Rome, com- | Reason of the Statue on Horse-back, which the relate. The Poet Claudian describes her as This Nail was made of Brass, and it was dri- the Gardian of the World. The Emperors

the Prieftels of Argos, who died both at the LATUS-CLAVUS, or LATI-CLA- fame time after they had drawn their Mother

Wife Offavia the Sifter of Augustus, which so The Senators did not gird this Coat, and much incenfed that Prince that he declared gypt, and feeing that fbe could not gain Ca-In the Times of the Emperors the Coat | far's Favour to her Children, and being unwith large Buttons was bestowed as a Mark of willing to he made use of as a Captive to the

CLEP

CLEPSYDRA, an Hour-glass made with such Bonds of Love, as the one might live among the Romans, and there were feveral Envy. forts of them which had this in common to CLIMA, or INCLINATIONÉS in different Ways.

They were all subject to Two Inconveniences, the first is that which Plutarch takes notice of, Hours from being equal; the other is, that the Water ran faster at first when the Vessel from whence the Water came was full than at laft: and to avoid this Inconvenience, it was, that Oronies found out his Clepfydra, which is a finall Ship flotting upon the Water, which empties it felf by a Syphon which is in the Middle of it, for the Ship finketh according to the Quantity of the Water which comes out of Hour-glasses of Sand instead of the Clepfrdra encreased from the Æquator to the Polar Cirof the Ancients.

Clepfydra were more especially used in Winter, because the Sun-dials were not useful in that Seafon.

The second fort of Clepfydra was such, as without changing the Dial made the Hours reckoned no Climates there. The common fometimes longer and sometime shorter by the People call the Country that differs from a-Inequality of the Index or Hand, which depended upon the Management of the Water, Seasons or Nature of the Soil, or People that as Virtuoius fays. This was performed by making the Hole through which the Water paffed larger or smaller; for in the long Days when the Hours were longer, the Hole being made narrower, it convey'd but a little Warer in a longer time, which caused the Water to rife and fall flowly, and to made the Counterpoize which turns the Axle-tree, to which the Index or Hand is fastened, to move slowly.

CLIENS, a Cliens, among the Romans was a Citizen who put himself under the Protection of some Great Man, who in Respect of that Relation was called a Patron. This Patron affifted his Client with his Protection, Interest and Goods, and the Client gave his Vote for his Patron, when he fought any Office for himself or his Friends. Clients owed Respect to their Patrons, as they did owe them their Protection.

CLIENTELA, the Protection which the great Roman Lords allowed the poor Citizens. This Right of Patronage was appointed by Romulus to unite the Rich and Poor together in Water. The Use of Clepsydra was very ancient | without Contempt, and the other without them all, that Water ran by gentle Degrees MUNDI, and INCLINAMENTUM, through a narrow Passage from one Vessel to a- a Climate, which comes from the Greek Word nother, in which rifing by little and little lift. xxxivair, that is to fay, to decline; it is intended ed - pa Piece of Cork which shewed the Hours to mark the Difference there is between the Countries of the World according to the Distance they bear from the Pole or Æquinoctial Line, by reason of the Idea which the Mathat the Water passed through with more or terial Sphere gives us of this Distance, for less Difficulty, according as the Air was more the Countries which are diffant from the Pole or less thick, cold or hot, for that hindred the or Aquinoctial seem to decline or bend some more, and others less towards the Æquinoctial or Poles.

The Ancients knew but Seven Climates. which paffed through Meroe, Siena, Alexandria, Rhodes, Rome, Ponsus and the Mouth of the Boriftbenes. Paris is in the Sixth Climate, Averroes who lived under the Fifth Climate preferred it before all others. The Moderns, who have failed much farther towards the the Syphon, which makes it always run with Poles, have made 23 Climates of each Side the same Force, because it always receives the of the Æquator, according to the Number of Water near the Surface. We make use of Twelve Hours by which the longest Day is cle, for they allowed the Difference of Half an Hour between one Place and another to make a different Climate, and to reckoned 24 Climates; and beyond the Polar Circle the Length of Days encreases to fast that they nother, a Climate either for the Change of inhabit it, without any Relation to the long Days of Summer.

CLIO, one of the Nine Muses who teaches to fing the Encommums of Illustrious Men. She has taken her Nime from the Greek Word . xxiQ-, which fignifies Glory or Renown. She is faid to be the Daughter of Jupiter and Minemosyne, the Goddess of Memory.

CLO AC A, a Sink, or Gutter under Ground, by which the Filth of the City of Rome was carried away. Tarquinius Superbus finished the great Sink, which Tarquinius Priscus had begun, which . . reach'd as far as the Senators Bridge, and emptied it self into the Tiber. The Channel was very wide, and to make it, he was forced to dig thro' the Mountains, and Vaulted it over in feveral places of the City. It was built of great Stones in the Form of an Arch, so well taftened and cemented together, that the continual running of Water and Filth had not endamaged it in the Space of Seven Hundred Years. There were many other Sinks in the

M. Caso and Val. Flaceus Cenfors built one up- crased Buckler; or rather Clypius with an i is on Mount Avenine. There were Officers ap Buckler for fighting ; and Clypeum, or Clupeum, pointed to take Care of these Works, and to one of those Bucklers vowed to the Gods: Bur have them repaired, who were called Curatores Pliny, and others of the Ancients laugh at thefe Cloacarum Urbis.

Roman of the ancient Family of the Clodii, a very debauched Man, who committed Incest with his Sifters, and fell in Love with Pompeia the Wife of Cafar. He was found one Day in the Palace in the Habit of a finging Woman, among the Roman Ladies, who celebrated the Myfteries of Ceres, of which he was accused by the Tribunes, but he escaped the Rigour of the Law by causing himlelf to be chosen Tribune. He was one of Cicero's greatest Ene- imago. mies, who so persecuted him, as to cause him to be banished, and sell his Goods. He was flain by Mile sometime after; and Cicero undertook the Defence of Milo, and was success- properly the Bucklers used in War; Pinates, ful in it.

CLOTHO, One of the Three Deftinies, who spin the Life of Man according to the old Fables. Clorbo holds the Spindle and draws Stetbaria, among the Moderns, Bufts or Pictures the Thread. She is repretented in a long as far as the Wafte. Gown of divers Colours, having a Crown on her Head fet with Seven Stars, holding in her leave the Memory of their brave Actions to Hand a Spindle. Lucian places Clothe in Hell their Posterity, and to that end contrived to with Charon, and makes her to keep the Re-

in his Boat.

and in the mean time I will take my Register, and thanding at the Wharfs, I will ask every might hang them in their Temples as a Monnone his Name, house and Town. Mercury ment of their Victories and other remarkable ' shall take Care to put them in Order, according as they come in. Let us begin with their Pofferity. 'little Children, who have nothing to answer "me, as I have nothing to ask them.

ler, a piece of defeniive Armour which the was found a Silver Buckler which weighed One Ancients used, and carried upon their Arm to Hundred and Thirty Eight Pound, upon fecure them from the Blows of their Enemies: which the famous Afdrubal of Barcha, one of The Figure of it was Round, Oval, or Sex-the chief Commanders of that War was drawn, angular. In the middle of it was a Bos of and that Buckler, which was called Clypeus Mu-Iron, or of some other Mettal with a sharp tius, was put into the Temple of the Capitol, Point.

Devoted Bucklers, which were designed to re- burnt. present a memorable Action of some ancient Hero, and to preferve the Memory of it in umph, which Tisus Quinsius obtained for the a Temple of the Gods, where it was hanged. Victory, which he had gained over Philip, King The Names which the Latins gave these Buck of Macedon, the Father of Demestius, Ten Silver lers were, Clypes, Clypes, Clypes vorivi, becaule ver Bucklers, and one of folid Gold, which were they were like the Bucklers used in War. Some found among the Spoils of the Enemies, were ancient Grammarians, that they might feem carried before him. more accurate than others, fay, that Clypeus in the Masculine Gender fignifies a Buckler for Ciry, which all fell into this Common-lewer. the War; and Cipeum in the Neuter, a confer Niceties.

CLODIUS PUBLIUS, a Noble Trebellius Pollio uses these two Words, in a complaifant way, in his Life of Claudius the Gorb. ' The Senate, fays he, decreed this Emperor a Golden Buckler, which they ordered to be fet up in the Palace of the Capitol, and upon which this mperor was drawn as far as his Breaft. Illi Chpeus aureus, five, ut Grammatici loquuntur, Clypeum aureum Senatus to: sius judicio in Romana curia collocarum eft. siam nune videtur, expressa thorace ejus vultus

Salmafius upon this Paffage shews, that these confecrated Bucklers were also called by the Greeks, Difci, Cycli, Afpides, which fignifies which is Tables ; Stylepinatia, Tables hung upon Pillars ; Protomata, the upper Parts of a Man; Opla, among the Thebans, Arms; and

The ancient Heathens were very defirous to have the History of their Ancestors graven upgilter of all the Dead, that Charon brings over on Bucklers. Homer speaks of several made by the most curious Artists, and among others Clotho. 'So it is, O Charon, thip this Croud, Achilles's and Ajax's; from whence came the Custom of making them of Metal, that they Actions, or at least to leave their Effigies to

Livy tells us, that at the Conquest of the Caribaginians under the Command of L. Mar-CLYPEUS, & CLYPEUM, & Buck- times, the Romans got much Spoil, among which to leave the Memory of that Conquest to Poste-CLYPEI, & CLUPEI VOTIVI, rity, and remained there till the Capitol was

The fame Author relates, that in the Tri-

Some Years after in the Confulfhip of Marcus I them Subjects through Fear, and who loved Incins, and P. Junius Brutus Twelve gilt Bucklers were dedicated and fent to the Capitol. Suetonius in the Life of Domitian, relates, that the Senate to shew how odious the Memory of that Tyrant was, commanded that his Bucklers should be taken out of the Tem-

Antoninus Pius dedicateda very noble Buckler to his Predecessor Adrian.

These Bucklers did not only represent the Portraitures or Bufts of thefe Eminent Perfons, but all their History was engraven on them. Of this fort there were many at Craicum in the Temple of Acollonides the Mother of Assalus and Eumenes, upon which were engraven Hiflories in Relievo. Upon one of these Bucklers Pelias and Neleus, the Sons of Nepsune, were drawn, who delivered their Mother from Imprisonment, as Plutarch assures us. Some Medals shew us, what Fashion these consecrated Bucklers were of, and among others the Reverse of a Medal of the Emperor Augustus, to whom the Senate and People of Rome had confectated 2 Buckler, in Remembrance that Phraases, King of the Parthians had fent him again the Enligns of War which he had taken in his Victory over Craffus and Mark Amony, supposing that Augustus had not obliged him by Force to reftore them: This pleated him fo much, that he built a Temple to Mars the Revenger in the Capitol, where these Military Ensigns were confecrated with this Buckler.

Vespasian also has made another Medal with a confecrated Buckler faftened to a Pillar between Two Lawrel-Trees, by the Order of the Senate; which is tignified by these Letters Ex S.C. Ex Senatus consulto. These Two Lawrels referred to those that were planted at the Emperor's Gate the first Day of the Year, or when they had obtained some Victory.

Dio speaking of the Honours which the Senate bestowed upon Augustus, says, that they ordered Lawrels to be planted before his Palace, to flew that he was always victorious over his Enemies; whence it is that Pliny very properly calls a Lawrel Cafar's Porter, the only Ornament and faithful Guardian of their Palaces: Gratissima dominibus janitrix Cafarum, qua sola & domos exornat & ante limina excubat.

There remains ftill another facred Buckler, flages, whom he had taken Prisoners, comforted them in their ill Fortune, and told them, gaining Hearts by Kindness than in making the Commonwealth were not wholly Mafters more to have Foreign Nations for their Allies and Friends than to lay upon them an heavy Bondage. Then having taken the Names of all their Cities, he caused a Lift to be made of all the Prisoners, inquiring of them their Name and Country, and fent out Posts all Ways, that every Family concerned should come and receive his own, furrendring up to the Governours of the Cities that were prefent, their Citizens, and advising Caius Flaminius the Treasurer to treat the rest with all imaginable Civility. At the same time a very aged Matron crowded through the Throng of Hoftages to caft her felf at his Feer; (the was the Wife of Mandonius the Brother of Indibilia, King of the Illergeta.) Her Petition mixed with Tears and Sobs was, that Scipio would please to recommend the Care of the Ladies to his Guards, and when Scipio answered, they should want nothing convenient for their Subfiftance, she replied, 'tis not that that I am concerned for, for in this Difgrace we ought to be contented with any thing, but that which disturbs me is the Youth of these my Daughters, for as for my felf Age secures me from all the Infolences which they may justly fear. (They were the Daughters of Indibilis, young and fair.) Then Scipio answered her, I cannot but follow the Cuftom of the People of Rome, and the exact Discipline which is observed in my Troops, that does not luffer any Man in the leaft manner to violate the Respect which is due to your Sex, but your Vertue and Conftancy, which even ill Fortune cannot triumph over, oblige me to take a more particular Care of your Perfons. Then he committed them to the Keeping of a Man whose Fidelity was well known, and gave him a Command to flew as much Respect and Favour to them, as if they were the Wives of his best Friends.

' A little after, there came to him a young Woman from among the Prisoners, of such 'a perfect Beauty, that fhe drew Respect from all the Spectators. Scipio being informed of her Country and Family, found that she was betrothed to a young Prince among the Celriberi named Allucius, with whom the was paf-'fionately in Love. At the same time he called her Parents and the Husband defigned for this beautiful Virgin, with whom he had this on which is represented that victorious Action ' Discourse. ' Young Man, my Soldiers hawhich Scipio Africanus did at the taking of New 'ving discovered your Espoulais to me, and Carthage in Spain; it is related at large in Livy: having learned that you love her affectio-But, fays he, Scipio calling the Spanish Ho- nately, which her Beauty easily perswades me to believe, I am willing to favour your Passion, although to speak freely to you, if I were that they were come into the Power of the permitted to enjoy the Pleasures of Youth, People of Rome, who took more Delight in especially in a lawful Love, and the Cares of

of my Heart, I should desire your Spouse; Cassendra, the conspired immediately with the who so very well deserves the Affections of gysbus the Son of Thyestes, who was her Gallant, a fine Gentleman; but you know that she has to put them both to Death; and so while he been treated by me with the same Respect; was facrificing to the Gods for his Return, C.4 as if the were with her Father in Law or her temnestra flew her Husband Agamemnon and own Parents ; I have kept her carefully for Caffandra with an Ax, but her son Orefter re-'you, that I might return her to you a Pre- renged the Death of his Pather Agamemnon by fent worthy both of you and me; all the Re- flaying the Debaucher of his Family and Murquital 1 defire of you is, that you will be derer of his Father. Friends to the Commonwealth, and if you have | CLYTIA, a Nymph, and the Daughter ported with Joy, took Scipio by the Hand he is of to fee him. and pray'd all the Gods to reward this Action, CNEUS, a Name given to fuch among the of this fair Lady feeing that he would free the Latins call Navus. them without Ransom, brought him a consi- CNIDOS, a Sea-Town on the utmost Borgreat a Favour to them to accept it, as it was is that Horace calls her Venus Cnidiana. to release his Prisoner to them without using | COCLES, the Surname of a Roman Citi-"cond Portion with which I present you. So Statue of Copper in Vulcan's Temple. he ordered the Sum which had been prefented 'him to be carried to him, and him to lead 'away his Miftress. In fine, This young Prince being loaded with the Pretents and Honours he laid upon him, returned home, and there extolled the Merits of Scipio, who was more 'like a God than a Man, and knew not only how to conquer by Arms, but by Kindness and "Favours.

Polybius who lived in the Time of this famous Roman, and was particularly acquainted felf to Death for his Country, for going in Difwith him, relates this Action in a fewer words; He adds these remarkable Ones, which he spake to those Soldiers who presented this fair Lady to him: 'If my Fortune were limited to that Oracle had promited it, if they did not flay of a private Person, you could not offer me their Enemies King. The Athenians being Con-'a more acceptable Present, but being, as I ' not bring me one more disagreeable.

CLYTFMNESIRA, the Daughter of Tyndarus, and Wife of Agamemnon, having heard wealth was governed by yearly Magistrates to from her Brother Palamedes that her Husband the Time of Solon the Law-giver. had brought a Concubine with him, which was as much Esteem for me, as the People of your of Oceanus, who was loved by Apolio and after-Nation had for my Father and Uncle, fatisfie ward forfaken by him, because through Jeayour selves, that all the Romans equal us in loune to Orcania she discovered the Love of that Vertue, and that as there is no People in all God with his Danghter: This Defertion was the World whom you ought to fear more for such a Grief to her, that he died of Sorrow, an Enemy, fo there is none that you can wish and was turned into a Flower called the Heliamore for a Friend. This young Prince being grope, which remembring the Love which the aftonished at this exceeding Bounty, and trans- bore to him, turns it self always on the Side whole Merit he could never furficiently ac- Romans as were born with some Blemish on their knowedge. In the mean time, the Parents Bodies, or tome other natural Defect, which derable Sum, and offering it to him pray'd ders of the Chersonesus, which poins to Cariat, him to accept of it as a Testimony of their famous for the 1 emple where is the Venus of Gratitude, affuring him, that it would be as Praxiteles of white polished Marble; whence it the Right of infifting upon Conquest. Scipio zen named Horatius, who alone opposed the Inepretending that he was overcome with their valion of the Tuscans when they were ready to urgent Intreaties, ordered the Money to be enter into Rome over the Bridge Sublicius, till 'laid at his Feet, and turning himfelf to Aliu- it was broken down; and then he caft himfelf cius, faid unto him, I give you this over and immediately into the Tiber, being much woundabove the Portion which your Father in Law ed in the Thigh, and escaped to the other Side. will give you, take it from my Hand as a fe- The Conful Publicola in Gratitude erected his > COCYTUS, one of the Rivers of Hell according to the Poets, which comes from thefe Greek Words mapa no nonviere, to weep, lament and Groan. Homer places this River in the Cimmerian Country, and will have Hell to be this very Country of the Cimmerians, one Day's Journey from Circe, which is a Mountain in the Country of the Latins.

CODRUS, the last King of Athens, who lived in the Days of Samuel. He devoted himguile into the Midtt of his Enemies, they flew him unknown, and by his Death his Councrymen got the Victory over the Peloponefians, to whom the querors would not have another King, that they now am, the General of an Army, you could might honour his Memory the more. So ended the Kingdom of the Heraclide, who were descended of Hercules, and their Common-

There

There was also a very bad Poet of that Name, | and Multiplication of Creatures once formed to of whom Horace Speaks. - Rumpantur ut ilia Codro.

COELIUS, a Mountain which was first, called Quercetulanus, because of a Forest of Oaks which was upon it. It was afterward called Aid of Tufcans to one of their Kings, (either to Tarquinius Prifcus, or fone other, for Hifto-Market, because his Soldiers were very numerous; and the Street is still called by their Name. The Tuican-Street.

This Mountain was built and made one of of Tiberius, which was at a Senator's House nafrom to great a Conflagration.

which the Greeks call spares, either from open video, to fee; or from the Hebrew Word Or, that is to fay, Lucere, to fbine, or our, which is urere, to burn in Flame, from whence the Lavins have also derived Aurora.

This Heaven was the first Object of false Worship, and Men took it for an Universal Nature, which it contains , whence it bears the Name of Jupiter, as if Jupiter were the Soul, and the Heaven, the Body of the whole Universe. This was the Opinion of Emnius when he faid, Aspice hor sublime candens, quem invocant ownes Fovem.

Phurnutus makes spards to come from EcO. that is to fay, a Guardian or Confervator, because the Heavens and the Stars were the first false Gods, who were honoured as the Confervators of the World.

COS LUM, the most ancient of the Gods. had for one of his Children Time named Saturn, who with a Cut of a Sickle deprived his Father of his Genitals, which he cast into the Sea, and by the Froth which came of the Stirring of the Waves Venus was born.

have deprived his Father Calus of his Genera- lecration. tive Faculty by caftrating him, it is because in Time the Fruitfuine's or the Heavens ceated to in the Day time, that is, about Four a Clock

Venus, and fo 'tis feigned that Venus was born of the natural Parts of Calus and the Froath of the Sea; as Macrobius, Aiunt Saturnum abeidiffe patris pudenda, quibus in mare projectis, Venerem procreatam, que à spuma unde coaluit. Accofirm nomen accepit.

COEN A. Supper from naive or naive. i. c. Calius from Calius Vibenne, who brought an communes, because the Ancients usually sunped together in Companies, but dined alone: Supper was the best Meal. They broke their Fast rians do not agree about it.) and received this in the Morning very lightly with a Piece of Bread Mountain for his Habitation with the adjoining dipped in pure Wine, which Meal they cal-Fields as far as the Place where there is now a led fentaculum, and in Greek axed rious and axpaτισμές, from axpaτ (), which fignifies pure Wine. The fecond Meal was the Prandium or Dinner from opa the Morning and tydor, or from the Divisions of Rome: It was burnt in the aprotor, which fignifies plain and very moderate. Reign of Tiberius, but he rebuilt it, and or They had a Fourth Meal, which they made dered that instead of Mount Calins, it should sometimes, which they called Commissio or be called Augustus's Mount, because the Statue Commessatio, a Collation or a Meal after Supper-Sueronius makes mention of these Four Meals in med funius, was the only Preservative of it his Life of Vitellius, Epulus trifariam semper, interdum quadrifariam dispertiebat : in jentacula. COELUS, or COELUM, she Heaven, & prandia, & cunas, commessationesque. &c.

These Suppers were made after different Manners. There was one called Cana rella. a Splendid Supper, with which the Roman Nobles treated their Miffreffes and Friends, who had attended them in their Vilits, or in the Execution of their Offices. They that would avoid the Expence and Trouble of these Suppers, gave them Bread and Meat instead of them, and this Distribution was called Sportula, Domitian took away thefe Allowances, and reftored the Feaft called Cana relle; for Suesonius tells us, sportulas publicas suffulit, revocata cenarum rellarum confuesudine. COENA DAPSILIS, a plemiful Feaft, whether this Word comes from dapes, which fignifies Dainties, or the Greek Word fatinera. Abundance of all Things.

COENA ACROAMATICA, from the Greek antoquata, which fignifies pleafant and merry Discourse. It was a Supper at which many witty Jells were spoken for Diversion.

There was moreover, COENA AD. VENTILIA, INTERVALLATA. NOVEMBIALIS, & DUODENA-Tis no hard thing to guess why Calum is RIA, called by the Greeks Sudenalis G. befaid to be the first of the Gods, and the Father cause the Guests were Twelve in Number. of Saturn or Chronos, fince 'tis evident that the cloathed like Gods and Goddeffes. There was Motions of the Heavens make and measure the also another Supper called Ponsificalia, which the Duration of Time. When Saturn is faid to High-prieft made upon the Day of his Con-

They supped usually about the Ninth Hour produce new Beings, learing the Propagation in the Afternoon, but in the Spring and Autumn about Three a Clock, and in Winter at filled with Wine, having made their Libations Two; for the Romans, as well as Greeks, often out of it, according to Sil. Ital. changed their Time, supping sometimes at one Hour and fometimes at another, as we may obferve in their Authors. They put on a Garment when they fat down to I able called Vellis canatoria, or Pallium canatorium, of which Mar. End of that Treat which Dido gave Aness. tial makes mention.

There was then a Table foread between Three Beds, upon which they eat; another which they used for a Cup-board called Abacus, upon which they fet Glaffes, Fruits, &c. Varro fpeaks of Four forts of Tables, that on which they eat, another square one called Urnarium, on which they fet their Pots, Difhes, Flagons and Baions; a Third called Cylibantium, from the Greek xu'A.E. Which fignifies a Drinking Cup or Bowl, and the Fourth called Cartibulum, whereon they cut the Meat, which was after ferved up in Portions to each Gueft. Round about the Beds and Tables was a kind of Bench a little raifed, upon which they fet their Children who eat with them, as Suctonius testifies in the Life of the Emperor Claudius, C. 32. Adbibebat omni cana & liberos juos cum pueris, puellifque nobilibus, qui more veteri ad fulcra lettorum fedentes vescerentur. They used no Table cloaths, they had Servants which were employed to wipe the Table when they took away the Dishes and set on another Service, and others were appointed to fweep away what fell from the Table and the Spittings, others held great Fans to cool them or drive away the Gnats, and others gave them Drink and Meat; as Horace tells us.

His ubi sublatis, puer alte cinctus, acernam Gaufape purpureo menfam perterfit, & alter Sublegit quodeunque saceres inutile, quodque Police canantes offendere.

Sat. 8. Lib. 11.

They were ferved usually with Three Courses; The first Course when they sat down to Table was called Antecena, or Guftario, at which they fer on Mulberries, Eggs, or fuch like Things; the second was called Cana, or Capus Cane, when they fet on more dainty Meats, and the third was the Difert, called Bellaria, Menfa pomorum; as we read in Suetonius, Canam sernis ferculis prabebas, speaking of Augustus. At the Beginning of their Meal they drunk a Glais of Creek Wine, but Cafar at the Feafts which he made for the People had Four forts of Wines brought, viz. of Chios, Lesbos, Falernum and M. mertinum .. At the Beginning and End of the Supper they made Libations of Wine to their Gods, and then drank every one out of a very large Bowl which was Nec priùs aut epulas aut munera grata Lyai Fas cuiquam tetigiffe fuit, quam mulca precatus In menfam. Jacrum libavit bonorem. Virgil speaks of the Libations made at the Lib. 1. Æneid. V. 727.

Postquam prima quies epulis, mensaque remota Crateras magnos ftaxuunt, & vina coranant. ... His Regina gravem gemmis auroque poposcit, Implevisque mero pateram.

- Tum falta (ilentia tellis. Jupiter (bolpitibus nam re dare jure loquuntur). Dixit, & in menfa laticum libadet bonorem : Primaque libato summo tenus attigit ore: Tum Bitiæ dedit increpitans.

We have the Description of a Wedding by Lucian, in a Dialogue, entituled, the Lapitha.

Polt alii proceres. &c.

'The Guefts being all come, and it being time to go to Supper, the Women who were many, and the Bride in the midft, coverd with a Vail, took the Right-hand, and the Men fat down quite opposite to the Ladies: At the upper End the Banker Lucritus, then Ari-Stanetus; afterwards Zenothemis and Hermo: After them fat down the Peripatetick Clodimus, then the Platonift, and afterwards the Bridegroom, then my felf, Zeno's Tutor after me, then his Pupil.

"We eat our Meat pretty peaceably at first: for there were a World of Dithes, and those well dres'd. After having indulg'd our Anpetite for tome time, came in Alcidamas the Cynick: The Mafter of the House bid him Welcome, and wish'd him to take a Seat by Dionyjodorus, 'You would think me very effeminate, faid he, should I sit down at Table, or lie almost along on a fost Bed, and Purple-Cuthions, as it one went to fleep, and not to eat. I will fland, and feed my felf here and there after the Manner of the Scythians, &c. In the mean while the Healths went merrily round, and they entertain'd one another with various Discourses. The Servants delaying to ferve up a new Courle, Ariffancem unwilling a Moment should be lost without Divertisement, had a Buffoon introduced to make the Company merry. He began to shew a Thoufand extravagant Poftures, with his bald Head and Body all disjointed, and to chaunt Verses. in Agyptian Dialect, after which he fell to breaking his Jefts upon the Company, every Man laughing at what was faid, and taking all in good part. The last Service was brought up, which was to every Man a Fowl and a piece of Venison, Fish and the Difert; in a word, every thing that might be honefully eat or car-

COGNOMEN, a Sirname. It was properly; mily, abdicated his Confulfhip, and retired to gree in the same race in eadem gente. For ex- might be banished out of Rome. ample, when Livy faid that the race of the Potitians was divided in twelve Families; for Gens and Familia, were as the whole, and its parts. Those that were of the race were called Gencalled Agnati: As we may observe in the Royal Governors. They were Instituted by Muma, Race of France, often divided in feveral Bran- COLLEGIUM AURIGARIOthe Race, nomen gentis, and Cefar is the Name of the Prize proposed to the best Drivers. They the Family, cognomen familia.

Salult fays of Scipio; Maffmiffa in amicitiam recep- pal colours, Russatam the red; Prasmam the tus a Publio Scipione, cui postes Africano cognomen green ; Venetare the blue; Abaisam the white. fut ex virtute; and Tully speaking to Pomponius, Tis thought the Ancients would represent by who was Sirnamed Articus, because he had been these colours, the four Seasons of the Year, in brought up a Scholar at Athem, tells him; which Nature puts on new cloaths; each Par-Traue non cognomen Athenis folum deportaffe, fed ty representing a Season by his colour : The humanitatem & prudentiam intelligo.

are no Sirnames that we call cognomina, and di- the Winter, covered with Ice and Snow. Stinguish the Families, but were given at first COLLEGIUM AUGURUM, The given upon fome like account.

Lemonia; that is, ex Romulea ex Lemonia Tribu.

The Romans plac'd fometimes the Sirname of COLLEGIUM ESCULAPII and the private Family before the general Name, HYGIR, The College of Effculapius and common antenorm geniu, says Manucius; and so Health, It was a Society or Congregation of 60 Tully faid Gallo, Balbi Cornelii, Papum Emilium; persons, who at certain days in the Year met. and Livy, Paulie Emilius Cos, and the like; tho at an appointed place to offer Sacrifices, in the Gallus, Balbus, Papus and Paulus were the Sir- behalf of those that were willing to implore And sometimes the Sirnames became Names, they entertained one another. as Valerius Maximus tells us.

the name that diftinguish'd the lines of a Pedi- Alba, that all called by the Name of Tarquinius

COLLEGIUM, College, A Name given to the Assembly of some Societies and Corporations. The Romans had Companies of Workmen, Tradefinen and other Callings, formerrilet: and those of the same Line or Family were ly called Colleges, that had their Patrons and

ches, as Valois, Bourbon, Orleans, Montpenfier, &c. RUM and AURIGARUM, The College, fo when 'tis faid the Family of the Cafart was of of the Coachmen, who in the publick Games of the Julian Race, Julian is the general Name of the Circle, disputed with their Adversaries, composed Colleges or Societies, that were di-The word Cognomen includes also the Sirnames stinguished one from another by Colours: Gragiven upon some particular account, as when ter in his Inscriptions mentions sour princi-Green represented the Spring, the Red the Sum-If we consider this, we skall find that there mer, the Blue the Autumn, and the White upon some particular occasion, seeing the pro- College of the Augurs: Romulus was the first Infliper Names themselves, premmina, were at first tutor of this College, which was composed of three Men, to whom Servius Tullius added ano-These Sirnames were hereditary to all the ther; and it continued so till the Year 454, posterity of the same Family ; however, they for then, during the Consulship of Q. Apulcius might change them, or add fome other new Pansa and M. Valerius Corvinus, the Tribunes of the Name to them; and fometimes, besides the People created five Men more, taken out of the Name of the private Family, they took the people: And now this College was compos'd Name of the Race, or the Tribes in the Abla- of nine persons till the time of Sylla, who intive case, as C. Verres Romales; Servius Sulpitius creas'd their number to fifteen according to Florus or twenty four according to Alexander ab Alex.

names of a Family, and not the Forenames, the help of Esculapius and Health, and there

COLLEGIUM DENDROPHO. COLISEUM, 'tis the Amphitheater that RORUM, The College of the Dendrophari. This Vessatianus built in Rome, and his Son Titus De- College is often recorded in the Ancient Indicated. Philander's opinion is, that this word scriptions upon Marble, and yet 'ris hardly Califeum, is faid, quasi coloseum, because of Nero's known what fort of people these Dendrophori Glift that was near it; tho' that Name be nei- were. The Learned are divided upon this ther general nor common to other Amphithea-point. Salmasus in his Commentaries upon ters, but particular to that famous Amphytheater, the life of Caracalla, written by Sparfianus says, the temainders whereof are yet seen at Rame. that the Dendrophori were those Men, who in COLLATINUS, Simamed Tarquinius, the processions made in the honour of the Lucretia's Husband, the first Man that was made Gods, carried Branches of Trees, accord-Conful with Junius Brutus, after the Kings were ing to the Ætymology of the word Dendriven away out of Rome, for the Rape commit- drophores Isogopho , which fignifies, he that carted on Lucretia, by the Son of Tarquinius Super- ries a Tree; wherefore the Epithet of Dendropliobus. But Collatinus being of the Tarquinian Fa-ros was given to Silwanus, in an ancient Inscripcommonly represented carrying a Branch of a on the reverse whereof we read Genie Colonie the Heathen and their Temples, seems to fa- in Ionia, especially for the antient Temple of your this opinion in the 20th Law. "'Tis just, Apollo Clarianus, which (if we except that of "fays the Text, that all the places, that the Ephefus) was the most remarkable of all Ionis, "Dendrojkwi, and other Heathen Professions have tho it was not quite finished, as Pausamas tells possessed, and were appointed for the keep- us, in his Achaicht, but yet very famous for polities, and were appointed for the keep- less, in his nearest, but yet very tamous for ing of Feaths and distribution of Money, be the Oracles that Applie pronounced there. The applied to the Revenues of our House, have ing first banished the Error that had given Clares, a little Town in the Territory of Cal-"birth to them. According to this opinion phon. There was also a Mountain and a Wood Dendropheri was not the name of a Trade, but dedicated to Apollo Clarianus. of Religion or Superstition.

Pine-tree, or fome other tree.

they fay that the Dendrophin were Timber that Ships past with full Sails betwixt its Legs. Merchants, who dealt especially for the use of It was the workmanship of Chare, a Disciple of the War and Engines. Wherefore they were the renowned Lysippus; he was 12 years about commonly joined in the same College, with it, and it was overthrown by an Earthquake those that had the care of the Engines and ne 56 years after it was erected; they loaded 000 ceffary Timber for the Camp, called Fabri, and Camels with the Brass this Coloss was made even with those called Gentonarii, which was a of. The basis that supported the statue, was of Trade for the War. These Centemarii were 2 Triangular Figure, its extremities were fis. joined together with them, in the 8th Title of stained with 60 Pillars of Marble. There the Theodoffan Codex, by which the Emperor was a winding Stair-case to go up to the ton Conflantine commands, that in all the Towns of it; from that place one may discover Sma. where the Dendropheri shall be found, they shall and the Ships that went into Egypt, in a great be received into, and re-united to the Corpo- Looking-glass that was hung about the next ration of the Centonarii and Master Builders, of the statue. called Fabri. 'Tis true, that from hence we COLUMNA, Around Pillar to bearm cannot certainly know what was their Trade. a Building, or adorn it. There are Pillan but it seems that it was a Society of Workmen, made of Wood, Stone, Marble, Brass, Jasper, who had a near relation with those that sup- Lapit Lazuli, &c. There are some wreathed plied the things necessary for the Camp; where- channelled, detached, &c. to make them apfore they were created by the Senate, or were pear bigger, or more agreeable to the fight under the direction of a Quindecim-Vir, or one of The diversity of these Pillars give the nameto the Fifteen Men, whose Office is fully descri- the five orders of Architecture; the Tuscan bed in another place.

Military Trade, were those Men who fur- 127 Pillars all of a piece, and 60 Foot high, nished the Army with Tents, and other train which had been erected at the charges of fa of War, called by the Romans Centones.

and warlike Engines, called Fabri and Tignarii, lar of Trajan. This Pillar was fet up in the was a Body of Workmen, who furnished the middle of a place that the Emperor Trajan had Timber necessary for the Army both by Sea adorned. It was 128 Foot high; they went up and Land.

na at Rome upon Mount Quirinal, near the Tem- it in baffe relieve, the noble Acts of that Prince up of some Inhabitants of Rame, who were sent Parthiant ; and after his death they brough into the conquered Towns, built without the his Ashes in a'Golden Urn from Seleucia, a Town City of Rome. These Colonies were called after in Syria, where he dyed, and placed the Urn on the Names of the Emperors that founded them, the top of the Pillar. anot only by the general Name of Cesar or August COLUMNA ANT ON INI, The gustus, for these Titles were common to all the Pillar of Autoniust. This Pillar was in the Field Emperors; but were also called by their pro- of Mars, and was 176 foot high, with a Stairper Names that diftinguished them from their case of 106 steps, and 56 Windows, and a statue Ancestors; fo the Colony of Patras is called at the top of it representing Antoninus.

tion recorded by Gruter, because this God is Neroniana, in a Medal that we have of Nero, Nermiana Patrenfis.

The title of the Theodofian Codex, concerning | COLOPHON. A Town very famous

COLOSSUS, A Coloss, a statue of a However, the contrary opinion, which most Prodigious size, and the shape of a Gyant. The part of the Learned hold, is not unlikely, for Colofs of Rhodes was a statue of Apollo, so high, ed in another place.

The College of the Communi, which was a In the Temple of Diens of Epicius, there was

many Kings. The College of the Masters of the Timber | COLUMNA TRAJANI, The Pil to it by a Stair-cafe of 185 Steps, and 45 Win-COLLINA PORTA, the Gate Colli- dows. There were represented round about The Senate fet up this Pillar in honour d COLONIE, Colonies; they were made Trajan, in the time of the War against the milliary Pillar; the Antients made use of this Pillar to mark out the Miles or the Leagues was raifed in the Provinces, and fent into the from one place to another.

lars of Hercules. These Pillars are two Moun | were called Exactores, Canonicaris. thefe 2 Pillars to serve for limits of his exploits, tures, and other escheats, or goods of mortmain.

Rome, where the Highways of Italy met.

SIST ORIANI.

COMES ORIENTIS, The Governour of the East. This Governour had furer of the Demesn, he received the money 15 Provinces under his Government, and the for the maintenance of the Prince. particular Governours gave him an account of their respective administration, and if any TIJ, The Lord High Steward of the Princes according to their mildemeanour.

the Provinces.

is now in England.

der, who was called Comes or Caput Schola.

radities or alms of the Prince, which he destri- the Forum Romanum, or the place of Rome. buted among the Souldiers and the people. In This place was covered, and there was a the time of the Commonwealth their Treasu-kind of Scaffold or High and Spacious Theatre ters were called Queftors. Some Emperors called the place f r Orations, adorned with suppressed them, and some others restored Bows, or sour Decks of Ships taken from the them again ; but Conflantme the Great institu- Antiates, in the first memorable Sea-figh: the ted two Treasurers to manage his Reve- Romant were ingaged in. From this place

COLUMNA MILLIARIS, A nues, and both were called Comiter. The fond of this grant or bounty money Prince's Coffers, called Arca Largitionum; the COLUMN & HERCULIS, The Pil-collectors established to collect this money

tains fituated at the mouth of the ftraight of COMES PRIVATARUM RERUM Gibraltar, one called Calpe, the other Abyla, both DOMUS DIVINA, The Treaturer of oppolite one to another The fabulous Anti- the casual forfeltures : He gathered the money quiry thought that Hercules himself had set up that fell to the Prince by chance, as forfer-

COLUMNA AUGUSTI, The gol- | COMES DOMESTICORUM Eden Milliary, a pillar that Augustus fet up in QUITUM & PEDITUM, A Collonel of the Archers of the Emperors guards, esta-COMES. This word Comes fignified at blifhed by the young Gordian. There were befirst those persons who waited on the Magi- fore the Emperor Gordian's time some compastrates in Provinces, as Treasurers, Lieute- nies of Guards, but he railed some more, both nants, Secretaries, Provosts, Registers, and all horse and foot, for his own guard, to attend other inferour Officers, whereof we have always his person, wherefore they were called many instances, even in the time of the Com- Protestores domestici prasentales. They were in all monwealth. In the Emperor's time this word 3500 chosen and strong men, born in Armenia. was employed to express those that were of Justinianus added to that number 2000 more. the Family, or the attendance of the Prince; who were called Supernumerarii. They were according to this fignification, the Councellours commanded by three Officers, the first was of State were called COMITES CON- Comes, the second Tribunus Protestorum, and the third Primicerius Protectorum.

COMES PATRIMONIJ, Trea-

COMES CASTRENSIS BALAof their had prevarricated, he punished them Houshold. Hetook care of the Prince's Table, and commanded all the Officers and wait-COMES REI MILITARIS, He ing Gentlemen of the House, called in genecommanded the Soldlers in the Armies, and ral Mensores, i. e. Mensa Regis Servientes; he comhad an equal authority with the Captains of manded also the Lampadorij, i. e. those that lookt after and carried the Lamps, &c.

COMES STABULI, The Great Ma- COMITIA. Affemblies of people , fter of the Horse. He was to take care that which were threefold; for either they were the Provinces should deliver the Horses, that made up by Wards or Curia, and then were they did owe every year to the Emperor, called Comitia Curiata, or by Tribe: Comitia wherefore these Hories were called Equi Cans- Tributa, or by hundreds, Comitia Contariata, acnici. This Officer was very much respected in cording to the division of the Roman reople. the Roman Empire, as the Great Constable was In the first Assembly, where they chuse the formesly in France, or the Muster of the Horse inferiour Magistrates, no man was allowed to vote but the Citizens of Rome. In the two o-COMES SCHOLARUM. This Of- ther Affemblies, not only the Citizens of ficer was an inspector over all the subaltern Rome had a right to vote, but also the Inhabi-Officers of the Emperor: there were eleven trants of the Colonies and Municipal Towns. classes of them, that were employed about the In these great Assemblies they chose the great Affairs of the Prince, in the Provinces and the Magistrates, and took into confideration the Armies. Each classis had his chief Comman-most important affairs of the Commonwealth. Vide infra Centuriata, Curiata, and Tributa ..

COMESSACRARUM LARGITI- COMITIUM, The place where the ONUM, The Treasurer of the gifts and libe- Affemblies met at Rome. It was one fide of made all their deliberations with them. There dy; for he had nothing of his Fathers good they did choose also most part of their Magi- nature, tho his Face had something of his frates, wherefore the Candidates when they features. His cruelties and debaucheries, to came to this place, used to lay aide all their opposite to the clemency, sobriety and wisdom grandeur, and shewed themselves familiar with of Marcus Aurelius, perswaded the people that all forts of people, carefling and intreating he was not his legitimate Son, ad that his some of them, bribing the others, and making Mother had got him by a Gladiator, whom their best to get a vote, being accompanied in the loved : and really he pretended to bea these occasions by such of their friends and skilful Gladiator himself, a good Coachman relations who had the greatest interest.

arricle. posed with art, either in prose or verses, to re- Marcus Aurelius took notice of his ill nature, present some humane action, agreeable and and used all his endeavours to correct it, having not cruel. The Comedy was first acted in provided the best Masters for him, but nature from Villages, as it appears by the word to prevailed upon education. He took after Faspast, and Sujarian was the first Author of it, fina his Mother's debaucheries, and as slopis of the Tragedy, according to Suidas. his Father was dead, he removed all the goal Polydorus Virgil and Ludovicus Vives affirm that men about him, because their presence and the Remans had their Comedy from the Greeks. care were troublesome to him, and a bridle to The first representation of Comedy at Rome his loose way of living. His vanity was was under the Confulship of Caur Sulpitius Peti- brought to such an excess, that he would be cus, and Caiss Licinius Stolon, 390 years fince the called the young Jupiter, and the Roman Heresfoundation of Rome, and 364 before the co- ler, affecting with an unparallelled Foppery to ining of our Saviour. They were afted for dress himself in a Lions Skin, and to wear a the first time in the Island of the River Tiber, maffy Club like Hercules. At last Commodus beand afterwards upon Stages, M. fala and Caffius, came fo incommodious to all Mankind that he one of Cafar's Murtherers, being then Cen- was kill'd by his own Servants, they not being

"that God, having at first a clear sight, did look all men. "only upon just men, but that Jupiter having "fight in the Temple of Esculapius, and from dus. " that time the Temples and the Altars of the We have befides on the reverse of a Golden " all men facrificing to the only Plutus.

mus, and St Auffin, I. 1, de civitate Dei.

The ancient Comedy was a Satyr, to banish vice, and countenance virtue.

When Horace fays that Comedy should be doth not fay that it should be suppressed.

Fictions as the Modern have done fince, but ploit he had performed at Sea; the other Firepresented the dealings of men, not sparing gure represents a Woman, whose head isdreseven the names of persons.

and a good Player. Some Authors give this COMMODUS. See after the following description of him, that he had a wild look sparkling eyes, and an ill composed discourse COMOE DIA, a Comedy, a Play com- like a Drunkard, whose actions he was imitatine fors: as 'tis related by Valerius Maximus Appia- able to bear any longer his extravagancies. The Senate and the people did express an extraor-Ariflophanes has excelled in Comedies ; in dinary joy for the same, seeing themselves de-"that which is entituled Plutus, he tells us, that livered from a Monster, and an enemy to

During his life, they flattered him with "blinded him, Riches fince that time are in- a thousand Encomiums, so far, that they cal-" differently shared among good and bad men. led his Reign the Golden Age, and bestowed "Ir was forme time after attempted to reco- upon him the Epithet of Hertules, calling him " ver his fight, but Penis, which is poverty it the invincible and the Peace-maker of Man-"felf opposed it, shewing that Poverty being kind. There remains still a Medal of this "the Mistress of Arts. Sciences and Verrues, ambitious Prince stampt at Nicca, with these "they would be in danger of being loft if all words written in the Ring thereof. Be-"men were rich. They would not hearken to Tintuit & Bounds d 2004 Eutung, i.e. All the "her wholtom advice, Plutus recovered his world was happy under the Empire of Commo-

"Gods, even of Jove himself, were forsaken, Medal, and of another great one of Brass, both stampt for the same Emperor, these words, PROVIDENTI & AUG. with two flands ing Figures, one representing Commodus like Hercules (for he affected to be dreffed in a Lions kept within the bounds of Laws, lege regi, he Skin, and called Hircules Commodianus, and to have Sacrifices offered unto himfelf as if he Donatus affures us, in his Book concerning had been a God) his right Foot upon the fore Comedy, that antient Poet did not bring in Deck of a Ship, in remembrance of some exfed in an Elephants Skin, with a Serpent at COM MODUS, Son to Mircus Aurelius, her Feet, which was the ordinary emblem, the in Elephants. She prefents Commodus with a "many Balls as there was Slaves, and as many handful of Ears of Corn, to flew the vigilancy "Effigies as there were free Persons in the l'aof that Prince in fending to Africa and Egypt " milies, that they might not hurt the Living, for the Corn that Italy and the whole Empire I" and be contented with these Offerings. might stand in need of. Wherefore Lampridius | Dioxysius Halicarnasseus tells us in his Antiqui-Alexandria ever since the time of Augustus.

Ouiver, with this morto HERCULI RO- moleftus Familia.

MANO AUGUSTO. "Hercules, Pontifex Maximus, Tribunitia potestati mong Feattings and Pleasures. " Senatuique Commodiano felici falatem.

genant used to represent Africa abundant " & finaliaris content; they offered them as favs in the life of Commodus, that he fitted out ties, that this Feast was celebrated after the Saa Fleet every year for Africa, that in case the survalia, viz. at the beginning of January, and Corn of Alexandria fell short, they might be that it was proclaimed in these words. Die none Supplied from Africa. Before the Reign post Kalend, Jan, Quiritibus Compitalia erunt. This of Commodus, they fent out of half to fetch Corn Feast was kept by the Slaves, according to the from Africa, but there was neither a Company Institution of Serving, in remembrance of his of Corn Merchants fettled, nor a Fleet appoint- Fortune, that being born a Slave, vet he beed for that purpose, as there has been one for came King of the Romans. And Thuly fays, in the 7th Book of his Epiftles to Atticus, that he There was also Gold, Sliver and Brass stampt would not go into the House of Albus, lest he by the order of Commodus, whereon his Head is should be troublesom to his Slaves, who were represented covered with a Lions skin, and on about Solemnizing the Compitalia, Egg quoniam the reverse appear a Bow and Arrows, and a Compitalitius dies eff, nolo eo die in Albanum wenire

COMUS, the God of rejoycing and feaft-He delign'd to change the name of the City ling, and Prelident at Dances and Debaucheries. of Rome, and have her called after his name Philoftratus in the third Book of his Pictures, re-Commodisms, and therefore in his Letters he prefents him young and fair, with a red face took the following titles, "Imperator Cafar Lu-by too much drinking, a lighted Flamboy in "cius Elius Aurelius Commodus Augustus, Pius, his hand, which he holds down to the very "Felix, Sarmaticus, Germanicus, Maximus, Bri- ground, and feems to burn his Legs with it. "tamicus, Pacestor orbis terrarum Invictus, Romanus He is crowned with Garlands of Flowers, a-

"XVIII. Imperator VIII. Corful VII. Pater CONCORDIA. Concord: a Divinia "Pairie : Confulibus, Pretoribus, Tribunis Plebis ty much respected among the Romans, Tiberius dedicated her a Temple in Rome, which he COMPITALIA. The Feast's institute built by order of Livia his Mother. On the ted by Serving, which were commonly kent in Coin or the Medals of the Emperors, there is the January, the day before the Ides (which is the figure of Concord, holding up a Cupwith one twelfth day of the month) and in May the fixth hand, and the Cornucopia, or Horn of Plenty with day before the Nones (which is the second day the other, to shew that plenty of all things ataccording to the old Roman Calendar.) This tends a State, where the People live in good word Compitalia, comes a tempital, for at fuch correspondency and concord. She is also redays in all the crofs ways both of the Town prefented by two Images holding one another and Country they offered Sacrifices to the Gods by the right hand. On the Medals of Mire-Larer, which were certain Damons, or Dome-Anthony, we see Concord under the Emblem flick Gods, protectors or keepers of the family of two Serpents ty'd below, and railing up in lies. Macrobius tells us in his Saturnalia, that the figure of a Bow, to compass an Altar, on they Sacrificed formerly young children to these which lies the head of Augustus, to represent the Larer and Mania their mother, for the conferva- concord of the Triumvire. On the Medals tion of the whole family. But Brutus, having of Cafar Augustus, Concord holds with one expelled the Kings out of Rome, interpreted hand the Horn of Plenty, and with the other otherwise this Oracle of Apollo, ordering that she presents some Fruits to Lepidus, Anthony, instead of the heads demanded by the Oracle, and young Cefar Trium-virs, with this Motto. they should take Poppy's heads, and in this Salus Gener's Humani. The Crow was particufense he would have the Oracle to be inter-larly confecrated to Concord, as Ælianus preted. And the fame Author tells us, that relates, for he tells us, that it was the cufforn inflead of children, that were before immola-lamong the ancient Remain, when they courried ted to these Gods, they made efficies of men to call upon the Crow; that is to say, the Conand women with firaw, which they did offer cord that should be between married People. in Sacrifice, with fome round woollen Policianus in his Milcellaneous Works confirms balls, for so many slaves as there was in the fa- this opinion, and tell us, that he has a Medal mily : as Feftus reports, " Quibus tot pile, quot of the young Fauftina, Marcus Amelius's Daughcapita fervorum ; tot effgies, quot effent liberi, po- ter, on the reverse whereof was reprefented a mbaniur, ut vivis parterent, & effint his pilis Crow, the Symbol of Concord, with the worl

the Confarreation was observed in certain Mar- on their shoulders along the Holy Street, as far riages, by eating together a Cake of Wheat, as the Old Market-place, (where Magistrates Tacitus tells us, "It was the custom to Name us'd to relign their Offices) attended with "three Perions of a Patrician Family, whose mournful Songs, and the noise of Instruments. "Fathers had observed in their Marriages the Afterwards they carried him out of the Town "ceremony of the Confarreation, but that into the Field of Mars, where was a Funeral " cannot be practiced now, because this Cere- Pile, dres'd and prepared with sweet Perfumes. mony was neglected, or is too hard to be pract- The outlide of the Funeral Pile was adorn'd "ifed, or rather out of the little care they took with Joiners Work, and rich Stuffs embroider-" of things belonging to Religion, or in fine, ed with Gold, with Ivory Statues and feveral "because Priests and their Wives had a right Pictures. This sumpruous Monument was di-"to be emancipated from the Paternal Au- vided in three Stories, and the Corps was laid " thority, in confequence of that Dignity.

Money, which the Roman Emperors distributed Honour of the Dead. And after the Games from time to time among the People, and this were over, the Successor to the Empire, hold-Liberality was called among the Latins Congisti- ing in his Hand a burning Torch, fet the Faum ; but the largeffes that the Emperors bestow- neral Pile on fire, and immediately after an ed among the Soldiers were called Donativum. Eagle was feen flying up from the top of it, in Tacitus speaking of young Cafar tells us, that he the middle of the Fire and Smoak; This Eagle gave the Congiarium to the People, and the Do- carried away the Soul of the Dead into the nat. wam to the Soldiers, Congiarium populo, Dona- | company of the Immortal Gods (as they though) tivum Militibus dedit. During his Reign he be- and then presently they worshipped him, eredflowed often this Liberality upon the People, ed Altars to his Honour, and ordained Priests and gave them thirty little Sefferces to each of and Sacrifices for him at Rome, and the other them, fometimes 40, and fometimes 150, as Cities of the Empire. Seneca makes a pleasant 'tis recorded by Suetonius. Children were not | Jest upon the Apotheosis or Deisscation of Clarexcluded of this Liberality in the Reign of Au- dius, which deserves to be the Readers curiofity. gustus, though before that time, Children that were not above twelve Years old, had no share C U M. The consecration of the Roman Pontiffs, in it.

ing fix Sextaries, the Sextary two Hemines, and They let him down into a hole, drefied in the Hemine nine Ounces, and was about his Priestly habit, and covered the hole with our Gallon.

nifies Duft. There was some dust kept in this ther Ministers attending the Sacrifices, brought place for the Wrestlers, who were used to upon the plank a Bull adorned with Garforead fome upon one another, that they might lands of Flowers, and having thrust the take a better hold upon the anointed Bodies of Knife into his Throat, his blood was their fellow-wrestlers.

the Roman Emperors by the Senate and the Peo- did rub his Eyes , Nofe, Ears , and his Tonger ple after the Emperor was dead. These are the litself with it. After this ceremony, they took Ceremonies observed at this Consecration or Deification, at they are related by Herodianus.

The Emperour being dead, the whole City fad and mornful was complaining of her lofs. him to his House, where was a great Feet They fet a waxen Statue of the Emperor upon ready for them, the description whereof we a Bed of State, at the entry of the Imperial have from Macrob. Palace; The Senators were at the left hand drefs'd in Mourning Cloaths, and on the Right | Summus Sacerdos nempe fub terram ferobe flood the Roman Ladies dress'd in whiteCloaths, beening all a fad and mournful filence for feven | Mire infulatus festa viteis tempora Day together. During that time, the Phylici- Neffens, corona tum repexus aurea, ans came from time to time to feel the Pulse of | Cin.tu Gabinio Series fultus rega : the Patient, faying that his Illness was worse Tatulis superne firata texune pulpita, and worfe. The feventh day being expired, Rimels rari pigmatis compagibus, they published his Death, and all things being | Scinaust Subin to vel terebrant aream, prepared for his Obfequies, the chief among crebroone lignom perforant acument.

CONFARREATIO, the Ceremony of the Knights and Senators carried the Bed upin the middle one; then they began the Horse-CONGIARIUM, a certain Sum of Race, and the Fights of the Gladiators in

CONSECRATIO PONTIFI. Prudentius relates in what manner the highest CONGIUS, a kind of Measure contain- Priest was consecrated among the Pagent. a plank bored through in many places; then CONISTERIUM, zores in Greek fig- the Vidimarius, or the Butcher-prieft, and the ofhed, poured upon the plank, and dropt down CONSECRATIO, a Confecration of through the holes of it upon the Pont ff, who him out of the hole allover bloody, and faluted him with these words . Salve Pontifex Maximi and having changed his cloaths, conducted

Acia in profundum confectandus mereitur.

Pateat minutis ut frequent hiatibut : Huctaurus ingens fronte torva & hispida Satis revinitus aut per armos floreis. Aut impeditus cornibus, deducitur : Hicut flatuta eft immolanda bellua. Pidus facrato dividunt venabalo. Erustat amplum vulnus undam fauguinis Ferventis, inque texta pontis subditi Fendit vaporum flumen & late afinat. Tam per frequences mille rimarum vias Maplus imber tabidum rorem pluit, Defoffus inthe quem Jacerdos excipit Guttas ad omnes, flurpe fubjettam caput, Et wefte & omni putrefactus corpore ; Qui nos Supinat, obvias offert genas, Supponit aures, labra, nares objicit, Oculos & iplos proluit liquoribus, Nec jam palato parcit, & linguam rigat ; Pollquam cadaver fanguine egefto rigens Compage ab illa Flamines retraxerint. Procedit inde Pontifex vifu herridus, Oftentat udum verticem, barbam gravem, Omnes falutant atque adorant en i ik;.

CONSENTES DIJ. They were Gods which the Heathens thought Members of the Councils of the Gods, and principally of Jupiter St August lib. 4. de civit. Dei, cap. 23.

CONSTANTINUS, firnamed MAGwince. He was instructed in the Christian Religion, and baptized by Silvester Bishop of Rome. He gave liberty to the Christians, built many Churches, and endowed them very richly. He gave to Pope Silveft r and his Succeffors the City of Rome to be their own, with all the Imperial Badges, after he had transferred the Sear of the Empire to Conftantinople, called the New Rome He died in the fixty fixth year of his Age, and the 31st of his Reign.

CONSUALIA. Feafts inflituted by Romalus, according to Livy, when he stole the Sabine Virgins: for he had found an Altar under ground, favs Plutarch, dedicated to God Confus, or the God of Counfel; and this Altar was always kept covered till the Feast of Confuslis, when they had Horse-races in Neptune's Honour

CONSUL, a Soveraign Roman Magifirate, that was created upon this occasion. Lucretia, Collatinus his wife, having been ravished in a country house by the fon of Tarquinius Superbus in the absence of her husband, came to Rome, and caft herfelf at the feet of Spurius uius: and withal told them," 'Tis for you to revenge your honour, for mine shall be wash'd presently with my own blood, which " I will shed pure to the Gods. After she had spoken these words, she thrust a Dagger into her breaft, and expired in the prefence of the whole affembly. This tragick death exasperated the people, and encouraged them to attempt the recovery of their liberty, and to shake off the Royal Anthority. Wherefore they establish'd a kind of Government mixt of Aristocracy and Democracy: the people choic every year two Magistrates, whom they call'd Confuls, because they took care of their Country, and gave counsel to their Country-men. They enter'd upon this publick office the thirteenth day of December. Their garments were enrich'd with Purple, like those of the Kings : and were attended like them with Littors or Serjeants, who carried bundles of Rods or Axes; they owned no Superiours but the Gods and the Laws; but when the time of their Magiftracy was expired, they were liable to be impeached before the people, and to give an account of their administration. The Senate was the Councel of Confuls, and judg'd of all forts of affairs, but without prejudice to the right of appealing to the people.

The first Authors of the Roman Liberty, viz. NUS. Confianting the Great, Son to Confianti- Lucius Junius Brutus, and Lucius Tarquinius Collatiwand Helena. He defeated Maxentius the Ty-1 nus, were created Confuls in the year of the rant with the standard of the cross, the fign creation of the world 3545, Julian Period 4205, whereof appeared to him in the air, with these before the birth of our Saviour 509, and from words written upon it, er Touravina, in hoc the foundation of Rome 244. Tarquinius Collatinus was put out of his Office before the year of his Confulship was expired. Brutus forc'd him to leave it off, because he was of the Tarquinian Family, and Publius Valerius was chosen in his room to fulfil his time.

The Confuls were chosen every year in the Field of Mars, by the Roman people affembled by hundreds. In the first times of the Commonwealth, no man could pretend to this dignity, but fuch as were of the Patrician Family, viz. Noblemen: but afterwards the people obtained that one of the Confuls should be taken out from among them, and Sextius was the first Consul chosen out of the people, notwithflanding the opposition of the Nobility, as it is related by Livy. Comitia Confulum adversa nobilitate babita, quibus L. Sextius de plebe primus Conful fastus eft, in the year 388. Plinius Junii tells us, that Lining Stole who had been Tribune with Sextius, was the first Conful taken out of the people; but all other Authors are of a contrary opinion.

This Magistrate wore a Gown edged with purple; he had the priviledge of fitting upon Lucretius her father, and entreated him to call the Sella Cirulis, or a chair of State made of his friends, before whom the plainly related Ivory, carrying in his hand a Royal Staff of how the had been abused by the son of Tarqui- I yory, called Scipio Eberneus, with an Eagle at the top of it, as a Badge of his dignity and to Jupiter, Comfulibut, que die Magifiratus iniers, power. Twelve Mace-bearers went before immedamibut fingulis Jovi bevoem, at foltr. The him for a months time, (for the Confuls had Sacrifice being over, they came down to the agreed among themselves, that the Twelve Senate with the same attendance, where, in Mace-bearers should go only before one of the time of the Emperors, they gave thanks to them, lest they should fright the people) the Emperor, and took the Oath of Allegi-which time being expired, there should be ance; and few days after thanked the people then but a Sergeant walking before him, from the place appointed for publick Speeches. and the Mace-bearers should follow him, car- This ceremony ended with a largess of Money rying neither bundles of Rods nor Axes, as or Provisions, which they bestowed upon the Suctonius relates, Antiquum retulit morem, ut que people, and fent some presents to their Friends. menel false om baherna. Accessia and cau introduce possession of the medical description of the medical description of the medical description of the medical description of the Conful was only practiced when the Conful were both at Rome: he Emperors Zena and Leo, forbad these for in the Provinces each of them kept the badges of his Power.

three Years of Age, which was called Tempus people with Shews, Fights of Gladiators, Wild legitimum; but this was not always observed, Beafts, and other Spectacles, of which the Ra-Years old when he was cholen; Schin Afri- After they had drawn Lots about the Pro-Years old when he was chosen; Scipio Africames was chosen at four and twenty, as also vinces where they should govern, or that the were forty three Years old.

Besides, it was requisite he should have exercifed other Offices, as that of Quafter, Ædilis, and Preter, which was no better observed than the prosperity of the Armies of the Commonthe first required condition, for Pompey had ne- wealth, then went out by the Gate through ver had been a Questor nor Preter, when he ob- which they were to repair to their respective tained the Confulship.

fubfided; as it appears by these words of the their going away, the Commonwealth fur Law of the twelve Tables, REGIO IMPERIO nished them with all things necessary for their Law of the twelve Tables, REGIO IMPERIO DUO SUNTO : 11QUE PRÆEUNDO, JUDICAN- Journey, Houshold-goods, Furnitures, Cook, DO, CONSULENDO, PRÆTORES, JUDICES, Gre. Augustus paid them a Summ of Money, to CONSULES APPELLANTOR; MILITIAE SUM- furnish themselves with all these things. They MUM JUS HABENTO: NIMINI PARENTO. This were not allowed to leave their Province. gives them a Royal Power, as Tally calls it in nor the command of the Armies, without the third Book of the Laws; viz. a supream an express order from the Senate, neither be ta petefras, an infinite and unlimited Power.

But this authority was much lessened under the Emperors, who took upon them felves the whole Soveraign Power, leaving only to the Consulatu, jurafit te nibil contra leger feciffe, in Confuls the badges of their dignity, and the the younger Pluy to Emperor Trajan. power of calling the Senate, and administring justice to private men.

In the last times of the Commonwealth, and under the Emperors, they entered upon was annual, except in case of death or some their Magistracy the first day of January, beginning with it the year, which was called af- Cincinnatus being Dictator, forced Lucius Mine ter their name. The Senate in a Body, and tiss then Conful, to quit his office, becausebe the people, came very early to their Houses to did not prevent the Enemies from belieging warten them, then accompanied them to the him in his Camp. Capital. Spartianus calls that ceremony Officium novorum Confulum, & Auspiciis intereffe, because being arrived at the Capital, they took decessor was to enjoy it; and sometimes there the Augure, and each of them facrificed an Ox was none chosen to fill up his place; for when should pay a certain summ for the repairing of A Conful was commonly chosen, at Forty the Aqueducts. They used also to entertain the Marius, Pompey and Augustus, all before they Senate and the people had appointed them without drawing Lots, (which was fometimes practiced) they went to the Capitol to make their vows and prayers, nuncupabat vota, for Provinces, having put on their Armour, and Their Authority and Power was of a very attended by their Mace-bearers, and other great extent, fo long as the Commonwealth Officers likewise with their Armoury on. At Authority above all the other Magistrates : fa- fore their Successors were arrived there. At frigium dignitatum, fays Lovy, and the same Au- their return they made a Speech to the pasthor calls also their Power Immoderate & Infini- ple , which ended by a protestation that they had done nothing, neither against the Laws nor the good of the Commonwealth in all the time of their administration. It aque abitum

CONSUL ATUS, The Confulfhip, the office or dignity of a Conful. During the time of the Commonwealth, the Confulfhin misdemeanour of the Conful; for Quintin

He who fucceeded the deposed Conful, continued no longer in it, than the time his PreCima was killed, Carbo his Colleague ferved | chofe every year two Soveraign Magistrates, the Confederates.

of the Confulship was not fixed, it lasted often | ple like Kings, and had Serjeants as well as but two or three months, and fometimes lon- they, or Mace-bearers, carrying bundles of ger. Dion tells us, that Julius Caefar made this Rods with an Ax bound up in the midft of alteration in the year DCCVIII. of the foundation of Rome: for having quitted his Confulfhip before his year was out, to finish what remained of it, he created Q. Fabius and C. Trebenius; and the first of them being dead the last day of his Consulship, he put in his room Caminius for the remainder of that day : and this gave occasion to Tully, to say of him in a joking way, "that he had fhown fo great a vigi-"lancy in his Confulfhip, that he never flept "all the while he was Conful.

Augustus followed the example of his Predeceffor, that he might gratify many people, as Suetonius fays in his life; for of his fix Confulfhips, fome lasted nine months, some six, fome others four or three months. Tiberius and Claudius shortened yet this time, and the Emperor Commodus made five and twenty Confuls in one year.

Yer, to keep fomething of the antient cufrom, they chose always a Conful at the Caends of January, and the year was called after his name. He was called Conful ordinarius, the others were called Suffecti. This explains us what Suetonius fays in the life of Domitianus, In fex Confulatious unum ordinarium tantum geffit : and what Symmachus fays, Delatus eft a clementissimis Principibus ordinarius consulatus, he was made Conful the first of January.

Confianting the Great restored the antient custom, and ordered that the Consulship should be for a whole year, making yet some titular Confuls, as Julius Cefar had done, ac- tia. cording to Suctonius.

Caffiedorus relates a formular made use of by the Emperors in conferring the dignity of a Conful, which may be feen lib. 6. Ep. 21.

A Catalogue of the Roman Confuls.

And an Abridgment of all the memorable deeds, that were transacted during their respective Consulate.

He Romans having driven away Terquinius Superbus, refolved never to fuffer any more the Government of Kings, and established a kind of Government mixt of Calendars of the Capital record two Con-

out his time; as also Sextus Cefar in the room | called Confuls, because they bestowed their of Rutilius his Colleague, killed in the War of Counsels and care upon their Country. Their authority was equal, and had no other limits, Under the Reign of the Emperors the time but the time. They were cloathed with purthem, owning no Superiours but the Gods and the Laws. The Senate was the Council of the Confuls, and judged of all forts of affairs; but there was appeal from them to the people. They had also other Judges and inferiour Magistrates, of whom we shall speak in the fequel of this Book. This change happened in the year of the creation of the world 3545. of the foundation of Rome 244. and before the birth of our Saviour 509.

The first Confuls were the Authors of the publick liberty, viz. LUCIUS JUNIUS BRUTUS, and LUCIUS TARQUINIUS COLLATINUS ; This last was not only forced to quit his Confulship, but also to go out of Rome, because his name was the same with that of the banished Tarquinius, and PUBLIUS VALERIUS was chosen Consul in his room, to make an end of the year.

Brutus having called the people together, and caused them to take an Oath, that they should never submit themselves to the Royal Authority; afterwards he increased the Senate with three hundred new Senators, and was killed at the head of the Horse, fighting against Aruns Tarquinius his Son. The Ladies mourned a whole year for him, because they lookt upon him as the Revenger of violated chastity in the person of Lucretia. Valerius chose for his colleague in the room of Brutus either Titus Lucretiut , as Livy fays , or Spurius Lucretius Tricipitinus Father to Lucre-

Anno Mundi 3547. Rome 246. M. HORATIUS PULVILLUS, P. VALERIUS. Horatius dedicated the Temple of Jupiter Capitolinus, which Tarquinius had built: he fignalized his courage at the Siege that Perfemma King of Tufcany had laid before Rome; who having feized upon Janiculum Castle attacked the Sublician Bridge which had a communication with the Town, and had almost got possession of it, but Horstius alone made head against the Enemies at the entry of the Bridge, whilft his own men were cutting it down behind him, and then threw himfelf down into the Tiber, and got fafe into the Town, having received no wounds in the very midft of the Darts his Enemies flung at him.

A. M. 3548. R. 247. M. VALER VOLUSIUS. PUBLIUS POSTHUMIUS TUBERTUS. The Ariflocracy and Democracy; the people fuls after these; viz. Spur. Largins Flavon or Rulerius: Cassindorus. P. Valerius. Plutarch agrees The Consuls besieged Fidenas, and proclaimed with Livy, and adds the Sirname of Tubertus was against the Latins, who had sided with all to that of Posthumius, which Livy doth not men- the Enemies of Rome. tion. These two Consuls got two great Victories over the Sabines, for which they obtain'd T. or LAERTIUS FLAVUS. The Latins hathe Honour of publick Triumph.

licola. Titus Lucretius Plutarch records this Dictator, to relift them. The Armies did en-Confulfhip as the fourth of Valerius, and counter near Lake Regillus, where there was a Dionysius Halicarnasseus puts M. Horatius in the bloody and obstinate Fight, and it was reported room of Iucretius. During this Confulfhip, that Cafter and Pollux had fought for the Re-Appius Clausus a Sabine, who was afterwards mans under the shape of two young Horsemen, named Claudius, came to shelter himself at Rome, and that they had themselves brought to Rome with those of his Party to the number of five the news of the Victory obtained by the Rathousand : He was received in the Senate, man. The Senate ordered the honour of Triwhere he took a place as Senator, and the free- umph to the Dictator. dom of Citizens was bestowed upon the other Men that came along with him, with two A- NIUS ATTRATINUS, M. MINUTIUS cres of Ground to each of them, upon the AUGURINUS. They dedicated the Temple Banks of Anio.

A. M. 3551. R. 250. MENENIUS AGRIP-PA LANATUS, PUBLIUS POSTHUMIUS quinius and Manilius engaged feventeen Com-TUBERTUS. Valerius Publicola died in the beginning of the following Year, crowned with Glory and Bleffings; the Roman Ladies mourned for him as they did for the death of Brutus. The Sabines made an Irruption into the Roman Territories, Posthumius the Consul made headfagainst them ; but they forc'd him to retire to a difadvantageous place, where they NUS. This Year was very fortunate to the besteg'd him; yet Agrippa's Colleague got him Commonwealth. The Latint, weakned by many off, and vanquish'd the Sabines. The great ny frequent losses, banished out of their Country Tarquinius Superbus, being then fourfcore and try Tarquinius Superbus, being then fourfcore and called Ovatio to Posthamius.

A. M. 3552. R 251. VIRGINIUS OPIthey had committed in the Reman Country.

dorus reckons two Years less; but this supputa- to bring them to an Agreement, appointed tion agrees with Eutropius. Upon the rumour the People to decide their Quarrel, who be that Manilius, Tarquinius's Son-in-law, was mak- flowed that honour upon M. Lefforius a private ing a powerful League against the Romans to ancient Centurion. restore Tarquinius, the Senate re-united the authority of the Confuls, in the person of one Magistrate whom they created, and called him VETURIUS GEMINUS. The Sedition raisd Diffator. He had power of life and death over by the indebted persons was renew'd, and bethe Romans, and had four and twenty Li - came fo firong, that a Dictator was created to ctors walking before him. The first that quell it. Upon the rumor of this domestick, was honour'd with this Office, was T. Largius. diforder, the Sabini, the Equi, and the Volca during which all things were quiet.

18. and T. Heremin Aguilinu: and instead A. M. 3555. R. 254. T. ABUTIUS HELof Marcus, the Roman Calendars record T. Va. LUA, C. or L. or P. VETURIUS GEMINUS.

A. M. 3556. R. 255. CLELIUS SICULUS. ving made a Confederacy with the people cal-A. M. 3559. R. 249. Publius Valerius, Pub- led Volca, the Romans made Aulus Postbumius

> A. M. 3557. R. 256. AULUS SEMPROof Saturn, and instituted the Feasts called Saturnalia for the 17th day of December. Tatmonalties of the Latins against Rome.

A. M. 3558. R. 257. AULUS POSTHU. MIUS ALBUS REGILLENSIS, T. VIRGI-NIUS TRICOSTUS. A War was proclaimed against the Volce.

A. M. 3559. R. 258. APPIUS CLAUDI-IIS SABICUS, M. or P. SERVILIUS PRISten years old, as being the author of their Miffortunes. This unfortunate Prince retired to TER TRICOSTUS, SPUR. CASSIUS VI- Cume at the Court of Arifodemus, where he CELLINUS. These Confuls defeated the Arun- died few days after. All the Roman people tions, and cut off the Head of all their Ge- were reduced to thirty one Tribes. The Sanerals, after they had led them in Triumph. biner renewed the War. The Senate created a The Lands of the Aruntans were destributed to Dictator to maintain it, viz. Aulus Posthumim the People, to punish them for the plunder A Company of Merchants was fettled at Reme, and the Temple of Mercurius their Patron was A. M. 3553. R. 252. POSTHUMIUS CA- dedicated. The Honour of this Dedication MINUS ARUNCUS, T. LAERTIUS. Caffer was contested by the two Consuls, the Senate

A. M. 3560. R. 259. AUL. or C. VIRGINI-US COELIMONTANUS, T. VETUSIUS was nonour a with this Since, was a company untorter, the South, the Englis and the Field A. M. 3554. R. 253. SERVIUS SUPPTI-US, M. TULLUS or TULLIUS LONGUS. and as the Confuls would raife Forces to march. There was nothing considerable done this year, gainst their Enemies, the People refus'd to lift themselves, and retir'd in a body upon the

which was the greatest Army that ever Rome giving over the facking of Rome. had on foot, and defeated the Volca.

VICELLÍNUS, POSTHUMIUS CAMINUS LINUS. The Calendars of the Capitol reckon ARUNCUS. The people in a mutiny against two Consuls before these, and mention Q. P. the Senate, went out of Rome, and incamped Sulpitius Camerinus, Spurius Largius or Laertius Flain a tumultuous manner upon the facred vus: C. Julius Julus, and P. Pinarius Mamertinus. Mountain, four Miles from Rome: Minemius for the years of the World 3565 and 3566. Agrippa, a very eloquent man, went to the fa- A. M. 3567. R. 266. T. SICCINIUS ABIcred Mountain, where he represented to the NUS, C. AQUILIUS TUSCUS. The first people, that the whole Commonwealth was Conful made war against the Volce, but got no but one Body, whereof the Senate was the great advantage over them, fays Livy, tho' Di-Head and the Stomach, which alone feem'd to onyfius Halicarnaffeus affirms that he throughly defivallow down all that the firength and the skill feated them; the Roman Cavalry having fought of the other parts could get, but that it was on foot at the head of the Infantry. Siccinius only in order to destribute the same to all the obtained the great Triumph, and Aquilius the rest of the Body, to nouish and strengthen Ovation for the advantages obtained over it : but if the Members should cease to afford the Heruici. the usual aliments, they would shortly be de- A. M. 3568. R. 267. SPURIUS CASSIUS prived themselves of strength, heat, and life it VICELLINUS, PROCULUS VIRGINIUS felf. The People having hearkened to this just TRICOSTUS. Castian propos'd the derarioncomparison, yielded to the proposals of agree- Law, which was the cause of a World of Diviment that were made to him, whereof the fions at Rome. This Law ordered that all the chiefest was, that popular Magistrates should Lands gain'd from the Enemies, should be be created, who were called Tribunes of the Peo- divided among the People; but it was rejectple, and that they should be facred and invio- ed. The Roman Civil Law mentions two Agralable. They had power to oppose themselves rian Laws, one made by Julius Casar, the other to the deliberation of the Senare, and the orders by the Emperor Nerva; but they concern the of the Confuls. Nothing could be concluded limits of the Lands, and have no regard to the without their confent, which they notified by Divisions thereof. putting a T below the order; and on the contrary, when they opposed themselves to it, LIUS MALLUGINENSIS or COSSUS, Q. they did write this word l'eto. Their power FABIUS VIBULLANUS. The Quaftors Fais more fully described under the word Tri- bius Cafe and Lucius Valerius fued Cassius, and im-

in Sicily.

unequal distribution of the Corn that was a Statue in the Temple of Geres. brought to Rome. C. Marfus fignamed Coriola- A. M. 3570, R. 269. CÆSO FABIUS, L. that were fent to him, nor hearken to the ad- lated it himself in the ninth.

Mounts Esquilinus and Aventinus. The Soldiers vice of the Pontiffs; but only was prevailed likewise refus'd to take the Oath: Upon this with by the Prayers of Veturia his Mother, and the Senate was forc'd to create M. Valerius Dicta- Volumnia his Wife. Wherefore he brought tor. Publicola his Brother, who pacified all the Volce again into their Country; but a while things, being extreamly lov'd by the People after they put him to death, because he had and Souldiers; he rais'd ten compleat Legions, betray'd them, in quitting their Conquests, and

A. M. 3564. R. 263. SPUR. NAUTIUS A. M. 3:61. R. 260. SPURIUS CASSIUS RUTILIUS, SEXTUS FURIUS MEDUL-

A. M. 3569. R. 268. SERGIUS CORNEpeach'd him for high Treason; which was pro-A. M. 3562. R. 261. T. GEGANIUS MA- ved against him, and he was thrown headlong CERINUS. P. MINUCIUS AUGURINUS. from the Tarpeian Rock at the end of his Con-Rome was afflicted with great Dearth, which fulfhip: Some were for punishing his Crime grew still more raging by the injustice of Ari- even in the persons of his Children, but they flodemus, Tyrant of Cuma, who feiz'd upon the could not carry it; and this moderation passed Corn that the Roman Magistrates had bought afterwards for a Law at Rome, that the Crimes of the Fathers should not be punish'd in the A. M. 3563. R. 262. M. MINUTIUS AU- persons of their Children, till the time of the GURINUS. AULUS SEMPRONIUS AT- Wars of Sylla and Marius. The Estate of Cassius TRATINUS. The People grumbled at the was forfeited, and applied to the fetting up a mus from the taking of Corieli, endeavouring to ÆMILLIUS MAMERCUS. Caffodorus desuppress the murmuring and complaining of notes by a K. what Livy expresses by a C. C.eso. the people, was banished out of Rome. Coriola- The Temple of Castor and Pollux was dedicated, nur retired into the Country of the Files, and which had been devoted after the Battle on the made war against his own Country, which he Lake of Regillus. Lroy tells us, that fome Aubrought very near to its raine. He would thors before his time, affirmed that this Battle neither be perfivaded by the Anbaffadours was fought in the tenth Confulfhip, the' he re-

A M. 1571. R. 270. M.FABIUS VIBULLA- [were driven out of the Janiculum, and by thefe NUSLVALERIUS POTITUS VOLUTIUS. means the people of Rome were eated of the The Vestal Oppie was buried alive, being con- want of Provisions, they had suffered by reason victed of Incontinency. The War of the Vol- of their troublesome Neighbourhood. The ce, obliged the Confuls to raife Forces, but Tribunes of the people renewed their inftances the Tribunes of the people opposed them : 10 obrain the Agrarian Law. Menenius resisted whereupon by an order of the Senate, the I- them, but they impeached him of Mildemeavory chair of the Confuls were carried out nour in his Office, whereupon he was fined of the Town, where they lifted Souldiers, twenty Crowns, but he was fo fenfibly conconfiscating the Estates of the Citizens who cerned at this affront put upon him, that he refused to obey. The Tribunes alledged the died a while after with grief. Laws agreed upon on the Sacred Mountain, A. M. 3579. R. 278. L. or C. NAUTIUS but it was to no purpose, for by the very RUTILIUS, P. VALERIUS PUBLICOLA. fame Laws their power had no further extent The Tribunes, encouraged by the misfortune of than the compais of the Walls of Rome, fo that Menenius, attempted to impeach Servilius at the their Vete was of no offect.

A. M. 3572. R. 271. Q. FABIUS VIBUL-LANUS, C. JULIUS JULUS. The War against the Valca was carried on. The Veientes made incursions into the Campania of Rome. A. M. 3573. R. 272. K. FABIUS VIBUL-

SUS. This year Xeixer went into Greece, ac- of the Ovation. An account of the people was cording to what Dienysius Halicarnasseus relates, taken, and Rame had a hundred and three thoubut Dierus Siculus reports, that it was under the Confulfhip of Spurius Caffius, and Proculus Virginius Tricofeus, which was the 24th Confulthip; and according to his supputation the PISCUS, or C. JULIUS JULUS. The 201last year of the seventy third Olympiad. A. M. 3574, R. 273. M. FABIUS VIBUL-

LANUS, CNEUS MANLIUS CINCINNA-TUS. The War of the Volce, the Veientes, and demned, had not the Senate ordered Genutin the Equi, became more dangerous by the to be stabb'd in the night in his own house. conjunction of the Tascans. The Consuls to op- The people highly resented this affair pole them joined both their Armies : they engaged them, and got the victory, but with a Volero Tribune in the room of Genutius. considerable loss; wherefore the Consuls refused the Triumph, that the Senate had ordered them, being too fenfibly moved for the lofs the Commonwealth had fuffered, to be to procure a Law to be made, for the election delirous of the glory of a Triumph.

TILUS. This year the Fabian Family alone fo that the Law did not pass. made War against the Veientes under the command of Gafo. MERCUS, C. or Q. SERVILIUS STRUCTUS Lectorius, according to Dionylius Halycarnaffras, AHALA. The Fabians continued the War 2- accused Claudius as a most violent man against gainst the Veientes, while the Romans were engag ed with the Tuscans .

US PULVILLUS, T. MENENIUS LANA- people by Tribes; but Pife got three Tribune TUS. The Veientes having drawn the Fabians to be added to the two former. into an Ambuscado, gave them such an A.M. 384. R. 283. L. or T. VALERIUS overthrow, that of all that numerous Family POTITUS, T. ÆMILIUS MAMERCUS. only a child of fourteen years of age, Sonto | The Tribunes accused Appins Claudius for despi-

SERVILLIUS STRUCTUS. The Veientes mined, and a while after he died of a sickness.

end of his Confulthip, but he cleared himfelf of their accusation.

A. M. 3580. R. 279. L. FURIUS ME-DULLINUS, C. . A. MANLIUS VOLSO. The Veientes bought a Truce of forty years. and parted upon that account with a great deal LANUS, SPUR. FURIUS FUSCUS or FU- of Gold and Corn. Manlius received the honor fand heads of Families

A. M. 3581. R. 280. L. ÆMILIUS MA-MERCUS, OPITER, VIRGINIUS, or VObunes renewed their accusations against the Patricians, and Genutius one of them impeached Monlius and Furius, and they had been confination, and rose in an open fedition, and made

A. M. 3582. R. 281. L. PINARIUS MA-MERTINUS, P. FURIUS FUSUS, or ME-DULLINUS. The new Tribune Volere endeavoured of the Tribunes of the people by the votes of the A. M. 377. A. 374 K. FABIUS VIBUL-IANUS, T. VIRGINIUS TRICOSTUS RU-there is the property file of the Pribases, whom they had got on their fide

A. M. 3583. R. 282. APPIUS CLAUDIUS SABINUS, T. QUINTIUS CAPITOLINUS. A. M. 3576. R. 275. L. ÆMILIUS MA- The Tribune Villorius according to Livy, or the Plebeians : and this accusation obliged the Senate to confent, that the election of the A M. 3577. R. 276. C. or M. HORATI- Tribunes should be made in the affembly of the

A. M. 3584. R. 283. L. or T. VALERIUS ing the Roman people, and abetring the mur-A. M. 3778. R. 277. AULUS VIRGINI-A. M. 3778. R. 277. SPURIUS RUTILIUS in the Affembly, where nothing was deterHis Obsequies were performed in the usualiUS GALLUS SEXTUS, SERVIUS SUL-Tribunes.

CUS. AULUS VIRGINIUS COELIMON-ling corrupted. TANUS. The Sabini and the Volca made an A. M. 3594. R. 293. APPIUS CLAUDI-irruption into the Roman Territories, but were US SABINUS, L. VALERIUS PUBLICOLA. repulsed with loss.

to meet him, and ordered him the triumph.

his dependencies thereof.

GILLENSIS. The Romans were in peace ments. both in Country and in Town, because of an numbred, who were found to be one hundred nineteen heads of Families. and twenty four thousand two hundred and A.M. 3596. R. 295. L. MINUTIUS AUwere not numbred.

flaughter on both fides.

thereof, with many other persons of note.

* SPURIUS VETURIUS CRASSUS. The appointed in his place. Tribune Tarentillus proposed the famous Law | A.M. 3597. R. 296. Q. or P. MINUTIUS jected, tho it was very acceptable to the peo- ballicus fays fix and thirty years.

manner, for persons of his rank, with a Fune- PITIUS CAMERINUS AVENTINUS. Rome ral Speech, in spight of the opposition of the was frighted by several prodigies, a Cowspoke, it rained Flesh, which was feen du-A. M. 3585. R.284, T. MINUTIUS PRIS- ring some days upon the ground without be-

Four thousand five hundred flaves got into a A. M. 3586. R. 285. T. or P. QUINTIUS Body, and took up Arms against the Romma CAPITOLINUS, Q. SERVILIUS PRISCUS. people. The Confuls would raife Forces to The Confuls chased the Sabini and the Volca, oppose them, but the Tribanes kept the people and Quintius took Actium, the Senate came out from lifting themselves, so that they were forced to have recourse to the Confederates. A. M. 1587. R. 286. T. ÆMILIUS MA- The Slaves chose for their General Appius Ar-MERCUS, Q. FABIUS VIBULLANUS. The donius, a Sabine by Birth, and under his comfirst obtained this Magistracy, being yet mand, they seized upon the Capitol, which but four and twenty years of age, because of they stored with Arms and Provisions. Vahis rare merit. He gave to the people the lerius the Conful came thither to attack them, Town of Adium with his Territory, and all but was killed. The Senate fent in his room Lucius Quintius Gincinnatus, Father to Cafe, who A. M. 1588. R. 287. Q. SERVILIUS PRIS- difarmed the flaves, and made a cruel exam-CUS SPUR. POSTHUMIUS ALBUS RE- ple of them, by the horror of their punish-both in Country and in Town, because of an A.M. 3595. R. 294. C. FABIUS VIBUL-Epidemical Difease that raged amongst LANUS, Q. L. CORNELIUS MALUGI-NENSIS. They made an end of the tenth A. M. 1589. R. 188. Q. FABIUS VIBUL- account of the people, which began the tore-LANUS, T. QUINTIUS CAPITOLIN US. going year, and found a million three hun-The City was purified, and the Citizens were dred thirty two thouland four hundred and tourteen heads of Families without the Or- GURINUS, L. or C. NAUTIUS RUTILI. phans, and those that had no Children, who US. The people called Equi forced the Conful Minutius to quit the Field, and belieg-A. M. 3590. R. 289. AULUS POSTHU-ed him in his Camp. The Senate in this fad MIUS ALBUS, SPURIUS FURIUS ME-conjuncture, durft not call back the other DULLINUS FUSCUS. The people called Conful Nautius from the Frontiers of the Sa-Equi fought Farius, routed his Army, wound bines, wherefore they made Dictator L. Quined him, and obliged him to retire upon a hill tius Cincimiatus, whom they took from ploughwith the rest of his Army, where they besieg- ing in a little Field, having lost the rest of ed him. T. Quintius Capitolinus chosen Pro- his Estate by the injustice of the peopleconful, came to the affiftance of the Conful, He chofe for General of the Horse a brave and brought him off, but there was a great man, oppressed like himself, called L. Tarquiniur. Thete two illustrious poor men A. M. 3591. R. 290. L. ÆBUTIUS HEL- raifed an Army in sixteen days, lead it against LUA, P. SERVILIUS PRISCUS. The the Enemies, whom they defeated, and plague raged at Rome, the two Confuls died brought the vanquished under the Yoke; they triumphed, and deposed Minutius from his A. M. 3592. R. 291, L. LUCRETIUS Confulfhip, and Q. Fabius, who had got fo TRICIPITINUS, T. VETURIUS GEMINUS, I much glory during his former Confulthip, was called by the name of the Author Tarentials, AUGURINUS, M. or C. HORATIUS PUL-This Law ordered the creation of five Magi- VILLUS. Ten Tribunes of the people were firstes, according to Livy, or ten according created instead of five. Livy fays, that this to Dionysius Hallicarnaffeur, to moderate the au- alteration was made two and thirty years thority of the Confuls; but this Law was re- after the creation of the first Tribunes; and Sa-

A. M. 3598. R. 297. L. or M. VALERIUS A.M. 3593. R. 292. P. or T. VOLUMNI- MAXIMUS, SPURIUS VIRGINIUS, COE-

fions kept the Roman at reft. Dionyline Halicar- quit their Office, and the Ancient Confulary maffeus mentions here a Sedition rais'd at Rome, Government should be restor'd : which was occasioned by a violent Plebrian called Lellins, perform'd, and the Mediators of the Peace whom a Lictor had us'd too roughly, were made Confuls. The Senate gave Mount Aventinus to any man that would build there, ('tis a Hill within the TITUS, M. HORATIUS BARBATUS. compais of Rome, containing about twelve Fur- prus and Oppins December killed themselves, to longs or fifteen hundred paces of Ground.)

TICANUS, C. VETURIUS CICURINUS & CIMINUS. The Tribunes renewed the Law

T.trentilla, but to no purpofe.

FONTINALIS. Romilius who was Conful the Triumph out of hatred, but he triumphed aforegoing year, was accused for having com- gainst their will. manded to a dangerous post the Tribune Siccius, and was fined for the same. A Law was made, US EXQUILINUS, T. VIRGINIUS COELIgiving leave to every Magistrate to impeach the MONTANUS TRICOSTUS. There was noother Magistrates, who should be convicted of thing considerable done this year against the having done any thing, either against the Law Enemies; only the Tribunes grew hot against or the Discipline. Three Deputies were sent the Patricians. into Greece, to fetch the Laws of Solon, and instruct themselves in the Customs of the Republick of Athens, and other most famous Com- things continued quiet within and without. monwealths of Greece. These Deputies were Posthumius Albus, Aulus Manlius, P. or Servius Sul-

RATIUS TERGEMINUS, SEXTUS QUIN- advance as far as the Efquilinian Gate, destroy-TILIUS VARUS or QUINTIUS. The ling all that they met in their way, but Confid Plague and the Famine raged fo much in the Quintius drove them back to their own Frontier, Town and in the Country, that the Conful Quintilius, three Tribunes, an Augure, and the RINUS, P. CURIATIUS, or C. FURIUS FL Prioft of Quirinus died of it.

A. M. 3602. R. 301. L or T. MENENIUS LANATUS, P. SEXTIUS CAPITOLINUS. The Deputies who were fent to Greece came back again and brought the Laws of Solon.

A. M. 3603. R. 302. APPIUS CLAUDIUS CRASSINUS, T. GENUTIUS AUGURI-NUS. Livy, Dionyfus Halicarnaffeus, Caffiodorus, and Sabellicus make no mention of these Con- free, and that the Plebeians should be admitted fuls, they are only recorded in the Calendars to the Military Trilunate, with the fame Auof the Capital. The People took a distaste of thority as the Consuls had. the Confulary Government; whereupon the Senate created ten Soveraign Magistrates called Decemviri to govern the Commonwealth, and to examine the Laws of Solon, which were called the Laws of the twelve Tables, because they were engraven upon twelve Tables of Brais. They were at first chosen out of the number of Patricians. Appins Claudens President of the Affembly, got himself to be one of the Decempiri. These new Magistrates exercised their Magistracy with all forts of violence and bunes were Patricians, and kept their Office but tyranny, during three years together, fays Caf- three Months, because the Auspices at their fodorus, or during two years, according to Sa- Election were found delective, whereupon they bellieus and Dionylins Halicarnaffeus : Whereupon made an imer-rex to prefide in the Affemblies, LIMONTANUS. A great dearth of Provi- Ito agree, that first of all, the December should

A. M. 3606. R. 305. L. VALERIUS POavoid the thame of their Condemnation; one A. M. 3599. R. 298. T. ROMILIUS VA. for being the cause of the death of Virginia. and the other for having order'd a Veteran Sol dier to be whipt beyond all measure, and without cause. The other Decemviri banish'd them-A. M. 3600. R. 199. SPURIUS TARPEI- selves. The Conful Horatius routed the Sabial US CAPITOLINUS, AULUS ATERINUS The Senate would deny him the honour of

A. M. 3607. R. 306. SP. or L. HERMINI-

A. M. 3608. R. 307. M. GEGANIUS MACERINUS, C. JULIUS JULUS. All A.M. 3609. R. 308. T. QUINTIUS CA-

PITOLÍNÚS, ÁGRIPPA FURIUS FU. SUS. The Polce and the Equi took opportuni-A. M. 3601. R. 300. P. CURIATIUS or HO- ty from the civil Divisions of the Romans, to A. M. 3610. R. 309. M. GEGANIUS AUGIL SUS, or C. QUINTIUS, or CURTIUS PHILO. Canuleius Tribune, of the People propos'd. that it might be lawful for the Patricians to Marry into Plebeian Familes, and that the people might chuse the Confuls out of the body of the Senate and their own. The Senate was forc's to pass this Law, but in ambiguous words: for it was order'd that Marriages should be

Military Tribunes.

With the Authority of Consuls.

NNO Mun 3611. R. 310. AULUS SEM-PRONIUS ATTRATINUS, L. ATTILL US. T. CECILIUS. These three The Valurius and Horatius prevailed upon the People in which they created two Confuls for the relanenlis, L. Sempronius Attratinus.

Chariot.

LANUS POSTHUMIUS OEBUTIUS HEL- Romulus. LUA CÓRNICEN. A Colony of Romans and A. M. 3619. R.318. M. PAPYRIUS or CORof Quintius were restored to the Ardeates.

bune Petilius propos'd the Agrarian Law, but to committed in his person by Servilius.

stributing Corn and Money amongst them.

CAPITOLINUS MENENIUS AGRIPPA A. M. 3621. R. 320. M. MANILIUS CAwas forc'd to name Military Tribunes. .

MILITARY TRIBUNES.

A.M. 3617. R. 316. ÆMILIUS MAMER-CUS, TITUS QUINTIUS Son to CINCIN-NATUS, L. JULIUS JULUS. The Town LANUS, M POLLIUS, L. SERGIUS FIDENAS. of Fidena rebelled, and delivered up-herfelf to The plague, and the fears of a Famine fethe Valce. The Senate fent some De; wies to cured the rranquility of the City. Fidens, to know the reason of such a sudden alteration; but the Fidenates killed the Depu- MERCUS, L. FURIUS MEDULLINUS ties; whereupon Confuls were created.

CONSULS.

CERINUS, L. SERGIUS, who was afterwards fince the third Confuship of C. Julius and L.

maining part of the Year; wir. Papyrius Mugil- called FIDENAS. The Conful Sergius won a Bartle over the Fidenates, the Volca and the Falifei A. M. 3612: R. 311. M. GEGANIUS MA- on the Bank of the River Anie; but the Ke-CERINUS, T. QUINTIUS CAPITOLINUS. | mans fuffer'd fo great a loss in this Engagement. The first Censors were created this year, who that they created Amilius Mamercus Dictator. were at first very little reputed, but afterwards who got the Victory over these three Nations, became the first Magistrates of Rome. The Con- after Cosis a Military Tribune kill'd Volumnius ful Geganiss affisted the Ardenes against the Volca, King of the Volca in fingle Combat. The whom he brought under their yoke, and Clavi- Dictator triumph'd, and Caffin obtained the hur General of the Volca followed his triumphal Ovation, or leffer Triumph, wherein he appear'd loaded with Spoils called Opima, the first A. M. 3613. R. 312. M. FABIUS VIBUL- that were feen in a Triumph fince the time of

Rutili was fent into Ardea, and the Lands that NELIUS MALUGINENSIS, L. PAPYRIwere conquer'd in the time of the Confulthip US CRASSUS. The Plague raged at Rome. and the people was fo frighted by feveral pro-A. M. 3614. R. 313. C. FURIUS PACILLUS. L. PAPYRIUS CRASSUS. The Tripeachment against Spurius Melius, nor the murther

A. M. 3620. R. 319. C. JULIUS JULUS. A. M. 3615. R. 314. PROCULUS GEGA- L. VIRGINIUS TRICOSTUS. The Plague NIUS MACERINUS, LUCIUS MENENI- was ftill violent, and gave an opportunity to US LANATUS. Rome was afflicted with Fa- the Fidenates and the Veientes to enter into the mine, and a very dangerous Sedition was fo- Roman Territories, and came as far as the Gare mented by Spurius Melius, an ambitious rich Man, called Colling, but the Dictator Aulus Sirvillus who bribed the favour of the People, by di-Struffus, or Prifeus drove them away, and purfued them to Fidena, which he belieged, and A. M. 3616. R. 315. TITUS QUINTIUS took it by force of Arms.

LANATUS. The Famine grew more raging PITOLINUS, Q. SULPITIUS COSSUS, or than the foregoing year, and gave an opportu- CAIUS IULIUS, L. VIRGINIUS nity to Melius to exercise his liberality, and ad- TRICOSTUS. The Vienter frighted by the vance his ambitious practices. Minutius Com-taking of Fidena, fent Deputies to the twelve missioner for the Provisions acquainted the Commonalties of Tustomy, to make themselves Senate with it, who created L. Quintius Cincin- fure of their affiftance against the Romans, who natus Dictator: He called Milius to answer for chose Emilius Mamercus Dictator for the second the fame, but being check'd by his Conscience, time. He ordered that the Censors should be he sled away. Servilius pursued him, and kill'd but one year and a half in their Office; The him in the place of the Assembly. The Tri- Censors, out of a revenge for this Order, taxed butes exasperated so highly the people, under Mamereus as soon as he had laid down the Office pretence of the death of Meliu, that the Senate of Dictator, the people grumbled at it, and would not approve of what the Cenfors had

TRIBUNES

A. 3622. R. 321. M. FABIUS VIBUL-

A. M. 3623. R. 322. L. PINARIUS MA-SPUR. POSTHUMIUS ALBUS. The most confiderable among the Plebeiant perfwaded the Tribunes to propose a Law, by which it should be forbidden to all men standing for offices to be drefs'd in white Gowns. Caffiodo-A. M. 3618, R. 317. M. GEGANIUS MA- rut mentions nothing of what was transacted Magistrate till the following Consulship.

CONSULS.

MENTO. The Volce and the Veienter having joyned their Forces together, obliged the Veil. poynes their some for Dichard Pollumin Tuberius, A. M. 3631. R. 330. C. CLAUDIUS Remain to name for Dichard Pollumin Tuberius, Camp CRASSUS, SPUR. NAUTTUS, SERGIUS, who defeated the Enemies, took their Gamp who deseated the carried in his triumph. BUTILIUS FIDENAS, SERTUS JULIUS and foolis, which he carried in his triumph. The Conful Julius delicated the Temple of TUILIUS or JULIUS. There was magnif.

A. M. 3625. R. 324 L. PAPYRIUS CRAS-SUS, L. JULIUS JULUS. The people called Aqui defined to enter into alliance with the Runan people, but they were denied. The Senate prevented the Tribunes of the people in the delign they had to demand the releafe of Fines, for they released them to get the affection of the people, without being asked for by the Tribunes.

A. N. 3626. R. 325. L. SERGIUS FI-DENAS, HOSTILIUS LUCRETIUS TRI-CIPITINUS. There was nothing worth ob-

fervation granfacted this year. A. M. 3627. R. 326. AULUS SORNE-LIUS COSSUS. T. QUINTINUS POENUS CINCINNATUS. An extream dry weather occasioned a fort of itch in Rome, of which few people were free, fome new superstitions were taking ground among the people, but they were suppressed.

A. M. 3628. R. 327. C. SERVILIUS HA-LA STRUCTUS, L. PAPYRIUS MUGIL-LANENSIS. The Senate fent fome Heralds to Veil to ask of the Pelentes Satisfaction for the goods they had plundered in the Roman Territory; and upon their refusal, a War was proclaimed sgainft them.

NELIUS COSSUS. The last of them staid but only an Inter-rex, who was L. Papyrins Me in the City to manage the affairs, and his gillanus, who obtained from the people that three colleagues went against the Veii, but they Military Tribunes should be elected. were vigorously repulsed. Upon this misfortune Emelius Mamercus was made Dictator, MILITARY TRIBUNES. who went to refcue the Military Tribunes. The rumour of this fuccess filled the Fidenates with hopes of recovering their liberties, therefore they killed all the Romans in CINNATUS, SEXTUS FURIUS MEDULtheir Colony, and joyned themselves to the LINUS, AULUS SEMPRONIUS ATTRA-Vdi. The Dictator fought them, routed, and TINUS, M. MANLIUS. The Tribunes of purfued them fo closely, that the Romani got the people renewed the Agrarian Law, but Preginius, not fo much as the name of any promifcuously with them into Edena; took it, and put the Inhabitants thereof to death, The Dictator made an end of this War in fixteen days.

A. M. 2630. R. 329. AULUS SEMPRO. NIUS ATTRATINUS, L. QUINTIUS NUS CINCINNATUS, CNEUS JULIUS NUS T. HORATIUS BARBUSUS. A Truce of twenty years was granted to the cent games celebrated at Rome.

CONSULS.

A. M. 3632. R. 331. C. SEMPRONIUS ATTRATINUS, Q. FABIUS VIBULLA-NUS. Semprenius was like to lose the Roman Army in the fight against the Volce, had not the valour of Sextus Tarpeius a Brigadeer faved it, for having possessed himself of a rising ground, he gave opportunity to the Conful to get off with the Army.

TRIBUNES.

A. M. 3633. R. 332. L. MANLIUS CA-PITOLINUS, Q. ANTONIUS MEREN. DA, L. PAPYRIUS MUGILLANENSIS. Hortenfius Tribune of the people, charged Sempre nins with the ill fuccess against the Volce, but his colleague sopposed him.

CONSULS.

A. M. 3634. R. 333. Q. FABIUS VIBUL LANUS, T. QUINTIUS CAPITOLINUS Fabius defeated the Æqui, and the Senate MILITARY TRIBUNES granted him the leffer triumph. The The bunes proposed to chuse Questors out of the A. M. 1619. R. 128. T. QUINTIUS
POENUS CINCINNATUS, C. FURIUS, MARCUS POSTHUMUS, AULUS COR.
that the following year they made no Confut,

A. M. 3636. R. 335. L. QUINTIUS CIN-

was accused of incontinency, because the was too wanton and too nicely dreis'd; but fhe cleared herfelt of that acculation.

A. M. 3637. R. 336. AGRIPPA MENE-NIUS LANATUS, P. LUCRETIUS TRI-CIPITINUS, SPUR. NAUTIUS, C. SER-VILIUS. The people was busied about supprefling a conspiracy of many Slaves, who had relolved to fet on fire several parts of the City, and then seize upon the Tarpeian Rock, while the Citizens should be busied about putting out the fire. The two Slaves who had discovered the conspiracy were made free, and those who were found guilty were put to death by feveral torments.

A. M. 3638. R. 337. L. SERGIUS FIDE-NAS, M. PAPIRIUS MUGILLANENSIS, C. SERVILIUS PRISCUS. The Equi fhamefully defeated the Tribunes. The Senate made Q. Servilius Dictator, who marched prefently against the enemies, and whilst they were proud of their Victory, he attack'd them. fo briskly, that after having routed them he took Lavicum, and afterwards enter'd triumphing into Rome. A. Colony of fifteen hundred Romans was fent to Lavicum.

A. M. 3639. R. 338. AGRIEPA MENENI-US LANATUS, L. SERVILIUS STRU-CTUS, L. LUCR ETIUS TRICIPITINUS, SPUR. VETURIUS COSSUS: Rome was ve- be elected. ry quiet all this year ..

A M. 3640. R., 339. AULUS SEMPRONIUS ATTRATINUS, M. PAPYRIUS MUGILANENSIS, SPUR NAUTIUS RUTILIUS Q. FABIUS VIBULLANUS. The Tribunes renewed the Agrarian Law; but in order to disappoint their design, the Senate found means to low division among them.

BIUS VIBULLANUS, M. POSTHUMIUS mies. REGILIENSIS, QUINTIUS CINCINNA-TUS. The people Figui took the field, and LINUS. C. VALERUS POTITUS, CIN feized upon the Town Feld, but a while after Polymmia took it again. The Tribunes pro-book to find a Colomy to the took the first propoo'd to fend a Colony to Vola to fupply it with inhabitants, but Pollbumius opposid it, with the whole Senate; and being retired into the Camp to avoid the fury of the people, he was floa'd to death by his own fouldiers, who were angry, because he had fided with the Senate in this affair. This diforder occasioned the creation of new Confuls.

CONSULS.

A.M. 3642. R 341. AULUS CORNELIUS COSSUS, or P. POSTHUMIUS REGILLEN-

Semprenius opposed it. The Vestal Postburnia quiry after the accomplices of the murther committed on the person of Posthumine went on but flowly. The Tribunes complained of it. and the people grumbled thereat, but all was

> A. M. 3643. R. 342. Q. FABIUS AM-BUSTUS, C. FURIUS PACILLUS. Livy doth nor mention these two Confuls, but Caffioderus fpeaks of them.

> A. M. 3644. R. 343. M. PAPYRIUS ATTRATINUS, & MUGILLANUS, C. NAU-TIUS RUTILIUS. There was a very great want of Provisions, and a contagious Distemper in the City, that fwept away a great many people.

> A. M. 3645. R. 344. M. ÆMILIUS MA-MERCUS, C. VALERIUS. The Æqui plundered the Country, and came to the very Gates of Rome. The Conful Valerius repulsed them, and got great spoils from them. The Ovation or leffer triumph was decreed for

A. M. 3646. R. 345. C. or CN. CORNE-LIUS COSSUS, L. FURIUS MEDULLI-NUS. The Velfei belieged Carvertans, The Tribunes would not allow the people to take up arms, but upon condition that they would choose Military Tribunes instead of Consuls. The Senate confented to it, upon condition that none of the Tribunes then in Office should

MILITARY TRIBUNES.

A. M. 3647. R. 346. C. JULIUS JULUS, C. or P. CORNELIUS COSSUS, C. SERVI-LIUS AHALA. The Polici and the Equi took the Field with a dreadful Army, against A. M. 3641. R. 340. C. or L. CORNELIUS the Romans, who immediately created P. CorCOSSUS, P. VALERIUS POTITUS, Q.FAnelius Dictator, who defeated the Ene-

> the Tribones armed tumultuofly, and routed all the Enemies they met in the Field, but were not able to re-take the Fort.

A. M. 3649. R. 348. P. CORNELIUS COSSUS, CN. CORNELIUS, COSSUS. FABIUS AMBUSTUS, L' VALERIUS PO-TITUS. Fabius befreged and took Anxw, now called Torracina. The Senate ordered, that for the time to come the Soldiers should receive their pay out of the publick Trea-

A.M. 1600 R. 149. T. QUINTIUS CA-PITOLINUS, AULUS MANLIUS, L. FU-RIUS MEDULLINUS, C. JULIUS IULUS. SIS, L. FURIUS MEDULLINUS. The en- M. ÆMILIUS MAMERCUS: The War tle fuccess. Some Authors rank in this place well, that they got all the Military Tribune the Confulthips of Aulus Manlius Volfe, and L. chosen from among the Plebeians, except only Faring Medullinar, but Livy mentions nothing Vetarius. The plague raged both in Town

TITUS, M. SERGIUS FIDENAS, P. COR- um by an order of the Daum viri. This Rela-NELIUS MAGULLINENSIS CN. COR- gious ceremony is explained under the world NELIUS COSSUS, Q. FABIUS AMBU- Lettifternium. STUS, SPUR. NAUTIUS RUTILIUS. The Town of Arcans belonging to the Volci was taken, and razed down to the ground.

4.M.3653.R.352. M. ÆMILIUS MAMER-CUS, L. VALERIUS POTITUS, APPIUS CLAUDIUS CRASSUS, M. QUINTIUS The Waters of the albanian Lake grew to envarus M. JULIUS JULIUS, M. POSTHU traordinary high, and there being no visible MIUS, M. FURIUS CAMILLUS, M. POST- cause of it, its overflowing was taken for a HUMIUS ALBINUS. The Town of the prodigy: An Augur of Veil intimated to the Se-Veii was belieged, and block'd up during nate, that there was no other way for the &the whole winter, a practife unufual a- mone to take Veii, but the making a passage for meng the Reman, who made War only in this Water; thereupon the Senate fent to confurnmer time. The Tribunes and the peo- fult the Oracle of Delphi, ple grumbled atthis new practice; but Claudiand feafons.

HALA, O. SERVILIUS, L. VIRGINIUS, plundered the Campania of Rome. Posthumin Q. SULPTITUS, AULUS MANLIUS, M. and Juliu routed them, and retook the spoils SERGIUS. The Velici feized upon Anna The Velici belieged Anna, and the Acqui Louism and fortified it. The Falici and Fidenstra attacked the Roman who belieged Veli. The VUS. P. TETTINIUS. P. MENENIUS, C. N. attack begun with Sergiu's quarters, who GENUTIUS, L. ATTILIUS. Titiniu and fuffered his Forces to perish, rather than to Genetist fell into an Ambuscado laid by the ask a relief of Virginius his colleague, with Falifis, and fuffered a great lofs by it. The Salwhom he was then at variance. This mifun- diers incamped before Veii, chofe M. Fariat Co standing was prejudicial to the State, and mills Dictator, and his election was approved thereupon the Senate ordered, that some other of by the Senate. Camillus marched immediately Tribunes should be created, tho it was then ately to relieve Titinius, whom the Enemis but the fifteenth day of July, whereas they kept belieged, and after he had defeated then, used to proceed to their Election upon the he returned to the Siege of Veil; and when thirteenth day of December. Servilius Abels he faw that the Town could hold no longer wasnamed for the remainder of that year was continued against the Polici, but with lit- of the people watched their opportunity and Country. They had recourse to the book A. M. 3652. R. 351. C. VALERIUS PO- of the Sibyle, and celebrated the first Lettir tom.

TITUS, M. FURIUS CAMILLUS, M. R. ed that it should be plundered, not only by MILIUS MAMERCUS, CN. CORNELIUS the Soldiers, but also by all the Inhabitants of COSSUS, C. FABIUS AMBUSTUS, L. Rome that would go thither. Camillus mades IULIUS IULUS. The Tribunes were victo- triumphant Entry after the taking of Veil, and rious every where, and Valerius retook Anxwr. for the immortal memory of his atchieve-VUS, L. MANLIUS, P. TITINIUS, P. ME- Queen on mount Avenimus. This 700 LIUS, L. FURIUS MEDULLINUS, L. PO- was Patroness of the Veienter, and after the tr PILIUS VOLSO. Licinius was the first Mi- king of Veii, the Romans having entered into litary Tribune chosen out of the Body of the her Temple, and asked the Goddess if she was people. The Winter proved so very cold, and willing to go to Rome, her Statue made a sign there fell fuch an abundance of Snow, that the that the was confenting to it. Camillus dedifame is recorded in the history of that time, as cated also the Temple of mother Matute, whom an extraordinary thing.

A. M. 3657. R., 356. M. VETURIUS L.

A. M. 3658. R. 357. L. VALERIUS PO. TITUS, M. VALERIUS MAXIMUS, W. FURIUS CAMILLUS. The interest of the Senate was fo great, that all the Military Tribunes were taken out of the Patrician Order.

A. M. 3659. R. 558. L. JULIUS JULUS. in Cossus represented to them in a Speech, that L. FURIUS MEDULLINUS L. SERGIUS Enemies were to be attacked at all times FIDENAS, AULUS POSTHUMIUS RE GELLENSIS, P. CORNELIUS MALUCI-A. M. 3654. R. 353. C. SERVILIUS A. NENSIS , A. MANLIUS. The Tores he fent to the Senate to know what he should A. M. 3655. R. 354. L. VALERIUS PO- do with fo rich a place, and the Senate order A. M. 3656. R. 355. P. LICINIUS CAL- ments, he marked out the Temple of Jum the Plutarch calls Lucothoea.

A. M. 3657. R. 356. M. VETURIUS L. A. M. 3661. R. 360. P. CORNELIUS TITINUS, P. MENENIUS PACILLUS, CN. COSSUS, P. CORNELIUS SCIPIO. M. GENUTIUS, L. ATTILIUS. The Tribunes VALERIUS MAXIMUS, C. FABIUS AM- BUSTUS, L. FURIUS MEDULLINUS Q. SERVILIUS. The popular Tribune Siccinius represented to the people that Rome was scituated in a barren and unwholfom territory, that the Country of the Veil was fruitful and pleafint, the air wholesom, and a convenient SERVIUS SULPITIUS, M. ÆMILIUS, L. that City.

A. M. 3662. R. 361. M. FURIUS CA- ed Rome. MILLUS, M. FURIUS MEDULLINUS, C. A. M. 3666. R. 365. The three Sons of AMILIUS, L. VALERIUS PUBLICOLA. FABIUS AMBUSTUS, P. SULPITIUS that were conferated to Apollo.

CONSULS.

the people.

a great many people died.

MILITARY TRIBUNES

A. M. 3665. R. 364. L. LUCRETIUS , dwelling place for every thing, and advised FURIUS MEDULLINUS. AGRIPPA. FUthem to go and fettle themselves there; some RIUS C. ÆMILIUS. M. Seditim a Plebeian, other Tribines proposed that the Reman people head a voice, (which he thought to come should divide themselves in two parts, that from Heaven) that gave warning to the Reone part of them should remain at Rome, and mans of the coming of the Gauls into Italy. the other should go to inhabit Veii, but Camil- The Senate neglected this advice, as a Dream; le opposed both proposals as dishonourable to but the event justified that it was not a meer fancy, for the Gauls entered Italy and belieg-

SP. POSTHUMIUS, P. CORNELIUS LONGUS, Q. SERVILIUS, P. SERVI-Comillus went to plunder the Fields of the LIUS, MALUGINENSIS. The Tribines Falife, and got a great booty in their Camp, went out to meet the Gault, but they which he refused to deliver to the Soldiers : were vanquished ; for out of too much con-This unusual practice they bore with, out of fidence in their valour, they paffed the River Allia, the great respect they had for him; but they and incomped at the Bank of it. There was a abhorred his fevere virtue, tho they admired great flaughter, and those who escaped caused it, says Liev. Commiles afterwards besieged Falluch a consternation in Rome, that all the inhabities, and during this siege, a School-master, bistants left the City, except fome Officers and who had under his care the Children of the Soldiers, who got into the Copins, and some most considerable Families of the Inhabitants, Senators, whose great age had rendered them brought all these innocent creatures to the unfit for fighting, but whose great courage Camp of the Romans. Camillus, firuck with did not permit them to run away. These conhorror at this base perfidiousness, clapt the Matinued in their Houses, and dressed themselves fier in Irons, and sent him back again, the in their Robes of Scare. The Goods furiously children whipping him along the way. This pursued the Romans, and came to Rome the aft of generolity mov'd fo fenfibly the Inhabis fame day that the Battle was fought, fays Livy, tants of Falcria, that they furrendered them- or three days after, according to Platarch. They felves to the Romans, and willingly submitted found the Town open and without Inhabitants : to fo generous Enemies. The Senate fent a they got into it, fet it on fire in feveral Golden Cup to the Temple of Delphi, to return places, and killed those venerable old men, thanks to Apello for the good advice he had whom they had took at first for the Domestick given him, to make a free passage for the wa- Gods of the Romans. They besiegedthe Capital, ters of the Albanian Lake. This Present, with and as they were scaling the Wall in the night, the Ambassador who carried it, was taken by the the Geese that were fed in the Temple of Jam, Pyrates of Lipari; but Timafitus their comman- made fo great a noise, that M. Manlius being der, being informed that the Ambassador was awakned by it, ran to the Rampart and repula Roman, he let him go free with the Presents sed the Gauls. The besieged being in want of every thing, were forced to capitulate, upon condition of paying to the Gaule a thousand pound weight of Gold, or two thousand according to Pliny; and whilft they were weighing the Gold in execution of the Treaty A. M. 3663. R. 362. L. LUCRETIUS Camillus (who tho absent had been named Di-FLAVUS, SERVIUS SULPITITUS CA- Cator) arrived and charged the befiegers, of MERINUS. The Tribunes of the people whom they killed a great number. The Gauis renewed the proposal made two years before being retired, the Tribunes proposed again to of inhabiting Veil , but the Senate opposed go to inhabit Veil, and leave the imoaking ruit, and diffributed the lands of the Viienter to ins of Rome, but Camillus prevented it, restored the fervice of the Gods, and marked out a A. M. 3664. R. 363. L. VALERIUS Temple in honour of that voice that they had POTITUS, M.MANLIUS, afterwards called despised, when it gave warning of the coming CAPITOLINUS. A great Drought occasion- of the Gault, and instituted facrifices to it, ed a contagious distemper in Rome, of which under the name of the God Lecurius. Pliny affirms, that a while before the taking of Rome, ed; but the people grumbling at it, and they had numbred one hundred fifty two threatning the City with a Sedition, the Didd. thousand five hundred and fourscore heads of tor thought fit to release Manting.

PULLICOLA, L. VIRGINIUS, P. CORNE- PO LITUS, L. POSTHUMIUS, M. FURIUS LIUS, AULUS MANLIUS, L. ÆMILIUS, CAMILLUS, SERVIUS SULPITIUS, T. L. FOSTHUMUUS. The & Amazur remembiring QUINTIUS EINCINNATUS, C. PAPYRIS that the eighteenth day of fall, fays. Lovy, or JS CRASSUS. M. Manliur renewed his horizontal control of the the fifteenth according to Sabellicas, they had treagues, and the Senate having won to their been defeated at Cremera, where all the Fabiant Interest the Tribunes of the People, Manling were kill'd; and that upon the fame day, they was fummon'd again; he appeared, and was were routed on the banks of the Allia by the convicted of aspiring to a tyrannical Govern-Gauls, they did mark out that day in their Fasts ment, and condemned to be thrown headlong or Calendar for a fatal and unlucky day, and from that fame Rock that he had defended a forbad by a foleannal decree to undertake any gainst the Gami in the Siege of the Capital; his thing for the future upon that day. Camillas House was rated, and they forbid his Familia. was made Dictator the reduced the Vallet to to take for the future the fore-name of Many the Roman obedience, after they had maintain. The Plague and the Famine did a world of deed their Liberty for feventy Years, fays Eutre- mage both in the City and the Country. pint. He marched afterwards against the Æqui, whom he overcame, as he did also the Tuscon: LUS MANLIUS, L. LUCRETIUS, L. AMIL. His Triumph lasted three days together, for LIUS, M. TREBONIUS, SERVIUS SUIS having faboued these three Nations, and our PITIUS. Colonies were fent this year to Page of the Spoils that he had got, he repaid the Reman Ladies the price of the Jewels they had be- A. M. 3674. R. 373. SPUR, and L. PAPYthowed to enrich the Offering, that the Ressian RIUS, SERVIUS CORNELIUS MALUGIman Ladies the price of the Jewels they had be-People had made to 40%.

4. M. 3688. R. 367. T. O. CINCINNA-TUS, Q. SERVILIUS FIDENAS, C. JULI- the lofs of Satricum, which was taken by flored US JULUS, L. AQUILIUS CORVUS, L. by the Velfei, and all the Remant of that Colony LUCRETIUS TRICIPITINUS. The Fields were put to the Sword. of the Agus, were plunder'd, and the Remans took from the Tufony Certuefe and Contenebra.

Sabina, Stellatina, Amignfu were added to the former, and so made in all thirty five.

L. SERGIUS FIDENAS, L. QUINTIUS to make any defence; thereupon Camillus grant CINCINNATUS, L. HORATIUS PULVIL- ed them the freedom of Citizens of Rome. . LUS. T. VALERIUS. | Gamillus and Valerius teated, and took Satricum.

PITOLINUS, L. PAPYRIUS CURSOR, C. tor, who oppos'd Manlius, and fummon'd him place where the Senate had hid the Gold. Manlius shifted off this Question with ambigu- was surrender'd by Capitulation. ous Answers, which discovered his Calumny; A. M. 3677. R. 376. C MANLIUS, P.

A. M. 2672. R. 271. SERGIUS CORNES A M. 1667. R. 166. AULUS VALERIUS LIUS MALUGINENSIS, P. VALERIUS

A. M. 3673. R. 372. L. VALERIUS, AUptine and Nepete.

NENSIS, Q. SERVILIUS, C. SULPITTUS, L. ÆMILIUS. Rome was a little mortified for

A.M. 3675. R. 374. M. FURIUS CAMILA LUS, AULUS and L. POSTHUMII REGIL-ATM. 3669 R. 368. L. PAPYRIUS, CN. LENSES, L. FURIUS, L. LUCRETIUS, M. SERGIUS, L. MMILIUS, L. LICINIUS, M. FABIUS AMBUSTUS. Gamillas with Parish MENENIUS, L. VALERIUS PUBLICOLA, bis Colleague made war against the Palfei, de-C. CORNELIUS. The Tribes called Pomerine, feated them, and took their Camp by from and because he found some Tusculans among the Prisoners, this was a fufficient reason A. M. 3670. R. 369. M. FURIUS CAMIL- for proglaining war againft them; but the LUS, SEXTUS . GORN. MALUGINENSIS, Tufculaw, opened their Gates, without offering

A. M. 1676. R. 175. LUCIUS and R. VA. march'd against the Antiates, whom they de- LERIJ, C. SERGIUS, LICINIUS MANCE NUS, L. PAPYRIUS, SERGIUS CORNE. A. M. 3671. R. 370. AULUS MANLIUS, LIUS MALUGINENSIS. The Tribunes of P. CORNELIUS, T. and L. QUINTIUS CA- the people rais'd a Sedition, and demanded the release of Usuries; but the Senate denying SERGIUS. M. Manlius attempted to make him- their request, they stopt the raising of Forces felf Sovereign of Rame, and in order to it, to oppose the Inhabitants of Praneste, who made spread abroad several reports against the Senate, Incursions to the very Gate Colling. Quintim who thereupon made Aulus Cornelius Coffus Dicta- Gincinnatus was thereupon created Dictator, and march'd against the Enemy, who made a stand to appear before the People, and discover the on the banks of the River Allis; but he vanquish'd them, and took in twenty days nine of which he accused them to keep for themselves. their Towns, and Preneste their capital City

wherefore the Dictator caus'd him to be arrest- MANLIUS, L. JULIUS PATRICIUS, C.

tage over the Tribunes.

prison for debt, so long as the war against the Nobles. valle fhould laft. A Tax was laid upon the People, for the lining with Stone the Ramparts of Rome.

A.M. 3679. R. 378. L. ÆMILIUS, B. VA-LERIUS, C. VETURIUS, SERVIUS SUL-PITIUS, L. and C. QUINTIJ CINCINNA-TI. The Tribunes of the people made feveral Demands to the Senate; i. That the Interest that had been paid by the Creditors, might be deducted from the Principal, and that the remaining part should be paid off at several times in three years. 2. That no Roman Citizen years without Magistrates of the first Order.

MANLIUS, SERVIUS SULPITIUS, L. CORNELIUS, AULUS and CAIUS VALE-RII. The two last raised the fiege of Tusculum, which was belieg'd by the Vilitrians.

A. M. 3686. R. 385. Q. SERVILIUS, C. VETURIUS, A. and M. CORNELIJ, Q. among the Patriciaus, and the other five among the Plebeians. This Magistracy was never before this time exercised, but by two men called Duum-viri, both Patricians.

A. M. 3687. R. 386. T. QUINTIUS, SER-VIUS CORNELIUS, SERVIUS SULPITI-US, SP. SERVILIUS, L. PAPYRIUS, L. VE-TURIUS. M. Furius Camillus was chofen Dictatot for the fourth time, and to bring the people to reasonable terms, abdicated his Office, Religion.

A. M. 3688. R. 387. AULUS and MAR-CUS CORNELII, M. GEGANIUS, P. MANthem. Livy fays that the Gauls were beaten semove that prodigy, upon which he freely

SEXTILLIUS, M. ALBINUS, L. ANTIS- |near the Lake Albanus; but Polybius, a Greek TIUS. The Polici got this year some advan- born, from whom Livy has taken many things, affirms that the Gauls were not beaten, but came A. M. 3678. R. 377. SP. FURIUS, Q. and plundered the Country as far as Albania. SERVILIUS, LICINIUS MANCINUS, M. and retired with a great Booty. The Senate HORATIUS, P. CLÆLIUS, L. GEGANIUS. | confented to the creation of a Conful out of The Tribunes of the people propos'd that all the body of the people, and the people agreed perions in debt should be relieved, and the Se- that a Prestor, and two Ediles Curules should be nate confented that no man should be put in chosen out of the body of the Patricians or the

CONSULS.

A. M. 3689. R. 389. ÆMILIUS MAMER-CUS, L. SEXTIUS.

A. M. 3690. R. 388. L. GENUTIUS A-VENTINUS, Q. SERVILIUS AHALA. The Plague swept away a great many People in Rome, and amongst them M. Furius Camillus.

A. M. 3691. R. 390. T. or C. SULPITIUS PETICUS, C. LICÍNIUS STOLO CALVUS. should be allowed to possess above five hundred The Plague continued in Rome, but to stop it Actes of Ground. 3. That one of the Confuls they folemniz'd the Letisfernium, and voted and for the future should be a Plebeism. The Seccelebrated for the first time the Senick Games, nate oppos'd these Laws, and the Tribunes on which were very inconsiderable at first, for they their fide would not consent to the creation of were neither compos'd in measur'd Verses, nor the Magistrates Curuler; so that Rome was five attended with any other Musick but only some Flutes. The Tyber overflowed its Banks, and A. M. 3685. R. 384. L. FURIUS, AULUS, the whole Country about it was laid under Water.

A. M. 3692. R. 391. L. GENUTIUS, L. ÆMILIUS MAMERCUS. Rome was ftill afflifted with Peftilence and the Romans were forc'd to have recourse to the Ceremony of driving the Nail; which was only practited at first, to QUINTIUS, M. FABIUS. The Tribunes mark out the number of years, according to propos'd to create ten Magistrates to take care the ancient Law; Let the greatest Prator drive of the affairs of Religion, and the Books of the the Nail the third day of September ; fince that Sibyle, and that five of them should be taken out time, this political ceremony was turn d into fuperstition, and they perswaded the common people, that it had the virtue of turning away any publick Plagues. This Nail was of Brafs. and they drove it into the back wall of the Temple of Minerus in the Capital, at the right hand of the Temple of Jupiter Capitolinus, and upon this ceremony L. Manlius Imperiofus was made Dictator. A. M. 3693. R. 392. Q. SERVILIUS HA-LA, L. GENUCIUS. A great Abys open d. which the Senate conferr'd upon P. Manlius, of it felf, in the place where the Assemblies who to give some satisfaction to the People, met, they endeavoured all they could to fill consented to the creation of the Decem-vivi or it up, but to no purpose; they had recourse to ten Men, appointed to manage the affairs of the South-fayers, who answerd, that this Abyli thould never be closed up, but by throwing into it that in which the Romans excell'd. Q. Curtius a young Roman Knight prefented himself to the LIUS, L. VETURIUS, P. VALERIUS. . The Senate, which was in a great perplexity about Gauls came again into Italy, and M. Furius Ca- chis Answer, who acquainted him, that the millus was chosen again Dictator to oppose Gods asked for nothing elle, but a Reman to offer'd to lay down his Life to fill up that Pit ; and then compleatly Arming himself, riding M. POPILIUS LÆNAS. Popilius plundetes on Horseback, threw himself into the Gulph, the Fields about the City of Tyber, now Trust in the presence of all the People, who imme- after he had forced the Inhabitants to retire diately flung Flowers and Offerings into it, and within their Walls. Fabius offered Battle to a while after this Hole shut up of it self, and the Falifei, but they mistrusting their Forces that place was fince called Lacus Curtismus, for made use of a stratagem. Their Priests play

LO. The Gouls made a third irruption into lighted Torches in their hands. This fee Italy; and upon the first advice of this Inva- Ctacle at first stopt the Roman, out of respect tion, they made Titus Quintius Poems Dictator, to Religion, but that scruple being vanished He with all the Reman Forces incamped upon they fell upon them, and overthrew the Enethe Banks of the Anie, in the fight of the Gauls, mies and all their Bugbears. The Talent the River being betwixt them both: Then a afterwards joyning themselves to the Palife. Gast of a prodigious stature came up to chal- G. Marrius Rutilius was created Dictator, the lenge the Roman Forces to a fingle Combat; first of the Plebeians that enjoyed that Digni-T. Manling got leave of the Dictator to fight ty, he made C. Planting a Plebeian, General of this Enemy, and fucceeded fo well, that he the Horse, at which the Senate grumbled vekill'd him at one blow. The Gaul fell down ry much. The Dictator got an entire victory dead upon the ground, and Manlim kept for over the Enemies, and took eight thousand himself nothing of his Spoils, but a rich Collar Prisoners. The Senate would have denied for a Token of his Victory; from whence af- him the honour of Triumph, but he triumos terwards he took the Sirname of Twquatau, ed notwithstanding, and the people never bewhich afterwards diftinguish'd his posterity fore expressed so much joy. The Senate make from the other Menlii.

BALBUS, M. FABIUS AMBUSTUS. The tice of their defign to the people; who could Tibertini were at war with Fabine, and called not come to any resolution for a long time; the Gault to their affiftance, who were then in fo that the Commonwealth was governed by Campania. The Armies engaged near the Gate Calina, and the Fight was lating and bloody A. M. 3700. R. 399. C. SULPITUS but as laft the Rumans got the Victory. 2.3rr. PETICUS. M. or L. VALERIUS PUBLI vilius Hale was made Dictator.

led Rome in a very dark night: This unexpect-in which they fucceeded. ed alarm put the Town into a great Confusi-A. M. 3701. R. 400. on; but the Romans at last repuls'd their Ene- BUSTUS. T. QUINTIUS or M. POmies with loft.

A. M. 3697. R. 296. C. FABIUS AM- Salucium, and forced them to lay down the BUSTUS, C. PLAUTIUS PROCULUS. Arms. The Torquin were also routed, and War was proclaimed against the Tarquini- their Prisoners killed by way of retaliation sau, who had plundered the Roman Territo- The triumph was allowed to Fabiar without sies ; Fabius was beaten, and a great flaughter any opposition. A league was folemny make was made of the Romans, besides seven hun- with the Sammites. dred Prisoners, who were all put to death A. M. 3702. R. 401. C. SULPITIUS after the Fight was over: The Gauls coming PETICUS, M. VALERIUS PUBLICOLA again, and incamped at Pedum near Rome, C. (Sabillicus mentions C. Martius Rutilius in Sulpitius was made Dictator, and got a victory stead of Sulpitius.) The Tussans, Ceratani, and over them.

TILIUS, CN. MANLIUS IMPERIOSUS. Dictator, who proclaimed War against the The Tribunes got a Law to be made to re- Ceretani, because they had joyned with the duce the use of money to one per Cent. Li- Tuscans to plunder the Roman Fields. The Co cinius Stole the Author of the Law, whereby it retant frighted thereat, fent an Embaffy to was forbidden to possess more than five Rome to excuse themselves, and they were hundred Acres of ground, was himfelf con- pardoned upon confideration that their Town victed of possessing a thousand Acres, and had been a place of Refuge for facred things, thereupon fined.

A.M. 1699.R. 398. M. FABIUS AMBUSTUS an everlating Monument of Cortice's bravery.

M. 3694. R. 193. C. or C. SULPITIUS STOBETICUS, C. LICKNUS CALVUS STOUnrounded with Serpents, and holding up all their endeavours to get two Confuls choice A. M. 1695. R. 194. C. PETILIUS LIBO out of their Body, but the Tribunes gave me

COLA. All was quiet within and without A. M. 3606. R. 395. M. POPILIUS LÆ: the Ciry, till the latter end of the year, who NAS, C. MANLIUS IMPERIOSUS. The the Parintains used their interests for gening lababitants of the Ciry of 7340, now Touli, seather than the Consultation of the Ciry of 7340, now Touli, seather the Consultation of the Ciry of 7340, now Touli, seather than the Ciry, till the latter end of the year, who named the circumstance of the Ciry, till the latter end of the year, who named the circumstance of the Ciry, till the latter end of the year, who named the circumstance of the Ciry, till the latter end of the year, who named the circumstance of the Ciry, till the latter end of the year, who named the circumstance of the

A.M. 3701. R. 400. M. FABIUS AM-PILIUS. Fabius defeated the Tiburtini, took

the Vollei, raifed a great many Forces, where A. M. 1698. R. 197. C. MARTIUS RU- upon the Senate created T. Manlius Termina the Confulship among themselves, but they were brought again to the Law of Licinius, and a Plebeian was made Conful-

A. M. 3703. R. 402. L. VALERIUS PUBLICOLA, a Patrician, C. MARTIUS RUTILIUS, a Plebeian. Five Commissioners were established for the regulation of Usuries, who were called Menfarii. C. Julius was elefted Dictator.

A. M. 3704. R. 403. C. SULPITIUS PETICUS, T. QUINTIUS POENUS CINCIN-NATUS. The Senate created M. Fabius Ambuffus Dictator, without any pretence whatfoever ; but notwithstanding the opposition of the Senare and the Dictator, the Licinian Law chosen out of the Body of the people. A. M. 3705. R. 404. L. CORNELIUS

SCIPIO a Patrician, M. POPILIUS LOENAS. a Plebeian. Scipie falling fick, Pepilius marched with the Army against the Gault, whom he put at first in disorder, and then attacked them in their Camp, where he forced them with an invincible courage. L. Furius Camillu was named Dictator.

A. M. :706. R. 405. L. FURIUS CA-MILLUS, APPIUS CLAUDIUS CRASSUS. The Gauls came again this year, and incamped near Albano with a formidable power. The Remons raifed an Army of forty two thousand Foot, and three thousand Horse. This Army incamped near the Gauls, and one of them challenging the Remans to a fingle Combat. M. Valerius a young Tribune, commanding a thousand men, offered himself to fight him. Tis related that during the fight a Raven came to the help of Valerius, and pearched upon his Head-piece, flying at the face of the Gaul, and pecking him, infomuch that Valerius killed his adverfary. This false story probably is grounded upon the custom of the antient Remans, who crested their Head-pieces with figures of Animals, thinking thereby to render themselves more terrible to their Enemies, and no doubt but Valerius had the figure of a Raven upon his Head-piece, and they have reprefented this Figure alive and moving, only to represent the agility of Val riw in this right. However it was, Valerius get the firname of Gervi-##, which remained to all his posterity. The Senate went on with their Intreagues to clude the Liaman Law, and made F. Manlius Tequatur Dictator, but the people carried it for La-

A. M. 3707. R. 406. M. VALERIUS COR-VINUS, M. POPILIUS LOENAS. Valerius QUATUS, P. DECIUS MUS. War being

when Rome was burnt by the Gault. The was then but three and twenty years of age-Towers and Ramparts of Rome were repaired, yet his want of the age was dispensed with and the Temple of Apollo was dedicated. A in consideration of the victory he had obtaingreat Rebellion broke out at the latter end of | cd over the Gaul, whom he had killed the the year, because the Patritians would keep last year. The Plague was very troublesom to the Romans. The Carthaginians made a league with the Roman people.

A. M. 3708. R. 407. T. MANLIUS TOR-QUATUS, C. PLAUTIUS VENOX. The use of Money was reduced again to half per

A. M. 2700, R. 408. M. VALERIUS COR-VINUS, C. PETILIUS LIBO. Valerius purfued the Volsci as far as Satricum, where he forced them, burnt the Town, and demolifhed its Fortifications. He obtained the Honour of Triumph, wherein he appeared attended by four thousand Prisoners.

A. M. 3710. R. 400. M. FABIUS DOR-SO, SERVIUS SULPITIUS CAMERINUS. was put into Execution, and a Conful was The Arancians renewed the War, plundering the Country about Rome; whereupon L. Furius Camillus was made Dictator, who engaged and overcame the Aruncians, having first devoted a Temple to June Moneto, which was built in the place, where the House of Mention Capitolinus formerly flood.

A.M. 3711. R. 410. C. MARTIUS RU-TILIUS T. MANLIUS TORQUATUS. Livy relates a great many prodigies that happened this year; for it rained Stones, and the Sun was eclipfed at noon. P. Valerius Publicola was chosen Dictator.

A. M. 3712. R. 411. M. VALERIUS COR-VINUS, AULUS & C. CORNELIUS COS-SUS. Valerius got a great Victory over the Samutes: he took one hundred and feventy Colours, and forty thousand Shields. The Carthaginians hearing of it, fent to congratulate the Roman people, and offered a Crown of Gold of five and twenty pounds, weight to Impiter Capitolinus.

A. M. 3713. R. 412. C. MARTIUS RU-TILIUS, Q. SERVILIUS AHALA. The Legions that were in Winter quarters at Capus, confidering how pleasant and fruitful that Country was, refolved to make themselves masters of that rich Town, killing all the Inhabitants thereof; but Martius prevented that cruel and treacherous detign, removing the feveral authors of that enterprize by diverse Commissions. M. Valerius Corvinus was made Difta-

A. M. 3714. R. 413. C. PLAUTIUS. L. ÆMILIUS MAMERCUS. The Camp and the Country of the Volsai were plunder'd. Amilius put all the Sammites Country to the Fire and Sword, and forc'd them to fue for Peace. which was granted them.

proclaim'd against the Latins, the two Confuls to be enacted, by which the Senate was to raifed their Forces, and marched toward the cute the Orders of the people, and that Enemies, who expected them near Capus. Both People should first declare their, opinion the Confuls separately faw a Ghost, who told cerning the Laws that should be proposed: them with a distinct voice, that one of the two got also enacted that one of the Censors should Armies should perish, and the Commander of be taken out of the body of the People. the other should be kill'd. The Entrails of A. M.3717. R. 416. L. FURIUS CAMIL-Victims foretood the same; so that both the LUS, C. MENENIUS NEPOS. The Ta-Confuls agreed among themselves, that the first Consuls took the Town of Pedum, which of them that should find his Forces in a waver- milius had only invested. Afterwards the ing condition, should devote himself to the In-fernal Gods to fave the Romin Army. The and seized upon a great many of their Town Son of Manlius the Conful, who was order'd to whereupon a Statue on Horleback was erede Son of Manuar me contain who we street a to march with a body of there is no each of them in the Market place at Reas Enemy, was challeng d by the Commander of which never had been yet done for any perfect an advanced Fook Thus, young man, naintitious By the Advice of Committee the freedom of of Glory, not thinking of the Prohibition the Citizens was granted to feveral of the Latin Generals had made, accepted of the Challenge, yet with this limitation, that they foomly -Edled his Enemy, and brought the Spoils to his have no vote in the Assemblies. Camillus took Fathers feet, who barbaroully put him to death, Antium, from the Velfei, and brought to Reand facrific d his own Son to the feverity of all the ftems of their Gallies, and fet then military. Discipline; from whence came this upon places designed for Orations, called a Proverb Manlians imparia, to express an extream fire or pro Roffris. feverity, in point of observation of Orders. They A. M. 3718. R. 417. C. CALPURNIUS and the event uncertain for a long time; but CUS. The Senate forced the Confuls to Deciar feeing that his Forces grew weak, and that name a Dictator to go to the relief of the their courage failed em, fent for M. Valerius the cians , because they had been remiss therein. Pontiff, and being drefs'd in his Gown of State, they named G. Claudius Regillents, Minutia we cover'd his Head, and put both his Feet upon convicted of having transgressed the Vester a Dart; then lifting up his right hand to the rules in point of Chaffity. Q. Publius Phile height of his Chin, he devoted himself to the was the first Plebeian that was raised to Infernal Gods, pronouncing aloud these words, Dignity of Prætor. which the Porriff dicated him word by word,

"Jonus, Jupiter, and you Fathers, Maris, Quiri SUS, CÆSO DUELLIUS." The Tulcont now nus, Bellena, Lares, Domestick Gods, Gods called Calvi in Terra Labaris, joyned the Sellina " Novencilles, Gods Indigites, Gods who have trams to make War against Rome, but they were "power over us and our Enemies; and you easily defeated at the first encounter. "Infernal Gods, I do invoke you, I adore you, A. M. 3720. R. 419. M. VALERIUS "and beg your pardon, vouchfafe to blefs the CORVINUS, M. ATTILIUS REGULUE endeavours of the Roman People, and grant Valerius belieged Caller, and took it by flores. "them the Victory, and afflict with L. Emilias Mamereus was made Dictator to pressure and death their Enemies. And so side in the Assemblies. "I devote my felf to the Infernal Gods, A. M 3721. R. 420. T. VETURIUS. SPU-"and to the Earth, the legions of the Enemies, RIUS or P. POSTHUMIUS ALBUS. A "and their helpers, with my felf. Thus hav- Colony was fent to Calles. P. Cornelius Rufa ing spoken, he sent word to Manlius that he was created Dictator. The Plague raged in had devoted himfelf, then fourring on his the City Horse into the midst of the Enemies, he revi- A. M. 3722. R. 421. L. or AULUS CORved the Souldiers courage, and got the victory NELIUS, CN. DOMITIUS CALVUS. A by his death. Manlius purfued the Enemies, Report was spread abroad, that the Gault were possessed humself of their Camp, plunder'd the about making an irruption into Italy, whererich Fields of Capua, and made his Triumphal upon the Romans made M. Papyrius Crassus Dieth entry into Rome.

MERCUS, QUINTUS PUBLINS PHILO. Tribes were added to the former, wiz. the Me The Confuls always had the best of their Ene- tianna and Scartianna. mies. Q. Publim Philo one of the Confuls was A. M. 3723. R. 422. M. CLAUDIUS MARnamed Dictator. He fignaliz'd himtelf in his CELLUS, T. or C. VALERIUS POTITUS Office by feveral publick Orders, to the great LACCUS: There was a great Mortality in

tor. Alexander King of Epirus, made a Con-A. M. 3716. R. 415. L. MILIUS MA. federacy with the people of Rome, Two mortification of the Patricians, for he caus'da Law Rome, and it was observed that it carried away

none but men. The cause of this particularity tained a great victory, and got a rich booty. died. One hundred and feventy others were "do not prove prejudicial to the State. apprehended, and publickly put to death. A A.M. 3730. R. 429. C. SULPITIUS LON-Diffator was created to drive in the nail, to ap- GUS, Q. ÆMILIUS or AURELIUS CEREpeafe the Gods by this Ceremony. Two Con- TANUS. The Sammites broke the Truce fills were poyfoned by their Wives, of which which was made for a year. The Tribunes of they died. This is the first instance of publishe people accus'd the Tusulans of being conlick Poysoning. Cn. Quintius was chosen cern'd in the Rebellion of the inhabitants of Diffator.

SUS. L. PLAUTIUS VENNO. Peace was tle Commonwealth of Fundi.

belieged the Town of Priverna, and took it. they had taken during the War. He ordered the Governours Head to be cut off, A. M. 3732. R. 431. T. VETURIUS CAL-and interceded for the rest of the people: by VINUS, SP. POSTHUMIUS ALBINUS. a Peace, and the freedom of Roman Citizens.

A Colony was fent to Fregella.

lands.

fer there some facrifices, left the command of was elected Dictator.

was for a long time unknown, till a Slave de- The Dictator being return'd to the Camp, clared to the Senate, that most part of the delign'd to put Fabius to death, but the wholeAr-Reman women had plotted to destroy all the my and the Senate itself used all their interest men, and for that purpose made use of a poy- to get his pardon, but the Dictator remained foned drink. Twenty of these women were inflexible; yet was at last prevailed upon by feized, who bring asked about the quality of the prayers of the whole people, to whom he he drink that was found by them: they and feet'd impudently, that it was good; they rece commanded to try it themfelves, and as foon as they had drank it, fome indubitable marks of poison appeared, and ifon after they was the poison appeared, and ifon after they was the God grant that thy bad example

Priverna: but they came to Rome with their A. M. 1724. R. 423. P. PAPYRIUS CRAS- wives and children, and cleared themselves.

A. M. 1731. R. 430. Q. FABIUS, L. FULgranted to the Samuites, the Volfei, and the lit- VIUS. They created Aulus Cornelius arvins Dictator, who purfued the Samnites, and made A M. 3725, R. 424. L. ÆMILIUS MA- lo great a flaughter of them, that they begged MERCUS. CN. PLAUTIUS. The Conful for Peace, offering to furrender up all that his means the Inhabitants of Privirus obtained The Samutes were fent back again, and Peace was denied unto them. Pentius their General A.M. 3726; R. 425. C. or P. PLAUTIUS raifed all the force he could, and incamp'd on PROCULUS, P. CORNELIUS SCAPULA. the top of Furce Caudine, called now Strette d' Arpeia, or Jugo di Santa Maria, or Vallo di A. M. 1727. R. 426. CORNELIUS LEN- Guardano. Pontius ordered ten, the most reso-TULUS, Q. PUBL. PHILO. Claudius lute of his Souldiers, to difguise themselves Marcellus, was chosen Dictator to op-like Shepherds, and gave them some Cattel to pose the Samnites Naulaus. The Senate dispu-drive: these new Shepherds were taken by the ted his Election, but the people maintained Roman Forragers, who brought them before the Confuls. They were feverally examined, M. M. 3728. R. 427. C. PETILIUS, L. PA- and all affirmed that the Sammites were busied PYRIUS MALUGINENSIS, or CURSOR. at the siege of Luceria. The Consuls de-Alexander King of Epirus was killed in Lucania, ceived by this false report, went down now called Ballicates. The fifth Lettifternium thro the narrow paffage of the Valley; but as or Banquet was celebrated, because of the soon as they were got into it, the Sammites apgreat affairs the Roman had upon their peared upon the tops of the Mountains. They endeavoured all they could to pass the Defile, A. M. 3729. R. 428. L. FURIUS CAMIL- but the passage was stopt with strongbarricadoes LUS, DECIUS JUNIUS BRUTUS SCÆVA. of Trees hewn down. Then they attempted to A War was proclaimed against the Marsi, and go back again, but they found their retreat Comillus marched against the Samnites; but he obstructed; so that they were taken like Wild fell fick, and named L. Papyrius Curfor Dicta- Boars in Nets. The Sammites brought them all tor, who being obliged to go to Rome, to of- under shameful subjection. M. Fabius Ambustu

the Army to Esvius, expreisly forbidding him to attack the Enemy, let the opportunity be e-PHILO, L. PAPYRIUS CURSOR. The ver fo fair. Fabing feeing that the absence of Consuls of the foregoing year delivered themthe Dictator made the parameter grow careless, selves up willingly to the Samuites, with the chofe rather to hazard his life , than needest other Commanders who had figned the Treaty fo fair an opportunity of defeating the ene- of the Furce Coudine, to wash away the shame mies. He attacked them in their Camp, cb-the Remm p-ople had been reproached with took ir, and conquer'd Pontes, and feven they fent some of their acquaintance to them. thousand of his men, and let six hundred He- who made them so very drunk, that they flages at liberty, that were kept Prisoner brought them in Waggons to Rome. After there.

CURSOR, or MALUGINENSIS, Q. ÆMI- go back again, but they were forbid upon pain LIUS CERETANUS. They named M. A. of death to go out of the Town, and were unility Papur Dictator. Papyrius put the Garrison allowed to mask themselves during three days of the Sammites to the Sword, which had been every year. Junius re-took Luceria, and killed driven from Satricum.

A. M. 3735 R. 434. M. FOLLIUS FELCItwo years only was granted to the Sammites, fought the Tuscans and got the victory over instead of the Peace they sued for. A Roman them, but the Sammites got the day against the Governour was fent to Capua for the first other Conful. L. Papyrins Curfor was then cre-

A. M. 3736. R. 435. C. JUNIUS BUBUL-CUS, Q. ÆMILIUS BARBULA. The Roman Law began to be received in all Italy.

A. M. 3737. R. 436. AULUS SPURIUS er SEMPRONIUS NAUTIUS RUTILIUS, the Statues of the Gods were to pass. M. POPILIUS LÆNAS. They made L. Æmilius Dictator, who engaged twice the sam MUS, P. DECIUS MUS. Sabellicus mentimites; in the first engagement the advantage one neither of them. The Consuls got several was equal on both fides: but in the fecond advantages, one over the Sammires, and the ofight the Samnies were defeated. Q. Fabius was ther over the Umbrians, who were quite elefted Diffator to fucceed him.

A. M. 3739. R. 438. M. PETILIUS LI-BO, C. SULPITIUS LONGUS. Coffederus mentions two other Confuls before thefe, viz. L. Papyrius Junior, Q. Publicius , or Publius Chile. .The Confuls took the Town of Sora by treachrey, and all the Inhabitants were put to the Sword , except only two hundred and twenty five of the chief Authors of the rebellion, who number of seven thousand men, should be were fent to Rome, where they were publickly publickly exposed to Sale.
whipt, and then beheaded. The Senate creaA. M. 3746. R. 445. L. CORNELIUS. whipt, and then beheaded. The Senate creared . Menenius Dictator.

A. M. 3740. R. 439. L. PAPYRIUS CUR-SOR, Q. JUNIUS BRUTUS BUBULCUS. Junus took Nola and the Fort of Fregelle. C.

to ftop the Plague.

his name via Appia was paved by his care. He | War with the Samnites, was Built. made alfothe Canal of Rome called Appian, which A. M. 3747. R. 446. L. POSTHUMIUS, brought the Anio into Rome, and was called Aqua T. MINUTIUS AUGURINUS. The Conthat name in twelve Families.

A. M. 3742 R. 441. C. JUNIUS BRU-TUS BUBULCUS, Q. ÆMILIUS BARBU- GERIO, or SAVERIO, P. SEMPRONIUS LA. The Players upon Flutes and other SOPHUS. The Peace was concluded with mufical Instruments quitted Rome and retired the Sannites. The Equi made some motions, concerning it. The War was renewed against drink in Temples. The Senate defired them the Sanm ict, and Papprius belieged Luctria, and to come again, but they refused; whereupon the fumes of the Wine were over, they were A. M. 3734. R. 433. LUCIUS PAPYRIUS amazed to find themselves in it, and would 20000 Samnites upon the spot.

A.M. 3743. R. 442. Q. FABIUS MAXI. NA, L. PLAUTIUS VENNO. A Truce for MUS, Q. MARTIUS RUTILIUS. Fabrus ated Dictator, who triumphed over the Samnites, and their flately Shields were laid by his orders in the place of the Affemblies; and this Ornament was fo taking, that they adorn'd in the like manner the Streets of Rome, where

A. M. 3744. R. 443. Q. FABIUS MAXI-

A. M. 3745. R. 444. Q. APPIUS CLAU-DIUS CÆCUS, L. VOLUMNIUS FLAM-MA. The Proconful Q. Pabius defeated the Samuites near Alif, and streightned them fo much in their Camp, that they could not get out of it, but upon condition of fubjecting themselves, and that their Consederates to the

ARVINA,Q. MARTIUS TREMULUS. Coneliss was much straitned in his Camp by the Sammites and want of Provisions. Martin his colleague hearing of the condition he was in-Betilliu was made Dictator to drive the Nail, came to his relief; the Sammites marched out to meet him, and fought him, but they were A. M. 3741. R. 440. M. VALERIUS, P. | quite routed, and loft thirty thousand men. DECIUS. Valerius made an end of the War Upon the absence of the Consuls, Cornelius Stiwith the Sammires. Apping Clauding came out of gio was created Dictator. The Temple of his Cenforship, during which the way called after Salut, devoted by Junius Bubulus during the Claudia: it carried the waters to the very top fuls belieged Beviana, and took it. The Colofs of Mount Aventini. All the Pontie died this of Hercules was found among the Spoils, and year, though they were thirty young men of was dedicated in the Capitol, having been first carried in the Consuls Triumph.

A. M. 3748. R. 447. L. SULPITIUS Ato Tiveli, because they were forbidden to out at last they disbanded their Armies so soon nate and the Patricians had always kept very and Tarentina. fecret among themselves. He did also put out A. M. 3754. R. 453. L. CORNELIUS the Fasti and Calendars, that every one might SCIPIO, FULVIUS CENTUMALUS. The know the Ferie, or Holidays, and dedicated Romans fent forme Forces to the affiftance of the Temple of Concord. This encreased the the Lucani against the Sammier, whom they demortification of the Patricians, who had then feated near Bovians. nothing left fecret. Q. Fabius Cenfor, endea- A. M. 3755. R. 454. Q. FABIUS MAXIvouring to hinder the Mob from having any MUS, P. DECIUS MUS. The Sammites lott thate in the elections of Magistrates, divided a Battle, in which three thousand two hunthe common people in four Tribes, which he dred of them were taken Prisoners, and four called the Tribes of the Town. The Senate thousand four hundred kill'd. was fo pleafed with it, that they granted Fabius A. M. 3756. R. 455. L. VOLUMNIUS the firname of Maximu, which he had not been FLAMMA, APPIUS CLAUDIUS. The able to obtain by a great many victories he Confuls got a great victory over the Sammires. had not over the Samnites, Tufe and and Umbians. They killed feven thousand of the Enemies, VENTINUS, SERVIUS CORNELIUS LEN-TULUS. A Colony of four thousand men the River called then Liris, or Clanius, and was fent to Sors, and another of fix thousand to now Garillan. Albana. The freedom of the City was granted A. M. 3757. R. 456. Q. FABIUS MAXI-Forces into Umbria to teprefs certain Forragers, Sammites, and the Umbrians leagued together, ways to get in, the Roman Forces filled up Armies being in view of one another, a Wolf Forragers in the Den.

man fubiection.

as they heard that the Confuls were marching | Conful Manlius fell off his Horfe, and broke his against them. C. Flavius, Son to Cheus Flavius Neck, and M. Valerius Maximus succeeded him. a freed man, was raifed to the dignity of Ædi- Rome was much preffed with famine, but was li Curulis, notwithstanding the oppositions of relieved by the care of Fabius Maximus them the Patricians. Flavius to be revenged of Commissioner for the Provisions. Two Tribes them, published the Civil Law, which the Se- were added to the former, viz. the Annians

A. M. 3749. R. 448. L. GENUTIUS A- land took two thousand Prisoners. A Colony was fent to Minturns, that lies at the mouth of

to the Apinates. They fent a small body of MUS, P. DECIUS MUS. The Tuscans, the who retired into a deep Den that had two and madeWar against the Renden people. The both ways with wood, and then fet it on that purfued a Hind, paffed in the fight of Fire, and fmothered two thousand of these both Armies; the Souldiers gave a great fhout, and frighted those creatures so much, A. M. 3750. R. 449. M. LIVIUS DEU- that the Wolf retired on the Romans fide, and TER, C. ÆMILIUS. The Æqui not being the Hind on the fide of the Sammites, who kilable to fuffer the yoke of the Romans, attack- led her. The Generals of the Roman Army ed the Colony of Albana, whereupon C. Janius improved this accident as a good omen, and Bubuleus was created Dictator to punish them, encouraged their Souldiers thereby. They told and in eight days time he suppressed them. them that the Wolf was an Animal consecrated He came back to Rome, where he dedicated to Mars, whom they adored as one of the Temple of Salas, which he had vowed dutheir first Gods. Then they recollected ring his Confulship. The Mirf rebelled, and the Fable of the Wolf of Remulu: the Hind, M. Valirius Maximus was made Dictator, who faid they, is confecrated to Diana, and the defeated them, and reduced them to the Ro- Samnites have doubt less provoked that Goddefs, by killing a creature that is under her Some record in this place M. VALERIUS protection. The Armies engaged with an CORVINUS MAXIMUS, and P. SEMPRO- extream fury, the Wing commanded by D. NIUS SOPHUS; but Live dorth not mention'em. cius, not being able to relift the ftrength of A. M. 3752. R. 451. M. VALERIUS COR- the Enemies yielded every where; when Decius VINUS MAXIMUS, Q. APULEIUS PAN- devoted himself to the Infernal Gods, es his SA. They created four Pontiffs, and five Au- Father had done before, and flung himself gurs out of the body of the People: So that into the thickest Batallions of the Enemies; the people shared all dignities of the Common- and yet Fabius had much ado to get the best wealth with the Patricians, having besides the of the day. There was at Rome a quarrel be-Populary Tribunes over and above their share. twixt Women, which was like to bring on a Value is proposed the Law of appealing to the great ditorder. Virginia Aulus, I'rginia his People from the Sentence, of the Senate, Daughter, and Valuemius his Wife, being awhen a Citizen was condemned to be whipt bout to perform her devotion in the Chappel of the Patrician Chastity, which stood A. M. 1753, R. 472. M. IULVIUS FOE- in the Oxe Market, near the Temple of Hercu-TUS, T. MANLIUS TORQUATUST The Lis; the Patrician Ladies would not admit her, faid the had degenerated in marrying a Ple- mand rich men, than to be rich himfelf. beian. Pheinia would not submit this conrest to the decision of the people; but she built a Chappel in the long Street, which the fent to Ceffre and Adris.

miss fell fick, the Sammites attacked the Camp account of the Citizens of Rome, who were of the Conful Attihut, and being favoured by then encreased to the number of two hundred a thick fog, made a great flaughter of his seventy thousand heads of Families. men. Postbumius having recovered his health, went into Tuscany, and there routed the Tuscant CELLUS, C. NAUTIUS RUTILIUS. The in two leveral encounters, took many Towns, people not being able to pay their Creditors, and then made a triumphal Entry.

SOR, SPURIUS CARVILIUS. The samniter raifed an Army more numerous and powTITUS MAXIMUS, C. ÆLIUS POETUS. erful than before. They affembled all their The Gault belieged Aretium in Tuscany. The Forces together near Aquilonia, and made a Conful Elius attempting to relieve the Town. retrenchment in the midst of their Camp with lost his Army and life there. boards and hurdles of rods wall'd together, A. M. 3767. R. 466. C. CLAUDIUS, M. and killed three and thirty thousand three hun- Ambassadors, who were sent to them to defuls triumphed. The nineteenth Luftram was Remans got the best on't. folemnized, and the account of the Citizens A. M. 3768. R. 467. C. SERVILIUS TUCbeing taken, amounted to two hundred fixty CA. L. CÆLIUS or CÆCILIUS METELtwo thousand three hundred and twenty two LUS. The Tarentini took some Roman Galleys. heads of Families. The Remans being afflict- and killed the Commander thereof. ed with the Plague, fent an Embaffy to Epider, if possible, to bring him to Rome.

Fabius fought the Samuites fo imprudently, that together. it was almost agreed upon to recall him; but joy. And this great man having restor'd the sed the Siege. former posture of affairs, obtain d for his Son the honour of Triumph.

C. JUNIUS BRUTUS BUBULCUS. The Romans, implored the affiftance of Pyrrbus King Roman Ambassadors got leave of the Inhabi- of Epirus, who was very glad of that opportutants of Epidaurus to bring along with them the nity. God Esculapius under the shape of a great Sermans built there a Temple to his honour.

TU3. Curius triumphed twice, viz. over the and party. Samnites at d Sabini. The first made an attempt A. M. 3773 R. 472. C. FABRICIUS LUSupon the fide ity of Cariar, and offered him a CUS, Q. ÆMILIUS PAPPUS. One of Pyrrich present of clate, instead of earthen Dishes has's Physicians came to Eabrican, and offered tho fhe was of a Patrician Family, becausethey Iman told them, 'twas more glotious to com-

A. M. 3763. R. 462. M. VALERIUS, Q. CÆDITIUS NOCTUA Colonies were divored to the Prebeian Chaftity.

A. M. 3764. R. 463. Q. MARTIUS TREM. 3758. R. 457. LUCIUS POSTMULUS, P. CORNELIUS ARVINA. They HUMIUS, ATTILIUS REGULUS. PgffsCelbus, P. Cornelius and Lightman, and took

A.M. 3665. R. 464. M. CLAUDIUS MARrebelled, and retired to Janiculum. The Dicta-A. M. 3759. R. 458. L. PAPYRIUS CUR. tor Q. Heratius pacified the fedition.

cover'd with linnen cloaths, and armed them ÆMILIUS LEPIDUS. The Gault, contrary with rich and fine arms. Papyrim engag'd them, to the Laws of Nations, murthered the Roman dred of them upon the spot, and made three mand the prisoners took before Aritium, This thousand eight hundred prisoners. The Con- was the occasion of a bloody War, but the

A. M. 3769. R. 468. Q. CORNELIUS DOdaurus with rich presents for Esculapius, in or- LABELLA, CN. DOMITIUS CALVUS. Dolabella defeated the Gauls, who came to beliege A. M. 3760. R. 459. Q. FABIUS GUR- Rome, which obliged them to make peace with GES, DECIUS JUNIUS BRUTUS SCEVA. the Romans, which continued for forty years

A. M. 3770. R. 469. C. FABRICIUS LUS-Fabius Maximus , his Father, to prevent that dif- CUS, Q. ÆMILIUS PAPPUS. The Brutigrace, offered himself to serve as his Sons ans and Lucamians besieged Tauranum in Cala-Lieutenant. The Senate accepted of it with bria. Fabricius marched against them, and rai-

A. M. 3771. R. 470. L. ÆMILIUS BARBU-LA, Q MARTIUS PHILIPPUS. The Ta-A. M. 3761. R. 460. L POSTHUMIUS, rentini finding themselves hard pressed by the

A. M. 3772. R. 471. P. VALERIUS LEVIpent, who presented himself to them in his NUS, T. CORUNCANUS NEPOS. Pyrrhus Temple, and followed them to Rome. He came into Italy; fought the Roman Army, and landed at an Island in the Tyber, and the Ro- defeated it by means of his Elephants, the Romans having never feen any before. Eutropius A. M. 3762. R. 461. P. CORNELIUS RU- fays that Pyrrhus advanced as far as Pranelle, FINUS, M. or ANNIUS CURIUS DENTA- and that in his match he increased his forces

they saw him making use of : but this great to poyson the King; but the Consul was struck him back to his Master, with a full account of his ill delign. Pyrrhus was fo pleafed with the generolity of the Couful, that he tent him all the Prisoners he had taken at the defeat of Lecinus. However, these mutual kindnesses did not make an end of the War; for they fought, and Pyrrhus again obtained the Victory.

A. M. 3774. R. 473. P. SULPITIUS SA-VERIO, P. DECIUS MUS. This fecond misfortune did not cast down the courage of the Confuls, they order'd their Souldiers to attack the Elephants only, which they performed with fuch success, that those creatures feeling themselves wounded, ran away, put their own Souldiers in disorder, and gave the Remans an opportunity to get an entire Victory. Pyrrbus loft twenty thousand men, and was wounded in the fight.

A. M. 3775. R. 47+ P. CORNELIUS RU-FUS, C.JUNIUS BRUTUS. Pyrrhus his confederates were punished.

A. M. 3776. R. 475. Q. FABIUS GURGES, C. GENUTIUS. Several Prodigies terrified the Roman people, and particularly a Thundetbolt, which struck off the head of the Statue of Jupiter Capitolinus.

A. M. 3777. R. 476. MANIUS, or M. CU-RIUS DENTATUS C. CORNELIUS DENTATUS. Curius engaged Pyrrhus, defected him, and killed three and twenty thousand of his Soldiers. The honour of triumph was permitted him, and four Elephants were shown the first time at Rome. After this overthrow Pyrrhus returned into Greece, and came no more into Italy.

. A. M. 3778. R. 477. SERVIUS CORNE-LIUS, M. CURIUS DENTATUS. C. Fabritius Cenfor, expelled P. Cornelius Rufinus a Confulary man out of the Senate, because he found fifteen marks of filver utenfils in his houte.

A.M. 3779. R. 478. C. FABRICIUS LI-CINIUS of LUSCUS, C. CLAUDIUS CIN-NA. They numbred the people, and found two hundred feventy one thouland two hundred twenty four heads of Families. Ptolomeus Philadelphus fent an Embaffy to Rome, to make a league with the Romans. Eutropius reckons this year to be the four hundred and fixty first after the foundation of Rome, and Cornelius Nepos the four hundred and feventieth. A. M. 3780. R. 479. L. PAPYRIUS CUR-SOR. C. SERVILIUS. The Veftal Scattlia was convicted of lewdnefs, contrary to the constitution of her order, and was put to death according to the laws.

A. M. 3781, R. 480. C. QUINTIUS GU-LOX, L. GENUTIUS. Eutropius mentions M. Felius Pictor in the room of Genetius, omitting the following Confels.

with horror at his base treachety, and sent | CORNELIUS BLASIO. The Mamertini, whom the Carthaginians had called to their affiftance, besieged them in their own Cittadel. These Mamertini were Souldiers of Campania, who after having ferved under Agathocles, as Saballicus reports, or under Hiere, according to Polybius, were put in Garrison in Messina. They were so taken with the situation and conveniency of the place, that they resolved to settle there, and for that purpose killed all the male Inhabitants whom they came to relieve, and having feized upon all their effects, and their Wives, they began a new fettlement. They were called Mamertini, that is, the Children of

A M. 3783. R. 482. Q. FABIUS PICTOR, Q. OGULIUS GALLUS. There is nothing more recorded of these Consuls, but their

A. M. 3784. R. 483. SEMPRONIUS SO-PHUS, APPIUS CLAUDIUS CRASSUS. The Legion who had feized upon Rhegium during the Confulfhip of L. Æmiliur, was now belieged and forced to furrender at discretion. All the Soldiers were beheaded. Polybius tells us, that this Legion confifted of Romans, but Florus fays it was made up of the Inhabitants of Campania, and the Town of

A. M. 3785. R. 484. M. ATTILIUS RE-GULUS, L. JUNIUS LIBO. They begun to use Money at Rome, fays Eutropius, and the number of Quaftors was encreafed.

A. M. 3786. R. 485. DECIUS JUNIUS MUS, CN. FABIUS PICTOR. Volfinia, one of the chiefest Communities in Tuscany, was oppressed by the Slaves, whom they had made free. Decius subdued that Rabble, and punished

A M. 3787. R. 486. Q. FABIUS MAXI-MUS GURGES, L. MANLIUS.

A.M. 3788. R. 487. APPIUS CLAUDIUS. Q. FULVIUS I-LACCUS. Aurelius Victor names Appius Cl. Caudex, and fays, that he was Brother to Appius Claudius Cacus: but he could be but either his Son or his Nephew. The Mamertini, the greatest villains in the world, begged the affiftance of Romans, who affifted them rather out of policy and felf interest, than affection or justice. This year the barbarous show of the Gladiators began first; M. and Decius Brutus invented it, to grace the Funeral pomp of their Fathers. Florus mentions it not till three years after.

A. M. 3789. R. 488. M.VALERIUS MAXI-MUS, M. OTTACILIUS. The Conquest of Sicily was attempted, and four compleat legions were fent on that expedition. Valerius brought from the City of Catanea in Sicily the first Dial that ever was feen at Rome. It was A.M. 3782. R. 48t. C. GENUTIUS, CN. fet up upon a Pillar over against the Roffra.

eny, and this was the first time that the Roman | far as the coasts of Africa. Horse passed over the Sea. He gave Battle to the Carthaginians, and vanquished them, and by this enterprize had the honour to be the first of all the Romans that got a victory out of He fent the skin thereof to Rome.

A. M. 3790. R. 489. L. POSTHUMIUS, Q. MANLIUS. The Confuls took the Town of Agragas, tho it was relieved by Hanne General of the Garthaginians, with whom the Re-mans had a very bloody Battle . A. M. 1791, R. 490. L. VALERIUS FLAC-CUS, T. OTTACILIUS CRASSUS. The Romans fitted out a Fleet, and put sixscore Galleys to Sea. This was the first Navy the in a fight, where they lost thirty thousand Romans ever had. The Inhabitants were num- men, besides fifteen thousand that were taken bred, and amounted to three hundred feventy two thousand two hundred and fourscore heads of Families, according to Florus, but Eutropius's account amounts only to two hundred and ninety two thousand three hundred thirty

A. M.3792. R. 491. CN. CORNELIUS A-SINA, C. DUELLIUS NEPOS. Cornelius was treacheroufly belieged by Annibal, Duellius his colleague revenged the Treachery; for he funk many of the Carthaginian Galleys, took fifty of them, and chased the Admiral, with all the remaining Ships. After this great vi-Story, Duellius returned to Rome, where he had the first Naval Triumph. He was also allowed to have a Torch carried before him in the night, and players upon the Flute to attend

A.M. 3793. R. 492. L. AQUILIUS FLO-RUS, L'CORNELIUS SCIPIO. Cornelius defeated the Carthaginians in the Isle of Carfica, where Home their General was killed, fighting for the defence of the Town of Olbia. The Conful buried him very honourably,

A. M. 3794 R. 493 AULUS ATTILIUS COLLATINUS, Q. or C. SULPITIUS PA-TERCULUS. The two Confuls offered the CarsharmiamBartle before Palermo, but they refused it. TheConful Attilius, out of rafhness, attempting to engage the Carthaginian Fleet, had a severe rebuke, but his Lieutenant by his prudence attoned for it. The Islands of Sardinia and Corfice furrendred themselves to the Remans after the taking of Caralla.

A M. 3795. R. 494. C. CORNELIUS, ATTILIUS according to Caffiedorus, or M. ATTILIUS REGULUS and L. MAN-LIUS according to Polybius, Eutrolius and Florus. The Confuls put out to Sea with three hundred and fifty Sail , and Pritoner with them to treat for peace; but a hundred and forty thousand men. The the Conful diffwaded the Roman from it, and Carthaginians came up to meet them with an from exchanging the Prisoners, wherefore they equal force, but the success was not alike, fent back the Ambassadors : Regulus return'd

Claudius went over into Sicily with a fine Ar . funk, fixty four taken, and the rest chas'd as Attiliur destroyed a dreadful Serpent, fixscore foot long whole Scales were fo hard, that they were forc'd to make use of a Balifta to kill him.

A. M. 3796. R. 495. Q. CÆDITIUS, L. MANLIUS or M. ATTILIUS REGULUS. Neither Polybius, Eutropius, or Florus mention these Consuls. The Carthaginians having lost three Generals, and above eighteen thousand men kill'd in feveral Fights, besides five thoufand Prifoners, fent to Sparta to get a General. The Spartans fent them Xantippus, a prudent man and a great Captain, who beat the Romans Prisoners, with the Conful Regulus.

A. M. 3797. R. 496. M. ÆMILIUS PAU-LUS . SERVIUS FULVIUS NOBILIOR. The Carthaginians, proud of this Victory, pur again to Sea, and engag'd the Confuls near Camarins. The Fight was long and obstinate, but the Romans got the victory, and took a hundred and fourteen Ships of the Enemies. At their return home, they met with fuch tempeffuous weather, that they could fave but fourfcore of their Ships.

A. M. 3798. R. 497. AULUS ATTILI-US. or according to Polybius, L. AQUILIUS, C. CORNELIUS ASINA. The Confuls betieged Palerma, the chiefest City of the Carthaginians in Sicily, and took it before it could be relieved. The Senate to repair the loss of the former year, put two hundred and forty Ships to Sea, which they fent to bring all that could be recovered of the first Fleet.

A. M. 3799. R. 498. C. SERVILIUS, C. SEMPRONIUS. Eutropius and Sabellicus call the first by the Sirname of Capie, and the fecond by that of Blafus. The Remans loft two hundred and fifty Ships by stress of weather, upon which they laid up the remainder of their Fleet, except threescore Gallies, which they kept to guard the Coasts of Italy.

A.M. 3800. R. 499. C. AURELIUS COTTA, P. SERVILIUS GEMINUS. The Confuls went over into Sicily, but there was nothing remarkable done on neither fide.

A. M. 3801. R. 500. L. CÆCILIUS, L. FURIUS or C. CURIUS, fays Sabellicus. Eutropius gives the first the firname of Metellus, and the fecond that of Pacillus. The Carthaginians fustain'd several Losses both by Sea and Land. and thereupon they fent Ambassadors to Rome, and the Conful Attilus Regulus, who was their for thirty two of the Enemies Galleys were | with them according to his Parole. The Car-

baginians being exasperated with this denial, points of Nails, and roll'd it about till the generous Roman expired.

A. M. 1802. R. 501. C. ATTILIUS RE-GULUS, L. MANLIUS VOLSO. The Confuls went over into Sicily, and belieged Lilibeum both by Sea and Land. Annibal got into the place with ten thousand men, and made a upon a white Horse. vigorous Sally, having burnt the Romans En-

A. M. 3803. R. 502. P. CLAUDIUS PUL-CHFR, L. JUNIUS. Claudius seeing that the fiege of Lilibeum took up a great deal of time, formed a defign upon Drepanum a Sea-Town ! able happen'd this Year. but Aldrubal who commanded in the place. having notice of it, drew his Forces in a line of Battle at the mouth of the Harbour : Claudius was amaz'd to fee his Enemy in this pofture; yet thought fit for the honour of the miral of the Carthaginians, who had infelted Romans to attack him, but Adrubal funk many | the Coasts of Italy for five years together. The of his Ships, and took ninety three. The fu- Carthaginiam had notice of these Sea preparatipersitious people imputed this loss to the ons, and fitted out a like number of Ships. flight Claudius had made of the Augur of the The two Fleets engaged, and the Remans had facred Birds: for the Cage being brought be- the advantage. Eutropius fays, that thirteen fore him that he might take himself the Augur, thousand of the Enemies were kill'd, and two and feeing that the Birds did not flir towards and thirty thousand made Prisoners. This loss the Corn that was laid there for them, he threw the Cage and the Birds into the Sea, ed, upon condition that they should quit Sicifaying, "Let them drink, fince they won't eat. The people was number'd, and there was found two hundred-fifty one thousand two hundred every year during the space of twenty years. And twenty two heads of Families. Junius failed thus ended the first Punick or Carthaginian War, being inform'd of the course he was steering, flood off to Sea, and kept his Fleet under fail. to prevent the joining of the two Fleets; but CATULUS, AULUS MANLIUS TOR-forefeeing a great florm approaching, he re- QUATUS. The Confuls triumph'd over the tired under shelter. The Romans who had but Falifei, whom they defeated in fix days, havlittle experience in Sea affairs, feeing them- ving kill'd fifteen thousand of their men, and felves at liberty, attempted to join their Galleys; but they were on a fudden overtaken by fo tempestuous weather, that they lost most TO, M. SEMPRONIUS TRUDITANUS. part of their Ships.

A. M. 3804. R. 503. P. SERVILIUS GEfiege of Lilibaum was continued without any confiderable fuccefs.

A. M. 3805. R. 504. L. CÆCILIUS MEmistakes the Mountain for the Ciry.

A. M. 3806. R. 505. M. FABIUS BU- the Roman Stage. TEO, M. OTTACILIUS CRASSUS. The A. M. 3814. R. 513. T. SEMPRONIUS and render'd unfit for any Enterprize.

A. M. 3807. R. 506. M. FABIUS, C. ATTIshew'd their relentment to Regulus, and in- LIUS. Florus thinks that the Prætors were first vented punishment for him both new and created this year; but this fort of Magistracy cruel: they put him in a Veffel stuck full with was in use in Rome the year before the Confulfhip of L. Emilius and L. Sextius. One of them administred Justice to the Citizens of the Commonwealth, the other to the Foreigners that came to Rome. They were allowed to use Ivory Chairs, and were clothed like the Confuls, attended by fix Lictors, and rode

A. M. 3808. R. 507. A. MANLIUS TORQUATUS, C. SEMPRONIUS. The War continued in Sicily.

A. M. 3809. R. 508. C. FUNDANIUS, C. SULPITIUS GALLUS. Nothing remark-

A. M. 3810. R. 509. C. LUTTATIUS, A. POSTHUMIUS. Luttatius got together two hundred Galleys, with five Banks of Oars each (Quinqueremes) to drive away Amilear Adobliged them to fue for peace, which was grantly, and pay two thousand Talents ready Money for the charges of the War, and two hundred for Sicily with fixty Ships, thinking to rein- which had continued four and twenty years, force his Fleet with the like number of Gal- according to Polibius, and two and twenty, acleys; but Cartala Admiral of the Carthaginians, cording to Eutropius. The Temple of Janus was fhut up.

A. M. 3811. R. 510. Q. LUTTATIUS conquer'd half of their Country.

A. M. 3812. R. 511. C. CLAUDIUS CEN-King Hiere came to Rome to fee the publick Shews, and made a present to the Roman peo-MINUS, C. AURELIUS COTTA. The ple, of two hundred thousand Bushels of

A M. 3813. R. 512. C. MANLIUS, Q. or P. VALERIUS ILACCUS. The Romans TELLUS, CN. FABIUS BUTEO. There fent to Prolomeus King of Egypt, to offer him a was a fight upon Mount Eryx, which Jurius succour of Forces, against King Antiochus; but had formerly taken. Sabellitus fays that Junius he return'd them thanks, and would not accept seiz'd upon Erice, but in all probability he of it. One Licinus, says Eutropius, about this time introduc'd Comedy and Tragedy upon

I leet of the Confuls was scatter'd by a storm, GRACCHUS, L. CORNELIUS or L, VA-

LERIU3 FLACCUS. The Romans accepted A. M. 3826. R. 525. L. APUSTEIUS, M. of Sardinia, which offered to furrender to them. VALERIUS MESSALA. The Gauls entred The Carthaginians were very much displeased into Italy with seventy thousand men, and the

A. M. 3815. R. 514. L. CORNELIUS, Q. hundred forty eight thousand foot, and fifty FULVIUS. Eurropius fays, that the first of thousand eight hundred Horse, these Consuls was sirnamed Lentulus, and the fecond Flaccus. Fulvius made was in Liguria: burnt down the Forests, in which the Enemy lengag'd the Romans, and quite routed them. used to retire.

RUS, P. CONELIUS LENTULUS. The the remainder of the Forces of Amilian that Confuls routed the Ligarians, who were fo bold were behind them, fo that they were beaten, to attack the Romans on the plain.

A. M. 3817. R. 516. T. MANLIUS TOR-QUATUS, C. ATTILIUS BALBUS. The Roman fide Attilius was kill'd. Confuls chastiz'd the Sardinians, and Triumph- A. M. 3828. R. 527. T. MANLIUS TOR-

ALBINUS, SPURIUS CARVILIUS MAXI- oblig'd the Confuls to retire, without having MUS, or according to Eutropius, CN. FUL- done any confiderable thing. VIUS CENTUNCULUS. War was plo- A. M. 3829. R. 528. T. MANLIUS TORclaim'd against the Illyrians, and the Consuls QUATUS, Q. FURIUS PHILO or C. FLAdifarmed the Ligurians.

A. M. 3819. R. 518. Q. FABIUS MAXI- into the Milanese, fought the Enemies with MUS, M. POMPONIUS MATHO. Tullia success, and made his triumphal entry, nota veftal Virgin was convicted of Unchaftiry, withflanding the opposition of the Senate, and punish'd with death.

PIDUS, M. PUBLICIUS MALLEO. Au-theSenate defign dto depose him, for some defect thors relate nothing of what was transacted of Formalities in his Election, and for that during this Confulfaip.

A. M. 3821. R. 520. C. PAPYRIUS MASdown in the Calendars. SO, M. POMPONIUS MATHO.

King of Illyria, revolted from her, and joined rus King of the Gauls.

with another party. POSTHUMIUS ALBINUS, CN. FULVIUS | ral Merchants made a complaint to the Senate, CENTUMALUS. Postbumius went into 14y- that the Adriatick Sea was become dangerous, rium, where having joined his Forces with because of the Piracies of the Italians. Rome those of Demetrius, he took the Towns of Apol- took hold on this pretence to proclaim war lonia and Corcyra, and many other places: against them. Whereupon Queen Tenca was forc'd to fue for A. M. 3832. R. 531. L. VETURIUS PHIpeace, which was granted to her, upon condi- LO, C. LUTTATIUS CATULUS. Hantion that the should pay a yearly Tribute, and nibal laid siege to Saguntum. The Saguntines that the Towns then taken should remain to fent for succour to Rome. The Romans sent the Conqueror.

US CARVILIUS. The number of Prætors cepted of the war, that the Deputies declared was incresed to four.

up Arms against the Romans, and Departures, Hamilton way were finish d. whom they had made King of Phares joined his Forces with theirs.

Romans opposed them with an Army of eight

A. M. 1827. R. 526. C. ATTILIUS. MA. MILIUS LEPIDUS or PAPPUS. The Gaule but as they were returning home, they fell A.M. 2816. R. etc. C. LICINIUS VAR- between the Army of the Conful Attilius, and and loft forty thousand men in this engagement, with Corgolitanus their King; on the

ed for the fame. The Temple of Janus was QUATUS, Q. FULVIUS FLACCUS. They carried on the War in Liguria and Lombardia: A. M. 2818. R. 517. L. POSTHUMIUS but the Plague and the continued Rains

MINIUS NEPOS. This laft Conful enter'd Flaminius is not reckon'd among the Confuls. A. M. 3820. R. 519. M. ÆMILIUS LE- neither in the Fasti, nor by Cassiodorus, because reason it may be, that his name was not fet

A. M. 3831. R. 529. M. CLAUDIUS A. M. 3822. R. 521. M. ÆMILIUS BAR- MARCELLUS, CN. CORNELIUS SCIPIO. BULA, M. JUNIUS PERA. Demetrius King They made war against the Milanejes and Lomof Phares hearing of the preparations the Remans bards, Marcellus took Milan, and returned to made against Queen Tema, Widow to Agron Rome with great booty, having kill'd Veridomaith another party.

A. M. 3831. R. 530. P. CORNELIUS

A. M. 3831. R. 530. P. CORNELIUS

A. M. 3831. R. 510. P. CORNELIUS

A. M. 3831. R. 510. P. CORNELIUS

A. M. 3831. R. 510. P. CORNELIUS

Deputies to Carthage to complain of it; but A. M. 3824. R. 523. Q. FABIUS SPURI-the Carthaginians, against Hanna's opinion, acagainst them. The Inhabitants of Sanguntum A. M. 3825. R. 524. P. VALERIUS, M. being reduced to the last extremity, choic ra-ATTILIUS REGULUS. The Country ther to fet their Town on fire, and burn all taken from the Gauls was given to the their Goods and themselves withal, than sur-Soldiers; and that imboldened them to take Irender to the Enemy. The Cocas and the

A. M. 3833. R. 532. M. LIVIUS SALI- the Romans, when they faw their whole Army NATOR, L. ÆMILIUS PAULUS. This in the Forest. year two hundred and seventy thousand heads A. M. 3837. R. 536. T. SEMPRONIUS of Families were number'd in Rome. The GRACCHUS, MARCUS CLAUDIUS MARenfranchis'd Slaves, who had been hitherto di- CELLUS. The noise of Thunder being heard fiributed amongst Tribes, were divided into during the creation of the Confuls, the Senate four, which were called Equilina, Palatina, perswaded the People that this bad Omen was Suburrana, and Collina.

SCIPIO, T. SEMPRONIUS LONGUS. The las of his own accord laid down his Conful-War being proclaimed against the Carthagini- ship, and deliver'd up his place to Q. Fabius ans, the Romans made publick processions to Maximus, who restored the affairs of the Reobtain the favour of the Gods. The Roman mans by dilatory methods. Army was four and twenty thousand Foot, and eighteen hundred Horse strong, all Romans born, besides four and forty thousand Foot, and four thousand Horse of Confedetop or team, in-light and fplitting the Rocks that fieged.

M. 1839. R. 138. Q. FABIUS MAXIwere in his way with Fire and Vinegar. C. A. M. 1839. R. 138. Q. FABIUS MAXImellia advanced against him, and met him upMUS, T. SEMPRONIUS GRACCHUS. on the banks of the Teffena, where they enga- Rome was fet on fire and the Incendiaries could ged, and Hamibal was victorious. Sempronius not be discovered. Sifax King of Numidia came to relieve his Colleague, but he had no made a League with the Romans. Maffiniffs the better fuccefs.

A. M. 3835. R. 534. CN. SERVILIUS GEMINUS, C. QUINTIUS FLAMINIUS. but he had fifteen thousand men kill'd in the he could not be forced to fight. Fight, and eight thousand made Prisoners. power with the Dictator.

willingly accepted it. The Fight began with pio was delivered up to the Enemies by the an incredible eagerness, and was so bloody, Celtiberians, or the people of Arragon, and put mital fent to Rome three bufhels of thole Rings, Armies of the Carehaginian.

A.M. 3841. R. 540. CN. FLAVIUS CENQuality. This overthrow has render'd the TUMALUS, P. SULPITIUS GALBA. Envice of the loss of the Army that Postbumius the pos'd to fale. Practor commanded in Gael, which was cruthed A. M. 3842. R. 541. M. CLAUDIUS to death, and buried under the Trees of the MARCELLUS, M. VALERIUS LEVINUS.

occasioned, because the two Consuls were Ple-A. M. 3834. R. 533. P. CORNELIUS beians. To avoid all disputes about it, Marcel-

- Cunctando restituit rem. Enn.

A. M. 3838. R. 537. FABIUS MAXIMUS, rate Troops; and the Carthaginians were four- M. CLAUDIUS MARCELLUS. Marcellus fore thousand Foot, and ten thousand Horse. met Hannibal near Nola, and engaged him, but Hannibal entered Italy with this Army, and he got no great advantage over him. The two came to the foot of the Alps about the fifteenth Scipio's did wonders in Spain. Cneus Scipio forc'd of Offober, and in fine days he got up to the the Camp of Aldrubal, and put a supply into top of them, in spight of the High-landers and Illiturgis, which the Carthaginians had be-

Son of Gala, a young Prince, seventeen years of age, defeated Sifax and killed thirty thousand of his men. Fabius followed Hannibal every The Conful Flaminiss was fent against Hannibal, where, and encamped so advantageously, that

A. M. 3840. R. 539. Q. FULVIUS FLAC-Q. Fabius Maximus was made Dictator; his wife CUS, APPIUS CLAUDIUS PULCHER. and prudent conduct was suspected by the Ro- Hannibal took Tarentum by the treachery of mans, who order'd by a Plebiscitum, that the Philomenes and Nice, two young Gentlemen of General of the Horse should bear an equal that place. Marcellus took Syracusa by storm, having layn before it for three years together, A. M. 3836. R. 535. C. TERENTIUS during which time Archimedes alone, made VARRO, L. ÆMILIUS PAULUS. The more resistance against him with his Engines, two Confuls offer'd battle to Hannibal, who than all the Arms of the Carthaginians. P. Scithat forty thousand Romans, with the Conful to death by the Carthaginians. Cneus his Brother Emilius himself, were kill'd on the spot. Han- was a short time after overpower'd by three Village of Canna femous to posterity. M. Ju- vius besieged Capua, which surrender'd to him nius was created Dictator; They raised new after a siege of two years. He put to death Forces, and armed eight thousand Slaves, that fifty fix Senators, which were found alive, were bought for that purpose. To compleat the others being dead during the siege, and all their misfortunes, the Romins received ad- the rest of the Inhabitants were publickly ex-

Forest Livana. The Gauli had half saw'd those This last Consul made an end of the Sicilian Trees, but kept them standing by means of war, by the taking of Agrigatium, which was Ropes and other things, and let them fall on the last place belonging to the Carthaginiam.

P. Cernelius Scipio came into Spain as Proconful, Ihim) to be thrown among the Carebaginian; tho he was but four and twenty years of age. and at the fight of this fad spectacle Hamibal He took Nova Carthage by ftorm, and got a uttered these words. Now I deubt no more of the very rich booty both of Ammunition and misfortune of Carthage. Both Confuls tri-Provisions, besides many Hostages, that the umphed : Living on a Triumphal Chariot, and Spaniards had delivered to the Garthaginians, and among them a very beautiful young Ladv. Scipie enquired about her Country and Family, and being told that the was betrothed to a young Geltiberies Prince named Allaciw, he fent immediately for her Parents and LO, Q. CÆCILIUS METELLUS. Scipie her Bridegroom, to whom he delivered up his Spoule, and fent them back again. Valerius Maximus relating this paffage, calls the Bridegroom Indibilis, instead of Allucius, but Polybiss, who lived in the time of that Illustrious Roman, nor Livy do not confound him with Indibilia, whom they call King of the Mergetes.

A. M. 3843. R. 542. Q. FABIUS MAXI-MUS CUNCTATOR, Q. FULVIUS FLAC-CUS. Twelve Roman Colonies refused their usual Supplies of Men and Money : whereupon the Senate was obliged to have recourse to the Treasure called derarium vicessimarum, which never was made use of but in very urging necessities. They took out of it four thousand pound weight of Gold, which were applied to the most pressing exigencies. Scipie went on with the Conquelts in Spain. He made a Confederacy with Indibilis, and Mandenius, the two greatest Princes of Spain. whose friendship he had gained by setting at liberty their Wives and Children, whom he had taken in Nova Carthago. He defeated Afdrubal, and poffels'd himfelf of his Camp, where he got a great booty.

A. M. 3844. R 543. M. CLAUDIUS MAR-CELLUS, TITUS QUINTIUS CRISPI-NUS. Both Coululs fell into an Ambufcado of the enemy, where Marcellus was killed, and Crispinus so wounded, that he died in few days after of his wounds, having named Dictat or T. Manlius Terquatus.

A.M. 3845. R. 544. C. CLAUDIUS NE-RO, MARCUS LIVIUS, whom Caffiedorus calls SALINATOR. Afdrubal Barcha came into Italy, to the relief of Haunibal his broraised the Siege, and encamped upon the banks of Metaurus in Umbris. Nere joined his Colleague with fuch of the Troops as were able to march, with the utmost diligence; the Confuls offered Battel to Adrubal, who accepted of it, and was killed in this fight, with five and fifty thousand of his men, and five thousand made prisoners. Nero being seturned to his Camp, ordered the head or A:

Nere only on Horseback, because he had fought in the Army of his Colleague. Nero named Dictator his Colleague Livius, to prefide in the Affemblies.

A. M. 3846. R. 545. L. VETURIUS PHIwent over into Africa, having made a league with Sifex King of part of Numidia, and upon his return from that journey fell fo dangerously ill, that they gave him over for dead. This false report being spread in Spain, Indibilis rebelled, and the Reman Army itself mutinied, and requested to return into Italy; but the recovery of Scipie calmed their minds. The Carthaginians priverted Sifax from the Confederacy made with Scipie, and gave him to wife Sophmubs , Afdrubal Gifes's daughter, who was promifed a long time before to Prince Mallanilla.

A. M. 3847. R. 546. P. CORNELIUS SCIPIO AFRICANUS, P. LICINIUS CRAS-SUS. Mago came into Italy to the relief of Hamibal. C. Offavias, Prator of Sicily, croffing the Sea, took eight Ships laden with Corn defign'd for Hannibal's Army. The Prator of Spain souted the Spaniards, and Indibilis their Commander was kill'd in the fight, wherein he behaved himfelf with a great deal of cou-

A. M. 3848. R. 547. M. CORNELIUS whom Caffedorus calls CETHEGUS, P. SEM-PRONIUS TUDITANUS. Scipio belieged Utics; Sifax and Afdrabal came to relieve it with four and fifty thousand foot, and thirteen thousand horse. Scipie raised the Siege, and marched against them. A general review was made of all the Roman people, and the number of them amounted to two hundred and fiftteen thousand heads of Families.

A. M. 3849. R. 548. CN. SERVILIUS C.E-PIO, CN. SERVILIUS GEMINUS. Scipie. being reinforced with the Numidian horse that Mafaniffs had brought along with him, beat ther, and belieged Placentia, but hearing that the Carthaginians from several Posts. Massanifa: the Conful Livius was drawing near him, he took Sifax Prisoner, and pursued his routed Army as far as Cirthe, the chief City of the dominions of that unfortunate Prince, which was delivered up to him, with all the Towns of Numidia, upon advice that their King was and before the Carthaginians had notice of it, taken Prisoner. Scipio took Utica, which put the Carthaginians into fuch a consternation, that they fued for Peace. Q. Cacilius Merellus was elected Dictator.

A. M. 3850. R. 549. M. SERVILIUS GER-MINUS, T. CLAUDIUS NERO. Hannibal drubal (the only boory he had brought with returned to Carthage, and was made commenScipie : The Armies engaged, but the Cartha- Games. A great many Slaves of the Romans ginians were beaten, and loft twenty thousand got into a Body and rebelled, and had coumen, and as many Prisoners. This loss obliged rage enough to make a stand against a Legion the Carthaginians to fue again for Peace, which deligned to reduce them to their duty; they they obtained on the following conditions, were all difarmed and very feverely punishthat they should pay a yearly Tribute, to the ed. Remans, that they should keep but four Galleys A.M.3857.R.556. L.VALERIUS FLACCUS. in their Harbour, and that they should reim- M. PORTIUS CATO. Valerius fought against burse in ready Money, the charges of the the Boii, and killed eight thousand of them. War. Scipio came back again to Rome, where Cate being arrived in Spain, which Province he made his Triumphal Entry .

US LENTULUS, P. ÆLIUS PÆTUS. under the Reman fubjection. T. Quintius A Confederacy was concluded with the Rho- made War against Tyrannus Nabis, besieged dians and King Attalus.

A. M. 3852. R. 551. P. SULPITIUS difadvantageous Peace. GALBA, L. AURELIUS COTTA. The A. M. 3848. R. 557. P. CORNELIUS War was proclaimed against Philip King of SCIPIO AFRICANUS, T. SEMPRONIUS ring the Carthaginian Wat. L. Furius Prator fons of the Towns of Acrecorinthus, Demetriaand took two thousand Prisoners.

A. M. 3853. R. 552. L. LENTULUS, P. VELEIUS TAPPULUS. L. Bebius called Insubrer, and lost fix thousand men.

PÆTUS, T. QUINTIUS FLAMINIUS. Antiochus in Afia, the Ætelians in Greece, and Quinting had a Parley with Philip King of Ma- Hamnibal in Africa, but so many Confederate seden, but that interview had no effect; for Enemies, served only to add a greater lustre at last they came to an engagement , wherein in the Roman Glory . the Romans got a Booty, tho the flaughter was A. M. 3860. R. not very great on either fide, for King Phi-FLAMINIUS, CN. DOMITIUS ÆNEOlip loft but two thousand men. After this BARDUS. The League above-mentioned victory Quintiur besieged Cerinth, but without began to discover its felf in Greece. Antischus and among them Amiles, their Commander, and forced the Enemies to beg Peace. the last of the Carthaginian Generals that remained in Italy. A bartle was fought beor Ovation on Mount Albanus.

der of a very confiderable Army, to oppose same to be proclaimed at the Olympick was fallen to his share, routed forty thousand A. M. 3851. R. 150. CN. CORNELI- Spaniards, and brought the whole Country him in Sparts, and forced him to accept of a Macedon, because he had attacked Illyrium du-LONGUS. Flaminius withdrew the Garriof the Gault defeated Amilear, and killed thirty der and Calcidena, and fo restored an entire lithousand Gault, both Insubres and Ceromani, betty to Greece, and the Greek delivered up to him all the Roman Slaves.

A. M. 3859. R. 558. L. CORNELIUS MERULA, Q. MINUTIUS THERMUS. Prator of the Gault was beaten by the Gault Merula brought up the Legions against the Boil, and beat them near Modeus. There was A. M. 3854. R. 553. SEXTUS ÆLIUS a powerful League made against Rome by any nuccess.

> cco. L. QUINTIUS joyned the Atelians, and took Calcidena.

A.M. 385;
R. 554. CN. CORNELIUS
CETHEGUS, Q. MINUTIUS RUFUS. SCIPIO NASICA, M. ACILIUS GLA-Caffiederus doth not mention thefe two BRIO. Acilius went over into Greece with ten Confuls in his Chronology. The two thousand Foot, and two thousand Horfa. Confuls made War, one in Lugaria, Actischus expected him at the narrow passage and the other in the Country of the Boil. of Tempe, where the Conful made a great Cornelius engaged the Ligurians and Milanefes, flaughter of the Affaticks, then besieged Herabroke them, and killed fifteen thousand of cles, where the Esolisms after the defeat of them, and took feven thousand Prisoners Temps, were retired. He reduced the place, tween King Philip, and the Conful Quintius, POS, whom Cassadarus call Africanus, to inti-in a place called Conscephalum in Thessalia, mate that he is the same who was Scipie's where the Remans were victorious. The Con- Lieutenant in Africa. Antiochus made War aful Cornelius triumphed over the Milaneses, gainst Eumenes King of Armenia, and besieged and Minutius obtained but the imall. Triumph Pergamus, the chiefest Town of that Prince's Dominions: but when he heard that the A. M. 3856. R. 555. L. FURIUS PUR- Conful was marching against him, he raised PUREO, M CLAUDIUS MARCELLUS, the Siege, and waited for him upon the Banks Son to Marcellus the Great. Flaminius con- of the Phanician River, where he loft four cluded the Peace with King Philip, and there- and fifty thousand men. Peace was granted by restored the liberty to Greece, causing the to King Amiochus, upon condition that he fide of Mount Taurus. Acilius Glabrio caused a PHILUS, L. ÆMILIUS PAULUS. The Statue on Horieback to be made, and fet it diffolure life of the Priests of Ifis, called Galli. up in the Temple of Piety, and confecrated occasioned an order from the Senate, importthe fame to the memory of his Father, whom ing that the Temples of that Goddess, and the Statue represented. This was the first Seraps should be razed to the ground, but no Statue made of that precious Metal at man durst execute this Sentence of the Senate.

BILIOR, C MANLIUS VOLSO. Scipio molish that Nest of lewd people, and incoucame back to Rome, and was the first man that | raged the workmen by his Example. triumphed over the Afiaticks.

A. M. 3864. R. 563. C. VALERIUS fettle the Affairs of Proconful Monlius Volfo.

bezzling the publick Money. Scipio Africanus ap- on then established. peared before the Assembly in white cloath, to the Captitol, and there he performed his Father-in-law. facrifice.

with horrid lascivioniness. Seven thousand Mountains. persons were found guilty of this shameful Superstition. The Athlaes, the delight of the Greeks, were introduced into Rome.

had their revenge on the banks of the River Manliu fell upon them and defeated them, Tagus, infomuch that out of five and thirty ken Prifoners.

fodorus relates some other Consuls instead of they were retired.

There was nothing more remarkable this year C. Valerius Levinus was choien in his room. than an exact enquiry after the Bacchanalia, Conful Levinus forced the Ligurians to retire unand poilonings. Scipio Africanus, Hamibal and to their two Mountains, called Latum and Ba-, Philogam n died this year, the Eutropius tells as that Hannibal died two years before.

should not extend his Conquests on this: A. M. 3370. R. 569. CN. BEBIUS PAM. out of a icruple of Religion : Therefore Paulus A. M. 3863. R. 562. M. FULVIUS NO- Emilius took himfelf an Ax, and began to de-

A. M. 1871. R. 570. M. BEBIUS PAM-PHILUS, P. CORNELIUS LENTULUS or MESSALA, C. LÍVIUS SALINATOR. CETHEGUS. There was found in Numa's. The Senate fent ten Deputies into dia, to Grave three Volumes concerning Religion, Petilius the Prætor got them burnt without A.M. 3865. R. 564. M. ÆMILIUS LE- cruple; whereupon he was impeached of PIDUS L. FLAMINIUS CRASSIPES, or Impiety and Sacrilege; yet he was found not C. FLAVIUS NEPOS. The Scipio's were both guilty, because he took an Oath, that these accused by the Tribunes of the people of em. Books tended to the subversion of the Religi-

A. M. 3872. R. 571. AULUS POSTHUand having made the Eulogy of his great At- MIUS ALBINUS LUSCUS, C. CALPURchievements, without excusing himself of NIUS PISO. This Consul died a little while the crime laid upon him, he ended his after his Election, not without suspicion of Speech with these words." Upon this dayof having been poison'd by Quarta Hostilia his the year I destroyed Carthage, Rome's Emula- Wife, to get the Consulfaip for her Son. who "tor let us go and give thanks to the Gods for the had by a first Husband, called Q. Fulvius "the fame. Having thus spoken, he went up Flaceur, who was chosen in the room of his

A. M. 3873. R. 572. Q. FULVIUS FLAC-A. M. 3866, R. 565. SPURIUS POST- CUS, L. MANLIUS ACCIDINUS or LUS-HUMIUS ALBINUS, Q. MARTIUS PHI- CUS. The Ligurii Appuani were transported to LIPPUS. The Confuls made an exact in- Sammium, for it was thought impossible to quiry into the new superstition of the Baccha- keep these fierce people in peace, so long as nalia that were celebrated in the night time they could shelter themselves amongst their

A. M. 3874. R. 573. M. JUNIUS BRU-TUS. A. MANLIUS VOLSO. Epulo King of the Ilirians took the Field, and by favour A. M. 3867. R. 566. APPIUS CLAU- of very thick foggy weather drew near the DIUS PULCHER, M. SEMPRONIUS TU- Camp of the Romans, and at the first onset for-DITANUS. The two Prætors of Spain were ced the same; but while he and his Army routed near Toledo; but a while after they were feafting in the Romans Camp, Conful

A. M. 3875. R. 574. C. CLAUDIUS PULthousand Spaniards, four thousand only ef- CHER, T. SEMPRONIUS GRACCHUS. caped, all the rest being either killed or ta. There was a Serpent seen at Rome with four feet, which was taken for a prodigy. Claudius A. M. 3868, R 567. P. CLAUDIUS routed the Istrians, and besieged them in Mela-PULCHER, L. PORCIUS LICINIUS. Caf- tie the chief Town of their Country, whither A. M. 3876. R. 575. CN. CORNELIUS

A. M. 3869. R. 568. M. CLAUDIUS SCIPIO HISPALUS, Q. PETILIUS SPU-MARCELLUS , Q. FABIUS LABEO. RINUS. Cornelius died in his Gonfulfhip, and liffe, and there befreged them, but was killed at the beginning of the Fighr. This misfortune rather encourag'd than disheartned the holds.

PIDUS, P. MUCIUS SCÆVOLA. Caffiodonothing recorded during their Confulfhip.

A. M. 3878. R. 577 SPURIUS POST Capitol, where they are recorded.

ALBINUS, M. POPILIUS LÆNAS. Peace fifty thousand Inhabitants for Slaves. was granted to the People of Corfica, upon hundred thousand pounds weight of Wax.

A. M. 1880. R. 579. C. POPILIUS LÆ- in Rebellion. NAS, P. ÆLIUS LIGUR. A stormy wind A. M. 3886. R. 585. M. MARCELLUS, drove away fo great a quantity of Locusts into Apalia, that the Land was all over covered with them. The Roman people folemnly renounced the friendship of Perseut King of Macedonia, hearing that he was forming a party in Asia against them.

A.M. 3881. R. 580. P. LICINIUS CRAS-SUS, C. CASSIUS LONGUS. Perseur defeat- ing success. ed the Roman Army commanded by the Con-

A. M. 1882. R. 181. C. ATTILIUS SE-RANUS, C. HOSTILIUS MANCINUS. CA, L. MARTIUS FIGULINUS. The Alabandii out of a base and ridiculous flattery rank'd Rome in the number of their MESSALA, C. FANNIUS STRABO. Gods, built her a Temple, and instituted annual Games to the honour of their new created LUS, CORNELIUS CETHEGUS. Goddess. Mancinus got some advantage over Perfess.

defired peace, but it was denied him. The fent people to work in the Mines, that were Cenfors forbad the Farmers of the publick discovered in Macedonia. Revenues to renew their Leafe.

LUS, C. LICINIUS CRASSUS. Paulus Æmilius A. M. 1896. R. 595. L. CORNELIUS was chosen to have the conduct of the Macedo- LENTULUS, C. MARTIUS FIGULINUS. niam war, tho' he was then fixty years old. A. M. 3897. R. 596. P. CORNELIUS upon Mount Olympus, and forc'd him to re- CELLUS. move from thence, and afterwards engaged A. M.; 3898. R. 597. L. POSTHUMIUS him, The Macademians, after a long and vigorous ALBINUS, Q. OPIMIUS NEPOS. refiftance, were at last overcome, and Perfeut A. M. 3899, R. 598. Q. FULVIUS NO-furrender d himself to Paulus Emilius, who led BILIOR, T. ANNIUS LUSCUS. him in triumph with his three Children; that M. 1900. R. 199. M. CLAUDIUS Harry unfor unare Frince died in Irons, and two of MARCELLUS, L. VALERIUS FLACCUS. his Children before him. Theyoungest called A. M. 3901. R. 600. L. LICINIUS LUand Turning, and writ fo good a hand, that NUS. Lucullus made war against the Celtibe-

Romans, who at last best the Enemy from those the Register of the Commonwealth took him for his Clerk : A fad fare of the last Successor A. M. 3877. R. 576. M. ÆMILIUS LE- of Alexander the Great. Macedonia was then reduced to a Province, having been govern'd by mentions these two Consuls, tho' there is thirty Kings, during nine hundred and twenty three years, but had no great name in the world, according to Justin, till one hundred HUMIUS, Q. MUCIUS SCÆVOLA. Poly- and eighty two years before the defeat of Perbig doth not mention these two Confuls, and Seus. Paulus Emilius, as an exemplary punishver Caffiodorus affirms thit he has taken his Chro ment of the Illyrians, quarter'd his Army in nology out of the Calendars or Fasti of the threescore of their chiefest Towns, and at an appointed day gave them up to be plunder'd A. M. 3879. R. 578. L. POSTHUMIUS by his Soldiers, who fold one hundred and

A. M. 3885. R. 584. Q. ÆLIUS POEcondition that they should pay every year two TUS, M. JUNIUS POENUS. Memmius Prætor of Spain reduc'd fome Spaniards that were

> C. SULPITIUS GALBA. Marcellus made war with good fuccess. A. M. 3887. R. 586. CN. OCTAVIUS

NEPOS, T. MANLIUS TORQUATUS. A. M. 3888. R. 587. AULUS MANLIUS TORQUATUS, Q. CASSIUS LONGUS. The war was carried on in Spain with differ-

A. M. 3889. R. 588. T. SEMPRONIUS ful Licinius, fays Europius. This Battle was GRACCHUS, M. IUVENTIUS. Semprenius fought on the Banks of the River Pener. The reduced Thracia, and the Country along the Prætor Lucretius laid the fiege before Coronea, River Danube into a Province, and brought and took it by florm with the Town of them under the subjection of the Roman Em-A. M. 3890. R. 589. P. SCIPIO NASI-

A. M. 3891. R. 590. M. VALERIUS A.M. 3892. R. 591. L. ANNICIUS GAL-

A. M. 3893. R. 592. CN. CORNELIUS DOLABELLA, M. FULVIUS NOBILIOR. A. M. 3881, R. 581. Q. MARTIUS PHI-LIPPUS, Q. SERVILIUS CAPIO. Perfeet DUS, C. POPILIUS LÆNAS. The Roman:

A. M. 3895. R. 594. SEXTUS JULIUS A. M. 3883. R. 583. L. ÆMILIUS PAU- CÆSAR, L. AURÉLIUS ORESTES.

He found Perseur incamp'd, and well fortified SCIPIO NASICA, M. GLAUDIUS MAR-

Alexander, was very skilful in Joyners work, CULLUS, AULUS POSTHUMIUS ALBI-

vient, and fent Scipie over into Africa, to defire | ving left fome Troops to block up the place fome Elephants of Melimilla.

MINIUS, M. ACILIUS BALBUS. A. M. 3903. R. 602. L. MARTIUS, M. into Nephers, where Scipio befieged him, and MANLIUS NEPOS. The reduction of Utical took the place, wherein feventy thousand gave sufficient occasion to the Roman for men were kill'd. Sapio return'd in the beginproclaiming war against the Carthagnians, ming of the Spring, to carry on the siege of They sent over the two Consuls into Africa with Carthage, and stormed another quarter of the one hundred and fifty Galleys, with five Oars Town, called Corren, wherein there was a in a feat, (Quiqueremer) one hundred with great flaughter for fix days and fix nights tofix Oars (Sextiremer) and fourfcore thousand gether. The strongest hold of Carthage, call'd Foot, all Romans born, and four thousand of Byrfa, was not yet taken, and there, those than their best Horse. The Carthaginians, surpriz'd could escape out of Megara and Conton, had at these preparations of war, tent Deputies to made their retreat; but wanting both Provicomplain to the Senate of this infraction of a fions and Ammunition, they furrendered to peace fo folemnly fworn, and fo religiously Scipie as well as Afarabal, who was retired in kept on their fide. The Romans demanded the Temple of Esculapius. Five thousand three hundred Hoftages, and that they should persons of both Sexes went out of Carthage. bring up all their Arms to the Confuls. The which were the deplorable remains of that Carthaginians obey'd exactly, they deliver'd up flately City, the Rival of Rome, which flouriffstheir Hoftages and their Arms; confifting of ed for fix hundred and fixry feven years, or Arms for two hundred thousand men, such seven hundred, according to some Authors. as were used in that time, and two thousand Engines of war. When they were thus difarm'd, Marfius told them, that he had orders chains opposed Memmius with a good Army, to deftroy their Town, but that he would but were overcome. The Conful purfued the give them leave to rebuild another Carthage on Victory, laid siege to Corinth, and took it : he the firm Land, fourfcore Furlongs at least off razed its walls, and carried all its fine Ornafrom the Sea. The Carthaginians were thun- ments also to Rome. This year Scipio laid Carder-fruck at this cruel Declaration; and the' thage even with the ground. Corinth flourishthey were without Forces and Arms they thur ed for nine hundred and fifty years. up their Gates, and provided themselves with A. M. 3907. R. 606. Q. FABIUS MAXI-Arms as well as they could, making use (in MUS, L. HOSTILIUS MANCINUS. F4that necessity) of their Wives hair, instead of bias routed Viriatus in Spain. ftrings for their Bows.

Town with Provisions.

troublesome Enemy, fell inconsiderately into made some noise in Macedonia. The Romans at a defile, where he had certainly perish'd, had first despised him, but after he had deseated and the Tribune Scipie brought him off. the Przor A. M. 3904. R. 603. SP. POSTHUMIUS fays Florus. ALBINUS, L. CALPURNIUS PISO. The A. M. 1909. R. 608. APPIUS CLAU-Carthaginians fent Ambassadours every where DIUS PULCHER, Q. CÆCILIUS MEfor relief; and made fuch progress therein, TELLUS.

that the Romans were amazed at it.

SCIPIO AFRICANUS. C. LIVIUS DRU- nie fell to Metellus, who vanquished Andrifou. SUS. Scipio went over into Africa at the de- whom a King of Tiracia delivered into his fire of the people, tho it was the Province of hands. This pretended King followed the his Colleague, and had under his command triumphal Charlot of the Conful, and afterfourfcore thousand Foot, and four thousand wards the Senate ordered he should be put Horse, with leave to raise such number of the to death, and gave the name of Macedonicus to Confederates as he should think fit. Scipio with the Conful who had overcome him. these Forces by night attack'd a quarter of A. M. 3911. R. 610. CN. SERVILIUS Carrbage, called Magara, on the land's side, CAPIO, Q. POMPEIUS or POMPILIUS took it by florm, and there he lodg'd himself, RUFUS. Florues. 2. c. 17. says that this last and so kept the besieged from receiving Pro-

he marched with the remaining Forces against A. M. 1902. R. 601. L. OUINTIUS FLA- Aldrubal, who was very troublesome to him. Afdrubal not being able to withfrand him, goe

A. M. 3906. R. 605. CN. CORNELIUS CENTUMALUS, L. MEMMIUS. The &

A. M. 3908. R. 607. SERGIUS SULPI-Afarabel took the Field with twenty thou- TIUS GALBA, L. AURELIUS COTTA fand men, and from time to time supply'd the One Andrifous, who called himself the Son of Philip the fifth King of Macedonia, because he Monling attempting to rid himfelf of this was like him both in shape and countenance. the Prztor Juvetius, they were afraid of him,

A. M. 3910, R. 609. Q. CÆCILIUS ME-A. M. 1905. R. 604. P. CORNELIUS TELLUS, Q. FABIUS MAXIMUS. Maceda-

visions. At the beginning of the winter, ha- Spain, having caused Veriation to be murther'd fed to the Confulthip, and charges the Conful Capie with the murther of Viriatus. Eutropius affirms that the murtherers committed the fact of their own accord, and demanded a reward from the Confuls for the fame, who generously answer'd that they perswaded seventeen thousand Slaves, that he was fon to King Perfess; but the Pretor Trehis faction.

A. M. 3912. R. 611. Q. CÆPIO, C. LÆLI-US. This last Conful undertook to get the Agrarian Law enacted; but when he underfood that it could not be done without raifing a great confusion in the Commonwealth, of Sapiens.

A. M. 3913. R. 612. CN. CALPURNIUS PISO, M. POPILIUS LÆNAS, whom Flarm and Eutropius call Q. POMPFIUS LÆ-NAS. This last Consul was beaten in Spain by the Numantini, who might have quite routed him ; but had rather make Peace with him, than provoke the Romans.

A. M. 3914. R. 613. P. CORNELIUS CÆ-PIO or SCIPIO NASICA, D. JUNIUS BRU-TUS. This Conful beat the Celta, the Lufitanians and the Galicians at Sea; and was thereupon firnamed Brutus Galacius.

A. M. 3915. R. 614. M. ÆMILIUS LEPI-DUS, C. HOSTILIUS MANCINUS, who carried on the flege of Numantia. Being gone out of his Camp against the Augur of the Auspices, the Numantini attacked the fame, seized upon it, and having followed the Conful, overtook him in a narrow passage, where they might have easily routed him, had he not concluded a Peace with them : The Senate refused to ratifie that Peace, being disadvantageous and fhameful to the Roman people, but fent Mancinus with his hands bound to Numantie, with the bundle of Rods, the badge of his dignity.

A. M. 3916. R. 615. P. FURIUS PHILO, SEXTUS ATTILIUS SERANUS. Numantia was belieged again.

A M: 3917. R. 616. SERGIUS FULVIUS FLACCUS, Q. CALPURNIUS PISO. The fiege of Namantia was carried on, but very flowly.

A. M. 3918. R. 617. P. CORNELIUS SCI-PIO AFRICANUS, C. FULVIUS FLAC-CUS. Scipio starved the Numantini, and tho they made feveral vigorous fallies, reduced them to fuch extremities, that they burnt most dear and precious to them, even their foricus, he designing to be killed, put a Sol-

by one of his Servants, whom he corrupted | Arms, and then rnn naked against the Arms for that purpose. Paterculus tells us that this of the Romans, leaving to Scipio no other orna-Pempey was the first of his name that was rai- ment of his triumph, but the bare name of Numantimus. Pliny fays that the booty of this rich Town was but feven thousand pound weight of Silver, and therefore Florus accounts it for nothing.

A. M. 3919. R. 618 C. MUTIUS SCA-VOLA, L. CALPURNIUS PISO. The had no reward for crimes. A Macedonian Conful Murtus, who was a learned Lawyer, perswaded Tiberias Gracebus to get the Agrarian Law to be received; he brought it about, afmilius defeated him, before he had encreased ter a great resistance from the Senate, who named Commissioners to share the Lands; but allowed but nine obeli a day to each of them to bear their charges. Attalm King of Pergamus gave by his last Will his Kingdom and all his goods to the Raman people. Tiberius Gracebus made use of this opportunity to flatter the he gave it over : whereupon he got the sirname | people, and demanded that the Money of Atales might be destributed among them. The Senate opposed his demand; but Gracchus went up the Capitol, and a great number of people after him. Then Scipio Nafica, Jupiter's High Priest cried out, Let those that are for the good and confervation of the Commonwealth follow me : and having put his Gown over his head. ascended the Capitol, followed by the Senators and the most rich among the Plebeians. The people made room for him out of respect to his Priesthood: but he and his followers making use of the Seats of the Temple, instead of Arms, knock'd down Gracchus with three hundred more of his party. Ariflenicut, who call'd himfelf the Son of Attalus, occasion'd a second War in Asia.

A. M. 3920. R. 619. P. POPILIUS LÆ-NAS, P. RUPILIUS. Spain having been abfolutely subdued by the taking of Numantia, it was reduc'd into a Province. Flaras 1. 2. c. 20. fays that this year King Attalur died, and gave his dominions to the Roman people. Judas Machabaus made a league with the Reman people: as we read in the book of the Machabees.

A. M. 1921. R. 620. P. LICINIUS CRAS-SUS, L. VALERIUS FLACCUS. Craffus went into Afia, to make war against Aristonicur, Attalur's pretended Son, who had feized upon the Kingdom of Pergamus. The Conful took greater care to lay hold upon the Treafures of Attalus, than to juifue Ariffonicus, who haiving rallied his Troops, fell upon the Romans and entirely defeated them. Eutrapius 1. 4. and Justinus 1. 36. fay, that the Conful was killed upon the foot : but Valerius Maximus relates his death otherwise, and fays, that after his overthrow he was taken by fome Tiracian Soldiers between Smirna and their Wives, Children, and all that they had | Elea, and as they were bringing him to Arihand, whereupon the Soldier killed him; fo on was not taken alive, because the Soldiers died Crassus, the only Roman Contul who was being too eager to feize him, tore him in ever taken alive in War.

CLAUDIUS PULCHER, M. PERPENNA. Senate prevented it. This last Conful had order to revenge the affront that Ariffonicus had put on the Roman people. He belieged him in Stratonica, and took him Prisoner, having forced him to furrender for want of Provisions. The Conful preserved his life, that he might adorn his order of the Senate.

A. M. 3923. R. 622. C. SEMPRONI-US TUDITANUS, M. AQUILIUS NE. TELLUS, Q. QUINTIUS FLAMINIUS. PUS. Agailius made an end of the War in Carthage was rebuilt two and twenty years af-Alia, by poisoning the Waters. Scipio Nafica ter its ruine. Metellus laid fiege before Cantie Emilianus was found dead in his Bed, and by bricum in Spain, and as he was ready to ftorm marks that appeared upon his Body, it was it, the belieged laid the Children of Rethogent plain that he had been ftrangled; his own a Spanish Prince, who was on the Romans lide. Wife, and Cornelia, the Gracchi's Mother, on the breach. Mitellus moved to compassion were suspected of having committed that by the prayers of Resbogenes, rais'd the siege crime.

A. M. 3924. R. 623. CN. OCTAVIUS NEPOS, T. ANNIUS LUSCUS.

A. M. 3925. R. 624. L. CASSIUS LON-

league with the Romans.

DUS, L. AURELIUS ORESTES. One of Sextia. the flaves that manured the ground in Sicily, A. M. 3931. R. 630. L. OPIMIUS, Q. named Eunus, a Sprian born, not being able to FABIUS MAXIMUS. Opimius revoked all Prisoners were nailed to the cross.

had to well fucceeded with Perpenna, he had diers eye out with a Switch he had in his the like good succeis, except only that Athene. pieces. Fulvius periwaded the Italians to beg A. M. 3922. R. 62r. APPIUS or C. the Freedom of Roman Citizens, but the

A. M. 3928. R. 627. C. CASSIUS LON. GINUS, C.SEXTIUS CALVINUS. The Allbroses. Hedui and Averni made was against the Marfitians, ancient Confederates of the Romans. Sextist who was fent to affift them, deftroyed the Allobroges and their Allies, after a war of Triumph, but he was strangled in prison by three years standing. Eutropius reckons this year to be the 627 ab urbe condita.

A. M. 3929 R. 628. Q. CÆCILIUS ME. and retired.

A. M. 3930. R. 629. CN. DOMITIUS. C. FANNIUS STRABO. Gracebu, Tribune of the people, got Commission for rebuilding GUS. L. CORNELIUS CINNA. Jonathas, Carthage; and cast a line about it in feventy Brother to Judas Machabaus, renewed the days, and called her Junonia. Sextius built a Town in Gallia Narbonensis, near a foring of A.M. 2026. R. 625. L. ÆMILIUS LEPI- mineral waters, which was called Aqua bear the missortune of his condition, played Orders decreed by Gracchus, and particularly at first the Enthusiast, as being inspired by the the re-peopling of Carthage, giving out, that Goddess of Spria: and said that he was sent it was not the will of the Gods, who had defrom the Gods, to free the Slaves; and to get | clared their mind about the same by a Prodicredit among the people, he had in his gy, for a Wolf had pluckt out the stakes that mouth a Nut full of Brimstone, and setting were driven into the ground to draw the line it dexterously on fire, he blew out Flames to about it; Gracehus maintained that that prothe great amazement of the vulgar. Two digy was falle and forged; and while they thousand Slaves and others oppressed with were arguing upon that point, a Lictor spoke mifery, joyned him, and with their help he fo infolently, that he was kill'd by Gracchur's broke open the Prisons, and unfettered the Faction. The Conful and the Senate made a Slaves, crying out every where Liberty. By great noise for the death of this wretched man, these means he was in few days at the head thinking thereby to raise the people, but on of threefcore thousand men, and got ground the contrary they expressed their indignation. on the Romans. Perpenna being fent against that the Senate thould make such a disturbance them, took them by Famine, and all the for the death of an infolent Lictor, who had made no feruple to knock down Tiberius Grac-A. M. 3927. R. 626. M. PLAUTIUS chur Tribune of the people, an inviolable Ma-HIPS/EUS. M. FULVIUS FLACCUS. A giftrate, even in the Temple of Jupiter. Af-Stave called Athenoin, a Sicilian born, and a terwards a fedition broke out in Kome, raifed Shepherd, killed his Mafter, and got out of by the faction of Gracelus and that of the Se-Prison as many Slaves as he could, and put nate. Opinius promis'd to give for the Head himself at the head of them, taking a pon of Gracebus its weight in Gold, and the same him the quality of King and Liberator of was brought to him, and was found feventeen this Slaves. Aga list was ordered to punish pounds eight ounces weight. Then Opinish him, and made afe of the same means, that built a Temp'e to the Goddes Concerd. POS, C. PAPYRIUS CARBO.

COTTA. A Colony was fent to Narbona.

last Consul triumphed over Dalmatia.

TA, Q. FABIUS MAXIMUS EBURNUS. spoke these words, O infamous Town, thou art to METELLUS, M. ÆMILIUS SCAURUS. down a very fine Theater, that Lucius Caffins All Arts ferving only for diversion were banished Rome, except playing upon the Roman soften'd and effeminated by the Luxury and flutes, Singers and Dice players.

A. M. 3938. R. 637. M. ACILLIUS BAL-BUS, C. PORTIUS CATO.

who was fo cruel as to cause Hiempfal to be quit Africa. thereby won them over to his interest.

L. or C. CALPURNIUS PISO. L. Opimius Jugurtha he rais'd the Siege. was fent to divide the Kingdom of Numidia: 1 A. M. 3944. R. 643. SERGIUS SULPI-The lowest Numidia, which is bounded by the TIUS GALBA, M. ÆMILIUS SCAURUS Sea. fell to Adherbal: but fo foon as Opimius Jugurtha made great preparations of war, and had left Africa, Jugurtha invaded his Brother's attempted to corrupt the Roman Garrisons. Territories, where he destroyed all, and be- The Inhabitants of Vacca, irritated by the Cofleged him in Circha, the capital City of his verousness of the Romans, returned to the sub-Kingdom, and fo fireighten'd him, that he jection of their ancient Mafter; but Metellus was forc'd to jurrender. Jugurtha put him to retook that place, destroyed the Inhabitants death with all his faithful Servants.

A. M. 3941. R. 640. P. CORNELIUS SCIPIO NASICA, L. CALPURNIUS BE- whom he defeated, and forced him to re-STIA. The News of what Jugartha had done tire to Bocus his Son-in-law, King of Mauin Africa being brought to Rome, a War was ritania. proclaim'd against him, and the Conful Cal-

A. M. 1932. R. 631. P. MANLIUS NE- fent an Embaffy to Rome, to bribe the Senators and people with rich Prefents: But his A. M. 3931. R. 632. L. CÆCILIUS Ambassadors were order'd to depart Italy in METELLUS CALVUS, L. AURELIUS ten days, and Juguriba was summon'd to appear at Rome in person to justifie himself. A. M. 3934. R. 633. M. PORTIUS CA- He came thither upon the parole of Caffau the TO, Q. MARTIUS REX. C. Cate, Grand- Præror, who had been fent to notifie unto him fon to Cate the Great, was fined for having the orders of the Senate. Memmins Tribune converted feveral things in Macedonia to his of the people accused him of having put to own use, which belonged to the Republick. death the two Sons of Massinista his Father and Benefactor; but he got off of this impeach-A. M. 3935. R. 634. P. CÆCILIUS ME-ment with Money. But upon advice that TELLUS, Q. MUCIUS'SCÆVOLA. This Massives Son of Guloss had been murther'd by his orders, he was shamefully banish'd out of A. M. 1936. R. 635. C. LICINIUS GE- Rome; and at his going out of the Town he A. M. 1937. R. 636. M. CÆCILIUS be fold, if thou couldft find a buyer. Scipio pull'd had began, left the Remans courage should be Pleafures of the Greeks.

A. M. 3942. R. 641. SPURIUS POST-HUMIUS ALBINUS, M. MINUTIUS RU-A. M. 3939. R. 638. C. CÆCILIUS ME- FUS. Albimus was fent against Jugurtha, but TELLUS. CN. PAPIRIUS CARBO. Massi- he came back to Rome, because the meeting niffs King of Numidia being dead, his Son Micipfa of their Affemblies or Commitia required his fucceeded him alone, after the death of his presence, and left his Brother Aulus to com-Brothers Mastanabal and Gulossa. Micipsa had mand in Africa: Aulus out of a desire of gaintwo Sons Adherbal and Hiempfal; and his Bro- ing Glory, laid fiege to Stul, a Town impregther Mastanabal had left a Son called Jugurtha, nable by its scituation; but Jugurtha attack'd by a Concubine, whom the esteem and love his Camp in the night, and made a great that the Numidians had for him, rendered fuf- flaughter of his men. Aulus retired upon a picious to Miciple; but to get himfelf fure Hill with the fcatter'd Remnants of his Army, of him, he adopted him, and made him an but Jagurthe besseged him the next day, and equal sharer with his own Children. A while forc'd him to surrender, upon condition that after this Adoption Micipla died, and left his he should pass under the yoke himself, and all Kingdom to his two Sons, and to Jugurtha, the rest of his Soldiers, and that he should murthered in the Town of Thirmids. Adher- A. M. 3943. R. 642. Q. CACILIUS MEbal took up Arms to revenge his Brothers TELLUS NUMIDICUS, M. SYLLANUS. death, but was beaten; he had recourse to Metellus went into Africa, which put Jugurtha the Romans, but Jugartha fent them Ambassa- under a consternation. Metellus feiz'd upon dours loaded with Gold and Silver, and Vacca a large Town, where he kept his Magazines,and then belieged Zams the chief Town A. M. 3940. R. 639. C. LIVIUS DRUSUS, of Numidia; but being perpetually haraffed by > thereof, and permitted his Soldiers to plunder it. Then he marched against Jugurtha,

A M. 3945. R. 644. L. CASSIUS LONpursius was fent into Apriles. This cruel Prince GINUS, C. MARIUS. This last Conful, He formed a defign upon Capfa, on: of the for a long time inclosed their Vineyards with most powerful Towns of Africa, took it with- the bones of the Cimbri and Toutoni, who were out relistance, and gave it up to his Soldiers kill'd in this bloody Fight. Florus fays, that to be pillaged. Afterwards he engaged Bossa Teutobosus their King was made prifoner and and Jugarsha near Circha, and got a compleat | led in triumph to Rome. victory over them. Bocus delivered up his Father-in-law to Marius, pursuant to a secret US AQUILIUS. Marius preferr'd the safety Treaty between them.

Jews, renewed the confederacy with the Roman people. A. M. 3946. R. 645. Q. SERVILIUS SE-PIO, C. ATTILIUS SERRANUS. The Cimbri and Teutoni began to fright Italy. Some think these Nations to be the Scythe, others would have them to be the Germans of the North: They were three hundred thousand fighting men, besides a great number of Women and Slaves.

A. M. 3947. R. 646. Q. RUTILIUS RU-FUS. C. MANLIUS. The Cimbri and Teutowi defeated the two Confols on the Banks of People, and oblig'd the Senators to take an the River Rhone. This lofs brought fo great a fear upon Rome, that 'tis parallell'd by Hiftorians, with the fright that feiz'd the Romans, after they were routed at Canne by Hamibal: they were afraid the Gauls would come again to befiege the Capitol. Rutilius instituted Fencing Masters, to teach young Soldiers how to handle their Weapons.

A. M. 3948. R. 647. C. MARIUS, C. FLAVIUS FIMBRIA. The people was in fury of the people, and fave them under that great terror, and thought that no other man pretence; but the Senate having discovered but Marius was able to defend them against the fury of the Combri, wherefore he was named Conful in his absence, contrary to the laws. Marius came again to Rome, he triumphed over Jugurtha, and brought into the Exchequer three thousand and seven pounds Thrasians rebell'd, and committed horrid cruweight of Gold, and five thousand seven hundred and feventy five pounds of Silver in the Mass, besides a great quantity of Gold and TELLUS PIUS, T. DIDIUS. This last Silver Coin. He bestowed all the time of Consul was sent to punish the Timacians, and his Confulship, in making preparations for Metellus in several engagements defeated two this great and important Expedition again ft Brothers, called the Herculians, Authors of the the Cimbri.

A. M. 3949. R. 648. C. MARIUS, L. AURELIUS ORESTES. The Cimbri turn'd their arms against Spain, and so gave an op- SUS. Cn. Carbo went over into Gaul to observe portunity to Marius to reinforce his Army, and bring it under a good Discipline. Orefter died in his Magistracy.

A. M. 1950. R. 649. C. MARIUS, L LUCTATIUS CATULUS. Marital being inform'd that the Cimbri were marching to- | just and moderate a man as Crassus. wards Italy, went over the Mountains, and incamped on the banks of the River Redamus, now the Rhone: he engig'd them in Provence, and gave fuch an overthrow, that they loft one hundred thousand men, either kill'd or had the management of the Affairs of Africa I taken Prisoners. The Inhabitants of Marfeller

A. M. 3951. R. 650. C. MARIUS, MANT. of Rome before the triumph that was ordain'd Hircanus King and Soveraign Pontiff of the him; and the glory of a fecond Victory, to the glory of a victorious entry into Rome he purfued the Cimbri, whom he engaged and routed in the plain of Verfelle, killing fixfcore thousand of them on the spot, and taking fixty thousand Prisoners. Marius in considea ration of this great Victory, was called the third founder of Rome.

A.M. 3952. R. 651. C. MARIUS. L. VA. LERIUS FLACCUS. This fixth year of Marius's Confulship was spent in Actions unworthy of him: for he feconded all the feditious proposals of Saturnima a Tribune of the Oath, that they should follow the Laws made by the people; which they did with this limitation. Si Leger funt: There was none but Metellus that refus'd to take the Oath. Patercultus and Valerius Maximus both justifie Marius about the death of the Tribune Saturninus, and the Prætor Glaucia. 'Tis true that he shut up thefe two feditious men in the Court of He filia; but he did fo, to fecure them from the his design, sent some of his faction, who got upon the tops of the Neighbouring houses, and kill'd them with their Darts.

A. M. 3953, R. 652. M. ANTONIUS, AULUS, POSTHUMIUS ALBINUS. The elties on the Romans.

A. M. 1954. R. 651. Q. CÆCILIUS ME-Rebellion in Spain.

A. M. 3955. R. 654. CN. CORNELIUS. LENTULUS. P. or C. LICINIUS CRASthe conduct of Craffus, because he had banished his Father. A while after, finding no fault therewith, he returned into Rome, and reported that his Father could not be guiltless, seeing he had been condemn'd by so

A. M. 3956. R. 655. CN. DOMITIUS ÆNEOBARBUS, C. CASSIUS LONGI-NUS. Prolomeus King of Agypt made the Reman people his Heir by his Will.

A. M. 1957. R. 656. P. LICINIUS CRAS- | Wars between Marius and Sylla, which had SUS, Q. MUTIUS SCEVOLA or SCE- their rife from what follows. Marius flood VULA. They made a Law which was cal- for the command of the Army against Mithriled after their Names Licinia and Mucia, about dates King of Pontus, and Sylla pretended the the regulation of the Citizens.

CALDUS, L. DOMITIUS ÆNEOBAR-BUS.

PULCHER, M. PERPENNA.

A. M. 3961. R. 660. P. or L. MARTIUS PHILIPPUS, SEXTUS IULIUS CÆSAR, ted to go out, till he had paffed his word to M. Livius Drusus Tribune of the people, at repeal what he had ordered. Marius sent one tempted to restore to the Senate the right of of his Lieutenants to Nola, to oblige the Artheir Army.

A. M. 3962. R. 661. C. JULIUS CÆSAR, C. RUTILIUS LUPUS. The Confuls rais'd one hundred thousand men, whom they ditiff the feveral Nations of Italy leagued together > vet they were worsted every where, and the Conful Rutilius was kill'd in an Engagement. At the latter end of the year, Julius Cafar made a Law, granting the freedom of caus'd Marius and Sulpitius with their followers Tully favs, in his Oration for Balbus.

A. M. 3963. R. 662. CN. POMPEIUS STRABO, L. PORCIUS CATO. The war against the Inhabitants of Italy was carried on : There Cate was kill'd, and feveral Bodies of the Army defeated. The Italians feeing the good fuccess of their Affairs, erected a Commonwealth of their own which they called the Italian Republick; and in the Affemblies.

A. M. 3964 R. 663. L. CORNELIUS

fame, for being Conful, that Command be-A M. 3958. R. 657. CAIUS COELIUS longed to him; yet Marius made fo good an interest for himself, that he carried it, being feconded by the Tribune Sulpitius. The Con-A. M. 3959. R. 658. C. VALERIUS fuls being offended at this proceeding, stopt FLACCUS, M. HERENNIUS. All was all Employments and acts of Justice: But quiet in the Roman Empire under these Con- Sulpitius grew so insolently bold, that he attacked the Confuls in the Roffra, and kill'd A. M. 1960. R. 659. C. CLAUDIUS and overthrew all that would oppose his fury. Sylla could find no shelter, but in the House of Marius, from whence he was not permitjudging in certain Caufes, which Gracehus had my to fwear fidelity to him, but Sylla preventgot from them, and given to the Knights. He ed it, and came to the Army before Marius's endeavour'd also to obtain the freedom of Lieutenant, whom he caus'd to be put to Roman Citizens for all the Inhabitants of Italy; death, as foon as he came into the Camp: but he was vigoroully oppos'd: whereupon and having caus'd the Army to take an Oath the Inhabitants of haly rais'd one hundred to him, he march'd directly towards Rome, thousand men, to obtain it by the force of and possessed himself of the Gate Collins, and fome other posts. The Inhabitants made at first some resistance from the tops of their Houses, but Sylla threatned them to set the whole Town on fire, if they offer'd to oppose vided into several Bodies, that they might re- him. Marius made a vigorous relistance in the facred ftreet, but not being able to withstand any longer, he quitted the Town and went over into Africa. All things being then at Sylla's command, he call'd the Senate, and Rome to the Lating and the Confederates, as to be profcrib'd, and declared Enemies of the Roman People.

A. M. 3965. R. 664. L. CORNELIUS CINNA, CN. OCTAVIUS FLACCUS. After the Conful's election, Sylla fet out for Rome to make war against Mitbridges, and began this Expedition with the defe. t of Archelaus one of his Generals. Offavius expelled Cima out of Rome, and Substituted in his room. Cornelius Merula, the great Priest of Jupiser. the capital City of this new State was Cornifi- After this affront Cima retired into Italy, and cium; But Pompeius destroy'd their infant Re- perswaded the Italians to rebel, inticing them publick, and routed their chief Forces. The with the promites of the freedom of Citizens, Senate granted the freedom of their City to and of being incorporated into the thirty five the Latins that were not of the League, but Tribes, that they might be partakers of all they were not incorporated into the thirty the priviledges of the Roman people: By this five Tribes, nor had the priviledge of voting means Coma raifed a confiderable Army, and Marius joined himfelf to him They took the Town of Offia by treachery, and destroyed SYLLA or SULLA, Q. POMPEIUS RU- all the Inhabitants thereof. Afterwards Ma-FUS. Several prodigies threatned the Roman rius went over the River Tyber, leaving Cinna State with fome faul revolution. A woman on the other fide, and feized the Janiculum, was brought to bed of a Serpent, and great whereupon the Remain fent him Ambaffadours foundings of Trumpers were feen in the air; to defire him to come again to Rome; and to These prodigies were the forerunners of the that purpose the act of his banishment was troubles, which were occasioned by the Civil repealed. Marius and Cinna entred again into Ff a

A. M. 3966. R. 665. L. CORNELIUS twenty Lictors, and a great Guard. At last CINNA, C. MARIUS. Murius died the 17th he quitted the Dictatorship, being guilty of day of his seventh Consulship, and Cinna got many Murthers, Assassinations, Prescriptions Valerius Flaceus elected in his room, who was and Banishments. ordered to go and make war against Mithri- A. M. 3972. R. 671. M. TULLIUS SII. dates: they made Fimbria, with the quality of LIUS, CN. ORTILLIUS DOLABELLA: Prætor, his Lieutenant General, that he might | Thefe two Confuls are recorded in this order have a greater Authority. He fell out with in the Chronologies; but its very likely that Flaccus, who shamefully deposed him; but they were both Consuls, during the Year of this great Man was revenged of the Conful, Sylle's Dictatorship; for we find that there and got him murthered in a Well, where he were Confuls during the perpetual Dictators had hid himself. After his death, Fimbria ha- ship of Cafar, and the Soveraign Authority ving the fole command of the Army, purfued of the Emperours. Mithridates, and forced him to retire by fea to him in his Camp. Carbo would have no Colleague.

A. M. 3967. R. 666. L. CORNELIUS CINNA, CN. PAPYRIUS CARBO. Cinna very calm. went on with his Murthers and Profcriptions. P. Lenge Tribune of the people, caused his Colleague Sextus Lucilius, to be thrown headlong from the Tarpeian Rock.

TICUS, C. NORBANUS FLACCUS. The Triumph, with the Name of Maurieus. two Confuls with the young Marius, opposed that he belieged him in Capua.

A. M. 3970. R. 669. CN. PAPYRIUS upon he murthered himself. Then Praneste the Character of Pro-consul. was delivered up to sylls, who got all the Inhabitants together in the place of Arms, and PIDUS SCAURUS, DECIUS JUNIUS had them murthered by his Soldiers. Pliny BRUTUS. Scaurus made Laws to regulate affirms that Sylla found in Pramfte three the Expences of private men. Pampey and thousand pounds weight of Gold, and feven Metellus had several Engagements in Spain thousand pounds of Silver. Sylle came again with Serterius, but Pempey was always beaten, to Rome, where he took the Name of Fouffut : and Metellus always victorious ; whereupon He caused himself to be created perpetual Sertorius passed a biting Jest upon Pompey, as Dictator, and obliged the Senate to approve Eutropius and Plutarch relate, If that old woman, by a decree, all that he had done, and all that faid he, rallying the Phyliognomy of Metellus, he should do afterwards. He changed many was not bere, I would find this Boy to Schools ancient Laws, and made new ones, and cre- meaning Pempey, who was then but a Youth. ated three hundred Senators, whom he chose A. M. 3977. R. 676. CN. OCTAVIUS himself out of the Equision Order; besides COSCONIUS, CN. SCRIBONIUS CURIO. he freed ten thousand Slaves, to whom he This last Conful succeeded Claudius in the Go-

Rome, and there made a very great shughter, I in the City, he was attended with four and

A. M. 1973. R. 672. L. CORNELIUS SYLLA FAUSTUS, Q. CÆCILIUS ME. TELLUS PIUS. This year all things were

A. M. 3974. R. 673. P. SERVILIUS ISAURICUS, APPIUS CLAUDIUS PUL CHER. Sylle refus'd the Confulfhip and retired into the Country, where he liv'd the A. M. 3968. R. 667. CORNELIUS CIN- reft of his days in quiet. The Conful Clas-NA, CN. PAPYRIUS CARBO. Sylla divi- diss went into Macedonia, where he died of ded Affa in forty four Provinces, and then re- a fit of Sickness. His Colleague passed over turned into Italy: Cinna marched against him, Mount Taurus, where the Romans never had but his own Soldiers mutinied, and killed been before. He brought Cecilis and Licis under the Roman fubjection; and having in three years time performed the Expedition, return-A. M. 3969. R. 668. L. SCIPIO ASIA- ed to Rome, where he receiv'd the bonours of

A.M. 3975. R. 674. M. ÆMILIUS LE-Sylle with two powerful Armies; but he de- PIDUS , Q. CATULUS LUCTATIUS, feated them, and pursued Norbanus fo closely, Sylla died : Lepidus would not permit the Magnificent Funeral deligned for him, because of the Murthers he had committed ; yet CARBO, C. MARIUS. Sylla engaged Marius Catulus was allowed to pay to the body of his near Signium, and got a full victory, having Friend all the testimonies of his acknowkilled twenty thousand of his men, and taken ledgment. Pompeius growing in credit, sided eight thousand Prisoners. Offells one of with the Nobility, and marched at the head Sylla's Generals besieged Marius in Praneste, of an Army, that Catulus trusted him with where he retired after his defeat, and kept against Brutus, and besieged him in Modena. him to close that he could not get off; where- Pompeius got the Government of Spain, with gave the freedom of Citizens, and called vernment of Macedonia. He carried on his them by his name Corneliam. When he walk'd Conquells as far as the River Danube. Ho Nation.

C. AURELIUS COTTA. There was no- prisoner. thing remarkable transacted during their Con- A. M. 3983. R. 682. M. LICINIUS fulate.

feated him in feveral Battels,

A. M. 3980. R. 679. M. LICINIUS LU- A. M. 3984. R. 683. Q. CÆCILIUS ME-

Trench to be made of fifteen Leagues long, Josephu their Historian relates. from one Sea to the other, to inclose Spattacus, A. M. 3985. R. 684. L. CÆCILIUS and prevent his escape; but he overcame this METELLUS, Q. MARTIUS VATIA REX. obstacle, by filling up the Trench in a certain This year was imploy'd in ordering and setplace with Fascines, in a very dark and cold tling the Provinces, that Appion had lest by his night.

A. M. 1082. R. 681. CN. AUFIDIUS commanded cut in pieces. This Victory was the cause of his ruin, for his Soldiers growing proud of these advantages, forced Crassus victorious in the famous Battle of Cizicema against Mithridates; his Lieutenant General beat the Fleet of the King, and Lucullus having fubdued Paphlagonia, Bithinia; Pontus, and taken Synopæ its capital City, he again defeated Mithridates near Cabyra, and took away from him the lower Armenia. This unfortunate Prince fled to Tigrannes King of the upper foent three years in these wars, and after- City of the Kingdom, which Tigranner had wards came to Rome to make his triumphal built. Tigronnes, who had belieged Ptolomais, entry. Offavius routed the Dalmatians, took hearing of the great progress of the Romans, Salonics, and triumphed likewife over that rais'd the fiege and march'd against Luculius; but he was overcome, and Lucullus took the A. M 3978. R. 677. L. OCTAVIUS, Town of Nifiba, where Tigrannes was taken CRASSUS, CN. POMPEIUS. Pempey taking A. M. 2079. R. 678. L. LICINIUS LU- notice that Graffin's opinion prevail'd in the CULLUS, M. AURELIUS COTTA. Lu-Senate, made it his business to gain the Love cullus got a Commission to march against Mi- of the People, wherefore he restored the Trithridates, who had increased his Forces during bunes the authority that Sylla had taken away the civil wars of Marius and Sylla; yet he de-trom them; and referred the trial of civil and criminal Caufes to the Equestrian Order.

CULLUS, C. CASSIUS. Spartacus a famous TELLUS CRETICUS, Q. HORTENSIUS. Gladiator got out of the Prisons of Capua, The Isle of Candia revolted, and gave a fair opwith feventy of his Companions; and being portunity to Metellus to fignalize himfelf. He at the head of fixty thousand men, who join- subdued the whole Island in the space of three ed themselves to him, undertook to make war years, and afterwards obtain'd the triumph and against the Reman people. He routed all the the firname of Creticus. Appion King of Cyrene forces that oppos'd him; and beat Caffins the and Lybia died, and by his Will bequeathed his Prator, who would dispute with him the pas- Territories to the Roman people, with the fage of the River Po, with ten thousand Towns of Ptolomais, Cyrene and Bernice, says Eutropius. The Capitol was intirely rebuilt, and A. M. 2081. R. 680. L. GELLIUS. COR-i dedicated by Quintus Catulus, according to Caf-NELIUS LENTULUS. The Senate com- fodorus. The diffurbances between Hircanus and mitted the care of the war against Spartacus Aristobulus began this year, and were carried on to Crassus, who was followed by the most part fo far, that they occasion'd the destruction of of the Nobility. This General order'd a Jerusalem, and the servitude of the Jews, as

Will to the Roman people.

A. M. 3986. R. 685. M. CALPURNIUS ORESTES, P. CORNELIUS LENTULUS PISO, M. ACILIUS GLABRIO. The Pi-SURA. Craffus puriued Spartacus, who re- rates grew formidable upon the Miditerraneantired towards the Alps, after having loft Sea. Pempey was ordered to clear the Sea of twelve thousand men, that Crassus had cut off them; whereupon he fitted out five hundred in several skirmishes. But two of Crassius's men of war, and raised sixscore thousand Generals purfuing him with too much preci- Foot, and five thousand Horse; with these pitation were beaten, and the Army they Forces he cleared the Sea in forty days, and by this quick Expedition he got so far into the efteem of the people, that they gave bim Commission to march against Mithridates and to an Engagement, and were quite routed, Tigrames, to the prejudice of Lucullus, Who and Spartacus himself lost his life. Lucius was having almost destroy'd them, deserved the honour of making an end of that war-

A. M. 3987. R. 686. M. ANNIUS or ÆMILIUS LEPIDUS, L. MANLIUS TOR-QUATUS or L. JULIUS TULLUS.

A. M. 3988. R. 687. L. AURELIUS COTTA, L. MANLIUS TORQUATUS. A. M. 3989. R. 688. P. JULIUS CÆSAR, Q. MARTIUS. (Saluffius adds the firname Armenia, who still'd himself King of Kings. of Figulinas to that of Martius.) During these Lucuilus followed Michridases into Armenia; three Confulates, Pempey carried on the war belieged and took Tigranocerta the chiefest against Mithridates, and kill'd forty thousand of his Men, having loft himself but twenty the number of the Conspiracy; but he put Soldiers. The reason they give of this great himfelf under the protection of the people. difproportion is, that they engag'd in the Carilin: at his going out of Rome, caus'd the night, and the Konan Soldiers had the Moon bundle of Rods to be carried before him, as behind them: So that their fladow being if he had been Conful, and with this flate he carried near the Enemies, the Enemies blows got at the head of twenty thousand men, that could do them no harm. This Battle was Manlius had privately rais'd. Antonius affemfought in Alia Minor: Mithridater escap'd with bled quickly an Army, and pursued Catiline two men only, and Hipficrates one of his with the utmost diligence, that he might Wives. A while after his own Son, ha- have no time to encrease his Forces, and overving rebelled against him, he killed himself took him in the plain of Pillois, where he enout of grief. After his death Pompey entred gaged him. The Fight was very bloody, the Territories of Tigrannes, and incamp'd but the greatest part of the Conspirators was within fixteen miles from Artaxates his Capit killed, with Catiline himfelf. Scaurus made tal Ciry. Tigrammer being weakned by to ma- war against the Arabians, without any other my losses, and fearing the Army of Pompey, delign, than that he might have an opportunicame to him and laid down his Diadem at his ty to plunder the rich Town of Perra, the feet; Pompey took it up and gave it to him chief City of their States; but he took fo again, and contented himfelf with fome Pro-(ill measures, that his Army would have vinces of his Kingdom, with the best part of starved, had not Hiremus the High Priest of his Treasures, which he yielded to the Roman the Jews relieved them. Hircanus afterwards people. Pompey came a while after into Judea, became Mediator of the Peace between Arctas and inquired into the Quarrel between Hirca- King of the Arabians and the Romans; and the nus and Ariflebulus, upon pretence of being flege of Petra was raifed, upon condition of Mediator between them. Ariftobulus, to shew paying three hundred Talents to Sommus for how far he trufted him, put all his strong the charges of the war. M. Orbo or Roscius Orbo places into his hands, and made him several then Prætor, procured a Law, by which it rich prefents, and among other, a fine golden was order'd, that the Equestrian Order should Vine a very curious piece of work; but he was have a diffinet place at the Theater, from deceived in the protection he expected from that of the people. Pompey: Therefore he armed what forces he A. M. 3991. R. 690. DECIUS JUNIUS could, and got into Jerusalem. Pompey pitch'd SYLLANUS, L. LICINIUS MURENA. his Camp at the very Gates of it, and carried Pompey triumph'd for several days together, on the fiege vigoroufly: Arifiobalus, to prevent viz. over the Pirates, over the Kings, Mithrithe ruin of Jerusalem, came out to surrender dates, Tigrannes and Aristobulus. The Sons of himself to Pompey; but while the Roman Ge- Mithridates and Tigrannes and Aristobulus himself neral was flattering this Prince with hopes, followed the triumphal Chariot. Gabinius his Lieutenant got into the place, and A. M. 3992. R. 691. M. PAPYRIUS promiscuously killed with the Victims. Hir- when Cataline was defeated. canus was made high Priest, but was deprived A. M. 3993. R. 692. Q. CÆCILIUS of the Royalty. Pompey left the Treasure of METELLUS CELER, L. AFRANIUS. the Sanctuary untouch'd.

CERO, M. ANTONIUS. The City of Je- and married his Daughter Julia to Pempey. rusalem was taken during their Confulate. A.M. 3994. R. 693. C. JULIUS CÆSAR, Cariline began his seditious practices. Ciecro M. CALPURNIUS BIBULUS. As soon as quell'd this dangerous Confpiracy at its very Cafar was made Conful, he proposed the Agrabeginning, having order'd fach as were guil rian Law. Bibular vigorously opposed these ty to be put to death., and obliged Cariline to novelties, but it was to no purpose; for his quit the City. Care, who was Tribun of the Collegene carried every thing, and also abupeople, and bore a hatred to Julius Calar, be-fed him in his perion, cauting the Fasces cause he had an amorous Intresigne with Porcia that were carried before Bibulus, to be broke after a flender refiftance they open'd the Gates or M. CALPURNIUS PISO, M. VALERIto Pompey. The faction of Ariflebulus got into US MESSALA. Catiline was killed this the Temple, being refolved to defend them- year, according to Caffiodorus; but his opinion felves; but Pompey belieged them, and took does not feem probable; for Saluftus expresly them after a fiege of three months. The Holy observes that this Conspiracy began in June, Temple was prophan'd, not only by the un- during the Confulate of Cefar and Martin. circumcis'd Nations that enter'd it, but also Besides, 'tis undeniable that Amkony comby the flaughter of the Jewif Priests, who were manded the forces of the Commonwealth,

Calar asked the Confulates, and making in-A. M. 3990. R. 689. M. TULLIUS CI- terest for it, reconciled Grassus and Pampey, his Sifter, would have his name fet down in in the prefence of Bitulus himfelf. Bibulus durft not appear any more after to great an behalf of the murther of Clodier his Enemy. affront, and thut up himself in his own house, which is to be seen in his Orations. caufing his oppositions to be posted up by A. M. 3997. R. 696. CN. CORNELIUS night: wherefore the people feeing him no LENTULUS, L. MARTIUS PHILIPPUS. more, faid in jeft, Julio & Cafare Cofs. Cafar form'd the famous Triumvirat with Gelar got the Government of Gaul for five Pompey and Graffus, which was fo fatal to the

PISO, AULUS GABINIUS PAULUS, man. Care and the Conful Marrius his Father-The hatred of the Tribune Clodius broke out in-law attempted to break this league, but against Cicere, who had impeach'd him for could not accomplish it. Im. Cethegus, Sura and other accomplices of the Spring, in a very hard feafon, fo that he Catiline, without having observed any forma- lost a great many of his Ships. He plunder'd lity of Justice: Upon this accusation Cicero the Temple of Terusalem, which Pomper and was banished Rome, and his Houses both in Gabinius had spared out of respect, and carthe Town and Country were burnt down.

Alexander Son to Ariffobulus having made ted Silver. his escape out of Pointey's hands, came into An Arabian, whom Plutarch calls Ariamener, Judes, where he ran'd ten thousand Foot, and and Appianus Abaris, guided Crassis and his Arfifteen hundred Horie, and then attack'd Ga- my inro a dry and barren Plain, and expos'd binius, but was beaten. Alexander loft three him to the Parthians fury, who defeated him, thousand men, and retired into Alexandria, kill'd his Son, and the greatest part of his where he defended himself for some time; Soldiers; he attempted to escape in the dark, but at last was forced to surrender. Aristobe- but another Arabian, whom he had took for lus King of the Jews, with Antigonus his Son, his Guide, betrayed him also; for he guided escaped also out of the Prisons of Rome, and his forces during the night, so that the next would attempt to raife men in arms as Alex. morning they were in a great plain, in fight ander had done; but he had no better fuccess of the Partiians. Surena the Parthians Comthan Alexander, for he was brought again pri- mander pretended to be willing to come to a foner to Rome.

METELLUS. Pompey taking notice that the Arrows. esteem the people had for him, was lessen'd Casar was more fortunate in his Governbeing afraid that this decree of the Senate quest of England. should be approved of by the People, raised A. M. 3999. R. 698. APPIUS CLAUas many Men as he could to prevent it, and DIUS PULCHER, L. DOMITIUS ÆNEO-Pompcy and the Senate likewife raifed forces, BARBUS. The death of Craffus created Jea-and engaged Clodius and his Men. The fight loufy betwixt Pompsy and Cafar. Julia, Pompsy's

Commonwealth, that at last it brought the A. M. 1995. R. 694. L. CALPURNIUS Roman people under the subjection of one

having prophaned the Mysteries of Circs, be- A. M. 2908, R. 697. CN. POMPEIUS cause he went into the house of Calpurnia MAGNUS, M. LICINIUS CRASSUS. The dreffed in a Womans Apparel upon the ac- Confuls got an order, by which Gefor should count of Galantry. Cicero to avoid his fury remain in his Government for five years more, went into Gaul, where he ferved in the qua- Pompey should be Governour in Spain and Afrility of Cefar's Lieutenant. Cledius's anger ca, and that Croffus should have Syria and Efeemed to be over, because Cicero was out of 1gypt, with the absolute power of making war his reach : but Green fell into the snare, for against what Nation soever he should think he returned to Romi, where immediately Clo- fit. Craffus was so impatient of being at war diss' accused him of having put to death Lintu- with the Parthians, that he put to Sea before ried away two thousand Talents of consecratreaty with Craffus; whereupon the Conful A. M. 1996. R. 69r. P. CORNELIUS advanced to the Parley, but the Parthians LENTULUS SPINTER, Q. CÆCILIUS furrounded him, and kill'd him with their

by the Artifices of Clodius, refolv'd to be re- ment, he defeated the Sicambri and Ulipeles, veng'd of him, and to recal Citero out of his which were the people of Guelderland and Zusbanishment, and restore him to all his Estate. phen, and laid a Bridge over the River Rhine, Clodius could never prevent it by his Veto or and passed over into Germany, where he stay'd opposition, for the Senate ordered that all ex- but eighteen days, and came back again into ercife should cease till Cicero's return. Cledius Gaul, from whence he undertook the Conwas bloody, but the Senate got the best ; Wife, and Celar's Daughter, died in Childand Citero returned. The Commission for bed. And after her death, Pompey seeing that bringing Corn to Rome was beflowed upon Cafar's Victories had got him the love of the Pomper, as a reward in confideration of Citino's people, could not bear his preference; where-return. A while after Milo murthered Cledian; fore he would have laid down his Employwhereupon Citero made a fine Apology in the ments; but Cato, who was Calar's Enemy per-I vaded him to the contrary.

A. M. 4080. R. 699. CN. DOMITIUS | Conful Marcellus, who made all his endeavours CALVUS, M. VALERIUS MESSALA. to prevent it. Marc. Antony, who was on Ca. Gefar went over a fecond time into England far's fide was made their chief Pontiff, and with eight hundred Sail, and all the choice of Galba was debarred of the Confulate, because. the Nobility of Gaul. The English made no he had been Cajar's Lieutenant. great resistance; Cassive lanus their King sub-mitted to the Romans. The people of Namus LENTULUS, G. CLAUDIUS MARCELand Hainault took up Atms, and belieged Cice- LUS. The two Confuls favour'd the party ro in his Camp, but Cafar came to his relief of Pompey, and proposed to recal Cafar and and got him off, being then reduc'd to the disband his Army; but Cario and other Friends last extremity. Afterwards Cafar went to- to Cafar, opposed boldly the Confuls, who wards Rome, and fent to Pempey to borrow difmis'd the Affembly, upon pretence that two Legions of him, which Pompey fent him, they grew too hot. Labienus one of the chief-Scipie Hipfens and Mile stood both at Reme, with est General Officers of Gafar forfook him. open force for the Confulship; whereupon and went over to Pompey. The Confuls found the Senate named Pompey the only Conful, with out another way to bring their defign about : the power of chusing a Colleague.

Cacilius Metellus. Pempey being a Widower it was necessary to fend two Legions of Catook Cornelia, Scipio's Daughter, for his fecond far's, and two other of Pompey's, with some Wife, and all his care was to make himself other Forces to make war against them. As fure of the Senate, to counter-ballance the fa- foon as Cafer had notice of this order. he your of the people, who declared openly for fent two of his Legions, with two more that Cafar. He was continued Governour of Spain Pompey had lent him. Fabius came to Rome and Africa for four years; and Cafar obtain'd from Cafar, and delivered his Letters to the the Government of Gaul for the fame time. Confuls, who were hardly prevailed upon Many disturbances arose in Gaul, that kept by the Tribunes, that the same should be read Gafar, very buffe. He defeated Versingenteria, to the Senate, and would never confent that besieged and took Avericum now Bourges Bituri- his offers should be taken into consideration. cum, now the chiefC ity in Berry, and Alexia, but ordered to confider of the prefent flate of near Vellacundirum (Auxerre), and forc'd Vircin- the affairs of the Republick. Lentulus one of gentoriz to furrender himfelf.

MARCELLUS, SERVIUS SULPITIUS RU- mind boldly. Sapie, Pempey's Father-in-law, FUS. Marcellus upon Pompey's motion propo- Spoke to the same purpose, and faid that Pomfed to fend a successiour to Celar, but Sulpiniu's pey would never forfake the Republick, if the Colleague, and the Tribunes of the people Senate would fland by it. Whereupon it opposed it, faying, that Cafer had obtained was ordered that Cafer should disband his Athis Government for four years, which time my by a certain time, or otherwise he should was appointed by the Senate, and that it would be declared Criminal. Marc-Anthony and Q. argue much injustice and imprudence in the Massur Tribunes of the people opposed this repeople, to take his Government from him, folution. The Cenfor Pile and the Prætor while he was victorious, and before the time Rescius offered themselves to go to Cafar, to appointed by the Senate was expired. The inform him how the affairs went, but they Proposal was then rejected for this time.

cellus. Coulin German to the last Conful of this which it was ordered, That the Magistratu name, proposed again to recal Cafar, and should take care of the safety of the Communicalth. fend him order to disband his Army ; Emili- The Tribunes went out of Rome and retired as on the contrary, added to the reasons all to Cafar at Ravema, where he was expecting ledg'd the foregoing year by Sulpitius, that an answer suitable to the equity of his De-Cafar offered to disband his Army, if Pompey, mands.
who was his declared Enemy, would also The following days the Senate met out of break his Forces. The Tribune Curio feeing the City, that Pompty might be present at that the Senate favour'd Pompey, made that the Assembly, for being Proconsul, by his proposal to the people, who approv'd the Office he could not be at Rome. Then they fame, and Anthony Curio's Colleague, openiy raifed Forces throughout Italy, and took Moread Cafar's Lercers in the presence of the ney out of the Exchequer to bear Pompey's people, notwithstanding the opposition of the charges. Cefar having int ligence of all they exaggerated the shame or disgrace that the A. M. 4001. R. 700. CN. POMPEIUS defeat of Graffus by the Parthians had brought MAGNUS. He chose for his Colleague Q. upon Rome; and that to revenge that affront, the Confuls faid, that he would never forfake A. M. 4002. 2. 701. M. CLAUDIUS the Commonwealth, if they would fperk their were not allowed to go, and all the proceed-A. M. 4003. R. 702. L. ÆMILIUS PAU- ings were stopt. They had recourse at last LUS. CACLAUDIUS MARCELLUS. Mar- to the last remedies, and to a Decree, by these proceedings, assembled his Soldiers, and , Ptolomy caused him to be murther'd before he met the Tribunes of the people, who came these Murtherers. to him to implore his affiftance.

open'd their Gates, and fent away Pompey's the Confuls. Cafar having no Ships to follow and restor'd them to the possession of their Estates: He laid down that great Office, after made Conful.

A.M. 4005. R. 704. C. JULIUS CÆSAR. P. SERVILIUS VATINIUS ISAURICUS Cafar had then no other thoughts, but to purfue Pompey; but first of all he thought fit to make himfelf Mafter of Spain, where Pompey had fortified himfelf a long while ago. He had several skirmishes on the Segra near Lerida, and so closely purfued Afranius one of Pompey's Generals, that he was obliged to difband his Army, composed of feven Roman Legions, and of a great many Confederates. Varre another General of Pempey's attempted to defend Calis and Cordua, but all the Neighbouring Provinces declared themselves for Cefar, so that he was forc'd to yield to his good Fortune, and delivered up his Forces, Ships, and all his Ammunitions. In the mean time Pompey got together a very firong Fleet. compos'd of feveral Squadrons from Afia, the Cyclades Islands, Corfon, Athens and Egypt, making in all five hundred Ships, besides the Tenders, and other small Ships. His Land Forces were not inferior to his Naval Strength, but he had dispersed his Army into several places, to keep the Provinces in his Interest: and had then with him but forty five thoufand Foot, and seven thousand Hotse: Casar was not fo ftrong, for his Army confifted only of a thousand Horse, and twenty two thousand Foot. These two Armies engaged in Theffalia near Pharfalia, and Pompey's Army represented to them in a pathetical way the in- landed. Cefar was so concerned at the news inflice of his Enemies, and exhorted them to of his death, that the murtherers thought fland by him against their violence. The Sol- they could not avoid a punishment suitable diers cried out presently that they were ready to their Crime, but by the death of Casar to protect his Dignity, and that of the Tri- himself. Photinus the Euguch, and Archalas bunes. Cafar trufting himfelf to their fideli- attacked Cafar, but Methridates King of Pergaty, brought them towards Rimini, where he mus came to his relief, and deliver'd him from

A. M. 4006. R. 705. Q. FURIUS CALE-All the Towns of Italy where Cafar appear'd NUS, P. VATINIUS. Tho' Cafar was abfent from Rome, yet he was made Dictator Garrisons. This great progress surpriz'd the second time, and his Distatorship conti-Pompey's Followers, and obliged them to quit | nued for a whole year. He reduced the King-Rome, and Cafar pursu'd them as far as Brun- dom of Pontus into a Roman Province, and bedusium, where Pompey cross'd over the Sea with stow'd the Government of it upon Celius Vincinianus. It was concerning this Victory that them, return'd to Rome. The Magistrates Cafar obtained over Pharmaces King of Pontus. and the Senators that remain'd there made that he wrote to his Friend Anicius, veni, vidi, Lepidus Inter-Rex, who created C. Julius Cefar vici, I am come, I have feen, I have overcome; Dictator, who recall'd the banish'd Citizens, to shew with what swiftness he had subdued the Kingdom of Pontus. Cafar return'd by way of Afia Miner, and gave the Kingdom of having kept it eleven days only, and then was Bosphorus to Mithridates King of Pargamus, and from thence came to Rome, where his presence was necessary : After his arrival he difbanded a great part of his Forces, giving one hundred Crowns to each Soldier, with Lands enough to live there rich and contented.

A. N. 4007. R. 706. C. JULIUS CÆSAR. M. ÆMILIUS LEPIDUS. Cafar did not flay long at Rome, but went over into Africa at the beginning of January, where at first he was worsted by Labiemu's Forces. Afterwards he drew the Africans to a Fight near the Town of Tapfus, where the Forces of Labienus and Afranius, tho' reinforc'd by those of Scipie, were cut in pieces. Cafar gain'd great Glory in this Battle; for he got three Camps of the Enemies, kill'd ten thousand Men, or fifty thousand, according to Plutarch; made several Prisoners, and lost but one hundred and fifty Men. After this Victory Calar march'd towards Utica, where Cate commanded, who feeing all things in a desperate condition kill'd himfelf. Tubs got off fafe in the last battle with Petreius, and attempted to retire to Zams a Town of his own, very ftrong and well provided, where he had left his Wife, Children and Treasure, but the Inhabitants thereof thut up the Gates upon him, and made a prefent of all his Treasure to Cafar. Afranius and Sylla had no better fortune, for they fell into a body of the Army, that Sitius, Cafar's Lieutenant commanded, and Sylla was made prisoner with Pompeia his Wife was defeated, and himfelf forc'd to escape in and Children. Sitius's Soldiers kill'd him and disguise to Amphipolis, where he attempted to Afranius by Casar's order, who spared the life rally his scatter'd Forces; but Casar pur- of Pompeia and his Children, and restor'd them fued him to close, that he had no time to do to their Estate. Scipie attempted to get into it, and fled away into Egypt, where King Spain, but the Winds and the Sea drove him back to Bonne, where Sittut was return'd, who him when he stole the Sabine Virgins, at the funk eafily all his Ships.

vince, and subjected it to the Roman Laws. the Horses and Asses were crown'd with He caused all the Goods of Juba to be fold, Flowers, and rested, and a Mule was facriand made prefents to his Soldiers of the Mo-ficed to this God. After this factifice they ney arising by them. Cafar return'd to Rome, represented the Games call'd Confuales, afterwhere he triumph'd for three days together : wards named Romani and Circunfer, according The first day he triumph'd over Egypt, the to the report of Asconius Padianus, in his Comfecond over the Kingdom of Pontus and Phar- mentary on the first Verina. Ad id tempus Cinnaces, and the third over Africa and King Juba; censi Spectaculo contenta erat civitae nostra, qued and in fo modest a manner, that there was primus Romulus raptis Virginibus Sabinis Consualium nothing feen in his Triumph, that could nomine celebravit. Vid. again this word, befeem to infult over the memory of those he fore the word Conful. had vanquished: The next day after these CONSUS. The God Confut, or the God of Officers, with Labienus and Affins Varus, After lus. Livy fpeaking of the Rape of the Sabines, this Victory Munds and Cordus were both befieged and taken : Pempey's Sons died of their wounds.

A. M. 4008. R. 707. O. FABIUS MAXI-MUS, C. TREBONIANUS. Calar crown'd with Glory after fo many Conquests came to Rome, to make his triumphal Entry there; and then the Senate and the Roman people this God Horstofing or Neptune, and Zergin flow submitted to him, creating him perpetual or Earth-mover; affirming that for that rea-Dictator, and render'd him such Honours son his Altar was hid under ground, because that were only due to the Gods. Reme could never get a more illustrious Master. He ap- Others pretend that this Feast and Horse-Raply'd himself carefully to all that could con- ces were made in honour of Neptune; but that tribute to the grandeur and welfare of the Altar was confecrated to a certain Spirit or Roman people. He reform'd the Calendar, re- Dæmon, keeper of fecret Councils. built and re-populated feveral Towns; and undertook to cut the Isthmus of Corinth. which joined Merco to the Continent of Greece, ted a Temple to Nopeme the Horse-tamer. and terminates the Gulph of Lepans. He and kept a Feast every year on the fixteenth would also join the Anio to the Tiber, by a of August, which the Arcadians call'd inworse. Canal that was to be cut from Rome to Girca- via, and the Romans Confustion, during which am, and fall in at Terracine. This great man time the Horfes, Mules and Affes refled. in the midft of his Grandeur and Profperity three and twenty wounds he received, being fame Tent, commanded by a Decumus, or then fifty fix years old.

Feasts and Games instituted the tenth day of called Centuaria. August, or of March, as Ovid fays, in the third CONVIVIUM, V. Epulum, a Banquet or Book of his Fastorum, in honour of the God Con- Feast. fus, or God of Counsel, (as 'tis interpreted , CORAGIUM, The Obsequies of a Virgin. by St Auftin and Servius.) Remulus made use of Games that were represented at Rome, where Gelar having subdued Africa, made it a Pro- he had invited the Sabmer. During this Feath

Triumphs, he entertained all the Roman Peo- Counfel, according to Servius's interpretation. ple at two and twenty thousand Tables, and Confus, says this Grammarian upon the 8th of gave them the diversion of a great many the Eweid, is the God of Counsel, who has rights of Gladiators, and a representation of his Temple covered in the great Circus, to a Sea-fight. The Citizens were numbered thew that Counfel ought to be kept fecret: and were found 120000 heads of Families, And St Austin lib. 4. de civitate dei, cap. 11. who had escaped the fury of the Civil Wars. Comfus is named so from the Counsel he gives Pompey's Sons, with the remains of his Par- or inspires men with; but Cyprianus calls him ty, were retired into that part of Spain called the God of Cheating and Malice, for it was Ulterior or Batica, where Calar purfu'd and de- he that inspired Romulus to ravish the Sabine feated them near Munda, killing thirty thou- Virgins, who came to Rome, to be prefent at fand on the foot, among whom were three the Games that were there represented, the thousand Roman Knights, and seventeen Field Sabines having been invited to them by Roman

> " The Romans, fays he, celebrate still in our " time this Feast and Solemnity, and call it Confusiis. There is an Altar under ground very near the great Circus, where they make " Sacrifices, attended with great Illuminati-" ons of Fires and Lights; there are also ma-" ny Horse-races. Wherefore some name Neptune, who is the Sea, incompasses the Earth.

Varro confirms Livy's opinion, but Dyonyfaus Halicarnaffens tells us, that the Romans dedica-

CONTUBÉRNIUM MILITARE, was murthered in the Senate, and died of A Company of Soldiers that lodge in the leader of ten men. This company was the CONSUALIA, and Confuales Ludi. tenth part of a Company of an hundred men vagant postures, like Country dances.

part of Interpreters deriving the same from the Greek Word goon that fignifies a young Girl, fay, that Coriceum was a place where young Girls exercis'd themselves with wrestling and running. Others take its Etympology from the Greek word xauad i. e. the Hair, as if it were an appointed place for shaving. Mercurialis, with-Bathst and gives no other reason for the same, lars called Tutelles at Bourdeaux, the tops but only that fuch a room was requisite in the | whereof are of the Cerinthian Order, with the Palxifra: but Baldu tells us, that this word leaves of Aconthus. Coriceum is derived from the Greek word place.

the ground.

fo incorporated.

of two ranks of fine leaves, fixteen in number, being cut therein and from whence come having been fo favourable to his Country. out fo many fmall branches or stalks, covered again with the same number of Cartridges. nelian Family. Many great men and worthy This order was invented by Callimachus Stone- Ladies in the Roman Commonwealth came cutter, who by chance found a Basket fet from that Illustrious Family. upon a plant of Acanthus, covered with a tile,

CORDAX, A kind of an old, merry and that had very much bent its leaves. This pleafant Dance, full of ridiculous and extra- new Figure pleafed him, and he imitated it in the Pillars he wrought afterwards at Corinth CORICEUM, A part of the Ancient fettling and regulating upon this Model all the Palæfira. Grammanians don't agree about proportions and measures of the Corinchian Orthe meaning of this word; the greatest der. Villappendus fays, that this History of Callimachus is a Fable, that the Greeks did not invent the Corinthian Chapiter, but took the Model thereof from the Temple of Solomon, where the top of the Pillars were adorn'd, as Palladio thinks they were littleSchoolsforGirls. he fays, with leaves of Palm-trees, unto which the leaves of an Olive-tree are more like than those of an Acambus, which he tells us, never were us'd by the Ancients in the out troubling himfelf with the Etymology, Corinthian Chapiters : However the contrary affirms that it was a place where they laid up is observed in many tops of Pillars, that are the Wrestlers Cloaths, or such as went into the yet to be seen in Greece, and even in the Pil-

CORIOLANUS. After the taking of RADUNAS, which fignifies a Ball, and his in- the Town of Corioli, the Conful C. Martius terpretation of this word feems the most rea- took the Simame of Coriolanus. Dionysias Halfonable; wherefore we may fay, that Coryce- licarnaffeus tells us, that Coriolanus being upon um is a place where men play at long Tennis, the Guard, the Enemies made a fally out of vulgarly called Well Tennis, or at Baloon, the Town and attacked him in his post, but which was a necessary thing in a wrestling he beat them back so vigorously, that he entered the Town along with them, and fet it CORINTHUS. Corinth the chief City on fire; which brought fuch terror upon the of Athaia, placed in the middle of the Ishmus Inhabitants and the Garrison, that they quitof Peloponne flus between the Ionian and the ted the place. Plutarch relates this in a diffe-Agean Seas. It was built first by Sisiphus the rent manner, and favs, that the Conful hav-Son of Eslus, and named Corers, according to ing engaged the Volici some miles from Cori-Strabo; and after having been destroyed, it of, he perform'd wonderful deeds of Valour; was rebuilt by Corintbus, Pelops his Son, and and having routed them, he went at the head called after his Name Corinthus. The Corinthians of a body of Referve, and charged the Rear abused the Roman Ambassadors, whereupon of the Enemies, who slying into Corioli for Mummius was fent thither, who put the Inha- shelter, he got in promiscuously with them, bitants to the fword, and razed the Town to and made himself Master of the Town. This great Captain, proud of the Nobility of his CORINTHIUM. Viz. ÆS. Corinthian Family and his Rank, dogs treat the Roman Braft. Pluy mentions three forts of Corinthian people with too much Authority, and exaf-Brass; viz. the white, red and the mixt perated them to that degree, that they coloured: this divertity arifes from the pro- banish'd him out of Rome. Coriolanus highly portion of the three forts of Metals whereof refenting this Affront, retired among the tis compounded, which are Gold, Silver and Volfer, and came at the head of them to in-Copper, which according to Pliny and Florus, camp on the Cluvian Trenches, two leagueswere mix'd together when the City of Co- off Rome, after he had taken many Towns rinth was burnt, for many Statues and Vessels from the Romans. The Romans, afraid of their of these three Metals were melted down and lives, attempted to move him by Prayers. The Pontiffs and the most considerable of CORINTHIUS. Viz. ORD O. The Co- the Senate were fent to him, but could not rinthian Order, one of the three orders of Ar- prevail with him, and he yeilded only to the chitecture; confifting in its Pillars and Cha- folicitations of his Mother and his wife Vopiter. which is adorn'd with Carvers work, lumnia. He brought again the Velsei into their own Country, but they put him to death for

CORNELIA. Viz. FAMILI'A. The Cor-

COR-

CORNELIA, Pompey's Wife, for whom lixteen Books of Annals, beginning from the he had more tenderness and regard, than for death of Augustus. The fix, seven, eight and the whole Empire. All his fear was upon ninth Books are lost. her account, and he took more care to fave There were many other Illustrious Men of her from the publick danger, than to prevent that Family. the ruine of the Universe.

---- Seponcre tutum, Conjugii decrevit opus : Lesboque remotam Te procul a fevi ftrepitu, Cornelia, belli. Lucanus.

After the lofs of the battle of Pharfalia, and crooked. Pempey encouraged her to constancy, telling The Ancients made use of them in War her, that if the had lov'd only the person of and Sacrifices; those that were used in Sacriher Husband, she had lost nothing; and if fices were commonly made with Box-tree, the had loved his Fortune, the might be glad and those used for the Games were of Silver, to have now nothing else to love but his or of Bones of Asses Legs, the found whereof Perfon.

- Tu nulla tulifti. Belle dayma mee. Vivit post pralia magnus, Sed forma perit : quad defler, illud amafti. Luc.

ed from the Island of Leiber, where she was Cornibus fecreterii prateriani pracrant, fays Caffieleft during the war. The Inhabitants of the dorur. Island were generally forry at her departure. because she had lived all the while she was Feathers, lesser than a Raven, but croaking there, during her Husbands profperity, with the same modesty as she should have done tells the Rain with her croaking, which was in time of his advertiry.

Stantis adbuc fati vizit quafi conjuge ville. After the death of Pompey, the took no other pleasure but in mourning, and seemed to love her grief, as much as the had loved

-Sevumque artiè complexa delorem, Perfruitus lacrymu, & amat pro conjuge luctum.

CORNELIUS COSSUS, Amilica-Pheretrius.

Conful and Priest to Jupiter. He fided with as the Symbol of Concord. Sylla, and got his Veins opened, for fear of CORNU, The Horny hard part that falling into the hands of Marius, who had grows on the head and at the feet of many feized upon Rome with his party.

under the name of Ariftem. He kill'd himfelf be- God of Sleep with a Horn. cause he had been suspected of Treachery.

Seneca speak commendably of him.

CORNICEN. He that bloweth a Horn or Cornet, invented by Marlyas in Phrygia, 'Tis a kind of a great Flute, with feven holes; there are fome that are straight, made of a whole piece of wood, of Service-tree or Plum-tree: Some others are of two pieces was more clear, as Plutarch relates it.

CORNICULARIJ. A kind of Officers that flood at a corner of the Bar, where the Magistrate administred Justice, to hinder the people from coming in and di-Cornelis imbark'd with Pempey, and depart- flurbing the Magistrate : Cornicularii, quis > CORNIX, A Crow, a Bird with black and feeding upon Carrion like him. She foreaccounted a bad Omen to him that began any undertaking.

> (Eclog. r. Sape finifira cava pradixit ab ilico Cornix. Virg.

And sometimes it was a good Omen.

Tarpeio quondam qua fedit culmine Cornix. Eft bene non potuit dicere, dixit erit. Epigram.

Yet the Crow was under the protection of Concord, for Elianus tells us, that the Anciry Tribune, who kill'd Volumnius King of the ents were used to call upon the Crow in their Veienses in a pitch'd battle, and confecrated Weddings. Politianus affirms that he has feen his Spoils called Opime, to Jupiter firnamed a Golden Medal of the young Fauffina, Marcus Aurelius his Daughter, and Wife to L. Verus, CORNELIUS MERULA, He was on the reverse whereof a Crow was represented

Animals. The Ancients, fays Plutarch, hung CORNELIUS GALLUS, An intimate up Stags horns in the Temples of Diana, to Friend to Augustar and Virgil, whose Encomi- shew that she was the Goddess of hunting. um you may read in the 4th Book of hirGeorgicks; Servius tells us, that they represented the CORNU-COPIA, The Horn of CORNELIUS SEVERUS, An He- Plenty, according to the Fable; 'tis a Horn roick Poet and a Declaimer; Quintilian and from which came out all things that could be wish'd for, out of a priviledge that Jupiter CORNELIUS TACITUS, A F2- gave his Nurse, whom they supposed to have mous Historian and a wife Politician, who been a She-goat or Amalthea. This Fable is wrote the History of the Roman Emperors in grounded upon the fruitfulness of a TerritoHorn, very abundant in Wine and rare Fruits, celebrated in the honout of the young Archewhich King Ammon gave to his Daughter A- morns, they gave a Crown of Smallage : and malthea, whom the Poets have supposed to this is confirm'd by the four following Latin have been Tubiter's Nurfe.

CORONA, A Crown. Crowns were of Archias. added to Honour, Virtue and the Atchievements of great men, by Priests in Sacrifices, Sacra per Argivas certamina quatuor urbes by the people in Game, Shews and Feaftings : Sunt ; due facta viris, & due Calitibus, and because of their several uses, they were Ut Jouis & Phabi, Melicertaque Archemorique made of feveral Materials, as we shall fee afterwards.

The Crowns that were bestowed upon In publick Feastings and Rejoycings merit, and for reward of great Actions they were crowned with Ivy, Roses, and were called Civica, Oblidionalis, Muralis, Ca- other natural and artificial Flowers. Pliny firenfis, Navalis, Vallaris, Ovalis, and Trium- tells us, that these Crowns or Garlands of killed his Enemy.

raife the fiege of a Town or Camp.

Silver, with Battlements of old Walls round their Heads in their merry Meetings. about, in the form of Beams.

granted to fuch, who forc'd the Palifadoes and at publick Games, with their Heads crowned the Camp of the Enemies, and beat them with Laurel or Flowers, eedem anno coronati and Silver, with Pales of Palisadoes round ed with Palm-branches. about, like fo many Rays.

with the two former, formed with Beaks of Feafts in honour of the Gods; as it appears Ships, and was given to him who first board- by ancient Marbles. ed the Enemies Ships.

The Crown Triumphalis was at first made of made free, a Crown of Wool. Laurel; but afterwards they made it of Gold: wear on the day of his Triumphal Entry.

The Crown Ovalis was granted to him, who | whole Cornish. had obtained the leffer Triumph, called the Olympick Games dedicated to Jupiter, fices to her in the Temple of Pallat. was made of wild Olive-tree. That of the CORONIS, Phlegial's Daughter, loved Pythian Games, celebrated in the honour of by Apello; but being grown too familiar Apollo, for the defeat of the Serpent Pytho, was with Ischis, the Son of Elatus of Theffalia, 2 of Laurel. That of the Ishmian Games, so- Raven who saw them together, acquainted of Libis, whose Figure is like an Ox's Pine-tree: and that of the Nemasn Games. Verfes of Alciatus, translated out of the Greek Pramia funt pinus, poma, spium, atque olea.

Flowers were not used, and that they were The Crown Civica was made of Branches kept for the Statues of the Celestial Gods. of Oak with Acorns, or of ground Oak, and Menestus and Callimachus both Physicians, wrote was given to fuch who had fav'd a Citizens against the use of Crowns of Flowers in life in a battle, having defended him, and Feastings, faying that they were hurtful to the Brain : but Typhe another Phylician, and The Crown Oblidionalis, was made of Grass Aristo a Periparetick Philosopher maincalled Gramen, gathered in the Camp, and gi- tained the contrary, and faid that Flowers. ven in honour of the courage of the Soldier may open the pores of the Head, and make or Captain, who had forced the Enemy to a free passage for the fumes of the Meat and Wine. It might however fall out, that some The Crown Muralis was bestowed upon him, Flowers and Herbs may hurt the Brain; and who had first scaled the Wall of a besieged this may be the reason why they lest off the Town or some other place, and entred by use of Garlands of Flowers, and made use of the breach. This Crown was of Gold or little woollen Bands, which they tied up about

Livy tells us at the end of his furft Decade. The Crowns Castrmsis and Vallaris were that in the Year 460, all the Romans affisted from the Trenches and the Fences where they primitim ob res bello bene geffas, ludos Romanos. were retired. This Crown was made of Gold | Spettaverunt, and the Conquerors were crown-

They likewise crown'd themselves with The Crown Navalis was of the same metal Flowers and Herbs, at the Sacrifices and

They gave also the Gladiators, that were

CORONA, In Architecture, is that the Cities fent it to the victorious General, to part of the Cornish, which is called the Caves. Vitruvius by the word Corone understands the

CORONA LATA, The Cornifa Ovatio, and was made of branches of Myrtle- of the Dorick Order, according to Vitruvius. CORONIS, The Godde's Coronis, wor-

They likewife crowned the Conquerors in shipp'd in Sicyonia, according to Pausanias: the publick Games of Greece; the Crown of She had no Temple, but they offered Sacri-lemnized in the honour of Palemon, kept in Apollo with it. This rais'd his jealousie to the Ishmus of Corinth, was made of branches of that heighth that he flew her; and took the Child out of her Womb, with the help of he excused his long stay upon the want of Mercurius, and called him Esculapius, whom Pitcher, and the fright he was put in by he committed to the care of Chiron the Centaur | Serpent ; but the truth was, that he staid till to be brought up, and the Raven's Feathers the Figs were ripe, to feed upon them. 4 that were white before were changed into pollo did punish his lying, and forbid him to black, that he might mourn for ever drink all the while the Figs were growing for the death of Coronis, Apollo's Miftrifs. Pin- ripe. dar doth not mention any thing of the Raven, but fays, that Apollo discovered himself the Infidelity of his Mistris, that he slew her, and took the Child out of the womb of Coronis, as they were going to burn her on a Funeral Pile.

CORTINA TRIPOS, A threefooted Stool, covered with the skin of the Serpent Pythe, whereupon the Pythoniffs or Priestess of the Temple of Apollo of Delphis, cording to Pliny : Corvi agrescunt sexagenit diebus fat down to pronounce the Oracles of that fit maxime, antiquam fici coquantur au tumne. God. Virgil takes this word for the Oracle foundation of Rame, when the Gauls entered the end of the Ladder there was a Pully, Italy: The two Armies being then in pre- through which went a Rope, having a very fence, a Gaul, of the stature of a Giant, came heavy Iron Hook to it, which they let fall out of the Camp, and challenged the stoutest into the Enemies Ship. of the Romans. Valerius accepted the challenge, that a Raven fell upon the Giant, and some- down by Precipices, with their hair diffetimes blinded him with his Wings, some velled. Some made incisions in their Elbow times peck'd him, and scratched his Face and and elsewhere, others blew a Horn, beat the his Hands, and sometimes pearching upon Drum, and play'd upon the Cymbals : So the head-piece of Valerius, he affifted him to that Mount Ida refounded with their cries get the Victory, insomuch that he killed his and debaucheries. By the help of this hor-Enemy on the spot; whereupon he took the rid noise they saved Jupiter from the hands of name of Corvinus, and was so much consider- Saturn, who would have devoured him, accorded fince, that Augustus erested him a Statue in ling to the agreement made with Titan his the Market-place of Rome,

Nec te Phabi Cortina fefellit. 1. Æn. The Oracle of Apollo has not deceived you.

Omen. Apollo took an Antipathy againft him, led Cres, or Candia, upon a Mount that they because his indiscreet practling caused the likewise called ida; and here they saved Judeath of Coronis his beloved Mistrifs, whom he piter with skipping and dancing, which they killed out of jealoufie: in punishment where-did perform by thiking with Swords and of, he changed his white Feathers into black Darts against Shields. Tis faid that Rhos sperantemque sibi non falsa pramia lingua, Inter aves albas vetuit consistere corvum.

'Tis faid, that young Ravens taken out of their Nest, and exposed to the smoak of brimstone-flower, become white.

Ovid tells us, that Phabus fent the Raven to fetch water, but having tarried too long, Addis, ait, culpa mendacia, Phabus? & audn Fatidicum verbis fallere velle Deum ? At tibi, dum lattens barebit in arbore ficus. De nullo gelidæ fonte bibantur aque.

The Poets have difguifed a Phyfical Truth under this Fable ; for the Ravens are fick and thirsty, all the while the Figs are milky, ac-

CORVUS, An Engine to pull down Wall, called also a Crane; this Engine of War was found out by Getras a Chalcedonian, which was made use of, says Pelybius, to grapple the Ships of the Enemies. This Historian CORVINUS, A Sirname given to makes an obscure description of it, and all Valerius Maximus a Tribune, during the Con- that we can understand, is that there was a fulate of Furius and Appeus occov years after the Pillar and a Ladder that turned upon it, at CORYBANTES, The Priests of the having first obtained leave of the Confuls; Goddess Cybele, the Mother of the Gods, acand fought him in the fight of both Armies : cording to the Fable; at the celebration of But the Historians observe a wonderful thing, this Goddess's Mysteries, they ran up and Brother. They first inhabited Mount Ida, CORVUS, A Raven, a Brid of good in Phrygis, thence they went to an Island calones, as we learn it from Ovid, l. 2. Meta- taught her Priests this dance in Crest and Plrygia. Some Authors confound the Corybantes with the Curetes and Idei Dastyli. This word is derived from the Greek Ropu Ters which signifies to totofs the head to and fro, as mad men do ; but Diedorus Siculus writes, that they are called Corybantes, from one Corybantes the Son of Jason and Cibele, who introduced the mysteries of that Goddess in Phrygia.

COR-

CORYCEUM, vid. Coriceum.

therefore Virgil fays.

Purpureoque alte juras vincire cothurno, 1. Eneid.

COTYLA. κοτύλη. An ancient meature of Liquors, containing nine ounces of Italian Measure, viz. an onnce less than the Roman Hemina. Apuleius fays, that the Gotyla and Hemina were fynonymous among the Ancall it Coryle, i. e. incision or division, be- away above 2000 Talents of Silver, and Sextarius, and that it is called Cotyla, because his life. it divides the Sextarius in two. Galen in his upon the was called Cardinea.

Prima dies tibi, Crana, datur, Dea cardinis hec eft. -Teque Potitus, Ju pro concubitu nostro tibi Cardinis esto, Hot pretium posita virginitatis habe.

honoured Grana very much, having de-dicated a Wood to her on the Banks of the first Satyr Cropide Grainum, and Sattonius af-Tiber, and instituted a Feast to be kept every firms c. 13. in the life of Tiberius, that this eloquent and covetous Reman, he fled away ty, and a retir'd life. from Rome into Spain, during the factions | CREPITUS, A Fart, a Deity worthe Conduct of Spartacus, whereupon they collections of Antiquities.

granted him the leffer triumph, which was COTHURNUS, A Buskin, a kind of performed on Foot, and called Ovation. Af-Shoe that the Roman Lidies did wear, that terwards he was chosen Consul and Censorthey might appear the taller. It was worn The Government of Syria and Egypt fell to also by Actors of Tragedies, that they might him. He proclaimed War against the Parthe better represent Hero's: wherefore to thians, and was so forward in it, that he express the lofty strain or high style of an would not tarry till the Spring, but em-Author, 'tis faid that he wears the Buskin: barked in a very bad Season, and lost many e in cothuruis predit Elopus novis. Phad. Elop of his Ships. Then truffing to an Arabian, railes his Stile. This shoe was foled with whom he had taken for his Guide, he ven-Cork, and covered the calf of the Leg, tured himfelf and his Army too far in a Defart Country, where Surena the Parthian Commander, intirely defeated the Roman Army. Publius his Son was killed in the Fight, and a while after he himself fell by treachery, and had his Head and right Hand cut off, and fent to King Orodes in Armenia, who poured melted Gold into his Mouth, that his dead body might be burned with the same Metal, that had inflamed his tients, aud that they are both taken for half mind with an infatiable defire of Riches. the Sextarius. The Hemina, fays he, is the Flor. 1. 3. cap. 3. Plutarch adds, that he had half of the Sextarius; wherefore the Greeks plundered the Temple of Jerusalem, carrying cause it divides the Sexterius in two. Isiderus all the Gold that was found there, and fays the same in his Origines. Epiphanius fays Sidonius Apollinaris has observed that he positively, that the Cotyla is the half of the laughed but once in the whole course of

There was another called Pub. Licinius Books of Physick, makes use of the like ex- Crassiss, who was chosen Pontiff before he pressions. Suidas also tells us, that in his arrived at the usual age, and afterwards time the Cetyla was called half the Sexta- elected Conful, and was no less covetous than M. Crassiss. He made War in Asia against CRANA, Janus his Daughter, who fuc- Ariflonicus, who called himself the Son of Atceeded Sabatius in the Government of the talus, and under that pretence feized upon Aborigenes. Berofus lays, that Crana was 7s-1the Kingdom of Pergamus. He had more ream's Daughter, but according to Ovid, she gard to the Treasures of Attalus, than the was Apollo's Sifter, and James his Mistress, management of the War: wherefore he was and this God gave her for a reward of the vanquished and taken alive in the Fight; but last favour she had granted him, the office as they were bringing him to Aristonicus, he of overfeer of the hinges of Doors, where- was killed by a Soldier, whom he provoked to do it, by striking out one of his Eyes with a Switch that he had in his hand .

CREPIDA, A kind of a Shoe used in former times, like Slippers without a heel, made up of three Soles fewed together, that made a fmall noife in walking, upon which account they were named Crepida a crepitu ; CRANUS, the Son of Crana and Janus, but there are some Authors who derive this and not his Brother, as Berofus fays. He word from KDNA's a kind of Shoe used ayear. He reigned four and fifty years over kind of Shoe came from the Greeks. They were more especially made for the use of CRASSUS, called Marcus, was a very Philosophers, and men that lived in aufteri-of Marius and Sylla. He put an end to the shipped by the Egyptians under an obscene War of the Slaves, who had rebelled under Figure, which might be feen in some curious CROESUS, King of Lydia, who poff CREUSA, The first Wife of Aneas, and feffed great Wealth and Treature, and fent Daughter of King Priam and Hecuba, who was fome Wedges of Gold for an offering to A- loft in the taking of Troy, and was delivered pollo, as a reward for his false Oracles. He from the Greeian flavery by Cybelo the mother was taken Prisoner by Cyrus, and condomn'd of the Gods, and entertain'd in her services to be burnt alive : being brought to the as it is related by Virgil !. 2. Eneid. v. 785. place of Execution, and lying upon the pile of Wood, he cried out Solon, Solon, (2 Philofopher whose advice he had despised in the time of his prosperity.) Herodotus enlarges this Hiftory, and relates in the first Book of Clie, that Cyrus having defeated and taken Grafus Prisoner, put him in Irons, and the order of the Greeks, that none of Prism's got him ty'd fast to a pile of Wood, there to race should remain alive; and others more be burnt alive with fourteen young Chil- probably believe that she was killed or taken dren of the chiefest Lords of Lydia. In this prisoner, as she was following Energy that condition Crafu pronounced three times the night Troy was taken, having loft her way in word Solon. Cyrus asked him what God he the burning of the Town. was calling upon, he answered, that Solon CREUSA, The Daughter of Creen Kine was a Philosopher, who foretold him this of Corinth, whom Jason married after his divorce misfortune: whereupon he commanded im- from Medea, who being inraged for Jalas mediately the Fire should be put out, but they forfaking her, resolved to revenge that as could not do it. Then Grafin called upon front; and to that purpose, she seemed to be sipollo, and a fudden Rain fell, which did put pleafed with the new match, and fent to the out the Fire.

Crasius at Sardis, the Capital Town of his as the open'd it, it burnt her, and her Father Empire, and that Crasus spoke to him thus; Creen, with the Palace. "Now, Salm, I have thewn thee all my Trea"fures and Glory, pray tell me who is the from the Greek word upress which is a Ram. "happiest man in the world? Solon. There This word is to be feen in an Infeription "are very few Crasu, that deserve that Rome. " name, but of all that I have ever known, " Bitmand Cleobis feem to me the most happy, " who died both at the fame time, after they " had drawn the Priestels of Arger their Mo-" ther in a Chariot to the Temple : and Tellus "that illustrious Athenian, who, after he had " lived a good life, died for his Country " for no man can be called happy before "death, and when he hath finished his manner, and fays, that being defeated by be devoured by the Crododiles. Phed. Crrw, he retired for shelter to Sardis, where CROESUS, vid. after Crepitus. Crrue, having vigorously pursued him, the CROTALUM, was a kind of Cash-Inhabitants of the Town, to avoid the fury nietta made of a Reed, divided into two of the Conqueror, delivered up Crafu and lengthways, which being fruck one stheir Town into his hands; then Crafus ap- gainst the other with different motions of pearing before him, called him his Lord and the Fingers, made a found like that the Stork Mafter, and told him the answer he had from makes with her Bill, wherefore the Ancie the Oracle of Apolls how he might be happy, ents gave that Bird the Epithet of Crosalifiris, which was so know birmfelf, praise see arote, but i. e. Player upon the Grozalum. And Arifer that his prosperity and great riches had blind- phanes the Poet, calls a great talker a Grotalum. ed him.

. Dicique beatus Ante obitum nemo, supremaque funero debet.

Non ego Myrmidonum fedes, Dolopkmve Superba Albiciam, aut Grais fervitum matribus ibo . . . Sed me magna Deum genitrix his detinet orie.

Some fay that Aneas put her to death by

Bride a Casket full of Precious Stones, fo vio-Lucian relates that solon went to wait on lently inchanted with fire in it, that as food

Dis Omnipotentibus. Lucius Ragonius Venufius. V. C. Augur Publicus P. R. Q. Pontifen, Veftalis Majer, Percepto Taurobolia Criobelioque X. Kal. Jun. Dn. Valentiniano Aug. IIII. Et Neoterio Conf. Aram Confectavit.

CROCODILUS, á Crocodile, a Beaft Horace took this thought from the Oedi-that lives in the River Nile, &c. and we worshipped by the Egyptians. 'Tis said heir very greedy of Dogs-flesh, wherefore the Kensphon in the 7th Book of the Cyropedia, Dogs run all the while they are drinking relates the History of Crasu, after another Water out of the River Nile, lest they should Paulanias tells us, that Pilander Camirensis te- | What, are the Gods moved with the found of Cym ported that Hercules did not kill the Stymphalider with his Arrows, but that he had frighted and driven them away with the noise of the Crotala; and according to this Author the Grosalum must be a very ancient Instrument of Musick, if it was made use of in Hercules his time. Ovid joins the Grotalum with the Cymbals.

Cymbala cum cretalis prurientiaque arma Priapa Ponit, & adducit tympana pulla manu.

They acted feveral forts of postures when they played with the Crotalon, as Dancers do when they dance Sarabands, and play with the Caftaniets; as appears by an ancient Poem intituled Cops, attributed to Virgil.

Clemens Alexandrinus, who afcribes the Invention of this Instrument to the Sicilians, would have the Crotala banished from the Feflivals of Christians, because of the unbecoming postures their found was attended with. CRUMATA, Another kind of Caffa-niets made of little bones or shells, as Scaliger observes upon the Copa of Virgil, they were very common among the Spaniardi, and especially among the Inhabitants of the Province Batica about Cadiz, to which Martial makes allusion :

Nec ae Gadibus improbis puella, Vibrabunt fine fine prurientes, Lascives decili tremere lumbes. Epigr. 79. lib. 5.

The same Poet in another place speaks of a Woman that could play with that Instrument, and make motions with her Body.

Edere lascivos ad Batica crumata gestus. Et Gaditanis ludere dolla medis. Epig. 71.1.6.

The Inhabitants of that Country have kept to this time the use of that Instrument, and from them Castaniets come to us,

Yet these Castaniets were not unknown to the ancient Greeks. Ariflophanes calls them espanor , Oyfter's fells, and Marfhal, Tefla.

Audist ille teftsrum crebitus.

CRUPEZIA, Another kind of Caffaniets to play with the feet, and were called Crupezia from the Greek word zpier, to firike, and will, the fole of the foot, according to the Ærymology which Helychiw the Grammarian gives of it.

Pollux fays that thefe Crupezia's were Shoes. made use of by Players upon the Flure. Arnobius lib. 7. against the Gentiles calls them Seaville, and laughs at their fuperstition, saying, bals, and the noise of Castaniets, (Scabillo rum)? Salmasius, who in his Commentary upon the life of Carinus, has collected all that is to be found in Authors about this kind of Castaniets, says that they were also called Scabella, Scamilla and Scamella, because it was like a little flool or a foot-flool, which they struck feveral ways with a wooden or iron shoe; but I think that these Castaniers were of feveral forms. There are fome represented like a Sandal made of two Soles, and a Castaniet tied betwixt them. Those who will be further inform'd in this matter, may read Bartelinus's Treatife de Tibiis veterum.

CRUX, A Cross, a Gibbet of the Ancient Remens, whereon they hanged their Slaves and Malefactors. This punishment was made use of among the Jews, Persians, Egyptians, Greeks and Romans. The Criminals were tied to it with Ropes, or nailed, and always died upon it, but when they had hung there a while, they broke their Bones to make them expire the fooner, as they used the Malefactors that were crucified with our Saviour. But fince our Lord was crucified, the Emperors gave orders that no Criminal should be put to death upon the Cross. These Crosses were of feveral Figures, as Juftus Lipfius tells us in his Treatife de Crucibus.

CRYPT Æ. Vaults appointed for the interment of particular Families.

CTEISBIUS, a Native of Alexandria was a Barber's Son, and naturally endowed with an excellent Genius for Mechanical Inventions, for which he had a strong inclination. He hung a Looking-glafs in his Fathers Shop, so that it might be easily pulled down, or raifed higher, by means of an hidden Rope, which he thus performed.

He put a wooden Tube under a Beam where he had fastened some Pullies, over which the Rope went, and made an angle in ascending and descending into the Tube, which was hollow, that a little Leaden Ball might run along it, so that the Ball passing and re-passing in this narrow Cavity, by its violent motion expelled the air that was inclosed and condensed by compression and forced it against the air without; these oppofitions and concussions made an audible and diffinct found; and observing by this, that air inclosed and expelled with violence, made a found like the Voice, he was the first that from this principle invented Engines, which received motion from Water, also all Automata's that go by the force of Water inclosed: Engines that depend on the power of the Circle or Lever, and many other pleafant and useful Inventions, particularly Clocks that move by Water. To fet these Engines at Stone, and he chose such kind of materials, as being subject to wear by the constant paffing of the Water, or liable to contract filth to obstruct its passage. This being done, the Water which runs equally through the fmall hole raifes a piece of Cork, or little Ship inverted, which Workmen call Tympsmen, upon which is a Rule and fome Wheels equally divided, whose Teeth moving one another, made these Wheels turn very leifurely. He also made other Rules and Wheels divided after the fame manner, which it from Varre. by one fingle motion in turning round, produces divers effects, made feveral [mail Iup Stones like Eggs, made Trumpets found, not effential to Clocks. This we have from therefore were called Ganei. Vitravius lib. q. c. 9.

who made the Temple of Disas at Ephefus. thort poles of Oak at both ends of the Engine, to which the drawing Oxen were fast- wounded the hearts of Lovers. ned, and when they drew the Iron-pins that were in the Iron-rings, could turn free- Greeks had two Cupids, one Celestial, and the ly enough to let the body of the Pillars rowl other Common. eafily upon the Ground; and thus he fure. Philander observes, that there were his Darts all the other Gods, yet he had met shree kinds of Cubits, wiz. The great one, which was nine ordinary Foot long; the middle one was two foot long, which was about a foot and ten inches of the common The Syndicks, who were the Protectors of the foot, and the small one was of a Foot and a Districts of Rame, like the Aldermen of the half, which was about an inch and a half Wards in Landon less than a common foot of twelve inches.

CUBUS, ACobe,a folid and regular Body, with fix fquarefides, all even, like its Angles, works, who took care of them. Dies, are little Cubes. This word comes from woos, Tiffera, a Dice. A Cubical rum, The Commissioners for cleaning the Tinumber is that which is multiplied twice, ber, and the Common-shore of the City, they once by its root, and another time by its pro- were establisht by Augustus, according to duct ('tis the third power in Algebra) 64 is a what Sucronius fays, Nova officia excegitavit, work, he bored a Plate of Gold or a precious of 4, which is the root, which makes 16 its Square: and multiplied again by 4 it makes 64, which is the Cube.

A Cubical foot Cube, is a measure of folid bodies, which are a foot every way.

CULEARIA VASA, Veffels of the greatest content. This word is derived from Culeur, an ancient measure containing about 40 pints (which is near two Hogsheads,) it was the biggest measure for Liquors, Guleus bac nulla eft major mensura liqueris, says Fannius. It was made of Leather or baked Earth, as we learn

CUNEI SPECTACULORUM The Seats and Benches in Theatres, which mages move round about Pyramids, threw having a large basis, and growing narrower, the nearer they came to the Center of the and performed several other things that are Theatre, had the form of a Wedge, and CUNINA, A Goddess, who had the CTESIPHON. A famous Architect charge of Childrens Cradles, called Cuna.

CUPIDO, The God of Love, according He invented an Engine to bring the Pillars to the fable. There are several opinions of this Temple from the quarries where they concerning his birth. Hefud fays, he was were dug out, to Ephofus; for he durft not born of the Chaos and the Earth; Tuly after make use of Carts, as others commonly do, Lucian, of Mars and Venus; Arcefilas fays, that because the wheels would have sunk in the he was the Son of the Night and the Air: way, under fuch a weight, but he got four Sophe of Calus and Venus; Senece of Vulcan pieces of Wood, each of four inches fquare, and Venus. Ovid and Plutarch are of opinion, two whereof were joyned crofs the other that there were two Cupids , one celestial, two, which were longer and even with the which is innocent Love, and the other terrebody of each Pillar. At both ends of each Itial, which is filthy Love; the first born of Pillar he drove in Iron Pins made like a Venus and Jupiter, the second of Erebus and the Swallows Tail, and made them fast there Night. He is represented like a Boy, naked with Lead, having fastened into the crof- and winged, with a vail over his eyes, carfing pieces of Wood, Iron-rings, to put in rying a quiver upon his Shoulders; and the Iron-pins; besides, he put some strong holding a Torch with one hand, and a Bow and some darts with the other, wherewith he

Plutarch tells us, that the Exprises and Lucian feems to be of that opinion in the brought all the Pillars of the Temple of Diana. Dialogue betwirt Venus and Cupid; for there CUBITUS, A Cubit, an ancient Mea- Capid confesses, that the had pierced with with fome hearts that were impenetrable. viz. Minerva's, the Muser, and Disna's. CURATORES, Omnium Tribum.

CURATORES, Operum publicorum The Overfeers or Surveyors of publick

CURATORES, alvei, Tiberis & cleaces Cube number, preduced by the multiplication curam operum publicurum, viarum, & aquarum alvei & Tiberis.

CURATORES, Viarum outra Urbem. The Commissioners for the Highways, Cawfeways, and Bridges about the City of Rome.

CURATORES, Denariorum Flanderum, express'd in ancient inferiptions by these three Letters, C. D. R. The Warden of the Mint, called also Firi Monetales, who had the care of coining. The infcriptions of old Gold and Silver pieces were frampt with these five letters, A. A. A. F. F. i. c. Are, Argento, Auro flando, feriundo, overfeers for melting and coining species of Brass, Silver and Gold.

CURATORES Kalendarii. Men who put out the publick money to interest, which was paid at the Kalends, or the first day of the month. from whence they were called Kalendarii.

CURETES. The Inhabitants of the Isle of Crese, to whom Rhes committed the care of bringing up young Japiter. The Curetes were accounted Inhabitants of Cree, because that worthin pass'd from that Island to the rest of Greece and Italy, as it formerly came from Phanicis into Egypt, Phrygis, and Samethracis, and from thence to Grete, from whence it was at last communicated to the Greeks.

CURIA. A place, fays Festus, where those who were intrusted with the care of publick affairs met ; but Curis among the Roman fignified rather the persons who met in Council, than the meeting place; for there was no certain place appointed for the Affemblies, the Senate meeting fometimes in one Temple, and sometimes in another. Yet there was certain places called Curia, as Curia Hoftilia, Curia Calabra, Curia Saliorum, Curis Pomeri, Curis Augusti; but Antiquity has left us no account of those Edifices.

There were two kinds of these places or Courts, some wherein the Pontiffs met about the affairs of Religion, and were called by a general word, Caria Veters; there were four of thefe, viz. Frienfu, Ravia, Vellenfu, and Velisia, which were in the tenth Ward of the City of Rome, and the other, wherein the Senare affembled about State Affairs. We have this division from Verre, in the fourth Book, de Lineus Latins: Curie durum geneta ; O ubi Sacerdotes res divinas curarent,utCuria veteres : & ubi Senatus humanas ut Curia Hofilia.

CURIA CALABRA. The Court of Calabra was built by Remulus upon Mount Palatinue, as Varro fays, or in the Capitol, in the fame place where now the Storehouse for Salt is kept at the Conservators Lodging, as 'tis some other Authors opinion. It was called Calabra, from the verb Calare, i. e. to call, because it was the place appointed by Remulus, where the King of the Sacrifices called the Senare and the people, to tell them of the new Moons, the days for Sacrifices, and publick Games.

CURIA HOSTILIA. The Count Hoftilia, built by Tullus Hoftilius, in the place where the Senate often affembled.

CURIA POMPEIL or POM-PEIA. The Court of Pempey adjoyning to the Theatre, which he caused to be built in the place now called Campo di Fiere. It was a very magnificent Palace; the Senate was affembled there when Julius Gefar was murthered, and the Statue of Pompey was sprinkled with Cafar's Blood. At the Entry of this Palace was a magnificent Porch, supported with an hundred fine Pillars : It remained intire near three hundred years, and was burnt down in the time of the Emperor Philip, who fucceeded Gordinus III.

CURIA SALIORUM. The Court of the Salii, on Mount Palatine, where, the Augurial staff of Romulus was found intire, having receiv'd no hurt by the fire, after the Court was reduc'd to ashes, as Tully relates in his Books de divinatione.

CURIA JULIA or JULII. The Court of Julius Cafer,

CURIA AUGUSTI, The Court of Augustus

CURIA OCTAVIA. The Court of Octavia, Angulus his Sifter. CURIA POMPILIANA. The Pompilian Court.

CURIA CATONIS. The Court of

There are feveral other Courts mentioned by Vopifcus in the life of the Gordiani. All these places had nothing material, but that they were called after the names of those who built them. The Senare never met in those places till they were confectated by the Angurs.

CURIAE. The Reman People was at first divided into three Tribes, and each in ten Curia. Each Curis had its Curis or Prieft. who had the care of the Sacrifices, and Feasts proper to each Curis: as we learn from Disayfius Halicarneffeut. This was like Popish Parishes, which have their peculiar Saints Feafts and Curates, and thefe Curates a Bishop at their head, called by the Romans Curio Maximus, the first of the Curates, who, in spiritual Affairs, govern'd all the Cario's and Caria, Maximus Cario, cujus authoritate Curia, emnefque Curiones reguntur, favs Feffue, Livy relates, that Romalus called each Caris after the names of the Sabin Ladies, whom he had stole away. Yer this is not likely : for there is no name of the Sabin Ladies in History : And Dienysius Halicarnasseus tells us. that they took their name from the part of the Town were they dwelt.

Each Curis maintained its Curis with the offerings and tythes that each Inhabitant paid which Festus calls Es Curionium, qued dabatur fmiling told them in contempt, That he had Curioni ob lacerdotium Curionatis.

The Sacrifices of the Caria were called burthen'd with these superfluities. Curionia and Curialia Sacra, like the Parochial CURSOR, a Courrier, fuch a one as Maffes of the Church of Rome, where every Martial speaks of in an Epigram. particular man of the Curia is bound to be present : Wherefore Romulus and Nums had affigned Funds to bear the charges of these facrifices, and keep the Feaftings made after the Livy tells us, that Sempronius Gracebus, a very Curia or Parish. Varre derives the Etymology rid very fleet Horses appointed for that Durof Curie from Curie, because the Curie's were pose; and this shews that a long time before established to be spiritual heads in the Carie. Augustus the Romans had Post-horses settled in Curioni ditti a Curiit, qui funt ut in bis facra fa- their Empire, as is also mentioned by Sueteciant: others take it from cura care, because nins. Xenophon I. 8. de Cyropedia says, that they offer facrifices for their Parishioners.

(laying Paganifin alide) for the name agreed Packets that the Courriers brought, that he their office is alike; for the Curates are fub- motelt places. Herodotus in Urania fays, that and receive orders from him concerning his defeat. what must be done in their Parochial CURTIUS QUINTUS, A Roman Churches, what rites and ceremonies ought Knight, who devoted kimself for the pubto be observed, either in the administring of lick good, during the Consulship of Q. Servithe Sacraments, or the rest of Divine service, lius Ahala, and L. Genutius. A great Abyss and the lift of the Feafts that are to be kept; opened in the place where the Affemblies likewise the Curions instituted by Romulus, were kept at Rome, which they attempted to were subjects to the Curio called Curio Maximus, fill, but to no purpose; whereupon they had who gave them directions about the Feafts of recourse to Oracles, who answered that each month, the ceremonies of the facrifices, this Pit could never be shut up, but by and feveral other things contained in the ri- throwing into it, that in which the Roman tual or formularies they had made concern- did excel above all other Nations. The Seing them. Therefore Feftus defines this great nate affembled upon this answer, and Q. Curio, a man by whom all is done in the Cu- Curtius a young Roman Knight presented vie, and is an Overseer over all the Curio's: himself to the Senate, and shewed them. Maximus Curio, cujus aufforitate Curia omnesque that Rome was not more fruitful in the pro-Curiones reguntur.

themselves their Curio, as it was granted them was the brave men that she brought up; by Romulus, and then presented him to the and that the Gods demanded but a Roman to great Curie to be confirmed by him. The expiate for that prodigy, and that he offered Christian Churches formerly chose their Curates after the fame manner.

and then was confirmed by the Senate and hole closed of itself by degrees. This place the people.

CURIUS DENTATUS, a Roman Conful, who triumphed over the Sammiter appointed to prevent any deceit in the deliand Sabines during his Confulfhip. The Sam- vering Tickets for the election of Maginites; who had fuffered great loffes by this strates. great man, attempted to bribe him. Wherefore they fent him Deputies, who found him they took the Wine out of a larger Veffel. at Table fitting upon a form, and eating some The Cyashus contained an ounce and a half of Turnips in an earthen Difh: whereupon they liquor.

him, or by some contribution of money ; offered him a rich present of Plate. But he rather command rich men, than to be overfacrificing was over, which were called Agepe. active youth, was chosen for a Courrier, and CURIO. The Priest or Curate of each that in three days he arrived at Pella, having

Curforem fexta tibi, Rufe, remiffimus bora.

Crrss was the first inventer of them, and fet-The Popish Curates have a great Analogy tied Post-horses from place to place, with a to these ancient Curio's, as to their office, Post-master, to receive and take care of the with them, either taken from Goris or Gors: might have fresh news from the most reordinate to a first Curate, viz. the Bishop, Xerxer was the first that established them after duction of any particular thing, than other After the Curio's Death, the Curie chose Cities, and that which made her so famous, himself freely to lay down his life to fill up that Abyls. After this Speech Curtius put on CURIO MAXIMUS, The great his Arms, and riding upon his Horse, he Carie, who had authority over all the Carie's, Ipurr'd him on into the Aby . The people that with respect to the external Policy. He were spectators of that action presently threw was chosen by the Assembly of all the Cario's, flowers upon him, and made offerings; and the

CUSTODES. Some Reman Officers

was called fince the Curtism Lake.

CYATHUS. A fmall Veffel, wherewith

CYBELE. The Daughter of Calus, Sifter and Wife to Saturn, who begot Jupiter. Fabulous Antiquity gave her many names, fometimes the is call'd the mother of the Gods, Rhea, Cybele, Dindymia, Berecynthia, Pellmuntia, &c.

C

be their Palace, as Heiven is his own.

honoured in Phrygia: She took from thence Pine-trees confecrated to her. most of her names; Cybile, Dindyma and Ida | She is also called Maja, i. e. Mother or nus, Andira are Towns of Phrygia; Mygdonia is Greeks and Latins: and in all likelihood is a a little Country : and from these several Greek word, and signifies a Nurse, which is places the has got her different names.

fays, but also Cybebe; because, says he, she with Magnus, from whence comes Major and makes people run mad, from the Greek word Majeffas. RUBIBELY, agere in furorem.

name comes from Epa, tara, by a transposition like that of noz in die, aer. The Greek word tea, terra, comes plainly from the Hebrem Dress, which fignifie the fame thing, and Rhea might be directly derived from it.

Dindymia. She had this name from a Mounbrought to the Greeks and Romans.

Idea, because of Mount Ida in Phrygia where the was likewife adored.

name, near the River Sangaris, or from the dans ut mater. Mountains of that name, as Fulgentius relates. banks of the River Gallus. The Romans having conquer'd this Country, were advis'd by the Oracle, that if they could transfer to Rome the Goddess of Peffinus, their Empire should be raised to a soveraign degree of greatness: whereupon they fent a famous Embally to the Magistrates of that Country, to ask them leave to bring her to Rome, which was granted them: and they carried that Deity (which was but a nasty, rough and unpolish'd Stone) Rome : as Ovid fays, Est moles nativa : loco res nomina fecit ; Appellant saxum, pars bona montis ea est. Fast. I.v. v. 150.

CYBELE, is derived either from the Greek Pluy fays that the Earth is rightly call'd word zußißett, and zußisag, i.e. to make Gamour Mother, because God gave it to men to bels, and shake the head; because the Prizsts of this Goddess, called Corybantes, Dattyli The Pagans called her the Mother of the Idei, Caretes and Galli, danced and shook Gods, meaning by those Gods those who their heads like mad men on the day of the had been men; and honoured her under the feast; or this word comes from the place calname of Rhea and Cybele: She was principally led Cybele, or in fine from a little Grove of are Mountains of Phrigia; Berecynthia, Peffi- Nurse. This word is common both to the the Earth. But those that will have it a Latin She was not only called Cybele, as Faustus word derive it from Majus, which is the same

The Roman honoured the Earth by the Rhes is derived either from pair , to run, names of Tellus and Tellumo, Tellus was the febecause of the rains and celestial influences, minine name, and Tellums the masculine, and that make the earth fruitful; or because of so it was a God and Goddess. St Austin rethe continual flowing of feeds and generati- lates to this purpose what Varre says on this ons of all terrestrial natures; or rather this subject : "The same Earth has a double vertue,a Masculine virtue to produce Seeds, and a Feminine vertue to receive and nourish them ; from the latter fhe was called Tellus, and from the other Tellume

The Romans called also the Earth Ops, because of her power to give help. Opis is diftain in Phrygia or Troader , called Dindyma , ferent from Opt, and 'tis one of the names of where she was particularly worshipp'd, and Diana, among the Greeks, because she helps from whence her Feafts and Geremonies were women in labour. King T. Tatius built her a Temple under the name of the Goddess Ops.

They gave her also the name of Symmetrie. as much as to fay ya uhrup , terra mater. Berermihia, from a Caftle of Phrygia of that Plate derives this name from Bed saus wirng,

St Auftin, in the 7th Book, ch. 24. de Civi-Peffonuntia, from the Town Peffonus; or, as tare Dei, relates the explanation that Varro Hiradian fays, because a Statue fell formerly gives of all the mysterious particulars of the in the fields of Phrygia, which was thought worship of Cybele or the Earth. " She is calto be the Statue of Cybele; or because the "led, fays he, the mother of the Gods; place where the Phrygiant folemniz'd the feast " the Drum which is ascribed to her, is the of this Goddess was call'd Peffmur, on the "Figure of the Globe of the Earth; the Turrets that she carries over her head, represent the Towns; the Seats that furround her, shew that she only stands still, while all things are in motion round about "her ; the Eunuch Priests who attend her, denote that to get Corn and Seeds the Earth must be manured, because all things are to be found in her Bosom; their agitations and motions before their Goddess, teach Husbandmen that they must not lye still, on board of their Ship, and brought her to " because they have always something to do; the found of Cymbals denote the noise of are made of Brafs, because they were for- on a Drum, with this Motto Motor Denne, and barren, but may be manured. Besides, Head, and has two Lions under her Arms. Tellar having many Names and Signames, the CYCLOPES, The Cycloper, a race of " and green Turf.

Mother; whereas the Sun and Stars are con- derbolt, made by these Cycloper.

iidered as the Father thereof

Ceremonies used in honour of this Goddess, Jer put out his Eye with a Fire-brand, to rewhich were always performed with fury and vange the death of his Companions, whom transport of mind. The fury of the Priefts the Cyclopes had eaten. of Cybele was the voluntary agitation of Fanatick Men, who made a great noise and tumult, San or of the Dominical Letters, is a revoluand cut their Bodies with Knives, so that these tion of 28 Years, which being expired Sacrifices of Cybele, were like those performed the same Dominical Letters return again in by the Priests of Baal, related in the Book of the same order. Kings. Plans tells that the Priests of Cybele used to cut off the marks of their Sex with a Knife, made of Medicinal Earth, found in the Island and Weeks, every Day of the Month is markt of Sames, and that they run in no danger of in the Calendar with its Cypher, and one of their Life, when they made use of that fort of these seven Letters A, B, C, D, E, F, G. The

There is an old Marble at Ross, cut in honour of the great Mother of the Gods, with Circle to the end. the figure of that Goddels crown'd with a Turrer, holding with one hand a Drum, and able, to denote every Holy-day or every Day with the other some Ears of Corn: She sets of the Week, as they are in respect to the upon a Chariot drawn by two Lyons, attended by Arys, who holds a Ball in his Hand, and leans upon a Pine-tree, for this Tree was confecrated to her.

There are yet three Medals to be feen where Cybele is otherwise represented. One is of the Emperor Severm, where the is represented manner, with this Inscription Indulgentia Aua Throne, the holds with her right hand and fo forward.

" the Instrument of Husbandry; the Cymbals la branch of Pine-tree, and lays her left hans merly of that Metal, before Iron was found. This Goddels is also represented with a The tame and untied Lion gives us to ungreat many Breatts, to thew that the feeds derftand, that there is no Land to wild and Men and Beatts, and carries a Turrer on her was taken for feveral Deities. They think, fierce and haughty Men, who have but one " fays he, that Tellim is the Goddels Opr, because Eye in the middle of their Forchead. Poets " fhe mends, and grows better by Labour; have given this Name to some Inhabitants of "the Mother of the Gods, because the brings Sicily, whom they feign'd to be Vulcan's Affist-"forth a great many things ; the great Mo- ants in the making of Jupiter's Thunder-bole, "ther, because she produces Food; Prostrpina, they made also the Arms of Achiller and Amen. "because Corn comes out of her Bosom; They were so named, because they had but " Vefla, because she cloaths herself with Grass one round Lye in the middle of their Forehead. They are the Sons of Heaven and Earth. This is the Phylical Explication of the most as Hifled tells us, or of Neptune and Amphitrite, particu'ar things Poets and Historians have as Euripides and Lucian fay. Those of mell feigned concerning Cybele, fo much reverenc'd note among them are Polyphemus, Bromes, Seeby the Greeks and Romans. By all these names ropes and Pyracmon. Apollo kill'd them with his they meant the same Goddels, wiz. the most Arrows, to revenge the death of his Son Elaeffeminate part of the world, which is like its lapine, whom Jupiter had kill'd with a Thun-

Poets fay also, that Polyphenous was Shephord Strate informs us of the greatest part of the to Neptune, and Galatea's Lover, and that Ulys-

CYCLUS SOLIS, The Cycle of the

To understand this well, it must be observed, that the Year being composed of Months first Letter begins with the first Day of the Year, and the others follow in a perpetual

Wherefore these Letters might be unalter-Days of the Months, if there was but z certain and unvariable number of Weeks in the Year ; and as A marks always the first of Janury, B the 2, C the 3, fo A should mark always Sunday, B, Munday, &c. But because the Year is at least of 365 Days, which make up 52 Weeks and a Day over; it happens that holding with one hand a Scepter, and with it ends with the same day of the Week with the other a. Thunder-bolt, and her Head co- which it began; and so the following Year. vered with a Turret: She rid upon a Lyon begins again, not with the fame Day, but flying through the Air. The other Medal is with the next to it : And from thence it folof the Emperor Gers, stampt after the same lows, that A, which answers always the first of January, having noted the Sunday for one gufforum. The third is of Julia, who represents Year, (for which reason 'tis called the Domithe Mother of the Gods crown'd with Tur- nical Letter) it will note the Monday in the rets, attended by two Lions, and fitting upon following Year, and G will note the Sunday;

retrograding G, F, E, D, C, B, A. But because of Alexandria, placed the Golden Number 2. every four Years there is a Leap-Year, which at the same day. has one Day more, two things must needs CYCNUS, A Swan, a Bird living in happen. cal Letters, one of which is made use of from when he is young. Ovid methe 12th Book of the first of January to the 25th of February, his Metamorphose, says that Cycnus was King of and the other from that Day till the end of Liguris, and kin to Phaesen, who for the grief the Year. The reason of it is plain, for of his death was changed into a Bird of his reckoning twice the 6th of the Kalends, the name. Letter F which notes the Day, is also reckon-that having thus two Dominical Letters every fourth Year, the Circle of these Letters doth not end in feven Years as it would do; but this is properly called the Cycle of the Sun, which before the correction of the Kalendar, began with a Leap-Year, whereof the Dominical Letters were G. F.

mine by a certain Order, the Days of the " Eridanus; but that their finging, or rather New Moons in the course of the Year. To "fcreaming, was not more grateful than that this purpose a great many Cycles were propo- "of other River-Powls. fed, which afterwards Experience shewed to CYDIPPA, A Noble and Beautiful then, called the Golden Number, to make the pretend to so great a March, he wrote these Lunar Year agree with the Solar; for at the words upon an Apple, I take my Oath by the her course with the Sun, within an Hour and who took it up, and read what was written fome Minutes or thereabouts. This Number upon it, and fo engag'd herfelf thereby to was called the Golden Number, either for its make these words good, for whenever she de-Numbers from 1 to 19 were fet down in Ouid in his Epistles of Acentius and Cydippa. Golden Letters. This Number has been called the great Cycle of the Moon, or December man body extended in length, equally round, the Calendar, to shew the Epacts and New Moons, rithmetical Cylinder, called Rabdology, which Baffer should be kept the first Sunday after the a Cylinder, that is easily turned about. This Full Moon of March.

However, this Cycle was not fettled every man. where, according to the same manner in the CYMBALA, Cymbals, This word

Tis plain, by what has been faid, that if Golden Number 1, on the first day of Tanuathe Year had but 365 Days, this Circle of Do- 77 of the first Year: But the Christians who minical Letters, should end in seven Years by Inhabited Asa, under the name of Christians or about the Waters, very fine to behold, with First, That the Leap-Year has two Domini- a long and straight Neck, very white, except

'Tis faid that Swans never fing but when ed twice, and so fills up two Days of the they are at the point of death, and then they Week: From whence it follows, that the ling very melodiously. Tally in his Tulculans Letter that till then had fallen upon Sunday, tells us, that Swans are dedicated to Apolle the falls then but upon Mindsy, and that the fore- God of Divination, who being fentible of going Letter by retrograding comes to note their approaching death, rejoice and fing with more harmony than before. I wian on this The second thing to be observed is, that account laughs at the Poets, in his Treatise of Amber or the Swans.

"I also expected, savs he, to have heard " the Swans warbling all along the Eridanus, in four times feven Years, which is 28. And " having learn'd that the Companions of A-" polls had been there changed into Birds, who ftill retain their finging, for a token of " their excellency in Mufick. But this I found as fabulous as the rest; for inquiring of the CYCLUS LUNARIS, The Cycle " People thereabouts, they told me, that inof th. Noon. It was no less difficult to deter- "deed, fometimes they saw Swans upon the be falle, and they were obliged to receive this Lady, whom Acontius lov'd and married by an. Cycle of 19 Years, Invented by Methon of A- Artifice; for his Birth not permitting him to end of them the New Moons returned again Myfferies of Diana that I will be thy Wife: then on the same Days, and the Moon began again he let fall this Apple at the Feet of Cydipps; excellency and great use; or because, as some sign'd to marry another Man, she fell dangefay, the Inhabitants of Alexandria fent it to the roully ill, which the imputed to Diana's, an-Remans in a Silver Calendar, where these ger, and to appeale her she married Acontous.

he, and erreadexarnole, of 19 Tears ; or Me- extremities whereof are equal Circles. Archithenicus from the Name of its Author. This meder has writ an excellent Book upon the Cy-Golden Number has been of great use in the lender. Pair has made a Treatise of the A. ever fince the Nicene Council ordered that are Fillets of Past-board fet in order upon Invention is owing to Napier a learned Scotch-

Calendar; for the Western Christians, called comes from the Greek win Banos, i. e. hollow, be-Latins, imitating the Hebrews, reckon'd the cause they were made like two little Porringers of Copper or Brass, and for that reason ! were fometimes called only Era. These extraordinary-Beauty, who was not to be Cymbals were found, as we may see by the comforted for the death of a Stag, that he Figures that we have of them, and by this had killed a hunting, and would murther verse of of Propertius.

. calls them Acctabula, i. e. a hollow piece, as Persians. He subdued the Assirians, took Bathe concavities of the Bones, that receive bylon, made war against Crasu King of Lydia. the head of another Bone, and are therefore and took him prisoner. He fet at liberty called Acetabula, the Box of the Bones. St the Jews, who were captive in Babylan, and Auffin, upon the 101 Pfalm fays, that Cym- fent them again into their own Country, unbals must touch one another to make a der the conduct of Zorobabel, with order to found, and that antient Authors compare rebuild the Temple of Jerujalem. This hasthem often to the Lips. Fulgentius in the first Book of his Mythology tells us, that the two ty, as it was foretold by Isaiah and Esdras. Lips are like Cym Is that form the founds, But this Prince being at War with the Soyand the Tongue like the bow of a Musical thians, and Massagetes, he was flain with two Instrument, that cuts and divides them. Isidorus Pelutiora having compared the Pfalterion, the Cythara, the Drum, the Strings and the Organs, used in ancient Ceremonies. with feveral parts of the Body, compares al-To Cymbals to the Lips, because they form founds, by preffing and striking one against the other like Cymbals.

to be understood.

Disce etiam duplici genialia nablia palma

He gave them this Epithet genialia, because they used Cymbals at Weddings, and other Diversions. This Instrument being composed of two separated pieces, several Authors call it by names in the plural number as Petronius, Intrans Cymbalifiria & concretans era. A woman coming in, and playing Sea, where the Goddess Venus was drove a CYNOSURA. The name by which the Greciant call the little Bear. It fignifies Venu was call'd Cytheres. Doer-tail. 'Tis the nearest constellation to our Pole, confisting of seven Stars, four of Theber, consecrated to Apollo and the Muses: them are in a square Figure like the four called upon that account Cytherides. There Wheels of a Chariot, and the three others in were celebrated the Orgia, or Feafts dedicaa long Figure like the beam of a Cart : ted to Bacchur. whence the Country-people call that Star the Chariot, and from one the number of these Seven Stars, our Pole, and all that are of Heaven to the Æquinoxial Line, are called Septentrional.

CYNTHOS. A Hill in the Isle of Delos, covered with very thick Trees, where Latona brought forth Apollo and Diana, and upon that account Horace calls him Cynthus.

CYPARISSUS, A young man of himfelf; whereupon Apollo changed him into a Tree called after his name Cypariffus, a Qua numerofa fides, quaque era rotunda Cy 2 Cypres, which is carried in Funeral pomps, and confecrated to dead men.

CYRUS. The Son of Cambyles, who Coffinderus, who has described Cymbals, transferr'd the Empire from the Meder to the nened two hundred years after their captivihundred thousand men in an ambush laid by Queen Tomyris, who cut off his head, and threw it into a veffel full of blood, with this invective, "Satiate thy felf with Blood, "which thou hast so much thirsted after.

CYTHARA. A Musical Instrument with strings, of a triangular figure, which was played upon with a bow, as it is descri-Ovid, in the 3d Book, de arti amandi, calls bed in a Letter attributed to Hierarymus. And Cymbals by a name that feems very difficult according to what Paulanias fays, Cythara and Lyra were two instruments, and Mercurius was the inventer of the Lyrs, and Apollo of the Cythara. Yet most of the Ancient Poets confound these two Musical instruments, because they are very like one another. For Cythere was of a triangular figure, and the Lyra after the form of two opposite SS. There are some Statues and Medals whereon Apollois represented with the Lyra in his hand, and fometimes with the Cythara.

CYTHERA. An Island in the Egem shore in a Sea-shell, and there the Inhabitants built her a magnificent Temple, from whence

CYTHERON. Mount Cytheren neat

D, The fourth letter of the Alphabet, called by the Hebrews Doleth, by the Greeks Delta, and the Roman D. This letter is like- Flambeaus, for they had no wick; and a wife the third conforant, which is often pronoune'd like a T; for 'cis properly but a diminution of the T, according to what Quintilian fays. Wherefore some learned men in the Greek tongue pronounce the Tau as a Delta after the y, and pronounce Tayra, as if it were written wards; which may be an acceptable foftning in the prenunciation, tho 'tis not a fault to fay otherwife. In the Latin tongue the D and the T have a great affinity, and areoften chang'd one for another, as de time after Mines being displeased at him, put for Ad. And Quintilian laughs at those who him into the same Labyrinth with his Son famule to write indifferently, one for the learn, but he made himself and his Son other, fer for fed, haus for haud, and others, to Wings, which he fastned with Wax, and so be feen in antient Inscriptions.

D. is also a Numerical Roman Character. which fignifies five bundred : because D is that the Sun melted the Wax of his Wings, the half of a Gothick M, that makes a Thoufould. If there is a stroke over Dair stands for frue thoufand. let D was formerly made use of instead of the Letter P, as in the antient Infeription, Denates for Penates. D. alone fignifies Decius, Divus, Diis, &c.

DACRYMAE, is often written by Livy instead of LACRYMAE, trans: from the Greek word Saneu or Sanpuor lacryma.

DACTYLI ID AL Cybele having his Son.

dancing was a prelude of the War.

and renders the word Jas, which fignifies and begor Mineraurs.

a Torch, by the word Lamp. Yet fome ancient Authors make a distinction betwire Lamps and Torches. Trebellius Pellie in the life of the Emperor Galitus, gives an account of a procession, where the people carried Torches and Lamps, cum cereis facibus. O lampadibus pracedentibus Capitolium petunt : but it must be observed, that the Torches of the Ancients were not made like our great many of them were Lamps fet in the end of a Stick; or some Pitch put to the end of a Bundle.

DEDALUS, An Athenian, whom Mercury made famous in Mechanicks. He fled from Athens into Crese, where he went into the fervice of King Minus. There he made the Labyrinth with fo many waysturning and winding about, that men who had got once into it, could never get out. Some. flew away. Icarus flew so high, and to near the Sun, contraty to his Eathers advice . and he fell down into that Sea, which was ever fince called after his name, the Icarian Sea. Dadelus flew fafely to Sardinia, and from thence to Came, where he built a Temple to

Apollo. Diederus Siculas enlarges the Hiftory or Fable of Dedalus, and fays, that Dedalus was the Son of Micie an Athenian, and the most ingenious Artificer of his age for Mechanicks, and invented the Plummer, the Augur, the Rule, and many other Tools for the brought forth Jupiter and June at one Birth, perfecting of that Art. He was the first also the flory tells us, that the only thew June to who in Statues expressed all the parts of Sames, and gave Jupiter to the Carete or Cory- Humane Body, in their natural Scituation, bantes to be nursed up by stealth, because his which gave birth to a report that he gave Father would have devoured him. The Coy- motion to them. Notwithflanding he had bentes, left the trying of the little Jupiter got a great name by his works, yet he was should discover him, invented a kind of a forced to fly from Athen, having been condance which they called Dallyli, where they demned to dye by the Arespagus, for themet one another, firiking upon little Brais death of Talur his Nephew, whom he killed Shields with measured intervals. And this out of jealousy, because he had found out noise hindred Saturn from hearing the crys of the Potters, and Turners Wheel, with all Tools fit for the perfection of that Art. He Lucian fays, that the Datisli Idai, having retired then to King Minor in Crese, who received the God Mars from the hands of had married Passphae, one of the Daughters Jum, being yet a Child, they taught him of the Sunt This King Minus offering one dancing before the exercise of Arms, as if the day a Bull in facrifice to Neptune, kept a very fine one, and facrificed a leffer in his AAOYXOE, Daduchus, aGreek word that place; whereupon the Gods grew angry. fignifies Lamp-bearer. Heschius explaining this and inspired his Wife with an immoderate word Jasou y G , which was the name for love for that Bull ; and to enjoy him, Dedemerly given to the Torch-bearer of the God- las made a wooden Cow, wherein Pagehas dels Cerer, explains it by that of Lamp-bear, putting herself, plaid the Beast with that Bull, Lucian thus unfolds this Eable. 'I fancy, I he shews that there are Damons of fevent in Aftrology, and that the one having puzto the Fable. Perhaps also Palishas, having heard the other Discourse of the Celestial Bull, and of other Stars, became emmour'd God created before Corporeal Beings; but with his Doctrine, whereupon the Poets revolving against the Soveralge Power feigned that the was fallen in love with a they were precipitated into the Air, which is Buil, which the enjoy'd by his means. Au- full of them; that God out of his goodness thors aferibe to Dedalte the invention of the and mercy has not permitted that we should Potters. Wheel, the Plummet and the Sails fee them; left the terror, grample and comb. for Ships; and this gave birth to the Fable of gion of their Grimes thould draw us into perhis having made Wings for hamfelf to get out

Diederas Siculus continuing that Hilbory, fays, that the Cottions refuting to obey Minn, after their Lord, and were takth with a brouth the death of his Father Allering, he being'd the pullion for Women, and begot the Demente affiftance of a Prince; called There, with whom his Wife Pospine was in Love, and eniny'd him by the help of Dedale, who favoured it ; but the King! having discover'd the Intreague, they flew all: away with Tow part therein. By this word Demons, 'tis hid, as on board his Ships: reavoid the Auger of Sc. Topics understands the Tresse and Giant. the Prince.

Philocherus fays, that the Minasourus was nothing elfe, but a cruel and bloody Officer of King Mines, called Trans ; and this King having instituted francial Fights in persembrance and Women. of his Son: Andrewer, Town dill overetime all fuch who prefented themselves to fight, and got the prize, which was a Tribute of tome Children, that Mines exacted of the Athenians Thefau overcame him, and freed the Atheniana from that unnatural Tribute.

D. E. M. O. N. Saiper. Genile an Angel Bate. This word in the Holy Scripture, is always taken for the Devik or a bad Genine Appleira gives us a fhort definition of the nature of Damons, and relians that they have a rational Soul, a Body of Air, and that they are everlatting, the they are obnoxious to the fame passions with Men. And ther the Predictions, Augurs, Divinations, Answers of Oracles, Dreams and Magick Performences belong to them. He precends that they carry Mens Prayers to the Gods; and bring to Men the Favours they obtain'd from them. He has written a whole Book of Semerer his God, or Secreter his Devil, according to Se Auflin. He gives an account of the Opinions of the Platonick Philosophers: who divided Intellectual Nameres into three Orders, win: Gods, Men and Demons : i. e. of Inhabitance of Heaven, Earth and Air. They faid that Damons were Immortal like the Gods, but were obnexious to Passions like Men, and loved the filthy Divertions of Theatres and the Fables of the Poets.

Callianus has handled at large all Questions fays he, Dedaks and his Son were learned kinds; fome called Fann, who love to play and laugh with Men, but do them no harm zled himself in that Science, gave occasion others delight in hurting Men, and drawing them into all kind of Crimes. He tells me that Damons were formerly Angels, whom

St. Jaffin fays, that God having created the Angels, lonie of them forfook the Liw be afterwards these rebellious Angels and the Demons, brought untleanness and wars upon the Earth, and that Poets having described these Wars, have introduced Japine acting the whom Idolatrous Nations have worthipped is their Gods, and many of the Fathers have been of the same opinion with Jestin, this they were begot by the disobedient Angels

Athenagerus has followed Julin's fleps. Yes he has exprelly observed, that Giants were begotten by the Apoffate Angels and Women. and were called Demons or Genius's, and that the Poets were not ignorant of it.

The Christian Religion teaches us, that Demoss are spiritual things, who in the person of Lucifie the first Ameel were precipitated inso Mell, because he would equal himself with Doubtless the Parent had fome knowledge of the Books of Miles, and have made Fables of what is faid in those Books of Angels and Demens.

DAGON. An Idal of the Philifling, mentioned in the Book of Kings. Some Authors fay, that its uppermost part was like the Body of a Man, and its windermost like a Fish : Th Howen word Dog fignifies a Pifh ; yet it mel be granted that Digits may come from Digits i. e. Wheat : And Phile in Enfebius has tendered the word Dogen by that of Zird frames-sum ar framenti profesi DANAE, The Daughter of Acrifus King of the signer, who being brought to Bed of a Son, her Pather chipe her with her new-born Child into a Cheft, and cast them into: the Sea, because the had loft her Virginity : He had shut her up close in a Brazen Towerleft fhe should be feen, but Jupiter changed himfelf into a golden Shower, and dropt inrelating to Damons in his Conferences, where to her Lap through the Roof, and got her with Child. King Acrifiu performed this act of cruelty, because the Oracle had foretold that he should be slain by a Son of his Daughter. Danas did not refuse to dye, provided her harmles Child should be spared; but unmerciful Acrifiu, who could not be moved neither with Prayers nor Tears, put away the young Babe, who ftretched out his arms to him, as if he had implored his affiftance. The Chest was caught in the Fishermens Net near the life of Seripher, and both the Mother and the Child got fafe afhore. ANAKH, Jaraus A small Coin that the Greeks put into the mouth of dead Bodies, to pay their passage in Charm's Ferry-boat, called so from Tois Savaes, i. e. of the dead. It was an ebelus, worth about one Penny and one Farthing. Euripides calls that piece of for their Town was confecrated to Proferous, Silver the honour of the dead, ereper 7suas, whereforethey were terried over gratis. because Charen refused to carry over the Seygion Lake, the dead men, who had nothing wherewith to pay the Ferry-men. Ariftophaner confirms that cuftom ; for he introduces Bacchus inquiring of Hercules, who descended passage; and he answers them two ebeli, infor his passage, a man who is alive ought to pay two ebeli. Lucian laughs at that cuftom of besides, I should think they would do much better, in not giving them any at all, that they might be constrained to fend them back to life again. The fame Lucian introduces in another place, Charm and Menispas dicourling thus on the matter.

Char. Pay the Ferry-man, firrah. Menip. Bawl as long as thou wilt, the Devil a farthing shall thou get. Char. Come, come a penny for your passage. Menip. How! would'ft thou have Money from one that has none? Char. Can any man want a pencut thy throat, or I will have my Money. polls, firnamed Lycienu, either from Litis, or Menig. And I will crack your Fool's crown for you, with this Staff. Char. How! must I have nothing then for ferrying you over? Menip. Since Mercury brought me hither, let him pay you your fare, if he will. Mercury. That would be a fine thing indeed? I should pay for the dead, after I had the put off to the next day. Butthe next morntrouble of conducting them. Char. Pay me, or otherwise you shall not budge from have brought some. Menip. And grant I did know ir, could I hinder dying? Char. What ! Shall you be the only petion to boast having passed in Charen's Ferry for nothing? Menip. How! fay ye, for nothing ; have I not drudged and tugged at the Oar and Pump, without molesting thee with my lamentations as others have done? Char. That is nothing at all to your fare. Menip. Restore me then to life again. Char. Ay, to be beaten by Escur, I thank ye? Menip. Leave me then at reft. Cher. If I ever catch you again in my clutches. Memip. There is no returning hither twice.

Strabo fays that the Inhabitants of Hermione, Town of Mires, did not put this ebelar in the mouth of their dead, as other Greeks did, DANAIDES. The Daughters of Danam, old Belur his Son, and Egyptur's Brother. The Poet tells us, that Danaus was obliged to marry his fifty Daughters to his Brothers Sons, who were like in number; but into Hell, how much they paid for their he ordered them all to murder their Husbands upon the Wedding night, to prevent timating, that if a dead man pay one obslur the death he was threatened with by the Oracle. All of 'em obeyed his barbarous order, except only one, who was ftruck with a the Greeks, in his Dialogue of Mourning. just horror of that Crime. It is feigned that They put, says he, a piece of Silver into they were all sentenced in Hell, as a punishthe mouth of those that dye, to pay the ment of their Crime, to fill a Tub full Ferry-man, , without confidering whether of holes with water; but Hypernneftra was exthat Money be current in that Region : empted from the punishment, because she had no flare in their guilt, for the would not murther Lyceus her Husband.

DANAUS. The Son of old Belus, and Egyptus's Brother, who drove away Stenelus out of the Kingdom of Arger, where he reigned five years. Pliny relates, that he was the first who made use of Ships to cross over from Egypt into Greece. He had fifty Daughters, whom he used very severely, forcing them to work with their own hands, and matried them to the Sons of his Brother Egyptus, who were also fifry in number. Paulaniny? Menis. I want it. Char. Sirrah, I will as tells us, that Dansar built a Temple to Athe Greek word Aux Or, i.e. a Walf, or from Adam light; wherefore Homer calls him AURHEDEFATHS, begetting light. Once he came to Argu to diffrure with Gelamer, the Son of Stenelar , about the Kingdom, and having referred the controverly to the people, it was ing by break of day a Wolf croffing the Country, fell among a herd of Catrle, that beace. Memip. Pull then thy Boat ashore; were feeding along the Walls, and assaulted but what course canst thou take to make a strong and vigorous Bull. The Inhabime pay thee, seeing I have no Money-? rants went upon the Walls, and stood there Cher. You know well enough you was to to fee the event of the fight, and ascribed Danaus to the Wolf. The Bull was overcome, and the Wolf victorious, whereupon the Inhabitants adjudged the Kingdom to Danaus, who thought that Apollo had fent this Wolf on purpose to favour his right, who built him a Temple for an acknowledgement of his good offices.

DAPHNE Daughter of the River Penew, according to the Fable, who was beloved and courted by Apalle, but had rather be changed into a Laurel or Bay-tree, than to yield to his violent pursuits.

DAPHNE, The Daughter of Tireflat was also one of the Sybils, as Diedorus tell us, 1. 4 c. 6. Chryfippus calls her Sybilla Delphica; because after the destruction of Thebe, the Argiver fent her to Delphi, where she learned the Art of Divination. Paufanias calls her Herephile, the lived a long time before the War of Troy; the foretold that Helens should be brought up at Sparts, for the ruin of Afia and Burope, and that for her fake the Greek fhould destroy the City of Trey. The Inhabitants of Deler pretend that the has made Hymns in Sicily . Diedorus tells us, that he was the first composer of Pastorals. Having passed his word to a Nymph whom he loved, upon pain of losing both his Eyes in case of falsehood, he afterwards fell in love with another and was ftruck blind.

DARDANUS, Son to Jepiter and Elears, who killed Janus his Brother, and then fled away and retired into Phrygia, where he married the Daughter of King Tencer, who made him his Partner in the Government of the Country, which was called after their names, fometimes Trucria, and fometimes Dardonia. This happened about the time, that according to holy History Tofhus fucceeded Mefer in governing the 1 raeliter, feven hundred years before the City of Rome was built, and in the time that the Affrient reigned in the greater Afia.

Dardamu left Erichthenius Heir to his Dominions, who had a Son, whose Name was Iver. Great Grand-Father to Primme, who was King, and changed the Name of his capital City, and called it after his own Name Trey. His Children were Ganimeder, whom Jupiter stole away under the figure of an Eagle, and Affaracus the Father of Capys, who begot Anchifes the Favourite of Venus, who was Anesi's Mo-

DEA BONA, The good Goddess whom fome Writers call Fauns, Fatus and Dryas, Wife to Faunus, firnamed Bms Des, because she was so true to her Husband, that Gelame's Party to the Bull, and the Party of faw no Man besides himself. Yet Varre and Macrobius fay, that the was Founds's Daughter. and not his Wife : Others tell us that Bons Des was one Flore, Faurer's Wife, who being fo much given to drinking, was once white by her Husband with a Rod of Myrtle. This Chastizement reclaimed her, and she became g Goddess, and when they offered her Sacrifices they never carried Myrtle, because of the accident that befel her.

All the Reman Ladies affembled to make her a Sacrifice in May, at the House of the High Prieft, in the most retired Room; or as Plan tarch favs, at the Conful's House. This Sacrifice was made in the Night, and it was sequired too, that they should have had no company with Men, during nine days before, There was no Man admitted to it, neither any representation of Man or Dog fuffered there, and if there was any, they were obliged to cover them with a Vail, as we learning from Javenal, Satyr 2.

–Ubi velari piëtura juhetur Quacunque alterius Sexus imitata figuram eff.

the praise of apollo.

The Wine that was used in this Sacrifice, DAPHNIS, Son of Mercury, born in The Wine that was used in this Sacrifice, which the chief Priestess and the others then drunk, was called by them Milk. This Coremony in process of time degenerated into Drunkenness and shameful Debaucheries. which Juvenal describes in the 6th Saryr.

> Nota Bena Secreta Dea, cum tibia lumbos Incitat, & corne pariter, vineque feruntur Attonica crinemque rotant ululante Priapo Manades, &cc.

DEA NUNDINA, A Divinity, who presided on the ninth day after the birth of Children, at which time the Romans were us'd to give them a Name.

DECANUS MILITARIS, ALeder who commanded ten Soldiers.

DECEM, The Number Ten, which the Roman figured thus X. We learn from Ovid, that this Number was very much regarded by the Ancient Remont. The Cabalift Hebrews and Pythagerean Philosophers are of opinion, that every number of Ten is full of Divine Mysteries. Remulus, fays Ovid, male un the Year of ten Months only, he compofed his Senate of one hundred Men, (which Number is made up of Ten multiplied by it felf) divided ftill each of the three Tribes ifto ten Hundred of Footmen, and ten Tentis of Horsemen. This number is so very perfect that Faith is represented with two right hands join'd together, and each of them being composed of five Fingers, both together make up the never came out of her apartment, and the number Ten : Numbers sife don't go be vond Ten, and after Ten we begin again with called after his Name Tarentilla, which was Unites, to ten and one make eleven. Place the occasion of so many Troubles and Divisions teaches us in his Timen, that Ten is composed in Rome. This Law ordered among other of the four first Numbers, one, two, three, things, that five Magistrates should be created. four, which joined together make Ten: that as Livy fays; or ten, as Dienyfus Halicarnafficus one represents the Point ; two, the Line ; three, tells us, to moderate and keep the Confulary the Suporficies and the Triangle, which is the Authority in favour with the People. The first plain Figure; and four the Square, and Senate oppos'd this Law; yet it was received the folid Body in length, breadth and depth, afterwards. Three Deputies were immediateor the Cube.

Year of Romulus, confecrated to Saturn. Un- the Commonwealth of Athens, and other the der the Reign of Commedus, this Month was best forms of Government of Greece ; for hicalled out of flattery Amazanius, in honour of therto the Ramans govern'd themselves by their a Courtezan, whom that Prince passionately own Customs. These Deputies acquitted loved, and had got painted like an Amazan; themselves of their Trust with great fidelity but it kept that Name but during that Em- and exactness. At their return the Senare perors Life.

the had appealed Coriolamus.

lemnized by Countrymen in the Fields, with viral Laws. Games, Mirth and Feaftings.

of the Ides, they kept the Feast Agonalia.

celebrated the Feast Septimontium, which was ple ; the Patricians carried it this time ; and instituted upon the inclosing the seventh at their Election they were empower'd to Mount within the compass of the City of quit their Office whenever they should think Rome.

The feventeeth day of the Month, or the lis, of which more afterwards in its place.

Feafts called Sigillaria & Angeronalia. The two and twentieth they folemnized the Feaft Lararia, in honour of the Gods Lares. The three and twentieth, they made a Feaft called Laurentinglia, in honour of Acca Laurensis the Wife of the Shepherd Fauftulus.

fown their Corn.

Sudne.

DECEM-VIRI, Ten Magistrates cho- ed but two Years. fen at Rome, to govern the Commonwealth in-They were created upon this occasion.

ved for a very long time, that the Magistrates afterwards common; for the making Sale of did always favour the Nobility to the preju- Goods, called Subhaffationer, because they set dice of the People, demanded an equality of up a Pike in the place where the Sale was Laws for both. Tarentius or Tarentillius Arza, made. Theophilus speaking of it says, Sed quid $289.ab urb. cond. shew'd himself very zealous vetat appellatione Decem-virorum intelligi qui litiin this Affair, and proposed the famous Law, but judicandit & hasta pracrant.

ly fent into Greece to fetch the Laws of Solon DECEMBER. The tenth Month in the and to inform themselves of the customs of created ten Magistrates to govern the Repub-Upon the Kalends of this Month they made lick, and to examine the Laws of Solon, which a Sacrifice to the Feminine Fortune, because being approved of by the Senate, and agreed by the People, were ingraven upon twelve The day of the Nones fell out upon the Tables of Brafs, and called them therefore the Feath of Founus, called Foundia, which was fo- Laws of the twelve Tables, or the Decem-

The first difficulty they met with in the The Eleventh of the Month, or the third of Election of the December, was whether they should be all taken out of the Patrician Body, The thirteenth, or the day of the Ides, they or fome of them out of the Body of the Peo-

They began to perform the functions of fixteenth of the Kalends was the Feaft Saturna- their Office A. cecii ab urbe condita, and did govern with fuch moderation and equity, that In this great Feast was comprehended the the Romans thought they lived still in the golden Age of their Fathers; but the following Year the December, inticed by the sweetness of an absolute Power, made an ill use of their Authority; so that Appius Claudius one of them, having murthered Lucius Siccius Dentatus a valiant Reman Soldier, and ravish'd Virginia. At the latter end of the Month they had a Maid of an extraordinary Beauty, the Dethe Juveniles Lude, and the Country-people cemuiri were banished, and their State forfeitkept the Feast of the Goddess Vanna in the ed. They were called the ten Tarquins, be-Field, having then got in their Fruits and cause of their Tyrannical Government. And the People were fo exasperated against them. DECEM-PEDA. A Pearch ten fost long that they demanded them that they might to measure Land. It was called in Greek burn them alive. Then the Consulary Government was refumed, and the Decem-piratus laft-

DECEM-VIRI, Sa. Litibus judicandis. flead of Confuls, with an absolute Power. Ten Judges established to administer Justice in the absence of the Prætors, when bu-The Tribunes of the People having obser- fied in foreign Wars. Their office became fering Sacrifices to the Gods, and bestowing Temples. Largeffes upon the People.

DE-

the Romans used to inflict on the Soldiers, who Corns had taken the Capital City of his King-had quitted their Post, or raised a Mutiny in dom, advised him to place a Guard at the the Camp, or behaved themselves cowardly Gares, left some part of the Boory might be in the Fight; which was practifed thus; carried away, before the tenth of it should be The General affembled the whole Camp, then offered to Japiter. the Tribune brought to him those that were guilty, and impeached them, and reproached that the Greek, after the famous Victory of them with their cowardly Actions and Baleness in the presence of the whole Army; then Spoils to the Gods, and among others, three putting their Names into an. Urn or a Head- Ships taken from the Phanicians. piece, he drew five, ten or twenty of them. according to their Number; and the fifth, ving subdued Spain and Italy, promised to bethe tenth or the twentieth was put to the flow the tenth part of the Boory for Sacri-Sword, and the others were faved; and this fices. And that Tarquinius Prifess had vowed was called Decimare.

to death for an example to the others.

DECIMA, The tenth part of the Fruits of Sinueffe. of an Estate, or other like portion of Goods. which differs according to the custom of plathe Spoils of the Enemies to their Gods, as Wants, and the Charges of War. June Apollo and Hercules.

cient Reman, being perswaded that they held the tenth part of their Estate? and he anevery thing from the Liberalities of the Gods, Iwers, that it might be because Hercules himnot excepting their own life, offered them a felf confectated to Rome the tenth part of the portion of their Servants, Fields, Towns, Oxen of Gergen which he was carrying away: and confecrated them also their Heirs, to give or because he made the Romans free of the them thanks for their Health.

that he had promifed and vowed to spalle the very foberly, was pleafed that rich men tenth part of the Boory, Apallini fe decimam vo- would retrench fome part of their fuperviffe partem cum diceret Camillus, Pontifices fal- finities. vendum religione populum cenferent : These are the words of Livy, who fays besides, that Ca- who fought a Battle against the Latin, and millus protested that he had vowed the whole devoted himself to death, to save the Roman tenth part, and therefore they must include in it even the ground of the Town that he had took, and its Territory, whis sique agri capti de-

This Historian relates still the vow of the holy Spring Ver Satrum, that the Senate and the Roman People made in a very dangerous time, when they were afraid of the Carsbaginians and the Gauls. By this Vow they obliged themselves to offer in Sacrifice to Jupiter, the whole increase of their Flocks and Herds, which that Spring should produce. Qued wir attalerit ex Suille, Oville, Caprine, Bovine grege, Jovi fini. Pliny observes that the Remans necimam, que O ipsa vete contineatur.

DECENNALIA FESTA, Festi- ver tasted of their Wine, or other Fruits of vals, that the Emperors in the declining times the Earth, before their Priests had offered of the Empire, kept every tenth Year, by of the Primitie or failt Fruits thereof in the

The Greeks were not less religious than the DECIMATIO, A punishment that Romans. Heredaus tells us, that Grafus when

> The fame Author relates in another place. Salamina, confecrated the first Fruits of the

Dionyfus Halicarnaffeus fays, that Hereules hato build a Temple to Jupiter, June and Miners DECIMARE, A word of the ancient | vs, if he got a Victory over the Sabutes. Ter-Reman Militia, who to punish whole Legions, quinius Superbus performed the Vow of his when they had failed in their Duty, made Great Grand-Father, and bestowed upon that every tenth Soldier draw Lots, and put him Magnificent Building the tenth part of the Spoils he obtained at the taking of the Town

Diegenes Laertius in the Life of Selon, introduces a Letter of Pilifratus to Solon, wherein ces. They vowed formerly the tenth part he says that the Athenians laid afide the tenth of the Booty got at the taking of a Town, or part of their Revenues for Sacrifices, publick

Plutarch proposes this Question. Why at Genserinus c. 1. de die Nat. fays that the an- Rome many rich Persons consecrated to Hercules Tythes they paid before to the Tulcant : or After a famous Victory, Camillus declared, because they thought that Hercules, who lived

> DECIUS MUS, A Remote Confin. Army. This great Man feeing his Soldiers cowed, and the Remen Legions loft ground. fent for M. Valerius the High Prieft, who being cloathed with his Gown edged with purple colour, called Pratesta, he put both his Feet upon a Dart . his Head covered, and holding up his Right Hand, pronounced his Vow aloud, the High Priest uttering the words, which he repeated after him: Janus, Jupiter, and Fathers Mars and Quirinus, Bellena, Lares, Domestick Gods, Gods Indigeti, whose power is extended over us and over our Enemies; and ye, Infernal Gods, I call upon you, I adore you, vouch

"Afe to bles the endeavours of the Roman, Walls, and other publick Edifices, and the and give them the victory : Strike their reft for maintenance of learned men. They Enemies with fear and death; wherefore pronounced Sentences called Derrets Decare-I devote my felf to the Gods of Hell and num, with two D. D. at the top of them. to the Earth, and with me the Enemies Le- DEDICATIO Templi, and DEDIrions and their Confederates. Having thus CARE Temple. The Dedication of Temtooken, he got on Horfeback, and spurr'd ples; we shall here inform you by whom it mhis Horse through the thickest Batrallions was made, and with what ceremonies. of the Enomy. This Action raifed the courage of the Legions, and gave an opportuni- dedicated to some Divinity, and the Dedity to the other Conful Manlier to defeat the cation thereof belonged to fome great Magi-Bremy, and obtain a full victory

Gate in the Camp of the Remans,

to Command a hundred men, and a Deceries the Senate and the people, according to the Command a hundred men, and a Deceries the Senate and the people, according to the

LES. A Court of Judges or Councellours, to give their confent to ir, as Livy and Tully who representing the Senare of Rome in the Itells us. free Towns. They were called Decuriones, These things being exactly observed early because in the times they fent Roman Colo- in the morning, the College of the Pontiffs, nies into the conquered Towns, they chose and other Orders met, with a great Crowd ten men to make up a Senate, and a Court of of People, and many persons of note at the five and twenty years old, with a Revenue of person who consecrated the Temple drew two hundred and twenty five pounds Ster- near the Gate with a Pontiff at his fide, to ling per Annum. This Election was made at shew him the ceremonies, and tell him the the Kalends of March. Then the Dumm-wiri Prayers that he was to make, holding with affembled for that purpose the Court of the one hand the side-post of the Gate, and then Descrious, with the Judge of the Province, and faid thus, Ades, Ades, for example Luculle, Decirim then chosen paid his welcom to the que teneatis. This ceremony was expressed whole Body in Money, or a Present, which with these words, Postern tenere, or apprehenwas more or less according to the custom of dere. the place, as we learn by the Emperor Trajame to the young Phin, who had confulted in his hand, pronounced aloud the form of him about that Duty of Entry. The the confectation, which the confectatind per-Emperor answers him, that there was no son repeated after him; and the ceremony general rule establish'd upon that account, was expressed by these words, Salennia werba and that every one must follow the custom of praeunte Pentifice effari. the place. Ulpianus tells us, that the Money Afterwards they confecrated the Court of was equally divided among the Decurious.

for the benefit of the Town, and the Reve. Green Turf , luftrabatur area, ext. Super cefnues of the Commonwealth. Some of this Re- pitem reddebantur. venue was bestowed for the re-building of the

When a Temple was built, it was to be frate, at Confuls, Prætors, Cenfors, Decem-DECUMANA PORTA, The back viiri, Dusan-viri, Vestal Virgins, and the High Priests in the time of the Common-DECUMATES AGRI, Lands cal- wealth, or the Emperors during the Monarled Serves, manured by the meanest fort of the chick Government. The Temple built by Gauls, now called the Dukedom of Wirtemberg. Tarquinius in honour of Jupiter Capitolinus, was DECURIO. An Officer in the Roman dedicated by the Conful M. Haratius Pul-Army, who commanded ten Troopers : for villu, ds. 247, fome time after the Roman; Remains having at first divided the Reman had expelled the Kings. The Temple of people into three Tribes, he appointed Mars, consecrated in the War against the at the head of each Tribe a Collonel Gaul, was dedicated in the year 365 by the to! Command it, and afterwards divided Daum-viri, appointed for the keeping of the

Law Papyria, made by Pupyrius Tribune of the DECURIONES MUNICIPA- people; and the College of the Pontiffs was

Councellors, called Civitarum Patres Curisles; appointed place. They furrounded the Tem-Humrati Manicipiorum Staatores, and their Court, ple with Garlands of Flowers; the Vestal was called Curia Decurinum, and Miner Sensous. Virgins holding in their hands branches of They were chosen almost with the same Olive-tree, sprinkled the outside of the Telmceremonies as the Senators. And were to be ple with Luftral or Hely-water; then the were elected by the majority of Votes. The Dum dedice-Templam hee, at mibi pracatis, postem-

Then the Pontiff holding the Ceremonial

the Temple by facrificing a Beaft, the in-Their office was to take care of all that was wards whereof were laid on an Altar of of the Empire, kent every tenth Year, by of-fering Sacrifices to the Gods, and bestowing Temples.

Largeffes upon the People.

the Romans used to inflict on the Soldiers, who Cyrus had taken the Capital City of his Kinghad quitted their Post, or raised a Mutiny in dom, advised him to place a Guard at the the Camp, or behaved themselves cowardly Gates, left some part of the Booty might be in the Fight; which was practifed thus: carried away, before the tenth of it should be The General assembled the whole Camp, then offered to Japiur. the Tribune brought to him those that were guilty, and impeached them, and reproached them with their cowardly Actions and Baleness in the presence of the whole Army; then | Spoils to the Gods, and among others, three putting their Names into an. Urn or a Headpiece, he drew five, ten or twenty of them, according to their Number; and the fifth, was called Decimare.

Roman Militia, who to punish whole Legions. when they had failed in their Duty, made ro death for an example to the others.

DECIMA. The tenth part of the Fruits of Sinueffe. of an Estate, or other like portion of Goods, the Spoils of the Enemies to their Gods, as Wants, and the Charges of War. Juno, Apelle and Hercules.

cient Romans, being perswaded that they held the tenth part of their Estate? and he are every thing from the Liberalities of the Gods. Iwers, that it might be because Hersules himnot excepting their own life, offered them a felf confecrated to Rome the tenth part of the portion of their Servants, Fields, Towns, Oxen of Gryon which he was carrying away:

them thanks for their Health.

that he had promifed and vowed to spelle the very foberly, was pleafed that rich men tenth part of the Boary, Apollini se decimam vo- would retrench fome part of their super-visse partem cum diceret Camillus, Pontifices fol- finities. vendum religione populum censerent : These are the words of Livy, who fays besides, that Ca- who fought a Battle against the Lating, and millus protested that he had vowed the whole devoted himself to death, to save the Roman tenth part, and therefore they must include in it even the ground of the Town that he had took, and its Territory, whis state agri capti de- fent for M. Valerius the High Prieft, who cimam, que O ipfa voto contineatur.

This Historian relates still the vow of the holy Spring Ver Satrum, that the Senate and the Reman People made in a very dangerous time, when they were atraid of the Carsbagimians and the Gauls. By this Vow they obliged themselves to offer in Sacrifice to Jupiter. the whole increase of their Flocks and Herds. which that Spring should produce. Quad vir attalerit ex Suille, Oville, Caprine, Bovine grege, Jovi fini. Pliny observes that the Romans ne-

DECENNALIA FESTA, Festi- ver tasted of their Wine, or other Bruits of vals, that the Emperors in the declining times the Earth, before their Priests had offered

The Greeks were not less religious than the DECIMATIO, A punishment that Romans. Herodocus tells us, that Grafus when

> The fame Author relates in another place. that the Greeks, after the famous Victory of Salamina, confecrated the first Fruits of the Ships taken from the Phanicians,

Dienyfius Halicarnaffeus fays, that Hereules has ving fubdued Spain and Italy, promised to bethe tenth or the twentieth was put to the flow the tenth part of the Booty for Sacri-Sword, and the others were faved; and this fices. And that Tarquinius Prifess had vowed to build a Temple to Tupiter. June and Miners DECIMARE. A word of the ancient vs. if he got a Victory over the Sabmer. Tarquinius Superbus performed the Vow of his Great Grand-Father, and bestowed upon that every tenth Soldier draw Lots, and put him Magnificent Building the tenth part of the Spoils he obtained at the taking of the Town

Diegenes Lacritus in, the Life of Solon, introwhich differs according to the custom of pla- duces a Letter of Pififratus to Solon, wherein ces. They vowed formerly the tenth part he fays that the Athemans laid afide the renth of the Booty got at the taking of a Town, or part of their Revenues for Sacrifices, publick

Plutarch proposes this Question, Why at Genforinus c. 1. de die Nat. fays that the an- Rome many rich Perfons confecrated to Hercules and confecrated them also their Heirs, to give or because he made the Romans free of the Tythes they paid before to the Tufcans ; or After a famous Victory, Camillus declared, because they thought that Hercules, who lived

> DECIUS MUS, A Remen Confini Army, This great Man feeing his Soldiers cowed, and the Rosen Legions loft ground, being cloathed with his Gown edged with purple colour, called Prateuts, he put both his Feet upon a Dart, his Head covered. and holding up his Right Hand, pronounced his Vow aloud, the High Priest uttering the words, which he repeated after him: Janus, Jupiter, and Fathers Mart and Quirinur, Bellena, Larts, Domestick Gods, Gods Indigeti, whose power is extended over us. and over our Enemies; and ye, Infernal Gods, I call upon you, I adore you, vouch-fafe to bless the endeavours of the Reman, | Walls, and other publick Edifices, and the Enemies with fear and death ; wherefore pronounced Sentences called Decrete December I devote my felf to the Gods of Hell and num, with two D. D. at the top of them. to the Earth, and with me the Enomies Le- DEDICATIO Templi, and DEDIwions and their Confederates. Having thus CARE Temple. The Dedication of Temgoken, he gor on Horfeback, and spurr'd ples; we shall here inform you by whom it on his Horse rhrough the thickest Battallions was made, and with what ceremonies. of the Enomy. This Action raifed the courage of the Legions, and gave an opportuni- dedicated to fome Divinity, and the Dedity to the other Conful Manliss to defeat the Bremy, and obtain a full victory.

Gate in the Camp of the Remant,

each Tribe in ten Caria, or Compa- Book of the Sybills. nies, and appointed a Centurion or Captain The Dedication was to be authorized by to Command a hundred men, and a Decurism the Senate and the people, according to the

LES. A Court of Judges or Councellours, to give their consent to it, as Livy and Tully who representing the Senare of Rome in the Itells us. free Towns. They were called Decuriones, These things being exactly observed early because in the times they fent Raman Colo- in the morning, the College of the Pontiffs, was more or less according to the custom of dere. the place, as we learn by the Emperor Trajation of the Pontiff holding the Ceremonial in his hand, pronounced aloud the form of and that every one must follow the custom of pracumte Pentifice effari. the place. Ulpianus tells us, that the Money Afterwards they confecrated the Court of was equally divided among the Decurious.

nues of the Commonwealth. Some of this Re- pitem reddebantur, venue was bestowed for the re-building of the and give them the victory : Strike their reft for maintenance of learned men. They

When a Temple was built, it was to be cation thereof belonged to some great Magistrate, at Confuls, Prætors, Censors, Decem-DECUMANA PORTA, The back viri, Dunm-viri, Vestal Virgins, and the High Priests in the time of the Common-DECUMATES AGRI, Lands cal- wealth, or the Emperors during the Monarled Servet, manured by the meanest fort of the chick Government. The Temple built by Genle, now called the Dukedom of Wirtemberg . Tarquinius in honour of Jupiter Capitelinus, was DECURIO. An Officer in the Ronan dedicated by the Conful M. Heatin Pul-Army, who commended ten Troopers: for allu, An. 247, forme time After the Ronaus Remailur having at first divided the Reman had expelled the Kings. The Temple of people into three Tribes, he appointed Mars, confecrated in the War against the at the head of each Tribe a Collonel Gaule, was dedicated in the year 365 by the col Command it, and afterwards divided Duum-viri, appointed for the keeping of the

Law Papyria, made by Pupyrius Tribune of the DE CURIONES MUNICIPA- people; and the College of the Pontiffs was

nies into the conquered Towns, they chose and other Orders met, with a great Crowd ten men to make up a Senate, and a Court of of People, and many persons of note ar the Councellors, called Civitatum Patres Curiales ; appointed place. They furrounded the Tem-Summait Municipierum Senatorit, and their Court, ple with Garlands of Flowers; the Voltal was called Curia Decurioum, and Mines Senatous. Virgins holding in their hands branches of They were chosen almost with the same Olive-tree, sprinkled-the outside of the Temcorremonies as the Senators. And were to be ple with Luftral or Holy-water; then the five and twenty years old, with a Revenue of person who consecrated the Temple drew two hundred and twenty five pounds Ster- near the Gate with a Pontiff at his fide, to ling per Annum. This Election was made at shew him the ceremonies, and tell him the the Kalends of March. Then the Dunn-viri Prayers that he was to make, holding with affembled for that purpose the Court of the one hand the side-post of the Gate, and then Decerious, with the Judge of the Province, and faid thus, Ades, Ades, for example Luculle, were elected by the majority of Votes. The Dum dedito Templum hoe, at mihi praestis, postem-Directive then chosen paid his welcom to the quetensait. This ceremony was expressed whole Body in Money, or a Present, which with these words, Posters tears, or apprisehim about that Duty of Entry. The the confectation, which the confectatind per-Emperor answers him, that there was no son repeared after him; and the ceremony general rule establish'd upon that account, was expressed by these words, Salemnia werba

the Temple by facrificing a Beaft, the in-Their office was to take care of all that was wards whereof were laid on an Altar of for the benefit of the Town, and the Reve. Green Turf , luftrabatur area, ext. Super refinto the Temple with the Pontiffs, and rook the Statue of the God and Goddess to whom the Tomple was confecrated, and anointed it with Oyl, and laid it on a Pillow rubbed with Oyl, in temple ipfum quoque priur untione dedicatum ana cum ara & pulvinari collocaba-

After all the ceremonies were over, the Temple was called Augustum, i. c. Augurio Sacratum, and the person who had confecrated it, might have an Infeription containing his name, his qualities, and the year of the confecration fet upon the Temple, as we may fee in the following Infcription.

> Nunc. R. Et Minerve. Sel. Cene. Cobort. III. Brittann. Aram, Et Pl. Felix. Prefett. Ex wate Poluit. L. M. Dedicavit Kalend. Decemb. Gentiano de Ballo Cofs.

Taritus relates the Dedication of the Capitol that was made by Vefpaftan's order, Annal.

In clear and ferene weather, they filtrounded the Temple with Garlands and Holy-bands, and made those Soldiers whose names were of good omen, go into the Temple, carrying in their hands branches of fuch Trees as were acceptable to the Gods. The Soldiers were followed by the Vestal Virthe flames. Dejanira hearing this misgins, attended by young Children of both Sexes, whose Parents were fill alive, and sprinkled the place with Spring and Riverwater. Then the Præsor offered the ordinary Sacrifices of the purification, and having laid the inwards of the victims upon Greens, pray'd Jupiser, June, and Minerus, and the other Gods, protectors of the Empire, to blefs a work that mens piety was confectating to their glory. Then immediately he tought rhe Holy bands, that were tied to the Rope, which held the first Stone; and the Priests, and Magistrates, with the whole Senate, the Equestrian Order, and the greatest part of the people hoifed up the Stone in the air with loud acclamations, till it was laid on its foundation. where they threw presently many pieces of Gold and Silver, and Metal as it came out of the Mine.

As for the confecration of Christian Churches, some ascribe this institution thereof to Pepe Clement, others to Felix, who was Pope in the time of the Emperor Aurelianus, and fome others to Sylvefter in Confantinus's time. However, that inflitution is very aneient, being practifed in imitation of the de- was in labour might lye in there. June be-

Then the confectating person came dication of the Temple of Jerusalem, which God had commanded, and in remembrance of the fame, the Ifraelites kept a Feaft every year called Encenia.

DEFENSOR Civistis. The most confiderable Magistrate after Confuls and Daum-viri. He may be called Syndick, as he is named in the Reman Law, Defenferer, fays Arcadius, quos Graci Syndicos appellant, pro Republica agebant & conveniebantur.

This Magistrate was chosen out of the number of the Citizens, by the Decurion and the Priesthood, then his Election was confirmed by the Prafettus Pratorio, who delivered him his Letters Parent. This office was first for five years, but afterwards it was reduced to two years.

The Duty of this place was to protect the people both in Town and Country, and to judge of their differences. He had two Officets under him to put his Sentences into execution, and prevent the peoples mutinying. having power to imprison those who should be the authors of any Sedition.

DEJANIRA. The Daughter of Ocme us King of Esolis, who married Hercules; but fhe was the cause of his death, having fent him by Licas a garment that Neffus the Centaur had prefentud her, which was dyed with the blood of the Serpent called Hydra, that Hercules had killed : for as foon as he had put it on he fell mad, and threw himself into bonfire he had made in the Mount Ocis. where he was presently consumed by fortune, flew herfelt with her Husbands

DEIDAMIA. The Daughter of Lycemedes King of Seyre. In the Court of this King Thetis had his Son Athiller brought up in a Girls habit, to preserve his life, for the Fates faid that he should dye in the siege of Troy. Achilles begot a Son by Deidamia called Prorhus, because his father was called Pyrrha all the time of his difguife.

DELATOR. An Informer of a capital crime or conspiracy, who discovers the whole matter to the King or Magistrates, Tacitus writes, that Informers were very come. mon at Rome. These secret accusers, the plague of families, in the time of Tiberius, inflead of being suppressed by punishments were encouraged by rewards; for the mok famous were efteemed facred and inviolable persons, and the others were left by Tiberius to the vengeance of the people.

DELOS. The Ifland Delar. Neptune toceived an order from Jupiter to stop this floating Island, which had been separated from Sicily by flormy weather, that Latona who ing highly provoked banished her out of Hea- , who was murther'd in the Temple of Nepsune, ven, and the Earth fwore that the would not and thrown into the Sea; and received Telereceive her; wherefore there remained no machus the Son of Ulifes, who fell into the other place for her, but only that Island, Sea playing on the shore: Wherefore, ever which was not bound by the Oath of the fince, his Father wore the figure of a Dolphin Farth, because it was not then in the World. in his Scutcheon and Signet; and for that Latons was therefore received there, and de- fame reason Lycophron in his Cassandra gives him liverd of Twins Apollo and Diana, the fairest the firname of Sexpiros pos, because he was Children of Jupiter, as Lucian tells us.

DELPHI, A City in Baotia, near Mount Pliny calls Simos. Parnassia. There spallo had a Magnificent DEMOCRITUS, A Philosopher who Temple, enrich'd with Presents, that were laugh'd at Men and Humane things; and said, fent thither from all parts. In this Temple that there was nothing folid, and all was Vawas a Priesteis called Pythia or Pythonissa, in- nity, that a Man was but a concourse of Aspired by Apollo, who gave out Oracles, titting toms, and the Toy of Destiny or Fortune. on a little three-legged Stool, called Tripos or DEMONAX, A Philosopher of the Apollo have not deceived you.

Cliffs. Dolph. As Arion was very much belo- him very honourably at the publick Charge. ved by Periander for the excellency of his DENARIUS, A Roman Penny, to the 'Art, he dwelt commonly with him; but value of feven-pence-half-penny of English 'Ship, the Seamen and people without Faith cond and coined first the Denarius, which was and Humanity, resolved to throw him marked with the letter X, because it was to suffer him to make his Funeral Oration, two Sesteria, marked with these three Letters IIS. and to fing an Elegy on his Harp, then In the latter times of the Common-wealth, things he had, the Dolphins throng'd about the Ship, allured by the Charms of his Harupon my back, as far as Tanarus.

Pindar, Herodotus and Pliny, relate the great Ounce. Affection Dolphins bear ro Men; and tell us, a flat-nosed Man like the Dolphins, which

Corting, because it was covered with the skin life of Cyprus, of an Illustrious and Rich Faof the Serpent Pytho; wherefore Virgil fays, mily, but his Mind being yet above his For-Net te Phabi Coreina fefellit, i. e. The Oracles of tune, he forfook all his Wealth to give himfelf to Philosophy. He studied first Humane DELPHINUS, A Dolphin, a great Learning, then Philosophy, but embrac'd no Sea-Fish, with a crooked Back, pleasant to particular Sect, and yet taking what was good the Eyes, of a changeable Colour, according in every Sect, he never determined which of to the several Motions of his Body, which is them he valued the most. He disputed mocovered with very thin Scales. He is a great deftly, hated Vice, bore no ill will to vicious Friend to Man, as Lucian gives us to understand Men, but took care to cure them as Physiciin the Dialogue between Neptune and the Dol- ans do Difeafes, without being angry with his phine. ' Nept. I love you Dolphine, for conti- Patients; for he thought that to err, was nanuing your Love and Affection towards tural to Man, but forgiving and correcting Mankind. Dolph. No wonder, Neptune, we was the property of a Wife-man; and warnhave a kindness for Men, since we were ed his wealthy Friends never to trust to the Men our felves once. Nept. In good earnest, uncertainty of Fortune, neither to be proud I bear Bacchus a grudge for having thus Me-, of their Wealth, which was often the share tamorphiz'd you after his Victory. He of Fools, and encouraged the others to fuffer might in my mind, have contented himself, patiently the miseries of this Life, because with subduing you, as he did other People. neither Men nor Miseries could last long; But pray tell me the adventure of Arion: and that Custom softens the greatest hardships, Now as for Melicerta, I know you wafted and inur'd Men to pain. At last, seeing he him over to Corinth, when he was tumbled was fallen into want, he voluntarily starved down with his Mother from off the Scironian himself with hunger. The Attenians buried when he was become very rich, the Toy Mony. The Romans having for a long time took him in the Crown, to return into his used brass Mony, which they call As quasi own Country, to make a figure there with Es, or Libra and Pondo, because it was a pound his Riches. But after he was imbark'd in a weight, began to coin Silver. A. 585, ab urb. overboard, that so they might have his worth ten Alles, and divided into two Quinaris Wealth. But he first of all defired them marked with V, which were subdivided into flouncing into the Ocean, with all the best the Emperors reduc'd the Roman Penny to the weight of a Drachma, viz eight in an Ounce : for 'tis certain, as Pliny and Livy fay, that bemony, faved him, and I my felf carried him fore that time, it weighed more; for at first they coined fix, then feven Denarii out of an

But there is a difficulty arising from what that they brought back the Body of Hiffed, is faid before, that the Roman Penny was formerly at Rame, each Afs (ten whereof mation of Derceto, the Mother of Semiramis, inmade up a Roman Penny) weighed twelve to a Fish, is a very famous Fable. Ovid men-Ounces; and that afterwards, in the time of tions it in his Metamorphis. the first Punick War, the Common-wealth being then in debt, it was thought fit to lower monies in Funeral Pomps, or a from Cryen the Coin, and reduce the As to two ounces, who ordered all things at Funerals, either reand fince that time in the War of Hannibal the lating to the Parade, or the Habits of that Affer were reduced to one ounce; but at the Ceremony. Ulpianus fays, that this Officer fame time the value of the Roman Penny was was a noted Man, receiving his Office from regulated, and then went for fixteen Affer in- the Prince, and was attended by two Liflead of ten, which was the value of the old Ctors and other Officers in Mourning Dreffes. Roman Penny, as Festus and Pliny tells us : And Horace makes mention of him Epist. 7. 1. 1. this resolves the Difficulty that arises from what Vitruvius fays.

DENDROPHORI, The College of the Dendrophori is often mentioned in the Ancient Marbles Yet 'tis not well known what ceffary for the Funeral, but undertook the kind of Men the Dendrophori were. The Learn- Funeral Games and Spectacles, fays Terruled are divided upon this account; Salmafius lian. in his Commentaries upon the Life of Cars- DESULTORES and DESULTO. calla, written by Spartianus fays, that the Den- RII, Men who leap from one Horse to drophori were those persons, who, in the Pro- another, at the Horce-races of the Games calceffions made in honour of the God, carried led Circences. From hence the Latins proverbi-Branches of Trees in their Hands, according ally speaking, call inconstant and wavering to the Erymology of the word derdeopords, men, defultorie nature hominer. i. e. Tree-bearer; wherefore the Epithet of Dendrophorus was given to the Silvan God of Prometheus, who reigned in Theffalia, in the in an old Inscription cited by Gruter , time of a great Deluge : For the Greeks relate. because this God is commonly represented that the first Men being cruel and insolent carrying a Branch of a Pine-tree, in the Pro- without Faith, Hospitality and Humanity, cessions made in honour of Bacchie. And we perished all by that Deluge, the Earth issuing fee often, in Baffo relievos, where the Bacchanalia out abundance of Waters, which fwell'd up are represented as men carrying little Shrubs | the Rivers, and with the excessive Rains cauor Branches of Trees.

favour this Opinion in the 20th Law. 'Tis mained, having got fafe into an Ark with his 'mong the Pagans have possessed, and were and tame, without devouring one another. appointed for their Feaftings and distribu- nor doing him any harm. Thus he floated tion of Money, be applied to the Revenues till the Waters were retired, then re-populated of our Houses, having banished the Error Mankind, by throwing stones behind him, Text Dendrophori was not a Name of a Trade, Wife did the like, and threw Stones behind but of a religious or superstitious Order. How- her, which were changed into Women; this opinion, which feems very probable, and fay, Inhabitants of that Country inlarge the Story Engines called Fabri.

worth ten Affer; for Virravius fays, that it . I have feen in Phanicis, being that of a Wewas of the value of fixteen Aft. To ex- man from the middle upwards, whose lower plain this difficulty, we must understand, that parts ended in a Fish's Tail. The transfor-

DESIGNATOR. A Master of Cere.

Delignaturem decorat Listoribus atris.

They not only furnish'd all that was no

DEUCALION. A Scythian, the Son r Branches of Trees.
The Title of the Thesassian Code seems to the Earth with Water. Deucation alone reiust, says the Text, that all the Places that Family, and two Beasts of every kind, who the Dendropheri and other Religious Men a- freely followed him into the Ark both wild that instituted them. According to this which were changed into Men. Prirhs his ever, most of the Learned are of a contrary they performed by the advice of Themis. The that the Dendrophori were Men, who bought with another Prodigy, and say, that an Abyss Timber for the War and Warlike Engines : [wallowed down all the Waters; and that Wherefore they were commonly joined in Deucation in remembrance of it, erected an the same Company with those who made the Altar and built a Temple, where a very little.

Engines called Fabri.

Hole remains still. Wherefore the Inhabi-DERCETO, The Mother of Semiramis, tants of that Country and those of Syria. come the was represented half Man and half Fish, twice a year to the Neighbouring Sea, where as Diodoriu Siculus expresly speaks. But Lucian they draw a great quantity of Water, and in his Dea Syria divides her Body otherwise. | pour it into the Temple that Deucalion built, Semiramis, tays he, founded that Temple in and this Water runs through the Hole; and honour of her Mother Dercete, whose Image the Origine of this Ceremony is still ascrihed to Descalion, in remembrance of that Ac- 1

Ovid fays, that Deucalien and Pyrrha efcaped from the Flood, and staid in a little Boat on the top of Mount Parnaffin, which is above the Clouds and Meteors; that they were both of a perfect Innocency and Holine's: wherefore Jupiter feeing that there were none left of all Mankind but those two persons, put an end to the Deluge, and made the World habitable as it was before.

'Tis plain by this account, that Ovid knew and his fingular Justice, and was told of the thers derive it from the Greek word beds, place where that Ark flood, and the choice which fignifies fear, because we ought not to of an only Family for the reparation of draw near him, but with a reverential fear : Mankind. And 'tis no wonder that the and many Authors take its derivation from name of Noah was changed, and that of the Verb Sadouas, i. e. to fee and contem-Pyrha invented by Poets. As for the manner plate, because God sees all things, and nothing of multiplying afterwards Mankind, it was lescapes his fight and knowledge. But tho there enough to name 2 Father and 2 Mother, a are feveral Opinions and Difputes concerning Husband and a Wife. As to the Fable of the the Etymology of that word, the Ancients are Stones thrown behind their back, and their | yet more divided about the definition of the numerous posterity, 'tis a Poetick fancy, to nature of God. Thales Milesius said that God was shew with what facilityGod re-populated the | an Intelligence, who had made all things of Earth, and the hardness of those Men, who Water, and was the principle of all the World. were the first Inhabitants of this new World. Anaximander affured, that God was born like Plurarch has mention'd the Dove and the Ark the rest of Men. But Anaximines and Anaxaof Deucalism. Pindar fays, that Deucalism and goras had more fublime thoughts, for the they Pyrha, by an order of Jupiter, came down acribed an Airy Body to God, nevertheleis from Mount Parnaffis, and without any con- they acknowledged him for an infinite Being. jugal Correspondence begat a great number | who fill'd up all Imaginary spaces. Pliny tells of Children made of Stones; because the us that God is an Independent Being, who is Greek word Adds fignifies both a Stone and all Spirit, all Intelligence, all Sight, and all People; and in so little time, that it seem'd Hearing; and gives motion to all Beings, and that the Stones were transformed into Men. is moved by none but by himself. Doubtless,

the number of Men who were in the Ark ; cellent notion from Plato. and his Wife and other Women fet up also | Seneca speaking of the Poets, who have demultiplication of Men.

St. Aufin affirms, that the deluge fell out to what Eufebius and Hieronimus fay; but this ascribe to their Country the glory of re-Earth.

DEVERRA, One of the three Divinities, whom the Ancients intrusted with the care of a Woman in Child-birth, as Varre and St Auffin tells us, left the God Silvanus entered the House and troubled her.

DEUS, The Soveraign Being. Here we must explain the word Dew. Some derive it from the Verb Do, because God gives every thing, and can receive nothing from any Creature whatfoever. Wherefore when they offered Sacrifices, they did not fay dare exta Diis, but reddere, to shew that they only rensomething by tradition of the Ark of Neah, dered him what he had first given them. O-Tzetzes explains this Fable fomething other- | Pliny and others , who have called God wise; for he says, that Deucalism or Noah at a Soveraign Intelligence, who fills, sees, their coming out of the Ark, fet up on one knows, rules all things, and has no limits, fide Stones like fo many Altars, according to neither to his power or duration, had that ex-

on their fide, as many Altars as they were in fcrib'd Jupiter thundering against the wicked, number, to give thanks to God for having fays, that we must not imagine that the Poets escap'd this universal Deluge; and because thought that Jupiter struck men with Thunthere was as many Men as Women in the Ark, derbolts; but not being able to express better it was faid, that the number was equal on the punishments that attended wicked Men. both fides, fo many Men according to the they were obliged to perswade them, that number of Stones; and that this multiplica- God under the name of Jupiter, who fees all tion of Stones or Altars, was the cause of the things, had always Thunderbolts in his hand, wherewith to punish their Impieties.

And though the Ancients left us a ridicuduring the reign of Ceases at Athens, according lous Genealogy of Gods, yet they did not really believe that there was fuch a Multitude Flood of Deucalion overflowed but one part of Divinities: But they conform'd themselves of Greece. However, the Greeks changed the to the Superflitious Error of the common name of Noah into that of Deucalion, and con- People, to keep them the better in awe, and founded these two Deluges, that they might hope out of respect to so many Gods. Pliny ascribes the multitude of Gods to the weakstoring Mankind, and re-populating the whole ness of Man's understanding, who was not able to apprehend how only one God could govern so many different parts of the World, suit. Heredette tells us, that there was in the wherefore Men fancied that there were many Town of Bubaftis in Egypt, a Temple of Be-Gods, and that each of them had his pecu- baffir, called by the Greeks Diana, and that the liar Employment and Function in the govern- Egyptians faid that Diana and Apollo were born ment of the World.

Metals their Gods; they did not believe that Diana's. they were really Gods (except it were the common fort of People) but observ'd some whom they called Britomartit, and was also peculiar Qualifications and Proprieties in named Dillyma, from the word Diffe. them, and for that reason called them Gods.

feription of the Arvaux's.

that the was the Goddess Ops or Cybele, Saturn's called Berro, that which was sweet, 71 Wife, the Grand-mother of the Gods, whom yourd. Cafaubon is of opinion that the other the Greeks called also Rhea. And she might part of this word comes from 6429715, i.e. by way of Eminency be called Dia, i. e. Di- Companion, because a Virgin never forsake wing, as the Mother and Queen of other Di- the company of her Mother. vinities. From this word Dea or Dia, is come In fine, Diodorus Siculus affirms, that the Cra. the name of Die in the Province of Dauphine, tans, who introduce the Theology of Pheniwhich was called Dia or Dea Vocontiorum, be- cia and Egypt into their own Country, faid. caufe the Vocontii, who inhabited in its Neigh- that Jupiter begot Venus and the Graces, that Latona, who was born in the Isle of Delos. She was called Diana because she was the This is the fame Goddess, who was called Daughter of Jupiter, as it is intimated by her Lucina or Diana upon the Earth, and affifted Name; for the ancient Latins faid Dius instead Women in labour, as Poets tell us; the of Side, Jupiter : She was named Delia, be-Moon in Heaven; and Hecate or Profespina in Caufe she was born in the Island of Delay. Hell. Upon this account they afcribed unto This Goddess made a Vow of Virginity. her three Heads or three Faces, and the is also which the carefully kept; wherefore the Pocalled Triformes. Virgil speaks thus of her; confounded in one fingle Divinity.

Tergeminamque Hecaten, tria Virginis ora Diana.

rather it felf a natural History. Yet Tully has lowed to hunt, because they imagine, that spoken of her as an Historian, when he di- that day she permitted her Hounds, and all ftinguishes three Diana's: One born of Jupiter things that appertained to her Hunting Equiand Proferpina, who brought forth winged Cu- page to reft; every one crown'd his Hounds, pid: another better known, born of Tupiter and they lighted Torches in the Forrests. and Latons; and a third, who had Upis for her where they offered her in Sacrifice an Ox. a Father, and Glauce for her Mother, whom the Boar and a white Hind. They prefented her Greeks call often Ubis after her Pathers Name : Still the first Fruits ; Oenus King of Æselia for-Diane item plures; prima Jovis & Proserpine; got it, in an offering he made to the Country accepimus : tertie pater Upis traditur. Glauce ma- that the fent the Calydonian Wild-boar. who deter; cam Graci fape Upim paterno nomine appellant. Stroyed all his Country. The Sythians, fays And yet these were probably but the Diana's Lucian, offered Men in sacrifice upon her of Greece, in imitation of the Diana's of Baype. Altar. Among all the Temples that were For Diana was among the Dieties in Agypt, built to her honour, that of Epheliu was most when Typhous made war against them, and the remarkable, for its largeness and magnificence. changed herself into a Cat. wherefore the It was 425 foot long, and 220 foot broad, Egyptians call'd her Bubaftis. Ovid speaking adorn'd with an hundred and twenty seven of these Transformations of the Gods, doth Pillars of threescore foot high, wrought with of Dionyfius and Ifis. Sanchoniashon fays, that And when they made Beafts, Trees and Saturn and Affante begot feven Girls, or feven

Strabe mentions one of the Grecian Diana's

And Solinus affirms, as Cafaubon observes DIA. No Author tells us who was that that the Inhabitants of Crete called Dians by Goddess Dia, so often mentioned in the In- that name, because it signifies a mild and sweet Virgin: Quod Sermone noftro fonat Virginem det. Sebaftian Fesch of Bafil, Doctor of Law, says cem. Helychius says, that the People of Cres bourhood, especially worshipped that Divinity. Diana took care of new born Infants, and La-DIANA. The Daughter of Jupiter by cina prefided over Women in Labour.

ets called her Cafta Diana. She was the Goddess of Woods, Hunting and Cross-wave All the Nymphs are her Companions; but when they married they forfook her company, And Diana, the Moon and Proferpina were thus and were obliged to carry Baskets full of Flowers and Fruits into her Temple to paci-All that was faid concerning Dians, has re- fy her. The Ides of August was a day kept spect rather to a Fable than the History, or is holy in her honour ; and it was not then at (counds notion, quam Tove tertio er Latona natam Gods; which to highly provoked her anger, not forget that of Disns : Fele forer Phabi Is- fo much art, and enrich'd with fo much ex-

Fellow, called Eroftratus, who by this Con- the tones, had but feven Strings. flagration, defigned to transmit his Name to DIATONUM. A kind of Song Ephelians built it again, as magnificent as before. kinds of Mulicks

Diana had also a Temple in the Town of Marnelia, built by Hermogenes Alabandinus, a fa- a Futlong in length, and at the end theremous Architect.

This Goddess had another Temple at Rome upon Mount Aventine, in the Reign of Servius Tulliur, which was built by the Romans and who was alone invested with the Consulary facrificed the Cow to Dians, and hung the was called T. Larens. Horns in her Temple.

with dishevelled Hair, cloathed with a hairy lasted but fix Months, yet the Senate might Gown of purple colour, trimm'd with golden continue it. Buckles, which she tuckt up to the very knees. DIDO; or Elife, the Daughter of Belu: She held a Bow in her Hand, and carried a King of Tyre. She married sickent, Herculer's Quiver full of Arrows on her Shoulder. They Prieft, whom Pigmalion, Dido's Brother, muralso represented her sitting on a golden Cha- thered, to possess his Treasure. Dido fearing riot drawn with Hinds. Albricus the Philo-ther life, failed to the Coasts of Africa, where fopher in his Pictures of the Gods fays, that the built a Town and called it Carthage. Jar-Diana was represented holding a Bow and bas King of Getulia would force her to marry Arrow, with a Half-moon on her Forehead, him, but the refus'd to confent to it, and had and about her a great company of Drysder, rather kill herfelf, than stain her former Bed. Hamadryades, Naiades, Nereides, and Choires of Virgil relates this otherwise in his Encid, but the Nymphs of the Woods, Mountains, by the account of Chronologers what he faid Fountains and Seas; and even Satyrs, who is impossible, for Eneas lived 260 Years be-

are Country Diviniries.

Strabo 1. 14. de descriptione Mundi relates, that DIES., The Day. The Ancients di-in the Isle of learus there was a Temple of vided the day into a natural and artiscifrom the People, but from the Bulls that a- cial day, the duration of that time the Sun is bound in that Country.

cellent carved work, that nothing finer was | DIAPASON. This Greek word figniever feen : There was a Stair-case to go up on fies a Chord, which includes all Tones, we the Temple, made of one intire piece, which call it an Offave, because all its tones are was the Wood of a Vine. This Temple was eight in number. Ariffotle fays that the Greeks built by the Architect Cteffphon in fixfcore did no not call it Dieto, i. e. Ottave, because Years time, and was burnt by a profligate the Harp of the Ancients, which included all posterity, not being able (as he confest'd him- which proceeds out by tones and semi-tones, felf) to do any thing more remarkable. The and is more natural and less forced than other

DIAULON. Is a kind of Race, which was of they returned back along the fame Course. DICHALCA. The foruth part of an Oboluis.

DICTATOR, A Roman Magistrate, Lating, at both their Charges; and there they and Soveraign Authority, and had power of met every year to offer a Sacrifice, in com- life and death over the Romans, he had Lictors memmoration of the League made between walking before him. Pomponius Latur allows both Nations. This Temple was adorned him but two; but Raphael Velateranus says, with Cows-horns. Plutarch and Lavy tell more likely there were four and twenty Lius the reason of it, when they relate that stors, for each Conful had commonly twelve. Autre Coratius a Sabin, who had a very fine This Magistrate was never chosen, but when Cow, was advis'd by a Southfayer to offer it the Commonwealth was reduced to some in a Sacrifice to Diana of Mount Aventine, great Extremity, either by an unexpected promiting him if he offered that Sacrifice that War, or fome popular and epidemical Difhe should never want any thing, and that the ease, to drive in the Nail, or chuse new Sc-City whereof he should be a Cirizen should nators. The Consul elected a Dictator by fubdue all other Towns of Italy. To that Night upon the Territories of the Commonpurpose Autro came to Rome, but a Slave of wealth, and no where else. That Office was King Servise having acquainted his Mafter for fix Months; at first none but Patricians with Autro's delign, who being gone to puri- only were admitted to it; but afterwards they fie himself in the Tiber, before he offered his were taken out of the People, and the first Sacrifice, Servius made use of that opportunity, who was honour'd with that Employment

DICTATURA, The Dictatorship, She was commonly drawn Goddes-like, the Dignity of Dictator, which commonly above our Horizon.

fore Dido.

Diana, called raupovoxor or Taurica; Livy al. They called the natural day that which 1. 4. Dec. 4. calls it Tauropolum, and the Sacri- is measured by the duration of time, that the fices that were offered in that Temple Tauro- Sun takes to move round the Earth, which polis. However, Dionysius in his Book De sizu comprehends the whole space both of the Orbis fays, that Diana was not called Timropola Day and Night. And they called the artificause several Nations reckon it several ways; were offered upon the Altars of the Gods, fome begin it one way, and others another during the time they were examining the ferring of the Sun, and the Italians follow them, and begin the first hour of the day with the Sun fetting.

The Babylonians began the day with the raifing of the Sun.

The Egyptians began it as we do at midnight, and the Umbri at Noon.

The day that begins with the rifing and fetting of the Sun is not equal; for from the Winter-Solflice to the Summer-Solflice, the day that begins with the Sun fetting has fomething more than four and twenty hours: and on the contrary, less from the Summer-Solflice to the Winter-Solflice; but the natural monwealth, which were commonly the Kaday that begins at mid-night or at noon is always equal.

The artificial day on the contrary is unequal all over the World, except under the ly those appointed for the Assemblies of the Aguinoxial Line; and this inequality is more people. or less, according to the diversity of Climates. days and working-days: In the one of these sit a whole day, the Prætor was allowed to followed their Diversions, and the other their bestow the rest of the day in administring Business and Trading; some days were also Justice.

accounted by them lucky, and others un-vision that Nums made of the days called Fasts inform more fully, or to clear themselves: and Nefasti; the days called Fasti were divided this adjournment was commonly of twenty in Comitiales, Comperendini, Stati, Praliares.

Fasti dies were pleading days, at which time zens, and to summon a Foreigner at Rome. the Prætor was allowed to administer Justice; and the word fasti is derived from fari, i. e. to fpeak or prenounce: Wherefore the jurifdiction of the Prator confifted in pronoun- which it was permitted to engage the enemy. cing these three words Do, Dico, Addico: On There were also other days called Justi, wit. the contrary, dies nefasti were no pleading thirty days that the Romans were wont to days, at that time there was no Justice administred, which Ovid has expressed by these two Verses.

Ille nefastus erit, per quem tris verba filentur. Fastus erit per quem lege licebit agi.

. The days called Fast were marked with an F. in the Roman Kalendar, and the days called tum. Nefasti were marked with an N.

Paulus Manucius observes that there were three forts of days called Fasti; fome were unluckly, because of some loss the Romans had meerly called Fafii, and those days were entirely fpent in the administration of Justice; others were called Intercifi or Entercifi, bocaufe days. The Greeks called them a woopd is. one part of those days was employed to offer Sacrifice, and the other to distribute Justice, some days luckly, and others faral, and that

The natural day is also called civil, be-like victim was facrificed, till the inwards Entrails, inter cafa & porretta: and those davs are markt in the Kalendar with thefe two Letters E. N. The third fort of days called The Jews and Athenians began it with the Fasti, were fasti in the afternoon, and nefasti in the morning, markt in the Kalendar with thefe Letters N. P. Nefastu priore tempore, ot priore parte diei, as we learn from Ovid.

> Neu toto perstare die Sua jura putetis, Qui jam Faftus erit, mane Nefaftus erat. Nam fimul exta Deo data funt, licet omnia fari : Verbaque bonoratus libera Prator habes.

DIES SENATORII. Days that the Smate met about the affairs of the Comlends, the Nones, and the Ides of the month. except upon extraordinary occasions, for then there was no other days excepted, on-

DIES COMITIALES. Days of the meeting of the people, markt in the Kalen-The Romans distinguish'd the days into holy- dar with a C. When the Assemblies did not

DIES COMPERENDINI. Days of adjournment. After a hearing on both fides, the We ought here to observe the general di- Prætor granted time to the Clients, either to days, and was only granted to Reman Citi-

Macrobius fays that this last adjournment was called Stati Dies.

DIES PRÆLIARES. Days during grant to their Enemy, after they had proclaimed War against them, and before they entered their Territories, and used any Act of Hostility, to give them time by this delay to come to an agreement, or make fatisfaction for the wrong they had done them. Jufti Dies, fays Feftus, dicebantur triginta, cum exercitus effet imperatus & vexillum in arce pof-

There were other days called NON PRÆLIARES or ATRI, fatal and fuffered during those days, wherefore it was not allowed to engage the Enemy upon fuch

'Tis certain that the Ancients accounted which was administred from the time that the Chaldeans and Egyptians have first made and Romans in imitation of them, have done the like. Hefied was the first, who made a Catalogue of lucky and fatal days, intituled where the fifth day of the month is noted for an unlucky day, because, as he fays, the Furies of Hell are walking that day upon the Earth : wherefore Virgi tells us in the first Book of his Georgicks.

___ Quintam fuge, pallidus Orcus, Eumenidesque fata : tum partu Terra nefando Caumque Japetumque creat, favumque Typhan Et conjuratos calum rescindere fratres.

it was Apollo's Birth-day; and that the 8th, called Saturnalia, and many others recorded oth, 11th, and 12th days were also lucky.

days after the Kalends, Nones and Ides were Lucullus answered to those who endeavoured reckoned faral and unfortunate. And this o- to diffuade him from engaging Tigranes, bepinion was grounded upon the answer of a cause upon the same day the Cimbri had rout-Southfayer. For the Military Tribunes Vi- ed the Army of Capie, I, faid he, I will gilius, Manlius, and Celius Posthumius, seeing 'make it of a good omen for the Romans. that the Commonwealth suffered always some Julius Cafar transported his Forces over into lofs, presented a Perition to the Senate in the Africa, tho the Augurs opposed his design. year 363, desiring them to enquire about the Dion of Syracusa engaged Dynnisus the Tyrant, cause of these misfortunes. The Senate sent and overcame him one day when the Moon for a Southfayer, called L. Aquinius, who be- was eclipsed. And so did many others. ing come into the Affembly, they asked him his opinion about the fame; he answered, Festum. that when Q. Sulpitius, one of the Military Tribunes, engaged the Gault with fo bad fuc- word is derived from the Greek Nunt, i. e to cels near the River Allia, he had offered Sa- pafs and run through something; the Diess erifices to the Gods the next day after the among Musicians are the lesser parts of a Ides of July; that the Fabians were killed at Tone. Wherefore Ariffelle says, that the Cremera, because they engaged the Enemy Diesis are the Elements of the Voice, i.e. upon the like day. After this answer the of Tones : However, the Pythagoreans who Senate referred the consideration of the are thought to be the inventers of the name whole Affair to the Colledge of the Pontiffs, Diesis, do not make it so small; they diviand defired them to give their opinion there- | ded the Tone in two inequal parts, the leffer,. in. The Pontiffs forbad to engage the Ene- which we call the Semi-tone minor was called my, or to undertake any thing upon the next | Diefit, and the greatest, which is our Semi-tone day after the Kalends, Nones and Ides, as majer, was called Apotome. Livy reports. Besides these days that were ther days, that every particular man esteemwhaving obtained the dignity of the high They were twelve in number, fix Males, and Pontiff, made Ordinances concerning Reli- fix Females. gion upon the 15th of the Kalends of August, which were ill received, because of the loss Neptumus, Mars, Mercurius, Vulcanus, Apollo, Jathey had fuffered upon that day at Cremera and Allia as Suetonius relates in the life of Juno, Minerva, Ceret, Vesta, Diana, Venus. that Emperor, and Taitius in the second Book observations upon thosedays, and the Greek of his History, c. 24. "They took for a , bad omen, that being made High Priest, he ordained fomething concerning Religion upon the eighteenth day of July, which is faral, because of the Battles of Allie and Cremera.

There was also many other days accounted fatal by the Remans, as the day that they offered Sacrifices to the Ghost of deceased perfons the day following after the Feafts called Volcanalia, the fourth before the Nones of Offober, the fixth of the Ides of Nevember, the Holyday called Lemuris in May; the Nones of July, called Crapetina; the Ides of March, because Julius Cafar was killed that The opinion of Plate was, that the fourth day day; the fourth before the Nones of August. of the month was lucky, Heftod affures that because of the defeat of Canna that happened it was the feventh day was fortunate, because upon that day; the Holydays of the Latins in the Kalendar.

The Roman accounted also fone days lucky and others fatal. And the following diculous and superfittious observations; for

DIES FESTI, Holydays. See after

DIESIS, The quarter of a Tone. This

DII, Gods. The Romans made two clafaccounted unlucky, there were also some o- sis, or orders of their Gods; in the first were ranked the Gods called Dii majorum gened unfortunate in respect to his own person. tium, in the second were the Gods called Dii Augustus never attempted to perform any thing minorum genzium. The Gods of the first order upon the day of Nones, others upon the were the most powerful, nobiles & patentes, fourth of Kalends, Nones and Ides. Vitelli- and were called upon under great exigencies.

piter :

Tully 1, 2, de legibus makes three orders of Gods. The first order is of Celestial Gods, the fecond of Demi-Gods or Hero's, who Woman lying in , and preserve her from the wester carried up into Heaven on account of God Silvana; viz. IN TERCINODA, were carried up into Heaven on account of their atchievements, and in the third order PILUMNUS and DEVERRA. The were those who gave men the power to become themselves Gods.

They divided also the Gods, into Gods of Heaven, Gods of the Earth, Gods of the Sea; him up; CUNINA, to lay him in the

of Gardens. Gods called Consentes, and Gods elected, in Bones; CARNEA or CARNA and Der Consenter & Eletter. The Gods called CARDEA, to take care of his Vitals; IU-Confinter are the twelve Gods mentioned be- VENTUS, prefided over his Youth ; ORfore. They had their share in the Govern- BONA was called upon by the Parents, lest ment of the Universe, and the chiefest em- i she should take away their Children. ployments in the administration thereof. in the government of the Universe, are the other bad. names of the Gods called Confences, and Gods | The Names of the Country Gods, JUPI-

VESTÁ. The Names of the Gods of the Sea NEPTUNE, SALACIA, VE-NILIA, EGERIA, JUTURNA, of whom we will speak severally and in their PORTUNA.

The names of the Gods of Hell, PLU-TO, ACHERON and STYX his Wife, PROSERPINA, ÆACUS, Earth to drown both Men and Beafts, to MINOS, RHADAMANT HUS, punish their wickedness. For that purpose CHARON,, The Three PARCE, the EURIES.

of the Heroes or Demi-gods, as HERCU-LES, ÆSCULAPIUS, FAUNUS, him to build for that purpofe. CARMENTA, CASTOR & POL-LUX, ACCA LAURENTIA OUIRINUS or ROMULUS.

The names of the Gods called Semones, or S.mi homines, who had the protection of men an, as Xenophon tells us. during the course of their life.

The Gods of the second order, whom Ovid | Goddels MENA or LUNA, for wire comprehends under the word Pletr, were of figuifies the Moon, or PRIVIGNAJU.

a much leffer confideration, and had no pow- NO, and JUNO FLUONIA, LUCE er but from the great Gods; wherefore they NA or DIANA, LATONA or PARwere called upon but in affairs of less mo- TUNDA, and EGERIA, who affished Women in their Labour.

After a Woman was delivered of a Child. three Gods were called upon to preferve the Child who was born was put under the protection of these Gods, VAGITANUS to preside at his Cries ; LEVANA, to take in Gods of Forests, Gods of Rivers, and Gods Cradle; RUMINA, to suckle him; POf Gardens.
Tin A, to give him Drink; EDUCA, to Tiere is fill another division of Gods into feed him; OSSILAGO, to knit his

When the Child grew up, they prayed to The Gods elected were eight, whom the other Gods in his behalf, wiz. MURCIA, Gods called Confentes had chosen and entruft- left he should be idle ; STRENUA. to ed with a share of the government, relying act with vigilancy and vigour ; ADEONA fo far upon them. And these twenty Gods, and ABEONA, to go and come again; viz. twelve Males and eight Females, were AVERRUNCUS, to put away evil; adored as the Soveraigns of all the little Gods, ANGERONA, to drive away Melanchowho had but small and limited employments ly; and two GENII, one good and the called elected. JANUS, JUPITER, TER, the EARTH, the SUN, the SATURN, GENIUS, MERCU MOON, CERES, LIBER, MI RY, APOLLO, MARS, VUL NERVA, VENUS, PALES, CANUS, NEPTUNE, The SUN, FLORA, POMONA, VERTUM-HELL of PLUTO, LIBER: TEL NUS, SEIA or SEGETIA SELUS, CERES, JUNO, The MOON, GECE, TULLINA, TUTANUS, DIANA, MINERVA, VENUS, ROBIGUS, PAN, SILENUS. SILVANUS, TERMINUS, PRI APUS; and an infinite number of others, as the Gods PENATES and LARES, Order.

DILUVIUM, A Deluge, a general Inundation that God fent formerly upon the God opened the Cataracts of Heaven, and preferred only Nonh and his Family out of The names of the Gods called Indigites, or this Deluge, with two of each kind of all living Creatures in an Ark, that he ordered

There has been formerly five Deluges, yet there was but one universal one, fixteen hundred years and more after the creation of the World, in the time of old Ogiges the Phanici-

The fecond Deluge covered only the Land Those that presided at Births, were the of Egypt with Waters, and was occasioned by by an overflowing of the River Nile, in the to Descalion, and inftituted in commemoratirime of Prometheus and Hercules, and continued but a Month, as we learn from Diodorus Si-

The third Deluge happened in Achaia, in the Province of Actics, and lasted threelcore days, in the time of Ogiges the Athenian. Dioderus speaks of it in his fixth Book, and Paulanias in his Artics relates, that in the lower Town of Athens, in the way that leads to the Temple of Jupiter Olympius, there was a hole feen in the ground a foot and a half wide, and thro' that hole the Waters of the Flood were funk, wherefore it was a cuflom among the People, to throw every year into that hole, a kind of an offering made with Wheat-I lower and

The fourth Deluge was in Theffalia in Deucalion's time, and continued a whole Winter, as Ariftesle tells us in the first Book of his Meteors.

The fifth hapned about the Offia of the River Nile in Egypt, in the Reign of Proteus, and about the time of the Trojan War.

But Poets confound these Deluges, and fay, that the Univerfal Deluge was in the time of Deucalion, the Son of Prometheus, who escaped alone with his Wife in a Boat on the top of Mount Parnaffus in Phicis.

Lucian feems to countenance this opinion of the Poets in the Dea Syria. 'The most common opinion (fays he) is, that Deucalion of Scythia is the founder of this Temple, (he means the Temple of Syris;) for the Greeks fav, that the first Men being cruel and info-'lent, faithless and void of Humanity, perished all by the Deluge, a great quantity of upon one of the Gordism Mountains; and Epi-Water iffuing out of the bowels of the phanius fays, that at his time they shew'd yet 'Earth, which swell'd up the Rivers, and 'forc'd the Sea to overflow, by the affiftance of Rain and violent Showers, fo that all lay ' under water : only Deucalion remain'd, who escaped in an Ark with his Family, and two of each kind of all living Creatures, that followed him into the Ark, both wild and tame, without hurting one another. He floated till the Waters were withdrawn, then populated the Earth again. They added another wonder, that an Abyss opened of it self in their Country, which swallowed up all the Waters; and that Deucalion in memory built a Temple. A Man may ftill fee there 'a very fmall Cliff, where the Inhabitants of that Country, with those of Syria, Arabia, ' and the Nations beyond the Eupkrates, refort on of that Accident.

This is what Holy Scripture informs us concerning the Universal Deluge. 'The wickedness of Men being great in the Earth, at last the day of Punishment came. And the Lord commanded unto Noah to put in the Ark all fort of Provisions, and take two of each kind of unclean Animals, and feven of the clean Animals, viz. three Males and three Females to preferve their Specie upon the Earth, and one more for the Sacrifice after the Flood should be over. This being done. Noah shut up himself in the Ark, the feventeenth day of the fecond Month of the Solar Year, (which was the nineteenth of April according to our computation) with his three Sons and their Wives. It did rain forty days and forty nights. And God opened the Cataracts of Heaven, and the Fountains of the Deep; and the Waters increafing during an hundred and fifty days, (the forty Days above-mentioned being included) were fifteen Cubits higher than the top of the highest Mountains. And all Flesh died, both Men and Beafts, and none escaped but those that were in the Ark. The hundred and fiftieth day the waters abated, by a great wind that the Lord raised, and the twenty feventh of the feventh Month, to reckon from the beginning of the Flood, the Ark rested upon a Mountain of Armenia; Hieronymus calls it Mount Taurus, because the River Araxes ran at the foot thereof. Others grounding their Orinion upon a more ancient Authority, tell us, that the Ark rested the remainders of the Ark. Many Arabian Geographers and Historians are of this Opinion. The first day of the tenth Month the tops of the Mountains appeared. And Noah and his Family went out of the Ark the twenty feventh day of the fecond Month (the twenty ninth of April according to our account) by the command of the Lord, as he went in before by the same order.

DIOCLETIANUS, Boin in Dalma-:10, of a mean Parentage, and Slave to Annulinus the Senator. His great ability in War and Government raifed him to the Throne. of that Accident, erected there an Altar and And as foon as he had obtained the Soverais a Power, he put Aper to death, to make good the prediction of an old Witch, who had foretold him that he should be a great Man, when he had kill'd the fatal Wild-boar (for twice a year to the Neighbouring Sea, from till that time he was but a Wild-boar Hunwhence they fetch abundance of Water, ter;) nevertheless this Prediction was to be which they pour into the Temple, from understood of Aper, Mumerian's Father-in-law, whence it runs into that Hole; and the Ori- for Aper fignifies in Latin a Wild-boar. This gine of this Ceremony is likewise attributed | Emperor raised a most violent Persecution againft the Christians, and was both ambitious | dom to be devoured, by four Horses that he and cruel. His folly grew to fuch an excess, fed with Blood and Mans Flesh. Palaphagu that he ordered that the People should adore tells us, that Diomedes was the first man that him like a God, and should kiss his Feet: a bred Horses, and spent all his Estate about new thing, never required of them by his it, wherefore these Horses were called An-Predecessors, who were only faluted after the thropophagi, i. e. Men-easters, and this gave ocmanner of Confuls.

his great ability, which might otherwise render him famous, either in Peace or War. or four Daughters of Diomeder, who were ve-From a Soldier of Fortune, he raifed himfelf ry lecherous, and confumed the Estates and to the greatest Dignity in the World, and the Health of all men that were in love with maintained it with much Glory, and left it them. Hercules flew him, and gave his Corps with as much greatness of Soul. When his Colleague endeavour'd to perfivade him to take again the Purple, he talked to him of the Lettices of his Garden of Salma, and no Man was ever able to remove him transformed him for a time into a He-goat, from the retirement he had chosen. He died and Mercury carried him to the Nymphs, who in a very strange manner, for he felt dreadful inhabited the Neighbourhood of the Town pains all over his Body, which was falling to of Nyla in Alia, to nurse him up. Wherepieces, and flunk fo horridly, that no body fore he was firnamed Dionyfius from Jobs, i. e. was able to come near him, and he was a terror to himfelf. After his death Licinius plac'd firal manner DIOGENES, A Cynick Philosopher, who called himfelf the Citizen of the Universe, the Physician of the Soul, and the could perswade men to leave their pleasures. Lucian introduces him foeaking in his Dialogue of the Sects of Philosophers exposing to Sale, delivering the Epitome of his Do-etrine. You must be audacious, impudent, 'fnorl at all Mankind, and find fault with every thing; for that is the compleat way to be admired : Let your Speech be rude, . your Tone the like; your Looks stern, and vonr Mien barbarous; in short, your whole deportment wild and favage. He did wear an old patched garment, with a Staff and a Bag, and dwelt in a Tub, which he tumbled in the day-time. left he should re-

DIOMEDES, King of Actolia, the Son of Tydeus, and fair Deiphile, the Daughter of Adrastus, King of Argor. He went to the Trojan Wars with Achilles, and was killed by Ulyffes, as they were coming back together, after they had stoln the Palladium. After his Death his Servants were changed into Birds called Diemedea Aver, mentioned in Pliny 1. 10. C. 44.

'I won't on it, fays he, the Birds of Diomedes, whose Feathers are white, and the eyes 'like fire. There are fome of them found ' in an Island of Apulia, where Diomedes was * buried.

DIOMEDES, King of Torace, who ex ofed all perfons who came into his King-casion to the Fable that Diomedes Horses were His Vices blafted the Glory of his Life, and fed with Man's-Flesh. Philastratus affirms. that these four Creatures were four Mares. to be eaten by his own Horses.

DIONYSIUS. An Epithet given to Bacchus, for Jupiter to preferve Bacchus, whom he had begot of Semele, from jealous June, Jupiter, and Nusa Nysa. This we learn of Lucian in his Dialogues of the Gods, where him among the number of Gods after the u- Mercury talking with Neptune about young Bacchus, whom Jupiter placed in his thigh . to compleat his time, and was just now delivered of him. 'I have carried him, favs he, to Nyja, to be brought up by the Herald of Liberty, promifing himfelf that he I Nymphs inhabiting there, who have nam'd 'him Dionysius, from the name of his Father, ' and their own Country.

> DIONYSIA. The Feafts of Bacchus. See Orgia and Bacchanalia.

DIOSCORIDES. A Greek Physician of Anazarba, who came to Rome, and obtained the freedom of a Citizen. He got particularly acquainted with Licinius Baffus an illustrous Reman; and took the name of Pedacius or Pedianus of the Family Pedania, as Lambecins observed in his Commentaries upon the Library of the Emperour; and he has left us fome Books of the nature of Plants, and vertue of Metals.

DIPHILUS, An able Architect, but a flow Workman; from whence comes the Latin Proverb, Diphilo tardier, to represent a very flow man, who does not finish his work.

DIR Æ. The Furies of Hell, called alfo Eumenides. Poets mention three of them, viz. Tifiphone, Megara and Alecto, whom they represent with fiery eyes, their heads attired with Serpents, and holding Iron Chains in their hands, and Scourges with burning Torches to punish guilty Consciences.

DIRCE. The Wife of Lycus King of Thebes, whom he married after he had divorced Antiope. Zethus and Amphion tyed her to the tail of a Horse and dragged her about, but the Gods out of compaffion turned her into a Fountain. There ferred herfelf in Beauty to Pallas, wherefore the was transformed into a Fish.

DIS, The God of Riches, also called Plutur. He is represented lame and blind ; wherefore when Jupiter fends him to any person, he arrives there but very late, and often when there is no want of him: But Romant. Romulus, fays Plutarch, made many when he returns, he goes as fast as the wind, Laws, but the most rigorous of all was, that and men are amazed to lose the right of him fo foon. And if Riches come to men fleep- band, and allowed the Husband the liberty ing, he don't walk then upon his own Legs, of forfaking his Wife, in this three cases. but he is carried away, and then 'tis not Ju- If the has made use of Poyson to kill the piter who fends him; but Pieto, who is also Fruit of her Womb, if she has put another the God of Riches, as 'tis intimated by his Child upon him instead of his own, and in name, for he makes great Riches pass from case of Adultery. If the Husband dismissed one hand into another: And being blind, his Wife upon any other account, he was he often miffes his way; but he turns so of- bound to give her part of his Estate, and the ten up and down, and on every fide, that other part was confecrated to Ceres; and then he meets some one or another who takes hold he was obliged to offer a Sacrifice to the on him. Wherefore he inriches but very Gods called Manes. Leges etiam qualdam tulit few just men ; for being blind, how can he Romulus, inter quas vehemens est illa qua mulieri find a just man, who is a thing fo scarce to | maritum relinquendi potestas adimitur : viro aumeet with ? but the wicked being in great tem eficere uxorem conceditur, fe veneficio circa pronumbers, he eafily met with them.

ents have made Discord a mischievous Divi- diasset conjugem, ejus mariti bona partim uxori nity. Ariflides represents her with dreadful cederent, partim Cereri facra forent, atque Dile and fiery eyes, a pale countenance, black and Manibus rem faceram facere tenebatur. blue lips, wearing a Dagger in her bosom. Jupiter banish'd her out of Heaven, because Divorce upon the fore-mentioned causes, and the fowed divisions among the Gods. She prescribes some rites that are to be observed caused the ruin of Try, for being angry that in that case, the neglect whereof made it the was not invited with the other Gods to void. It was to be made in the prefence of the wedding of Thetis and Beleus, the threw a feven Roman Citizens, all men of ripe age. Golden Apple into the Banquetting room, Divortea septem civibus Romanis puberibus teflibus which fell at the feet of Venus, Pallar and Ju- adhibitis pofica factunto aliter facta pro infectis bano. Mercury took it up, and offerved that bentor, fays the Lex Julia. there was written about it, 'Tis fer the faireft. The three Goddesses fell out presently at from the hands of his Wife, and sent her mong themselves, each of them pretending back with these words, Res tuas tibi habeto, that it belonged to her, and had not Jupiter or Res tuar tibi agito, i. e. what is your owntake commanded them filence, they would have it again. Tully fays in his Phillippick, Frugi come to blows. Yet he would not decide factus oft, mimam illam fuas fibi res habere dixis their quarrel, and referred them to Paris the ex deed.cim tabulis, clavis ademit, exegit. He Son of Priam to be judged by him, who is become an honest man, he has bid this gave it for Finus the Goddels of Beauty; lewd Creature to take what was her own awhereupon June grew angry, and in revenge | gain, and has took the Keys from her, and thereof, destroyed Troy and the Trojans toge- put her away. ther.

- Sava memorem Junonis ob iram ;

Who remembred the judgment that Paris had pronounced in the behalt of Venus.

DISCUS, A quoit which Camefters used in ancient exercises. It was a round thing of Metal or Stone, a foot broad, which they threw into the air to fliew their skill and by the Oracle of Jupiter, called Decionaus. strength. Difeus was also a round consecra- Aristotle (as Suidas relates) says, that there

There was another of that name, who pre- | deed of some of the Heroes of Antiquity. and to keep it in remembrance thereof in a Temple of the Gods, where it was to be hung up. DIVORTIUM, Divorce between a Husband and his Wife.

At first Divorce was rare among the which forbad the Wife to forfake her Huslem ufa fuerit, aut alienam pro fua fubdidiffet. aut DISCORDIA, Discord. The Anci- adulterium commissifet. Si quis alia de causa repu-

The Law of the twelve Tables permits

The Husband took the Keys of his house

Though the Laws allowed Divorce, yet it was not put into practice at Rom: till the year 70, when a certain perfen named Spurius Carvilius Ruga, in the time of the Confulfhip of M. Pomponius, and Caius Papyrius, or of M. Attilius and P. Valerius put away his Wife for barrennefs.

DODONA, A Town of Chamia, famous for the Loreft, where the Oaks ficke ted Shield, made to represent a memorable were two Pulars at Dodona, and upon one thereof a Bason of Brass, and upon the other | He renewed the Persecution that his Father a Child holding a Whip, with Cords made had begun against Philosophers, who went of Brais, which occasioned a noise when the obliged to difguise themselves, and fly away Wind drove them against the Bason.

the Oracle of Jupiter, called Dedoneus, is com- John the Evangelist into the Isle of Pathmu; passed round about with Basons; which, after he was miraculously come out of a great when they are driven one against the other, Kettle full of boiling Oyl, wherein this Tycommunicate their motion round about, and rant had ordered him to be cast. His defign make a noise that lasts a while. Others say, was to ruin utterly the Christian Religion that the noise proceeded from a founding but a Man named Stephen, made free by Cle Oak, that shook its Branches and Leaves when mens the Conful, delivered the Church and it was confulted; and declared its Will by Empire of this cruel Persecutor. Suet onius rethe Priefts called Dodones.

were built with Timber fetched out of the for him in the Sign of Aquarius. The Senate

Sea, and pronounced Oracles.

tain, the Waters thereof, though very cold, The greatest part of the day he passed in his yet would light a Torch lately pur out, when Closet, killing Flies with a golden Bodkin, dipt in 'em. Lucretins ascribes this effect to the Wherefore it was faid that he was always hot Vapours, that issued from the great quan- alone, and that there was not so much as a tity of Brimstone which is in the veins of Fly with him. He built a Temple to the the Earth; and some others ascribe it to the Antiperistalis of the great cold, that conden- that he had run at the coming of Vitellius. fed the heat remaining still in the Torch, and thus lighted it again.

DOLABRA, The Pontifical Ax, to knock down the Victim in Sacrifices.

DOMITIANUS, The twelfth Emperor of Rome, Son to Velpasian, and Titus's Brother, During his Father's life he gave himself to Poetry, and made great progress in it ; and Quintilian, Pliny and Silius Italicus commend him for the fame. At his first coming to the Empire, he fhew'd much modefty and justice, making many good Laws, and forbad the making of Eunuchs. He renewed the Lex Julia against Adulterers, forbad the use of litters to publick Women, and deprived them of the right of Inheriting. To transact matters of consequence. these Vertues was joined a great Magnificence and Liberality, giving to the People feveral very costly Games and Shews, but giving attendance to great Men, waited soon after he discovered his cruel and lascivi- till it was day light, to be admitted to make ous remper, which he had hitherto hidden. For he kept company with his Niece, as if Porch was covered, for the conveniency of fhe had been his lawful Wife. His Vanity was not less than his Incontinence, he took long before they were admitted. upon him the Name of God and Lord, and was proud of having that Title given to him in all Petitions presented to him. The People were obliged to comply with the fantasti- Houses. cal Impiety of a Man, who was not then capable of hearing reason. The Poers of his i. e. in general the whole inside of the Haust. time, and especially Martial were not sparing Virgil has took this word in Vitruvius's sense, of his Praifes; and their Verses are still when he faid, Apparet Domus intiu, & atris shameful Testimonies of their Flatteries of a longa patescunt; for tis plain that Virgil means Prince, who deserved so little the name of by the word Atria, all that may be seen in God, that he was unworthy of bearing the the inside of a House when the Doors are Name of Man.

into Foreign Countries. As for the Christians Demon (as the fame Suidas relates) fays, that he cruelly perfecuted them, and banished Be lates, that the day before his Death, he faid, Poets tell us that the Ships of the Argonauts that the next day the Moon should be bloody DedoneanForest, wherefore they spoke upon the pull'd down his Statues, and razed our all the Titles he had usurped, and Men out of There was in the Town of Dodona a Foun- | a base compliance had bestowed upon him. Goddel's Health, having escap'd the danger

> DOMUS, This word is commonly taken for all forts of Houses, either Magnificent or Ordinary; but 'tis often taken by Writers to intimate a fine House of some great Lord, or Palaces of Princes, as it appears by these Verses of Virgil, speaking of the Palace of Dido.

At Domus Interior regali Splendida luxu.

These great Houses were built with much Magnificence, and were of a vast extent; for they had many Courts, Apartments, Wings, Cabinets, Bagnio's, Stoves, and a great many fine Halls, either to fit at Table, or to

Before these great Houses there was a large place or Porch, where Clients and Persons their Court. 'Tis to be supposed that this Persons, who were sometimes waiting very

There was a fecond part to these Houses, called Cavum-Ædium or Cavedium, it was a great large Court, inclosed with Rows of

The third part was called Atrium interia.

mani, who passionately loved Glory and sides. Praifes, raifed every where Trophies and Within the Greek's houses there were great Statues, to leave Eternal Monuments of their Halls, for the Mistresses of the Family, and great actions to posterity, not only in the their Servant Maids to Spin in ; in the Entry Provinces, which they subdued to the Em-both on the right and left hand there were pire, but also in publick places, and their Chambers, one was called Thalamus, and the oown palaces at Rome.

the first to the last.

and Gardens neatly kept.

on Pillars, and on the Architraves of the in all liberty. Ceilings made of pieces joined together, These apartments were paved with Mowhich make an open'd Terras, turning round faick or inlaid Work. Pliny tells us, that the for men, and others for women; some for Albertara. These Pavements were in fashi-Dining-rooms called Triclinia, others for Bed- on at Rome, during the time of Sylla, who got chambers named Dormitoria; and fome others one made at Prenefte in the Temple of Fortune. to lodge Strangers, to whom they were ob- This Greek word aidespartor fignifies only a liged to be Hofpitable.

by themselves, being so many Insula, and ment, representing different Figures by the these Houses were very convenient, because variety of their colours and order. they had a light on every fide, and doors on the Streets, and not exposed to the accidents ing the Courts of Houses and the Halls, but duced it himfelf (as 'tis thought) into ashes.

the Romans; for they had no Porch, but from Muses and Sciences were thereby representthe first door they entred into a narrow pasted. The word Mosaick is derived from the fage; on one fide of it there were Stables, Latin word Mufraum, but not from Mofes nor and on the other there was the Porters Lodge; the Jews.

opened. There was a Porter waiting at the jat the end of this passage there was another Arrium , called Servus Atrienfis. Within this door, to enter into a Gallery supported with place there were many figures; for the Ro- Pillars, and this Gallery had Piazza's on three ther Antithalamus. Round about the Piazza's There were painted or engraven Battles, there were Dining-rooms, Chambers and Axes, bundles of Rods, and the other hadges Wardrobes. To this part of the House was of the Offices that their Ancestors or them- joyned another part, which was bigger and felves had possessed, and Statues of Wax or had very large Galleries, with four Piazza's Meral , representing their Fathers in Baffo re- of the same heighth. The finest Entries and linus, were fet up in Niches of precious Wood most magnificent Doors were at this part of or rare Marble. The days of their folemn the House. There were four great squareHalls, Feasts, or their Triumphal Pomp, these so large and spacious, that they would easily Niches were opened, and the Figures crown | hold four Tables, with three Seats in form ed with Festoons and Garlands, and carried of Beds, and leave room enough for the Serabout the Town. When fome persons of vants and Gamesters. They entertain'd in the Family died, these Statues accompanied these Halls, for 'twas not the custom for wothe Funeral Parade; wherefore Pliny fays, men to fit amongst men. On the right and that the whole Family was there present from the left of these Buildings there were small apartments, and very convenient rooms to Besides, there were great Galleries in these receive the chance Guests ; for among the Houses, adorned with Pillars, and other Greeks wealthy and magnificent men kept aworks of Architecture, and great Halls, Clo- partments, with all their conveniencies to fets for Convertation and Painting, Libraries, receive persons who came far off to lodge at their Houses. The custom was, that after These Halls were built after the Corinthian they had given them an entertainment the or Egyptian order. The first Halls had but a first day only, they fent them afterwards erow of Pillars fet upon a Pedestal, or on the very day some Present that they received Payement, and supported nothing but their from the Country, as Chickens, Eggs, Pulse Architrave, and cornish of Joyners Work or and Fruits; and so the Travellers were lodg-Stud, over which was the Ceiting in form of a ed as they had been at their own House, and Vault ; but the last Halls had Architraves up- might live in these apartments privately and

Pavements that were painted and wrought with These Houses had many apartments, some art come from the Greeks, who called them Pavenient of Stones, but the Greeks meant by Ancient Rome was so large, that there were that word those Pavements made of small eight and forty thousand Houses standing Stones of several colours, inlaid into the Ce-

This Pavement was not only used for pavof fire. But this must be understood of Rome, also in Chambers, and wainscoting the Walls, that was re-built by Ners, after he had re- and thefe kind of Pavements were called Mufac, Musia and Musica, because ingenious works The Greeks built after another manner than were ascribed to the Muses, and that the

Here we must explain two difficulties, viz. where the persons who had no Slaves went whether the Romans had formerly Chimneys to empty and wash their Pans, and these per-and Privies in their Houses. 'Tis certain, that in former ages men had cording to the Ærymology of M. Varro; for Chimneys in their Kitchins; but 'tis doubtful Plantus ipeaks of the Servant-maid, que latriwhether they had any in their Chambers, for namlavat, who washes the Pan. And in this their Chambers were warmed only by fome place of Plattus, latring can't be understood of Pipes that conveyed a warm vapour from a the publick Houses of Office, which were Fire made of a kind of Coals that burn with- cleanfed by Pipes under the ground, which our making any Smoak, called by Suctanius, carried the Waters of the Tiber to these places, Miscui Carbones. Yet we read several things and tis likely that Plantus made use of the which feem to perswad: us that they had word latrina, to infinuate that fella familiari Chimneys in their Chambers.

Succonins tells us, that the Chamber of Vitelling was burnt, the Chimney having took fire were for the conveniency of the People in Nec ante in Pratorium rediit, quam flagrante tri- feveral places of the Town; and were called clinio ex conceptu camini. Horace writes to his Stergulinia , covered and full of Spunges , at Friend to get a good fire in his chimney.

Diffolue frigus, ligna Super foce, Large reponent. OJ. Q. I. I.

Camino Luculento, tibi utendum cenfie. And Vi- of the Town, and from thence into the Titruvius speaking of the cornishes that are made ber. in Chambers, give warning to make them | DONARIA, Gifts and Presents plain and without Carver's work in places offered to the Gods, and hung up in their where they make fire. However, in those Temples. ages if they had any chimneys like ours, they DONATIVUM, A Gift and Largels Ancients; but Pancirollus, and many others votes in time of need. affirm the contrary. Wherefore, without DRACHMA, A Dram, a kind of deciding absolutely the question, 'tis most weight, composed of two Scruples. and cerrain they had Kilns to warm their Cham- each Scruple of two oboli; and so a Dram bers, and other apartments of their Houses, was tix aboli. As for the proportion that the called Fornaccs vaporaria; and Stoves called Dram of the Greeks did bear with the Ounce Hypocausta. Philander fays, that the Kilns were of the Romans, Q. Romnius in his Poem of under ground, built along the Wall, with Weights and Measures, makes the Dram the small Pipes to each story to warm the Rooms. eighth part of an Ounce, which is not much They had also Stoves that were removed different from the Crown of the Arabians, from one Room to another; for Tully writes which weighs fomething more than the that he had removed his Stove, because the Dram-Pipe thro which the fire came out, was under his Chamber, Hypocausta in alterum apodythe like value, so that the Dram may be terii angulum promovii, propterea quod ita erant po- worth about Sevenpence Halfpenny of English fira, ut corum waporarium, ex que ignis crumpit, cf- | Money. let lubiectum cubiculo.

to warm their rooms but also of the Beams of the head whereof was drawn in Silver, and the Sun, which they gathered in some Kilns, the rest of the Body was of Taffery, hung as we do with our Burning-glasses. This up at the top of a Pike, fluttering in the Kiln was called in Greek through un G, and in Air like a Dragon, and out of it hung down Latin Solarium, or folare vaporarium, and it was great Bands with tufis of Silk at the end. not allowed to plant Trees, that might be a DRACO, A Dragon, to called from hindrance to the gathering of the Beams of Segue, to fee plain, to be clear-fighted; and the Sun, as Ulpian fays.

or buildings that remain of the Ancients, wherefore a Dragon watched the Golden that they had Privies in their Houses. And Fleece at Colches, and the Golden Apples of fons were called latring from lavando, acetar velut lateina particularis.

The Publick Necessary Houses for the day we learn of somes in his Epiftles: As for the night, they had running Waters thro all the Streets of Rome, and there they threw all their ordure : but rich men used Pans, which the Servants emptied into the Sinks, that Tully writing to his Friend Attions, tells him, carried all their Waters into the great Sink were very rare. Blondus and Salmuth fay, in Money, which the Emperors bestowed that chimneys were not in use among the upon Soldiers, to get their affection and

DRACONARIUS, The Dragon-The Romans did not only make use of Wood bearer, the standard of the Roman Infantry, for his watchfulness this Animal is dedicated It doth not appear, neither by the writings to Minirva. 'Tis faid that he loves Gold, what they call latrings were publick places, the Garden of the Helperides; and this re-

Abens, because the Atkeniaus did wear their lity of the Soul, which made the Gauls un-Hair tuckt up with Treffes of Gold.

Thus Cefar speaks of them 1.4. of the Wars of very short passage to an Immortal Life. committed, or Suit at Law about an Inhe- day of January. ritance, or fome other Dispute, they decide Dry N A DES, The Nymphs of the it, ordaining Punishments and Rewards; Woods. and when a Man won't fland to their Judgties, and die without Honour and Reputation.

All the Druides have an High Priest, who has an absolute Power. After his Death the most worthy among them succeeds him, and Roman Emperors. if there are many Pretenders to his Office, the Election is decided by Votes, and fometimes by force of Arms. They met every Year in the Country of Chartres, which is in all places, and stand to their Decitions.

into that Country. They never follow the fome cases, about what was to be done for War, and are free from all Taxes and Sla- the good of the State. very, wherefore many get into their order, and States, and it brading the A raies ready Anteibom Liftores non cum bacillis, fed ut bie Prato engage. Lucian tells us, that they were toribus ante cunt cum facibus duoins.

perted that the Dragon of Pallas dwelt near the Authors of the Doctrine of the Immortadaunted Men, having a generous contempt DRUIDÆ, The Priest of the Ancient Gault. of Death, which was in their opinion, but a

the Gauls. The Druides of the first Order are The Origine of the word Druides is derived Overseers of the worship of the Gods and from the Greek , Seus, i.e. an Oak, because Religion, and have the direction of both they commonly met in the Forrests, where Publick and Private Affairs, and teaching they began their Sacrifices with the Misletoe of Youth. If there is any Murther or Crime of Oak, that their youth gathered the first DRYOPE, A Nymph of Arcadia. ment, they suspend him from communica- Homer says, that Dryope kept company with ting in their MyReries. And those who Mercury, who begot upon her God Pan ; Luare so excommunicated, are accounted wick- cian on the contrary, in the Dialogue between ed and impious, and every Body shuns their Pan and Mercury tells us, that he is the Son Conversation; if they are at law with other of Penelope, the Daughter of Icarus, whom Men, they can have no Justice, and are ad- Mercury ravish'd in Arcadia, having transformmitted neither to Employments nor Digni- ed himself into a He-Goat to surprize her : Wherefore Pan was born with Horns, a Beard, a Tail, and the Feet of a She-Goat.

DUCENARII, The Receivers of the hundredth penny, a Tax that was paid to the

DUUM-VIRI SACRORUM . The Duum-viri, or the two Migistrates, whom Tarquinius Superbus created at Rome, a Dignity that was a kind of Priefthood. This Office the middle of Gaul, in a place confectated was fet up upon this occasion: Tarquinus and appointed for that purpose, where those having bought of an unknown Woman three who are at Law, or at Variance met from Books of Verfes, which were thought to have been written by the Sybil of Cume, he "Tis thought that their Inflitution came named two Magistrates or Commissaies for from Brittain, and those who will have per- the Books of R. ligion, and all their Duty feel knowledge of their Mysteries, traveli'd was to keep these Books, and consult them in

DUUM-VIRI MUNICIPALES, and every one puts in for a place among These two Magistrates were in the free them for his Son or Kinsman. They must Towns, what Consuls were at Rome. They learn by heart a great number of Verfes ; were chosen out of the Body of the Decurtors, for it is forbid to write them, either to ex- on the Kalends of March, but did not enter ercise their Memory, or lest they should upon their Onice until three Months after profane the Myfteries in publishing them ; their Election, that the People might have wherefore they remain fomerimes twenty time to inquire if they were duly elected, and Years in the College. In other thing, they in case of an undue return, they chose omake use of writing in Greek Characters, thers. They took the Oath, that they would One of the chiefest points of their Thecio- lerve the City and Citizens well and faithfulgy is the Immortality of the Soul, as a pro-ly, and were allowed to wear the Robe calfitable Belief, that inclines Men to Vertne led Pretexta, edged about with Purple, and a by contempt of Death. They hold Metemp- white Tunick or Jerkin, as Jovenal tells us, Selves, and have many Dogma's of Theo- Salyr 5. They had Oificers who wa'ked belogy and Philosophy, which they teach their fore them, carrying a small Switch in their Hands. Nevertheless, some of them assumed Diodorous Siculus joins the Druides to Poets in the priviledge of having Littors carrying the Authority of i tonouncing the Soversign Axes and bundles of Rods before them, as Judges, about Controverlies of Private Men we bearn of Tully in the Oration against Rullus, fice, it was a custom to make a distribution among the Decurions, and have fome Shew of Gladiators represented before the People. This Office was commonly for five years, wherefore they were called Quinquennales Magistratus. Their Jurisdiction was of a great extent, as we may fee in the Treatife of Pancirollus c. 8.

DUUM-VIRI NAVALES, Commiffaries for the Fleet. Thefe Commiffaries were created in the Year 542, at the request of M. Decius Tribune of the People, when the Romans were at War with the Sammites. The Duty of their Office was to take care of the fitting of Ships, and ordering the Seamen who were aboard.

DUUM-VIRI CAPITALES The Duumvirs, firnamed Capitales or Judges in Criminal Causes. It was lawful to appeal from their Sentence to the People, who only had power to condemn a Citizen to die. Some of these Judges were established at Rome and other free Cities; who were taken from the body of the Decurions, and had a great Authority and Power; for they took care of the Prisons, and were Members of the Publick Council. They had two Lictors walking before them-

E Is the fifth Letter of the Greek and Laun Alphabet. The Greeks call it & IAdy , and the Latins E.

We find this Letter in the Medals of Autoninus firnamed Pius, to mark the fifth Year of his Reign.

The Latins have feveral pronounciations for this Letter. First, they have a long and open E, like the wire of the Greeks, which for that fame reason is often doubled, as in Medals | Neptunus instead of Nuptunus, à nubendo terran. and won Marbles ; Feelix, Seeder, &c. The fecond E of the Latins is a short and closed E. as the itindr of Greek: And thefe two different E's are diffinctly observed in Ancient ly calls him. Authors. E vocalis, fays Capella, duarum Gracarum vim poffidet. Nam cum corripiter E Gracum eff, ut ab hoc hofte, cum producitur Eta eff. ut ab

But there is yet a middle pronounciation between the E and the I. Wherefore Varro observes that they said veam instead of viam? and Fiftus observes that the me instead of mi or low places of the Mountains, where she pr mihi: and Quintilian tells us, that an E was ned away to a Skeleton, having nothing left put instead of an I in Menerus, Leber, Magester, but her voice. When we read in Virgil, we

After they had taken possession of their Of- | Sebe and quase. And Donasur says, that because the affinity of these two Letters, the Antient Authors faid Heri and Here, Mane and Mani, Pe-Spero and Vespere, &c. Wherefore we read in the ancient Inscriptions Navebus, exemet, orne wet, cepet, Deans, merete, foledus, and the like. And from thence comes the change of these two Vowels in fo many words, either in the Nominative Cafe, as Impubes and Impubis, or the Accufative, as pelvem and pelvim; or the Ablative, as nave and navi, and the like names of the third Declension, and in the fecond as Di instead of Dei.

The Latin alfo write E instead of A, wherefore Quintilian fays , that Care wrote indifferently dicam or ditem, faciam or faciem. And doubtless this is the reason why A was so often changed into E, either in the præterit, as Facio, feci ; Ago, egi ; Jacio, jeci ; Or in the compound Verbs, as Arceo, coerceo, Damm. condemno; Spargo, aspergo; from this alio it comes that they faid balare instead of belare, as we fee in Varre's writings; and that we meet with fo many words written with an E for an A in Antient Authors Books, and old Gloffes, as Defetigari instead of defatigari ; Van. Effligi instead of affligi, Charis. Expars inflead of expers. Imbarbis instead of Imberbis. V. Glof. Inars instead of of iners. V. Glof.

It must be still observed, that the E has fome affinity with the O, for the Latins have made of tego, tega; of adverjum, adverjum :of vertex, wortex ; accipiter inftead of accipitor, & Fiftus fays; hemo instead of homo; ambe and ambes instead of ambo and ambos in Enniu's writings ; exportedus inflead of expertedu. This is also the reason why there are so many Adverbs in E and in O, were and were tute and tuto; nimie and nimio; rare and rare: in Charifius's writings, and the like.

Likewise the Ei has an affinity with the U; wherefore they faid Din instead of Die : Lucu instead of luce ; Allus instead of allex the great Toe ; Dejere instead of deiure

i. e. operiendo, as fays Tully. EACUS. See ABACUS.

EANUS, instead of IANUS, as Tal-

ECASTOR. By Caffor's Temple, an Oath of the ancient Romans, which may be rendred into English by truly, indeed, co-

ECHO. A Nymph of the air, who fell in love with Narciffut, but being flighted by him, the retired into the Grots, and holinstead of Minerva, Liber, Magister. Livy wrote cifque offensa resultat image, or in Horace, Cuju

Ture filve, tune antra legui, tune vivere fontes, Tune facer horror aquis, aditifque effunditur E-

Clarior, & dolla spirant prasagia rupes.

When we read, I fay, these fine passages of the Poets, we can't but conceive this repeating of the found and voice in the like manner. that we have told before, which has given occasion to Ovid to feign that it was a Nymph who being faln in love with Narciffus, and having made love to him ineffectually, was turned into a voice and found.

Inde latet filvis, nulleque in monte videtur, Omnibus auditur ; Jonus eft qui vivit in illa.

EGERIA. See ÆGERIA. EGISTUS, See ÆGISTUS.

Wrestlers. This mixture was also called Pythageras and Aristotle, allowed four Elements, Cerema, and did not only render the members viz. the Fire, the Air, the Water and the flippery and less fit to take hold on, but also Earth. Cartes and the Moderns allow but more nimble and fit for Exercises. Vitr.

ELECTRA. The Daughter of Agamemter, facrificed by him.

the Daughter of the Ocean and Tethis, and At- called invisible Bodies. lai's Wife, whose Daughter had by Jupiter, The Pythageream, besides Water and Fire, Phonomenon fays, that the is one of the feven all things Pleiader, who hid herfeif, left the should fee ELENCUS, The God of Liberty and the deft uction of Tree.

Adriatick Sea, which are at the mouth of the bad Grammarian. River Po, where Poets feigned that there | ELEUSIS, A City of cities, not far off grew Trees distilling Amber.

Treatife of the Amber or the Swans.

Eridanus grew Trees distilling Amber, which helped his wife in her labour, as Lactantius was the tears of Phaeton's Sifters, who had fays, and fuccled the Child called Triptolemus, failing lately on that River, and not feeing this Goddefs. any of those Trees on the Banks, where the Solinus relates, that there is in that Country asked our Waterman when we should arrive vet moved with the found of the Flute, as if at those places so famous among the Poets. they were pleas'd with Harmony. They fell a laughing at my fimplicity, and ELEUSINA SACRA, The Mywondered any were so insolent, as to retail steries of Eleusina, which were instituted by the that if their Country afforded any fuch Trees, as produced fo great a Treasure, they would not wear out their lives in tugging at the Oar, fince they might enrich themfelves in a moment. This nettled and put me very much out of countenance, in that I had thus fufferred my felf to be fo child-'ifhly cull'd by the Poets, and I regretted thefe things, as if I had really loft them.

Strabo 1.5. affirms that thefe Elettrides Islands are not to be found, and that all that Poets fay upon this matter, was but a fiction of their own brain.

ELEGIA. An Elegy, or a mournful Poem. The verfes of a Latin Elegy are by turns Hexameters and Pentameters.

Quintilian accounts Tibullus to be the first Latin Poet for writing Elegies; but the younger Pliny gives the preference to Prepertius.

ELEMENTA, the Elements, Physi-ELEOTHESIUM. A place where cal Principles, whereof all the natural Bodies they kept Oyl and Wax mixt to anoint the are composed. The ancient Philosophers, as three .

Plutarch in the first Book of the Philosonon, and Sifter to Orefles, who killed his Mo- phers opinions, fays, that Empedocles admits ther Clytemnestra, to revenge the death of his of four Elements, which he calls Gods. Father Agamemnon, whom Clytemnestra had Thales was the first who taught that Water musthered in revenge of Polyxenes her Daugh- was the principle of all things. Heraclitus of Ephelus faid, that it was Fire. Democritus and There was another woman of that name, Epicurus his Follower were for the Atoms, Dardmus the founder of Troy. Fratus in his allowed still Air and Earth for principles of Truth, mentioned in Manander's Comedies. ELECTRIDES, The Islands of the as we learn of Lucian in his Apophrades, or the from Athens, where Eleusius reigned, who re-Lucian speaks thus of these Islands, in the ceived Geres, when she was feeking for Proferpina her Daughter, who had been stoln away. Hearing when a youth, that all along the This Goddess in reward of her kindness, been turned into Poplars, and still lamented with Divine Milk. When he was grown up his difafter, I imagined if I ever travelled a man, she taught him to fow Corn : wherethat way, I would spread my Garment un- fore the Inhabitants of Eleusis kept Holy-days derneath to catch that precious Liquor, but called The mopheres, or Cerceles, in honour of name of Phaeton is not so much as known, I la Fountain of very quiet Waters, which are and spread about such shams. They added, Inhabitants of the City of Eleufe in Greece, in honour of the Goddess Gree; no Man was admitted to these Mysteries, but only Women, who took all immodest Liberties among themselves, which they kept very ELEUTHERIA, Feafts celebrated in Greece every fifth Year in Honour of Jupiter Eleutherianus, i. c. Proteffor of Liberty. Greeks instituted these Feasts, after the defeat Country, wherefore they called it a Paraof three hundred thousand Persians, whom dice.

Mardeniss brought against Greece.

nour of the God of Love.

fo variously spoken of by ancient Writers. ed the abode of Felicity, Elystum, Beatonian In-Elyfum is doubtless an Hibrer or a Phenicies fuls. Some Authors say that this place is in word, which fignifies a place of Delight and Egypt; others in the Ise of Laibs, and many

All the Nations have made themselves a and inaccessible to Men. Paradice and a Hell; the Phanicians shewd Diesysus, who has made the description of example to the Egyptians and the Greeks; and the World, mentions the white Island in the left us of the Egyption's Funerals, was the fince their death, by the favour of Jupiter, Elysian Field of Egypt, which he placed about who rewards Virtue. Mimphis, very near the Achtrusian Lake, which Italy had also her Elysian Fields, as Virgil dows, because tis the Egyptians Burial place, that Enter went to see them, and there me who carry the Corps of the Dead over the Anchifes his Father. Atherufian Lake. Pratum filla mortuerum habitatio, eft locus prope Memphim junta Paladam, iftis in locis Habitare, quaniam maxima Egyptiorum funerationes ibi peraguntur ; mertui per lacum & fluvium Acherufiam transfretantur.

Country; and if we believe what Strabe says, ed by a Cherubim, armed with a Flaming they are in Spain. And Present King and Prophet of Egypt foretold to Menelaus, that the Gods will fend you to the Elyfian Fields, where is Rhademanthus, and where Men live But he feems to allow two Paradices for just very pleasantly; there falls neither Snow Men; and the most excellent of these Pare 'nor Rain, and there is no Winter, but Zephire cool Men with their fweet breath.

Strabe applies this description to Spain, and affirms that the Fortnnate Islands are so called, because they are in the Neighbourhood Heaven, and the other in the Elysian Fields of Spain.

Diodorus Siculus has made a description o them, which is yet extant.

Horace speaks of these Klands, famous for servedly inserted here. their Riches.

Erentum Stygiis flutlibus Æacum Virtus & favor, & lingua petentiam. Vatum dimitibus consecrat insulis.

Hefied placed the Heroes in the Isle of the Bleffed, which lies in the Ocean ; therefore the ancient Geographers have placed an Elyfier Field and a River Lethe there.

The Phanicians found abundance of Riches The in Spain, and that it was a very pleasant

But after the Fortunate Islands were disco-There were fill fome other Feafts called vered, and the Treasures of Spain were almost Eleutheres, celebrated by the Samians in ho- wasted, there they placed the Elysan Fields, ELISA, Otherwife called Dids, the fed. Plate gave that name to the Paradice or Daughter of Belsu King of Phanicia, v. Dids. Dwelling-place of Just Men. Helychiss dif-ELYSII CAMPI, The Elystan Fields, covers some other places, that were account-cis very likely that the Meadow, mentioned black Sea, called also the He of the Heroes. by Diodorus Siculus, in the description he has where Achilles and the other Heroes dwell-is furrounded with most delightful Meadows. relates in the 6th Book of the Eneid, where Homer says that dead Men inhabit these Mea- he places the Elysian Fields in Italy, and says,

Plutarch places the Elysian Fields in the Moon. And when Helychius faid that some quem viegent diberusam, circa quem sent prata Writers thought the Elysan Fields were in a amenissima. Apposite autem dicit Hemerus merrusa place inaccessible to Men, because of the Thunderbolts and flormy weather, it feems that he makes allusion to the Terrestrial Paradice mentioned in the Holy Scripture. Besides these Elysian Fields, Homer speaks from whence Adam was driven away after of fome others, which are in a very remote his Sin, and the entry whereof was guard-

> Sword. Pindarus makes a very fine description of the Paradice and Happiness of just Mess dices is granted to them after they have kept their Innocency during three feveral Lives, and in three feveral Bodies.

Scatins is also for two Paradices, one is upon the Earth. Lucian has left us a very pleafant description of the Elysian Fields, which may be de-

'We were conducted to the City of the Isle of the Bleffed, to affift at their Feafts, we were ravished at our entrance to lees City of Gold, and Walls of Emerald, the Pavement all in-laid work of Ebony and Ivory. The Temples of Rubies and Diamonds, with great Altars raised upon one fingle precious Stone, on which Hecatombs Gates all of Cinnamon, and a Moat of 'fweet fcented Lustral Water, a hundred 'yards broad, which was only as deep as was necessary to bath in at ones ease. Yet they have publick Baths of admirable Artifice, wherein they burn nothing but Faggots of 'Cinnamon. The Edifice was of Crystal, and the Balins or Bathing Tubs great Veffels of Porcelain full of Dew. Now the Bleffed have no Body, and are inpalpable; yet they drink and eat, and perform the other natural functions; they never grow old, but remain continually at the Age they dye in, being that old Men there recover their Beauty and Vigour. Of all the Seafons they know none but the Spring, and feel no oother Wind but Zephirus, but the Earth is covered with Flowers and Fruits all the ' Year long, which are gathered every month, and they are faid to bear twice in the Month called Mims: Their Ears, instead of Corn, are loaded wirh little Loaves like Mushrooms. There are three hundred fixty five Fountains of fresh Water, and asmany of Honey, and four hundred of fweet 'Oyntment, but fmaller than the others, with feveral Rivers of Milk and Wine. They keep their Feasts without the City in the Elysian Fields under the shade of a Wood, which furrounded it, there they far upon Beds of Flowers, and have their Meat brought by the Winds. They are at no pains to make Garlands, for the little Birds, which hop round finging, featter Flowers upon them, which they have pillaged in the neighbouring Meadows; they never cease finging during the Meal, and rehearfing curious fine Verles. Their Dances are compos'd of Boys and Virgins, and their Mulick-Mafters are Eunomus, Arion, Anaereon, and Stefichorus. When they have finished their Songs, appears a fecond Quire of Muficians, composed of Swans and Nightingales, which with the Zephirs make up a most pleasant Consort. But what furnishes most to the felicity of the Blessed is, that there are two Springs, the one of Laughter and the other of Joy, of which each Man drinks a whetting Brufker, before he fets down to Table, which renders him gay and chearful all the rest of the day.

ELPENOR, One of Ulyffer's Companions, whom Circe turned into a Heg, and being restored to his former shape, fell down along a Stair-cafe, and killed himfelf. -

ELYSII CAMPI, See before, after

EMPEDOCLES, A Philosopher and a Poet of Agrigentum, who wrote Verses concerning natural things. He taught that nothing living ought to be eaten, and were feen to fmeak. They have feven that the feat of the Soul was not the Head nor the Heart, but the Blood; and because he wore brafs Slippers, Lucian calls him in jest Mr Shpperman. He cast himself into the mouth of the burning Mountain Ætns. Diegenes Laertius ascribes his Death to pride and prefumption, that the People finding him no where, might conceive he was taken up into Heaven; other Writers ascribe it to Melancholy, and some others to a meer Accident. Lucian in his Icaromenippus, introduces Menippur speaking thus to Empedecles. Being at a great loss upon this account, fays he, Empedocles appear'd to me black like a Collier, as if he had been just then disembogued out of Mount Ams. I retired at first, thinking it was a Fantome, or some Dæmon of the Lunar-Globe, but he re-incouraged me, by telling me his Name, and informed me, how the smoak which came out of that burning Mountain had carried him up thither, where he now dwelt, and skipt up and down feeding upon Dew This having faid, he vanished out of my fight, after I had promifed to make him, at my return, effulions upon the tunnel of my Chimney, and to invoke him three times at the New-Moon; for which he thanked me, and answered like a true Philosopher, that he had not done it for Reward, but only for the love of Virtue.

EMPOUSA, An ancient Fantome. and an excellent Dancer, as Lucian fays. Euflathius tells us, that it was a frighting Hobgoblin dedicated to Hecate; and this Fantome turn'd herfelf into feveral shapes, as Suidas and Ariftophanes report. And was called Empoufa, because the walked only upon one Foot. Some Writers affure that it was Hecate herielf, or one of the I amie or She-Devils.

ENCHALABRIS, A kind of a Table that the Priest fet up, whereupon the Victim that was killed, was stretched out to view its Inwards.

ENCHALABRIA, The Veffels wherein they put the Inwards of the Victims after they were viewed.

ENCELADUS, The Stoutest of the Giants, who, according to the Fable, made war against the Gods. Jupiter struck him with his Thunderbolt, and threw Mount Eins upon him, having his Body half burnt, as Virgil tells us after Homer.

Fama est Enceladi femi-uftum fulmine corpus, Urgeri mole hac.

stolen away by Night in a deep Sleep, and for these Exercises, and Virtuvia established made King of the Lunar-Globe, according this opinion, when he fays that it was a to the Fable, as Lucian tells us.

But the truth is, that Endymion gave himself much to the contemplation of the Moon, to observe her changes and motions, and improwed fo far in that study, that it was reported that he had lain with her. Some Writers tell us that Endymion was a very Just King of Elis, who obtained of Jupiter to fleep for ever. Some others fay, that Endymien loved much to Sleep, whereupon arose that Proverb of a fleepy and flothful Fellow; Endymionis fomnum dormit. He fleeps like Endymion. ENEAS, See Eneas.

born at Tarentum, or in Calabria. He had written feveral Books, whereof fome Fragments are yet Extant. His stile was harsh and unpolished. high. He inhabited the Wilderness of Lybia, passed that way to wrestle with him. But at from the Garden of Hesperides, who took him up into the air, and ftrangled him with his Arm, having observed that his strength rehis Mother. Enteus is the Emblem of Vodonat, fays Beetius; and the greatest Victory that a Man can obtain, is to overcome Voluptuouinels. And Scipie ordered the following words to be engraved upon his Tomb.

Maxima cunctarum Victoria, vitta Voluptas.

ENYALIUS, A God of the Sabins, called by them and the Romans, Quirinus ; 'tis not well known whether it be Mars, or fome other Divinity bearing an equal sway with mous for the Temple of Diana, which was him. They danced facred Dances in his accounted one of the feven wonders of the Temple.

EOLUS, See Æolus.

EPEUS. The Son of Endymion, who was an excellent Ingineer among the Greeks and among other warlike Engines, invented the ling of the Temple of Diana, and all her Pro-Battering Ram or Raven, to beat down the vinces had contributed towards the charges of Walls of the Towns: Virgil fays, that he that great defign. This City was from all made the Horse that was carried into Troy.

EPHEBEUM, A place for young Boys in Greece. For Hebe in Greek fignifies ferves that there were spells ingraven on the

He was the Son of Tartarus or Abylius and the is the time that the Boys begun to wrefile and exercise themselves: and all the Inter-ENDYMIO, A Shepherd, who was preters agree, that the Ephebium was a place place where was many Seats.

EPHEMERIDES. Registers or Dav-Books calculated by Astronomers, to mark the state of Heaven every day at mid-day, i.e. the place where all the Planets meet at noons and these Journals are made use of draw Horoscopes or Celestial Schemes.

EP HESTIO, A Favourite of Alexander the Great, whom he ranked among the Gods after his Death, and those who refused to acknowledge Epheftion for a God, were guilty of a high crime against Alexander; for he had not only been at the charges of many Millions for his Funeral Pomp, but the Ci-ENNIUS, An Ancient Latin Poet ties had built Temples and Altars in his honour; and there was no greater Oath taken but by his name, and to ridicule these things was a crime deferving death. For the Courtiers, to flatter the Passion of Alexander, told ENT EUS, A predigious Giant, the him many sales and visions; that Ephefism had Son of the Earth, who was threescore Cubits appeared to them in a dream; that he cured men who called upon him; relating false Or and dwelt in a Cross-way, where he commit- racles, and acknowledging him for their Proted many Robberies, and obliged Men who tector; wherefore Alexander, having his ean continually battered with these discourtes, at last he met with Hereules, as he was coming last believed them, and applauded himself that he could make a God, which was a greater thing than to be a God himself. And there were then many good men who fell innewed every time he threw him on the Earth to his displeasure, because they would not comply with his passion, or shew'd some di-Juptuousness, and Hercules of Reason, which stafte for this madness. Captain Agasbela overcomes Senfuality. Superata tellus Sidera had been exposed to be devoured by Lyons because he had shed tears at Ephestion's Grave as if he had been Mortal, had not Perdicat took his Oath by the Gods, and especially by Epheflion, that this new God had appeared to him while he was a hunting, and had bid him to report to Alexander that he should pare don Agathodes, for having flied tears at the remembrance of his Friend, and that he was to take pity of humane infirmity.

EPHESUS, A City of Apo, very fa world. This City was built by the Amazons, and then augmented by Andrecus the Son of Asia was two hundred years about the buildtimes much given to Magical Arts, and then were fpells publickly fold. Euftathius of R F-age, which is at fourteen Years, and this Feet, the Girdle, and the Crown of the Sm tue of Diana.

wealth, or Lacedemonian Magistrates, like the Panders came to him from Jupiter, and pre-Tribunes among the Ramans, their office was fented him with a Box, wherein all the evils to restrain and curb the authority of the of Nature were inclosed. At the opening of Kings of Sparsa.

years after the death of Lycargus, during the there remained nothing bur hope only at the the reign of Theopompus, to be Ministers and al- bortom of the Box. fiftants to the Kings in the administration of Justice. But their Authority grew so great, set on the Tombs of the dead, or the Marbles that they attempted to reform their Kings and of the Sepulchers. punish them, as they did in the person of Arried a woman of little fize. And they im- women, Good merrow. prisoned Agis, as Pausanius relates.

EPICHARMUS, A Pythagorean Philosopher, who first invented Comedies, and has left us some rules concerning the same.

EPICTETUS, A Stoick Philosopher, born at Hierapolis in Phrygia, Slave to Epaphreditus, Nere's Favorite, who comprehended all Philosophy in these two words, bear and forbear, and was so much esteemed that Lucian says, that his Lamp, though it was but Earthen-ware, was fold for 2000 Attick Groats, which is about 92 Pounds of English. Money.

This Philosopher lived till the time of M. Antoninus, and has left us a Manual, which feems rather the work of a Christian than of a Stoick Philosopher, speaking so well of the contempt of Riches, Sobriety, and submission improved under so good a Master.

EPICURUS, A famous Philosopher; Author of the Epicurean Sect. He was Difciple both to Demicritus the great laugher, dead, with the name of his Father and and Arifippus a very debauched man; and Tribe. was, fays Lucion, more impious and debauched than all of them together, yet good company and a lover of Feafting. He placed preffed only by Halves. the chief Felicity in pleasure and voluptuousnels of mind, which brings tranquility to Letters D. M. and the Roman Natives wrote the Soul and Body.

now Ragula. This City was confecrated to as in the following Inscription. Esculapius, and the Epidaurians built him a magnificent Temple, wherein, the Statue of that God was fet up, made of Gold and Ivory of Trasimedes's work, an excellent Sculpto of that time.

EPIMENIDES, A Philosopher and a Poet of Crees, who stopt the Plague with a Sacrifice of Sheep, which he offered to the unknown God of the Athenians, mentioned Julius Lamprocles has dedicated this Manument. by St Paul. 'Tis faid that he fell afleen in a Cave, where he flept seven and fifty years.

EPHORI. Overseers of the Common- to accept of any present from Jupiter. But the Box all these evils flew out and filled They were chosen five in number, thirty the Earth with Difeases and Calamities, and

EPITAPHIA, Epitaphs, Infcriptions

The Greeks fet on only the name of the chidamus, whom they fined, because he mar- dead, with these Epithets, Good man, or Good > NIKON ZHNONOS. XPHETE XAIPE Nicon the Son of Zenon. Good man. Good morrow.

> > OVTMTIAZ X.PHTH. XAIPE. Olympia. Good weman, Good morrow.

Paulanius observes that the custom among the Sicronians was to fet on the Tombs only the name of the persons, with the word of to the Will of God. Arianus his Disciple has greeting XAIPE: yet the Greeks added often published four Books of his Sayings or to their Epitaphs the words XPHETO Zand Sentences wherein he shews that he had much | HPQZ, tho all the Men for whom these Epitaphs were written, were not Heroes, as this word fignifies.

The Athenians fet on only the name of the

The Romans added at the top of their Epitaphs Diis Manibus, which was fometimes ex-

DIS. MAN. And very often with two their Epitaphs in Greek, O. K. i.e. EPIDAURUM, A City of Sclavenia, QEOIS. KATAXOONIOIS.

ΙΟΥΛΙΩ: ΑΛΚΑΙΩ: ΠΑΤΡΙ ETEBHETATO. ΙΟΥΛΙΟΣ ΛΑΜΠΡΟΚΛΗΣ To the Gods Manes.

To Julius Alczus his Father very Pious.

This Epitaph and the like are of Romans EPIMETHEUS, The Son of Japeens, who inhabited Greece, or of Greeks living at Brother to Promethius, who had forbad him Rome ; and 'tis not likely that the Natives of Greece, and especially, those who lived before they were Subjects to the Romans, dedicated thus their Tombs to the Gods Mones. The Romans were also used to introduce their Evergeter King of Egypt. He was belides, a Dead, speaking in the Epitaphs.

C. JULIUS C. L. BARNÆUS. OLLAM EJUS SI QUI VIOLARIT. INFEROS NON RECIPIATUR

C. Julius Barnaus , Freed-man of Caius, lies here, if any Man prophanes bis Urn , don't let bim be admitted in Hell.

Sometimes their Epitaphs were full of moral Expressions, adorned with fine Carvingwork and Architecture, which not only fer-but also for an Instruction to posterity, by and Pirgil for a River of Hell. the Atchievements they represented, and the moral thoughts thereby fuggested.

EPULONES, Ministers of the Sacrifices of the Gods. Pompmins Latus relates their History, taken out of a Passage in Cicero de Orstore, wiz. The Pontiffs not being able ed at Rome, upon the Altars of fo many many times, to get Money for the mainte-' Ministers whom they called Epulsues to attend the Holy Feast at the Solemn Games. He adds, that this Priefthood was very ancient, the no Man can tell exactly the time of them, brought up by Minerus. He had a the Inflitution thereof. Levy tells us, that it Daughter called Creafs of an extraordinary was instituted in the year 553, during the Confulate of Fulpius Purpurio and Marcellus, and Son by her called Janus. Eriffeus married her that there were but three created upon the to Xipbeur, who had no Children by her; motion of T. Romalius. The priviledge of wherefore he had his recourse to Jupiter, to wearing the Gown edg'd with Purple like defire of him a worthy Successor to reign in the Pontiffs, was granted to them. After- his room after his death. Apollo by an Oracle wards their Number, was increased to seven, rendred upon the Trips at Delphi, ordered him to whom Julius Cofer added three more to to take for his Son the first Man he should make up the number of ten. Their Duty meet and by chance, or rather by the care was to furnish Banquets for Jupiter, and the of his Wife Creufs, he met the young Jane. other Gods of his Retinue, at their publick Sports, or at the Birth of Emperors; wherefore these Officers were called Essimis, and touch'd with an eager defire of reigning, forthe Banquet Tovis Esulum.

Pillow under his Head, and June with Miner-ve fetting at his fides. The Sacrifice being over, the Gods were ferved as if they were having against the order of Minerus open able to eat; the Epulones performed that the Cheff, wherein the Serpent born of the Function for them.

EPULUM, A Banquet, a hoby Peaft prepared for the Gods; their Statue was commonly laid upon a Bed, and they were ferved as if they had been hungry; but this was the Function of the Ministers of the Sacrifice,

ERAT THE OF the MI e of the Mules, who ru-

FRATOSTHENES. Philosopher, Scholar to Arifto and Galliman chus, Library Keeper at Alexandria to Peslemon Grammarian, a Poet, a Philosopher, and was called for his Learning, the fecond Plate. He was also skilful in Astronomy, and the first Man who corrected some mistakes of ancient Aftronomers: he died in the 82 year of his Age.

ERATOSTRATUS, A Man of Ephelus, who fet on fire the Temple of Diana, to perpetuate his Name to posterity. The Ephelians to disappoint him, under severe per nalties, forbad the mentioning his Name.

EREBUS. A God of Hell, born of the Chaos and Darkness. 'Tis also the Inferior part of the Earth, from the Hebrew Ereb, ved for an Ornament to their Monuments, i. e. velpera, nox. Poets take him for Hell.

ERESICTHON. A Theffalian, who deftroyed a Forest consecrated to Com, and was therefore so cruelly punished by Famine, that having confirmed all his Wealth. he was obliged to fell his Daughter Mara. who having obtained of Neptune the ability of to attend all the Sacrifices that were offer- transforming herfelf, the fold herfelf a great Gods who were ador'd there, ordain'd three nance of her Father; but her cunning was at last discovered, and Eresiction forced to eat his own Flesh.

ERICTEUS, The fixth King of & Beauty, whom Apello enjoyed, and begot a Erittens took him to be his Son, and brought him up like the Son of a King. But Jami fook Athem, and went into Italy. The Histo-Jupiter was there lying upon a Bed, with a rical and Poetical Dictionary on the contrary fays, that Eriden had fome Daughters, who grew mad, and precipitated themfelves, for Seed of Valcan was lock'd up; but Tully in his Oration for series tays, that these Princelles were very billing and died for the defence of their Country

ERICTON, The Fourth King of as the Athenians fay. Some Writers tell us that he was born of the Seed of Pulcan foilt on which were like the feet of a Dragon.

him with a Thunderbolt. Apollonius of Rhodes, in Greek, being in number twenty feven. in the fourth book of the Argonautes, relates recorded by Sixtus Senensis. this Fable. They entred far offinto the River Eridanus, where Phaeton being struck on word is derived the Stomach with a Thunderbolt fell half burnt off the Sun's Chariot into a Lake, the because Ericus built her a Temple on the top Warers whereof cast forth a vapour so infe- of Mount Eriz in Sicile. Sions, that no Bird can fly over it without the Lake, are the Heliades his Sifters turned into Poplars, and their Tears are flowing Amber. But all this is fabulous, as Lucian tells us. See Elettrides.

ERINNY S. The name of one of the Futhem all, who torture guilty Consciences on mentis. Notwithstrnding tis more likely that this word is derived from eou, male facere. The three Furies were, Tifiphone, Aletto and Megars, and draw their etymology from the Greek TIBIGOYN, Tibis core, ultio cadis : alunta. quietunescia ; pris asea, ediesa.

vengers of the wrong done to the poor.

away alive upon his Shoulders.

let of Gold given her by Polinices, discovered dered herself. to him the place where her Husband was hid, ETES II, mild Northerly winds arising with the coverousness of his Wife, he com- of the Dog-days. manded his Son Aleman to murther his Moorders.

of this Sibyl. Eulebius in the life of Constantine name of his great Grand-father. tells us, that Confentine repeated fome Acro-

the ground. He first found out the use of stick Verses of this sybil, mentioning the Coaches, to hide the deformity of his feet, coming of the Son of God, and the Day of Judgment. 'Tis afferted, that Tully had ERIDANUS, The River Po in Italy, translated these Verses into Latin; and St. Phaeton fell into this River when Jupiter Struck Austin affirms, that he had feen them written

ERYX, A Mountain of Sicily, from this

ERYCINA, An Epithet given to Venus,

ESCHYLUS, A writer of Tragedy. dying. Round about it, how fwift foever be Disnyfius the Tyrant bought his Table-book. wherein he had writ his excellent Tragedies. to the end that he might therewith mend his ESCULAPIUS, See Æsculapius.

ESQUILINUS, The Mount Esquilinus ries of Hell, and fometimes common to inclosed by Servine in the City of Rome. This Mount was also called Exquilmus, because Rethe Earth and in Hell, i. e. Epis ve, discordia mulus mistrusting the Sabines, set Centries upon it for his Guard; it was ftill called Cefpius, Oppius and Septimius, because it contained fome little Hills called by those names.

ETEOCLES, Born of the Incest of OEdipus and Jocasta his Mother. Escocles having deprived his Brother Polynices of Paulanias fays, that the Goddesses called Se- the Royalty of Theber, tho an agreement verse, whom Hefind calls Erinnyes, had a Tem- was made between them, that they should ple at Athens near Areopagus, or Judgment- reign yearly by course, Polynices retired to Hail. Alchriu the Poet is the first who had Argos, where he married the Daughter of described them with hanging Serpents. Vir- King Adrastus, and then returned with an gil has follow'd this Idea. And Homer had Army to bring Eteocles to reasonable terms. mentioned the Erimyu before Heliod, and in Jocafia their Mother attempted in vain to some place he has described them as the re- make them friends: they prepared on both fides to engage: Tirelias a South-faver, decla-ERYMANTUS, A Mountain in Ar red that the Victory should remain to the cadia, inhabited by a huge wild Bear, that Thebans, if they offered Menaceus the Son of wasted the Country, whom Hercules carried Green in facrifice to Mers, whereupon Memoceus facrificed himfelf. The Armies engaged, E-ERYPHILA. The Wife of Amphiaraus toocles and Polynices killed one another; and and Sifter to King Adressus, who for a Brace- Josefte feeing that they were both slain, mur-because he was unwilling to go to the Theban every year after the Summer-Solftice, at the Wars, where he knew he should dye, accord- rising of the Dog-star, which blow for six. ing to the Oracle. But being acquainted weeks together, to cool the air from the heat

EVANDER, King of Arcadia, the Son ther as foon as he should hear of his death, of Corments, who for his Eloquence which he performed according to his Father's was esteemed the Son of Mercury. Having by chance flain his Father, he for-ERYTHREA, The Name of one of fook his Kindom, and by the advice of his the Sibyle , born in the City of Erithres in Mother, (who was a Prophetels) retired into lmis, where the delivered her Oracles. Italy, from whence he drove out the Aberigi-She lived in the time of the War of Troy, not, and possessed himself of their Country, Fenefiella relates, that the Senate of Rome fent where he built a Town upon Mount Pala-Ambassadours to Erithren, to fetch the Verses tinus, which he called Palanteum, from the TVANGELUS, A rich Citizen of Tarentum, who attempted to get the prize at the Pythian Games, and because he was neither ftrong nor nimble enough to dispute the prize of the Race, he endeavoured to obtain that of Musick. Wherefore he came to Delphi at the perswasion of his Flatterers, and pretented himfelf at the Games dreffed- in a Gown of Golden Linnen, and crowned with Laurel, the Leaves whereof were of Maffy Gold, and the Fruit composed with great Emeralds. His Harp was also made of Gold, fet off with precious Stones, and adorn'd with the Figures of Orpheus, Apollo, and the Muser. At this sumptuous apparel the whole Company was struck with admiration, and they conceived great hopes to fee and hear wonderful things; but when he came about to fing and play upon his Harp, instead of wonders that were expected from him, they heard but a pitiful shrill voice, which he was neverable to bring in tune with his Harp, and to accumulate misfortunes, when he attempted to firike the firings of his Harp a little harder, he broke three of them. The whole company fell a laughing, and the more willingly, because they were well pleased with another Musician who had plaid before him: Then laughing being turned into anger, the Presidents of the Games ordered that he Gods against wicked Men. They were reshould be whipp'd off the Stage, and being all over bloody he was forced to crofs the Scene, taking up the Ornaments of his Harpa which I tenance, holding in their Hands burning fell down under the lashes.

EVERGETES, i. e. well doing or Benefalfor. The Greeks called by that name, Men who had done fome confiderable Kindness to their Country: Wherefore so many Kings were proud of the Epithet Evergetes.

Tis no wonder then, if the Greek, who were naturally inclined either to Flattery or the King of Thrace, was ordained Pontiff to Satyr, according to the good or bad usage they had received, were used to bestow this Title upon their Kings. Demofthenes fays, that being deceived by the counterfeited Vertue of Philip of Macedonia, they called him Benefactor. Antigenus, Sirnamed the Tutor and Giver, was by confent of all the Greek | condition that the dignity of Priesthood called Evergetes. The Emperor Julian fays, should remain for ever to the posterity of that the Titles of Saviour and Benefactor of the Country were formerly bestowed upon spring. The facred Rites in honour of Cara, the River Nile, because of the Fertility that its overflowing brings every year to Egypt. And at the birth of Ofris a voice was heard, fays Plutarch, proclaiming that the great and well-doing King Ofiris was born. Wherefore the Elogy of Evergetes flattering the Ambition of Princes, became afterwards a Sirname, affected by a great many of them, to diftinguish them from those, who were called by their

The Kings of Syria have very much affected this Epithet, as we fee in their Medals. Alexander Eupater Evergetes, Demetrius, Philometor Evergetes, Philippus Evergetes. Mathridates King of Pontus, the Father of Mirbridates the Great. Sirnamed Eupator, is also called Evergetes in Strabo and Appian. The Kings of the Paribiany have followed their Example, as it appears by the Medal of Arxanes, where he is named King of Kings, Juft, Evergetes and Philthellener or Lover of the Greeks.

After the Romans had fubdued Greece, the Greeks gave the fame Titles to the Roman Emperors. And Phile the Jew, in imitation of them, gives the Titles of Saviour and Evergiter to the Emperors Augustus and Caligula. The Romans bestowed the same Titles upon Velpafian at his return from Judes, and upon Comftantine, after he had obtain'd the Victory over Maxentius the Tyrant.

EUMELUS, An excellent Musician of Elis, who was admired by all the Speciators at the Pythian Games, and proclaimed Victorious, tho' he was ill-cloathed, and had but an old fashioned Harp.

EUMINIDES, The Furies of Hell." Daughters to Achtron and Nex. or to Plute and Proferpina; respected by the Ancient Heathens, as Executors of the Vengeance of the presented with Heads dressed with Serpents. having Fire in their Eyes, and a fierce Coun-Torches.

They had a Temple at Cefyna a Town of Achaia. See Erinnyr and Furia.

EUMOLPIDES, The Priests of the Goddels Ceres and Eleufina, a City of Attien. They were called Eumolpides from Eumolper their Ancestor. This Eumolpes, Nephew to celebrate the mysteries of Ceres, by Eridien King of Athens, and Eleufma, and became for powerful by this Priesthood, that he made War against the Prince who had bestowed it upon him. They were both killed in this War, and their Children made a Peace, on Eumelpes, and the Royalty to Ericteus's Offwere accounted fo Holy, that they were called by way of pre-eminence, Mysteries, and were kept fo fecret, that scarce any account of them has reached us.

EUNUS, A Slave born in Syris; who not being able to bear any longer the miffortune of his condition, played at first the Enthusiast, and pretended to be inspired by the Goddess of Spria, and fent by the Gods to procure Liberty to the Slaves. And to get credit among the People, he put in his mouth, and holding his Miffris by the Hand, he led a Nut full of Brimstone, and set it cunning- her into the Differ Cave. ly on fire, and blew foftly through the fame. with Mifery and drawn in by his juggling that reigned there. Tricks join'd themselves to him, and in a thort time he was at the head of fifty thou- speliotes, blowing from the Equinoxial East. fand Men, and defeated the Roman Prætors : but Perpenna reduced them by hunger, and is represented black all over, having a flaming all those who escaped death were nailed up- Sun upon the Head, because the Ethiopians, on the crofs.

EVOHE, An Epithet given to Bacchus, Cartari in his Images of the Gods. in the celebration of his Mysteries (this word fignifies Merry Companion and Good Son.) Jupiter who flying from Arificus King of Arcadia, gave him this Epithet for a Reward, because who attempted to ravish her, on a Serpent, he help'd him to defeat the Giants.

ebbing and flowing fo often.

represented, were also called Uriper.

EUROPA, The Daughter of Agenor into a Swine. King of Phanicia, whom Jupiter ravished for the take of her Beauty; for being one day the inventer of the Flute, and other Mufical come down with fome other Virgins to di- Instruments. Ex. S. C. i. e. ex Senatus confulto. vert herfelf on the Sea-shore, Jupiter came and which fignifies by a Decree of the Senair, play'd about her in the shape of a Bull, that was so fair and handsom, that she had a mind | Soldiers discharged from going to the Wars. to get upon his back, feeing he was fo mild that he let her stroke him. But so toon as he munication, excluding Men from participating had got this fair Lady upon his back, he run of the Mysteries, and cutting them off from into the Sea, and fwam towards Greece. The Communicating with Men of the fame Relipoor Lady asham'd, took hold with her hand gion. The Excommunication was practiced on one of his Horns, to keep herfelf fast, and among Pagans, and was declared by their with the other hand she made fast her Veil Priests, with the usual Ceremonies in such that was toffed up by the wind, and turned cases. The Excommunicated Persons were her Head toward the shore, where she saw forbid to be present at the Sacrifices, and to the other Virgins stretching out their arms enter in the Temples in the presence of the to her. The Sea immediately grows calm, Gods; then they were delivered to the Dethe Winds kept in their breath, a thousand vilish Spirits and the Furies of Hell, with Cupids came fluttering about her, without some Imprecations expressed by these words, dipping their Wings in the water, but only Sacris interdicere, Diris devivore, Exferrare: their Toes. Some of them carried in their And because this was a dreadful Punishment, Hands the Wedding Torch, the others fung therefore it was inflicted only upon wicked the Hymen-Song, and were followed by the Men hardned in Crimes. And the She-Prieft Sea-Gods, the Nireides half naked riding up- Theans the Daughter of Menon was highly on Dolphins, and waited on by the Tritons, commended, for refusing to excommunicate who were playing about. Neptun: and Amphi- Alcibiades at Athens, tho' the People had ortrites march'd before, representing the Father dered her to do it. And the Priests called and the Mother of the Bride. Venus was car- Eumolpides, on the contrary, were blamed for ried by two Tritonsin a Sea-shell, and was the performance of the same. Plate 1, 7, of spreading Flowers upon this fair Virgin.

Some are of opinion that she gave her and thus cast Fire out of his Mouth, to the name to this part of the World that we call great amazement of the People. Two thou- Europa; but others fay, that this name came fand Slaves and other simple Men, pressed from Europus, who was one of the first Kings

> EURUS, A Wind called by the Greeke The Roman Mariners call it Subsolanus, and who inhabit towards the rifing Sun, are black.

EURYDICE, The Wife of Orpheus, and died of his Sting. Orpheus to recover EURIPUS, A narrow Sea between her went to Hell, and with his Musick Euban and Baotia, that ebbs and flows feven charm'd Pluto and Proferpina, who granted times in four and twenty hours. Ariffetle is him his Wife, upon condition that he should faid to have drowned himself in this Sea, be- not turn his Head to look on her till he saw cause he could not find out the cause of its the light. But he failed, and so lost his Wife for ever.

The Canals of Water which furrounded EURYLOCHUS, The only Man of the Circle at Rome, where the Sea-fights were Uliffe's Companions, who tasted not of Circe's enchanting Cup, and escaped being turn'd

EUTERPE, One of the nine Muses,

EXAUCTORATI, Viz. Milites.

EXCOMMUNICATIO, Excomthe Laws, forbids all Priests of both Sexes to This Spectacle lasted from the shore of excommunicate any body, but after a dili-Phenicia, till Greta, where as foon as Jupiter gent enquiry into the case, and to do it but at was landed, he took again his former thape, the last extremity, and according to the Laws.

communication among the Remans, in the Greeks was a place like that which is called a person of M. Craffe, as 'tis related by Platarch Chapter, in the Cloifters of Religious Houses. in his Life; for Atteins Tribune of the Peo- And Virgoins Cap. 9. I. 7. Speaks of the Exeple, not being able to stop his Journey into dre, as if they were places open and exposed Syris against the Parthians, he run to the to the Sun. Gate, out of which Craffie was to go EXPIATIO, Expiation. When Men out of the City, and fer in the middle of the had their recourse to Temples, Altars and way, a Chafing-dish with a great fire in it, Prayers, it was look'd upon as the beginning and when Croffin drew near, he threw some of the expiation of a Crime. Homer relates Perfumes in it, and pronounced Curies against the Discourse of Phenix to Achiller, to exhore him, with dreadful Imprecations, and called him to forgive, because the greater and upon some Gods, whose names only served mightier the Gods are, they are also the more to fright Men, and fo Excommunicated merciful and more inclined to pardon, when him.

dom.

The most rigorous punishment inslicted by the Druides among the Gauls, was the Excommunication, as we learn of Cafer, 1.6. 'When 'Thunderbolt, are accounted wicked and impious Men ; every one shuns their meeting for the same. and conversation : if they have any business, they have no justice done them: they Sape levant panas, ereptaque lumina reddunt. are not allowed to possess any Office or Dig-' nity, and dye without Honour and Reputation.

When an excommunicated Man came to repent, and had his Wickedness in horrour. and beg pardon of the Gods for the fame. he went to the Priests to be restored again. then the Priets, after a ftrict Examination reflered him to his former condition. And this Action was called Refacrare, or facris reflicuere qui execratus fuerat.

Excommunication, and before he had repent- tends it. ed of his Crime, and was restored again, after his death the Priests made a folemn fervice to the Gods called Manes, to beg of them that the Palace of King Cralus, to defire him to his Soul might be fet at rest in Hell.

place in the Amphitheater, and were flanding of the Lydians, which was very like the in the Corners thereof to fee the Games.

EXECRATIO. See Excommunicatio. EXEDRÆ, Halls with many Seats, whereupon the Philosophers, Rhetoricians and Men of Learning fat, when they met for difcourse or disputing. This Greek word is va-riously interpreted by Writers. Alexander ub tions prescribed by the Laws of the Pontiffs, Alex, fays, that it was an open Gallery in in cases of involuntary murder. Then he retorm of Boxes. Accurfus takes this word for 2 Window, but it signifies literally, a place where many People are fitting upon Seats made faft. It feems that Philander was of this opi- went under the Yoke.

We have an illustrious Example of an Ex- mion, when he says that the Exides of the

it is begg'd by Prayers; for the Prayers are The Romans, fays Plutarch, did hold this the Daughters of Jupiter, who difarm, in fa-Ceremony of Imprecation to be very anci- your of the Petitioners, and oblige him to ent, but they put it in practice but very fel- fend the Goddess of Revenge against the Men who won't be reconciled.

Ovid thinks it very odd, that our Crimes that are never inexpiable in respect to the Gods, should be unpardonable in respect to 'a Man, fays he, speaking of the Druides, Men; and that Augustus would not forgive won't submit to their judgment, they ex- him a fault that God himself had pardoned clude him from partaking of their Myste- him, because he sincerely repented of it; and ries. And those who are struck with that that the Fault he committed was more grievous to him, than the banishment he suffer'd

> Cum bane peccati parnituiffe vident. Panitet, 6, fi quid miserorum creditur ulli. Panitet O falle terqueer ipfe mee ! Quamque fit exilium, magis eft mibi culpa dolmi, Efque pati panas, quam meruiffe, minue.

Then according to this Poet, Crimes were expiated, either with temporal pains which God fends to Men, or with grief and repentance of the guilty Soul, and a pure love for Justice, which makes men fear the But if a Man died during the time of his Crime more than the Punishment which at-

Herodottus reports, that a Phrygian Prince of the Royal Blood, yet unfortunate, came to purge him by Sacrifice, which Crasu per-EXCUNEATI, Those who had no form'd, according to the usual Ceremony Ceremony used by the Greeks, in cases of Ex-

> Dienvine Hallicarnaffere favs, that the people pardoned young Herace the murther of his Sifter, but that the King of Rome ordered, lates the Ceremony of the Expiation: 'Altars were fet up, one to June, the other to James they offered Sacrifices, and young Hersel

This Writer speaks still of another Expiation, when after a Fight between the Citizens, they were obliged to purifie the City, before they offered Sacrifices.

X Q

Here are many kinds of Expiations for Men and Cities, to abolish Murther, and to prepare Men for Sacrifices; they had ftill other Expiations to purge the Natives of the Country and the Foreigners: For the Schothe great Mysteries were not to be communicated to them. Disdorm Siculus observes. Ceres Eleufina:

mitted many Murthers. The Mysteries of Consonant, which may be observed still in the Expiations were brought from Egypt into old Inscriptions, as ferkus, ferous; Lale, vale.

ed with Fastings; wherefore Clemens of Alex- fignified in number 40. Sexta quaterdenes gerit andria fays, that when those who were only bec que diffet ab Alpha. taught the principles of these prophane Myfteries, answered the questions asked them. they affirmed that they had kept themselves falting : Symbolum myfteriorum Eleufmiorum, (jeimavi.)

Continency was also observed in these Explations; wherefore St Hierome fays, that the Priests made use of Hemlock, to keep themfelves more eafily continent.

But the most common Expiation, was that of ablutions; and this plainly shews, that all these Ceremonies of the Gentiles, were copied out of the Ceremonies of the Hebrews.

There is nothing more common in the make libations to the Gods.

Sophocles, in his OEdipus, Tyramus affirms, that the Crimes, both voluntary and invofuntary, were expiated in Waters.

Enripides in his Hyppelitus introduces this Crime, and that he must wash his Ears for the fame.

Enem in Virgil defires his Father Anchifes to carry his Dii Penatu, because he had defiled himfelf with Blood and Slaughter in the defence of Troy, and was not yet purified.

-Donec me flumine vivo Abluero.

The Greeks had learnt these Laws of Expiation and Purification of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians of the Hebrews. EXQUILINUS, See Efquilinus.

F, The fixth Letter of the Alphabet, and the fourth Confonant, 'tis pronounced effe, and liast of Ariflophanes fays, that they instituted its pronounciation is extended to the words small Mysteries to purific Foreigners, because derived of the Greek that begins with Ph. Covarruvias fays, that this Letter is the fame with that which the Greeks call Digamma Æolithat Hercules was admitted to the Mysteries of cum, because it was formed with two Gamma's one over the other. And that the Emperor Plutarch says, that Theseus, in imitation of Claudius Casar prescribed that the Letter F Hercules, was purified, because he had com-turned upside down, should serve for an V In the Civil Law two ff's joined together fig-These mysterious Explations were attend- nifie Digest. This Letter among the Latine

> And when there was a tittle over it, it fignified 40 thousand.

This Letter is pronounced like . but not with fo hard an aspiration, as Terentianus tells us; wherefore Tully jeers a Grecian, who inflead of Fundanius pronounced Quadanius, i. c. with an afpirate P. However, in the decay of the Language, these two Letters were promiscuously taken one for another, as we may fee in the Antient Gloffes, Falanz inftead of Phalanx.

FABA, A Bean, a kind of Pulse. Formerly they made use of Beans to gather the Votes of the People, and for the Election of Poet's Writings, both Greek and Latin, than Magistrates. A white Bean fignified absoluthe washing of Hands, and even the whole tion, and a black Bean condemnation. There Body before the offering of Sacrifice, and to was also a Precept of Pythageras, ordering to forbear eating of Beans. This Precept was variously interpreted, and some are of opinion, that Men thould forbear Trials and Verdicts, which were then brought by throwing Beans in the Urn. Lucion introduces Pythagechaft Lord, faying, that he thinks himfelf de- ras himfelf, handling this matter in the Diafiled, because he was tempted to commit a logue of the Philosophers expord to publick Sale; for after he had faid, that he ears nothing of what had life, but of all other things except Beans; they ask him for what reason, and he answers, because they have something that is divine: First, they refemble the privy parts, which you will eafily observe, if you take but one that is green, and shell it from its husk or cod: besides, being boiled, and exposed to the Moon, for a certain number of Nights, they turn into Blood; but what is most considerable, they make use of them at Athens in election of Magistrates.

Bean-Flower and Bacon, offered upon the Kalends of June on Mount Celianus.

FABER, Ageneral Latin word, fignifving a Workman, as we read in the Ancient Monuments. Faber Agentarius a Goldimith : Faber Fortarius, a Smith or a Blackfmith : Faber Timerius, a Carpenter: Faber Eburarius, the worker in Ivory, a Table-maker : Faber Navalie, A builder of Ships: Fater Balmeator, 2 Keeper or Builder of Baths. And Plautus raxing a Man with making counterfeit Money, fays ingeniously, Tace tu faber qui plumbes nummes cudire feles. The Greek word TEXTON answers to the Latin word Faber: wherefore, those who said that Joseph was rather a Smith rhan a Carpenter, don't observe that the word Tector, made use of in the Original, doth not determine the fignification rather to a Smith than a Carpenter: And Helychius explaining this word, fays, that it fignifies all kind of Workmen; wherefore the vulgar Translation of the Bible, renders the Text of St Matthew thus, Nonne bic est fabri filius. Hippocrates one of the most Ancient Writers of the Greeks, f, eaking of Carpenters who faw Timher, he calls them Tellones.

FABIANA FAMILIA. The Fabian Family, Illustrious among the Romans, which has given many great Men to the fet at liberty all the Roman Prifoners, taken at Commonwealth. This only Family, under the defeat of Livinius. And Fabricius also sent the command of Fabius Calo, made war against the Veyences, and loft 306 Men in an Engagement at Cremera. This Family obtain'd feven feveral Confulats next after one another; we e able to make up a great Army, with the addition of their Friends. Clients and Freed-an Ambuscado, defeated them, took and bian Family left alive only one young man, fourteen Years old, the Son of M. Fabius, and the Off-fpring of all the Fabians, who were and particularly Fabius firnamed Maximus; who feeing Rome divided in two Factions, divided the People in four Tribes of the City those who gave them the most, and of whom | monwealth, because he was poor. they expected greater rewards. This Fabius throughly routed Hannibal with a prudent flowness, and repaired the losses that the Romans had suffered by the Arms of Harmibal, whereupon he was called Cunitator the delayer, be aute he did only keep Hannibal close, and incamped to his own advantage, without engiging him; wherefore Ennius faid.

Unus cunctando qui nobis restituit rem.

Q. Fabius Rutilianus, Colonel of the Horfe. engaged the Sammites, during the abience and against the order of the Dictator Papyrius, and routed them. The Dictator profecuted him. and would have him be punished with death, though the Senate interceded for him; but at last Papyrius granted him his life, at the request of the People, speaking thus to him. 'Live thou, Fabius, faid he to him, more glorious in this universal Love that the Roman people fliews they, than the Victory which thou haft obtained over the Enemy. And grant the Gods, that thy bad Example be not preindicial to the State.

C. FABRICIUS LUSCUS, Who was fent against Pyrobus. This Enemy of the Roman People attempted to bribe the Loyalty of Fabricius, and made him very advantageous Proposals; but Fabricius being a generous Reman, though needy, flood always firm to his Country. Then Pyribus's Physician came fecretly to him, and proffered him his Service to poylon his Mafter; but this Propofal ffruck him with fuch horror, that he fent back this perfidious Servant to Pyrrhu; who admiring the generolity of the Conful. back all the Prisoners, who were taken from Pyrrhus's Army. The Nations called Bruti and Lucani, having belieged Turinum in Calabria. Fabricius marched directly to them, to force from whence you may conjecture that they them to raife the Siege; but while he was confidering which way he should attack the Enemy in their Intrenchments, a young man appear'd at the head of the Legions with a The Veyentes having drawn the Fabians into Ladder in his Hand, encouraging the Soldiers to scale the Rampart; whereupon the plundered their Camp, and of the whole Fa- Soldiers followed him without the order of their General, took the Rampart by storm, and drove away the Enemy. After the Vi-Story, the Contul being inform'd of what had fince so serviceable to the Commonwealth, been done, sent to look for this unknown Man, to honour his Valour, but he could never be found. Whereupon the Romans fancied that Mars himself had affisted them. Afand by this means took away from the People | ter the death of this great Man, his Daughthe Authority of bestowing Offices, upon ters were married at the charges of the Com-

FABULA. A Fable. Aphthonius the Sophist tays, that the Poets were Authors of the Fable, which is a Story made on purpole to instruct Men, being an Image fit to reprefent the Truth. The Fable is called Sybiritica. Ciliciana and Cypriana, from the leveral Countries of the Men, who were the Inventers thereof.

The Historians having no other aim but the ! time of their Life, fome remainders of Infancy, and will have Instruction it felf be a divertion to them. Wherefore, when the Authors of the Fable related Histories, or unfolded the Mysteries of Nature, or taught moral Precents, they intermixed always fomething of the Fable with the Truth.

Plutarch has bestowed the whole beginning of his Treatife, of the manner of reading Poets, to shew that the Fable was very conducible to the instruction of Men, both purpole.

Clement of Alexandria observes, that this way of folding and unfolding the Truth with Favine and Moral Truth.

Plutarch tells us, that the Ezyptiam wrapped up the Mysteries of their Philosophy in Fables and Riddles; and had sphinxes at the Gates of the Gift of writing Fables. ' Efop, fays he, their Temples to unfold them; and that the Pythagoreans understood the Unity by the name of Apollo, and the number two by the name of Diana; the number feven, by that of Mineron; and the Figure Cube by Neptune ; to flew that the Fables were the Images of the Philosophical Truths, that were or great moment amongst the Egyptians and Pythago-

Saluflius the Philosopher favs, that the Fables have fomewhat of Divine, because they are made use of by Poets, who are animated with a divine Spirit, and by the Philosophers, the Pontiffs, and the Gods themselves in their Oracles. That the first use of Fables is to awake the mind, and raife it to the unfolding of the meaning thereof; and he compares the Fable to the Divinity, who exposes some of his Excellencies to the fight of all Men, and keeps some others hid, which are discover'd but by Contemplation.

Then this Philosopher distinguishes many kinds of Fables; fome that have relation to the Divinity, as when Saturn devoured his Children; the meaning thereof is, that God, who is the fupream Intelligence, keeps in his bosom all his operations: Some others are concerning Nature, as when Saturn, i. e. Time, devours all his Productions and Temporal Natures. The others belong to the Soul, who gets into herfelf all her operations like Saturn. And the fourth kind of Fable, concerns the Body, wherefore the Egyptians faid, that Saturn was the Element of the Wa- Speech. ter. In fine, there are mixt Fables made up of the foregoing.

We must not look upon Poets as upon meer Instruction of Men, thought that the Fable | Tale-bearers, but as Historians, who adorned was very fit to teach, not only young Men, the ground of their History with many pleabut also to instruct all forts of Persons, who | fant Fictions, to render it more diverting to being always Men, have also, during all the the Reader. And 'tis a false prejudice to think that Poetical Narrations have nothing of Truth. Learned Men affert the contrary opinion, for 'tis upon a folid ground of a true History, that Poets have wrapped up in their Poems, fome Stories that were not true, but likely.

Polybius, Strabe, and many other Historians affirm, that the ground of the Iliad and Odyfis of Homer is a true History, appearing to be to by the Ancient Historians.

Poets have intermixt the Fable with the young and old, when 'tis handled to the Truth, to adorn their Narrations, and yet this ornament it felf is grounded upon some

The most remarkable Writers, who have bles, is very proper to awake and whet the handled moral Fables, and introduced Beafts Wit, and inflame Men with the love of Di- and Trees speaking, were Elop among the Greeks, and Phadrus among the Latius.

Philostratus in his Image of the Fables, relates in what manner Æfop received of Mercury being a Shepherd, was often feeding his Flocks near a Temple of Mircury, wherein he entered fometimes, and offered to the God fome Milk, Hony-combs and Flowers, earneftly begging of him some Beams of Wisdom. Many others met also in the same Temple, to the same purpose, and made him confiderable Prefents. Mercury, to express them his gratitude for their Piety, beflowed upon them the gifts of Sciences; fome of them he endowed with the gift of Aftrology, others with Eloquence, and fome others with the gift of Poefv and Musick. But he forgot Æfop. Yet having a mind to reward him, he granted him the gift of writing Fables, because he remembred, that being still in his Cradle on the Mount Olympus, the Hours who nurfed him up, told him the Fable of an Ox that had fooke to a Man, and had inclined him to defire the Oxen of the Sun.

Phadrus in the third Book of his Fables, dedicated to Uzychius, speaks thus 'Now I will declare in few words, to what purpole Fables were invented. Man being in flavery and dependency, because he durit not utter his Mind, made use of these fabulous Narretions, to declare the thoughts and agitations of his Soul, and fecured himfelf from Calumny with these pleasant Stories.

FABULINUS. The little God Fabulinus, to whom Men offered Sacrifices, when their Children began to speak. The God of Colours, Gruter in his Inscriptions mentions Tears, Diseases and Old Age. four chief Factions; wiz. Ruffstam, the Red Prafinam, the Green ; Venetam, the Blue ; Albatam, the White. Tis thought that the Ancients intended thereby, to represent the four Seasons of the Year, when Nature puts on new Cloaths; each Faction or Troop of Horse representing one of the Seasons with his Colour : The Green represented the Spring ; the Red, the Summer ; the Blue, the Autumn ; and the white the Winter, covered with Snow and Ice. Domitianus fays, Suctonius added to these four Factions, the Gold and the Purple, sur. i. c. two new Troops, who went by the name of their Colours.

These Factions in the Games, grew sometimes fo hot one against the other, that they came to Blows. Zonoras tells us, that at Bizantium in Justinian's time, two Factions conceived so factious an emulation one against the other, that forty thousand Men of both fides were killed on the fpot.

Colour, and had his Horse Incitatus put among gistrates, them.

thor of the Law called Falcidia, fo remarkable mind of the People, and to punish Malein the Roman Law. This Law was made fome factors. J. Litter expedi virgas. time before the Empire of Augustus, during the Men should dispose by their last Will, but of some person of a singular merit, they sent the three parts of their Estate, and were bound back the Lictors, or bid them to lower the to leave the other fourth part to their lawful l'asces before them, which was called fui-Heir. And if they transgreffed against this mittere Fascer. For that same reason the Con-Rule, the Heir deducted the fourth part of each | iul Publicola, a great Politician, being ready particular Legacy, to make up the Sum ad- to make a Speech to the Roman People, sens indged to him by this Law.

FALERNÚM, A Country in Campafo much commended by Herace and others.

FAMA, Fame. Ovid has left us a defcription of Fame, and the Graces that commonly attend her, and represents her wonderful Palace, furrounded with a thousand the Wedding the Bride sat upon the Knees of reports, true or false.

Mistaque cum veris passim commenta vagantur Millia rumbrum, Credulity, Error, false Joys, Fears, Suspi- of Ovid are lost. See Calendarium. cions and Sedicions commonly meet here.

FAMES, Hunger. Poets have very ingeniously described Hunger, and in particular most memorable things that were transacted Ovid, who hath left us her Image in the eighth in the Commonwealth. The Confuls gave also Book of his Mesamorphoses, under the shape of some small Pocket-books of Silver or Ivory a tall lean Woman, with a dreadful Counte- wherein their Names were written, as Siden nance, and hollow Eyes, her Body transpa- us Apollinaris says, speaking of the Consultain rent out of leanness, lying upon the ground of Asterius datique fasti. and feeding upon Grafs. Virgil places her

FACTIO, Factions diffinguished by abode at the entry of Hell, with Griefi, Luttur & ultrices pofuere cubilia Cura. Pallentesque habitant Merbi, triftisque Senettus, Es male fuada Fames.

FANNIUS, A Roman Conful, Author of the Law Fannia, whereby the charges of publick and private Feafts were fixed, and Excesses and Superfluities forbid. FANA, Temples confecrated by the Pontiffs, pronouncing certain words, Fan-

FANUS, A God of the Heathens, protecting Travellers, accounted also the God of the Year. The Phanicians represented him, fays Macrebius, under the Figure of a Snake. with his Tail in his Mouth.

FARONIA, See Feronia. FASCES, These Fasces were Axes fastned to a long Staff, tied together with a bundle of Rods, which the Officers called Caligula took a great fancy for the green Lictors, carried before the great Roman Ma-

Romulus was the first who instituted Fasces, FALCIDIUS, A Roman Tribune, Au- to inspire a greater respect and fear in the

When the Magistrates, who by right had these Axes carried before them, had a mind By the Law Falcidia, it was ordered that to thew fome deference for the People, or back his Lictors ; Fascer, fays Livy, Majefiai populi Romani submisit. And Pompey the Great nia near Capua, abundant in excellent Wine, coming into the House of Possidonius the Philosopher, when he was at the Door, sent back the Lictors in honour of Poffidonial's Learning.

FASCINUM, A Man's Yard. A a naked Prisons, to prevent by that Ceremony, charming and bewitching.

FASTI, The Roman Calendar, wherein all days of Feasts, Games and Ceremonies were mark'd. The fix last Books of the Fasti

Fasti were also Table-Books, whereupon they wrote the Names of the Confuls, and the Remans were allowed to fue at Law, and the which are immutable and eternal, and rule Pretor to pronounce these three words, Do, all things that are done. Dice. Abdico.

FATUA. See Fauna. FATUM. Fate, Defliny. It was repre- Nata, movere pavas ? Intres licet ibla forerum fented as of a Goddess, treading upon the Tetta trium, cernes illic molimine vafto Globe of the World, because all that is contain'd in it, is submitted to her Laws. She Que neque concursum cali, neque fulminis iram. holds in her hand a Veffel, or the fatal Urn, wherein (as Poets fay) all the names of morral men were deposited. The Heathens complained in their Epitaphs, of the malice, envy and cruelty of the Fates, that were inflexible, and could not be moved with tears. It were of both Sexes.

on the reverse thereof by the figures of three Master. women: Precepius tells us, that the Temple of Tanus was built at Rome in the Market place deffes called Parce, are the three parts of the near the three Destinies, called by the Romans | World, wir. the firmament of the fixed Stars, three in number, because, said they, all things dies and causes contained in these three parts that are under Heaven have their beginning, of the world, makes this Fate in a manner progress and end. Wherefore these same bodily, producing natural effects according Fates are represented by three different female to the common course of Nature : but this is terms, i. e. by three Women, represented not perform'd without some Divinity, who only with half-bodies like the terms, as we may fee by the following Infcription.

the Parca with the Destinies.

FATIS Q. FABIUS NISUS EX VOTO.

For the terms were the Gods of bounds, and the Fates fets bounds to our Life, and put an end to all our undertakings.

confounded Fortune with Fate.

FASTI DIES. During these days the tempt to break the decrees of the three Parces

- Sola insuperabile fatum. Ex ere. & folido rerum tabularia ferro : Nec metuunt ullas tuta atque aterna ruinas. Invenies illic incifa adamante perenni Fata tui generis: legi ipse animoque notavi.

Lib. xv. Metam.

But this Poet and all others have plainly can't be objected that the Latin word Fatum expressed that the will of Jupiter is Fate. For is not of the feminine gender, and therefore we must distinguish the fable of the three old the Destiny should not be represented by the Sisters called the Parce (which was but a Poefigure of a Goddess, for we see that many Di- tical fancy) from the universal opinion of all vinities, as Vemus, the Moon and Bacchus were Poets. Tully rejects the Fate of the three Siaccounted both male and female. And this fters, which is a fate of Superstition, and tells feems to have been taken from the opinion of us, that Fare is the eternal truth, and the first the Steicks, who maintain'd that the Gods predominant cause of all Beings. Wherefore the Idolaters represented the Hours, and And the Greeks themselves, who were Au- the Parca placed upon the head of Jupiter. to thors of the Roman Superstitions, called Desti- shew that the Destinies obey God, and that ny by a feminine name, Maguern as we both hours and time are at the disposol of his learn of Phurmutus in his book of the nature of will. Paufanias fays to this purpose : In Jouis the Gode. " Deftiny, fays he, is that which capite Hore & Parce confillant ; Fata enim Joui padifposes and rules all things according to rere & eine nutu temporum necessicudines describi the order of an eternal principle. There is nemo est qui nesciat. And he speaks thus somea Golden Medal of Dioclesian, ingraven in where else of Jupiter sitnamed Margay erns. Pignerius's observations upon the Images of the Parcarum Dux, not only as knowing the reso-Gods, where the Destinies are represented lutions of the Parca, but also as being their Plut arch tells us, that thefe three God-Parca. This Writer, like Apuleius, confounds the firmament of the wandering Stars, and that great space of the Air from the Moon to The Ancients reckoned the Fates to be the Earth; the concatenation of all the bois like the foul of the world, and moves it by himfelf, and the Intelligences whom he has fet therein, and to whom he has given his order, and are the intellectual Fate.

Diogenes Laertine affirms, that Zeno faid that Jupiter, God, Fate and Intelligence were all the famething. 'Tis also the opinion of Epifferus and many other ancient Philosophers.

FAVISSE. Feftus by this word underflands Cifterns to keep water in. But the Faviffe in the Capitol were Cellars under Lucan in many places of his Books has ground, or dry Cifterns, where they laid up old decay'd Statues, and other things that Quid introduces Jupiter speaking to Venus, were grown out of use. Favissa, lecum sic apand telling her, that 'tis to no purpose to at- pellabant in quo crat aqua inclusa circa templa;

funt autem qui putant Fartiffat effe in Capitolio cel- [the Country People leaving off work, danced. Lis cifternifque similes, ubi reponi erant folita ea que and were merry. in complo veruftate erant fatte inutilia. Aulus Gel. FAUNUS, The Son of Picus, the first I. 2. c. 10. tells us, that Servius Sulpitius a Law- King of the Latins. This Faunus is sometimes yer, wrote to Marcus Varro, to inquire of him, confounded with Pan, and it feems that Ovid what was the meaning of these words Faviffe himself makes no distinction of them; how-Capitolina, which he had observed in the Books of Cenfors, but was not able to understand the Son of Mars reigned in Italy, when Evanthem. Varre fent him word, that he remem- der landed there, and that the Romans made bred that Q. Catulus, to whom the care of repairing the Capitol was committed, having a mind to lower the ground that was about the place, could not perform it because of the Favisse, which were like dry Cisterns, God, whose voice was heard by night in the where they laid up old Statues and broken Forests, and frighted the People. Whereby Veffels, and other things appointed for the it doth appear that he ascribes pannick fears to fervice of the Temple, Id effe cellas quas dam & Faunus, and makes but one God, both of Fauofternas, que in area Jub terra effent, ubi reponi | nus and Pan. folcrent figna vetera que in eo Templo collapfa to Faunus, and a Deity of the Romans. Lattanius speaking of her fays, I. 1. c. 22. ' Faunus Standing the Latins made him a Genius, and a 'instituted infamous Sacrifices to Saturn his God uttering Predictions, and this agrees 'Grand-father in the Latin Country, and rendered divine honours to his Father Picus, ' and his Sifter and Wife Fatus Fauns: And Fatus from the fame origine a fatu, as water. 'C. Exflut tell us, that the was called Fatua, comes from gards, cdw. cnut. because she foretold Women their destinies, 'as Faunus did to Men. Varro tells us, that fame, feeing that the name of Pan is the fame this Fatua was fo chaft, that no Man faw 'her nor heard of her, but her own Husband. ' Wherefore Women Sacrifice to her in pri- foun is the fame thing. ' vate, and call her the good Goddess.

Faunus in Latio Saturno Jus avo nefaria facra conflituit. & Picum patrem inter Deor boneravit, & forerem fuam Fatuam Faunam earique conjugem consecravit, quam C. Baffus Fatuam nominatam tradit, qued mulieribus fata canere consueviffet, ut Faunus viris. Eandem Varro tradit tanta pudicitia fuffe, ut nemo eam, quoad vixerit, prater virum jum mas viderit, nec nomen ejus audiverit. Ideirco mulieres illi in operto facrificant & bonam Deam ne-

If Fatua never faw any other Man but her Husband, as Lactanius relates after Varro, this gines in Italy. They were represented with certainly must be the reason why the Romans imall Horns on their Head, and pointed gave her the Name of the good Goddess.

Juftin fays, that Fools were called Fatui, because they behave themselves like Fatus, offered them Goats in Sacrifice. These Demiwhen she was transported with prophetick furv.

The good Character that Lanctantius and FAVONIUS, The West-wind, that Varre give of Fatua's Chastity, doth not agree blows from the Equinoxial Line of the West, with what Plutarch relates in his Roman Que- i. e. from that place where the Sun fets in the ftions, when he fays that the was given to time of the Vernal Equinox. The Greek drinking. Anobius relates the same of her, call it Zephirus, i. e. bringing life, because it rein his fixth Book upon the report of Sextur vives and renews Nature in the Spring. Claudius.

the 5th of December in honour of Faunus, where Great. She fell in love with Gripu her Son-ever, Dionyfius Hallicarnaffeus fays, that Faunus him afterwards one of the Tutelar Gods of the Country. The fame Historian says somewhere elfe, that in progress of time the common opinion was, that Faunus was that wild

Enfebius reckons up Faunus among the Kings of the Aborigines, an ancient People in Italy, FAUNA FATUA, Sifter and Wife for he accounts the number of them thus. Janus, Saturnus, Faunus, Latinus. Notwithwith his proper name. For Faunus is derived from edw, fari, loqui, and his Wife was named

Pan and Faunus were likely but one and the with that of Faunus in the Hebrew Tongue; for Pan in E. brew fignifies Fear; and Fan, Aurelius Victor is of the fame opinion. Firgil make Faunus a God of Oracles and Predictions.

At Rex Solicitus monstris, Oracula Fauni Fatidici genitoris adit, &c.

FAUNI, Called also Satyrs, Pant and Silvans, were formerly taken for Gonij and Demi-Gods, inhabiting Woods and Meur tains : (according to the common opinion) were the Sons of Faunus, King of the Alare Ears, and the self of their Bodies like Goats, The Country People worshipp'd them, and Gods were only the Gods of the Latins, and were unknown to the Greeks.

FAUSTA, Sifter to the Emperor Many FAUNALIA SACRA, Feasts kept entiur, and second Wife to Constantine the in-Law, and accused him of having attempted Month of the Year, under the protection of in a hot Bath.

Virgin.

Diseases into Hell, as Virgil has done.

- Primis in faucibus Orci Pallentes habitant Morbi -

the Divinities. Clemens of Alexandria speaks days of the Greeks, and distributed them every thus of them. 'The Romans offered Sacrifices two Years, and at the end of the two first to Hercules the Fly-driver, the Fever and Years, there was a Month of 22 days fet be-Fear : Romani Hercule muscarum depulsori, & fore the Feast called Terminalia, which was Febri at Paveri Sacrificant : And St Auflin fays, kept the fixth of the Kalends of March. i. e. that Felicity is received among the Divini- the 24th of February; and after the two other ties, and joined with Priapus, Cloacina, Fear, Years, the three and twenty remaining days Palenels, Fever, and many others, that can- were fet at the same day; so that in the space not be adored without Crime.

are respected lest they should do harm.

FEBRUA, A Goddels who presided over women's Terms. This word is deri- Month, was kept the Feast of June Sessit ved from the Latin word Februs, i. e. to pu-

FEBRUARIUS, February the fecond The fame day was folemnized the Feaft of her Virtue, because he refused to yeild to her Nepsune. This Month is not found in the Caimpure desires. The Emperor provoked to lendar of Romalus, the Year being then comanger, put him to death, without inquiring posed but of ten Months only; but during any further after the accusarion of his Wife. the reign of Nums Pompiliar, the Calendar was But a while after the Imposture being difco- reformed for the first time. Nums had difvered, Confiantine ordered her to be smothered coursed very particularly with Pythagoras concerning Aftronomy, and made use of whar FAUSTINA. The Wife of Marcus he had learn'd of him, to make this reformadurelius, who taking occasion from her Hus- tion, and followed very near the order kept band's kindness, to lead a lewd life. Her Husband then by the Greek for the distribution of time. prudently winked at it; yet he cannot be ex- Yet the common Years of the Greek were cused, for raising to the greatest Imployments but of 354 days; however, Nums made up in the Empire, those who defiled his Bed : his Year of 355 days, that it might be an odd Whereupon the People paffed many Jeers up- number, out of a superfittion of the Egyptians, on him. And those who were zealous for who accounted even numbers to be fatal. the service of their false Gods, were asham'd Wherefore he took a day out of each of these to fee Faustina, the lewdest of all women, fix Months, April, June, Sextilit, September, rank'd amongst the Divinities, served by November and December, that Remulus had made Priests, and worshipped in a particular up of 30 days, that they might be but 29, Temple like Pallas, who was accounted a leaving to the other Months the 31 days they had before. Then adding these fix days to FAUSTULUS, Numiter's Shepherd, 51, which was wanting to the Year of Remuwho faved Remu and Romulus, two Children lus, which was 304 days, to make up his Year of Rhes the Veffal, whom Amulius her Father 355 days; he made 57 days of them, which had exposed on the River Tyber, and brought he divided in two other Months, and placed them to Acca Laurentis his Wife, who brought them before the Month of March, viz. January of 29 days, and February of 28. He did not FEBRIS, A Fever, an Ague, a Difeafe, much matter that the number of days of this proceeding from an excess of heat and drowth last Month was even, because it was appointin the blood and humours, which communi- ed for the Sacrifices that were offered to the cates it felf from the Heart to the whole Bo- Infernal Gods, to whom this fatal number dy, through the Veins and Arteries, and is feem'd agreeable. He called this Month Feknown by a violent beating of the Pulse. bruarius because of the God Februar, who pre-The Romans put her among their Divinities, sided over the Purifications, or because of and built her a Temple. Poets banish'd the Juno sirnamed Februa, Februata or Februalis; for in this Month the Lupercalia were celebrated in honour of her, where the Women were purified by the Priests of Pan Lycaus. called Lupercals.

And to make this more establish'd and per-But the ignorant People place them among petual, Nums made use of the 45 intercalar of four Years, the whole intercalation of 45 Whereupon Lastantius tells us, that 'tis a days was made, and was even with that, frange depravation to confound these Gods which was practiced by the Greeks in their and Evils together, though they pretend that Olympiades. This interposed Month every two some Gods are honoured for help, and others Years, was called by the Remans Mercedenius or Februarius intercalaris. See Annus.

At the Calends or the first day of this who had a Temple on Mount Palatine, near the Temple of the Grand-mother of the Gods.

Remulus had inflituted, that he might People done. his new Town. And that day they facrificed in the Temples of Vefts and Jupiter, firnamed the Thunderers, to whom a Sheep of two years old was facrificed in the Capitol.

This day there were also Sacrifices offered

There was still upon this day another Ceremony observed, called Charifia, because all for Livy tells us, that the Consul Sulpitim the Kindred of the same Family having the consulted them about the War that he intendforegoing days perform'd the Service for the ed to declare against King Philip; Confulti dead, made among themselves a Banquet of Fetiales à Consule Sulpitio, quod bellum indiceretue Charity, whereby they put an end to all Dif- Regi Philippo. putes and Controversies that might be amongst them. As we learn from Valerius Maximus, they granted them seace, which they ratified lib, 2. C. 1. Convivium etiam folemne Majores inflituerunt, idque Chariftiam appellaverunt, cui prater cognates & affines neme interponebatur, ut fi que inter neceffarias perfonas querela effet erta, in ter facra menfa tolleretur.

counted by them as fo many Gods; they offered them some Wheat Cakes, with the first tual agreement. See Terminalia.

celebrated the Feast of new Wine, called Vi-was kept in August. See Vinalia.

King's Flight, was folemnized in remem- felf for the Athenians against the Lacedemonian, brance of Tarquinius Superbus's Flight out of according to the answer of the Oracle. Rome. See Regifugium.

Field, solemnized with a Horse-Race.

The 28th the Games of the Bulls were represented in remembrance of the defeat of race speaks of her, when he says. Tarquinius by the Romans.

FECIALES, A College of twenty Persons of Quality, skill'd in Affairs of State. instituted by Numa Pompilius, as Plutarch fays, or by Tullus Hofilius, or Ancus Martius, as fome others tell us, the Duty of their Office was to make Peace or proclaim War. The Greeks called them esperopulates, i. e. Keepers of Peace. Fecialet, fays Festur, a faciende, quad belli Felicity, Virtue and Victory were neither pacifque facienda penes eos jus effet.

They did not fuffer them to take up arms, till there was no hope of Agreement and Peace, Primum de pace experiebantur: Where- adoring Felicity, Virtue and Victory like fore they went themselves to the Nations, Divinities, it is nothing else but the adoring who had done the wrong and injury to the the supream Divinity, as the dispenser of Romans, and endeavoured to perswade them these great favours. by Arguments to fubmit to Reason, and the Wood of Refuge called Lucaris, which make amends for what they had wrongfully

If they were not prevailed upon by their Arguments, they called the Gods to witness their just demands, and declared War, throwing a Dare half burnt upon their ground, and fome Grafs, in the presence of three Antient to the dumb Goddefs, or the Goddefs of Si-lence. See Muss Des.

a War contrary to the opinion of these Men,

But if the Enemy yielded to their demands, by the facrificing a Hog, which they struck with a Stone, repeating a certain form of Prayers, related by Livy, in the Treaty of Peace concluded between the Albani and Remans. The Patratus the chief of this College On the 21 or the 22 was kept the Feast of Spoke thus : Audi, Jupiter ; Audi, Pater Patrate the Bounds, called Terminalia, in honour of populi Albani; Audi tu populus Albanus, ut illa pa-Terminus the God of Bounds. The Ceremony Idm prima postrema, ex illis rabulis cerave recisats of this Feast was performed in the Country funt fine dolo malo, utique es bic hodie retiffime in upon Stones used for Bounds, and were ac- tellects sunt, illis legibus Populus Romanus prim non deficiet : fi prior defexit publico confilio, dalo male; in ille die, Jupiter, populum Romanum fu Fruits of the Fields, and facrificed no Vi- ferite, ut hunc ego porcum hic hodie feriam, tante ctims, lest they should shed Blood upon the que magis ferito, quanto magis potes pollefque. Stones, for the Bounds must be set by a mu- Having pronounced these words, he struck the Hog with a Stone, and the Albani did the Some Writers tell us, that on this day was like on their side.

FELICITAS, Felicity, a Heathen nalis priors, and was different from that which Divinity. She was the Daughter of Hercula, as Euripides and Paufanias fay, and deferved The 24th 2 Feast called Regifugium, or the Divine Honours, because the facrificed her

Publick Felicity had many Altars and The 27th was a Feast called Equiris in the Temples at Rome, as it appears by Roman His florians, and was called Faufitas, especially in relation to private Felicity. In this sense He > Tutus bes etiam rura perambulat. Nutrit vura Ceret, almaque Fauftitat.

St Austin speaks of this Goddess in the 4th Book de Civitate Dei, c. 18. and shews that Fo licity is the same with good Fortune, and that the Romans acknowledged themselves, that Gods nor Goddesses, but only Gifts of God, feeing that they demanded them of Jupiter. Wherefore if we confider what they meant by lics. as we see in a Medal of the Empress Ju- Prodigies ceased. lis Mammes. Lucullus built her a Temple at FERETRIUS, An Epithet given to Lepidus finished.

Felicity.

R

pair of even Scales with the other.

in the Calendar on the 21st of Pebruary, viz. ed from labour, from the Verb feriari, i. e. on the 9th of the Calends of March, tho' Ovid to refl, to ceafe from work, for the Revis of puts it on the 17th of February, or the 13th the Ancients were Festival-days. Now the of the Calends of March. This Feast was in- Church marks the days of the Week, by the flituted to render the last Honours to the word Feria fecunda, feria sertia, &c. tho' thefe Dead, and pacify their Ghosts called Manes, days are not Holy-days, but working-days : Eneas is accounted the first Author of this the occasion thereof was, that the first Chri-Feast. and Nums the Inventer of all the Cere- stians, to shew their Joy at the celebrating of monies performed therein. This Feast was Easter, were used to keep the whole Week kept during eleven days in this manner. The holy, and forbear from all fervile work, that Kinsmen and Acquaintance of the Dead they might give themselves wholly to the went to their Graves, and turned round about contemplation of the Mysteries contained them. making their Prayers; then they pre- therein; wherefore they called the Sunday the pared an Entertainment upon a great Stone, first Holy-day, the Monday the second Holycalled Silicernium; and this Feast was com- day, the Tuesday the third Holy-day, and so monly ferved with Honey, Wine and Milk, forth; and from thence the days of every they foread Flowers, and burnt Frankincense week, were afterwards called Frie in the comand other Perfumes, according to the Quality mon Language of the Church, tho' they are of the deceased: Silicernium, fays Donatus, ca- not to be kept Holy. na que infertur Diis Manibus, quod cam filentes cernant, or quod epula, fays Servius, ponerenter publick Feria, common to all the People in Super nudam silicem.

Souls of the dead fuffered no pains in Hell during the eleven days, that the fubterracount, but were allowed to walk about their for keeping Fairs. Graves, and feed upon the Feast prepared for Stative Ferie were fet Holy-days mark'd in them.

because they fancied that the Ghosts were give an account of them in their order. walking, and that all was then profane. This Ovid meant by these Verses.

Dum tamen hac fiunt, vidua ceffate puella : Expettes pures pinea tada dies.....

Di quoque templorum foribus celentur opertis, Thure vacent ara, flentque fine igne foci. Nunc anima tenues & corpora fancta fepulchris Errant, nunc posito pascitur Umbra cibo.

the Souls were heard both in the Town and Bed of the Gods may be referred.

Felicity was represented like a Divinity sit-| the Country, complaining in the night of beting on a Throne, holding with her right ing forsaken. Whereupon it was ordered to Hand Marcary's Wand, and with the left a keep this Feast for the future with more de-Horn of Plenty, with this Motto Felicitas Pub- votion and exactness; and immediately the Rome, and Julius Cafar began another, which Jupiter, from the Latin word ferre, because the Spoils taken from the Enemy were brought to The Ancients represented Felicity holding his Temple; or from the word ferire, bea Cup in her right Hand, and a Scepter in the cause before they went to War, they prayed left, as appears by the Medals of Adrian and to that God, to enable them to beat the Ene-Alexander Mammess. But Moderns represent mies of the Roman People. Romulus instituted her under the Figure of a blindfold Lady, this Ceremony after the defeat of the Saholding up a Sword with one hand, and a bins, and dedicated a Temple to Jupiter Feretries.

FERALIA, The Feast of the dead, noted FERIE, Holy-days, when People rest-

The Romans had two kinds of Feria, the general, and the private Feria, which were The Antients were perswaded that the only kept by some private Families.

The publick Ferias were four-fold, Stativa unmoveable, and Holy-days Imperative, comnean Gods were invoked upon their ac- manded; Conceptive moveable; Nundine days the Calendar, which always fell out upon the During this time Marriages were forbidden, fame day, the three chiefest thereof were Aand the Temples of other Divinities shut up, genalia, Carmentalia, and Lupercalia. I shall Conceptive were Holy-days appointed every Year upon uncertain days, according to the Pontiffs will ; fuch were Ferie Latine, Paganales, Sementine, and Compitales,

Imperative, commanded, or extraordinary Holy-days, kept according as the occasions of the Commonwealth required, either to give thanks to the Gods for fome extraordinary Favours, or to pacific their Wrath, and pray to them to keep the People from publick This Feast having been neglected for some misfortunes. Unto these kind of Holy-days years, all the Graves were feen on fire, and the Processions, Games, Lettisternium, or the

Before Flavius made the Calendar publick, rifice. the unmoveable Feasts were publish'd by the Curio's, who waited the Nones of each Month upon the King of Sacrifices, to know what Holy-days were to be kept that Month, and then acquainted each Parish with the same. and a Temple were consecrated to her. 'Tis And this was still practiced after the publish- said that the Town and the Wood having ing of the Calendar. As for the Fera conceptive and imperative, they were published in the publick places by a Herald in these words, Wood grew green again. Strabe relates, that Lavatio Denm Matris eft hodie : Jouis epulum cras eff, and the like. And these Holy days were fo religiously kept, that the opinion of the Pontiff Mutius Scavels was, fays Macrebius, that the breaking of a Holy-day was unpardonable, unless Men had done it out of inadvertency, and in this case they were acquitted by facrificing a Hog. FERIÆ LATINÆ, The Latin Holyday. Some Writers fay that the Confuls Sp. Coffins and Postburnius Caminius instituted these Holy-days, by a Treaty that they made with the Latin in the name of the Senate and the Roman People. But Dienysius Hallicarnasseus and almost all the Writers tell us, that Tarquinius Supurbus instituted them; and that having overcome the Tustans, he made a league with the Latins, and proposed them to build a Temple in common to Jupiter firnamed Latialis, where both Nations might meet every Year, and offer Sacrifice for their common Confervation. Wherefore they chose Mount Albanus, as the center of these Nations, to sing from work, to employ themselves to build there a Temple; and instituted a year- the service of the Gods and Religious Duly Sacrifice, and a great Feast in common ; ties. and among their Rejoycings, they swore a mutual and eternal Friendship. Each Town of both Latins and Romans, provided a certain quantity of Meat, Wine, and Fruits for things, that Men were allowed to do in Hothe Feast.

A white Bull was facrificed in common, and the Inhabitants of every Town carried home a piece thereof. When this Ceremony was at first instituted it held but one day. but after the Kings were expell'd out of Rome, the People demanded that another day might be added to it; afterwards the Senate added | Sepe oleo tardi coffee agitator afelli, a third day, a fourth, and so on till they came Vilibus aut onerat pomis : Georg. lib. 1. v. 270. to ten days.

After the Expulsion of Kings, the Consuls as to make Drains to drain the water. inappointed a time for the celebrating of this close a Field with Hedges, laying snares for Feast; during which, the People left the Birds, fet Thorns on fire, wash a Flockin guard of the City to a Governor called Pre- the River, and load an Als with Fruits. fellus Urbis.

Albanus, there were Chariot-Races at the Ca- ing was not left to the liberty or humours of pitol, and the Conqueror was treated with a Men's fancy, but were regulated by the Laws great draught of Wormwood-drink, which is and Ordinances of the Pontiffs, who ruled very wholfom, as Pliny fays, Lat. worum feriis matters of Religion.

Naudina, days for Fairs, and extraordinary | quadriga certant in Capitolia, victorque absymbia-

FERONIA, A Goddess of the Woods and Orchards. This Divinity took her name from the Town of Fermia, scituated at the foot of Mount Seratte in Italy, where a Wood both taken fire, whereupon the People carrying away the Statue of the Goddefs, the the Men who offered her Sacrifices, walked bare-footed upon burning Coals, without burning themselves. She was honoured by freed-men as their Protectrefs, because they received in her Temple the Cap, that was the Token of their Liberty.

FESTUM and FESTA, Holy-days. The Remans kept many Feafts, as it appears by their Calendar. We shall speak of them according to their Alphabetick Order. They were very careful of observing Feasts, and during that time they did forbear to work.

Tibellus tells us, that the Romans abstain from working, upon the days of Expiations and Lustrations of the Fields.

Quisquis adest , faveat , fruges lustramus & Omnia fint operata Dee, non audeat ulla Lanificam penfu impojuiffe manum.

These words express the true end of cer-

Tis not certain, if Planghmen rested from all kind of work, during the Holy-days. Vingil relates many exercises, and other small ly-days,

Quippe etiam festis quedam exercere diebus, Fas & jura finunt : Rivos deducere nulla Relligio wetuit ; Segeti pratendere fepem, Insidias avibus moliri, incendere vepres, Balantumque gregem fluvio merfare salubri :

These works were not disagreeable to the While this Feast was celebrated on Mount | celebrating of the Holy-days. And yet work that the following day was accounted a day fatal. of bad Omen to undertake any thing. Wherefore the Romans and the Greeks have confecrated the next day after the Holy-days, to the Genij or the dead.

And they were so careful of ceasing from work, that the keeping of their Holy-days Ancients honoured and plac'd in Heaven. was an imitation of the rest of the Sabbath, Livy relates, that her Priests were cloathed commanded by the Law of God. For the with very white Linnen, to shew the can lour Greeks and the Romans kept fome Holy-days and fincerity of Faith. She was reprefe ted during eight days together, in imitation of by two Hands joined close together, and the Hebrews, and had also their eight and sometimes with two little Images holding nine days of Devotion. For Polybius tells us, that to thank the Gods for a Victory obtain'd at Sea, the Romans ordered to forbear from all kind of work for nine days together.

FIBUL A, Buckles, Clasps. This Latin word, generally taken, fignifies All forts of Priests or Flamines sacrificed to her without work that joins two things together.

Fibula Architectonica, that which in Archireflure we call a Nail, Peg, Key and Ring, their right hand open. and all that is made use of to join Beams tofense Cefar makes use of this word, in the defcription he has made of the Bridge that he built over the River Rhine : Binis utrinque fibulis ab extrema parte diffinebantur.

In Anatomy Fibula is that we call a Cannel-

Fibula in relation to Cloaths, means Buckles and Clasps, that keep close, or tie up some part of our Cloaths. The Greeks and Romans made use of them, and often adorned them with precious ftones. Men and Women did wear them upon their Cloaths and Shoes, and used them to keep up their Hairs, aliqua fibula | this Inscription Simulachrum Fidit. comam diffluentem colligant.

Fibula Gymnaftica or Citharedica, used only by Muficians and Comcedians, to keep close Women company, and lose their voice, as we learn of Celfus. The fame thing was used to Players upon the Stage, to preferve their voice, as 'tis reported by Martial.

Menophili penem tam grandis fibula veftis.

An Ancient Interpreter of Juvenal obferves upon this Verse of the fixth Satyr, > — Nullius fibula durat Vocem wendentis prætoribus.....

Fibulam dicit circelles ques tragadi, sive comadi in pene babent.

FICULNEA VIA. The way or the Street of the Fig-tree at Rome, called Momenthe white Fig-tree is fortunate, but on the the Glory of his Triumph shine the more.

They were so exact in keeping Holy-days, | contrary, that which brings brownish Figs is

The Fig-tree called Ruminalis, under which the Wolf fuckled Remus and Remulus, was at at Rome, about the place of the Affemblies.

FIDES, Faith. A Goddess, whom the one another by the hand. See Fidius.

Dionysius Hallicarnasseus tells us, that Numa Pompilius was the first Man who built a Temple to publick Faith, and instituted Sacrifices in honour of her at publick charges. Her fhedding of Blood, cloathed with white Robes, and drawn upon a Chariot, holding FIDIUS. The Romans and the Sabins. gether, and other parts of Buildings. In this respected this God, as the protector of the good Faith that should reign among them.

There was a Temple at Rome on Mount Quirinalis built to this God, where his Feaft was kept every year upon the Nones of June. And his Image is still feen at Rome, in an ancient Marble of three Figures, which are under a kind of a Canopy. Honour stands at the right, under the figure of a middle aged Man; Truth at the left, represented like a Woman crowned with Laurel, holding Honour by the Hand; and Love is betwixt them both, under the shape of a young Child, with FLAMINIUS, Sirnamed Quintius, the Son of T. Flaminius, whom Hannibal defeated near the Lake Trajymenes. Being Conful, he the prepuce of Children, left they should keep marched against the Inhabitants of Milan, and routed them. Then he made war against Philip King of Macedonia, and vanquish'd him in two pitch'd Battles, and by this defeat restored Liberty to all the Cities of Greece, that King Philip had made his Tributaries. And being ready to engage the Enemy, he received Orders from the Senate to return to Rome, to quit his Consulate, because of some formalities wanting at his Election; but he put the Packet into his Bosom, and did not open it. till after he had obtained the Victory: The Senate refented highly his contrivance, and endeavoured to deprive him of the triumphal Entry; but the People opposed them, and allowed him the Triumph. Wherefore this great General was attended in his Triumph. by a Crowd of his fellow Citizens, whom he had made free, and followed his Triumphal FICUS, A Fig-tree. Pliny affirms, that | Chariot with Acclamations, which made neither in the Calendars of Rome, nor in the Apple, with a woollen Tuft on the top of Roman Chronicles. The Senare doubtless de- it called Apiculum, and from its brims hung prived him of that Honour, because he had woollen Bands, called Offendices, to keep it not obeyed their Orders, when he was called fast.

back to Rome. the plural number. Nums instituted these si smifte Flaminio decedit. Priests of Jupiter . Mars and Remulus or his Book of the Latin Tongue tells us, Gods. At first there was but one Flamen created, who was called Flamen Dialis . or the Mars, called Flamen Martialis, and a third to left Jupiter should fee him naked. Quirinus or Romulus, called Flamen Quirinalis.

Afterwards the number of Flamines was increased; but yet the first were called Majores Plamines, and were all of Patrician Families; the others were called Minores Flamines, and were of Plebeian Families.

There were likewife Flamines ordained for the Emperors, after they were ranked among the Gods. The Emperor Augustus had one called Flamen Augustalis.

The People affembled by Curii chose these Priests, and often left their Election to the Pontiffs. The High Priest consecrated them. upon her Husband Flaminii Camilli. and they were under his fubjection, as to their Difcipline. Aulus Gellius relates the Ce-1 remonies observed at their Consecration.

First, the will of the Gods was consulted by Augurs, about the Man who should be confecrated, then the High Priest took him up from the hands of his Kindred; and this was called capere Flaminem, as we learn from

The Priests of Jupiter called Flamen Dialis was the chief of all. And it must be observed that all these Priests were allowed to wear the Robe edged with Purple, like great Magiftrates, to keep the Ivory Chair, and to fit in the Senate.

was particular to them. And Varro tells us, ple. that they had the name Flamen, because they wore a little Band of Thread about their The Flavian Family, so called, from the co-Head, Flamines dieti, quod filo caput cinctum habebant.

Servius mentions two kinds of Ornaments that the Flammes wore upon their Head, one fingle for conveniency in the Summer, viz. this little Band of Thread; the other was the tim gives a description of Flora or Flaura, as Hat, which covered their Head, during their if the was a Courtezan, who left her fubftance Functions : Verkm festis diebus, file deposite, piles to the Roman People ; in consideration wherenecelle erat accipere.

scribed the form of the Hat of the Flaminer, tituled the Goddess of Flowers. But Varre and tells us, that it was called Flammeum, that recounts Flora among the Divinities, who

Elaminius is not found among the Confuls, I the Crown thereof was in form of a Pine-

When the Wife of the Flamen Dialis died. FLAMEN and FLAMINES, in he was obliged to quit his Priesthood: unorem

He was not allowed to ride, nor to take Quirinus, to perform the Religious Ser- any Oath, nor to lye out of the Town. The vice, and called them Flamines. Varro in paring of his Nails and Hairs were buried at the Foot of a Tree, Subter arborem Siliquam terthat the Antients had as many Flamines as ra operiantur; and was forbid to name or touch a She-Goat, a Hare, or Beans, and never entered into any place where dead Bodies Priest of Jupiter; then another was allowed to lay, and was bound to shift himself in private,

FLAMINICA, The Wife of the Flamen Dialis was invested with the Priest-hood, like her Husband, and was not obliged to observe the same Ceremonies that he observed himfelf. She was not allowed to comb her Hairs, nor to put them in order, when the went to the Ceremonies of the Argei, celebrated in May, because she was then in mourning. Her chiefest Ornament was a great Scarf of purple colour, with a Fringe about it. The Woman who waited on her was called Flaminia, and the Men who attended

FLAMINIUS, See before Flamen. FLAVIUS. Caim the Son of Crem Flavius Libertinus, a Notary, was raised to the dignity of Edilis Curulis against the Patrician's confent, which they refented fo highly, that they left off their Ornaments, and refused to falute him in contempt of his elevation. But to be revenged of them, he published the Roman Law, which the Senate and Patricians had kept very fecret among themselves, in the Closets of the Pontiffs, and published also the Roman Calendars, and dedicated a Temple to Concord. Whereupon the wrath of the Patricians was increased, for they had then no-They did wear a kind of a Cap or Hat, that thing left fecret to deceive the simple Peo-

> FLAVIANA, Viz. FAMILIA, lour of their Hairs, that were reddish. There were three Remen Emperors born of that Family , viz. Vespatianus , Titus and Domiti-

FLORA, The Goddess Flora. Lattanof they ordained her extraordinary Honours, Scaliger, upon this Text of Varro, has de- and Games called Floralia, where she was in-were before that time honoured by the Sabins, cold out of the Limbs by hear, restoring and were received at Rime, when the Sabins, to- them to their Natural state; the birtiminous gether with their King Tatius joined themfelves to the Romans, to make with them but pers of the internal parts of the body. one and the fame body of People. Ovid describes her in his Fasti, as the Goddess of face whereof there is Oyl swimming over. Flowers, the Wife of Zephirus, whereby he which smells like the scraping of a Lemon, means a natural Goddess, named Flora, instead the Inhabitants of the place anoint their Carof Cloris. The Games Floralii were instituted the with it. Near Hieropolis in Phrygia there is five hundred and thirteen years after the a great boiling Fountain which petrifies. foundation of Rome; and yet were not kept annually : but in the year five hundred and tract bitterness by the moisture of the Earth, eighty, at the celebrating of these Games, through which they run out, which proceeds Harlots danced naked, playing a thousand la- from Mines of Sandarach, that communicates scivious postures.

FLORUS. A Governour of Judes for the Romans, who attempted to steal away seven- cina, called the Fountain of Neptune, the Wateen Talents out of the Treasury of the Tem- rer whereof was so poisonous, that it immeple. But the people disappointed his delign. and reproached him for his Tyranny; and Salia there is still a Fountain shadowed by a to make him appear scandalous, some men Tree, the blossoms whereof are of purple went from door to door begging in his colour, the Flocks refuse to drink of it. In the name. But having been acquainted with it, to revenge that affront, he marched with all his Forces and entred Jerusalem, where his Soldiers plundered the Market, and many persons of Quality's Houses. He commanded also that many Romans of the Equestrian Order, should be whipt, and nailed to the Cross. without any regard to their quality. because they were Native Jews. His barbarous dealing obliged the Jews to rebel, whereupon Velpasianus destroyed their Capital City and Nation.

an Abridgment of the Roman History from Remulus to Trajan, and lived in his Reign. drunk. Some Criticks can't bear his way of writing, yet his Style is not altogether fo much to be blamed, tho there are a great many Faults in it, being wholly Poetical and full of quibbles. 'Tis uncertain whether he is the Author drank of its Water. Upon this Fountain there of the Epitome of the Books of Livy.

FLUONIA. An Epithet given to Juno, their monthly courses.

Fountains, the water whereof is as good to Praise in this Fountain, to cure them of their drink, fays Vitruvius, as that which is drawn | Madness, and restored them to their former out of the Fountain of the Muses, or the condition. Spouting-waters of Martian's Fountain. All hot Fountains have a Medicinal Virtue; for being warm'd by the Minerals, through which they run, acquire a new vertue, and are fit for other uses than common Waters are. For Sulphureous Water is good for diftempers of the Nerves, fortifying them, and confuming the bad humours with their heat. The waters that run through Allum-mines, cure bodies weakened with the Palfy, or fome other like diffemper, driving the exorbitant waters being drunk, by purging expel diftem-

At Carthage there is a Spring, on the fur-

There are also springs of water that conits bitterness to the waters.

There was was a foring of Water at Terradiately killed Men who drank of it. In Thef-Country of the Falifei, near the road of Naples. and a Grove standing in the middle of a Field called Cometus, comes out a Spring, wherein are found bones of Serpents, Lizards, and other venemous Beafts.

There are also some Fountains of acid waters, as the Fountains of Lyncestis and Velino in Italy, Theans in Terra di Lavoro, and in many other places, which being drank, disfolve stones in the Bladder and Reins.

Besides all these Fountains there are other Springs, the Waters whereof feem to be mixt FLORUS, An Historian, who has writ with Wine, as that of Paphlagonia, which, without any Wine mixt with it, makes Men

In Arcadia, near a Town well known called Clitor, is a Cave under ground, from whence flows a spring of Water that has such a Virtue, that Men hate Wine after they have is an Epigram written in Greek Verses, giving warning to the People that the Fountain is because she helped women in the time of not proper for bathing, and is an Enemy to the Vineyard, because Melampus having offer-FONS, A Fountain. There are hot ed his Sacrifice, purified the Daughters of

> In the Isle of Glio there was a spring of warer, that made those mad who drank of it. Wherefore an Epigram was fet on it, to give warning that the water thereof was very pleafant to drink, but made the minds of Men az hard as Stone.

> At Suza the Capital City of the Kingdom of Perfia, another fmall fpring of water makes the Teeth fall out. And an Epigram is there written, to give notice to the people, that the water of that Fountain is very proper for drink of it fhed.

Thefe two Fountains Arthufs and Hippocrene of this last Fountain fignifies the Horse Fountain. This Horse was also called anya, i.e. Fountain. 'Tis well known, that the Vapours of the waters under-ground, ascend to the highest top of the Mountains by a continual transpiration, and there thicken into fmall drops of water, which meeting together make Springs. Voffice tells us, that this motion of ascending waters, compared to a Horse, gave occasion to the Fable of Pe-

Arethusa is a Fountain in Greece, which was beloved by the River Alpheur, who follows her running under ground as far as Sicilia, where Diana receives her in the fmall Island of Ortygia. See Alpheus.

FONTINALIA SACRA, The Rome, by crowning the Fountains with Garlands of Flowers and Lamps, among the Sa-

FONTINALIS PORTA, AGate at Rome called Capena, where Fountains and Conduits were built.

FORDICIDIA or FORDICA-LIA, A Festival obierv'd the 15th of April through all the Curie, on which they offerel in tacrifice a Cow with a Calf called

FORNACALIA, The Feast of O. vens, which was commonly celebrated the 18th, in remembrance of the ancient Ovens, wherein Wheat was roafted, before the way of grinding Corn and making Bread was found out. Upon that day they facrificed to the Goddess Fornax, to give her thanks for the good use of Ovens, invented by her,

FORTUNA, Fortune, a Goddess which the Heathens esteem'd the Ruler of all Events both good and bad. For they diftinguish'd two kinds of Fortune, one good and the other bad.

The Greeks had many Temples dedicated to Fortune, recorded by Pausanias in several places of his Books, called the Fortune of the Gode Geer Tuxn, and observes that Homer has spoken well of Fortune or Tyche; and has placed her among the Nymphs, the Daughters of the Ocean ; but never allowed her a great power over humane things; tho' he has in other places of his works described the Functions proper to every particular Goddefs.

Paulaniae has also observed, that the imaginary omnipotency ascribed to Fortune, and so much extoll'd by vain Men in following Ages, did not prevail over the mind of Men, (at least of the Greeks) before the Age bathing, but makes the Teeth of those who of Hamer, Paulanian observes fill in many tune, and ranked her at the head of the Parca. were often rehearled by the Poets. The name | Facile enim mibi Pindarus in fuir Canticis persusdet, tum alia multa, tum vere unam effe Parcarum Fortunam. & eam quidem potefiate foreribus antecellere. The common Idea of a blind and inconstant Fortune, can't be represented by making her one of the Parce; and yet this representation comes near to the truth, for it gives to understand, that all things are govern'd by a wife aud absolute power, whose actions icem sometimes casual to Men, because they can't find out the secret and invisible ways of his proceedings.

Pindar prays to Fortune as the Daughter of Jupiter, who has at her command the ordering, motions and fuccess in War both by Sea and Land, and presides at publick delibe-

Horace places the management of all things Feast of Fountains, which was solemnized at in the hands of Jupiter, whose secret and just defigns are unknown to Men; and in general all things that the vulgar afcribe to Fortune, is performed by Providence. Od. 34. l. 1.

> Valet ima summis Mutare, & infignem attenuat Deut, Objeura p omens. Hine apicem rapax Fortuna cum firidore acuto Suftulit, bic posu:ffe gaudet.

'Tis plain by these Verses, that God and Fortune are two names that fignifie the fame thing; for commonly Men ascribe to Fortune the Events that don't depend upon them, and are perform'd by a fuperior cause unknown to them. The following Ode is dedicated to Fortune; and 'tis most certain, that under that name, he understands the supream Dignity, not only because of the infnite power he ascribes her, but also because he confounds Fortune with Necessity and Pate, which is quite opposite to the Idea of

Horace had doubtless read what Homer faid, that at the entry of Jupiter's Palace, there are two great Vessels, out of one runs upon us all good, and of the other all evil, to shew us that God is the dispenser of all good and evil; favouring men with his good thing, and punishing them, when he fends or per Ancus Martius, the fourth King of the Re mans, was the first Man who built a Temple at Rome to Fortune, with this Title Fortune virili, To the Viril and coursejous Fortune ; be cause Courage is not less required than good Fortune to obtain Victories. Servius Tulis built her a Temple at the Capitol under the Title of Primegenia.

There was a Statue of Fortune at Athen, i' is blind, and offers herself indifferently. holding betwire her arms Plutus the God of Riches. She is represented in Medals like a Goddess, holding with one hand a Horn of Plenty, with the other the Helm or Rudder of a Ship, fet upon a Globe, to fhew that fhe governs the World. Fortune is ftill reprefented lying or fitting, and holds under her left Arm her Horn of Plenty, and lays her right hand upon a wheel, to denote her inflability and inconstancy, with these words Persuna Reduci. Apeller dew her in that poflure, and when he was asked the reason these several Names. why he had drawn her fitting, he answered, because she had never been at rest.

ing a Branch of Laurel with her Horn of VIRILIS & FEMINEA.

ing. the was carried to his Successors.

at Pranefte.

vinicies.

The Pagans, fays St Auflin, efteem'd fo places became Towns. much the Goddess Fortune, that they have Fortune had spoken, and said more than one that Honour.

be as many feveral Fortunes good and bad, publick Revenues. as there are men happy and unhappy. May 'fay they. Felicity is that which Men enjoy according to their deferts, but good Fortune befals by chance both good and bad

all Men, and leaves often those Men w ferve her, to flick to those who despite her ; or if they fay, that she sees and loves Men who worthip her, the has then regard to the deferts of Men, and does not happen out of a meer chance? what will become then of the definition of Fortune? and how can they fay that she derives her name from Fors. because she is casual.

The Romans gave several Names to Fortune, and built her Temples and Ædicula, by

They called her FORTUNA LIBE-RA. REDUX, PUBLICA, PRI-We have fill other Emblems of Fortune; MIGENIA, EQUESTRIS; PARin some whereof she is represented with a VA FORTUNA; FORS or FOR-Beard, Fortuna Barbata, and in others carry- TIS FORTUNA; FORTUNA

lenty. FORUM, This word fignifies feveral We read in Histories, that the Fortune of things; viz. Market-places, and commen Gold commonly attended the Beds of the places, where the People met upon Bufines, Cafars, and that when the Emperor was dy- a d where they pleaded; for of all the places that were at Rome, there were but three where There was a brazen Statue of Fortune, in Courts were kept. Forum fignified alfo, a a Temple built to her by Sylla at Pranefte, fo Town where Fairs are kept, as Forum Julis, well gilt over, that to express any thing that the Fair of Frieul; Forum Livij, the Fair of was well gilt, 'tis faid that it had been gilt Forly; and Forum Flaminium, the place where was kept the Fair of Fuligny; for because of The Ancients represented Fortune of both | the great concourse of Metchants, who came Sexes, Male and Female, as several other Di- to these Fairs, they built Houses for their conveniences, and in process of time, these

The publick places in Greese are of square left in Writing, that the Statue that Women figure, with double and large Piazza's round had confecrated by the name of feminine about, the Pillars whereof are close, and hold up the Architraves made of Stone or Marble. time, that they had done well to render her with Galleries above; but this was not prasticed in Italy, because the old custom was to There was a Temple built upon Mount represent the Fights of Gladiators to the People Elquilinus confectated to Fortune, St Au- in these places, wherefore they set up their flin speaks of it in raillery, in the 4th Book Pillars at a larger distance one from another, of the City of God, c. 18. ' How can Goddeis that the People might fee those Shews the Fortune be sometimes good, and sometimes better, and that the Sliops of the Bankers, bad? May be when the is bad, the is not that were under the Piazza's, and the Balcothen a Goddess, but is changed on a sudden nies that were above, might have room einto a pernicious Devil; Then there must nough for their Trade, and the Receipt of

There were seventeen common places or be the Goddess is always good, and if it be Market-places at Rome, fourteen whereof were to, the is the fame thing as Felicity. Why appointed for the fale of Goods and Merchanhave then Men confecrated them feveral dizes, called Fora Venalia. There was Forum Temples, Altars and Ceremonies? Because, Olitorium, the Herb-Market, where Pulses were fold ; Forum Pifferium, the Market for Bread : Forum Piscarium, the Fish-Market ; Forum Equarium, the Market for Horses; Forum Men, without any respect to personal Me- Bosrium, the Market where Oxen were fold; rit, whereforeshe is called Fortune. But Forum Soarium or Suarium, the Hog-Market; how can the be good, if the befals with- Forum Cupedinarium or Cupedinis, the Murket our distinction both good and bad Men? for Dainties, where the Cooks, the Pastry-And why Men should ferve her, seeing she Cooks, and the Confectioners kept their Shops. Writers don't agree about the Exymology In this place of Affembly there were four of the Name given to this place. Fifthe fays, | Startly Buildings, viz. the Palace of Poeller; that this word is derived from super or capedia, the House of Opimia, where the Senate men which fignifies in Autient Books, rare and the House of Julia, built by Vitravint, and dainty meat, Varro in his ath Book of the Latin the House of Porcia, crecked by Portius Cate, Tongue, tells us, that this place took its Name | At one corner of this place, at the foot of the from a Roman of the Equettrian Order named Tarpeian Rock, was a great and dreadful Pri-Cuper, who had a Palace in this place, which fon built by Micas Martine, and fince enlarged was pull'd down in punishment of his Thefts, by Servius Tullius, with many Dungeons, and the place where it frood, appointed for the use of a Market.

All thefe Market-palces were furrounded with Piazza's and Houses, with Stalls and Ta- of a man lying all along, representing, as bles, to expele Goods and Merchandizes to fome men fay, the Figure of the River Nor. fale, which were called Abaci, Platei, Venalitij.

& Operarie Mente. The Romans called the places where matters of Judgment were pleaded and decided Fora Civilia or Judiciaria, the three chiefest whereof were, Forum Romanum, which was the most ancient and most famous of all, called Latinum & Vetas, where the Roftra was kept : Perum Julij Cafaris & Porum Augusti, were two places only added to the Forum Remanus, because it was not large enough to hold the number of Lawyers and Clients, fays Sactonius. These three places were appointed for the Assemblies of the Reople, publick Spechees and Administration of Justice. There were still two places more added to these three above mentioned; one was began by Domitian, and finished by the Emperor Nirva, and was called by his Name Forem Divi fer up and adorned with stems, or fore-Nerve, and the other was built by Trajan, called Forum Trainni.

The Forum Romanum was scituated betwixt Mount Palatinus and the Capitol, and contained all that foot of ground, that extended from the Arch of Septimius Severus, to the Temple of Jupiter Scator. In Romalue's time it was only Marble, built by the Emperor Caligula, to a great open place, without Buildings or any go from Mount Palatinus to the Capitoli other Ornament; Tullus Hestilius was the first through the Forum Romanum. This Gallery who inclosed it with Galleries and Shops, and was supported by fourfcore huge Pillars of afterwards this work was carried on by other | white Marble. Kings, Confuls and Magistrates: And in the time of the prosperity of the Common-wealth, it was one of the finest places in the World. The chiefest parts thereof were, the place called Comitium, where the people affembled for deliberations concerning publick Affairs. The Magistrates called Ediler and Prætors, ordered often Games to be represented there to divert the people. Marcellas Junior the Son of Octavia, Angustu's Sister, caused it to be hind the Temples of Peace and Faustina. covered with Linnen, the year that he was Ædile, for the conveniency of those that were at Law, ut Salubrius litigantes consisterent, fays Pliny. Cate the Cenfor faid, that this place ought to be paved with tharp Stones, that litigious men growing weary of standing there, might be discouraged to go to Law.

from whence it was called Tullianum. Over against that Prison stood a great Coloss of Marble, vulgarly called Marforie, in the shape the first letter N having been changed by corruption of Language into an M Nardiforum and Marferie. Some other men tell us, that this Figure_represented the River Rhine, and was a piece of Architecture, funporting the Statue of Domitian on Horseback. and was laid there after he had triumphed over Germany. And some are of opinion that it was the Statue of Jupiter Panarius, the God of the Bakers, whose Statue was fet up there in remembrance of the Loaves that the Soldiers threw down from the Capitol into the Camp of the Gauls, to fhew them that they wanted no Provisions.

Just by this place of Assembly was the Court called Hofilis, where the Senate affembled very often. Over against this Court was the Roftra Roftrorum, which was a Pulpic fronts of Ships taken from the Antiates. An the Entry of the place, or, as Tacitus fays, near the Temple of Saturn, was a Pillar called Milliarium aureum, from whence they took the distance and measures of the Italian Miles. There was also a Gallery like a Bridge of

FORUM JULII CÆSARIS WEE much finer than the Forum Romanum, He contrived the defign thereof, being yet a private man, and began to fet men at work about it, when he was Pro-conful of the Gauls. The adorning of this place cost him above a hundred thousand great Sesterces, which is five hundred fixty two thousand five hundred pounds of our Money. This place was be-

FORUM AUGUSTI, was above the Forum Romanum. In the middle of this Forum. Augustus built the Temple of Mars, by the Title of BISULTOR, i.e. Twice Revenger, because he had helped him to revenge himself on the murderers of his adoptive Father, and to fubdue the Parthiam. He built up on one fide the Statues of all the Latin breary, the fame day that King Parquinius Su-Kings fince Enes, and on the other fide he perbu fled away to Perfume. erected all the Statues of the Kings and Em- FULGUR, Lightning, a grofs and fulphurous perors of Rome, from its foundation to his Exhalation, fet on fire by the clashing of the tien, and finished by Nerva. It was also na- nary effects on the Earth. The Pagant have med Forum transstorium, because it was a passage always armed their Gods with a Thunderto go to the other Firi. Alexander the Emperor bolt, and specially Jupiter, and tell us, that fer no three Statues, of the height and bigness Vulcan and Cyclops forged the Thunderbolts in of Colosses, both on Foot and Horse-back, in the Caves of Mount Ains, where they placed honour of the Emperors his Ancestors, and his Forge. erected brazen Pillars, whereon were engraved their Atchievements.

F U G

mer; and the Gods themselves, says Ammianus ander in the Temple of Diana of Ephelus, hold-Marcellinus, gazed upon it as one of the won- ing a Thunderbolt in his hand, to shew the ders of the World, and were amazed at it, extent of his power, which no Creature was feeing nothing but Heaven it felf finer, and able to withstand. nothing elfe that came fo near to it : Singularem fub omni celo firucturam, etiam Numinum aflensione mirabilem. Apilledorus a skilful Architect, built it by Trajan's Order. In the middle of this place, was a Pillar a hundred and twenty eight foot high, and Men ascend to it by one hundred eighty five Steps, which were enlightned with forty five Windows. Round about this Pillar were ingraven the Atchievements of this Emperor, and the Victories he had obtained over the Daci. 'Tis the general opinion, that the Senate confecrated this Pillar to him, while he was at War against the Parthiam, and that he never faw it himfelf ; at the fame place where they had been ftruck but dying of a bloody-flux at Seleucia a City with the Thunderbelt, as Artemiderus tells in Syria, his Ashes were brought to Rome, and fet up in a golden Pilaster on the top of the Pillar, which is adorned with feveral reprethem, EX MANUBIIS.

Nerus and the Capitol.

Baths to cool the People.

in the time of the Emperor Nerva. FRUMENTATORES & FRU-

MENTARIJ. Those who bought Corn in the Provinces, both for Cities or Armies, or received and gathered the Corn, that some Provinces furnish'd the Commonwealth with These words signific also Purveyors for the Armies, who destributed a certain quantity of Corn every day to each Soldier, in the like manner as the Ammunition Bread is now defiributed in the Armies to the Soldiers.

FUGALIA, Feafts instituted in remembrance of the Liberty restored to the Commonwealth, after the Kings were expell'd built a double Gallery sound about it, and let som of Bone. These Wealts were beit in he

Clouds together, and coming out with vio-FORUM Nerva, was began by Domi- lence makes a great noise, and has extraordi-

The Egyptians in their Hieroglyphicks took Thunder for a power, which no Creature is FORUM Trajani exceeded all the for- able to relift. Wherefore speller drew Alex-

The opinion of the Heathens was, that #== piter never ftruck neither Men nor inanimate Creatures with his Thunderbolt, but to punish their Crimes: and Men struck therewith were deprived of Sepulture, and were buried only in the fame place where they were found dead, according to the Law of Nums, as Feffus relates.

Sei fulmine occifus eft, ei jufta uulla fieri

They covered only their Corps with Earth.

It was not allowed to Sacrifice to the Gods, with Wine of a Vineyard touch'd with Thunfentations of Horses and military Standards derbolt, and the places that were struck with gilded over, with these words written upon it were fatal and unfortunate, till they were purified with Sacrifices, and then thefe places This Forum was scituated between that of became famous, by an Altar that was erecled there. And those men, who were employed FRIGIDARIUM, A place in the to purifie Trees fmitten with Thunderbolt, are called by Feftus Strufertarii, Men making FRONTINUS, An Historian, who a Sacrifice with dough baked upon Ashes. An was Overseer of the Waters and Aqueducts, old table of brass found at Rome, makes good what I fay. These are the words mentioned on that Table.

IIII. ID. DEC. Fratret. Arval. In Luco: Dec. Die. Vis. Compans. Apud. Lab. V. Convener. Per. C. Porc. Prifeum. Mag. Et Ibi. Immolav. Quod ab Ichu, Fulminis. Arbores Luci Sacri. D. D. Attatta Arduerint. Earumque Adolefactarum. Et in co Luco Sacro Alia. Sint Rep ofita.

velis affembled at the Grove of Jane, on the great Road of Campania, five miles from Rome, by the order of C. Portius Pricus Magnus, and there facrificed, because some Trees of the holy Grove, dedicated to the Goddess, were ftruck with Thunderbolt, &c.

The Romans diftinguished two kinds of Thunderbolts, those of the day, which they ascribed to Jupiter, and those of the night. which were in the power of the God Summamus, Dium-fulgur, fays Festus, Appellabant diurnum qued putabant Jevis, ut notturnum Summani. There was yet fulgur provorfum, which was heard betwixt day and night, and was afcribed both to Jupiter and Summanus together.

The Thunder was made use of to take the Augurs, about things that were to come. Some Thunders were called by the Remans Vana and Bruta, which fignified nothing at all, and made more noise than did harm; the others Fatidica, which portended good and evil. joy and forrow. Of these last some were called Confiliaria, which happened while they were adviting about some affair: others Auttoritativa, which happened when the bufiness was done, to give their approbation to it, and countenance it. Others were called Monitoria. which gave warning of what should be avoided. Pellifers, which threatned fome evil or danger. Deprecanea, which carried with them an appearance of danger, and yet were without danger. Familiaria, which prognosticated the evil that was to befal fome Family. Publica, out of which they drew predictions for thirty years; and Privata, by which they foretold things to come only for ten years. FUNAMBULI, Dancers on the Ropes. The Art of the Dancers on the Ropes is very ancient. Terest makes mention of them in the Prologue to Herra.

Capitolinus, in the life of Marcus Aurelius, the Rope fell down; and from hence comes, fays he, that to this present time, viz. to the time of Disclesion, there were Nets spread under the Rope. These Games were represented while Marcus Aurelius was Emperor, in the 18th year of his Tribuneship, the 164th year of our Lord.

Suetonius , in the life of Galba, relates a wonderful thing, which shews, that not only like Players of Comedies, nor had any rule Men but also Animals were capable of being in their Art And yet there were some pre-

The Tenth day of December the Fratres Ar- | The 19th year of Tiberias's Empire, whichis the 22d year of our Lord, Galba being Pretor, ordered the Games and Feafts called Floralia to be kept, wherein he gave new thews to the people, wie. Elephants walking on the Rope.

Afterwards, in the Reign of the Emperor Ners, in the great Games inflituted for the Eternity of the Empire, as Sustenius relates. a great many persons of both Sexes shewed their Skill by feveral forts of Games, and among others a Reman of the Sequestrian Order, fitting on an Elephant, run per catadremum, i. e. on a stretched Rope, as Gafauben interprets it. Pliny in the 8th Book, c. 2. fays, that Germanicus gave publick Games of Gladiators, wherein Elephants performed many Feafts of Activity, throwing Swords in the Air, and fighting like Gladiators, and danced in Armour, and walked on the Rope; and in the following Chapter, Pliny Speaking of the docility of these Creatures, 'Tis a strange thing, fays he, that there are some for skilful as to ascend a long stretched Rope; and what is more incredible, to descend again backward, with less trouble than they went up.

And if we take it from the first ages of our Lord, Petronius, Juvenal, and Quintilian Speak of dancers on the Ropes; Petronius gave this description of them.

Stupea suppositis tenduntur vincula lignis. Que luper acrius pretendit crura viator. Brachia diftendens, greffum per inane gubernat.

Before the coming of our Lord, Herace in the 2d Book of his first Epistle, makes an allusion to the Dancers on the Ropes. Meffala, who lived 260 years before the coming of Christ, is the first man who has rendred the word Schanobates by that of Funambulus in fays, that the Emperors Marcus Aurelius, and Latin, as Acren relates in his Notes upon He-Lucius Verus, dress'd in magnificent Habits, race It must be granted, that 'tis very difficult were Spectators of the Games ordered for to determine precifely the time that men dantheir Triumphs, and that among other marks ced first on the Ropes, yet 'tis to be supposed of Marcus Aurelius's kindness, he had that re- that this art came into practice a while after gard for the Dancers on the Ropes, to order the Games of the Stage and Comedy . that Quilts should be laid along under the which was invented in the diversions of the Rose, because of a little Boy who dancing on Vintage, by occasion of the Leather-bottles, upon which they leapt and danced, Saliere per utres

Shews of Dancers on the Ropes were never accounted among the publick Games, and this Trade was rather looked upon as the skill and diversion of private men, than any thing elfe belonging to the Stage; for we never read that they received any publick reward instructed in the Art of dancing on the Ropes. I fents made to them; but these Presents were not out of the publick rewards fet for them, In former ages they tied Slings to the Balifia. like those that were settled for Players.

they danced in the Chorus's of publick Games, though others fay that the Phenicians found notwithstanding their Dances were not an ef- it out. fential part of these Games, till the Emperor Carinus's time.

cing on the Ropes, as fays an anonymous wri- distance that they were from the Enemy. ter of Geography, who lived in the time of kept in the French Kings Library. This Ma- gers were part of the Raman Militia. nufcript informs us, that the Cyzicenians and ing and dancing, even on the Ropes, that Funeral Speeches at the burying of the great venters and Masters thereof and Callius.

in his time at Conflantinople, fome of these deceffor. Dancers tumbling about a Rope.

lut in wentis cothurnatus ferretur, exhibuit.

In the third order of these Dancers menti- of that great man. oned by the same Manilius, were ranked those tally flanting.

The fourth kind were those who did not Oration of Scipie, and of his own Children. only walk on a bent Rope, but also leapt and the Dances of the Funambuli.

made out of the liberality of the people, and Ropes to fling Stones with a greater violence. The Inhabitants of the Baleares Islands were Lipfin places Shews of Dancers on the Ropes formerly excellent men at Slinging. Vegeting in the rank of private diversions; for the ascribes to them the invention of the Sling, Florus and Strabe tells us, that there were three kinds of Slings, longer or shorter, and The Cyzicenians had a fingular skill in dan- that they made use of them according to the

FUNDITORES, The Slingers, men Confiant and Confiantius, whose Manuscript is who flung Stones with a Sling. The Shin-

FUNEBRIS ORATIO, A Funetheir neighbours had so great a skill in leap- ral Oration. The Roman custom was to have they exceeded in that art all other Nations, men of Rome, spoken from the Refire in the and accounted themselves to be the first In- Forum Romanum, where the Funeral Parade flood. The man chosen to make the Speech The Greeks had Dancers on the Ropes from published the Praises of the Dead, and began the first institution of Scenic Plays, which with the greatness of his Ancestors, the anwere invented about the time of Icarius, the cientness of his Family, the sweetness of his Son of Erigonus, or of Dimysus sirnamed Liber Manners, his Liberality, and the Services Pater, and first introduced into Athens by Theseus. he had rendered to the Commonwealth, both The Dancers on the Ropes appeared first at |in time of Peace and of War. The Children. Reme during the Confulate of Sulpitius Peticus or the Relations performed often this duty, or and L. Steion, the first Introducers of Plays in the Senate appointed some Eloquent Orator Remr. acted for Licinius the first time in the Isle to perform the same. Augustus being but of the River Tiber, and then represented on the twelve years old made a publick Speech to Stage by the orders of the two Cenfors, Meffala praise his Grandmother, and being Emperor he made another to praise Germanicus his Ne-The Greeks called the Dancers on the Ropes | phew. Tiberius, fays Suctonius, made a Speech by these several Names, Schamobates, Acrobates, at nine years of age in honour of his Father, Orebates, and Neurobates, as we read in the and few years after he was raifed to the Imfirst Book of Bullenger de Theatre, who tells us perial Dignity, he pronounced a Funeral. that there were four kinds of them. In the Speech in praise of his Son. Caligula having. first rank he places those who vaulted round not yet put on the Toga Viriliis, made a pubabout the Ropes, like a Wheel about its Axle- lick discourse in commendation of his Grandtree, and hung themfelves by the feet or the mother then dead, and Nero thade also an O-Neck. Nicephorus Gregorus fays, that he faw ration to praise the Emperor Claudius his Pre-

Valerius Publicola, was the first man who The fecond kind of these Dancers were Imade a Funeral Speech at Rome; for Polybius those who let themselves flide downward a relates, that Junius Brutus his Colleague in the long a Rope lying upon their Breafts, hold- Consulship, having been killed at the Battle ing their Arms and Legs stretched out. Of against the Toscant, he ordered his Corps tothese the Manilius Nicetas, and Vopiscus speak in be brought on a Bed in the publick place, and the life of Carinus, faying, Neurobatem, qui ve- he went up into the Refira, and fet forth in a discourse to the people, the Atchievements:

We read in Alexander ab . Alexandro, and in who run on a Rope, being ftretcht horizan- Plutarch, that this custom was practifed, andthat Quintus Fabius Maximus spoke the Poperal

We learn of Livy, that this honour was alplayed many fuch tricks, as a Dancer might fo granted to the Roman Matrons after their do on firm ground at the found of a Flute; death, because they had formally offered to and of these speaks Symposius, when he relates part with their Neckiaces and Jewels in atime that Money was fearce, and in as-FUNDA. A Sling, an Instrument of knowledgment of their Piety, it was order-

Popilis was the first Remen Lady who re- ing invited to a Funeral, came masked was ceived that honour, and Crassus her Son made a Vizard and in a disguise, like the Emperor her Funeral Oration. Sustanius reports, that Velpatian, who being taxed with covetouines Julius Cafar being then Quaftor, pronounced and counterfeiting him according to cuffor a publick discourse of praise in the place cal- asked aloud before the Assembly, those who led Roffrs, in honour of his Aunt Julis, and had the management of the Funerals, has Cornelia his Wife.

FUNERATICUM. The Funeral when he heard that it amounted to a hundred charges, which amounted fometimes to ex- Sesterces, which is about seven hundred and ceffive fumms of Money. New Ipent for lifty pounds, he cried out, that if they would the Funerals of Poppes more Cinnamon and give him that fumm of Money, they migh Caffia, than Arabia was able to produce in a throw him after his death where they fhour whole year; and Surronius fays, that the Fune- think fit. rals of Ners came to a hundred thousand Sefterces, which according to the supputation of nies , having disposed all in a good order, the Murfine amounts to feven hundred and fifty Funeral Parade began to march with gree thousand pounds.

the Egyptians, being a distance or the space of where a Funeral Speech was made in honor a place containing fixty furlongs in length, of the deceased person. They carried before which are about seven thousand five hundred the Corps vessels full of Perfumes and precipaces, or 6 miles and a quarter of English ous Liquors, to throw into the wood-pile measure.

publick Cryer gave notice to the people of Draughts of conquer'd Cities, names of the the time of the Funerals in these words. N. subdued Nations, Titles of the Laws me QUIRIS LETHO DATUS EST: by them, Military Presents, and other bades ADEXEQUIAS QUIBUS EST of Honour. They carried also the Effigiese COM MODUM IRE, JAM TEM- their Ancestors, made of Wax of imbossis PUS EST: OLLUS EX &DI- Work, which they kept in Niches at the second BUS EFFERTUR. Such a Citizen is try of their Houses, and crowned the dead; those who have time to go to his Fu- with Garlands of Flowers, upon certain den nerals, 'tis time, they are ready to carry a of the wear, way the Corps out of the House.

lick Cryer, were called Indiffice, but this was ing, wearing the badges of their Magistracy practifed but at the Funerals of the Empe- as also the badges of the offices of the deal rors or Persons of quality; and to honour | The Corps dressed in a habit suitable to the them the better, they gave Games and Shews condition of the dead, was carried upon a to the people, to wir, fights of Gladiators and Bed of State adorned with Ivory, and cover Horse-races. Men are still thus invited in ed with a rich Carpet. Besides this Bed of France at the Funerals of Kings, Princes, So- State, there were many other Beds adorned veraign Courts, and other Ministers of State, with Garlands and Crowns of Flowers, and by fourscore sworn Cryers, together with the Images of the Ancestors of the decease Great Masters of the Ceremonies.

rals, where no body was invited, called Sim- of the Dictator Silla, and fix hundred pludiares or Simplifudiares funers, then the Fu- at the Funeral of M. Marcellus, the Son neral Parade was only attended by Vaulters of Offavia, Sifter to Augustus, says Valeria and Buffoons, called Ladii and Corvitores.

rals, named Prefice, cryed and mourned, est Relations of the dead, or by his affranfinging fad and mournful Songs, intermixt chiled men, then marched those appointed the with the praises of the dead, and moved other mourn, by the deceased person, all dressed in Women to imitate them, and fome other long black Gowns edged with Scarlet, at men called Patternimi, counterfeiting the mo- tended by Torch-bearers and Lictors march tions, actions, and the voice of the deceafed ing before them.

ed, that Funeral Speeches in their comments person. Whereupon suttemer relates a distinct should be allowed to them.

much the charges of the Burial came to ?and

The Designator, or Master of the Ceremepomp along the great Streets and Crofs-web FUNICULUS. An ancient measure of of Rome; then stopt in the place of the Rofm when the Corps was burning, to prevent in FUNUS, Funerals, Obsequies, Burial bad smell. Afterwards Warlike men march ed, carrying the Standards and Spoils of the The eighth day after the death being over, a Enemies, and other Trophies of Arms :

Then followed the Priests and Religion The Funerals thus published by the pub- Orders; after them the Magistrates in moun-person were tied to their Beds; fix thousand The Ancient Roman had fill other Fune- of these Beds were carried at the Funeral Maximus.

Some hired Women attending the Fune- After this Funeral Bed, carried by the near Magifirates of Reme carried fometimes the Book of his Antiquities, c. 15. to thew what funeral Bed of Emperors and Dictators; for Veneration they should have for the Funerals the Bed of Sylls was carried by Senators and of the dead, which had been taught by a Vestal Virgins; that of Paulus Emilius, by the foveraign Divinity. Mucedonian Ambaffadors then at Rome; that of Metellur, by his feven Children, of whom and prudent Legislator, reformed the Relitwo had been Confuls, and two others had gion of the Romans, he not only received and Trebius being dead in the Office called Edile, the Corn cheap in a year of want.

u N

The mourning Men were followed by Women, bemoaning and complaining all along to the High Priest to look upon a dead Corps, the way, and commonly led by the Mother, but if by chance he had feen one in his way. Daughter, or Wife of the deceased person, he was bound by the law, before he went any all dreffed in Mourning, walking along with further, to throw some Earth upon it, or bury dishevelled Hairs, and their Face covered with it. And all the Nations of the Earth liave a Veil; and the funeral pomp was closed by always accounted burial one of the chiefest the People. In the time of the Emperors, duties of Religion, which they denied neithe Girls attended the Funerals of their Fa- ther to Friends nor Enemies, as we learn of thers dreffed in white Gowns, the Head un- Hiftorians; for Pegetius, 1. 2. de Re Milit. cap. covered, and their Hairs dishevell'd; on the 20. tells us, that each Legion had a Purse in contrary, the Boys had their Heads covered the hands of the Enfign-bearer, wherein each at the Funerals of their Fathers. Plutarch tells us for reason of this custom, that the Boys were to honour their Fathers as Gods, to whom the Romans facrificed standing, and their Heads covered; and that the Girls should mourn for them as for mortal Men.

The Funeral Parade was attended with many Torches, and by Men playing upon Musical Instruments, as Flutes, Cornets. Drums, and Clarions, founding fad and mournful Tunes, when they destributed Largesses of Specie or Money to the People.

All these Ceremonies were observed but at the Funeral Pomps of great Men of Rome; for the people were caried to the Wood-pile. without all these preparations in a Cossin, by the common Bearers or Sextons, called Vilsillous and Sandapilarii, and there burnt, without much ceremony.

Many Men ordered by their last Will, that they should be buried without Ceremonies. as M. Emilius Lepidus, who ordered that he should be carried to the Grave on a plain Bed. Those who had performed great Acts for the fervice of the Common-wealth, were buried at publick Charges, as Valerius Publicola, the protector of the Roman Liberty, who had triumphed three times over the Enemies.

There were also Funerals called Imaginaria mys Spartianus, i. e. Obsequies in Effigies, because the Corps of the dead was not there, but only his Effigies.

Greeks Pluto, and the Latins Dis or Summanus,

We read in Comelius Tacirus, that the great | as we learn from Diederus Siculus, in the fixth

Wherefore, when Nama Pempilius, a wife obtain'd the Honour of the Triumph; and approved of Funeral Ceremonies, as being holy and commendable, but ordered that the was carried to the Wood-pile on the shoulders | Pontiffs should take care of them, and teach of the Roman People, because he had fold them to those who should have occasion for the fame.

By the Pontifical Laws, it was not allowed

Soldier put a piece of Money, to contribute his portion towards the burial of the Soldiers of that Legion, who died in War; we fee also by the Testimonies, both of Tully in the Oration for Mile, and of Cornelius Tacisus 1. 1, that the Generals who were victorious, allowed their Enemies to bury the Corps of their dead Soldiers, or elfe buried them them-

We read in Valerius Maximus, 1. 1. c. 6. and in Livy 1, 22, that Hamibal the chief Enemy to the Romans, having defeated and killed with his own hand, near the Perusian Lake, the Conful Gaius Flaminius and fifteen thoufand Soldiers, ordered his Men to feek for the Corps of the Conful, which he honoursbly buried, and rendered the like honours to many others, mentioned by Valerius Maxi-

After the death of Hanne, General of the Carthaginian Army, the Conful Lucius Cornelius made him a funeral pomp, and buried his-Corps with great honour.

FURCA, A Fork. Formerly they made the vanquished pass under the Yoke, made in the form of a Gallows, otherwise called Fork, as the Sammites made the Romans pass at Furce Caudina. The Slaves and other Malefactors carried their Forks or Gallows to the place of Execution, and in that condition they were fo grievoully whipt, that they died fometimes under the lashes; and other-Antiquity has accounted burial of the wife, they were often nailed upon the very Dead to facred and honourable, that the in- fame Crofs and Gallows they had carried vention of burial was attributed to one of themselves; wherefore the Slaves were called their Gods, viz. to the God called by the Furciferi, i. e. a great Rogue, who deserves hanging for his Crimes. Juftus Lipfins gives Bornes tells us very wifely, that the Puries an accornt of these Matters, 1. 3. de Cruce.

derived from the fury which they infpire.
The Greeks call them Erinnyes, from East pr., defign is executed. discordia mentis. The opinion of Vollius is, that Fury might be derived, from the Hebrew Fara, An tu reris eum occissa insemuisse parente? i. e. vinditta. But 'tis more likely that Erin- Ac non ante malis dementem actum Furiis, quan myes come from epdy, i. e. male facere. There In matris jugulo ferrum sepefecit acutum were three Furies, Tifiphone, Aletto and Megers; the Etymo'ogy of these names comes from Tzetzes is Author of these derivations.

Men intended to worship Justice the revenger Feasts kept in honour of the Goddess Faring of Crimes, by the Name of Furies; but that the 25th day of Tuly: We read in the Cales. Poets have still added some circumstances dar Furringlia. thereunto, proper to represent the horrid Ex- FUSCINA, The Trident of Notes ecutioners of this Justice. For Paufanias says, with three points. that near the Arespagus of Ashens, there was a The word Fuscina fignifies also an Irin Temple confecrated to some Goddels, called Fork or a tagged Fork, such as are used to Severa, Osas muras, whom Hefed calls Erin- remove Dung. ryes; and that Elchilus the Poet is the first | FUTILE, A Vessel with a wide mount Man, who has represented them with Ser- and a narrow bottom, used in ancient Sacripents tied about rhem; in fine, that the Sta- fices to hold the Justral water for the puristues of these Goddesses, and all others of the cations. This Vessel is called Futile, becaute fubterranean Gods, which are placed in that what was put inro it, was eafily fpilt, he Temple, have nothing dreadful to look on ving but a narrow bottom to fet on the This Historian tells us also, that the Statues ground. of these Goddesses Severe, were set up somewhere elfe, with the Statues of Jupiter, Ceres, Minerva and Proferpina. And affures in some other place, that Ceres herfelf was called Erinmyes, because the was transported with fury against Neptune, when he artempted her Chafriry : à verbo couppuers, quod furere Arcadibus eff. In fine, he speaks of the Temple of the Manie, Manie, Manie, Manie, who are (as he fancies) the G. Is but a diminution of C, as Quintilla Manie, Wherefore they have a grey Eummides and Furia. And relates, that they affinity together, for of Rubeprarus, we make appeared dreffed in black Cloaths to Orester, Gubernator, and of necotium, negotium. And after he had murthered his Mother; but Quintilian records, that in the words Gais. when the time of his fury was over, they Gneius, it was not perceived if it was a C ora shew'd themselves to him in white dresses, G. From whence it comes that of Centum wen whereupon he built a Temple to these white formed quadringinta, quingenta; and of porti-Goddeffes.

Some Historians have observed, that the rigere. Areopagita had the Sratues of the Goddeffes Severe placed near their Tribunal, and that the Prieffs ordain'd to attend the fervice of thefe cause on the Pillar that Duillius erected thes, Goddeffes, (Demofibenes was one of them) | C is always found instead of the G: were chosen among the Arcopagita.

Homer had mentioned the Erinnyes before Hefind; and has represented them in one place of his Book, like the revengers of the wrong understood, but by pronouncing the Clike done to the poor. Virgil has described them, a K. according to the Idea that Elchilus had of them.

Continuò fontes ultrix accincta flagello Tifiphone quatit insultant, torvolque finistra Intentant angues, vocat azmina feva ferorum.

not begin to torment the mind of Man affin FURIAE, The Furies. This name is the Crime is perpetrated only, but also when the resolution is taken to commit it, and the FURINA. The Goddess of Thieves the Greek Τισιφόνη, τίσις φόνα, ultio cadis; Robbers, otherwife called Laverna. They Αλημτώ, quietis nessia; Μέγαιρα, odiosa; had confectated a Wood to her, and inflimted Feasts in her honour, called Furingles.

"Tis very likely, that at the beginning FURNALIA or FURINALIA

G.

cere, a word used in facrifices, was made per

The common opinion is, that G was invented but after the first Carthavinian War be-

MACESTRATOS, LECIO NES, CARTHACINENSES, PUCNANDO. Which can't be well

The pronounciation of G before the E and the I. is now very much fofuned, for 'tis pronounced in Regis and Rege, as Regent and Regir is pronounced in the French Tongue; bur in former Ages 'tis every where founded bard, as in Rego.

They ask a question about the Letter G, |fuffer her to be delivered of a Child, whom made use of it.

And 'ris to be observed, that the G is so GALATEA, The Daughter of Jupiter little pronounced in these words Agree and the Celtes, wherefore the was called Celtina, and like, that it doth but denote a liquid N, as Wife to Hercules of Libra, with whom the the fame Letter G fliews in the Italian tongue reigned 35 years in Gaul. the liquid L, Figlliola, Daughter; wherefore GALATEA, A Sea-Nymph, whom that 'tis a liquid Letter, and that it receives fignifies Milk. that pronunciation, writing thus Senor, and pronouncing Segnor. And Ramus in his Grench Libya, and Galasea the Daughter of Jupiter Grammar marks this liquid N in French only Celter, reigned in Gaul, in the year of the with a little comma over it, instead of join- World 2274. 'Tis recorded that the Gauls ing the G to it.

to know if the Letter N is changed by the was called Galatia, of Galle-Gracia, as Diodorus Greek into T in some words, as "A] sales, and siculus and Berefus tell us. digued. &c. T is then pronounced like an N. For it feems, fays Honricus Stephanus, that 'tis which took its Name from the Gauls, who an Errour of the Copilts, who have made the joined with the Greeks, came to inhabit this Letters, and have made a v of it. From their King Galates, in the time of Pyrrhus King whence comes that in the M S. written in ca. of Epirus. The chiefest Cities of that Counpital Letters, like those he has made use of to try are Ancyra and Sympe. The Inhabitants found with an N. ANTEAOS, ANKTPA, Effeminate, like all the rest of the Nations and the like. For, fays he, it feems abfurd of Asia. It was a custom among them to to fav that N was changed into r, to the end throw Letters into the Wood-pile where the Wherefore Scaliger tells us, that if we read should read them in Hell. fometimes these words with an N, then we GALBA SERVIUS SULPImust be sure that it is a fault of the Copists, TIUS, was chosen Emperor in the room fome new and particular character.

a falle N, as in the words Anguis, Ancers and made him Goury, the Joints of his Feet and over it, then it denoted forty thousand.

of Alemens, who deliver'd her Mistrits from be barren. the inchantments of June, who would not whether the Romans pronounced the G before the had got by Jupiter. But Galanthis perceithe N, as the French do in these words Agnez, ving the Sorcery of June, came running to Magnifique, Espagnol, &c. her, and faid, her Mistrifs was brought to But in all likelihood the Romans pronounced bed, whereupon June unfastened her Charms. the G not as the French do in the above aid Notwithstanding, Juno having afterwards difwords, and that the G in Agnus was pro- covered that she had been cozened, in revenge nounced by them, as it is in Agger, for the thereof changed Galanthis into a Weafel, who other pronunciation is so particular and dif- brings forth her young at her Mouth, whereferent from the common pronunciation of with the had offended in telling a Lye, to G. the Ancient Writers had otherwise never procure the lying in of Alemena, to whom June bore hatred.

the Spaniards write Segnor without a G, draw- Polyphemus the Cyclops loved : the was called ing only a little stroke upon the N, to shew Galates because of her whiteness, for yand

GALATES, The Son of Hercules of and the Greeks affifted him in the Conquest of Here arises still another difficulty, namely, some Provinces of Asia, and that Country

GALATIA. A Country of Alia Miner. a little too broad in the joyning the small part of the World under the command of make his Thefaurus, thefe whole words are thereof were accounted to be Cowards and that I might be pronounced like an N. Corps were burnt, and they fancied that they who thought to express this pronunciation of Nero, by the Army commanded by him, the better by that Chiracter, which pronun- being then feventy years old. He attributed ciation, as Vosius says, should require rather his Origine to Jupiter, and Pasiphae the Wife of Mines King of Crete. He was of a brawny The Latins had fomething like that in their Countenance, a wrinkled Forehead, a bald Tongue, which Nigidius in Aulus Gallius, calls Head, and a Hawk-nofe. His Debaucheries others. Wherefore Varro, as 'tis related by Hands were knotty to that degree, that he Prilcian, affirms that Attius and the Ancient was not able to hold a Book, or to put on a Writers wrote these words with a double GG, Shoe. His Hawk-nose gave him the Countelike the Greeks, Aggulus, Aggens, and the like. nance of an Eagle the King of Birds.' Au-The Letter G among the Ancients fignifi- guffur observing that mark, while he was fited 400, and when there was a dash of a Pen ting at Table with him, foretold that he thould one time or another enjoy the Sove-GABALUS, A Crois or Gallows of raign Command; but that he should but in a manner tafte of the Empire. 'That will GALANTHIS, The waiting Maid come to pass, said he, when Mules shall not

digy was fulfill'd. The Hiftorians tax him the Feet, like the Sandals of Begging Friars, with a fordid covetousness, and a slavish sub-mission to three Favourites, who governed, CINIUS IGNATIUS, The Son, and made hast to make their Fortune under of Valeriania, associated by him to the Eman old Prince. However, some Writers re- pire. They reigned together about seven or late, that he was only coverous before his eight years, till Valerianus was taken by Sapancoming to the Imperial Government; and King of Persia. During his reign, the Empire that as foon as he was Emperor, he was a li- was oppressed with several Calamities, which beral Prince, bestowing Largesses upon his he ascribed to the persecution of the Chris Subjects, and granting them Priviledges.

Soldiers, tho he was not of the Family of the to all kinds of Crimes. Claudius, who com-Cefars; and adopted Pife a young Man of great manded the Army against the Nation call'd hopes, and having brought him to the Camp, Dest, not being able to bear any longer with he declared the choice he had made to the his infamous Debaucheries, caus'd him to be Army; but spoke not a word of bestowing murthered at Milan, together with his Bro-Largesses upon the Soldiers; whereupon Ortes there and Children, and seiz'd upon the Ems. caballed, and got both Galba and his Successor pire. murthered, after he had reigned seven Months GALLIA, The Gauls. By the name the tenth day of January, in the year 69, be- of Gallia, Cafar means only the Gault, which the form of a Helmet. This Cap was for the must consider all that might be understood by use of Mercury and the Priests of Jupiter, cal- the name of Gaul, and observe its chiefest diled Flamenidalis, who wore a white Cap visions and distinctions, that conduce to the made of the skin of a white Sheep, facrificed understanding the Commentaries of Gafar. to Jupiter, called Albogalerus.

mus, Phylician to M. Aurelius, and Lucius Ve- tween the Alps and Mount Appenninus on both, rus. He was very famous in Physick, and sides of the River Pe, is called Gallie, Cit-Al-, who are not carried away by the multitude Alp: ; Togate, because the Inhabitants thereand prejudice of opinions, condemn and re- of, tho' they were Colonies of the Gauls beject his Method, as being unfit to cure ex- yond the Alps, did wear the Roman Habit. traordinary Distempers.

things without any demonstration. Certainly rains, the Mediterranean Sea, the Ocean and he was a very great Man, and so excellent in the River Rhine, are properly Gaul, calhis Art, that having conveyed away a very dan- led by Gafar and other Writers Transalpina; gerous defluction by letting of Blood, and cured because it is beyond the Alps in regard to the the Falling-fickness by tying the Root of Piny City of Rome. This Gaul thus called, is fill about the neck, he was taxed of Magick, and divided in two parts; the nearest part to. place where he was born. Some Writers tell times Provincia Remanorum, or Provincia Ulteus that he was then seventy years old, and o. rier, in respect to the Gault within the Alvi. in the Fire of the Temple of Peace.

per part of these Galoches was made of Lea- other part, which is nearer to Italy and Spain,

A long time after this Discouse, this pro- ther, or Leather Straps, to keep them fast to ftians : wherefore he recall'd the Edich He was the first Emperor chosen by the made against them. This Prince was given ing then 73 years of Age. comprehends three kinds of People, viz, GALEA, A Helmet, a Head-piece, Belgi, Celti or Galli and Aquitani. This Gaust which covered the whole Face like a Mask, is called by Writers, who lived a little after GALERUS, A Cap made of skin in the time of Cefar, Gallia Connata. Here we-

The name of Gaul was extended on both GALIENUS, Gallen, born at Perga- fides of the Alpr. The Country which is bebrought it to a method, now followed by the pins, and fometimes Gallia Tigata; because greatest part of Physicians; yet many Men, in regard to the Romans it is within the called Toga Romana. The Lands which are He was an Enemy both to Jess and Chri-ling them for believing very hard between the Alps and the Pressum Mounforced to quit Rome, and died at Pergamus, the Italy is called by Cafar, Provincia, and somethers a hundred and four. It appears by two call'd Provincia Citerier. The other part of the Commentaries of his own Books, that he had Transalpine Gaul, is called plainly by Cafar, writ two hundred Volumes, which were burnt Gallis, which he subdued to the Roman Empire, and has divided himfelf in three parts, GALLIA, See after Gallienus after- one inhabited by the Nation called Belgi, theother by the Aquitani, and the third by the. GALLICE, A kind of Shoes, that Celti, whom the Roman called Galli, All the: the ancient Gauls were used to wear, like Writers fince Gasar call this Gaul, Gallia Co-Wood or Cork Galoches, worn by the Count mata the hairy Gaul, because the Inhabitry people of Goul in rainy weather; the up- rants thereof wore long Hair; and the hirants thereof wore Trowles.

Gaul is divided in three parts, that which is on the fide of Italy is called Gallia Togata; the try can afford; they burn with the Corps of fecond, which is between Italy and Spain, is the dead, all that was most dear to him, even called Gallia Braccata; and the third, which the Beafts, and formerly the Slaves themis between the River Rhine and Spain, and felves, and their freed Men. Their Chilfrom the Alps to the Ocean, is called Gallia dren never appear in publick in the presence Consta.

three parts, viz. Gallia Celtica, extended from bring to the Commonalty an equivolent of the Rivers Marne and Sain, to the Rivers Rhone their Wives Portion, which is kept with the and Garome, and from the Rhine to the Ocean. Gallia Belgica begins at the Frontiers of Gallia Celtica, and is extended to the Rhine, drawing towards its mouth. Gallia Aquitanica or Gasconia is included between the River Garonne and the Pyrenean Hills, along the Coasts of the Ocean. The first is oppofite to the North; the fecond to the North and the East, and the third looks to the West Sacrifices to this Goddess at the found of or the North.

GALLI, The Gauls. This Nation is very superstitious, and when in great dangers either of War or Sickness, they facrifice Men. or make vow to facrifice fome; which they perform by their Druider: for they think that God can't be otherwise appealed, and that one Mans Life can't be redeem'd, but by anothers laying down his for him.

In some places there are Idols of Wicker of a prodigious bigness, which are fill'd up with Men, and often with Malefactors; then rhey fet them on fire, and fomerimes for want of Malefactors, they burn therein innocent Men.

Of all the Gods, they especially worship Mercury, as the Inventer of Arts, and Patron of Travellers and Merchants; they have many Statues of him among them. After Mercury, the most respected by them are Apollo, instructed in the Holy Scripture, and took fame opinion of them as the other Nations forming the Office of Priest in the Church. have; vie. That Apollo cures Distempers; Mi- The Emperor Constantius chose Gallus his Conerva presides over Manufactures; Mars is the | zen Cafar, in the year 351, the fifteenth day it lyes in heaps, and 'tis forbidden to take | years after he had made him Cafar. away any thing of it, under very fevere punishment, or to conceal any part thereof after Mars's Love with Vinus. Mars having one day the Fight is over.

Plute, according to the tradition of their furprize them together; this young man fell Druides or Priefts, wherefore they reckon the afleep, and both Venus and Mars were furpriz'd time by Nights, and nor by Days, as we do; by the Sun lying rogether, who prefently acand if they reckon the Months or the Years, quainted her Husband with the fame; but was called Gallia Braccata, because the Inha- 1 or solemnize their Birth-day, they begin always by Night.

Their Funerals are as stately as their Counof their Fathers, till they are fit to bear Arms. Cefar divides likewife Gallia Comata into And when they marry they are obliged to Revenues arising by it for the Survivor. The Husband has power over the life of his Wife and Children.

GALLI CYBILES, The Priests of the Goddess Cybele. They were called by that name because of a River in Phrygia, the water whereof made those who drank of it mad. These Priests were instituted to offer Drums and Kettle-Drums, running up and down like Mad-men, holding Knives in their Hands, and cutting therewith the Flesh of their Arms and Thighs. They went begging from doer to door, and were wont to carry their Goddess upon an Ass with their Cloaths. The chief of them was called Archigallus.

GALLUS VIBIUS TREBONI-ANUS, An Emperor who fucceeded Decius, and was chosen by the Soldiers, about the year of Rome 251. He chose his Son Volusianus for his Colleague to the Empire. The Soldiers murthered them both at Termy in Italy, in the year 254, having reigned then two years.

GALLUS CÆSAR was the Son of Julius Constantius, Brother to Constantine the Great, and of Galla, and Brother to Julian the Apostate. He was carefully brought up and Mari, Jupiter and Minirua, and they have the Orders with his Brother, both of them perfoveraign disposer of War; and Jupiter is the of May, and gave him his Sister Constantina Soveraign of the Gods. Before they engage for Wife, then Annibalianus's Widow, and the Enemy, they devote him the Spoils, and Suppressed the Superstitious worship of the facrifice to him all the Cattle after they have Oracle of Apollo near Antioch, called Daphne, obtained the Victory: The remainder of the and placed the Bones of the Martyr Babylas Booty is brought together, and confecrated in the room thereof. But Confiantius jealous in Temples and other publick places, where of him, caufed his head to be cut off, three

GALLUS, A young man, Confident of commanded him to keep Centry at the door They account themselves the posterity of of his Mistrits, lest Vulcan her Husband should

ceptible Nets about his Bed, they were both there, before they were dead. These Galcaught therein. And Mars to take his revenge lows stood in the fourteenth Ward of the of the young-man, turned him inro a Cock. City. This Fable is thus reported by Lucian in his Mars had a fine Boy, confident of his Love; and when he went to Bed to Venus, he left Children. him ar the Door to awake him before day 'light : the pretry Lad being fallen afleep, the Sun discovered the whole Mystery, and and the Father of Men. They allowed a Ge " Vulcan caught the two Lovers in his Nets; nius or Intelligence to each Province, Town whereupon Mars out of revenge, turned this and Person, who rook care of the Affairs young-man into a Cock, who keeps still the of this World. They allowed also Genius's Creft of the Head-piece, and the Spurs he to Forests, Fountains, Trees, Eloquence, 'had on when he was changed: and fince, Sciences, and Joy, and it appears by feveral proclaim the coming of the day.

GANIMEDES. The Son of True King of Troy. Jupiter being transformed into an EXERCITUUM, Upon these Medale Eagle, took him away into Heaven for his the figure of God Genius is represented veiled Beauty, and made him his Cup-bearer instead at the middle of the Body, holding with one of Hebe and Vulcan, and delivered him to hand a Horn of Plenty, and with the other Mercury, to make him drink Immortality, and | a Cup for the Sacrifice; and before the Stateach him how to prefent the Cup.

GEHENNA, Rack, Torment, Hieronymus relates the true Origine of this word, when mianus Marcellinus has given us of the fame, he rells us, there was an Idol of Basi near Je- in rhe 25th Book of the Emperor Julianu's rusalem, in the Valley called Topher, which Deeds. fignifies a Drum, Tympanum, lest the People should hear the cries of the Children that fays, that as soon as Men are born, they are it was Molech the God of the Ammonites, to him who he was, he answer'd him, that he whom they facrificed their own Children. was his bad Genius. Wherefore Hell, the place of eternal fire, is used in the Gospel.

GEMELLI. A Constellation, and one of the rwelve Signs of the Zodiack, called Caffor and Pollux the Sons of Leds.

Gradus, A Gibbet or Gallows. Voffing upon factre. rhe Verb geme rells us, that there was a Well they did cast the Bodies of Malefactors, havare rather Gallows, where they hanged for a while the Corps of the Malefactors, after fwear by his Genius. they had drawn them with a Hook, from the place of Execution to these Gallows; and or evil Spirit of Secrater. The name of Gethen drawing them again wirh a Hook, they inius among fome who call themselves Chris. cast them into the Tiber ; Tandem apad Gemoni- Stians, is given to the good Angels attending as minutiffmis illibus excarnificatus atque confectus Men or States. ett, O inde unco trattus in Tiberim. This Hifto-

Fulcan having some time before hung imper- | rian feems to intimate that they were tied:

GENETHLIUS. An Epithet given to Jupiter, because Poets represent him prefiding over the Generation and Nativities of

GENIUS. A Divinity, whom ancient Philosophers esteemed to be the Son of God his posterity, to repair him in his Honour, Medals, particularly one of News, GENIO AUGUSTI, GENIO SENATUS, GENIO P. ROMANI, GENIO rue there was an Altar, and a Fire thereon. Which agrees with the description that Cenforinus in his Book intituled de Die Natali. were thrown into the fire, when they facri- put under the tuition of God Genius; and ficed them unto the Idol. This Valley was Euclid tells us, that Men have two Genins's alfo called Ge-ben-Ennon, and by abreviation one good and the other bad. Plutarch relates Geenhon, from Ge, which fignifies a Valley, in the life of Brutus, that he faw by night in and Emon, which comes from Naham, that a Dream a Fantome, by the light of a Lamp. fignifies to groan. Some are of opinion that that was in his Chamber, and having asked

Each person offered Sacrifice every year to called Gebenne. The Ancient Writers did his Genius, and particularly upon Birth-days. not make use of this word, and it was first with leven and salted Dough; and sometimes with a Pig two months old, and feattered Flowers and forinkled Wine to him : and the Sacrifice being over, they made a great Feaft for their Friends, and thus the Comedi-GEMONIE Scale, or GEMONII ans was called Genio indulgere, or Genie veluoa

In the beginning it was not permitted to at Rome with Stairs to go down, wherein fwear by the Genius of the Prince; but afterwards the most folemn Oaths, were those ing dragged them to that place with a Hook. that were fworn by the Genius of the Empe-According to the opinion of Sustanius, they ror; and Sustanius affures, that Caligula put many to death, because they retused to

Apuleius has writ a Treatife of the Genius,

The Pagant rank'd Venus, Priapus, and Genius, mans; at last he died in Syria, being poisoned. among the number of the Gods, who are by Pifo's order, and was lamented by all the intrusted with the care of Men's Genera- Inhabitants of Spris and Neighbouring Pro-

derifood nothing elfe but the fecundity of na- fence, whose Fortune was without Envy, living Creatures; as Fefter fays, Genius oft Dee- | jestick Countenance without arrogance; his rum filius & parens hominum, ex quo homines Funeral Pomp, the' wirhout fplendor and eienuntur ; & propterea Genius meus nominatur. quia me genuit; the Genius is the Son of the Gods and the Father of Men, and my Geni- tion of his Glory. us is called Genius, because he has begotten who prefides over our Generation; bur alfo,

Cenforinus affirms, that there was no bloody Sacrifice offered to Genius; wherefore Perfinot feed Blood upon their birth-day.

who is intrusted with the care of Men as soon as they are born. And this Author tells us fill, that rhis Genius never leaves Men, from the first instant of their life to the last ; and Houses where Husband and Wife lived together : Eundem effe Genium & Larem multi veteres memoria prodiderunt ; bunc in not maximam, quinime omnem habere potestatem creditum est. Non nulli binos Genios, in its duntaxat domibiu que estent marita. colendos putaverunt.

The Tabula Cabetis fays, that Genius directs those who come into the World the way they should observe; that many forget the also his Picture, drawn in a golden Shield of Directions: but that yet he gives rhem warning, that they are not ro mind the Goods of Fortune, which might be taken away from them : Monet Genius id Fortuna elle ingenium, ut O que dederit, eripiet : and tells them fill. come to a bad end.

GERMANIA. See after GERMA-NICUS.

GERMANICUS. The Son of Drufur, and Nephew to the Emperor Tiberius. He married Agrippina, the Grand-Daughter of Augustus, and had fix Children by her, viz: three Sons and three Daughrers, Nero, Drufus, Caligula, Agrippina, Drufilla and Livia. In the rime he commanded fix Legions in Germany. he refused the Empire that the Legions offered him after the death of Augustus. He took ed by Poets with three Bodies, because he the sirname of Germanicus, because he had subvinces thereof. A Hero, fays Tacitus, wor-By these three Divinities, the Heathens un- rhy of respect, both for his discourse and preture, that brings forth every day so many his Reputation without blemish, and his Magreat show, was yet Illustrious, only by the commemoration of his Virtues, and celebra-

Some more nicely observing his Life, his Age, his Gate, and the Circumstances of his-This worship was rendered to Nature, not Dearh, have compared him to Alexander the only because of the celestial Intelligence, Great. Both fine Men, of good meen and grear birth, who died fomething more than . because of the fecundity of the Stars and thirty years old, by a Conspiracy of their Elements, giving Being to so many Crea- own Men in a foreign Country. Before his-Corps was reduced to Ashes, it was exposed in the publick place of Antisch, which was . appointed for his Burial. The Senate ordainus favs, funde merum Genio; for Men would ed great Honours to his Memory: viz. That his Name should be solemnized in the Salian : He is called Genius because he is the God, Hymn; that in all the places, where the Priests of Augustus should meet, they should fet him an Ivory Chair, and a Crown of Oak upon it: that a Statue of Ivory should be carried for him, at the opening of the Circian: has a very great Authority over them; and Games; that no body should be chosen Authat some Men confounded him with the gur or Pontiff in his room, but that a Tri-God Ler, and admitted two Genius's, in umphal Arch should be erected to his Memory at Rome, Mount Amanus in Syria; and on . the Banks of the River Rhine, and that his .. Atchievements should be engraven upon. them, with this Inscription. That he Died for . the Commonwealth: That a Monument should . be fet up for him in the City of Antioch, where his Corps was burnt, and a Tribunal at Epidaplme, where he was dead. They ordered: an extraordinary bigness, should be fet up amongst the Orators. The Squadron of the Youth was called by Equestrian Order, the : Squadron of Germanicus; and they ordered, thar ar rhe Ides of July, his Effigies should be that Men, who don't hearken to his precepts, carried in State at the muster of the Equestrian Order.

GERMANIA: Germany : Some Wrirers fav that the word of Germany is bur of late, and comes from those Men who went first into the Gauls, and were called Tuneri or Germani, fays Tacitus; or from the German word Gaar-Mannen, which fignifies Germany. V. Alemannia.

GERMANI. The Germant. See Alemanni.

GERYON, King of Spains representreigned over three Kingdoms, and had fed dued Germany, and rriumphed over the Ger- fome Oxen he loved very much, having a feven to look after them. Hercules by the length of a Man's Cubit, which is a Foot and Command of Earifleus flew him, and deliver- a half: Only Og King of Bafhan remained of ed his Body to be devoured by his own Oxen. Race of the Giants: his Bedfed was of Iron, it as Diemeder was before eaten by his own in Rubbah of the Children of Ammon, being min Horfes.

GIGANTES. The Giants, the Sons of the Earth, begot, according to the Fable, of the Blood that came out of the Genital parts of Galus, that Saturn cut off; for the Earth, to be revenged of Tupiter, who had ftruck down the Titant, brought forth Monfters of a prodigious shape to attack him, and drive him out of Heaven. To this purpose they met in Thellalia, in the Fields called Phlegrai, and there heaping up Mountains upon Mountains, they scaled and battered Heaven with great pieces of Rocks. Among others there was Enceladus, Briarens and Egeon, with a hundred Hands flinging Rocks, which they took out of the Sea, against Jupiter ; ver a certain Typheus was very famous, exceeding all these Monsters in bigness and strength; for he reached with his Head to the top of Heaven, and could extend his Hands from one end of the World to the other; he was half Man and half Serpent, and blew Fire and Flame out of his Mouth in a dreadful manner: and frighted so much the Gods, who were come to the relief of Jupiter, that they the Books of Numbers and Deuteronomy, where fled away into Egypt, and transform'd themfelves into feveral kinds of Trees, or difguifed themfelves under the form of feveral Beafts. But Jupiter pursued them fo vigoroufly with his Thunderbolts, that he came off with Honour, and crushed them under the weight of Mountains, shutting them up therein, and punishing them in Hell with several Torments. This is the Fable, here is the true Story.

The Fable of the Giants, who heaped up Mountains one upon another, to raife themselves to Heaven, there to fight the Gods, is most commonly applied to those Men, who after the Flood built the Tower of Babel. But holy Scripture speaks of the Giants a long els is frequent, even in the same Tongue Giants on the Earth in thole days.

And in another place 'tis spoken of the prodigious frature of the Giants, or rather of those Men, whom the Scripture calls Giants even after the Flood; For the Ilraelites having feen fome of them, described them thus ; All the destroyed. People whom we faw in the land, are Men of great Stature, and there we law Giants, the Sons of Anak, which are of the Race of the Giants, and Babylon. The Hebrew Text fignifies only Po we appeared to them like Grospopers, and so we tens venator, Gibbor Maid; but the same word were in comparison of them: And to shew us the Gibbarim is used, to signific the Giants calextraordinary height and fhape of the Giants, led also Nephilim. Wherefore the Scripture Moses tells us in Deuteronomy, that an Iron Bed fays, that Mimred was the first Giant, because

Dog with three Heads, and a Dragon with a four Cubits broad, according to the natural Cubits long, and four Cubits broad, according to a

Mans Cubit. According to this description that the Scripture gives us of these Giants, they might be about fourteen toot high. Solimus relates, the the the common opinion is, that the Statum of a Man can't be above feven foot high, and that Hercules did not exceed it, yet in the Reign of Augustus, Pusis and Secundilla were more than ten foot high : and in the Emperor Claudius's time, the Corps of Gabbara was brought from Arabia, and was near ten for high: and that the Corps of Orefies being found after his death. was feven Cubin

The Giants before the Deluge, were be gotten by the Children of God, and Daugh ters of Men ; and the Hebrew Text makes me of the word Nephilim, to express the Giants. which comes from Nephal, i e. to fall.

The Giants after the Deluge are also called by the fame name, because of their likened to the former; however, they are called by a particular name, which may be observed in they are called the Sons of Enscim: Palalin was their Country.

The learned Bechart observes, that from the Hebrew Word Enacim or Anacim, the Greek have formed their words "Arag "Avante. which originally fignified Men of Gigantick Stature.

Paulanias relates, that the Body of the Hero Afterius the Son of Anax, who was the Son of the Earth, was found in the Ifle Alle ria near Miletum: and that his Corps was ten Cubits in length. This Stature of ten Cubin agrees with that mentioned in the Scripture. The word Anax is the fame with Enge or Anac for it is well known that the change of Vowtime before the Deluge, Gen. c. 6. There were In fine, if Anac or Enge was the Son of the Earth, it was common to call the Giants the Children of the Earth. And Quid tells us that they were fo called, because they came out of the Earth, moistened with the blood of their Fathers, whom a just revenge had

The Septuagints Translation has given the name of Giant to Nimred, who first reigned at of these Giants was nine Cubits long, and he was at the head of the rebellion of the together for the building of the Tower of

The Greeks have fometimes called the Giants by the name of Titans, which shews that they had this Hiftory, and the Fables conrained in it, from the Scripture and out of Pelefine: for the word Tit fignifies dirt in Hebeen : and they tell us, that the Giants were formed out of the Dirt or Earth. Wherefore thefe three words Titanes, Gigantes, Tavehave the same signification, and signifie the Children of the Earth. Diodorns Siculus unfolding the Theology of those who Inhabit the Coasts of the Atlantick Sea, fays, that according to their opinion, the Titans were the Children of Uranus and Titaa, who gave them her Name, and called herfelf the Earth: Gemmune Titanum nomen à Titaa matre usurpabant : Tites autem post mortem in Deos relata, Telluris nomen accipit. Thefe Giants were Children of Heaven and Earth, and their name of Titans came either from the Earth or Dirt, called by the Hebrews Tit. And these Giants being born before the Deluge, the Pagans who had but an imperfect knowledge of their History, did not know their true Geneology, wherefore they made them Children of Uramus and Tites, i.e. of Heaven and Earth.

Diodorus Siculus tells us alfo, that Phrygia, Macedonia and Italy had their Giants, bethe contrivers of Fables, to fay, that in all these places, the Giants were still burning in those Flames, that Thunder, to revenge Heaven, had kindled there to punish their Crimes. Justin speaking of the Tartelians of Spain, thews there the place where the Titans engaged the Gods.

of Arcadia, and of a place where the Fire Kindred. comes out of the Earth, and tells us that the fore, they offered there an Anniversary Sacrifice to Thunder and Storms.

Then this Historian examining the opi-

Heffod in his Theogenia speaking of the Chaos, and producing out of it not only all the Bodies of the Universe, both Beasts and Men, but even Gods themselves, then he mentions the Children of Heaven and Earth.

Virgil in the first Book of his Georgicks, imitates Hefred, holding the fifth day of the Giants after the Deluge, who were combined | Moon fatal, because upon that day the Earth brought forth the Giants. He has also imitated him, when he has ascribed to each of these Giants an hundred Hands, an hundred Shields, and fifty Mouths to blow out torrents of Fire. In another place he represents the violent efforts and motions of Enceladus. who lies buried alive under Mount Æma.

Horace has left us a very fine description of the war and defeat of the Giants; and Claudian fays, that the shakings and Flames of Mount Æina, are glorious and eternal proofs. of the triumphal Power and Justice of God: over the Giants.

Ætna Giganteos nunquam tacitura triumphos. Enceladi bustum.

Buchart and Volfius are of opinion, that the Giant Og, recorded in Scripture, whom I havementioned before, is Typhen or Typhen, defcribed by the Poets, the Hebrew word Og, and : the Greek Toom having the same fignification, . i.e. to burn : And Virgil affirms , that Trephon was struck with Thunder in Syria.

- Durumque cubile Inarime, Jouis imperiis imposta Typhae. Æneid.

Virgil follows Homer's opinion, who fays, that Typhaus was ftruck with Thunder in Sycause of the Fires that are burning in those ita, called in the Scripture Aram, and by Countries. The occasion seem'd very fair to profane Writers Aramea. These are Homer's words, eir Api mois, obi pagi Tuputus tumutraz Euras , in Arimis , ubi dicunt Typhei effe cubilia.

GLADIATORES. The Gladiators. who fought in the Circian Games, and at the Funerals of the great Men of Rome, one a-gainst the other, even to the loss of their Lives, to give this cruel Diversion to the Paulanias confirms this opinion, speaking People, or to pacific the Ghosts of their

The origine of these bloody Fights, came . Arcadians affirm'd, that the Giants had en- from the Ancient Inhabitants of Affa, who gaged the Gods in that very place : where- fancied that they very much honoured their Relations, by spilling humane blood with a brutish diversion. This superstition grew fo great among the Trojans, that Women cut nion of lioner and Hefod upon the subject of themselves to get out some blood, to sprinkle Giants, fays, that Homer has not mentioned upon the Graves or the Wood-pile of the the Giants in his Illiads, but only in his Dead. Junius Brutus was the first Man a-Odyffer, where he represents the Nation called | mong the Romans, who performed these bar-Liftrygones like Giants, attacking the Fleet of barous Duties to his Father; and we learn from Tacitus, that Tiberius to honour the memory of his Ancestors, ordered two Fights of Gladiators, one in the great publick place. and the other in the Amphitheater.

Those who made a trade of that brutish fury, were always esteem'd of no worth; for belides, that these Fights began at first by Slaves, who were miferably wretched, and left

Madness, as to the fury of Wild-Beafts. But the the Infamy was equal, yet the fortune was very different; for the Slaves made their Adversary, or to dye valiantly, and by War had no hopes left them. Malefactors bravely defended their life. were still used worse, for they were expos'd to the wild Beafts, and sometimes tied to their duty, they obtained of the Emperon. posts to feed the Lions, and to secure their and those who gave the Games, either their punishments against the hazards of a vigorous discharge or freedom, or some considerable defence. Men brought up and chosen for reward. Gladiators, because of their good meen and firength, were not only well used, but also ly a dispensation from fighting or serving well raught in the Science of Defence, and nothing was spaced to keep them in good health and strength, to contribute the better them a Switch called Rudis; Rude due to the diversion of the people.

Pliny tells us, that they were fed with Barly-Bread, wherefore they were called in led Pileatie, for a badge of their freedom jest Hordiarij, and that their Drink was Water with Ashes mixt with it; but this is not probable. There were many Families of these Gladiators. Some were called Sequatores, Ret:arii, Threces, Myrmillones, Hoplomachi, Samnites. Effedarit, Andabata, Dimachari, Meridiani, Fil cales. Postulatitii.

The first were armed with a Sword and : Club, in the end where of was Lead.

The fecond carried a Net and a Trident. and endeavoured to enclose their Antagonist of the Herb himself, and presently leapt into with it. The third had a kind of a Hanger or Scymetar, and were called by the name of their Gods. Paulanias calls Glaucus the Genius of Country. The fourth, called Mermillones instead of Mermidones, were the Heroes of Achilles, whom the Romans accounted to beG auls, wearing a Fish on the top of their Helmet. The Gla- a God, threw himself often in sight of all the diator Resistius or Net-bearer pursuing him, cried out, non te petoeGalle, fed pifcem peto.

word fignifies.

The fixth had their name from their hatred to the Samnites, who armed the Gladiators according to their fashion.

The leventh fought riding in Chariots, and · were called Estedarii.

fold, and took their name from their way of Some fay that he was turned into a Fift, their hands, from whence they are called Di- Glaucus Ponticus, that he was half Man, and macheri, a Greek word, which fignifies two half Fish.

pos'd to wild Beafts, and having got clear of fell in love with Scylla. Whereupon Com them, were obliged to kill one another to di- transported with jealousy, turned Scylla into vert the People.

to their ill destiny ; those Men who were The eleventh had their name from Fiferr the

might be ordered to fight.

All these Gladiators did their best to Will

After they had well acquitted themselves of

The discharge granted unto them, was onotherwise but willingly or out of compliance : and for a Token thereof, they gave

They gave them also a kind of a Hat calgranted to them-

Conflantiat, and after him the Emperors & cadins and Honorius forbad these Fights.

GLAUCUS Ponticus, a Fisherman of the Town of Autheden, who having one caught abundance of Fish, and laid them on the Bank, perceiving that these Fishes having touch'd a kind of Herb that was upon the fhore, received new strength, and leap d again into the Sea; which Glaucus perceiving, tafted the Sea after them, where he was transformed into a Triton, and became one of the Ser-

Paliphatus relates this otherwise, and fays that Glaucus was a Fisherman, and an excellent Diver, who to get the name of being people, from the top of a great Rock into the Sea, and appeared further off; then at lat The fifth were armed all over, as the Greek stole himself quite from the fight of Men, and retired on fome remote shore, from whence he came again some days after, and perswaded the people that he had conversed with the Gods of the Sea, and related extraordinary things of them. But in fine, being loft in the Waters of the Sea, the People per-The eighth fought on Horseback and blind - swaded themselves he was become a God other into a Sea Monster, and some others The ninth fought holding two Swords in affirm, like Philestratus in his description of Hyginus records, that Glaucus was much lo-The tenth were those who had been ex- ved by Circe, but he despised her, and yet he Montter, having poisoned the waters where by turns. They had great Wings, and their change of Glaucus and Dismedes.

Sun dials, fo called from the Greek word Allas. yrduar, which fignifies to flew, because Fulgentius relates after Theoritus an ancient the Gnomon is a stile or a Needle, which by Historiographer, that King Phorens left three its shadow shews the Hours, the elevation very rich Daughters; that Medusa the eldest of the Sun, and the Sign wherein he is.

to his people, as he had receiv'd it of Japher faid he was metamorphos'd into a Mountain. and Noah.

Empire against Capellianus Prefect of Mauri- minister Justice.

fallow Dear, procured from all parts of the They were also named Charites. World, and appointed a publick hunting day, where every Man carried away the Gracus, who fucceeded Cecrops, who com-Game he had kill'd.

Gordianus junior, Grandson to Gordianus who fine Countries of Europe, called Hellas: died in Africa, was raised to the Empire at | Ancient Writers have severally set the Sapor, who had invaded Syria.

GORGONES. Hefford in his Theogenia, Greece contains four great Provinces ; wiz.

the was used to bath herself, as Homer has Head actired with Adders, their Teeth were describ'd it in the twelfth Book of his Odyffu. like the Tusks of Wild-Boar's, coming out There was also another of that name, who of their mouth, and were armed with sharp was Grandson to Belleophon, and came to the and crooked Claws. They were named Stenye, Troism's relief, and thew'd a great folly in his i.e. ftrong, mighty; Meduje, i.e. care of conduct, having exchang'd his Golden Ar- the State; and Euryale, i. e. having command mour for that of Diomedes, which were of upon the at Sea. Perfeus being covered with Brafs. From whence 'tis faid in a proverbial the shield of Minerva cut off Medusa's head, way, to flew an inequal change, 'tis the ex- which was placed in the shield of Minerus, the fight whereof is mortal, and turns into GNOMONICE, The Art of making stones those who look at it, as it befel and most powerful was called Gorgon, because GOMER, The Father of the Italians the applyed herself very much to manure and Gault, under feveral names of Gallus and the ground; that a Serpents head was afcri-Ogyges, and was the eldest Son of Japhes bed to her, because of her prudence; and The Babyleniams took him for the Grandfather that Perfeus attack'd her with his Fleet, of Ninus, though he was but his Grand-Unkle. | (from whence Poets represent him wing-Some are of opinion that he is Saturn. He ed) seized upon her Dominion and kill'd came into Italy in the year 1879, d mundo her; and took away her Head, wiz. her condite, the 2539 of the Julian period, and Strength and Riches, which he made use of 2275 years before the birth of our Lord, and to fubdue the Kingdom of Atlat, whom he populated the Islands of the Mediterranean Sea, put to flight; and having forced him to re-Greece, Italy and Gallia. He taught Religion tire into the Mountains, from whence it is

GRACCHUS, A Sirname of the GORDIANUS, and his Son were Sempronian Family, the off-fpring of fo many both chosen Emperors in Africa, and the Se- Illustrious Romans who supported the People nate approved of their Election, but they did against the Nobility; as Tiberius Gracebus, not enjoy long that honour; for the Father who got the Agrarian Law to be received. was too old to be ferviceable to the Com- and distributed to the Romans the Riches that monwealth, being then fourfcore years of King Attalia had left him by his laft Will: and age; and though his Son was but forty fix Caius Gracehus, who added to the Senate three years old, yet he was not able to defend the hundred Men of the Equestrian Order, to ad-

GRÆCIA, &c. See after Gratie.

Gordianus was the Richest and the most GRAFIÆ. The Graces in the time magnificent of the Romans. During his Quz- of the Pagans were three fabulous Goddeffes storship he order'd Games of vast charges to represented young and naked, attending Vebe represented every month to the people. nui, called Aglaia, Thalia and Euphrofine, Daugh-He had a Park well flock'd with all kinds of ters of Jupiter, and Mercury's Companions.

> GRÆCIA, Greece, so called from King manded only in Actica, which was one of the fixteen years of age. He gave the Office of bounds of this Country; yet tis commonly Prefect of the Pratory to Philip a Man of low agreed, that it is bounded by the Inian Sea extraction, who foon forgot his Benefactor's at the Welt, by Libya at the South, the Egekindness; for he caused him to be murthered an Sea or Archipelagus at the East, and at the on the Frontiers of Pafia, where he purfued Mountains which divide it from Thracia, upper Mifia and Dalmatia.

and Hyginus fay, that the Gorgones were three Macedonia, Epirus, Achara, Pelopomefus, toger Silters, Daughters to Phocus a Sea-God, who ther with all the Islands of the Ionian Sea. had all three but one eye, ferving them all They also join to it that part of Italy, which was formerly called Great Greece, now Cala- | who had a hundred hands, Son to Heaven bris fuperiour. This Country exceeded all and Earth, and Brother to Brisrew. the Countries of Europe, for its temperature, good air, and plenty of all kinds of Fruits. The most famous Cities of Greece were Athem, Lacedemonis, Delphos, Argos, Mycene, Corintb. There were those Mountains, to famous in the Writings of the Poets, viz. Athor, Olympus, Pelion, Parnaffus, Helicon, Cytheren. Greece is esteemed the Mother of Arts and Sciences, that her Inhabitants had learnt of the Affyrians and Chaldeans. She was conquered by Cyrus, and afterwards by the other Kings of Paris. After the death of Perfeus the last King of

Greece, the Komans Subdued that Country. GRÆCI, The Greeks, the Inhabitants weight, the Gamesters who threw it highest of Greece, who are differently named by Writers Achaij, Argivi, Danai, Dolopes, Helleni, Ionij, Mermidones, Pelasgi, according to the Cities they inhabited, and their several Facti-

Eulebius affirms, that Hellen the Son of Deucalion, repopulated this Country after the Deluge, that happened in the time of Moles, about the year 3680. à mundo condito. They verv much improved Arts and Sciences, that they learned of Eumolpus and Orphaus, the Affrians and Phanicians. The Greeks increased the number of Gods, and shared the Empire and Administration of the World, appointing feveral Gods for Corn and Vines, to Plants and Flowers; which gave occasion for all the chimerical divisions of Gods, relating imaginary particulars of them, and giving them names, without any other ground, but their own vanity and prefumption.

The Phanicians having diffusifed the true Histories of the Bible, and composed their Fables of it, the Greeks also appropriated the Phanicians Fables to Greece.

Pliny affirms, that Cadmus, about the year 2520 à munde condite, brought from Phanicia fixteen Letters into Greece; viz. A, B, C, D E, F, G, H, I, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, V to which Palamedes added four, during the Troian War, O, Z. &, X.

GRÆCOSTASIS, A. Palace at Rome, adjoining to Mount Palatine, where the foreign Prince's Ambassadors were lodged. This Palace took its name from Greece, because the Greeks were the most considerable of all the Strangers; the House of the Ambaffadours.

GRATIÆ. See above, before Gracia. GUTTUS, A little Veffel ufed in Sacrifices, to pour Wine by drops

GYGES. A Lydian, who killed his Mafler by a Ring that made him invisible, by turning the stone within towards himself, for then he could fee all, and was feen of none. Ould mentions another Gyger, a Giant 'and blood, from a blow he receiv'd in his Centimanumque Gygen, semibovemque virum, 4. Trift.

GYNÆCONITIS. An Apartment for the Women in Greece. GYMNICI LUDI. Exercifes of the Graks. In these Games, there was in the first place the Race, which has been of old and the chief of all Exercises; secondly, leaping; thirdly,

Discus or Quoits, made of Stone, Iron or Brais, cut in a round figure, and of a great or furthest carried the Prize ; the fourth kind of Game was wreftling, wherein two Wreftlers, having their Bodies stark naked, and anointed all over with Oyl, took hold one on another, each of them making all his efforts to throw his Adversary on the ground the fifth fort of Game was boxing, the Gamesters had their Fists covered with Les. ther Straps, with pieces of Lead or Iron fallned to it, called Ceftus. Lucian speaks of these Games in the Dialogue of the bodily Exercifes, where he introduces Anacharfu discourfing thus with Solen. 'Anacharfu. What mean these young fellows, thus to coller and foyl themselves, and wallow in the mire like Swine, and strive to throttle and hinder one anothers breathing? they oyled and shaved one another pretty peaceably at first, but on a sudden stooping with their Heads, they butted each other like Rams: Then the one hoifting his Adversary aloft into the air, hurls him again upon the ground, with a violent fouelfb, and falling upon him, he hindered him from rifing. preffing his neck with his elbow, and punching him with his legs, fo as I was afraid he had stifled him, though the other struck. him on the shoulder, to desire him to let him go, as owning himself overcome. Methinks they should be shie of fouling themfelves thus in the dirt, after they had been fleek'd; and they make me laugh to fee them like fo many Eels, flip out of the hands of their Antagonists. Look v onder's. fome doing the fame in the face of the Sun, with this difference only, that it's in the Sun they rowl, like Cocks before they come to the skirmish, that their Adversary may have the better hold, and his hands not flip upon the Oyl or the Sweat. O feeyou others also fighting in the Dirt, and kicking and fifting, without endeavouring (like the former) to throw one another. The one spits out of his Teeth with fand nle, who fets President, as I suppose, at ginning the Syllables, as in the word honor; thefe Exercises, doth not trouble himself a- and the second is after the Consonant, as in hout parting them. These others make the the word Throwns. Daft fly, by kicking up their Heels in the air, like those who dispute for the prize of running. Solon. This here is the place of Exercises, and the Temple of Apollo Lycius, whose Statue you see upon that Column, in the posture of a weary Man, leaning upon bis Elbow, having his Head supported upon his right hand, and holding his Bow in the left. Those whom you see wallowing in the mire, or crawling in the dirt, are skirmishing at a march of Wrestling, or at the custom of the people in his pronunciati-Fifticuffs in the Ring or Lifts. There are fill other Exercises, as Leaping, Quoits, and Fencing, and in all fuch Games the conqueror is crowned.

These Games were play'd four times every year : viz. at Olympia in the Province of Games, in honour of Jupiter Olympiu; in the Islamus of Corinth, called Islamian Games, in honour of Neptune ; in the Nemean Forest, called Nemean Games, in honour of Hercules; and the Pythean Games, in honour of Apollo, because he had kill'd the Serpent Prtho. The Masters of these Games were call'd Gymnasta. I shall speak severally of these Games, according to their Alphabetick Order.

GYMNO SOPHIST Æ. Gymno. Sophists, a Sect of Indian Philosophers, who ador'd the Sun, and were called by this name, because they went naked.

H.

Grammarians dispute whether the H should be in the number of Letters or not; | des, they using to write THEO Einstead of because, say they, 'tis but an aspiration.

Tho' H be but an aspiration, vet 'tis a true Letter, because all Characters invented by Men to diffinguish our Pronunciation ought to be accounted a true Letter, especial- instead of Hostern, Hemings instead of Feminas. ly when 'tis fet down in the Alphabet among Hebris instead of Febris the other Letters, as His: And there is no press the several aspirations.

ted by the Greeks with sharp tones, and aspi- Trees. rated Consonants: And it serves for two ge-

Chaps, and yet that Officer attir'd in pur | neral uses; the first is before the Vowels be-

Doubtless the Happear'd plainly in the Roman pronunciation, as 'tis perceiv'd in the French tongue, in the words that are meerly French, as Hardieffe, Hauteur, &cc.

As for the H after the Conforants, Tully in his Book de Oratore affirms, that the ancient Writers made no use of it, but only before the Vowels, which inclin'd him to pronounce Pulcros, Triumpos, Cartaginem. But concealing his opinion, he conform'd himfelf to on, and that yet they pronounced always Sepulcra, Lacrime, without H, because it did not offend the Ears.

Quintillian tells us, that often ancient Writers put no H before the Vowels, writing ircus; but that in his time they were come Elia, wherefore they were called Olympick to another excess, pronouncing Chorona, Prachones. However, the Language must be confidered as it was in its purity.

Wherefore, as this H after the Confonants was only introduced in the Latin Language, but to supply the aspirated Letters of the Greek, it ought to be used but after four Conforants, viz. C. P. T. R.

The Latins have taken their H from the Greek "Hra. as the Greeks had it of the Phanis cians, and the Phanicians of the Syrians, who pronounced formerly Hetha instead of Heth: which plainly flews, that we ought to pronounce Eta in Greek, and not Ita.

But in the beginning this H was only us'd for an afpiration wherefore they wroteHEPOAO inftead of seeden, HOAOI inftead of obc HEKATON instead of in early centum: From whence it comes, that the H formerly denoted one hundred in number.

H was also joined with weak Consonants. H is the eighth Letter of the Alphabet, inflead of an afpiration; for the afpirated Consonants were found out since by Palame-Cioc. and the like.

The F is often written instead of the H. as Fedum Instead of Hedum, Fircum instead of Hircum, Fariolum inflead of Hariolum, Fosiem

HAMADRYADES. Certain Divireason to fancy that H is not a true Letter, inities of Trees and Forests, who lived and because tis but an aspiration, since in the died with them, as the fabulous Antiquity Oriential Languages, there are three or four tells us. Notwithstanding the respect the Letters, which they call Guttural Letters, Pagans had for these Hamadryades, was but which are of no other use, but only to ex- a kind of worship render'd to some Intelligent Divinity, or fome Genius whom they H fupplies in Latin, all that which is deno- fancied to be present, or residing in these both turn'd into Serpents.

ces or Musical Instruments. The Plasmifts fan- the Moon were by other Nations. And yet cied, that celestial Bodies made a real Har- we may fay that the Paganu rank'd Harperater mony. Vitruvius speaks of the harmonical the God of filence among the other Gods. to Musick of Ariffexenes, the Scholar of Ariffetle, silence those who should affirm, that all their oppolite to that of the Pythagoreans; because Gods were but mortal Men; or else to shew these Philosophers judged of the tones, only us, that all the Gods whom they ador'd. by reasons of Proportions, and the others were comprehended in an only one, who were of opinion, that the ears should also commanded silence. have their share in that judgment, because it belonged especially to them, to regulate are fantastical Characters of Hereticks, both what concerns Musick.

of three kinds of Songs, which the Greeks Superstitions. call Engrmonick, Chromatick and Diatonick : the In another figure Scrapis and Harpocrates are Enarmonick finging is a way of turning the represented with these Letters, Confervate men voice, and disposing the Intervals with such which shews that it was a kind of a Talisman an art, that the melody becomes more mov- which they were about them, to beg of thefeing : The Chromatick finging confifts in keep- Divinities the confervation of their Health, ing the Intervals close by a subtle artifice, and their preservation from all Evils. which makes the voice fweeter and lofter: and the Diatonick as the most natural, makes fetting upon the Flower called Lanu, an Herh easie Intervals, which renders it more easie dedicated to the Sun, because its flower onem

Offris and Ifis; the God of Silence, who was ven on the reverse thereof, are some Basilidian commonly represented holding his finger up- Mysteries. on his mouth, to make a fign to hold the tongue and keep filence. Varre protests, that a Lion, some Birds about him, and the head he will tell nothing else of this God, lest he of the Moon. Alexander Hales tells us, that fhould break filence commanded by him: The finger which he holds upon his mouth ans ascribed to celestial Globes of the Planes, is the second finger, called by the Latins Salutaris, commonly used to command filence. And Apuleiut fays, 'Lay the Finger that is next the Thumb upon the Mouth, and hold 'your Tongue. Aufonius recommended Silence thus,

Aut tua Sigalion Ægyptius ofcula fignet.

The Statues of Harpacrates were placed in Temples and publick places, and the Egyptian Sculpto represented him upon several precious Stones, which they ingrav'd under certain Constellations, and upon Metals, proper to receive and keep the impression of each Star, that they might use them to cure Distempers, and preserve Men from dangers. The Ramans adorn'd their fingers with them, as Pliny has the Virtuoso's Closers. observ'd : 'The Romans, fays he, begin already to wear in their Rings, Harpocrates and ing their Finger upon their Mouth; but fome other Ægyptian Gods.

Inquiries after Antiquities, has given us feveral Sculptures of Harpocrates, p. 124. On one of these he is represented fetting upon. Ofris the father of Harpetrates. an Offrich, and on the reverse thereof the

HARMONIA, Harmony, the Daugh- Sun and Moon are ingrav'd, for Harpecrain; ter of Marr and Penne, and Wife to Cadmus, was accounted their Son; fince Officia and Ifig. the Father and Mother of Harpecrates, were HARMONIA, Harmony . A confort of Voi- esteem'd by the Exprison, what the Son and

The Letters of the reverse of the Medal Refilidians and Gnoflicks, who did mix the My-The same Writers give us also an account steries of the Christian Religion with Pages

On another stone Harpscrates is represented of it felf at the rifing of the Sun, and thurs HARPOCRATES, The Son of again at his going down; The Letters Ingra-

Harpocrates is still drawn with the head of these Birds were Angels, whom the Basilidie and that they called Saturn, Caffiel ; Jupiter, Sachiel; Mars, Samuel; the Sun and the Mon. Michael ; Venus, Anabel ; Mercury, Raphael. Likewise Harpocrates is figured fetting on the head of an Ais, the mouth whereof is turned upwards, with these Letters on the reverse of the Medal INXTPON KAI ANIKHTON i. c. ftrong and invincible, which Epithet the Bafilidians gave to their Jan or Jebaua, to preferve them from dangers, and protect themagainst their Enemies.

The same God is yet engraven with seven Greek Vowels, fignifying the word Jebous: These are the representations of Harpotrates, drawn from Sculptures and Medals : But weshall describe the copies, which were takenafter the old fmall Statues of Brais, kept in

The old Statues of Harpocrates were holdare represented with a Horn of Plenty, and a-M. spen, in the seventh differention of the Basket on the head, which was the common ornament of Scrapis, who according to the opinion of some Writers, was the same as

Others reprelent him with a glittering | And as these four changes of the Moon, are head fome have drefs'd him in a Gown, which in a manner the space of seven days one from hangs down to the heels, carrying on his another, tis very likely that from thence the Head a branch of a Peach-tree, which was a first Egyptians and Affrians have taken occasi-Tree confectated to Harpocrates, because the on to divide time by intervals of seven-Fruit thereof resembles the Heart, and its days, which therefore were called Weeks. Leaves are like the Tongue, as Plutarch has As for the Hebrews, their way of reckoning observed; whereby old Writers signified the the time by weeks, has a most august Origine. perfect correspondency that should be be- and the Law commanded them to forbear sween the Tongue and the Heart: Some from all kind of work the feventh day, toothers figure him with a particular Orna- imprint in their memory the great Mystery ment on his Head, having the badges of Har- of the Creation of the World, in which God parates, Cupid and Esculapius, for he holds his had wrought during fix days, and reiled the Finger on his Mouth, he carries Wings, and feventh, whereupon it was called the Saba Quiver with Arrows, and a Serpent twift- bath-day, which in their Language fignifies a ed about a flick. The union of Harpecrates day of reft. The other days took their name with Cupid, shews that Love must be secret; from that day; for the following day was and the union of Harperates with Eculapius called by the Tems prima Sabbasi, the first day gives us to understand, that a Physician must of the Sabbath; the next day, the second of be discreet, and not discover the secrets of the Sabbath; then the third and fourth, Or. his Patient. The Pythagoreans made a Virtue till the fixth , called otherwise Parajceve , of filence, and the Romans a Goddess, called Tacita, as'tis related by Plutarch.

H

HARPIÆ. The Harpves, fabulous Birds only mentioned by Poets, who describe them with the face of a Virgin, and the rest in the third Book of his Aneid. v. 213.

– Quas dira Celano.

Harpya colunt alia Triffius hand illis monftrum, nec fevior ulla Peffis O ira Deum Stygiis Sefe extulit undis; Virginei volucrum vultus, fædissima ventris Proluvies : uncaque manus, & pallida femper Phineus in possession of his Estate.

Pike, Spear, Javelin, Co.

fold by Auction; for Romalus had order'd that this Pole should be fet before the place. where the confiscated Goods were fold.

HASTA PURA, A Half-pike, without Iron at the end, us'd for a Scepter and a badge of Authority, and not a Pike armed with Iron, used in the war.

Month, because of the four chief and more Christians. apparent Phalis of the changes of the Moon.

which fignifies the day of preparation for the Sabbath.

This way of reckoning by Weeks, was, properly speaking, used only by the Eastern Nations, for the Greeks reckoned their days from. of the body a Bird, with crooked feet and ten to ten, or by decads, dividing each hands: Virgil's description of them runs thus, month in three parts; the first part was. reckoned from the beginning of the Month, the fecond was the middle of the Month, and: the third was the rest of the Month, from. the middle to the end thereof. And thus the Romans, belides the divition of the Month by Kalends, Nones and Ides, made use also of a political distribution of a series of eightdays, distributed from the beginning of the year to the end thereof.

The names of the days of the week used: The truth of the Story is, that Phineus by the Primitive Christians, were founded on: King of Paonia having loft his fight, and his a more holy principle, viz. the refurrection Sons being dead, the Harpyes his Daughters, of our Lord, which has given the name of were founding his Estate, till Zethes and Calais | Dominica, on the Lord's-day, to the day called his Neighbours, Sons of Bordar, drove thefe the Sabbath by the Jeps. And because they. Ladies out of the City, and re-establish'd to shew their joy in the celebration of the Feaft of Eafter, i. e. of the Refurrection, were HASTA, fignifies all kind of offensive used to keep the whole week holy, resting Arms, that have a long staff or handle, as from all fervile work, which is called in. Latin Perian, therefore they called the day 'Twas faid in the Roman Law Hafte Subjicere, following immediately after the Holy Sunto fignify thereby, to confifcate, or to fell day Prima Feria; and the fecond day Secundaby publick fale; and fub haffa venire, to be Feria; the third day Tertia Feria, and fo forth :. and from thence the days of all the weeks were afterwards improperly called Foria inpractice of the Church.

The Origine of the names commonly givea to the days of the week, being names of Divinities ador'd by faperstitious Antiquity, . comes from a more remote principle: for 'ris HEBDOMADA, A Week, the nume likely that these names passed from the Asset of seven days. Four Weeks make up a rians to the Greek, and from the Greeks to the

"And we may reasonably presume that the lof the Planets in the days of the week, is Chaldeans, who were esteemed the first Men very different from the order and fituation of who addicted themselves to study Astrono- their Orbs. my, have also given the name of their Gods to the Planets, or at least the same names, ted the days, but also the hours of each day which they have afterwards ascribed to the to the care of some Planet, 'tis very likely. Gods whom they ador'd : and that they that the day was called by the name of the might give more authority to that art which Planet, that had the direction of the first they profess, and by which they foretold hour : Wherefore Saturday or the day of Sathings to come, by the observation of the turn was thus called, because the first hour of Stars. They attempted to ascribe them an that day was under the direction of Saturn; abtolute Empire over the nature of Men. al- and as the following hours came on fucceslowing to each of them feveral Offices and fively, under the power of the following Employments, to dispense good and evil; Planets, the second hour was for Jupiter and that left that dreadful power which they | who immediately followed Saturn ; the third ascribed to them, should be kept in the only was for Mars, the fourth for the Sun, the fifth extent of their fpheres, they had very much for Venue, the fixth for Mercury, and the feenlarg'd the bounds of their Dominions, fubmitting to them, not only the feveral parts hour return'd under the power of Siturn: of the Earth and the Elements, not only the and according to the same order, the same Fortunes, Inclination and Secrets of the most close Men, overthrow of States, Plagues, two and twentieth hours under his direction; Deluges, and a thousand other things of that and by consequence the three and twentieth nature; but endeavoured also to set them up hour was under the command of Jupiter, and for the absolute Masters of time, allowing a the four and twentieth, viz. the last hour of Planet to prelide over each year, another to the day, was found under the direction of hour, and perhaps to each moment.

took the name of the Planet ruling over it, cond day; and following always the same and Monday, which is in Latin dies Luna, i. e. order to the eighth, the fifteenth and the two the day of the Moon, was so called, because and twentieth hour did always belong to the the Moon presides that day; dies Martis, i.e. Sun, the twenty third to Venus, and the last the day of Mare, which was under the directi- to Mercury : wherefore the first hour of the on of Mars; dies Mercurii, ruled by Mercury; third day appertained to the Moon, called for dies Jouis, under the conduct of Jupiter ; dies that reason the day of the Moon, to which al-Veneris, under the direction of Venus; dier Sa- io was referr'd the eighth, the fifteenth, and rurui, under that of Saturn; dier Solis, ruled the two and twentieth hours of the fame follow in the week, is quite different from must return again to Saturn) and the last to that which they observe in Heaven; for ac- Jupiter; from whence the first hour of the cording to the disposition of their Spheres, fourth day was found under the direction of comes Wednesday the day of Mercury, instead turday, and so of all the rest. of Thur day the day of the San, and so forth. | There is still another ingenious reason that

by the Sun.

But the Ancients having not only commitventh for the Meen, and afterwards the eighth Planet Saturn had ftill the fifteenth and the each month, to each week, each day, each Mars: So that the first hour of the following day came under the dominion of the Sun, From thence each day of the week has who consequently gave his name to the feday ; and therefore the twenty third hour 'Tis true, that the order that the Planets | was ascribed to Saturn, (for from the Moon we Jupiter is immediately below Saturn; Mars Mars, (who gave also his name to the day) as below Jupiter; the Sun under Mars; Venus ac- also the eighth, the fifteenth and the two cording to the vulgar opinion, beneath the land twentieth; and consequently the twen-Sun; Mercury below Venus; and in fine, the ty third hour belonged to the Sun, the twenty Men the lowest of all beneath Mercury : But fourth to Venus; and the first of the fifteenth in the order of the week Sunday, called the day to Mercury; and fo forth, following the day of the Sun, comes after Saturday, which is same order, whereby we see the origine and the day of Saturn, in the room of Thursday the necessary feries of the names given to the the day of Jupiter; and Monday the day of days of the week, and the reason why the the Moon, follows the day of the Sun instead day of the Sun comes after the day of Saturn, of Friday, the day of Venus; likewise instead viz. Sunday after Saturday, the day of the Mon of Saturday or the day of Saturn, which ac- after the day of the Sun, or Monday after Suncording to the Planets order, should follow day; the day of Mars after the day of the the Munday or the day of the Moon; they reckon Moon, or Tuelday after Monday; Wednelday after Tuefday the day of Mars; and after Tuefday Tuefday; then Thurfday, Friday, and at last Sa-

Whereby it doth appear, that the disposition might be given for these denominations of the days of the week, follow one another in ven, Diana on Earth, and Proferpina or Hecate proportion with the muical harmony, called in Hell. She was called Trivia, because her in Greek flattacapar, which was the Origne Image was fet up in crofs-ways, either beand principle of all the good harmony of the | cause of the noise that was made in the night, Antients, the nature whereof confifts betwixt to imitate the howling of Gree feeking after two tones of tour voices, or three intervals Profergina, or because she was the Moon in Heaor founds, different one from another: betwixt both. And 'tis likely, that the Ancients to leave us some idea of this admirable Musick, have disposed the days of the week, which follow one another according to their musical harmony; wherefore the Planet which comes immediately after another, leaves two others behind, which are filent ; viz. after Saturn comes the Sun, leaving Jupiter and Mars; and after the Sum follows the Moon, over-funning Venus and Mercury; after the Moon appears Mars ; after Mars, Mircury, without mentioning either the Sun or Venus; after to her Victims, the blood whereof was shed Moon or Saturn ; next to Jupiter, Venus, leaving Mars and the Sun; and the last of all next to Venus comes Saturn; and by this perday of the Sun, follows Saturday the day of Saturn, and why after Sunday comes Monday. &c.

HEBDOMAS, The name of an Orator mentioned by Lucian, who once a week gave a play-day to his Scholars, and play'd himfelf wanton tricks among the people, as School-boys do upon Holy-days.

HEBE, The Daughter of Jupiter and June, or of June alone without the knowledge of a Man ; for Apollo having once invited her to a Feaft, the Fable tells us that fhe eat fuch the got a great Belly, and was brought to bed of Hibe, a Girl of an extraordinary beau- | Lambs ; wherefore Homer fpeaks in his Illiads, After Hercules was taken up among the Gods, he married her. The Ancients took Hebe for the Goddess of Youth, and consecrated toher feveral Temples. The Corinthians offer'd place of Refuge to all the Malefactors, who | fered to the Gods, an Hecatomb of a hunthe Image of a young Girl, crowned with us, that the is the Daughter of Jupiter and Cem; others fay, that the is the Daughter of Jupiter and Afteria; and Apollodorus's opinion is, that Hecate, Diana, the Moon and Pro-days of or the names of the Planets given to i dels with three heads, being the Men in Heaven, and Diana on Earth, and Proferpina or wherefore there are always two filent tones Hecate in Hell, as the Scholiaff of Ariftophanes reports: Higgien coluere antiquitus in trivies. propteres quod eandem & Lunam, & Dianam, Hecaten vocarent.

Service tells us the fame thing upon this Verie of Virgil, NoEurzisque Hecaten triviis ululata per urbes.

She was represented with a dreadful coun- -tenance, her Head attited with Serpents : and . was called upon in Magick, they facrificing. Mercury, Jupiter, without reckoning either the in a Ditch, digged in the ground for that HECATOMB, A Sacrifice of an hundred Oxen, from the Greek word, inartiv :petual revolution, we know why Sunday the i. e. a hundred. Strabe relates, that this Sacrifice comes from the Lacedemonians, who having an hundred Towns in their Country. facrificed every year a bundred Oxen in honour of their Divinities : but the charges of thefe Sacrifices being too great, they were reduced to five and twenty Oxen; for they. fancied by a childish cunning, that each of these Oxen having four feet, it was enough to keep up the name of Hecatombs to thefe Sacrifices, to keep to the number a hundred in these parts.

And yet afterwards they offered in their a quantity of Léttice to cool her felf, that Hecatombs other four-footed Beafts, easier to be procured than Oxen, as She-Goats and ty, who was in Heaven Jupiter's Cup-bearer. of Hecatombs of She-Goats and first year'd Lambs. 'Tis also reported, that an Ancient Man, having in formy weather made a vow to Sacrifica an hundred Oxen if he should escape the danger, and afterwards seeing that her Sacrifices in a Grove, which ferved for a he was not able to perform his Vow, he ofrepaired thither; and freed men tied to the | dred small Oxen made out of Dough. Some Trees, their chains and other marks of bon- ascribe this false Hecatomb to Pythageras ; dage. This Goddess was represented by and Diogones Laertius reports, that this Philofopher having found out fome new demonstrations of Trigonometry offered an Heca-HECATE, A Divinity of Hell, Wri- tomb of these artificial animals, in the room ters report her birth variously. Orpheus tells of a hundred living Oxen, whom he so exprefly forbid to kill.

HECTOR, The Son of Priamus King of Troy, and Hecuba his Wife, the most valiant of all the Trojans, who fo bravely defendfirping are all one and the fame, where- ed the City of Troy against the Greeks. Homer fore they call her triple Hecare, or the God- in the xxii Book of his Illiads, relates, how Priamus and Hecubs defir'd Heffer to avoid fighting with Achilles, and yet he pursued him vigorously. Jupiter took pity of Heller, and put it to deliberation whither he should prolong his life. But Minerua was against it. feeing that he was mortal. However, Apollo flood for him. At last Jupiter put into a pair of golden Ballances, the destinies of Achilles and Heller. The fare of Heller was brought down even to Hell. Then Apollo forlook him, and Minerus took Achilles into her prorection Heffor perceived that Minerus was against him, and that Jupiter and Apollo had cast him off, as being near the fatal moment of his death; Notwirhstanding he behav'd himself with a very great courage, and at last having received a mortal wound by Achilles, he foretold him before he died, that Paris and Apollo should kill him. Achilles had resolved to exnote the Corps of Heller to be devoured by the Does : but Vinus kept off the Dogs from his Body, and Apollo cover'd it with a Cloud. Wherefore he only dragg'd his Corps round about the Grave of Patroclus, and Apollo took care of it, and ke t it from being torn in pieces: and complained also of the other Gods, who fufferr'd Hillor to be infulted, even after his death; upon which, Jupiter mov'd with compassion, feat Thesis to Achilles, ro perswade him to deliver up the Corps of Heller to his Father, which he performed for a great Summ of Money

HECUBA. The Wife of Priamus. After the facking of Troy, Uliffer took Hecuba for his fhare of the Poory; but having feen Polyzens her Daughter facrificed on the Tomb of Achilles, and provok'd by to many misfortunes, and especially the death of her Son Podydorus, barbarously murthered by Polemnester, his Son-in-law, the fell upon him in rage, and that the fame of her Beauty went as the and tore out his eyes, then endeavouring to as Phrygia; but Paris Alexander Son to King escape from the hands of her pursurer, the Priamus, one of her Lovers, having been prewas turn'd into a Bitch. Ovid the 12th Book | terred to all the other Princes, for the lake of his Metamorpholes.

piter and Tyndarus King of Lacedemonia and her to Troy. Menelaus and the other Grecia Leda, and Sifter to Caffor and Pollux, Lucian fpeaks thus of her in the judgment of Paris. of whom Jupiter being enamour'd, turned may well imagine that the is not black, being come of a Swan, not fat or bulky, becharmed with her agreeable motion, and the gracefulness of her person. Wars the gracefulness of her person. Wars the was nutthered by Oreflet the Son of Apr have already been made for the love of her; memon. for the was ftole by Thefeus, when but ten Herodatus reports, that after Menelaus was

Beauty, as well as in Age, and has attracted to her the eyes of all Greece. She has been courted by a thousand Lovers ; but Menis lass was preferred before all his Rivals; Nevertheless I will give her you, if you are fo inclined. For thou fhalt go into Greete under pretence of feeing the Country, and as foon as thou art arrived at Lacedemon, He. lena will fee thee ; leave the rest to my care and management

And the fame Lucian in the praise of Beanty, speaks thus of her: 'Men hold it in fuch great esteem, that Thefeur, who was one of the greatest Heroes, did not think he could be happy with all his Virtue, unless he poffessed Hellen, and fole her away, before the was at an Age fit for Marriage, without having regard to the puissance of her Father, or the danger he ran by this an tempt. That fame Hellen being fince returned to her Father's House in Thefen's abfence, all the Grecian Princes fell in love with her; and for fear this Love might be fatal to their Country, they all vowed together, to serve him who should be prefer red, and hence employed all their Forces. to put that fair one into Menelaus's hands Paris himself preferred her before all the Grandeurs, and Advantages promifed him by Pallas and June: And the Troise feeing all Greece pouring upon their backs. and at liberty of avoiding of that War, by restoring Hellen , yet resolved to keep her, at the very peril of their lives, and the ruine of their Country.

Egyptian Priefts, that Helens the Daughter of Tyndarus, the fairest young Lady of all Green, was courted by the young Grecian Princes. of his Beauty, and the magnificence of his HELENA, Helen, the Daughter of Ju-1 Equipage, married her, and prefently brought Princes provoked by this choice, raileds powerful Army under the command of Att Venus. She is the Daughter of that fair one, memnon, and fat down before Trey. But Acht les was killed in this War, and the Greeks himself into a Swan to enjoy her. You forc'd to make a Peace with the Trojans, by the mediation of Ulyffer; and to repair the damage they had done before Troy, they ofing produced out of an Egg-shell. If you fer'd a wooden Horse gilt over to Minerus, had feen her dance frank naked, after the and returned into Greece without Hillen, manner of her Country, you had been whom Heller, after the death of Paris gave years old. Since, the is augmented in decealed, Nicoftratus and Megapenthus, two Laedenmiss Lords drove Helens out of the City, HELEPOLIS, An Engine, uled for-Island, who was kill'd by Sarpedon at the siege Hides. of Troy. As first Polypo entertain'd her very honourably; but in her absence her Maid of while the was bathing herfelf.

Dien Prusianas fays, that he was told by the

Menefius speaking of the Island of Spatara relates, that Helens there granted her first tayours to Paris, and that on the banks of the firm Land opposite to it, this fortunate Lover after this agreeable conquest, built a Temple to Venus, for a Monument of the transports of his lov, and in acknowledgement of Venus's kindness, to whom he gave the attribute of Bear. Migenitis, and called his Territory Migenien, from a word that lignified the Amorous Myftery that passed between them; and that Mouless the unfortunate Husband of this Princess, eighteen years after the was stoln away, came to visit this Temple, the Territory whereof had been witness of his Misfortune, and the infidelity of his Wife; but he did not destroy it, but only fet upon both fides Author, he had not the good fortune to fee himfelt revenged of Helena, for the out-lived Tree by her orders.

married Andromache, whom he divorc'd, taking for his second Wife Hermione, the Daughter of Menelaus, and Wife to Oreffes, and then retired into Chamia, and there built a City after the Draught of the City of Troy, where Aneat landed. Thus Virgil speaks of it: Being imbark'd, they fail'd along the Coasts of the Isle where Helmus the Son of Priamus reigned, with Andromache the Wife of Heller. arrive in Italy, they should go ashore in arising amongst Ladies. Sicily, and that Escar should descend to and the Kingdom of Sparts; and the retired merly to batter Towns, invented by Dansto Rhedet, where she was kindly receiv'd by trime. This Engine was a wooden Tower, perpes, then Widow of Tiepolemus King of that cover'd with a contexture of Hair and fresh HELIADES, The Daughters of the Sun and Clymene, and Sifters to Phaeten : who Honour hanged her upon a Tree. Paufanias being very much concern'd for the loss of calls this Queen Polibe native of Arges, and Phaeten their Brother, whom Jupiter had firuck fays, that her Maids being dreffed like Furies with his Thunder, were turn'd into Poplarhanged Helens by the order of their Mistrifs, trees, out of compassion of the Gods, and their tears changed into Amber, as the Fable tells us.

HELICE, or Califto, the Daughter of Lycam King of Accadia, whom Diana changed into a She-Bear; because, being one of her Attendants, the let herfelf be corrupted by Jupiter; but taking pirty of her, he turned her into a Constellation, called the great HELICON, A Mountain in Bestie, near Mount Parnaffue in Phone, both dedicated so Apollo and the Muses, called by the name of this Mountain Heliconides.

HELIOGABALUS, called Mercus Aurelius Antoninus, a natural Son to the Emperor Caracalla. He was elected Emperor by the Army, in the room of Macrinus. Historians commonly call him Heliogabalus, and thereof the Statue of Venus, and the Images of yet in many Medals he is named Heligabalus, two other Goddesses, wiz. Thetis and the God- because before his election to the Empire, he dels Praxidica, i. e. the Goddels of Punish- was a Priest of the Sun in Phanitia, where ments, to shew that he would not pass by the Sun is called after that Name, When he that Affront unpunished. But, says the same | came to Rome he brought his God along with him, and ordered the people to worship him exclusive of all other Gods; and Lampridius him; however, Menelaus revenged himfelf on tells us, that he facrific'd to him humane Prismus the Father of the Ravisher, and ut- Victims, both Boys and Girls. He was viterly destroyed his Kingdom. As for Helma, cious to a superlative degree, and his prothe made a very tragical end of her life, for fuseness and effeminacy were beyond bounds, having retired herself to Rhoder, near Prolize for he was served at Table with two and her Kinswoman, there she was hanged to a twenty Courses of Meat, with all forts of Fowls and Rarities unknown at Rome, and HELENUS. The Son of Priamur, and fetched from the most remote Provinces. a very experienc'd South-fayer, whom the He burned Balm in his Lamps, and kept Greek spared in the sacking of Troy. He had sweet waters in his Vaults. He privately married a Vestal Virgin, called Aquilia Severs, that he might beget a Celestial Posterity, being himfelf the Priest of the Sun. His Lewdness and Debauchery grew to such an excess, that the description thereof in Hiflory makes the Reader blush. The Soldiers murthered him and his Mother in the Camp, feveral Islands, and among others, along and their Bodies were dragg'd along the Streets of Rome, and thrown into a Kennel, and then into the Tiber ; wherefore he was There they landed, and Helenus foretold called Heliogabalus Tiberinus. He had established them from Apollo, that before they should a Senate of Women, to decide differences whom he his fecond Wife attempted to de-the placed therein again the Original Manftroy, whereupon he fled away with her Bro- fures.

HELLE, The Daughter of Nephele, and the first Wife of Athamas King of Theber,

name Helle pontus.

Gloffes. Hemine, i. e. half a pint English Meais fo called from the Greek n wiou dimidium, holding about four Bushels of Paris mea-represent cells us after, that copie and stems.

The west of young the Ancients, and both taken for the half Sexterius: 'Honine, who always wept at the Miferies of the . fays he, is the half of a Sextarius, wherefore the Greeks call it Cotyle, i. e. incision or division, because, it divided the Sextarius in | ble here below, but all things obnoxious to

The Antients often confounded thefe two words, and fometimes called Hemine the Isalian Cotyle ; and Cotyle the Hemine of the Greeks, because Hemme was the half of the Sextarius of Italy, as the Catyle was likewise the half Sextarius of the Greeks.

fures in the Temples, and had recourse to called by that name. them, to verify the other Measures used amongst the People; and in this sense the Holy Scripture speaks of the Weights of the cules amongst them, and tells us that he ws. Sanctuary, which were the Rules for other the Son of Demaron, and was called Melcharin, Varro reports, that the Ballance used to weight the Coin, was kept in the Temple of Saturn.

We read in Famius's Writings, that the Amphore containing eight Congie, i.e. forty eight Sextarii, was dedicated by the Ancient Remens to Jupiter upon the Tarpeian Mount, where shood the Capital

Quam ne violara liceret; Sacravere Jevi, Tarpeio in monte, Quirites ..

And the Emperor Vespationus, having repair'd the Capitol after the Civil Wars of Vitellias, ther Phryxus, riding on a Ram, whose Fleece | The Congium did hold ten Pounds, wiz.

was of Gold; but crofling over the Sea, she hundred and twenty Roman Ounces; which fell into that Sea, which was called after her were about three Quarts English Measure.

HERACLIDÆ, or the Posterity of HEMINA muterns, say the Ancient Hercules, who being driven out of Greece by Eurifieut, retired to Athens, and fled for refuge fure; these two words are reciprocal, and to the Altars. Demophon Prince of Athen. the Antient Lexicon has translated wulferne would not permit any Man to force out from by the word Hemina. Festus the Grammarian of their shelter; however, being afraid that tells us the reason thereof. 'Hemine, fays he, Euristeus should make war against him, he consulted the Oracle, who told him that he because 'tis the half of the Sextarius. This should facrifice a Virgin to Ceres, to secure is confirmed by Aulus Gellius, who says, that himself the Victory, but Demophon refus'd to if an Heming is pour'd out of a Sextarius, half offer his own Daughter or any other Virgin. a Sentarius was poured out, and not that a in facrifice; whereupon Macaria, who was Sextarius was divided by the half, dimidium, of Herculei's Family, voluntarily submitted nun dimidiatum Sextarium. The Hemine was herself to the Oracle, and was sacrific'd. The then the half of a Roman Sextarius. The Ro- Athenians incourag'd by this facsifice went to man Hemine, fays Garaus the Commissioner of meet the Enemy, resolv'd to defend valiantly the Mint, is the same measure, with that the sanctity of their Ofrlum, and the liberty of which is called at Paris, Dimifetier, holding the Heraclida. Joalus, who was Hercules's feleight ounces of Liquor. Fernelius tells us the low Traveller, and had manag'd the whole same. Hemine was also a measure of Wheat, Negotiation for the liberty of the Heraclica, as his own, was at last rewarded by the Gods. who refter'd him to his former ftrength, and Apuleiss tells us also, that Cotyla and Hemi- granted him a perpetual youth.

> World and mortal Men, faving that their condition was very fad, nothing being dura perpetual change; afferting withal that all the pleasures that Men enjoy'd are nothing elfe but grief, their knowledge ignorance, their grandeur meannels, and their ftrength infirmity.

. HERCULES, There were feveral of that Name. But Hercules of Tyrus, and Herce-They kept also the Originals of the Mea- les of Egypt, were the most ancient of all these

Sanchon Ciathon, who has written the pedigree of the Phanician Gods, has recorded Hawhich fignifies the King of the City, both in Hebrew and the Phanician Languages. We leam. the same thing of Hesychius, for Melec fignifies King, and Cartha a City. Herodorus feems inclined to place Herculus

Egypt in the first rank of Antiquity; for he tells us, that he is one of the twelve first and principal Gods, and that on his account a great many Ages fince, the Grecks fet up for their Hercules the Son of Alemens, and Jupiter Or Amphitrion.

Jesephus in his Antiquities of the Jews his. preferv'd a fragment of Menander of Ephilis, who speaking of Hiram King of Tyrus, who Supply'd Solemen with Timber, for the build Hercules of Egypt was much older, as Macrobius gelates: Deus Hercules veligiose quidem apud Tyron colitur, verim Sacratiffma & augustiffma Ægyptij eum religione venerantur. Ipfe creditur & Gigantes interemiffe, Oc. If Hercules of Egypt was living in the time of the War of the Giants. the Glory of Antiquity must be allowed to him. Saluft mentions Hercules of Libra, who had founded the City of Capfa; and Orefins calls him the Phenician Hercules.

who tells us in general, that the Greeks have cian Hercules. As to the Indian Hercules menafcribed to themfelves the Heroes and the tioned also by Diodorus, 'tis more likely that Gods of Egypt, and amongst others Hercules. Diodorus reports this discourse, as he heard it from the mouth of the Egyptians, and their proofs bore a great weight. For fince all agree that Hercules was in the Engagement with the Giants, this Hercules can't be the Gracian Hercules, who lived but a hundred years before the fiege of Troy.

Hercules was armed with a maffy Club, and covered with a Lion's skin; these Arms are Arms were found out. Hercules clear'd the Earth of many prodigious Beafts, and confequently this was perform'd before the Deluge, and in Egypt, which is well flock'd with monftrous Beafts.

Diederus mentions three Hercules's. The first and the most Ancient was in Egypt, and fubdued one part of the World, and erected a Column in Africa. The fecond at Crete, third was the Sun of Ispiter and Acres who executed what Eurifibius had commanded him, and fet up a Pillar on the Prontiers of Europe. But these Hercules's having been recorded one after another, all that was proper to the former was afcrib'd to the last : and their names being the fame, gave occasion to ascribe to a fingle man all that was perform'd, by all those that were called by that name, as if they were all but one Hercules. Nominis vero

The fame Writer in another place describes he tells us also, that after his death, he was of doing good to all Men. bonour'd first like a Hero, then like a God, ing of the Temple of Jerusalem, affures to whom the Athenian and all other Nathat he built also himself some new tions after their Example sacrificed. But what Temples in Tyrus . to Hercules and Allerte, he favs of the passage of Hercules through having first demolish'd the ancient Temples. | Gaul, feems to be a Fable of the Greeks. And we might fav the like of Hercules's Travels in Italy, were they not related by fo many Writers.

There is more certainty in what he tells us of the magnificent Temple of Hercules of Tyrus, built by the Phanicians in the Isle of Gades in Spain. Wherefore 'tis a common opinion, that the Pillars of Hercules on the Limits of Europe, were rather fet up by the Phanicians in remembrance of their Hercules. Eusebius relates a passage of Diodorus Siculus, or by their Hercules himself, than by the Grehe was the Hercules of Egypt, who extended his Victories further than any other of that name, viz. in the Eastern Provinces, called East-Indies remote from Egypt,

Strabe doth not speak with judgment of the Pillars of Hercules. For he tells us. that fome Authors thought, that which was called the Columns of Hercules, was the Banks of the straight of Gibralter; others the Isle of Gades; others two Mountains; and fome overy ancient, before offensive or defensive thers thought that these Pillars of Hercules. were eight Columns of Brass, erected by the Phanicians, in the Temple of Hercules of Gades, whereupon they writ the charges of the building of the Temple. Pliny fays, that the Mounts Abila in Africa. and Calbe in Europe, are the Pillars of Hercules : and that the Inhabitants of those places fancy, that Hercules divided these two Promontories, and procur'd a free passage into the who erected the Olympick Games. The Lands, to the Sea called the Mediterranean Sea. Plutarch speaking of the Hercules of the Greeks in the life of Thefeus, fay many things, which might be as justly applied to the o-ther Herculer's. For he observes that in these ages of ignorance, many Men of extraordinary strength and valour, such as were Hercules and Thefeur, proposed to themselves in their expeditions to free the world of many Monsters of Iniquity, who infested Mankind. and to bring all wild Nations to a due civi-& fludiorum fimilitudo effecit ut post obitum anti- lity, politeness and Religion. Tully proposes querum res geftas l'uie foli, ac fi unus per omne Herendes for the most perfect model of Vertue. evum Hercules tantum extitiffet, posteritas aferi- who expos'd himself to all kind of dangers, and bore all possible Evils for the good of Mankind. Dionylius Halicarns flus represents the Birth and the Works of the Grecian Hercu- the Grecian Hercules like a vertuous Hero. les, and brings him to discourse with the fa- who subdued all the Earth, out of a strong mous Affrologer Alas, and afterwards to paffion to re-establish every where peace concommunicate Aftrology him felf to the Greeks; cord and justice; and Alianus fays, that an from hence the Grak took occasion to fav. Oracle affur'd Hercules that he should be that they had both supported Heaven. And rank'd in the number of Gods, for a reward

· Possimier affirms, that the Temple which | Amphirrio, chelag yet in the Cradle he chosts Herenles (as fome faid) had built for himfelf, was more ancient than the Herceles of Greece : and that it was well known, that the Inhabitants of Creese had another Hercules, as well as the Twier and those of Erethras in Imis. We may think that the Hercules of the Erythraant, and that of the Arabian and Affrican is the fame; for the ancient Erythreant were Idemans or Arabians. And we know that the Red-Sea was called either Erythraum in Greek.or Idemeum in the Phanician tongue, because the word Edem fignifies red. In fine, the Hercules of Egypt was not unknown to this Author, for he favs that the Hercules of Greece not being able to prevail with the Priests of Delphus, Stole away the holy Triper, and that then the cried out, that it was plain that he was the Grecian Hercules, and not the Egyptian : Nam & ante Egyptius Hercules Delphas venerat Paufanias brings in another place an infrance. how these several Hercules in series of time inhabiting Mount Erymanthus in Arcadia, who were confounded in one Man; and fays, i spoiled all the Fields. He took him alive; that the Thalians who were come from Phanisis into Greece, at first ador'd there Hercules of Tyre, but being mixt at last with the Greeks, at the fight thereof. they worshipp'd Hereules of Greece.

Arrian affures us, that there were formerly three Hercules's , The Tyrian Mercules is much older than the Hercules of the Greeks but that of Error is still more ancient; and that the Hercules, who was reverenc'd at that City was built by the Tyriam; and the devour them. Sacrifices there offer'd, were offer'd after the Torism Wav.

They afcribe a Dog to Hercules of Tyrus, and to this Dog is referr'd the invention of purple colour, the blood whereof makes this admirable colour. Poets feign'd that Hercules was conceiv'd during three nights, without utterly rout the Enemies of the people of God.

We read in Lycophron's Caffandra, that Hercales was devoured by a Sea-Dog, named Careharias, whom Neptune had fent against him. And the Scholiast of Lycophron tells us, that this great Fish being ready to fwallow Helione the Daughter of Lasmedon, Herculer advanced, and throw himfelf armed into the mouth of the Monster, and having tore his Intrails, he got out of his belly, having loft nothing but his Hair, and that from hence Hercules was called Tongoso : becapfe he was three nights in the belly of that Monfter. Theobiles mentions this Fable, and applies it to Towe fwallow'd by a Whale.

HERCULES the GRECIAN was the Son of Jupiter and Alemens the wife of ed two Serpents, which Jame our of jealonfy against his Mother, had fent to destroy him. They relate twelve Prodigies extraordinary, called the twelve Labours of Hercules.

Enrifheur the Son of Helenus King of Mycan having a mind to be rid of Hercules, fent him first to ftop the incursions of the Lion of the Nemen Forest, who was fallen from the Heaven of the Moon, and destroyed all the Country : Hercules purfued him, and having driven him into a Den, he feiz'd upon him, and tore his Mouth with his own hands, and ever after wore the skin of that Lion.

After this Expedition he was fent to the Lake of Lerns near Argu, to force the Hydrs, a dreadful Serpent with feven Heads, and having cut off one Head thereof, two arose in the place, wherefore Hercules cut off her feven heads at once.

Then he marched against a fierce Wild-Boar. and brought him upon his shoulders to Eriftheur, who was almost frighted to death

He also caught running the Hind of Menalus's Hills, the Feet whereof were of Brafs, and his Horns of Gold, after he had pursu'd ber a whole year.

He likewise drove away the Birds of Street phalus's Lake, that were fo numerous, and of Tartaffu in Spain, where Hercule's Pillars to prodigious a bigness, that they stopt the flood also, was the Tyrian Hercules, because light with their wings; and took up Men to

He engag'd the Amerons inhabiting Scychia. near the Hircanean Sea, and took their Queen Hypolita prisoner, whom Thefem married.

He cleanfied the Stables of Augias King of Elis, where a thousand Oxen were kept, the Dung whereof infected the air : and to compais this work, he mirned the course of the the interruption of day, to imitate the pro- River Alpheu, and convey'd the Waters longation of the day obtained by Jelleus to | thereof through the Stables, which carried away all the Dung.

He feiz'd upon a Bull casting out fire and flames, that Nepsune had fent into Grecce, to revenge fome affront he had received from the Greeks.

He took Diemedes King of Thrace, and gave him to be eaten by his own Man eating Horses, to punish him for his cruelty rowards Strangers, whom likewife he deliver'd up to be devoured by his Horfes, and made Geryon, who had three Bodies, fuffer the fame punishment, because his Oxen devoured Travellers.

He brought to Eurifleus, the golden Apples out of the Garden of the Hesperider, and kill'd the dreadful Dragon that guarded them.

He went to Hell, and brought thence with him the Dog Carbaru, and delivered Thefess, who was gone thither to keep company with Pirithous his Friend; and this was the last of his Exploits.

Many other performances both of Justice and Courage are still ascribed to Hercules ; for he kill'd Bufiris the Son of Neptune, who us'd to cut the Throats of Travellers; and killed Carry a three-headed Man, the Son of Vulcan. a famous Robber, who infested Mount Aventime, and the Country round about with his Robberies; and passing by Mount Caucasus, he delivered Prometheus whom Juliter had order'd to be tied thereon, and kill'd the Eagle who was devouring his Liver, and imother'd in his Arms Ancew the Son of the Earth.

In the latter end of his life he was much given to Women, and Omphale Queen of Lydia made him fpin, and beat him with her Distaff, and after all his great Atchievements, he put an end to his Life on Mount Octa; for having put on the Garment of Neffue the Centaur, which Dejamra his Wife had fent him by Lycas; the malignity of Niffus's blood, which was a strong Poyson, put him into fo violent a rage, that he cast himself into a burning pile of wood, and there was confumed.

HERCULES the LIBYAN, or HORUS. Several Illustrious Men went by the name of Hircules; yet amongst them there were three very famous, two whereof fignaliz'd themselves in Italy, viz. Hercules the Librar and Hercules of Greece, the Son of Aleme-

Ofris and Ifis, as Berufus and Natalis Comes whereon they took folema Oaths, and offered tells us, applied himself to deliver Men from the tenth part of the Booty. And a Merchant oppression and injustice. To that purpose whom Herculer had releved from the Hands he went into Libra, where he put Antaus to of Pirates, built him a Temple of a round death; from Lybis he passed over into Spain, figure, under the Title of Deo Hirculi Invido. where he killed Garyon the Tyrant, and from spain he came into Italy, where he reigned tered into this Temple, because he had drithirty years. Herodows reports, that he was ven away Myagros the God of Flies, and had the last of the Gods, and says that he reigned left his Massy-Club at the entrance of this twelve hundred years : wherefore Diodorns Si- Temple. culus tells us, that the Egyptians reckon d their their years are like our months.

HERCULES GALLICUS, or one hand his Maffy-Club. take him for any thing rather than Hercules, ket for Oxen. cursions he made into their Country, in about his neck.

his Expedition of Spain. But I have not yet told you of the greatest mystery of the Picture : which is, that he held enchain'd by the ears, an infinite number of People, who are ty'd to his Tongue, by fmall twifts or wires of Gold, as by so many chains, and follow him willingly, without ffruggling or hanging back, infomuch that a Man would fay they delighted in Captivity. As I was wondering with fome Indignation at this spectacle, a Doctor of that Country, who spoke very good Greek, told me he would unriddle me the mystery that was contained under that Anigma, and begun in the manner following. We do not with the Greeks believe, that Mercury is the Symbol or rather the God of Eloquence, as he is stil'd, but rather Hercules, who is much more powerful; and our opinion is, that he affected all that we admire, not by the strength of his Arm, but by that of his Reafon. Wherefore we paint him under the figure of an old Man, because Reason is not accomplish'd until that Age. This Godholds all Mankind tied by the Ears, which is the effects of Ratiocination, and his Tongue to which they are fasten'd, is the Instrument of their Captivity. His Darts are the force of his Reasons, being feather'd, because that words are wing'd, as Homer calls them.

Many Temples and Altars were erected to Hercules the Gaulish at Tyrus, in Spain, and ac Rome, and one of these Altars was called Aramand Jupiter, whom we have lately mention'd. maxima, because of the great quantity of Horus or Hercules the Libyan, the Son of Stones employed in the building thereof. 'Tis reported that neither Flies nor Dogs en-

Hercules was reprefented flark naked, except years by the course of the Moon, and that the Lion's skin, which cover'd his Body, or twifted about his Arm, and holding with

OGMIUS. The Gault draw him with a He is yet expressed by a figure holding white Beard, bald, wrinkled and tawny like three Golden Apples in his right hand, and old Marriners, or rather like Charon himfelf, his Club in the left. And a great brafs Fior Japetus, who is reckon'd the most ancient gure of Hercules holding an Apple in his of Men. In short, to see him, you would hand, was lately found at Rome, in the Mar-

tho he wears the fame Enfign, viz. a Lion's The Poplar-tree was dedicated to him, as skin, a Maffy-Club, with a Bow bent in his Virgil fays, Populus Alcide gratiffina; and Pheleft hand, and a Quiver at his back. 'I drus, populus Herculi; wherefore his Figure is thought at first, fays Lucian, they did it out yet visible on a Greek Medal, crowned with of mockery, or out of revenge for the in- Branches of Poplar-tree, and a Lion's skin

The Emperor Commodus flighted the firname | dead Person, were free to accept or quit the of his Family, and instead of Commedue, Son Inheritance, which was performed by a deed to Marcus Aurelius, took the name of Hercules in law. In the text of the Reman Law, there the Son of Jupiter; and leaving off the impe- was three feveral ways of purchasing or acrial Badges, he put on a Lion's skin and wore cepting of an Inheritance, viz. Aditio Heredia Massy-Club, the badges of Hercules, and tatis, which was a solemn Deed performed appeared publickly in this dress: And yet | before the Magistrate; Gestio pro Herede, Deeds not contented with it, he order'd that Coins of owners, as to fell Estates, receive Rents of Gold, Silver and Brais, should be stamp'd and Debts, and gather Fruits. This manner with his Effigies on one fide crown'd with a of accepting an Inheritance, is feverally ex-Lion's skin; and on the other fide a Maffy-Club, a Bow, a Quiver and Arrows, with this Inscription Herculi Romano Invitto, and but in the person of Children, 'tis called imwhen he wrore to the Senate he stiled himfelf Romanus Hercules, and had the Massy-Club | plain will of accepting or refusing. and the Lion's skin carried before him in his Travels.

to Lands or Estate, either by right of Family or by a last Will. The Roman Laws eftablished three kinds of Heirs. The necessary Heirs, were the Slaves made Heirs by their | willing to be Heir. Mafters who freed them, and are called neceffary, because being appointed by their Masters, they were forced to accept of his Will, and were not allowed to quit the Inheritance, tho' it was very much incumber'd with Debts, and Subject to great charges. The other kind of Heirs called Sui and Necef-Sarij, were the Children who were in the tell us that Hermaphredisus was the Son of Mapower of the deceased Person in the time of cury and Venus, and that meeting in a Founhis death, and wete called necessaris, because tain with the Goddels Salmacis, fhe fell in willing or unwilling they are Heirs; and love with him; and while the was embra-Sui, because they are the Testator's own and proper Domesticks, and the owners of the Lands and Estates of their Parents. The third kind of Heirs were Strangers, viz. those who were neither Children nor Slaves to the deceased person; and these were voluntary Heirs, for they were free to accept or quit what was left them.

of the Testator, they are freed and Heirs by the only benefit of the law, without any other act of acceptation, and are not admitted to refuse the Will: On the contrary, they lone body with her, that yet keeps both Sexes. are bound to pay all the Debts, even out of the Estate or Goods, that they had purchas'd fince they had obtain'd their freedom, unless the Prztor granted them a benefit of separation. And the Children, who were under the deceased person's authority in the time of his death, they were like Slaves, as to the both Sexes; for Cabum a Poet, calls Venu a necessity of accepting the Inheritance, being | God. necessary Heirs to their Parents; and after the death of their Father, the Inheritance was rather a continuation of Patrimony, than a new purchase. The third kind of Heirs, called Strangers, who were neither Slaves nor Children to the pres'd in the Roman Law ; for in the person of strange Heirs, 'tis called geftio pro berede; mixtie; and the third way, is a fingle and

There were also three contrary ways to quit an Inheritance, viz. Repudiatio, which HERES, An Heir, one who fucceeds is a Deed in Law, performed in the presence of the Magistrate; Abstentie, which was for the Children; and the last was only a fingle Will, when a man declared that he was un-

Formerly they allowed an hundred days for claiming an Inheritance.

HERES Ex affe, an Heir or fole Legate. See As.

HERMAPHRODITUS. An Hermaphrodite, one that is both Man and Won man, called by the Greeks Androgyne. Poets cing him, the found herfelf fastned to him by an indiffolvable tye, both Bodies making but one with both fexes. This word comes from the Greek Epune, Mercurius and 'Appolita, Ventu, i. e. composed of Mercury and Ventu both Male and Female.

Monsieur Spon in his curious inquiries after Antiquity, has shewn us two precious stones As for the former , who were the Slaves whereon the Fable of Hermaphroditus is engraven. The first is a Cornelian, where he is represented in the Bath, ready to embrace his dear Nymph Salmacis, and becoming but On the second he is already turned in the like manner that he is represented at Reme; by Marble and Brass Statues. By this Figure the Ancients représented a mix'd Deity, composed of Mercury and Venue, called by the Greeks Appelitu, to join Eloquence with Pleasure; or to shew that Venus was of her both Sexes. Ariftophanes calls her appode- tion, jealous of their liberty, should raife. 708 in the Neuter Gender , and Hely- the ambition of these Great Men, and give this depodir in the Masculine. And them occasion to aspire to the Soveraign. in the lile of Cyprus near Amathus, she is re- Power. presented by a Starue, with a Beard like a commonly, made of Marble; and yet fome- with ingraven moral Instructions and Sentimes of brass, without either Arms or Feet, tences, to incourage Men to vertue, as 'tis fet up by the Greeks and the Romans in crofs related by feveral Authors. Cornelius Nepos in ways. Servius in his Commentary on the the life of Alcibiades, tells us, that one night eighth Book of the Encids of Virgil, tells us the Herme then at Athens were all cast to the the Origine of the word Hermes, and fays, ground, only one excepted, that flood at the that Shepherds found Mercury, called Hermes, door of the Otatot Andocides, who fays in his asleep on a Mountain, and cut off his hands; speech of the Mysteries, that it was dediwhereupon he was afterwards called Cyllenius, tated by the Tribe Egeida: as well as the Mountain where this Act was The Herme were also fet up in cross waveperform'd; because weales signifies, that which and great Roads, because Mercury the messenhas no Arm, or which is mained of some ger of the Gods presided over the high ways. Member ; and from hence, fays he, fome Wherefore he was firnamed both Trevius from Statues which have no Arms, are called Her- the word trivium, i. e. a crofs way; and Viame. But this Etymology, fays Mr. Spon, cut, from the word via, i.e. way, in an Intaken from the Epithet Cyllenius, given to fcription of Gruter. Mercury, is contraty to what ancient Writers report, for they derive this word from the form'd by the Letters of his Friend Atticus place were he was born, called Cyllene, a then an Athens, that he had found fome Her-Town in Arcadia, or a Mountain of the ma; writes thus to him, in the feventh Letfame name. Wherefore Paulanias in the De- ter of the first Book. Your Herme of Marfcription of Greece, 1.8. fays, that Mount Cyllene is the most famous of Arcadia; and that on the top thereof, a Temple was built to Mercury Cyllenius, and that the name of the Mountain, and the Sirname of Cyllenius given to Mercury, comes from Cyllenus the Son of Elatur, a Hero of that Country: And this honour'd much the Hirma, and adorned Etymology comes nearer to the truth, than them with Flowers, that they might obtain that related by Servius.

Polentemque Deum venerem.

And Virgil in the fecond Book of his

Difcede, ac ducente Deo flamman inter & haftet, Expedier.

Suidas, morally explains this manner of bafforclieve of Eoiffard's Antiquities. making Statues of Mercury without Arms. that never changes.

The Herma were first found out and used at Athens, wherefore Suidas tells us, that they were peculiar to that City. Eschines in his Oration against Crifiphon, mentions the norch of the Herme, which was in his Time at Athere where among others there were three very remarkable Herme fet up in honour to the Atkenians, who had routed the Persians, lige me more sensibly, then so procure near the River Stymon. The Inscriptions of thefe Herma were Encomiums of the Athenians valour; nevertheless, out of a wife policy. the names of the Athenian Generals were not Levinus speaking of this Divinity, ascribes mention'd in these Inscriptions'; lest this Na-

The chiefest Herme of Athins, were the Hipparchians, which Hipparchus the Son of Pi-HERMES, A Sir-name given to Mer- fiftentin Tyrant of Athem, had erected in the cary. The Harme were Statues of Mercury City, the Suburbs and the Villages of Attica.

Tully, a great lover of Antiquity, being inble of Mount Rentilicus, with their head of brass, rejoyce me before hand; wherefore you will oblige me very much to fend them to me, with the Statues and other curiofities that you can, find at Athem, of your own liking and approbation. The Women of them a happy fecundity, as we fee in a .

HERM-ATHENA, Were Statues The Herma, fays he, were Statues of Stone, fet upon fquare feet like the Herma; butrente-'erected by the Athenians at the Porches of liented Mercury and Minerva, this word being their Temples, or entrance of their Houses | compounded of Herme and Ashene, which For Mercury being efteemed the God of fignilies thefe two Divinities. Pomponius A:-Speech and Truth, was represented with ticur having found at A hom one of these rare fquare and cubical Statues, because square Statues, writes to his Friend Tully, that he Figures can't be fet but upright, like Truth | would fend it to him to adorn his Library. And Tully answers him thus, Epiff. 2. 1. 1. 'What you write of the Herm-Athena is very . acceptable to me, and I have appointed an : honourable place for them in my Academy, whereof it shall be the Ornament; feeing that Mercury is the general protector of all Academies, and Mineron prelides particularly over mine. Wherefore you can't ob-

* place.
Tis no wonder to fee Mercury and Minerus joyned together in this Statue; for it was placed upon the representation of Mercury, usual to keep Holy-days and offer Sacrifices one presided over Eloquence, and the other the Sciences; and that Eloquence without Erudition is but a meer found; and Learning without Eloquence, but an unprofitable the most Learned, most Eloquent and most

This Hermathena is the reverse of a Medal

Learning and Eloquence.

HERM-ANUBIS, is represented at Rome. two feveral ways; for in some Figures 'tis represented with the Head of a Sparrowhawk, and in others with the head of a Dog. This strange Idol mention'd by Plutarch, was a Divinity of the Exprisers, representing Mercury and Anubis; the Caduceum which he holds in his hand being the common badge of Mercury, and the head of a Sparrow-hawk the Symbol of Anubis, because Anubis was a great Hunter; wherefore he is also express'd with the head of a Dog, and Ovid calls him Latrator Anubis.

HERM-HERACLES, is a Deity represented like the Herme, with the Lion's skin and the Massy-Club of Herculer, the Greeks call him Heracles; which has a relation to the custom of the Antient Greeks, who erected the Statues of Mercury and Hercules in the Academies, because both presided over that sometimes silence is eloquent, especialthe Exercises of Youth, viz. Wreftling, Running, Boxing, and other Combats of felves better with their eyes, than by word Champions. The union of Mercury with Hercules, fhew'd that Strength must be back'd with Eloquence, and that Eloquence had the is represented upon a Medal, that Mr. Spen art of overcoming Monsters.

Mercury was often express'd at Athens, by a fquare figure of an unpolish'd Stone, whereon they fet up the head of any other God whatfoever. The origine of this cuftom was, that in former times the Statues of Mercury were placed upon fquare Bases, to fhew the folidity of the works of Art, and especially of Eloquence, invented by him. Wherefore in feries of time, these square Bases were taken for his representation, tho there were no Statues what soever set upon 'em, age he taught Rhetorick with general applause, because these bases were peculiar to him. But afterwards to honour the other Gods knew before : wherefore it was faid of him, Statues, they plac'd them upon these bases, that in his youth he was a perfect Man, and to shew that they were famous only by Mer- in his old age a Child. After his death his whole figure of these two Gods joined toge-

"me there kind of Rarities to adorn this ther, was called by the name of the Deiry. whose figure was let upon the Bafis ; where fore Herm-Heracles was the figure of Hercules.

HERM-EROS, is a Statue of Brafe. that were common to them both, because representing a God made up of Mercury and Cupid, called by the Greeks Erw. This God is expressed by the figure of a young Boy. holding the Caduceum and the Purfe, the twe Badges of Mercury. The Ancients doubtles Treasure. Therefore the Athenians, who were intimated by this Emblem, that Eloquence and Money were two necessary things to a Valiant Men in the world, did wifely to Lover. Pliny speaking of fine Carver's work, erect and dedicate this figure of Hermathena. mentions the Hermarota of one Taurifem; and the word Hemere's, was often used by the Rededicated to Adrian, who boasted of his mans and the Greeks for a sirname; as we may fee by the Infcription of an Epitaph found

> HFRMEROTI AUG. LIB. PRÆPOSITO TABULAR. RATIONIS CASTRENSIS. FRATRI INDULGENTISSIM. AMPLIATUS AUG. LIB. FECIT.

> To the Memory of Hermerss, Infranchifed by the Emperor, Overfeer of the Secretaries of the Camp; Ampliatus Freed-man of the Emperor, has dedicated this Monument to his very good Brother.

HERM-HARPOCRATES, The Figure of Mercury and Harpecrates, with wings at his heels like Mercury, and holding his Finger upon his Mouth like Harpocrates, the God of filence among the Egyptians, to fhew ly amongst Lovers, who often express themof Mouth.

HERMA-MITHRA Her Figure has brought from the lile of Maltha, the Head whereof is a Woman with a Veil: On the Reverse are three small Figures; the middle one is a Statue drawn half way, with a Mitre on, and fet upon a Term, the Infcription whereof confifts only in three Punich Characters. The Head cover'd with a Veil represents June, the Mitred head Mercury and Apelle joined together.

HERMOGENES was very famous in the art of Orarory. At fifteen years of and at four and twenty he forgot all that he cary, who chief buliness was to carry their Corps was opened, and his Heart was found Errands, and execute their Orders. And the hairy, and of an extraordinary bignels.

HERODOTUS, A Greek Historian, of a rare and fingular merit, who confidering with himself which way he might become famous, he thought fit to present himself at the Olympick Games, where all the Greeks were affembled, and there he recited his Hiflory with so much applause, that his Books were called by the name of Mufes; and when he was paffing by they cried out every where, There is the Man, who has fo defervedly fung our Victories, and celebrated the Advantages that we have obtain'd over the Barbanians. His Writings were admired for the elegancy of the Discourse, the grace of the Sentences, and and the polite file of the Ionick Dialect.

HEROPHILUS, He lived in the feventh Age. Pliny tells us, that he oppos'd the Principles of Erafistratus, and grounded the difference of Difeases on the Rules of Mulick.

HEROS. A Hero was in former ages a great and illustrious Person; and although he was of a mortal Race, was vet esteemed by the People a partaker of Immortality, and after his death was put amongst the Gods. Lucian defines a Hero, by one who is neither God nor Man, but both together. St Auflin in the tenth Book de Civitate Dei, fays, that 'tis' very likely that Juno had a Child called by that name; because, according to the oninion of the Ancients, vertuous persons after their death inhabit the vast space of the Air, which were Juno's Dominion, according to the Fable. Indorus fays, that the Heroes! were called by that name, as if one faid Acres or Acres, persons rais'd by merit, and worthy of Heaven. Plays derives, that word from the Greek sposs, amor; because, says he, the Heroes came by the conjunction of a God with a mortal Woman, or of a mortal Man with a Goddess. The Heroes were Men. who by their Eloquence/moved the People which way they pleased, giving them an bestow on those, who are good and bad aversion against Vice, and leading them by ! Husbandmen. their discourses and examples into the way of Vertue.

came a great Poet, by chewing fome Laurel Some Writers tell us, that he lived in the leaves upon Mount Helicon. Lucian has left time of Homer; others fay that he was before us a little Dialogue between Hiffod and him- him; and some others report, that h: lived felf, wherein he jeers him, because he bragg'd after him. of his Commerce with the Muses evince you a great Poet, for all you write the Sea, to pacific the anger of Neptune and 'is noble and lofty, and we eafily perceive Apollo, whom he had not paid their wages, for you have received a branch of Daurel from having help'd him, to build the Trojan Walls. the Mufes's hands. But you having faid, Hereul's offered himself to deliver Hesione, upthat this divine Present would teach things on condition that he should give him the pass'd and the future; I would fain know, Fairy Horses begot of divine Seed; but havfung the Geneology of the Gods, beginning from the Heaven and Earth, the Chaos and Love; you have afterwards fet down the precepts of Aftrology for Sailors and Hufbandmen; you have treated of rural Life, of Women's Vertues, and other fuch like matters; but you have not bolted fo much as one word of futurity, which had better manifested your inspiration, and redounded more to the advantage of Men. Is it that you impos'd upon us? or are you willing to conceal your secret? or else are not your Prophecies transmitted down to us? for there is no likelihood that the Muses should keep but that part of their promise, and neglect to teach you futurity, which was the main

'Hefied. It is easie to answer you, that having faid nothing but by the inspiration of the Muses, 'tis to them to give you an account of their Actions; but if you defire to know fomething of my Calling, I will tell you what I know of Agriculture. As the Gods reveal themselves to whom they please, fo they reveal only what they please, and have not taught me the least of what you defire to know. Moreover, an Historical Truth is not expected from Poets, nor a reason asked them of all their Fictions ; befides, they are us'd to add many things, for the filling up the measure of their Verses, or to cause the more admiration; or if you should retrench them of this liberty, you would curb their Genius. But without taking notice of the beauty of invention and expression, which are the principal Talents, you make it your buliness to cavil at the words, as you would do with those of a contract, which is the fign of a carping quirking Wit. I forbear to mention, that you will find in my Poem intituled The Works and Days, feveral Predictions, which I

Histor was killed by fome Locrians, and then thrown into the Sea; but his body was got HESIODUS of a fingle Shepherd be- off and buried near the Nemian Temple.

HESIONE. The Daughter of Laome-Lucian. Your Verses. Hesied, sufficiently don, whom he exposed upon the Rocks of why having descanted on the one, you have ing broke his word with him, Hercules betold us nothing of the other; for you have fieged him in his own Dominions, and took his Daughter Hefinna, whom he married to fwered, that the best way to prevent the like Telamon King of Salamina.

HESPERUS, The Son of Japeter and the Mares. Brother to Atlas, who came to fettle in Italy, called after his Name Referis. Being one centeur, who was brought from Egypt to Rame, day on Mount Ailes contemplating the Stars, imbalm'd with honey, according to the fithe Fable tells us, that on a fudden he vanish- shion of that time. Phiegen of Trailis relates ed away, and was turned into a Star, called the same story. Lucifer in the morning, and Hefter or Vefter in the evening.

Hesperus, who by June's order kept a Garden Conspicit homin.m eque mixtum, cui opinie Poeteor Orchard bearing golden Apples, which rum Hippo:entauro vocabulum indidit; St Anthony Hercules took away, having kill'd the Dra- naving made the fign of the Crois, asked the gon, which stood at the entry in defence Monster where about the holy Solitary Paul thereof

Hefterur the Son of Japetus. This name was away. Some Nations of Theffaly inhabiting common both to Italy and Spain, because of near Mount Pelion, called Hippocentauri, have the Star Hefter, which appears at our West. given eccasion to this Fable; for being the Notwithstanding Spain is called Helperia ulti- first Men who knew the art of riding on me, because 'tis more western than Italy.

HETRURIA, A Country in Italy, Man and the Horse were but one body. now -called Tujcany; formerly famous for Augures, and Divinations or Southfayings.

Overseers of Sacrifices and holy things. Hie- that Science, which had been very much ronymus affirms, that they used Hemlock to neg!ected fince Ejeulapius. We have many keep themfelves chaft.

their History and Morality, only to the Life, he enjoy'd a perfect and vigorous Priefts of the Sun, and those Men who were Health. to fucceed to the Crown or publick Ministry, and yet this was performed in a cabaliftick in honour of Neptune. Dienyfius Halicarnafen manner. The wifest Men of Greece went to reports, that the Remans erected a Templets confult them, and inform themselves of Neptune the Horseman, and instituted him s those things that they could not learn, nei- Festival, called by the Arcadians Hippecraia, ther by tradition nor books, and even Mofer and by the Romans Confusiis. During that himfelf was instructed in all their Sciences.

There are also Hiereglyphi in the Theology they are only Images and representations of divine, holy and supernatural things, as the Symbols are Images of fensible and natural nippe, a Fountain near Mount Helicen, deli-

HIEROPHANT E. See before, after Rock, ftruck with the hoof of Pegafur.

and Painters have represented like Monsters, who saw her so fair, fell in love with be half Men and half Horses Lucretius denied that like the other Princes of Greece; and the there ever were any; however, Plutarch re- he might keep her for himself, he made lates in the Feaft of the feven Wife-men, that very wicked proposal; For his Chariot be a Shepherd brought a Child in a Basket, who ing the lightest, and his Horses the swifted was foaled by a Mare, and had the upper of all the Country; under pretence of feet parts of Men, and the lower parts like a ing for a Husband worthy of his Daughter, Horfe: Many were amaz'd at it, and thought propos'd her for a prize, to him who though fit to make an expiation for that Predigy. overcome him at the Race, but upon condihim priloner with his Son, and ftole away But Thaler, the wifeft Man of them all, anmischief, was to let the Women look after

Pliny also affures us, that he has seen a Hippe-

St Hieronymus has described the Hippocentaur.

whom St Anthony met in the Wildernels. HESPERIDES, The Daughters of when he was feeking for St Paul the Hermit: inhabited; the Monster presently shew'd him HESPERIA, Italy was thus called from the way with his hand, and immediately run Horseback, their Neighbours fancied that the

HIPPOCRATES, Born in the Inte of Cas, was Disciple to Pythagoras, and esteem'd HIEROPHANT E, Athenian Priefts, the Prince of Physick; he restored again fine Treatifes of Phylick and Aphorisms of HIEROGLYPHI, Mysterious Fi- his own Writings. The Greeks decreed him gures, wherewith the Egyptians kept their Po- the same Honours with Hercules all over their licy an Ethick fecret; for they communicated | Country. He died the hundred and fourth the secrets of Nature, and the particulats of year of his Age, and all the time of his

HIPPOCRATIA, Holy-days kept day Horfes and Mules were kept from work ing, and led along the Streets of Rom of the Pagans, Jews and Christians, because magnificently barnessed, and adorn'd with Garlands of Flowers

HIPPOCRENE, Otherwise 4 cated to the Muses, which forung out of a

HIPPODAMIA, She being mar HIPPOCENTAURI, Which Poets riageble, her Father Oeneman King of Elia,

tion, that all those whom he should van- faid of Hippalyson, as one part of the true Hiquish should suffer death. And he would story of Thefeus. Paufanias adds the tradition have his Daughter ride in the Chariot with of some Inhabitants of Italy, and especially her Lovers, that her Beauty might furprize of Aricis, who fay, that Hippelytus was restothem, and divert their thoughts from mak- red to life again, or recovered his health by ing hafte. And by this cunning device, the care of Esculaptur; and not enduring to he overcame and killed thirteen of these think of a reconciliation with his Father, action of this infaruated Father, granted im- a Temple to Diana. Paufanias tells us alfo, mortal Horses to Peleps, who run the four- that the custom in his time was, that the teenth Race, was victorious, and possessed Priest appointed for the service of that Temthe beautiful Lady. Some others say, that ple, was always a Man, who in a Duel or Opportunity being acquainted, that Peleps (who lingle Combat had kill'd the Priest, to whom courted his Daughter) should be one time or he succeeded; but that none but fugitive another the cause of his death, refused to Slaves undertook the Combat. The same marry her to him, but upon condition that Author affures a little after, that Diomedes he should overcome him at a Race: Pelops was the first Man who dedicated a Grove, accepted the Challenge, having first bribed a Temple and a Statue to Hippolysus, and sathe Coachman of Oenemau, that his Chariot | crificed to him; and that the Inhabitants of might break in the middle of the Race. Trazen affirmed, that Hippelytus was not drawn Whereupon Oeneman being overcome, kill'd with Horses, but the Gods had honour'd himself. leaving his Daughter Hippedamia him with a place among the Stars, and turnand his Kingdom to Peleps, who gave his ed him into a Constellation, called by the name to the whole Country of Peloponnessus.

There was also one Brifeis, the Daughter ter his Apotheofis. of Brifeis, who was called Hippedamia, whom Asmemmen ftole away from Achilles.

That name was also given to the Wife of Peritheus, whom the Centaurs attempted to steal away, the day of her Wedding; but Hercules fecured her, and killed

HIPPODROMUS, An Hippodrome, a place for Races, or exerciting Hories.

HIPPOLYTE, Queen of the Amazons and Thefen's Wife, of whom he begot Hippelytus, thus called after his Mother's name: Thefeur afterwards married Phadra Minu's Daughter, who fell in leve with Hippolytus her Son-in law; but having refused to confent to her amoious delires, the accufed him to Thefeus of having attempted her Chaftity. Thefeur gave credit to her fcandalous report, and banish'd Hippelytus out of his presence, and defired Neptune to revenge his Crime. Wherenpon Hippelytus, to avoid his Fathers wrath, fled away riding in a Chariot; but meeting a Sea-Monster on the shore, his Horses were so frighted by it, that they threw him down to the ground, and drew him among the Rocks, where he miferably perifhed.

Phadra, fenfably mov'd with his loss, and pressed by the remoise of her Conscience. discover'd the whole truth to her Husband, and kill'd herfelf out of despair; but after- don't agree about what it is. wards Efculapius touch'd with compassion ,rebins, as being a Man a fecond time.

came into Italy, where he founded a little At last, the Gods provoked with the wile Government at Aricis, and there dedicated name of a Carter. Ovid calls him Vinhius af-

> Euripides has written a Tragedy of Hippolytus, wherein he relates his History.

'Thefeus an Athenian Prince, who begot Hippolytus of one of the Amazons, and after her death married Phadra, Daughter to Minot King of Crete, abjented himfelf from Athens. Venus refolv'd the ruine of Hippolytus, because he was very chast, and incited Phadra to love him. Whereupon Phadra discover'd her love to her Nurse, who was alio her Confidant. The Nurse made many attempts upon Hippelytus, to perfwade him to yield to Phedra's love, yet he continued inflexible. Wherefore out of thame and despair Phears hang'd herself, having first tied some Letters to her Cloaths, wherein she charg'd Hippelytus with the Crime, she was herfelf only guilty of; Theleur, too credulous, banish'd Hippolyrus, and befought Neptune to destroy him, in performance of one of the three promifes, this God had pass'd his word to grant him. Neptune heard his request, and was the ruin of Hippolytus. But Diana appear'd to Thefeus, and discover'd to him the innocence of Hippolytus, ordaining withal, that he should be honoured like a God.

HIPPOMANES, A famous poyfon of the Ancients, which is one of the Compositions in amorous Philters. Authors

Pliny fays, that 'tis a black Flesh-Kernel for'd Hippolytus to life, and called him Vir- in the Forchead of a Colt newly foaled, which the Mare eats up as foon as fhe has Diedorus Siculus reports what is commonly foal'd. Servius and Columella report, that 'tis fit to be covered.

HIPPONA, A Divinity honour'd by Grooms in Stables, where her figure is kept. This Goddess was call'd upon on account of Horfes:

HIPPOTAMUS, A River-Horse, living principally in the Rivers Nile, Indus, and other great Rivers mentioned by Pliny. This Creature has a Cloven-foot like an Ox the Back, the Mane and the Tail of a Horse, and neighs like him. His Teeth are like the Teeth of a Wild-Boar, but not quite fo fharp; the skin of his back when 'tis dry relifts all kind of Arms. Scaurus in the time of his Office of Edile, brought the first alive

HISTRIO, A Stage-player or Buffoon. This word is only us'd to fignific the merry Actors in the old Comedies of Plautus and Terence; and they are fo called, fays Feffer, from Ifria, because the first Farcers came from that Country. Plutarch tells us, that the Romans having fent for many Dancers out of Tujamy, there was one amongst them, who excell'd above others, call'd Hifter, who left his name 10 all those of his profession. And we may also add, that those whom the Romans call'd Ludios, were called Hiftriones by the Tufcans.

HOMERUS, Honner. Velleint Paterculus reports, that Homer was the wittiest Man was before all Poets, Philosophers and Greek that ever was born, and that he deserved the Historians, and is the most ancient of pro-Name of Poet by excellency; that as he ne- fane Writers. However, he affirms that Mever had imitated any one that was before fer is more ancient than Homer himself. him, so after him none had been able to Tertullian has observ'd that the Pagam did march him; and in fine, that he and drichi- not deny, that the Books of Mofes were extant lochus were the only Men who had begun a many ages before the States and Cities of great work, and had carried it to its per- Greece, before their Temples and Gods, and fection. Homer has left us two incomparable also before the beginning of Greek Letters. Works, one of the Trojan War, intituled In fine, he fays, that Mofer liv'd five hundres Iliads; and the other of the long and dange- years before Homer's time; and the other rous Voyages of Ulyfia, aunder the Title of Prophets who came a long while after Moles, Oaffer, each of them divided into four and were yet more ancient than all the Wife men, twenty Books. Alexander the Great order'd Law-givers and Philosophers of Greece. And them to be laid up in a Case, inlaid with by consequence the Holy Scripture is withprecious Stones, he got amongst the Spoils out comparison much older than Homer; and of Darius King of Persia. Yet tis uncertain as the Poely of Homer, who liv'd so many where Homer was born, and many Cities of ages before all the Philosophers, Historians Greece ascribe to themselves the honour of his and Greek Writers, was a pattern to them, birth. Lucian speaks thus on this account. so in the like manner Homer has follow'd the "Tis neither known what Homer was, nor truths of the holy Scripture, as they were what he did, nor his Country, nor his ex- then spread abroad in the World. traction, nor the time wherein he lived ; Elian affures us, that Prolomem Philopater King otherwise there would not be so much dif of Egypt, having built a Temple to Homer, he pute, as there is on this subject; nor would fet up therein his Figure upon a Throne, the people doubt whether Colopbon was his with the representation of all the Cities that Country, or Chio, or Smyrna, or Cume, or pretended to the honour of his birth; and Thibit, or a hundred other Ciries ; nor whe- that Galaten drew the picture of Hemir with ther his Father is Mamis the River of Lydia, Torrent coming out of his Mouth, at which or fome Man of that Name, and his Mo- all Poets were drawing water.

the venemous issue of a Mare, when she is ther Menalepis, or some Nymph of the Division der, and whether he lived in or fince the time of the Hero's. For 'tis neither known, whether he is more ancient than Hefod, under the name of Melefigena, or whether poor or blind, as is the common rumour.

The fame Lucian, in the description of the Island of the Blessed, says again: 'When I had been two or three days in that Country, I accosted Homer, and delired him to tell me where he was born, because it was one of the greatest Questions amongst the Grammarians, he told me, they had fo perplex'd him upon that fubiect, that he himfelf knew nothing of the matter, but that he believed he was of Babylon; and there call'd Tigranes ; as Homer amongft the Greeks, being deliver'd to them for an Hoftage. then ask'd him whether he made thefe Verses, which are disallowed and damn'd as none of his. He told me he did, which made me laugh at the impertinence of those that will needs deny them. I also enquit'd why he had begun his Poem with anger. and he faid it was done without delign, and that he did not write his Odyffer before bis Illiads, as several held. As for his pretend ed blindness, I did not speak to him on it. because I plainly saw the contrary.

Tatian, one of the most ancient Apologists of the Christian Religion, reports that Homer

We tearn from Planets, that Alexander had ! We have fill many ancient Monuments always the Illiads of Homer under his Pillow with his Dagger, and laid it up in a little Casket of an extraordinary value, that was found amongst the Spoils of Darius.

Horace has written in one of his Epiftles, an Encomium on the Illiads and Odolles of Homer. and declares at first, that neither Chrysippins nor Crantor, who excell damongft the Stoicks Homer. He is represented by this figure ferand Academick Philosophers, and had fer down the most perfect rules of Morals, had Scepter in his right hand, crown'd with a never fo well conceiv'd nor fo happily explain'd the nature and the laws of honest and profitable, virtue and vice, as Homer himfelf representing the nine Muses, and his Illiads had done in his Illiads, Trojani betti scripto- and Odysses set in the rank of the nine Muses. 12m, &cc. Horace gives reason for what he Behind him are the Figures of Time and did, faying, that the Illiads represented wonderful well the passions, and the faral confequences of the foolish conduct of many Kings and Nations.

Cur its crediderim, nisi quid te detinet, audi.

In the City of Troy, Antenor pretended that Helens should be restor'd, and Paris oppos'd him, and facrificed his own Country to his brutish passion. In the Grecian Army Achilles and Agamemnon fell out; one follows the and the Odyffes in a blue one. passion of his Love, and the other the tranfoorts of his Anger: Neftor endeavours to rant of Athens, was the first who fet the Illiads bring them to an Agreement, but to no pur- and Odyffer in the order we now have them. pole. On the contrary, the Odylles represents in the person of Ulyses, a perfect model of the Illiads of Homer, containing the whole Wisdom and Virtue, when after he had took History of the Old Testament to the Reign revenge of the unchaftness of Paris upon the of Saul: and divided also his work in four City of Troy, he runs for a long while io ma- and twenty Books, according to the four and ny dangers at Ben, overcomes Storms and twenty Greek Letters. Besides this Poem, he Advertities, and relifts the Inchantments of wrote Comedies like those of Menander, Tra-Mermaids and Circe, viz. Voluptuoufnefs, gedies in imitation of Euripides, and Lyri which flupities those who give themselves as Verses fine as those of Pindar. over to it : On the other lide, the Noblemen of Ithaca, who pretended to marry Pe- the Soul of Hefud tied with chains to a Brafs wlope, thew us the effeminate life and the fa- Pillar, and that of Homer hung to a Tree, tal end of voluntuous Men; for at last they both expos'd to the biting of Serpents, in washed with their own blood the wrong they | punishment of what they had writ of the had done to Uhffer during his absence, and Gods. the infamous debaucheries they had committed in his Palace.

had fo great honours perform'd to them as work of Califlenes and Anaxarchus. Sriftothe him, and Medals flampt with his Effigies, called after that name, because Alexander honour, where they offer'd him Sacrifices. And a Sect of Christians, call'd Carpocratians, of the divine honours that were perform'd to this great Poet, and amongst others a very ancient Marble, which was found in the Territory of Terrentium, M. Cuper tells us. that Archelous of Priene, who made that work, as it appears by the Infcription thereof, endeavoured to express thereby the Apotheofs of ting on the top of Mount Olympus, holding a Diadem, and an Eagle by him. There were eleven Images of Women round about Homer. Harmony, fetting a Crown on his head. Not far off is an Altar, and near it on one tide is represented the Fable, and on the other the History; and further off are fet in order Poesie, Tragedy, Comedy, Vertue, Memorv. Faith and Wifdom.

The Singers, who formerly fung the Poems of Homer, were drefs'd in red cloaths when they fung the Illiads, and in blue Cloaths when they fung the Odyller, and fome wrapp'd up the Illiads in a red Parchment.

Tully, 1. 3. de Orat. fays, that Pififtratus Ty-

Apollinarius wrote a Poem in imitation of Pythagoras being come down into Hell, faw

Strabe tells us, that of all the editions of Homer, that which is call'd e Narthecio is the Of all the great Men of Antiquity, none | most correct and most esteem'd, being the Homer: For, besides the Statues erected to gave this Edition to Alexander, and it was they erected also Temples and Altars to his kept it in the rich and precious Box of Darius:

HONOR, Honour, a Divinity always ador'd and burnt Frankincense to Homer's represented with Vertue; wherefore no man Image, in the like manner as they did to could get into the Temple of Honour, but the Images of our Lord and St Paul, as St by passing first through the Temple of Ver-Auflin and St John Damascen, and the Book rue, whereby the Ancients represented to afcrib'd to the Emperor Charles the Great us that Honour proceeds from Vertue; and to that purpole M. Marcellus built two fquare Temples Templer join'd together, one to Vertue and | cipline, wherefore Pliny sails them Controlog. the other to Honour, because true Honour arises from folid Vertue. These two Divinities are represented on the Medals of Vitelliss, by two engraven figures; one of them stands on the right fide half naked, holding an Half-pike with one hand, and a Horn of Plenty with the other, and a Helmet under her right foor: the other figure is on the left fide, and has a Helmet on, holding a Scepter with her right hand, and a Dart with the left, treading with its right foot upon a Tortoile, with this Infcription, Hones & Virtut . s.

HORA, The Hours. Poets tell us, that they are the Daughters of Japiter and Themis ; and Homer calls them the Door-keep-

The Hours that divide the Day in four and twenty parts, were during five hundred years unknown to the Romans. For till the first Punick War, they reckon'd the day by the riling and fetting of the Sun; then they added Noon; and in fine, they found out the division of the civil day into four and twenty

However, there are two kinds of hours ; for some are equal, and others unequal. Equal hours are those that are always in the fame state, as the hours we make use of, each of them making the twenty fourth part of the natural day. They are to the number of four and twenty, whereof twelve are for fix to feven; the fecond, from feven to eight; the day, and twelve for the night. Unequal the third, called Terus, happen'd at nines Winter, in regard to the day; or on the contrary as to the night. When I fpeak of unequal hours, one must not think that one viding this way the artificial day in twelve ing inclusively. equal parts, the fixth hour will fall at noon, and the third will he the middle of the fore- the like manner as those of the day; at the going time, from the riling of the Sun to fixth hour was mid-night. noon; as the ninth hour is the middle of the following time, from noon to Sun-fetting; of the night in other undetermin'd terms and thus of the others.

to four, viz. Prima, Tertia, Sexta, Nona. Prima to dark night, Vifper or Vefpers, from the began at fix a Clock, Tertis at nine, Sexes at Evening-star. The beginning of the night twelve, and Nons at three of the Clock in the was called Crepusculum, after that they lighted Afternoon. Wherefore the Canonical hours the Lamps, and that time was called Prime were called Prima, Tertia, Stata, Nona, us'd fax, Prima lumina; when they went to bed, by the Church to honour the facred Myste- Concubitum, or Concubio nex; the time of the ries perform'd at these Hours.

Nigilia, Latin word taken from Military, Dif-

Vegetine tells us why there are four Figilia im the night, and why each Watch was of three hours. 'It was not possible, fays he, that a Soldier should keep Centry a whole night wherefore it was divided into four Vigilia. and at each of these Vigilia they reliev'd the Centries, and fet fresh ones in their

Now we must confider how the Roman reckon'd their hours. Prims began at fix a Clock, and comprehended three hours. And if one ask'd how they recken'd the feventh and the eighth hours; we answer that they were distinguish'd amongst themselves, and had their peculiar name, viz. prime, fecunda, ers of Heaven ; that's the Fable, the Truth is, tertia, quarta, quinta, fexta, feptima, attana, nons, decima, as Martial tells us.

> Prima falutantes, atque altera continet bera, Exercet raucos tertia caulidicos : In quintam varsos extendit Roma labores. Sexta quies laffit, septima finis erit :

Sufficit in nonam nitidis octava palafiris. Imperat extructos frangere nona toros :

Hora Libellorum decima eft, Eupheme, mesrum, Temperat ambresias chen tua cura dapes.

The twelve hours of the day in the Equinox, are here fet down according to their order. The first hour of the day was from hours are longer in Summer, and shorter in Clock. And by these words Inquintam extendit, was comprehended the fourth and the fifth hour, viz. eleven a Clock in the mom ing ; Sexts befel always at noon ; the feventh of these hours are longer than the other; hour, was from noon to one a Clock; the but only in respect to the several Seasons, eighth, from one to two; the ninth, we thole of the Summer being longer than from two to three ; and the renth, was from those of the Winter, in regard to the day; there to four; and the rest was extended and as for the night, those of the Winter are to the first Watch of the Night, which be longer than those of the Summer. And di- gan at five and fix of the Clock in the Ever-

The hours of the night were reckon'd in

The Remans explain'd also the several time For when the Sun was fetting, they call The Romans divided the hours of the day in that time Solis occasius; from the Sun-letting first fleep, Nox intempeftia, or filentium. The Likewise, the Romans divided the twelve middle of the night was called Media nex; thes and at laft Awera, and Selle ertus.

many of this name.

Valcan.

HORACE, Sirnamed Flacew, Native | The Greeks were also a long time without of Venusian a Town in Apulia, a Lyrick Poet, either Clocks or Sun-Dials. Anaximenes Miliand intimate Friend of Macenas, a great Lo- fine, Anaximander's Scholar, was the first Inver of Learned Men. He has left us four venter of Sun-Dials amongst the Greeks. Pli-Books of admirable Odes, wherefore the Ro- sy says, that Thales shew'd the use thereof to mans have no occasion to envy the Greeks the Lacedemonians. The Greeks called them Pindar; besides a Book of Epods, two Satyrs, outobipea, and the Romans Solaria. But how and several Epistles, with a learned Treatise exact so ever these Dials were, yet in the of the Art of Poetry, which have made him | night or in cloudy weather they were of no famous to posterity. He died the 57th year | use. Wherefore Scipie Nasica, the Colleague of his age, and 746 after the foundation of of Lanatus, to prevent this inconveniency. Rome.

name, who fought for the Roman Liberty, because it pass'd so insensibly, that it seem'd with three Brothers call'd Curiatii, of the to fteal upon the light. City of Alba, the Inhabitants whereof pre- Pierius in the fixth Book of his Hieroglytended to the Soveraign Power. Two of the phicks fays, that the invention of the Cleply. Horace's loft their Lives in the fight; but the | drs, was found in the Town of Achanta, bethird who remain'd alive, himfelf kill'd the yond the River Nile, where three hundred three Guristii, and thus the Inhabitants of and fixty Priests were every day pouring water Alba became Subjects to the Romans. Horace out of the Nile into a Veffel, out of which came victorious to Rome, and was receiv'd they let the water drop by little and little with the Acclamations of the people; but to measure the hours of the day. he blasted his Victory by the death of his | And tho' the word Horologium commonly Sifter, who was to marry one of the Curiatii, fignifies Clocks that go by Weights, and have not being able to bear the reproachful words Wheels, and a Ballance with a Bell; yet of an angry Maid for the death of her those that are made with Wheels, and fit to

Girls and Boys, where the Boy leads the shews the hour by the shadow of a Needle Dance with Masculine and Warlike Postures, elevated upon different surfaces, falling upand the Girl followed him with foft and mo- on lines dispos'd in order by Gnonomicks, dest steps, to represent an Harmony of two may be called also by the name of Horole-Vertues, Power and Temperance.

HOROLOGIUM, A Clock, an En- with Wheels and Bells. gine that moves of it felf, or has the principle of its motion in it felf, used to measure Time, and shew the hours of the day and

At first the Romans had no certain Rule for the time of their Employments, they meafur'd it only by the Course of the Sun. Pliny reports, that in the Laws of the twelve Tables, that were collected in the Year 301, there was nothing mention'd concerning vated Needle in the middle. time, but only the rifing and the fetting of the Sun, and Noon.

that came Diluculum elit dawning of the day; Temple of Quirinu, but it did not preve right. Thirty years afterwards, the Conful HORATIUS, Herace. There were M. Valerius Meffela, as Varre relates, after the taking of Catana in Sicily in the Year 477. HORACE, called COCLES, or during the first Punick War, brought from one ey'd. A Roman Captain, who fustain'd thence to Rome a Dial, which he fasten'd to the efforts of the Enemy, attempting by a Pillar near the Refire; but the Lines thereforce of Arms to restore King Tarquinius in- of not being drawn according to the degrees to Rome, till the Sublician Bridge was broke, of the latitude of the pole, it did not prove and then cast himself into the Tiber, and thus exact, yet they made use of it during the escap'd the Enemies fury. The Consul Pub- space of eleven years, when Martin Philippus, licela crected him a Statue in the Temple of Cenfor with L. Paulse, fet up another more * found out the Clepfydra or Water-Clock, There were also three Brothers of that | and Te zhawen Tu Dalup i. e. to fteal Water.

carry about, called Watches, and those cal-HORMUS, A kind of Dance of led Sciotherick Dials, or Sun-Dials, which gia, as well as the Clepfydra's, and Clocks

Vitavoise speaks of many kinds of Sun-

The Hemicyclus or the half Circle, is a Dial hewn into a fquare, and cut to incline like the Equinox ; Berefus a Chaldean was the inventer thereof.

The Hemisphere Dial was found out by Arifarchus Samius. The Dials call'd Scaphia, were hewn in a round Figure, having an ele-

The Discus of Aristarchus was an horizontal Dial, the fides whereof were somewhat rais'd, Papprius Curfor fet up a Sun Dial at the to prevent the inconveniency, found in the their fides thus raisd up, keep the fhadow from extending it felf too far off.

The Spider invented by Eudexus, is the fame as the Anaphoric Herelogium. Some fay that 'Apellonia's has found out the Plintbus or Dial-post, which was fet in the Gircus Flaminius. Scopas Syracufanus made the Dial called morarofinera, ufed for places mentioned in History. Parmenien was the inventor of the univerfal Dial, fit for all Climats. Theodofius and Andreas Patrocles invented the Pelecynon, which is a Dial made in the figure of a Harchet, where the opposite lines, that flew the Constellations and the Months. are chose towards the middle, and ftretched towards the fides, which make the form of 2 Harchet with two edges. Dienyliderus found the Cone; Apollonius, the Quiver, which are at a certain moment, to predict Men's forvertical Dials, opposite to the East and West, rune. and being broad and obliquely fet, reprefent a Quiver.

There were yet many other kinds of Sun-Dials invented, as the Gonarcus, Engenatus, Antibereut. These are not mentioned, neither in Greek nor Lann Authors The Gonarcus and Engenatus feem deriv'd from the Greek, and fignifie Dials made upon feveral furfaces, dow'd with an admirable Eloquence, and fome whereof being horizontal, others vertical, and fome others oblique, make many Angles; wheretore these angular Dials are Tully has made his Encomium in his Works. called by the word you, i.e. Angle or Knee. The Antiboreus is an Equinoxial Dial. turn'd towards the North.

An Hour-Glass, us'd to measure time by the running of fand, is made with two small Glaffes join'd together by the ends; one of remitted. them is full of very fmall fand, which runs shrough a little hole of a thin plate of Brass, which is at the joining of both Glasses.

Clepfidre or Water-Clocks, were commonly us'd by the Ancients in Winter, and were of feveral kinds, as we may fee in Vitravius. They had this common, that the Water did drop infenfibly through a little hole from one Vessel into another wherein raising by little and little, it rais'd up a piece of Cork, which shew'd the hours several ways.

The Ancients had still aethird kind of Clock, called Clocks for the Night, invented by Plate. It was a Glock which gave to understand by hearing, what the eyes were not able to perceive in the dark of the night; and this Engine was composed of many Plutes.

Eginard, Secretary to Charles the Great fpeaks of a Clock made after the like manner, which was fent to this Emperor by the King of Perfis, and tells us that it was a Gleptheir Needle upright and per- fries, which dropping from time to time pendicularly elevated upon the Horizon; for brais balls, into a Bason of the same Metal, ftruck the hours.

The Clocks with Wheels and ftriking were unknown to the Romans. Crefibius they Son of a Barber of Alexandria, gave occasion. to the finding out of striking Clocks. The common opinion is, that one Pacifich Arch-Deacon of Verons was the inventer thereof. HOROSCOPUS, the Horoscope, the Degree of the Ascendant, or the Star ascende ing above the horizon, at the moment you intend to predict any thing, as what weather it will be, what may be the fortune of a Man, who is coming into the World. They give also the name of Horoscope to the figure containing the twelve Houses, wherein they observe the disposition of Heaven and Stars

HORTA, otherwise called ANGR-RONA and STIMULA A Divini ty of the Ancients, who inclined Men to well doing ; Plutarch fays, that her Temple was always open.

HORTENSIUS called QUIN-T.U.S, was a famous Roman Orator, envery fingular and graceful way of speaking He was rais'd to the High-Priest's dignity; His Daughter called after his name Hortenfa. was also very eloquent, and pleaded the cause of the Roman Matrons with such force of Eloquence, that half of the Tax, that the Trium viri had laid upon them, was HORTUS, A.Garden. The Roman under the name of a Garden, did not only mean a piece of Ground planted with Trees and Flowers, but also Country Houses, with an extent of Ground divided into Gardens, Parks, Meadows and Vineyards. In this fense ancient Writers speak of the fine Gardens of Cafar, Saluft and Mecenas, which were built in and out of Rome, with great Magnificence, in regard to both Structure and Gardens.

The Gardens of the Romans were prince pally adorn'd with feveral Walks, Treet, Beds of Flowers, Orchards, Water-works, and other Ornaments.

They had also other Gardens, called Por filer, hung up and carried upon Wheels, which were planted with Fruit-trees, Vines, Melons, and Cucumbers; and they remove them from one place to another, according to the weather. These Gardens were covered with Jung-Glaffes, and the Sun darting his Beams upon the Glaffes, made the Fruit eigen naturally, as we learn by this Epigram | vinities. For they dedicate the flame Plan of Martial, 1. 8. Ep. 4.

Pallida ne Cilicum timeant pemaria brumam : Merdeat & tenerum fortior aura nemus : Hibernis objecta notis (pecularia puros Admittunt foles & fine fect diem.

68th Epigram of the same Book, where he had a Ship, because Men fancied that the compares the Vines that Entellus kept in Win- Sea afforded them their Food. ter, as green and full of Grapes as in Au- Harperrates carried over his head Fruit encumn, with the Apple-trees that Alcineus King compass'd with some open leaves, like leaves of the Pheaces, prefero'd by the art of Ifing- of Cliver, because it was the custom to Glafs. Pliny reports, that Tiberius kept also crown therewith the Egyptian Divinities ; behis Fruits and Cucumbers by the fame Art : fides that Herb opens of itself at Sun-rising. bernis diebus intra frecularium, &cc.

They raifed likewife Gardens on the top their Mysteries. of their Houles, in imitation of the Gardens The Wings of Harpecrater are another Ar-of Babylam, built by a King of Babylam and Syr ris called Gyrus, to please the humour of a this Star is commonly repredented with Poffer Courtezan, whom he loved. This Wings, to shew the swiftness of his Garden was of a fquare figure, and born up Courfe. with Pillars rais'd one upon another, and The figure of Harpogrates is armed with a founded upon beams of stone fixteen foot Quiver, which agrees with the Sun, darting long, and fix foot broad, whereupon was Beams upon the Earth like fo many Arrows. laid the first Bed made with Reeds, joined This Effigies carries on its arm a small Vessel. and cemented together with a kind of a li- to flew that humidity, join'd to the heat of suid Birumen taken out of a Lake, the pro- the Sun, is the cause of all Productions. perty whereof was to unite fo strongly the At the left foot of Harpocrates there are reso the same Divinity with the Sun and Horse: light by the whiteness of the Swan, and the Egyptians. M. Triflan mistakes, when he fays, that his Mother made him immortal by fuckling him; and that for this reason they the other is covered with darkness. were used in the pomp of Ifit, to carry a small golden Vessel full of Milk, to make Deity. The Aruficina of the Antients was Libations.

Hours, which were called after his Name fome part of the World.

'Tis true that Mercury became immortal, Victims. The word Hoffis comes ab beflibus, because June suckl'd him; but Dienierus Sieu- because they facrificed Victims, either before he affirms only, that If render'd her Son they engaged the Enemy, to beg the favour immorral, by vertue of an Uniquent she had of the Gods; or after they had obtain'd the found our. This conformity is yet evi- Victory, to give them thanks. denc'd, by the feveral lymbols of thefe Di-to both of them, and they are seprefented with the fame Animals and the fame Attendance. Sometimes the Sun is express'd by the figure of a Soldier, because he was call'd by that name in the Mysteries, and those who were initiated were also called by that very name : And the Sun and the Moon, in-We may read also upon this subject, the stead of riding in a Chariot like other Gods, Nalle quippe die contigit et, penfiles corum hortes and shuts of itself at Sun-setting. This God promoventibus in foles rotis olitoribus, rurfusque hi- holds a Finger upon his Mouth, to shew the filence religiously observed by the Pagans in parts cemented therewith, that it was impof- presentations of Geese, because the natural fible to separate one from another. There heat of these Creatures represents the heat of was another Payement of Brick laid upon the Sun, and he carries a Maffy Club rwifted the first; and in fine, a third of Tiles and about with a Serpent, because this Animal is Lead; and upon these Beds they laid the in a singular manner dedicated to the Sun. At his right foot is the figure of a Hare. HORUS, The Son of Ifu, in whole which was also consecrated to the Sun. bename the Sun was ador'd by the Egyptians. cause of his fecundity and swiftness. 'Tis Some Writers report, that he was King of reported, that Hares never thur their eves Allyria and a great Philosopher, who divided night nor day, which is an emblem of the the Seasons of the Year, the Days and the Sun, which never ceases to afford light to

The Ancients were used to ascribe a Ra-Some are of opinion that Harpocrates is al- ven and a Swan to the Sun, to represent his and this conformity appears by his Birth, his darkness by the black feathers of the Rafeeing he is the Son of 1/15, famous among ven. And this Harpotrates was covered on one fide, and naked on the other, because when the Sun gives light to our Hemisphere.

> HOSTIA. A Victim facrificed to a performed by looking into the Intrails of the Writers give two different fignifications of these words Hestis and Victims. Isiderus 1. 6. c. 18. fays, that the Animal that the Emperor or the General of the Army facrificed before he engag'd the Enemy, to render the Gods favourable to him, was properly called Hoftis, deriving that word from Hoftis, Enemy, and from Hoftire, to ftrike the Enemy. Hoftie apud weteres dicebantur facrificia que fiebant antequam ad hoftem pergerent ; vittime vero facrificia que post wittoriam devittis bofibus immelabantur. And to confirm this opi-Bion, he brings in the Authority of Feffus, Eximie, Succidance, Ambarvales, Amburbiala who says that Hoftia ditta ef ab boffire to Strike, Cancares, Prodige, Piaculares, Ambegne, Haas if by that Hollis, they had begg'd the fa- vige, Haruge Optata, Maxima, Medialis. your of the Gods, to beat and overcome the

The word Victim comes from the Sacrifice offered by the Emperor to the Gods, after a Victory obtained over the Enemy, a wiffis & profligatis boftibus. Quid gives us ale habentur puri, ab eo appellarsur in Antiqui this Erymology in the first Book of his Sacris, tum quod ad Sacrificium idonei dicuntur. Fafti V. 335.

Victima que cecidit dextra victrice vocatur : Hoßibus à victis, Hoftia nomen habet.

indifferently facrificed by every Prieft, but Perca, a Sow offered in facrifice to Geres by that the Victim was only facrificed by the way of expiation before the Harvest, b vanquisher of the Enemy. Isidorus reports those who had not exactly perform'd the Fualso I, 5. c. 13. that the Victim was offered nerals of a deceased person of their Family, for great Sacrifices, and taken out of the or purified the House where some body was great Cattle; but Hoftia was facrificed for the dead, according to the usual custom. As least, and taken out of a Herd of Sheep. To Festus assures, Porca etiam pratidanea quam inthis custom Herace alludes, Ode 17. 1. 2. melare foliti antequam novam frugem inciderant. where he exhorts Macenas to perform his This is confirm'd by Aulus Gellius, Porca etim vow for the recovery of his health, and precidence appellate, quam piaculi gratid and offer Victims, while on his part he will fa- fruges novas fieri ceptas immelari Cereri mos fui, crifice a Lamb.

Reddere victimas Edemque votivam memento; Nos humilem feriemus agnam.

these two words, they were often confound- nea Suscipienda Telluri & Cereri, aliter familia ed, and promiscuously taken one for another pura non est. by ancient Writers.

Gods; some to know their will by looking commonly facrificed, having then two into the Intrails and Inwards of the Sacri- teeth higher than the fix others. Wherefore fices; in other Sacrifices, they contented Bidentes is the fame thing as Biennes, and is themselves to offer the life of the Victim, used not only for Sheep, but also for Hop wherefore these Sacrifices were called anima- and Oxen; with this restriction, that Bidmin les Hestie. As we learn of Trebatius, l. 1. de alone is to be understood only of Sheep; Relig. apud Macrob. 1 3. c. 25. Hoftiarum duo and when 'tis applied to fignific other Anigenera fuisse docet, alterum in que voluntas Dei mals, the Substantive is added to it, it per exta disquirebatur, alterum que sola anima we may observe by what Pempenius says: Des Sacrabatur, unde C' animales Hestias voca- Mars, tibi vovco fatturum fi unquam redierit. le bant Arufbices.

Virgil speaks of these Sacrifices in his Encid.

Pecudumque reclufis Pettoribus inbiant fpirantia confulit exta. 1.4.

Hanc tibi Eryx meliorem animam pro merte Daretit,

And the same Virgil, 1. 5. v. 483.

The Ancients had many kinds of Hoftia: called Hoffie pura, Pracidanca, Bidentes, Injuga

HOSTIE PURAE, Were Lambs and Pigs ten days old, as Festus reports, I. t. Agnus dicitur à graco d'yobs qued significat Gaffam, co quod fit hoftia pura & immolationi apea : And Varro, 1. 11. De Re Ruft. Porci à partu desim

HOSTIÆ PRÆCIDANEÆ: Thus called from pre and ceds, i.e. to facrifice or kill before, because they were faceficed the eve of the folemn Feast, as Aula Gellius relates : Pracidanea que ante facrificis Aulus Gellius tells us, that Hoftie might be Solemnia pridie mattabatur : And Pracidans fi qui familiam funeftam aut non purgaverant, at alitur eam rem quam oportuerat, procuraverant.

Varro tells us, in the Book of the Life of the Roman People, that no Family was purfied but by offering of that facrifice, which the Heir was oblig'd to offer to Tellus and What difference foever might be between Ceres, Qu'ed humatus non fit, heredi porca pracida

HOSTIA BIDENS, A Sacrifica Two kinds of Hofie were offered to the of two Years old, at which age they were denti verre.

нο

HOSTIÆ INJUGES, Were confumed by Fire, and nothing remain'd those that were never under the yoke, nor thereof for the Priefts. tamed. Virgil calls them,

Et intasfå totidem cervice juvence.

HOSTIÆ EXIMIÆ, The finest Victims of a Herd, separated from the rest, and appointed for the Sacrifice, as Donatus forth two Lambs at one Litter, offer'd in Sahys: Eximia pecera dicuntur que à grege excepta crifice with their young ones to June. Just ut uberius pascantur, sed proprie eximii funt | HOSTIÆ HARVIGÆ, or HAsessentur. Etenim bover qui ad hec eletti funt ture events, by looking into the Entrails of egregii vel eximii dicuntur, & over lette. As the Sacrifices. Virgil observes.

Malfant lelfas de more bidentes. Virg. 4. Æneid. v. 57.

And in another place : Quatuor eximios prafanti corpore tauros. 4. Georg. v. 537-

HOSTIÆ SUCCIDANEÆ, thus called from the Verb Succede, or rather of fub cedo, i. e. to kill afterwards, Victims preferr'd him to the Sons of Numa, and fer fucceffively facrificed after others, i. c. a reiteration of Sacrifice, when the first was not ma's Son-in-law. He built Mount Callanu, of good Omen, or some effential ceremony was omitted. Paulus Emilius preparing himfell to engage Perfer King of Macedonia, fa Combat of the three Horace's on the Roman crificen twenty Bulls one after another to fude, and three Curiatii on those of Alba, Hercules, before he got a lucky Victim; at which remain'd subject to the Romens, by last the one and twentieth promis'd him the the victory obtain'd by one of the Harati. Victory, provided he should only stand in a posture of defence: Si primis hossiis litarum Bestieged Numantia; bur having despised the um erat, alie post cosdim dutte hostie cedeban- Augure, he went one day out of his Camp, tur : que quasi prioribus jem cests luend; piaculi which the Inhabitants of Numantia taking adgratia subdebantur & sucadebantur, ob id Succi- vantage of, made a fally out of the Town, dime nominate. Aul. Gel. 1. 4. C. 6.

round about their Fields, in a procession back to Numantia with his hands tied behind made for the preservation of the Fruits of him. the Earth : Ambarwalis hoftia, fays Feftus, eft que rei divine causa circum arva ducitur ab iis miclus, beloved of Apallo; bur this God being qui pro frugibus faciunt.

City of Rome, fays the fame Fiftus.

HOSTIÆ CANEARES, CAVIARES, Victims offer'd in Sacri- which was called after his name Hyacimibus. fice every fifth Year, for the College of the the Temple called Regia.

were fo called, because they were wholly fore Virgil calls them,

HOSTIÆ PIACULARES; Victims offered to make expiation for a Crime, or fome ill Action. HOSTIÆ AMBEGNÆ, or A M B I E G N Æ, Cows that had calved two Heifers, or Sheep that had brought perti majoret qui ad facrificandum excepti liberiti RUG Æ, Victims offered to predict fu-

HOSTIÆ MEDIALIS; Black

Victims offered at Noon time.

HOSTILIUS TULLUS, The Son of Tullus Hoftilius, Native of the City of Medula, a Colony of the Sabins, who came ro fertle themselves at Rome, after Romulus had took Medulis. He married Herfilis, who made peace betwixt the Ramans and the Cares. Of this Marriage came Hofilins, who was King of the Romani after Nums. The people him upon the Throne, tho' he was but Neand made war with the Inhabitants of Alba, and it was brought to an end by the famous HOSTILIUS MANCINUS.

posses'd themselves of his Camp, and forc'd AMBARVALES HOSTIÆ, him to accept of a shameful peace, which Victims sperificed after they had led them the Romans refus'd to rarify; and fent him

HYACINTHUS, The Son of Aat play with him at Coits, Zephyrus jealous of AMBURBIALES HOSTIÆ, their Love bore away the Coit, and there-Victims led round about the limits of the with broke his head, whereupon he died. Apollo to comfort himself for his loss, out of or his Blood that was fuilt produc'd a Flower,

HYADES, The Daughters of Ailas and Pontiffi, wiz. they offer'd the part of the Æthra, who nurs'd and brought up Bacchat, Tail called Caviar. It feems that this Sacri- and in reward thereof, were transported infice is the same, or at least very like that to Heaven, and turned into feven Stars, which was offer'd in the Month of Offeber to made famous by the Poets. Thefe Stars Marr, in the Field called by his name, where bring rainy weather, and are placed in the a Horses Tail was cut off, and carried into head of the Constellation Taurus. At their rifing, if the Sun or Moon meet oppolite HOSTIÆ PRODIGIÆ, They to them, they certainly bring rain

Plu-

Pluviafque Hyadas.

HYDRA. A fabulous Monster, repre- the contrary from the West to the East; and fented by Poets with many Heads, growing then standing before the Altar they fung the again as foon as they were cut off. Hercules Epode, which was the third Stanza. overcame this Monster in the Lake of Lerna, The Greek Poets have written many and slew her; and to prevent the growing Hymns, in praise of the false Gods of the of her Heads, he applied fire to the place as Pagans. he cut them off.

how to make Water-Conduits, and Water- efteemed by the Ancients the Father of the works, and for other uses. Heren describes Sun and the Moon, he is often taken for the many Water-Engines, called Hydraulica Ma- Sun by the Poets. thing. The word Hydraulicus fignifies found- HYPERMNESTRA, One of the ing water, because when Organs were first fifty Daughters of Danaus King of Egypt, the. found out, Bellows were not yet in use, only one of all, who the first Weddingwherefore they made use of falling waters, night spared the Life of Lyngaus her Hus to get wind into the Organs and to make band; for all her other Sifters murther'd the inventer of this Engine, or at least brought Sons to Agyptus, Dansus's Brother. it to perfection; for the invention thereof HYPOCAUSTUM. A Stove une is due to Plate, who found out the Noctur- der ground, used to warm the Baths both of nal Clock or Cleplydra, that caus'd Flutes to the ancient Greeks and Romans. play, and give notice of the time of the Night,

HYDROMANTIA, A Southfaying performed by way of water, wherein the Images of the Gods were feen. Varre tells us, that this kind of divination was found out by Perfes, and that Numa Pompilius, and after him Pythagoras the Philosopher made use of it, and that thereby Spirits are also conjur'd up 1, of the Alphabet, was accounted by the by spilling blood, and this performance was Ancients a numeral Letter, signifying one called by the Greeks Necromantia. These kinds hundred. of South-favings were rigorously forbid by the Laws of all Nations, even before the not mark'd over with the stroke of a Pen. to coming of our Lord. However, by this shew that it was long, as Scaurus himself testimeans, Numa learned the Mysteries that he sies. Notwithstanding, to denote its quantiinstituted; and because he used water to ty, it was drawn in length a Letter bigger perform his Hydromantia, it was faid that he than the rest. PIso, VIvus, ÆdIlis. Where-HYLAS, The Son of Theodomus, belo-ved of Hercules for his Beauty. Being fallen Plautus's Aularium, being refolv'd to hang by misfortune into a Fountain where he was himfelf, fays that he should make a long Letdrawing water, he was drowned; where- ter of his Body. Lapfius explains it thus, and upon Poets feigned that Bylas was ravished this explanation seems more likely than that by the Nymphs enamoured with his beauty, of Lambinus, who understands of it all kind Hercules run through all Mylia to feek for him. of great Letters. The People of Prusa instituted a Feast to him, Lipsus says expresly, that the I was double. at which they ran through the Forest and to make it long as the other Vowels; and 'tis Mountains, crying Hylas, Hylas.

fabulous Divinity of the Pagans, prefiding haps out of corruption, as Divil Augusti in an over Marriages. This God was called upon Inscription in the time of Augustus. in the Wedding-Songs. Poets call him fair Hymenaus za's, one whereof was call'd Strophe, which they fung walking from the East to the Westthe other was named Antifirophe, walking on

HYPERION, The Son of Heaven. HYDRAULIS, A Science teaching and Brother to Saturn, and one of the Titant, them found. Athenaus fays, that Ctefiblus was their Husbands, the Brothers of Lyncaus, and

The third Vowel, and the ninth Letter

This Letter was the only Vowel that was married the Nymph Egeria, as Varre tells fore of all the Letters, the I was called long by Senecdoche.

the opinion of the most Learned, tho' many HYMEN or HYMEN & U.S. A Instances to the contrary might be found per-

Wherefore as the I by its length only was, equivolent to a real ii, i. e. that they HYMNUS, A Hymn or Ode, fung fhould be mark'd in the Difcourfe, as Manuin honour of Divinities. These Hymns were by instead of Manubis; Dis Manibus instead of commonly compos'd of three kinds of Stan. Dist. Manibut. And from thence come the contractions that are common and allowed fide at all beginnings, and that the new to Poets. Di instead of Dij; urbem Patavi Year began at this Month; or because Janus instead of Patavii.

fime. And this is testified by Priscian, Year to come. when he fays, that this was the only way to express the I long. This pronunci- this Month was under the protection of Juno, ation of et was become to common amongst like other first days of the Months, yet this them, that they us'd it even in fhort words, which shews that it was not so much perhaps | nus, to whom they offered that day a Cake; to note its quantity, as a certain pronuncia- made of new Meal, called Janualis, and of tion more full and more pleafing. Where- new Salt. The Frankincence and Wine prefore in old Books we find still Omneis, not fented to him were also new. only instead of Omnes in the plural number, but also instead of Omnis in the fingular.

Wherefore Victorinus tells us, that no way endeavours to distinguish it, setting a Rule ei in the plural number.

However, Quintilian finds fault with this way of writing, because, says he, 'tis super- Postes mirabar, cur non fine litibus effet fluous, and too troublesome to those who | Prima dies. Causam percipe, Janus ait, begin to write. From whence we may con- Tempora commissionascensia rebus agendus, clude that the pronunciation was alter'd. and that there was no difference then be- Quisque suas artes ob idem delibat agendo, tween the ei and the i.

This Letter I is also a Consonant; and then its Character is lengthned downwards did at the Orgia or Feafts of Bacchus.

yond the Tiber, where Janus fettl'd himfelf Temple. and built a Fortrefs. There Numa plac'd Wine's Country.

JANUARIUS, January, This Month was not fee down in the old Calendar of Rothe Remons had established this God to pre- for the safety of the Emperor.

being represented with two Faces, to shew But the Ancients noted also the quantity by that his singular prudence, which consiof this Letter by the Dipthong ei, as Villeri- dered both the time past and the time to au fays, and it was the same thing to write come, they thought fit to dedicate a Month Divl or Dive, the I long, and the ei having to him, which was at the end of the Year the same pronunciation, or very like the that was past, and at the beginning of the

And though the Calends or the first day of was in a peculiar manner confectated to Ja-

This day all Workmen began their works. every one according to his Art and Trade, and the Scholars did the like; being perswaof Writing was controvers'd by the Anci- ded, that having thus begun the Year by ents but this. Lucilus and Varro made their working, they should be diligent and laborious all the rest of that Year: As we learn: to write the i alone in the fingular, and the of Ovid in the first Book of his Fasti,, > Totus ab auspicio ne foret annus iners: Nec plus quam folisum seftificatur opus.

The Confuls appointed for that Year, took: possession on that day of their Office, and JACCHUS, One of Bacchue's names, began the functions thereof, especially since from the Syriack word Janko or Jacco, i. e. the Emperors, and fome time before, during pur lattens; and thus Baichus was often re- the Confulfhip of Quintus Falvius Nobilior, and presented. And these words of Virgil, My- Titus Annius Luscus, in the Year of the founflica Vannus Jacchi, may be understood of dation of Rome DCI. Wherefore they went : Bacchus's Cradle. Some Writers derive this up to the Capitol, attended by a great crowd: word from the Greek laye, i.e. to make a of People, all dreffed with new Cloaths, and noise by crying, to how,, as the Bacchantes there facrificed to Jupiter Capitelinus two white Bulls, that never were under the Yoke, and: JANICULUM, A Mountain be- foread perfumes and fweet finells in his-

The Priefts called Flamines, together with his Tomb, and tince Statius the Poet. The the Confuls, made vows, while the Sacrifice Country of Latium, where Janus was honour- was performing, for the profperity of the Emed, and where Janiculum was built, which pire, and the farety of the Emperors, having afterwards made a part of Rome, was called first taken the Oath of Allegiance, and ratiby the Ancients OEnotria tellue, i. e. the fied all that they had done during the foregoing Year.

Likewise the other Migistrates and the People made the fame Vows, and took the walle, but was brought in by Numa, who Oath. And Tacitus tells us in the fixteenth . plac'd it at the Winter-Solftice, in the room | Book of his Annals, that Trafes was impeachwhere Mars was before, whom Remulas plac'd ed. of having purposely absented himself at the Vernal Equinox. This Month was from the Affemblies, where the Magistrates named Januarius in honour of Janus, because took the solemn Oath, and Vows were made. Cernis odoratis ut luceat ignibus ather, Et lonet accensis spica Cilissa focis? Flamma nicore suo templorum verberat aurum, Et tremulum surma spargit in ade jubar. Vestibus intactes Tarpeias itur ad arces : Et populus festo concolor ipse sue est. Jamque novi pracunt fasces, nova purpura fulget Et nova confricuum pondera fentit ebur, Colla rudes operum prabent ferienda juvenes, Ques aluit campis berba Falisca suis.

fity, and were very careful to freak no word ment to this Goddess, because she had foreof ill Omen, as we learn of Pliny; Cautum told a great many things to the advantage of eras apud Romanos ne quod mali ominis verbum the Roman Empire. The fame day was cele-Calenais Januariis efferretur.

Friends fent Prefents that day one to ano- immu in the Field of Marr. ther, which were called Streng, New Years- The 12th was a Meeting-day, and some Gifts ; and this custom was first instituted time this day they kept the Feath of Compiles. by T. Tatius King of the Sabines, after he had : lis or Crofs-ways. made his agreement with Romalus; for tis The 13th, or the day of Ides, confectated dels strenue, with a Compliment wishing Name of Augustus, by the advice of Munacius them a happy Year. 'Tis thus related by Plancus. Symmachus in the 10th Book, Epift. 28. to the Emperors Theodofius and Arcadius : Strenuarum February was express'd by these Letters ulus adolevit aufforitate Tatii Regis, qui verbenas EN in the Calendar, to denote that it was flicis arboris ex Luco Strenna ami novi austices divided half into a Festival, and half into a primus accepit. We will speak more at sarge day of Work. of this word in its Alphabetick order.

be merry and divert themselves this first day, the Feast called Carmentalia secunda, or repetita being perswaded that all the rest of the year & relata, in honour of Carmenta the Mother should be like that day; thus much for the of Evander. See below Carmentalia. first day of January, we come to the other The 16th, or the XVII. of the Calends of days of this Month, and the Holy-days kept February, was the Feast of the Delication of therein.

Calendas, or quarte Nonas, the next day after lius Duum-vir had dedicated, nor that which the Calends or the fourth of the Nones, was the Secretary Flavius did likewise dedicate in a pleading day, but accounted faral for the Fore Vulcanis, but of the great and magnificent War, called for that reason Dies ster, a fatal day. Temple vowed and dedicated by Camillus, days of Assembly.

The 5th, which was the day of the Nones, From the 16th to the Calends of February was a day for Pleading.

The 6th call'd the VIII. of the Ides, was except esteem'd unlucky.

The 7th and the 8th were days of Assembly. On the 7th the Romans folemniz'd the coming of Isu; and the 8th was confectated tion of the Temple of Castor and Pollux, next by the Athenians to Neptune.

amongst the Latins, they celebrated the Feast Equiria, in the Field of Mars. called Agmalia, instituted by Nums Pompilius Owid in the first Book of his Fasti, observes in honour of Janus, and the King of Sacrid fices facrificed a Ram to Janus. See Agonalia: according to the Alphabetick order.

The 10th, or the IV. of the Ides, was a day divided in two, thus mark'd in the old Calendar En, and in the new Calendar media

Hyems. The 11th, or the III. of the Ides, was the Feast call'd Carmentalia, in honour of the Goddess Carmenta Mother to Evander; they offered her Sacrifices every year before noon; wherefore that day is mark'd in the Calendar Nefastus prime, to signify that it was not allowed to do any thing that morning. This day the Romans laid down all animo- This Sacrifice was offer'd in acknowledge brated the dedication of the Temple of Jureported, that to show the esteem he had for to Jupiter, was mark'd in the Calendar by those who had ferv'd him in his Quarrel these Letters, N. P. Nefastus prima parte diei, with the Romans, he fent to every one of them,! which was only kept holy in the morning. at the beginning of the year, a branch of They facrificed to her a Sheep, called Out Laurel, taken out of the Grove of the God- Idulis. This day Cefar Offavius took the

The 14th, or the XIX. of the Calends of

The 15th, or the XVIII of the Calends of The Romans above all things took care to February, they folemniz'd for the fecond time, the Temple of Concord, not that which the The 21 day, called by the Lating postridie Prætor Manlius vowed, and which Caius Atti-The 3d and the 4th were comitted days, or and adorn'd by Livia Drufilla, with a great many Statues and a noble Altar.

are the Comitial or Affembly-days; if you

The 24th, For that day the Feria Sementina were celebrated for the Sowing-time. The 27th they kept the Feast of the Dedica-the Lake called Juturna the Sifter of Turnus. On the 9th, which is the V. of the Ides! The 29th there were Horse-Races, called abundance of Frankincente.

Etymology of the word Janus. Some derive | certain Virgins, called after her name Voit from the Latin Verb ire, or its Gerund eun- Itals. de, as if one faid Eanus, because God presided at the beginning of all undertakings; where- govern'd his People by just Laws; wherefore the Preface of Prayers was directed to fore his Subjects plac'd him after his death him, by whom they had access to the other in the rank of the Gods, and gave him many Gods; and because rhe Doors of Houses are Names, because of his great Qualifications; the entries, through which one must pass to for they call'd him Deus Deerum, because go into the most remote Apartments, they they esteem'd him the first of Gods, on acwere therefore called Janua from Janus, and count of the good Ordinances he had made were dedicated to him. This is reported by during his Reign; and was firnamed Bifront Telly, in his Book De. Nat. Deorum. Cumque and Quadrifrons, because they took him for in emnibus rebut wim haberent maximam prima & the World, the two chiefest parts whereof pofrema , principem in facrific undo Janum effe | are the East and the West, and the other two colucrust, quod ab eundo nomen eff duffirm, ex quo are the South and the North. He was ftil transitiones pervia Jani, faresque en liminibus pro- called Junmius (Confevus, Patuleius, Clusius,) fanarume dium Javue nominantus.

Volkus fays, that the word Janus feems to be derived from the Hebrew Jain, i.e. Wine.

same as the World and the Sun ; others say, either because he was rhe reparator of Manthat he is the fame as Ogyges an ancient King, who built Thebes fifteen hundred years before the foundation of Rome; and some others, as to plant the Vine, and sow Corn : Patulcius, Ovid, confound James with Noah, and ascribe because in time of War rhe Gares of his to him the glory of the origine of the World, having been the only Man, who faw the old and new World before and after the Deluge. However, the Authors, who report that Nigh divided all the Earth to his Sons after the and fettled himself in Italy, where he taught Subjects. a great many things, very uleful to Man- To what we have faid of the origine of worshipped Gods only in Groves.

daries of Towns, both without and within : after Janus. Wherefore, when Remulus built Rome, he fent for some Men out of Tuscany, who observ'd exactly all the formalities and ceremonies reign of Ascanius, who reigned at Alba eight they had learned of Janus for that purpose. And to fet up better the service of the Gods, is a Liquor fo much sought after, that if it he drew Rituals and Formulars of Prayers to had been known in Janus's time, 'tis very their honour; wherefore the preface of Sa-likely that Men had improv'd the Vines; crifices was directed to him, and he was the and that Wine had not been scarce in the first called upon, as a Being who prefented time of Ascanius and Numa. their Prayers to the Gods, and to whom rhe

The 30th was the Feast of the Peace, they 1 and of folding Doors, which in his Honour facrificed then a white Victim, and burned were called Janua. 'Tis faid yet that his Wife was called V.ffs, and that the instituted JANUS. Writers don't agree upon the the holy fire, committed to the care of

In short, Janus was a very wife King, who because the Calends of every Month were confecrated both to him and June; and for that reason, as Varre fays, there were twelve The birth and origine of Janus is no less Altars in his Temple, in respect to the twelve controverted ; some tell us, that Janus is the | Months of the Year : Confirms à confirende, kind, who had been drowned in the waters of the Deluge, or because he had taught Men Temple were always open ; and Clufius, because they were shut up in time of Peace.

In the Hymns fung by the Salii the day of this great Feast, he was called upon by the name of Deus Do un, as being the most An-Flood, and gave Europeto Japhet for his share, cient of all the Gods; and by that Jane Pater, fay more likely, that Japher was called Janur, because he had been a true Father to his

Janus, Jacobus Aufolus opposes some Argu-Fabius Pictor reports, that the ancient Inf- ments, taken out of Chronology, wherecans learn'd to improve the Vine of him, to by he proves that Noah was dead in that time, fow Corn, and ro make Bread; and that he Bur if Wine and Vine might clear this point alio taught them to build Temples and A tars of controversy, Pliny will affure us, that under to the Gods; for the Ancients to that time, the reign of Numa Wine was very scarce in Italy; and yet 'tis true, that Numa reigned a He was the first who consecrated the boun- thousand three hundred and forty one years

Dionyfius Halicarnaffeus affirms alfo , that rhere was but a little Wine in Italy in the hundred eighty five years after Janus. Wine

Peucer tells us, that Janus is Javan the Son first libations of Wine and Wheat were offer- of Japhet, and indeed the likeness of the ed. 'Tis reported that he was the Inventer name carries a great weight with it. In fine, of Locks and Keys, for the security of Houses let it be either Janus, or Noah, or Javan, he has planted the Vine or not, Pagan Histo- ceived Saturn in Italy, became the first Man rians, who dive into the most remote Anti- who began there to manure and dung the quity , agree that Janus reigned in Italy. ground was called Saturn ; and this happen'd Now here is the Hiltory taken out of in the fame time that Janus cultivated the Dion; fins Halicarnaffeus , and Sextus Aurelius Vine Plutarch affures us, that Janus came from called Creufa, of fo extraordinary Beauty both Greek and Italian, or because he chang'd that Apollo fell in Love with her. The Lady the gross manners of the Inhabitants of Itals was not cruel, but yielded to the passion of the into a more sweet and civil policy. God, and got a great Belly by him; yet the kept it lo lecret, that few people knew the a little Chappel to Janus. The first Temple was brought to Bed. Her Son, whom the was built by Romalia, after he had concluded called Janus, was likewife brought up very a Peace with the Sabins, and there he erected fecretly. Creula was afterwards married to a Statue of Janus with two Faces, to thew Kipheus, but had no Children by him. Biffe- that both the Reman and Sabine Nations w, grieved for the barennels of his Danghter, were joined together, or elfe to fignifie. begg'd continually of the Gods, an Heir that the two Kings Romulus and Tacius. worthy to fucceed him after his death : A- were but one head to govern the fame Compollo by an Oracle pronounc'd on the Triper of monwealth. This Temple was built in the Delpin, order'd him to take for his Son the Roman Field; and Procepius fays, that in his first Man he should meet at his return. By time, it remain'd yet in the middle of that chance, or more likely by the care of Creufa, Field, over against the Capital, with a little he met young Janus: Eriffeus adopted him, niche of Brass, and two doors like a Taberand brought him up like the Heir of a King. nacle, wherein a Statue of Janus five foot Finus being grown a Man, was impatient to high was fet up. Name order'd that the tray fo long for the Crown of Athem, and Gates of the Temple should be shut up in moved by his great courage went over into time of Peace, and open in time of War lealy, where he reigned, jays Macrobius, toge- For the Conful appointed to command the ther with Camijes Native of Italy; and the Army being upon his departure, went into City of their abode was called Janiculum, af-, this Temple attended by the Senate, the tur the name of Janus; and the Country Ca- chiefest of the City, and his Soldiers in mimojene, by the name of the other King : Reg- litary dreffes, and open'd the Gates of the num Janus obtinuit cum Cameje aque indigena, ut Temple. This Ceremony was but feldom Rezio Camelene, appidum Janiculum vocita- perform'd, for this Temple continued open.

Books of Origines, having complain'd of the took possession of Egypt. This Temple was fictions and vanity of the Greeks, affures us, fhut up but three times ; the first time was that the Sevilians did populate Italy under the during the reign of Numa Pompilius; the feconduct of Janus, and that this Prince go- cond in the time of the Confulate of Titus vern'd his Subjects by fo good and just laws, Manlius Torquatur, and C. Attilius Balbus, seven that his Posterity plac'd him in the number or eight years after the first Punick War, and of the Immortal Gods. Plutarch favours this the third time was about feven hundred opinion, and gives this high Encomium of twenty four years after the foundation of Janus, 'Whatever, fays he, Janus was, either Rome, nine and twenty years before the birth God or King, he was a wife and great Poli- of our Lord, and towards the end of the Reign tician, who temper'd the Manners of his of Augustus. ' Subjects, and taught them Civility : Where- The new Confuls took possession of their fore he was esteem'd the God of Peace, Office in this Temple : wherefore it was tho' he was never called upon but during faid that they opened the year.

Inhabitants of Italy, first call'd Aborigines, and first Carthaginian War, but being half ruined. then Latins. He was compared to Noab, be- it was built again by the Emperor Tiberius. cause he was the first who cultivated this as Tacitus fays. wild Country, and there planted the Vine: The third Temple was erected under the Wherefore they made an allusion of the name of Janus Quadrifrons, some say by Nuname of Janus, to that of Jain in the Phanici- ma, and others by Augustus, in the Ox-maran Language, and to that of sires in Greek, ket in a little Valley called Velabrum, bewhich tignifies Wine. 'Tis faid that he re- twixt the Capitol and Mount Aventinus. Mar-

Greece into Italy; and for that reason he was Ericleus King of Athens, had a Daughter represented with a double Face, as being The Remons built but three Temples and during the space of seven hundred and twenty Care in some Fragments remaining of his four years, till the time of Augustus, who

The fecond Temple of Janus was built by James was one of the first Kings of some Cn. Duillius in the Herb Market, after the neither by Numa nor Augustus, because in his lettra, beloved by Ceres, by whom the hadtime it was ftill almost entire, it being incredible it had lasted so long, had it been built by one of them. However, it may be faid that it was built by Numa, and rebuilt by Augustus. This Temple was of a square figure of the Ionick order, all Marble, dedica- age, and intrufted him with the care of 7sted to Janus Quadrifrons, or four Faced.

of Faleria in Tuscany, having found a Statue of Jenus with four Faces, made one after its and was guarded in a Wood contecrated to likeness for the City of Rome, and erected Marr, by brazen-footed Bulls, casting fire out them a Temple with four Fronts, and twelve of their Mouths. Jafen ordered a Ship to twelve Months of the Year.

Besides these Temples, there was also a Curiatu.

Roman Field. The first was at the entry chanted the Monsters that guarded the Treathereof; the second in the middle, before fure, wherefore Jason married her, and bethe Palace of Paulus, and the place called Rofirs; the third was at the coming out of the Forum Romanum. The Statue that flood in the middle of the place was the most famous of all; for the Merchants and Bankers, and those who took Money at Interest met there. Wherefore, when Writers express'd by a Periphrasis, the Trade of a Banker, they faid, ad Janum medium fedet ; and Herace fays of a Man, who had loft his Estate by borrowing Money at great Interest, Postquam omnes res mea Janum Ad medium fracta eft, aliena negotia curo Excussus propriis.

Having loft all that I had, by borrowing Money at Interest, I am oblig'd to do other Men's business, having nothing to do

The name of Japhet fignifies a great extent, according to the bleffing of Neah, God fball enlarge Japheth. Wherefore the Scripture chis. fays that Wisdom is wider, i. e. of a greater extent than the Seas. But instead of Japher mention'd in the Holy Scripture, the Greeks have found out Japetus. However, the Japetur of the Greeks, is nothing like the Japher of the Scripture ; for the Greeks tell us, that Japetus was Brother to Saturn, and that Jupiter threw him headlong into Hell with the other Titam. They represent him like an old de-Jepetus, Tamere apyatorepec; notwithftanding he was younger than Japhes the Son of Mah, for they fay, that Japesus was the Grandfither of Descalien, who liv'd in Mofer's time.

Gant affirms, that this Temple was built | JASION, The Son of Jupiter and Plusse the God of Riches.

JASON, The Son of Elen King of Theffalia by Alcamede. When Ejon died, he left the government of his Kingdom to Pelias his Brother, till his Son Jajon came to fen's Education. Pelias fent him on the ex-The Romans, after the taking of the City | pedition to fetch the golden Fleece, which was in the possession of Eta King of Colchis, Altars, to represent the four Seasons, and the | be built for this Expedition, which he called Argus, after the name of Argus the builder of it. Jason went on board of her, accompanied Chappel call'd Edes Jani Curistii, dedicated with fifty Noble-Men: And having run mato Janus by the Herace, who killed the three ny dangers at Sea, at last arriv'd at Colchis, and feiz'd upon the Golden Fleece by the There were three Stitues of Janus in the Artifices of Medea, who by her Magick, engor two Sons on her : But afterwards he fell in love with Cressa, the Daughter of Creon King of Ashem, and married her ; whereupon Medes, to revenge herfelf, fet his Palaco on fire, where he was confumed by the flames, together with his new Wife. But some say, that Jasen and Medea were reconciled. The Fable runs thus ; here is the History.

Strabe reports the Expeditions of Phryxas and Jason, or the Argonaustes into Colitus, to fetch from thence Treasures, and especially the Gold, that the Inhabitants of that Country had got out of the Sands of the River,. by fifting them through a Ram's Skin ; and from thence concludes, that all that is related by the Poets concerning the fame is a true History, either of the nature of those Countries, or the feveral Voyages made there. Thus this learned Man proves by Arguments, taken from the Cities and other JAPHETUS, One of Mah's Sons. Monuments called flill by the Names of Phryxus and Jasen, that both these Lords bad undertaken the acquiring the Riches of Gold Bochare tells us, that perhaps Poets have express'd the Treasure of the King of Colchis by the word of Fleece, because the word Gafa is of an ambiguous fignification in its original Tongue, viz. Syriach; for it fignifies a Treasure; and in this sense it was communicated to the Latins; and all its Dialects; and it fignifies also a Fleece; whereupon Poets have grounded their allufions: cripit Man, and proverbially fay, older than And we may fay alfo, that the two Josew Tagretus, Tagerra appearance in notwithfland Oxen that guarded the Treasure, were the two Walls which encompaired the Castle where it was laid up; - for the Sprinck word Sour, fignifies an Ox and a Wall. The Dragon that watch'd the Treasure, was no- that Thorab the Son of Nation made the fire caute Nachas fignifies Dragon. Iron and Steel, must Tharam. Tune finulacra fict a funt figline speed Here is in fhort the true History and Physio- ex argilla. Nacher Begat Tharah : Then Statues logy, whereupon was grounded all the Fi- were made of Potter's Clay. ctions that we read in the Argonauticks of Orpheus and Apollonius.

being escaped, together with his Father, out rab the Father of Abraham, and the Father of Na of the labyrinth where King Mines had thut cher; and they ferved other Gods. Idolatry was them up, by the help of Wings joyn'd with common in Chalden, and began not long after Wax, flew higher than he should, and ap-proaching too near the Sun, melted his into Egypt, where they ador'd Beafts and their waxen Wings, and fell into the Sea, which Images, as Mela tells us; and Juvenal reports. therefore was called the Icarian Sea, as Ould that they worthipp'd the Plants of their Gas-· Lays,

Icarus Icarias nomine fecit aquas.

The Truth is, that Dedalus imbark'd with Numing. his Son Icarus to avoid Minu's anger; and the Ship that carried them away is reprefented by Wings.

and turn'd the Bitch Mers into the and their Images. Dog-Star, Icarus into the Constella- Tertullian fays, that there were formerly tion called Beater, and Erigone into of Idolaters without Idols, and that in his time wherefore Horace calls it Ida undefa.

IDOLOLATRIA, IDOLOLATRÆ and IDOLA, Idolatry, fervice and worthip tender'd to Idols or falfe Gods.

Some Writers refer the beginning of Idolatry to Ages more remote than we do our felves. St Epiphanius afcribes the beginning of Idolatry to the time of Serug, Rehn genuit Se-thing elfe but the Iron Gate of the Fort, be- Statues, which were worshipped. Nachor es

Abraham's Ancestors were Idolaters, Johns fays to the Ifraelites : Our Fathers dwell ICARUS, The Son of Dedalus, who on the other fide of the Flood in old sime, even The dens, as Leeks and Onions.

> Porrum 👉 cape nefas violare aut rodere merlu : O fanttas Gentes, quibus bac nafcuntur in bertis

Eufebius affures us, that the Phanicians and Egyptiam taught Idolatry first, and began to There is still another learns, Son to OEba- render divine honours to the Sun, Moon and lus, and Erigonus's Father, who treated some Stars: and that having forsaken the true Shepherds of Attica with Wine; but the God, to follow thining and luminous Bo-Shepherds having never before that time dies, they ador'd also reasonable Beings, drank of that Liquor, and being perswaded which are to be preferr'd toBodies meerly anthey were poifon'd with it, kill'd Icarus, and imated. Wherefore the Phanicians and Egypcast him into a Well. His little Bitch call'd tians communicated to other Nations not Mera, went back to his Daughter Erigene, and only the worship of the Stars, but also the brought her to the place where the body of adoration of other Gods, which were at first her Father lay; and having pronounc'd many but emblems of Stars under the figures of Curses against the Murtherers of her Father, Animals, as it appears by the Constellations: hang'd herself, not being able to bear her then they worshipp'd the Animals themgrief; and the little Bitch died also out of selves, as living symbols of the Stars; and forrow. But the Gods took pity of them, from thence they easily came to adore Men

TDA, A Mountain of Tree in Leffer where falls Divinities were adord. For it Hellesont, cover'd all over with Timber fit preceded Idols, because Idolatry was inventfor the building of Ships. Atheneus reports, ed before Painting and Carving; yet it was that out of this Hill iffue fifteen Rivers, much increas'd fince these Arts have been improv'd. This Father takes also notice in There was also another Mountain in the another place, that in Numa's time, there Island of Crete, which the Corybantes or Idai were neither Idols nor Temples at Rome, but called Ids, because of their ancient dwelling only Altars made with earth and green turfs, place on Mount Ida in Phygia. The Dasiyli erected for prefent occasions, as it was pra-Idei found out the invention of forging Rifed before Mofer's time, as we learn in the Scripture. Silius Italicus speaks thus of Jupiter Ammon.

> inrestincta focis servant altaria stamma ; Sed nulla effigies, fimulacrave nota Deorum, Majefiate locum & Sacro implevere timore.

By which he means, that the Temple of rug, capitage inter homines idolelatria, and fays, Jupiter Annon was without Idols, and confeare represented better the Divinity than any golden Table, and here (as the Priests afother Image whatfoever.

that was ador'd, before the art of perfect representations was found out, which led Men into a new abyss of Errors, and that that kind of worthings an adoration of Art and Matrer, not of Gods or Devils; and tells us. that according to Berefus's opinion, Artexexer the Son of Darius, Ochur's Son, was the first who propos'd the Image of Vemy to be ador'd. Epiphonius affures us, that the Exprise Priefts, favs after them, that duminted Images were invented before Statues, ring ten thouland three hundred and forty and that There the Son of Nachor ordered first years, no God had been represented by any the worthin of Statues.

of from that were ador'd, were but unpolish- pass'd from the worship of the true God, ed and unformed, which he calls Batylis. to that of the Stars and Nature, as feeming-Tis very like that this word come from Be- to be his most perfect Images, then they thel, which is the name given by Jacob, to came to worship Animals as emblems of the the flone whereupon he laid his head during Stars; and when Carving was found out, night, and grected it the next morning in they substituted the figures of Animals inthe form of a Statue, and sonfectated it to flead of the Animals themselves: but came God, by pouring Oyl or some rich perfume to the worship of Men and Images thereof mon it, in remembrance of the mysterious but very lately. Heredian tells us, in the description he has given thereof, Lapis eft maximus, ab ime retundus. & fenfin faftigiatus.

The worship of Idols is very ancient, at least in the East. The Precepts of the Decalegue, which forbids Idols is an argument

But if we come out of Phanicia, Syria and Egypt, we shall find a great number of Nations who had no Idols. Herodotus reports, that the Persians had neither Temples, nor Altars, nor Idols, and that they rallied the Greek, who chose Men for their Gods. This Historian relates somewhere else, that in the famous Temple of Bell at Babylon, there was two diffinct Chappels; one below, wherein a great Golden Statue of Jupiter was erected, and then they made Statues thereof. and in the highest part of the Tower, but mently more venerable, because the eternal without any Statue, but only a Bed and a " firmed) this God came down by night. Here-Clemens Alexandrinus, a Greek Author, fays deeus fays again, that he heard in Egypt, that the same thing concerning unform'd matter; the Egyptians were the first who erected Altars and Statues to the Gods, and made representations of Animals in stones. And if Idols were first fet up in Egypt, Phanicia and Syria, the reason thereof is, that Carving and other like Arts, were first invented and improved in those Countries.

This fame Historian in another place, giving an account of what he had learn'd of shape of a Man, even without excepting the Sanchuniaathon reports, that the first Statues Kings of Egypt. And this shews us, that Men-

Ladder he had feen in that place, and this In fine, Herodorus fpeaking of the Scythians aftion of Tacab was afterwards imitated. Religion, having mentioned the Earth, Jupi-Therefore 'tis no wonder, that the first Sta- ter, Venus, Apollo, Mare, he tell us, that this tues of Idolaters were but Pillars or Stones | worthip was perform'd without either Alwithout form. Paulanias speaks of Statues of tars, or Temples, or Statues, only they Herceles and Capid, which were but unpolish- erected a kind of a Statue to Mars, which ed Stones: And Clement Alexandrima tells was only a Sword of Steel. And the Sorthius, that before carving was found out, Idols an had only an Idol of Mars, but none of were bur Columns: Autequam flatua effent other Gods: because the Idol of Mare-was affpire formata, veteret erzuerunt celumnas eaf- but a Sword, and this warlike Nation was que colebant ut Dei simulacra. And still after not ignorant of the art of making Swords; Gaving was brought to perfection, the old but being Barbarians, they had no skill struck made of rough stone were yet ador'd, to carve true Statues. Juliu affirms, that The God Heliocabalus, who very likely was Antiquity ador'd Spears instead of Statues, the Sun, was nothing elfe but a great round and that in remembrance of that practice, flone, broad below and ending in a Cone, as the Gods were always represented in their Statues with Spears.

But if the Scythians represented Mars by a Sword, the other Nations represented commonly their Gods by Stones. Paulanias reports, that in a place of Greece, near a Statue of Mercury, there was thirty fquare flones, called by the name of feveral Gods. Then this Author tells us, that formerly all the whole Nation of Greeks, used unpolished Stone instead of Statues to represent their Gods : for the art of melting. Metals came very late to the Greeks and other remote Nations. Wherefore at first they used Stones without form for Idols, then they polished Stones, and made Figures of them; as last the art of melting Metals was found out,

X x 2

Inhabitants of Cherones had a very particular we fee her in an Evening, with her Horn veneration for a Scepter or Spear that Vulcan proceeding out of his Rays; and the think had forg'd for Jupiter, as it is reported by when the is in het full light. The common Homer.

strabe tells us, that Mofer blamed the cufrom of the Egyptians, who represented their Gods by the figures of Beafts, and condemned lends, in the time that the Moon fub radio the Greeks, who aicrib'd them the figure of Men; shewing that the Divine Nature can't Sun, and then gave the name of None or the be represented by corporal Images, but that ve Lane to the day of the first appearing of they thould build him a Temple without

The Author of the Des Syria fays plainly , that the ancient Temples of the Egyptions had no Statues, that the first Statues the inequality of the days of the Nones; for were of their invention, and that they had communicated all this superstitious policy to the Spring and the Greeks. He adds ftill, that at was not allowed to make any Statue either fometimes fooner and fometimes later : and of the Son or the Moon, because they may that this diversity is commonly included in always be feen in the brighmess of their own the space of two days; 'tis likely, say they, light.

the City of Reme were one hundred and threefcore years and more without any Sta- fooner.

pear two hundred years, without making any Images to them : And if this, fays he, was full observ'd . the Service of the Gods would be more pure; and brings the example of the Jews, and fays, that those who first taught Men to represent the Gods by Images, have taken away reverence, and increased error, fancying that it was easie to be inclined to despise the Gods, by the consideration Fire. And as the City of Ur was famous of the impotency of their Statues.

Roman in their Calendar, to distinguish the ship of fire was first instituted in this City. days of the Month. They commonly fell out Espoleuse reports, that Ur was accounted to the 19 of every month, except in the months be the fame that Comarina, which took its of March, May, July and Offeber, for in these the Ides were the 16th of the Month. This word is faid to be derived from the Herrarian led Camarins. The Hebrews themselves, as word Iduare, i, e. to divide, because the Month is in a manner equally divided in ewo pasts by the Ides; and that the Nones of Ur of the Chaldenns, shew'd that he came were perhaps called from None Idus the ninth of the Ides, because they were in the room of the ninth of the Ides.

Some others observing, that there were deans worshipp'd Fire, three confiderable different varieties in the motion of the Moon; the first when the is quite hid under the beams of the Sun; the

In short, we learn of this Author, that the second, at the first day of her appearing, who opinion was, that from thence Remulus had. took occasion to divide the days of the months, which he began always by the Cal Solis celaretur was hid under the bams of the the new Moon, and Idu when the was full and appeared in her beauty, from the Great word sides, i. e. from Beauty.

TGN

From thence they draw an Argument for as it falls out by the composition of the motions of the Sun and the Moon, that the Moon comes out of the beams of the Sun! that in the time that Remalus instituted his Pluterch affures us, that Name fettled Religi- Calendar, the Moon was kept a longer time on at Rome upon the same Maxims, that were hid under the beams of the Sun, in the afterwards put forth by Pythagers, wie. that month of Merch, May, July and Offster; where God was invisible and immaterial, that it fore he allowed seven days to the Nones was impossible to represent him by any these four Months, and five days only to the Image; and fog that reason, the Temples of others; during which, it may be the Moon got off from these beams, and appeare

Others draw the word Idus from Idalium. Varre the most learned of the Romen tells which was the name of the Victim offered us, that the ancient Remans ador'd the Gods to Jupiter, the day of the Ides that was confecrated to him. Some derive this word from the Tufam word Itis, which fignifies amongst that Nation, the same that Idas amongst the Remans.

IGNIS, Fire. The Chronicle of & lexandria affures us, that Ninned, who was Name the first King of the Affriant, or dain'd the worship and the Religion of in the Province of Babylon , and that Un IDUS, The Ides, a word used by the signifies fire, they fancied that the worname from the Hebren word Camar, i. e. Flegrara affuare : And her Priefts were also cal-Hieronymus fays, feigned, that thefe words of the Scripture, faying that Abraham came on miraculously out of the Fire, where the Chaldeane had cast him, because he refus'd to adore it. Lucae's opinion is, that the Chal-

Chalden culture focus.

Fire as a God, wherefore they made scruple Virgil has often testified. to burn the Corps of their dead, left they should feed their God with a dead Body.

'Tis very likely, that the Chaldeans, Perfiand other Eastern Nations, who ador'd with him the Gods called Penates, and the the Sun and the Stars as eternal Fires, kept alfo a Symbol of them in a perpetual Fire, always burning on their Altars ; and that in mocels of time, the simple people ador'd the fire itself that was burning on the Altars as their Gods, having no others to adore. However, few Writers ascribe the worship of Fire to the Chaldson, and other Ancient Inhabitants of the East. Julius Firmicus fays tual Fire on their Altars, to imitate thefe solly, that the Persisan prefers' d Fire to all o lifeadists. For God commanded Miss that the Persisan prefers' d Fire to all o lifeadists. For God commanded Miss that the Elements, and had it carried before an eternal Fire should be kept on his Altar, them. Quintus Gurtius fhews, that the Perfiar and their Wife men kept an eternal Fire upon filver Altars, as a Symbol of Jupiter, i.e. the Sun.

much given to the worshipping of Stars, as they had neglected the holy Fire of the Althe Saftern Nations, so they ador'd Vefts and tar, and attempted to light it again with Valcan, as the terrestrial and elementary Fire, profane Fire. The Vestal Virgins were also diffinguishing the fire of the Earth from that very severely punished, when they let out the of Heaven; taking Veffs for the Earth, in Fire of Veffs, as 'tis reported by Livy; for the center whereof (according to their opini- they were perswaded that the eternity of on) an eternal Fire was burning. This is the Empire depended upon the Eternity of reported by Ovid in his Fafti. And this Poet that Fire. tells us also afterwards, that the perpetual Fire was the only Image they had of Vefts, at Reme a Temple to Vefts, to keep a Fire being impossible to have a true Image of therein by the ministry of Virgins, like that Fire; and that it was a cuftom formerly to which was kept at Albs by the like ministry keep a fire at the entry of Houses, which of Virgins; that it might be a facred Fire therefore has ever fince kept the name of common to the whole City, re-united toge-Veftibulum; and that they fat at long Tables ther by that means, as if it was but one Fato take their Meals in these Entries, where mily, for each Family had its own holy Fire ; the Fire represented the Gods.

Efe diu finitus Vesta simulachra putavi, Mon didici curvo nalla subeste i belo. lenis inextinctus templo celatur in illo, Effigiem mullam Vefta net Ignis habent. Ante focor olim longis confidere scamnis Mos erat, & menfe credere adeffe Deas.

by the Vestal Virgins, but the care thereof was also committed to the High Pontiff, and care of the eternal Fire to the Vestal Virwas a function of his Office, even in the gins, because purity and barrenness are time that the Imperial Purple was joined to common both to Fire and Virgins. We the Pontifical Dignity; as we learn of Ovid, learn also of him and of Paulanias, that perwho gives us this reason for the same; that petual fire was likewise kept at Delphi and this Holy Fire being the same that Encas Abens, the care whereof were not commitbrought from Troy, as an affurance of the eternity of the Empire, it was wifely left to bound to live chaftthe care of the Emperors who were Enea's Posterity, and more concern'd than any others about the eremity of the Empire.

Hardan affirms that the Persian ador'd Troy, where it was in the like veneration, as

And he introduces the Ghoft of Heller fpeaking to Eneas, to perswade him to retire from the Ruins of Trey, and carry along holy Fire.

Sacra fuer quæ tibi commendat Troja Penater. Her cape fatorum comites. . . . Sic ait & manibus vittae, Vestamque potentem. Emnumque adjtis effert penetralibus ignem.

And doubtless other Nations kept a perpefaving; Aaron fball burn thereon freet Incenfe, and he shall burn incense upon it, a perpetual Inconfe before the Lord. And 'tis very likely, that the fevere punishment that was inflicted on As the Greeks and the Romans were not fo the two Sons of Aaren, befel them, because Dienyfius Halicarnaffeus fays, that Nama built tho Remulas had allow'd only fo many Altars and Fires, as there was Wards in the City of Rome, called Curia. The fame Author tells us still, that Nums found a conformity betwixt the chaftity of Virgins and the purity of Fire, and that that Fire was confecrated to Vefts, because Vefts denoting the Earth, and being in the middle of the World, she affords Food with her Vapours to the Stars, This Fire was not only watch'd and kept which are the perpetual Fires thereof.

· Plutarch reports, that Nums committed the red to Virgins, but Widdows, who were

Every Town of Greece had its Prytanium, but that of Athens was the most famous of all. The most likely etymology of this word is This eternal Fire kept at Rome came from Tupor Tausier, the place where the Fire was Temples to adorn them. Atheness tells us, that Dionysius Junior Tyrant of Sicily, confecrated in the Prytaneum of Tarentum a Candle-Stick Auguston, that had as many Lamps as ! days in the Year. Theie Lamps were, con- not from the Greek NAMO. as if this Go who had honorably performed the functions flantly kept burning, and very chargeable, dels came to help.

Dimphus Halicanter of their Magistracies; for if they had fail'd for they were so abundantly supply'd with speaks thus of her : Ilithyiam Romani vec Oyl, that to express the perpetual duration Justice Musiferam; but Orpheus in his Hymn of a thing, it was commonly faid, 'tis like Diana Hybria, & casta castas Probures: to the Lamps of the Prytaneums to Augues is Plutarch fays plainly, that this Goddels is Seuravein. And this fiews us that thefe Moon, Unde cenfes ctiam Dianam Lochiam eternal Fires and Lamps were kept in imite- parini prasidem & llithyiam, ut que non ulia tion of the Temple of Jaufalem, or the first a Luna, effe nominatam. Tabernacle which Mofur built by the order IMAGINES, Images and Portrait Chairs in the Field call'd Roftre. Ancestracie which agree, that before of Ancestors, which noble Reman kept and INDIGITES, doubtestand in the Men used to burn Oyl in their Lamps, they der the Porches of their Houses, in most were great Men and Heroes, placed in the Men used to burn Oyl in their Lamps, they der the Porches of their Houses, in most water of Gods for their Great and Heroick burnt Wood all night to give them light, as cases made for that purpose, which we 'tis observed by Virgil,

Urit ederatam mellurna in lumina cedrum, kindled on Altars, but drawn from Heaven fold, it was not allowed them to remove less by Prayers made for that purpose : spud ma- out of their places, jores are non incendebantur, fed ignem divinum precibus eliciebant.

Perfian Kings died all the Fires were put out, tions mentioning the Origines of those And and were kindled again, either with Glaffes. as Phatarch fays, or by Magick, Artifice, as Servius feems to infintiate.

came from Heaven, either by Lightning or cases, which were open in days of folered Burning-Glasses, or by boring or rubbing a Featls and publick Sacrifices; and that they piece of Wood with violence, as Fefter re- were adorn'd fuitable to their Dignities lates : Mas crat tabulam felicis materia sandiu and crown'd with Garlands of Flowers. Flavirgo in edem ferret.

bonoured in the person of Japiter, called in their Houses open'd the cases of the Images. Greek Zeye,, and in Phanician Language Cham; of their Ancestors, and offered white Victims. both these names being derived from hear in facrifice. and fire. But the fire of the sublunary world Cornelius Tacitus writes, that in the Funeral was represented either by Vefa or Vulcan. Parade of Junia, Care seldest Daughter, Cafe. They called Vefa the five of private Families, five Wiffs, and Sister to Braws, they carried that was 2 part of the Gods Brasses; or the Pictures of twenty Illustrious Families, publick and perpetual fire kept in the Tem- wie. the Quintiliam, Manliam, and other great

Clouds, wherefore they faid that Valcan foy- should be carried at the Funeral Pomp of ged the Thunderbolts of Jupiter, or the fire his Aunt; and that at the Funeral Parade of of Mountains casting out Flames, for they Drusus, Tiberius commanded they should care supposed that Cyclops or Smiths were work- ry the Pictures of the Cafar's Family, fines

Tauc cum matura vacabis Prapoficam timidis parientibus Ilithyiam.

The word thythyia comes from the Helra carried at their Funeral Pomps or Triber phal Entries. These Images were commonly made Wax or Wood, and some of them were Servius fays, that formerly Fires were not Marble or Brafs; and when the House

Appius Claudius was the first who plated them in the Temples of the Gods, 259 years Diedorus Siculus observes, that when the after the foundation of Rome, with Indicate cestors and their brave Archievements.

Pelybius a Greek Historian reports, that their Images represented Faces in baffo relieve et The fire that was burning in the Temples | the life, so that they were shut up in wooder terebrare, quoulque exceptum ignem cribro anes, vius Vopiscus assures us, that amongst the publick Rejoycings at Reme, when the Semme The fire of the Stars feems to have been elected Tacina Emperor, the Remone in all ples, representing either celedial Fires, or Families of the Empire. We read also, that the Fires that are in the center of the Earth. Julius Cafar, to shew the greatness of his Fa-They afcrib'd to Vulcan the Fire of the mily, ordered that the Pictures of Mariat ing therein, or fire used in all kinds of Eneas and the King of Alba, till Remulas the Founder of the Empire, and that after them?

Samily of the Claudians should be carried a a long and fumptuous March.

However, it was not allowed to all Men, who had the Pictures of their Ancestors in their Houses to have them carried at their Ganerals; this was only granted to those, who had honorably performed the functions in any point, they forfeited the priviledge of being attended at their Funerals by the Effigies of their Ancestors; and if they had committed fome great crime, all these Pi-Aures were broke in pieces.

These Figures carried on Chariots attended the Funeral Pomp, and were fet upon Ivory Actions. The Tutelar Gods, protectors of any place, were called by that name. The Remans had a great number of these Demi-Gods, as Hercules, Esculapius, Faunus, Quirime, Carmenta, Caftor and Pollux, Acca Lauren-INFERUS, Hell, a place under ground. Lucian has given us a fabulous description of that place in his Treatise of Mourning. 'The people, fays he, abused by Poets, and particularly Hefied and Homer, came to be perswaded, how there was below, a fubterranean place very deep and gloomy, where the dead were detained in eternal and invisible bands, without ever any being fuffer'd to ftir from thence, excepting some few, through all extent of Ages, fays Virgil; nay, and that a particular favour too, and for reasons of great importance, for the whole Country is furrounded with great Rivers, whose very names are terrible, Styn, Phlegeton, Cocytus, without mentioning Acheron, a great Lake just at the entrance, which exhales fo gross a vapour, that Birds can't fly over without dying prefently. First, at the descent you find an Adamantine Gate, guarded by Æscus the Cousin German of Plute, in the company of Curberus, a triple headed Dog, that fawns and careffes highly all the comers, but barks terribly at those who would go out. Beyond this Meadow is a great Field of Daffodil, through which glides the River Lette, a mortal Enemy to Memory, if we may pin our Faith on such persons, as formerly returned from thence; tho' it is fomewhat strange, how they could remember it, after having drank thereof, and recount all those difmal things, which we only know by their Narrative Plute and Preferpins fway the Scepter in those Regions : The latter the Daughter of Ceres, kidnapp'd forfooth, and carried away by force :: and the former Tove's Brother, who had this Empire for his share; and is intitled Plute, which fignifies Wealth, because he is rich in Ghosts, as a Man told me, who fancied to know it well.

' His Ministers are Pain, Horrors and the Furies, without mentioning Mines and Rhsdamantus, both Cretans, who are very fevere in their execution of Justice. As for Mercury, he is only there as a Sojourner. Good Men are fent into the Elysian Fields, a Colony of Felicity and Delights, and the Wicked into eternal Dungeons, where they are wrack'd and tormented fuitably to their feveral Crimes, fome in the Fire, others upon Gibbets or on Wheels : this Man for his punishment, is constrained to rowl Stones that run back again, against steep Hills. or fetch Water in a Pot full of holes; another is prey'd upon by a Vulture, or dies of thirlt, as Tantalus, without being able to fquench it, tho' he is up to the very Chin in water. The rest, that have done neither Good nor Evil, frowl in the Meadow above mentioned, where they are fed with fuch Meat, as are carried to the dead, and the oblations and effusions, that are poured upon their Sepulchres: tho' after all, they are no more than shades, that have only the figure of the Body, and when touch'd vanish like smoke.

The fame Author hath also left us a defcription of Hell, in the fecond Book of the true History.

At our going out of that fweet and fragrant Air. we entred one thick and flinking, which distill'd Pitch instead of Dew. We fmelt afar off Sulphur and Brimstone, with an exhalation like unto that of dead Bodies broiling upon the Coals. Amidft of all this we heard the lashings of a Whip, the gingling of Chains, and the roarings of the damned. We touch'd at one of these Islands, which was all encompassed with craggy Cliffs and Precipices. Having made shift to scramble up through a craggy and thorny Cliff, we arrived at the place of punishments, which was all sowed with points of Swords and Spears, and furrounded with three Rivers, the one of Blood, the other of Mud, and the third of Fire, but of a rapid stream like unto a Torrent, and fubject to Tempests like the Sea. We went in, and there we faw many Kings tormented. After this away we went, not being able to fuffer the itench, nor the horror of the place.

We have a large account of Hell, as 'tis represented by Poets, in what Diedorus Si-by a Pilot, called in the Egyptian Language represent the emblems of Hell. Wherefore Charon, Prorets quem fua lingua Charontens ve-' cane; they flope in a Lake, where every their Hell from the Greeks, and the Greeks body was allowed to charge the dead with from the Funerals of the Agyptians, as Parise Accufations.

' If the Crime was prov'd, they pronounged Sentence against him, whereby he was mime, who took for her second Husband Asha-"deprived of Burial. If the Impeacher was mas King of Thebs, who had married Nobels not able to prove his Accusations, he was of whom he had two Children Phrysus and punished ; and the Kindred of the deceased Helle. This cruel Step-mother attempted at left off Mourning, fung his Praifes, com- destroy her two Children; but Phrymu as mended not his Birth and Family, but his prevent her delign, got a Ram with a golden Vertue and Piety towards the Gods, pray- Fleece, and riding upon him with his Silber ing the Gods of Hell to receive him in their company, and then they buried him. but this fair Lady, frightned by the depth if The same Author speaks of the piece of Money, that was put in the Mouth of the dead Sea, which thereupon was called by to pay the Ferry-man, and gives an account of the Temple of Hecate, Cacytus, the Gate of Truth, and the Statue of Justice, without either Head or Eyes, to shew that Justice had no regard to persons. There are Judges the golden Fleece was left to King Ata, whe who examine the Crimes and Vertues of this placed it in a Wood confecrated to Mars, present Life, inflict punishments to the Malefactors, and fend just Men to the Elysian Fields. Virgil mentions Mines, Quesiter Mines vitas & crimina discit.

After the Sentence is pronounced, the punishment follows.

Cantinuo fontes ultrix accintta flagello Tifiphone quatit insultant, tervosque finiftra Intentant anguet, vocat agmina. Java Serarum 6. Æneid.

The Rivers represented by Poets flowing in Hell, are Rivers of Arcadis or Italy, or the Eastern Countries. Homer Odyste. 1. 10. places her in the fand. 'Tis comfort enough for be. thefe four following. Rivers in the Gimmeria, viz. Acheron Phlegeton, Gocytus and Styx, and tells us, that the Country inhabited by the people called Cimmerii, one days Journey from Mount Circarum in the Country of the Melicerta. Lating, is accounted to be Hell.

from the Greeks, have represented them as and her Brother did not? Rivers in Italy : The Siyx was in Arcadia near Nemecris, and its Waters were fo extream ride better than a Maid; besides, that cold, that they were present poyson, and Historians report that Alexander the Great faw under her Feet. was poison'd with them. Pausanias 1. 8. makes a long description of the River Styx in in this encounter. Greece, and refers the two places, where. Hemer and Hefod makes mention of them. All Geographers place also the Rivers Acherm and Gerrous, in, Epirus, adjoining to Accadia. All calm reports of the Funerals of the Egyp- these Names, Acheron, Cacyens, Averant, original ther Arnus, Phlegeton and Styx fignify in the The Corps being put into a Boat guided Greek Tongue, the fame they should the ris certain that the Latins have borrowell nias reports.

INO, The Daughter of Cadmus and Here Helle, fled away, and crofs'd over the Sas Waters, let go her hold, and fell into the name Helleftentus. As for Phryxus, he falet. arriv'd at Colchis, where he facrificed his Ra to Jupiter, who plac'd him in the numbered the twelve Constellations of the Zedisck, and der the guard of a dreadful Dragon and two Bulls, casting fire and flame out of their Mouths. This is what Lucian reports of the fame in the Dialogue of the Sea-Gods, when he introduces Neptune and Amphitrite, fpealing thus.

Nest. Let the Sea where this fair Lady's fallen, be called after her name Helleformu: and let the Nereids carry her Body into Thus, where the Inhabitants of the Country flat take care to erect her a Monument.

Ampb. I think we should do better to buy her here: for her fate, and the barbarons dealing of her Step-mother break my heart.

Neps. But the can't lye in the bosom of the waves, and it would not be decent to buy that her Mother-in-law shall be attended by the same fate, and pursued by Athamas, fir shall cast herself down from the top of Mount Cycheren into the Sea, together with her Son

Amph. But how came it to pass that this The Italians, who have taken their Fables fair one fell off the Ram she was riding upon,

> Neps. 'Tis no wonder that a Man should was frightned by the depth of Waters

Amph. Why did not the Glouds help her

Nept, No body can avoid their bad For

The Bodies of Ine and her Son Palame were carried by a Dolphin on the shoar

Schwantin, from whence imphimacus and Donaci- retired himself to King Eta at Colches. This mu brought them to Corinth, and honour'd is related by Apollodorus. them like Gods, Ine by the name of Lucethee or Matura, and her Son under the name of The Aucients ingrav'd on Pillars the prin-Melicertes or Portumus, and instituted solemn ciples of Sciences, or the History of the Games in their honour, kept every fifth year | World. Perphyrius mentions Inferiptions kept at the Streights of the Ishmus of Corinth. As by the Inhabitants of Crete, wherein the Cewe learn of Ovid, in the 6th Book of his remony of the Sacrifices of the Corybantes were Fafti, V. 541.

Lata canam : gaude defunita laboribus Ino. Dixit, & huic populo profecta femper ades. Numen eris Pelagi, natum quoque pontus habebit In wellris aliud Sumite nomen aquis. Leucothee Graiis, Matuta vecabere nostris.

In portus nato jus erit omne tuo. Quem nos Portumnum, sus lingua Palemona dicet Efte precor noffris aquus uterque locis.

This same Poet explains at large this Fable. in the 4th Book of his Meramorpholis.

Lattantins doth not question the History of Ine. called Leucethes or Matuta, and her Son, who had also three names, at least after his Apotheofis; for to pur out of Men's memory that they were Men themselves, they chang'd their names after their confecration : Solent enim mortuis consecratis nomina immutare . credo ne quis putet cos hemines fuisse. Ino postquam fe pracipitavit, Lexcothes, materque Matu- there were feven Sciences writ upon it. ta, & Melicertes filius ejus Palamon atque Portummes. Ine and Semele were the Daughters nion of the Learned, learnt Philosophy by of Cadmus and Hermime; wherefore they the Inscriptions of Expt. ingraven on Merwere all Natives of Phanicia, Cadmus himfelf cury's Pillars. being a Phanician. The name of Melicertes is Livy tells us, that Hannibal dedicated an names of the Mother and the Son, one was scrib'd his fortunate Atchievements. Phanician, Ine and Melicertes ; the other Greek, to Iraly.

cause of the death of Phryxus, and the flight Pillars, Preceps useful for Husbandmen. of Ine, who run away with her Son, and cast herself headlong with him into the Sea, and numents were made with Plates of Lead ; tells us, that the Dolphins received Milicertes, and the Treaties of Confederacy made beand carried him to the Ifthmus of Corinth, tween the Romans and the Tems was written Ishmian Games were dedicated to him : As might have fomething to put them in mind

INSCRIPTIO, An Inferiorion. described. Euhemerus, as Lastantius reports, had written an History of Jupiter and the other Gods, collected out of the Titles and Inscriptions, which were in the Temples, and principally in the Temple of Jupiter Triphilianus, where, by the Infcription of a golden Column it was declared, that that Pillar was erected by the God himfelf. Pliny affures us, that the Babylonian Aftrologers made use of Bricks to keep their observations, and hard and folid Matters to preferve Arts and Sciences.

This was for a long time practifed; for Arimneftus, Pythageras's Son, as Porphyrius telates, dedicated to June's Temple a brafs Plate, whereon was engrav'd the Sciences that were improved by him : Arimneftus, fays Malchus, being returned home, fix'd in the Temple of June a brass Table, as an Offering confecrated by him to posterity; this Monument was two Cubits diameter, and also a Phanician name, and fignifies also the Altar with a long Discourse, ingraven in the King of the Town. And thus of the three Greek and Punick Language, wherein he de-

Pythagoras and Plate, according to the opi-

The Inscriptions reported by Herodotus and Leucothes and Palemon; and the last was Latin, Diodorus Siculus shews sufficiently, that the Maints and Portumnia. These three names first way of instructing People, and transmitflew, that the fame History was brought ting Histories and Sciences to posterity, was from Phenicia into Grece, and from Grecce in- by Inscriptions. And this particularly apnears by Plate's Dialogue intitled Hyparchus, Paulanias describes the fury of Athamas a- wherein he fays, that the Son of Pilistratus, gainst lite his Wife, whom he took to be the called by the fame name, did engrave on Stone

Pliny affures us, that the first publick Mowhere he was named Palamon, and there the upon Plates of Brafs; that, fays he, the Jews for Phryxis, Ine his Step-mother had really of the Peace and Confederacy concluded confuired his ruin; and to compass her wick- with the Romans. Tacitus reports, that the ed deligns, the employed the Priefts of Del- Miffinians in their dispute with the Lacedemophi to perswade the people, that the State of nians concerning the Temple of Diana Lime-Theber thould enjoy no tranquility, till Playse netida produc'd the old division of Pelopomessus, w way facrificed to jupiter; whereupon made amongst the posterity of Hercules, and Phrysus fled away with his Sifter Helle, who proved, that the Field where the Temple was fell into the Sea called by her name; and built fell to their Kings share; and that the Testimonies upon Stones and Brass. An. 1. 4. c. 43. the Winds and the INTERPRES, An Interpreter. There nefs of Sea-men. was an Interpreter appointed, whose Office JOCASTA, The Daughter of Creen was to explain to the Senate the Speeches of King of Theber, who being warn'd by the Ambassadors, who could not speak Latin. The Oracle, that he should perish by the hand Magistrares who commanded in the Pro- of one of his Children, bad Jocasta, who marvinces had also an Interpreter, to explain ried Laim, to murther all her Sons. OEditor their Orders to those to whom they were di- being born, was deliver'd to a Soldier me rected; because it was not allowed to these murther him, according to the King's order. Magistrates, says Valerius Maximus, in all the But the Soldier, struck with horror for the functions of their Office, to speak in any murther of an innocent Child, contented other Language but Latin; wherefore the himself to run a twig of Ozier through both Prætor of Sicily reproached Tully, that he his Feet, and tye him to a Tree, his Head had spoken Greek in the Senate of Syra- downwards: A Shepherd of Polybus King of by Jupiter, and then turn'd into a Cow, brought him up. Being grown a Man, he whom June committed to the care of Argus, went into Photis, according to the Oracle, to and though Argus had a hundred Eyes, yet discover there his Father. There was then Moreury having Julled him to sleep with his in that Country a Monster called Sphinz, who Gaducaum and his Flute, stole her away; had a Face and Voice like a Maiden, the Bowhereupon Jano being much vexed, made to dy like a Dog, the Tail like a Dragon, the mad, and oblig'd her to run through many Claws like a Lyon, and Wings like a Bird. Countries, and to cross over the Bosphorus of and devoured all Passengers, who were not Thracia, thus called after her name. From able to expound the Riddles she propos'd m thence the came again into Egypt, where, Ju- them, which was very troublefome to Three piter mov'd with compassion for her misfor- cia: But OEdipus clear'd the Country of that tune, restor'd her to her first shape, and Monster, and forc'd her to kill herself, have then the married King Oficis. From that time ing expounded her Riddle, viz. What Creathe was called Ifit, and honoured by the ture is that, that in the Morning goeth with Egyptians; and after her death, rank'd in the four Feet, at Noon with two, and at Evening number of the Goddesses, and honoured by with three : OEdipus answered it was a Man. the name of Ifu. Herodotus writes, that the who in his Infancy went on all four, to wit, Egyptians confectated to her Cows, and the his Hands and Feet; in his middle Age on Females of all Cattle. Diodorus and Philofira- two Legs; and when he is old on three, sw fay, that she was represented with Ox's that is, he us'd a Staff QEdipus was unknow-Horns. The Nation called Eubei had an ingly advanced to his Mother's Bed, for ha-Ox's head for a fymbol, in remembrance ving delivered Theber of that Monster. And that Is was brought to bed of Epaphus in a thus Laius King of Thebes, and Jocaffa his Wife. Den, called for that reason Bods auni, the endeavouring to prevent the prediction of Ox's Den. Plutarch writes, that Horse out of the Oracle, faying, their Son should kill his paffion, having taken the Royal Ornament Father and Marry his Mother, were themfrom the head of his Mother Ifir, Mercury gave felves the Instruments and Ministers of the her another, made of an Ox's Head, in form fulfilling of the Oracle. For OElipus unof an Head-piece.

Tellimonies thereof were yet feen engraven the name of His. I will have her prefide over

brings in Jupiter talking thus with Mer- Creen had promis'd to the Man, who should

Jupiter. Dost thou know Is? Mercury. Who, the Daughter of Inachus?

a Monster, that never sleeps; for as he has Agamemnon obey'd the Orders of Heaven, an hundred Eves there is always some watch- and sent for Iphigenia, under pretence of maring. But thou art cunning enough to get rying her to Achilles. Clytemnestrs brought me rid of him; go and kill him in the Ne- her Daughter Iphigenia, and having notice of mean Forest, where he watches this fair one; Agamemnon's design, she oppos'd him vigoand after his death, thou shalt carry to by rously, as also Achiller, who resented his

the Winds and the Waves, and be the Partne

Corinth having found him, untied him, and IO, The Daughter of Inachus, debauch'd presented him to the Queen, who carefulled knowingly kill'd Lain his Father, and mar-Lucian in his Dialogue of the Gods, ried his Mother Jocasta, Lasur's Widow, whom expound the Riddle abovementioned IPHIGENIA. The Grecian Fleet being bound at Aulir by contrary winds, the Jupit. Yes, her ; June out of jealoufy has Southfayer Calthas declared, that Diana would turn'd her into a Heifer, lest I should love hinder favourable winds, till Iphigenia, Meaher, and has committed her to the guard of memmon's Daughter should be facrificed to her. See into Egypt, where the thall be ador'd by name being made use of to cover an untruth.

In fine, Iphigenia determined the Controver-, of the Deluge, all the Sky being then cover-Priestess to Diana, and facrificed to her all ver any more be destroyed by a Flood. the Foreigners, who landed upon that Coun-

The Sacrifice that Agamemnon offer'd of Daughter of Jephia, as if she was called cation between God and Man. Jephtigenia.

But we must confess, that Poets have taken to themselves a soveraign Authority to disguife History into Fables, and have confounded the Sacrifice of Jephta's Daughter with the Sacrifice of Isac, and as God himfelf faved Ifasc, whom he had order'd to be offered to him in facrifice, and that a Ram was fubflituted in Isas's room; fo the Fable is given to the Angels in the Holy Scripture, fays, that the Virgin Ihigenia being ready to be facrificed to Diana, this Goddess took her away, and fubstiruted a Hind to be facrificed in her room; as Ovid reports.

The Vow of Agamemnon, and the Sacrifice of Iphigenia, as they are related by Tully, have yet a greater conformity with the History of Jephta. For he fays, that Agamemnon vowed to offer in facrifice to Diana, the finest Creature that should be born that year wherefore he was obliged to facrifice his own Daughter.

crificed, like the Daughter of Jephe ; and that of years. Therefore the Errand of Iris sup-Poets, being wifer than Agamennen, have poses indeed some discord, but yet conduces fubstituted a Hind to be facrificed in her to pacify it.

IRIS. The Rain-bow, one of the most wonderful Meteors of the Air. Plutarch reports, that Plate writes, that she was esteemed the Daughter of Thaumas, because of her wonderful beauty. And Heffod in his Theogonia has made Iris the Daughter of Thaumas and Elettra. Tully agrees with Plate's opinion : Cur autem Archs fpecies non in Deorum numere reponatur ? Eft enim pulcher, & ob eam caufam. quia fpeciem habet admirabilem, Thaumante dicitur effe nata.

Poets call her Nuncis Junonis the Messenger of Tune, because she gives us notice of the disposition of the air, represented by the name of June. And God himself in Genesis, has given the Rainbow for a token, that there Ofris is nothing else but the Sun, and Isis the never shall be any more Flood. And altho' Earth and Nature. the Rainbow might have appear'd before the And truly, there is such likeness between fy, by the great defire the had to be facri- ed with very thick Clouds, where the Rainficed for the Service of Greece. All the pre- bow was not able to appear, because its fair narations being made for the Sacrifice, Diana Colours fhine only upon a thin Cloud. Substituted a Hind in her room, and carried Wherefore it was a token naturally proper her away to Taures, where she was made to signifie, that living Creatures should ne-

Servius observes, that Mercury and Iris being both Messengers of the Gods, the Errands of Mercury are always tending to Concord, and his Daughter Iphigenia, has fo great confor- the Meffages of Iris to War and Discord. mity with that of the Daughter of Jeptha, from thence she was called bis. And this that 'tis plain, that Agamemnon's facrifice was Grammarian wifely observes, that his doth but a copy of the other. The name it felf not always raise Discords, for her first infliof Iphigenia feems to imitate, that the is the tution was to declare the Treatife of Pacifi-

> As for the Etymology of the word Iris, Plate is rather to be believ'd than Servius, when he favs that it comes from simily dicere, annuneiare, because it predicts fair weather. What Vollius fays is not to be omitted, viz. that the name of Iris may be derived from the Hebrew word Ir or Hir. which fignifies an Angel or Messenger; for this name because of their watchfulnels. For the proper meaning of the word Hir is Vigil.

However it must be granted, that Servise has grounded his opinion upon Hesied's report, when he derived the word Iris from Epse ; and faid that her Errands were tending to discord : And this Poet tells us still, that when any of the Gods has told a lye, Jupiter fends Iris to fetch water from the River Styz in a golden Vessel, whereupon the Lyer must take the Oath, and if he fortwears himfelf, he remains a whole year without life and motion, but Tully affures us, that Iphigenia was really fa- a long year, which contains many thousand > Statias feems to give another reason why Iris is the Meffenger of the Gods, viz. her figuation, one part of her touching Heaven, and the other Earth.

ISIS, Queen of Egypt : 'Tis certain by the testimony of many Writers, that the Goddess called by the Greeks Io, and the Egyptians Ifis, is the fame whom the Romans honoured by the name of Cybele, wiz. the Earth, or Nature herfelf, married by the Egyptions to Ofiris, who was the Sun, to make her fruitful, and Mother of all productions, which are formed in her bosom. 'Tis both Plutarch and Apuleius's opinion, who introduces Ifts fpeaking thus, Rerum natura, parens fum omninm elementorum. Macrobius fays alfo, that

Flood, yet it was not feen at all in the time the Pictures and Representations, that the Ancients

Ancients have given of these two Divinities, and the last ascribes these words to her : Na. that both were the same Cybele, as we see by as if she had been the first who found the the reverse of many Medals. Cybele wore a Art of Navigation, or at least the use of Turret on her head, and was attended by Sails. Lions, holding in her hand a musical Instru- Some Authors, not being able to discover ny Breafts.

had in veneration all over the World, but Germain in the Field, when it was built bu under several names and representations, for Childebert, and dedicated to St Vincent. This. the is named Diana, Geres, Venus and Proferpina. Idol was kept there till the year 1514, that And it must be observ'd that Isi was a Queen Cardinal Briconnet, who was then Abbot of of Egypt, who reigned there with King Ofirit that Church, being inform'd that some good her Husband in the time of the first Ifraelites; old Woman, out of simplicity and superfite for Tacitus tells us, that during the reign of tion, had offered fome Candles to the Idol. If, the multitude of Jews being extraordina- caused it to be removed from that place, and rily augmented, they went to fettle themfelves broke in pieces. in the neighbouring Country, under the Chapter of Priests, who lived, according to courage to undertake the most difficult things, in a Castle, the Ruins whereof were vet the ordered a Ship to be built, and fitted out feen at the beginning of this Age. Platarch. for her to travel; and went into the most re- speaks of these Priests of Ift, they observed. mote and batbarous Countries, fuch as Gaul fays he, Chaftity; their Head was shaved. and Germany.; and Tacitus affures us, that the and they went about bare foot, and cloathed penetrated into the Country of Suabia; and with a linnen Habit: Wherefore Juvenal. having met there but very gross and wild calls them Lingeri. Nations, she taught them to honour the Deities, to till the Ground, and fow Corn. And Nunc Des Linigera colitur celeberrims turba. thereby the was in fo great efteem among Qui grege Linigero circundatus, & grege calvothefe Nations, that they took her for the Goddess of the Earth, to whom they were Ist had many Temples at Rome; one near time unknown to them.

Office.

viz. Ifis among the Egyptians, and Cybele among vigabili jam pelago fatto, rudem dedicantes caria the Romans, that 'tis easily to be perceived nam, primitias commeaths libant mei Sacerdotes ...

ment like a Tabor, with this Title Mater from whence the Arms of the City of Paris Magna, the Great Mother, viz. Nature. If are derived, which is a Ship, afcend as far had also a Turret on her head, as it appears as Is to find the origine thereof, and the by a great many of her Statue's, and partiname of that City. For many were of opi-cularly in that which was found at more in nion that the name of Paris was a Greek. the time of Lee the tenth. She is also accom- word, and came from wood less, near the fiepanied with many Lions, as we may observe mous Temple of Is, since we must suppose. in that famous piece of Cardinal Bembo, re- that a Temple was dedicated to this Goddess. presenting Ifit, which Kircher caus'd to be en- in the compass of the ground that belongs graven. She holds a Sistrum in her hand, now to the Abbey of St Germain in the which is a mufical Instrument, and in fine, Fields; and this Temple remained till the the is called Earth and Nature herfelf, establishment of Christianity in France : And Wherefore she is often represented with ma- when it was demolished, they kept out of curiofity the Idol Ifit, who was there ador'd. Apuleius reports, that this Goddess was and laid it in a corner of the Church of St

And as If was a woman of great wit, and the common opinion, at the Village of If.

much obliged, for having taught them Agri- the Baths of Caracalla at the end of the new. culture and Religion, which were at that Street, with this Title upon an old Marble, Seculo Felici Isas Sacerdos Isidi Salutaris Confecra-Tacitus observes also in this place, that the tio : Another at the Garden of St Mary the Germans of Suabia ador'd her under the fi- new, with this Title, Templum Ifidis Exercise. gure of a Ship, in commemoration, doubt- P. Viller and Sextus Rufus mentions another less, of the Ship that had brought this Queen by the name of Patrician Ifit, near Mount into their Country to do them fo good an Efquilinus, and Lampridius in the Life of Alexander Severus tells us, that this Emperor has We have some Egyptian Medals of Julian adorned the Temple of Ifit and Scraphis, Ifim: the Apostate, wherein he is represented in a O Seraphim decenter Ornavit. Josephus writes, Ship; and there are some of her. Figures that the Emperor Tiberius ordered, that the found in Kircher and others, wherein the car- Temple of this Goddels should be levelled. ries a Ship in her hand: Diedorus and Apaleis to the Ground, her Statues cast into the The maffires us, that the govern'd over the Sea; ber, and her Prieft hang'd foo having been soo favourable to the amours of a young Greek have called the Western parts of Italy Gentleman, with a Lady called Paulina,

The Emperor Gemmedus had a fingular vene- Spein called miner Helperia: sation for Ist, as Lampridius has observ'd in Italy was also called Comeria, of Construs his Life, Sacra Ifu coluit, ut & caput raderet & King of the Sabins, or Genetrus the Son of Ly-Ambin portaret ; because of the Debaucheries caon King of Arcadia, or rather from the committed in het Sacrifices.

Diederus, as it is ingraven on a Column.

I am Ilis the Queen of Egypt, inftructed by Mercury. No body can abolift what I have efta-Wifeed by my Ordinances. I am the Wife of Ofi- either of Italus King of Sicily, or from Oxen tis. I have first invented theuse of Corn. I am the Mother of King Horus. Isbine in the Doz-flar, By me the City of Bubafti was founded : Wherefore rejoyce theu, Egypt, reloyce thou, thou haft brought me up and fed me.

The Egyptians ascribed the overflowings of the Nile, to the tears that the thed for the death of her Husband Ofiris.

We have a statue of Ift habited like a Romm Matron, having a Half Moon on the top of her Head, her right Hand turned towards Heaven, and her left towards the Earth, to inform us, that the receives the influences of Heaven. We have also a Medal of the Emperor Commodus, where If is represented with a Half Moon, holding a Sphere with her right hand, and a Vessel full of Fruits with lier left. The Sphere denotes Aftrology, wherein the Egyptians excelled; and the Fruits the fecundity of Egypt.

For the Egyptians were the first who made Gods of the Sun and Moon, calling the Sun Ofrir, and the Moon Iftr, holding a Sphere in her Hand, as the Mother of Arts and Sciences, and an Amphora full of ears of Corn, to represent the fertility of the Country.

The Egyptians adored the Earth, by the name ribim: to shew that the Moon or the sublunary world affords food to all Creatures. The opinion of Julius Firmicus is , that ac- ris and fometimes Italia; cordingthe Egyptian Poetry, Isis was the Earth.

favs. Ilu fecundum linguam Gracorum est Geres, &c. do: w Erptia lingua lin est Cerei. St Auftin declares that this was the opinion of the Egyptians : Ifit invenit bordei legetem, atque inde spicas marite Italy from a noble origine, take it from the de eandem & cererem volunt.

it was called Hefperia, either from Hefperus, bro- origine of the word Italia; ther to Atlas, King of Mauritania, or Hesperus 1 TALUS had a daughter called Rome, of the Sun; and Hilprus of Vefer in the e- who built the City of Rome; as it will be faid wening when the Sun litt. Wherefore the upon the word Rome.

H Speria magna, to distinguish it from Greek word alres Wine, which Janus brought Here is an Encomium of the related by into this Country, by planning there the Vine-They gave her also the name of Ausonia, from

Aufonius the fon of Ulyffes and Calypio. That Countrey is now called Italia, Italy, called itakes in the old Greek,

Italiam dixife minores; Virg.

Strabe, speaking of Italy gives it this following encomium. " There, fays he, menbreathe a temperate air : there are abundance of fountains, the waters thereof cure feveral diffempers, and preferve health. There are all forts of excellent Fruits, and quarries of Marble of feveral colours. The Inhabitants thereof are witty, fubtle and cunning, fit for learning, and principally Poetry and Eloquence ; but are great diffemblets and revengeful, even to the very Altars. The chiefest City of Italy is Rome, famous for the birth of feveral great men . both in War and Peace.

The Romans have represented Italy in their medals like a Queen fitting upon a Globe, holding with her right hand a horn of plenty, having the other arm and the breast uncovered. With this title Italia,

ITALUS, firnamed Kitim, or Marstralus, left his fon Sicer in Spain, and came into Italy, where he asurped the throne of his . brother Helperus. Natales Comes fays, that he of the Goddels Ifu. Servius and Isiderus eafter was one of the Captains of Hercules, whom him. Speak thus of her, Ilis lingua Egyptierum this Hero left Governour of Italy. Cute and eff Terra ; quam Ifim volunt effe. They afcrib'd Fabius Piffer tell us, that thefe two brothers; many Breafts to Ifu, wherefore the was called one called Hefperus and the other Italus, reigned both in Italy, wherefore that Country was called by their names, fometimes Helpe-

The word Kitim, fays Bechart , fignifies kid. The was also the same with Ceres, as Herodorns which is the proper name of Latinm a laten-

Wherefore Dion; fins Hallearnaffens and other Writers who will derive the Erymology of Regi & ejus conciliario Mercurio demon, travit : un- name of that King, but others derive it from a Calf that Hercules loft at his return from ITALIA, Italy, a very famous Country Spain: whereupon he called it Vitalia, and of Europe. Italy had feveral names, fometimes fince Isalia: This is Cate's opinion upon the

the Star of Venus, called Lucifer, at the riling whom he established Queen of the Aberigines, JUBA, King of Mauritania, whom Julius Cafar vanquished, and reduced his Kingdom into a Province. This Prince is represented in one of his Medals, with a long face, and an arrogant and cruel air, his hair curled and fet by degrees. It was the custom of the . Kings of that Country to curl their hair, and powder it with Gold powder. Petresse and this King killed one another, left they should fall into the hands of Cafer, after the defeat of Pempey, whose part they had taken,

JUBAL, the posterity of Cain, mentioned in the Book of Genely, invented Musical Instruments, Jubal was the father of all Juch as bandle the barp and organ. The opinion of Vollius is, that Jubal mentioned in the Scripture is Apollo, whom the Ancients effeemed the inventer of Song and Mufick.

IUD Æ I. The Tews. 'Some Authors, favs Tacitus. reports that the Jews came from Candia as if the word Judes, was made of the word Ida, which is a mountain in that Island, and fays that they were driven out of that place when Saturn was divested of his Empire by ' Jupiter ; and went to fettle themfelves in the furthermost parts of Libia. Others write that they came from Egypt, and that during the reign of Ifis, their number being extraordinarily increased, they inhabited the neigh- the seventh day holy, because upon that div bouring Country under the command of Jerulalem and Juda. And many others affure us. that they came out of Ethiopia, either out of fear or hatred of King Cepheur; fome fay alfo, that the Jews were a multitude of Affrian 'ed to Saturn, with whom they were different the saturn, with whom they were different the saturn, with whom they were different to the saturn, with whom they were different to the saturn, with whom they were different to the saturn, with whom they were different to the saturn, with whom they were different to the saturn to the satu 'Mob got together, who not being able to 'live in their Country, possessed themselves Planer, which is the highest and most large of a part of Egypt, and built afterwards the 'Towns of Judes in the neghbouring Syria. Some allow them a more illustrious origine. and affirm that they were already famous in the time of Homer, and call them Solymer, from 'whence came the name Solyma or Jerusalem, notwithstanding the greatest number of writers agree in this point, that Egypt being infected with leprofy, King Becharis, by the advice of the Oracle of Hamman, drove them out of this Country, as a multitude unprofitable and odious to Diety, and that being fcattered in the wilderness, and courage failing them. Moles one of their Leaders advised them to expect no relief neither from Gods nor Men, who had forfook them; but to follow him as a celestial Guide, who should deliver them out of dangers, which they did without knowing where he led them. They fay that nothing was more troublesome to them than thirst, and that 'they were ready to perish for want of water, 'When on a fudden a herd of wild affes, that; came from feeding, got into a Rock covered with a wood : which Moles having perceived he followed them, fancying that he thous meer with fome fountain in a place covered with green; which succeeded according his defire, for he found there abundance water, wherewith they quenched their thirly After they were thus refreshed they conting ed their fourney for the foace of fix days, then they found a cultivated Country, and took possession of it, having driven away the inhabitants thereof, and there they built their Temple and City. Moles, the better in get their affection and fidelity, instituted Religion and Ceremonies amongst them contrary to those of all other Nations. For all that is holy amonest us, is accounted profane by them, and all that is forbid in ns is lawful to them. Moles confectated in the Sanctuary the Figure of the animal that was their guide, and offered in facts fice the Ram out of the hatred he bore m Jupiter Hammon; and the Ox, because it with adored in Egypt; and forbad them to eat and flesh of swine, because they were subject in leprofy. He instituted many fasting days in remembrance of the hunger they hadful fered in their Travel, and ordained unleavered bread, for a token that they had lived upon rapine. And ordered them to kee they had made an end of their labourts but as men are inclined to idleness, they keep also holy the seventh year. Some Writers tell us, that it is an honour renderven out of Candia, or because they revere his of all : besides that most part of the celestial bodies observe the number of seven in their course and influences. But by what moans fooner this Religion was introduced 'tis certain that it is more ancient than any other Religion whatever. These Jews no ver dwell nor eat with any men, but those of their own Religion, and abstain from foreign women, the they are much given to luxury. They have invented circumcifion; for a diffinction from other nations, and those who embrace their Religion are tied to the observation of that ceremony. They bury their dead standing, after theer ample of the Experians, instead of burning them like other Nations, and have the fame opinion, as the Egyptians, concerning Hell, but have quite another belief concerning the Diety. For the Egyptians adore several animals under different shapes, but the Jem adore but one God in Spirit, accountingall those Idolaters who represent him like a man that they believe; he is eternal and immutable, and will not fuffer any image neither in their City nor in their Temple. Some the shore, where it is dried, both by the heat fancied that they adored Bacchurthe conqueror of the Ess, because a Golden Vine was found in their Temple, and that their Priests did beat the Drum, and played upon the Flute, and are crowned with Ivy ; but their ceremonies are quite different from those of Racchus, which are attended by mirth, feastings and rejoycing; for the ceremonies of the Jews are filthy and abfurd.

This whole discourse of Tacitus is contrary to the holy Scripture in the main circumfances, as 'tis eafily observed; for this Nasion ador'd the true God, and came out of Egypt by his own order under the conduct of Mejer, who performed feveral Miracles to oblige Phareah to let them go into the Defert, and Meles got the Waters to come out of the Rock with his mystical Rod; and God gave to this Nation, whom he had chosen to him-Gif. a Land abounding in all kinds of wealth. which is Palestina or Judea, as he had promi fed to their Fore Fathers.

Tacitus reports also, that this Nation have Mabia on the East, Egypt on the South, Syria on the North, and Phanicis and theSea on the West. Their Bodies are healthy and strong; their Country very plentiful, tho they have but little rainy weather, and bears the fame things that grow in Italy, and belides that, the Palm-tree and the Ballome-tree; the first mitted to go into it. This people was always of these Trees is great and fine, the other small, but of great use in Physick; when its rians, then the Medes and Persians : but under Branches are full of moissure, they make an the Macedonians, Antiochus attempted in vain incision therein, with a Stone or Potsherd. (for it abhors Iron) and diffils a most pre- perflicion, and introducing the Grick customs cions Liquor. The chiefest Mountain of that Country is Libanus, always green, and delign by the rebellion of the Parthians. covered with Snow in very hot weather, Wherefore they took opportunity, by the which is a miracle of Nature. There is the falling of this Empire, and the tiling of the Spring of the River Jordan, which running Empire of the Arfacides, to elect their own through two Lakes, lofes it felf in the third, Kings to govern them. which is as large as a Sea, but of a very bad | Pompey was the first of the Romans who tafte, and a pestiferous smell. Its Waters are conquer'd Juden, and enter'd the Temple by not agitated by the Winds, and neither Ri- the right of Conquest, and ordered that the ever is cast into it floats over, and Men who but he preserved the Temple, and all that can't fwim never fink under its Waters; was therein. however, no Man knows the cause of this JUGATINUS, A God presiding over men, which experience has taught Men to gather like other things; 'tis a black Liquor, which is congeal'd by Vinegar, and floats over water: The manner of loading Ships with it, is to draw it up the fides of the Ship, 120, as Quintilian fays. just to the Deck, and so it will follow succeffively, and run down, if not interrupted, made use of to joyn two Oxen together to into the Hole. 'Tis thus reported by the draw a Plough or a Cart. The Romans or-Ancients, but the Inhabitants of the Country | dered the enemies whom they had overcome affure us, that Bitumen is gathered by heaps, to pass under the yoke, which was accounted of the Sun and the exhalations of the Earth, and beingkhus grown hard, 'tis cut like flone or wood. Near this Lake are those fruitful and well peopled Plains, the Cities of Sodom and Gomorrhs, which were confumed by Fire. 'Tis taid that the marks of the wrath ofHeaven remains there still, and that the Earth is burnt, and has not frength to produce any thing. That all that grows or is planted there, either bearing Blossom or Fruit, grows . black and is turned into ashes, which is caus'd, according to my opinion, by the corruption of the air and earth, occasioned by the neighbouring Lake; notwithstanding, I do not deny, that the fire of Heaven might have destroyed whole Cities. The River Belus disembogues itself into the Sea of Tudes, and at its mouth they take up Sand, with which they make Glass, by mixing Niter with it: and tho the River be but a very . fmall one, yet it is never exhausted. This Country has many Villages and few Cities, whereof Jerufalem is the chiefest : and is encompais'd by three walls; the first incloses the City, the second the Palace, and the third the Temple, which is a very flately building. and which might ferve for a Cittadel. The Jews are not allowed to go further than into a Gate thereof, and the Priests only are perdespised by other Nations, first by the Alirto govern them, by taking away their fuamongst them, for he was prevented in his ver Birds nor Fishes can endure it; whatfo- Walls of the City should be pulled down.

wonder: At certain times it casts forth Bitu- Marriages, at the conjunction of Husband and Wife.

JUGERUM, An Acre of ground, fo much as a voke of Oxen will plough in a day: it contains in length 240 foot, in breadth

IUGUM. A Yoke, a piece of Timber. is either driven by the winds, or drawn to to be a great diffrace : that is to fay, that trons called by that name.

for her wantonnels was banished by her Fa- Constantius his Cousin elected him Celar, and ther, first into the Island of Pandatauria, then ; having adopted him, gave him his Sifter Helma into the Town of Riger, about the Streights for his wife. He was learned, chaft, vaof Sicily. She was full married to M. Agrippa, liant, laborious, fober, watchful, liberal, and of whom the had Agripping, Nors's Mother; a great lover of learned men. With these then the married Tiberius, whom the despited, as being unworthy of that honour; and this was the chief cause of her long exile in the Isle of Rhades, But when Tiberius was raised to the Empire, he so barbarously revenged that ing this news, and leaving off his design. affront, that the died of hunger and milery , gainst the Persiant to oppose Julian, he came after the had been banished, and had lost all ber to Tharfus, where he had fome fits of a fever hopes after the death of her fon Agrippa. She and from thence to Mapuellus in Cilicia, where was debauched by Surprenus Gracebus during her marriage with Agripps, and this confiant adulterer fill kept company with her, after Tyberius had married her, and maliciously provoked her against him. And it was a common report that he was author of theLetter she wrote to her Father, to full of reproaches and injuries against her Husband.

IULIA, called Medullina and Camilla, delis ned to be the fecond wife of the Empefor Claudius Cafar, but the died on her wed- Prieft, re-establishing all the Heathen ceremoding-day.

ULIA, wife to the Emperour Severus. and the mother of Gera and Caracalla. She is called in an infertption brought from Barba-

> Tulia Domina Aug. Matri Caltrorum. Matri August.

Spartianus, Eutropius, and Aurelius Viller affure us, that Julia was but Caracalla's mother in law, and that he married her after the death of his father Lucius Septimius Severus, but yet this is not mentioned by the Writers of that time : on the contrary, Die tells us, that Julia was the mother of Caracalla, and speaking of the temper of this Emperor, he fays, that he had the malicious mind both of his mother, and the Spriant, and confequently Julia was his mother : | rality. and when the two brothers Caracalla and Geta fell our. the used them both alike, and suoke to them in these words, related be Herodian You have, my dear children, divided betwixt you the Land and the Sea, but bow will you share your Marker? If the had been but their step-mother ating by that posture that he was eloquent the argument the brought to reconcile them, would bear no weight. Philoftratus who was very great at the Court of Severus, calls also Caracalla the fon of Tulia.

to mifcarry, whereupon the died.

JULIA. There were many Roman Ma- JULIANUS firnamed the Apostate. because he forsook the Christian Religion, after JULIA, The Daughter of Augustus, who he had made profession thereof. The Emperor qualifications he got the affection of the Ingions, who proclaimed him Emperor in the City of Paris.

Confiantius was much troubled at the hearit increased so much that he died. Ammie nus Marcellinus writ that he named Julian for his fucceffor ; but St Gregory of Nazianzen fam on the contrary, that in this last period of his life, he repented to have elected Julian to the Empire. As foon as Julian faw himfelf abfolute mafter by the death of Conflantius, he ordered that the Temple of the falle Gods fhould be opened, and their fervice fet up gain; and took upon him the office of High nies, and restored those Priests to all their former Priviledges. He repaired the ruins of Idolatry, ordering that the Temples which were pulled down during the Reign of Confantine and Conftantius should be built again. and new ones added to them. He ordered also that the Images of the Gods should be fet up amongst his own, to deceive the Soldiers when the Donative was made; for it was a custom to offer Frankincence to the Images of the Emperors at the time of that ceremony. At first few of the Christian Soldiers took notice of it, yet those who perceived that they honoured the false Gods, the they defigned only to honour the Emperors, were fo much concerned at it that they refused the largess of the Prince. throwing at his feet in a scornful manner the money they had received from his libe-

Sozamen reports that by his own orders Inpiter was represented near him, as if he was come from Heaven on purpose to give him the badges of the Empire, and Mars and Marcury's images were looking upon him, infingand valiant. And this Author observes, that he intended by these means to bring his Subjects under pretence of the honor due to him, to the adoration of the false Gods, who were se-of Manianam fays, in his invective against of Mannial 1. 12. Brien 32. fulien, that the ignorant people being deceived were brought to adore the Pazan Images. Besides, to flatter his own vanity. he commanded that he should be adored under the Image of Straps, in imitation of Domitism, who ordered that he should be reprefented by the figure of Pallas, and Nero who commanded a marble figure of his head to be fet upon the body of a Coloss. Julian is reprefented on a medal with a beard, contrary to the custom of his age; upon which account the Inhabitants of Antioch reproached him with ridiculous affectation; whereby he intended, it may be, to imitate Marcus Aurelius, who did wear a Philosophers beard. For Eutropius affures us that he affected to be his imitator, and was ambitious of the title the Persians, his army was routed, and himfelf mortally wounded, and brought into his Camp, and the following night having held a long discourse with Maximus and Priscussconcerning the immortality of the foul, he died at one and thirty years of age, having reigned but one year and feven months. 'Tis these words : Thou hast overcome, Galilean ; for ings all over the City. thus be called our Saviour in derision.

The Works he has left us shew both his kept holy. Wit and Learning. The Panegyricks he had writ both in Profe and Verse, collected by Eunapies are loft; and there remains little of him, but the Invectives the Fathers have writ against him.

IULIUS. Julius Cafar, of whom I have fpoken under the name of Cafar. He was both Dictator and High Priest, and ordered the Reman Calendar to be reformed, wherefore it was called the Julian Calender, or the Calender of the Julian Correction. Marc. Antony during his Confulat, ordered that the Month Quintilis, wherein Julius Cafar was born, should be called by his name, for the furure Julius, or July, under Jupiter's Procecti-

ULIUS, viz. MENSIS. July: This Month was called in the Calender of Romulus. Quintilis, because it was the fifth Month of the Year, according to this King's Calender, who made up the Year of Ten Months only, beginning the Year with the Month of March: But afterwards this name was changed by the orders of Marc. Antony, and it was called Julius, in honour of Julius Cafar who had reformed the Calender of Romains.

The first of this Month was a time and Gauls. pointed for removing Lodgings, and paying | The 23d Women with Child offered a presented with him. Wherefore St. Gregory Houses Rents, as we learn by this Enigran

O Juliarum dedecus Calendarum Vidi, Vacerra, farcinas tuas, vidi : Quas non recentas pensione pro bima Portabas uxor rufa crinibus septem.

He means that his House Goods were so inconfiderable, that the owner of the House refused to keep them for payment of Two Years Rent due to him.

The fifth of this Month, or the third before the Nones, was a Holy Day called Peplifugia, the flight of the People, when Romulus was killed, and a dreadful florm put them to flight.

The feventh, or the day of the Nones, was called Caprotine None, from the Latin of a Philosopher. At last, having engaged Word Caprificus, a wild Fig-Tree, in remembrance of a Servant Maid called Tutola, or Philatis, who got upon a wild Fig-Tree, holding a burning Torch in her hand, as a token to the Remans, to furprize the Army of the Latins.

The next Day after this Feast, they kept another rejoycing Day, called Vitulatio, in reported that when he found himself wound- honour of the Goddels Vitula; because the ed, he took some of his blood in his hand, following Day after the Victory obtain'd oand flung it against Heaven, pronouncing ver the Latins, there were publick Rejoyc-

The 12th was Julius Calar his Birth-day.

The Games called Apollinarii Circenfes, and Minervalus were represented in this Month. And a Temple was Dedicated to Female Fortune, in acknowledgment of the great Service that Veturia and Volumnia, the Mother and the Wife of Coriolanus, had done to the Commonwealth, by hindering him to take revenge of the affront of his Banish-

At the Ides of the Month they made a general Muster of the Roman Knights, called Transvettio, Crowned with Branches of Olive Tree, and riding their own Hotses from the Temple of Honour to the Capital. The Confors were present at this Ceremony, to see if their Horses were in good case, and if they march'd in good order

The fame Day the Feast of Cafter and Pollux was kept in their Temple, built by the Son of Aulus Pollhumius, in the great place of Reme, because they had fought for the Romans against the Latins, who attempted to rethore Tarquinius Supurbus to Rome.

The 18th was accounted fatal, because upon that Day the Romans were defeated near the River Allia, and put to flight by the Sacrifice to the Goddels Opigena, and carried I day a feast was celebrated in honor of Hone fmall Wax Figures into her Temple, and les, and the Senate dedicated him a Temple. prayed to her to grant them a happy Delive- in the Grew by Sylla's Order, who gave flate.

The 24th, the Feasts of the Pontifs were kear.

The 20th, they went in Processions about the Fields, which were called Ambervalia.

The 28th, a Sacrifice of Wine and Honey was offered to Ceres; and the remainder of the Month was bestowed to Sacrifice reddish Dogs to the Dog-star, to moderate the ex- lably kept. cellive heat of that Season.

firnamed Alemius, who came with his Father with games, mirth and banquetting, into Italy, and Reigned there after him. He built a City called Alba Longa, in a place where he had found a wild Sow with her young ones.

JUNIUS, June, the fixth Month of the Year, wherein the Sun enters the Sign Concer, which makes the Summer Solftice. This fear occasioned by the rout of the Conful. Word comes from the Latin Junius, which some derive à Junone, as Ovid in the 5th of his Fast, introduces this Goddess, saving, Junius a nostro nomine nomen habet.

Others take the Etymology of this word a Junioribus from young people.

Junius-eft Juvenum. Ovid.

And fome others from Tunius Brutus who expelled the King of Rome, and fettled the government upon the people. This month was under the protection of Mercury.

The first day of the month they folemnized four feafts, one dedicated to Mars out of the City, because upon the like day, Quintius Duumvir of the Sacrifices had dedica- | because that day F. Flaminius was overcome ted a Temple to him out of the gate Capena by the Carthaginians. The 22 Syphax was on the via Appia, by the title of Mars Extra-Muranus. The other feaft was kept in honor of Carna, in remembrance of the Temple that Junius Brusus confectated to him upon mount Gelius, after he had driven away Tarquinius. The common opinion was that this Divinity prefided over the heart of children, and inclined them which way the plea- | days. fed. They offerd Pap, Bacon, and Beans to her in Sacrifice.

The third feast was celebrated in honor of June Moneta, to perform the vow that Camillus had made, to build her a Temple.

The fourth feast was folemnized in honor of Tempest, and instituted in the time of the fecond Panick war.

The fourth, or the day before the Nones, the feast of Bellens was kept, whereof I have fpoken under the word Bellens. This fame

ly entertainments to the people, and prefent ed Hercules with the tenth part of his wealth.

The 5th, or the day of the Nones, they offered a facrifice to God Fidiw, to whom the Romans built a Temple on mount Quiringle after the peace was concluded with the Sabins; and they honoured this God, because the oaths taken in his name were invio-

Upon the 7th day happened the Fisherment JULUS, The Son of Eneas and Creufa, Feast, which was solemnized in the field of Mare

The 8th, or the 6th day of the Ides, a for lemn facrifice was offered to the Goddefs Men in the Capitol, to whom Attilius Craffus vowed a Temple after the defeat of the Conful C. Flaminins at the lake of Trasimenes, praying her to remove out of the mind of the Romans the

The oth or the 5th of the Ides, was kept the great feast of the Goddess Vella, whereof I shall speak in its place. The 11th, or 3d of the Ides, was folemnized the feast of the Goddess Mainta, which shall be mentioned afterwards.

Upon the Ides of June fell out the feafts of Jupiter firnamed Invictus or Invincible, to whom Augustus dedicated a Temple for the victories he had obtained. And this fame day was kept the feast of Minerus called Quinquatrus mineres the Fiddlers feasts, mentioned in this book according to its order.

The 19th a facrifice was offered to Pallas on mount Aventinus. The 20th, another was offered to Summanus, to whom a Temple was dedicated upon fuch a day during the war of Pyrrhus. The 22d was reckoned a fatal day. vanquished by Masmilla, and the same day was called Dies Fortis Fortune, because King Servine dedicated her a Temple out of the City beyond Tiber, where Workmen and Slaves crowned with flowers went by water to divert themselves and be merry, as inhabitants of great Cities commonly do upon holy.

The 27th was the feast of the Lares or houshold Gods. The 28th the feast of Quirinus was celebrated on the mount of the same name. and the 30th the feast of Hercules and the Mufes were kept in a Temple dedicated to them

JUNO, The daughter of Saturn and Rhea, and Sifter to Jupiter. 'Tis reported that the was born at Argos a Town of Greece, whereupon the was firnamed by Poets Argive June. Others affure us, that the was born at Sames, and have called her Samia.

She Married her Brother Jupiter, who got | into her bosom, according to the Pable, under the fhape of a Cuckow, and then re-affuming his own form, enjoyed her upon condition he should marry her, which he performed. The truth is, that in that time Brothers and Sifters married together, after the cuftom of the Persians and Affrians. Wherefore Juno is represented by the Figure of a Goddess setting on a Throne, holding a Scepter in her hand, with a Cuckow on the top of it.

Poets don't agree among themselves, neither about the number of Children she had of Jupiter, nor the way she conceived them. Paulanius reports, that she had Mars, Ilithyia and Hibe by him. Lucian afferts in one of his Dialogues, that the was brought to Bed of Vulcan without having lain with her Hufband; and that the was big with Hibe for having eaten too much Lettice.

Dionyfius Halicarnaffeus writes , that King Tullus ordered that a Piece of Money should be brought into her Temple at Rome, for every one that was born, as they were obliged to bring one to the Temple of Venus Libiting, for all those who died; and another to the Temple of Youth for those who put on the Viril Gown. And thus they kept in their Records a very exact account of all those who were born, or died at Rome, or were at an Age fit to bear Arms. This Juno who prefided over the birth of Men, was named by the Romans , Lucina, and by the Greeks, Ilithyia: Statuit quanti pretii numinos pro fingulis inferre diberent cognati : In erarium Ilithyia, Romani, Junonem, Lucinam, "Hogy owsacood vocant, pro nascentibut; in Veneris ararium, in Luco situm, quam Libitinam vocaut, pro defunctis, in Juventutis pro togam virilem fumentibus.

Some Writers report, That Lucina is either Diana, or another Goddels than June : but the Pagans confound often the Goddeffes with Juno. Here is what Lucian fays about this matter, in his Dee Syria, 'In Syria, not fix from Euphrates Stands a Town called the Holy City, because tis Dedicated to June of Allyria. Within are the Golden Statues of Jupiter and June, both in a fitting posture; but the one is carried upon Oxen, and the other upon Lions. That of June has formething of feveral other Goddesses, for she holds a Scepter in one hand, and a Distaff in another: Her Head is Crowned with Rays, and Dreffed with Turrets, and her Waste girt with a Scarf, like the Celestial Venus. She is adorned with Gold and Jewels of divers Colours, that are brought from all parts. But what is most marvellous, is a precious Stone she has upon her The Romans gave her several other names, Head, which casts so much light, that by and called her sometimes June Capratina, Me-which reason they have given it the name of Lamp: but by day it has hardly any light, and only feems like Fire. And indeed, as fome Men have confounded all the Gods with Jupiter, those who made the Image of June, mentioned by Lucian, had the like defign to Incorporate all the Goddeffes in June's Person.

Lattaurius tells us. that Tully derives the names of June and Jupiter, from the help and fucour that Men receive of them à 74-

June prefided over Weddings and Womens Labours, and was called upon in thefe Exigencies: as we fee in Terence, where Glyceria being in Labour has recourse to her Tuno Lucina, far opem.

When the Roman Matrons were barren . they went into her Temple, where having pulled off their Cloaths, and lying on the Ground, they were lashed by a Lupercal Prieft, with Thongs made of a Goat's Skin. and thus became fruitful; wherefore Tune was represented holding a Whip in one hand. and a Scepter in the other, with this Infcription, 7UNONI LUCINÆ.

Poers have given many Epithers to June. calling her Lucina, Opigena, Juga, Domeduca, Cinzia, Unxia, Fluonia.

She was called Lucina, à Luce, because she helped Women to bring forth Children, and flow them the Light: and for the fame reafon the was also named Opigena and Obfletrix. because she helped Women in Labour.

Juga, June was called, because the presided at the Yoke of Matrimony, and confequently over the Union of Husband and Wife, and because of that Qualification, she had an Altar erected to her in one of the Streets of Rome, therefore called Vicus Jugarius, the Street of Yokes.

Domiduce, because she brought the Bride to the House of her Bridegroom.

Unxia, because of the Bride's anointing the fide Posts of the Door of her Husband going in thereat.

Cinxis, because she helped the Bridegroom to unite the Girdle the Bride was girded with: in fine the was called Fluonia, because she stopp'd the flux of Blood in Womens Labours.

In one word, June was like a Guardian Angel to Women, in the like manner that God Genius was the keeper of Men : for according to the Opinion of the Antients, the Genius's of Men were Males, and those of Women Females: Wherefore Women fwore by June, and Men by Jupiter.

nets Sofits, and fometimes Regins and Co- by Speaking of the nature of the Air, explains

Platarch reports in the Life of Romalus, the confecratur. The Air between Heaven and Gault having taken the City of Rome, the Sa- the Sea, is called by the name of June, que bins and several other Nations of Italy, fan- eft form & comjunt Jouis, qued ei similitude eft ... cying that the Romans were weakened there- there, & cam co famms conjunctio. And hereby, took this opportunity to destroy them : upon is grounded the Kindred and Marriage Wherefore they raised a considerable Army, between Jupiter and June, i. e. Heaven and and proclaimed War against them, unless Air. And this is plainly discovered in a Fathey would fend them their Virgins to sport ble of Homer, wherein he tells us, that Junio with them. The Romans unwilling to com- ter tied June to a Chain, with two Anvils ply with their demand, accepted the Propofal of Philetis a Maid-Slave, who offered her- independant on Heaven, and the Earth and felf to go over to them with her Compani- the Sea are dependant on the Air. In fine. ons; promising withal, that she would give Poers have ascribed to June the quality of warning to the Romans, when their Enemy Asuxulares, albis ulnis, because of the transshould be deeply ingaged in Debaucheries : parency of the Air. Which she performed thus, She got up into JUNONALIA, A Holy-day kept in a wild Fig-Tree, from whence she gave a Honour of Juno, not mentioned in the Fasts Signal to the Raman Army, who thoroughly of Ovid, but fully described by Livy, 1.7. routed the Enemy. In remembrance of this Decad. 3. This Feast was instituted on oc-Victory the Romans ordered a Feast to be casion of certain Prodigies that happened in kept every Year, at None Caprotine, in ho- Italy: Wherefore the Pontiffs ordered, that nour of Juno, called also Caprotina, from the seven and twenty young Girls, divided inwild Fig-Tree, a caprifico, at which time the to three bands, should walk finging a Song, Maid Slvaes diverted themselves, played the composed by Livius the Poet. But, while Ladies, and entertained their Miftreffes.

Moneta à monendo, i. e. to advise, or because upon the Temple of Queen June, on Mount when the Gauls took Rome, she advised the Aventine: Whereupon the Southfayers hav-Romans to Sacrifice to her a Sow great with ing been confulted, answered that the Reyoung, or because that the Romans being at man Matrons were concerned in this Prodi-War with Pyrrhus, they called upon June, to gy, and that they should pacifie the Goddess be relieved with Money. Wherefore have by some Sacrifices and Offerings: Whereing driven Pyrrbus out of Italy, they built fore they collected Money, and bought a her a Temple, with this Title, JUNO NI Golden Bason, and presented the Goddess MONETE, and in that Temple the Mo- with it on Mount Aventine. Then the Denev was kent.

der this Title, Camillus after the taking of Cows were led from the Temple of Apollo. the City of Veiz, where the had a very rich into the City through the Gate called Car-Temple, asked if the was willing to come mentalis, and two Images of Queen Juno, to Rome there to be adored, and her Statue made of Cyprus Wood, were carried. Then having made a fign that the confented to it, marched feven and twenty Girls, cloathed the first days of every Month, called the with Robes, edged with Purple. This pomp Callends , were confecrated to her , and a paffed by the Vieus Jugarius, and stopp'd in the White Cow, or a She Goat was commonly great Field of Rome; where the Girls fell a Sacrificed in her Honour, wherefore the was Dancing, keeping time with the Hymn, firnamed Ægophagos, or She-Goats Eater.

under her protection, viz. the Goose, the Oxen, they arrived at the Temple of Queen Peacock, and the Vulture.

the Greeks and Romans have given the name Wood fet up therein. of June to the Air; and for that reason some JUPITER. Varre reckons three hunWriters assure us, that the name of June in dred Jupiters, of several forts and Countries.

the Fable of Jame : Aer, at fluici disputant, its She was firnamed Capretina, because, as terjettut tuter mare & calum , Jemmir memir hanging at her Feet, to fhew that the Air is they were learning the Song by heart in the JUNO MONETA, Juno was called Temple of Junier Stator, the Thunder fell cemviri appointed a day for a folemn Sacri-JUNO REGINA, or Queen Juno. Un- fice, which was thus ordered. Two white he built her a Temple upon Mount Aven-with long Gowns, finging an Hymn in Honour of the Goddefs. Then followed the JUNO CALENDARIS, Because Decembers crowned with Laurel, and clad From thence they marching by the Tuscan-She was represented with Birds that were freet and Velabrum through the Market for June, where the Victims were Sacrificed by The Affriant and Affricant, and after them the December, and the Images of Cyprus Greek Hea, is but a transposition of disp . Tub The great Multitude of these Jupiters is the true God. In the like manner that the name of Hercules was abscribed to all great whom he was kindly received. Men, because the first of that name was very valiant and generous, as the Roman; did. who gave the name of Cafar to all their Emperours, tho' they were not of Julius Cafar's Family.

did not put him to Death as the had promi just Laws, and thated his Kingdoms with his fed Saturn, but fent him to the Curetes, Inha- Brethren, giving the Empire of the Sea and bitants of Mount Ida, where he was fecretly Rivers to Neptune; the Government of Sub-Nurfed up: and the put in his room a Stone terraneous places to Plute, and kept for himwrapp'd up in fwaddling Cloaths, which, as felf the Empire of Heaven, with the generis faid. Saturn swallowed down, thinking it ral Government of all that is done upon the was his Son. This Child was then deliver- Earth, according to the Fable. The truth ed up to the Nymps to take care of him, and is, that Jupiter perfelled himself of the Em-Amalthea fuckled him with the Milk of a She pire of the East, and left the command in Goat; which Jupiter, being grown up, ranked the West to Plute, and to Neptune the Governamongst the Number of the Celestial Signs, I ment of the Seas. And tho' the name of Juin acknowledgment of her kindness, by the piter was granted to these three Brothers, yet name of Olenia Capella, from the Town of it was with this difference, that the name of Olmus in Bastia her Son should not be safe upon Mount Ida tune is sirnamed Tapitur Medius. in Phygia, fent him to a Mount of the fame | The Philosophers, who have Physically name in Candia.

Oleniæ surget sidus pluvialt Capella, Que fuet in cunis Officiola Jours.

hands of the Titans; for having got together | ced, and the Fire it telf; which warming the to the Throne.

doubtlefs grounded upon the first who went should be conferenced to him. Poers fay that by that name, who had been kind to Men, he turned himsfelf into an Eagle to freal aand had affifted them in their wants; where- way Ganguardes upon Magnet Ma. However, fore after his Death, each Nation gave the Saturn refored the ruise of Tutien; but Prefiname of Japiter to their King, either our metheur having acquainted him with his deof flattery, or because he was really a good fign, he tied him up with Woollen Bands, Prince, and imitated the Vertues of the true as the Fable fays, gelded him, and threw Juner, by the name whereof Poets meant him headlong into Hell; from whence being got out, he came to Janus in Italy, of

> Primus ab etherio venit Saturnus Olympo, Arma Jouis fugiens & Regnis exul ademptis.

In the mean while Jupiter took possession Tully, lib. 3. de natura Deorum, records but of the Kingdom of Crete: Then maintained three Jupiters, two whereof were born in a War against the Giants, under the com-Arcadia: one the Son of Ether, and the o- mand of Egon, who had an Hundred Arms, ther of Calus, who begat Minerva. The last and as many Hands, and blew Flames out was a Native of Crete or Candia, the Son of of as many Mouths. But Jupiter, with Mer-Saturn and Rhen, or Ops, to whom all the cury's affiftance, defeated them in the Phlegrean actions of the two other are ascribed, and Fields in Thessalia, and amongst others puwas called Jupiter, quali juvani Pater, as Ma- nished severely Typheus, laying whole Sicily crebius and Aulus Gellius report, and not from over his Body, and Mount Octa over his the word Jehova, i. e. God, for the Romans Head. After this famous Victory, Jupiter had then no acquaintance at all with the madeWar against Tyrants, and protected Men in trouble, whereby he got a great name : After his Mother Rhea was delivered, the For he governed his Dominions by good and Jupiter, absolutely taken, fignifies the King of Heaven: also called Supremus Rex hominum atque Dorum : but some Epithet is always added when that name is bestowed upon the two other; for when they speak of Pluto, he Some relate, that Rhea being afraid that is called Jupiter Infimus or Stygius, and Nop-

Interpreted this Jupiter by a natural Caufe, Jupiter being grown up, delivered his Fa- understand by him, the highest Region of ther Saturn, and his Mother Rhes from the the Air, where the Elementary Fire is plaa Troop of Creteans, he marched against the inferiour Air attributed to June, is able to Titans, routed them, and reftored his Father produce all things. Others have taken this Jupiter for the Air in all its extent : Before he went to this Expedition, as he from whence comes this way of fpeaking. was offering Sacrifice in the Isle of Naxos, an | Sub Dio, i.e. under Jupiter, or in the Air; Eagle came flying before him, which he took | for the Greek Word Zage, the Genitive wherefor a good omen; and after he had obtain- of is Aids, fignifies Jupiter. Wherefore Hoed the Victory, he ordered that the Eagle race favs, Manet sub Jove frigido, he is exposed to the Air. Lan.lan-

Laffantius reports, That Jupiter was called mortalize their name, and obtain Divine he Zwe or Zar , because he was the eldest nours. of Saturn's Sons then living; his eldeft Bto- Notwithstanding it must be granted the thers having beenfall devoured by their Fa- the Jupiter of Cresc, the Father of Mines, wen ther : Quod primus ex liberis Saturni maribus one of the most famous, and most anciene vinerit. And that Euhemeru of M:fina in Pe- Jupiters of the West. Callimachus ethe Pole loponnefus has written his History, as well as and his Scholiafts have written, that Mines he that of the other Gods, taken out of the an- ving been butied in that Island, with this Incient Titles and Inferiptions he found in feription, that he was the Son of Jupiter ; the the Temples ; that Emilis translated that Hi- name of Minos was put out, and that of Just flory into Lain; and that these Histories are fer left. Wherefore the Inhabitants of Cree true, tho adorned with new inventions of faid, that they had the Sepulcher of Jupiter, Poets. That Jupiter reigned on Mount Olympus, The Dallyli of Mount Ida, the Curetes and the name whereofis sometimes given to Hea- Corpbanis, were ascribed to this Jupicer, beven, because of his heighth : wherefore Poets cause they had taken care of his Education. fancied that he was King of Heaven. That Jupiter Ammon was also very famous, and he gave the Government of the Sea, and some was reptesented with a Ram's-head, because Islands in the neighbourhood of his Dominion of his intricate Oracles, if we believe Servions to Neptune, which gave occasion to Poets to teprelent Neptune as the King of the fame, when he fays that the Ammonites had Seas. That, in fine, Jupiter died and was bu- that worthip from the Egyptians, who inhabite ried, as Lucian and Eubem rus report, in Crete, ed the City of Thebes, whete Jupiter was rewith this Inscription, & Zabr ve Kpóre, Jupi-ter Sairmi. At last Lastamius says, that Ju-Jupiter Amman was a King of Egypt, rank'd piter having travelled over all Provinces, and by the Egyptism in the number of Gods, and gained the Friendship of all Princes, per-ladored in the most temote Provinces. Didefeveral names, but the Greeks and Romans cal- fame ; for he fays that Jupiter Ammon was a led the Soveraign God of each Nation by great King, who, after his death, was teckthe name of Jupiter. Pliny, speaking of the loned a fabulous God, and a Chimerical Ora-God of the Ethiopians in Africa, called Affabi cle. This Historian mentions still another departure in token of Hospitality.

ranked in the number of Gods, was also Saturn and other Titans, and that Rhea being known by the name of Jupiter, as tis record- divorced, the married Saturn, and induced ed by Dioderus Siculus.

whom the Greeks called Jupiter, as Eusebisse re- cape by Sea, and retired to Crete, where he ports. Dagen the God of the Phanicians of possessed himself of the Kingdom. the City of Azotus, was called by the Husbandmen Jupiter, because he had taught them nysess having conquered Egypt, established how to manure the ground, and cultivate young Jupiter King of that Country, and Wheat. Dagon quod frumentum & gratrum in- gave him Olympius to be his Governour, from veniffet, nuncupatus eft Jupiter Arstrius. Jupiter | whence Jupiter was named Olympius. the Son of Neptune was a God of the Sidmians, called Maritimus, because this people was their Jupiter; however this Jupiter was but wholly given to Navigation.

was called Marnas at Gaza, was named Jupi- also by the undertaking of Alexander. For ter at Crete, for Marnas or Maranafin in the this Prince being acquainted that the Arabi-Phanician Language, fignify King of men.

bylonians, and a Jupiter Indiges amongst the might be their God amongst them. Latins, which shews, that what Varro affirms. as Tertullian relates in his Apologetick, is Wives, and even Juno his Sifter, according to true, that thete were three hundred Jupiters, the Affrian and Persian Fashion, and that being i.e. three hundred Kings, and King's Fa- a fruitful Lover, he begat a great many finaded them to build him Temples after his rus Siculus reporting the tradition of the Inhabitants of Libya, gives us a quite different Every Nation had their Jupiter, called by account of him, which yet comes to the

mus. fays that he was effeemed to be Jupi- Writer more ancient than himfelf, who wrote that Ammon reigned in Libya, and mat-Ofiris, The most famous King of Egypt, ried Rhea the Daughter of Celus. Sifter to him to make War against Ammon, whom he The Phaniciam had their Belus, or the Sun, vanquished, and forced him to make his ef-

Then the fame Author tells us, that Die-

Strabe writes, that the Arabians had also one of their Kings, as it appears not only Stephanus affures us, that the same who because he was affociated with Bacchu, but ans honoured but two Divinities, Jupiter and There was a Jupiter Belus amongst the Ba- Bacchus, tesolved to subdue them, that he

Poets tell us that Jupiter married feveral thers, who called themselves Jupiuer, to im- Children, both legitimate and natural, turning himfelf, fometimes into a Bull, fome , Sequentes pofferi ferent. This was the first Temen enjoy his Amours ; wherefore Lucian introduces Momas rallying thus. 'Your fine Meramorphofes made me sometimes affraid. Left you should be brought to the Shambles, down, when thou wert Gold, and when a the Spit and roafted thee.

Minerus out of his Brain, which Vulcan opened with an Axe, as Lucian relates in the Dialogue of the Gods, where Vulcan and Jupiter a Temple at the foot of Mount Palatinus. fpeak thus. 'Vulcan, Here is a very sharp under the Title of Tovi Statori. Axe. I bring you; what am I to do with it? Jup. Prythee strike hard, and cleave him this title, upon this occasion. For in my head afunder. Vul. You have a mind his time Mount Aventimes being not yet in-'to fee whether I am mad or no, I warrant: but tell me in good earnest, what will you being covered with Springs of Water and 'imploy it about? Jup. To divide my Skull, thick Groves, frequented by Picus and Faunus, 'I fay. I am not in jest, and if you tefuse, I two Satyts, who cured most desperate Di-'I will plague you. Strike with all thy 'might; for my Head is ready to split with bain : and I fuffer fuch totments as if I 'was in labour with a Child. Val. 'Tis a- Nymph Egeria, he ordered that Wine should gainst my will, but I must obey. Great | be poured into the Fountain, and men should Sphear and a Shield lodged in it.

Tis ftill recorded that Bacchus came out of his thigh, where he had been lodged, to perfect his time, after he was taken out brought to Nume, who learned of them the of his Mother Semele's Womb, being yet fecrets how to bring down Jupiter upon the but half form'd. Wherefore an incition Earth, Elicere Joven. And Numa having imwas made in his Thigh, when the pains of mediately tried it, Jupiter came down, wherelabour feiz'd him, to give a free Pailage to upon he commanded that a Temple should little Bacchus. And this is yet reported by be built to his honour by the title of Jupiter the same Lucian in the Dialogue of the Elicius. Gods.

like a God, under feveral names, according to his feveral performances.

him facrifices.

arma fere, templumque his regionibus, quas mede ther, fent Prefents thithet. animo metatus fum. dedico; federaque opimis fpoliis JUPITER LATIALIS had a rimes into a Swan, or an Eagle, or into Gold, | ple that was confecrated to Jupiter in Rome, whither the spoils taken from Kings or Commanders of the Enemies Forces were brought.

JUPITER STATOR; & Siftendo, or put to the Plough, when thou wert a i.e. to Hop, because upon the day of the en-Bull, or that a Goldsmith should melt thee gagement between the Romans and the Sabins, Romulus perceiving that his Soldiers loft Swan, left they should have put thee upon | ground, and were upon the point of running away, begged earnestly of Jupiter to flop 'Tis also reported, that he brought forth them, and raise their Courage, promising him withal to build another Temple to his honout : which being granted to him, he built

JUPITER ELICIUS. Numa gave habited not inclosed into Rome, and that Hill stempers by Inchantments; Nums having heard of them, defited to fee them and learn their fecrets; wherefore by the advice of the Gods! No wonder your head-ach was fo lye in wait to feize upon the Satyrs at their great, having fuch an Amazon with a coming to it. Both Satyrs according to their custom came thithet, but being got drunk with the Wine of the Fountain, they fell affecp, and were easily feized upon, and

IUPITER CAPITOLINUS The Nations of the World built him a Thus called, because of the Temple vowed great many Temples, and honoured him by Tarquinius Priscus, in the War against the Sabius , he laid only the foundations of it, and it was finished by Tarquinius Superbus. He is called Jupiter Inventor, an Epithet | The Temple was of a square Figure, having that Hirculis beflowed upon him, because 220 Foot every way, and eight Acres of by his means he had found again the Cows ground in compass. There were three Chawhich Caeus had stole away from him, and pels in it, the Chapel of Jupiter in the miderected him an Altar, whereupon he offered dle thereof, that of Minerva at the Right hand, near the place where the Nail was Romulus called him Jupiter Feretrius, because driven in every year to teckon the number he had strengthned him to overcome his Ene- of years, and that of June, which was on the mies, and get the spoils which he confectated Left hand. The admirable Building, and to him in a Temple built at the top of the the rich Ornaments of this Temple, made Capitol under the Title of Jupiter Leretrius : it the most famous in Rome; and all the Prc-Livy gives us the words of this dedication : vinces subdued to the Roman Empire, and the Jupiter Feretri, bee tibe villor Romulus Rex regia | Confederate Kings in emulation one of ano-

que Regibus Ducibusque hostium cesti me auttorem Temple on Mount Albanus, which Tarquinius

Superbus caufed to be built to his honour affer | where an Altar was credied. This priviles the defeat of Turnus. This Temple was com- was only allowed to the Citizens of Rom mon to all the Confederates, and a Sacrifice fays Arnobius; Quicunque Herceum Tourn habe was therein offered every year in common, bant, jut civitatis etiam habebant. to the Perise Latina.

of Bellona, and dedicated by Sp. Posthumus very famous on the account of his Oracles. Conful, in purituance of a decree of the Senate, in the year colxxxvii. IUPITER PISTOR, Thus called, because the Gault having besieged the left; fometimes riding on a Kam, or a She Capitol, and the Romans being very much Goat, with this Inscription, JOVI CRES. ffreightned by the enemy, and preffed with CENTI, because he had been Nursed un hunger, Jupiter infoired them to make Bread with her Milk; fometimes fitting in the with the remainder of their Coin, and throw midft of the Four Elements, holding a Day it into the Camp of the enemy. Which ha- with one hand, and laying the other upon ving performed, the enemy loft all hopes to the Head of his Eagle; with two Figure starve them, wherefore they raised the Siege that lay along under his Feet, which reme and retired; and in acknowledgement of this fent the Two Elements of Water and Earth good advice, the Romans erected him an Al- having the Zodiack round about him, where tar under the title of Jupiter the Baker, Jovi the Twelve Signs are represented. Pifferi. There was alto in the Capitol a Figure of Jupiter Imperator, which Titus Quintius Eleus, famous for his Oracle, and the pub Dictator, brought from the Town of Pranefle, lick Games performed in Elis, called Olm. and placed there with a Table, whereupon pick Games.

were ingraven his great Atchievements. IUPITER VICTOR, Jupiter the and Caiss Marcellis, both Confuls, is repre-Conquerous, to wom L. Papyrius Curfor built fented the Head of Jupiter, holding his Thun-2 Temple by this title, because he had overcome the Sammites and the Gauls.

V E-J UPITER, or V E-J OVI S had a Temple between the Tarpeian Rock and stamp'd to pacific Jupiter after the Thunder the Capitol near the Africa. His statue was was fallen upon the Capitol. made of Cyprus Wood, holding a Dart in his hand ready to be flung.

who carried a Torch; whereupon the Emperor vowed a Temple to Jupiter Tonans, for TOS. having preferved him in fo great a danger Jovi Tonanti, fays Suetomus, edem consecravit, Italy, and is represented like a young Boy, liberatus periculo, cum expeditione Cantabrica, pur Servumque prælucentem exanimaffet.

JUPITER ULTOR, Jupiter the Revenger of Crimes had a Temple dedicated to him by M Agrippa.

JUPITER HERCEUS, from the the Waters of the River Styx. The Fable Greek lens og. The Jupiter of private houses, fays, that Victory, the Daughter of Sim

JUPITER AMMON, or Hammen IUPITER SPONSOR, The Tem- had a Temple in Libya, and a Statue und ple built to him by this Title, was confectated to his honour by Tanquinius, in the Wood called Corniger Hammon. This Temple was

Supirer is represented on several Medals. fometimes carrying Victory in his right hand, and a Spear instead of a Scepter in the

IUPITER OLYMPIUS, firnamel

On the Silver Medals of Lucius Lentula, der Bolt with his right hand, and his Earle with his left; having before him a little Al. tar, and the Star of Jupiter. This Medal was

Jupiter, Conservator, was also represented holding his Thunder-bolt with one hand. JUPITER TONANS, Jupiter and a Dart with the other, and the Figure of thundering, an Epithet that Augustus gave the Emperour under his Thunder, to shew him ; for having built a Temple to him upon that he was under Jupiter's protection : or the Capitol, he dedicated it to him under else his Figure was Ingraven, laying upon that name; and erected therein three fta- a Globe, and holding Victory, which he entues, one done by the hand of Buthyraus Dif- deavours to Crown, and the Eagle at his ciple to Miron ; the other by Lorras, and the Feet, with these words. 70 VI CONSER. third was made of Brass. Augustus caused VATORI AUGUSTORUM NOSTROthis Temple to be built in honour of Jupiter RUM. On the Medals of Nero and Velpas Tonans, because going once by night against an, Jupiter was named Custor, and representthe Inhabitants of Bifeay, the Thunder fell ed fitting on a Throne, holding his Thurby his Litter, and killed one of his Servants, der in his right hand, with this Inscription, JUPITER CUSTOS, or JOVIS 6US

JUPITER, was firnamed Anxurus in without a Beard, Crowned with Branches of notiurnum iter letticam eine fulgor perstrinxisset, Olive, and holding a Goblet or Patera in his right hand, and his Scepter in the other. JURAMENTUM, An Oath taken to confirm a thing.

The folemnal Oath of the Gods, was by having affifted Jupiter against the Giants, he | roes, ranked in the number of Gods, as by order'd for a Reward of her Service, that Quirinus, Hercules, Cafter and Polluz, &c. Suethe Gods should Swear by the Waters of tonius relates, that under the Empire of Julius that River ; and in case they forswore them. Cafar the Romans began to swear by the health felves, they should be deprived of Life and of the Emperours, and by their Genius. Feeling, during Nine thousand Years, as However, Tiberius did not allow it, but Cali-Servius reports; and gives this reason for this gula ordered, that all those who should re-Fable, that the Gods being Immortal and fuse to do it should be put to Death; and happy, swear by the Styx, which is a River came to such an excess of folly and madness, of forrow and grief, which is very contrary that he commanded that the People should to their temper; and that Oath was a kind fwear by the Health and Fortune of a fine of Execuation, in lib. 6. Eneid.

Veffel, whereupon the Lyer takes the Oath; rat per Genium meum. and if he forfwears himself, he is a whole JUS. The Law. There are three kinds of long one, including many Millions of Years. tions, and the Civil Law.

Diodorus Siculus, I. 11. Pag. 67. tell us, that very ancient; and that two very deep Ba- Procreation, and Falucation of Children. fons were kept therein, full of boyling Wa- The Law of Nations is what natural Reater mix'd with Brimstone, always full, and son has inspired and dedicated to all Men, never flowing over. In this Temple folemn and is practifed by all Nations, as Religion Oaths were taken, and Perjuries were imme towards God, Piety towards Parents, and diately punished very severely; some of Love of our Country. From thence comes them being condemned to have their Eyes put out. Silius Italieus has expressed in Verse what Diodorus has here reported.

Et qui prasenti domitant perjura Palici, Pettora Supplicio. To this purpose Pirgil foeaks thus, Lib, o.

Æn:id v. 584. Symethia circum

Flumina, pinguis ubi & placabilis ara Palici.

The two Basons where the Oaths were taken, and the Divine vengeance broke out upon the Purjured, were called Delli. Miscrobius after Callias makes mention of them, faying, Nec longe inde lacus breves funt, quos incola Crateres wocant, & nomine Dellos appellant. et appeared no more.

ry like this above-mentioned.

Women impeached of Adultery were o- keeping withal all Men in their Dury. bliged to drink.

Horse, which he intended to take for his H-food in his Theogonia relates, that when any Colleague in his Confulat, as Dion tells us, of these Gods had told a lye, Jupiter sent Iris lib. 59. They also Swore by one anothers to ferch some Water out of Styx in a Golden Genius, as appears by a place of Seneia: Juyear without life and motion, but a very Laws; the Law of Nature, the Law of Na-

The Law of Nature is what Nature teaches the Temple of the Gods, called Palici, fa- all living Creatures, and is in a manner mous in Sicily, was there much respected and common to Men and Beafts, as Marriage, the difference and divition of Nations, fettlement of Kingdoms, share of Demesn, Trade, and most fort of Obligations: From hence also arises the right of War, to take Prisoners, to accept of their ransom, to set them at liberty, or to detain them in flavery.

The Civil Law is what each City or State has established or enacted for a Law: For natural reason having taught Men to live together, and for that purpose to build Towns . and create Magistrates, has also taught them to make Laws, and assume to themselves a private and particular right, to be the tye and rule of their Societies; and this is called the Civil Law, i.e. the Law of the City or Countrey.

The Civil Law which is now taught in fratres que cot Palicorum effimant. Aristotle al- Schools, is a body composed of Roman Laws, fures us, that the Person who took the Oath viz. a Collection of the Law received, inwrote it upon a Ticket which he threw in- troduced and observed in the City of Rome. to the Water. The Ticket floated over if and all the extent of the Roman Empire, duthe Oath was true ; if it was false, the Tick- ring the space of more then twelve hundred years; during which time, the Roman peo-Appollonius Tyaneus , 1. 1. c. 4. in his Life, ple , who feem'd born to command , not written by Philostratus, mentions a Spring of only made a considerable Progress by their Water at Tyana in Cappadocia, which was ve- Valour towards the general Empire of the Universe; but also carefully and dili-This my Story of taking the Oath, and gently inquired after the best methods and punishing Perjuries, was doubtless an imita- rules to govern themselves and their Subtion of what is written in the Book of Num- jects with Justice and Equity, and render to bers, concerning the trial of Waters, which every particular Man what was due to him,

And to fucceed in their delign, not being The Rom ans fwore by their Gods, and He fatisfied with their own, they lent to Greece,

Superious caufed to be built to his honour after | where an Altar was credied. This priviles the defeat of Thirnus. This Temple was come was only allowed to the Citizens of Remon to all the Confederates, and a Sacrifice fays Arnobius; Quicunque Herceum Journ habe was therein offered every year in common, bant, jus civitatis etiam habebant. to the Perix Latina.

ple built to him by this Title, was confectated to his honour by Tarquinius, in the Wood called Corniger Hammon. This Temple was of Bellona, and dedicated by Sp. Pofthumus very famous on the account of his Oracles. Conful, in puritance of a decree of the Senate, in the year colxxxvii.

IUPITER PISTOR, Thus called, because the Gauls having besieged the left; sometimes riding on a Ram, or a She Capital, and the Romans being very much Goat, with this Inscription, JOVI CRES. ftreightned by the enemy, and pressed with CENTI, because he had been Nursed up hunger, Jupiter inspired them to make Bread with her Milk; sometimes sitting in the with the remainder of their Coin, and throw midft of the Four Elements, holding a Day it into the Camp of the enemy. Which having performed, the enemy loft all hopes to starve them, wherefore they raised the Siege that lay along under his Feet, which repreand retired; and in acknowledgement of this fent the Two Elements of Water and Earth good advice, the Romans erected him an Al- having the Zodiack round about him, where tar under the title of Jupiter the Baker, Jovi the Twelve Signs are represented. Piftori. There was also in the Capitol a Figure of Jupiter Imperator, which Titus Quintius Eleus, famous for his Oracle, and the pub-Dictator, brought from the Town of Pranefie, lick Games performed in Elis, called Olym and placed there with a Table, whereupon pick Games.

Conquerour, to wom L. Papyrius Curfor built a Temple by this title, because he had overcome the Sammites and the Gauls.

VE-JUPITER, or VF-JOVIS had a Temple between the Tarpeian Rock and Stamp'd to pacific Jupiter after the Thunder the Capitol near the Afrium. His statue was was fallen upon the Capitol. made of Cyprus Wood, holding a Dart in his hand reader to be flung.

thundering, an Epithet that Augustus gave the Emperour under his Thunder, to shew him; for having built a Temple to him upon that he was under Jupiter's protection; or the Capitol, he dedicated it to him under else his Figure was Ingraven, laying upon that name; and erected therein three sta- a Globe, and holding Victory, which he entues, one done by the hand of Buibyraus Dif- deavours to Crown, and the Eagle at his ciple to Miron; the other by Lorrar, and the Feet, with these words, JOVI CONSER. third was made of Brass. Augustus caused VATORI AUGUSTORUM NOSTRO this Temple to be built in honour of Jupiter RUM. On the Medals of Nero and Velant Tonans, because going once by night against an, Jupiter was named Custos, and representthe Inhabitants of Bifcay, the Thunder fell ed fitting on a Throne, holding his Thurby his Litter, and killed one of his Servants, der in his right hand, with this Inscription, who carried a Torch; whereupon the Em- JUPITER CUSTOS, or JOVIS 6US peror vowed a Temple to Jupiter Tonans, for TOS. having preferved him in fo great a danger Joui Tonanti, fays Sueromut, gdem consecravit, Italy, and is represented like a young Bos, liberatus periculo, cum expedicione Cantabrica, pur nosturnum iter lecticam ejus fulgor perstrinxisset, servumque pralucentem exanimasset.

JUPITER ULTOR, Jupiter the Revenger of Crimes had a Temple dedicated to him by M Agrippa.

JUPITER AMMON, or Hammen JUPITER SPONSOR, The Tem- had a Temple in Libya, and a Statue un

> Jupiter is represented on several Medale fometimes carrying Victory in his right hand, and a Spear instead of a Scepter in the

IUPITER OLYMPIUS, firnamed

were ingraven his great Archievements.

JUPITER VICTOR, Jupiter the and Caius Marcellus, both Confuls, is reprefented the Head of Jupiter, holding his Thunder Bolt with his right hand, and his Eagle with his left; having before him a little Altar, and the Star of Jupiter. This Medal was

Jupiter, Conservator, was also represented holding his Thunder-bolt with one hand, JUPITER TONANS, Jupiter and a Dart with the other, and the Figure of > IUPITER, was firnamed Anxuru in without a Beard, Crowned with Branches of Olive, and holding a Goblet or Patera in his right hand, and his Scepter in the other.

> JURAMENTUM, An Oath taken to confirm a thing.

The folemnal Oath of the Gods, was by JUPITER HERCEUS, from the the Waters of the River Styx. The Fable Greek igge of. The Impiter of private houses, I says, that Victory, the Daughter of sign, ordei'd for a Reward of her Service, that Quirinus, Hercules, Cafter and Pollus, &c. Suethe Gods should Swear by the Waters of tomus relates, that under the Empire of Julius that River ; and in case they forswore them- Casar the Romans began to swear by the health felves, they should be deprived of Life and of the Emperours, and by their Genius. Feeling, during Nine thousand Years, as However, Tiberius did not allow it, but Cali-Servius reports; and gives this reason for this gula ordered, that all those who should re-Fable, that the Gods being Immortal and fuse to do it should be put to Death; and happy, fwear by the Styx, which is a River came to fuch an excess of folly and madness, of forrow and grief, which is very contrary that he commanded that the People should to their temper; and that Oath was a kind swear by the Health and Fortune of a fine of Execration, in lib. 6. Eneid.

Veffel, whereupon the Lyer takes the Oath; rat per Genium meum. and if he forfwears himself, he is a whole JUS. The Low. There are three kinds of long one, including many Millions of Years. tions, and the Civil Law.

very ancient; and that two very deep Ba- Procreation, and Falucation of Children. fons were kept therein, full of boyling Wa-Oaths were taken, and Perjuries were imme towards God, Piety towards Parents, and what Diodorus has here reported.

Et qui prasenti domitant perjura Palici, Pettora Supplicio.

To this purpose Virgil speaks thus, Lib. 9. En:id v. 584.

..... Symethia circum Flumina, pinguis ubi & placabilis ara Palici.

The two Basons where the Oaths were taupon the Purjured , were called Delli. Macrobius after Callias makes mention of them, faying, Nec longe inde lacus breves funt, quos in- or Countrey. cola Craieres vocant, & nomine Dellos appellant, et appeared no more.

ry like this above-mentioned.

Women impeached of Adultery were or keeping withal all Men in their Dury. bliged to drink.

having affifted Jupiter against the Giants, he | roes, ranked in the number of Gods. as by Horse, which he intended to take for his Hi food in his Theogonia relates, that when any Colleague in his Confulat, as Dion tells us, of these Gods had told a lye, Jupiter sent Iris lib. 59. They also Swore by one anothers to fetch some Water out of Styx in a Golden Genitts, as appears by a place of Soneia: Ju-

year without life and motion, but a very Laws; the Law of Nature, the Law of Na-

Diodorus Siculus, I. 11. Pag. 67. tell us, that The Law of Nature is what Nature teaches the Temple of the Gods, called Palici, fa- all living Creatures, and is in a manner mous in Sicily, was there much respected and common to Men and Beafts, as Marriage,

The Law of Nations is what natural Reater mix'd with Brimttone, always full, and fon has inspired and dedicated to all Men, never flowing over. In this Temple folemn and is practifed by all Nations, as Religion diately punished very severely; some of Love of our Country. From thence comes them being condemned to have their Eyes the difference and division of Nations, settleput out. Silius Italicus has expressed in Verse ment of Kingdoms, share of Demesn. Trade, and most fort of Obligations: From hence also arises the right of War, to take Prisoners, to accept of their ranfom, to fet them at liberty, or to detain them in flavery.

The Civil Law is what each City or State has established or enacted for a Law: For natural reason having taught Men to live together, and for that purpose to build Towns, and create Magistrates, has also taught them to make Laws, and affume to themselves a ken, and the Divine vengeance broke out private and particular right, to be the tye and rule of their Societies; and this is called the Civil Law, i. e. the Law of the City

The Civil Law which is now taught in frattes que cos Palicorum affimant. Ariffotle af- Schools, is a body composed of Roman Laws, fures us, that the Person who took the Oath viz. a Collection of the Law received, inwrote it upon a Ticket which he threw in- troduced and observed in the City of Rome, to the Water. The Ticket floated over if and all the extent of the Roman Empire, duthe Oath was true; if it was false, the Tick- ring the space of more then twelve hundred years; during which time, the Roman peo-Appollonius Tyaneus , l. 1. c 4. in his Life, ple , who feem'd born to command . not written by Philostratus, mentions a Spring of only made a considerable Progress by their Water at Tyana in Cappadoxia, which was ve- Valour towards the general Empire of the Universe; but also carefully and dili-This my Story of taking the Oath, and gently inquired after the best methods and punishing Perjuries, was doubtlets an imital rules to govern themselves and their Subtion of what is written in the Book of Num- jects with Justice and Equity, and render to ben, concerning the trial of Waters, which every particular Man what was due to him,

And to succeed in their delign, not being The Ran ans fwore by their Gods, and He fatisfied with their own, they lent to Greece, then flourishing in all kinds of Learning, of them who use it, and this is called Ca to inquire after their Laws : Wherefore the ftom. These two several kinds of Laws and Body of the Roman Law is not the work of much in request in Prance, for they have a man only, nor of some few Years, but there the Edicts and Ordinances of the the work of many Nations and Ages toge- Kings for a Written Law; and as for Chether, brought to perfection by a long and from, there is almost no Province, but he laborious Observation of humane affairs, Laws called customs particular to them that the greatest wits of that flourishing selves. State, fully instructed by the exercise of inferiour Magistrates, and from thence raised lection of Ecclesiastical rules, definitions and to the highest Offices of the Empire, have constitutions, taken out of the antient Gens collected and reduced under certain Princi- ral and Provincial Councils, the writing ples and general Maxims, of which it was and resolutions of the Fathers of the Church formed and perfected.

their hand to this work, the number of Vo- Ecclefiaftical State, not only concerning the lumes were grown almost infinite. Justinian administration of Sacraments, management the Emperous gave order to Trebonianus his of the Estates, and regulating of Clergymen. Chancellor, and some other great Lawyers of but also in what concerns the Lairy, and Sehis Age, to reduce it to a perfect Body, cular men in Spiritual matters, and this Law. which they divided into three Volumes, which was lately collected and composed on which are remaining still, viz. Pandetta or the Model of the Civil Law, is contained Digefts, the Code, and Inflitutes, as we may and reduced into three Volumes, the first fee in the Preface of the Institutions of Justi- whereof is called the Decree of Gratian, commian, and by the title of the Code, de vete- posed of the ancient Canons, or rules taken ri jure enucleando.

The Digests contain the Opinions and Re- the Fathers. folutions of antient Lawyers.

The Code is composed of the Constitutions and Rescripts of the Emperours, fince stitutions or rescripts of the Popes, chiefly Adrian to Justinian.

of all that is contained in the two former ters taken out of the Epiftles of Pope Gregor, Volumes, i. e. an Abridgment of the Ro- and some other Antients. man Law.

added the Constitutions of Justinian, called till Bonifacius VIII. by whose authority it was Novella or Authentica; which, altho' they are collected; but this volume is hardly renot contained in the body of the Law, col- ceived in France, because of the difference lected and published by the order of Justini- between Bonifacius and Philip, called le Bel w. yet they have obtained fuch an Autho- King of France, and for many things inferted rity, that the they were published last by therein, contrary to the liberties of the Gall-Justinian's order, yet they have exceeded the can Church. former in many things.

ven after the ruine of the Roman Empire, the | ment V. decreed in the Councel of Vienna, best polited Nations in the World make still and some rescripts of Jehn XXII. and other use thereof to decide all their differences.

and the unwritten.

The written Law is that which being collected into Writing. is published in a man- by the Ancients Afras, Daughter of Jupier ner usual to each state. In the Roman Domi- and Themis. She is reprenseted by the figure nions there were fix kinds of this written of a naked and blindfolded Virgin, bolding Law, called by feveral names, viz. Lex, Se- an even ballance with one hand, and a naked natur Consulta, Plebiscita, Principum Placita, Ma- Sword with the other, to shew that Inflice giftratuum Editta, Responsa Prudentium. These has no regard to persons, and punishes and feveral Definitions are related by Justinian in rewards equally. the 2. Cap. of his first Book.

The Canon Law is nothing elfe but a cole and constitutions and rescripts of the Popes, And because so many Men having put whereby are decided all controversies of the from the ancient Councils and Writings of

The Second is called the Decretals, conraining the Decretal Epiftles i. e. the confince Alexand r III till Gregory IX. by whole The Institutes is an excellent Abridgment authority it was compiled and some Chan-

The last volume is called Sextum, contain-To these three Volumes they have since ling the rescripts of the Popes since Gregory IX.

At the end of this volume are added the And this Work was fo excellent, that e- Clementina, which are the constitution of Cle Popes commonly called extravagantes, because The Civil Law is twofold, the written they are out of the Body of the Canon-law. composed in three volumes.

JUSTITIA. Juftice, A Goddess called

Hefied fays, that Juftice the Daughter of Je The unwritten Law is that which has in- piter is tied to his Throne in Heaven, and troduced it felf by Practice and Tacit confent demands revenge of him, every time that Succession of calamities is poured upon Nat felf. At first I took no notice of his love : soils wito are punished for the Crimes of bur afterwards he had always his eyes faften'd Kings and great men.

Earth, and retire into Heaven, because of the multitude and enormity of Crimes.

JUTURNA. A Fountain in Latium, disimboguing itself into the River Numicius. The Fable tells us, that the was Daughter of drunk with Nectar; but 'tis my fault to love Danaus, and Sifter to Turnus King of the Rutall, whom Jupiter loved and enjoyed, the | ble, For 'tis no wonder if feeding upon the affifted her Brother against Enges ; but having perceived that the Fates were averse to him, out of despair she cast herself headlong into the River Numicius.

Owed, in the 6th Book of his Fafti, Speaks of the Temple of Juturna the Sifter of Turnus, fo often mentioned by Virgil in his Eneids, who was beloved by Jupiter, from whence the took her name, as if one faid Joviturna.

Fountain in Italy, the waters whereof were | Jup. Dost thou remember it still? Shall very fine and wholesom, from whence it I tell thee my opinion in this matter? It took also its name, as Servius informs us, would be too great a punishment to banish in lib. 12. Aneid. Jaturna font eft in Italia him for ever out of our Company ; but fec-Saluberrimus, cui nomen a juvando est inditum. ing that he cries and fight, my opinion Verre on the contrary feems to fay, that the is waters of that Fountain were fought after, because of its name, out of a superstitious and common fimplicity, Nympha Juturna qua invaret ; itaque multi propter id nomen hine aquam besere Solent.

JUVENTAS, called by the Greeks Hebe, the Goddess of Youth, Juno's Daughter. See

IXION, The Son of Phlegias or Ation. Lucian in his Dialogue of the Gods introduces June and Jupiter talking thus of Ixion.

Jun. Who do you think was Ixion ? Jup. A very gallant man, and good Company, or elfe I would not have admitted him to my Table.

Jun. He is an insolent fellow, who lose my reputation. doth not deferve that honour. Jup. What has he done? I would fain know? Just. I am ashamed to tell it, such i his impudence.

Jup. Has he made an attempt upon some as much.

he Laws are violated, whereupon a long | Jun. He has made his addresses to myupon me, and that from time to time he Matter in his Phænomena gives us still a fighed, and let some tears drop, that he atfeer description of the Goddels Justice, who feeted to drink after me, and lookt on me during the Golden Age was conversant night | while he was drinking; and then kiffed the and day on the earth, amongst People of all Glass, I perceived his folly, and I was aforts of Age, Sex, and Condition, teaching | shamed to acquaint thee with it, and thought her Law. During the Silver Age, she ap- it would foon be over. But at last he grew peared only in the night, and in fecret re- to infolent as to tell me of it; then prefentproaching men with their unla wful ways; but ly ftopping my ear, left I should hear him, I m the Iron Age, the was forced to quit the came running as fast as I could, to give thee notice of it, that thou mightest make an example of him.

Jup. That is a bold Rogue to attempt to plant Horns on Jupiter's Head. He was certainly mortals to well, as to admit them to my Tafame meat as I do, they are transported with the same desires, and fall in love with immortal Beauties. Thou know'ft thy felf what a Tyrant Love is.

Jun. 'Tis true, that he is thy mafter. and that, as they fay, he leads thee by the Nofe. However I do well perceive why thou pityst Izion : He doth nothing but what thou haft deserved ; for thou hast formerly lain The truth of the History is, that it was a with his Wife, and begot Peritbeur by her.

Jun. What ! That I lay with him ? Jup. No, fome other Phantom like thee, somewhat to fatisfy his passion.

Jun. This would be to reward him, instead of a punishment.

Jup. But what harm would that do rhee ?

7un. He would think to embrace me, and the difgrace would redound to me.

Jup. But he should be deceived ; for if we fhould form a Cloud like thee, it should not be June herself.

Jun. As men have commonly more vanity than love, he would brag of it, and fay, that he had lain with me, and I should

Jup. If it thus falls out, I will throw him headlong into Hell, where being tied to a Wheel, he shall turn for ever, without enjoying any rest.

Jun. This wont be too great a punishment for his crime. In fhorr, Ixion being per-Goddesses honour, for you feem to intimate swaded he had imbraced June, because he hugged a Cloud like het, bragged of it,

Ifaat Tretter relates, That Ixion having kil- drawn. But Confiantine the Great, in the War led his Father in law, and being wandering against Maxentus, where he vanquished him and vagrant, as a punishment of his crime, by the sign of the Cross, which he faut in was entertained by a King named Jupiter, the Clouds, Crowned the Labarum with a who kindly received him in his Palace, and rich Crown, belet with precious Stones, and admitted him to his Table; but Ixion having ordered that this Cypher P, i.e. Chrift, with forgot this kindness, imbolden'd himself to these two Letters, A and O, to signific that discover his love to the Queen; which be- Jesus Christ is the beginning and the end; should ing reported to the King, to inform himfelf be wrought in Gold upon the Purple Standof the truth of the matter, ordered that one ard. We have a Medal of Confiance, wherein of the Queens Maids of Honour called Ne- the Emperour is represented with his Coat phele, or Cloud, should be dressed with the of Armour on, with his right hand holding Queens Apparel, and brought to Ixion, who up Victory, which Crowns his head with enjoy'd her, thinking it was the Queen her Laurels, and with the left hand he carries

K.

I A double Confonant, and the tenth fore they offered Sacrifices. Labrum fignie the Latin, and comes from the Greek Kappa. It was accounted uteless by Priscian. Claudius Daufquius fays, from Saluft, that the inventer of the Letter K, was named Salvius, and that trived, that 'tis: very hard to get out against it was unknown to the ancient Romans.

fies amongst the Ancients two hundred and Herodotus, having amongst other remarkslifty; and with a stroke above it, it stands ble things sixteen Wards, or great sides of for an Hundred and fifty thousand.

day of every Month amonst the Romans. See King of that Country ordered to be built Calenda, &c.

amongst the Ancients, which stands for Fif- the help of the clue of Ariadue. The third ty, and fignifies the fame in the Roman Arith- Labyrinth was in the life of Lemner, and had metical Figures: And when a stroke is ad- a hundred and fifty Pillars of Marble : And ded to it, it stands for fifty thousand.

LABARUM. The Standard of the Ro- Porfenna King of Tufcany. man Emperours, carried before them in the LACERNA, A kind of a Garment Wars, and adored by the Soldiers. It was worn by the Romans over their Gowns, like a long Spear, with a Staff fet crofs-way at a Calfock to keep off rain and cold. The the upper end thereof, and from that Staff Soldiers, the common People, and the Empehung down a rich Standard of Purple co- rours did wear it even in days of Shews. lour, edged with a Fringe, and befet with The Emperours had this Garment made of precious Stones. The Roman Emperors carried Purple coloured Cloth. Ovid informs us, in their Colours or Labarum, an Eagle Paint- that Lucretia hastned her Servants to finish ed or Embroidered with Gold; as we may that kind of Garment, that she might fend observe in the reverse of a Medal of Max- it to Collatinus her Husband, who laid Seige entime, wherein this Tyrant is represented to Ardia.

whereupon Jupiter precipitated him into Hell, armed with his Breast Plate, holding with where he turns a Wheelwithout Intermission. one hand the Labarum, wherein an Eagle is the Labarum.

Those who did bear the Laborum in the Armies, were called Laboriferi.

LABRUM, A great Tub, standingilat the entrance of the Temple of the Jews, and the Pagans in imitation of them, where the Priests wash'd their Feet and Hands be-, Letter of the Alphabet , taken from fies alio a Bathing Tuh, uted in the Baths of the Ancients. 12 0

LABYRINTHUS. A Labyrinth, place full of turnings, and windings, fo conwas unknown to the ancient Romans.

K is also a Numeral Letter, which figni- which was the greatest of all; described by Houses, answerable to the sixteen Govern-KALENDE, The Calends, or the first ments of Egypt; which Manis or Mann to lerve him for a Manfoleum , as Philoftran reports : And upon the Model of this Labrrinth, Dadalus built that of Grets or Candia, by Nous's order, to flut in the Minstaur rherein. But Dad slus was there thut up himfelf with his Son : However he got out by the means of Wings he made of Wax. The-Or Ellache name of the eleventh Letter of few was there also exposed to be devoured by the Alphabet. L is also a numeral Letter the Minataur, and had not escaped but by the fourth was built in Italy by the orders of Quam primum noftra fatta lacerna manu.

Mittenda

And Lampridius speaking of the Emperour Aixander Severus , fays, That he returned from the Baths with the common People, am accipiebat. Some mistaking two places in Juvenal and Herace fay, That this Garment was worn by Women; but have not observed that Juveif he had been a Woman.

Ipfe lacernata cum fe jactaret amica :

And that there is a fault in the Verse of ed. Herace; for Lambinus will have us read, Sub dara nuda lacerna, instead of Sub clara nuda beerna, it being a common thing for thefe profittute Women, whereof Horace speaks, to wait for their Sparks by the light of a Lamp.

LACHESIS, One of the three Deftinies, Daughter of Jupiter and Themis, or the many Spindles in her hands.

LACONICUM, Asseve, or Sweating house. The dry Stove were thus called by the Ancients, because the Lacademonians brought them into use. Mercurialis finds fault with those who confounded Laconicum, which is a place for Sweating, with Hypocaustum, which was the Stove that watmed the Laconicum.

LACOTOMUS, Aline to mark the lines in the Analomma. Grammarians have not afferted the fignification of this word, pon, made of a long Sraff like a half Pike, which feems to be a Greek word, and is not found in the Treatife that Ptolomy has written concerning the Analimma. The most common opinion is, that this word comes from the Greek Auxis, i. e. paring of Cloath. and from the Verb Tiure, i.e. to act; for Nymph Stilber At the Wedding of Perithous the line called Lacotomus cuts one part of the their King, with Hippodamia, they fought LAMIÆ, ware accounted Hags, or rather evil Spirits, who under the shape of fair Women enticed Youth to devour them.

them Lemures. The Origine of this word love with a certain Woman of extraordina- his other Gods. ry beauty called Lamia; but Juno growing LARES. The Houshold Gods Lares. Apu-judous, turned her beauty into terrible de-

Mittends of Domino, nunc nunc properate, pu- whereupon the grew fo mad, that the devoured all the Children she met.

Dien Chrisosteme reports this Story otherwife; for he tells us, That there are in the Defart of Lybia some fierce Beasts, who have the Face and Breast of young Maids, and the reftenf the Body, which they take care to hide, without any other badge of his Imperial Dig- is like a Serpent; and that they intice the nity, but his Lacerus of Purple Colours, Hoc Travellers by a thousand Caresses, that they filem Imperatorium babens quod lacernam coccine- might devour them. Philofiratius relates alio in the same place, that he drove one out of Corinth who attempted to furprize a young Man called Menippus.

In short, these Lamia are Sea Monsters , nal speaks of one Sperus whom Nero Married as and Fish of so prodigious bigness, that two Horses are hardly able to draw one of them in a Cart. The Inhabitants of Marfeilles have taken some Lamie, in the Stomach whereof they found whole Men, and even one arm-

> DAMPAS, A Lamp, a Vessel wherein they burn Oyl to give light.

The Ancients had no other Lights but Lamps, and kept fome burning before their Images. Lucion has given us the Defcription of an Island of Lamps where he landed. He favs. That this lile is fituated between Night and Erebus, who toins the Thred of the Hyades and Pleiades, and a little below Man's Life, according to the F.ble. The the Zodiack; that these Lamps go forwards Ancients represented her cloathed with a and backwards like the Inhabitants of a Garment sprinkled with Stars, and holding Town, and that every one has its own name and lodging like the Citizens of a Common-wealth. The Palace of the King is in the middle of the City, wherein he administers Justice all night, and every one of his Subjects is obliged to meer there, ro give an account of his actions : Those who have committed faults fuffer no other punishment, but that they are put out, which is a kind of civil death amongst them.

LANCEA, A Lance, an offentive Weawith a point at the end, armed with Iron. 'Tis faid that the Edions invented this Weapon. Pallas is represented with a Lauce.

LAPITHAE. A Nation in Theffalia the posterity of Lapithus, the Son of Apollo and the the Centaurs, and got the best of them. Ovid has described this fight in the 12th Book of his Metamoroboles.

LARARIUM. A private Chappel in Philoftratus in the Life of Appollonius calls a house for the boushold Gods called Lares. Spartian in the Life of Alexander the Son of comes from a Fable, related by Suidas and Mammeus fays, that he kept in his Lararium Pharuminus; who tells us, that Jupeer fell in the figure of our Saviour, with the Images of formities, and put all her Children to death; also, what is meant by Manes. The Soul of

Body, and not obliged to perform its functions, becomes a kind of Damen or Genius, formerly called Lamurer. Of thefe Lemures those who were kind to their families, and kept them in peace, were called Lares Familiares, Skin of a Dog, and having a Mastiff Dog by Domeftick Lave, but those who for a punth- them, to shew their watchfulness and fidement of their crimes committed during their lity in keeping the house, and defending lives, were condemned to wander continu- their mafter, as we learn from Platareb in his ally, without finding a place of rest, frighting good men, and plaguing the wicked, were vulgarly called Larva.

The Lares called also Penates or houshold Gods, were adored in private Houses, under chosen to protect States, Highways, Foreste. the figures of small Images of Silver, Brass and other things like. And Nigidia Figure or Earthen Ware. The Etymology of the fays Ambins, calls the Gods Lares, formetimes word Penates comes either from pener Curetes, and fomerimes Indigetes. But Alemin nos nati funt, or from the word Penns, Pedianus explaining these words of Virgil, Die which fignifies the innermost part of the houf | magnis , tells us , that these great Gods Some of the Lare were Gods of the High- were the Gods Larer of the City of ways, called Larer Viole: Wherefore Planer: Rome; and Properties Tays, that they drove introduces Charinus making himself ready away Hannibal from his Camp before Rame, for a journey; cashing upon the Gods of the because he was frighted by some night appr-Highways to preserve him during his Tra- ritions.

Invoco Vos. Lares Viales, ut me bene tutetis.

I implore your affistance, Gods of the Highways, vouchfafe to protect me in my jour-

Tis likely, that the word Lar comes from the Tufcan Language, for Lars amongst the Tufcans was the Prince of the People. Lattantius fays, that the Goddess called Muta, Lara, Larunda, was the mother of the Gods Lares. Ovid tells us, that Lars was formerly called La-lara from the Greek verb Aanen Laque, because she talked too much, for she difcovered to June the amours of Jupiter and Seas, Larer of the high ways, Larer of the Inturna : Whereupon Jupiter deprived her of Fields, and Larerthat were enemies. her Speech, and gave order to Mercary to lead her to Hell, but Mercury deflowered her, and the little figures they had of their Anceston, begat two Children of her called Lars. Thus and others amongst their Gods Lares, estethis Goddess became dumb, and her Chil- cially when they excelled in some virtue, dren the Lares, were instructed with the and inferies of time, they all become indiff care and government of the Highways and ferently Lares protectors, because they were Houles.

Forte fuit Nais, Lara nomine ; prima fed illi Dilla bis, autiquum Syllaba nomen erat. Fre witue politum Eripuit linguam : Mercuriumque menet Duc banc ad Manes locus illeSilentibus aptus . Et vigilant noftra femper in urbe Larer. Ovid. Faft. 1. 2. v. 600.

These Gods were honoured either privately in Houses, and then something of what Man, Tayshe, being free from the bonds of the was brought upon the Table was being to their honour, as first fruits, or publickly by facrificing a Sow to them, as being keeners and overleers of Streets and High-ways.

They were represented cloathed with the Roman questions: 'Why, fays he, is a Dog represented by the Larer called Prafittes, and why are they covered with Dogs Skin?

The Ancients called Larer or Penater Godi

Annibalem Lares Romana Sede fugantes.

This Infcription, which confirms what Arconius Pedianus has faid.

> D. M. Genio Auzg. Lar Fam. Fortunatus. Aug. lib. To the treat Ged. To the Genius of the Emperors. To the Houshold Gods, &cc. To the familiar Lares, &cc.

There was also a distinction of publick Larer viz. Larer of the Oaks, Larer of the

'Tis certain that the Ancients sanked all placed amongst Statues of other Gods; as we learn of Pliny, 1. 2. where he speaks of the ancient Custom of placing those persons amongst the number of Gods, who had beflowed fome confiderable favour upon men, to thew thereby an acknowledgment for their kindnesses. And we must not fancy that Fique gravis gemino que parit, qui compita Servant this Custom was first practiced in publice Temples, on the contrary, it began first to be used in private families, who had no atthority to propose the subjects of their personal gratitude to publick veneration.

How.

However, the great Gods were placed a- I crowned their heads, and perfumed them armongst the number of the Gods Lares. Maordin affures us, that Janus was one of the Gods Law, and prefided over the High-ways, because he was represented holding a Key and a Rod in his hands, like the Keeper of all the Gates, and ruler over the High-ways, Nam brum clavi & virga figuratur, quafi omnium & perterum cuftos & rettor viarum. Apollo himfelf. firshe in the fame place, was also called by the Greeks dyvisic, as prefiding, over the corner of the Streets of the City. Likewife Diana and Mercury were also reckoned among the Gods Lares, because Atheneus calls Diana ired's present at the Highways, and one of the Gods Lare prefiding there. And if the Gods Lere had been uncertain and unknown Gods, the Rement never had confecrated to them the famous games called Compitalisis, i.e. the Feeft of the Crossways, folemnized according to the Law of the Prater the xith. day before the Calends of January; for these games were not only celebrared to their honour, because they were Keepers both of the Highways and Crossways, but also because they prefided over the guard of Empires, and watched for the prefervation of private men. wherefore at folemnizing of these games they offered Sacrifices for the Weal of the Republick, and families of the Empire.

'Tis therefore certain, that all Gods, chofen Patrons and Protectors of places and private men, were called Lares ; fome little images and figures whereof were kept in the private Chappel of each Fam ly, and the Palace of the Emperors, who had officers appointed to guard thefe Gods Lares. This plainly appears by the ancient Monuments,

HTMNUS. CÆSARIS. L. AUG. VOLUSIANUS, DECURIO LARIUM VOLUSIA

NORUM. Hymnus Volusianus, Freedman of the Emperor Decurie of the Volusians Lares, and this following.

M. FABIO. ASIATICO. SEVIRO MAG. LARUN AUG. To M. Fabius the Affiatick Sextum-vir, and mafter of the Lares of the Emperour.

Wherefore all kinds of Gods whatfoever appointed by Towns, Emperours, or private Men for their Tutclar Gods, and of whom they kept fmall Images, were called Lare: And for this fame reason the Feast of the Gods Lares folemniz'd the xith. day by Macrebius the Solemnity of the little Sta- fortune. tues, Sigillariorum celebritas. They fet up | LATONA, The Daughter of Cas the most every day with Effusions. LARV Æ, Ghofts of wicked Men wandering up and down after their death; Phantoms who fight good Men, and torment the wicked. The word Larva, in the fingular number is taken for a Vizard, that frights Children, like Larva or bad Genius's.

LARA and LARUNDA, The Mother of the two Lares, according to the Fable, whom Jupiter deprived of Speech, because the had discovered his amours to June, wherefore the is called Muta.

LATICLAVIUM, &c. See after

LATIUM, A Countrey in Italy, thus called a latendo, because Satura retired there to fecure himfelf from his Son Jupiter.

..... Latium que vecari Maluit, his quomam latuiffet tutus in oris.

This part of Italy is extended along the Shore of the Tyrrhenean Sea, between Hetruria and Campania, wherein the City of Rome

LATINÆ FERIÆ, The Feaft thus called, was kept four days together, and had no time appointed in the year for their Celebration; only the Confuls were bound to folemnize the fame before they went to War : and it was observed, that those who neglected that duty were unfortunate in their undertakings. This Feaft was inflituted by Tarquinius Superbus, after he had vanquished the Tuscans, to maintain the Confederacy concluded by his means between them and the Latins. They agreed about the time of their meetings on Mount Albanus, where they repaired from all parts, this Hill being fituated in the middle of these Nations. There every one brought along with him his own part for the Offering, either Milk, or Cheefe, or Lambs; wherewith they made a Feast all together, in token of union. There was all fo a l'air kept; but the most remarkable thing in this Feaft was the Sacrifice of a Bull, offered to Jupiter, firnamed for that reason Latialis: For 'tis observed that every one of those who were there present, carried home a piece how little soever of the Bulls entrails: And the' this Solemnity was common to forty feven Nations, yet the Romans had the direction thereof; and if any Man failed to bring some Offering, or carry home a piece of the Victims, or neglected fome other duty, they were obliged to begin again, and before the Calends of January, is called that mistake was accounted for a great mis-burning Lamps before these Figures, they Titan, and Phabe, as Hessed and Ovid, or of Saturn, according to Homer's opinion, Jupiter was enamoured with her; whereupon Juno being jealous, raised a dreadful Serpent a- then published his name under it. painft her, called Pythe, to pursue her. Lucian in the Dialogue of the Sea Gods, introduces Iris and Neptune discoursing thus about Latona's

Iris. Jupiter bids thee to ftop the Island that floats over the Egean Sea, having got loofe from Sicily by stormy weather.

Napt. Why fo? Iris. For Latena to be brought to bed in, who is in labour. Nept. What, are not Heaven and Earth fufficient for this fervice? Iris. June is angry, and won't fuffer her in Heaven, and the Earth has fworn that she won't receive her; wherefore there is only this Island, which being now no part of the world, is not bound by oath.

Island, to receive two twins who will be the honour of heaven, and the finest children of Jupiter. Let the winds be still, the Slaves washed, after they had emptied whilst the Tritons bring her to lie in : as them into the Common-shore. for the Serpent, he will ferve for a trophy to these young Gols, at the first instant of CLAVIUM, or TUNICA CLAtheir birth. Go and tell Jupiter that all is ready, and that she may come when she pleafes.

And in another Dialogue Lucian introduces June and Latona quarrelling one with another.

Jun. In truth, Latona, thou haft born Jupiter fine Children.

Latma. We can't all be the Mother of Vul-

Jun, 'Tis true he is lame, and yet in that condition Venus has accepted of him for her Husband ... But thy Daughter, out of a masculine courage unbecoming her sex, goes as far as Scythia to murther her guests; and thy Son, who is of all trades, an Archer, a Fiddler, a Poet, and Physician, has settled places for Prophesies at Delphi, Clares and Didymas, where he pretends to tell things that are to come, and furprizes the people by decetful Oracles, which have always fome back doors to secure themselves, &c.

Latens. Your Jealouly won't permit them to Triumph in Heaven, and be famous there, one for her beauty, and the other for his

Jun. Thou makest me laugh, when thou takest thy Son for an excellent Musician, who had been flea'd in the room of Marsias, had the Muses done him justice. As for thy Daughter, the is to fair, with her full Moon face, that Alleon was tore in pieces by his own Dogs, because feen he had her stark naked, lest he should discover her ugliness to the world.

LATOR-LEGIS, A Law-giver, ione who ordered a Law to be posted up, and LATRINA, A house of office. We don't find neither in the Writings ner Buildings that remain of Antiquity that they had any Privies in their Houses. For what they call'd Latring were publick places where the Slaves emptied and washed the Closes ftool-pans, called also Latring a Lavande, according to the etymology that Varre gives of that word. Plautus speaks of a Slave who washes the pan of the Close-flool, que latrinam lavat: for in that place of Plautut'tis not meant the Privy which was washed by Canals under ground, with the waters of the River Tibor.

'Tis then most certain, that there were publick Houses of Office in many places of the Town for publick ufe. These Houses of N.pt. Stop at my command, floating Office were covered, and there was a Spunge living up for cleanliness. Rich Men had Closestools, and other Vessels for that use, which

> LATUS CLAVUS, or LATI-VATA: & LATICLAVII A Tunicka Wastcoat trimmed with broad Buttons like the head of a nail. It was a garment of diflinction, and a badge of honour amongst the Romans. The Senators had the priviledge to wear this fort of garment, and therefore were called by a fingle name Laticlavii, as Suetonius fays, binos Laticlavios misit, he sent two Senators. The Confuls, Prætors, Ædiles, and those that triumphed were allowed to wear this Robe; and during the time of the Emperours, it was bestowed upon Governours of Provinces, and those who had perform'd fome great fervice for their Country, 252 badge of honour.

LAVATIO MATRIS DEUM The washing of the great Mother of the Gods, kept the 26th day of March This Feast was instituted in remembrance of the day that she was brought from Afia, and washed in the River Almon, at the place where it goes into the Tyber. Her Priefts, called Galli Cybeles, carried her Statue in a Chariot, attended by a great croud of people, to the place where the was washed as her first coming to Reme. Here they washed and rubbed carefully, as Ovid favs.

Est locus in Tiberim que lubricus influit Almo, Et magno nomen perdit in amne minor : Illic purpurea canus cum velte facerdos Almonis Dominam facraque lavit aqua.

St. Aufin, I. 11. de Giv. Dei. cap. 4. gives us her a great Wealth; which at her Death the sa account of this Featt. The day that Cy- left to the Roman people, in confideration rency would not only allow the Mother of from the most ancient Writers. the Gods to hear, nor even any other Mother | LAURUS. The Laurel or Bay-tree . a of Persons of the meanest rank: For Nature | Tree which is always green, used to Crown has printed in us a kind of modesty to our Victorious Men, and was planted at the Pa-Parents, that Vice it felf is not able to de- lace-gate of the Emperours the first day of prive us of. And these Buffoons would be the year, or any other time when they had ashamed to repeat at home before their own obtained some Victory. Dim speaking of the Mothers, all the words and the lascivious honours the Senate performed to Augustus, postures they played in publick before the says, that they ordered that Bay-trees should Mother of the Gods, in fight of a great mul- be planted before his Palace, to shew that he citude of people of both Sexes, who coming was always Victorious over his Enemies out of curiolity to see this Shew, return'd Tertullian speaks of these Laurels, when he home with shame to have seen Representati- faid, Who should be bold enough to besiege ons that offended modesty.

mentioned in Harace, I. t. Epift. 16. v. 60. Wherefore Pliny calls Laurel the keeper of Fellus tells us, that the Ancients called Thieves the Emperour's Gate, the only ornament and Lavernimes, because they were under the pro- the true guard of their Palace : Gratifima dorection of the Goddels Laverna , who had a mibut Janetrix Cafarum, que fela & domes exer-Wood confecrated to her, where they tha- nat & ante limina excubat. The Fable tells us. red their booty. Laverniones fures Antiqui di- that Daphne flying to avoid the preffing incebant, quod subtutela Dea Laverna effent, in cu- ftances of Apollo's love . Was turned into a jus luco obscuro abditoque soliti furta pradam que Laurel. mter le luere.

LAURENTALIA. Feafts instituted by the Roman people, in honour of Acca Laurentia, kept during the Feafts called Saturnapart thereof. Authors write, that there were and the Litter, lectica hexaphora, or octophora. two Laurentia's, one who was Nurse to Rewere confounded together.

hile the Virgin and Mother of all Gods was whereof they performed her great honours. folemnly washed, some wretched Buffoons This is the most certain account we have of fung fifty Songs before her Chariot, that de- her, related by Macrobian, and by him taken the Emperours between two Laurels? Qui LAVERNA, The Goddess of Thieves funt qui Imperatores inter duas laures obsident?

LECTICA. A Litter, a Horfe Litter. LAVINIA. The Daughter of King La- The use and invention of this kind of Chatime and Amata, who married Aneas, when af- riot came first from Bythinia and Cappadocia, ter the facking of Troy, he came into Italy: But | and was made use of to carry both living being a Widow, lest Afcanius should attempt and dead Bodies: As Tully reports, Nam, ut her life, to fecure himself the Crown of the mos fuit Bythinia, lestica farebatur. There were Lating, the retired into the Forest, where the two kinds of Litters, tome covered, used in lived privately in the house of Tyrrhenus, dirty Weather, and others uncovered on Overfeer of the Herds of her Father Latinus. purpose to take the air in fair Weather. Pli-The Lating grumbled against Ascanius for the my speaking of Ners, calls the first kind of absence of Lavinia; whereupon he was o- Litters, a Traveller's Chamber, Cubiculum bliged to fend some Persons to feek for her, viatorum. Suctonius reports, that when Auand intreat her to come again to Lavini- gustus was going into the Country, he often ordered his Servants to stop his Litter that he might fleep therein; for there were on both fides Pannels or Curtains that might be drawn at any time. These Litters were carlia, which afterwards were folemnized as a ried by fix or eight Men, called Lefficarios, LECTISTERNIUM, A great mulus, and the other a famous Curtezan, who | Ceremony among the Romains , but feldom by her last Will, made the Reman People her practifed but upon occasion of some great Heir, and vanished away at her coming to the and publick Calamity. When this Ceremo-Sepulcher of the first Laurentia: Upon this ny was performed, the Statues of the Gods account 'tis faid, that the honours that the were brought down from their Basis, or Pe-Priest of Mars performed to them both in the | destals, and then laid upon Beds, made for Valabrum, with effusion of Wine and Milk, that purpose in their Temples, with Pillows under their Heads; and in this posture they LAURENTIA ACCA was a de- were magnificently entertain'd. Three most bauched Woman, who nurfed up Romulus and I stately Beds were made, whereupon they laid Remus: Which occasioned the Fable to fay, the Statues of Jupiter, Apollo, with that of Larethat a She Wolf fuckled them. She married | na, Diana, Hercules, Neptune and Mercury, to pacific afterwards a very rich Man, who brought them. Then all the Gates were opened, and Meat : Foreigners, known or unknown, were Heaven by Jupiter : However, he was receive entertained and lodged for nothing; all mat- ed in the Arms of the Inhabitants of the ters of hatred and quarrel was forgot, they Country, who preserved him from the fate conversed with their Enemies like Friends, of Afranax : Notwithstanding he broke one and liberty was granted to all Prisoners.

This Feast was folemnized in time of Plague, or some other great and publick Calamity. The Feast Lattifernum was celebrated by order of the Duamviri, in the year to time from the middle of the Mountains. 335, after the Foundation of Rome.

LEDA. The Wife of Tyndarus, King of DEbalia, beloved by Jupiter, who turned him- the God of Socrates reports, That the Soul of felf into a Swan to enjoy her. She brought Man released from the bands of the Body forth two Eggs, out of one, which she had conceived by Jupiter, came Pellux and Helena ; of the other, which she had conceived by Genius called Lemures: And of these La Tyndarus her Husband, came Cafter and Cly- mures, those that were kind to their Fami-

temmeftra. ment, or body in the Reman Army. Legi- wander continually, without meeting with ons confifted of different numbers of Soldiers and Officers, according to different times, and hurt the bad, were vulgarly called Land but yet they were commonly made up of fix thousand Men. The Forces of Rome confifted of many Legions. 'In the time of the | Phantoms folemnized the ninth day of Mer. Emperour Tiberiut . fays Tucitus, two naval to pacifie the Manes of the Dead, who were Armies, one at Ravema, the other at Mize- the Lemures that comes in the night to tornum guarded both Seas of Italy. The Coast ment the living. The Institution of this of the Gault was secured by the Gallies that | Feast is ascribed to Remulus, who to rid him-But the main Forces of the Empire, in the | whom he had ordered to be Murthered, apnumber of eight Legions guarded the Rhine. Three other Legions were employed to prevent the Enemies attempts upon Spain, which had been lately conquered by Auguffut. Africa and Egypt were both feveral-'ly fecured by two Legions : And all the Countreys from the Sea of Syria to Euphrates and Pontus, Euxinus were kept in peace by four Legions. The passage of the River Danube was guarded by four other Legions, two in Pannenia, and two in Mafia, fustained by two other in Dalmatia; two kept the Barbarians in awe, and affift Italy in case of ' need. Rome was Garrisoned with three Cohorts of the City, and nine of the Emperour's own Forces, all chofen Soldiers out of Umbria, Taftany, the Countrey of the La-'sins, and other old Raman Colonies. Beides the Armies and Gallies of the Confederates lying in the most convenient Harbours of the Provinces, which were also equal to our Forces.

Each Legion was divided in ten Cohorts: each Cohort in three Companies, and each Company into two Centuries. The chief | 'tis reported that the Denaides cast therein the Commander of the Legion was called Legatur, i. e. Lieutenant.

LEMNOS. An Island in the Egean Sea or Achipelago. Poets tell us , That Vulcan | ter a long course hides its self under ground, the Tables were every where served with was therein cast head-long, from the top of of his Legs, and ever fince was lame. They relate also that he settled himself in that Countrey, and became a Plack-Smith, because of the Fire that breaks out from time and the noise that is heard thereabout.

LEMURES, Apuleius in his Book of and freed from performing of his bodily. Functions, becomes a kind of Damon or. ly, were called Lares Familiares; but those LEGIO. A Legion, a kind of a Regi- who for their crimes were condemned to any place of rest, and terrified good Men. ve, Hobgoblins.

LEMURIA, A Feast of Ghosts, and Augustus had taken in the Fight of Actium : felf of the Phantoms of his Brother Remar pearing always before him, ordained a Feath called after his name Remuria and Lemuria. They offered Sacrifices for three nights together, during which time all the Temples of the Gods were shut up , and there was no Wedding. This is the chief Ceremony of this Sacrifice. About mid-night, the Person who offered, being bare-foot, made a Signal, having the Fingers of his hand joyned to his Thumb, whereby he funcied he kept off the bad Spirit or Phantom from him:

Then he washed his hands in Spring Water, and putting black Beans into his mouth, threw them behind him , uttering these words, I deliver my felf and mine by thefe Beant, making withal a deadly noise, with Pans and other Brass Vessels, which they did firike one against the other; defiring these Ghosts to withdraw, sepeating nine times together that they should retire in peace without troubling any more the rest of the living. LERNA, A Lake, famous for the feven headed Hydre, defeated by Hercules. Out of this Lake came infectious Exhalations : And heads of their Husbands, whom they Murthered on their Wedding Night. LETHE, A River of Africa, which afin waters, to make them forget what was Justice.

LEUCOTHEA. In the Wife of 4attempting to murther her, was ranked by Necture amongst the number of the Sea-Gods, speaks thus of the Laws. and called Leucothea, or the break of day.

drops Frankincense.

Laws and Ordinances of the Emperors. The Digest is a Compilation, made by Justiniman Laws.

ved among themselves.

and prescribed by the Law of Mos.s, an eye every Crime, and the Commonwealth being and then appears again; wherefore Poets; for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, as 'tis fincied, that all the dead drank a draught of faid in the Gospel: Len Talionie is natural

Many famous Laws have been proposed by feveral Roman Magistrates, as the Falcidian themes King of Thebes, who casting herfelf in- Law made during the Trimmviras, to regulate in the Sea, together with her Son Melicerte, laft Wills. The Lex Julis, the Lex Cornelis, m avoid the fury of her Husband, who was the Agrarian Law, the Sumptuarian Law, Or. Tacitus, in the third Book of his Annals, Men formerly living without ambition LEUCOTHOE, The Daughter of and envy, had no occasion neither for Laws Orthamus King of Babylon, beloved by Apollo, nor Magistrates to keep them in awe; and who enjoyed her, having introduced himfelf being voluntarily inclined to do good, had into her Chamber, under the shape of Eury- no need of a proposed reward to incite them name her Mother. But Clythia, jealous of A- to it; and as they defired nothing but what polle, having acquainted her Father with the was lawful, nothing was forbad to them. fame, he order'd that his Daughter should But at last this equality being banish'd. Pride be buried alive, but Apollo took pity of her, and Violence came in the room of Modelty and turn'd her into a Tree, out of which and Shame. Some Nations were at first govern'd by Laws, or had recourse to them LEX, A Law. This word expresses the laster a long prevailing Authority. At the several Governments of States and Nations, beginning Laws were simple as Mens and the Maxims they have agreed upon, or minds, and Fame has principally celebrated receiv'd from their Princes and Magistrates, those of Creta, Sparta and Athens, restor'd by to live in peace and mutual fociety; and in Minos, Lycurgus and Solm; but thefe were this fense we say the Laws of Solon and Lycur- more subtle, and in a greater number. Rome, gut. The Laws of Drace were very rigorous during Remulus's Government, had no other and bloody. The Laws of the twelve Ta- Laws but the Will of the Prince. Nums effables were the ancient Laws of the Remans, blished Laws concerning Religion; Tullius which the Decembiri fetch'd out of Greece, and and Ancus made fome politick regulations; made use of them to ground all their other but our great Law-giver is Servius Tullius, Laws on. The Codex and Authentica are the who bound even the Prince by Laws. Since the banishment of the Tarquins, the People found out some Laws to secure themselves in's order of the feveral judgments and opi- from the oppression of great Men, and mainnions of the most learned in the Roman tain Concord and Liberty. The Decembiri Law, and were received for Laws, as is or- were afterwards chofen, and the most excelder'd by the Epistle at the beginning of that lent Laws of Greece gather together, out of work; and 'tis that which composes the Ro- them they compos'd the twelve Tables, which were the end of good Laws; for al-Moser, says Josephia, in the second Book of though there were some regulations made ahis Antiquities, was the first Law-giver, and gainst wicked Men at the first appearing of Mole's Law was the first Law given to Men. Vice, nevertheless, the greatest part were many Ages before all other Legislators, and settled by the diffentions of the People and all other Laws; in fine, God gave it in a the Senate, or established by the violence of time when God only was able to give it, all fome persons in dignity, to banish some il-Men (after the first Colonies of so many re- lustrious Men, and repress some other difmore Provinces) being fallen into incredible orders. From thence came the feditious ignorance and confusion, and being then fo Laws of Gracehus and Saturninus, and the Latfar from giving Laws to themselves, that they gesses of Drusus in the name of the Senate. were hardly able to receive them. Wherefore The Wars of Italy, and then the Civil Wars in Homer's time, and many Ages after him, gave occasion to several Ordinances contrary there was yet no mention made, neither of to one another; but at last the Dictator Sylla, Laws nor Legislators, States and Kingdoms chang'd or abolish'd the former, to establish being then govern'd not by Laws, but by his own. However, they were not lafting tho' their King's Ordinances and Customs recei- in great number ; for soon after the People were in motion, by the turbulent Laws of Lex Talionis is the most ancient and Lepidus. Since that time there was nothing most just; and was observed by the Hebrews, established but new regulations concerning corrupted.

corrupted, the number of Laws became in- | tion fofter, as we fee in the ancient Marbles finite. In fine, Pempey being chosen the reformer of Manners, after he had found out 25 years of Civil Wars, there was neither of Duellius, puguanded. Laws nor Customs observ'd. But Augustus being elected Conful the fixth time, abolished the Laws which he had made during his unlawful Authority, and establish'd others to las allowed the people to chuse for themselves live in peace. And amongst other Laws, he Patrons out of the body of the Nobles, and made a Law concerning Marriage.

Kings, and fome other in the time of their Commonwealth. Remalus was the first Lawgiver of the Reman, according to the testimony of Livy, Phararch and Tully. There re- Devil, and any Man might kill them, withmain but fome fragments of Remular's Laws, out being punished by the Law. This is the related by Varre and Fefter, the first whereof meaning of these words Sacer Ested. is here inferted.

SEI PATRONOS CLIENTEI FRAU-DEM FAXSIT, SACER ESTOD: If a Patron defraud his Client, let him be curfed. Servine quotes the fragment of this Law, as DIVEIS PARENTUM ESTOD. being taken out of the Laws of the twelve Tables; nevertheless, Romalus is doubtless the Author thereof, for 'tis thus expressed in Servius's Manufcript : Ex lege Romuli & XII. Tabularum, Si Patronus Clienti Fraudem Faxit, Sacer Effe. 'Tis yet true, according to the testimony of Dienysu Halicarnasseu and Livy, lost by the missortune of time, but the mean-that Romalus had settled the rights of Clients ing thereof is recorded by Latin Writers. and Patrons; and Scaliger and Cujacius report, that the Decembriri, who had compiled the Laws of the twelve Tables, and inferted therein the Laws made by the Kings : Ex bis non dubium est leges Regias in XII. Tabulas à Decemviris conjectas fuiffe ; & prima, fecunda, tertia tabula leges Regias contineri ; quia etiam leges Regias de patrià peteflate in quartam tabulam relatas autor eft Dienvieur. Whereby it doth appear, that the Laws made by the Kings, were QUIBUS PROBRA EORUM ET CRIinserted by the Decembers in the Law of the MINA COMMEMORARENTUR. ADtwelve Tables; and that the first, second HIBERETUR FIDEI: SED OMNES. and third Table, contained the Laws of the SANCTE, RELIGIOSE, CASTEQUE Kings; as also the Law concerning the DE DIIS IMMORTALIBUS SENTIpower of Fathers over theis Children, is co- RENT ET LOQUERENTUR : NIHIL pied out of the fourth Table, as Dienyfius Halicarnaffeut tells us.

Sei instead of Si. The Ancients in their Writings express thus the long i by the Dipthong ei. as it appears by Ancient Inscriptions, and by this which is yet feen at Rome : Quod ejus Agrei, locei publicum populei Romanei thing to them that is unbecoming bleffed natures.

Patrones instead of Patrones. The Ancients ness of the Walls of a City. often made use of the o instead of the u.

Clientei instead of Clienti, by the same reafon of Sei instead of Si.

Faxis instead of Faxis, because of the harshness of the x. The Ancients added a Letter DERETUR. before or after the x, to make the pronuncia-wexit, junexit, &cc.

Sacer Efted instead of Efte. The Ancients Remedies worse than the Evils, faw his Laws joined very often the letter d, after a at the perish with himself. And afterwards, during end of a word, as it appears by the Column

I have explained the meaning of this Law under the word Clientela, where the right of Patrons and Clients is expounded ; for Rome. put themselves under their protection; and The Romans had forme Laws under their fettled the reciprocal Rights of the Patron towards his Clients, and Clients towards. their Patrons; and if they fail'd in the obfervation thereof, they devoted them to the The second Law of Remulus was expressed in these terms. SEI NOROS PARENTEM VERBE. RIT, AST OLE PLORASIT, SACRA

If a Daughter-in-law strikes her Father, and he complains of it, let her be curled, and purified by the Gods of the Fathers and Mathers.

Besides these two Laws, the express terms whereof were kept till our time, there are still many others, the words whereof were There are fixteen mentioned by Dionylius Halicarnaffeus, Livy and Plutarch, some concerning the Law of the Gods, and fome others concerning the Civil Law.

Here follows the first Law of the fix. which concerns the Gods, related by Dionylius .Helicarnaffeus.

NE QUID DEORUM FABULIS IN OUOD BEATIS NATURIS INDE-CORUM AFFINGENTES.

Not to believe what the Fable fays of the Gedt, concerning their Crimes and Infamies, but to have Pious and Religious thoughts of them, and not to: speak of them but in a chaste way, ascribing

The fecond Law is concerning the Holis-

UT MURI SACRO-SANCTI ESSENT; NEVE QUIS NISI PER PORTAS UR-BEM INGREDERETUR, NEVE EGRE-

That the Walls of a City fould be Sacred, and that no perfon flould paft over them to come in a good of the City, but only through the Gates.

Upon this Law Plutarch in his Reman Que-Aions, Quest. 27. asks Why the Ancients confecrated the walls of their Cities, and not the Gates thereof? It was, answered he. to encourage the Citizens to defend them. out of respect to their holiness and confecration; and therefore Romulus ordered his Brother Remus to be murthered, because he had leapt over the Walls.

But the Gates of Cities were neither holy nor consecrated, because all Provisions were brought in thereat, and the Corps of the dead were carried through the Gates out of the City to be burnt. Wherefore when they intended to build the Walls of a City, they confulted the Augurs, and then drew a Line with a Plough drawn by an Ox and a Cow vok'd together, over that ipace of ground where the Walls were to be built , but did beians fould cultivate the Fields, feed the Catnot drive the Plough over the place defigned | tle, exercife Arts and Trades, except the vileft for the Gates of the City. This Ceremony is thus related by Plutarch; to which may be added, what Pomponius the Lawyer Tays, Siquis violaverit muros, capite puniter.

NE QUIS EX ASYLO UT SACRO TU-TOOUE LOCO VI ABSTRAHATUR. Let no man be drawn by whilence out of a place of Refuge, where he has sheltered himself, as in a

These Sanctuaries were always Venerable amongst the Greeks and Romans. Cadmus was the first, who opened a refuge at Thebes, and those who recired thither, either Freemen or Slaves, were pardoned of the Crime they had committed. The Posterity of Hercules establifhed a Sanctuary at Athens. Tacitus complains of the abuse made of places of refuge ful Meetings. at Rome. The Reader may fee what is faid of them after the word Afrium.

NE OUID IN ADMINISTRATIONE REIPUBLICÆ NISI AUGURATE FIE-RET.

That nothing (bould be done in the Government of the Republick, before the Augur was consulted to know the Will of the Godi.

. This is confirm'd by Tully, in his first Book de divinatione ; and! by Dionyfius Halicarnaffeus, in the 2d Book of the Roman Antiquities, established King by the Will of the Gods, which he had confulted by taking the Aufpices, he ordered that this custom should be concerned.

UT PENES REGES SACRORUM OM NIUM ET GRAVIORUM JUDICIO-RUM ESSET ARBITRIUM ET POTE-STAS: PATRICII EADEM SACRA CU-STODIRENT ET CURARENT, MAGI-STRATUS SOLI REGERENT, JUSQUE DE LEVIORIBUS CAUSIS REDDE-RENT: PLEBEII DENIQUE COLEREN I AGROS, PECORA ALERENT, QUÆ-STUOSA EXERCERENT OFFICIA ET ARTES, NON TAMEN SELLULARIAS ET SORDIDAS, SERVIS, LIBERTINIS ET ADVENIS RELINOUENDAS.

That Kings (bould have Severaign Authority over Religious Matters, as also in the administration of Affairs of the greatest consequence belonging to the Law : that the Patricians (bould attend and take care of the Sacrifices; that they only should perform the office of the Magistrates, and adminifler Justice in cases of leffer moment : that the Plewhich were preserved for Slaves, Freedmen's Sons and Foreigners.

Kings were the Overfeers of Sacrifices, and iovned the power of Priesthood to the Royal Authority; wherefore the Ramans having expelled the Kings, established a King whom they called Rex Sacrificulus, as we learn of Livy: Regibus exactis, & parta libertate, rerum deinde divinarum habita cura. & quia quedam publica Sacra per ipfos factitata erant nec ubi Regum desiderium effet, Regem facrificulum creant : and the Wife of the King of the Sacrifices was called Resina, as Macrobius reports, l. 4. c. 15.

The King administred Justice in causes concerning Witchcraft, publick Offencer, Crimes of High Treason, under-hand Dealings, sheltering of wicked Men, and unlaw-

The Patricians performed the office of Inferiour Judges, in cases of Murthers, Fires, Robberies, publick Extortions, removals of Land-marks, and other Offences between private men. At first they were the only men who performed the office of Priefthood, but afterwards in the time of the Commonwealth, the offices of Religion were beflowed upon Plebeians; for in the year ccccli, after the foundation of Rome, during the Confulat of Q. Apuleius Panfa and Marcus Valerius Co vinus, five Augures were created out of the bowhere he tells us, that Romulus being dy of the people. And in feries of time they raifed themselves to the High Priesthood.

The Patricians only had a right to the Magiftracy; but fixteen years after the Kings were religiously observed for the time to come, banished Rome, it was conferred on the either in the Creation of Kings, or election people, for in the year cccxli. after the founof Magistrates, or in Affairs of great conse- dation of Rome, Quastors were chosen out of quence, wherein the Commonwealth was the people; as also Tribunes out of the Soldiers in the year coclisi. Some years after | What is the cause of the ruin of spare and Confuls in the year cochxxxviii, and other . Magistrates called &diles, Curules in the year - ccclxxxix : Distators in the year ccciic. Cenfors in the year occiv.andin finePrætors in the ccccxvii. but the interregnum only was left to the Patricians.

UT POPULUS ACCEDENTE SENA-TUS AUCTORITATE, MAGISTRATUS CREARET, LEGES JUBERET, BELLA DECERNERET.

That the People, with the Authority of the Senate, should choose Magistrates, make Laws, and January. See what is said under the word Amen.

And this was done in the Assemblies of the people, either by Parishes, Tribes or Hundreds.

GUSTIOR SEMPER IN PUBLICO ES-SET HABITUS SUAQUE INSIGNIA. That the King and Magistrates should wear Habits of D.flintlion, and Radges of Honour.

clostiled with a Robe of State called Trabea, the painted Gown, and the Robe called Pretexts, mentioned in this Book in their order.

UT SENATUS PUBLICUM ESSET LIUM , ET IN EUM PATRICIIS Eftate in an equal portion like one of his Children, TANTUM PATERET ADITUS. That the Senate fould be the common Council of the City of Rome and the Empire and that the Patricians only should be admitted into it.

Romulus at first instituted one hundred Senators; to whom he added the like number eight years after, because of the Peace concluded with the Sabins. Tarquinius Priscus increafed that number to an hundred more: Since, during the Triumvirat, their number farrentis Parentibus geniti; or the Marriages was augmented to nine hundred, and afterwards to a thousand; but Cafar Augustus reduced that number.

UT COLONI ROMANI MITTEREN-TUR IN OPPIDA BELLO CAPTA, VEL third kind of Marriage called Matrimonium to SALTEM HOSTES VICTI FRANGEN: usu Injusta nuptia, Concubinage. DIS ILLORUM VIRIBUS AGRI MUL-TARENTUR PARTE.

That the Romans should fend Roman Colonies into the Conquered Cities, or at least that the Enemies should forfeit one part of their Lands.

11th Book of his Annals, c. 12. 'Do we bound to observe. Wherefore Plautu figh ' repent to have been feeking for the Family of the Balbi in Spain, or others no less il- being obliged to offer any Families Sacrifice, · luftrious in Gallia Narbonensis & Their Po- fe hareditatem adeptum effe fine facris effertiffman. 'Aterity flourishes still amongst us, and bear _ The Wife was to be the Mistress of the Athen, the very flourishing Cities, but m. fing the vanquished like Slaves, and refufing them entrance into their Common. wealths. Romulus was much wifer in ma king Citizens of his Enemies in one day.

ANNUS ROMANUS DECEM ESSET MENSIUM.

That the Roman year should contain ten mentle This year began with March, Nums added two Months to it, viz. January and February. and ordered that the year should begin with

IIT MULIER OUE VIRO JUXTA SA-CRATAS LEGES NUPSIT, ILLI SA. CRORUM FORTUNARUM QUE ESSET SOCIA. NEVE EAM DESERERET; ET UT REGI MAGISTRATUIQUE AU QUEMADMODOM ILLE FAMILIÆDO. MINUS, ITA HÆC FORET DOMINA: NEQUE DEFUNCTO VIRO, NON SE CUS AC FILLIA PATRI HERES ESSET. its of D. flintlion, and Radget of Honour. IN PORTIONEM QUIDEM ÆQUAM, The Kings, Emperors and Confuls were SI LIBERI EXTARENT; EX ASSE VE-RO SI MINUS.

That a Woman who had married a Man accord. ing to the Sacred Laws, should participate of the Sacrifices and Wealth with her Husband . that the thould be Mistress of the Family, as he was him-ET COMMUNE CIVITATIS CONSI- Self the Master thereof, that she should inherit bis if there was any born during their Marriage, otherwife fbe fould inherit all.

By the Sacred Laws in Marriages, it must be understood either the Marriages solemnized with a Ceremony called Confurente. which was performed with a Cake of Wheat, in presence of ten Witnesses, and with Sacrifices and Forms of Prayers: And the Children born of this Marriage were called anmade ex coemptione, by a mutual bargain, from whence the Wives were called Matra Familias, Mothers of Families. These two kinds of Marriages are called by ancient Lawyers Juffe nuprie, to diftinguish them from :

The Society of Sacrifices and Wealth, wherein the Wife had her share, must be understood of private Sacrifices, offered in some Families, practiced amongst the Romanust upon Birth-days, and day of Expiations and Tacitus Speaks thus of this custom in the Funerals, which the Posterity and Heirs were That a great Effate was fallen to one, without an equal love with us for their Country Family, as the Husband Mafter. It was a the door of the House of her Husband, they DARETUR, PARS AUTEM CERERI asked her who she was, and she answered Caia CEDERET fem, I am Caia; because Caia Cacilia Wife to Inquinius Priscus, was much given to Huswifery and Spinning, and from thence is come Poyloned her Children, or committed Adultery, the the custom, that Brides coming into the House of their Husband, answered that they and if she was found guilty, they insticted what Puwere called Caia : Caterum Caia ufu fuper emnes eft celabrata ; fertur enim Caiam Caciliam, Tarquinii Prisci uxorem, optimam lanificam fuise, & ides inflitutum effe, ut nove nupte ante januam mariti interrogatæ, quænam vicarentur, Caram fe esse dicerent.

And Plutarch in the thirtieth Roman Question tells us , That the Husband faid to his Wife at her first coming to his house, Ego Caius, and the answered Ego Caia.

UT MATRONIS DE VIA DECEDE-RETUR, NIHIL OBSCOENI PRESEN TIBUS IIS VEL DICERETUR VEL FI ERET, NEVE QUIS NUDUM SE AB IIS CONSPICI PATERETUR, ALIOQUIN CRIMINIS CAPITALIS REUS HABE-RETUR.

That they should give way to Ladies of Quality, shat no obscenity should be either spoken nor done in sheir presence, and that no Man Should be Seen naked in their prefence, if otherwise he should be guilty of a capital Crime. XIII.

UT MONSTROSOS PARTUS NECA-RE PARENTIBUS LICERET.

That it should be lawful to Parents to put their Children to Death , if they were born Monstrous . But they were obliged to call for Witneffer to justifie that they were Monfters, Tays Dionyfius Halicarnestaus

UT PARENTIBUS LIBEROS RELI- that was never pruned. GANDI, VENDENDI, OCCIDENDI JUS, ALIISQUE MODIS DE EIS STATUEN-DI PLENA POTESTAS ESSET.

they should think fit.

UT SI QUA IN RE PECCASSET MULIER POENAM LUERET EX MA-RITI ARBITRIO: SI VENEFICIJ CIR-CA PROLEM VEL ADULTERII ESSET ACCUSATA COGNITIONEM. EJUS voles, cadito ; quei cepit aerit ducen um darite oper-REI VIR ET COGNATI MULIERIS teto : queste auficio capta Din piacolom dato. HABERENT; SIN CONVICTA ESSET. TRA VENEFICIUM NATORUM VEL first should be confectated to Jupiter Fertitius, enflow used amongst the Romans; that when ADULTERIU MULIEREM REPUDIthe Wife fet her Foot upon the threshold of ASSET, RERUM EJUS PARS UXORI

If a Wife was found faulty, her Husband punished her according to his pleasure : If she bad Husband and her Kindred inquired into the fact, nishments they pleased upon ber : If she drunk Wine, the was punished like an Adulteress: If the Husband put away his Wife for any other cause belides Poyloning or Adultery, part of his Wealth was giwen to the Wife , and part to Ceres.

The Roman Matrons were forbidden to drink Wine, and their Husbands had pover to kill them when they had drunk any, as Pliny affures, l. 14. c. 13. Non licebar winum Romanis feminis bibere Invenemus inter exempla Egnatii Mecennii uxorem, quod vinum bibifit edolio, interfectam fuisse a marito, eumque cadis a Romulo absolutum. Cato ideo propinquos feminis ofculum dare inflituit ut feirent antemetum olerent. (bot tum nomen wina erat.) Wherefore Cate ordered, that married Women should kiss their Relations, to know if they fmelt of Wine. XVI.

UT OMNES PARRICIDÆ CAPITE PLECTERENTUR.

That all Parricides should be punished wirh Death.

The following Laws were made by Nums the fecond King of the Remans.

PISCES quei squamosei non sunt, nei polluceto : squamofos omnes prater Scarum polluceto : Do not offer in facrifice to the Gods Fishes without scales, but only those which are scaly except the Scarum.

SARPTA vinea nei fiet, ex es vinum Diis libarier nefas effed : 'Tis not lawful to offer to the Gods Wine, of the growth of a Vine

Festus explaining the word Sarpta, fays Sarpta vinea putata, i. c. pura fatta. Sarpere enim Antiqui pro purgare ponebant. For the Gods That Fathers should have a Soveraign Authority accepted of no Sacrifices, but those that were over their Children, corfine them, fell them, and pure. The Ancients offered pure Wine to put them to death, and dispose of them which way the Gods, uttering these words : Mattu boc vino inferio efto. We will speak of it under the words Sacrificium and Libatio.

QUOJUS auficio clase procinila opetra Polia capiuntur, Jovet Feretrio bovem cadito, quei cepit aeris trecentum darier oporteto, fecunda folia endo Martis afam endo campo fuove tauriliad, utra

Plut arch affures us, that he had read in the EX ILLORUM SENTENTIA MULTA- Annals of the Pontiffs, that Numa had fpc ken RETUR: SI VINUM BIBISSET DOMI UT of the Spoils called Opima, that one General ADULTERA PUNIRETUR. SI VIR EX- had taken from another, and ordered that the the fecond to Marr, and the third to Quirleus. Quojus instead of Cujus, an ancient word. Clase precineta, this word fignifies an Army Customs observ'd by the Romans, in the Fa drawn into a line of battel, according to Fefine; wherefore the Ancients called an Army Classic clupcata : opeima folia instead of epima (bolia, Spoils that the General of an Army took from another, as Fessus says; and they are mony should be performed at their Funerale Called opima, as he tells us, because such Spoils because they were dead by the wrath of the are but feldom got, and this happen'd but Gods. three times to the Roman Empire; once Romulus took spoils from Acron; a second time Ancients had no Nominative terminated in Cornelius Coffus took them from Telumnius; and a third time, Marcus Marcellus got them from Viridomar and confectated them to Jupiter Feretrius, as'tis observed by Livy. Quei instead of qui cepit, seris instead of eris, coc darier instead of dari, oportete instead of oportet. Junonei crenebis dimifeis acuam feminam cadies: Endo Martis afam instead of in Martis aram, ende campe instead of in campe, Suove tauralia instead if the do, let her be fentenced to facrifices of fue, ove, tours, a Sacrifice, where a Hog, a young Sheep to her, having her Hair diffe-Sheep and a Bull were offer'd.

SEI QUIS bemonem leiberom sciens dolo malo mortei duit, parricidad effod. Sei im imprudent, gito, crenebis instead of crinibus, dinifeis instead fe dolo malod occifit, pro kapito occifei & naveits ot dimiffit, acuam instead of agnam. ejus endo conscione arietem subjicito. If any body kill willingly and out of malice a Freeman, ler him be declared a l'arricide : if he doth it unwillingly, let him facrifice in a full affembly, a Ram for the life he had taken away.

Sei instead of f, leiberem instead of liberum, efted. mortei instead of morti, duit instead of dedit, parricidad instead of parricida, effed instead of fragment of this Law, the rest was lost by efte, occifit instead of occidit, kapite instead of the misfortune of time. capite, eccifei instead of eccifi, nateils instead of natis, ende inflead of in, febjicite inflead of the words whereof were loft, but the mean-

Amongst the Athenians, he who had committed a Crime, was bound to offer a Ram for expiation. MULIER que pregnant mortua ne humator, antequam partus ei excidatur ; quei secus faxit, amimalis alicujus formam habere existimaret : La fpri animantis cum gravida occifa reus eftod. Negat lex Regia, fays Marcellus the Lawyer, mulie- a Man, nor any Animal whatfoever. rem que pregnant mortua fit humari, antequam partus ei excidatur : qui contra fecerit, fem animantis cum gravida peremife videtur.

to bury a Woman who died in labour, before nels of any thing that is in Heaven above, a her Child was taken out of her Body ; and in the Earth beneath, or in the waters under whosoever neglected to observe this Law, the ground: was accounted the murtherer of both the Child and the Mother.

came out of his Mothers belly, when the was watim colerent. Sacra Diis inflituta fantte force carrying to herGrave, and by his crying ftopt rentur; fruge melaque falfa litaretur. Temph those, who carried her Corps to be buri- Dits constructa profanis usions ne polluerente.

nei tollito ; fei folmine occifur efeit, eei jufta nulla Piety, and remove Riches from them : That Fieri oporteto.

This Law is not clearly expressed, and can't be understood, but by considering the nerals of their Dead.

Mums did not allow, that those who were killed by Thunder, should be carried upon shoulders like other dead, nor that any Cera-

Felminis is written instead of fulmen, for the en. Sopera instead of Supra, nei instead of m. VEINO rogum ne resparcito: That the pile of wood should not be moistned with Wine, but with Milk.

PELEX afam Junonis ne tagito, sei tagit. Let no Harlot touch the Altar of Jum : and

Alam instead of aram, tagite instead of tan

By this Law, a married Man was not allowed to marry another Woman. It was a custom in Marriages, for the Woman to take hold on the corner of the Altar of Jame. SIQUIS, aliuta fazit, ipfat Jovei face

Aliuta instead of aliter. We have but this

Here are still some other Laws of Name, ing is yet found in Writers. The first is concerning the Nature of God, the sense whereof is contained in these

NEQUIS Deum, wel homines Speciem, vel no man ascribe to God, either the figure of

It feems by this Law, that Nums was well acquainted with the command of God in the 20 Chap, of Exedus. Thou shalt not make This Law of Numa forbids in express terms, unto thy felf any graven Image, or the like

AD DEUS cafte adiretur, pietas adhiberetu, opes amoverentur. Separatim nemo Deos habus Valerius Maximus reports, that one Gorgias neve noves, neve advenas, nifi publice adfeits pr Templum Jani belli pacifque indicium effet : That SEI hemonem falminis occifit, im sopera genga they should draw near but with Purity and no body should have new or particular Gods:

That, the Sacrifices instituted in honour of there should be twelve Priests called Salii, to the Gods, should be religiously observed : Sacrifice to Mars, appoint Gradivas in the Pa-That they should powr saited dough upon lace : That the Officers called Feciales should the Victims: That Temples built in ho be Judges in Affairs concerning Confedera-nour of the Gods, should not be defiled by cies, Peace and Truce: That they should any profane use : That the Temple of Janus take care that no injust War should be carshould be the Signal both of Peace and War. ried on against the Confederates of the Re-Tenus was always open, and was only thut wrongs done to Ambassadours; and if the in time of Peace.

UT DIVIS, aliis alii 'facerdotes effent. foderentur ; qui vitiaffet, virgis in foro ad mortem caderetur, Salii duodecim Deorum belli prafidum universim laudatores, Marti Gradive facra in should be subject to none. Palatio celcbrarent. Feciales fæderum, pacit, inrent & expiarent. Pontifices denique de omnibus founded one with another. causts, que ad facra, tam inter facerdotes quam Profanos, judicarent; novas leges de facris ex fua fententia & arbitratu conderent ; facerdotes omnes the year should be of twelve of Months. examinarent, Sacrerum Ministros in Officio continerent : de Deorum Genierumque cultu, totoque Rebrimum at Carimoniarum negotio consulentes docerent : Prescripta a fe contemmentes pro delitti quaeffent abnoxis. That each God should have his ly days and working days. particular Priefts : That thirty Curious or Priests should be appointed to the thirty Rothe Sacrifices that belonged to him : That the | his Son. Augures should observe the Signs of Heaven, and diffinguish those that have a regard to the Man who had debauched her, should be the Parties. whipp'd to death in the publick place : That Wherefore in time of War the Temple of man People : That they should judge of Generals of the Armies had broke their word, they should make atonement for their faults: That the Pontiffs should be Judges in Affairs Curiones triginta Jacra Curiarum quibus prafetti concerning Religion , between both Priefts corrent; proque Curialibus publice rem divinam and Laymen : That they should make new facerent. Tres Flamines, Dialis, Jovi, Martialis Laws according to their own mind con-Marti, Quirino Quirinalis, afidui (acerdotes effent. cerning Sacrifies : That they should examine Tribunus Celerum Sacris sibi affgnatis operam daret. the Priefts, and keep them to their Duty : Augures figna de Calo fervarent, publica que a pri- That they should give reasons for the Worvatis discernerent, queve vitiosa dirave dixerunt, ship of Gods and Genius's, and of all the irrita scavaque baberentur. Veftales Virgines ig- Religious Ceremonies practifed therein, to nem feci publici in urbe sempiternum cuffedirent , those that should inquire of them about the que flupri convitte, ad portam Collinam vive de- fame : That thole who should despise their Ordinances, should be punished by them, according to their faults; and that they

All these Laws are mentioned by Livy, duciarum oracores judicesque effent ; widerent fedu- Plutarch and Florus : And the reason that St. le ne ulli faderata civitati injuftum bellum infer- Auffin gives for the Multiplicity of thefe retur, de Lagatorum judicarent injurit: Si quid Priefts, is, that having fo great a number of Imperatures contra jusjurandum pecassent, cognosce- Gods, they were afraid they should be con-

> ANNUS duodecim effet mentium : That Two Months were added to the year of Romulus, viz. January and February.

DIES omnes in fafter, nefaftofque diftribuerenlitate & magnitudine multarent ; nulliut peteffati tur : That the days should be divided in ho-

UT SI Pater filio concesserit uxorem ducere, man Curia or Parishes to offer Sacrifices. que futura illi juxta leges Jacrorum benerumque Three Priefts called Flamines, the first where- omnium particeps , eidem patri poftea nullum jus of appointed for Jupiter, should be called Di- vendendi filium effet : That if a Father has givalir; the second for Mars, Marsialis, and the en leave to his Son to marry, his Wife comes third for Quirinus, Quirinalis: That he who into a common propriety to the Goods with was called Tribunus Celerum, should perform him, and the Father after that cannot sell

UT CONTRACTUS dubii & fine publick Affairs, from those that belong to pri- teftibus fide ac jurejurande terminaretur, utique vate Concerns; taking particular notice of Magistraius ac Judicer in dubits causis ex alterius all that were evil and direful : That the Veftal fide & Sacramento Juam interponerent fentiniti-Virgins should take care without Intermissi- am: That doubtful Contracts made withon of the facred Fire : That if any of them out Witnesses should be certified by Oath, fuffer herself to be defiled, the should be bu- and that the Judges should give Judment in ried alive out of the Gate called Collina, and doubtful Causes upon the Oath of one of established a Law, That when a Woman should bring forth three Children at one Birth, they thould be brought up at the publick charges, till they came to Age.

Thefe

UT trigeminis, quoties nascerentur, alimenta ex publice, iffque ad pubertatem darentur. He renewed again the Law of Remulas concerning the Officers called Petiales: Ut Feciales fæderum, belli pacis, induciariumque Oratores Judicefque effem & bella disceptarent. Tarquiniss Prifess made thefe following

Laws

UT Regia Romanorum Majeftas corona aurea Sceptro, Sella eburnea, toga pida, Lifteribus duodeeim, alifque ornamentis infernis effet. That Kings should west a Crown of Gold, with a Scep- traberetur, nove fancratoribus jus in libera curbus ter in their hand; that they should have an fed debituram contenti facultatibus effent : That Ivory Chair, with an Embroidered Robe; no body should be put in Prison for Debt: and that twelve Lictors should walk before and that Creditors should have no right othem.

Ut quifque civis veram benerum fuerum, que, qualiacumque effent, aftimationem Jurejurando probaret, probatamque ad Regem deferret, genus item, bus. etatem, nomina uxerum, libererum, familia que omnis: que, cujus generis predis, quis serverum pecudumque numerus, qua qualiscumque funderum inftrumenta fingulatim fine dolo malo profiteretur, Latiali confensa communi Jacra falluri, ferian & quaque urbis in parte, quove extra urbem loco habi- mercatus celebraturi & una epulaturi : That etaret fuar que res poffideret fancte indicaret ; qui very year the Soveraign Magistrate of Rome fecus feciffet, benis publicatis civitmem amitteret, should Summons the Remans and Latin nocafulque virgu fub hafta veniret : That each Citi- on Mount Albanus, to offer unanimoully a zen thould be bound to bring to the King Sacrifice to Jupiter Latialis, and keep there a naccount of all his Goods whatfoever, and Holy-day, a Market and a Feaft together. certifie by. Oath the truth thereof; as also These are all the Laws made by the King, to declare his Family, and his own Age, the which Sexus Pepirise a Lawyer has collected name of his Wife, Children, and all his Fa- into a body, to preserve them to Posterity. mily; and tell the number of his Fields, which are called after his name Ju Papini and what they were proper for, and the We must now speak of the Laws made due whole without any fraud : That if any fail- ring the Commonwealth , whereof fome ed therein, he loft the Citizen's freedom, were established by the Decemviri, others by and forfeired his Goods; he should be whip- the Confuls, Dictators, and Tribunes of the ped, and then fold by publick Sale.

nascemibus quidem ad adem Junonis Lucina, pro Tables, were most considerable : for they fumentibus vero togam virilem ad Juventutit; were collected from the Republicks of pro defantiu denique ad Libitina certas flipes pen- Greece, and the most just customs of the Rederent , eafque quetannis Editui in tabulas refer- mans and other Nations to which the Royal rent, ex quibus puerorum, puberum ac mortuerum Laws were added. certus numerus fingulis annis cognosceratur: That | This Collection was made with great care each Mafter of a Family should give a cer- and deliberation by the most able Men a tain fum of Money to the Temple of June mongh the Remans: Then the December cal-Lucins, for new born Children; another to led an Affembly of the Senate, to whom the Temple of Youth, when their Chilthey proposed these Laws to be examined. dren put on the togs wirilit , and a third to The Senate, after a ferious confideration, uthe Temple of the Goddeis Libyina when nanimously approved of them by a Decree; shey died. The Sextons of the Temple were and the people atterwards confirmed them

These were the Laws made by the Kings. | bound to keep Registers of the names of Tulbu Hefilins the third King of the Roman those for whom these presents were made to the Goddeffes, that it might be known what number of Children were born, how many had put on the togs virilied and how many were dead.

> UTI in Tribus urbanus atque jus civitatis fervi ab civibus Romanis manumiffi, qui vellen ad scifcerentur; & libertini ad omnia plebeierum admitterentur munie : That Slaves freed by the Romans might be admirted into the Tribes of the City, if they defired it, and enjoy the freedom of Citizens; and that Freemen's Children should be received in all Offices like the Reman People.

NEOUIS ob debitum famus in vincula ver free Persons, but should be contented with the fubstance of their Debtors.

We have but this Law of Tarquinius Super-

Uti facrorum caufa quetannis femel in mentem Albanum Romani Latinique nomine populi Romani a supremo Magistratu Romano cogerentur : Joul

The Laws of the Decemberi, comprehend-UT OUISQUE Pater familiae pro ed under the names of the Laws of twelve

by a Platicious, in an Affemby of Hundreds. written instead of mulierer, net instead of me. Then they were Ingraved upon Brafs Plates, emofed in the publick place. This was done cociii after the Foundation of Reme: And the following year, fomething being yet wanting for the perfection of the Reman Law, the Decemuiri added still two other Brass Tablet, to the ten before mentioned, which tuefa fieri funera & lamentabilia capiffent. Solonie made up the number of twelve. Dienyfius lege fublate funt, quam legem iifdem prope verbis Halicamaffeus, Livy and Plutarch fpeak at large neftri Decomviri in decimam cabulam conieceof these Laws, and may be confulted there- runt. upon,by those who would have a full knowledge of them. Finally, Tally prefers thefe Laws to all the libraries in the World, L. 1. de Orat. Eft in duedecim Tabelis Antiquitatis Effi- facito. giet, quad & verborum prifca vetuftas cognoscitur. er affionum genera quedam Majorum consuetudiuem vitamque declarant : Sive quis civilem fcientiam contempletur totam banc, descriptis omnibus cimitatis utilitatibus ac partibus duodecim Tabulis conineri videbitu : Sive quem ifis praputem & Gleri- dreffed with three Gowns of purple colour, afa Philesophia delect at, dican audacius hosce ha- | and that only ten Pipers should be employ'd bet fontes ennium disputationum suarum, qui jure in Funeral Pomps. Livili & legibustcontinentur. Bibliothecas mebercle omnium Philosophorum, unus mihi videtur xii, Tabularum libellas, si quis legum fontes & capita videret. Cr queloritatis pondere er utilitatis ubertate acerras sepolebris aut longas koronas nei endepoimerare.

of time, there remains only some fragments Burials, and effusions of Wine, or Crown thereof, dispersed in the Books of several their Graves with Garlands, or burn Frank-Authors, which we will infert here for the infence. Reader's fake.

PRÆCO fonus endeicito : quom fonus ecferter, nei encommisiate: That the publick Cryer invite to the Funerals; and during the time of the Burial, let no Affembly

Penus inflead of funus, enleicite inflead of indicite, quem instead of quum, efferter instead of of efferendum, nei inftead of ne, encomitiate in- drink at Funerale. fread of ite in comitium.

These were the words ased by the publick Cryer, when he invited the People to the Funerals of the Great Men of Rome: OL-LUS OUIRIS LETO DATUS EST or L. TITIUS VIXIT, L. TITIO EX-EQUIAS IRE CUEI COMMODUM EST, JAM TEMPUS EST, OLLUS EFFERTUR : Lucius Titius is dead : thole who have time to come to his Burial, 'tis time. they are carrying the Corps out of the Houle.

conar radunto: lefum foneris nec habento. Thefe Sylla. three fragments are found in feveral Writers. scribed bounds to grief. Molieres is here only carried in Coffins.

cones infread of gener. This law forbids Women to year their faces, and make lamentions. Tully affures us, l. 2. Tufcul, that this law was made by Solon, and collected by the Decemviri : Postea anam, at scribit Phalereus, Samo-

ENDO fenere tribes ricinieis, rica perperea, decemma tibicinebus metier liceto : bac pleus nei-

Endi instead of in, fenere instead of funere, tribos ricineis instead of tribus ricinieis, porporea, instead of purpured, tibisinebes instead of tibicinibus, vetier instead of stier. It was ordained by this Law, that Women should be

SERVALIS unclura, circumpetatioque, quem fonus exfequiantor, neive respertio funt : mire. This Law forbad to anoint the Corps These Laws were lost by the misfortune of Slaves, and make a Funeral Feast at their Servalis instead of Servilis, quem instead of chm, fonus instead of funus, exfequianter inftend of excequine ire, nei instead of ne, funt instead of fiat, sepaleris instead of sepuleris, korenes inflead of coronne, endepenite inflead of impenito.

MURINAM mortuo nei endito : That they should not make use of that excellent

Writers don't agree about the composition of that artificial Drink; but all unanamoully fay, that it was very chargeable: Wherefore the December, who intended to leffen the great Charges of Persons of Quality's Funerals, forbad the use thereof.

PLUSA fonera unei nei facito, neive plu_ les lettos endolerto.

It was not allowed to have many Beds carried in Funeral Pomps. Notwithstanding, Augustus honoured Marcellus's Funeral with fix hundred Beds; and there were MOLIERES fa ciem nei carpunto, neive fix thousand reckoned at the Funeral of

This was accounted a great honour: As This law ordered the mourning, and pre- for the common People, their Corps were nera, unei instead of uni, plufer instead of plicaretur & fumtus; left they would rente plurer, endeferte inftead of inferte.

aus denteit windlet fient, im cum ele sepelire ure- whose Bones were brought to Rome, to be reve le fraude liceto.

quei initead of cui, sufe inftead of sure, den that the Bones of those Men, who died in teir instead of dentes, winder instead of winds, the War or foreign Countries were burned ele instead of ille.

Corps of the dead, unless his teeth were the Funeral honours performed to the dead; ried with golden Thread : For in this as we learn of Festus. Membrum abscindi me. cafe it was not lawful to burn it with the two dicebatur quum digitus ei detidebatur ; al

ROGUM ofcia nei poleito: That the pile of Wood should not be of polished Wood, but of Wood as it grows.

HONORATORUM virerum lau- City. det endo consciente memorantor, casque nanie ad This Law is related by Tully: HOMI-tibicinem prosequantor: That the Funeral NEM mortuum, inquit lex duedecim, in whe Speech of Illustrious Persons should be ne sepelite, neve wite. Nevertheless, Grentmade in publick, and that lamentations Men, Emperors and Veffal Virgins have should be lung, at the found of Musical In- been excepted from this Law; for Palaise publickly the Funeral Speech of Junius Bru- Family; but the other Citizens were buthe his Colleague in the Confulat. This ried in their own Lands, or in the Highcultom was afterwards followed by others ways of Rome. during the Commonwealth, and in the time of the Emperors.

Lifterebolque Giter.

Ende instead of in, ludeis instead of ludis, Lictorebefque inftead of Lictoribufque, offiter inftead of utiter : That the Prelident of the and his Wfe in a lawful Marriage : that he Funerals, should make use of the Officers Accept and Lifferer in the Games.

whom Augustus first named, according to ther's Authority. Quintilian Meneraries. This custom of representing Games to honour the Funerals of vital instead of vita, efted instead of elle. in great Men, is very ancient, fince Homer and instead of cum, venundarier instead of venus Virgil make mention thereof. These Games davi , jour instead of jus, fei instead of & were folemnized with Fights of Gladiators venemalais instead of venundederit, fidus in or Horse-races.

fenus faciat, entra quam fei quis foris militiaque

This Law is mentioned by Tully, I. 11. de Legib. HOMINI, inquit, mortue offa ne funt bominer, qui talem in liberos habeant poteftalegito, quo post funus faciat : excipit bellicam tem, qualem nos habemus. peregrinamque meriem. And ofterward he ex- Dienysius Halicarnassaus says, that this foveplains this Law : Ut piftenquem corpus cre- raign Authority was granted to the Famatam effet, offa à cinerious legantur, flatimque thers by Romnlus : Hanc autem potestatem nun

Plusa instead of plura, fonera instead of fu- in locum sepeliandi causa deportarentur, lustus all ures, ordsferte instead of inferte.

AUSUM in fearer nei addite : aff quoi died in the Wars or foreign Countries? laid in the Sepulchre of their Ancestore Assum instead of surum, aft instead of at, were exempted from this Law. 'Tis true except one of their Fingers, which was en It was forbidden to burn Gold with the off and brought again to Rome, to receive quod fervatum jufta ficrent, relique corpore com-

> HOMINEM mortuum ende urbe mi Sepeleite , neve write : That the Corps should not be neither buried nor burnt in the

Publicals and Pofibumius Tubertus were buri-P. Valerius Publicola was the first who made ed below the Capitol, as also the Cloudien

PATRI endo fidiom qui ex le matreme familiae natus eft, vitai necifque poteftas efted; DOMINUS feneris endo ludeis Accenfo, terque im venundarier jous effed : sel pater filterebosque Miter. That the Father should have power of life and death over his Son, begotten of him might fell him three times like a Slave : but having been fold three times, he became Deminus luderum, the Master of the Games, free again, and was no more under his Fa-

> Ends instead of in, fidiem instead of filian, stead of filius, leber instead of liber. .

The Father's Authority was great among HOMINI mortus ofa nei lecito, que poft the Romans ; and the Emperor Juftinian tells us, that this Right was particular to the Romans: Jus posifiatis quod habemus in liberes proprium est civium Romanerum. Nulli enim loco prozimo in terram condantur, ue, fi alium recentem fuiff., fed jam inde ab Remulo per-

before the Prætor.

pueffate cujuscumque sexus, tutoris testamento dendi jeus estoci: That a Father might appoint Tutors to his Children by his Laft

SI QUIS tutor pupillum fraudarit remque ejus interverterit, infamià netator penaque miliator duplionis: If a Guardian defrauds his Papil and waste his Estate, let him be branded with infamy, and fined the double of the Trefpais.

the Estate of his Pupil, but also of all that dred. he might or could honeftly have received, and that with as much and more diligence, and was branded with infamy.

SEI Foufissos efit, adnatorum, genteiliumque tance of their Children. ende co pequinaque ejus poteftas efted. Si furiofus eft, agnatorum gentiliumque in co permiaque ejus poteftas efte.

managing his own Estate, he must be lest Girl, be Heir to his Father. to the Guardianship of his nearest Relations, who are to take care of his Estate and Perfon.

PATER familias, utei foper familia peemiaque foua lagafis, ita jous effod. That the Mafter of the Family thould have power to dispose of his Estate by his last Will.

Utel instead of uti, foper instead of Super, feet instead of fue, legalit instead of legaverit, ju instead of jus, effed instead of effe.

By the Law of the twelve Tables, which is the most ancient Law of the Romans, it was allowed to a Testator to dispose of his Effect which way he thought fit; but most esto beres. often, when Testators had thus disposed of cators of the Will feeing that there remain-

In the time of the Emperors, it was not ed nothing for them, quitted it, and by this haful for Fathers to kill their Children, means the whole Will was made void, and nor to make them Slaves; nor to difinhe- the Legatees got nothing. Wherefore to fit them, but in some cases of great confe- prevent this premunire, the Law called Falmence, which they were obliged to declare cidia was made, by which it was enacted, that Testators should have power to dispose by their Last Will, but of three fourth PATREI libereis suis quosque babet in parts of their Wealth, and should be bound to leave the other fourth part to the Heir appointed by their Will. And therefore this Law is called Quarta Falcidia, or only Falcidia, which was made a little time before the Empire of Augustus, during the Trium-viras.

> FILII filiaque familias benorum paternorum fui fueque heredes funto.

The Law of the twelve Tables instituted but two kinds of Heirs or Inheritors abia-For a Guardian is not only bound to give teffat, i.e. without making a Will, viz. an account of what he has received out of Justum and aguaterum, of Children and Kin-

The Male line was so much regarded in than if it was his own affairs; and if he was the ancient Roman Law, and the Female fo convicted of having fraudulently dealt in neglected, that Children did not inherit the that matter, he was not only bound to a Goods of their Mother, and the Mother fingle restitution of what he had taken or was no Heir to her Childrens Estate : But converted to his own use, but also to pay afterwards a decree of the Senate was made, the double of the Trespass by Action, cal- settling a mutual Succession, viz. Orficialed by the Lawyers, de rationibus distrahendis, num jus, impowering Children to inherit after their Mother, and Tertyllianum jus, fettling the right of Mothers to the Inheri-

SEI OUA molier post virei mortem in decem proximeis menfebes pariat, quei, quave ex Tis enacted by this Law of the twelve here effect. If a Woman is delivered of a Tables, that if a Pupil who is come to age, Child ten Months after the death of her becomes a fool, or mad, and uncapable of Husband, let the Child born, either Boy or > Ulpian's opinion is, that a Child born eleven Months after the death of his Father. is not able to inherit, poll decem menfer mortis natus non admittitur ad legitimasa bereditatem : However, the Emperor Adrian has declared, that an honest woman lying in the eleventh month after the death of her Husband, the Child then born, might lawfully inherit his Fathers Estate, grounded therein upon the authority of Physicians and Philosophers. Wherefore Varre fays, in a Satyr intitled Teftamentum,

Si qu's undecimo menle uat' A'ersoren natus,

Whereupon Cuiacius tells us, that this must their wealth in private Legacies, the Exe- be understood of the eleventh month began, and not over.

PATREBOS com plebed comubia mei SEI QUIS injuriam alteret faute in funto : That Marriages should be torbidden, aris puna funto : If any man wrongs another between the Patricians and Plebeians, t. c. between the Nobles and the People.

By making this Law, which was afterwards repealed, the Deamwiri attempted to breed divisions between the Nobility and the Populace, and by that means render their Magistracy perpetual.

SEI VIR aut molier alter alterei nontiom miseit, devertium ested; melier res souas fibei habetod, vir molierei claves admited enicitoque.

Sei for fi, melier for mulier, alterei for altere nentiem mileit for nuntium milit, devertiem for divertium, efted for efte, fenas for fuas, fibei for fibi , babeted for habete, melierei for mulieri adimined for adimito, exiciteque for exigito-

Romans before the Law of the twelve Tables, was nothing broke, but only a blow of neither do we find it to have been put in practice, till one and twenty years after the Law made by Sparies Carvilius Rugs . who put away his Wife because of her bar- of Rome, they were punished by a pecuniary rennnels in the Year of Rome IDXXIII when M. Pomponius Matho and C. Papyrius Malo were Confuls, for which Valerius blames him, in that he preferred the defire of having Tables, are very contrary to that, for the Children, before his Conjugal Affection they are very tender in the point of punifi-This was afterwards observed in the Roman ing Offenders with death, yet they enjoyn Empire, not only during the time of Pa- it in respect to those, who blast the Repuganism and the ancient Occonomy, but tation of another by Verses, or injurious alfo under the first Christian Emperors, and continued to, and even after the Reign reason; for our lives ought to be liable to of Juffinian; and this was so certain, and the lawful centures of the Magistrates and looked upon to be so reasonable, that the not to the unbridled liberty of Poets, and parties concerned were not allowed to divest themselves of that liberty by a penal any one, but upon condition that we are the agreement, but must be content to undergo to answer it, and vindicate our selves by the penalties which the Law prescribed, in Law. respect to the person that was the cause of an unjust Divorce. The Divorce was made by a mutual consent of the parties, which deprehenses feuerit, kepital effed : He who is they called Bons Gratia, and in this case the fame depended wholly upon the Parties agreeing, to discharge each other of their marther was always punish'd most severely Nuptial Rights, and to advance themselves by the Ancients; and this punishment, as as they thought good, or elfe by the fole cording to the vigour of the Law, was not motion and obstinacy of the one, against only inslicted when death ensued, but also the inclination of the other; and if there when a person was bent upon the execution were no lawful cause for it, he who sued of an ill design, which he could not accomwas liable to the penalty of injusti distidit; plish; and so that person was punished but if there were just cause for it, then the | who armed waited for, or set upon any one Husband restored her Fortune to his Wife, took the Keys of his House from her, and fent her away, as Cicero tells us, frugi fallus est, mimam illam suam suas res sibi habere jussit ex duodecim Tabulis, claves ademit, exegit.

he shall pay him xxv A's in brass Money The word Injuris, injury, in the Reals Law, comprehended every thing a Man & in prejudice to his Neighbour: An injury was done three ways, by action, when one Man had received more blows and woundin his body than the other; by words, when one fpoke words of another that touch his Reputation and Honour, and by writing defamatory Libels and Verses. The first form injury was varioufly punish'd by the Roman Law, for if it proceeded fo far as to bresh a Member, the Laws of the twelve Table allowed the maimed person to take firm faction himfelf, by laying the fame punifiment upon the other, that is, to main him or break the fame bone ; and this they cal led Talie, for the punishment was and ought Divorces were not known to the ancient to be equal to the wrong; and when there buffet given with the Fift, he was only to pay five and twenty Ai's. As to Wrong done, and Satyrs made upon the Great Men mulet or banishment, and sometimes by death it felf, as St Augustin relates from Ch cere, I. 4. De Repub. Our Laws of the twelve Representations, for which there is great we ought not to be allowed to speak ill de > OUEI cum telo beminis occidendi undi found ready to kill another with an Arrow ought to be punish'd with death. Willia with a defign to kill him, tho' he in reality should escape. So also, he that gave another poyfon, who bought, fold and prepared it tho' it wrought not the effect, was punished in the fame manner as a murtherer.

joure cafes etted : Sei loucei furem faufe, sore fe tefenderit, fei im aliquips cum clamore scife, joure cafor eftod : Sei loucei fortont faufit want tele fe defenderit, fei leber fut, Prater im unbererier joubstod, eique quei fortom fattum efit addicito : Sei fervos fiet, virgis cafes ex faxo deium; fei impebes fiet, Prateris arbitratu verbesau nextiam farceito: It was lawful to kill him that ftole any thing by night; and if g was day, and that the Thief stood armed mon his defence, it was also lawful to kill him; but if he did not fo defend himfelf. and got away , the Prætor fentenced him ealy to be whipped; but if he was a Slave, they were, after he had been first whipped. m throw him down head-long over the Tarwies Rocks : If the Thief was not yet at histor: That he who bore falle Witness aminft any one fhould be thrown down headlong over the Tarpeian Rock. This Law with the Eighth Commandment, which God gave his people, Falfum Testimosien men dices. Plate and other Greek Philofoshers had undoubtedly read the Books of Mer, wherein the Decalogue is fet down, sall took the greatest part of their Laws from thence, which the December compiled. I fall not in this place fet down feveral Fragments of the Laws of the twelve Tables. concerning the way of judging and ordering an Acculation, which will be found under the word Accufatio, jui & judicium ; No more than those which refer to the As-Emblies of the people of Rome by Tribes, Contries & Curia, which will be found under the word Comitie. But now we come to bak of the particular Laws of the Romens and their Emperours.

LEX SULPITIA, The Sulpition Law, made by the Confuls P. Sulpitius Samuriu, and P. Semprenius Sophiu, in the year of Republick ccccl.

NESCILICET quis templum vel aram millis Senatus aut Tribumerum plebie majoris parti dedicarer : It was not lawful to dedicate a Temple or an Altar without the confent of the Senate or Tribunes of the people.

LEX PAPIRIA. The Papirian Law Ne quie injuffu plebie ades, terram, aram, aliamwerem ullam confecraret : It was not allowed | Seats in the Theater. any to confecrate Temples, any piece of Ground, and Altars, without the consent of

LEX HORTENSIA. The Hortofa Law required, that the Fairs which

QUEI ma forum faxfi, fei im aliquipi the future be held on Working-days; wherein the Prator administred Justice by pronouncing these three words, de, dice, addice, This Law was made by & Hertenfins Dictator in the year of Rome cccclaviii.

LEX PUBLICIA. The Publician Law made by Publicies Tribun of the people. Ne quibus nifi ditieribus cerei Saturnalibus mitterentur: That Wax Tapers were not to be fent to any, but those that were rich, at the time of the Saturnalia. It was a cuftom to make feveral Prefents at this Feast, and particularly of Wax Tapers, to intimate that Saturn had brought Men from Darkness to Light; that is, from an obscure and savage, to a police and learned Life.

LEX CORNELIA. The Cornelian Law, made by the Conful P: Cornelius Delaage, he was to be whipped and be sentence bells, after the death of Juliu Casar, in the of to such Damages as the Frætor pleased.

year of Rome dccx. Ut Eidas Julii anibus Casar OUBI falfum restimemium dixferis en face far interfettur in Senatu eft, Urbis narales baberentur: That they should celebrate the day of Rome's Original, on the Ides of July when

Cefer was flain. LEX LICINIA. The Licinian Law. concerning those Plays called Ludi Apollinares, instituted in honour of Apollo, determined the day on which they should be represented, there being no fixed day before appointed for that purpose. P. Licinius Præter urbanus legem ferre ad populum juffus ut bi ludi perpetunm in flatam diem voverentur. LEX ROSCIA; The Rescion and Julian Law, of which L. Roseus Otho Tribune of the people was Author; according to Flerus, in the year of Rome delxxxvi. Ut in Theatre Equitibus Romanis qui H. S. quadringenta poffident, quatuordecim Spellandi gradus adlignarentur , exceptis in qui ludicram artem exercuerant quique five fue five fortuna vitie rem decoxiffens: That the Roman Knights who were worth 400000 Sefterces , i. c. about 3333 1. Sterling, should have fourteen Steps of the Theater allowed them to fee the Plays, except those who were turned Buffoons, and wasted all their Fortune by their Debaucheries. This is what Tacitus fays. Am. 1. 14. c. s. the Emperour Separated the Roman Knights from the people in the Circus, and gave them Seats that were neares to the Senators. For before this they affifted at this Shew confusedly; for the Roscian Law regulated no more than what regarded the

LEX CINCIA. The Cincian Law, made for restraining the Avarice of the Orators, who exacted large Sums of Money for their pleadings. The Calpurnian Law against the Bribery of Magistrates, and that were at first kept on Holy days, should for which bore the name of Julius Cafar, was who made private Suit for Offices in the of the people was the Author of it, in the Commonwealth. LEX PAPIA. The Papian Poppean Law, made by Augustus in his old Age, to which L. Villus Tribune of the people was incourage Men to Marry, by impoling a Pe- Author; and whereby the Age of Perform nalty upon Batchelours, and thereby to in- that were to enter upon Offices in the Recrease the Rvenues of the Commonwealth.

LEX AGRARIA. The Agrarian Law, made concerning the diffribution of Lands, Law, which prescribed the Qualifications. taken from the Enemies. This Law prov- Persons ought to have that enter upon Om. ed to be the Seed of great Divisions in the ces in the Commonwealth. Roman Empire, in the time of the Republick. See Araria.

LEX JULIA. A Law made by Asguffur against Adultery. It was the first that appointed a punishment and publick Procefs to be made against those who seduced Wives , and Debauched Maidens and right of becoming Magistrates. Widows of Quality : Not that Adultery was not punished before Augustus his time; The Pempeian and Glaudian Law, which rebut there was no process made against it, and there was no stated Punishment assigned for the Commonwealth should be always me it : But the Julian Law, which Augustus him- fent. felf had the misfortune to fee put in execution in his own Family, in the person of his own Children, required nothing but banishment for this fin of Adultery; but the Penalty was afterwards increased by the conflitutions of the fucceeding Emperors, who punished Adultery with death.

LEX SUMPTUARIA, A Sumptor, in the Year of Rome DCLXXIII. where- by every one of them in proportion to the by the expences of Feasis and Funerals were Effects he had on board, this was made by regulated, and those condemned to pay a the Rhodism, and was found to be so just, certain pecuniary mulch, who transgressed that it was received by all the Narions that the injunction of that Law.

after the Sacred Fire in the Temple of the Pegens, wherein the Prieft poured down fome Goddess Vefia, the who let it go out, was Wine, Milk and other Liquors, in honour whipped by the Soveraign Pontiff; and if the of the Deity, to whom he Sacrificed, after fuffered her felf to be Debauched, she was he had first tasted a little of it. buried alive in Campus Sceleratus, without the LIBATIONES, Libations of Wine Gate called Portacellina. See Veftalis.

DE REPETUNDIS, The Law of Bribery or publick Extortion.

LEX ÆLIA, The Elien Law made concerning the Augurs, by Q. Elius Parus fill their Crowned Cups with Wine, and to the Conful, in the year of Rome dlxxxvii.

concerning the time of holding the Afupon those days called Dii Comitiales.

The Valerian and Semprenian Law, made con- Minerus. cerning those who had a right to Vote in the made against the Avarice and Intriges of those Reman Assemblies. G. Valerius Toppe, Time year of Rome icavi.

LEX VILLIA, The Villian Law, of publick was regulated. 'Twas also called LEX ANNĀLIS.

LEX CORNELIA. The Cornelina

LEX HIRCIA, The Hircian Law. which allowed of none to hold Offices in the Republick, but fuch as had fided with Cafe against Pempey

LEX VISELLIA, The Vifetian Law. which allowed the Sons of Freedmen the

LEXPOMPEIA & CLAUDIA onired that those who put in for Offices in

LEX RHODIA, The Law of Rhole relating to traffick by Sea; this Law required that if it happened a Ship laden with Merchandize, that belonged to feveral Merchant, in order to avoid Shipwrack, threw the Goods of some of them overboard, and that those of the other were faved, an estimate should be made of all the Merchandize, and tuary Law, made by Cornelius Salla the Dicta- that the loss and damage should be sustained came after them.

LEX PAPIA, The Papies Law con-cerning the Verhal Virgins, who looked remony practiced in the Sacrifices of the

and other Liquors, frequently made by the Heathens to their Gods when they went up LEX PEPETUNDARUM, or on any enterprizes. The Deputies which were fent to Achilles to invite him to come to the relief of his Country-men, began to wash their hands before their departure, to pour it down upon the ground ; in honour LEX FUSIA, The Fusian Law, made of the Gods these Libations were commonly performed, before they went to fleep. Ufemblies, which ought not to be held but liffer after he had got some little advantage over his Enemies, washed himself in the Sea LEX VALERIA, SEMPRONIA, Water, and went to make his Libations to freaks thus of Liber: As for the Myfteries of 'according to the Testimony of Varro, the Feasts | the Stick placed in the Umbilious. of Liber were celebrated with fo much Licentiousness in some Places in Italy, that in Honour of him, they gave Adoration to the Privy Parts of Man, and that not in Secret to cover their gullus Cafar, according to Suesonius and Tacisus; Shame, but publickly to make Wickedness ap Congiarium populo, Donativum militibus dedit : He 'pear triumphant: For they placed him after an gave a Largels to the People, which confifted of bonourable Manner in a Chariot, which was Imall Sefterces, and a Donative to the Soldiers, brought into the City after they had first drawn which was a like Sum of Denarii. Marcus Auit through the Fields: But at Lavinium they relius caused Medals to be coined, whereon the from a whole Month in celebrating the Feafts of Picture of Liberality was engraven, like a Ro-Liber only, during which time, there was all the | man Lady clad in a long Robe, holding a Teffera 'Impurity of Speech imaginable encourag'd, until in her Right Hand, and round it Liberalitas Authe laid Charlot had traversed the Market-place, gusti: By the Medals of Airian and Alexander and was brought whither the People defign'd to Severus, the Emperor is to be feen mounted upon deposite what they carried; after which, the a little Ascent, and in a sitting Posture, making 'most vertuous Ladies in the City must go and Signs to a Man that is at his Feet, to give him 'crown this infamous Thing, before the Multi- the Money that was fet upon the Brink of the 'tude. In this Manner it was that they made | Afcent, with Liberality on the Sides thereof, and God Liber favourable to Seeds, and expelled a Teffera in her Hand. Charms and Witchcraft out of the Earth.

Bacchanalia.

LIBER; a Book. The Way used by the Ancients in Binding of their Books, was not hardly ever in ute, either amongst the Greeks or Romans, till a long time after Catulus. Indeed, King Arralus feeing the Art was found out to make Parchment fo well, as to be fit to be writ upon, on both fides, made fome of his Books Square-wife; yet the ancient Way, which was to roll their Books in fuch a Manner, as to give them the Form of a finall Column, prevailed fo long, that even all their Libraries, in the Time of Cicero, and long after, were composed of these Rells: The Dearnets of Parchment, and Cheap-

LIBER. This is one of the Epithets of Bac- or glew feveral Leaves of Paper at full length the either because he procured unto the Bao to the Ends of one another, in proportion to the was their Liberty; or that being effeemed the Bigness of each Book : When one fide was filled God of Wine, he doth by Drinking, give Ease up, the Work was at end, for they did not write mro diffurb'd Minds. The Confulary Medals of on both fides; they rolled all together, beginthe Family of Caffia, represent unto us the Pictures | ning with the last, which they called Umbilious, of Liber and Libera, as they are called in Ancient | whereunto they fixed a Piece of Wood, Lhony, Inscriptions; that is, of Male and Female Bacchu. or some such Thing, to keep the Roll tight, and St. Augustine, Lib. 7. de Civ. Dei, Cap. 21. to the other End they glewed a Piece of, Parchment, which covered the whole Volume, and Liber, whom they have made to prefide over the was of use not only to save the Paper, but also Seminal Powers of Liquids, I mean, not only to be an Ornament to the Book, because it was over the Juices of Fruits, amongst which Wine painted of a Purple or Crimson Colour. The has the Preheminence, but also over Seeds of Title of the Book was written in Gold Cha-Animals ; I am loth to take notice of that Ex- | rafters on the outlide of the Parchment, but the cess of Infamy they arrived to therein; but yet | Epittle Dedicatory they wrote on the infide. 'I must say (in order to comound the arrogant | When the Roll was made, they cut it at both 'Stupidity of our Adversaries) among other Ends, and upon every Leaf, which was well 'Things, which I am obliged to omit upon this polified with a Pumice-stone, they laid pieces Occasion, because they are too tedious; that of Gold, Silver, or Ivory, which they fastned to

LIBERALITAS: Liberality; a Goddess worshipped by the Romans, and a Vertue often put in practice by good Emperors; above all by Au-

LIBERTAS. Liberty; a Goddess wor-LIBERALIA; the Feafts of Bacebus. See | Thipped by the Romans and Greeks, by the Name of Eleutheria; the Romans had divers Places and feveral Temples confecrated to the publick Liberty: Ovid makes mention of these Places, like unto ours: Books of a Square Form were and of a Day that was dedicated to Jupiter the Victorious, and to Liberty:

> Occupat Apriles Idus cognomine Victor lupiter, bac illi Sunt data Templa die. Hic quoq; ni faller, populo digniffima nostre Airia Liberius capit babere fua.

The Places were furrounded with Portico's, and it did appear that the People met there: It was a kind of Temple, open at top like unto that at Ferusilem, where stood the Altar for Burnt-Oinels of the Paper, whereof they made their rol- ferings; but belides these Places, the Roman Hiled Books, was the Reason there was hardly any storians make mention of several Temples at other to be seen. As to the Matter of Binding, Rome dedicated to the Goddess Liberty; among there was no other Fashion in use, but to paste others, that built by Claudius, in the Place where Cicero's Citero's House flood, after it had been ruined ; they called Libra or Libella, and was the Terth and that erected in Honour of Julim Cafar, af- part of a Denarius, because 'twas the Value of ter his Death. Dien Caffius mentions both, an As, which at first was a Pound Weight of in Lib. 43. It was to the publick Liberty that Copper: Scaliger also adds, that they made use the Romans dedicated these Temples. Her Pi- of the Word Libra for Money told ont; Libra Eture represented her clad like a Roman Lady, non erat nummus, sed Collettio Nummorum. holding a Javelin in one Hand, and a Cap or Bonnet in the other: By the Medals that were coined in Honour of Bruss, and by those of C. Cafar, furnamed Caligala, you may observe that the Bonnet or Cap was an Enfign of Liberty; thus when the Romans were about to grant their Slaves their Freedom, they gave them 2 Bonnet or Cap: From whence comes the Latin Phrase, Dare Pileum, to give one his Liberry, and Vocare ad Pileum, to call a Slave to his Freedom.

Book, will have them to have been thus named, from a Mountain in Thrue called Liberbrus, at the Foot whereof there flood a Temple dedicated to the Muses by the Thracians.

LIBITINA; this was a Goddess, believed by the Ancients to prefide over Funerals: Some confound her with Proferpina; others with Venus; the Moon as well as the Sun prefide over Nativities and Funerals, as the general Cause of the Generation and Corruption of all Things; it were to whip, or to cut off the Head of the and the has received all these Names and Offices | condemned Offender : They were thus called ? for her felf alone, as Plutarch has it in the Life of Numa. In her Temple they kept all Things that were requifite for Funeral Solemnities; whence it is, that Phadra reproaches a Miler, for cutting off by his Will, all the Charges which should have been expended at his Funeral, for fear left the Goddels Libitime should get any Thing by his Death.

Qui resecas omnem impensam Funeris Ne quid de suo Libisina lucresur.

Those Persons whose Business it was to furnish them with what was necessary for that Purpole, were called Libitinarii, according to Uhian; to fecure the leace and Frauquility of the Puband at this Day they are known with us by the lick. Name of Undertakers.

Signs of the Zodiac; when the Sun comes to the Eighth Degree of Libra, it marks the Autumnal Equinox, because it forms Arches equal to those it did before in Taurus; it enters therein in built the Tower of Babel; the Hebrew Tongue the Month of September, on our 7th or 12th.

in respect to all heavy Things that are weighed; because tis so pure and chafte, that there is no the Romans allowed but Twelve Ounces to a Pound Weight, and to a Pound of Length-Meafure: The Weights of a Pound were borrowed by the Romans from the Sicilians, who named it wherein the Vowels are noted by Points. Father Litra; and the Romans changed the s into b.

LICHAS; Hercules his Servant, by whom Deianira his Wife fent him the Shirt that was infected with the Blood of the Centaur Neffust which Poison made Hercules so outragious, that he threw Lichas into the Seas, and he was transformed by Neptune into a Rock.

LICTORES; Liftors, or Ax-Bearers; they were so called, because they carried the Axes, which were faitned to a long Handle, and encompassed with a Bundle of Rods, called Fastes, LIBETHRA; a certain Fountain conse- or Secures : Romulus was the first that made use crated to the Muses, and for this Readon they of them, with a Design to inspire the People have been called Liberbrides. Strabo in his 10th | with a greater Reverence for their Magistrates; The Dicators had Twenty Four Littors, who walked before them, the Confuls, Twelve; the Pro-Confuls and Governours of Provinces, Six; the Przetors and City Magistrates, Two only. They also punished such Ostenders as were surprized in the Fact at the first Command they received from the Magistrates. J. Litter, Colliga manus, expedi virgas, plette fecuri. They were ready to undo their Bundle of Rods, wilether Ligando, because they bound the Hands and Feet of the condemned Person before his Execution.

LIMENARCHE, or Stationarii; They were Soldiers posted by the Romans in divers Places, to prevent Diforders, and especially Highway-men, and Robbers upon the High-ways, as the Grand Provofts are in France at this Day They were appointed by Augustus after the End of the Civil War, to hinder the Soldiers that had been disbanded from ravaging Italy: Tiberius increased their Number, as Sucronius in the Life of the faid Emperor informs us: The Chief of these Soldiers was called Irenarcha; that is, The Prince of the Peace, because he was instrumental

LINGUA, Tongue, Speech; they are cer-LIBRA, the Ballance, is one of the Twelve tain Expressions which People have conceived to make one another to be understood: The Original of Languages came from the Confusion, wherewith God punished the Pride of those who is the ancientest Language, and is called the LIBRA, a Pound. Tis a Measure of Weight Holy Language, and the Rabbins say, 'tis so; Word therein for the Privy Parts, nor for that whereby we ease Nature; there is a Difference between the Hebrew without Points, and that Marin pretends, in Opposition to the Modern The Romans had also a fort of Money which Rabbis, that Mofes wrote without Points, and tains, that besides the Books of Scripture, in the Time even of St. Ferome, there was no other Book in Hebrew, but only in the Greek Tongue, and that it was not before fullinian's Reign, that they began to appear. The Reason which he gives for it, is, that the faid Emperor having by an Edict forbidden the Jews to Read the SurieuCis, or their Traditions in their Synagogues, they bethought themselves of Translating it into their own Language; and this Book, fays he, was called Mifna. The Points in the Hebrew Tongue were not invented, to fignifie the Vowels by, till towards the Tenth Century, by the Maffareses.

The Punic Tongue, according to the Authority of William Postell, was no other than the Phanician, which he compares with the Hebrew, from whence it proceeded together with the Caldean and Syriack.

The Arabick Tongue is the most Copious of all the Languages; and the Arabs fay, they are as Ancient as the Hebrews, as pretending their Descent to have been from Ifmael: Their Ingenuity and Language have been much commended: Their ancient Writings have almost all the Letters joined together; but one Elcabil was necefficated to invent and introduce the Points into their Language, for the easier reading of Arabick: Some of them they place above, and others below the Words. Kinflenius in his Epiftle Dedicatory to the Emperor Redolphus, speaking of this Custom, seems to be of Opinion, that the Arabs did not admit of these Points into their Writings, till such time as they had Commerce with the People of Europe : The Ancient Arabick Character was called Cupbick : The most Ancient is the thickeft and largeft, the other being less both ways. That which the Tartars make nie of at this Day, appears closer, smaller, and more bended than the others.

The Egyptian Language had the Forms of Animals in it, being mysterious Symbols, that served to conceal and involve in Obscurity all the Secrets of their Theology: They called them Hieroglyphicks: And many Obelisks or Tombs are still to be found inscribed with such Chaof this Language express the Nature and Propriety of all Things.

The Copsick, which was the Language of Ewhole Inhabitants had retained part of the Ancient Language: The fame Perion in another place is of Opinion, That this Name was taken from the Word "Aryumros; the which is confirmed also by Father Vansleb, although he attributes the Origine thereof to Copros the Grand- and Compleating of the Sence of them; They without the Diffinction of Words: Volius main | fon of Nods; there are fill, fays he, some of the Descendants of these first Exprises in being, who speak this Language: In the mean time, it may be faid, that the same hath been loft many Ages ago. A Grammar and Vocabulary were found in the famous Monastery of St. Anthony, written in this Language, whose Characters are somewhat like the Ancient Greek: The Modern Copticks have no other Language than the vulgar Egyptian Dialect, that is intermix'd with Turkifb and Arabick : Father Kircher will have the Ancient Coptick to have been altered by the Greek Tongue, from which it hath borrowed divers Words and Characters.

The Enurian Tongue has some Characters that are like enough to the Latin, and the Writing thereof is from the Right to the Left. Exgubinus has given us an Inscription in this Language, which has been found to have been of Fifty Years flanding before Sylla's Time; the Romans were very Curious to know this Language, and they used all their Endeavour to

The Charafters of the Greek Tongue have not changed fo much as those of other Languages; the First and the most Ancient of them are more square, and come near those of their Original, which is the Phanician or Hebrew; feeing that, according to the Authority of Herodorus, the first Characters that were introduced into lonia, were very near the fame. Pliny speaking of the Greek Characters, after he had faid that they were like the Roman Letters used in his Time, cites no other Example for it, but an old Infcription upon a Brafs Plate, which Vespasian and Tisus had given to the Publick Library : The Ancient Greek Characters, fays he, are almost like unto the Latin ones of our Days, witness that old brazen Plate, taken out of the Temple at Delphos, which may be now feen in the Library of the Palace, dedicated by the Emperors to Minerva.

NATEIKPATHE, TIEAMENOT. AOHNAIOE. KOPA. KAI. AOHNA. ANEOHKEN.

This certainly was the Form of the Ancient rafters, and Hieroglyphical Figures; the Words Greek Characters, whereof Pliny and others speak; for 'tis certain, that the Ancient Grecians knew no other Letters but Capitals; and John Lafeary, a Greek by Birth, confirms it in a gre before the Greek, is a fingular Tongue, and | Preface of his to a Collection of Greek Epigrams, independent of all others, according to the Opi- printed at Florence in Capital Letters, in the mon of Kircher. Salmafus fays, That the Year, 1484. The Pointing and Diffinguishing Word Copties, comes from a Town called Coptos, of Words, were not in use in those Old Times; which continued in a manner to the 174 Olympied, according to the Testimony of Lipsius and Leo Allasius : Its observed from the most Ancient Monuments, that the Greeks did not divide their Discourses at any time, but for the Perfecting did not put many Words into the same Line, | but, began another with a new Sentence; as Ancient Sacrifices, to intimate, That the Sacrifice may be seen by the Inscriptions of the Earl of was over, and the Gods made propitious. Littere. Arundel; infomuch, that they did not write a- fays Macrobius, L. 3. Saturnaliorum, C. 5. long at all as we do, but by way of Articles: Suides speaks of a Way of Writing, which they Call BOTETPODIAON, Bouftrophidon, being as much as to fay, done in Lines like unto shofe made by Oxen when shey plough. Paufanias confirms the same Thing in a Description he gives of the Coffer of Cypfelus, that was in Juno's Temple, in the City of Elis: There was upon this Cheft, fays he, some Inscriptions engraved in old Characters and fireight Lines: There were also tome others done after the Way which the Greeks call Bouftrophidon, because the Second Verse immediately follows the First, and joins it in the same Manner as the Races in the Stadia or Circus are redoubled. Some Authors are of Opinion, that the Sentences fo diffinguished and fenarated by Lines, have been continued even long after the Use of Accents and Points had been introduced, as may be feen in Diogenes Laertius: Aristophanes, a Grammarian of Bigantium, was the first that brought them up, toward the 150 Olympiad, in the Reigns of Philopater and Euergetes, Kings of Egypt, Two Hundred Years before Christ's Nativity. The Latin Tongue, like the rest, has had its

Increase and Revolutions: The same Thing hath befell its Characters, as may be observed from the most ancient Interiptions, and those which have succeeded them, even before the Destruction of the Empire: As the Characters of that Inscription of Duilius, published by Father Sirmond, do come nearer their Origin, fo they have a little more of the Errurian and Greek in them: I hey discover the Shaking-hand of a People who did yet but begin: Those Seven Latin Volumes that were found in Numa's Tomb, were not writ in this Charafter; feeing Quintilian affures us, there were but very few Let ters in those early Times, whose Shape and Power were of a different kind; and the Emperor Claudius procured no small Benefit to himself in introducing the Eolick Letter H. Tacitus in the 10th Book of his Annals, speaking of the Form of the Roman Letters, fays, they were like unto the most ancient Greek Characters, which were Capitals. LINUS, the Son of Apollo, and Terpfichore, or of Mercury, and the Nymph Urania, was a famous Musician, and Mafter to Orobeus: Hercules killed him with his own Harp for ridiculing him: Of this Name was a Theban Poet, that first brought Letters from Phanicia into Greece. Hermodorus the Platonick, C. 2. Of bis Discourses, says, He wrote a Tract in Verse about the Creation of the World, the Course of the Sun and Moon, and the Generation of Animals: He was killed with an Arrow shot at him by Apolio.

LITARE, and Litatio; Terms used at the Sacrificio fatto placare Numen. 'Tis to appeale God by Sacrifice. Suetonius also speaking cincerning Julius Cafar, that he could not offer one favourable Sacrifice, on the Day wherein he was flain in the Senate, makes use of this Latin Expreffion ; Dein pluribus Hoftiis Cafis cum litere non poffet, introits in Cariam, fpreta Religione : af. ter he had offered many Sacrifices, and could not find the God's favourable, he gave over and went into the Senate, in Contempt of Religion: The faid Author does again make use of the fame Expressions in the Life of Augustus; Sairs. ficio non Litante; that is, not being able to appeafe the Gods, nor to make them propitious by his Sacrifices.

LITERA; a Letter; Figure, Character, or Stroak of the Pen, which Men have agreed upon to fignifie fomething, and the Joyning whereof makes their Thoughts known to one another a From these Letters, are, as I may say, miradic loufly fprung a Million of different Words They may be called the Elements of Speech. the Sacred Atoms, out of which is formed the vast World of Sciences; and the faithful Gardians of what is most precious amongst Men! Without them the Original of the World would have been but confusedly known, and the most celebrated Actions would be buried in profound Oblivion.

The Alphabet of every Language is composed of a certain Number of these Letters or Characters, which have a different Sound, Form and Signification : The English and Greek have each 24 Letters; the Latin commonly 22, and the Hebrew 22 without Points. The Art of Writing has not been perfected all at once, feveral Ages were required to inpply what was defective inthose Shapes of Animals, the Ancients used, as may appear by Tacitus. The Egyptians, according to his Account, believed themselves to be: the Inventers of it; but 'tis more likely that the Hebrews, or as almost all the Ancients callthem, the Chaldeans or Phanicians, were their Mafters, as we learn from that Verle in Lucan: .

Phanices primi, famæ fi creditur, Aufi Manfuram rudibus vocem fignare Figuris.

Whence it was that those Letters were called. Phanician ones by the Greeks. Yet Diodorus Siculus reports, that that was not certain, and thatit was only believed, that they did not invent; but change the Form of Letters; which is not unlikely, tince Quintus Curtius fays of them, if the Relation is to be believed, that they were the first that invented Letters, and shewed the Use of them; St. Augustine also, with many Moles: And that before the Deluge it felf, the first Characters, according to Fosephus, had been engraven upon l'illars, which seth caused to be erected in Syria, for the Preservation of the Sciences he had discovered: This agrees with what Pliny fays concerning the Allyrian Letters that they are no other than the Hebrew or Chaldean; As for my felf, fays that Anthor, I believe the Affyrian Letters were always in being. Hyginus attributes to the Destinies the Invention of the following Greek Letters, A, B, H, I,T,T. And 'tis for that Reason Martianus Capella calls them the Secretaries of Heaven.

Folephus, in the Beginning of his Fewifb Antiquities, rejecting the Opinion of the Greeks and Egyptians, will have us to believe, that the Grecians came very late to the Knowledge of Letters, that they received them from the Phanicians, and not from Cadmus, feeing at that time there were no Inscriptions found in the Temples of their Gods, nor in the publick Places; it being certain, the Greeks had nothing of greater Antiquity, than the Works of Homer; tho' Cicero in his Orator, entituled Brutus, tells us, they had Poets more ancient than Homer, who contented themselves with renearing their Poems by heart, because they had not yet found out the Use of Writing, or of Letters. Pliny, Lib.7. Chap. . 6. will have the most ancient Letters to rin ones, if they be considered and taken upfide have seen the Affrian, and that Cadmus about down, that they are almost the same thing. Eubefore the Trojan War, brought Sixteen of them from Phanicia into Greece, viz. A,B,C,D,E,G,I,L, M, N, O, P, R, S, T, U, to which Palamedes, during the Trojan War, had added Four, Q, E, D, T. Herodotus will have it, That the Phanicians, who came with Cadmus into Greece, brought Writing Characters thither : which Diodorus Simulus also affirms; but at the same time he fhews these Letters were not the same which them there before the Deluge of Deucalion, and that he did no more than revive the Use of them. Empolemius attributes the first Invention of Letters to Mofes, who gave them to the fews long before Cadmus his Time, and the Jews to the Phenicians, who were their Neighbours: Philo the Few ascribes them to Abraham a long Time his Antiquities, carries the Matter still farther, engraven. as high as Adam's Children, even to Seth, who engraved the Characters thereof upon Two

Moses his first Characters were not those Hebrew ones used now, which were invented by Erra after the Babilonifo Captivity, but those which were called Sanaritan, according to St. Ferome, in his Preface to the Book of Kings: And this is agreeable to the Sentiments of joine others, is of Opinion, that the People of God! Rubbins, who ground the same upon the Samahad learned them of the first Fathers, as of ritans, having always the Law of Mofes written in the Five Books, called the Pentateuch, in their own Characters, and that the same were inferibed upon ancient Medals of Gold and Silver, which were found in Ferufalem, and divers other Parts of Palefline. But this Opinion is not without its Difficulty; as may be feen by the Talmud, where Marfuka fays, that the Law was first given to the Children of Ifrael in Hebrew Characters, but that afterwards Eqra put it into the Aramean Tongue, and Allyrian Characters. There are some Authors who maintain, that Mofes made use of two forts of Characters, one, which is the Hebrew, for Sacred Things, and the other, which is the Samaritan, for prophane Matters, and of which last the Chaldeans made use, and that the Greek and Latin Charafters were formed of thefe; the laft of which being no other than the Greek Capitals, according to the Testimony of Pliny, who proves it by an ancient Inteription engraven upon Brass, and brought from Delphos to Rome.

NATEIKPATHE O MEN. AGHNAIOE EME TEØEIKEN.

And he fays in Chap. 56. These were Allyrian. Letters, or according to some Authors, Syriac : But they are rather Samaritan, which, besides the Aleph and Fod, are to like the Greek and Isthe Year of the World 2520, above 250 Years febius confirms the same Matter by the Greets. own Denomination, or Imitation of Caldailm therein, by their adding an A, as in Alpha inftead of Aleph, Beta for Beth, Gamma for Gimel. Delta for Daleth, &c.

Simonides, Evander and Demaratus were the first that brought Letters into Italy, the one from Arcadia, and the other from Corintb, the last into Tufcany, and the other to that Part of the Country where he fettled: In a Word, the Cadmus brought with him, feeing they had had ancient Greek Letters were very like ours, but we had but a very few of them at first; the rest were fince added. The Emperor Claudius, in Imitation of the Ancients, invented I hree Letters, that continued in Use during his Reign, and were abolish'd after his Death : The Form of them are still to be seen in the Temples, and other publick Places of Rome, upon the Copper before Mofes; and Josephus in the First Book of Plates, whereon the Decrees of the Senate were

> The Hebrews made a Division of their Letters into Guttural, viz. ab, cb, gn, Dental ?, s, r, Labial b, m, n, p, and those of the Tongue, viz. d, t, l, n. Crinitus fays, Mofes invented the Hebrew Letters, Abraham the Syrise and Chaldee; the Phanicians those of Arrica. (righteen whereof Cadmas brought into Greece. and which the Pelafgi carried into Italy) and Nicoffrates the Latin Letters.

The Egyptians inflead of Letters used the Fi- | cond : But in pronouncing Daham or Staten. gures of Animals, and of Birds, which they called Hieroglyphicks, and were invented by Ifis. The Geshick or Toledo Letters were invented by Guefile, Bifhop of the Goths.

The Letters, F, G, H, K, Q, X, Y, Z, were formerly not known to the Romans, as is proved by Claudim Daufquies in his Orthography, wherein he shews the Origin of Letters.

The Grammarians distinguish Letters into Vowels and Confonants; into Mutes, double Letters, Liquids, and Characterifticks. They Time of Anim. They also sometimes placed reckon Six Vowels, A, E, I, O, U, and I, they are thus called, because they have a diffinct Sound of themselves, and can alone form a Syllable, There are Eighteen Confonants, who Reason, that we likewise find among the Anrequire the Help of a Vowel in order to the cients Mehe put for mee or me; and meherum Forming of an Articulate Sound, and Compo- put for mecum, and the same we do when we fing a Syllable. Of the Eighteen Confonants lay, vehemens for veemens, and mibi for me and the X and the Z, according to the Ancients mit of the Ancients. But afterwards in order Way of Pronouncing them, are properly no more than Abbreviations; the X, being nothing elfe but a C, and an S; and the Z, a D, and an S; and for this Reason, they are called derflood by the Transcribers, they have taken double Letters.

King Chilperis had a Mind to introduce all the double Greek Letters into the French Alphabet, that so by one single Character they might formosus, aquonsus for aquosus, and the like; express the th, ch, ph, pf; and this was put in they being ignorant that among the Ancients Practife during his Reign, according to the Testimony of Gregory of Tours.

Of the Sixteen Confonants which remain, there are Four which they called Liquids or Fluent ones, viz. L. R. M. N; tho' ftrictly fpeaking, there are no more than the L and the R, which deserve this Name: the other two especially the M, being but very little liquid: There are Ten of them which may be called are pronounced with a closer and smaller Mouth Mutes, and may be divided into Three Clasicles, according to the Affinity they have one to another.

B, P, F, V, Mutes, 2C, Q, G, I,

As for the other two, the S makes a Class by it felf, unless the two double ones X and Z be juined thereunto, because it makes up the principal Part of them: As for the H'tis no more than an Aspiration, altho' for that Reaion it ought not to be ftruck out of the Number of Letters.

of Vowels in general. There is nothing wherein we have more changed the Pronunciation of the Ancients, than in them, for we do not continue to take Notice of the Diftinction between long and short Vowels, whereon depends all the Quantities of Syllables, excepting those who are long by Position; thus in pronouncing of Amaban and falls naturally into the L: From whence pro-Circumdabam, one may easily see that ma is ceeds the mutual Change that has been between you cannot conceive whether the first Syllable of either of them be long or fhort : but the Ancients in their Pronounciation made an exact Diftinction between all the long and all the fhort Vowels, where ever they met with them. They also observed this Diffinction in their Writing, between long and fhort Vowels. wherein they often doubled the Vowel to do note a long Syllable: Which is teftified by Quintilian to have continued in Use to the the Letter H between the faid double Vowel, to render the Pronounciation thereof the firmger, as Abala was put for Ala; and 'tis for this to abridge the same, they have thought it enough to draw a Line only above the faid Vawel, to flew it was long; which being not unthis Line for the Abbreviation of a Letter. which is the Caufe, that we meet with toricus for toties, vicensimm for vicefimus, formonfm for the faid Line was of no other Use than to denote the Quantity of the Syllable.

Of Vowels in particular.

The Three first, viz. A, E, I, are called open Vowels, because they are pronounced with a more open and full Mouth than the others. The Three laft Vowels are O, V, and the Greek r, and are named close Vowels, because they than the foregoing ones.

The Dipthongs, which Lipfus calls Bivorales. double Vowels, are pronounced with a double Sound, as their Names do import; altho' both the Vowels are not heard equally or alike, because the one is sometimes weaker and the other ftronger. They reckon Eight of them in Latin, viz. Æ, Ái, Au, Ei, Eu, Oe, Oi, Vi. of Confonants.

They reckon Lighteen Confonants in all who require a Vowel to be joined to them in order to the Ferming of an Articulate sound and compoing a Syllable; they are divided into Liquids and Mutes, into hiffing and afpirated Con-

There are Four Liquid or Fluent Letters, that is, such as pass quickly and easily, viz. L, R, M, N. L and R have fo great an Affinity between them, that those, who would pronounce the R, cannot do it, because 'tis very harsh, and long in the first Word, and de short in the fe- these Two Letters, for 'twas not the Arbenians Luius nied Camberus for nardnas G., and con-Comit for confracuit. The M has a dull Sound and is pronounced with the outermost Parts of the Lips, from whence it has been called Mugien Litters; it is drown'd often in Profe, as also sometimes in Verse. In the Law Restituta' vi is put for Restitutum iri: The N on the Contrary was called Tinnieus Littera, because it had a dearer and sharper Sound, and sounded against the l'allate of the Mouth. Those Consonants are called Mutes, which have a duller and less distinct found than the reft. The B and the P are fo like one another, that in the Opinion of Quintilian, concerning the Word Obimuit, Reason would have him use a B, but his Ears could hear no other Sound than a P Ominuit; for which Cause we see both by ancient Inscriptions, and old Glosses, that these Two Letters have been often confounded, as apfens has been put for absens, obtimus for optimus; and the Germans to this Day fay, ponum vinum for bonum vinum; these Two Letters have always had that in common, that they often slip into Words without any need of them. as ablporto put for afporto. The Letter F was pronounced as the Greek &, but not with fo ftrong an Afpiration, according to the Testimony of Terrentimus. The Vab or V Confonant had a more plain Pronunciation, but with less Respiration than we now use it. The C and the Q are so very like one another, that several Grammarians have been minded to reject the Q as a superfluous Letter, pretending that the C and the U were sufficient to express what we intend by a Q; but there is no reason why they should reject the Q as Varro does, according to the Relation of Cenforinus, and Licinius Calvus according to that of Villorinus; for 'tis still useful fince it ferves to join the two Vowels that follow into one Syllable, whereas the C denotes their being divided; and this is that which makes a Difference between the Nominative, Qui, and the Dative, Cui. D is nothing but a Diminution of T, as the G is of C, according to Quintilian, and these two Letters are so very like, that by reafon thereof, they are often found to be put one for another, as as for ad; which gives Quintilian occasion to laugh at those who make a Scruple of writing one indifferently for the other, as fer for fed, baut for baud, arque for adque are to be met with in Inscriptions, and ellewhere.

In the French Tongue they write voit with a t, tho' it be derived from the Word Videt, and as often as the D is in the End of a Word, and that the succeeding Word begins with a Vowel or an H that is not pronounced by way of Afpiration, they found it as a T; for Example, white it an grand Homme. In every Thing elfe, A A for Augulti, &c. C frood for Caine, he being they pronounce it un grant Homme, tho' they they, as well as the English, have almost intirely I to called from the Joy conceived by his Parents above that faid xpiger @ for xxiger @; but the | retained the Pronunciation of the faid two Letters, faving that they fosten the T very much when 'sis joined with an I before another Vowel, where they make it to found very near like unto the S of the Ancients, as Pronuncio is founded, as if it were written Pronunfio. The S they call an hiffing Letter, by reason of the Sound it has. The same has been variously received among the Ancients, some having rejected it very much while others did as much affett it: Pindar in a manner lays it afide in all his Verses: Quintilian fays, 'tis harth, and makes an ill Sound in the Conjunction of Words, whence it came to pais that many times it was entirely rejected: Plausus, Terence, and others using to write in this manner, Dignu' omnibu', and the like: Some of the Latins changed this Letter into a T; in Imitation of the Athenians, using Mertare for Mersare: Whereas others on the Contrary affected the Use of it every where, as Casmena was put for Camena, Dufmofa for Dumofa: And Quintilian bears witness, that from .Cicero's Time, and fo onward, the same Letter was often doubled in the middle of Words, as may be instanced in Causa, Divissiones, &c. But be it as it will, 'tis certain, that this Letter is harfh. if it be hiffed out too much, or have too great a Train to follow it, and this has obliged the French to fosten it to that degree, that when the same happens to fall between two Vowels they pronounce it like an Z.

The X sometimes is put with the C, as in the Words viexit, junexit, and the like; and many times with S, as you fee in Capadoxs, Conjunxs, &c. St. Ifidore teftifies, that this Letter was not in use before the Reign of Augustus, and Viltorinus fays, Nigidius would never make use of it; and for the Z it was pronounced much more foftly than the X; tho' the faid Pronunciation was not altogether the same as it is at this Day, wherein we give it but one half of an S, as in the Word

There has been a Dispute among Grammarians, whether the H should be reckoned in the Number of Letters or no; because, say they, 'tis no more than an Aspiration.

It must be confest, the H is no more than an Aspiration, yet that does not hinder it to be a real Letter, which may be seen by what has been faid before concerning the H.

The Romans made use of the Letters of the Alphabet only to denote their proper Names, and to abridge divers Words in their Inscriptions and ancient Monuments. A alone fignified Aulus, from the Verb alo, he having been born Din alentibus: In Judicial Proceedings it flood for absolvo; I discharge the Person accused: In the Affemblies for antique, I reject the Law proposed to be passed. A stood for Augustus:

at his Birth. C was used for Cafar, coming with a Bols made of Bone, Horn, or Ivery, like from the Verb Cado, because his Mother's Body | a Navel: And from thence came the Word was cut open to bring him forth: C ftood also Volume. from the Verb volvo, and this other La. for Conful, and C C for Confules, &c. D fignified Decimus or Decims; that is, one born on the Tenth Day. L frood for Lucius, the Light, because the first Ferson that bore this Name was born at break of Day. M exprest Marcus, being as much as to fay, one born in the Month of March, and this Letter with an Acute marked thus M' or with a Comma thus M' fignifies Manius, that is, one born in the Morning. or rather, one that is all Good; the Contrary whereof is, Immanis, wicked, cruel, &c. N fignifies Nepos, a Grandson. P implies Publins, made use of them sometimes to write upon. from the Word Pubes, or Populus People. Q flands for Quineus, that is, the fifth Son of the Family, or Quafter, a Treasurer, or Quirites, Cittizens of Rome. T stands for Titus, from the Word Tueri, being as much as to fay, the Defender or Preserver of ones Country, and the made use almost of all forts of Things to write fame Letters also of the Alphabet turned topsieturvey denoted the proper Names of the Roman Ladies, W being put for Marca, and o for Caia.

Appius, which is derived from the Sabine Word | nis; upon Goat-ikins, and the Entrais of Animals, Arrius ; for Arrius Claudius was the first that was banished out of his Country that came to Rome. and changed his Name from Attius, to that of Appins Claudius. Cn fightified as much as Cneus, that is, Navus, from fome Mark or Mole upon his Body. M F fignified Marci Filius. the Son of March. M N denoted Marci Nepos; bles, or Boards, that were very thin, whereon the Grandson of Marcus. P C tigoified Patres they drew Letters, as easily as upon Wax: Conferinti: the Senators of Rome. P Q tignified Populus Romanns; the Romans. R.P was Books, Libri lintei, which were so valuable that put for Respublica; the Common-wealth. S C was used for Senatus Consultum, the Order or Decree of the Senate. S P stands for Spurius, deposited in the Temple of Juno Moneta: They which denotes iomewhat that was bale in ones at first made use of a Stile to draw the Letters Birth, or that the Person was not legitimate. Ti, is put for Tiberius, as having been born the same was of divers Colours, even of Gold near the Tiber. Cof. is put for Conjul. Cofs. for Confules in the Plural Number. S.P. Q.R. itands for Senatus, Populujque Romanus; the Senate | Wormwood-Juice to preserve them from Rats. and l'eople of Rome. It is also found that the fame Letter doubled ferves to increase the Sig- feeing a certain Author hath given us an Ac nification of a Word, or to fignifie Superlative | count, that one of Pindar's Odes, which was Degree. Thus B. B. stands for bene bene: F. F. the Seventh, was writ in Gold Characters, and for fortiffime or feliciffime. L.L. for lubentiffime, kept in the Temple of Minerva: Silver was also

The Ancients, before Parchment was invent- perors only. ed, wrote only on one tide, because the Leaves of the Tree, which they called Papyrus, whereon Molaick-Work, which begun to be in Use in they wrote, were so thin, that the Back-side Rome in Sylla's Time, who made one thereof could not hear lnk: They did the same Thing, at Preneste in the Temple of Forsune, about when they began to use Parchment, and as the 170 Years before our Saviour's Nativity: This Leaves thereof were very long and large, they | Word fignifies only in Greek a Stone Pavement; were obliged to roll them up, and close them but by it must be understood, such Pavements tin Phrase, ad umbilicum opus perdultum ; therea a Bufiness finish'd; for the same was closed ap with this Bols or Stud : To write otherwife, was fo very contrary to Custom; that when they were minded to ridicule any one, who was tedious, they faid he wrote on both fides, and never made an end. This Invention of Parchment is older than fome Authors make it to be; fince Herodorus relates, that the Ionians, who received the Use of Letters from the Phanicians, called the Skins of Beafts, Books; because they and because a Treaty made between the old Remans and the Gabii, a People of Latium, was written in Antique Letters, upon an Ox his Hide, wherewith they covered a Wooden Shield. as Dionyfius of Halicarnassus informs us: they upon, as the Barks of Trees, Boards covered with Wax, or the like: Brass was also used on which the Spartans wrote to Simon, High Prieft of the Fews ; feripferunt ad eum, faith the They sometimes doubled the Letters of their | Scripture, in Tabulis areis: They wrote also up-Alphabet with the same Design, as A.P. signified on Ivory, as Ulpian informs us, Libris Elephaniaccording to Herodorus, Cedrenus, and Zonaras: who relate, that there was in the Library at Constanzinople, Homer's Iliads wrote in Gold Characters upon the Intestine of a Dragon, an 120 Foot in length. The Lombards, after their Irruption into haly, wrote upon Wooden Ta-Apuleius, in divers places, speaks of Linnea they made no use of them but to record the Actions of the Roman Emperors; which were with ; but afterwards Ink came in Fashion and and Enamel. Pliny speaks of a Kind of pettliar Ink for Books, which was mixt with some

The Custom of using Gold is very ancient, in Use; but Purple was reserved for the Em-

LITHOSTROTON; a Pavement of

as are made of small Stones joined together and as it were enchased in the Cement, representing different Figures by the Variety of their Cotours and Ordering: At last the same came in Fashion in Rooms, and they wainscoted the Walls of Palaces and of Temples therewith: there is at Lyans an old Church dedicated to St. Ireneus, that is all paved with Mosaick-work, where may be ftill feen Images, of Rhetorick, Logick and Prudence. The Pieces whereof Juno Lucina, fer Opem. Ter. Mofaick-work was made, M. Perrault favs, in his Commentary upon Vivavius. Should be cubical, or come near unto a cubical Form, that fo they might joyn exactly one with another, and be able to imitate all the Figures, and Shadowings of Painting; every small Stone used therein having but one Colour, as well as the Stitches of Needle-work Tapeftry.

I.ITUUS: this was a Staff belonging to the Augurs, bending inwardly at Top, somewhat like a Bishop's Crosser, but shorter: It was the Enlign of their Office. LIVIA; was of the illustrious Family of the Claudii, who by feveral Adoptions had paffed into that of the Livit and Fulit; for her Father was adopted into the Family of the Livii, and her felf into that of the Cafars : She was first married to the Emperor Tiberius his Father: But Augustus being smitten with her Beaurius and Drufus. Historians accuse her of poifoning Augustus, in order to raise her Son Tiberius to the Throne: She died at a great Age in the Confillhip of Rubellius and Fusius surna-

LIXA: a Town in Mauritania, where, according to the Fable, flood the Palace of Anteus, whom Hercules squeezed to Death between ed by a Dragon.

LUCARIA; was a Feaft which was celebrated at Rome on the Eighteenth of July, in Memory of the Flight of the Romans into a great their Escape: Plutarch says, the Actors were paid that Day, the Money which arose from the Felling of Wood.

LUCINA; Ovid derives her Name from lucus, or rather Lux, because 'twas by her Help they believed Infants were brought forth.

Gratia Lucinæ, dedit bæt tibi Nomina Lucus; Aut quia Principium en Dea Lucis babes.

The Poets attributed to Diana the Functions

Rite maturos aperire partus Lenis Hitbyia, tuere Matres; Sive tu Lucina probas vocari, Seu Genitalu. Diva. producas Sobolem .-

The Women cried to her, when they were in Labour, because she presided over Lyings-in;

LUCRETIA; the Daughter of Spurius Lucretius, who married Collatinus; her extraordinary Beauty made Sextus Tarquinius, attempt to ravish her in the Absence of her Husband: But this vertuous Lady being not able to bear that Indignity, went to her Father and the People of Rome to have Justice done her, then stabbed her felf with a Dagger, that she might not survive the Disgrace: This Sight did so affest the Romans, that they cried out for Liberty, and drove King Tarquin out of Rome, and erected a Sort of Government that had something both of Aristocracy and Democracy in it; for which End they created Two Confuls to govern the Commonwealth.

LUCTA; was one of the bodily Exercises u'ed among the Athenians, being an Encounter between Two Men only, for a Trial of Strength, and wherein each endeavoured to give the other ty would have her for his Wife, and tho' she a Fall: This sort of Combating, and the Prize were then with Child, forced her away from her appointed for the Conqueror, they had in the Husband: By her first Marriage she had Tibe- Olympick Games. Lucian in his Dialogue concerning the Exercises of the Body, brings in Anarcarfis, a Scythian, speaking thus to Solon, concerning the faid Exercise, where he determines how it should be done.

Anacarlis. Why do thele young Men give one another the Foyl, and tumble in the Dirt like Swine, endeavouring to Stifle, and hinder each other to take breath? They anointed and shahis Arms; as also the Gardens of the Hesperides, | ved one another at first very friendly; but sudwhere grew the golden Apples that were guard- denly stooping their Heads, they butt at each other like Two Rams: Then one of them horsting up his Companion, throws him violently down upon the Ground, squeezing his Throat with his Elbow, and preffing his Body with his Wood near the River Allia, where they made Knees, infomuch, that I have been afraid he would have choaked him, tho' the other clapp'd him on the Shoulder, to defire him to let him go, as acknowledging himtelf overcome.

LUCULLUS, an illustrious Roman, who defended the Republick, and overcame Mithridates in Two pitch'd Battles: He had the Milfortune to contract the Hatred of his Followers and the Soldiery, by his contemptible Ulage of them : He received the Honour of Triumph, wherein never was fuch vast Riches seen: Mithridates his Statue all of Gold, and Six Foot in of Lucina, and they thought 'twas the that was Height, was carried before him, with his Buckinvoked under the Name of Lucina: Martial levall covered over with precious Stones. He confounds the one with the other, and to does had feveral Muies laden with Ingots of Gold and Silver, and a great many rich Moveables. After figure, and not begin any hoftile Act. They is he had triumphed, he retired from publick Aft ceived the Senate's Orders about building a Cifairs, and lived the rest of his Days a delicious and voluptuous Life: He built Gardens, and ftately Houses, every-where, but more particularly on the Sea-fide: His Magnificence and luxu- Place scituate upon the Confluence of the Rhofne rious Living appear'd by his Table, he having and the Saone; fo that fixing themselves there. Halls on purpole for the Feafts he made, wherein was expended more or lefs, according to occasion; but among others, there was one which of Rome, which according to the exactest Chrothey called Apollo's Hall; where the Entertain- nology answers the Year XLIII. before the Coment he made coft Five Thousand Crowns: He ming of our Saviour, that the said City was erected a flately Library, well furnish'd with built, according to an old Inscription, by Lucius Books, that was free for any Body's perulal: Munarius Plancus, Son of Lucius, Grandson of Sometime before his Death he was diffurbed in Lucius, Great Grandson of Lucius, Conful, Cen-Mind, and put under the Care of his Brother; for, and declared General of the Army a fecond tis thought Califfenes, his Freed-man, gave him time, one of the Seven Officers appointed to Poison, which thus diftempered his Brain.

ber ; A Term used for the Shows, and publick of Saturn with the Spoils of his Enemies, made a Representations made by the Ancients, such as Distribution of the Lands about Beneventum to the Olympick and Pythian Games were among the Soldiers, and fettled Two Collonies in Gaul, the Greeks; and those of the Circum among the one at Lyons, and the other at Aoft or August. Romans: Aufonius has observed the following Five Leagues from Bafil. Difference between the Four famous Games of Greece, that Two of them were dedicated to the Gods, and Two to Heroes: Ancient Authors give an Account of Three forts of Diverfions, which they named Races, Combats and Shows; the First were called Indi Equestres five Curules, which were the Races made in the Cireus, dedicated to the Sun and Neptune; the Second they called Agonales or Gymnici, which were Combats and Contests, as well of Men as Beafts, performed in the Amphitheater, and dedicated to Mars and Diana; the Third were named Scenici, Poetici and Mufici : which confifted of Tragedies, Comedies, and Balls, that were acted at the Theaters, dedicated to Venus, Bacchus, Apollo and Minerva. There was an old Decree of the Senate of Rome, that enjoyn'd the publick Plays, thould be confecrated and united to the Service of the Gods: Constantine was the first who put down the Sanguinary Plays of the Amphirbeaser, after he was baptized : See an Account of these different forts of Plays under their particular Heads in the Alphabet.

LUGUDUNUM, according to Dio, Lugdunus by Corruption, when the Goths, in the Fourth and Fifth Centuries, ravaged the Roman Empire, and Lugdunum by way of Abbreviation; is the City of Lyons, in Gallia Narbonensis, con- 6 L. 13. concerning the Founding of Cities. cerning which, Dio, who wrote the Roman Hitiory in the Reign of Alexander Severus, Speaks the Etymology of the Word Lugdunum: Some in this manner: 'The Senators, fays he, when will have it, that the Place was named Lugdus, they understood that Syllanus fided with Mark in Memory of one of the Kings of the Celta; Antony, and were afraid left Lepidus and Lucius Planeus, should take to the same Party, they fent Deputies to them, to let them know, that wont to winter-quarter in this Country : Bethe Republick had then no occasion for their canus deduces it from a German Word that fig-ty for fuch as the Allobroges had before drove out of Vienna (a City in the Province of Nar-'bonne) and who had withdrawn themselves to a they built Lyons, formerly called Lugudunum.

It was in the Year, DCCXI, from the Building take Care of the Banquet of the Gods, who LUDI, Games or Plays, in the Plural Num- triumphed over the Rhetians, built the Temple

> L. Munatius L. F. L. N. L. P. Plancus, Cof.Cens. Imper. Iter. VII. Vir Epul. Triumph. Ex Rhoetis. Ædem Saturni fesit de Manubiis, Divifit in Italia Beneventi, in Colonias Deduxit, Lugdunum & Rauricam.

Plutarch feems to fay, that Lyons is older than Planeus : his Words are thefe: 'Adjoining unto the Soane, fays he, there is a Mountain called Lugdunus, which took its Name upon this Occafron; when Momorus and Asepomarus were expelled the Kingdom of Seferone, and were about to build a City upon this Hill and by Order of the Oracle had laid the Foundation thereof, feveral Ravens appeared unto them all on a fudden, with extended Wings, and covered all the neighbouring Trees, from which Sign, Monorus, being skilled in the Art of Augury, named the Town Lugdunum; because that a Ra-'ven in their Dialect was called Lugum, and an high Place Dunum, as Clitophon witneffeth, in

Nothing certain can be offered concerning others, in Remembrance of a Legion under Julius Cafar that was called Lugda, and was Arm, that so they might contrive no ill De nifes Fortune, Glukdunum, being as much as to

Gy, a fortungte Mountain: As for the Word Dunum, it is agreed, that in the ancient Gaulifb Tongue it fignified a Will or Mountain: Some ancient Authors there are, who fay, the Word Ing fignified a Raven, in the Language of the Celte; and that because the Mount of Fourviere, which some have thought to have been once called Corviere, was a Place frequented by Ravens, the City which had been built upon the faid Mountain, retained the Name thereof, after the Roman Eagles had chaled them away : Some there are who fay, that Lugdunum or Lucdunum, as 'tis fometimes found written. fignifies as much as Lucii Dunum; the Pranomen of Planeus. Lastly, Others having read in Eusebius, that at first when Lyons was built, there was a great Steel-mirrour placed upon Mount Fourviere, which by the refelted Rays of the Sun, taught those who came from Savoy, the Way to Lyons, which was not yet become a beaten Road; they have thought it Cause enough to affirm, the Place was so called qual Lucis Dunum: It is true, fome others who are not fo credulous, but doubtful of the Truth of this Report, yet retain the same Etymology; tho' they deduce it from Mount Fourviere's being opposite to the Sun-beams, when

As the Romans were the Fathers of this City, they also were the People who from Time to Time took Care for the Beautifying of it; Auguffus who faw it begin to flourish in the Time he was projecting to fet up his Monarchical Authority, relided there for Three Years; during which Space, it's Inhabitants received many Faas a Mark of their Acknowledgement built him a Temple at the Joint-charge of Sixty Gaulifb Nations, with as many Statues appertaining thereto as bore the Titles of each of the faid Nations; and this Temple, according to Strabo, was sciruated before the City of Lyons, at the Place where the two Rivers meet. Three Hundred Augurs, and Sixty Haruspices, or Southfayers served there, as may be gathered from the Altar at Lyons to be exceeding great.

Palleat, ut nudis preffit qui calcibus anguem, Aus Lugdunenjem Phetor difturus ad aram.

In this City was established not only the Exchequer of the Gauls, but almost of all the Roman Empire, and there was a Mint for the Coining of Money fet up there, that circulated through the whole Empire.

LUNA, the Moon according to the Fable: Here take what Lucian writes concerning her in one of his Dialogues entituled Icaromentopus; he brings in Menippus, faying, that having been one Day transported into the Globe of the Moon, she called to him with a clear and feminine Voice, and defired him to make a Representation unto Jupiter of the impertinent Curiofity of the Philosophers, who would know all she had within her, and give a Reason for her various Changes: For one faid, She was inhabited, as the Earth was; another, That she hung in the Air, like unto a Mirrour; a third, That all her Light was borrowed from the Sun: Nay, they, were fo bold, as to go about to take Measure of her, as if they would make her a Suit of Cloaths. The same Lucian tells us in another Place, That the Moon is a round and bright Island, hung in the Air, and is inhabited, of which Endymion is King. Apuleius calls the Moon the Sun of the Night, Lunam Solie amulam, nodis Decus, and fays, She fhines in the midft of the Stars, as their Queen, whence comes that Saying of Horace, Syderum Regina bicornic The Scripture fays, God made Two great Lights or Luminaries; the one to rule the Day, and the other the Night. Arifforle tells us, the People honoured the Moon as if she were another Sun, because she participates and comes most near unto her: And Pliny informs us, that Endymion vours from him, as well as the reft of Gaul, who | spent Part of his Life in observing this Luminary, from whence forung the Fable of his being enamoured on her. Volleus fets forth at large, that the Moon is the same as Venus Urania, or Venus Calefti, that was first famous amongst the Allyrians afterwards the Worshipping of her was introduced into Phanicia and Cyprus, from whence it was brought to Greece, Africa, Italy, and the remotest Nations of Europe. Diana was also the Moon; for the Name Diana, feems to have the ancient Inscriptions still remaining: It was come from Diva Juna. Thus the Sun was calin this Temple that the Emperor Caligula fet up led Janus, and the Moon Jana, according to thole Academick Plays, of which Suesonius makes Varro: Nunquam audivifti rure, Offavo Janam mention, whither so many Orators and Poets Lunam, &c. Et tamen quadam melius fieri pojt came from several Parts of the World, to set offer anam Lunam: Disna was made to preforth their Eloquence: It was ordered, that he fide over the Exercise of Hunting, because she that did not win the Prize, should be plunged chased away the Night by the Favour of the into the Saone, if he had not rather chuse to Moon's Rays. St. Ferome fays, Diana of Eblot out his Writings with his Tongue. This phefus was pictured with many Breaks, gave Juvenal Occasion to make the Fear of an | which is proper enough for the Moon, in or-Orator who went to make an Harangue before der to the common Nurture of Animals: Diana prelided over Child-bearing; because 'tis the Moon that forms the Months, and regulates the Times of Women's Lying-in : Thus Cicero Speaks of it, Lib. 2. de Nat. Deor. Albibetur ad partus, quod ij maturefeunt, aut feptem nonnuquam, am plerumque novem Luna curfibus. | LUPERCI and Lupercalia: The Luperd Plutarchiays, The Elizian Fields were the upper were the Priefts of Pun, God of the Arcadians, part of the Moon; that that Part of the Moon furnamed Lycaus, the Son of Mercury and Penewhich looked towards the Earth, was called Pro- lope, and God of Shepherds. Authors do not ferpina and Antichthon ; that the Genii and Da- agree concerning the Manner of inftituting these mons inhabit the Moon, and come down to de- Priefts, nor their Sacrifices and Ceremonies obliver Oracles, or to affift at Festival Days; that served at Rome in Honour of God Pan. Some the Moon does upon no other Account incessant- refer it to Romulus, and others with more Likely turn about in order to rejoyn the Sun, but lihood to Evender King of Arcadia, who having from a Motive of the Love the bears this com- been milerably driven out of his Country, came mon Father of Light; and that undefiled Souls into the Territories of the Latins, where he fly about the Globe of the Moon, which is the was not only favourably entertained by Faunus fame as Lucina and Diana.

freemed for a God, and usually called Lunus, was free to settle himself to wards Mount Palatine, and not Luna. Thus Spartian speaks of it: 'As where he built a small City and Temple, which he we have made mention, fays he, of the God dedicated to Pan the Lycaan, at the Foot of the Lunus, you must know, that the Learned have faid Mountain, with a Statue erected in Honour 'left it to us upon Record, and that the Inhabi- of him, which was covered with a Goat's skin. tants of Caran think to this very Day, that like the Drefs of the Shepherds of those Times: fuch as believe the Moon is a Goddess and not 'a God, will be their Wives Slaves as long as they 'live; but that those on the Contrary who e-' theem her to be a God, will ever be Mafters of 'their Wives, and will never be overcome by their Artifices: Wherefore, continues the fame 'Author, tho' the Affyrians and Egyptians call her by a Feminine Name; yet in their Mysteries of Religion, they take Care to reverence her continually as a God. And there are ftill remaining feveral Medals of the Nyfeans, Magnefians, and other Greek Nations, who represent the Moon to us in the Drefs, and under the ' Name of a Man, and covered with an Armenian Bonnet.

The Moon is one of the Seven Planets, and the nigheft to the Earth: She goes round the Zodiack in 27 Days, 7 Hours, and 41 Minutes, | Evander. And here note, that in the Solemniand does not overtake the Snn in less than ties used at this Feast, which was celebrated at 29 Days, 12 Hours, and 44 Minutes. The first Rome February 15th, the Priests met together Motion is her Periodical Course; the second is, the Synodical or Course of Conjunction; there is a third they call a Course of Illumination, during which the appears to us, which is for 26 Days and 12 Hours. The Moon is a fpherical and dark Body, which has no other Light then they wiped them with Wool steeped in than what is reflected upon her from the Sun: Mllk; after which they provided themselves Her Spots proceed from the Unevenness of her | with Thongs made of these Goat-skins, and run Surface: The Arabians and Egyptians attribu- stark naked about the City, slapping the Woted 28 Houses to her, which are explained in the | men with them, who willingly received them, Oedipus of Father Kircher: The different Ap because they had an Opinion these Blows would pearances of the Moon's Light, according to make them fruitful: Some have held, that the Scituation thercof in respect to the Earth this Ceremony was added by Romulus, because and Sun, are called Phases: She is called the new that finding the Sabin Women which he had Moon, when the proceeds from under the Rays of ravished, became barren, he consulted the Asthe Sun, or its Conjunction with it: The old Moon, gurs thereupon, and they made answer, that in when the is upon the Decline or in the Wam: order to remedy the faid Evil the Woman must the full Moon, when the is in its Opposition. | offer Sacrifice to Juno on a Mountain of Rome The Ancients were superflitiously guilty of ma- called Efquine, each being covered with a Goatking great Lamentations during the Ecclipse of Ikin, which is interpreted to be the Skins of the Moon, and the Romans made many mourn- the Goats the Luperei lacrificed. ful Noises upon the faid Occasion.

who was then King there, but also received The Moon, at Caran in Mesoperamia was e- Part of his Territories from him, so as that he There he appointed Sacrifices to be offered, and conflituted a Number of Priefts called Limerci from Lupus, Lycaus being the same thing as Lupus with the Latins. And this makes it evidently appear that the inftituting of those Priefts and Feffivals, is to be attributed to none but Evander; and notato Romulus: Thus when Numitor's Men seized on Remus, they surprized him, ashe was offering Sacrifice to the God Pan, at the Foot of Mount Palatine, according to the Report of Dienysius of Halicarnassus, and Alius Tubero, L. 1. of the Roman Antiquities; which also does suppose, that the said Sacrifices were before inftituted by Evander, unless any should fay, that Romulus increased the Ceremonies and Magnificence of these Feafts (after he had built Rome) the Foundations whereof had been laid by early in the Morning in the Temple of this God; where after they had made the usual Prayers, they facrificed white Goats to him, in whole Blood when they had dipt two Knives, they marked two young Men in their Faces therewith, and of whom afterwards they made Gods.

LIB

This Feast lasted a long Time among the Romans, and Augustus himself reformed several base Abuses that had crept into it, and forbad the Youth of the City that exceeded the Age of Fourteen, to run naked thereat. Lupercalibus vetuit currere imberbes, fays Suesonius in the Life of Augustus, and this makes Cicero in his second Philippick to reprove Antony, that when he was Conful he had run about flark naked at this Feaft: Ita eras Lupercus, ut te effe Confulem meminise deberes.

LUSTRATIO; was a Ceremony or Sacrifice made by the Romans, after they had done numbering the People which was performed every Five Years.

LUSTRUM; that is to fay, the Space of Four or Five Years. The Romans numbred their People by Luftra's: The Word comes from Luo, according to Varro, which fignifies, to pay; because that at the Beginning of every fifth Year they paid the Tribute, laid upon them by the Cenfors: Their Charge, which afterwards became Annual, having been established at first for this Space of Time: Servius was the first that purified the People in this manner: He put them into Battle-array; and made a Bull and an Hegoat, which he facrificed, to pass round them three Times, and that was the first Lustrum of the Romans, and the first Tax, which was continued from Five Years to Five Years.

LUTETIA; or Paris; fome Authors being not able to discover the Original Inflitution of the Arms of Paris, which are a Ship, have gone so far to enquire after the same as Ifis, as must then be supposed, as it has always been being incensed, he transformed him into a thought, that there was a Temple there dedi- Wolf. and when it was demolified, Curiofity led fome walking.

A procedure the Idol of this that had been wor.

LYCIUS, a Surname of Apollo, who was shipped there, and the same was put into a Corner of the Church of St. Germain des Prez, to St. Vincent, to ferve as a Trophy that Idola- tes, Virg. 4. Aneid. try was fubdued: The faid Idol was preferved

The Custom of these People's running naked, I stand, some filly Women through Simplicity and came from Pan's running fo after his Flocks: Superfiction, had burnt Candles before the faid lose Deus nudos jubet ire ministros. Ovid. or ra. Idol, caused the same to be taken away and cut ther for preserving still some Remains of the into Pieces. This City at first bore the Name Savage Life which the first Inhabitants of the of Paris, which it took from its Proximity to Earth led, before some extraordinary Men the Temple of Is, and communicated it to all were raifed up to polish and civilize the Savages the Country round it, whereof it was the Capital City, but received that other Name of Lucorecia or Luteria, from the Greek Word ASUROTHS, which fignifies Whiteness, because of the Whiteness of the Plaister the Masons used in the Building thereof; and none ought to wonder why the Name of Paris thould be taken from the Greek, confidering the Affinity there is between the French and the faid Language, of which divers Authors have treated: The Word Paris therefore extended it felf throughout the Country, as it does still to this Day, the same being called Parifis, and the City Lucotecia or Luteria Parifiorum: They are Names even to be met with in Cafar's Commentaries, Strabo and Pro-

LYEUS, an Epithet given to Bacchus, from the Greek Word Aver, which fignifies to chase away; because Wine, of which he was the God diffipates the Vexations of Men's Minds.

LYCEUS, a Mountain in Arcadia confecrated to Jupiter and Pan the God of Shepherds, from whence it is, that they have given him the additional Epithet of Lycaun; they folemnized some Festivals there in Honour of Pan, which Evander carried into Italy, and were called Lupercalia.

LYCAON, was a Tyrant of Arcadia, who was thunder-struck by Jupiter, and changed into. a Wolf, because he had facrificed a young Child, upon his Altar, according to the Testimony of, Paulanias in his Arcadicks: Ovid gives another, Account thereof, L. 1. Metamorphofis, he relates, that Jupiter being not able, any longer to bear with the horrible Cruelties exercised by Lycaon towards his Guests, took upon him Huwell as for the Name of this Illustrious City: For mane Shape, and went into the Palace of many have thought the Name of Paris to have this Tyrant, who being defirous to make Tribeen Greek, and to come from maga "Ioss, that is, al whether he were a God, or no, laid Humang near the famous Temple of the Goddess Isis: It Flesh before him at Table, with which Jupiter.

cated to the faid Goddes, within the Bounds of LYCEUM; a famous Place near Athens, the Ground which belong now to the Abbey of where Ariffoile read Philosophy to his Disciples. St. Germain des Prez: This Temple stood till the as Plato did in his Academy: His Disciples were Time that Cl riftianity was established in France, called Peripaseticks, because he taught them worshipped in the City of Patara the Capital of Lycia, where he had a Temple famous for the when it was built by Childebert, and dedicated Oracles delivered there by him: Et Lycia for-

LYCURGUS; the great Legislator of the to the Year 1514. when Cardinal Briconnes, who | Lacedamonians, formed his Republick, according was then Abbot of the Place, coming to under- to the Model of the Stars, fays Lucian, and for-bad his Citizens, to go forth to Battle before the Full Moon, because then their Bodies were in greater Vigour: That his Laws might obtain the greatest Authority, he pretended to have had them from Apollo at Delphos; he died when he was Fourscore and Five Years old.

LYNCEUS; was one of the Argonauts, who went with Fajon to the Conquest of the Golden-fleece; the Poets made him to be fo quickfighted, that he could fee through Trees and Walls, and that because he had found out Mines in the Bowels of the Earth.

LYNCUS; a very cruel King of Scythia, that in such Case the Greeks changed it into an who would have put Triptolemus (whom Ceres had sent to teach Men the Use of Corn) to Death, tho' it was rare in the Lain Tongue to meet but the Goddess abominating so much Cruelty, changed him into a Lynx which is an Animal (potted with divers Colours. LYRA; a Lyre, or Harp; an old mufical Infirument, which we find painted in the Hands a Stroak was drawn above it, it made a Million, of Apollo; 'tis almost of a circular Form, and MACHINA, a Machine, or Engine, being has a finall Number of Strings, which are touched with the Fingers, some have thought the Gresian Lyre to have been the same with our Guitarre; others fay, it was an Instrument made of a Tortoile-fhell, which Hercules excavated and bored Holes in, and then ftrung it, as Horace bears withels, and to they came to call it Testudo: You may fee it bears feveral different Forms on the Monuments and Medals of the Ancients: pultes, &c. for the Beating down Town-walls, Some attribute the Invention of this Inftrument | Shooting of Arrows, Flinging of great Pieces of to Orpheus; others to Linut, fome to Amphion; Stone, and the like. others again to Mercury and Apolio, as may appear by those Dialogues of Lucian conterning are strange Inventions to Change Scenes, the Gods, where he brings in Apollo to Treak thus: make Flights in the Air; to move Ani-He hath made an Inframent of a Torroife-fhell. whereon he plays to that Perfection, as to Schuation whereof innies as it were a kind of ones. Harp: The Fables of the old Aftronomers, M would have the fame to be Orpheus his Harp, RIO ESTO; Twas a form of Speech us. Mules placed it among the Stars.

fors of Alexander the Great; by a Medal of his, prefion also has the same Derivation, Matternova was to be feen on one fide, the Form of his Head, Virente Puer ; Pretty Boy, increase in Vertue. with his Crown on, and two Horns at both ends and this he bare, faith Appian, because he held gives us an Account of the Antiquity of Man a mad Bull by the Horns, that had forced him- gick in Egypt; when it speaks of the Magicifelf loole out of the Hands of the Sacrificers, and lans used by Pharaob, in Opposition to Moses, had killed them; and in Testimony of his Con- who also by their Enchantment, performed quering of him, he bore the faid Horns. Upon some of the Miracles, which God wrought by his the Reverse of the Medal fits Victory, holding a lown Divine Power: But that is not the first Villim mber Right Hand.

ကောက်ကောင်းသည်။ မောက်မျှင် ကို မြောက်မြောက်တို့ကို អ្នកស្រុក ស្រាប់ នៃស្វីស្រែកំណែក នេះសាសា នៃ ទូវស្វីក្រសួលនេះស្វីស្វីស្វីស្វី ស្រុក ស្រែក ទំនាក់ វិទេសា

A Is a Confonant, and the Twelfth Letter of the Alphabet that has a very dall Sound, and is pronounced with the outermon Part of the Lips, whence it comes to pals that 'tis called Mugiens Litters. It's funk often times in Profe, as 'tis also in Verse, Restitutu iri. you meet with in the Law, Saltu for Saltum, in Vet. Gloff. Quintilian (ays, That the M often ended Latin Words, but never Greek ones, and with any Words ending with this Letter. M alone flands for Manius; Marcus, Mones. Manibus. M being a Numeral Letter, stood for a Thousand among the Ancients; and when

N. because the N had a more pleasing Sound

no other than the Setting together of feveral Pieces by Mechanical Art, fo as to ferve for the Increasing of the Force of moving Powers: The Name of Machine has been given in general to every Thing that hath no other Motion but what somes by the Art of Men; the Ancients had a Multitude of Warlike Machines, confifting of Rams, Slings, Scorpions, Crofs-bows, Cata-

MACHINE VERSATILES; They mals, and for other Artifices, that both furprize and prove an agreeable Diversion to the make me Jealous, even me who am the God of Spectators: Clocks, Pumps, Mills, Organs, and the like Things which operate by the Help of The Harp is allo a Corlethal Sign, composed Wind and Water, are Water or Aery Machines, of Ten Stars, that the arther sign of Libra; the otherwise called Hydraulick or Pneumatick

MACTUS HOC VINO INFEwhich he received from spollo, to whom Merifed at the Sacrifices offered by Pagans to any had made a prefent thereof, and that the their Gods, being as much as to fay, Maga. audus; may your Glory be increased by the LYSIM ACHUS, was one of the Succes- powring out of this Wine; and the following Ex-

> MAGIA; Magick; the Scripture it felf. Place, perhaps, wherein the Magick of the Egiptians is spoken of: 'Tis most certain, that as Egypt was the Mother of Fables, so was she also the Miftres of Magick: Among those Magicians nalized themselves above the rest, to wit, Jamnes and Mambres, of whom St. Paul makes mention, according to the Tradition of the fews: pliny had Knowledge of the e Two Egyptian Magicians, but he puts Mofes, their grandest Adversary, in the same Rank with them. Eft & alia Merices fattio & Mole, & Jamne & Jorape Judæis pendens, fed multis millibus annorum poft Zoroaftren. Zoroafter, whom Pliny makes io much ancienter than Mofes, was, according to Justim, King of Badra, and the Inventer of Magick. Rex Bactrianorum, Zoroafter, qui primus dicitur Artes Magicas invenife. It was against this Zoroafter, Ninus made War : It follows from hence, that Magick, as well as Magicians, took its Origin at Babylon, or in the East, before it was spoken of in Egypt : Suidas also places Zoroefter in Media or Perfia, and makes him to be the Chief of the Magi or Magicians. Zoroafter Perfo-Medus Aftronomorum peritiffimus & Princeps Magorum nominis apud ipfos recepti. Divers Authors make Zoroafter to be of a more Modern flanding, and put him no higher than the Times of Darius Histaspes: But 'tis like they may have confounded several Zorossers together; and that this having been a common Name among the Magi, they attributed to the last of them somewhat that appertained to the first. Varro the learnedst Man in the Roman Empire in his time, and one who had a clearer Sight than any of them, doubted not but all that Homer hath related concerning Circe, and the Transformation of Uliffes his Companions into Beafts, was no other than the Judgment of what was faid concerning the Arcadians, who in fwimming cross a Pond, were changed into Wolves; and if they abstained from the Use of Humane Flesh, they should become Men again in Nine Years time, by once more fwimming over the faid Pond: And 'tis upon this fame Account that Varro thinks Jupiter and Pan were called Lycai, in Arcadia, because they transformed Men into Wolves. St. Augustine cannot believe the Devils are able to make any real Change, either in the Minds or Bodies of Men, tho' they may diffurb their Imagination, and by phantaftical Apparitions, make them fee either themselves, or others in the Form of some Animal, in the fame Fashion as those Visions Manner that the Arcadians were transformed in-Hind in the room of Ipbigenia, who was not trans- missaries, for providing their Armies with Vi-

who withflood Mofes, there were Two who fig- | formed into fuch an Animal, because the appear'd afterwards, and exercised the Office of Diana's Prieftels at Tauris, from whence the alfofled, and retired with her Brother Orefles to Aricia

MAGIA, Magick: Pling describes the Original and Efficacy of all pretended Enchantments thus : He fays, 'That upon all the Occations that had been offered him in this kind, he had discovered, and was convinced of the Vanity of Magick, calling it the most deceitful of all Sciences: He shews how after having its Original from Phylick, it had borrowed Strength from Religion; wherein, faid he, Mankind faw no Relish for to gain the Superfitious by; that the same was supported by the Mathematicks, that is by Aftrology, for attracting the Curious unto it; and that our of those Three Sciences, one was made, which with this Triple Cord bound up the Sences of Men, and she became so much a Mistress over them, that in the East she commanded Kings themselves. The same Author speaking of the Chelony, which is a Stone refembling the Form of an Eye, that is found in the Shell of the Indian Tortoife, he fays, If we will believe the Lyes of the Magicians, it has exceeding great Vertue, that after you have washed your Mouth with Honey, you shall no sooner put it on your Tongue, but you'll be able to foretel Things to come. Where he treats elfewhere of the Vervein used by the ancient Gauls, when they were minded to give Answers to such as came to confult them; he fpeaks thus : But the real Effects of Magick: He makes the same | Magicians are fill more foolish and mad, in saying, that such as rub themselves with the said Herb, obtain all they can defire, expel Fevers, make themselves to be beloved by whom they please, and cure all manner of Diseases.

Aug. L. 26. C. 4. In fetting forth the Vanity of Magicians, speaks of a wonderful Herb: Caft it, fays he, into Ponds or Rivers, it drys. them up; make it but to touch the ftrongeft Places, it opens them. He fays of another ; fpeaking of Magical Transformation, fays, He | That if it be but thrown into an Army drawn up in Battle-Array, they will be terrified and flic away: At length he concludes with another Herb, which the King of Perfia gave his Embassadors, whereby they might be able to find, wherever they passed, Plenty of all Things necessary for the Furtherance of their Jourare formed in Dreams: It was therefore in this ney; afterwards he grows very pleafant, and asks, Where that Herb was, which put Armies to Wolves, and Unffes his Companions into other to the Rout, when Rome was preffed upon by the Animals by Circe. As to what relates to Dio- | Cimbri and Teutones? Why did not the Magicimedes his Companions, who were changed into ans of Perfia make use thereof against Lucullus, Birds, without any remedy; It must be said, when the said General cut their Armies in pieces. that the Devils carried them quite away, and without Mercy? It must be a Matter of Wonder, brought ftrange Birds to ftand in their places, in that other Roman Generals, rather than take the same Manner as the Damons substituted a upon them the Care of having so many ComAuals, had not flocked themselves with the Herb, | LORUM; Master of the Requests, the Penwhich had the Vertue to cause their Tables to be son who represented to the Prince the Requests furnished with all Necessaries for the Support of and Petitions of particular Persons, and recei-Life, where ever they were. Laftly, He quar- ved his Answer, which was reduced into Wrirels with Scipio for having made use of so many ting by his Clerks who were Thirty Four in Warlike Engines and Soldiers to take Carthage, fince one Herb was able to open its Gates for him; and he repreaches the Senate, that preces Magifter Libellorum tradithat, & Alla Lithey did not make use of the Herb called A- bellenses scribebans. We have still in being the thiopidis, for drying up the Marshes of Italy. In Form of a Petition that was presented to the C. 2. L. 30. He fays, He had learned from Emperor Antoninus Pius, in these Words. one Oftenes, that there were several forts of Magicians, some of which were made so by & pressus necessisate corpora corum fittili sarcophage Water, others by the Spheres, Air, Stars, commendaverim, donec quietis locus quem eme-Lanthorns, or Flambeau's, Basons and Axes. ram adificaretur, via Flaminia, inter milliare se-He afterwards speaks of the particular Favour Nero had for Magicians, because they had Power to command the Gods. Tiridates to make his Court to the Emperor, brought him many Magicians, and was rewarded by Nero for it, with the Kingdom of Armenia : And fo he ends thus ; "We must then absolutely believe, that the Magick Art is not supported by any valuable Testi- phius the Freed-man of Arria Fadillathe Empemony whatever.

of the Infantry.

of the Horie, or Lieutenant General of the Time as the Place which he had bought to raile Cavairy.

MAGISTER MILITUM UTRI Answer was given in this Manner. USQUE MILITIÆ; General of the Army: They attribute the Constituting of these Officers to Constantine the Great, at the Time that he took away the Command of the Armies | SITIONUM, was the Person who gave the from the Pratedi Pratorio.

RIA; a Secretary and an Officer of the Empire, | ces, and who examined them, to fee if they had to whom his Prince gave a golden Girdle at his judged aright or not, and thereupon fent the Creation: His Butiness was to reduce into a Answer to his Prince: He had Courriers appoinfew Words the Answers the Emperor made to ted on purpose to carry these Answers, who the Petitions and Requests made unto him, were called Agentes al. Responsium, and a Fund to and afterwards to enlarge upon them in the pay them called Aurum ad Responsum. Letters Parent or Briefs that were granted: called Seriniarii Memoria, or Memoriales : Tis bore him Mercury. thought this Office was inflituted by Augustus, and that the same was exercised by Roman reckoning from the first of January, and the LARUM: the Secretary who wrote the Emperor's Letters; Augustus writ them himself, and then gave them to Mecenas and Agrippa to fpect to the Senators and Nobles of his City. correct, favs Dio; other Emperors utually which were named Majores; as the following dictated them, or told their Secretary what Month was named Junius, in Honour of the they would have writ, and then did no more Youth of Rome, in Hunorem Auniorum, who ferthan subscribe them with the Word Vale; unless it were that they had a Mind to keep a Bu- have been called thus, from Mais the Mother of tine's fecret: This Secretary had Thirty Four Mercury, to whom they offered Sacrifice on that Officers under him which they called Epifle- Day: This Month was under the Protection of Ares.

Number, and were called Libellenfes: This may be feen in the Notitia Imperii. Cognitiones & Cum ante bos dies conjugem & filium amiferim.

cundum & tertium euntibus ab Urbe, parte leva. custodia Monumenti Flam. Thymeles Amelofa M. Signii Orgilii: Rogo, Domine, permittas mihi in eodem Loco, in marmoreo farcephago quem mibi medo comparavi, ea corpora colligere, ut quando & ego elle defiero, pariter cum eis ponar.

This was a Petition presented by Arrise Alror's Mother, importing his Defire to have MAGISTER PEDITUM; General Leave given him to gather up his Wife and his Sons Bones to be laid in a Marble-Coffin, which MAGISTER EQUITUM; General before he had put in an Earthen-Veffel, tifl fuch a Monument for them, was ready; to whom Decretum fieri placet ; Jubentius Celfus wemagister subscripsi. 111 Non. Novemb.

MAGISTER SCRINII DISPO-Emperor an Account of the Sentences and Judg-MAGISTER SCRINII MEMO- ments paft by the Judges of the respective Pla-

MAIA; the Daughter of Ails and the Nymph He had under him other Officers who were | Pleione, on whom Fupiter was enamoured, who

M A I U S, May; the fifth Month in the Year, third in counting the Year to begin with March, MAGISTER SCRINII EPISTO- as they anciently did: the Sun enters now into Gemini, and the Plants of the Earth flower: This Month was called Maius by Romulus in reved him in the War. Others will have it to Apollo, and therein also they kept the leftival AIAGISTER SCRINII LIBEL of Bona Dea, that of Goblins called Lemuria, gives of it, L. 1. Falt.

As canis ante Pedes faxo fabricatus eodem Stabat, quæ ftandi cum Lare caufa fuit? Servat uterque domum, domino quoque fidus (uterque eft, Compita grata Deo, compita grata cani.

The Roman Ladies on this same Day, offered venue. Sacrifice to Bona Dea, in the Chief Pontiff's House, whereat it was not lawful for Men to affift; they also covered all Mens Pictures and Statues, as they did those of other Animals of cry. the Male Kind. On the 9th was celebrated the Feaft of Apparitions or Goblins, called Lemuria or Remuria, inftituted by Romulus, for appealing the Ghoft of his Brother Remus, that appeared to him in the Night. See Lemuria. On the 12th came on the Feaft of Mars, furnamed Ulter, or the Avenger, to whom Augustus confecrated a Temple on that Day. On the 15th. or Ides of the Month was performed the Ceremony of the Argians, whereon the Veftal Virfame Day was kept the Feaft of Traders, which they celebrated in Honour of Mercury; they of-See Regifugium.

because that in that Month they made several and Prerogative. Expiations, with which Marriage did not agree, or because the Month of May took its Name | a Male and Female of it, and there is another from aged Persons, Majores, for whom Marriage | that is a kind of Solatrum Soporiferum, whole was not furtable; but that the Month of June deducing its Name from Juniores, Marriages This Plant has ftrange Properties, for if the were re-assumed therein. A little farther he Quantity of a Dram of it be given any one to asks, why Virgins never married on Festival drink, he will presently think himself as handsome Days, or fuch as the Publick Affembly were held as that Metius we read of in Domisian's Court: on, but that Widows affected to marry at those. And if three times as much of it should be adtimes; He answers, that Virgins are married ministred, it would render such an one 'as

and the Ceremony of Regifugium, or the Expul- | with Grief, and as it were by Confirmint, which fion of Kings. On the first Day was celebrated is not suitable to Festival Days, as cause of rather Anniversary of the Dedication of an Altar tio, quam affers varre, virgines nubere invitage is erefted by the Sabines to the Lares or Houshold triffes, festo autem die nilil agi debes enm moleftid. Gods, prefisibus Laribus; because they took a But as for Widows, they married the rather on faithful Care of whatever was in the House: Festival Days, because they could do it then These Lares had a Dog represented at their much more retiredly, the Feast having drawn all Rect, because this Animal also took Care of the People thither; and they thereby with Reathe House. And this is the Reason which ovid son express their Shame for their Second Mar-

MAMURIUS, furnamed Veturia, whole Name is famous in the Hymns of the Saliens, for having made Eleven Shields or Bucklers, fo like unto that which Nums pretended to have fallen down from Heaven, that it could not be diftinguished from them.

MANCEPS, A Farmer of the Publick Re-

MANCEPS, is one who fells an Effate with a Promise of keeping the Party harmless; he is likewise one that buys an Estate by Out-

MANCIPARE, is to fell or divert one felf of any Poffestion, and to invest another with it, according to the Roman Law.

MANCIPATIO, is the Selling or Alienating of some Lands by the Ballance, and Five. Witnesses, which took no place but among Citizens of Rome, in respect to certain Estates lituare in Italy, or among such as were priviledged to be Roman Citizens.

MANCIPIUM, & MANCUPIUM; gins threw Thirty Figures made of Rushes into A Sale, or Alienation which took place among the Tiber, above the Wooden Bridge. The no other than Citizens of Rome only. Mancipium was a peculiar Right of Propriety, which the Citizens of Rome, and those to whom it was fered unto him a whole Sow, and went to a Foun- granted, in respect to some Lands in Italy, enjoytain called Aqua Mercurii, at the Gate named ed alone, wherein were observed tome Formali-Capena, and there sprinkled themselves with a ties relating to the Ballance and Tale of Money-Lawrel-branch, praying that God to favour them | Multa funt domm in bas Urbe, asque band file an in their Gains, and to pardon the exorbitant | Pene cuntia, jure optimo ; fed tamen jure prevato, Prizes they fold their Goods at, in the Way of jure bareditario, jure authoritatio, jure mancipi, their Occupations. On the 21st came on the Feast jure nexi. There are divers Houses in Rome, named Secunda Agonia, or Agonalia, whereof I which are, perhaps, Free-hold, but this Franhave spoken under Agonalia. On the 24th was chise is founded upon a particular Right, not a another Ceremony called Regifugium, which same publick One, upon a Right acquired by Succession was often repeated in the Compais of the Year. inon of Inheritance, by Way of Prescription, by Right of Purchase; the Sale of such Houses ha-Plurarch asks why the Romans did not marry ving passed with a Clause and Condition that is in the Month of May; and fays, it was either express and formal, in respect to such Franchise

MANDRAGORA, Mandrake; there is Root is white and hollow, and a Cubit high:

MANES; the Mines, or departed Souls. Terbin in his Commencary upon the Third Book of the Eneids, informs us of the various Opiniens the Ancients held concerning this Word: The Manes, Tays he, are Souls separated from Humane Bodies, which have not yet entred into other Bodies, and delight to do Mischief unto Men, being so called by an Antiphrafis; for Ma-num in the old Latin signified Good. Some will have this Word Manes to come from Minare, to flow or come forth, because all the Air between the Earth and Circle of the Moon is full of Mares, who come out of their Manfions to torment Mankind: Some there are who diftinguish the Menes from the Infernal Gods; others who fay, that the Coeleftial Gods are the Gods of the Living, and the Manes the Gods of the Dead: And Laftly, Many believe the Manes are No-Sturnal Dieties, who reign between Heaven and Earth, and prefide over the Moifture of the Night, which has given occasion to call the Morning Mane.

Apuleim in his Book concerning the God of Socrates, which we have already related under the Word Lemures, tells us, that as 'tis uncerrain whether Souls separated from Bodies are of the Number of the Lares or Larve, they have been called by the Name of Manes, and in a Way of Honour they have the Title of Gods given them. Feftm fays, the Manes were invoked by the Roman Augurs, because they believed them to be favourable unto Men, and that they were also called Superior and Inferior Gods; and the Etymology of the Word feems to arife from the Verb Manare, quod ii per omnia atbarea, zerrenaque manare credebantur.

Thus as the Mases were made to be propitions Dieties, and had this Name given them by way of Honour, if Apulcius may be credited, we may fay with Vellius, and other learned Men, that this Word comes fimply from the old Word Mine, which fignified Good: Wherefore 'tis cettain, Manes was taken diversly among the called Compitalia, instituted by Brutus, wherein Ancients; but in the first place in general, for departed Souls, as appears by an Inscription bedicated by some Roman to the Manes of his Family; and in Virgil:

Manefaue vocabat Helloreum ad sumulum.

And in another place :

Id einerem aut Manes credis curare sepultos.

In the second place, the Word Manes is by a Metonomy taken for Hell, that is for those Subterranean places, whither the Souls of Men, both fo neither Mania, nor the Houshold Gods her extravagantly foolish as can well be thought Good and Bad, were to go, from whence the Good were fent to the Elyfian Fields, and the Wicked to Places of Punishment, called Torac

Hec Manes venias mibi fama fub imas.

And elfewhere:

Manefque profundi.

Which cannot be interpreted in respect to the Souls themselves, but to the Places where they were. Laftly, The Manes are taken for Infernal and Subterranean Gods, and generally for all Deities whatever, that have the Charge of and do prefide over the Graves of the Dead, in which Sence, the Word Manes, in the old Glofferie, is interpreted in Gr. Daipoves, Osoi kalay binne. i. e. Demons or Genij, Subterranean Gods: "Tis in this Sence that Epitaphs are dedicated to them in these two Words Dis Manibus, which are fometimes expreft by halves only Die Mas. and most often by two Letters D. M. and among the Primitive Romans, who made their Epitaphs in Greek, were used O.K. that is, OEOIX KATAXOONIOIE.

The Remans had a great Veneration for these forts of Gods, and they were of Opinion they could frop the Hands of any one that attempted to commit Sacrilege, by putting him in middof these Gods, in an Epitaph exposed to the View of all the World, whereof take an Example:

> NE TANGITO O MORTALIS. REVERERE MANES DEOS.

That is, have a Care, O Man, do not touch me, and have a Respect for the Dii Manes.

MANIA; was taken by the Ancients to be the Mother of the Lares, or Houshold Gods; they offered Sacrifice to her at certain Feats the Slaves intermix'd with their Mafters, as in the Sammalia, eat and drank with them, and diverted themselves in the Cross-ways. It was a Cuftom at first to Sacrifice little Children to her for the Preservation of the whole Family, in Obedience to the Oracle, but Brutus having expelled Tarquin, gave the Oracle of Apollo 200 ther Interpretation than it had before, and or dered that inflead of Mens Heads, they fhould use those of Poppy and Onions, they also placed as many of the Effigies of Men and Women fluffed with Flax or Chaff, before the Doors of their Houses, and in the Cross-ways, as there were Free Persons in each House, and as many Balls of Wool, as there were Slaves there, that as Feftus informs us:

Oulbus tot pila, quot capita fervorum; tot effieit, quot effent liberi, ponebintur, ut vivis parcerent. & effent bie pilis & fimulachrie contenti. MANIPULUS, was a small Troop or Com-Soldiers, and the great Maniple, which Elian for the Word Manipulus properly fignified an Ruine. Handful of Herbs or Hay, which they tied to the End of a Pole for a Cognizance or Flag, before they affumed the Eagles for their Arms; hence comes that Saying, ftill continuing amongst us; An Handful of Men.

MANIPULARES; the Soldiers in the Company.

MANLIUS, furnamed Marcus, and by Pliny, Tirus, was a great and generous Captain, who performed many famous Exploits, and amongst taken Prifoners. Marin, who could not be faother things faved the Capitol, when it was be- tiated with Wars nor Triumphs, follicited for fieged by the Gauls, whereby he obtained the and condemned to be thrown down Head-long the Affront : He came to Rome with an Army, future enjoined not to use the Pranomen of took from him a Chain in Latin called Torques; into Sylla's Hands.

dered to see so good a Painter have such hardfavoured Children; In luce pingo, in tenebru

MANUBIA, the Spoils of the Enemy, or the Money made of the Boory taken from the MARATHON, a City in the Territory of abens, and diffant from it about Ten Miles. Its'a Place very famous not only for the Death of King learns, and the Overthrow of the Marathonian Bull by Thefens, but more particularly upon account of the famous Victory won by Miltiedes, the Athenian General, over 600000 Perfiens, commanded by Darius.

MARCELLUS, M. CLAUDIUS, af- the Adventure. ter feveral gallant Actions performed by him

Children, might do any Mischief to the Living, | in the Wars against Hannibal, was killed waliantly fighting; the Romans called him their

MARCUS ANTONIUS, Mare Antibony, had a long and full Face, and a double Chin, which was a Sign of his being a Lover of pany of Soldiers among the Romans; there was Pleasure and good Cheer: He had an Eagle's a small Maniple, which was a Band or File of Ten Nose, which denoted Courage; but the Love he bore unto the fair Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt, makes to be 256 Men, and Vegetius 100 only; sullied his Glory, and was the Cause of his

MARCUS AURELIUS. See Aurelin. MARIUS CAIUS: He brought the War against Jugurtha to an happy Period, and triumph'd: He brought into the publick Treasury 3007 Pound Weight in Gold, and 5775 of Silver in Ingots, without reckoning the vaft Quantity of Gold and Silver Coyn he also got them. He afterwards defeated the Teutones. who in one Battle loft 100000 Men, flain and a Commission to make War upon Mithridates, Surname of Capitolinus; he was accused of Aspi and obtained it; but Sylla, who was Conful, and ring after a Tyrannick Power, was convicted concerned at this Commission, could not bear over the fame Rock which he had prevented and obliged the Senate to declare Marine and the Gauls from surprizing: His House was pul- his Adherents Enemies to the People of Rome: led down; and all of his Name were for the He withdrew into Africa, and after having esca-future enjoined not to tile the Prænomen of iped a Thousand Dangers, shut himself up in Prenefie, which he defended as well as he could: MANLIUS, furnamed Torquetus, because But leeing no hopes of Relief, and no way of he had killed a Gaul of prodigious Stature, and Escape, he killed himself, for fear he should fall from whence he afterwards rook the Surname of . MARS; the God Mars, which the Poets Torquerus, which made a Diffinction between his feign to have been born of June, without Co-Descendants and the other Mantil. He gave an pulation with any Man, but by the Smell of a Example of inflexible Severity in the Person of lingle Flower, which the Goddels Flora had his own Son, whom he pur to Death, because he shewed her, as ouis informs us. They make had fought against his Orders, and killed a Gan him to be the God of War, and of Armies, and the Captain that insuffed the Reman; from whence hath proceeded this Proverb, to denote and with flaming Eyes as with on Horse-back, and exerct command, Manliont Imperia.

MANITUS, named Latitus, was a famous

Painter, who made answer to Semillus, that wondered to fee for good a Distance form.

Terrorque Pavorque Marie Equi. Val. Max. L. 3. de Asia 1000

There are some who make him to be accompanied with Terror, Fear and Fame. He was very familiar with Venus, Vultan's Wife, who furprized them in the Aft; as Lucian fays in his Dialogue of Apollo and Mercury.

Apoll. Mercury; What do you laugh at? Mer. Why thould not I laugh, Apolle, at fe pleasant an Adventure ?

Apoll. Tell me, that I may laugh in my turn. Mer. Mars has been caught lying with Venas Apoll. How was that? Give me a Relation of Pales: Fales has been long jealous of their and be without one. Hiftery and the Great Fales and witched his opportunity to furble tell us, that Mars having killed Hallerie. prize them, for which End he placed Nets round thins, Neptune's Son, for having violated the hat Bed, but fo as not to be feen, then went to Chaftity of his Daughter Alcippe, Nepume achis Ronge: The Gallant laying hold of the Op-portunity of the Husband's ablence, went to lie where he was acquitted: The Place in Atlent with his Miftress; but the Light discovered where this Judgment was pronounced, has been them, and informed Fulcas how it went, info- fince called April way o, because twas an much that he took them both in the Fact, and folded them in his Nets.

What gave occasion to this Fable, of Mars and Venus committing Adultery together, and the Manner how they were discovered, was taken from the Art of Aftrology, where these two Planets are made to be frequently in Conjun-Stion. The Ancients represented the Picture gave the Name of Quirinus to the God Engaling, of Mars upon their Medals, compleatly armed, being in some doubt, whether he were God Mars. holding a Jevelin in his Hand, called Quira by the Sabines, from whence he has obtained the Name of Quirinus pater. Augustin Cafar built him a Temple at Rome, of a round Form, which he confecrated under the Name of Mars the Avenger, because he had been Affifiant to revenge the Death of Julim Cafar;

Templa feres, & me villore vocaberis Ultor. Voverat, & fuso latus ab bofte redit.

Its probable the Mars of the Affrians was the most ancient of any, for Diedorm Sicular teftifies, they gave unto him the Name of Mor, who invented the Use of Arms, and first began a War : Qui fabulas ad hifteriam referent, bi Martem aunt primum fuife qut universam fabricarit armaturam, ac milites armin inftruxerit, &c. But he who gave a Beginning to Arms and War, (according to the Scriptures) was Nimod, the fame as Belin of the Heathers, or his Son Nimble, of whole being to Juliue bears a Teltimony. As the Empire of the Affricats was the first of all the rest, and that Empire has been no otherwise let up than by Porce of Arms; its not to be doubted but the first Kings of Babylon or Affria, were deified by the Name of Mars, in those ancient Times, wherein Kings were fo honoured after their Deaths. Cedrenks also informs us, that Mers and Belus were the fame God of the Affriens; and fo the Greek Name "Aens is not only derived from the Hebrew Word Aris, which fignifies, foreis, serribilis; but the fame is of the Sacrifices, as from the Courts and Houles also common in the Person Tongue.

This is a Summary Account of the Chymerical Divinity of Mars in Affria and Perha: The Egyptians placed him in the fecond Degree among the Demi-Gods that reigned with them; and this may be observed from the Dynastics related by Syncellus. Julian the Apostate makes mention of Mars of Edeffe, who was called Aziqus. Now all the Nations of the Earth having a Eminence or a Rock; and the Judges from thence took the Name of Arcopagites : This Action of Mars might very well induce the Greeks, to attribute unto him what the moft Ancient and Eaftern Nations had already published concerning the God of War. Dionyfius of Helicarnaffus, fays, that the Sabins and the Romans himself, or another God who presided over Military Adventures.

MARS, in Aftrology, is the Fifth Planet, being between the Sun and Jupiter; its a milchievous Planet, which the Aftrologers call Links Misfortune; the finishes her Course in a Revolution of 222 Days, and goes round about the Sun. Foregra has observed a Spot in the middle thereof, which he believes to be a Satellite, as in MARTIUS: Merch, the Third Month in Year, according to our Way of Reckoning. It was formerly the First amongst the Romans, and is still so in use in some Eccleriastical Computations. Its no longer than fince the Edict of Charles IX, in the Year 1564, that they have used in France to reckon the Year from the Beginning of January; for before it began with March: Aftrologers make it allo the first, because tis then that the Sun enters into dries, by which they begin to reckon the Signs of the Zodies. The Calends of this Month was anciently very remarkable, Because of its being the first Day of the Year, whereon divers Ceremonies were performed: They kindled a new Fire upon the Altar of Vefte with the Sun-beams, by the Helpot a Burning-glais, in the same Manner almost as they kindle it in the Populh Church on Eafter-Eve: Hujus diei prima ignem novum Vefta arn accendebant, ut incipiente anno, cura denud fervandi novati ignis inciperes. Macr. L. 1. C. 12. Saturn. They took away the old Lawrel-branches and Crowns, as well from the Door of the King, of the Flamines, and the Axes of the Confuls. and put new in the room of them; and this was called Mutatio laurearum. And this Macrobius alfo informs us, Tam in Regia, turifque asque Flaminum domibus laurea veteres novis laureis mutabantur. Ovid tells us the fame Thing, in Lib. 3. Fast.

Loves

Leurea Flaminibus que toto perftitit anno Tollitur, & frondes funt in bonore nove: Adde qued arrana fieri novus ignis in ade Dicisur, & vires flamma refelta cabit.

The Magistrates took Possession of their Places; which continued, fays Ovid, till the Carthaginian War; for then they altered the Cuftom, and enter'd thereon the First of January : The Roman Ladies celebrated a particular heaft then, which was inflicuted by Remulus, and called Matronalia, of which by and by.

On the Calends of this Month of March began the Feaft of Shields or Sacred Bucklers, Ancytionen dies, which continued Three Days, whereat the Salii carried fmall Bucklers: This Feftival ended with splendid Feafting and great Merriments, which is the Reason of giving the Name of Cana Saliaris to fumptuous Entertainments. See Ancylia.

On the 6th, which is the Day before the Nones, in Latin called Pridie Nones, there were fome Solemnities performed in Honour of Vefta. On the 7th, or Day of the Nones, called Nonis, was celebrated the Anniversary of the Dedication of the Temples confecrated on fuch a Day to Ve-Jupiser, in both the Woods of the Alylum; as also a Feast to Juno, called Junonalia. See Ju-

Tiber, or upon Mount Caliur, when that River overflowed. On the 15th, or the Day of the ticles of Marriage were writ, which gave Ju-Ides, came on the Feart of Anna Perenna, of which I have spoken in its proper place: This Day was called Parricidium, because Julius Cafer was then affaifinated by Brums, and the rest of the Conspirators. On the 16th was another Feaft called Liberalia, for then it was that Children took upon them the Virile Robe. On the fame Day also they made Processions called Argei, or Arges in tome Places, the which had been confecrated by Nums in Commemoration of some Grecien Princes that had been buried there. See Argei and Argea. On the 19th, or 14th of the Calends of April, began the great Festival of Minerva, called Quinquarria, either because it fell out on the Fifth Day after the Ides of March, or because it lasted Five Days. See Quin-

The 24th was marked with those Letters in the Calender, Q. R. C. F. Quando Rex Comitiavit, Fat; it being as much as to fay: Tis lawful for the Prætor to keep his Seat, as foon as the King of the Sacrifices has done his Business in the Affembly and is withdrawn. On the 25th was held the Feaft called Hilaria, which was inflitted in Honour of the Mother of the Gods and of Ays: On the 26th came on the Feaft of Washing the Grand-mother of the Gods, Lavatio Matrie Deum, being inftituted in Commemoration of the Day wherein the was brought from Afia, and washed in the River Almo. Vid. Lawarin.

There were feveral Feafts kept on the 30th, viz. to Janus, Concord, Health and to Poace. and next Day there was one to the Moon celebrated on Mount Aventine, to which they facrifised a Buil.

MARSYAS, the Son of Ocagras, who was a Shepherd, and one of the Satyrs, and having taken up a Flute which Minerva had made of a Deer's-Bone, and thrown away in Anger, he learnt of himself to play upon it, insomuch that he adventured to challenge Apollo, the God of Hermony to play with him: The Muses were the Judges of this Tryal of Skill between them, and they gave the Victory to Apollo, who prefently caused Mariyas to be tied to a Tree, and flead alive by a Scythian, and cut into Pieces.

MATRIMONIUM, Marriage, there was a formal Betrothing and Contract went before it, as may be feen in Plants and Terence; for he that was minded to have a Virgin in Marriage, made his Application to her Relations, and demanded their Consent to it.

Quid nune etiam mibi defpondes filiam,illie legibus Cum illa dose quam tibi dixi ; M. Sponden' - ergo,

On the 13th there was an Horse-race near the Then the Contract was drawn and signed with the Relations Seal, wherein the Terms and Arvenal Occasion to say,

> Si tibi legitimis pallam junit amque tabellis Non es amaturas. Veniet cum fignatoribus Aufpex.

The Bridegroom fent to her that was to be his Wife a Ring as a Pledge of their future Marriage; which Terrullian informs us, who calls the faid Ring Annulus pronubus.

Aurum, inquiens, nulla norat prater uno digito quem fonfus oppigneraffet pronubo annulo. De cultu fæminarum.

And Hidorus Hifpalenfis, Lib. 11. de div. off. Cap. 15. Quod in primit, ait, nuprire annulus à Spanso sponsa datur, fit nimirum vel propter mutua dilectionis fignum, vel propter id magu, ut codem pignore corum corda jung antur : unde & quarto annulus digito inferitur, iacò quia in co vena quadam, ni fertur, fanguinis ad cor ufque pervenist.

And this is confirmed by Aulm Gellim, Macrobine and Appiers, and particularly by these Verses of Juvenal.

Conventum tamen & pallum & fponfalia noftra Tempeftate paras, jamque à tonjore magiftro. Petteris, & digito pignm fortaffe dedifit.

read in L. 33. Nat. Hift. There were no Conflictions at first made for regulating the Age of fuch as were to be betto thed, and the Articles of Betrothing might have been made by both Parties at the Age of Seven Years: But afterwards Angulius ordered they should not be done till Two Years before the Confummation of the Marriage, that is, at Ten Years of Age: Maidens might lawfully contract Marriage at Twelve Years old: See how Dio Speaks, L. 54. Quoniam autem, air . Die, quidam infantes puellas despondentes, pramits quidem conjugum fruebantur, caterum effettum rei Sconjugum opus non praftabunt, ca sponfalia vires nullas babere conftiguis, post qua duobus tranfactis annis Sponfa duci minime poffer : boc eft ut omnimo decennis virgo desponderesur, duodecimo namque anno virgo matura viro & nubilis existimatur.

the Month of Mey were accounted unhappy for Marrying. Macrobine L. 1. C. 25. males an Enumeration of all the Days whereon the Romans would not marry, Nec hoe pretermiferim, ait, quòd nupriis copulandis Calendas, Nongs, G Idm neligiofas, id est devitandas censuerunt; bi enim dies præter Nonas feriati funt, feriis autem vim cuique fieri piaculare eff.: Ideb, suns vitantur nuptia in quibus fieri vis virginibus videtur. and receiving good Omens before Marriage, as appears by that Verse in Plautus.

Ultre ibit nuptum, non manchit Aufpices.

And Tacitus Lib. 11. Speaking of the Wedding of Meffelins, fays, That her Marriage to Silius anno ab urbe condité tertio, V una virginum put-was performed with all the Ceremonies, Sacrab-cherring sundiquem acclamatione repressum l'algoces, Testimonies, Auflices, Feastings, Kistings duci Founit accernitur; unde in apparatus film and Embraces imaginable, nay, with all the missibus Italifo valgo acclamican, and followed Freedom of Man and Wife: And in L. 15. where he speaks of Nero's Marriage with Pythagora, he makes mention of the Omens: The Marriage was performed with all the usual Ceremonies - Money was configned into the Hands of the Augurs: She had the Vail on, which Brides used to wear. There was a Wedding-bed prepared; and the Flambeau's of Hymen were lighted.

Head, fays Sextus Pompeius, which was curled made in the City of Fescennia. Fescennium, fays with the Spear of a Javelin that had fruck in the Body of a Gladiator that had been flain, to the End that in like manner as the Spear had been of oppidum Campania, ubi nuprialia carmina funtunited to the Body of the Gladiator the might also inventa. Lastly, The Wedding Bed was prebe to her Husband; or elfe because Women pared, which by the Ancients was called Leaus were under the Protection of Juno Curitis, who or Torus genialis, and then they invoked the Ge-

The Ring was made of Iron and without any bines, being as much as to fay, a forein, a stone in the Time of Ring the Historian, as weet Spear.

Sive quod baffa Curis prifeis eft dilla Latinis. Ovid. Lib, 11. Faft.

The Bride wore a long Veft which had been wrought by the Hands of Cais Cacilia, according to Pling, L. 7. Hift. Nat. and at her Entrance into her Hushand's House, the had the Kers presented to her, whereby the was conflitted Mistrels of the whole House, and the Manage ment of the Family was left to her; whereas on the Contrary, when the Husband divorced his Wife, he took the Keys from her, as may be feen by that Paffage in Cicero, in Anton. Act. 2. Mimam exegit, claves ademit, res Juas fibi babere juffit. When this Ceremony was over, they laid her upon a Sheep-skin with the Wool on, to put her in mind that Men were formerly clad The Articles of Agreement being made, there with the Skins of Beafts, and farther to intume was a Day appointed for followinging the Marriage: All the first Days of the Months, as well as After this they sell to Featings, and other Di-

At the Marriages of the Greeks they fung the Hymenaus, but at those of the Romans they per-formed the Talaffio, both by Inftrumental and Vocal Mulick : Now this Cuftom of Performing the Talaflio comes, lays Livy, from an Adventure that happen'd when the Romans ravished the Sabine Women, for there was one of the most beautiful of them who was forced by They were very follicitous about confulting Talafio's Soldiers, and, who as they were carry ing of her towards their Commander, for fear lest any should take her away from them, they cried that they referved her for Taleflo; and this Word was afterwards found to be a good Omen by the Augurs, and has remained till now. This Euchius also informs us: Sabine, air, raise talis nupta fit, qua Talassium babere mercatur. Varro zives this Word another Interpretation, and will have it to fignifie a Pannier to put Wad in. The Husband threw Nuts to the Boys, See ge marite, nuces, Virg. Eclog. 8. intimating he gave himfelf up to all the Divertions of Children, and to hinder the Hearing the Bride's Cry, when the loft her Virginity : They thred. The Bride had an old Man's Hair on her Felenmin, because the first of the Sort weith Servius, is a City of Campania, where Songs proper for Weddings were invented : Fescennium was called Curis in the Language of the Sa- nius of the Husband, and the Bride was put to

Bed. Next Day the Husband made a Feaft at | was conducted to her Husband's House in a Chahis House called Reports, and had Presents made riot; but among the Romans she was lead by the him: and both Husband and Wife offered Sacriin the following manner: Regillis, inquit, tunicis albis textis pridie nuptiarum induta cubitum ibant iminis causa: There was a Girdle given to the Bride, which the Bridegroom untied at her going to Bed, and this Girdle was made of Sheeps Wool:

Cui mea virginitas avibus libana finifiris. Caftaque fallaci zona revinita mann.

funo, who prefided over Marriages, took divers Names according to the divers Actions performed thereat: First from the Conjunction of Man and Wife they gave her the Epithet of Juga from the Conduct of the Bride in her Husband's House, she was called Domiduca and Iterduca; from the Woman's Girdle Cinxia; and from the Perfumes they anointed her with the got the Name of Unxia. St. Aug. Lib. 6. de Civ. Dei. Cap. 11. Laughs at the Superfition of the Gentiles, for introducing fo many Gods into the Ceremony of Marriage: "The God Jugatinus, fays he, prefides over the Habitation of the Man and Woman: Another God called Domiducus, is required to conduct the Bride to her Husband's House: The God Domicus his Office is to keep her there, whereunto they also added the Goddels Munsurna, to make her continue to dwell with her Husband. They likewise filled the Room with a Company of Gods, when the Parenumber came thither: In fhort, the Goddess Virgo, Father Subiguus, Mother Prims, Partunda, Venus and Priapus affifted hereat: The Goddel's Virgo was to be present to undress the Bride, God Subiguus, in order to put her to Bed; the Goddels Prima, to hinder her from refifting the Carreffes of her Husband. Prispus must bethere also, and in pursuance to a most Civil and Religious Cuftom of the Roman Ladies, they made the Bride fit in the Lap of this inthereby the Power any Charms and Witchcrafts ' might have over her. The Bride had a Flame-coloured Vail.called Flam-

House:

Mopfe, nova incide faces, tibi ducitur uxor.

Hand, and the Doors of the House were adornfices to the Gods. Feffus Speaks of this Cuttom ed with Garlands of Flowers and green Boughs. The Bride's Toilet was carried by a Lad in a Balket that was covered; And when the came to the Bridegroom's House, the Bride was asked who fhe was, to which the prefently answered Caia, as Val. Maximus informs us; Allufion being thereby made to Caia Cacilia, Tarquinius Prifcus his Wife, who was the Mother of a most exemplary Family, and who fpent her Life in Spining. This being over, the Bride put some Wool at the Door of the Bridegroom's House, and sprinkled it with Oil or Wolf's Grease; as Pliny observes; Novas nupras adipe lupino postes inungere folias : And Servius upon the 4th Book of the Eneids writes to this Purpole; Moris erat ut nubentes puella simul ac veniffent ad limen mariti, postes antequam ingrederentur, ornarent laneis vittis & oleo ungerent : When this was done, the jump'd over the Threshold, and was very careful not to touch it; which otherwise would have been a very ill Omen, according to Lucan:

Translatà vitat contingere limina plantà.

Servius upon the 8th Eclogue of Virgil, fays, That the Bride in going into her Husband's House, took care not to touch the Threshold, for fear of becoming guilty of Sacriledge, by touching the Place that was confecrated to Vefta. Ideò Sponfas limen non sesigisse, ut ne à facrilegio inchoarent, fi rem Vesta calcarint.

MATRONÁLIA; they were Feafts inflituted by Romulus, and celebrated by the Roman Ladies. Ovid gives divers Reasons why they were inflituted: 1ft. Because the Roman Ladies interpoled between their Husbands and Relations in the Battle with the Sabins, and also terminated the Difference between them for having stole them; in Commemoration of which Action Remulus would have the Day of the faid Pacification, which was the First of famous Diety, under a Pretence of preventing March, celebrated as a Festival. 2dly, In order to pray unto Mars that he would fayour them to bring forth Children as happily as Ilia, on whom he had begot Romulusmenn, on, and under it wore a Crown of Vervein, | 3dly, Because in this Month the Earth began to which she had gathered her self: Flammes rex- bring forth and grow fertile. 4thly, Because antur sponsa. And Tacitus, C. 15. Annal, speak- on that Day a Temple had been dedicated to ing of Nero, fays, They vail'd him with fuch a Juno Lucina (upon the Mount called Equilia) Vail as Brides wore. The Hymenean Torches who prefided over Women's Lying-in. 5thly, were lighted; and these were made of white
Becaule Mars was funds Son who presided over Thorn or Pine; by the Light whereof the Bride Marriages: This Feast was remarkable, upon in the Evening was conducted to her Husband's Account that the Men fent Prefents to the Women, as they did again to the Men at the Saturnalia: Sicut Saturnalibus, fays Suctonius, dabat viris apophoreta, ita & Calendis Martit faminis: And inalmuch as the Men treated their Slaves at The Bride amongst the Greeks and the Egyptians the Sammalian Feasts, and made them their Companions, so the Women did the same thing now in respect to their Slaves, and served them at Table; for which Reason the faid Day was called Saturnalia faminarum. Batchellors did not He was the Patron of learned Men, and had a affift at these Feafts; which gave Horace occasion fingular Kindness for Virgil and Horace : He was to tell Macens, that he would be surprized to a Favourire of the Emperor Augustus, and of a find that he who was not married, celebrated very healthy Conflitution: All the Patrons of the Calends of March:

Martiis calebs quid agam Calendis, Quid velins flores & accerra turis Plena, miraris, pofitufque carbo in Cefpite vivo.

led Leucosboe by the Greeks.

at Mylafa, who built a ftately Palace in Halicar- lowing her a Day's Respite, the which she imneffus, adorned with Proconnefice Marble. His proved to make enchanted Prefents to Create. Queen Artemifia erefted a flately Funeral Monument for him, and called it according to his died embracing of his Daughter : Medes killed. Name Maufoleum, the which in ancient Times paffed for one of the 7 Wonders of the World.

MAXENTIUS, was Maximian's Son: Hercules Villor fays, That Eutropia his Wife had put a suppositious Child upon him: When he understood that Constantine was chosen Emperor; he got himself also declared so at Rome by the Pretorian Bands, whom he corrupted with the Country of Media. large Donatives: He was infamous for his Cruelties and Vices, and was defeated by Conftantine, near unto Pons Milvins, or the Milvian Bridge upon the Tiber, which breaking under him, he was drowned, after he had reigned Seven Years.

MAXIMINUS was a Person of a mean ther Milo, which made every Body dread him, fo that Balbinus trembled when he heard but his Name mentioned. Le had a long and fharppointed Chin, which is a common Sign of a fierce and cruel Nature; and fo indeed he was violent and cruel to the highest Degree, that being his Maxim, that he could not maintain himself in the Empire but by Severity. Moreover, as he was a Person of an extraordinary Size, and had a large Mouth, as great Eaters usually have, 'tis the less to be wondered at what Historians write, that he sometimes did eat in one Day Forty Pounds of Victuals, and drunk as many Pints of Wine. He was killed together with his Son by the Soldiery, having reigned only Three Years, MÉCOENAS, a Roman Knight descended from the Kings of Erruria, which made Horace, Speaking concerning him, 12y, Mecanas atavis edite Regibus.

learned Men are at this Day called Mess.

7863. MEDEA; the Daughter of Acres, King of Colchos, who by her Magical Art affifted Falor to take away the Golden-Fleece; the married him afterwards, and had Two Children by him : MATUTA: Break-of-day, a Goddels cal- but that did not hinder him from wedding Creufathe Daughter of Creon, King of Corinth, whither MAUSOLUS, was a King of Caria, born had retired. Creon banished Medea, scarce alwhereby the was deftroyed : Creon afterwards her own Children, and in a Charriot drawn by winged Serpents made her Escape to Arbens, where the married King Egens, by whom the had a Son named Medus: But going about to poifon Thefeus the eldeft Son of Egeus, her Delign was discovered, and the was forced to fly to Alia with her Son Medus, who left his Name to MEDICINA, Phylick; it is an Art, ac. cording to Galen, to preferve prefent Health. and to reftore that which is loft; and according. to Hippocrates, 'tis an adding of that which is. wanting, and a retrenching of what is superfluous; in Herophilus his Sence, 'tis a Knowledge of fuch I hings as are conducive to Health, or Birth, but succeeded Alexander Severus in the noxious thereunco. This Art was not introdu-Empire: He was of a Gigantick Stature, being ced to Rome, till about 600 Years after the Buil-Eight Foot and a Half high, infomuch that his ding thereof, as Pliny fays; wherein he is mi-Wife's Bracelet served him for a Thumb-ring: staken, unless he means, that it was not practi-He was robustick and strong as if he were ano- fed in Rome by Forreign Physicians till such a Time. The Art is divided into Anatomy, Pathology, Therapeutick, Chymistry, Botanism, and Surgery: Julian the Apostate made a Law concerning Phylicians, which is printed among his Greek Letters, and runs thus in English. 'It being known by Experience, that the Art of Phytick is beneficial to Mankind; 'tis not without Cause that the Philosophers have given out. it came down from Heaven, feeing that by it the Infirmities of Nature, and accidental Sicknesses are removed, wherefore in Pursuance to the Rules of Equity, and the Decrees and Authority of the Emperors our Predecessors, we of our good Will and Pleafure require and command that you who profess Physick be dispenfed with, and discharged of all Offices and Charges laid by the Senate.

MEDICUS, a Physician, is one who pra-Stiles the Art of Phylick in Curing of Difeales and Wounds, for of old, Physicians practiced Chyrurgery; fome Authors pretend, that Phy-

Freedmen; but Canfabon in his Comments upon Year DXXXV, after the Building of Rome; that Sueronius refutes this, and fo does Drelincourt, they made him a Citizen, and that the Govern-Professor of Physick at Leiden; and the same ment bought him a Shop in the Cross-frees of may be farther justified by old Inscriptions. Dio Acitius: "Tis said they gave him the Title of scorides, a Grecian of Anagarba, coming to Rome, was made a Citizen thereof, and became the intimate Iriend of Licinius Ballus, an illustrious rations which went so far, as to the Cutting off Roman. The Phylician who view'd the Wounds of Julius Cafar, was called Antiftius, and confequently was a tree Citizen of Rome; for Slaves made the People out of conceit both with Flyhad only a Surname, with out any Name for their Family. Pliny who feems not to treat well of Phylick, fays, That the Quirites, as much as to fay, the Romans, practiled it; and 'tis well known that no Roman Citizens were Slaves: Those who are acquainted with Hiftory, must know what Efteem Phylicians were in of old at Rome, and ellewhere, fince Princes themselves disdained not the Study of it. Misbridates, King of Ponnus, did himfelf prepare a Remedy against Povfon. Juba, King of Mauritania, writ a Book of Plants; and Evax, King of Arabia, according to the Testimony of Pliny, dedicated a Book to Nero concerning the Medicinal Vertues of Its true, Suctionius in the Life of Caligula speaks of a Slave that was a Physician : Mitto tibi praterea cum eo ex servis meis Medicum; I alfo fend you one of my Slaves, who is a Phylician with him . There might have been fome Slaves who were Phylicians; but it does not follow that there were no other but Slaves that were Phybanish'd out of Rome in the Time of Caro the the Milunderstanding of the following Passage in Pliny: This Art of Physick is subject to a Thousand Changes, and a Thousand Additions, Practice thereof, non rein, fed arzem.

fick was practifed by no other than Slaves and L. Emilius and M. Livius were Confuls, in the Healer of Wounds, and that he was at first very much made of; but foon after, his cruel Opeand Burning of some Parts of the Patient's Body, procured him the Nickname of Hangman, and fick and Physicians. And to go a little farther with this Matter, take the Words of Marrie Cate the Censor to his Son; says he, 'I'll tell thee now, my dear Son Mark, what my Thoughts are of these Greeks, and what I defire you to learn during your Stay at Athens : Take care to inform your felf of their Cuftoms, but learn them not: They are a wicked and indocible People, which I cannot endure. Believe it, as if it came from a Prophet, that when this Nation communicates her Sciences to others, the corrupts the whole, and especially if she should fend her Physicians hither 10 us. They are bound to one another by Oath to kill all Barbarians with their Phylick They call us Barbarians, nay, and give us more opprobris ous Names: I forbid you therefore above all Things to have to do with the Phylicians.

We ought not to rely upon what Pliny favs. in respect to the Romans having no Physicians for above 600 Years, seeing he contradicts himfelf, when he fays that Archagarus came thither ficians. Its farther pretended, that they were in the Year 535. So that he mifreckons near 100 Years. But to flew you more exactly how Cenfor, according to the Settiments of Agrippa, he is mistaken; we must observe what Dionyfus in his Book concerning the Vanity of Sciences; of Halicarnaffus fays upon the Year CCCI, but for this there is no other Foundation than Hift. Rom. wherein he shews that a Plague breaking out at Rome, it fwept away almost all the Slaves and half the Citizens, there being not Phylicians enough to attend for many fick Perfolyable are our Minds to change upon the first lons: So that here is at least a Rebate of 300 Wind that blows from Greece; and there is not Years in Phiny's Account, feeing according to thing more certain among fuch as practife it, the Testimony of the faid Dionylus, who was an than that he who abounds most in Words, ba Author of good Gredit; there had been Physicicomes uncontroulably the Arbiter of Life and ans at Rome from the Year 301. In the forceed-Death, as if there were not a Multitude of ing Age, was in the Year CCCLM, the People who live without Physicians, tho' indeed Plague raged again in the City of Rome, and the they should not be without Physicks and this Art and Care of the Physicians being notable to 'may be observed concerning the Romans them- withfrand the Contagion; the Romans sent Desay to concerning the gomens them, withintant the Contagion; the gomens tent-serieve, who lived "fibote" 600. Years without puries into Greece to freth Richaldish 616 640 of them; tho otherwise, they were not a People Physick thicher, who at Epidamus had done how to receive good Arigh but manifelded the Wooders in the Suring of Diegistant had done fluid in the properties of the properties of the contemporary of the state of the Arighteen thereof, they condemned it, or Greece to Johns Terence adopts in Gomen's them. The properties of the properti undernn the Art of Phylick it felf, but the Male ficians upon the Stage ; which he would have taken care not to have done, if they had none Caffus Hemina, an old Author, fays, That of them at Rome, or if they had been banish'd the first Physician who came from Peloponesus to thence. Plausus before him, in his Merceror; Reie, was Archaganus, the Son of lafanus, when brings in a discontented Man, who faid, that he would go for some Poyson to a Physi-1 MEDUSA, the Daughter of Phorens, who Ibo ad Medicum, atque me ibi toxico morti dabo.

Herophilus came in the 7th Century, who, as Pliny fays, relifted the Principles of Erafifratus, and settled the Differences between Diseases, according to the Rules of Mufick. Afclepiades towards the End of the faid Century flourished and after him his Scholar Themifo; and the famous Craserus, of whom Cicero speaks often in his Epiftles to Assicus, and, indeed, he was a Person of very great Reputation, as Horace witneffeth:

Non est cardiacus, Craterum dixisse putato, Hic Æger.

It is of him Porphyrie speaks, who having a Perfon for his Patient that lay ill of an extraordinary Diftemper, wherein his Flesh fell away from his Bones, he cured him, by feeding him with Vipers dreffed like Fish. In the 8th Age, befides the famous Antonius Musa, Augustus his Physician, and Budemus ; Celfus, Scribonius Largus, and Charicles flourish'd also at Rome in the Reigns of Augustus, Tiberius, and Caligula; Vellius Valens, and Alco lived under Claudius, and fo.did Cyrus, Livia's Physician. During the 9th Century there flourish'd at Rome Statius Annaus, Nero's l'hysician, old Andromachus, the Inventer of the Theriaca Andromacha; The falue, who got himself the Name of Intronices, i.e. Conqueror of Phylicians, because he boafted he had overthrown their Principles; Crinas of Marfeilles, and Charmis of the faid City, who being defirous to go beyond their Brethren, condemned the Use of Hot Baths, and made their Patients bath in cold Water, even in Winter time. In the 10th Century, after the Building | Daughter Ipbianaffa in Marriage, whom by his of Rome, Gulen, a Native of Pergamus, was in Request at Rome, he being Physician to the Emperors Marcus Aurelius and Lucius Verus. In the 11th Century there were divers famous Phylicians in the Empire and at Rome; but the 12th was fertile in them, among whom were Zene of Cy | a Dolphin, and after he had carried her on his prus, lonicus of Sardis, Maguus of Antioch, and Back for some Time in the Sea, he took her of Oribaffius of Pergamus, who were his Disciples. and enjoyed her. This was the laft Age of the Roman Empire, which according to the Appearance of the 12 Vultures to Romaius, was to last but so many that this King had forgot her at a Sacrince, least was a Measure among the Greeks, containing Six Remot Bushels, which is about lifty English

MEDITRINALIA, were Peafts inftituted in Honour of the Goddess Meditrina, a Medendo, because the Romans then began to killed, and whose Death Alibea their Sifter, and drink new Wines, which they mixed with old, the Mother of this Prince, revenged upon him and that lerved them instead of Physick: It was in a very strange Manner: For Alibes perceicelebrated on the 30th of September.

dwelt in one of the Islands of the Athiopian Sea. with her two Sifters Euryale and Sthenion, who were called Gorgons. Modufa was exceeding beantiful beyond her Sifters, and had the finest Head of Hair in the World. Neprune enjoy'd her in the Temple of Minerva, who refenting fo bale an Action, turn'd the Hairs of Medufa's Head into in many Serpents, and made her Afpett fo terrible. as to transform all that looked upon her into Stones. Perfeus rid the Earth of fo horrible a Monster, and by the Help of Mercury's Wings, and Minerva's Shield, cut off her Head, the which Pallas fixed to her Shield, and with which the petrified all her Enemies.

MEGÆRA, was one of the Furies of Hell the Name being derived from the Greek µsyane. Odiofa, and who by Virgil is placed in Hell, with her Head dreft with Serpents, and a frightful Afpect, which punishes the Guilty.

MEGALESIA; they were Feafts inflittsted in Honour of Cybele the Grand-mother of the Gods; and the fame was folemnized on the Nones of April, i.e. the Fifth Day, with Plays and Rejoycings: The Priefts of this Goddeis, who were called Galli, carried her Image along the City with the Sound of Drums and Wind-mulick, in order to imitate the Noise they made who were entrufted by this Goddels with the Education of her Son Fupiter, that so they might hinder Saura from hearing the Child's Cry, and not devour him, as he had done his other Children.

MELAMPUS, the Son of Amitbaon the Argian, and of Doripe; he was an Augur and a very experienced Physician; he had the Art perfectly to imitate the Voices of all Sorts of Animals: There were Temples erected for him, and Divine Honours paid him; Prosse gave him his Art he had brought to her right Senses.

MELANTHO, the Daughter of Protem who was wont to divert her felf in the Sea riding upon a Dolphin's Back; but Neptune being taken with her Beauty, allumed the Shape of MELEAGER, the Son of Oenem King of Catydonia, and of Althea: Diana being angry a furious Boar into his Country, which he with MBDIMNUS, or MEDIMNUM; it the Help of Thefent killed; from whence came the Proverb, Non fine, Theleo: This Victory proved fatal to Meleager, for having made a Prefent of this Animal's Head to his Miftrels, the Jealouse of some Persons who were present, occafioned a Quarrel, wherein his Two Uncles were ving, at the Time that Meleager was born, that the Destinies had limitted the Life of the said Child fo long as a Firebrand should laft, she took of Thebes, who was willing to die for the Presercare to put the Fire out, and to preferve that Firebrand very carefully: But being now defirous to revenge the Death of her Brothers upon her Son, the threw the Firebrand into the Fire, and presently the unhappy Meleager felt a terrible Burning throughout his whole Body, and died with miserable Torments: His Sifters lamented him, and were transformed into Turky-Hens. Lucian also relates this rable in his Dialogue concerning Sacrifices: 'All the Evils which formerly fell out in Etolia, and all the Calamities of the Calydoneans with the Murdering of them, and the Death of Meleager, came from the Time which either the Moon takes to run the Displeasure of Diana, who was angry fine had been forgotten at a Sacrifice.

MELICERTES, the Son of Athamas and mo, who with his Mother threw him elf down headlong over the Rocks called Scironides, and was carried by a Dolphin to Corinth, where he was turned into a Sea-God by the Name of Palemon. They celebrated Games in Honour of him, called the Isthmian-games, near Corinth, with great Expence.

MELPOMENE, one of the Nine Mules, faid to have been the Inventress of Tragedies, Odes and Songs.

MEMNON, the Son of Tithonus and Aurora, who came to the Relief of King Priamus at the Siege of Troy, and was killed by Achilles in a Duell: He was changed into a Bird by his Mother, when his Body was laid upon the Funeral-Pile: The Egyptian erected a Statue for the Sun darted it's Beams upon it, and the fame in the Evening had a mournful and complaining Tone, as if it were concerned for the Lofs of it's Presence: This is the Account Philostratus and Tacitus give thereof.

MENANDER, an Athenean famous for his Comedies, of whom Phadrus speaks in the 5th Book of his Fables: He was courted by the Kings of Egypt, and more particularly in Favour | or thereabouts, that arole from the Half Hours; with Demetrius, who admired the Excellency of MENIPPUS, a Cynick Philosopher, whom Lucian in his Dialogue entituled Icaromenippus, makes to take a Journey into Heaven, by the Help of a Couple of Wings, one being a Vulture's and the other an Eagle's; and the Reason which he makes Menippus give why he undertook fogreat a Journey, is that after he had observed the Frailty and Inconfrancy of Humane Things, he began to despise Grandeur, Wealth and Pleasures, and to apply himself to a Contemplation and Search after Truth, for which End he But Numa Pompilius who had a very particular confulted the Philosophers, but that he found fo much Contradiction and Uncertainty in what they faid, that he was refolved to go and enquireafter it into Heaven.

MENOECBUS; the Son of Creon King vation of his Country, for when they came to know by the Oracle, that the Thebans should obtain the Victory, if the last of Cadmus his Race devoted himself to the Infernal Gods, he slew himself with his own Sword, after he had so devoted himfelf.

MENSIS, a Month, the Space of Time that the Sun takes to run through one Sign of the Zodiac, which makes the 12th part of a Year: Cicero derives this Word from Mensura, or Metior, Qui, quia men a spatia conficiunt, menses nominantur.

Months, properly speaking, are no other than thro' the Zodiac (called by Aftrologers a Periodical Month) or to return from Sun to Sun, (which is diftinguish'd by the Name of a Synodical Month) but yet this Name has been also given to the Time the Sun is a running through the Twelfth Part of the Zodiac; two Sorts of Months, viz. the Lunar and the Solar being hereby diffinguifhed: The Lunar Synodical Month, which is that alone that People mind, is a little above Twenty Nine Days and an Half: The Solar is usually accounted to confift of some Thirty Days Ten Hours and an Half: The Month is again diflinguished into an Aftronomical and Civil Month; the first is properly the Solar Month, and the Civil is that which is accommodated to the Cuftonis of People and particular Nations, every one in their Way, some using the Lunar, others the Solar Months.

The Fews, Greeks and Romans formerly made him, which made a Noise at Sun-rising, when | use of Lunar Months; but to avoid all such Fraftions in Numbers as would happen, they made them alternatively to confift of Twenty Nine and Thirty Days, calling the former Cavi, and the other Pleni: The Egyptians used Solar Months, and ordered all of them to confift of Thirty Days only, adding to the End of the Year Five Days which were made up of the Supernumerary Hours, and neglecting the Six Hours, and this made their Seatons in the Revolution of every Four Years go backward One Day: We now make use of these Months, tho' we render them unequal, and at the same Time reserve the Six Hours to make up a Day from Four Year to Four Year: and this has been explained under the Word Annus, which may be feen for this Purpole.

Romulus made his Year at first to consist but of Ten Months, the first of which was March, then April, May, June, Quintilu, (July) Sextelis (Auguft) September, Ollober, November, December. Converse with Pythagoras, of whom he had learned divers Things in the Aftronomical Art, of which he made good Use, especially upon this Occasion, added Two Months more to Romulus's

Ddd 2

Ten Months, by taking a Day off from April, of Trading: But these Weights were only more June, August, September, and December to which Romulus had allowed Thirty Days, leaving Thirty One Days to the rest as they had them; then adding those Six Days to Fifty One that were 304 Days, in order to perfect his own of 355 that made 57 Days, the which he divided into Two other Months, viz. into January which had 29 Days, and February 28, which he placed before March. He was not concerned that the Days in this last Month consisted of an even Number, because he designed it for the Time to offer Sacrifices in to the Infernal Gods. to which this Number, as being unhappy, according to the Egyptians Superfitition, feemed to be the first Month in the Year, instead of March as a Road is measured by Paces, a Rope by the for the Vernal Equinox.

reckon the Days of their Months by, to wit, the Calends, Nones and Ides: The first Day of every cial, and confists of Length and Breadth, whose Month was called Calends; the Four following Lines croffing each other, and the Sides being Days were the Nones (except in March, May, July and Officber, who had 6 Days of Nones;) then tent of its Compais is, which is commonly called came the Ides, which contained Eight Days: And the rest of the Month was reckoned by the Foot, and the other 4, the Area of the Supersi-Calends of the following Month: We now make cies will be 28 Foot, for 4 times 7 makes 28. By use of the Roman Months, and only reckon the this Way are Acres of Land, Woods, Waters and MENSORES; Harbingers, whose Busi-Emperors, when they were minded to go to any Province: and when they intended to encamp, to every Regiment.

MENSURA; Measure, being that which ferves to make known unto us the Greatness, Extent and Quantity of some Body. Josephus, Rating of Measures, you must know that as the venting of Measures: Eutropius in the Reginning amongst the Romans, were divided into 12 of his History ascribes it to Sidonius, in the Time that Proces reigned in Alba, some 300 Years after the Destruction of Troy: But the Holy Scriptures flew us that Measures are much more ancient, fince 'tis faid, Lev. 19. Te Shall do no Unrighteousness in Judgment, in Mete yard, in Weight or in Measure. The Ancients had a Custom, and the same is still in being in some Places, to lay up the Original Measure in their Temples, that Recourse might be had thereunto, when they were minded to try whether the others were right or no; and this is that which is to be underftood by the Measures of the Sanctuary to ofren mentioned in Scripture: For 'tis not to be believed, that these Measures or Weights of the Sanctuary were different from these in common Use, fince this would but confound all manner exact than others, and therefore it is that the Scripture always refers us to them, when it would point out unto us the greatest Exactness. and strictest Justice. We read in Fannius, that wanting in Romulus his Year which confifted of the Amphora, which was a very ancient Measure, was by the Romans confectated to Jupiter, upon Mount Tarpeius, where the Capitol food:

> Quam ne violare liceret, Sacravere Jovi Tarpeio in monte Quirites.

And the Emperor Velpalian, after the Civil Wars with Vitellius were ended, having repaired the Capitol, put also the Original Measures therein.

There are Three forts of Geometrical Meabelong. He constituted the Month of January, sures, viz. the Line, the Superficies, and the which he appointed for the Winter-Solftice, to Solid Body. Line-Measure refersonly to Length; which was so before, and which Romulus had put Fathom, a Beam, or some other Piece of Wood by the Foot; in the same Manner are measured The Remans made use of Three Words to the Height of a Tower, the Depth of a Pit, or the like. The other Way of Measuring is superfimultiplied by one another, shew what the Conthe Area: As supposing one of the Sides be 7 Days therein by 1, 2, 3, 4, &c. See what has Meadows measured; so likewise Hangings, and been said upon Calenda and Calendarium. Panes of Glass, which ought to be taken as superficial Squares. The Third Way of Measuring ness it was to go and fix upon Lodgings for the 'is Cubical, or a Solid Body in all the Parts and Dimentions of Length, Breadth and Depth, such as are Feet in Maion's Work, which should be they marked out the same, and affigned its Post like a Dye 1 ; so as that having but 6 Feet in Length, it should have 36 in the Area or Superficies, and 216 folid Body.

But for the better Understanding, and exacter the Fewish Historian, attributes to Cain the In- As or Pound, which were Synonymous Terms Ounces; these Terms have also been very often applied to a Total divided into 12 Equal parts; and the Name of their Aliquot parts, has been also applied to the Parts of those other Things: Wherefore it will be proper here to fee the Division made under the Word As, and the Names of its Parts; of which take this Abridgment.

As or Libra 12 Ounces, or a Pound, or a Total divided into 12 Parts. Deunx, 11 Ounces, or 11 Parts. Decunx or Dexians, 10 Ounces, or 10 Parts. Dodrans, 9 Ounces, or 9 Parts. Bes or Beffis, 8 Ounces, or 8 Parts. Septunx, 7 Ounces, or 7 Parts. Semiffis, 6 Ounces, or Half a Pound, or Half the Total.

Quincunx

quincunx, 5 Ounces, or 5 Parts. Triens, 4 Ounces, or 4 Parts. quadrans, 3 Ounces, or 3 Parts. Sextans, 2 Ounces, or 2 Parts. Sescunx, 12 Ounce, or 1 Part and an Half. Uncia, an Ounce, or one Part of the whole.

MEN

Hence it is that the Roman Seftier being diyided into Twelve Cyathe, they were marked likewise by the Parts of the As called Aliquots, as you have it in Martial,

Sextantes, Callifle, duos infunde Falerni:

Fill me; Calliflus, Two Sextans of Falernian Wine.

That is Four Cyarba, for the Word Sextans which fignified Two Ounces, or the Sixth Part of an As is taken here for Two Cyatha, which make the Sixth Part of a Roman Seftier, and in another Place.

Poto ego Sextantes ; tu potas, Cinna, Deunces.

I drink Two Cyatha, but you, Cinna, drink

And hence also it comes to pass, that the Foot being divided into Twelve Inches, it obtained the Name of a Pound, as each Inch did the cording to the Italian, which was more. Name of an Ounce: And this has been the Cause we meet with such fort of Expressions, it self Crassitudo trium unciarum, Three Inches What we are more particularly to diffinguish in this Place are those Two Sorts of Libra we takes up the Breadth of 4 Barley Corns or Lines. meet with, whereof the one is divided into The Foot is 12 Inches: a Geometrical Pace 5 Twelve Ounces, and the other is a Measure di-1 vided into Twelve Inches, that so we may unravel all the Difficulties that may arise upon this Measure) a Foot and an half; a Furlong 125 Occasion. Now this Distinction of a Libra into Paces; the Funiculus, an Egyptian Measure, 40 was given by the Romans to a Pound Weight, gyptian Schanas 20, 40, and 120 Furlongs; a Pound of Measure which was made use of for Places or Countries you are in-Liquids: The fame Author in another Place by certain Lines, and that those Inches were | Cubical Foot is a Measure for solid Bodies. called Ounces. 'The Romans, said he, had a the Twelfth Part thereof an Ounce. This life of the Libra and the Parts thereof for Weights and Measure was formerly to common, that those who made it their Business to give it the clearest Explication, added thereunto the Word Pondo for Pendere, in order to the avoiding of all manner of Equivocation, when they would have it understood they meant Weights: For Example, Planens fays, Laferpinit libram pondo diluunt. They fleeped a Pound of Benjamin ; Pifvium nullam unciam pondo cepi, I have not taken this Day an Ounce of Fish, Columella's Expression is, Sextarius aqua cum dodranse pondo mellis, a Pint of Water with Nine Ounces of Heney. Livy also says, Patera aurea fuerunt 176, libres fere omnes Pondo, there were 176 Gold-Cups, that weighed almost each of them a Pound. Its certain that this Equivocation concerning the Pound of Weights, and that of Meafure has often introduced Confusion into Authors, as may be justified by Galen, who speaking of the Contest there was in his Time concerning Meafures noted by Authors that were not fully explained, informs us, that some thought they ought to take the Term Cotyla according to the Measure of the Atheneans, and others, ac-

There were Two Sorts of Measures, one flat or long, and the other round and hollow, for Quincuncialis berba in Pliny, a Plant Five Inches dry Things and Liquids: Long Measure is a high, Unciales littera in St. Jerom, Capital Let Barley-Corn, which in Geometry makes the ters of an Inch high, and in the Holy Scripture 12th part of an Inch, otherwise called a Line. The Inch contains 12 Lines or Barley-Corns; the Romans called it Uncia. Its the 12th part of a Foot, and contains a Fingers, each of which Foot; a Geometrical Perch 10 Feet, and in some Flaces 22; a Spar 8 Inches; a Cubit (a fewifb Weights and Measure is to be met with in the Furlongs; a Mile 8 Furlongs; a Parasange (a Works of Galen; who fays, That the same Name | Persian Measure) 30 Furlongs and more; the Ewhereby folid Bodies were weighed, and to a League 3 Miles, more or less, according to the Measure, in respect to Coelestial Distances, is taking upon him to reprove some Physicians, half the Diameter of the Earth, being 15000 who did not specifie the said Difference, says, Leagues or thereabouts: The Ell is a Measure They would have done better to have noted for Stuffs: The Reed, called Kenech by the Hemore carefully what Ounces and Pounds, they brews, contained 6 Cubits, i. e. 8 Feet, a Digit meant, should be used for Liquid Remedies, and an half. A Rod, Fathom, &c. differ accordwhether they were those of Weights or Mea- ing to different Places. As for Surfaces, an Acre fires. And in another Place he informs us, confifts of an 160 Perches Square; a Day's-work that the Inches were marked on those Measures is as much as one can plough in a Day: The Round and hollow Meafures are fuch as ferve Measure which they used to sell Oyl by, that to measure Corn and Liquids with: Those used was diffinguish'd by certain Lines, whereby for dry Things are the Livra, Bushel, Minot, the Whole was divided into Twelve Parts, and Seflier, and Muid. For Liquids, a Tun, Muid, Pipe, Calens, Amphora, and Barrel: And for Retail, Hemina, or the Half Seftier, Seftier, Quart, Pottle, Pot, Congius, Cotyle, Cyathus, and ther's Womb. Acetabulum. And for the Measure of Herbs in Physick, that's done by Bundles, Handfuls and Pugils, most of these Terms shall be explained in their proper Places.

Feaft of Merchantile People, which fell out May 15, that Venus took him to kifs him, he ftole away or the Ides of the faid Month, and were kept in her Girdle, and would have deprived Jupiter of Honour of Mercury; for on that Day a Temple his Thunderbolt, if he had not been too hot was dedicated to him in the great Circus, when Appius Claudius, and P. Servilius were Confuls: They facrificed to that Deity a whole Sow, and went to fprinkle themselves with the Water of a Fountain named Aqua Mercurii, which stood near unto the Gate Capena, praying unto Mercury, that he would profper their Trade, and forgive their Cheating. Thus Ovid describes it. L.S. Faft.

Sive Deum prudens alium Divamve tetelli: Abstulerint celeres improba dicta Noti : Et pateant veniente die perjuria nobis, Nec cur ent Supert fi que locutus ero. Da modò lucra mibi, da fatto gaudia lucro: Et face ut emtori verba dediffe juvet.

MERCURY, according to the Fable, was Son to Jupiter and Maia, the Daughter of Atlas, who Lay in of him upon Mount Cyllene, near Tegas, in Arcadia: they also called him the Business upon me, as all the rest of the Godsbe-Tegean, Cyllenian, and Grandson of Ailas, as fides. In the first place, I must get up at break Horace calls him, Mercuri facunde nepos Atlan- of Day, to clean the Hall where they feaft, and zic. Lucian informs us of his Qualities and Of- the Place of their Affembly: Then I must be at fices, in the Dialogues of the Gods, where he fupiter's Levy to receive his Orders, and to carbrings in Vulcan and Apollo (peaking in this Man- ry them backward and forward. At my return, I

What a fine Fellow he is, and how he laughs at this Office before the Coming of Ganymede: But all the World: He discovers plainly, what he what diffurbs me most, is that in the very Night. will be one Day, tho' he be but a Child.

Apoll. Do you call him a Child? He who in Malice is older than Japenus.

Apoll. Ask Neptune, from whom he has taken away his Tridens, and Mars whose Sword he has got; to fay nothing of my felf, whom he has robbed of my Bow and Arrows.

Vul. What! An Infant do this, who is yet in Swadling-Clouts? Apoll. Thou will see what he can do, if he comes near thee. Vul. He has been at my House already.

Apoll. And has he taken nothing away? Vul. Not, that I know off.

Apoll. See every-where.

Vul. I cannot fee my Pinchers. Apoll. I'll warrant you, thou wilt find it in his Clouts.

MER Vul. How ! Is this little Thief already fo erpert? I believe he hath learnt to feal in his Mo-

Apoll. He has a great many other Qualifies. and you'll fee them when there is occasion: He will in time be a great Orator, and also a good Musician, if I mistake not, for he hath already MERCATORUM FESTUM: the foiled Cupid: And as the Gods laughed at it, and and eager; but he took his Scepter from him:

Vul. He is a bold little Spark. Apoll. He is also a Musician.

Vul. How fo ?

Apoll. He hath made an Infrument of a Tortoile-shell, whereon he plays to great Perfestion, infomuch that he makes jealous, of him, who am the God of Harmony: His Mother favs he does not fleep a Nights; and that he goes as far as Hell to get any Booty; for he has a Rod endued with great Vertue, wherewith he brings the Dead to Life again, and conducts the Living to their Graves.

His Offices are also described in another Dialogue, where he brings him in talking with his Mother.

Mer. Is there ever a God in Heaven more unhappy than I?

Maia. Ah! My Son, talk not at this rate.

Mer. Why not? Since I have alone as much wait upon the Mafter of the Houshold, and Vulc. Apollo, Have you feen little Mercury? fometimes the Cup-bearer: At leaftwife, Idid when every Body is at reft, I must go and convoy the Dead to Hell, and there affift at their Condemnation, as if all the Day were not long Val. What Harm could he do? He is yet but enough for me to all the Offices of a Sergeant, Champion, Orator, and many more, &c.

He has been taken for the God of Traders, and that he prefided over Trade: He was called Mercurius, a Mercibus, or a Mercium cura 1 and this makes Plantus in the Prologue of Amphariton bring him in speaking,

Ut vos in vost is voltu mercimoniu Emundis, verdundifque me latum lucris

He is usually painted with Wings at his Sides and Feet, a Caduceus or Rod twifted round with Two Serpents in his Hand, wherewith he performs many Wonders; and a great Cap, called Petajus, on his Head, whence he was named Mereffion, which intimates that a Man that Trades add also another Stone each, it made a Heap at ought to be vigilant, and rife early. He is also last, which they called Acervus Mercurit: This the God of Thieves, and the Messenger of the was an ancient Custom, seeing we read of it in Gods, and the Arbiter of Peace; and this made the Proverbs of Solomon; Sicus qui mittit lapidem them to proclaim a Peace. Apollo gave him that | speaks of these Mercuries, or Heaps of Stone. Rod, and taught him the Vertue of it; and about the faid Rod, along with him.

MER

thereof. Thus they made him the Mafter of to pass that he was to preside over Mens Dis-Thoughts or Wildom. You may fee how Porobrry speaks upon this Occasion, who seems to Hence it appears, that the Pagans looked upon these Stars as living and intelligent Beings, and fuch as communicated their Influences with their Knowledge: For Horace calls learned Men, Mercuriales viri, as being Persons more abundantly furnish'd with the Gifts and Influences of Helychius fays, that the Babilonians called the Star Mercury, Sechez: Mercurii ftella Babylonii Sechez: And the People of Edella gave Mercury the Name of Monimus, who together with Mars they would have to be the Two Affistants of the Sun; hence it appears the Eaftern People were much addicted to the Worship of Mercury: The Eaftern Nations were no less of Opinion, that Mercury was the Star that had the Government of him. of Reason and Speech: The Gauls, of whom Cafor speaks in his Commentaries, minded more the fabulous History of Mercury, than the Nature of the Star, that bare his Name: And 'twas for the fame Reason that the ancient Representations of Mercury, had neither Legs nor Arms, that we may know, if we believe Plutarch, that a Person by the Application of his Understanding, and a prudent Conduct alone may compass all Things, without the Assistance of the Members of the Body. As Mercury prefided over High-ways, they gave to Mens Heads that were cutupon Square Stones there the Name of Mergu-7; and all Passengers in order to make the Place to all the Parts of the World, and almost fell in-curius Petafatus. The Cock was under his Pro- | yet the more remarkable, taking upon them to the Roman Embassadors carry a Caduceus with in acervum Mercurii. Homer also in his Odysses

MERCURY (according to Hiftory) the Mercury first tried it upon Two Serpents that most famous of all those that bore the Name of were fighting, between which when he threw it Mercury was he of Egypt, whose Commentaries, they were pacified; from whence forward he Philo Biblos (according to the Relation given us carried those Serpents who twifted themselves by Eusebius) says, were with utmost Care sought after by Sanchuniathon, that thereby he might . MERCURY, in the Art of Aftrology, is be able to compose his Treatise of Pagan Theoa Planet, that is hardly ever separated from the logy, as knowing well he was the Person that Sun, and so is rarely seen, as being as it were al- first found out the Use of Letters, and that he ways buried under the Beams thereof, or elfe was called by different Names as Thob, Thorth, appears like a black Spot upon the Body of the Tautes: Porphyry bears the fame Testimony of Sun it felf: 'Tis for that Reason, perhaps, that Taautus, and Sanchuniathon forgets not the Gethe Ancients fometimes confounded it with the nealogy of Tanuns, amongst those of the other Sun, and faid it was the Soul or Understanding profane Deities of the Phanicians and Egyptians. Tis not to be doubted but the Ancientest of Wifdom and Knowledge; from whence it came all the Mercuries, and he that was the Inventer of Letters, was he of Phanicia, and he paffed courses, which is nothing else but an Bifusion of from thence to Egypt, and so from Egypt to Greece: Eusebius also proves out of Diodorus Siculus, that the Egyptians presented to their ancient King attribute to the Moon, that Mercury or Genius Oficia a Mercury very like unto him of the Phawhich regulates Discourse, as he appropriates nicians: Apud cum summe in bonore Mercurium to the Sun that which directs Argumentation and fuife; quod in exceptiondie its que visam bomi-Reasoning: Mercurius orationem exhibet, &c. num juvarent ingenii solertiam oftenderes plane fingularem : quippe qui litteras invenerit, Deorum facrificia rite instituerit, lyra cantum invenerit, Gracofque bomines The equareiar, boc eft, elocutionem docuerit: quam ob causam epians, id eff, Mercurius ab iildem fuerit appellatus : denique oliva plantam invenerit. Clemens Alexandrinus speaks of this Agyptian Mercury, as of a Man whom they had deified there after his Death: Cicero would have it, that there were Five diftinct Mercuries, of which Three were Greeks, one the Son of Nilus, and the laft he of Egypt: The great Glory of the Agyptian Mercury was, that he was the Inventer of Letters, Sciences and Laws, according to Famblicus his Testimony

> It will be some Difficulty to reconcile what Pline favs with the most received Opinion. That the Invention of Letters was found out in Alfria; Litteras arbitror Affyrias fuiffe : fed alit apud Egyptios à Mercurio, us Gellius, alti apud Syros repertas volunt. But this Contrar lety may be accommodated in this manner: That whereas the Beginning of all Things proceeded from Alfria, other Nations affected to have the Honour thereof: Indeed it may be faid, that Letters were in Use before the Deluge, and Noah preserved the same in his Family, and to his Posterity, but after the Flood when People began to be scattered into meer Barbariim; there was as it were a Ne I they had been carried into Phanicia: Such a ceffity for a new Creation of all Arts and Sciences, to bring them back from the faid Barbarism, Egyptian and Grecian Mercury, that it may be and the profound Ignorance they had plunged easily judged the One is but a Copy of the Qthemselves into : Wherefore 'tis true, that Letters were originally the Allyrian's Invention, or rather found among them, fince Noah and his Family dwelt in Allyria; but in Process of Time and after the Multiplying of divers Colonies in the World, the Phanicians were the first who rehad their Taausus or Mercury also; which gave tle after the Deluge, there was a fecond Mercury ciently. the Son of Vulcan who reigned in Egypt long af- MERCURY (according to Macrobius) is ter, and wrote Books (which he deposited in the same as the Sun or Apollo, and the Reason terra Syriadica, & exaratis facra dialello & biero- Sun is the Mind and Understanding of the World. glyphicis litteris à Thoth, qui est Mercurius pri- which agrees well with Mercury, whose Name is tis Agymireposuit. Ammianus Marcellinus gives often sent by the Coelestial to the Infernal Deifor Fear of another Deluge those Secrets which they were delirous to transmit to Posterity were writ on the Walls in Hieroglyphicks: It was this second Mercury that was called Trifmegiffus, according to Syncellus and Manerbo: Clemens Alexandrinus makes mention of 42 Books of Mer- fo many Eyes in the Night, to watch and mind cury, that were carried in Pomp by the Egyptians when they were folemnizing the Mysteries ted by the Symbol of a Cow: Lastly, Mercury's of their Religion, and wherein were contained Caduceus which was befet with Two Serpents all the Divine and Humane Sciences entertained twifted together and kiffing one another, fightby that Nation, as their Hieroglyphicks, Geo- fied the Four Deities that prefided over the Nametry, Colmography, Aftronomy, Laws of tivites of Mankind, viz. the Sun, Moon, Love Sacrificing, and all Divine Worthip: Its ma and Necessity. The Two Serpents are the Sun mfelf, that it was from these Two Egyptian and Moon; the Knot is Necessity, and their those Accomplishments, wherewith they endued pictured fitting upon a Cray-filh, fiolding 2 their fabulou, Mercury : For the Greeks tould not | Caduceus in his Right-hand and one of the Claus deny but that the Egyptian Merany was the most of the Fish in the other : Farther; He is graven tamous of all of them, and therefore they made on Medals, like a beardless Youth with Wings, it their Bafinels to give out he was a Greek by and holding a Parle in his Left-hand, and a Cock Birth; and whereas it is certain, that the Greeks upon his Filt. He has an He-goat at his Feet, received their Letters from the Phanicians, as with a Scorpion and a Fly. The Germans adored we have already thewed, they endeavoured all him as the Sovereign of the Gods; and as Tacines

Likeness was found to have been between the ther.

Strabo calls a Child which he faw was born without Arms country's Name. Thus Mercary was usually pictured, to let Men understand, says Festus, that Discourse does every Thing, without the Affiftance of the Arms: ceived the Use of Letters by the Means of Tasu. Cyllenius dictus, quod omnem rem fermo fine manitus; next to them the Egyptians got them, and bus conficiat; quibus partibus corporis qui carem, κυλλοί vocansur: But Paufanias fays, the Aibes Sanchuniasbon Occasion to say, That Mercury was nians were the first that gave Mercury's Name Saturn's Secretary, pappaters. The Egypto fuch as were lame in their Arms: Primi musiltians represented their Mercury, with a Dog's of Hermas vocarunt: For before Dadalus his Time Head, and sometimes confounded him with Anu- all their Statues had but one Foot, and either: bis, because of the Sagacity of a Dog: See how no Arms at all, or else they were joined to, or Servius speaks of it: Latrator Anubis, Mercurius hung by their Bodies : He was the first that capitalino pingitur, ideò quia nibil est cane made them with Two Feet, and set the Arms. a little off from the Body: The Statues of Mer-Bur besides this first Mercury, who lived a lit- cury might be left in the same Posture as and their Temples) concerning the Writings of the why Wings are given to Mercury, is to denote: first Mercury, which he found graven upon Pil- the swift Motion of the Sun. Apollo presides: lars, and this Manetho faid, according to the Ac- over the Quire of Mules, and Mercury is the Facount Syncellus gives us of it. Exstelis positis in ther of Eloquence and good Literature. The mus, fecundus Mercurius Agathodamonis filius, therived and Te spunvener ab interpretando : Tati pater, libros traduxit, quos in templorum ady. Mercury is the Messenger of the Gods, being a Description of those Subterranean Places, where ties ; because the Sun in its Course passes thro' the Superior and Inferior Signs: Mercury killed-Argus, who had 100 Eyes to watch lo, that was transformed into a Cow: That is, that the Sun eccliples the Light of the Stars and the Heavens by its Prefence, thefe Stars having been as the Earth which by the Egyptians was represen-Mercuries the Greeks and Romans borrowed all Kiffing denotes Love: Mercury may also be feen they could to perswade the World, that they reports, offered Humane Sacrifices to him; Devwere originally found out in Greece, from wheave rum maximum Mercurium colunt, cui certis diebus lamanis quoque boftiis litare fas babent. The Greeks and Romans facrificed a Calf unto him; they made him an Oblation of Milk and Honey, as unto a God of Sweetness, by Reason of his Eloquence. Callistratus and Homer fay, it was a Cuftom to present him with Neat's-Tongues, by throwing them into the Fire, and fprinkling a little Wine thereon, because he was the God of Speech, whereof the Tongue is the Organ. See Hermes, which is Mercury.

MERCURIUS (Dier is underftood) is Wednesday, the Third Day of the Week, being fo called, because the Planet Mercury reigns in the first Hour thereof, according to the Opinion of those who allow of Planetary Hours.

MERETRIX; a debauched Wife or Maiden. A Bill was wont to be fixed over the Door of Common Women, according to the Testimony of Aurelius Fuscus, and Seneca, Controv. 1. Meretrix vocata es, in communi loco ftetifti, fuperpositus est Celle tue titulus, venientes accepisti. Tersullian in his Book de Pudicia, calls thefe Inscriptions the Rills of Lewdness. Libidinum tituli. Portius Latro fays the fame Thing ; Es in lupanari, accepisti locum, titulus inscriptus eft ; you are in an ill Place, you have a Room there, a Bill is fet on the Door. The Cuftom also was for them to change their Names, as foon as they had told the Judiles, that they would lead a diffolute Life; as we are informed by Plausus, in his Comedy, entituled, Panulus, Act. 5. Sect. 3. Ver. 20.

Namque bodie earum mutarentur nomina, Facerenique indignum genere quastum corpore.

They changed their Names, in order to drive a Trade, which became not their Birth and Condition. But when they for look this infamous Profession; they also laid aside that Name of Reproach they had affumed, and reaffumed that of their own Family.

At the fame time fays Tacinus in his Ann. L.2. C. 24. 'The Lewdness of Women was restrained by the Senate's Authority, and fuch of them whole Grand-father, Father or Husband had been a Roman Knight, were forbid to make a publick Profession of their Lewdness: For Vefilia, who was of a Pratorian Family, had made her Declaration, before the Magistrates, according to the Cuftom of our Ancestors, who *thought such debauched Practices were suffici-'ently punith'd with the Difgrace of fuch a Confeffion.

MEROPS, was one of the Gyants, who but this Name ought rather to be given to those and that drinking some Bull's Blood, he died went about to drive the Gods from Heaven; who affifted at the Building of the Tower of Babel, because of the Confusion of Languages that enfued thereupon; feeing the Word Merops comes from meeil en dividere, and &+ vox.

METELLUS; the Surname of the Family of the Cacilii, from whom were descended many illustrious Persons, among the rest L. Cecilius, a brave Commander, and learned Orator; who going one Day to his Home, was flopped by Ravens, who flapped him with their Wings; whereat he was amazed, and went back again to Rome, where finding the Temple of Vefta was on fire, he delivered the Image of Pallas, called Palladium, from the Flames; and in so doing became blind, but that Goddess afterwards reftored to him his Sight.

METRA, the Daughter of Erifichthon, who obtained as a Reward from Neptune, for the Lois of her Virginity, a Power to transform her felf into what Shape the pleafed; wherefore, in order to supply the Necessities of her Father, she fometimes took upon her one Form, and fometimes another, under which her Father fold her again and again, as he had occasion.

METRETES; it was an Atbenian Meafure, that contained 40 English Quarts, i. e. 72 Seftiers.

MIDAS, King of Phrygia, the Son of Gora dius, and the Goddess Cybele, he received into his Court Silenus, one of Bacebus his Captains, that had straggled in his Way to the Indies; in acknowledgment whereof Bacchus gave him his Choice to ask him what Kindness he would. And his Request was, that whatever he touched might be turned into Gold; but having experimented the same divers times, he was surprized to find, when he went to drink or eat, that all was transmuted into Gold; wherefore he had recourse to Barchus again, who bid him go and wash himself in the River Pattolus in Lydia, to which the Property was communicated to remedy him in this Case: and so upon washing therein the Gold Scales presently fell off. Sometime after having adjudged the Victory to God Pass against Apollo, this Deity grew angry thereas, and prefeatly changed his Ears into those of an Als. Midas concealed this Misfortune, and difcovered it to none but his Barber, with a Charge he should let no other know it ; the Barber made a Pit in the Earth, and entring therein, faid, Midas bas Affe's Ears; and so covered the Pit again, as believing he had by that means hid the Secret very well; but Reeds coming to grow up in the faid place, and being shaken by the Wind, repeated the Words, King Midas bas Afe's Ears. Plusarch in his Treatife concerning Superfition, fays, that Mides towards the latter part of his Life, was so extreamly afflicted with Melancholy, occasioned by frightful Dreams that broke his rest, that he could not remedy the same, upon it.

MILLIARE, and MILLIARIUM; Mile; 'twas a certain Space that contained 1000 Paces among the Romans, who diftinguish'd their in France contains 2000 Paces, the common Wheels. 4th, Was the Daughter of Pallantin League 2500, and the greatest 3000.

MILO. A Crotonian, was a Man of vaft Strength; he carried a Bull of Two Years old upon his Back at the Olympick Games, for the Space of a Purlong, then killed him with his Fift; and 'twas faid, eat him all in one Day. He held a Pomegranate to firmly in his Hand, that them. Plate in his Timaus, speaking of the City no Body could take it from him: As he was one of Sai, fays, that Minerva was worthipped there Day in a Wood, and went about to break a Tree and called by the Name of Neisb. Syncellus inoff with his Hands, which was a little flit, the timates, that the Name of Queen Niteria. same closed again, and both his Hands were which includes that of Neith, fignified as much catched between, so that he could never pull as Victorious Minerva. Plutarch speaks also of them out, and in that Condition he became a the Minerva of Sai, and fays that some made Prev to the Wolves.

MINA or. MNA, Greek Money worth 100 Drachmas, and is somewhat more than Three Pounds Sterling. Sixty Mina's were required to make up an Attick Talent.

MINERVA; of whose Nativity Lucian gives an Account in his Dialogue of the Gods, where he introduces Vulcan and Jupiter Speaking Minervam; at prior quidem Virgo diem obitt; Mi-

Vul. Lo, I bring thee a very fharp Hatchet : What wouldst thou have us do with it?

Tao. Cleave my Head in two prefently. Val. I hou shalt see whether I am such a Fool as to attempt it: Tell me feriously, what thou as Eufebius says. The Conveniency of Neighwouldfk imploy me in.

Fro. To cleave my Head in the middle; I am in earneft; and if thou will not obey, thou shall fee how it will be taken; strike only with Daughter of Neptune, and the Lake Triton, tho all thy Might, for my Head is split with Pain, afterwards upon the Account of some Milinand I endure the fame Mifery, as if I were in | derstanding between her and her Father, she Labour like a Woman.

Pul Have a Care that we do not commit fome Folly; for I cannot lay thee so easily as a

Jup. Strike thou only, and fear not; leave the reft to me.

Phi. It must be so in spight of me; But who would do it? I must obey: O ye Great Gods! I do not wonder at thy having a Pain in thy Head, fince thou hadft a Woman within it, and even an Ameron, with a Lance and Shield : 'Tis that which made thee fo impatient.

Cicero, L. 3. de Nas. Deor. speaks of Five Minerve's: The Ift, which he fays was the Mother of Apello: The 2d brought forth by the Nile, which the Egyptian Saites worshipped. Plusarob in his Treatile of Ofirit, fays that the Image of Minerus or Pallas was in the City of Sai, with this Inscription : "Eye' eins mar 70 שנשים בין לרי בן ברים עבוסים, און דפר בעולה שנהאסי Edeis ww Bentde anexado Jer. I am all that was, is, and is to come; and my Vail no Mortal nath hitherto uncovered. 3d, Is the that came out armed from Jupiter's Brain. 4th, Was the Daughter of Jupiter and Corypba, the Daughter

Miles by the Marks they fet: The small League | of Oceanus, who invented Charlots with Four whom the killed, because he would have ravilled her: This laft they made to have Wings to her Feet, in the same manner as Mercury. Areabius pursues the same Diftinction: We may with certainty conclude, that the Second of these Minerva's, is the ancientest and first of any of no diffinction between her and Ilis-

The Phanicians, according to the Relation given us by Sanchuniathon, had their Minerva alfo, and they made her to be the Daughter of Saturn, and attributed the Invention of Artsand Arms unto her: This is what Eufebius fays of her : Saturnus liberos procreavit, Proferpinam & nerva autem Mercurioque auttoribus falcem ex ferro baftamque conflavie. It was from the Egyptims or Phunicians, that the Greeks borrowed their Minerua, and Cecrops was the first who taught the Athenians to worthip Minerva and Jupiter, bourhood made Minerva pass from Egypt into Lybia before Cecrops went over into Greece. Herodorus affures us, the Lybians made her to be the went to Jupiter, who adopted her for his Daughter. Paujanias affures us, the Arbenians were much devoted to the Worship of the Gods, and that they were the first who gave Minerva the Name of igran, operaria, machinatrix. He favs elsewhere, they built a Temple to Minerus, Maxarins, Machinatrix, as being the Goddels that had introduced Arts and Inventions is to the World: He speaks moreover of a Statue of Minerva that fell from Heaven. He fays Minerva aided Perfeus in his Conflict against Gargon, near the Lake Triton, for which Reason that Country was confecrated to her. Laftly, The faid Author declares, the Bastians affected to give the Name of Triton to a Brook that run near Minerva's Temple, from which the had been named Tritonia. As for Minerva, fays St. Augustine, L. 18. C. 9. de Civ. Dei, 'She is much more ancient than Mars or Hercules, and they faid the lived in the Days of ogyges, near. unto the Lake Triton, from whence the was named Tritonia: She was the Inventress of many rare and uleful Things; and Men were fo much the more inclined to believe the was a Goddess, because her Original was not known;

an Allegory, than Truth of History.

a Goddels, before Cecrops his Time, in whose the Owl were under her Protection, as may be Days Aibens was founded or rebuilt: 'Tisa Name feen by the Aibenian Money, on one fide of taken from Minerva, whom the Greeks called which frood the Head of this Goddels armed, Prodigies amazed the King, who presently de-her Claws, as a Sign of Victory. puted Persons to go to Apollo at Delphos, in order to know what the same meant: The Oracle made answer, that the Olive-Tree fignified Minerva, and the Water, Neptune, and that it lay noon them to chuse, according to which of the two Deities Names they should call their City: hereupon Cesrops calls all the Citizens, both Men | Mount Alban, and reciting Pieces of Wit, whereand Women together, for the Women were in the Conqueror had a Prize given him, accordwont to have Votes in their Deliberations: When the Suffrages were taken, all the Men were for Neptune, but all the Women for Minerve; and because they exceeded the Men by one Voice, Minerva carried it, and Athens was called according to her Name. Phornutse going about to give the Moral and Allegorical Interpretatim of Minerva's proceeding from Jupiter's Brain, fays. That the Heathen Philosophers made her to be a Divine Emanation, which they called the Intellect of the great God, that differed nothing from his Wildom, which in him is generated of his Brain, which is the principal Part of the Soul. This St. August. L. 7. C. 28. de Civ. Dei fays, was the Opinion Varro had of the Poets, that according to their Custom in obscuring Philosophy with Fictions, they meant no other than the Idea or Exemplairs of Things, under the Name of Minerva. Painters and Statuaries represented her like a beautiful Virgin, armed with a Cwajs, a Sword by her Side, a Helmet on her Head, adorned with Feathers, holding a Javelin in her Right Hand, and a Shield in her Left, whereon Medufa's Head befet with Serpents was represented: This Shield was called #gis, and was covered with a Goat Ikin, or that of the Monster Ægidie, which the killed. The first who erected Temples and offered Sacrifices to her were the Rhodians, whom the taught to make Colossus's: But because that at the very first Sacrifice they offered to her, they forgot to make use of Fire, the left them in Anger, and went to the City, which she called Athens, to whom the Athenians built a stately Temple, under the Name of wapfir , wherein they fet up her Statue made of Gold and Ivory by the Han is of Phydias, which was 39 Foot high: Upon her Pantoutle was graven the Fight bet ween the Lapinba and the Centaurs; upon the fides of the Shield, the Bartle within it the Gods righting against the Gyants, the Twelve Signs, was mightily taken with what for, as to their faying that the came out of There were several Temples and Chappels e-Jupiter's Brain, 'tis rather a Poetical Fiction, or rected for her at Rome ; whereof the most Ancient and Famous of all was that upon Mount Minerva was worshipped by the Arbenians for Aventine, of which Ovid speaks: The Olive and 'Affirm. An Olive-I ree happening all of a fud- and on the other an Owl with these Greek Chaden, in a certain Place, to spring out of the racters AOHNA, and upon the Reverse there Ground, and a Spring of Water in another, these was an Owl flying, who held a Lawrel between

MINERVALIA, or Quinquatria, were Feafts instituted in Honour of Minerva, and celebrated March 19. the same lasting for Five Days: The first Day was spent in Prayers made to this Goddes; the rest in offering Sacrifices, feeing the Gladiators fight, alling Tragedies upon ing to the Appointment of the Emperor Domitian: The Scholars had now a Vacation, and carried their Schooling-money, or rather Prefents to their Mafters, which was called Minerval: Hoc mense mercedes explvebans magistrie, quas completus annus deberi fectt, fays Macrobius, MINOS, the Son of Jupiter and Europa. was King of Candia after he had outed his Brother Sarpedon. Ariflotle, L. 1. Polit, fays, He was the first that gave Laws to the Candiors ; his Wife's Name was Pafiphae, a Daughter of the Sun, by whom he had Three Sons and Two Daughters: He had great Wars with the Athenians, in order to revenge the Death of his Son Androgen, whom they had flain; and he granted them a Peace upon Condition they should fend him every Year Seven young Men of the best Rank in their City, to be devoured by the Minotaur that his Wife had brought forth, as we shall shew presently: He exercised the Place of a Judge in Hell with Eacm and Rhadamanthus, because he was a very just Prince. Plate informs us, That Jupiser left the Office of passing Judgment upon the Dead to Three of his Sons : Redamanthus was to judge the Afiaticks; Escan the Europeans; and for Minos, he was to determine any Difficulties that might occur; fo that he was above the other Two.

MINOTAURUS; the Minotaur, was a Monfter, being half Man and half Bull, brought forth by Pasiphae, Minos his Wife, after the had engendred with a Bull, by the fubtle Means of Dedalus, who made a Wooden Heifer, wherein he inclosed her that she might be covered by the Bull: This Monster was put into the Labyrinth, and by Minos his Order fed with Man's Flesh, but he was at last killed by Thefeus, who had been fent thither to be devoured by him. Lucian unravels to us the Fabulous part of this Story ; faying, That Pafipbae hearing Dadalus discoursing concerning Taurus, which is one of he faid; which gave the Poets occasion to fay, I a Rebellion against him, he out of Despair stab. that the was in Love with a Bull, whom by his bed himself, when he found the Poison, which means she enjoy'd. Diodorus Siculus says, that he was wont to take, would not do his Business. Taurus was one of Minos his Captains, who had to do with Pasiphae, and whose Amours were countenanced by Dadalus, that the was brought to Bed of Two Children, one of which refembled Minos, and the other Taurus, and that they were both called by the Name of Minotaur; contained about Nine English Quarts. that from the faid Taurus his using of the Arbenians very severely, in the War which Minos declared against them, to revenge the Death of his Son Androgens, they feigned that he fed upon their Flesh. Philosborus relates that the Minotaur was a very cruel Officer under Minos, who in wreftling overcame all those that came and 'tis to him they facrificed their own Chilagainst him at those Funeral Games, instituted dren in the Valley of Topber, which fignifies a by Minos to the Ghoft of his Son Androgeus, and that he won the Prize which confifted of some Tribute-Children, from hence came the Fiction of the Poets, that he was fed with the Children sent yearly from Athens to Crees, by he was the God of Liberty, being a Deity that way of Tribute, for killing Androgeus.

ans, Parthians, and several other Eastern Nations gave to Apollo, because of the Ornament piter Tragicus. about his Head, wherewith they represented him: He was also reverenced among the Romans, as appears by feveral Infcriptions:

Soli invitto Mithra. Numini invide feli Mithra.

They celebrated the Ceremonies used at his Worthip in Caves and Subterranean Places, and they usually facrificed a Bull to him. Socrates and Sozomen fay, That in the Reign of Julian the Apostate and Theodosius, the Cave of Mithra, that was at Alexandria, was opened, that they found it full of Mens Sculls, that had been there facrificed unto him: This Worship of Apollo Mithra is one of the ancienteft used among Men, and the Mahefe Greeks learnt it of the Phaniciwho before them were Mafters of the Ifland. Euftathius derives the Word Mitre from the Greek wire, which fignifies a Weaver's Woof, being a broad Welt, wherewith they tied his Head : Voffius derives it from uiw, which that for One Altar I have, others have an Hunfignifies to tie; because the Mitre was an Or- dred. He found Fault that the Bull's Homs nament which they tied round the Head: But were above his Eyes, faying they ought to have Scaliger deduces it from a Syriack Word, that fignifies a Band or Line; and others from the Word | where he ftruck; he reproved Vulcan, for that Mitbri, which is Syriac, and is as much as to fay having made a Man, he had not fet a Window Lord: And in Conformity to this Sentiment, in his Breast, in order to see whether his Thoughts the Mitre was a Sign of Dominion or Royal Ma- agreed with his words; and he blamed Minerus,

MITHRIDATES; a most potent King | ried whither one would. of Pontse, who was incomparable as well in Refpect to the Strength of his Body, as to the Endowmen's of his Mind; but of a cruel and bloo- Prince, or State, who make it to circulate and

MNEMOSYNE; the Mother of the Nine Muses, which she bore to Jupiter; and the faid Word among the Greeks fignifies Memory. MODIUS, a Bushel; being a Measure in use among the Romans for all forts of Grain : It

MOLA SALSA; is a kind of roufted When which was afterwards peeled and fleeped in Water with Salt and Frankincense; and then sprinkled between the Horns of the Sacrifice before he was killed.

MOLOC, was the God of the Ammonites, Drum, for they beat then the Drum, to hinder them from hearing the Cries of the Children, which they threw into the Fire.

MOMUS, was the Son of Sommus and Noz. spoke his Mind freely, and controul'd every thing, MITHRA; this a Name which the Perfi- even the Actions of the Gods themselves, as may be seen in a Dialogue of Lucian concerning #1-

> MOMUS; I was always afraid of the Miffortune that has befallen us: they do Enicurus and his Disciples an Injury, for what Opinion can Men have of us, when they see how disorderly we manage the Affairs of the World, where Vice triumphs over Vertue, where the Innocent endure the Funishment due to the Guilry, and where nothing can be heard but cheating Oracles, Complaints, Divisions, the Amours of the Gods, and fuch like Things as please the Poets: Jupiter, I desire thee to tell me, for one may ipeak here very freely, whether thou haft ever bethought thy felf of making an exact Search for the Wicked and the Good, in order to punift the one, and reward the other: - We must go to the Spring-head of the Diforder, and not think fo much upon Deftroying our Enemies, 23 to reform fuch Things as are irregular in our own Conduct: You know, Sirs, I speak without er ther Passion or Interest, seeing my Divinity is acknowledged but by a very few Persons, and been before them, that so he might see better in that the Hou'e she had built could not be car-

MONETA; Money; a Piece of Money marked for the Coin, and with the Arms of a dy Disposition. Pharnaces his Son, having raised | pass at a common Rate for Things of different Measures, Money must have been comprehended Year of the World 2110. when it speaks of a a Crown. 1000 Pieces of Silver given by Abimelech to Sarab Abraham's Wife, of 400 Shekels of Silver which Abraham gave by Weight to the Children of Esbron, and of the 100 Lambs, that is, the 100 Pieces of Silver Money, which Facob gave to the Sons of Hemor.

The first Mark put upon Money confisted of Points to denote the Value thereof, and because that in the Time when one Thing was given in Exchange for another, Mens greatest Wealth confisted in Cattle: The Shapes of them, or of their Heads only were stamped upon the first Moneys that were made: And Caffiodorus takes Money, from whence came those Forms of Notice that the Latins called Money Pecunia, which was derived from the Word Pecus, that because they were put into the Scales to be fignified any kind of Beaft; it was a Name they borrowed from the Gauls: Afterwards they flamped on their Money the Heads and Arms of Princes, or some Mark or other that intimated the Origin of States : Julius Cafar was the first whose Head was stamped upon Money by the Order of the Senate.

The Fewifb Moneys were the great Cicar, or Talent of the Sanctuary which weighed 100 Miwhich weighed 50 Mine, or 125 Roman Libra. The Maneth or Mina, which was Two Libra's and an Halt, or 30 Ounces. The Shekel or Sicle of of the Santtuary, half an Ounce or 20 Gerabs, or oboli. The little Shekel confifting of Two and the Gerab or Obolus which confifted of between 14 and 15 Grains.

As for the Grecians, Herodorus in his Clio writes, That the Lydians a People of Afia were the first that made hammer'd Pieces of Gold and Silver: Others attribute the first Invention thereof to Erichthonius the fourth King of Athens: Plutarch affures us, that Thefeus coined Pieces of the Confulfhip of Nero and Livius Salinator: Silver weighing Two Drachma's, which on the one Side had the Picture of a Ox, in Memory of the Marathonian Bull or Captain Taurus, and on the other Jupiter or an Owl. He also made some that weighed half an Ounce whereon Minerva and Two Owls were stamped, and these were

The Money in Peloponesus was stamped with a Tortoile, from whence came this figurative Way of Speaking The agethe & The Goodar VIRGETAL XINWAL; The Tortoife exceeds both Vertue and Wifdom, that is, that with Money all Things are com-

Value: Paulus the Lawyer defines Money to be | passed. The Cirpoenians coined Money, on one a Thing stamped with a publick Coin: Josephus | Side whereof was the Goddels Cybete, and a Lyon feems to attribute the Invention of Money to on the other. The Obolus of the Greeks was a-Cain, because he had found out Weights and bout Five Farthings English: The Drachma was worth about Seven Pence English: The Mina 2therein, which at first was nothing elfe. The bout Three Pounds: The Talent was in Value holy Scripture makes no mention of any till the about 2031. 135. And the Shekel about Half

As for the Romans, 'cis thought that Fanus was the first who made Brass Money, on one Side of Which stood a Head with Two Faces, and on the other a Ship, as Athenaus informs us : Fanus was the first, as they say, who invented Garlands, and coined Copper-money; and Pliny fays, note ærie ex altera parte fuit Janus geminus. ex altera roftrum navu. Numa Pompilius made Wooden and Leather Money and afterwards establish'd a Company of Brasiers called Ererii, who were the Monyers of those Times, for the Romans at first made use of unwrought Brass for Speech as alienum, a Debt, and per as & Libram, weighed. Servine Tullius made Brass Money weighing 12 Ounces, and the same had the Figure of a Sheep upon them; and this lafted till the first Punick War : They began to hammer Pieces of Silver 485 Years after the Building of Rome, I mean the Denarias which was worth 10 Affes. They had Half a Denarius called Quinarius, the Quarter Part of a Denarius named Seftertius, and the Teruncius which was the Fourth na's, or 250 Roman Libra; the little Cicar of an As. All these were Silver Moneys, or common Talent, called that of the Allembly, marked on the one Side with a Woman's-Head, which represented Rome, and an X to shew the Value to be 10 Affes, and upon the Reverse were Caftor and Pollux: They had Quinarii whereon Victory was pictured, and these were called Villoriati, and others on which there was a Charriot Drubma's, worth near 32 Pence of our Money, drawn by Two or Four Horles, which for the faid Reason were called Bigati, Quadrigati: Moreover some of these Silver Pieces have been met with, on which inflead of Rome, was framped the Figure of fome Genius or Intelery. God, which upon that Account were called Geniati.

Gold Coin came not in Use till about 62 Years. after Silver Money, in the Year of Rome 546, in They were Pieces whereof 38 went to a Pound, and came near to 2 Drachma's and an Half, being worth commonly about 23 Shillings.

A RECAPITULATION of ROMAN MONEYS.

Copper Moneys.

As, Affis, or Affipondium, weighing 12 Ounces, amounted to above a Half Penny English.

The Third of an As. of Trient, weighing 4 | midft of which there is a moveable Bridge, by Ounces, was worth a Double : The Quarter Part | whose means in the Application of it to the Dif. or Quadrans, weighed 3 Ounces: The Sixth ferent Divisions of the Line, you might find the Part or Sexuans, confished of 2 Ounces: The Sounds were in the same Proportion to one 200. Uncial weighed a Ounce.

Silver Moneys.

The Denarius weighing a Drahm, was marked with an X that fignified 10 as being 10 Ales, in Value about 7 d. English: The Quinarius, worth Affes: The Seftervius, or Quarter Part of a Denarius, worth 2 Afes and an Half: The great Seftereius or Seftereium, worth 1000 small Sefterces, that is about 81, 65. The Teruncium, weighed the 40th Part of a Silver Denarius, and is in Value one ath of an As.

Gold Moneys.

Their Gold Money weighed 2 Drams and an had Seven Hills within it. Half: All these Words I thall explain again in their proper Alphabetical Order.

TRIUM-VIRI MONETALES: the Triumvirs of Money were Officers created a little before Cirero's Time, whose Commission was contained in these Five Letters A. A. A. F. F. Are, Aure, Argente, flande, feriunde, for the Coining of Brais, Gold, and Silver Money.

MONETARIUS, a Coiner, 'twas a Name of Cld for fuch as made Money, all the Mountain was at first called Samrainus, because Money of the Romans and old French had the Name of the Perion upon them in full Length, or at least the first Letters thereof: The Triumvirs were formerly Mint-Officers whole Bulinels it was to have Money coined, the Names and Quality of whom may be teen in the Impref-

MONETA; a holy and facred Goddess pictured with a Pair of Scales in one Hand, and a Cornucopia in the other, with their Words, Sacra Moneta, Augustorum & Cafarum nostrorum.

MONETA; this was an Epithet given to Juno, being derived a Monendo, because the gave them Notice when Rome was taken by the Gauls, that they should sacrifice a whole Sow, or because that during the War against Pyrrbus when the Romans found themfelves in great Want of Money, they had Recourfe to Juno, who adviled them to be always just in their Actions, and they thould never want. Unto which when they had bound themselves by Oath, they drove Pyribus out of Italy, and built a Temple to June Moneta wherein they laid up the Silver Money of the Commonwealth.

wherewith to try the Variety and Proportion of under the .. aine of Quirinus. of Mulical Sounds; It was composed of a Rule divided and subdivided into divers Parts, where- Quercetulanus, from the Oak that grew there, in there was a String pretty well extended at and afterwards Culius from one Culius Vibenna.

ther, as the Divitions of the Line cut by the Bridge were: Its also called the Harmonious or Canonick Rule, because it serves to measure the Flats and Sharps of the Sounds: Its held that Pribageras was the Inventor of the Monocherdum.

MONS. A Mountain, 'tis a great Riffing of the Earth above the ufual Level of the Ground: the most celebrated Mountains in the Poets are Parnassus, called Biceps, or with a double Top, which was the Residence of the Muses; and Mount Olympus, which the Poets took often for Heaven: Mount Atlas was famous among Geographers, whose Name has been borrowed and used for a Collection of the Description of the feveral Parts of the World, as if the Whole had been discovered from the Top thereof, tome

MONS PALATINUS: Mount Palaine. which was fo called either from the Pallames who with Evander came to dwell thither, or from Palatia Latinus his Wife, or from Pales the Goddess of Shepherds. Upon this Mountain flood the King's House or Palace, which from thence was called Palasium: Romaius was brought up and looked after Cattle there.

MONS CAPITOLINUS: This Saturn lived there; and afterwards Tornelus from Tarpeia who was there crushed to Death with the Shields of the Sabins; and at laft Canitolinus, & Capite toli, the Head of a Man which was found there as they were digging to lay the Foundation of the Temple of Jupiter, furnamed Capitolinus: This was the famouleit Mountain of them all, because of Jupiter's Temple, which was begun by Tarquinius Prifous, finish'd by Tarquinius Superbus, and dedicated by Horarius Pulvillus: Here it was that they made their Vows and solemn Oaths, where the Citizens ratified the Acts of the Emperors, and where they took the Oath of Allegiance to them, and at last where such as triumphed came to give the Gods Thanks for the Victory they had obtained.

MONS QUIRINALIS, Mount Quirival, was at first called Mons Agonius, but after the Alliance that was made between Romubus and Tasius, King of the Sabins, who dwelt there, they named it Quirinalis, from their chief Cary called Cwes; and from thence the Citizens of Rome came to be called quirites, and after the MONOCHORDUM, is an Infrument | Death of Romulus there was a Temple built here

MONS CELIUS, was formerly called she Ends thereof upon both the Bridges, in the General of the Tufeans, who ported himself up-

Panulus posted there for fear of the Revolt of the Sabines, of whose Fidelity he was doubtful. It was also called Cespius, Oppius and Septimius, by Reason of some small Hillocks, which it in- be seen under Funus. closed or hemmed in.

MONS VIMINALIS; took its Name from Oziers that grew uponit; and here was a Temple dedicated to Aupiter Viminalis: It had the Name of Viminem or Faguralis, from a Beech-Tree, which was confecrated to Jupiter Faguralis.

MONS AVENTINUS, Mount Aventime, took its Name from a King of Alba, named Aventinus, who was buried there as well as Things: Remus and Tailus the Sabine. Diana had a Temple here.

MORBUS; a Difease, of whom the Poets make mention as an hurtful Deity, and Virgil places him at the Mouth of Hell;

Pallentes babitant Morbi

MORBUS COMITIALIS; the Falling-fickness, when in the Assemblies of the People of Rome, any fell into this Sickness, the Aslembly prefently broke up, and therefore it was called Morbus Comitials, because it broke up their Comitis or Affemblies.

MORPHEUS: fee after Mortui.

MORS, Death; the Poets made him not only an existent Being, but also a false Deity, whose Name was Thermutis (according to Fo picturing him like a Skeleton, with Claws, and a fephus) was observed to refort to wash her selfs Sythe in his Hand. Death was honoured by the his Sifter Mary had Orders to fray at a finall di Lacedemonians, and Servius in explaining that Verse in Virgil,

Multa bonum circa maltantur corpora Morti

Says, that Death is a Goddess, of whom Lucan and Stacius make mention; for which he cites thefe Words of Stacius;

In scopulis Mors arra seder:

And those of Lucan ;

Ipsamque vocatam Quam petat à nobis Mortem tibi coge fateri.

They make her to be the Daughter of the black Wings.

their Dead, as being of Opinion, it would be a Benefit to the Soul, to have the Body quickly | Scripture informs us, that he left Pharaoh's Court, confumed, and this continued to the Time of when he was Forty Years old, in order to go and on this Mountain fo, as opportunely to fuccour | Macrobius, or the Antoninus's: The ancient Per-Romalus in the War he waged against the Sa- fians, as Agashias relates, exposed their Dead to be devoured of Beafts, they believing, that fuch MONS EXQUILINUS, Mount Efqui- as continued long entire, were wicked, and the line, was so called ab excubin, or Guards which Relations of the Deceased regulated their loy or Sorrow accordingly. See Cadaver, where I have shewed the Way of burying dead Corps, and their Funeral Oblequies; the fame may also

MORPHEUS; was according to the Fable, one of the Servants of Sheep : Ovid places a Multitude of Dreams under the Empire of Sleep, but he makes Three of them to be endued with a much greater Power than the reft, viz. Morpheus, Icelas or Phobeser, and Phantafos: The ift imitates Mankind: the 2d other Animals; and the 3d Mountains, Rivers, and other inanimate

At pater è populo natorum mille suorum Excitat artificem, fimulatoremque figura Morphea, &c.

MOVERE SENATH; is a Phrase to denote one's being turn'd out of the Senate ignominiously, or to be degraded.

MOVERE TRIBU; to remove one from a confiderable Tribe to a meaner.

MOYSES, or Moles; his Father was American, and Mother Jochabed, who put him into an Ark of Bulrushes, that was daubed over with Pitch and Slime, and so exposed him upon the Brink of the Nile, in Compliance with Pharaob's Order, in a Place, whither the Daughter of Pharaob, france off, to fee what would become of him the Princess seeing the faid little Cradle floating, caused it to be brought to her, and finding a Child therein of Three Months old, whom the knew to be of a Hebrew Race, by his being circumcifed, the was moved with Compassion, and resolved to save him : The Sifter coming this ther as by chance, asked her, if the would pleafe to fend her to get a Nurse to suckle him, of that People; to which the Princess agreeing, the immediately ran to the House, and brought his Mother for a Nurse for him. At Three Years end fhe carried him to Thermutin, who adopted him for her Son, and gave him the Name of Mofes, which in the Egyptian Language, fignifies one faved from the Water. Clemens Alexandrinus favs, his Friends had named him Foachim, when Night, and Sifter of Sleep; and the same is he was circumcifed: He was very carefully edudreft in a Robe full of black Stars, as also with cated in Pharaob's Court; and as he was a Perfon of excellent Parts, he became quickly an MORTUI, the Dead; the Romans burnt admirable Proficient in all the Sciences which at that time flourish'd among the Egyptims. The

sian abusing an Ifractive, he killed him, in the Heat of his Zeal: Hereupon fearing the King's Displeasure, be fled into the Desarts of Madian, childing rather to be afflicted with the People of ner the holy, great and glorious Name of God, than to policis all the Treasures of Egop. was inscribed, which they call Terragramment, God, than to possess all the Treasures of Egypt. There he married one of the Daughters of fethro or Raguel, a Prieft, whose Name was Sephora. He lived Forty Years in that Country, and as he was one Day leading his Father-in-Law's Cattle to the Bottom of the Wildernels, towards Mount Horeb, he law a Bush burning with a great Fire, which yet confumed it not; and as he was about to draw near unto it, the Lord called him by his Name, and let him know that he had feen the Affliction of his People in Egypt, and that he would by his Means work Deliverance for them; he endeavoured to excuse himself upon the Account of his Incapacity and Stuttering; but God to confirm him in it, gave him the Signs of a Rod's being turned into a Serpent, and then re-affuming its former Shape, and of his Hand turning Leprous, and in a moment being reftored to its natural Colonn: Then he went to fee for Pharaob, whom he charged from God to let his People go Three Days Journey into the Wilderness, to offer Sacrifices unto him : But he refused to obey and to let the Hebrews go, notwithstanding, all the Wonders performed by Mofes in his Presence, for he faw the Rod which Asron, Mofes his Brother had in his Hand, turned into a Serpent; the Waters of the Nile and all the Springs in Egyps changed in to Blood, an innumerable Company of Frogs which covered the Face of the Land, and entred into his very Palace, and the Duft turned into Lice which filed the Air, and extreamly tormented both Men and Beafts: There came Swarms of large Flyes thither, which deftroyed whatever they touch'd; a fuddain Pelfulence killed all the Cattle of Egyps without hurring those of the Ifraclites; Men and Beafts were firuck with terrible Boils; a Storm of Hail accompanied with Thunder and Lightning fell over all Egypt which deliroy'd all forts of Beafts and Men that were in the Fields, no other Land being spared but that of Goshen; this Storm was succeeded by the largest Locusts that ever were feen in Egypt, which destroyed all the Grass, Fruits and Harveft: A thick Darkness covered the whole Land, faving that Part where the Children of Ifrael dwelt ; in fhort, a deftroying Angel having killed all the First-born of the Egyptians, without sparing Pharach's own Son, the Egyptians proffed the Ifraclites to go out of their Country, and to lacrifice to their God under the Conduct of Mofes and his Brother

The Rabies affure us, that the Wonders performed by Mojes formerly in Egypt and elfewhere, mere done by means of his Rod, which accord that had lo lad and peculiar a Quality, that it

wifit his own Nation, and that finding an Egyp | ing to what they fay, was created by God be. tween the Two Vefpers of the Sabbath, that is, on the Evening of the Sixth Day of the World's Creation, and upon which in an wonderful Manwherefore its faid in the Zoar upon Exodus, which is a Commentary upon the Five Books of Mofer. that the Miracles were graven thereon, and that the most holy Name of God was also inscribed: and Jonathan the Son of Uziel in his Targum, that is, in his Paraphrase upon Exodus, relates the fame Thing; these are his Words. 'Rebuel' (who was festro himself, or his Father, as Reb bi Jonathan feems to take him to be in his 18th Chapter) having understood that Mofes had made his Escape from Pharaob, pur him in to a deep Ditch, where Sephora his Grand-Daughter fed him for 20 Years, after which he took him out thence. Mofes going one Day into Rebuel's Garden, went to Prayers, and gave God Thanks for defending and delivering him by his own Power, and for having wrought divers Miracles for his fake : And perceiving in the faid Garden a Rod or Staff which God had created between Sun and Sun, that is, on the Eve of the Sabbath, or oth Day of the Creation of the World, whereon the great and glorious Name of God was graved, and by Vertue of which he was one Day to perform great Miracles in Egypt, to divide the Redfea, and to ftrike Water out of the Rock, he presently pur forth his Hand, plucked it from the Earth, into which it had been driven, and as it were planted, got it and carried it away with him.

The Sentiments of the Author of this Paraphrase are confirmed from what may be read concerning Aaron's Rod in the Pirke Elieger, which is a Book containing the History of the World to the Time of Gamaliel; and from the Schiffelesh Hakabala which is another History-book or Chronology from the Beginning of the World: But this may be more particularly feen in a very ancient and scarce Commentary, entituled Mes drasch Vaioscha, printed at Constantinople, which clears up what is related in the Chaldee Paraphrase and other Authors whereof I have spoken; for Moles is there represented giving an Account at large of his Life after this manner.

When I went out of Egypt, I was about 40 Years old and being one Day near unto the Water-pits : Sephora who was one of Jejbro's Daughters came thither, and finding her to be ' modest and very handsom, I cold her, if she pleafed I would marry her; her Answer confifted of an Account the gave me how her Father used such as sought any of his Daughters in Marriage, which was to carry them to a Tree that was planted in the midft of his Graden which when I understood, I asked from whence | and being thus possest, he all in a Rage took the faid Tree was brought; the answered, That me and threw me into a deep Pit that was God on the very Eve of the first Sabbath after the Creation of the World, created a Rod, which he gave to Adam, Alam left it to Enoch. Enoch to Noah, Noah to Sem, Sem to Abraham, Abraham to Maac, Maac to Facob, Facob carried it into Egypt, and gave it his Son Fofeph, after whose Death the Egyptians rifled his House, and finding the said Rod among the Spoils, they carried it to Pharaob's Court; and Fesbro, who was one of the principal Magistrates of Egypt, no fooner faw it, but he was defirous to have it, and having stole it away, carried it to his own House: The great Name of God Terragrammaton was graven thereon, with the Explications of it, and the Ten Plagues where with God afflicted Egypt; and as 'twas all full of Wonders, the fame was kept in Ferbro's House, my Father-in-Law, till that going on a Time into his Garden, and holding the Rod in his Hand, he stuck it in the Ground, and endeavouring foon after to pull it out, he found it had taken Root, that it bloffomed, and that beides the Flowers, it bore also bitter Almonds: He left it there; and by the Means of this Rod, which grew to be a Tree, he tried 'all fuch as had a Defign to marry his Daugh-

'When I was informed of all these Particulars and found the Shepherds would not let ferbro's Daughters draw Water, I delivered Sephora and her Sifter from the Hands of those rude Fellows, took fome Water and gave it their Cartle to drink: after which they went towards their Father's House, and I accompanied them. Being come to the House, they went in, and I flaid at the Door, and as they were come back that Day fooner than ordinary, Ferbro asked them the Reason of it; they answered, That a courteous Egyptian had faved them from the 'Outrages of the Shepherds: When the Daugh-'ters had thus acquainted their Father with the Adventure, and told him, that he who had delivered them was an Egyptian; he asked them, if they had not return'd him Thanks for his Kindness, and bid them call me, saying, make him come in, and let him dine with us. highly efteemed by that People, commenting upon The Daughters having performed his Com- the 2d Chapter of Exodus, explains that Hiftory 'then with all Submiffion entreated him to give 'tained by Feebro, and that he came to know him presently struck such as came near it dead ; I' is to lay Egyps waste, and to destroy its People; in his Garden.

Sephora was not a little concerned at this Adventure, no more than my felf, and the ftudied at the same time how she might save a 'Man's Life who had obliged her. Hereupon the prayed her Father that he would let her tarry at home to look after the House, and send her Sifters to the Fields, to keep his Cattle: Her Father in answer told her, Daughter, It fhall be fo, that thy Sifters shall go and look after the Cattle, but thou shalt tarry here, and take Care of Matters at home. Thus Sephora finding her felf alone, the fed me every Day with the daintieft Victuals and the same whereof her Father Fethro eat, and that for Seven Years, which was the time I tarried in the faid Pit. But at the End of that time Sephora spoke to her Father in this manner : Father, 'Tis a long time fince you have thrown into this Ditch, that Egyptian who brought the Rod to you from the Place in the Garden, wherein you had put it; fuffer now the Pit to be opened, and let us fee what will come of it; for, if he be dead, let his Carcase be taken away, that your House may not be polluted, and if he be fill alive, he must be a holy Man: Fetbro made answer, Daughter, You have spoke well; Can you ftill remember what his Name was? Yes, Father, faid fhe, his Name was Mofes, the Son of Amram: fetbro at the fame time commanded the Pit to be opened, and called me twice, Mofes, Mofes; I answered him, and prefently he took me out, kiffed and told me Bleffed be God, who hath preferved thee for Seven Years in this Pit: I bear him witness this Day, that he has Power to kill, and Power to make alive: I will teffifie aloud, and everywhere, that thou art a right good Man, that thou shalt one Day lay Egypt waste, that thou art the Person who shall drown the Egyptians in the Sea, and by thy means Pharaob and his Army shall run the same Fate: And at the fame time he gave me Money and Sephora, his Daughter, to Wife.

Abarbinel, a Jewish Doctor, whose Works are 'mand, I went in, cat and drank with him, and in this manner: 'After Mofes had been enter-'me his Daughter Sephora to Wife; which he to be a Man of much Understanding and deep 'promifed to do, provided I could bring to him 'Knowledge, he was defirous to enter into a 'a Rod which was in his Garden; to which I enearer and more particular Alliance with him, 'agreed, went to fee for the Rod, and when I because of the great Wildom he had observed 'found it, I plucked it out of the Ground, and 'in his Converfation, and gave his Confent he carried it to him; Ferbro was surprized hereat, I should live with him : And this is that which 'and reflecting upon what I had done, he cried 'Mofes fays in Exodus: And Mofes conferred to 'out and faid, this is certainly that Prophet, ' live with Jethro, not for the Love he bore of whom the Seers of Ifraci have spoken, who to Sephora, whom he married, but because of · Tethro's

"Jetbro's Wisdom. It is, says he, the Opinion | etiem delestum rei militarie canta babere, ac miliof our Doctors, fince they fay in the Commen- tem proficifei, navem folvere, uxorem ducere relitary, that the Rod of God was planted in the giofum oft. "Garden, and that no Manicould pull it from thence but Mofes, and that for the faid Reason the Myrtle-Tree, which was consecrated to her; ho took Sephora to Wife; for by it they meant the Tree of Life, which was in the midft of the Murtia. Feffus fays there was a Temple built Garden, that is, the Wildom of Mofes, upon for the Goddels Murria upon Mount Aventine. the Account of which he was honoured with as to a Goddels of Idleness, who made People the Gift of Prophecy. Fethro gave also to idle and lazy. " Mofes his Daughter Sephora to Wife, by reason of his wondrous Wildom. Mofes lead the People of God into the Wildernels, and talked divers times with God: He died upon Mount Nebo, from whence God had shewed him the they called Sminsbeus; because they once gnaw-Land of Promise, he being then 120 Yearsold. The Pagans made him to be their Bacchus, as you may fee under that Word. Numerinus fays, the Epithet of Smyntheus: And Strabe speaking. Plato and Pythagoras had drawn their Doftrine of the Statue of this God, favs he had a Ratout of his Books, and that the first of them was the Mofer of Athens: He is ancienter than all yet to be more ancient by the Authority of some the Greek Writers, and even than their Mercurim Trismegistus. Tatian, who was one of those Ancients that Apologized for the Christian Redigion, against the Persecutions of the first King of Egypt, and Vulcan's Priest, having not Centuries, tell us, That Mofes was before the Troops enough to defend him, yet putting his Heroes, and even the Gods themselves of the Greeks, and that the Grecians wrote nothing Pelufium, where he pitched his Camp, and that good, but what they took from our Scriptures. and that their Defign by partly corrupting them, was no other than that themselves might be Arrows, and Shield-strings to pieces; insomuch, entituled Authors. Theodoresus fays, Mofes was that next Day finding themselves without Arms. ancienter by a Thousand Years than Orpheus, and that he was like the Ocean or Head-foring of their Soldiers. Herodorus adds. That he had Theology, from whence they took their Origin, as so many Streams, and whereunto the most ancient Philosophers had Recourse: The Learned are agreed, that the Two ancientest Writers of the World, whose Writings are transmitted unto us, are Mofes and Homer, and that Mofes liwed feveral Ages before the other; Mofes wrote | ftroys all it can, as may be feen in the first much in Verle, and in the Book of Numbers he Book of Horus Apollo. has fet down a Canaanitifb Poet's Song of Victory.

MULCIBER, one of the Names given to Vulcan, being derived from Mulceo, because Daughters of Jupiter and Mnemolyne; that some the Fire foftens and qualifies all Things.

MUNDUS PATENS: The open World; a Solemnity performed in a little Temple or Chappel that was of a round form like | Hefind allowed of Nine, whose Names the laft the World, and dedicated to Dis and the Infernal Gods; it was opened but thrice a Year, viz. on the Day after the Vulcanalia, the 4th of Odober and the 7th of the Ides of November, during which Days the Romans believed Hell was open; wherefore they never offered Battle on those Days, lifted no Soldiers, never put out to Sea, nor married, according to Varro, as Macrobius witnesses, L. Saturn, C. 16. Mundus cum paset, Deorum triftium aique Inferum quafi janua pa- dy; to Euterpe the Ule of the Flagelet, and other

MURTIA, a Surname of Venus, taken from She was formerly called Myrtea, and corruptly

MUS; a. Rat, Mouse; the Phrygians held. Rats in great Veneration, according to Clemens Alexandrinus : Polemo relates, fays he, that the Trojans gave Religious Adoration to Rats, which ed to pieces the Bow-ftrings of their Enemies: and this was the Reason why they gave to sollo at his Feet. The Worshipping of Rats appears Authors: Herodorus relates, that after Senacherib, King of Affyria, had conquered Afia, he made War upon the Egyptians; and that Sethe. Confidence in the Gods, he advanced as far as a dreadful Multitude of Rats, went into the Enemy's Camp by Night, and gnawed their Bows, they haftily retreated with the Loss of many of feen the Statue of King Setbo, put up in Vulcan's Temple, holding a Rat in his Hand, with this Inscription; Les bim shar looks upon me, learn to reverence the Gods. The Egyptians in their Hieroglyphicks were wont to point out the Deftruction of somewhat, by a Rat which eats and de-MUSE, the Muses; Diodorus Siculus informs us. That the most Famous of the ancient Authors agreed, that the Muses were the reckon'd them to be no more than Three, viv. Mneme, Aade, and Melese; that is, Memory, Singing and Meditation: But that Homer and Author has also given us, viz.

Clioque, Euterpeque, Thaliaque, Melpomeneque, Terpsichoreque, Eratoque, Polybymniaque, Ura-

Calliopeque; bes una alias supereminet omnes.

To Clio they attributed the Invention of History; Tragedy to Melpomene; to Thalia, Comeset, propiered non modo pralium committi, verum | Wind mulick; to Terpficore, the Harp; the Lyre and Lute, to Erato; to Calliope, Heroick Verse; ans, to whom afterwards great Honours were gito Urania, Aftrology; and Rhetorick to Polybymnia. Diodorus fays afterwards, that the Word Mufe comes from wiers, which fignifies to teach hidden Things, and fuch as are above the Capacity of the Vulgar; after which he gives a Reason for the several Names given to the Nine Mules. Its manifest that all these Names are Greek, and that they have all of them a Relationto the Nature and Agreeableness of Musick and Poetry; which has very much inclined Men to believe, that the same is purely a Greek Invention, and that 'tis no other than a Moral Genealogy, like unto that which fometimes they make of Vertues and Vices; and the Name of their Mother, which is Memory, is also a Proof hereof. However, this very fame Hiftorian puts Mne-morme among the Titanes, and makes the Nine Muses to accompany Ofiris in his Military Expeditions, when he gives an Account of the Theology of the Egyptians: Rifus amator erat Ofirit, & mufica choreifque gaudebat. Ided Muficorum armen circumducebat, in quo novem erant Virgines, canendi scientia prastantes, &c. eruditæ, Graci Musas vocant, quarum prases Apollo, unde Musagetes distus. Thus you see the Origin of the Muses of Greece laid in Egypt, tho' Greece gives them proper Names, and to each a particular Function: Egypt is deprived of them, and they are natural z'd in divers Parts of Greece, whether the same were Fountains, Woods, Mountains or Cities. Diodorus also makes the Muses to accompany Bacchus in his Expeditions. It may be farther conjectured, that the Name of Muse came originally from Phanicia, feeing the Word Moufor tignifies Instruction and Learning. There are fome Criticks who believe there were no more than Three Muses at first, to whom Mount Helican was confecrated, and that there having been Three Statues erefted to each of them. it was given out there were Nine of them; that Pierius, in Baotia, confecrated his Nine Daughters to them, which made their Names to be common to them. Plutarch in his Sympofiacs, a little before the End thereof, treats of the Muses: 'Tis a meer Allegory, wherein he applies the Nine Muses, either to Nine several Sciences, or to as many Coelestial Globes, in order to unite them all into one Harmony.

Clemens Alexandrinus read in some prophane Authors, that which he relates concerning Macar. King of Libya; who being continually langling with the Queen his Wife, their Daughter Megaclo bought Nine Maid fervants, put them to learn Mulick, and to play upon Infruments, that to by the Melody of their Confort, the might divert the prevish Humour of her Father. This ingenious Piety in her had the defired Success, and the crefted Nine Cotames in Honour of these Nine Female Musici-

ven. The Poets represent the Muses unto us, very beautiful and young, adorned with Garlands of Flowers, and made their Residence to be on Mount Parnassus, and Helicon with Apolio: To them they confecrated feveral Fountains, as that called Hippoerene, or the Fountain of the Horse Pegasus; and among Trees, the Palm, and Lawrel.

MUSCA, a Fly; the Poets feigned this Infect was formerly a Female Mufician, and the Moon's Rival, in respect to the Amours of Endymion, but because she came too often to fing and play about him, when he was affeep, the jealous Moon changed her into a Fly; and hence it is, that the always infefts fuch as are affeep, and especially young People, not out of Hatred, but Love to them, to get some Kiffes of them, which fmart a little, as those do of passionate Lovers. There was formerly a Lady of this Name that made very good Verses, and a Courtizan of Athens, who was reproached for having pricked her Lovers till the Blood ran: Lucian, of whom, I have had this, has writ a little Treatife, in the Praise of a Fly, which I have inserted in this

'The Fly, fays he, in respect to Insects is not fo big, but she is as little in Comparison of a Bee; but it may be faid, that for the Delicateness of her Wing she does as much excel that of other Birds, if it be lawful to reckon her of that Number, as Silk does common Thread or Wool; for her Wing is not covered with Feathers, but with a fine Crape like the Grashoppers, and when you look upon her in the Sun, the thines with many Colours, like a Peacock's Tail, or a Pigeon's Neck, the does not flie by moving her Wings as Birds do, but by fudden Motions or Rebounds like Locusts, but yet is so flexible as to turn about in an inflant; and the Noise she makes in her Flight is not so harsh as that of Wasps, but is like the Musick of a Flutecompared with Hauthovs or Trumpets; the has a large Eye, and a Flower upon her Head, which is hard and shining, as if it were made of Horn; and her Head is not fixed to her Body in fuch manner as that of Grashoppers is, but she holds it to by the means of her Neck, and ftirs it any way; her Body is of a heap, her Legs long, and not short like those of the Waips; her Belly is covered with fhining Lames, like unto an Antique Cuirass; she does not prick with a Sting as Bees do, but with a little Trunk that ferves her inftead of a Mouth. and which has a kind of Tooth at the end of it. wherewith the bites and fucks both Blood and Milk, without doing much harm: She has fine Legs, whereof the Two fore ones ferve her instead of Hands, for she cleans her self with them, and conveysher Food to her Mouth as a Man does: She accompanies Man all her Life time, and taftes of every Thing he eats, exthe Spider, that every where lays Ambuscades doth precipitate her. Homer compares her cannot forbear to praise and magnifie her by the Similies he uses in feveral Parts of his Poem: laus: In another place he calls her gentle and good, because the has no Sting, and that her Wounds are not dangerous, as those of Wasps and Bees are: Shall I speak of her Power, which is to great, that Men cannot defend themselves from her? her Love is free and heavenly, for " she flies in the Air coupled with her Male; and 'tis also said she is of both Sexes, as Hermonbrodites are: She has this Advantage, that having but little to live upon, the always finds the Cloth laid; and it must be said that for her fake, it is that the Cows give Milk, and the Bees Honey: She fits down the first at Kings Tables, and taftes their Victuals.

Fff2

MUSEA, MUSIA & MUSIVA, Pavements of Mofaick Work, which represented natural Grottos: This Name was given to those forts of Pavements, because ingenious Works were attributed to the Muses, and that the Muses and Sciences were reprefented therein; perhaps those publick Buildings which were appointed for the Affemblies of learned Men, called Mulea, were adorned with these forts of Work; and these Mufea's were built in divers Places: In Athens there was a famous little Hill of this Name, where the Poet Muleus was buried; and at Trazen in Peloponneiss there was a Temple dedicated to the Mules, called Mulea for that Reason, fort; The Diatonick contained but Two Tones, which was defigned for the Use of learned Men, where Pithem had taught Rhetorick, and wrote a Book upon that Subject, which Paulanias fays, he had icen: But one of the most famous Mufea's was that at Alexandria, of which Philostratus and Dio Chryfostom make mention, and wherein Emperors Theodosius and Valentinian made at the divers learned Men were maintained at the Publick Charge. Charge of the Government: In all Probability it was erested by that curious King of Egypt Pso- Goddess, or Goddess of Silence, who was thought lony Philadelphus, to whom belonged that admirable Library of which so many Authors make mo, and called Lalaria, because of her much mention, and who caused the Bible to be transla- Babling: This Name she received for discoverted into Greek by the Septuagint. The Empe- ing to Juno the Amours of Jupiter and Juiurna, ror Claudius who would have himself thought which incensed Jupiser, so that he cut out her to be learned, built also another Musea in the Tongue, to put her for ever in mind of her taid City, which was called the Mufea of Claudius, Fault, and ordered Mercury to carry her into as Sucionius does reftifie.

MUSICA, Mulick, a Science which teaches cept Oil, which is a deadly Poilon to her; her how to affect the Ear with agreeable Notes, and Life is not long, but pleafant; 'tis not a little regulates Harmony; or elle a Science whereby Dexterity will ferve her to avoid the Webs of a Disposition is made of grave and sharp Sounds porportionable to one another, and separated by for her, into which her Boldness sometimes just Intervals, where with Sence and Reason are fatisfied : Some attribute the Invention to Apollo. with the most Valiant of his Heroes, and he and others to Mercury: The Ancients made fix forts of Musick, viz. Rhythmical, Metrical, Inftrumental, Poetical and Mimical, which contain-Sometimes he describes her Flight when the ed the Rules of Dancing, Reciting, Playing upon goes in Company towards fome Veffel full of Inftruments, Verlifying, Geftures of the Actors; Milk, or to some of the spilt Blood of the Sa- and Harmonical, which contained Rules for Vocrifices; another while he makes use of her cal Mutick: These tix Things being the Subject Example, when he speaks of the Diligence and of the fix Kinds of Musick according to the Vigilancy, wherewith Minerva defended Mene- Division Porphyrie makes of them upon Ptolomy's > Ariffoxenus the Philosopher, and Arifforle's Disciple has left us Three Books concerning the Elements of Harmonical Munick: These Books made him the Author of a Sect in Musick called from him the Ariffoxenians, who opposed that of the Pribagoreans: They differed in that the laft in Order to judge of Tones had Regard to nothing but the Realons of Proportion, whereas the Former were of Opinion, it was requilite to join the Judgment with the Ear, whole Part it is principally to regulate fuch Things as belong to Mufick. Ariftoxenus divided Harmonical Mufick into Seven Parts, and they are Kinds, Intervals, Sounds, Systems, Tones or Modes, Transpositions and Melopy. The Kinds were Chromatick, Diatonick and Enarmonick: The Chromatick abounds in Tones, and was thus called because the Greeks diffinguished it by such Characters as were of a Colour that they called Chroma: The foft b belonged to this Chromatick Kind, Boatius and Zarlini after him, faid, that this Chromatick Kind was invented by Timotheus the Milesian in the Time of Alexander the Great : the Spartans banish'd him their City, pecause this Musick was too soft, and they not accustomed to use any other than the Diatonick the Greater and the Leffer, and Half the Greater Tone. The Enarmonick is a Way of toftning the Voice, wherewith the Ancients were fo charmed that they neglected the Reit.

MUSIVARII, Mofaick Works, which the

MUTA or TACITA DEA; the dumb to have been the Daughter of the River Al-Hell, as being unworthy to fee the Light: In her Beauty, and enjoyed her, to whom the bore of Cyprus, who falling in Love with her Father, Two Children which were named Lares: The deceived him by the Artifice of her Nurle to Imans offered Sacrifice to this Goddel's for the gratifie her Luft: Cinirus coming to know it, en-Prevention of Slanders, and joyned her Festival deavoured to kill her, but she fled into Arabia, with that of the Dead, either because the imi- where the was transformed into that Tree which tited them in Respect to their Silence by reason | bears Myrrh: She was the Mother of Admis. offier Tongue's being cut out, or because she rasthe Mother of the Lares, who were accounted to be the Genii or Guardian Angels of Men during their Lives.

Ovid describes a pleasant Ceremony that used m be practifed upon this Occasion for the Preventing of Slanders, and fays, That an old Woman furrounded with a great many young Girls, offered Sacrifice to the Goddels Muta, and put Three Grains of Frankinscence with Three of her Fingers into a little Hole, having at the same Time Three black Beans in her Mouth: Then the takes the Head of an Image, which the befmears with Pitch, and makes Holes therein with wherewith she makes her self drunk, and so fends them Home, faying, She has ftopt the Mouths of Slanderers. Fast. 2. V. 571.

Sacra facit Tacita : vix samen ipfa tacet : Et digitu tria tura tribus fub limine ponit. Quà brevis occultum mus fibi fecit iter. Tum cantata tenet cum rhombo licia fusco, Et septem nigras versat in ore fabas : Quodque pice altringit, quod acu trajecit abena, Obsuum mensha sorret in igne caput: Vina quoque instillar: vini quodaunque relictum est Aut ipsa aut comites, plus tamen ipsa bibit. Hoftiles linguas, inimicaque vinximus ora, Dicit discedens, ebriaque exit anus.

Ecce anus in medi is relidens annofa puellis.

MYAGROS, otherwise called Achor and Bellebuth by the Hebrews, the God of Flies, to whom the Elaans offered Sacrifice that he might drive away the Flies. See Acbor. MYODES, fee Acbor.

MYRINUS, an Epithet given to Apollo and taken from the City of Myrina in Eolia where be was worshipped.

Ants, which at the Request of King Eacus were changed by Jupiter into Men, because the Greek Word Mugue fignifies an Ant.

MYRON, an excellent Statuary, who amongst others of his Pieces made a Cow of Copper to like unto the Life that the Bulls took her | Pafs. tobe fo; and this has rendered him famous among the Poets and all the Ancients.

andusting of her thither he was charmed with 1 MYRRHA; the Daughter of Cinirus King

MYSTRUM; a kind of Measure among the Greeks that held about a Spoonful.

Is the Thirteenth Letter of the Alphabet and a Liquid Confonant which is called Tinnieus, because of its having a clearer and plainer Sound than others, the fame founding againft the Roof of the Mouth : And this appears in that it has the fame Pronunciation in Manlius a Brass Needle, then throws it into the Fire and as in the Word An, a Year, in Menses, as in en : covers it with Mint, pouring some Wine there- Tho' sometimes it loses much of its Strength in on, of which fhe gives fome to the Girls to particular Words, and forms a midling Sound bedrink, but referves the best Part for her self, tween it self and the G, which gave the Greeks Occasion to change the N into I before these Greek Letters γ, κ, χ, ξ, as ἄγγελ۞ for αγκλ۞; tho' many are of Opinion, that this was the Transcriber's Faults in lengthning out the v too much, and making a y of it: The Lasins had also somewhat of the like Nature in their Language, for they put Two gg together . as the Greeks did, writing Aggulus for Angulus, &c. The Greeks often changed this Letter into an L in the Midft of Words, as Manay was put for Manlius, or elfe they left it out altother, as 'Oprnor G for Horsenfius; which made Lambinus fallly believe, that the true Name of that Roman Orator was Horselius contrary to the Authority of Ancient Books and Inscriptions; befides which we find by agreat many Examples, that it was usual with the Greeks to leave out the N. when it came not in the End of Words.

This Letter was also sometimes loft in the Latin, as when from Abscindo they made the Preterperfect Tenfe ableidi: The N moreover had an Affinity with the R, from whence we find A. neus put for Æreus, Cancer for Carcer, Carmen from Cano, Germen for Genimen according to Fo-MYRMIDONES, the Myrmidons; a Seph Scaliger upon Varro: And N was put for S, People of Theffaly, who followed Achilles to the whence it is that Ceffores was found for Cenfores Trojan War: The Poets feigned that they were in Varro, and Sanguin for Sanguen. Namong the Ancients was a Numeral Letter, fignifying 900, and when a Line was drawn above it, it implied 00000. N and L being put together, with the Lawyers fignified as much as non liquet, the Caufe did not yet appear clear enough for Sentence to NAIADES, they were false Goddesses which the Heathens believed did prefide over Fountains and Rivers: The Poets often make I'ed the Passage of the Sea, which till then had mention of them. It's a Word that comes from vaur to flow.

NAPEE, were false Goddesses which the Pagans believed did prefide over Forests and Hills: In the mean while Servius in explaining this Verse in Virgit, Faciles venerare Nanas.

fays, That the Napaa, or the Naiades were the Nymphs of Fountains; Its plain that the Word is derived from the Hebrew Nound or Noun. And the faid Servius upon another Line in Virgil, fays, That the Napaa were the Nymphs of Fountains, and the Nereides of the Seas: In the mean time, if the Greek Etymology varan be giwen this Word, we must say that the Napan are the Nymphs of Forests.

NARCISSUS the Son of Cephifus a River in Baosia, and of Lyriope the Daughter of Oceamus, who was exceeding beautiful: His Parents having one Day consulted the Prophet Tirefias concerning the Fate of their Son, he answered, That if he lived, he ought not to fee his own Face, which they did not at first understand: He was courted by all the Nymphs of the Country because of his handsome and good Mein, but he flighted them all, and even made the Nymph · Eecho languish and die for Love of him, insomuch that fhe had nothing left her but a weak Voice, her Body being transformed into a Rock: The Gods were not willing to let fuch dildainful Arrogance go unpunished, and therefore one Day as he returned weary and faint from Hunting, he ftopt upon the Brink of a Well to quench his Thirft, and feeing his own Face in the Water he grew to desparately in Love therewith, that he wafted away upon the Place with Love and Languishment: but the Gods in Compassion to him changed him into a Flower of his Name. Paulanias in his Baorica contradicts this Fable. and fay, That Narciffus was in Love with his Sifter that was born after him, and that when the died, he also pined away and perish'd.

NAVIS, a Ship, its a Veifel built with high Sides in order to fail upon the Sea: Many are of Opinion that Janus was the first Inventer of Shipping, because the Figure of one was impres fed upon the Reverse of the most ancient Coins of the Greeks of Sicily and Italy, according to Atheneus: And Phairus, L. 4. F. 6. speaks of the first Ship in this manner, 'I wish to God the Thessa-" lian Ax had never hewn down the lofty Pines growing on the Sides of the Forest of Pelen, and that fubril Argus who was defirous to trace out a hold Course and such as was exposed to the Dangers of apparent Death upon the Wa-'ters, had not built a Ship by the Art and Di-continued inaccessible, and has been fatal to the Greeks and Barbarians : What think you of this fhort Relation? Doubtless you will tell me. that the same is impertment and fally ground. ed, because Minos long before the Argonizate had furmounted the Violence of the Reen Sea covering the same with a great Fleet.

The most famous Ships of old are reckoned that of Ptolomy Philopator, that was 280 Cubite long, 38 broad, and 48 high, and 54 from the Top of the Poop down to the Water: She carried 400 Rowers, 400 Seamen, and 3000 Soldiers: That which he built to fail upon the Nile. was Half a Furlong long, and 30 Cubits broad: But this was nothing to Hiero's Ship, that was built by the Direction of Archimedes: There was as much Timber used in it, as was designed for 60 Gallies; and the same was so well contrived on the Infide that every Rower, Seaman, Soldier and Paffenger had a Cabin for himfelf: There were in it moreover feveral Halls to eat in, Rooms, Walks, Galleries, Gardens, Fiftponds, Stables, Kitchins, Mills, a Temple for Venus. Baths and Council-Chambers: Befides which, it had an Iron Rampart, and Towers, Two at the Head and as many in the Stern, the other being on the Sides with Walls and Baffions, whereon might be feen feveral Warlike Engines, and among the rest one that threw a Stone of 300 Pound Weight, or an Arrow of 12 Cubits long to the Diffance of 600 Paces; with many other strange Things of which Atheneus makes NAVIUS furnamed Accius, was a famous Augur who lived in the Time of Tarquinius Prifcus; its faid of him that being minded in the King's Presence to give Authority to his Predictions, he cut a Stone in two with a Razor. See Accius.

NAULUM, this was Money put into the Mouth of a Person deceased at Rome, to pay Charon the Ferryman for his Passage, and this Piece was to be of the current Coin of the Emperor that then reigned, which gave People afterwards an Opportunity to know when such an one died.

NAUMACHIA; Sea-fights, which were the fineft Shews the Ancients had; for Nature and the Elements gave way to the Art and Inventions of Men : Julius Cafar having found out a convenient Place on the Banks of the Tiber, and near enough to the City, called Codesta, as Suettnius favs, caused the same to be cleansed and excavated, wherein he presented the People with the Diversion of a Sea-fight: There Tyrim and Egyptian Ships fought; and this kind of Shew was so new, that it drew Spectators thither from all Parts of the World. Among these Sea-fights may be comprehended the fantaffical Actions of rection of Pallas: This Ship, I say, first open- Caligula who built a Bridge upon Two Rows of this joined and faffined together, that reached | difagreeable to what the Scripture fays concerne from Baia as far as Purcoli, infomuch that those Two Towns in the Territories of Rome, which by sa and Nature were separated from each other 3600 Paces, were hereby joined together WHorles, being followed by a great many Perfors of Quality, who are named in the Hiffory.

Asfor his Successor, he undertook a real Seaa Dozen Ships to fight against as many of the appointe Side, the one being Rhodians and the other Tyrians. They were animated to fight by the Trumpets of a Triton, who by the Help of an Enginearose out of the Water with his Company: He had the Curiofity to make the Combatants paß before him, who faluted him with thefe Words. 'Sir, cried they, receive the Sa-'Intation of those who come to diefor your Diverfon, Ave, Imperator, morituri te salutant. To whom he gave no other Answer than, Avere vos. Neto also diverted the People with a Navalfeht, after he had first divided the Mountain which separates the Lake Fucinus from the River Lira: He fitted out Gallies in Three or Four Lines and put 19000 Men aboard them to fight. Butthe most remarkable of all the Sea-fights and they called Arbenians, and the other Party Sy-

NEBO, its a Deity mentioned in Isaiab the Prophet, which prefides over Prophefie, accordthey had made a God.

Definies.

NECROMANTIA; Negromancy: an Art by which Communication is held with the f Endor, in the Scripture, made Samuel apper unto Saul by the Art of Negromancy.

NECTAR, the Drink of the Gods, according Nimrod : For he was the first Inventer of War, and of an Empire effablished by Force of Arms: Thus Nimrod's Hunting ended in War. and the Effect thereof proved the Foundation of the Emperor mounted upon a diarging Horse the first Empire in the World, that began ap adrichly accounted, rid several Times backwards Babylon; which makes the Description given of and forwards upon the faid Bridge the first Day, Nimrod, to be very like unto that of Mars. It having a Crown on his Head, an Ax upon his was Belus, according to all our prophane Ausiddle-bow, his Shield on his Arm, and a Sword | thors, that laid the first Foundation of the Alleby his Side: Next Day he appear'd in an Ha-rian Empire; and 'twas Nimrod that did it ac-bethat was less Warlike, and rode to and fro cording to a plain Text in Genesis; from whence afew Times in a Chariot drawa by Two state- it follows that Nimrod must be the same with Belus: In fhort, Mars being no other, according to Diodorus Siculus, than he who first began Wars and Battles, its very probable that Belusfift upon the Lake Fucinus; he made a Line of or Nimrod was the Person whom the Heathers worshipped by the Name of Mars; and if the Chronicle of Alexandria fays, that Nimrod the Founder of Babylon was transformed into the Conficilation, called Orion; its likely the Reafon might be, because Orion was formerly an Hunter as well as Nimrod. Bocharsus is of Opinion. That Nimrod was rather the Bacebus of the Babylonians: Nimrod was the Son of Chus: Bar-Chus has the same Import as the Son of Chus in Hebrew: The Letter R being often omitted by the Hebrews in the middle of Words. Bacchus might have been formed of Barghus: Nimed. comes near to the Word Aimra in Chaldee, which fignifies a Tiger; whence it was that Bacchus was covered with a Tiger's Skin, and had Tigers to draw his Chariot. Bacchus his Victories in the Indies may represent those of Belus or Nimrod mich is most extolled by Historians and Poets, in the Empire of Babylon and the East. The same withat of Titus and Domitian: For here were Author says elsewhere, That the Fable of Ju-3000 Fighting Men on both Sides, one of whom piter may be applied to the History of Nimred. who rebelled against his Father Salurn, that is, Noab; for Nimrod in Hebrew comes from Marad. which fignifies to rebel.

NEMEA: a Forest in Achaia, where the ing to St. Ferom, who has no other Proof for it People of Argos were wont to celebrate their but the Signification of the Word: The Chal- Plays in Honour of Hercules, who had killed a were much given to Divination, and Gro- Lion in the faid Forest; and this made him take the fays with great Likelihood of Truth, that the Surname of Nemens. There are some Auhe was some Wizzard or Aftrologer, of whom thors who attribute the infliriting of these Plays to have been in Honour of Archemorus, the Son NECESSITAS; Necessity; was a Heathen of Lycurgus, who died with the Stinging of a Ser-Deity, which accompanied Man from his very pent: The Crown which was befrowed on the lith: Plate makes her to be the Mother of the Conquerors at these Games, was made of Ashbranches and the Judges were in Mourning.

NEMESIS; this Goddess was she who particularly affected to punish and humble the Devil and the Dead: The Pythonissa, or Witch | Proud; the Persians despising the Greeks, and so having fitted up Marble in order to the Erecting of Trophies of a Victory, which they had not yet won, when the Grecians defeated them at Maing to the Fable.

NEMBROD, Nimrod; Voffins thinks him to be feet up a Monument for the Goddefs Nemerics, as the Mars of the Pagans; and Diodorus Siculus Paufanias relates. This Author makes Oceanus represents Mars in such a manner as is not very to be the Father of this Goddess, and he is of Opinion, that it was not the main Ocean, that was meant, but a River of that Name in Fthingia; but 'ris more likely that it was the true Ocean, from whence the Poets deduce all the Gods. He makes her also to be the Mother of Helen, by which no other is intimated but the Divine Displeasure, which suffered the extraordinary Beauty of the faid Lady, to be as it were the Torch that kindled the Flames of War between Europe and Afia, with Loffes and incredible Mortifications to both fides. Laftly, He favs. that the Statues of Nemelis at Smyrna had Wings to make her the more like unto Cupid; because she very often made those feel her Severities, whose Obduracy Love could not subdue, and the which proceeded from nothing but Pride. Strabo makes mention of the Temples of Nemefis, who was also called Ramnufia.

The Egyptians painted her having her Throne upon the Moon, that fo the might observe the Actions of Men. When the Romans went for the Army, they facrificed to her, and gave the People a Shew of the Gladiators; and when they returned victorious they rendered her Thanks for the Revenge she had taken upon their Encmies. Plato L. 4. de Leg. fays in plain Terms, that Nemefis is the Angel of Revenge, Omnibus prapolita elt Nemelis juditii angelus, altionum Omnium confideranix. This Philosopher has faid what the Poets and Historians would fay; that there is an Eternal Justice who severely punishes the Proud, and who has Angels to he the Exe- Complaint. The Lamentations of Ferens are no cutioners of her Wrath; Artemidorus has the thing else but Nenia's upon the Destruction of fance Idea of this Goddels as Plato, which is no- the Jewish Monarchy, and the City of Jerusales, thing else but the same Justice, from whom the which he bewails like a Man that is dead. None Good ought to expect all forts of Kindnesses and Favours; and from whom on the Contrary the Wicked can promife to themselves nothing but Chaftenings and Punishments: The Romans also worshipped this Goddess, but gave her no Name in their Language, as Pliny fays : Nemelis, que Dea Latinum nomen ne in Capitolio quidem invents: and again elsewhere; Aliz Gracam Nemesim in- begun their Lamentations. The Nenia's did not alwocantes cum ob id Rome simulachrum in Capitolio ways consist of mean Verses; for those made by eft, quamvis Latinum nomen non fit. But no Body has better exprest the Nature and Power, and of Fereny upon Ferufalem, are compleat Piece, formed a truer idea of this Goddess than Ammianus Marcellinus, who yet does not give her any Latin Name, tho' he does Two in Greek, viz. Adrafies and Nemefis; of whom he gives a Description rather like a Philosopher, or a Diwing than an Historian. 'L. 14. He informs us Honey: They burnt all forts of Wood upon this that 'tis the who raifes up the Just and punishes the Wicked, that the tumbles down the Proud. and makes a just Mixture of Prosperity and Adverilty, gives Success to our Undertakings or difappoints our Defigns according to the Counfels of Itead of a Scepter they gave him'a Tritent, and an Eternal Wildom.

But the' the Latins had no proper Name in their Language to express this Goddess by, yet Calves or by Horses whose nether Parts were the Poets have not forgot to speak of her, as fishy: His Wife was Ampbitrite whom he obdoes Clandian :

Sed Dea qua nimiis obstat Rhamnufia vois. Ingemuit flexitque rotam.

Again, it appears by some Verses of the Foets that the Name of Rhamnufia came from the Place where this Goddess was worshipped: The fame being Rhamnus in Attica, where there was a Temple erected to her; and as for the Name of Adrastea, Strabo fays, it came from King A draftus, who dedicated a Temple to her: Calliftbenes Adrafteam ab Adrafto rege denominates. ait, qui primus Nemeft templum pofuit. And for this Purpose he recites the Veries of Antimachus the Poet: Hic facris colitur Dea & Adraftes vecatur, primus ille aram condidit Adraftus ad annem

NENIA; this Word fometimes fignifies a Toy or Trifle, and other whiles Lamentations and mournful Tunes, fung at the Burying of the Dead: The Word comes from a trifling Play among Children, called Nenia, which was much used by those of Rome, and wherein he that succeeded beft was made King:

Rofcia, die fodes, melior lex, an puerorum Nenia, qua regnum relle facientibus offert. Hor. Ep. 1. L. 1.

But the Nenia for the Dead is derived from a Hebrew Word, that fignifies Lamentation or is not Greek; for the Greeks called mournful Songs Epicedia, or Threni. The Nenia's began presently as soon as the Party expired, as it appears from the Gospel it self: Filia mea mode & funtta eft, faid the Chief of the Synagogue to the Son of God, and yet the Singers of the Nenius and of all their mournful Mutick had already David upon the Death of Saul and Jonathan, and and very elegant.

NEPHALIA, a Sacrifice and Feaff of the Greeks, called the Feast of Sober Men, at which the Athenians offered to the Sun and Mooh, to Aurora and Venus, a Lrink made of Water and Occasion, except the Vine and Fig-tree.

NEPTUNUS, Neptune, one of Saturn's Sons and Jupiter's Brother, who for his Share had the Dominion of the Sea affigned him; infor a Charior a great Sea-shell, which they make to be drawn either by Whales and Sea-, timed by the means of a Dolphin, in Acknow- as Dionysius of Hallicarnassus says, and appointed the Earth, when he was in Dispute with Minerwho should give Name to Cacropia, which as afterwards called Albens from Minerva: Beintengaged in a Conspiracy against his Brother faiter, he was forced to fly with Apollo to Lao-Try, tho' he was fo unhappy as not to be paid firhis Labour, They make Neptune to be the Creator of the Horie, for thus Virgil ipeaks

Tuque, ô cui prima frementem Fuditequum Tellus, magno percussa tridenti, Neptune. Georg. L. 1.

Servim fays, that Neptune was also called Equester, because he made a Horie come out of the Name to the City of Attens, tho' Minerva prerailed, by making an Olive-tree tuddenly to Horie was nothing but a Ship, the Swiftness whereof a Horse does imitate, and which is under the Protection of Nepsune: The Fable also fraifies perhaps nothing elie but the two Things wherein the City of Athens excelled; viz. Ships bated to Nepsune.

ad Vefpatian, on which there are these abbrevia: wonthe Sea, holding his Trident in one Hand, ad leaning with the other Arm upon fuch a Velel as the Gods of the Rivers were wont to h: He is to be feen likewife mounted in a Chaom a Dolphin, holding Victory in his Rightis Trident in the Lett : When the Romans and tune, into the Sea. Gues gave Nepsune Thanks for the Victories by obtained by Sea; they represented him on the one Side with his Trident, and on the othe flood victory upon the Stem of a Ship. The Romans built a Temple to Nepunus Equefter, ledgement of whose Kindness he placed him a- | a Festival for him, called Confualia, wherein mong the Stars near into Capricorn. He taught they crowned some Horses with Garlands of Men the Art of managing a Horse, which with Flowers, which in this manner were led through a Blow of his Trident he made to come out of the City. The Arcadians gave this Festival the Name of Hippocratia.

The History of Japher agrees very much with what the Fable relates concerning Neptune: fapher's Share, according to Scripture, was Europe, with all the Isles of the Sea, and the Peninsula's meten, where he helped to build the Walls of whereof it confifts, Eubemerne the Historian, as interpreted by Ennius, and related by Landantime, bears the same Testimony concerning Nepume, that the Seas and the Islands fell to his Lot: Nepsuno maritima omnia cum insulis obveneruns: Plusarch fays, the Egyptians called the Promontories and the utmost Parts of the Earth Nephibyn, which Term has doubtless a great deal of Resemblance to that of Neptune. As for Neptune's other Name called by the Greeks Torsed wy. Bocharten thinks it is derived from the Punick Word Pefat: Herodotus fays alfo, Earth, that he might have the Honour to give there were none but the Libyans that gave Neptune the Name of Posidon; to Posidon will be the fame Name as Neptune. Lastantius dues not gow up out of the Ground : It's probable this doubt but that Nepsune was Superintendant General of the Seas.

All Nations had also a Neptune of their own, and all these Nepsunes had in like manner something that was very manifeftly like and unlike to one another: Diodorus Siculus speaks of an Aland Olive-trees: Paufanias gives other Reasons tar in Arabia dedicated to Neptune, flanding mythe invention of the tile of Horses is attri- upon the Sea-side. Sanchuniathon says, that Ufour was the first who hollowed the Body of a The Medals represented him naked, holding Tree, and in Phanicia durft adventure to trust foretimes a Dolphin in his Left hand, or under himself with the Waves of the Sea. The Nephis Feet, and his Trident in his Right, as may be tune of the Phanicians is ancienter than him of fen by the Reverse of the Medalls of Marcus A. the Greeks and Latins, as they were Navigators pipe: He was represented at other Times with before the others; and him they made to be the a Trident in one Hand, and in the other an Son of Ponius: The Egyptians had also their Neptoffolia or Ornament, which was fastned to tune, and Plutarch affures us, that even the the Prow of Ships; and this is made out to us Name of Neptune was taken from the Egyptian Tongue, and fignified Promontories, and Sea-Coasts: But Plutarch perhaps, confounds the ed Words Nept. Red. Neptuno reduci; these Egyptians with the Libyens, for Herodotus Witmemperors intimating hereby their rendring netles that the Word Neptune was proper only Tanks to Neptune for their Expeditions by Sea to the Language of the Libyans who were the Mafe Return : He was represented also lying oldest Worshippers of this Deity. 'None, says ' he, assumed the Name of Neptune at the Beginning but the Libyans, who always worthipped this God. The same Author says elsewhere, that the Sembians had also a Respect for oxdrawn by two Horses, as he is also sitting Neptune, and that they called him Thamimasades. Appian relates, that Misbridates threw the Chaand, which puts two Crowns upon his Head, and riots drawn by Four Horses in Honour of Nep-

> NEREUS, is one of the Gods of the Seas. his Name being derived from vaeds Fluid. according to Hescychius: But yet 'tis more probably deduced from Nabar, an Hebrew Ferm. fignifying fluere, fluvius: Some make him to be the Son of Neptune, others of Pontus: Pontus and Iticularly Pilots, which are a long time fail-Neptune being the fame ; but Neptune is more ing round Peloponesus, and would have very often looked upon as the Genius of the Seas, and much conduced to the Defence and Profit of Oceanus and Pontus as the Body thereos. They Greece, which would have had a better Intermake Nereus to have 50 Laughters, called from course with it self in the several Parts of it him Nereides, which are fo many particular Seas, hereby. heing Parts of the main Sea it felf. Nereus married Doris by whom he had Theris.

NEREIDES, are Sea-Nymphs and the thon were present. Daughters of Nereus.

Son of Domitius Aneobarbus and Agrippina and had that the Muses could not ling better than adopted by the Emperor Claudius his Predecessor, to the Empire: The Medals which we have of be crowned at the Olympick Games; for as to the him thew his natural Inclinations by the Features of his Face: For his Eyes were fmall and beetlebrowed, his Throat and Chin met together, his Neck was thick, his Belly big and Legs small: Take him altogether, he perfectly resembled a Hog, which he did not illy imitate in his fordid Pleasures; his Chin was a little turn'd up, which was a Sign of Cruelty; his Hair light and Legs fmall, as Sueronius observes, and his Face rather Fair than Majestick, which made him easily to be adjudged an effeminate Person: So that if in the Beginning of his Reign he shewed much | Example of other great Princes, who had me Moderation and Clemency, even fo far as to dertaken the like Defigns. For Agamennon (as fay he wished he could not write, that he might not fign the Sentence of a Criminal which was brought to him, it was no more than an affected Modesty, which Policy and the Respect that he bore unto his Preceptors, inspired him with. Seneca in his Satyr against Claudius, with a fort of Flattery unbecoming a Philosopher, brings in Apollo speaking of Nero, as being like unto himfelf both in Beauty and Majefty:

Ille mibi fimilis vultu, fimilifque decore, Nec cantu, nec voce minor, &c.

And this doubtless is the Reason why Nero is often seen represented like unto Apollo: To speak the Truth, he had no bad Face, but he could not | which recommending the Builless to those who pass for a very handsome Person, since his Eyes had the Charge thereos, he returned into the were too small, his Neck very thick, and his City, believing that he had by this Action out-Legs fo slender and disproportionate to his done the Labours of Hercules. The Work was Height. Indeed, at the time when Seneca writ, he was handsomer than afterwards, seeing he that part which was easiest, and that was to dig was yet but young, and not fo gross and fat as a Canal in the Plain, while the Malefadors, after wards, and this may be observed by the Me- which were taken out of the Prison, in sid do dals which were cast, while he was yet but Cafar. the rest. After they had worked for Twelve . We have a Dialogue in Lucian, which speaks Days, there was a Rumour spread up and down of Nero's undertaking to cut thro' the Isthmus of Corinto, that the Mathematicians should by Corinth, which I shall recite intire in this place, that one of the seas was much higher than the because it contains some Particulars of the said other, and that if they continued to go on, the Prince his Life.

fomewhat in it of the Air of Greece, which this Prince affects to much?

Musonius. It would doubtless have spared Merchants and Sailors much Trouble, and par- of the Truth thereof; for he would never have Meneer. Thou will oblige us to give a Relation of what passed upon this Occasion, seeing

Muson. This I will very willingly do : The NERO, the 6th i mperor of Rome, was the Love of Mulick, and an Opinion which New himfelf, carried him into Greece, that he might Pythian Games, he thought he had a greater Share therein than Apollo himself; and I do not know but that he might believe the faid God would neither dare to fing nor play upon the Harp after him. This Defign therefore had not been premeditated long, but when he found himielf upon the Place, and faw the little Distance there was from one Sea to the other, the same being about Three Quarters of a League, he was taken with a Delire to render himfel famous by this Undertaking, according to the 'tis faid) leparated the Island of Negropont from Beoria. Darius made a Bridge over the Bofoberus, and Xerxes would have cut thro' Mount Athos. Betides, he was mightily pleafed to hear himfelf praised, for Tyrants are never to cruel nor blind, but they defire to do something for the Benefit of the Publick, or their own Glory; wherefore, after he had fung the Praises of Neprune and Ampbitrite upon the Theatre of Corinth, with another little Poem in Honour of Leucothea and Melicertus, he went on with a Golden How, which was presented him, and with Songs and publick Acclamations advanced towards the Place, where the Canal was to be made, and there began to dig a little; after divided so, that his Army thould be imploy'd in Isle of Egina would be drowned : But beildes that Menerates. Did not this Defign feem to have their Rumours were falle in themselves, the never had been able to diver, the Refolution of a Prince, who affected to do great Things, if all the Mathematicians in the World had affured him all Things were in Confusion at Rome.

the Contrary.

very good nor very bad. It was a kind of a ri- tence. fing Voice that he does not manage ill, and fuch and better than became a Prince. But when he ments his Crimes deferved. metended to rival the Mafters of the Art, he nor good Breath, they fail'd him often at a Meneer. But how do they do to enter the Tiffs with him?

Muson. He put a Player to Death at the 18thmien Games, who had the Boldness to dispute the Prize with him; for it is no less Danger to excel him, than 'tis to laugh at his Voice.'

who came to contend with him for the Prize, there was a very famous Actor from Epirus, who infifted moon having 10 Talents for yielding the Honour unto him; this made him (well with Anger. beides, the Actor had already told in private, with great Applause, he caused one of his Servants to tell him, that he ought to yield that Att) who when they had push'd him against a Pilbr, out his Throat with thin pieces of Ivory, Oesa. which they had in their Hands, that were as fharp as Razors.

Meneer. And did he after this Action get the Applaule of Greece, and win the Victory?

had killed his own Mother.

abandoned the Undertaking, had he not recei | Meneer. Indeed, 'cis nor ftrange he should go red the News of Vindex his Revolting, and that about to make an Actor hold his Tongue, when he had endeavoured to ftop Apollo's Mouth, by Meneer. Tell us now what it was that incli- hindring his Priestels to deliver any more Oand him to have such a passionate Love unto racles, because she had placed him in the Num-Mufick, and whether he had so good a Voice as ber of Parricides, tho' she had still spared him; fore have reported; for others have affirmed for Orefles and Alemanon, with whom the compared him, had killed their Mother in Revenge Muson. His Voice was in reality neither to be for their Father, which had some Shadow of admired nor laughed at, because it was neither Glory in it; but Nero's Crime was without Pre-

When the Provinces had revolted against him, as agrees very well with his Harp, as well as and that he found he was hated by every Body his Gesture and Countenance; besides which, he for his Cruelty and enormous Debaucheries, he understood the Way of the Theatre exactly well, killed himself, that he might avoid the Punish-

NERVA, named Cocceius, fucceeded Domade a Fool of himself; whatever Danger might | mitian, and was cholen Emperor by the Senate ensue: For he was too full of Action, and stood with unspeakable Joy; he happily began his a Tip-tocs; besides, he coloured in the Face Reign by putting forth a Proclamation for a gethro'an over Eagerness, and a Detire to perform | neral Pardon to all such as were banish'd or in well, tho'he naturally had a very ruddy Coun- I rifon: He was a very just and good Prince; he tenance; and as he had no extraordinary Voice, was represented upon his Coin with a dry and wrinkled Face, his Eyes funk in his Head, and his Chin fharp: He was very old when he came to the Empire, and was afflicted with a very weak Stomach, which made him lean for want of Digestion; and this altered his Aspect, and hid his Inclinations: Tho' he had a large and Eagle Nose, yet he was not Valiant; 'twas rather a Sign of great Goodnels in him; he had a pretty Meneer. How was that, we know nothing long Village: In the mean time they found in nim feveral Signs of an Inclination to Paffion Muson. This was done at the Games of all from the Lines of his Face and Habit of his Greece, and was thus: Tho' it were not an usual Body; and among the rest, a lean and thin Face, thing to represent the Divertions of the Theatre | a sharp-pointed Head, a more than ordinary Tallat these Games, no more than to ting at the nets of Body, hooked Nose, Beetle-brows, and Opmpick Games, yet he was minded to carry a dry and sharp Chin; in short, he died by beaway the Honour of his Tragedy; amongst those ing put into too violent a Passion against Regulus, after he had reigned One Year and Four Months.

NESSUS; the Centaur; a Son of Ixion and a Cloud, with whom Hercules having entrufted his Wife Diani-a, for him to carry her over what it was that hindred Neroto grant him what the River Evenus, he went to ravish her, he asked. But as he saw him acting his Part which being perceived by Hercules, he shot him with an Arrow: At his Death he bequeathed his Shirt ftained with his Blood to Dianira; Honour to his Prince; and because he would not, giving her understand, that if she could get but pernifted inflexible, and doubled his Efforts, | Hercules to wear it, he should for ever love her: which were attended with the loud Acclamati- This therefore the fent unto him by Lycas, and ons of the People; he ordered his Actors to go as foon as he had put it on, he found his Buupon the Stage (as if that were part of the fame | dy leized with fo violent a Fire, that he threw himself Headlong into the Flames of Mount

NESTOR, whom Homer proposed for an Example of Wildom and Prudence, lived about 200 Years, and was found both in Body and Mind; whence it is, that when we would wish a Mujon. This paffed for a Jeft, in a Man that Man a long Life, we wish him the Age of Neffor.

NEUROBATES: by this Name were a | be heard Three Days Journey off, and that the kind of Rope-dancers called, who walked not Waters which spurt therefrom, appear like a upon an extended Cord, but made several Smoak. Alexander consulted the Oracle of ga-Tours and Leaps, as a Dancer does upon the piter Ammon, in order to know where the Spring Ground at the Sound of Mulick.

NICANDER; was a famous Phylician in Nero's Time, who wrote Two Poems concerning venemous Beafts, and Remedies against Poilons, called Theriaca, and Alexipharmaca.

NICETERIUM; the Frize at the Olympick and Circensian Games.

NILUS; the Nile, a River which croffes a great part of Affrica, the Spring-head thereof which fall between the Two Tropicks on the If being unknown till the last Age; the same is of June, and which are the Causes of the fine in a Territory which the Inhabitants call Abain, Weather we enjoy in Europe. When the Nile or Sacabela, that is, the Father of the Waters: rifes up to 16 Degrees, they fear a Famine, but This River runs out of Two Fountains or Eyes, when it comes to 23 'tis a good Year: When to use the Words of the People of that Country, that are at about Thirty Paces diffance, each of them being about the same Circumference as one of our Pits or a Coach-wheel, whole Bot- flantine caused the same to be carried to the toms are 16 or 17 Foot deep: The Inhabitants, Church of Alexandria. who are Heathens, worthip the largest of the whose Hesh they eat as if it were holy, and leave the Bones in a Place appointed for that Purpose, which at present makes a Mountain: mention of these Cows that were facrificed at ought not to be thought strange that Ofirin, which the Sources of the Nile. The Inhabitants call it is the Sun, should be also the Nile: For by the 47, 12 Degrees North Latitude and 55 Longitude. Its in a Plain about Three Quarters of a which is His, the Passive and Feminine Principle. a Musket-shot; and Three Days Journey from | Ofiris likewise. the Source thereof, 'tis fo large and deep as to bear Vessels on't: but in about 100 Paces farther it runs cross some Rocks, so that one may eafily pass over without wetting his Feet: They fail upon it with Boats made of Mat, and well fet together: It receives Three great Rivers into it, viz. the Gema, Linquetil and Brantil, and when it comes out of the Lake of Dambea, which is Fifty Leagues over, it receives into it other large Rivers, viz. the Gamara, Abea, Baixo, and Aquors, and laftly the Tacafus near Egypt: It hath Two principal Cataracts or Falls. At the Second it falls into a great Abyis, and the Noile thereof may be heard at the Diftance of Three Leagues; the Water is forced with fo much Violence, that it forms a kind of an Arch, and leaves fo great a Space between, that a Man may pass it without being wet; and there also are Seats cut in the Rocks, where Travellers may rest themselves: The first Cataract or Waterfall of the Nile is about Fifty Foot, but the fecond is three times as high; Its falle that the Noise made by these Cataracts, render the

of this River was. Sefofiris and Prolomy fought for it in vain: Cambyfes, as Strabo fays, fpent a whole Year to find it: Lucan witneffeth, that Cafar faid, He would have given over the Purfuit of the Civil War, if he were fure to find it. If a C Voffin hath wrote concerning the Original of the Nile, and other Rivers, and attributes the Rife and Overflowing thereof to the Rains, 'tis too high, the Inundation is dangerous: The Measure for the Increase of the Nile was kept in the Temple of Serapis, and the Emperor Con-

Plusarch says-the Egyptians adored the Waters Two, and to it offer several Cows in Sacrifice, of the Nile, and St. Athanasim intimates as much: The Nile was the chief Instrument of God's Bleffing befrowed upon Egypt, as the same Author observes; and thus from it have they made Its above 2000 Years fince Herodorn has made their God Olivis, if we believe Plutarch. And it Agais, the same being in the Kingdom of Gor- same Reason that the Sun is Ofirit, or the Active or Male Principle in respect to all the Earth, League long, furrounded with Mountains: At the Nile is also the Active Principle and Author its going our from thence the River enters into of the Fertility of the Land of Eg ppt, from which a small Lake, then is loft under Ground for about lit receives all its Fæcundity; so the Nile is

There are some also of Opinion, that the Name of Oliris comes from the Hebrew Name of the Nile; for in Scripture the Nile is usually called Nabal Mifraim, Fluvius Ægypti, and fimply Nabal or Nebel, from whence they made Nein : Again, Mela fays, that the Nile at the Springs thereof was called Nuchul, quali Nachal. But the same Scriptures give likewife unto the Nile the Name of Scacbar Niger, because the Waters of the faid River are very often troubled, muddy, and blackish; whence also it is, that Plutarch and other Greek Authors fometimes call it MENAS. Servius and other Lain Writers name it Melo. From Schachar or Schabar they make Siris, which is the Name given to the Nile by Dionyfine, in his Description of the World: Siru ab Æthiopibus vocatur. Its also believed, that the Reason why the Dog-flar is called Sirius, is, because it hath borrowed its Name from the Nile, with which it hath so much Sympathy, the Overflowings of the faid River being confined to the Dog days. This being Neighbouring People Deaf, tho' the same may premifed; 'tis not difficult to believe that the the or Siri have been worshipped under the Name of Ofirm. The Overflowings of the Nile are fo beneficial to Egypt, that there is no need of Rain in that Country. Thus the Nile unto them flood instead of Jupiter, who was held to he the Author of Rains. And this Tibullus exmeffes in thefe Verfes :

Te propper nullos Tellus que postulat imbres, Arida nec pluvio fupplicat berba Fovi.

and in Athenaus we read this Prayer put up to the Nile, as to the Jupiter of Egypt.

Aixialie Zeu Neine.

NIMROD. See Nembrod.

NINUS, was the Son of Belus and Founder of the Affrian Empire; he continued the Buildmade the Seat of his Empire, than founded Nineve, so called from his own Name: He made an to be worshipped by his People, made it a Place of Refuge for all Malefactors, and was the Author of Idolatry.

NIOBE, Tantalus his Daughter, who died miferably through her own Vanity; for the haaway for Grief. The Poets fay, that the Gods | who untied it, should conquer Afia. being touched with Compassion for this unfortunate Mother, which pined away with Tears and Sorrows, changed her into a Marbleof her Mourning.

in his Head of a Purple Colour, unto which was limited the Duration of his Reign; which Story is taken from Sampson's Hair, wherein consisted all his Strength:

Cui splendidus ostro Inter bonoratos medio sub vertice canos, Crinis inharebat, magni fiducia regni. Ovid. Metam. L 8. V. 8.

solle, a Daughter of this King's, happening to fill in Love with King Minos during the Time of his Befieging Megara, betray'd her Father, was taken, Nifus transformed into a Sea-Eagle, and Scylla being deferted by Minos, was changed ma Bird named Ciris:

Fam vendebat in auras. Et modo fallus erat futuis Halyactos alis, &c. Plumis in avem mutata, vocatur Ciris: & a tonfo eft boc nomen adepta capille. Ibid. v. 145.

Here is a double Etymology the one Greek, and the other Hebrew, and as Ovid hints, the Name of Ciris comes from resear tondere; but that of Nifus from the Hebrew Ness which fignifies a Sparhawk.

NOBILITAS, Antonius Geta, Son to the Emperor Severus, has given us the Figure of it in a Medal of his, where the is represented in a Roman Lady's Dress, holding a Scepter in her Hand, and upon her Left Arm a small Statue of NODINUS or NODOSUS, a Goding of the City of Babylon, which at first he that presided over the Knots that are in the Stalks of Corn.

NODUS GORDIUS; the Gordian Knot, Idol of his Father Belus, whom he would have tis a Greek Proverb, which is faid concerning a Knot that cannot be untied, and figuratively put for a Difficulty that cannot be refolved: It proceeds from an indiffoluble Knot of Leatherthongs, which Gordius King of Phrygia laid up inthe Temple of Apollo, in Commemoration of ring hore a great many Children, was so rash as his being saluted King, because he was the first to prefer her felf before Latona. At this A- that entred into the faid Temple. Alexander who and Diana growing angry, they killed all cut it with his Sword, because he could not untie her Children with Arrows; which made her pine it, for the Oracle had foretold, that the Person

NOAH, the Son of Lamech, a just and upright Man, who found Favour with God, and who with his Family only escaped the Deluge, fone, which by a Blaft of Wind was carried as being thut up in an Ark by the Lord's Commandfar Lycia, near unto the City of Sypilus, where | ment. Noab's History has been applied to Saber marbled Body continually sweated as a Sign | turn; for Noab was the Father of all Mankind after the Flood : He was also the King and Au-NISUS, King of Megara, who had an Hair thor of another Golden Age, while the Earth was peopled with no other than with his Children and Grand-children, whom he had brought up in Innocence and under whole Empire he left them to enjoy an entire Liberty : There were no. Slaves in the first Age after the Deluge; all Mankind making as it were yet but one Family. And whereas Noab, according to the Scripture, was the first that planted a Vineyard and brought up the Use of Wine, the Heathens gave Saturn also the Glory of having taught Men the Art of Agriculture, and especially planting of Vines and . the Use of the Sickle.

Athenaus, after Berosus, fays the Saturnalia: and cut off this fatal Hair: The City hereupon were celebrated at Babylon, as well as in Greece and Italye And these Saturnalia were Days appointed for Debaucheries; as if the Heathens had had a mind to keep up the Remembrance of Noab's Drunkenness, intowhich he unadvisedly fell, before he had yet had a Tryal of the Strength of Wine. St. Cyrill relates unto us the Testimonies of Alexander Polybiffor and Abydenus, who | fay, that Xifurus King of Affria, escaped the own proper and particular Names, as Cale Deluge, which Saturn had foretold should come, Cacilia, Lucia, Volumnia, and these Names, as by putting himself, according to his Advice in an Quincilian observes, were difting with d by Letters Ark together with all Kinds of Beafts; that he inverted thus J. 7. W. However, afterwards: failed to Armenia, and that he fent some Birds to they gave them no Names, but if there was onknow if the Waters were gone off the Face of the | ly one Girl, they did no more than give her the Earth. It's manifest, that this is the Story of Noab counterfeited, and that these Fables had their Origin in Allyria; infomuch that the fabulous Saturn is the true Noah, and his Ark rested one Major, the other Minor; and if more, they on the Mountains of Armenia. Treires makes Nosh one while to go into India, and at another time to Egypt : He lived 350 Years after the | a Diminutive of the fame, as Secandilla, Quartilla. Deluge, and repeopled the Earth according to Quintilla, &c. the Command which God gave him: St. Epiphanius fays, that Noah made a Division of the among the Romans who accompanied those who World between his Three Sons at Reinocorura a laboured under hand to be made Magistrates, Place upon the Frontiers of Egypt.

Mofes has joyned with Jubal and Tubalcain; Ge- them, and call them by their Names, which nebrard in his Chronicle fays, the invented the was a very civil Custom, and much in use at Art of Spinning and Woollen Manufacturies, and | Rome. so the was the Minerus of the Heathens, but as the Name of Noema fignifies Beautiful, others have been of Opinion twas Penus; hereunto they add likely the Name came, because that from the farther, that as Noema is in the Book of Genesis faid Day to the Ides, there were always Nine joined with Tubalsain, fo the Pagans laid, that Days. They computed Six Days in the Nones

Venus was Vulcan's Wife.

one Name, but the Romans had sometimes Three | mulus began the Month on the First Day of the or Four, which they called Pranomen, Nomen, Moon's appearing in the Evening, on which the Cognomen, and sometimes Agnomen. The Pranomen is that which belongs to every Person in | in order to know of the Pontists, the Time particular; the Name is that which denotes the when the Feafts and other Ceremonies were to House from whence one is descended, and the | be celebrated; and in short, whatever they were Surname is that which belongs to a particular to do, or let alone during the whole Month. And Family or to a Branch of that House.

It was a Cultom among the Romans to give to their Children the Name of the Family, to Boys on the 9th Day after their Birth, and to Days, or Seven times, if they comprehended Girls on the 8th. But according to Festus and Plutarch, the Pranomen was not given them before they put on the Virile Robe, that is, at the of the Ides, as they are put indeed in the place Age of 17. Thus Cicero's Children were always called Giceron's pueri till thole Years, after which, they called them Marcus filius, and Quinsus filius: As for the slaves they had no other Name than that of their Mafter, as Lucipor, Lucius his Slave, Lucii puer; Marcipor, Marcus his Slave, Marcipuer. But yet afterwards they gave her coming forth from under the faid Beams; them a Name which generally was that of their Country, as Syrus, Geta, Davus, and when they were made free they took the Pranomen and Name of their Maiter, but not the Surname, the Calends, at the time when the Moon, jub rein the room of which they retained their own Name. Thus that learned Freedman of Cicero was called M. Tulius Tyro; and this was also obferved with Respect to Allies and Strangers, who took upon them the Name of the Performoy whole at the Full, or appear'd with a beautiful Face, Favour they had obtained the Priviledge of be the fame Word coming from the Greek al AG ing Citizens of Rome.

Varro lavs, that the Women formerly had the Name of her Family, and fometimes foftened the same by the Way of a Diminution, as Tulia or Tulliola: But if they were two, they called were named according to their Age, Prima, Secunda, Tertia, Ouarta, Quinta, &c. or they made

NOMENCLATOR; He was a Perfon and who told them the Names of all the Citi-NOEMA, the Daughter of Lamech, whom | zens they met with, that they might falute

NON Æ; the Nones, quafi Nove; being as much as to tay, new Observations, the its more of May, October, July and March, and in the NOMEN, a Name; the Greeks had but other Months only Four. Some believe that Re-Country People were obliged to come to Town, as the Sacrificer was on the fame Day wont to cry the Word xaxa with a loud Voice Five times fuccessively, if the Nones contained but Five Seven; fo the Nones perhaps got their Name, in that at first they were called Nono Idus, the oth of the IX of the Ides. Beildes, leeing there were Three different Variations, and fuch as are very confiderable in the Course of the Moon; the Ift. When the is entirely hid by the Sun-beams; 2d, On the first Day of her appearing, when the rifes at Night, and appears with Horns at 3d, When the is at the Full; 'tis thought that Romulus from thence took occasion to divide the Days of his Months, which he began always with din Solu celaretur, was hid by the Sun-beams, and afterwards gave the Name of None or Novæ Lunæ to the Day whereon the New Moon appear'd, and that of the Idus when the was which the Moon got fooner from under the faid Beams, and was visible.

the 7th was held the Show of Ornaments : On 8th, were the Brumalia celebrated, which lafted for Thirty Days: On the 5th, were performed the Mortuary Sacrifices to the frighted Gauls and Greeks.

NOVENSILES; were Heroes newly received into the Number of the Gods, or the Gods of the Provinces and Kingdoms which the Romans had conquered, and to which they facrificed under the Name of Dit Novensiles.

Form of a Woman in Mourning, crowned with with Stars, which ferved as her Guides: They

this, which figuifies as much; from whence they | Pomponius Pompilius: He was born at Cures, gge a Reason for the Inequality of the Days of the Capital City of the Sabines; the Fame of the Names: For, as it happens by a Composition of his Vertue made the Romans chule him for their the Sun and Moon's Motions, that the Moon King, after Romulus his Death: He revived all omes forth fometimes fooner from under the the Ancient Ceremonies of Religion, and infti-Beams of the other, and sometimes latter, and tuted new Ones; and writ down a whole Forth that this Difference is usually confined within of Religious Worthip in Eight Books, which te the Space of Two Days: Its very likely, fay caused to be laid with him in his Tomb after his they, that at the Time when Romulus inflituted | Death. But one Terentius, fays Parte, having this Calender, the Moon continued longer hid an Estate hard by the Faniculum, as his Servant by the Sun-beams, in the Months of March, May, was ploughing near unto Nume's Tomb, he fully, and Ollober, and that upon this Occasion turn'd up the Books wherein the faid Prince field he allowed Seven Days to the Nones of thefe let down the Reasons of his instituting such My. Four Months, and only Five to the reft, during fleries. Terentius carried them prefently to the Prætor, who, when he had read the Beginning of them, thought it was a Matter of that Impor-NOVEMBER; 'twas formerly the 9th tance as deserved to be communicated to the Month of the Year, inftituted by Romains, which | Senate: The Principal Senators having read omilted of Ten in all; and now tis the 11th. some things therein, would not meddle with the The Emperor Commodus called it Exuperatorius; Regulations of Numa, but thought it conductive but after his Death it realliumed its former Name: to the Interest of Religion to have the faid Books In this Month the Sun enters into Sagitarius; burnt. Numa had had Recourse to the Art of and it was under the Protection of Dima: On Hydromancy, in order to fee the Images of the the first Day thereof they made a Feast to Jupi- Gods in the Water and to learn of them the Reter, and performed the Circenfian Games: On ligious Myfteries he ought to effablish: Verro the Day of the Nones or Fifth were the Neptu- fays, that this kind of Divination was found nalis celebrated, which lafted Eight Days. On out by the Perfians, and that King Nume, and after him Pythagoras the Philosopher made use the 3d of the Ides the Inclosure of the Sea: thereof: To which he adds, that they also in-On the Ides the Feast called Leftisternia: On voked Mens Souls upon this Occasion by sprinkthe 18th of the Calends, the Trial of Horses; ling of Blood, and this is that which the Greeks On the 17th of the Calends, the popular Play's called Necromancy; and because Numa made use in the Circus for Three Days: On the 14th, the of Water to perform his Hydromancy, they faid, Traders Feaft lafting Three Days: On the 13th, he married the Nymph Egeria, as the laid Varro the Pontiff's Supper in Honour of Cybele : On explains it: It was therefore by this way of Hythe 11th, the Liberalia: On the 10th, they of dromancy that this inquisite King learnt those fered Sacrifice to Pluto and Proferpina: On the Mylteries which he let down in the Pontist's Books, and the Caufes of the fame Myfferies, the knowledge whereof he referved to himfelt alone: He boafted he had very often Converation with the Muses, to whom he added a Tenth, which he named Tacita, and made the Romans worthip her.

He tomewhat rectified the Calender, and added Two Months to the Year, which at first confifted but of 10 Months, and fo made them 12, NOX; the Night, the Daughter of Ierra adding every Two Year one Month confifting of and Chaos, which the Poets represented in the | 22 Days, which he called Mercedinum, and which he immediately placed after the Month of Fe-Poppies, and having black Wings, and riding in bruary; he lived about 80 Years and of them a Chariot drawn by Iwo Hories, surrounded reigned 40. This Numa Pompilius, second King. of Rome was indeed both a King and a Philofacificed a Cock unto her. Cir. L. 3. de Nat. fopher, who gave himfelf up to much to the Deer, Says her Children were Love, Deceit, Doctrine which Pythagoras afterwards publith'd. Rear, Old Age, Mileries, Deftinies, &c. The to the World, that many through a gross Ig-Night is part of the Natural Day, during which norance of the Time took him to be a Disciple the sun is not above the Horizon; the Ancient of Pythagoras: Dionysus of Hallicarnassus has re-Gauls and Germans divided Time not by the futed this Error, by shewing that Numa was Day, but by Nights, as you may fee in Cafar more ancient than Pythagoras by Four Generations, as having reigned in the 6th Olympiad. NUMA, called Pompilius; the Son of whereas Pythagoras was not famous in trais before pretended his Laws and Maxims were communi- were fometimes honoured with the Title of cated to him by the Nymph Egeria, which o- gulf, as other Deities were, which appears by thers believed to be a Muse; at last the said this Inscription: Historian says, Nums pretended to have that Conversation with a Coelestial Mistress, that so they might believe his Laws were the Emations of the Eternal Wisdom it self.

NUMERUS; a Number, is a Discrete Quantity, being a Collection of feveral feparate Bodies. Euclid defines it to be a Multitude composed of many Unites. The perfect Number bas freely and fully discharged ber Vow to the the chabiling by the Ancients is Ten, because of the gust Nymphs. This Epithet has been given Number of the Ten Fingers of a Man's Hand. Plato believed this Number to be perfect, inafmuch as the Unites, which the Greeks called Monades, compleated the Number of Ten. The Mathematicians who would contradict Plato herein, faid, that Six was the most perfect Number, because that all its Aliquot Parts are equal to the Number Six: And farther, to make the Perfection of the Number Six to appear, they have to the Nymphs of the Place, drink, bathe your selves, observed that the Length of a Man's Foot is and be filent. the 6th Part of his Height. There is an even and an odd Number; the Even is that which may be divided into I wo equal Parts, whereas the odd Number cannot be divided equally without a Fraction, which is more of an Unity than rhe even Number. The Golden Number is a Period of 19 Years, invented by Metho the Athenian; at the End of which happen the Lunations and the same Epact; tho this Period be not altogether true: Its thought to have been | Omega and Omicron of the Greeks: the Pronunciathus called either because of the Benefit there is in the Use of it, or because it was formerly writ- after Terentianus; for the Omega was pronounced ten in Gold Characters. See Arithmetica.

NUPTIA, Marriages, from the Verb ##bere, which fignifies to vail, because the Bride had a Vail on of the Colour of Fire, wherewith fhe covered her felf: They carried a lighted Torch, and fung Hymen or Hymen aus, which was a fabulous Deity of the Pagans, whom they believed to prelide over Marriages: The Poets called him fair Hymenaus. See Matrimonium.

NYMPHA; a Nymph; a false Deity, beheved by the Heathens to prefide over Waters, Rivers and Fountains: fome have extended the Signification hereof, and have taken them for the Goddeffes of Mountains, Forests and Trees. The Ancients took the Nymphs to be Bacchus his Nurses, whether it were because the Wine wanted Water to bring its Grapes to Maturity, or because tis requisite Water should be mixed with Wine, that it may not diforder the Head. They have been fometimes represented each of them with a Veffel, into which they poured Water, and holding the Leaf of an Herb in their reus for Forreus, &c. And in the French Tongue Hands, which grows in Water and Wells; or the Aand the o are often joined together in the else another while with that of a Water-Plant same Word, as in Laon, faon, paon, which are called Nymphan, that took its Name from the pronounced with A Long, as Lan, fan, pan; tho

the soch. The same Historian says, that Numa | sels, and naked down to the Navel; the Nymphs

NYMPHIS AUGUSTIS MATURNUS V. S. L. M.*

That is, Votum folvit libens merito : Maternm them by way of Honour, because 'twas believed they watched for the Preservation of the Imperial Family.

NYMPHEA; the Baths which were confecrated to the Nymphs; and therefore fo called from them. Silence was more particularly required there: whence we read in an Inscription of Gruter, NYMPHIS LOCI, BIBE, LAVA, TACE:

Is the Fourteenth Letter in the Alphabet, and the Fourth Vowel: The o by its long and short Pronounciations represents fully the tion whereof was very different, favs Caninint in the Hollow of the Mouth with a great and full Sound, including two oo; and the Omicron upon the Edge of the Lips with a clearer and smaller Sound. These two Pronounciations they have in the French Tongue; the Long o they diftinguish by the Addition of an S, as cofte, bofte, motte; or by the Dipthong au, as baute, faute, &c. and the Affinity there is between this Vowel 0 and the Dipthong au, is not without an Example in the Greek Tongue, wherein you have αυλαξ or ώλαξ, fulcus; τραύμα or τρώμα, vulnus, according to the Dorick Dialect, from whence the Latins have also used caudex and codex; Caurus or Corus, &c. And hence, perhaps, it is, that as this Dipthong au retains much of the A, fo the O has some Affinity with the A; for the Eolians used στροτός for στρατός, exercitus. ove for ave, supra; which was also imitated by the Romans, who took Domo from Saus, and used Fabius for Fovius, according to Festus Far-Nymphs; and again, with Shells inflead of Vef- Romus fays, that in his Time fome diffinguished did perhaps in Imitation of the Greeks who chan-whence it is that the Greeks from New dico, have made AéAona dixi, and the like; that the Eto-Hens used requise for Trime, tremo; and the Lesins from onivow, made fonder; from pendeo, pondue; from tego, toga; and they used to for adversum or advorsum: vertex or vortex: accipiter for accipitor, a Bird of Prey; bemo for bo-Pliny in Priftian fays the fame thing; and thence also he derives the Name of Obelish. it comes to pass that buc, illuc, are used for boc, illor, and this Virgil himself does :

Hoc tune ignipotens calo descendit ab alto.

Quintilian also observes that they used Hecoba, and Norix with an O for an U: and that of Odylleus. the Eolians had made Udylfes, from whence the Romans faid Ulyffes ; and that, in fhort, his Mafters wrote fervom with an O, whereas from his Time forward they wrote the same with two m's, fervum. The two Dipthongs oe and of come near the Greek Dipthong or: The o among the Latins was very like unto the V; wherefore it often happened that the or was changed into an u, as when from the Word pana they made surire; and thus we may still find in some old Inscriptions eisum or asum put for usum, coiravit or ceravit for curavit; menera for munera; and so also they used Puni for Pani, and bellum Punicum for Panicum. O in Arithmetick stands for a Cypher; it was also made use of for a Numeral Letter that fignified Eleven, and when they put a Bar above it, it flood for 11000.

OBELISCUS, an Obelisk, a very high to some Place, which had often Inscriptions and Hieroglyphicks upon it. The Difference between Pyramids and Obelishs confifted in that the Pramids have a large Balis, but the Obelisks are very narrow: Pliny lays, the Egyptians cut their Obelishs in the Form of a Sun-beam, and that the Word Obelisk in the Egyptian Tongue fignifed a Ray or Beam.

OBOLUS, a Copper Coin worth a Maille or Two Mites, which is not above one 3d of a Farthing in our English Money: Some will have it the Long O by these two Letters AO, which they I which were worth 11 Deniers, and as some would have it a French Penny (less by near 2 ged as or as as well as on in their Contractions | Fourth than the English Penny) and 4 Deniers They had also Gold Oboles. M. Du Cange says, Again, the O has some Affinity with the E. there has been in France Oboles of Gold and Silver, that the white Obolus was worth 3 Deniers, and was called Obole tierce, because it was the third Part of a French Penny. There were also Silver Oboles that weighed a Denier and 15

Obolus in Physick is a Weight of 10 Grains, or Half a Scruple, and there are a Scruples go to a Dram or Gross. The Obolin amongst the so; ambe and ambes for ambo and ambos, in En- | Jews was a kind of a Weight named Gerab, sins. But the o had ftill a greater Affinity with | weighing 16 Barley-Corns. The Obolus with the P, whence the Ancients, as Longus fays, ea- the Sicilians was a Pound Weight: It was also fily confounded these two Letters, and tho' they a fort of Money: They pretend the Romans writ Confol, they pronounced it Conful: Caffio- borrowed this Name from them: Borellus dederus also informs us, they wrote praftu for pra- rives the Word from offends; because the same flo; poblicum for publicum; colpam for culpam. was long and small like a Needle, from whence

> OBSEQUIA, Obsequies, Funeral Solemnities they are Ceremonies performed at the Burials of Great Persons, the Word being derived from Obsequium, because these Obsequies are the last Devoirs we can render to the Deceased. See

OBSTETRIX, a Midwife, being fuch an one as delivers a Woman in Labour; Hyginus informs us, the Ancients having no Midwives, feveral Women died in Labour, because of their being ashamed to have Recourse to the Physitians for Help, and fince there was a Law among the Aibenians which forbad Women to have any thing to do with Phylick: Hereupon a voung Woman called Agnodicia, having a great Inclination to the Science, difguifed her felf in Man's Cloaths and frudied it, and then went to Women in Labour, and for the removing of all Scruples from them, the made her Sex known unto them and then delivered them. The Phyfitians observing that this would make them lofe their Practile among the Women, fued the faid young Woman, and accused her of ill Practiles in Refpect to the Female Sex: In short, they got her condemned by the Areopagites, but flie gave them Proofs of her Innocence in a Stone fet up perpendicularly for an Ornament | full Affembly: Then the Physicians had Recourse to the Law which prohibitted Women to profess Phyfick; upon which the Athenian Ladies interposed in the Matter, and got the Law repealed; fo that Women were left at full Liberty to fludy that I'rofession.

OCCASIO, Opportunity, an Heathen God, whom Phadrus, L. 5. Fab. 9. represents unto us thus: 'A Man with Wings, and ran fo 'fwiftly that he could go upon the Edge of a 'Razor without hurting himlelf. One that hath Hair before, and is bald behind, with his Body only to be the Quarter Part of a Denier, the fark naked; one that cannot be poffest but Half of a Maille; The Greels had Silver Oboles 1 by Prevention, and whom Jupiter himfelf can-portunity meets with it rd more.

OCCIDENS; the Welt, It's one of the Four Cardinal Points of the Heavens and the Earth, the Place where the Sun and other Stars fet in respect to us. The West of the Summer is that Point of the Horizon where the Sun fets, when 'tis in the Tropick of Canter; the West of the Winter is that where the Son fets, when 'tis in the Tropick of Capricorn; and this happens when the Sun comes to the Points of the Solftices; each of them is 23 Degrees and an half diffant from the true Point of the West.

OCEANUS; the Ocean, is that main Sea which furrounds all the Earth; this Name, i we believe Helychius, comes from wy iv, which was the old Name thereof, and 'tis very likely proceeded from that Hebrew Word Choug or Hour, that fignifies a Circle; because it goes round the Earth: This Word Houg is in Scriptare often to be met with in this Sence; or i you will, wheaves comes from whis, because of the Swiftness of its Motion. Homer in his Iliads makes Oceanus to be the Father of the Gods, and Tethys their Mother.

'Ωκεανόν τε Θεών γένεσιν, κ' μητέρη. Τηθυν.

that Text in Genefis, where the Chaos leems to thers of the Church, who gave a Literal Explibe represented like unto the Confution of the cation of the Waters (which in Scripture are Waters before God reduced them into order, iplaced above the Firmament) and believed there and made a Diftinction between them : In this was a great Quantity of Water above the Region Sence the Ocean and Terbys, that is, that Abys of the fixed Stars, to allay the Heat of those Cowhich comprehended the Heavens and the Earth. Leftial Fires, and hinder them from burning the as an immense Quantity of Waters, before the fame were separated by the Distribution made of the Chaos; this Abyls, I fay, might be called the it be comidered, that the Stars being flery Globes Father and Mother of all the great Bodies, of of an incredible Bigness, as well as the Sun, it which Nature was composed, and which bore was requitte to separate them from each other the Name of Gods among the Heathens. And by very great Spaces filled with Air, and some where Plato fays, that Occamm was begotten of Liquid Matter, wherewith to allay their Heat, Calum and Tesbys, he means nothing elie but and make them more tollerable, which in their the Ocean that was separated from the Heavens own Natures were combustible; but 'tis no great and the Earth, as it was upon the Reduction of Matter if the Name of Air or Water has been the Chaos into order.

that prefide over the Waters, whether they be as the Stars are, or dark Bodies, as the Planets Fountains, Lakes, Rivers, or Seas, might very and Earth, do swim. Eusebius gives us the well be the Occasion of giving unto the Ocean Words of Porphyrie, who applies the Pable of the the Quality of the Father of the Gods: But in Poets in this Case entirely to the Collectial or the main, this vaft Number of Water-Gods, and Elementary Bodies, and who favs that the Ocean their Genealogy, fignifies no more than the Di- was of a Liquid Nature in general; that Tetas stribution of the Waters of the Ocean, which is was the Symbol thereof; that Achelous was done throughout all the Earth, and which by its drinkable Water; Neptune, the Sea-water; that Vapours or Subterranean Conduits supplies all by Emphirite was meant, such Waters as are the Fountains, Lakes and Rivers, infomuch that 'tis Principle of Generation; Laftly, That the Nymphs nothing but the Element of Water, and the and Nereides were such particular Waters, as are Ocean that is continually animated by the Soul either (weet or falt.

not recover, if he has once been left to escape, of the Universe, which makes its Divinity, acwhich denotes to us, that he that lofes his Op- cording to the Language of the Heathens. Fire gil in his Georgicks facrificed to the Ocean.

Oceano libemus, ait :

And he brings in Aness facrificing a Bull to the Gods of the Sea. Justine relates, that when Alexander had subdued and passed thro' Asia, as far as the Ocean, he offered Sacrifice, and pray'd him to grant him an happy Return into Greece ; Oceano libamina dedit, prosperum in patriam redi-

Diodorus Siculus fays, that the Ancients gave the Name of Ocean to Moisture or the Liquid Element, which is as it were the Nutriment, and consequently the Mother of all Things, and that this is the Meaning of the Verse hefore cited out of Homer; and to clear the Thing fully, we may add what he fays elfewhere concerning Jupiter, and the other Gods or Stars, that they went to Oceanus Habitation, to be entertained at a great Feaft by him. Diodoras has faid Oceanus and Terbys were the Nutriment of all Things; and Macrobius explains this Feaffing of the Gods at Oceanus his House, by the Vapours of the Sea. wherewith the Stars were nourilh'd, and whereof they ftood in need, for the Qualifying of their Heat, significans bauriri de bumore alimenta fideribus. This was an Opinion commonly enter-This Opinion may have had its Origin from tained by a great many of the Ancient Fa-World. Tho' this Idea may feem odd, yet 'tis certain, the same is very agreeable to Truth, if given to this Liquid Substance, wherein, as I The innumerable Multitude of Petty Deities may fay, all thele Globes or Luminaries, fuch

OCTAVIUS C.E.SAR, furnamed AU-1 ficult, forasmuch as neither Interpreters nor GUSTUS. See Augustus.

ed its first Name in spight of all the different have given it: For the Senate ordered that this | Song. Month should be called Faustinus, in Honour of Fassiina, the Wife of Antonians, the Emperor : Commodus would have had it bear the Name of gianus, according to his own Name. This Month an Altar was dedicated to Fortune, entituled, Fortuna Reduci, to flatter Augustus at his Return to Rome, after he had pacified Sicily, Greece, Syria, Alia, and Parthis. On the 13th was kept the Feaft of Fountains, called Fontinalia. 15th they facrificed a Horse to Mars, called Offober equis. 19th was celebrated the Feaft called Armilustrium in the Armies, 28th, and following Days, the Plays of Victory were performed, which Sylla instituted. Towards the End of the Month the Vortumnalia, and Samatian Games were celebrated.

OC : OBER EQUUS; an Horse which was facrificed to Mars in the Month of Ollober; there was then a kace run with Chariots, drawn cause the Horse was a Martial Creature and ought to be offered in Sacrifice to the God of War.

OCULARIA; Spectacles; its not beliethat they never took an occasion to name them, Indeed, there are foline modern Authors who and the Figure graven upon a Marble at Sulmo : us the Weakness of all these Arguments. M. of the Convent of Pifa, in the Year 1313.

Grammarians do agree about the Use of this OCTOBER; the Month of catober, being Edifice. Suidas, who holds that this Place was the 8th Month of the Year in Romulus his Calen- appointed to rehearle the Musick that was to der, and 10th in that of Numa, has always regain be performed on the great Theater, grounds his Opinion upon the Etymology of the Word, Names, the Senate and Roman Emperors would which is taken from Ode, that in Greek fignifies

The Scholiast on Aristophanes is of another Opinjon, and thinks that the Odeum was a Place erected wherein to repeat. Plurareb in the Life muilus; and Domitian made it be called Domi of Pericles, fays, It was built for those Persons, who heard the Musicians when they disputed for was under the Protection of Mars. On the 4th | the Prize; but the Description he gives thereof, Day of it was celebrated the Solemnity of Mun lets us understand, that the Odeum was built dus Patens. See Mundus Patens. On the 12th | Theater-wife; for, he fays, it had Seats and Pillars all round it, and was made with a fharp Top, with Masts and Sail-yards taken from the Perfians. Cratinus the Comick Poet, upon this Oc-Lanoa favs by way of Raillery, that Pericles had ordered the Form of the odeum of Athens, according to the Shape of his own Head, which was tharp, infomuch that the Poets of his Time when they were minded to ridicule him in their Plays, intended him under the Name of Fupiter, Scinos Cephalos; that is, one who hath a fharp Head, like a Tooth-picker, which the Ancients made of a Shrub called Scinos, which is the Maftick.

OEDIPUS; the Son of Lains and Focasta; Laius, King of Thebes, having married Jocasta, the Daughter of Creon, understood by the Oraeach by 2 Horfes, and he that run quickeft was | cle, that they flould have a Son born of that Marfacrificed to Mars. Plutarch gives Two Reasons riage, who should kill him; which made him for this Ceremony; the first was to punish the command Josefta to strangle all the Children Horse for the Taking of Troy; the second, be- she should bear: Oedipus being born, his Mother gave him to a Soldier to kill him, in purfuance to the King's Command, but he contented himtelf to make holes in his Feet, and to run an ved that pectacles were known to the Ancient Ogier Twig thro' them, wherewith he hung him Greek and Latin Poets; for it would be very to a Tree upon Mount Citbaron. Phorbas, one ftrange if they had had any knowledge of them, of Polybius his Shepherds, who was King of Corinth, finding the Infant hanging in that manand to make any Divertion with them upon the ner, and taking pitty of him, he made a Pre-Stage: It would have been a Wonder that Pliny | ient of him to the Queen, who brought him up fould make no manner of mention of them in as her own Child; they gave him the Name of his Chapter concerning the Inventors of Things: | Oedipus, because of the Swelling that remained in his Feet, which had been pierced through. tite certain Fragments out of Plantus; fuch as When he grew up, he went to confult the Ora-Faber ocularius, and Coulariarius of Tomb-stones, cle, in order to know who was his Father, answer was made, That he should find him in Phocas; But Dati, in a viderration of his, has thewed upon which he went thither, and meeting with him in a popular Tumult, he killed his Father Spon, in the 16 Differtation, Of his Searches af- Laius, and did not know him, as he endeavoured er Antiquity, lays, That Speciacles were invent- to appeale them. Juno being an Enemy to the ed in the Time of Alexander Spina, a Dominican Thebans, fent the Monster Sphinx near unto Tkebes, that had the Face and Speech of a Virgin, ODE UM: M. Perrauli upon Vitruvius, fays, the Body of a Dog, the Tail of a Dragon, and Thave been forced to retain the Greek word, the Claws of a Lion, with the Wings of a Bird. for it could not have been rendred into French the proposed some Enigmatical Questions or '(so more can it into English) but by a Peri- Riddies to all Fassengers, and if they could not phrasis, which also would have been very dif- resolve the same, she presently devoured them, infomuch that no Body durst come near the fay it took its Name from Oenotrius the Aca-City; Hereupon they had Recourse to the Ora- dian, as Pausanias; but Varro will have it from cle, who answered, they could not be freed from Oenotrius, King of the Sabines: This Name was this Monster, unless this Riddle were explain- afterwards given to all Italy. ed, viz. What Animal it was that in the Morning went upon Four Feet, at Noon upon Two, from Macedonia, and is famous for the Death of and at Night upon Three. Crem, who had pof- Hercules, who from it was called Octaus; this fest himself of the Kingdom after the Death of Laim, caused it to be published throughout all Greece, that he would quit his Kingdom, and Founder of the City of Ibebes about 1500 give Joeasta, Lains his Widow, for a Wife to any one that should explain the Riddle; Oedipus Varro, L. 2. de Re rustica, tho' others attridid it, and explained it thus; faying, That it was bute the Founding thereof to Cadmus. St. Authat at Years of Maturity he west only upon lion. his Two Feet; and at laft being broken with Age, leaned upon a Stick as he walked. The Monfter feeing her felf overcome, and tranfported with Rage, went and knock'd her own Shipwrack, and with whom he stud Seven Years. Brains out against a Rock. Oedipus as his Reward had the Kingdom given him, and ignorantly married his own Mother Jocalia. In the places it in the Ocean Five Days fail from Brimean time the Gods fent a terrible Plague upon Athens, to revenge the Death of Lains, which, Mediterranean, near unto Lorin, and calls it according to the Oracle, whom they confulted Calypfus; and this he feems to fay in favour of for that Purpole, was not to ceale, but with the Banishment of him who had killed him: Upon | Reason to make Utifies go into the Isle of Oggia, this they had Recourse to the Art of Negromancy, for the Discovering of him, and it was from Queen Calppso. Lucian ridicules Homer and found to be Oedipus; who then coming to know his Crimes, put out both his Eyes, and condemned himself to perpetual Banishment : He found Ulyses in the Isle of the Blessed, and that withdrew when he was very old to Athens, to that Hero charg'd him to carry a Letter to Cadie there, according to the Order of the Ora- lypso into the Island of ogygia; but herein he cle, near the Temple of the terrible Goddeffes, would not have himself torget that from the in a Place named Equefiric Colonus, where Nep- very Beginning of his Story he had protefted very beautiful Daughter, called Hippodamia; calls Ogyges or Thisbe, and was built by a Prince when he understood by the Oracle, that his Son of that Country called Ogyges: The Name of in-Law should be the Cause of his Death, he the said Prince gives some Cause to think, that would not give his Daughter in Marriage to any | Fabius Pillor speaks of Gomer under the Name one but he who should outdo him in a Race, or of Ogyges, and that Ogyges, Saturn and Gomer in elfe lofe his Life: Pelops, who was in Love with that Age were the lame Person: The Reason Hippodamia, accepted of the Offer, and having whereof is, that that Ogyges of Psolomy reign'd bribed Myrtilus, Oenomaus his Charioteer, he a little after the Deluge, as Pausanias and Berecaused the Chariot to break in the middle of the law affire us. Race, and threw down Oenomaus, who was killed with his Fall; fo that by this means he got cellent Musician, and Player upon firing'd Inthe Kingdom, and married Hippodamia.

fell in Love with handsome Paris, and foretold of into Greece: He was also the first who at the him the Misfortunes he should one Day bring Obsequies of Python play'd a mournful Tune afupon his Country by flealing away Helen. Dillys ter the Lydian Mode. Cretenfis fays, when the faw the Body of Paris, which was brought to her to be buried, fine died that Part of Theffaly which is towards Macedeof Grief.

OENOTRIA; that Part of Italy which rene, which made the Poets take it for Heaven; lies towards Sicily, and called so from the they feign'd that Jupiter governed Olympus, that Plenty of Wines it produceth. Some Authors is Heaven, OETA; a Mountain which divides Theffelt Mountain abounded in Hellebore.

OGYGES, King of the Thebans, and the Years before the City of Rome, according to a Man, who in his Infancy crawled upon all Fours guftine relates that a greater Deluge happenlike a Beaft, leaning upon his Hands and Feet; ed in this King's Time, than that of Deuce-

OGYGIA; an Island between the Seas of Phanicia and Syria, famous for the Residence of Calypso, who there entertained Ulysses after his There is Reason to believe, that the Island of Ceyeis is an imaginary Thing only. Pluterch tannia towards the West. Pliny puts it in the Homer, and to let us fee that that Poet had some where that Hero received fome fecret Payours Ulyffes upon this Occasion very pleasantly, where he fays in his Caleftial Navigation, that he sune, surnamed Equestris, was worshipped.

OENOMAUS, King of Elis, who had a speaks of a Town in Emosts in Greece, which he

OLYMPUS: a Phrygian, who was anexstruments, and according to Plutarch, in his OENONE; a Nymph of Mount Ida, who Treasife of Mufick, brought the Invention there-

> OLYMPUS; Mount Olympus, scituated in nia: Its very high, and the Air there always for sere so named. These Games are also called luge pronounced Oracles, Mini, because Iphicus instituted them, or at least wife renewed the Solemnities of them. The first Olympiad began in the Year of the World impiads.

> > OLY M-

Impick Games: They were famous Games a- Divinations and the Responses of Oracles did monght the Greeks that confifted of Five forts of not begin to he frequent till the Time of Abra-Exercises, viz. Running, Whorlbat or Quoiting, bam, to whom God began to make Promises of lumping and Wreftling: Pelops was accounted the Land of Cansan; that is, that it was not till to be the Instituter of them after the successful the second Millenium was expired, when Men be-Bartle he fought against Ocnoman, whereby he | gan to be engaged to the Service of God by Proeither because he revived the Ceremonies there- amongst the Geniles. of that had been neglected, or because he added Years by, which were called Olympiads, and this Apallo after his Victory at Allium.

the Earth, because of its Power to give us Re- has followed this Opinion. lief: Opis differs from Ops, and is one of the Names of Diana among the Greeks, because she affifted Women in Labour: Its also the Name of one of Diana's Nymphs in the Encids, L. 4. first Gods of the Latins.

Gods fpoke by their Mouths: The Madness and Blindness of the Heathers in respect to their Oracles cannot be sufficiently admired, the same

OLYMPIADES; the Olympiads; a Chro-; the pure Artifice of the Priefts without any. Diapological Term, being the Space of Four Years: bolical Operation: The Custom of Confulting The Greeks reckoned by Olympiads, every one the Oracles was not known in the Golden Age, of which contained the Space of Four whole wherein they lived in Tranquillity of Mind, and Years; and these Clympiads took their Name perfect Innocence, whereas afterwards the infrom the Olympick Games, that were celebrated constant and refless Humour of Mankind lead gar the City of Pifa, otherwife called Olympia, them to make Enquiry after Futurity : Ouid inin Peloponefus, from whence the faid Games deed fays, that Themis in the Time of the De-

Fasidicamque Themin que tuns Oracla tenebat.

1938, and of the Julian Period, An. 3208, and But this is to make the Ulage of Oracles to exist 177 Years before Christ's Nativity: The Pelo- in the first Ages, against the Judgment of Stad wachen War began the first Year of the 87 0- cins, and what we read in the Scripture. For tho' God spoke to Adam and to Noab, yet 'tis OLYMPICI, Ludi is understood; the 0- certain that Divine Apparitions and Predictions, obtained Hippodamia. however Hercules depri- miles and frequent Predictions of future Bletved him of Part of the Glory of this Institution, lings: And this the Devil delay'd not to imitate

1 do not know of any thing more ancient than to the Magnificence of the fame; they were ce- what Homer fays concerning the Oracle of Jupiter brated every Fourth Year near unto Olympia a at Dodona, which Ulylles went to confult, that City of Elis: They became so solemn that the he might learn of the Oak-Trees the way to get Greets mad: them their Epait to reckon their back to Itbaca: However, Herodorus fays, that the Phanicians having stole away Two Prolifted after the Reform of the Calender even to pheteffes from Thebes in Egypt; one of them they the Reign of Constantine; those who won the carried to Lybia, and the other to Greece; Prize were so much honoured, that when they and that these set up Two Oracles, the one return'd to their own Country, a Piece of the | Jupiter Ammon in Affrica, and the other Jupiter Wall was beat down that they might enter tri- Dodoneus in the Oak-Tree Grove of Dodona; umphantly in a Chariot into the City; Cato thus Oracles had their Beginning in Egypt, and brought these Games to Rome, and Augustus in from thence passed into Lybia and Greece: Ofinited others like them which he dedicated to thers have faid, that they were Two Doves that were brought up at Thebes, which deliver-OPS; the Romans gave the Name of Ops to ed Oracles at Dodona and Ammon : Silius Italicus.

In gremio Thekes geminas fediffe columbas.

Strabo fays, that the Oracles of Dodona and And thus Servius speaks concerning this Distincti- of Jupiter Olympius were silent in his Time; he on of Names; Cum Terram dicimus, bac Ops facit, speaks elsewhere at large of the Oracle at Delf Nympham dicamus, bac Opis: fi devisias, ba opes phos. Tacism informs us, that Germanicas conmmero tantum plurali: We have faid before, julted the Oracle of Apollo at Colopbon in Afia: that Calum and Terra, Saturn and Ops were the The Prieft went down to it into a Cave, after having only taken the Names and Number ORACULUM, an Oracle; an ambigu- of fuch as came to confult it, and answered all of ous and obscure Answer which the Heathen them in Verse tho' he had not studied at all for Priests made to the People concerning Things it. Lucian in his Treatise de Dea Syria, or the Godto come, by making them to believe that the dess of Syria, speaks of an Oracle of Apollo, ' wherein that God gave Aniwers himfelf, whereas otherwise his Priefts did it. When he was about to predict any thing, he shook himbeing captious and obscure, and nothing else but | felt; then his Priests took him upon their Shoulders, and if they did not, he moved himfelfand | were concerned with Oracles; but for the Re-* fweated; when they took him up, he led them where he pleafed, guiding them as a Coachamandoes his Horfes, turning this or that Way, wherewith the Demons without doubt concernand passing from one to the other, until the cd themselves: I need do no more than relate Chief Prieft asked what he had a mind to know. If the Thing displeased him he went back, but if otherwise he advanced forwards, and I have feen him once raife himfelf up and pass thro' the Air: This is the Way they come to know his Will: and they do nothing either in Pub-

Seafons, and even Death it felt.

Cicero obierves that all Nations have taken their Divinations from fuch things as were most familiar to them; the Egyptians and Babilonians from the Stars: The Tuscans, from the Entrails of the Beafts they facrificed: The Arabs, Phrygians and Cilicians, who were always in the Fields, from the Flight and Singing of Birds: Ammianus Marcellinus speaks of a singular Way of Divination used among the Scytbians, with long Staves, (which the Women made Choice of) being that which was called Rhabdomancy, whereof the Scripture gives us an Example in the Af-(prians who made use of it. The Words of Ammianus are these; Fatura miro prajagiunt modo. Nam rectiores wirges tamina colligentes, enfque cum incantamentu quibufdam fecretu praftituto rempore differnentes, aperte quid portendatur norunt. Nebuchodonozer laving Siege to Ferujalem, made u.e of Three different Ways in order to know the Event of his Enterprize, Commiscens fagittas, interrogavit Idola, exta confuluit; he ufed Rhabdomancy by mixing and unmixing his Arrows; consulted the Idols, that is the Oracles; and inspected the Entrails of Beafts. And thus the Affrians and Babilonians might very well communicate their Superstitions to the Egyptians, who might afterwards fend them from thence into Greece; for in Homer we have neither any Inspection made into the Entrails of Beafts, no Oracles of the Idois confulted, nor any Rhabdomancy; they were the Oak-Trees at Dodona, and not the Idols that delivered Oracles. Herodosus treats at large of the Rhabdomancy of the Scythians, and Strabo speaks concerning that of the Perfians.

There is no Certainty that Demons delivered Oracles, they were the Priests of those falle Gods that did it, and who for Money made whatever Aniwer the Enquirer pleased; and upon this Account a little Treatile in Latin writ by Van-Dalen, Doctor of Phylick, may be confulted : Its true, that Mebius pretends to refute Van-Dalen, and one of the greatest Arguments he produces is this; That God forbad the Children of tiracl to consult Vizzards and Spirits of Divination; from whence he concludes, that but the Earth by the continual Changes which futing hereof, it may be faid, That God freaks of no other than Magick and Negromancy a Paffage out of Lucian's Dialogue concerning Alexander the Quack, to convince People, that the Imposture and Malice of Men had a greater Share in those Oracles than the Damons, unless it may be faid that those who took upon them to deliver Oracles were themselves inspired by *lick or Private without having first consulted the Spirit of the Demon. Lucian's Words are him: He foretells the Change of Times and thefe: That Impostor finding a favourable Opportunity, delivered Oracles for Money, according to the Example of Amphilocus; who after the Death of his Father Amphiaraus, being driven out of Thebes, withdrew into Afia, where he predicted Things to come for a Half-Penny apiece to the Barbarians: Then he gave them Notice that the God himself in such a Time would give them Answers, and that every one should write his Dehre in a Letter sealed: After which, flutting himfelf up in the Sanctuary of the Temple, he called them all who had given him their Letters, according to their turn by an Herald, and return'd them lealed to them with the God's Answer. It would not be difficult for a Man of Sence to find out the Cheat, but these foolish People did not perceive that he opened every Letter, and after he had inferred what Answer he thought fit, returned them sealed up as before; for there are several ways to open Letters without breaking the Seal; and I will give fome Inflances hereof, that so a piece of Subtilty may not pass for a Miracle: In the first place you may with an hot Needle loofen the Wax that fixes the I bread to the Letter, without breaking the Seal at all, and when you have read what you have a mind it may be closed up in the same manner: There is another Invention for this Purpole, and that contifts of Line and Glew; or is prepared with Maffick compounded with Pitch, Wax and Brin flone, mixed with the Powder of a very transparent Stone, whereof they make a Ball, with which while the same is yet foft they take off the Impression of the Seal, after they have rubbed it with Hogs greafe, for it hardens pre-Ently, and ferves to make an imprettion as if it were the Seal it felf.

ORA

Many have thought that Oracles ceafed upon the Coming of Christ, as Eusebius for one, who grounds his Opinion upon a Paffage taken out of Porphyric: 'I'll tell thee the I ruch concerning the Oracles of Delphos and Cluros, fays Apollo to his Prieft: Formerly there came out of the Bowels of the Earth an infinite Number of Oracles, and from Fountains and Exhalarions, 'which inspired them with Divine Raptures; Pribon, by which Torso Damons were meant, Time has introduced; has reaffumed, and cadmafed; and moreover, it excepts Three of Year 451. men; which is enough to shew us, that Oradesdid not cease at the Coming of Christ, see | Theater, made in the Form of a Semi-Circle, ing also we have several Proofs to the contrary and shut up at the midst of the Steps: It was * Ancient Writers, who make it appear, that Ondes lafted above 400 Years after Chrift's it was a Place where they kept their Balls from Coming, and that they were not wholly filenced do veibal, which fignifies to dance. The Orebabut with the total Deftruction of Paganitin. Sue- fira among the Greeks made a Part of the Scene ; wins in Nero's Life, fays, That the Oracle of Delphos forewarn'd him to beware of 73 Years; and that Ners believed he should not die before that time, not dreaming that Old Galba, who was of that Age, should disposses bim of the Empire. Philoftrasus in the Life of Apollonius Tyanous, who law Domitian, tells us, that Apollonim vilited all the Oracles of Greece, and particularly those of Dodona, Delphos, and Amphiaraus. Platerch, who lived in the Reign of Trajan, informs us, that the Oracle at Delphos was still in being though the was reduced to one tingle Prieffels, whereas the formerly had Two or Three. Dion Chryfoftome under Adrian, relates, That he had confulted the Oracle of Delphos, and had received an Answer, which to him seemed very intricate. In the Days of the Antoniwas, Lucian fays, that a Prieft of Tyana went to enquire of the falle Prophet Alexander, it the Oracles which were delivered at Didimus, Claros, and Delphos were the true Answers of belo,or Impostures. After the Antonines, Three others contended for the Empire, viz. Severus Seminius, Pefcenninus, Niger, and Clodius Albinus. They confulted the Oracle of Delphos, fars Spartianus, to know which of the Three was best for the Commonwealth, and the Oracle made Answer in a Verse: The Black is the Best, the who did not finish his History before the 8th Year of the Emperor Alexander Severns, that is An. Dom. 230. fays, that ftill in his Time Amhilorus delivered Oracles in a Dream: He alfo was delivered as the lire took hold of the Incenfe, which was thrown upon the Altar: In the Reign of Aurelian, about the Year 272, the Revolted Palmirenians confulted the Oracle of Apallo Sarpedonius in Cilicia; and they also confilted that of Venus Aphacits. A Deiry much mknown, named Befa, delivered also Oracles upon Letters at Abida, in the fartheft Part of Thibait, in the Reign of the Emperor Constanin. Laftly, Macrobius, who lived in the Time d'Arcadius and Lionorius, Theodofius his Sons, speaks of a Deity at Heliopolis, in Syria, and of be Oracle: But Theodofus the Younger having I fippus in this Manner.

sed them to re-enter into her felf, Fountains; that up all the Temples of the falle Gods, and and Exhalations: There are no more left but rafed that of Serapis in Egypt; all the Oracles the Waters of Mycale in the Plains of Didymus, became filent, and Paganism was upon Pain of sont those of Claros, and the Oracle of Parnassus. Life forbidden to be publickly practifed; by the Now this Paffage does not fay, that Oracles were | Edicts of Valentinian III. and Marsianus in the ORCHESTRA; the lower Part of the fo called, because that in the Greeien Theaters, but at the Roman Theaters none of the Aftors went down to the Orchefira; which was taken up with Seats for the Senators: The Orchestra now adays is the Place where a Confort of Musick is placed; formerly it was the middle of all the Theater, which confifted of Three Parts, to wit, the Steps or Seats, which we call the Thezter; and the Orchestra, which is named the Pit; Among the Romans it was the Place where they placed the Senators: but among the Greeks it was where they danced or kept their Balls that made part of their Plays.

ORCUS; this comes from the Caldee Word Arequa, which fignifies the Earth, in a Text of Fereny, and is but a Dialect of the Hebren A ressa, and this \\ ord is taken for Hell.

OR LADES, Nymphs of the Mountains, which were so called from the Greek Word op@.

that fignifies a Mountain. ORESTES; the Son of Agamemnon and Clysemnestra, who put her Husband Agamemnon to Death to revenge the Death of her Daughter Polymena whom he had facrificed. Oreltes and Eleara his Sifter killed Clytemneftra, that the Death of their Father might not go unpunifbed : Oreftes after this Parricide ran mad, and with his Friend Pylades fled into Scythia; he land-African is Good, the White is the Worft. Dion | ed at Tauros whither Ephigenia had been transforted by Diana, and where the was her Prieffels, to oner all Strangers who landed in that Country in Sacrifice to that Goddels: Oreftes was taken and he had very like to have been facriinforms us, that there was an Gracle in the Ci- ficed by his Sifter, who did not know him; but tjof Apollonia, where what should come to pais at last coming to be acquainted one with another, ried with them Diana's Statue, after they had killed Those who was King of that Country: Oreftes returned to Mibens, where after the Putifications appointed him by the Oracle, he came to himself again, and went to reside at Orestes a City in Arcadia, where he died with the ftinging of a Serpent : The Scythians adored Pylades and Creftes as Gods, and built them Temples and Altars, as Lucian in his Dialogue of Toxaris or of Friendship, informs us, wherein he brings in Joxaru who was a Scythian, speaking to Mene-

Toxar. Observe how the Barbarians (for so | Orion: Hefied makes Neptune to be his Faller they call us) have better Sentiments of the and Euryale the Daughter of, Minor his Mother; Greeks, than the Greeks themselves: We have He tells us, he had obtained a Power of North built Temples for those Men, whom you have to walk as lightly upon the Water, as being not as much as erected Funeral Monuments for. did over the Heads of Ears of Corn: Being gone Where will you find a noble Tomb either for one Day from Thebes to Chio, he ravished Merge, orefies or Pylades in Argos and Messea whereas Enopian's Daughter, who struck him blind, and they are adored by the Scythians? And the' drove him from the Island; from whence he they were no Strangers, you have not thought | went to Lemnos to Vulcan, who brought him to them worthy of this Honour: But Vertue is the Sun, that cured him of this Blindness: As adorable even in Enemies, wherefore what they he went afterwards to ravish Diana, the cantel have done for one another is graven in the him to be flung by a Scorpion, whereof, as PA Temple of Orefles upon a Brass-Pillar, and 'tis lepharus fays, he died. Homer in his Odyffer, L.s. the first Thing we teach our Children: Their Actions are also set on the Walls of the Tem-• ple, where may be seen on one Side a Ship dashing her felf to Pieces against a Rock, and this is confirmed by Plutarch in his Fortune of the those Two Heroes led Prisoners along, and Romans, where he says, that Orion was belowed crowned like Viftims that were to be facrificed; of a Goddes: Diana in Compassion made him and on the other they are represented with a Constellation (placing him before the Feet of their Arms in their Hands, breaking their Chains, and defending their Liberty at the Exe pence of many a Man's Life, and even of King the 9th of March, bringing Storms and great "Those's, then they carry away Diana and her Prieftels, they are purfued as they begin to fail and their Ship attacked, but they make a seaflant Reliftance, and at last fave themselves by Swimming, being either wounded them-4 felves or amazed with the Wounds of others.

ORGIA: a Term made use of by the Heathens, whereby to express the Feafts and Sacririces of Bacchus, which were more particularly celebrated upon Mountains by raving Women called Bacchantes. Servius favs, that at first all forts of Sacrifices were called Orgia in Greece. and the fame at Rome were named Ceremonies.

ORLENS; the Eaft. The first of the Four Cardinal Points of the World, where we fee the Sun and Stars rife: The Point or Tropick of Cancer which interfects the Horizon, is called the Course of Rivers, laid Storms, drew the the Summer-East; and the Winter-East is the the most savage Animals after him, and made -Point of the Horizon that is interfected by Trees and Rocks to move: Having loft his Capruorn: In Trajan and Adrian's Golden-Coin Wife Eurydice, who shunning the Embraces of the East is found represented by the Sun with Arifleus King of Arcadia, trod upon a Serpent, this Word Oriens.

sune and Mercury's Urine, who palling through the World arrived one Day very late at a poor for her to return, upon Condition he should Countryman's Hutt, whose Name was Hyreus, not look behind him till he got upon Earth, but and who received them very kindly, and in order | being overcome by an amorous impatience, he to entertain them killed the only Ox he had : | turned about and loft his Eurydice for ever; up-The Gods to reward his Liberality bid him alk on which he conceived to great an Hatred to what he would for his Reward and he should Women, that he endeavoured to inspire others have it; upon which he prayed them, that he with the fame, and this provoked the Women of might be able to have a Child without being | Thrace to that Degree, that being one Day with married; the faid Gods presently cauting the Ox his Hide which he had killed to be brought fell upon Orpheus, tore him to Pieces, and threw to them, they pulled upon it, and bid him bury his Head unto the River: Lucian writes concemit in the Ground and not trouble himlelf about | ing it in this manner. ' When the Thracian Woit till Ten Months end: when the Time was ex- ' men killed Orpheus, 'tis faid, his Head which relates, that 'twas Diana her felf that that him to Death with her Arrows, out of a lealoufe the had that Aurora was in Love with him : And Taurus) which contifts of 17 Stars, in Form like unto a Man armed with a Cutelas: It rifes on Rains with it, whence Virgil gave it the Epither of Orion aquosus; it fets June 21. Lucian in Praise of an House, speaking of the Sculptures which adorn'd the Appartments, favs thus of Orion : "This next is an old Story of Blind Orio on, which imports, that some Body shewed him the Way, he ought to follow in order to recover his Eye-fight, and the Sun that appear'd cured him of his Blindness; and this Vulcan contrived in the Ifle of Lesbos.

ORPHEUS the Son of Ocagrus, or according to others, of Apollo and the Muse Calliope; he was born in Thrace, and was both a Poet, Philosopher, and an excellent Musician, Mercury having made him a Prefent of his Harp on which he play'd so exquisitely that he flored who flung her to Death, he went down to Hell ORION, proceeded from Jupiter, Nep lafter her, where by the Melody of his Mulick the obtained Leave of Pluto and Proferring Transports of Fury celebrating their Orgia they pired he found a Child there, which he called I' they threw into the River Iwam a long time

Honour of the faid Heroe, and that the Harp being touched by the Winds answered the had Seven Strings which represented the Seven rived at the lile of Lefbos, where the People e- Death placed the fame in the Firmament and refled a Funeral Monument for him, in the Place called a Conftellation by its Name. where Bacchus his Temple now stands, but they hung up his Harp in Apollo's Temple, where the fame was kept a long time till the Son of Pittsm having heard fay, that it play'd of it felf, and charmed Woods and Rocks, had a mind to hive it for himfelf; and to bought it for a good Sum of Money of the Sacriffan; but not thinkhing he could play fafely in the City, he went by Night to the Suburbs where as he went aherein as Crpteus himself. There are some Authe faid God to be revenged on him caused his Prieftetles to kill hun. Others fay, this Misfortune befel him by the Resentment of Venus, to every one of them being minded to enjoy him, they had in that manner tore him in Pieces.

Cicero fays, that Arifforle thought there never was fuch an one as Orpheus, and that the Poems which were attributed to him, were the Works of a Pribagorean Philosopher. In the mean time, Contrary, time Paulanias makes mention of Orbeut his Tomb, and of the Hymns he had compoled, which he fays, came but little thort or the God; Orpheus, according to this Father, in his lenter than :Orpheus. Verfes tpoke very clearly concerning the Unity of 1 Heathen Gods.

h and ender the Vail of divers Mytheries and that His invented the Sowing and Ufe of Corb.

upon his Harp, uttering mournful Tones in | Ceremonies: For the Harp on which he celebrated the Orgia, and fung his Hymns and Songs. mournful Song; and in this Condition they ar- Planets, for which reason the Greeks after his

ORUS or HORUS, King of Egypt; the Son of Ofiris; the Greeks call him Apollo, because perhaps, he divided the Year into Four Scafons, and the Day into Hours. See Horus.

OSIRIS, was a God and King among the Eg sprians, to whom they gave also divers other Names: Diodorus Siculus fays, that some took him for Serapis, others for Bacchus, Pluso, Ammon, Jupiter and Pan. After that Ofiris King bout to touch it; the same made such a dread of Egypt, who was the fifth of the Gods that Ind Novie instead of the Harmony he expected, reigned in that Country, after, I say, Office that the Dogs run thither and tore him in was killed by his Brother Typhon, it was believed Pieces, and so was attended with the same Pate his Soul went into the Body of the Ox Apis, and into all the rest which were successively subthers who fay, that the Menules tore Orpheus in Stituted in his Stead, and this Ox was looked Pieces, because he having sung the Genealogy of upon as the Image and Soul of Ofric, according all the Gods, had faid nothing of Bacchus, and to the Testimony of Diedorus Siculus; and a. there were Two facred Oxen in Egypt, the one named Apie in the City of Memphis, and the other called Mnevis in Heliopolis, the fame Diederus whom Calliope Orpheus his Mother had refused to fays, they were both confecrated to Ofiris : Taxgive Alonis any longer than for 6 Months in the | ros facros tam Apim quam Minevim Ofirida facros & Year, and that to revenge the fame, the made dicates effe, & pro Dits coli, apud univerfos proall the Women in Love with Orpheus, and that mifine Agyptios functium oft. Diodorus afterwards fets forth at large how the Worthip and Mysteries of Ofirit were carried from Herns to Creece under the Name of Bacchus the Son of Semele the Daughter of Cadmus, originally descended from Thebes in Egypt; for the Daughter of Gidmus having had a malkard Child that was very like unto Ofiris, Cadmus to fave the Honour tishard to doubt, there was such an one, after of his Daughter deified her Son after his Death, to many Testimonies of the Ancients to the making him to pass for another offris the Son of Fupiser: Orpheus a little after went to Egypt, and in Acknowledgment of the Kindness he liad received from Cadmus his Family, he publish'd thefe Elegancy and Beauty of those of Homer, but that tame Mysteries in Greece but to as to attribute his Wit was attended with more Religion and to Semele's Son, all that had been taid of the Piety than the others. St. Fiftin reports, that truc ofirir leveral Ages before ; and fo the ofirir Orpheus, Homer, Solon, Pythagoras and Plate had of Egypt, and Eucelus of Creece, the Myftonies travelled into Egyps, that they got there some of the Egyptian Ofiris, and those of the Greclan Knowledge of the Scriptures, and that afterwards | Bacchus, were one and the lame. Herodoms atthey retracted what they had before written con- tributes the bringing of this Name, History, cerning the Juperstitious Worship of their falle and Mysteries of Ofiris or the Egyptian Ba-Deities in Favour of the Religion of the true chus into Greece, to Melampus, who was anci-The Egyptan Tradition, according to Dio.io-

God, as of him who had been, as it were the rue Sigulas, was, that Chris, his and Typhon were Futher of that extravagant Multiplicity of the the sons of Squarn and Rheas or rather of Funiter and Tuno; that Ofiris is the lame with Bac-The Fable made him after his Death to be chus, and Ifis the fame as Ceres, that Ofiris and changed into a Swan, Lucian intorms us also in Ifis reigned with extraordinary Mildnels, and his judicial Aftrology, that he gave the Greeks conferred great Benefits on their Subjects, that the first Imaght into Aftrology, tho' but obscure- they hindred Men to eat one another any more ; and made leveral excellent laws, that office was a an office, that was a families Delty among the brought up at Mys in Motor Felix, and go Egyptims, having a briter on his Head, at the ing for one of platter when the called him tower part whereof there was an Ox's Horn brought up at Nyla in Brabia Felix, and going for one of Jubier's Sons, they called him Assiror that he applied himfelf to Agriculture, and first taught how to plant Vines. That Hermes or Mercury was his Secretary in facted Things; that he was minded to travel all over the World to teach Mankind the Mile of Corn and Wine; and in his Absence recommended Mercury to the Service of Ifis, to Hercules the Government of Egypt, to Buffris that of Phaniris: and Lybia to Antem; that he was accompanied by Apollo his Brother; Anubis, Macedo, Pan and Triptolemus; that having paffed over Africa Affa and Europe, he built the City of Nife in the Indies, defeated Lycurgus in Thrace, and at laft returned home; he was killed by his Brother Typhon; that Iss and Orus his Sons revengd his Death, and having slain Typhon, they paid Divine Honours to Office, whole Members its very carefully gathered together, which Typhon had divided between the Murderers. Plusard obferves that the Egyptian took of the for a good. Genins, and Typhon for an evil Genius, and the Principle of all Evil. Phairch winter 2 particular Treatile concerning for and offer, where in an Account is given of the Birth, and great Exploits of Ofirm, of his Opiquetts, Beliefits to Mankind, the fecret Contrivances of Typhon againft him, his Death, and the Care taken by The for his Delfications At lift he pretends Chatrofie and His, from good Genti as they were, became Gods, as a Just Reward of their Vertue, and that This is Then, and Its, Profession.

Small, Billiopidity, the who wrote a Treatife effecting Providence, confines Hillight af-

most wholly therein to the Explaining of the Falled or Hillthry of offirm . He begins with this Reflection, That if the fame be a fable, its fu of Wir, fince the Egyptians were the Authors thereof, and if it be more than a Fable, it deferves our Pains to make a further Impection into its he efterwards gives the fame Account as other Writers have done, of our and Typhon; and fays, that those Pather was a King! Pather and a God, because the Egyphini preceded they had been govern it by the Gods before the Kingdom fell into the Hands of Men: Affer wards he gives an Defriction of the Reign of of in which was a Reigiful Justice, Fiely, Che-mency and Liberusty is felt. Typhin fethroned and banifh'd nim, and affirming the Government reigned in all manner of Vices, and with all imaginable Crueky. But the Patiente of the Peo. ple being worn out; they recalled ofiris. Typhon was punished by the Gods, and ofirth recovered the Crown. ' M. Soon in his Searches after Antiquity, gives an Accedente of an Idea of Oficia: () put a Constraint upon himself, that he might remember, Tays her that being formerly at procure the Favour of the People : He shewd Leyden, I faw among the Curiofities of their both Courage and Bravery against Visedlins, his on each fide f for he was thus Worthipped in the Form of an 'Ox, because he had taught Mankind the Art of Tillage; in his Left Hand he held a Staff Bent at the End; and in his kight a Triangular Instrument: This last was ver like unto a Whip with three Cords "Plume favs, that Of is commanded over the Dead and might not this Whip be the Enligh of his Authority, as the Furies are represented with a Whip and Torches?

OSSA; a Mountain upon the Prontiers of Theffaly, that is covered all over with Wood and Snow. Seneca fays, that this Mountain was joined to Olympus, But that it was Teparated by the Labour of Hercules : It was a place of he treat for Gyanes and Centaurs.

OSTRACISMUS; Oftracifm; it was a kind of Banishment, in Use among the Greek, of fuch Perions whole over great Power the People suspected, as fearing least the fame fliould degenerate into Tyranny; This Banifiment was not accounted different chil, because Lwas not a Pinishittent in Bicted for any Crime It lafted Ten Years, and in the mean time the exiled Perion enjoy's bla Effate : It was this called Because the Pouple gave their Suffrages by writing the Name of him whom they were minded to banifh upon Shells? Mriffilen was exiled in this manner, because he was teo Perf. as Plutarch favs in his Life.

OTHO Humed M. Sinuit, was the 8th Emperor; and fucceeded Galba, whom he put to Death: The Medals which we have of his, make him fomewhat like unto Nere, which caused the People to ery, Ditioni Nesoni : But yet he was riet fo fait the otherwise he had the Mien and Delicacy of a Woman : He was thaved every Day, and wore a Peruke, because he had but very little Huirt His Peruke may be diffindly obferved on his Silver and Gold Medals; and 'cwas he that brought the the of Wigs into he the The Braft Medals of this Prince, which are till of them Egyptian or Syrian; do not represent him with a Peruke, perhaps, because they did hor know telle tale thereof in those Countries; and to they do nor give to exact a Refemblance of him as the Latin ones framped in Italy. His Inclinations were conformable to those of Nere's, and this Conformity made them contract fo eneire a Prieadthip, that every Thing was in common between them, even to their Wives, without entertaining the Jeaft. Jealousie thereupon: However, when Otho became Emperor, he appeared of a better Disposition, and perhaps Anatomy-School, two small Idols: The first is | Competitor for the Empire, and beat him three times, but at laft heing gulled with Propolals of the way of the latest the world surveying the was folicated, which Mishoroupe made him refore to kill him elf- rethers, if fretonius in be believed, out of a senie of hiry for the Death of lo many Men that loft their Lives in ondeavouring to imprortabine, then out of an effect of Delbarr. And as his Kejolution to kill building yes looked upon as a great Action among the Komans; Suctomius cannot forbear admiring him, faying, That the' he had the Complexion of a Woman, he being fair, clear-skinned, and without Hair, of a middle Starure, with fmall Feet, yet his Body was not answerable to to much Resolution as he shewed at his

OVATIO; an Ovation; a leffer Triumph amongst the Romans, which was allowed some Commanders that had won a Victory without the Effution of much Blood, or for the Defeating of Rebels, Slaves, Pyrates, or other unworthy Enemies of the Republick of Rome. Their Entry was on Foot, and sometimes on Horse-back, but never in a Chariot; and they wore Crowns of Myrtle, which they called Ovales, having all the Senate following of them. This Word Ova-Joy made by the People, in Honour of the So Afporto. lemnity: This fort of leffer Triumphi was efta PAC Cuftom of it.

at Sulmo, a considerable Town of the Peligni, in haly, in the Consulthip of Hirtius and Panfa, that is in the Year of Rome 711. He was banish'd into the Province of Pontus in Afia, for making Love to Fulia, Augustus his Daughter, or as otouching the Art of Love: He died at Tomos, January 1ft, of the CXCIX Olympiad, that is in the actin Year of the Reign of Tiberius, and 17th of our Redemption : The Sweetness that is to be met with in feveral Parts of this Poets Works, makes us concerned for those that are loft, as the Six laft Books de Faftis, &c. He gives an Account himself of the Cause of his Banishment and Ruine In the following Diftick.

lle ego qui fueram tenerorum lusor amorum, Ingerio perii Nafo Poesa meo.

PARILES.

and beginned to the Roll of Contact Let and mid many solds and provided on solds from

P Is a Conforant, and the right Letter in the nignifies 100, according to Ugution, but Baronius believes it fignifies a Septenary Number: When a little dash is put over it, it flands for 400000. The Pand B are to like one another, that Quininian declares, that in the World bbtinuir, his Realon required him to put a b, but that his Ears bould hear nothing but a p, opinite: for which Real lon we fee in ancient inscriptions and old croftes that thefe two Letters have been often confound ed, as apfens for abfens, obrimus for oprimus, pleps for plebs, poplicus for publicus, &c. Hence allo we have suppone for subpene, and oppone for obpene; ftill in ule. Several Nations'also often pronounce one of thefe Letters for the other, as the Geric mans particularly, who fay ponum binum for benum vinum. The Greeks often put them for one: another ; and Pluterch fays, that 'twas usual with thole of Delphos, to lay Bareir for marsin, Buphi tio, according to Servius, is derived from Ovis, for winger: And fo among the Latins, as often because the Conqueror facrificed a sheep only as an s followed, the b was changed into a p, as upon this Occasion to Jupiter, whereas in the feribo, feriph: These two Letters have also this great Triumphs they facrificed a Bull; others de in common, that they often flip into Words, rive it from those Acclamations and Shouts of where there is no need of them, as Absporto for

PACTOLUS: a River in Lydia, that rifes blished in the Year of Rome 250 or 251, and in Mount Imolus; it brings Golden Sands nown 'was the Conful Pofibumius Tabersus, that after | with it : The Poets feigned this Gold Sand prothe Defeating of the Sabines, brought up the ceeded from Midas his having walhed himself therein, and that he left there the Gift which OVIDIUS NASO; a Latin Poet, born he had received from Bacobus to change all Things: into Gold.

PÆAN; a Song of Rejoycing, fung in H6pour of Apollo. Io Pean, the Original of this Word was this : Apollo being grown up, bd. thought himself of the Injury which his Mother !thers will have it, for writing laicivious Verses, had received from the Serpent Python, and so engaging with her in a Fight, he flew her with his Arrows: During the Combat, thefe Words were heard repeated, lo Pass; from hence it became a Custom to fing the same at the Publick ' Games, at Triumphs and Victories both in Reme and Greece: This Song was also made use of af- : ter a Victory, in Honour of Mars; as it was likewife for the Curing of fome Sickness, wherewich any were afflicted; and then they addressed. themselves to Apollo the God of Phylick.

PÆ O N, Endymion's Son, and the Brother of Epeus, who in a Race being out-done by him, retigned the Kingdom to him, according to Agreement : Then he retired towards the River Axes, and gave Name to that Part of the Country of Macedon, which was called Paonia. There was another Person of this Name, who had great Skill in Phyfick, and who cured Plute of the PALEMON, the Son of Athemes and Ino. called before Melicertus, but took upon him this Greek Name of Palamon, when that being thrown into the Sea with his Mother Inc. they were both deified by Neptune, and reckoned amongst the Gods of the Sea: The Latins gave him the Name of Portumnus, because that they committed the Care of Ports and Havens unto him. Theless inflictured Plays in Honour of him, called the Hibmian Games, where the Victors were crowned with Branches of Pine.

PALÆSTRA; was a publick Building among the Greeks, for the Performing of all forts | Calf they took out of the Cow's Belly, that they of Exercises, as well of Body as Mind, as confifting of a College and an Academy, in the Scnce wherein the Words are modernly taken: Tho the greatest part of Authors take Palastra to be but as an Academy for bodily Exercises, accord- fume on the Day of the Palilia, that so the Peoing to the Etymology of the Word, which comes ple and their Cattle might be purified therefrom rahas, that in Greek fignifies Wreftling, which was one of the most famous Exercises among the Ancients: This was one of the Diverfions at the Olympick Games, and there was a Prize affign'd for it. Foyls are Slights in Wrestling. Philostrum made a Picture of the Palafira, which is represented like a young Nymph tifl of Vigour and Strength, and he would have her to be Mercury's Daughter, who invented this fort of Exercise in Arcadia.

PALAMEDES; the Son of Nauplius, King of the Itle of Eub.es, and an irreconcilable Enemy to Ulyfes; be added Four Letters to the es of Olive, Pine and Lawrel, and threw some Greek Alphabet, Z, 4, X, O. Healfo invented Weights and Mealures: He appointed the Watch-word to be given in Armies, and the Way to form a Battallion according to the Flying of Cranes, which for that Realon were called Palamedes his Birds. They make him to be a great Aftrologer, he having regulated the Years according to the Course of the Sun, and the Months according to that of the Moon : He was floned to Death by the Grecians, being falfly accused of holding intelligence with Priamus by Ulyffes.

PALATINUS; Mount Palatine; one of the Seven Hills of Rome, and so called either from the Palantes, who came and dwelt there with Evander, or from Palantia, Latinus his Wate, or from Pales the Goddels of Shepherds. The King's Palace frood upon this Mountain, and from hence King's Courts came to be cal-1:d Palatia. Romulus was brought up on this Mount.

PALES; the Goddess of Shepherds, who was beloved of Apollo: There was a Feaft celebrated in Honour or Apollo, April 20 or 21, by of Romulus. fering Sacrifices, and stating great Fires of Straw of Hay, which were kindled with great Rejoy-grievous Wounds he had received from Her- | cings, and by Sound of Drums and Trumpen; the Country People leaped over thefe Fire and purified their Cattle therewith, in order to keep them from the Mange, and other Differn pers. See Palilia.

PALILIA; they were Feafts, and Publick Rejoycings made as well in the City as Country April 20th, in Honour of Pales the Goddefirm Flocks, to intreat her to make them fruitful and preferve them from the usual Difeates. Fires were kindled both in City and Country, such as are at this Day used in Popish Territories on St. John's Eve: And the fame were made with Bean-ftraw, Horse-blood and Calves-Ashes, which facrificed on the Day of the Fordicidia, at what time the Chief of the Veftal Virgins burnt those Calves, and gathering the Ashes very carefully up, they relerved the same for a Perwith: 'Twas to her that they went to fetch' those Athes, which afterwards they threw into the Fire, as ovid tells us, Faft. L.4. V.731.

I, pete virgines populus suffimen ab ara: Velta dabis, Velta numine purus eris. Sanguis equi suffimen erit, vitulique favilla. Tersta res, dura culmen inane faba.

The People danced about the Fire, and purified themselves thus: In the Country they lighted a great tire in the Morning, made of the Branch-Brimftone upon it, then went to fetch their Cattle, which they drove round it, and drew in the Smell that came therefrom: This Ceremony Ovid describes at large :

Paftor oves faturas ad prima crepuscula luftret. Uda priùs spargat, virgaque vervat bumum. Frondibus & fixis decorentur ovilia ramis, Et tegat ornatas longa corona fores. Cærulei fiant puro de lulfure fumi, Taltaque fumanti fulfure balet ovis. Ure mares oleas, tedamque, berbasque Sabinas, Et crepet in mediis laurus adufta focis.

They afterwards offered Sacrifice to the Goddess which contifted of Milk, boiled Wine and Millet, the time being accompanied with Vows and Prayers for the Fruitfulnels and Preservation of their Flocks, then they fell to eat and divert themselves, leaping over the lire which they had kindled with Straw or Bean-straw. These Peafts were also performed in Honour of Rome's Original, which was on that Day founded by

PALICI;

PALICI; they were Gods famous in Sicih: Diodorus Siculus fays, the Temple of thefe heiries was much reverenced and very ancient: In it there were two very deep Basons of boilkwas that they took the most folemn Oaths, and Perjuries were there prefently punished with fome terrible Punishment. Some loft their Evefight, infomuch that those Oaths determined the most intricate Causes: This Temple was also used as an Afrium, for such Slaves as were opprest by their Mafters; the Mafters not daring to break the Oath they took there, that they would use them more kindly. Silius Italiou in a Line and an half has exprest all that Et qui prasenti domitant perjura Palici Pedora Supplicio.

Macrobius observes very well that the River Symens being in Sicily, the Temple of the Palici was there also, according to Virgil:

Symetia circum Flumina, pinguis ubi & pla abilis ara Palici.

He adds, that the first Poet that mentioned it was Elauilus, a Sicilian; he relates a Fable out in the Earth: At the Time of her Delivery, the brought forth Two Brothers, which were called Palici, and Te maker interbar, as being fuch as had entred into the Earth, and came out again. The Word Palici comes from the Hebrew Palidin, that fignifies venerabiles, colendi; and from Pelach, colere, venerari. And Efquilus himfelf feems to intimate as much by this Sentence; Summus PalicosJupiser venerabiles voluis vocari. Hesychius ays, that the Father of these two Brothers was Adraum, which Name comes from the Hebrew Adir, which is one of God's Eulogies, fignifying, Gloriout and Illustrious. The I wo Basons where the Oaths were taken, were called Delli, and from whence Divine Vengeance broke out upon the Perjured, as Macrobius fays, and Callias after him; but this is an Arabick Word, and in all likelihood was Phanician; for Dalla in Arabick fignifies as much as indicare; perhaps, it might come from the Hebrew Daal, i. e. baurire; for diffetle affures us, that he who fwore writ his Oath upon a Note, which he threw into the Water, the Note fivam upon the Surface. If he fwore what was true, otherwife it disappeared. ovid gives a natural Description enough of these two Lakes, in his Mer. Lib. 5. V. 405.

Perque lacus altos & olentia fulpbure fertur Stagna Palico um, rupta ferventia terra.

PALILIA, fee next after Pales. PALINURUS; a Companion of Eneas, who being overcome with Sleep, fell with his Helm over-board into the Sea, and being carried ing and fulphurous Water, which were always as far as Port Velino, the Inhabitauts rifled him full without ever running over: In this Temple and cast him to the Sea again: But a little after they were afflifted with a fevere Plague, which made them go and confult the Oracle of Apollo; who answered that they must appeale the Ghost of Palinurus, in Pursuance of which Advice, they confecrated a Grove to him, and erected a Tomb for him upon the next Promontory, which obtained the Name of Palinurus.

PALLA, a fort of Garment long in Use both by Men and Women, which the Kings and ancient Romans wore; and even those who appeared upon the Stage were wont to wear this long Robe, as Plantus fays.

PALLADIUM; the Palladium was a Statue of Pallss, which fell down from Heaven, in the keeping of which confifted the Fate of Troy, Ulyfies and Diomedes creeping through the Gutters into the Temple that was in Troy, took away the Palladium: Diomedes after the Deftru-Stion of Troy, going into Italy, gave the Palladium to Aneas, in Pursuance to the Commands of the Gods: Æness depolited the same at Lavinium, where it continued. It was afterwards carried to Rome into the Temple of Vefta; nevertheless, Applan in his Hiltory of the Mitbriof him, concerning a Nymph whom Jupiser had | datick War, fays, that when Fimbria ruined Riravilled, and who for fear of Juno hid her felt um he boafted he had there found the Palladium whole among the Ruines : Dionyfius of Halicarnaffus is of Opinion, there were Two of thefe Statues of Palles one of which was taken away by Uliffes and Diomedes during the Seige of Troy, and another that was left there. Others affure us, that the Trojans made another Palladium exactly like the true one, and that it was the false one which the Grecians took away : Dionyfius of Halicarnaffus his Words are these: 'The Oracle having affured them the Town would be impregnable, and the Kingdom remain unshaken, as long as thole facred Pledges were there: The Romans in all Likelihood feigned that there were Two Palladiums, or that there was one made like unto the other, that they might not be oblig'd to confess that they had lost the Pledge of the Eternity of their Empire.

PALLAS, a Goddess who came out of Jupiter's Brain compleatly armed, by the Helpof Valean, who cleft his riead with a very tharp-Ax : the was brought up near the Lake Triton, from whence the was called by the Poets Tritonia, they made her to be the Goddels of Aris and Sciences. See Minerva.

PALLIUM; there were Three forts of Garments called by this Name, one which the Romans used to tie about their Heads, when they were not well; another was a fourcornered Robe or Mantle after the manner of the Greeks. Greeks, and the Roman Women, also were a He-goat; the he were believed to be religible long Robe called by this Name.

PALLOR, Fulcher, they offered Sactificate of a Town they was tent a factor Higher cooling to Common Numbers was tent a factor Higher cooling to Common Death, all the Country of the Count a Doity of it, to which they offered Sactifice, according to Clemens Mexandrinus : Romani Hetcult mufcaram depulforie & Febri at Pavori facri- Mourning, as others did upon the Death of M ficant. Ladinistus fays, that Tullius Hofilius introl or Mnevis. Pluborb reckons that the Plut in duced the Worthip of Fear and Palenel's among Sarws hapning first on know of the Death the Length of the Hand, when it was extended into fo great a Confernation, that that was after as much as it could be; for what we vulgarly now call the Palm of the Hand, was formerly Hebrew figulities Terror: Distance Similar English Representation of the English Priests first confectated themselves forts of them, to wit, the great and little Palm or Span, that divided a Foot unto Two unequal cated the Images of their Pans in the Form of Parts; the Greater confifting of 12 Fingers, and an He-goat; pretending the same was no more the Leffer of Four.

by the Romans in Time of War; being the Coat of Arms of their principal Men, who for late to know the History of Pan; that Historian that Reason were called Paludati; whereas the says, it was not above 800 Years before his Time. Soldiers had nothing but florr Coats, and were and that the Greeks made him to be Mercary and therefore named Sagati: this Garment was open . Penelope's Son: In general he declares, that the on the Sides with thort Sleeves, like unto An- Greeks came but by Degrees to the Knowledge gels Wings and came down no lower than the of the Egyptian Doubles, and that they formed Navel. It was white or red; and Valerius Maxi. their Genealogy, according to the Time they mus fays, it was an ill Omen to Craffus when he's came to be acquainted with them: And so they was going to make War against the Parthians, that they gave him a black Paludamentum: Pullum et traditum est paludamentum, cum in pralium | Lucian in his Dialogues of the Gods explaint cuntibus album aut purpureum dari foleret .

PAN; an Egyptian God who was worshipped under the Shape of a Goat, they called him also Mendes, because that Word fignified an Hegoat in the Egyptian Language. Eufebius gives us the Opinion and Words of Porphyrie concerning him, who fays, that Pan was one of the good Genii, engaged in the Service of Becchies, in faying for Do you no longer remember that. who shew'd himself sometimes to labouring Men, and put them into such terrible Frights, that dia? What makes you bite your Fingers a Itwes many of them died thereof, from whence these Frights came to be called Panick Fears. Eufebius very differently takes Notice of the Contra- become horned, with a Beard, Tail, and Goata dictions of the faid Philosophers, that would Feet. have Pan to be a good Genius, and yet made it coft them their Lives to whom he appeared; into the Shape of an He-goat that you might Its true that Pan was honoured in Egypt under furprize her. the Form of an He-goat, and that the Damons Merc. I remember it, but I am, afham'd to very often took upon them the Shape of the faid, own it. Pan: I will not difference you at all, for Animal: The Damons in Scripture are often belides that I am worshipped in Arcadia, where termed Piloft, He goats: The Hebrew Word: I possess 1000 Flocks, I am famous for my Stall, Schirim fignifies an He goat, Piloft, Hirci: This in Mufick, and have hewed my Valour in the fort of Idolatry was common even in Mojes his Battle of Marathon, infomuch that the Atheniant, Time, feeing the same had crept in among the for my Reward have given me a Grot under-Ifraelites: Non facrificabunt amplius facrificia fua, their Citadel, whither if you will ever comes: Pilofis, poft quos fornicari funt.

vince of Mendes maced Pan among the Gods. Pandion the Second at Athens, that those Plays who were before the 12; that he was represented and Combats called Lupercalia Lyces, were infliunto other Gods, Laftly, that at Member It is Offris. who was killed by his Brother Typhon, and PAL MUIS, a span, a Measure taken from having spread the News of it; put the Petil wards called Panioh! Bears's The Word Plan W to Pan, and that in their Temples they delithan to give I hanks unto the Gods for the Fer-PALUDAMENTUM: a Garment wore I tility of Nature and of their Nation. \ '4:3

The Greeks, if we believe Herodorm, came did not know Pan till after the Trojan War, because they make Penelope to be his Mother and the Matter, where he brings in Pan and Marring fpeaking thus.

Pan, Good-morrow, Father.

Merc. Good-morrow, Son, but who are you. that call me fo? for to look upon you, you are more like unto an He-goat than a God.

Pan, You reflect upon your self more than I, pretty Woman whom you ravish'd in Are-Penelope the Daughter of Icarus.

Merc. And how comes it to pass that you are:

Pan. It is because you were then transformed.

you shall see how I am honoured there.

Errodows fays, that the People of the Pro- Paufanias fays, that it was in the Reign of ed with a She-goar's Head and the Legs of ah tuted in Arcadia by Lycaon, who was King of the red the Celebration of the Lupercalia in Honour als us, that Lycaon confecrated their Plays to is, they were confectated to Pan; which gives malion to believe that the Arcadians confound-A Jupiter with Pan, of which the faid Hiftorian aires also a convincing Proof, when he says elsehere, that the greatest and most ancient of he Arcadian Gods was Pan : As Arcadia was a mountainous and woody Country, Its not ftrange of Aufonius. they should make the God of the Mountains and Woods to be the greatest of all the Gods: mites & nemora Pani dicari. Ovid himfelf in his Fafti testifies, that Pan's Chief Priest was named Flamen Dialis, as well as Jupiters, And this is dear, that they have either put the Name of Par apon Jupiter himself, or invested Pan with the Majesty of Jupiter. Those who would make the ancient Fables to be a kind of Philosophy. which under those Difguiles conceal the greateff Secrets of Nature, take Pan which in Greek fignifies All, for the Universe, as Plusarch fays in his Treatile of Ofiris: That Part of Pan which has Humane Shape from the Waft upwards reprefents Heaven and that Intelligent, Being, whereby all the World is govern'd. His red

Country i near unto the Cemple of Pan, the PANATHEN A. Feaffs, celebrated at ther were conferred to thouse Lycaus. When Athens in Honour of Minerus, which were in the foundar, went from Arcadis into Italy, he care tuted by Thefeus, when he brought all the People of Arrica to coalefce into one Body : Tho La-The pluther is and Dimysius of Hallicarnassus inst called these Feasis Quinquaries; Wrestling the San Description thereof, as of a Custom was one of the Exercises practiced here, they make yet fill in Force in his Time. Paulanta also danced the Pyrthick Dance upon the Theorem. ter, which was done with Arms, and was intither Lyceus, but Dionyhus of Hallicarnassus tuted by Pyribus. These Games were of two forts, the great ones which were performed every Five Years, and the leffer ones annually. See Quinquatria.

PANES, the Sayers, of whom Pan was the Chief, and who for that Reason were often confounded with Pan, which is justified by this Verse Capripedes agitat cum lata protervia Panes.

They were the Gods of Woods, Fields and of Hunting, and often were taken for a Symbol of Impudence and Unchaftity.

PANDORA, whom Hefod fays, was the first Woman in the World, was made by Vulcan of a little 'moistned Earth, afterwards animated by all the Gods, and endued with their Perfections: For Venus gave her her Beauty Pallat her Wildom; Mercury his Eloquence; Apollo his Mulick, and Juno her Riches; and this made her to be named Pandors from war and Sugar which fignifies All Gift. Jupiter being angry with Prometheus because he had made a and fiery Face denotes the Region of Elemen-Man and stolen Fire from Heaven, gave Pandotary Fire: His Wrinkles and stern Looks the ra a Box wherein he enclosed all forts of Evils, various Changes of the Air and Seafons: His with Order she should carry it to Epimeibeus, Hairs are the Beams of the Sun; and his Horns the Brother of Prometheus, who upon the receienote the Moon which receives all the Influving thereof, raffily opened ir, when all the faid ences of the Coelestial Bodies, and disperses the Evils flew abroad into the Earth, and there was time again over the Earth: His lower Part is only Hope left in the Bottom which he kept. rough and hairy, which denotes the Earth with PANTHEA, or SIGNA PANthe Forests, Herbs and Plants growing thereon, his Two Legs are the Two Hemisphears that

THEA; Panthean Statues, they were ancient Statues that by the different Figures that were upon them represented all the Gods, or at least a great Part of the most considerable of client Soulders, the which is full of round Spots, Hay in Greek fignifies All, and Oeds God. And spresents the Firmament full of Stars, fays so they called the Temples wherein all the Gods hobit the Grammarian upon Virgil's Georgicks: were worthipped together, Panthea, and where-The Seven Reed-pipes joined together denote in all their Representations might be seen. Of the Seven Planets and their Spears; the Har-this fort was the famous Pantheum at Rome, built was the Seven Tones, that of their Couries by Agrippa, and dedicated to Jupiter Vinder, Me Revolutions, fays Cicero in his Somnium Sci- according to Pliny: It was afterwards confethe Breath wherewith he makes them crated by Boniface 3, to the Virgin Mary and all ad is the Spirit of Life which is in these Stars. the Saints. It was of a round form, and is at biolds a crooked Staff in his Hand that light I this Day called Santa Maria della Rotonda: There the Years his amourous Complexion, and was one at Athens which Paufanias calls the com-Laciviousness wherewith he pursues the mon Temple of the Gods, and these sorts, of Nymphs is the Defire of Generation which Temples might be feen in many other Cities: breads it felf thro' all the Beings of this World, Lucian fays, that he had observed the Statue of to attract Matter proper for that End from the a Goddels in Syria, which indeed was made for Missure which is represented by the Nymphs. I Juno, but that it had something in it of Pallis, compose the World; his Belly is the Sea; and his Horn-feet denote the Stability of the Earth.

The Panther's Skin which he carries upon his

Venn, Lina, Rea, Diana, Nemefis, and the this Man's Body and Francs flocke? Definite. Ruffing in his Ecclefiaftical History are fallen upon this Subject, Pli give workers, that there was fill at Alexandria, in Theodofine his Reign, an Idol of Serapis made of all forts of Mettles, and all kinds of Deities: The Ancients therefore made Statues, which by their feeing this famous Farce Danter dance was different Figures denoted all the Gods. There much Address, the he under flood not a Wart were Panthean Inscriptions, Panthean Gravings What he fung, yet understood all, and defired the and Panthean Frafts.

PANTHEON, the Pambeon, or a Temple built by M. Agripps, Augustus Cafar's Son in amazed at his Request, he faid, This it is to have Law, of a round form in Honour of all the Gods; it was made of Brick on the Out-fide and within was adorned with Marble of various Colours: There were Niches in the Walls wherein were placed the Statues of the Gods, elper cially that of Minerva which was made of Ivory Art is to connected to exactly the Patr ofeath. by Phidias the Statuary, and that of Venus at four to make neither a Geffure nor Politire that whose Ears hung a very rich Pearl of Queen hath not some Reference to the Thing that is Cleopared's, which Augustus ordered to be cur in represented. two, because it could not be matched, which the PAPILTO; a Butterfly; the Symbol of faid Queen at a Feast with Mark Annung caused the Soul, a Bas-relieve of Marble might be leen to be diffolved and drunk it up: It webshed in a Manufcript of the late M. de Bagurti, where Half an Ounce, and was valued at 10000000 in was represented a young Man extended mon Softerers, which in English Money amounts rous | a Bed, and a Butterily which fife ways, that bout 76390 h 11s. The Gates of that Temple | feemed to come out of the Mouth of the Demore made of Brais, the Beams covered with ceafed, because the Ancients did believe, assume guilt brais, and the Roof made of Silver Plates, of the common People do now, that the Soul which Conflaneine carried to Conflaneineple. It was dedicated to Jupiter Vindex. The imperor his 9th Wied Tay, That when the Soul has once Advian built one like it at Athens in Honour of paffed the Barrier of the Teeth, it cannot reall the Gods, which he enriched with 26 Columns | turn. of Phrivian Marble, and there he erected a Library and an Academy called by his Name, the Manager of Nuptial Solemnities. which he adorned with 100 Pillars of Lybian PARASANGA, was an old Perfit Meg-Marble.

the Ancients appeared upon the Stage, and by his Signs and Gestures represented all forts of Paralange that were much greater, and others Actions. A Mimick, fays Lucian, ought to bave again far leis. Strabo, L. 2. fays, That the PA the Art to express the Paffions and Motions refunga of the Perfiant, was accounted by fonce of the Soul, which Rhetorick teaches us, and to be 60 Furloogs, by others 40, and again by Should borrow the various Postures and Faces of fome 30. Agethias in his Gothick Wars makes it Men from Paintings and Sculpture, Ge. And to be but 21, which makes me lay, that there a little farther; as the Oracle of Apollo faid, he should make the Spectators to understand with | Furlong contained 125 Paces. our fpenking, in the fame manner as it one had spoke. This is that whith Demetrius the Cynic l'hitosopher consesses, who condemned it; but | way of Autiphrasis, quod nemini parcant, because then a celebrated Mimick in Nero's Time defired they spare no Body. The Ancients made then him not to condemn him, before he law him; Three in Number, viz, Clotho, Lachefis and A and having ordered the Vocal and Infrumental propos, because all Things under the Sun, have Musick to ceale, he represented before him the their Beginning, Progress and End. at Megas Adultery of Mars and Venus, wherein he repre- fays Pintarch, in the Temple of Jupiter Olyania fented the Sun that discovered them, Vulcan who might be seen his Statue, made or Gold and live spread his Nets for them, the Gods who ran to ry by Theofeomus, who upon his Head carried the fee the Sight, Venus all in Conjution, Mars a Deffinies and the Hours, fays Ejetylus, that had ftonished and supplicant, and the rest of the as well a Command over the Gods as Men, and Pable with fo much Artifice, that the Philoso whose Orders are inviolable. The Birth, pher cried out, he thought he faw the Thing it | Growth, and : eath of Mankind is attributed in delf and not a Representation of it, and that them, which doubtlets gave occasion to the Poets

Times concerning it ; for a Prince of For ing come to Nero's Court upon forme Emperor in raking his Leave of him, to make him a Prefent of this Man; and as Nere wa Barbarians to my Neighbours, among whom not one understands the Language, and the Person will serve them as an Interpreter, and by his Gestures make them to under stand what he means. The Perfection therefore of the came out at the Month; which made from in

PARANYMPHUS; he anciently was Marble.

14 A N T O M I M U S; a Mimick, who among the common Confent of the best Authors, both Ancient and Modern; they had, indeed, fome were Parafanga from 20 to 60 Furlongs. Bareach

PARCE; the Definies, the Daughters Erebus and the Night, they were called Parce in riffion; who tell us, That they fpun Mens Lives; | candidatas dici ab Orpheo , qua fuit partes that Clothe held the Diftaff and foun the Thread, lucis. Lash fis turned the Wheel, and that Arropos cut and Guardians of the Library of Heaven, and forms us, that the Three Destinies represented each of them fitting upon a Throne, clad in whereof pretide over the Actions of Men, and the Productions of the Earth; Clothe represents the Planets, which denote the Deftinies; and Atropos is Saturn, who by his flow Motion, maximum, Arengthens them.

The Ancients have represented the Destinies divers ways. Lucian fees them out in the Shape of Three poor old Nomen, having large Locks of Wool mixed with Daffodils on their Heads, one of which held a Diffaff, the other a Wheel and the third a Pair of Sciffars, wherewith the cut off the Thread of Man's Life. Others have given us another fort of an Idea of them. Clothe appearing in a long Robe of divers Colours. wearing a Crown upon her Head, adorned with Seven Stars, and holding a Diltaff in her Hand: Lukefis in a Robe full of Stars, with feveral Spindles in her Hands; and Arropos clad in Black. totting the Thread with large Sciffars. Paulawise in his Elegiacs, tays, there was at Olympus an Altar called Megwetes, that is, the Conductor of the Destinies; and in Apollo's. Temple there were I wo S'aques of the Definies, Jupiter making the Third. What Plutareb adds concerning the Deftinies, is not, perhaps, ill grounded: for there was a Deftiny which the Ancients placed in the Stars, and which might have a good Meaning, tince 'tis not to be doubted, but All natural Causes form one Concatenation, from whence it comes that all Confequences and Effets prove necessary and inevitable: This Author tays, that there is one of the Three Deftities influenced by the Sun, and gives Birth to all Things, that the Second follows the Moon, and that 'tis she which unites and fustains the Prothations of the other: Lastiy, that the Third is more like unto the Earth, and 'tis she also that

Varro fays, and we ought to believe him, that Hyginus attributes unto them the Invention formerly they used Parts, instead of Pares: This of theie Greek Le ters, A, B, H, T, T, which Word answers the Greet woleg, and comes a Parmade Marrianus Capella call them the Secretaries riendo, usiper, to divide; because 'tis Fate that makes a Division and Lot for every Body : But that they keep the Archives thereof. Plato in in respect to that Universal Chain of all natural Causes, which produce all sensible Effects, and into us All forts of Times; Closbo, that which is form, as I may fay, the Fare of our Bodies; the paft, Lachefis the Time present, and Arropos that Moon without doubt is one of the most consiwhich is to come; and he places them in Heaven, derable and effications of any, as she is also nearest to the Earth. The Moon was one of the Defti-White, with Crowns upon their Heads, and nies in the Opinion of those who gave this Quafinging the Syrens Song, that is, the Mules's, lity to Illubyia, which is known to be the Moon, or that of the Eight Spheres, which they repre- and to prejide over vativities. Paufanias tells fent: That La. b.fis is the Firmament, the Stars us, that Venus Urania was also accounted one of the Destinies, and that she was even the Eldest of the Three Sifters: Epigramma verd indicat Venerem Calestem, earum que Parce vocansur, nagu

PARENTALIA; they were Solemnities and Banquets made by the Ancients, at the Obsequies of their Relations and Friends.

PARIS; the Son of Prismus, King of Trey, and of Hecuba: His Mother being with Child of him, faw in her Dream that the was brought to Bed of a Burning-torch, which would fet all Afra on fire: And having confulted the Augurs thereupon; they made answer. That that Child one Day should be the Cause of the Ruine of his Country. Priamus being informed of it, exposed him to be deftroy'd, but his Wife Hecuba being touch'd with Compassion, delivered him privately to the King's Shepherds, to bring him up on Mount Ide, in Phrigia, where he grew up, and became Valiant and expert at all bodily exercises, wherein he exceeded Heller, whom he threw in Wreftling. Daves the Phygian, who had feen Paris, gives us an Account of his Perion, in his Book, concerning the Deftruction of Iroy; where he fays, He was tall, and well proportioned, of a fair Complexion, had very good Eyes, and a sweet Voice; that he was Bold, Couragious, Forward and Ambitious: And this is confirmed by Dion Chrysoftom and Cornelius Nepos, in their Translation of Dares into Verse. Heder upbraids him for his very Beauty, as if he were fitter for Love than War. Homer gives him the Title of being Valiant, and among others names Diomedes and Machaon's being wounded by him; to which Dares adds Menelaus and Palamedes, Antilosbus and Achilles, whom he is most concerned with Fortune : Clemens A. Ilew. Enginus relates the Fight he had with his wandrings tay, the e were lome who confined Brethren, whom he overcame, while he was a Definy to much to the Moon, that they faid, if Shepherd. As to the Contest between the Three there were I hree or them, it was because Goddesses, viz. Juno, Venus and Palles, to know of the Three most remarkable Days of the which was the fairest of them; Dares in his Moon: Pareas allegorice dici partes Luna, tri- Poem concerning the Defruction of Trot. re-Toman, quintam deciman & novem lunam, ideol cites the Words which they fooke to Paris, in Pavour, as well as Incian does in his Dialogue with a Dog, an Ape, a Cock and a Viper, and concerning the Judgment of Paris ; Venus want- fo thrown into the Sea, or next River. ed not Reasons to gain the Opinion of amorous Paris, and to oblige him to declare in her Payour; for, as his Reward, the promited him one of the finest Women in the World, which was Helen, Menelans his Wife; and the was to conflant to her Word, that the favoured him to carry her off; which occasioned the fatal War made by the Gresians against the Trojans.

Some Commentators upon Homer, and Spondenue among others, believe this pretended Senthe Labyrinth, and with the Affiffance of Aridae tence of Paris was not known to Homer. Plu- killed by Thefeus. Servius informs us, that this tarch himself favours this Conjecture, when he Taurus was one of Minos his Captains, who by maintains that the 3 Verfes of the 24th Iliad, the Procurement of Dadalus enjoy'd Paliphus, where he fpeaks of it, are Suppolititious, and inferted by some other; and that 'tis an unbeco- Taurus and Minos, he was called Minosaurus. ming thing to believe the Gods were judged by Lucian fays, that Pafiphae hearing Dedatus dif-Men, and that Homer making no mention there- courfing of the Coelettial Sign Turus, the became of any other where, there was Reason to be in Love with his Doctrine, which she learnt from him, and this gave the Poets occasion to feign lieve these Lines were foifted in : But a Medal ; of Antoninus Pius Rives us to understand, that this Action was believed to be true by the Ancients; and we may farther oppole against Plutarch, the ancient Statue of Paris done by Emphra- | mal; the common Pace is that Space we gain in nor, whereby, as Pliny tays, it might be known, that he was a judge between the Goddesses, the mon Pace: The Common consists of two Feet Lover of Helen, and the Person that killed Astilles. Other Authors have thought that Paris himfelf frigned his having been a Judge be- fure, the exacteft and most certain of all, both tween the Goddeffes, and that he did this in Opposition to Hercules, who renounced Vice in favour of Vertue, how difficult sever it appear- PHORI; the Pallophori were those whose Bued, fince Paris despiled the Riches and Honours lines it was at Solemn Festivals to carry the Promifed him by Juno, and the Knowledge prof. | Shrine of the Deity, when they were to pray to ferred him by Paller and abandoned himself to him for Rain, fair Weather, or some sich like his Pleasures. Eufebine treats of the History, Miracle. Its observable that the Greeks had a and nor the Fabrilous part; for he writes, that ! College of this Order of Priefts, in Sylle's Time, the City of Tray was deftroy'd for the Rape of and 'tis certain they carried about the Shrines of Helen, one of the Three Grecian Ladies that the Gods when some Solemn Processions were contended for Beauty.

the Fountains of Cuffalius, Hippocrene, and A. wherein dwelt the Priests who were appointed gamppe, fo famous in the Poets. At the Foot for this Charge, and which were usually near the of this Mountain flood the City of Oyrrbs, and Temple, M. le Moine agrees, that the Pallo the Temple of Spollo of Delphos: The Mules phorium was a Cell, and little House adjacent to Jook their Epithers from these Places; for in the Temple; but he gives the Word another the Poets they are called Parnaffides, and Ca-Origin, pretending it was borrowed from the

P.A RRICIDA; a Parritide, the Murderer of his Pather or Mothers. The Romans made no Law against Parricides, because they did not to Herodorus, were much like unto the Dil Ca sthink there could be a Man fo wicked as to kill biri, or Samosbracian Gods, at leastwife, as to his Parents. L. Officer was the first that killed his their Figures; for they were little Pigmy Images, Father, 500 Years after Numa's Death, even with which the Phanicians adorned the Prows of after the Time of Hamibal: And then the Pom their Ships. Herodotus, perhaps, was mistaken peian Law was made, which ordained, that the when he put these Gods upon the Prow; others Person who was convicted of this Crime, after | place them on the Poop, and Perseus says it was the had been first whipped till the Blood came, the Custom.

order to engage him to give Sentence in their | should be tled up in a Leathern Sack, together

PARTUNDA; a Goddess that affisted at

Child-bearing. PASIPHAE; the Daughter of the Sun, and Wife to Minos, King of Creet: The Fable tells us, the fell in Love with a Bull, whom the enjoy'd by Dedalus his Contrivance, who by his Skill made a Cow, wherein Pasiphae being inclofed, fhe conceived by this Bull a Creature that was half Man half Rull, which was shut up in and because the Child she bure was like unto that the fell in Love with a Bull. PASSUS; a Pace; a Measure taken from the Space that is between the two Feet of an Aniwalking : the Geometrical is double to the comand an half, the Geometrical of five Feet; and this Geometrical Pace is the most common Meaamong the Ancients and Moderns.

PASTOPHORIUM and PASTOmade, and there were certain Persons appoint-PARNASSUS; a Mountain in Phocu, con- ed for this Office: And hence it may be condusecrated to Apollo and the Muses; whence arise ded, that the Pastophorium signifies an House, Flags, which were usually put before these little Tabernacles.

PATAICI DII; these Gods, according

Ingentes è puppe Dii,

i.e. confidere; for those Idolaters trusted in these priviledged to inherit when the Freed-man died Gods. Selden has treated of these Pataick Gods. and believes all the Phanician Gods bore the same Name.

PATER-PATR ATUS: was the first and principal Person of the Heralds College, that made as it were a Council of War to examine the Differences which arose between Neighbouring People, and who endeavoured amicably to accommodate the same; they themselves going to the People to induce them to restore what they had taken, and to redress the Injury complained of.

PATERA; an ancient Veffel wherein they received the Blood of the Victim. Patera filicata, was a Cup adorned with Fern-leaves. Patera bederata, was fuch as was adorned with Ivy. Patera pampinata, Cups on which Vine-Leaves or Branches were carved.

PATRES CONSCRIPTI, were the Pares, but afterwards thus named when their Number was increased. Plutarch fays, that Rothem the Appellation of Patres Conferinti: Thole Will. who were chose from among the Knights to be Senators, were called Patres allelli.

PATRICIUS; a Patrician; one descended from the Senators, and first Founders of the Republick of Rome.

only be made liable to pecuniary Mulcls, and Mofaick Pavements. subjected to lose part of their Estates, but also be chaftifed with Corporal Punishments, and

Hometimes be even recalled to their former State of Servitude, according to the Hainousness of their Ingratitude, as 'tis fully fet forth under The Origin of this Word is clearly Hebrew, ac. the Tirle of Jus Patronatus. But besides these cording to Scaliger; for Parach in that Language | Rights which the Patron exercised over the Peris the same as infeulpere. Bocharus thinks it son of Freed-men while living, he had also anomay be derived from the Hebrew Word Batas, ther over their Goods after their decease, being without having Children born him after his being made free, and intestate: And there were but Two forts of Perfons that could exclude the Patron, viz. Children lawfully begotten after his Manumission, and the Heir by Will, whom the Law preferred before the Patron: But as it was an easie thing for the Freed-men to deprive their Patrons of the Benefit of Inheriting; and that many times those who had no Children of their own, got some by Adoption, or else by Will disposed of their Estates in favour of Strangers; the Prætor by his Edist introduced a Remedy for this, by giving the Patrons Possession of half of the Effates of their Freed-men, in opposition to adopted Children and Stranger-Heirs: And foralmuch as by this Edict one lawfully begotten Child of the Freed-man, coming to fucceed his Father, entirely excluded the Patron: the Papian Law made an Addition to the Senators of Rome, who at first were only called | Prætor's Edict, and enlarged the Right of the Patron, by enjoining, that if the Freed-man had a confiderable Effate even to 100000 Sefterces, mulus having chosen and established Ten Orders and less than Three Children, the Patron of Senators, writ down their Names on Tables should have a Share equal to one of the Chilof Guld in the Peoples Presence; and this gave dren's, which he could not be deprived of by a

PAVENTIA; a Deity of the Ancients, mentioned by St. Augustine, L. 4. de Civ. Dei, which diverted Childrens Fears.

PAVIMENTUM; a Pavement, of which there were divers forts: Pliny fays, that those PATRONUS; a Patron; the Person un- Pavements which were painted and wrought by der whose Protestion one puts himself; it was Art were brought out of Greece, and among oalso used in respect to a Master who had made thers that of Pergamus, called Afarotes, which was his Slave tree: The Law of the Twelve Ta- not swept; and this Name was given it, because bles entituled the Patrons to the Estates of their the Crumbs and Offals which fell from the Freed-men, who died without lawful Iffue, born Table were fo well reprefented in this fort of after their Entranchifement, and also intestate; Pavement, that they seemed to have been real, for, the' by this Manumiffion or Enfranchilement, and the Servants had no need to take care of the Slaves not only obtained their Liberry, but [weeping the Rooms : Then came the Molaick allo the Right of Citizens, and io were made Ci- Pavements in Fashion, which the Greeks called tizens of Rome, and consequently capable to ac- Lithostroia, and were used at Rome in Sylla's quire and policis all forts of Effates, and had Time, about 170 Years before Chrift's Coming : Power to differe of them, yet they were very It was a Pavement made of imall Stones joined. far from the Condition of the Ingenui, who were and as it were united together by Cement, and born free; for the Law subjected them to shew by the Ordering, and variety of their Colours great Respect, and to perform considerable Ser- representing different Figures. See Musea. Viikes and Devoirs to their Patrons; to the Ob- ruvius speaks of Pavements, which he calls Pafervation of which they were fo rigoroully tied, vimenta fedilia, or Pavements of pieces made that when they tailed therein, they might not like one another, which he diffinguishes from his Eyes were put into the Peacock's Tail. Lucian | Opinion proposed by the Older, and were alhas left us an Account of him thus: 'The Pea- ways of their ride: And hence is that Saying of cock, fays he, at the Beginning of the Spring, Cicero, Ire pedibus in fententiam alicujus, to when the Flowers first peep out, spreads abroad espanse the Opinion of a Person. his Golden and Azure Feathers in a mon mag-' nificent manner, and contends with the Spring which of them shall produce the most beautiful | Impression of his Hoof made the Fountain Hip-Things; he fpreads himself, turns and admires | pocrene fpring out of Mount Helicon; it was uphis own Beauty, whose Splendor is doubly in on this Horse Bellerophon was mounted, when creased by that of the Light, which does not he fought Chimera; its faid he flew up to Heaonly embellish the Colours, but multiplies | ven, and placed himself amongst the Stars: Its them: This particularly happens to those also a Coelestial Constellation in the Northern Golden Circles, which crown the Enamel of Hemisphere, consisting of 20 Stars. Kemler his Tail, and each of them resemble a Rain- makes it to have 23. Pontanus says, when it bow that changes its Colour according to the rifes, it makes a Man a Poet and Ingenious, a divers Reflexions of Light.

be a Deity. Paufanias, in his Corintbiaca, fays, That Mermerus and Pheres, Medea's Children being stoned by the Corinbians, the Ghosts of was formerly joined to Mount Octa, and separathem did to frighten young Children, that they died therewith: The Oracle commanded they should offer Sacrifice to them every Year, and to Palenes.

PAX; Peace; a Deity adored by the Heathens. Paulanias fays, that the Statue of Peace was worthipped at Athens, under the Form of a Woman, who held Plutus the God of Riches by the Hand: The Emperor Claudius began to build her a Temple at Rome, but 'twas not finished and adorned till Vespasian did it, after the Conquest of Judea, and the Destruction of Ferufalem, as the Gold, Silver, and Brass Money which he coined do teftifie, whereon Peace is graven, holding a lighted Torch in one Hand, wherewith the fets some broken Arms on fire, and in the other an Olive-branch, with this Device, Paci Orbit Terrarum: She is also represented unto us with an Olive-branch, and Mercury's Caduceus. Titus his Son and Succeffor in the Empire, has given us the Figure of Peace, repre-Hand, and Scepter in the other, with this Infcription, Pax Aterna.

PECULATUS: it was a Crime in a Perfon that robbed the Publick Treature, or converted it to his own use, who was the Disposer, Keeper, or Receiver of it; there are divers forts of it, all mentioned under Lex Julia.

PECULIUM; this is the Money or Effate of one who is under the Power of another, which ration. These Gods were honoured within Doors, a Son under a Father or a Slave, may get by his own Industry, without any Furtherance or Af- that which was served to the Table, or publickly tiftance from his Father, or Mafter, but only his offered Sacrifice to induce her to make them pire, which Aness brought from Troy, and rich.

PAVO; a Peacock; a Bird by the Heathers PEDANI, or PEDARII SENA confecrated to Jupiter; they feigned that Argus TORES; young Senators who followed the PEGASUS. The Horse Pegafus, whom the Poets feigned to have Wings, and who with the Lover of Glory and of Arms; and Firmicius PAVOR; Fear, whom the Romans made to fays, that if it fet with Mars, the Man will perish by Fire.

PELION; Mount Petion in Theffaly, which

ted from it by an Earthquake.

PELOPS; the Son of Tantalus, King of Phrygia, and of Taygete, whom his lather Tantafet up Two Statues, one to Fear and the other lus cut in pieces, and woiled to feaft the Gods withal; there was none but Ceres that eat thereof: The other Gods perceiving it, abhorred the Action, and reftored Pelops to Life; for they gathered all his Members together, and fent Mercury to fetch his Soul out of Hell. As Ceres had eaten some of the Shoulder, they gave him an Ivory one in lieu of it, which healed many Diseases: He was much beloved of Neptune, who gave him immortal Horses, with which he ran against Oenomaus, for the beautiful Hippodamia his Daughter, became Conqueror, and to Polseffor of that admirable Creature. Pelops was for his Beauty, according to Lucian, admitted to eat with the Gods.

PLLORIS and PELORUS; one of the Three Capes of Sicily, which is in the North Part of that Island: It was so called from a Pilot whom Hannibal ilew, as supposing he betray'd fented like a Goddels, holding a Palm in one him; but coming afterward to know his Mistake, he erected a Statue for him in an high Place, near the Sea fide in Sicily, which he called Peloris, according to his Name.

PENATES; a Name given to all the Houshold-Gods, which the Ancients worshipped in their Habitations: There Gods were the Souls or Genti of deceased Persons, to whom their particular Families paid some fort of Adoby burning in the nature of First-finits some of facrificing a Sow to them, as to those who prefided over the Streets and High-ways: They PECUNIA; Money; to whom the Romans | had also the publick Penates of the City or Emwhom Varro believed to have been brought before from Samothracis to Troy. Dionysius of Ha | Oracle, that his Wife Peribes Should bear a that Timeus wrote, that they were Iron and Brass Caduceus's, and Earthen Ware made at Troy : Caduca ferrea & area, Trojanamque seftam ficilem ; κέραμον τρώικον. He replies in the 2d place, that we must restrain our Curiotity, and out of respect abstain from penetrating too far into the Mysteries of Religion; and in the last place he adds, that they were the same Gods as those of Samothracia; that Dardanus brought them to Troy, from whence Anew carried them into Italy, vir. the Shapes of those great Gods, and the Image of Minerva ; facra magnorum Deorum. C'effigies Minerva: This Image of Minerva was twofold. Ulyffes and Diomedes took one away from Iroy, during the Siege, and the other remained there: Others fay, that the Trojans had made another Palladium very like unto the true one, and that it was the Copy, and not the Original which the Grecians took away.

Virgil brings the Houshold-Gods giving their Affiftance at the Battle of Adium, where Auguffus defeated Antony and Cleopatra :

Hinc Augustus agens Italos in pralia Casar, Cum Patribus, populoque, Penatibus & magnis Hereby Virgit acknowledges, that Empires, Cities, particular Houses, and King's Palaces, were as fo many Temples, where the Houthold-Gods were prefent; where a continual Fire was burnt. and where they were honoured by frequent Libations and Incentes upon all occasions. Lucan observes, that in time of Peace, the Arms were Gods, as being entruited to their keeping.

Diripium [acris affixa Penasibus arma. Que pax longa dabat.

And that it was eftermed to be abominable Satilege to commit Morder in the Presence of Vella, that is in the Entry, and before the perpenal Fire of the Houthold-Gods.

PENELOPE, the Daughter of Icarus, the Latedamonian, and of Peribaa: Its faid this ... ame was given her from certain Birds called Penelopes or Turkeys, and that the was named Arnea, i. e. difowned and rejected from the Verb develo Sat. to Reject : For her Father understanding by the

licernassus, after having said that the Greeks in Daughter, which should one Day be a Shame to order to express in their Language what the Re- her Sex, he caused her to be exposed upon the mans meant by their Penases at Rome, called them | Water, shut up in a Cheft; but the faid Birds ralpuis, yeredaiss, xlavius, unying, spring : hearing the Cries made by the Infant, they And after having affured us, that they were first drove the Cheft ashoar with their Wings; and brought by En'as from Troy to Lavinium, from having opened it with their Beaks, they fed her whence they were carried to Alba, and thence to for fome time: She was Ulyfes his Wife, and a Rome; he at last asks, what was the Nature and Model of Chastity and Faithfulness to her Hus-Shape of those Gods, to which he aniwers band; for Ulyfes having been absent Twenty Years, the was courted by feveral Princes who were taken with her Beauty; but the to difengage her felt from their Importunities, put off her second Marriage till such time as the had finished a piece of Linnen-Cloth, which she had begun, and the cunningly undid in the Night what she wrought in the Day; and so she continued in this State till Ulyffes his Return, who entring into his own House, disguised like a Peafant, killed them all. Hereupon you may obferve the different Opinions that have been entertained of Penelope: Some, that is to fay, Homer and many others, who followed him, have represented her as a Model of Chaffity; while others, the Chief of whom are Duris the Samian, Tzerzes, Paujanias and Horace, have taken her for a loole Woman, and a Proftitute. However, the same Paufanias in his Laconica says, that her Father Icarus erected a Statue of Chaflity Thirty Spartan Stadia's high, in memory of the Conjugal Chaftity of his Daughter Penelope, who had rather, being left to her Choice, to tollow her Husband to libaca, than to tarry with her Father at La. ademon.

PENTHEUS, the Son of Echion and Agave, who, because he ridiculed the Festivals of Bacchus, called Orgia, and would have them reputed Follies and xtravagancies, was cut in pieces upon Mount Citheron by his own Mother and Sifter, who being transported with Baccbick Fary took him for a wild Boar.

PERILLUS. See Phalaris.

PERIPATE | ICI; Peripateticks, they were Athenian Philosophers, and the Followers fixed in the Place appertaining to the Houshold- of Aristotle, who disputed walking in the Licæum; they were fo called from the Greek περιπατείτ, which fignifies to walk; but afterwards they took the ame of Academicks, because they studied in the Academy.

PERITIUS, (Mensis is understood) the Peritian Month was a Month among the Macedonians, that answered that of February, and fuch as was adopted by the Syrians, in Memory of Alexander the Great, or rather the Macedonians introduced it amongst them after they had been conquered by them, infomuch that they gave the greatest part of the Cities and Rivers of Syria, the Names of the Cities and Rivers of Macedon.

rifes in Mount Hellom, which was confecrated intrologers took occasion to place him among the

to Apello and the Mules.

PERSÆ; the Perfians, the People of the and to whom they erected Altars under the of, are as fo many Hieroglyphicks of the ex-Name of Mithra, which was a kind of Dress for traordinary Qualifications, that are necessary for the Head, like a Bishop's Miter, Soli Invillo a Person, to form great Designs, and to succeed Mithre, and Numini Invite fell Mithre, as you therein; Prudence is figured out unto us by may read in ancient Inscriptions: They also worshipped the Moon, Vens, Fire, Earth, Water Shield; Strength and Greatness of Courage and Wind, yet without any Temples; Statues, or Altars, and offered Sacrifices to them upon fome Hillock, or high Place, as believing themfelves hereby to be nearer unto their Gods. When the Lacedemonians beat the Perfians in the Battle of Places, they erected Statues in Perfian Dreffes, to support the Weight of the Galleries and Porticoes which they built, as a perpetual Mark of their Servitude.

PERSEUS; the Son of Jupiter and Danae, the Daughter of Acrifius, King of Argos, who coming to know by the Oracle, that the Child has left Satvrs behind him that are very obhis Daughter should bring forth, would one Day scure: He flourish'd under Nero, and died at kill him, took a Resolution to shut up his Daugh- 29 Years of Age. ter in a Brass Tower, that hereby the might | PERTINAX, named Publim Helvim, furhave nothing to do with Men: But this Precau- named the Wheel of Forume because he expention lignified nothing, for Japirer who loved her, enced the Inconftancy thereof. He was a Rewent to see her, and for that End being trans- man Emperor the Son of a Freed-man named formed into a Golden Shower, he begat Perseus Helvin who kept a Shop of small Wares. His upon her. Acrifius coming to the Knowledge Father brought him up in good Literature, hereof, thut up both Mother and Child in a Coi- which afterwards he taught at Rome, but as his fer, and commanded them to be thrown into the Inclinations carried him more unto Arms than Sea; but they were laved by some Fishermen; unto Letters, he quitted his Profession, and folwho found the faid Cheft floating upon the Wa- lowed the Military Art, wherein he figualized ter, near the Isle of Seriphus, where Perfeus was himself in divers Wars, which made the Empebrought up by Diffii, the Brother of l'olydettes, ror Marcus Aurelius give him the Government King of that Illand. Perfeus being grown up, was of Afia and Syria; after whose Death his Sucmuch beloved of the Gods; Minerus made him ceffor Commodus banished him from Rome, but a Present of her Miror, to lerve him tor a Shield, he recalled him some time after and made him and Mercury gave him the Wings which he wore Governour of the City. Upon the Death of at his Head and Feet, and a Cymeter which Vul. Commodus, Alius Latus Captain of the Guard can had forged for him, and with which he did went to Persinax his Lodging, and made him a great Exploits: 'For by the Help of this Shield, Tender of the Empire, and obliged him to go wherein as in a Miror he faw the Picture of to the Camp where he was proclaimed Imp 4 Medusa fleeping, with the Gorgens her Sifters, rator Augustus, and the same was joyfully conhe catched hold of her by the Hair, and cue-firmed by the Senate and Leople. At his Ac ting off her Head, afterwards made his Escape; cession to the Imperial Throne he went about to but in his return, upon the Coast of Eshiopia, reform the Extortions and Violences practiced seeing Andromede ready to be devoured by a by the Pratorian Bands over the poor Citizens, Sea-monfter; and being struck with a compas- but this drew their Harred so far upon him, that fionate Love for that unfortunately fair Creathey adventured to kill him in the Middle of his ture, whom the Nereides, who were incented Palace, after he had reigned Three Months. By · at her Mother's having despited their Beauty, the Medals which we have of his, it may be dihad tied to a Rock; he turned the Monster in- ferved that he had a fortunate Countenance, 2 to a Stone, with one of the Looks of Medufa, handfom Head, large Forehead, curled Hair, * after he had nift flumed him with a Blow with a long and venerable Beard; that he was tale, his Sword. Perfeus was not only skil'ul in burly, and pretty big-belly'd, as may be known Arms, but he alto made learning to Flourish in by his Medals and the Paintings of Capitolinus. his Time, having founded a publick School upon All this feemed to promife him a healthful Con-

PBRMBSSUS; a River in Budeia, that | good Literature; and hence the Poets and A

We have in the Perfon of Perfeus the Idea of famous Empire of Persia, who adored the Sun, a great Captain; for the Arms we have spoken Minerva's Miror, that ferved him inflead of a joined with a Forwardness, that must engage him to the Execution of his Defign, was represented by the Sword forged by Vulcan, and what has been faid concerning Medufa's Head, which turn ed Men into Stones with her Looks, imports fo much, that the very Looks of a Person who is indued with fo many Accomplishments, strikes a Dread and Terror into others, and ftopsthem fo as if they were Stone-flatues.

PERSEPHONE. See Proferpina. PERSIUS; a Lasin Satyrical Poet, who

Mount Lichton, where Youth were instructed in stitution, a large Capacity with the Respect of the People, which his venerable Air must gain | feems to refute this Fable, faving, that Photom prepid Spirit in the Sedition, wherein he loft his whatever is faid of him is not likely at all. genedly spoke to them, with much Courage changed into a Poplar. and Gravity, infomuch that they were all appea-

PETRONIUS; lived in Nero's Time; he was put to Death by his Command, as Corne-los Tacitus fays.

of Creet, who fell in Love with Hippolytus her nian Phalanx. Son in Law; the discovered her Pathon to her | PHALARIS, says Lucian, was born of a Despair hanged her felf, having first tied to her Cloaths some Letters wherein she charged Hippolyrus with a Crime, of which the her felf only plains the Fable to us. .

PHEDRUS. a Latin Poet and the Freed man of Augustus, who turned the Fables of Floo and several other Things into Jambick Verse.

had been an End of Mankind.

much Mischief would have come of ir.

out of the Way, an universal Ruine followed.

all necessary Instructions, but the Horses not and I also in his Punishment.

hers Order to bury him on the Banks of the fed and put fo many others to Death. Eridanus, where he fell, and as a Recompense, him. But his Empire was fo short, that he had |bulled himself in observing the Sun's Course, and not an Opportunity to make his Inclinations the various Influences thereof, and that he left known. However, he shewed much of an in- this Art imperfect by his Death, adding that

Life; for when he saw the Mutineers enter into PHAETUSA, Phaeton's Sifter and one of his Palace, he went to meet them, and uncon the Heliades, who according to the Fable, was

PriALANX, a great fquare Battalion' fed, fave one who firred up the Soldiers anew, formed by the Ancients, which was so compact! and brought his Companions to cut off fo good that the Soldiers had their Feet fet close to one another, with their Shields joined and Pikes turned cross-ways, infomuch that it was almost the that Emperor loved this Poet very well, yet impossible to break them; It consisted of 5000 Men. Livy fays, that this fort of Battalion was invented by the Macedonians, from whence PHEDRA, the Daughter of Mines King came the common Epithet given it of Macedo-

Nurse that was her Confident, who attempted I noble Family in the City of Agrigentum in Sicily; to engage Hippolyrus his Consent several times, after he had been brought up in all the genteel but to no purpose : Phadra out of Shame and | Exercises of his Time, and such as were suitable to his Condition, he was admitted into the Government, as others were, where he behaved himf-if fo well that there was never any Complaints made of his Administration: But as he understood that his Enemies and such as envyed his Prosperity, had laid secret Ambushes for him, and fought all manner of Ways how they PHAET ON, the Son of Sol and the might make away with him, he was confirained Nymph Clymene, or of Cephalus and Aurora; for his own Safety to make himself Mafter of the lugar in a Dialogue between Jupiter and Sol ex- State, and to exercise Justice very rigorously upon those who would have deftroyed him: One Jupit. Wretch, what have you done, to leave Perillus devised with himself, he could not do your Chariot to be guided by a young tool, who him more acceptable Service than to invent some has burnt one Half of the World, and froze up linew fort of Punishment, and as he was an excelthe other, infomuch that had not I struck him Hent Statuary he made a brazen Bull so very artiown to the Ground with a Thunder-bolt, there ficially that Phalara cried out as foon as he faw it. that it was a Prefent fit for Apollo. But Perillus Sun. I confess, Jupiter, I was mistaken, that taking him up, said, 'If you did but know what I could not manage my Son, nor endure the I made it for, you would not talk at that rate. Tears of a Miftres; but I did not think so Shut up'a Criminal within it; and put Fire underneath, you shall hear the Bull bellow, which Juit. Did not you know the Fury of your is the only Thing it wants to imitate Nature to Hories, and that if they turned never fo little Perfection. Upon which Words Phaliris who detefted so abominable an Invention, caused him Sun, I know it very well, and therefore I put | himfelf to be flut up in his Bull, to make a Trial Platton into the Chariot my felf, and gave him thereof, and having again taken him out alive, that by his Death he might not pollute a Prefiding their Conductor with them, took head, fent which he had a mind to confecrate to the and he became dazzled with the Splendor of the Gods, he gave it to Apollo, and caused this Story Light, and frightned with the Abys he saw be- to be graven upon it. Suidas represents Phalaris neath him. But he has been sufficiently punish- to us as a very cruel Prince, and will have it. that his Subjects shut him up and tormented him Jupit. In the mean time, give Phaeron's Si- to Death in the same Bull, wherein he had inclo-PHALERUS, an ancient Gate of the

I will change them into Poplar-trees, from City of Athens where Altars were erected to the which Amber shall diffil, as a Symbol of their unknown Gods, of whom St. Paul speaks, 'Going along, faid that Apostle, and contempla-The same Lucian in his Judicial Aftrology ting your Devotions, I found an Altar on which was this Inscription, To the unknown God: I same upon Tapistry: Progne deferred to take therefore declare him unto you, whom you Revenge upon her incestuous Husband, till the worthip without knowing of him. The Infcription was not barely the same as St. Paul relates it; for it was, to the Gods of Afia, Europe and Affrica, ftrong and unknown Gods : But be cause the Apostle had norhing to do with many unknown Deities, and that no more than one unknown 'Jod was for his Purpose, he makes use of the fingular Number. Meurfius affures us, That the People of Athens being converted to the Christian Faith, consecrated the Temple, where this Altar had been erected, to the unknown God. Its certain, that Paufanias, Philofirmus and Suidas make use of the Plural Number, when they speak of the Inscription upon this Altar, and Diogenes Lecruus attributes the Building of alters without a Name to Epime- rus, Fantaffical under Craser, Buffoonry under nides : But'tis to e pimenides that ibey.commonly Menippus, Libertiniim under Pyrrho, Litigious attribute the Erelling of the altar of the unknown under Cleanthes, and Reftles under Arcfile: Gods. But yet it is true, that Lucian, Theophi. The Ancient Philosophers were of divers Seds, Latt, Ifidorus Pelufiora, Occumenius and St. Chryfo- viz. Epicureans, Stoicks, Platonicks, Peripareticts, flow make use of the lingular Number, when Pyrrbonians, &c. Lucian in his Diglogue of Futhey fpeak of this Altar.

PHAROS; it was a famous Tower in Alexandria, on the Top of which they lighted to complain, when you faw the World full of Fires in the Night to guide Ships that came near the Shoar: The Coloffus of Rhodes fee ved inflead of a Pharos.

PHEGOR; is as much as Priapus in Hebrew, according to St. Hierom; from whence came the Word Beelpbegor, which fignifies the Idol of Prispus.

PHILOCTETES; the Son of Pam, to whom Hercules at his Death upon Mount Octa, gave his Bow and Arrows, which were dipp'd in Hydra's Gall, after he had engaged him by Oath, to discover his Grave to no Body : But when they were to go to the Trojan War, and that the Oracle gave an Answer, the Town was impregnable, without they had the Athes and Arrows of Hercules with them; he was forced to fhew the Place where he had hid them; and of the laid Arrows wounded him in the Foot, wherewith he had discovered Hercules his Athes: the Son of Afculapian.

PHILOMELA; the Daughter of Pandion, King of Athens, who was ravi. h'd by Tereus, Planicia, who hilt married Happalyce, the Sifter King of Thrace, who had married her sifter of Calau and Zeibes the Children of Boren; but Prigno He cut out her longue, and thut her he was divorced from her and took to Wife Idea up in Prison, that he might enjoy her at his the Daughter or Dardanus King or Sentia, who Pleature: but the had the Lagenuity to let her fallly accused Phineus his Children by the first

Festival of Bacchus, when with a Company of the Bacchantes, the Went to fet her Sitter at Liberty, and laying hold of Itys, Terem his Son, the dreft his Fleth for him to eat; which he perceiving, endeavoured to kill his Wife; but the Gods changed Terems into a Lapwing, Progne to a Swallow, Philomela to a Nightingale, and hy into a Pheasant. Quid. Mesam. Lib. 6. PHILOSOPIA, Philotophy. The Study of Nature and Morality, grounded upon Reafoning and Experience : Its faid of the Ancient Philotophy, that it became impious under Disgoras, Vicious under Epicurus, Hipocritical mader Zeno, Impudent under Diogenes, Interefted under Demochares, Voluptuous under Metrodogitives brings in Philotophy, theaking to Jupiter in this manner; ' Father, fee if I have not cause Error and Uninflice, you had Pirty upon it, and you lent me to bring Men to change their beaftly Lives for a better, for if you do romember, you told me, My Daughter, thou feeft what a Condition Men are brought to by their Ignorance and Malice, go to them, for thou art alone capable to undeceive and cure them. 'I did not go at first to Greece, but I began with the most disticult Work, which was that of the Barbarians; afterwards I went towards the Indians who are a great People, and whom I brought down from their Elephants Backs to hear m ; the whole Nation of the Brachmanes, who are Neighbours to the Necreans and Oxydraci, received my Doctrine and live fill according to my Laws: From the Indians I went into Eibiobia, thence to Egipt where I taught that he might not violate his Oath, he pointed the Egyptian Priests and Prophets the Worthing at them only with his Feet, for which he was | of the Gods, afterwards I palled to Babilon to feverely punished: For being on his Journey, one instruct the Caldeans and Magi, then to Sonbla; from whence returning by the Way of Thrue 'I conversed with Eumoipus and Orpheus, and leat His Wound flunk fo, that it was not to be endu-, them before me into Greece, with Orders that red, which made the Grecians leave him in the 'the first should instruct the Greeks in my My Ille of Lemnos; however find ng that the Siege 'fteries, and the other teach them Muick: of Iroy advanced but little, they caused him to "I delay'd not to follow them and they received be brought thither, and he was cured by Macaon 'me there neither well nor ill: However in time 'I won over the seven wife Men.

PAINEUS, the son of Agenor King of Sifter know her Mufortune, by drawing the Venter for attempting to ravish her. Phinque believed her, and put his Sons Eyes out, but | In the Confulship of Paulus Fabius, and Lucius

PHLEGETHON, one of the Rivers of Hell according to fabulous Antiquity, being derived from the Greek Word cherw, I burn.

PHLEGYAS, the Son of Mars and King of the Lapithe in Theffaly, who to be revenged of Apollo, that had debauched his Daughter, burnt the Temple of that God at Delphos: But he was punish'd for it; for Asollo killed him with his Arrows and thrust him headlong into Hell, where he is in continual Fear of the falling of a Rock which hangs over his Head. There was another of this Name who governed a certain People in The Jaly, that were drowned by Nepnune, as a Punishment for their Contempt of the Gods. Virg. Eneids L. Q.

PHOB .. TOR; the Son of the God Sleep, who represented to the Imagination all forts and frecies of Animals.

PHOCI, Neptune's Sea-Calves, whose Keepet Protheus was.

PHOEBAS; Apollo's Prieftefs at Delphos, upon a Tripod.

Light from Phabus her Brother.

PHOEBUS, the Sun or Apollo, the Son of Jupiter, and Diana's Brother, born at the same for the rest, 'tis not doubted, but this Bird has Time with Latona: He is the God of Parnassus and been sometime seen in Egypt. the Muses; being thus called by the Greeks from φως τε βίε, that is, the Light of Life: He was alothe God of Divination, some remains whereware still retained, in that upon Tweltch-Night, when they are about to chuic King and Queen, fall be King?

PHOENIX, a Bird taken by the Moderns that there is but one of the Kind, and that it knocked him down with his Fift. lives feveral Ages. They fay 'tis as big as an Eagle, with a golden Neck, the Wings of a Fire Colour, intermix'd with Azure, a white Tail intemperfed with Carnation Feathers, and having atwinkling Star upon its Head. She erects her own Funeral-Pile of Wood and Aromatick Gums, and to burns her feit: From its Ashes arile, a that of Lucifer, the Shepherds Star. Worm, and from this Worm another Phanix.

the Gods revenged the Crime upon the Father Vitellius, the Phanix after a long Series of Years, himself, whom they also struck blind, and tor appear'd in Egypt, and gave ample Occasion to mented him cruelly with Hunger, for as of the fine Wits of Greece and Afia to Discourie upten as he went to eat, the Harpies took away on this Wonder: I'll here recount what is repart of his Victuals, and defiled the reft. O- ceiv'd for Truth; but I shall also add such Things thers fay, that Phiness having loft his Sight, and as are proper to be known, tho' they are not fo his Sons being dead, the Harpies his Daughters well attefted. Those who have described this wasted his Estate, till Zethes and Calais his Bird, set her out different from others, both in Coulins, the Sons of Boreas drove those Women Form and Colour, and say she was consecrated out of the City, and reinvested him in the Pof- to the Sun. As for the Length of her Life, the fession of his Estate, which occasioned the most common Opinion is, That she lives 500 Years, but some have stretched it out even to 14 Ages. Theyadd, There is never but one of them at a time in the World, and that the first appear'd in the Reign of Sefoftris, the fecond in that of Anafis, and third under Prolomy, one of Alexander's Successors, and the third of the Macedonian Race, who reigned in Egypt: They fay alfo, that the came to Heliopolis, or the City of the Sun, accompanied by a vaft Multitude of other Birds, who admired the Strangeness of her Feathers: There was not 250 Years from Ptolomy to Tiberius; and therefore fome believe. that this same was not the Phanix of Arabia, nor the true one, fince it had not the Marks attributed to the others; for 'tis faid, that the Phanix, when the is grown very old, and fees her End draw near, builds a Neft in her own Country, to which fhe communicates fome fecret Principle of Life; infomuch that another Phanix arifes therefrom, whose first Care is to give unto its Parent the Honours of Burial: For which End the makes choice of a great Quantity that delivered Oracles, to fuch as confulted her, of Pertumes, which she carries by little and little, because of their great diffance from the Place. PHOEBE; the Moon which borrows its and then bears away the Deceased's Body, and PHORBAS; the Chief of the Pblegge; a cruel Man, and a Robber, who having jeized on an Avenue, by which they went over Land to the Temple of Apollo at Delphos, forced all Paffengers to fight him, in order to exercise them. they cry in tome Countries Phabe Domine, Who aid he, that they might aft their Part, the better at the Pythian Games: And when he had overcome, he put them to a cruel Death, by to be fabulous, and concerning which the Anci- tying them by their Heads to Trees; but Apollo ents have spoken much, they would have it, to punish this wicked Fellow, encountring him.

goes to burn it upon the Altar of the Sun: This is uncertain, and intermixed with Fables, but

PHORCUS and PHORCYS: a Son of Neptune and the Earth (according to Hefiod) King of Sardinia; who having been overcome in a Fight by Sea, the Poets faid he was a Sea-God, and the Father of the Gorgones.

PHOSPHORUS, the Planet of Venus; daps it with her Wings, in order to fet it on fire, its a Greek Word, which the Latins turned into · PHRIXUS, the Son of Athamas, who to and Flanders, after different Manners: But half avoid the Anger of Ino his cruel Mother-in-Law, and Rome were the principal Places where this that would have killed him, fled away with his Art flourish'd in its greatest Perfection, and Sister Helle upon a Ram, who had a Golden where excellent Artifts were brought up from Fleece, and arrived at Colches, where he offered the Ram in Sacrifice to Jupiter, or as some will have it, to Mars, who placed him among the Twelve Signs of the Zodiac: As for the Golden Heece, he left it to the King of the Country, who hung it up in a Temple, consecrated to Mars, under the Keeping of a Dragon.

PICTURA: Painting: Its not to be doubted, but Painting is as ancient as Sculpture, but tis very hard to know the real Time and Place where it first appear'd; the Egyptians and the Greeks, who make themselves to be the Inventors of the best Arts, have not failed to assume the Glory of their being the first Painters also: In the mean time, as tis very difficult to fee clearly into a Matter that is obscured with the Revolution of fo many Years, which conceal its Original, we ought to be content to know in respect to Painting; that after it had had like unto other Things, its faint Beginnings, it was brought to Pertection among the Greeks, and the principal Schools for this illustrious Art were at Sievone, Rhodes, and Arbens : From Greece it was brought into Italy, where it was in great Fanus and Venilia, according to Ovid: But his Request in the Time of the Republick, and under the first Emperors, till at last Luxury and herein; for Canens would have been above Wars having ruined the Roman Empire, it lay quite buried as well as other Arts and Sciences, and began not to revive in Italy till Cimabue fell loved of Circe, and that not conforming himfelf to to work, and retrieved out of the Hands of some comply with her Love, the transformed him into Greeks the deplorable Remains of it: Some Florentines having seconded him, were those who Peckerfirst appear'd and brought it into Reputation; however it was a long time before any one came to excel in it.

Chirlandaio, Michael Angelo's Mafter, acqui- called Pieria. red the greatest Reputation, tho' his Manner | PIETAS; Piety, whom the Romans worwas very dry and Gotbick; but Michael Angelo Shipp'd for a Goddess. Antoninus Pius caused his Scholar coming up in the Reign of Julius her to be represented in the Dress of a Roman Lathe 2d, obscured all that went before, set up a dy, holding a little Incense Box, named Acerra, School at Florence, and educated several. Pietro in her Hand, and standing before an Altar where Perugino had also Raphaele d' Urbino for his there was a Fire lighted, to offer Incense upon Scholar, who excelled his Mafter very much, it. She may be also seen graven upon the Moand even Muchael Angelo himself : He erected a ney of the said Emperor, holding Two Children School at Rome composed of the most excellent in her Arms, and with Two more, one on each Painters. At the same time that in Lombardy was lide: We have also Piety represented divers fet up, and grew famous under Giorgione and Ti- ways, upon the Medals of Marcus Aurelius, Dotian, whose first Master was Giov Belini: There mitian, and Sabina, Adrian's Wife. She appears were also other particular Schools in Italy under in the Dress of a Roman Lady, in a sitting Podifferent Mafters, as that of Leonardo da Vinci at fture, holding a Javelin without any Spear to Milan: But the first Three are reckoned the it in one Hand, and having little Children at most Famous, from whence the rest sprung. Befides thefe there were Painters on this fide the under the Picture of Marcus Herennius, who Alps, who had no Correspondence with those in carried his Father upon his Shoulders, and of A:-Italy, fuch as Albert Durer in Germany, Hol- near, who did the same by his Father, whom bens in Switzerland, Lucas Van Leiden in Hol- he pulled out of the Flames of Troy. By the Mo-time to time : Raphael's School was succeeded by that of the Carachii, which has continued almost to this time in its Perfection.

Before a Painter in Flanders called fobn Van-Eyek, but better known by the Name of Folm de Bruges, had found out the Secret of painting in Oil, all the Painters wrought in Fresco and Diftemper or Water-Colours; and the Invention of Painting in Oil was not known to the Ancients; the Secret not being found our till the Beginning of the 14th Century. We may fay that Painting did then receive great Affiftance, and an admirable Advantage: For hereby the Colours of a Picture hold a long time, and receive a Luftre and Union, which the Ancients could not give to their Works, what Varnish foever they used to lay on for that Purpose: This Secret which lay hid fo long, confifts of nothing elfe but the grinding of the Colours with Nut or Linfeed Oil.

PICUS, King of the Latins, the Son of Saturn, and Father to Faunus, who reigned 57 Years: He married Canens, the Daughter of Sentiments do not at all agree with Chronology 500 Years old, if the had lived in the Time of Picus: The same Poet tells us, that Picus was bea Bird of the same Name, which is a Wood-

PIERIDES; an Fpithet given to the Mules, upon the Account of their having been born in that part of the Country of Macedon which was her Feet, which she seems to instruct. As also land, and many others, who painted in France ney which Titus the Son of Vespatian coined, Piety.

Domitian together, and making them give one | ment as Ixion, and that Thefens by the means another the Right-hand : She was also exprest of Hercules set him free, when he went into holding Two Children in her Arms, with a Stork | Hell to bring away Cerberus according to Eury that carries her Parents about in their old Age, fleus his Command. and feeds them, which is a Symbol of Piety. At Rome there was a Temple dedicated to Piety by Anilius, in the Place where that Daughter lived, who fuftain'd her Father in Prifon with the Milk of her Breafts.

PILADES; take what Lucien has writ o him in his Praise of an House: ' After this comes an illustrious Example of Friendship, which feems to have been taken out of Sophocles and Euripides ; Pilades and Orestes who were thought to be dead, hid themselves behind Agamen-'non's Palace, they fecretly ftole in, and killed Egyftus, for Clysemneftra was already dead, and laid out upon the Bed half naked: You may 'imagine how aftonished the whole Court was at this Affaffination, some wept, others cried a-I loud or feemed to do fo, thefe fame endeavoured to make their Escape, the others refisted in vain; but the Painter has artfully passed oever what was most criminal, and would not represent the Son killing his Mother, but drew him killing the Adulterer and his Father's Mur-

PINARII, the Pinarians; they were Herrules his Priefts and Sacrificers, who offered Sacrifice to that God Morning and Evening; but the Pinarians happening to come last and at the End of the Sacrifice, Hercules ordered they should ferve the Potitii when they facrificed, to him; reivac. à fame.

PINDUS, a Mountain in Theffaly confecrated to Apollo and the Mules.

PIRÆUS, a very fine Port at Arbens, ca-Puble to contain 400 Ships, it was joyned to the City by a Wall 2000 Paces long, and by a great many Buildings that made it the finest Part of Athens; the Piraus had been fortified divers Times, and they built Porticoes and Temples to the Gods there.

PIRENE, a Fountain rifing from the Foot of Mount Acrocorinthas confectated to the Muies, whole Waters are very clear and exceeding pleasant to the Taste.

PIRITHOUS; the Son of Ixion King of the Lapithe a People of Theffaly, who entred into frict Ties of Friendship with Theseus. He feverely punished the Censaurs, who had injured the Lapisha at a leaft whereunto they had been invited on the Day of his riend's Marriage with Hippodamia: He also affifted him to take away Helen, and the other is his turn helped him to ferch Proferpina back from Pluto, but this Undertaking met with bad Succeis, for Pluto leized them : Some will have it, that Pirishous Was devoured by the Dog Cerberus, others, that appears bringing the Two Brothers Titus and the was condemned to endure the same Punish PISISTRATUS, Hippocrates his Son, who in the Absence of Solon seized upon the Government of Athens, by the Favour of the People whom he won to his Interest by his Liberality to them. He made very good Laws which he added to those of Solon; he was a very great Lover of Learning and learned Men, being the first who erected a Library at Athens, which Kernes, when he took that City, carried into Perfia; he imployed Ariftarchus to put Homer's Books in order, which were before all in Confusion.

PISONES, the Pifo's, an illustrious Family of Rome, so called from Pease, which the first of that Family had taken the Pains to fow.

PITHIA; Apollo's Priestess, who delivered the Responses of that Deity to those that consul-

PITHO; the Goddess of Eloquence or Perswasion, being derived from the Greek Word πείθω, to perswade. The Romans called her Swadela or Swada.

PLATO; a famous Philosopher and the Chief of the Academicks: He was called Ariftocles, and named Plate from his great Forehead and broad Shoulders: He was the moft famous of all Socrates his Disciples, and ecclipsed the rest with the Splendor of his great Reputation; he was of a good Family in Athens, and greatly excelled all his Companions in the Vaftness of and thence comes their Name, quasi & 70; his Understanding; however, not thinking that was enough to make him perfect in the Study of Philosophy, he resolved to travel and went to all Places where he thought he might improve in any thing, and fo he learnt what was most rare and curious among the Egyptians, and from thence went into Italy where the Pythagoreans were in great Effeem; he heard the most Learned amongst them, and easily apprehended what was most valuable in their Doctrine. He divided his Philosophy into Three Parts, viz. Moral, which confifted principally in Action, Phyficks, that related to Speculation, and Logick which ferved to diftinguish Truth from Falshood. Of all the Philosophers his Doctrine comes nearest of any to Christianity: It will furprize you when you read that Plate had Sentiments of God fo conformable to the Truth of our Religion, from whence some have thought that in his Travels to Egypt, he was a Hearer of the Prophet Ferent; or that he had read the Books of the Prophets, And I my felf, fays St. Augustine, have followed this Opinion in some of my Works; but afterwards I came to understand by Cronology. that Plate was not born till about 100 Years after the Prophecies of Fereny, and that the Greek Version of the Septuagint was not done by Prelomy King of Egypt's Order till near 60 | ravished them, they prayed to the Gods to pre-Years after Plato's Death; insomuch that he serve them from his Insults, which they did could neither see feremy who was dead so long by changing them into Stars, and placing them before, nor read the Scriptures which were not in Heaven: 'Tis a Constellation formed of Seyet translated into the Greek Tongue, unless | ven Stars, which are near together towards the you will have it faid that he took care to be in- 18th Degree of Taurus. They are rainy and ftructed therein, as he did in the Egyptian Books | ftormy Stars, and very frightful to Mariners; "not by getting them translated, but by con- they call them in Latin Vergilia, a vere, because versing with the fews vive voce. What fa- they rife about the Vernal Equinox, and set in vours this Conjecture is that the Book of Gene- Autumn. fis begins thus. In the Beginning God created Heaven and Edith, but the Earth was without Form, and void, and Darkness was upon the Face of the Deep and the Spirit of God moved upon the Face of the Waters. And Plate in his Timeas where he | na, was a Minister of State under the Emperor speaks of the Creation of the World, says, Vespatian, he had a very great Knowledge of "That God did first join the Fire and Earth together: It's clear that by Fire he meant Heaven. But what fully perswades me, continues be met with that are false, which he had by hearthe same St. Augustine, 'That Plate had some say, and took from the Relation of others; he Knowledge of our Books, is that Moles alking was suffocated by the Flames of Mount Vejuvithe Angel the Name of him who commanded us, as he approached too near it to observe him to go and deliver the Hebrews, he recei- that Wonder. ved this Answer, I am that I am, thou shalt tell the Children of Ifrael, I am hath fent me to you : | a Book of Epiftles, a Treatife about illustrious But this is that which Plato firmly establishes Men, and a Panegyrick dedicated to Trajan. in his Works, and I do not know it is to be found in any Book older than Plato, except the flourished under the Emperor Irajan and gain'd holy Scriptures. His Writings are almost all great Reputation by his Books: The Lives of divided into Dialogues, in which he introduces lillustrious Men both among the Greeks and Rehis Master Socrates. He died of the Morbus Pe- mans, which he compares with one another, are dicularis and was burried in the Academy of A. the best of his Works and deserve Commendatheus where he had taught Philosophy.

all the Ancients for the Eloquence of his Stile, | ral Knowledge in all Things. he bore the Name of M. Accius, with that of PLUTUS; the God of Riches; Ariftophs. Plantus, because of his splay Feet, as Sextus Pom- nes in a Comedy thus cailed, says, that this God peius fays. He was born in a little Town of Um- having at first a good Eye-light, stuck to no Bobria called Sarcinas: He was much in Esteem at | dy but to the Jult. But Jupiter taking his Sight Rome for the Stage, at the same time that Pub- from him, Riches afterwards tell indifferently to lius Scipio and Marcus Cata were in great Repu- the Share of the Good and Bad: They formed tation for their Politeness; his Comedies are a Delign for the recovering of Plutus his Sight, full of Jefts and witty Railleries, for which Ci- but Penia, which is Poverty, opposed it, and cero commends him, and Varro affures us, that made it appear that Poverty was the Miltrefs of if the Muses would have spoke Latin, they had Arts, Sciences and Vertues which would be in Spoke like Plautus, and Aulus Gellius in his Nodes | Danger of being loft if all Men were rich: They ditica calls him the lather and Prince of the gave her no Credit, or feemed not to believe her, Latin Eloquence: He imitated the Greek Au- lo that Plurus recovered his Sight in Afulupius thors in his Comedies, and amongst others Di- his Temple, and from thence forward the Temphilus, Epicharmus and Menander. Horace fays, ples and Altars of other Gods, and those of he made Money of his Comedies, and when he | Jupiter himfelf were abandoned, every Body had got a good deal, he with that turn'd Mer- lacrificing to no other than to God Plutus. 14chant, but proving unfuccessful that Way, cran in Timon or Mifanthropos brings Jupiter and he was necessitated to turn a Mill, and grind Plutus talking together thus. Corn to lerve a Bakehouse: He died during the Confulfhip of Publius Claudius and Lucius Portius, you are left at Liberty, feeing you formerwhile Cato was Cenfor, in the 144 Olympiad, ly complain'd of Ufurers, who thut you up and the Year of Rome 565.

PLEIADES, they were the Seven Daughters of Arlas and the Nymph Pleione, who find | Thonfand Torments. You faid, that 'twas it

PLEIONE, the Daughter of Oceanus and Tesbys and Aslas his Wife, by whom he had Seven Daughters called Pleiades.

PLINIUS; Pliny the Elder, born at Veronatural Things, of which he wrote extraordinary Books, but wherein divers Matters are to

PLINY the Younger, his Nephew, wrote

PLUTARCHUS, Plutarch of Cheronea tion above the reft. Tho' he is every where PLAUTUS, a Comick Poet, admired by agreeably instructive and she was he had a gene-

Fup. I am amozed to find you angry, because under Lock and Key, without letting you as much as fee the Light, and made you endure a ing themselves pursued by Orion that would have | which made you pale and disfigured and was the Cause that you did endeavour to make your Ehape. You also blamed the Covetous, who Return, fince you do not know the Way? died for Love of you, and in the mean time durit not enjoy you, like the Dog in the Fable, who and that Fate gave me Legs for no other End being tied to the Rack, could not himself eat than to flee away. Hay, and would not furfer the Horse to do it: You faid, that they were jealous, and debarred are blind, pale, meager and lance, that you themselves of all Recreations, without consider- have so many Admirers who die for Love of you, ing that what they loved would one Day be the and who place their Happiness in the Enjoyment Prey of a Thief or some unworthy Heir: Are of you. not you ashamed thus to swerve from your old | Plutus. 'Tis because Love hinders them to see Maxims.

I have Reason for what I do. For some let me before they are advantaged by me.

before they have tafted of it.

you lame as well as blind?

me more.

but Pluto who is also the God of Riches, as his all Laughter is banished out of Hell. great Riches to pass from one Person to ano- about the Temples of the Ancients. ther, &c....

you are blind ?

take one for another. .

by the Collar, and who goes to render you Opinion of Horace in his Sayrs. Thanks for his good Fortune, or fome other God that shall never think of it. Mercury. Was not Jupiter therefore mistaken, when he thought you did enrich Men of Merit. Plutus. How could be think that one blind as lam, could find out a meritorious Person which is fo rare a Thing? But as the Wicked are very Manerous, I meet with them fooner than others. Infpiration, and that the Poets were not only

Mercury. Why is it that you run fo fast in your Plutus. They faid I never faw well but then,

Mercury. Tell me farther, why it is, fince you my Deformity, and that they are blinded with Plusus. If you will hear me, you shall find the Lustre which does surround me. PLUTO, Sanchoniathon makes him to be go through Negligence, and others spare me Saturn and Rhea's Son: He adds that he was at through Stupidity, for want of knowing that if first called Mouth, which in the Phanician and they wied me not I should be of no Benefit to Hebrew Tongue fignified Desth, that they made them, and that they will be forced to leave me, a Deity of him after his Death, and that the Planicians named him fometimes Death and fome-Jupit. They are sufficiently punished for their times Pluto, as Eufebius fays, Nec multo poft Sa-Fault, without your troubling of me to punish turnus alterumex Rhea filium, nomine Mouth, vita them, leeing the one like Tantalus die of Thirst fundum conjectat; quem Phanices mode Mortem, in the midft of the Waters, and the other like modò Plutonem nominant. Diodorus Siculus feems Phineus fee Harpies carrying away their Victuals, to give a Reason why they gave the Name of Death to Pluto, and that was because he was Mercury. Let us go, why do you halt? Are the first that had instituted Funeral Solemnities for the Dead, Plutonem verò funerum & sepultura Plutus. I go always in this manner, when I acparentationu ritus oftendiffe ferunt. The Greeks am fent to any Body and there I come very late, I made a Pluto of a King of the Moloffi, whose Name and many times when there is nothing for me was Aidoneus or Oreus, who was the Person that m do; but when the Business of my Return is stole Proferpina, and whose Dog named Cerberus in Agitation, I go as fast as the Wind, and devoured Pirithous, and had done the same by they are much aftonished that they cannot see Theseus, if Hercules had not come to his Relief. The Greeks called this God Pluto, because all. Mercury. That is not always true, for there manner of Riches are at length swallowed up by are fome People who grow rich while they the Earth from whence they came. Ladantius fays, that Pluto was not only called Orcus, but Plutus. I do not go then upon my Feet, but also Diespiter, being as much as to lay Dis pater. Iam carried; and 'tis not Jupiter that fends me, And that they furnamed him Agefilaus, because Name imports; for he on a sudden makes: PODIUM, Balisters which were set round

POESIS, Poetry. Cicero confesses that Mercury. That happens frequently, but when Poetry is an heavenly Gift and the Influence of you go alone, how can you find the Way feeing a Divine Spirit, that Mankind is fatisfied of this Truth, and that 'tis agreed that the same is no Plutus. I mistake also sometimes and often other than a Divine Rapture which transports Man's Spirit and raises him above himself, but Mercury. I believe it, but what do you do yet fo as that we are not indeed obliged to give the Name of Poetry to such Pieces as are writ Pluts. I turn up and down, to the Right in Verfe, but yet in reality are nothing but and Left, till I find some Body that seizes me Prose, for want of this Divine Spirit: 'Tis the

> Neque enim concludere versum Dixerim effe faru.

Ingenium cui fit, cui mens divinior. atque os Magna Jonaturum, des nominis bujus bonorent.

Plate will have Poetry to be a Divine Gift and Historians.

Historians and Philosophers, but Divines in Ancient Times: St. Hierom informs us, that feveral of the Books of Scripture had been writ in Verse and tho' it were no other in it self than Profe, the Air, the Turn, the Fire and Majefty of Poetry that is to be met with there, may well allow us to fay, that it was Poetry: 'Tis not only the Measures of Feet that make Poetry, but lively Expressions, bold and surprizing Figures, and rich Descriptions: Such fort of Poems there | and Lastantius is of Opinion, that whereas the were among the Greeks and Romans, which are no other than thort Profe, but had such a great Historians, Orators or Philosophers, writ fo and majestick Air of Poetry as was now men-

POET Æ, Poets, they were formerly courted by and lived with great Princes, as their Divines, Philosophers, Historians and Privy Counfellers. Elian upon the Reputation of Plato declares, that Hipparchus, Prince of the Athenians, fent a Gally to fetch Anacreon to him: Hiero of Syracuse, got Pindar and Simonides to live with him. Elian affures us, that Prolomy Philopator, King of Egypt having built a Temple to Homer, he fet him therein upon a I hrone, and pictured all the Cities round about him that contended for his Nativity. Laftly, He lays, that Galato represented Homer with a Stream running out of his Mouth, whither the reft of the Poets came to fetch Water. Plutarch informs us, that Alexander had always Homer's Iliads at his Bed's Blows he received in Wreftling, and especially Head, with his Dagger, faying, it was inftru- from Bebrix, in the Expedition of the Argo-Etive to him in the Military Art. The Romans had a particular Esteem for the Poets, Scipio Africanus had Ennius always with him: Cicero ipeaks of many great Roman Commanders who made use of Poets either to write their History. or with their Veries to adorn the Temples and I always miftake them; but tell me, why are other facred Monuments which they dedicated to the Glory of the Gods. When the Government of the Republick fell into the Hands of the Leda's Two Sons, that one should be mortal, and Emperors, the famous Latin Poets were much | the other immortal, they divided the Good and more familiar with them than the Greek Poets | the Evil between them like good Brothers, and had ever been with their Kings. And in what fo lived and died by turns, and their Buffness is Favour Virgil and Horace were with Augustus is to affift Mariners in a Storm. well known.

There were Poets in the Land of Canaan before Mofes, for Boobart has very well observed, that Mojes in the Book of Numbers hath inferted a victorious Song of a Canzannish l'oet, after he because of the Affistance they believed to have had gained the Victory over the Moabites and received from them, in the Battle they fought Ammonites: There is no doubt but that there were Poets in the East, and that there the Spring- and therefore they erected a very fine Temple head was, from whence came all the Greek Poe- for them. They performed a great many fatry. The less civilized Nations of the West mous Actions, as their delivering their Sister had also Peets, who very often had the Management of their Philosophical and Theological her, and clearing the Seas of Pyrates; they fa-Schools. Homer lived above 300 Years before criticed pure white Lambs to them; they were Rome was built, and there were no Poets at Rome translated to Heaven, and made one of the Signs aill 400 Years after the building thereof; so that of the Zodiac, which is represented by Two Boys. Poetry began not to be cultivated in that City Its the Third from Aries, and in May the Sun entill 700 Years after Homer.

Plutarch affures us, that in the most Ancient Times, Men never exprest great and divine Things any otherwise than in Poetry, making use even of Verse for their History and Philifophy it felf; for the Poets, for 6 or 700 Years before the Philosophers, were the Prefervers of all the Religion and Morality of the Heathens. St. Augustine himself does not deny to the ancient Greek Poets the Title of Divines. Poets, as being more ancient than the ancienteff much Theological Truth, it has proceeded from their collecting together the Stories that went abroad in the World, which arose from an Intercourse with the Children of Ifrael, and their Prophets.

POLLUX, the Son of Jupiter and Leda, and the Brother of Caftor and Helen. Lucian explains the Story of Caftor and Pollux in a Dialogue, between Apollo and Mercury.

Apollo. Will not you teach me to know Caffor from Pollux; for I am continually mistaken hecause of their Likeness to one another?

Mercury. He who was Yesterday with us was Caftor, and this is Pollux.

Apol. How can one diffinguish them, seeing they are to like?

Merc. Pollux has his Face disfigured with the naurs; the other is a handsome Fac'd Fellow. without ever a Scar.

Apol. You have obliged me to let me know the Particulars of it; for feeing each of them has his half Shell, his white Horfe, Dart and Star, not they both at the same time with us.

Merc. It is, because it was decreed concerning

Men fwore by Pollux in this manner. Jule-Pol, that is, per adem Pollucu; and the Women by Caftor, Ecastor or Mecastor. The Romans more particularly protest to give them Honour, near the Lake of Regillus, against the Latins, Helen out of the Hands of Thefeus, who had stole ters into it. Pollux and Helen were the Children fupiter and Leds ; Caftor was the Son of Leds , but Menaceus offered himfelf, then the Battle and her Husband Tindarus; it was pretended surfed in the uppermost Room in the House, also slew her felf.

which they called "ov. Diodorus Siculus relates, that the Argonauts being overtaken with a great Storm, Orpheus made a Vow to the Samothracian Gods, thereapon the Storm ceased, and Two Coelestial Fires appear'd upon the Heads of Caftor and Pollux, who were of the Number of the Argonauts; from whence came the Custom of invoking the him. senothracian Gods in a Storm, and giving those Two Coelestial Fires the Name of Caltor and Pallux. Lucian in a Dialogue between Apollo and Mercury, observes, that these Two Brothers were also invoked in Storms, because they themfelves had used the Seas; as being in the Company of the Argonauts. Cicero relates a wonderful Piece of Revenge taken upon one Scopas, for fivaking irreverently of those Two Brothers, called Diofcorides also, he having been crushed red on him, and not he on you. to pieces by the Fall of his Chamber, while Simonides who had made their Elogy, was called out by Two unknown Persons : The Greek and Roman Histories are full of the wonderful Apparitions of these Two Brothers, either to gain a Victory, or to give News thereof, after the obmining of it. But Cicero himself in another Spight. place tells us, how we are to entertain these Relations: He fays, that Homer himself, who lived a little after these Two Brothers, affirmed, that they were buried at Lacedemon, and confemently that they could not come and acquaint Vaienus of the Gaining of the Victory; that they should rather have communicated the News | Cheese. to Care, than to fuch an infignificant Fellow: laftly, That we should believe the Souls of such great Men to be Divine and Eternal Spirits, but that after their Bodies had been burnt and reduced to Ashes, they could neither ride on POLYHYMNIA, or POLYMNIA; One of the Nine Muses, who presided over the Hymns and Songs that were play'd upon the late and Harp. Hefied attributes the Art of Geometry to her, and Plutareb History.

Horses, nor engage in Battle.

POLYNICES, the Son of Oedipus, King of Thebes, and Brother of Executes; Executes at-Polynices of the Kingdom of Thebes, tho' they had agreed to reign by turns; Polynices retired to Argos, married there the Daughter of King Abultus, and afterwards marched with a formitable Army against Ereocles, to call him to an Account for what he did. Josafta their Mother endeavoured in vain to reconcile them, so both Mes made themselves ready to give Battle:

began, wherein Execcles and Polymices killed one they proceeded from an Egg, because they were another, and Focasta finding them to be dead, POLYPHEMUS; one of the Cyclops, the Son of Neptune, and the Nymph Thoofa, according to Homer. Lucian gives a Description of him in his Dialogues of Sea-Gods, where he introduces Doris and Galasea speaking thus.

Doris. They fay, Galatea, that Polyphemus is in Love with you; you have a fine Lover of Galatea. Doris do not jear, as mean as you think him to be, he is Neptune's Son.

. Dor. What, tho' he were Jupiter's Son; he is as hairy as a Bear, and has but one Eye.

Galar. Hair is a fign of Strength, and his Eye looks very graceful in the middle of his Forehead; fo that he looks as well as if he had had

Dor. It feems to me as if you were enamou-

Galar. Not in the leaft; but I cannot endure your, nor your Companions Jealousie; for while he was feeding his Flocks in the Shade upon Mount Aina, as we were playing on the River. fide, he found me more beautiful than you, and that I suppose makes you ready to burst for

Dor. You have Vanity enough to believe that any Body will be jealous of you; what is there in you worth taking notice of, but your clear Skin, from whence you have obtained the Name of Galatea: He took you to be handsome, because your Complexion is just like his Butter and Galat. But for all that, I have got one of Neptune's Sons to be my Lover: Belides, he is an excellent Muncian.

Dor. Galatea, pray never talk of his Mulick, we heard him the other Day, when he drew near you to fing. Good God, a strange Musician indeed! A pleatant Harp made or a Deer's Skull, whose Horns served for Pins to it! As great an Imitatrix as Eccho is, the was ashamed to answer hun, for his Voice and Inftrument never agreed; and this fine Spark to make him appear the better, carried in his Bosom, a little Bear like himfelf: I do not envy you upon the to the Death of Oedipus, deprived his Brother Account of this stinking one-eyed Cyclobs, who devours his Guefts.

As Polyphemus one Evening was gathering his . Flock together, he found Ulyfles and his Companions in a Grott, and taking them to be Robbers, he closed up the Mouth of it with a Rock: but then discerning some of them by the glimmering of the Fire, which they concealed, he devoured them; hereupon Ulyffes to avoid the like The Prophet Tirefias declared, the Thebans would Usage, gave him some Wine, which he had no get the Victory, if they facrificed Menaceus the fooner drank, but he thought the Cave turn'd San of Crean to Mars; Crean denied his Son, uplide down; and Ulyfes taking Advantage over this his Giddiness, put out his Bye with a Fire- Ceftius or Equitinus, the Equiline Bridge. 5. Pant brand, and faved himself under the Belly of a Janiculenfis and Aurelius built of Marble by Beaft, as he was driving them to Pasture.

POMONA; a Nymph of Latium, reckoned to be the Goddels of Gardens and Fruits.

whom Historians compare with Alexander; he the same is called at this Day, Ponto S. Angeli was furnamed the Great, from his great Actions and excellent Endowments: He built a flanding Theater at Rome: for before they erected | feized the Ambassadors of the Albbroges, with none but as there was occasion for them: Dio accuses him of boundless Ambition, and Envy mixed with Vanity, fince he envyed those Ho- Bridge that Constantine defeated the Emperor nours to Cafar, which he had acquired: He was | Maxentius. defeated by Cafar in the Plains of Pharfalia, and fleeing into Egypt to King Ptolemy, he was affaffinated and killed in a Bark as he was going a- or Anio. shoar, his Head was sent to Cafar, who shed Tears at the fight thereof.

dry Things are weighed. As the Weights of Pontiffs had to facrifice; others, as Varro, from the Romans and Greeks agreed very much with Pons, because they built the Sublician Bridge their Money, you may see under the Word Mo- that they might go and offer Sacrifice on the

been faid concerning them.

of them in Rome : The Sublician Bridge, which ritu frant. was a Bridge of Wood: For the Word Sublica fignified Wooden Piles which were driven under the Water: It was the first that was built upon the Tiber; Ancus Martius made it of Pieces of Timber fet together without Iron or Nails, it stood at the Foot of Mount Aventine, and joined the Faniculum to the City: 'Twas that which Horatius Cocles defended against the Tuscan Army, but being ruined through length of Time, it was rebuilt of Stone by Emilius Lepidus, and called after his Name: The Emperor Tiberius able, and called Pontifices Majores, whereas the rebuilt it in his I ime, it being deftroyed by the others took the Title of Ponsifices Minores. trequent Inundations of the Tiber: Happening afterwards to fall down again, Antoninus built it all of Marble, and 'twas called Pons Marmora- Person and sovereign Judge in Matters of Relisus; Maletactors, Vagabonds and the Argian gion, and to whose Care the Direction of all Ce-Images were thrown off of this Bridge into the remonies both Publick and Private and all the Water. 2. That called the Triumphal otherwise | Articles of their Faith was wholly committed; Varican Bridge, that stood upon the Middle of he prescribed the Ceremonies and particular the Tiber, over which those that triumphed pas- | Worship wherewith each God was to be honoursed, and is now ruined. 3. Fons Palatinus, ed, after the same by a Decree of the Senate had which was near Mount Palatine, and otherwife been received at Rome, and to him belonged the named Senatorius. M. Fulvius made the Piles | Composing of the Rituals or Books of Ceremothereof, and L. Mummius finish'd the Arches nies: It was he that approved of the Vestal Virduring the Time of his Cenforship. 4. Pons gins, and appointed them their Habits, that Fabricius, which was divided into two, when corrected, chaftifed and condemned them to be the Island of the Tiber was made, it being so buried alive, when they violated their Vow of called from him who built it, when he was chief Chastity: All the Orders of Priests and Sacri-Surveyor of the high Ways. It joined the Island ficers were under his Inspection. Anciently he to the City, and it is at this Day named Di qua- took upon him to perform the Functions of an ero capi, from the Four Marble Figures, each of Augur, but C. Servilius, the great Pontiff, bewhich have Four Heads standing at the End of ing one Day about to solemnize the Inauguratithe Bridge in the Island, or the Jews Bridge, on of Cornelius Dolabelia, a Storm fell suddenly

Antoninus Pius; and coming to be ruined, was rebuilt by Pope Sextus IV. and called after his Name di ponte Sixto. 6. Pons Elius, so called POMPEIUS: Pompey, the Son of Strabo, from the Emperor Elius Adrianus who built it. 7. Pons Milvius, now Milvio, which Elius Scaurns built : It was upon this Bridge that Cicero Letters about them, whereby Catiline's Confpiracy was discovered, and it was near unto this

At Three Miles Diffance from Rome flands Salaro Bridge under which runs the Teveren

PONTIFEX; Authors differ about the tymology of this Word, some deriving it from PONDUS; Weights, wherewith liquid and poffe facere, i. e. from the Authority which the neta, or under each particular Coin, what has other Side of the Tiber. Pontifices a ponte arbitror dictos; nam ab iu Sublicius est fallm & re-PONTES, Bridges. There were Eight Stitutus Sepe, cum ideo facra & uls & cu Tiberim

> Numa inflituted Four Pontiffs of Patrician Families which continued to the Year 454. when in the Confulfhip of Apuleius Panfa and Valerius Corvus, they created Four more of Plebeian Race at the Importunity of the Tribunes of the People, as Livy favs. This Number of Eight lafted till the Dictatorship of Sylla, who added Seven more, and so the Colledge came to confift of 15 Pontiffs, but with this Diflinction that the first Eight were more honour-

There was a fovereign Pontiff called Pontifex Maximus instituted by Numa, who was the chief because they live near it; Others called it Pons and broke up the Attembly, and thereupon as an digest the Annals or Histories that were kept for marry a Woman who was with Child, before she agnitudine; sed quod eos Pontisex Maximus con- siees an concepto ne dum edito partu rite nuberes.

Father's Place that was dead, and this Suetonius informs us in Nero's Life: Cn. Domitius in Tribungu Ponsificibus offensior, quòdalium quam se in patru fui locum cooptaffent, jus facerdotum fubrogandorum à collegiu ad populum transtulit: There are fome who believe with more Likelihood, that the chief Pontiff had been always created in an Affembly of the People held by the Tribune: It being that which Cicero feems to fay ed, the Colledge of the Pontiffs had a Right to examine him, whether he were fitly qualified | that Verse in the 12th Eneid of Virgil. for that Dignity, viz. that he were of an unblameable Life, had never fled Blood, and ikilled in both the Civil and Divine Law. His Confectation was performed with extraordinary Ceremonies, they made him go down into a Pit made in the Earth, clad in his Pontiwas full of Holes over him, whereon the Sacrifi- I quum dicimus. ers killed a Bull, whose Blood dropping like Dew dafted him to his House where he treated them | turn. L. 3. C. 2. fplendidly: This Prudentius tells us in the Mar-He was the Chief of all the Priefts, and to him to observe good or bad Oniens from them. appertained the fovereign Jurisdiction of Reli-Emperor's Palace: They carried him in a Litter to | ing of it. the Capitol: He was not obliged to give any Body effect of their Superstition, it was ordered that i an Account of his Actions, and this was the Reathe great Pontiff should not any more inter- fon that the Emperors themselves from Julius meddle with the Bufiness of Inauguration, un- | Cafar took the Office of chief Pontiff upon them. ishe were Augur and grand Pontiff both: He till Gratian, who of himself laid it down. The heft and confecrated the Images and Statues of other Pontiffs looked after Matters of Religion the Gods, before they were fet up in the Tem- in Conjunction with the chief Pontiff, and they ples to be adored; he also bleft the Resemblances | consulted them as the Interpreters of the Gods of some of Jupiter's Thunder-bolts, in order to and Divine Mysteries, in Marriages and Adoptimeserve them from Storms: Besides these things ons; and Tacinus tells us, that Nero consulted hat related to Religion, it was his Bufine's to the Pontiffs in order to know whether he might every Year, as Feflus lays, Annales maximi non were delivered; Confulti per ludibrium Ponti-

POPÆ; were fuch Perfons as attended the The Choice of a chief Pontiff was at first in the Sacrifices, whose Business it was to provide Vi-Power of the other Pontiffs, who elected him Stims, and to kill them after they had knocked out of their own Body; but Cn. Domisius Tri- them down: They were half naked, their Shoulbune of the People deprived them of that Right, ders, Arms, and upper Part of their Bodies beand transferred it to the People, because they ing uncovered as far as their Navels, and the would not confer this Dignity upon him in his rest covered to the Mid-leg with a Linnen Apron, or the Skins of the Sacrifices, wearing a Crown upon their Heads which was usually made of Lawrel: Thus they were represented on Trajan's Column: But in the mean time there are other ancient Figures which represent them with a Priest's Albe reaching down from their Armpits and tucked up, to which their facrificing Knife was fastned: This Apron was called Limus. because at the lower End of it, it had a Purple in the Agrarian Law. But if the People present- Welt which was sowed in such a manner as reprefented a Serpent. And this Servius tells us upon

Velati limo & verbena tempora vinili.

Limus, says he, vestis est quâ ab umbilico usque ad pedes teguntur pudibunda Poparum; bec ausem vestu in extremo sui purpuram limam id est flexuofical Habit, and laid a Wooden Trap-door that I sam babet: unde & nomen accepit, nam limum obli-

POPLIFUGIUM; the Flight of the through the faid Holes, wetted the Pontiff all People, which happened according to some Auover; he rubbed his Face, Lyes, Mouth, and even | thors, when Romulus was killed as he was haranhis Tongue therewith: That being done, they ging the People, and that an horrible Clap of took up the Trap-door, and the Flamines lifted | Thunder made them fly up and down for Fear, the grand Pontiff out thence, all beimeared with or when after the Defolation of the City oc-Blood, and in this State they faluted him with calioned by the Gauls, the Romans were put to thefe Words, Salve, Pontifex Maxime, and con- | Hight by the Tufcans, according to Macrobius Sa-

PORRICERE; ('twas a Term used at tyrdom of St. Romanus towards the latter End. | ancient Sacrifices) which tignified to throw the Summus Sacerdos nempe fub terram ferobe alla in | Entrails of the Victim into the Fire of the Sarofundum confecrandus mergitur mire infulatus: crifice, after they had been inspected, in order

Inter c.sfa & porretta; between the cutting of gon, and Conferring of fuch Offices as did be- the Victim's Throat and inspecting his Entrails: long to the Worship of the Gods. He was car- the same being a Latin Proverb to denote any ned in a Chair which they called Sella Curulin, Accident which may happen when we are just and his Door was adorned with Lawrel like the finishing of a Thing, and hinders the Compleat-

PORTA; a Gate, Pliny fays, that in his in Summer on the North-fide: These covered Time there were 37 Gates belonging to the Ci- Portico's ferved for People to walk under, and to ty of Rome: There are still 9 of the ancient recreate themselves without being exposed to Gates in being besides that on the other Side of the Injuries of the Weather: They were called the Tiber and the Vatican. 1. The first and prin- Stadiata Portici. cipal was of Old called Flumentana or Flaminia, the Hill of Gardens and through which they went Road was called via Collatina. 3. Quirinalu, because through it they went to Mount Quirinal; via does, it is now called porta Salara, because through it they bring Salt into the City. 4. Viminalia, because of Mount Viminal, the same being now called Momentane, or St. Angelo. 5. Esquilina, or Taurina and Tibursina, because they went thro' it to go to Tibur. 6. Porta Calimontana, thro' which they went to Mount Calius. 7. Porta Latina or Ferentina, which lead to the Country naus his 50 Daughters, ranged in their proper of the Latins. 8. Capena and Fontinalis at the Order. Nero adorned his Palace with Three Foot of Mount Aventine, and near the Tiber, and there they had divers Fountains, which Reason they were called Porsicus milliaria. made Juvenal call it Madida Capena. By this Gate they entred into the great Road called via Appia; and 'twas through it that such as triumphed and the whole Cavalcade that attended them, entred, and fo they called it also Triumpha

There were Three Gates in Trans-Tiberina. 1. Ripa, where the Barks that came from Offia from the Greek Word 6700 that fignifieth a and the Sea landed, and the same was formerly called Portuenfis and Navalis. 2. Stood on the Top of the Faniculum, and was formerly called Aurelia, being so named from the Road, which one Aurelius a Man of Consular Dignity paved: | porticus, or crypto-porticus, Through this Gate they went along by the Tufsan Sea as far as Pifa. 3. Septimiana which frood at the Foot of the Faniculum, and was so called from Septimius Severus who built it.

that entred at it.

PORTICUS, a Portico or Gallery, joined to private or publick Buildings: The Magaincence and Beauty of their Portico's was some- ionour of him and certain Combats in Greece thing extraordinary among the Romans. They had private ones for the Conveniency of private they were performed in the Islamus of Corimb. Houses, and the publick ones served for an Ornament to their Theaters and publick Buildings. Theater, whither the Actors retired and undreft These Partico's were sometimes covered and iometimes open: The covered ones conjifted of long Galleries supported usually by one or more, by the Romans, because she foresaw what was Rows of Marble Pillars, and within fide inrich- to come. ed with Statues, Painting, and other Orna-

POT

The open Portico's which were called Subdiales now del Populo, upon the Banks of the Tiber, to- Ambulationes, served for Places to wrestle in: wards the Winter-weft, according to Marlian's Of all the Portico's built at Rome, the most con-Description L. 1. C. 8. 2. Was called Collati- liderable were those of Pompey, Augustus and na being on the Right-hand, leading towards Nero: Pompey built his before his Court, and it was the pleasantest Walk in all the City and the to Collaria a City of the Sabines, and the great cooleft in Summer, and this made the Poets by way of Excellency call it Pompeia umbra, as o-

> Tu modò Pompeià lentus spatiare sub umbrà, Cum Sol Herculei terge Leonis adit.

Augustus's served for an Ornament to his Palace and Library: The Pillars were of Numidian Marble, and there were the Statues of Da-Portico's each of 3000 Paces long, and for that

The Athenians were also very curious in Portico's, and therein it was that their Philosophers kept their School: The most famous was that which they called Pacile, where they had a Brass Statue of Mercury and the finest Paintings that lis. 9. Oftenfis and Trigemina, because of the could be seen, and among the rest that which Three Horatii who killed the Three Curatii, represented the Battle of Marathon: There it was Zeno kept his School, for which Reason he was called the Stoick, and those of his Sest Stocks, Partico.

The Ancients had also Subterranean Portico's built like arched Galleries, to cool themselves in in Summer time; they called them Subterrance

POLTORIUM, Cuftom or Impost laid upon the Importation and Exportation of Goods. PORTUMNUS; a Sea-God called Meli-cersus and Palamon by the Greeks, the Son of Ino who was looked upon as a Deity presiding over corts, there were Games celebrated in called Porsumnales and Ilibmian Games, because POST-SCENIUM, the back Part of the

themselves. POST-VORTA: a Goddess worshipped

POTITII, the Positians, they were Herments, with flately and magnificent Arches. On cules his Priefts confecrated by Evander, who the Sides were feveral. Windows that with a were present at the sacrifice offered by Hercules precious Stone, (which was more transparent after he had found his Oxen which the Thief than our Glass.) In Winter time they opened Cacus had ftole: He invited Two confiderable them towards the South to let in the Sun, and Families to this Sacrifice, to wit, the Positians and Pinarians. This Prieftly Office was afterwards transferred into the Hands of the publick Slaves, which happened in the Year of Rome 441. when Appius Claudius having corrupted the Potitians with Money they loft this Office which had been appropriated to their Family by Eof Beafts. PRÆCIÆ and PRÆCLAMITATO RES, Criers; being Officers that went along the Streets of Rom. before the Flamen dialu, to cause all People to give over their Work on pubperformed.

of the People to call the Classes and Centuries according to their Order, and to cause Silence Sacrificing.

Tiberius made but one, viz. Sejanus his Favounite, who periwaded him to keep all the Companies of the Guards together, (they being beneighbouring Parts) in a Place near unto the was, that the Soldier, being dispersed in that manner must necessarily be debauched; and if now more in Readiness to give their Ashstance. These Companies of the Guards made 10000 effective Men at first, and in time amounted to a compleat Army, which made them formidable to Rome. The Emperor Commodus made Three Prafeili pratorio, according to Lampridius, but afterwards other Emperors made but Two, and this lasted till Constantine's Time. These Pre feets at first were taken out of the Order of Knights only, and 'twas a fundamental Law that could not be dispensed with ; whence it was that Mark Antony according to the Relation of Fulius Capitolinus, exprest his Displeasure that he was for, Prajedus pratorio, because he was a Senator. Doluit Marcus, quod cum Senator effet, Prafettu conferred this Charge upon his Juglers, ac- bute this Change to the Emperors Valenticording to Lampridim, and Alexander Severm made use of Senators, which was never practifed before, fays the same Author in his Life, or at least very seldom; for except Titus the Son of Vespasian, who was a Senator and a Man of Conular Dignity, that was conflituted Prafettus nunder. There Priests were clad with the Skins pratorio under his Father, as Suetonius says, or Cremerus Aretinus, according to Tacitus, we do not find in History that any Senator enjoy'd it till this Emperor's Time.

When the Emperor inflituted this Officer. he made a short Speech concerning the Dignity lick Holy days, for if they faw any one at of the Charge, and the Duties of the Person en-Work, the Service of the Gods could not be trufted with it, then he presented him with a Sword and Belt, and fometimes put a naked PRÆCO; the Publick Crier, he was an Sword into his Hand, saying as Trajan did to Officer whole Buliness it was in the Affemblies | Licinius Sura, 'Receive this Sword, and imploy it for my Service, if I govern well, but if otherwife, make use of it against me. This Dion to be kept in the Temples during the Time of Cassius informs us in Trajan's Life: This Officer was degraded by diverting him of the Sword PRÆFECTUS PRÆTORIO; he and Belt, as Galba did by Tigillinus and Sabinus was the chief Commander of the Pratorian Bands, who were Prafelli pratorio, as we read in Philoand may be called Collonel of the Guards. | firatus. These Officers commanded the Guards The Inflitution of this Office is attributed and all the Armies and administred Justice, to Augustus who according to Dio established the Emperors leaving to them the Management Two of them out of the Order of the Knights: of all Affairs: They may be compared with the ancient Mayors of the Palace in France, who were the fecond Perfons in the Kingdom, and to whose sole Management the Kings of the first fore dispersed up and down the City and in the | Line left all Things; they thinking it enough to shew themselves once a Year to the People. Walls, towards Porta Viminalii, which was cal | But Constantine the Great did a little moderate led Caffra Pratorianorum: his Pretence for it the Power of the Prafellus pratorio, for to punish him that had declared himself in Favour of the Tyrant Maxentius and demolished the Cittadel any fudden Accident happened, they would be at Rome which Sejanus had caused to be built; and having divided the Empire into Four Governments, he conflituted Four General Governours or Prafetti pratorio over them, each bearing the Name of their particular Government. These Governments were those of Gaul, Sclavonia called Illiricum, Italy and the Bast, so that there was a Prafestus pratorio Galliarum, or a Pratorian Prefect of the Gauls, one of Italy, another of East Sclavonia, called Illiricium Orientale, who had his Refidence at Theffalonica, and the Fourth of the East, that relided in Syria. These Two last had all the East under their Government, which was divided into 60 Provinces: not able to make Persinax, who was his Success [and the first Two all the West divided into 58. They had Lieutenants under them, whom they commanded in an absolute manner, and they patorio a se sierinon posset. The Emperor Com- were called Vicarii. When Comstantine had modus being afraid to confer this Office upon established these Four Governours, he de-Paternus, dexteroally disappointed him of it by prived them of the Command of the Army conferring upon him the Honour of the Laticla- which originally did belong to them, and revium and making him a Senator, as Causabon quired every one of them to administer Justice explains that laffage, Per Lati-clavi bonorem a within his Government with supream Porefedura administratione submovit: Heliogabalus wer. There are other Authors who attrimian, Gratian, and Theodofius, but Zozimus does; Ringuish Brothers one from another, as Peter. it to Constantine.

They had a Tribunal where they administred Juffice, and they passed Sentence by Word of Mouth and not in Writing as other subordinate Magistrates did, Non pronuntiabant ex sabella fed verbo. They had the Priviledge of the Sword which they wore by their Sides, that is, to pass a final Sentence of Death without further | firiti, because it was a Ceremony whereby they Appeal. In the Place where they administred acknowledged them for their lawful Children: Juffice there flood a Table covered over with Scarlet Tapistry and Gold Fringe round it, upon which there was a Book shut, on the Cover whereof was the Emperor's Picture, and on each of the 10th Book attributed to Valerius Maxi-Side Two gilded Candlefticks with lighted Wax-Candles; twas in this manner he administred Juffice, that so a greater Solemnity might be added to the Majesty of the Roman Empire. This Book was that which the Emperors gave in his last Epistle of L. 6. calls his Nephew Quinto these Governours, when he sent them into tum Ciceronem puerum; its very likely that he their Governments, and therein was contained the Duties of their Office. Lazius tells us that the Marks of the Pratorian Præfect's Dignity, were the Priviledge of the Sword, the Rods, the Curule-Chair, the Scepter or Ivory-Staff, the Pretext-Robe, the Laticlavium and the Trabea; also the Infula or Mitre to wear on their Heads, and a Company of Archers for a Guard: When these Przefects went from Rome to their Governments, they left their Children with the Emperors as a Security of their Fidelity.

PRÆFECTUS URBIS; The Prefect or Governour of the City; he was formerly one of the chief Magistrates of Rome, who governed | Code, and in the Law Penul. codem, where his it in the Absence of the Consuls and Emperors. His Bufiness was to look after the Provision, Civil Government, Buildings and Navigation: his Bed and Cloathing. See Panciroli, Notitie His Power extended to a 1000 Stones Throw without Rome, according to Dion : He was the proper Judge in the Causes of Slaves, Patrons, and Freed-men : He convened the Senate, judged the Senators, and defended their Rights at Rome till the Age of Fifteen; and their and Prerogatives, as Cassiodorus will have it : Daughters till they were married : The Magi-He was obliged on the first Day of the Year | firates, Augurs, Priests and Senators were it on to go and make the Emperor a Present in the solemn Days, as Authors inform us. Name of all the People, of some Gold Cups, with Five Pieces of Money, as Symmachus fays, Vobis solemnes pateras cum quinis solides ut Numinibus integritatis offerimus.

PRÆFERICULUM, a Vase used at the Sacrifices of old, that had a prominent Mouth, like unto some Vessels now used.

a fort of mourning Women, who at Funeral Solemnities praised the Deceased, made a Lamentation, beat their Breafts, and ditorted their Faces to incite others to mourn. See Funus and Strates. Exequiæ.

put before the general Name, and fignified as But afterwards the Generals of the Army, and much as our proper Name which serves to di- even the Emperors themselves were called Pra-fobn, Fames. This Pranomen was not brought in use till long after the Name; and therefore it was a Custom among the Romans to give to their Children the Name of the Family, on the the 9th Day after their Birth, if they were Boys, and on the 8th to Girls, according to Feffus and Plutarch, and these Days they called Dies In-Whereas the Pranomen was not given till they took upon them the Virile Robe, that is, about the Age of 17, as appears by the Epitome mus: This also is manifest by Cicero's Epistles. where his Children are always called Ciceronis pueri till that Age, after which they were called Marcus filius, Quintus filius. And whereas Cicero milapplies the Word puer, either to diffinguish him from his Father, who was also called ouintus, or perhaps, because it was but a very short time fince he had taken the Virile Robe upon him. There was usually Care taken in conferring this Pranomen, to give that of the Father to the Eldest Son, and that of the Grand-father and Ancestors to the Second, and so on.

PRÆPOSITUS facei cubiculi ; this Name may be given with us to the Lord Chamberlain, who marched, at the Performance of any Ceremonies, after the Master of the Horse-Guards; as you have it in the laft Law of the Charge is inferted, which was to keep himfelf in the Emperor's Chamber, and to take care of Imperii, & Bollanger, L. 3. C. 13.

PRÆTEXTA; a Robe to called, which was a long and white Veft, edged with a Purple Border, the Sons of Persons of Quality wore it

PRATEXTATI, were fuch Children as fill wore the Robe called Pratexta.

Pratextata verba, and Pratextatus fermo; they were lascivious and wanton Expressions used by Children, when a young Woman was married. Pratextata Comadia; a Comedy, wherein Kings and Magittrates, who had a Right to wear PRÆFICÆ MULIERES: They were the Robe edged with the Purple Border, were represented upon the Stage.

Pratextane altiones, were fuch Things as appertained to the Actions of Kings and Magi-

PRÆTOR; a great Magistrate in Rome, PRENOMEN; it was that which was At first all the Magistrates were called Prators : urs. Afterwards they conflitted Prators to ad- | ever. Augustus reduced them to 12, and Tibe-

was. The Word Prator was peculiarly applied Off. Prat. to this new Magistrate, for before it belonged on made by the Conful Sulpicius against him.

and their Bufiness was diffinet; for one admini- Ep. 10. ad Asticum. fired luftice to the Citizens of Rome, and for l was called Prator peregrinus: The first was more bonourable than the other, and so he was entit- of the Treasury or Exchequer. led, Prator honoratus, and his Edicts named Jus lity of Governours and Judges; and this was War met. of them with two more, but the Triumvirs in who did not for take him in Battle. gealed them to 64, according to Dion: How.

minister Justice to the Citizens, and others to rius being sollicited to increase the Number, re-Strangers: And laftly, there were Prators made | fused it, as Tacitus says, L. 1. Tiberius afterfor the Government of Provinces. His Power | wards named 12 Prætors, the Number established was very great, for the Prator could alter Laws, by Augustus, and as the Senate pressed him to inrepeal them. and make new ones; from whence crease them, be swore be would not do it : However you have in the Law mention made often of the he increased them to 15, in the Year 786, according to Dion: The Emperor Claudius enlar-For the better understanding the Dignity of | ged the Number to 18; but upon the Decleniithe Prators, it will be proper fully to examine on of the Empire, they were reduced to 3 only, the Reason of their Name, Inflitution, Num- as we may see by the Laws of the Emperors Vaber, Dignity, and what their Power and Charge leminian and Macrinus, fet forth, L. 2. C. de

The Prætorship was the second Office for Digto the Confuls, and all Persons in Authority, nity in Rome, since 'twas conferred by the same whether in Civil or Sacred Things; hence it is Auspices as the Consulship, and that the Prators that we read in some ancient Epitaphs, Presor | were in History called College Consulum, as Livy Sacrorum, Prator Juventutie: Which is confirm'd observes, L. 7. Decad 1. The exterior Ensigns by Asconius Pedianus; Non solum veteres omnem of this Office were the Robe called Pratexta, the Magistratum, cui pareret exercitus, Pratorem ap Curule Chair, and fix Listors. This Office was pellarunt: Sed quemeunque in re profana five etiam | Annual, and he who discharged the same with facra prafellum; The Ancients not only called Honour, and without any Difgrace, had a Right those Prators who commanded the Armies, but for all his Life-time to wear the Pratexta, and also such as had the Charge either of Sacred or white Trabea, but such as were guilty of Male-Civil Things. The Occasion of creating this Administration were forced to lay it down, as it Magistrate, was a Multiplicity of Business upon happen'd to Bembius Pampbilus. All their Busithe Conful's Hands (and this was Anno 388,) nels in general confifted in Three Things, vire and the Necessity the Republick found it feli un- to administer Justice to Citizens and Strangers. der of granting to the People a Consul of their | to preside over Games, and to take Care of the own Order; for the Senate did not allow it but | Sacrifices : Justice was administred by these mon Condition that a new Magistrate should be Three Words, Do, Dico, Addico; Do signified created, that is, the Prator, who was taken out to receive and admit the Plaintiff to commence of the Patrician Order: But in the Year 416, his Suit; Dico to fummon, or give a Summons up-9. Philo, a Plebeian, got himself advanced to the on Oath, or deliver it to the Person in Possession. Office of Prator, notwithstanding the Oppositi- to dispatch Matters of Adoptions and Emancipations, and to make Edicts as a Supplement to the There was no more but one of them from the Civil Law; and Addico to adjudge, condenin-Year 388, till 510, according to Lipfius; but Bu- and pronounce Sentence; He was to overfee the finess coming to increase so much by reason of the Games, as Livy has it, L. 8. Decad 1. as also great Number of Citizens and Strangers that Martial and Juvenal: They took Care of the ame to live in Rome, and one being not enough, Sacrifices offered to the Goddess called Bona Dea. they thought it proper to conftitute another, as Plutarch fays in Cafar's Life, and Cicero, L. I.

PRATORES CEREALES, or FRIL that Reason was called Prator urbanus; and the MENTARII; Prators, whose Business it was. other took Cognizance of the Suits that happen- to lee that Rome was supplied with Corn; they the between the Citizens and Strangers, and he were established by Julius Casar.

PRÆTORÉS ÆRARII; the Officers.

PRÆTORIUM; the Place where the binorarium, as the Lawyers fay. But towards Prator administred Justice; it was also his Pathe Year 520, when Sicily and Sardinia were lace, and fometimes his Pleature house: Besides reduced into Provinces, they appointed Two which it fignified the Tent or Pavillion of the new Pragers, whom they fent thither in the Qua- General of the Army, where the Council of likewise done, when the Spaniards were conquer- PRATORIANI; the Soldiers, who were ed, as Livy informs us, who fays they made Six the Emperor's Guards: Scipio Africanus was the Prators for that Year, fex Pratores eo anno pri- first who established a Company of the Bravest. min creati. Sylla also encreased the Number of his Army, whom he choice for his Guards, and PRI

and honoured with the Priviledge of a Roman rus adds, that in order to the advancing the Citizen, an excellent Statuary, whole Works Creditor this Montter of Impurity, they made were all Mafter-pieces: Among others there him to be the Son of Venus and Bacchus. was Cupid's Statue, which the Thespians bought for 800 Golden Mina Attica, and was brought Name of Priagus, because he was much honour. to Rome by Julius Cafar: But the most Considerable was the Statue of Venus, which half open- Wines: But this Author fays afterwards, that ed her Lips, as it the smiled: The Industry of the Worship of Priapus was new, that Hefiod the Artist overcame the Stone it self; insomuch | did not know him, but that he was very like unthat the Hardness of the Marble exprest the most delicate Features of so beautiful a Body: There was a Mole upon the Goddess's Thigh, which was the more conspicuous, because the rest was of white Marble finely polithed. Lucian in his observes, that even before this Prispus, the Greeks Dialogue of the Lovers, does also discover unto us the Cause of this Mole: "The Sacristan, he or the that officiated there, for they fay, 'twas 'a Woman, told us somewhat that amazed us; she 'faid that a young Man of Noble Birth, but one whose Infamy buried his Name in Oblivion, being prompted by fome evil Genius, fell in Love with this Statue; wherefore he spent all his time in the Temple to contemplate her, having his Eyes always fixed upon her.... ' His Fassion continuing; all the Temple Walls and Trees round resounded nothing but his Love: It extoll'd Praxiteles above Aupiter, and | grew up, he was fo mightily beloved of the gave all that it had for an Offering to the God- Women, that the Lampfactors hanished him out 'des: It was believed at first that his Devoti- of their City; but finding themselves taken with on lead him thither, but he being at length a ftrange Diftemper in their privy Parts, and transported with Madness, hid himself one having consulted the Oracle thereupon, they 'Night in the Temple, and fome Mark of the 'Violence of his Paffion was discovered next

Sea, is uncertain. PRIAMUS; the Son of Laomedon, he was with his Sifter Hesione taken Prisoner by Hercules, and ransomed for Money; he ascended his of Vesta when asleep, Silenus's Ais bray'd, awaked Father's Throne, and reign'd over the Trojans, and all Afia: He married Hecuba, by whom he had teveral Children; and Pari amongst the first Groom or first Gentleman or the Bedreft, who going to Greece, under Pretence of demanding Hefione his Aunt's Liberty, took a way Helen from Menelaus, which caused the Gre- | Secreta y of State; who kept a general Register cians to engage in that War against the Trojans, of the whole Empire. Tacitus in the first Book that lafted Ten Years: At last Troy was deftroy'd, of his Annals tells us, that the Emperor Auand Priamus killed by Pyrrbus the Son of Achilles, | gustus had made a Journal of the Empire, wherenear un o the Attar of Jupiter Herceius.

PRIAPUS; the Poets made him to be Venus and Bacebus's Son; he was not a Man, of the Armies, Kingdoms, Provinces, Impofts, but the Representation of those Parts that Revenues, and at last a State of the Charge; ferve for Generation, which Isis caused to be the whole was writ by Augustus his own Hand: made and worshipped, when after the rest of Ofiris his Body was found, which had been cut to pieces by his Enemies, there was none but this wanting, the Picture whereof he required should | spellabilis Primicerius Notariorum, who had sebe adored: it is Worthip spread it self every- veral Secretaries under him called Iribuni Nowhere, and this infamous Figure was to be feen | sarii. in most Temples; in Vineyards and Gardens

PRAXITELES; a Native of Great Greece, over whom Primus was faid to prefide. Diode-

Strabo speaks of a City in Troas that bore the ed there, and that it abounded with excellent to the other petty Deities of the Athenians: But this Worship could be no where new except in Greece, if according to Diodorus Siculus, it prevailed in Egypt in the Days of Ifis. Strabe were not without some other the like Representations. Some have thought, that the Image and Worship of Priapus began to obtain in the World, after Sefoftru, King of Egypt had fubdued a great Part thereof; and left all those immodest Pictures, as an Instance of their Lasciviousness and Victories, in all the Provinces: Venus proftituting herfelf to Bacchus, and being ready to lie in, the retired to Lampfacus, a City in Phrygia, where the was brought to Bed of Priapus, who was born with a prodigious large Genital : Venus left him in that City, where after he recalled him, and fet up his Statue in their Orchards and Gardens to frighten the birdsaway, Day, but he seen no more; and whether it were they represented him like a Man stark naked that he fell down over the Rocks, or into the with ditheveled Hair, holding a Sickle in one Hand, and his Genital in the other: They facrificed an Ass to him, because Priapus, according to Ovid, going about to violate the Chaffity her and prevented her being debauched by him.

PRIMICERIUS CUBICULI; the Chamber.

PRIMICERIUS NOTARIORUM, in was contained the . umber of Roman Soldiers and Strangers that were in Service, that The Emperors at first lest the keeping of this Journal to their Freed men, which were called Procuratores ab Ephemeride, and afterwards Vir turion who had Charge of the Banner; Collonel of the first Legion among the Romans.

PRIMITIE; the first Fruits of the Earth, which were offered to the Gods upon an Altar made like a Trivet. PROBUS, a Roman Emperor, that fucceeded Tacisus; he was a Pefant's Son of Dal-Endowments supplied all the Defects of his a Pheasant, and Tereus to a Lapwing. Birth, in so advantagious a manner, that it proved to be no Impediment to him! In Gaul he took Revenge upon 400000 Germans, whom he descated, for the Cruelties they had exercised towards those that were faithful to the Empire, in divers Irruptions made by them : God gave him a famous Victory over the Sarmatians in Iland Proculus rebelled against him, one in the Provinces near the Rhine, and the other in that Part of Gaul which is about Lyons. But they both unhappily perished: It's indeed true, that the Inroads made by the Franksinto all the Pro-Victories: Death put a Stop to the Triumphs which Probus hoped to have won over the Perfians in the Fifth Year of his Reign, according to Vopifeus, and the Beginning of his Seventh according to Eufebius, Orofus, Caffiodorus, Aurelius, Fifter and Eutropius. He was killed by his own Soldiers, fearing he should subdue all the Enemies of the Empire, left they thould become ufelefs. PRO-CONSUL; a Magistrate who was fent to govern a Province with a confulary and extraordinary Power: He had all the Enfigns Publick, and the same was called Viaticum, which confifted in Pavillions, Charging-Horles, for your excellent Invention. Mules, Clerks, Secretaries, Gr. as Cicero in his Oration against Rullus explains it, Deinde ornat aparitoribus, feribu, libratiu, præconibus : præwee mulie, tabernaculie, tenioriu, supellettili, Mere. For nothing, Wretch! Was it nothing suprum buurit ex erzrio. This Office lasted no to deceive Jupiter at a Feath, and to give him longer than one Year, but the Person' many for his Return to Rome.

PROGNE; the Daughter of Pandion, King of Athens, who was married to Tereus, King of Thrace, by whom the had a Son named Itys. Te- | come to plead your Innocence, and to fay they do rus going one Day to Athens, the defired him | you much Wrong in punishing you? to bring her Sifter Philomela along with him, fund out a Way to let her Sifter know the Difa- neum. I was concerned to fee Jupiter to vexed,

PRIMIPILUS, chief Captain or first Cen- I ster that had befallen her, by writing to her an Account of it upon a Piece of Linnen with her own Blood; she dissembled her Grief till the Feaft of Bacebus, where making one of the Bacchanses the freed her Sifter, and made Tereus eat his own Son Itys, who intending to revenge the same, the lable says, the Gods transformed Progne into a Swallow, and Philomela into a matia, but his Valour, Spirit and other excellent | Nightingale; as for Itys, he was changed into PROMETHEUS, the Son of Japenus and Clymene and Deucalion's Father; Lucian in a Dialogue, called Prometheus or Caucasus brings in Vulcan, Mercury, and Prometheus speaking in this manner.

Merc. There is Caucasus to which we are to tie the Criminal: Let us feek out some Rock bricum, and over the Goths in Thrace: Bonofus | that has no how upon it, that fo we may drive the Nails the deeper, and he be exposed every way in order to make his Punishment the more exemplary.

Vulc. I fee it; but he must not be put so low. that the Men which he has made can come and vinces of the Empire, allayed the Joy of his unloofe him, nor fo high as not to be feen. It will do very well in my Mind, upon the fide of this Mountain, above that Abyim, we will tie one of his Hands to yonder Rock, and the other to that over against it. Merc. You say well, for they are both freep and unaccessible. Prom. Come hither, that you may not be forced to it, and get up presently, that you may be tied.

Prom. Have pitty upon an unfortunate Man. who is unjuffly punished.

Merc. Do not pretend to tell us what to do? Do you think that Caucasus is not big enough for us Three to be tied to it ; Or are you glad to of a Conful's Power conferred upon him, as the have Companions in your Mifery, which is a Com-Purple-Robe, the Curule-Chair, and the Ivory- fort to the Unfortunate? Here, take his Right Scepter, but he had no more than Six Lictors: | Hand, Vulcan; tie it fast; and there is the Lett, His Equipage was provided at the Charge of the | we will tie it also: 'Tis very well. The Vulture will come to tear your Bowels, as a Reward

Prom. () Earth which haft brought me forth ! And thou Saturn and Fapetus, muft I fuffer fo much for nothing?

Bones covered with Fat, that you might re-Times exercised it till the Arrival of his Suc- serve the best part for your self: Besides, who reteffor, and there were but 30 Days allowed him | quired you to make a Man, that subtile and wary Animal, and especially Women; and afterwards to fleal Fire from Heaven, which belonged to the God: Nay, after all this, you

Prom. Have you the Courage, Mercury, to which he did, but he ravished her by the Way, persecute me in this manner, and to revise me and then cutting out her Tongue, he shut her in respect to Things for which I have deserved Ip in a dark Prilon, and pretended the died by | well: I swear by the Gods, that I was brought an extraordinary Accident. Philomela having | up at the Charge of the Publick, in the Prytaand out of Humour, because he had not the best | fastum bos detorfere ad fabulam, quod Aquilam Propart in the Feaft; he was going to facrifice, not methet jecur depafcentem Hercules confixerit. The a meer Man, but a God, and one of his old Com- fame Historian fays elsewhere, that the Reason rades, who ferved him in time of need . . . Let us now speak of the Creation of Man; and if any ! will fay, that he ought not to be made at all, or that he should have been made after another manner; I will examine both the one and the licet quo ad eliciendum ignem utimur. Jupiter to other, and as to the first say, that the Gods have been fo far from lofing any thing thereby, cules having made his Peace with Jupiter fet that they have been great gainers; and that 'tis | more to their Advantage that there should be Men, than if there were none at all. To carry the Matter a little higher, you must know, that | viz. that he was the first that made Statues of at first there were none but Gods in the World, and that the Earth was no more than a vaft Defart covered with thick Woods: Wherefore, as I have been always fludious of the publick Benefit and Advantage, I mixed some Earth with the Maker of Men. Appian in his History of Water, as the Poet fays, and working them to the Mitbridatick War, relates, that Pompey when gether, I made a Man like unto us by Minerva's in Ponsus, had the Curiofity to go and fee Mount Help. This is my Crime And now let us Caucasus, to which, it was said, Prometheus was speak about stealing the lire; and first did not tied. Arrian reports, that the Macedonians, I fteal it to give it to Men, and is it not the Na- who under Alexander conquered Afia, having ture of that Element to communicate it felf without being loft.

makes Prometheus speak to Jupiter in this man- that 'twas the Place where Prometheus had been Jupit. Villain, shall I set you at Liberty? Must I do it because you have made that Piece transport Caucasus from Ponius to the Eastern of Workmanship, which has occasioned to much Mischief, stole Fire from Heaven, and deceived had past over Caucasus. It may be said, that your Mafter at a Feaft?

Prom. Have not I suffered enough, to have heen tied to long to Caucafus, and to have mine also feigned that a River called the Eagle over-Entrails fed upon by the Cruellest of all the flowing the Country, Prometheus was put in Vultures.

Jupit. That's not the Hundredth Part of what you have deferved; you ought to have been crushed to Pieces by Caucasus and not tied to it, the Person who brought the Worship of the 12 and not only to have your Liver gnawed by 12 Vultures, but also your Eyes and Heart. So much for the Fable, now to the Hiftory.

Diodorus Siculus lays, that Prometbeus governed part of Egyps in the Reign of Ofiris: The Placiades, who wrote Three Books of Mytholo-Wile overflowing, all the Country under Pro- gy, at the Time that the Vandals conquered and metheus his Government had been drowned, if ravaged Africa, fays that Prometheus, that is Hercules had not stopt it's Irruptions by the Providence, formed the Body of a Man of Earth, Ditches which he made. The Nile was former- that going up to Heaven with Minerva, which ly named Oceanue; but this Inundation gave it is Wildom, he from thence brought Fire to the the Name of Eagle; it was called Egypt in suc- Earth, i. e. the Souls of Men. Prometheus makes ceeding Times, and Nilus from the Iwo Kings a Man, and a Vulture rend his Heart, bewho bore that Name. Prometheus his Trouble cause his Mind and Heart were continually enthat the River called the Eagle had spoiled his gaged in the Contemplation and Love of Wis-Country, gave the Poets occasion to feign, that dom: Laftly, Prometbeus formed Pandora, which Promethews his Heart was tore by an Eagle, till is the Soul, and bears the faid Name because of

why the Poets feigned Prometheus fiole Fire from Heaven and communicated the fame to Men. was because he invented Instruments to make Fire with: Ignarii repersor est instrumenti, videpunish the Thief put him in Chains, but Her-Lucian gives an Account of the most probable

Way whereby Man was made by Promesbeus. Earth with fo much Art and Skill, which was attributed to Minerva, that those earthy Men feemed to have both Life and Motion: The Poets from hence feigned that Prometheus was entred into a Cave in the Country of Paropamifus, they were informed by the Inhabitants of The same Lucian in the following Dialogue, the Neighbourhood, or invented it themselves, chained, and where an Eagle tore his Heart, Prom. Free me, Jupiter, for I cannot do it my till Hercules, having that the Eagle with his Arrows, came and delivered him. This was a Story invented by Alexander's Flatterers, to Countries, that so they might say, Alexander the Fable of Prometheus was transferred from Egypt into Pontus to Mount Caucasus, where they Chains by his Subjects, and at length fet at Liberty by Hercules.

As they will have Prometheus to have been Gods into Greece, it's more probable he was an Egyptian by Descent, and that the History or Fable appertaining to him, was fucceffively carried into Scythia, Pontus and Greece. Fulgentius fuch time as Hercules came to free him from that her being enriched with all the Gifts of Heaven; Punishment. 14cd poetarum nonnulli Gracorum Thus it is that Bishop explains the Fable of

In the Protagoras of Plato, we have it related, that were watered by it, fays, it was from thence that Prometheus having imploy'd all the Proper- Proferpina was ftole as the was gathering Floties of Nature in the Formation of Animals, and wers: Ubi raptam dicunt Proferpinam, dum flores having nothing more to make but Man, he took legeret. Marrobius fays, the Ancients called the Knowledge from Minerva, Firefrom Vulcan, and upper Hemisphear of the earth by the Name Mercury supplied him with Modesty and Justice. of Venus and the lower Hemisphere by that of Simonides says, After God had made Animals, and created Man, and had nothing more to beflow upon Women, he borrowed the Qualities of each Animal for them: On some he conferred the Nature of a Swine, on others that of the Fox: To one he gave the Stupidity of an Afs, to another the Inclination of a Martern, or a Mare: Others he made like unto Monkeys, and on those, whom he was minded to favour, he beftowed the Nature of Bees. PRO-PRÆTOR, a Roman Magistrate, who had all the Power of a Prator conferred upon him, and all the Entigns of Honour belonging to the faid Office. See Prator.

PROSCENIUM; was a raised Place on which the Actors play'd, like that which we call one was the Professium particularly to called, where the Actors play'd: The other was the Logeion, where the Singers came to rehearle, and the Mimicks acted their Parts. The Projecnium and Palpitum were the fame thing in the Theater of the Romans.

PROSERPINA, was sometimes consounded with Diana: Diodorus Siculus relates the Story of her being stole away by Pluto, as a Thing attested not only by the Poets, but also by Hiflorians: He alledges it was in Sicily, and near the City of Enna that Profergina was carried away, and that Ceres going to fearch for her lighted her Torches by the Fire of Mount Ema. Sachuniathon in the Theology of the Phanicians informs us, that Proferpina was much earlier prior quidem virgo diem obiit.

Death, if we believe St. Cpil, Arch-bishop of ferpina. Alexandria, who fays, that Adoneus or Oreus, PROTEUS, a Sca-God, the Son of Ocea-

Promerbeus, but it is too remote from the Hi-1 Alexandria speaking of the River Strymon, and of those fine Countries in Macedon and Thrace As they are no more than different Appellations, 'tis not necessary we should take the Trouble to find out the exact Rules of Genealogy herein. Rhea was the Mother of Ceres, and Ceres the Mother of Proferpina, and yet all the Three are no other than the Earth: So the Grandmother, Mother and Daughter are nothing but the same Earth. The Truths are real and natural, the Genealogies are Poetical and Figurative: Some consider the Earth in a different manner, and will have Rhea to be the whole Globe of the Earth, that Geres is no more than the Surface which is fown and mown, and Proferpina no other than the Hemisphere of our Antipodes. 'I'is the Opinion of Voffius. But the Theater or Stage: This Profeenium confifted that Profeeping is the fame as the Earth, we of Two Parts in the Theaters of the Greeks; learn from the very Name thereof, for it comes from the Greek Theospiosea, and of Perfephone they made Proferpina: Hefychius fays, that Persephone comes from opper ovnow, ferre utilitatem & fruitum. Voffius very ingeniously deduces this Word from the Hebrew Peri, that fignifies Frudus, and faphan tegere, because the Earth covers the Seeds fown in it. But as Proferpina is taken for the lower Part of the Earth which is buried in Darkness, hence it is that they take her also for Hell, and the Queen of Hell, as Horace does.

> Quam penè furva Regna Proserpina, Et judicantem vidimus Aacum.

L.2. Od. 13.

known in Phanicia than in Greece or Sicily, he 'Tis upon the same Account that Plutarch also makes her to be Saturn's Daughter, and fays, takes her for the Earth, and Cicero fays, that the died a Virgin and very young. From the Name of Pluto, i. c. Riches, was given her hence it's probable did arife the liction of the by the Greeks; because the Earth is the Trea-Greeks, that she was stole by Pluto: Saturnus surv of all the Riches of Nature all comes liberos procreavit Proferpinam & Minervam, ac from and returns into it. The Romans imitated the Grecians by giving the Name of Du, w The History of Proferpina passed from Phani- signifies Rich to Pluto. They offered Dogs and da into Greece near 200 Years after Mofes his black and barren Victimes in Sacrifice to Pro-

King of the Moloffians stole her: Centesimo, & | nus and Tethys, who looked after Neptune's Flocks: nonagesimo quinto anno post Mojen ferunt suisse He was an excellent Prophet; and those who Proferpinam virginem rapiam ab Midoneo, id eft, had a mind to consult him about Future Events, Orco Rege Moleflorum. Enfebius also says as much must surprize and bind him; for he had the in his Chronicie: And to the Fable or Hiftory of Artifice to affume divers Shapes, in order to a-Projerpina, like all the reft of the Fables, came void giving an Answer to fuch as came to confrom the East to the West, from Pkanicia to fult him: Lucian pretends that Process was no Greece, and from Greece into Sicily: Appian of other than an excellent Dancer, who made 1000 different PYL different Postures, and whose active Body and | of the Dead, makes Protestians, Pluto, and Proquick Intellects knew how to counter eit and imi- ferpina talk after this manner : tate every thing so admirably well, that be feemed to be the very Thing, which he imita- Ceres, do not reject the Prayers of a Lover. ted, which was the Occasion of the Fable.

Herodesus does not doubt but that Proseus was an Egyptian King and Deity: He fays, 'twas he | the Siege of Troy. that received Para and Helen with their Treafures, and who kept Helen during the Seige of Trey, and restored her to Menelaus, when after the Destruction of that City the Greeks came to know that Helen had never been there. Diodorus Siculus agrees with him as to the Reign of Proteus in Egypt during the Siege of Iroy; but he fays, that the Greek Fable concerning the Transformations of Proteus, took its Origin from the unhappy as to be killed by Hellor, as I wascodifferent Habits which the faid King affected to wear above other Kings of Egypt, he one while putting on a Lion's Skin, another while he dreft himself like a Bull or Dragon, and carried Trees fometimes by way of Ornaments, sometimes Fire or Perfume, which made the Greeks fay, they were fo many different Shapes which he was metamorpholed into; and as this King was much addicted to Aftrology, they feigned also that he foretold Things to come. Lucian in his Dialogue of the Sea-Gods, makes Proteus and her. Menelaus ipeak thus.

Menel. I do not admire, Proteus, that a Sea-God as you are should transform your self into Water, or even into a Plant; but to become Fire, that I cannot understand; to be turned into a Lion, may be better allowed of.

Prot. Menelaus, 'tis true.

of it my felf : But to be plain with you, I believe there is a Cheat in it, and that you are only a meer Juggler.

Prot. What Cheat can there be in fuch things as are so manifest and certain?

Fable thews, that the Poets ought not to be rejected by the Lovers of true Philosophy; for the Proteus of the Poets was an excellent Reprefentation of Truth, which escapes from us, and difguiles her self after a thousand different ways, by being concealed under false Appearances, from which it cannot be separated, without great Difficulty: But at length, after these Obstructi ons, the discovers unto us her Beauty and Soli-1 with his Rod, that he may affume his former dity, that we may afterwards relish the Sweet- shape, and become such an one as he was when ness of her. Orpheus called him the Principle of he went out of her suprial Chamber. all Things, and the Ancientest of all the Gods, and fays he keeps the Keys of Nature: The Remans named him Vertumnus, because of the Va- thither; but let him remember that there is riety of Shapes which he atfumed: He was beloved by the Goddess Pomona.

Laodamia's Husband, a Grecian Prince, who was killed by Hellor at the Siege of Troy, as he was

I rot. Ah! Pluto, and you the Daughter of

I luto. Who are you that talk thus?

Pros. The Chief of the Grecians that died at Pluto. And what would you have?

Prot. Leave to go upon Earth a little while. Pluto. They are the fame Requells as all the Dead make, but not one obtains them.

Prot. 'Tis not a Deire of Life that makes me fpeak, but the Passion I have to see my Miftress. whom I left in her Nuptial Chamber, and hafted away to go along with the Greeians; and was fo ming afhoar: The Love which I have for that fair Creature gives me no reft, and I would detire leave once more to fpend a Moment with Pluto. Have not you drunk of the Waters of Leibe, as others have done?

Prot. I have, but the Difease was too ftrong for the Remedy.

Pluto. She will not be long before the comes, and fo spare you the Pains of going to feek

Prot. I have not Patience to tarry; Pluto, you know the Impatience of Lovers, for your felf has formerly been in Love.

. lut. What good will it do you to see her again for a Moment, and then lose her for e-

Prot. Perhaps I may perswade her to come Men. I know it very well; for I am a Witness along with me, and so I shall thereby increase thine Empire with one Ghost more.

Pluto. That's not juft, Protefilaus, and 'tis never granted.

Prot. 'Tis because you do not recollect your felf better; for you did reftore his Euridice to St. Augustine by the xample of Proteus his Orpheus, and Alcesta to Hersules who was my Relation.

Pluto. Would you appear before her in this Condition, which will make her die for very fear? And do you think that she will mind you, or be able to know you?

Proferpina. Let us do him this Favour, Plato, and command Mercury to carry him up, and when he comes upon the Earth, to ftrike him

Pluto. Since Proferpina will have it, I give my Confent. Mercury, take him and conduct him but one Day allowed him to tarry. They facrificed to him in Cherjonefus, according to the Te-PROTESILAUS; the Son of Iphiclus, and stimony of Lucian himself, in his Dialogue of the Affembly of the Gods.

PROVIDENTIA; Providence, which coming out of his Ship. Lucian in his Lialogues | the Ancients made to be a Deity, as Cicero fays, Lady, holding a Scepter in one Hand, and with the o her feeined to point at a Globe that was World like the good Mother of a lamily. The Emperor Titus caused her to be graven with the Helm of a Ship, and a Globe in her Hands. Maximisnus represented her by Two Ladies, holding Ears of Corn in their Hands, with this Inteription, Providentia Deorum, Quies Augustorum. Alexander Severus describes her under the form of a Guddeis, holding an Horn of Plenry, and having a Veffel ful or Ears of Corn at her Feet. The Symbol of Providence was an Aut, holding Three sars of Corn in her Mouth.

PRYTANEUM; was a Place in Aibens where the Magistrates administred Justice, and where those who had done some signal Services for the Commonwealth, were maintained at the Publick Charges.

PSECADIS; Chamber Maids, who perfamed their Miftreffes Heads, with some Liquid Perfumes, which they poured Drop by Drop upon them : For the Word Piecas comes from the Greek Verb Lexaler, which fignifies, to

PSYCHE: The Amours of Cupid and Pfyche are known to every Body: Apuleius and Fulgenims give very pleasant Descriptions of them. We have a Picture wherein this Marriage is reprefented, and where Cupid walks on Plycbe's Right Hand, with his Head vailed, his Face uncovered, and in his Hand a Turtle-Dove, which was: the usual Symbol of Conjugal Love; and Pfiche, who was by his Side, is vailed from Head to Foot, this being the Custom among the Ancients, for People that went to be married, and especially for those of the Female Sex : These Two Lovers are fastned together with a strong Chain, to in timate there is no stronger nor more durable Union than that of Marriage; one of them holds the Chain in one Hand, and a Torch in the other. Petronius gives the like Account of the Nuptial Solemnities of these Lovers: They had already, 'faid he, vailed young Pfyche's Head; the Conductor already went before her with a Torch, and a Company of Women elevated with the Power of Wine, gave a Hundred joyful Acclamations, and made the Bod of the new married *Couple ready. Psyche has the Wings of a Butterflye fixed to her Shoulders, as all the ancient Monuments thereof shew: The Reason that may be given for this : iction is, because the Ancients reprefented Nature, and the Properties of the Soul, under the Emblem of Pfyche; for the Word in Greek fignifies the Soul, of which the Butterflye is also a Symbol, because they looked upon the Soul to be like a Breath, which the Lightness of this little flying Intect very well expresses. We fee in Hefychius that Pfych: in Greek fignifies as !

Not. Deor. They pictured her like a Roman | much as a Spirit, and a little flying Injett, luch as the Butterfly is. Fulgentius, Bishop of Carrbage, giving a Moral Explication of this Pable, fays, that at her Feet, intimating that the governed all the those I wo Sifters represented the Flesh and Freewill, that Plyche who was the youngest, fignified the Soul, because it comes not thither before the Body is formed; that Concupifcence figured out by Cupid, joins it felf to the Soul, in order to corrupt it, and hinders it to make use of her Eyes, which are the Sences and Liberty, in order to know God, of whom the is to much beloved: But being at length illuminated by their Councels, the discovers a Flame, which was before hid in her Heart, and becomes capable of a Hundred evils, like the Oil of the Lamp that discovers the Mystery of Love, and caused Phite to much Trouble. PUGILATUS; an Exercise in use amongst the ancient Greeks and Romans, that confifted in

PUGILES; they were those that fought with Hands and Heels, and endeavoured to throw one another down; and to tumble in the PULPITUM; a Pulpit, Theater, Stage: It was a Place erected on which the Actors acted their Plays, and where Victory was represented: It was that part which we in English call the Stage, wherein we do not comprehend the Pit nor the Galleries, which are properly what the Ancients called the Theater.

PULVINARIA; they were Cushions upon which the Statues of the Gods were laid in the Temples, at the Time that they gave Thanks for fome fignal Victory; whente came that Latin Expression, Ad omnia pulvinaria Supplicare , to make general Processions to all the Temples of the Gods, where their Statues were taken down and laid upon Cushions.

PUTEAL LIBONIS: Acron takes it to be a Bank that was near unto the Starte of Fanus with Three Heads : Porphyry for a Bar, Tribunal, or Court of Judicature: others for a Cover, wherewith they covered Wells or Water-Pits. Vigenere thinks it to be the Brink of a Well: 'Twas a Place much frequented by the Merchants of Rome.

PUICULI, or PUTICULÆ; they were Ditches, or Holes in the Earth made like Wells, between Mount Esquiline, the Walls of the City, and the Street which lead to the Gate called Querquerulana, where the l'opr were buried; and which infected all the Neighbouring part of the City: For the removing thereof Augultus gave this Place to Macenas, who built a ffately House, and made very fine Gardens there, as Horace informs us:

Nnn 2

Hue priùs angustis ejetta cadavera cellis Confervus vili portanda locabat in arca : Hoc mifera plebi ftabat commune fepulcbrum. Nune licer Esquiliis babitare salubribus, asque Aggere in aprèso spatiari, quo modò trifles Albis informem spellabant offibus agrum.

P.YGMEI; Pigmies; they were a People that dwelt in the Mountains of the East-Indies, according to Pliny; and according to Strabo, in the utmost Parts of Affrica; the People of that Country were not above a Cubit high; and hence they gave them the Name of Pigmies: afterwards became a common Name to the Kings They did not live above Eight Years, and the Women were fit for Copulation at Five. As foon as their Children are born, they hid them in Caves, for fear of the Cranes, who swallow'd them down whole like small Turnips: They are very temperate, and 'tis a great deal for one of them to eat the Leg of a Lark; for usually they roaft no more than two or three Bits at a time, or a little more as their Family is larger or fmaller: Their Spits are made of the Prickles of an Hedge hog; but the largest fort on which they roaft their Larks, are the Darts or Quills of a the Brother of Assalus, under the Conduct of Porcupine : They drink out of small Cups made the Conful Licinius Craffu, of whom Orofus peaks; of Cherry ftones; and their Drink consists of and in this War Pylamenes, who then reigned, two or three Drops of Rose-water; which they affishing the Romans against Aristonicus, was difgather in the Spring, and keep the Liquor in poffest of his Kingdom by Mitbridates and Ni-Oftridge Egg-shells, which serves them instead of other Veticls: Their Plates are made of Crab-shells, the finest of which are those which are most git; and their Dishes confist of small Acorn Cups. Its from this Country the Dwarf-Trees come; for all their Forests are but Bullies, Misbridates had been conquered and expelled; which Nature has made on purpole, that they may not break their Necks in climbing up. They have also Vines growing there, which they love, because they believe they creep upon the Ground only, in Confideration of their Weak- last King of Paphlagonia; and it appears by one neis: They are well proportioned, confidering of Cicero's Orations, that this Caftor was a their low Stature; and laugh at us upon account of the Danger we run when we fall: They are at an irreconcilable War with the Cranes. who with a Stroak of their Bills pierce to their very Brains; but they break their Legs, which fer from all their Authors; for he fays, that Niare very small, and get under them in the comedes and Mitbridates setting forth their Pre-Conffict.

PYLADES. See Pilades.

PYLEMENES, whom Homer the Prince of the Greek Poets, makes mention of in the Second Book of his Iliads, was in the famous Trojan War the General of the Paphlagonians.

Hagmanoyer & intito HYAAIMENEOS ARTION XIP.

The brave Pylamenes was General of the Paplilazonians.

He speaks of him also in the 5th Book, and fays he was killed by Menelaus with his Pike Livy and Strabo upon Homer's Authority, make him to be descended from the Heneri, a People of Paphlagonia, and fay that he died under the Walls of Troy. Dillys Cretenfis makes him King of Paphlagonia, the Son of Melius, and related to Priamus, boafting that he was of Agenor's Race, whose Daughrer Amalixo, was married to Dardanus, from whom the Trojan Kings were descended. He adds, that this Pylemenes was killed with a Dart by Achilles, in a Battle that was fought during the Siege of that City. This of Paphlagonia, fince the first Pylamenes, as that of Prolomy obtained among the Egyptian Kings of Arfaces among the Parthians, and of Cafar and Augustus among the Romans.

Its not to be doubted, but there were feveral Kings of the Name of Pylamenes in Papelagonia. before the Coming of the Romans into Alia; but their famous Actions having not been celebrated by any Historians that have been preserved to our Time, we find no mention of any of them before the War of the Romans against Ariflonicas comedes.

Authors do not well agree concerning the Reestablishing of Pylamenes upon his Throne, and the End of the Kingdom of Paphlagonia. Paulus and Rufus say the Kingdom was given him after and that after his Death it was reduced into a Province: Strabo, an Author worthy of Credit. and that lived near that time, relates, that Dejotarus, a Son of one Caftor Philadelphus, was the Grandion of one Dejorarus, whose Cause he pleaded against the unjust Usurpations of Castor. who had dispostest his Grandfather Dejosarm of the Tretrarchy of Galatia. Justin feems to diftentions to Capadocia before the Senate, and the Senate differring the Artifice of those Kings, who under false Pretences had seized upon Kingdoms that of Right did not belong to them, took away Capadocia from Mitbridges, and Paphlagonia from Nicomedes: from whence forwards Paphlagonia had no Kings: And this Strabo fays

PYRACMON; one of Vulcan's Smiths, who is always at the Anvil to forge the Iron; and this his Name does imply; for mip in Greek fignifies Fire, and axper an Anvil.

PYRA-

PYRAMIS; is an heap of Square Stones, round about the Place, that you may fhew your drays rifing up in a taper manner, like a Flame ; felf to the People. whence comes the Name, for mue in Greek figsifes Fire: There are some Pyramids of a vast Height; and Pliny (peaks of one, for the Building of which 32000 Men were imploy'd for Twenty Years: He fays it took up Eight Acres "Ground. This Author informs us, that the gings of Egypt, who put themselves to such great Espence, did it for no other End than to keep the People from Idleness, and thereby to preunt the Infurrections that otherwise might have happened. See Obelifeus.

PYRAMUS; a Babylonian, who was paffonately in Love with Thysbe : these Two Lovers having appointed a Meeting under a Mulberry:Tree, Thysbe came thither first, and was fet upon by a Lion, from whom she made her Estape; but happening to let her Vail drop, the Beast tore and bloodled it; Pyramus coming and finding the Vail of his Mistress bloody, thought she had been devoured, and so in despair killed himself: Thysbe returning and finding her Lover dead, fell also upon the same Sword. ovid L. 4. Meram. deicribes their Love, and fays, that their Death made the Mulberries know. change Colour, and turn Red from White, which Colour they bore before. PYRRHICHA: a kind of Dance invented by Pyrrbus, which was performed with Arms, wherewith they ftruck certain Shields by the Cadency and Sound of Musical Instru-

PYTHAGORAS; a Philosopher, who intermixed some lables, Allegories, or Enigmatial expressions with his Works; wherein he But yet, what will you perform after fo long Siinitated Numa Pempilius, the Second King of lence? time. He was, indeed, both a King and Phikiopher, and was fo very much addicted to the fick. Detrine which Pythagoras published to the World, that many who were grofly ignorant of the Series of Time, took him for one of Pythagom his Disciples : but Dionyfius of Hallica namus has refuted this Error, and thewed that Numa fred Four Generations before Tythagoras, having reigned in the 16th Olympiad, whereas Pythagoandid not teach in Italy till after the ifftieth: horder to let you know the Doctrine and Life of Pythagoras, I'll give you what Lucian fays upon this Occasion, in his Dialogue of the Sects or Sale Philosophers.

Jupiter. Let these Seats be put in order, and dean every lace, as long as there is an Obligation to make Things ready for the Sects, that they may come and thew themselves.

Mercury. See, here are Buyers enough, we must not let them cool: With whom shall we

Jupit. With the Italian Sest : Let that veneable Old Man with long Hairs come down. Merc. Ho & Pyrbagoras, come down, and walk

Jupit. Make Proclamation. Merc. Here is a Coeleftial and Divine Life; who will buy it? Who has a mind to be more than a Man? Who is he that would know the Harmony of the Universe, and rise again after Merchant. Here are great Promifes, indeed, and the Person looks with a good Aspett; but what does he chiefly know?

Merc. Arithmetick, Aftronomy, Geometry, Mulick, Magick, and the Knowledge of Prodigies; you have an accomplish'd Prophet here.

Merchant. May one ask him a Question?

Merc. Why not? Merchant. Where were you born? Pythagoras. At Samos.

Merchant. Where did you study?

Pythig. In Egyps, amongst the Wise Men of that Country.

Merchant. If I become a Chapman, what will vou teach me?

Pythag. I'll teach you nothing, but I'll cause you to call to mind again what you did formerly Merchant. How is that ? Pythog. By puritying your Soul, and cleanling it from all its Dregs.

Merchant. Suppose it be already purified; how will you inftruct me?

Pythag. By Silence: You shall continue Five Years without speaking.

Merchant. Go and teach Crafus his Son; I'll continue to be a Man, and not become a Statue:

Pythag. I'll teach you Geometry and Mu-

Merchant. Its very pleasant, indeed, a Man must be a Fidler before he is a Philosopher: And what will you teach me after that ?

Pythag. Arithmetick. Mer. bans. I understand that already.

Pythag. How do you reckon ?

Merchant. One, Two, Three, Four. Pythag. You are mistaken; for what you take to be 4 is 10, (that is 1, 2, 3, 4, make 10.) A perfect Triangle; and the Number we Iwear

Merchant. By the Great God Four! I never heard any Thing fo ftrange; and fo divine as Pythag. After this, you shall know that there are Four Elements, Earth, Water, Air, and Fire ; and know also their Form, Qualities and

Merchant. How ! Have the Air and Fire any Pythag. Yes, and visible enough; for, if thev. had no Form they could not move: Then you Merchant. You tell us ftrange Things.

you appear to be; and there are several Menin means be received, tho' afterwards it always fame Per on that speaks to you? Pyibag. You are the same new, but you have | Cicero, as Quintillian has it, to make Sport with been another formerly, and will pass again into a Cook's Son who fued for a great Imployment, other Persons by a perpetual Revolution.

tal: But enough of these Things: What do you point of Fronunciation, whether he meant the live upon?

Pythag. I eat nothing that has Life in it, but every thing elfe, except Beans.

Merchant. Why will not you eat Beans?

divine in them: 1ft, They refemble the Privy cording to that of Villorinus, who would never Parts; which you may eafily observe, if you will | make use thereof; for it's always of use, fince take a green one, and pull of the Cod: Befides, it ferves to joyn the Two following Vowels inif they be boiled and exposed to the Moon for to one Syllable, whereas the C imporis that they tome Nights, they turn to Blood; but what is are divided; and this is that which makes the most remarkable, is, that they make use of Difference between the Nommative qui, and them at Athens, to chuse their Magistrates by.

PYTHICI; the Pythian Games in Greece, inflituted in Honour of Apollo, because he killed the Serpent Python with his Arrows: The Conquerors were crowned with Fruits confecrated to Apollo.

PYTHIUS; an Epithet given to Apollo, upon the Account of his killing the Serpent Pysbon : His Priestesses were also called Pythia.

fprung from the Impurities of the Earth after a Q, when they were minded to divide the the Deluge, and which Apollo shot to Death with | Words into more Syllables than they really were his Arrows.

Is a Confonant, and the 16th Letter of the Alphabet, which is pronounced like K and C before A, O, U, and has this peculiar to it, that 'tis always followed by an U. There | Feet. is so great a Likeness between the C and Q, that many Gramarians have been inclined to reject the Q as a superfluous Letter, pretending that the C and U would ferve to express what we mean by the Q: And fo we fee the Greeks have rejected this Letter, which is only taken from the Koph or Koppa of the Syrians, and that in find Examples hereof in tome old inferiptions? the French it has another Force than the K a- From whence it collows, that the U was enclosed lone would have, and that which the C it jelf in the Q, and consequently the fame is a double has before A, O, U: Ramus allo affeits that Letter, for otherwise the first syllable in and in the university of Paris, they always pronoun- equis, &c. would be long, whereas the time is ced it in Laum in the same manner as they do libort in Verie. For it was the Custom of the now in France, till the Royal Profesiors were e- Ancients often to take a fingle Letter for the fablished by Francis I. inlomuch that they used | Characters which formed the Name of the Letter, shall know that God is Number and Har- | qalis, quantus and qis. And it is observable that every Body at first opposed the other Promotinciation, which was then introduced by the Royal Pythag. Again, you are another Thing than | Proteffors as a new Thing, that would by it obtained. However the Q ftill retains the fame Merchant. What fay you, that I am not the Sound as the K or C before O and U, as in quum, which is the fame as Cum, and this made tell him by way of Raillery, Ego quoque tibi jure Merchant. I shall then at this rate be immor- favebo, because they could not diftinguish in Particle quoque or the Vocative coque, from coquus a Cook.

Some without just Reason have been inclined to reject the Q; as Varro was, according to the Pribig. Because they have something that is Relation of Cenforinus, and Licinius Calvas acthe Dative cui; the Infinitive fequi, and the Preterperfect Tence fecui from fece. And this is again teftified by Prijeian and Terentianus Meurus whom some place in the Fifth Century, but he could not be higher than the Middle of the Fourth, fince St. Augustine cires him as being already dead in those Books which were writ before 390. And this Difference between the C and Q, is fo true, that you may fee the And-PYTHON; an horrible Serpent, that ent Poets put the C in the Place where we put Lucretius has used cuires with Three Syllables, for quirer; and fo he makes also acua Three Stllables, being put for aqua. Again Planens in his Ciftell. Alt. 2. Sc. 1. ules it in relicuis.

Quod dedi datum non vellem, quod relicuim non

For if the Trochaick Verse be not read in this manner it will not have it's due Number of

As the Q was put in the Place of C and U, fo there have been fome Grammarians who would have it to pass for a dour !- Letter, and amongst the rest Capella, Diemedes and Longuit Their Reason for it being this, that the Ancients wrote qi, qe, qid without an U, as you may fin

the K for ka, tho' the K for all that was no the Ancients wrote qis, they did perhaps pronounce it also qis, as it it had had a K in it, and that the Writing had changed with the Pronuncation, fays Quintilian; and this Reason appared to much the more true, feeing that in Gruter's Interiptions we find not only the Q but the C put alone for qu; Cintus for Quintus, his for figure; as on the Contrary the fingle Q sput for the C; as Quetius for Curitus, fequium for feculum, and mequin for mecum; and the qu put for the c alio, as liquebis for licebis or liqubis. gwas a Numeral Letter among the Ancients, and fignified 500, when there was a Tittle fet over it, it implyed 500000.

QUESTOR, an Officer among the old

Ramans who had the Charge of the Publick Money, as our Treasurers, or Lords Commissioners of the Treasury have now a days. Lipsius op-poles the Opinion of those who attribute the Infurnting of this Ornice to Romulus or Numa or Tullius Hoftilius : It may much more truly be referred to Valerius Publicola, who after the Expulsion of the Kings appointed a Place for the Publick Treature in Saturn's Temple, under the Cuftody of Two Officers whom they called Queflus, choich from among the Senators, and ware to be created by the People. Livy and Dynnifus of Ealica nasjus place the Inflictution of this Office no higher than about the Year 269. But Tacitus, L. 11. Annal. Speaks very dearly concerning it: 'Under the fame Confuls, Dolabella propoted that those who were 'admitted to the Quæstorship should once a Office was inflittited at first in the Time of beir Kings, and this may be feen by the Law | ror himfelt. which Lucius Brusus introduced, whereby the Rople were obliged to meet together by Parihe or Wards: Then the Confuls took care to supply it, and at last the reople, who chose Therius Positus and Emilius Mamercus, into it,

6 Years after the Expulsion of the Tarquins.

Some think there is a Miftake in the D.te.)

mes created who were to ftay in Rome, the Num-lythe Civil Wars, and having given an Aca folge Scaliger fays, for Example they put troduction into that Body: The Quartorfhip was always conferred either upon Perfons of Merit, deable Letter. We may farther fay, that when or Reputation, till it came to be as it were expoled to fale by the Shews they gave: Julius Cafar raifed the Number of them to 40 in order to fill up the Senate; and their Bufiness was to affift the Generals of the Army that went to War, to receive the Money that arose from the Spoils and Booty taken from the Enemy, and to pay the Soldiers. The City Questors received the Taxes and Impositions laid upon the People, went to meet Foreign Embassadors, took care to treat them in their Journey, and to furnish them an House at the Charge of the Common-

QUÆSTORES PARRICIDII; they were Queitors sent into the Provinces by Order of the Senate to try criminal Cases; their Power was great, they had Lictors and other Officers to attend them; they were cholen annually, tho' they continued them fometimes longer.

QUERCETULA NA See Porta. QUINQUATRIA; they were certain Feafts celebrated at Rome in Honour of Pallas, like unto those called Panathenaa by the Athenians: This Name was given them because they lasted for Five Days; on the first or which they offered Sacrifices and Oblations without the Effusion of Blood; the Second, Third and Fourth were spent in the Fights of the Gladiators, and on the Fifth they went in Procession through the City: These Feast Days began on the 18th of March, and Scholars had a Vacation for all that While, and prefented their Mafters with a Gift which was called Minerval: They alto acted Tragedies now, and there were Dif-Year give a Shew of the Gladiators at their putations held between the learned Poets and own Charge. Formerly this Office was conferred | Orators concerning police Learning, wherein mon none but iuch as had delerved well, and the Conqueror received a Prize appointed for masfree for every Citizen to pretend to this that Purpose by the Emperor Domitian: Here Borour, if he thought himself capable of it: This it was Statius vauntingly gloried that he had conquered, and received a Present from the Empe-

> Lux mibi Romanæ qualu fub collibus Albæ, Cum modò Germanas acies, modò Daca fonantem. Prælia, Palladio tua me manus induit auro.

QUINQUENNALES LUDI; Games celebrated every Five Years, in divers Cities Their first Business was in the Armies; but the in Honour of such Emperors as had been dei-

Supire growing great, there were I wo new fied. QUINQUE-VIRI MENSARII; Five hr was again augmented after the Conquest of Men appointed extraordinarily by the Consuls, by and the Provinces, infomuch that they a to discharge the Debts of the People that had monted to 8 in all. At last Sylla being den been runned by the Usuries exacted from them. QUIRINALIS, fee Mons. ses to fill up the Senate which was exhausted

QUIRINUS; the Surname of Romulus. ont to them how Things stood with them in and he was so called from a Javelin, which the Micular, made up the Number of Quarftors Sabins named Quiru, according to the Teftimo-Abecause that Charge was as a kind of an lo- ny of Festim, or else from the Sabins themselves who were called Cures, to whom he gave a Part | ry Year at Rome, on the 24th of February, in of Rome to live in, and this after they had coa- Commemoration of the Expulsion of Terguinis lesced into one Body with the Sabines, made the Superbus, and the Overthrow of the Monarchy: Romans be called Quirties; or laftly, upon the It was also performed on the 26th of Mar, when Account of God Mars; from whom Romalm faid the King of the Sacrifices, in the Place where the he was descended, and who was called Quiri, Assemblies were held, offered Bean-flour and because he was pictured holding a Lance in his Bacon; and when the Sacrifice was over, they Hand: Junius Proculus swore he appeared to hasted away with all speed, to denote the prehim upon the Via Albina in an august and glori- cipitate Flight of King Tarquin. ous Manner, with glittering Arms, and commanded him to tell the Romans that God Mars lius Hostilius was the first that divided Rome into his Father had taken him up to Heaven, that Four Parts; the same being called Suburane, Efthey should set up Altars, and worship him as quilina, Collina and Palatina: Things continued a God by the Name of Quirinus. Lastaneius in this State till Augustus his Time, who divided

O Romule, Romule, dico e! Qualem te patria cuftodem Di genuerunt, Tu produxisti nos inera luminis auras: O pater, ô genitor, ô sanguen Dis oriundum,

They celebrated a Feaft called Populi-fugium in Memory of his Deification, beause of the Storm which made the People run into their Tents: It was kept on the Fifth of July.

QUIRITES; thus the People of Rome were called, from Cures a City of the Sabines with whom Romulus made an Alliance and shared his City with them; fo that the faid Two People being united into one Body were called by one common Name Ouirites.

R 1sa Liquid Confonant and the 17th Let-ter of the Alphaber, it was formerly a Numeral Letter and ngnified 80, and when there nour of the City. Is a Liquid Confonant and the 17th Letwas an Accent above it implied 80000.

that took their Name from Romulus.

RATITI; Pieces of Money that weighed Four Ounces, on which was graven the Figure of a round Veffel called Ratis.

RECINUS; was a kind of a fquare Mantle or Vail wore by Women or their Heads: nificent Work of Sylla, where the Senate met to Salmafius will have it to be a fort of a Gown wore by Roman Ladies and tucked up before it was the Stone called Manalis, a manando, bewith a fquare Pin, of a Purple Colour.

RECUPERATORES; Judges delegated by the Prator to take Cognizance of a Fact. REDDIIIO: The Third part of the Sacrifice of the Heathens, when they put in the Entrails of the Victim, after they had inspected cum proper nimiam ficcitatem in urbem protrate-

REGIO; a Part of the City of Rome. Talgives an Account of the Prayers that were made it into Fourteen Parts, over each of which he to this new Deity, which he has taken out of fettled Two Surveyors, called Curatores viarus. who were made annually, and took their Divifions by Lot: They wore a Purple Robe, and had each of them Two Lictors, that walked before them in the Division where they prefided: They had Slaves under them, who were to take care of the Fires that should happen. Their Charge was to provide for the Tranquillity of their respective Divisions, and to keep them clean, to take care that new Buildings did not increase too much, and were not built higher than the Law did prescribe: They had a Officers called Denunciators, to affift them in each Divifion, who gave them an Account of all Diforders that happened; also a Watch to prevent all unlawful Meetings in the Night, and to feize Vagabonds and Rogues. These Fourteen Divifions contained 424 Streets, 31 of which were called Great or Royal Streets, which begun at the gilt Pillar, which flood at the Entry into the open Place, in the Middle of the City; and to each of thele Streets belonged lour Vice-Magitiri, who took care of them, and carried the Orders of the City to each Citizen. Alexander Severus increased the Number to Fourteen more

The first Division began at the Gate Capena, RAMNENSES; a Troop of 100 Horse, and was 12222 Feet in Circumference: The lame contained Nine great Streets, over which prefided Two Surveyors called Curatores Viarum, Two Denunciators, and 36 Vico-manistri: It extended without the City as well as within: RECINIUM, and RECINUM, and There stood the Temple of Mars Gradivus that was supported by 100 Pillars, and was the maggive Audience to Foreign Embatfadors: New cause that in the Time of a great Drought they carried it about in a Procession made for Rain, which failed not to fall quickly after, as Feftus tells us. Manalem vocabant lapidem petranque extra portam Capenam juxta adem Martis, quen rent, sequebasur pluviastatim, eumque, quòd aqua REGIFUGIUM; a Feaft celebrated eve. | manaret, manalem lapidem dixere: Near unto this dels Pessimuntia was washed at her coming out with the Tiber, of the Ship which brought her to Rome, over it passed an Aqueduct which water'd it continual there was a great Street called Subura, which bely, and made Juvenal call this Gate Madida Ca- gun at the open Place in the Middle of the City sens: Not far from thence ftood the Temples of and ended in the Via Tiburtina all along the Ex-Tempefts, Hope, and the Mules or Camena, quilia: The greatest Part of the Nobles of Rome and the Altar of Apollo: In the same Division lived in this Street, and from hence might be there were Three little Groves called Luci, that feen divers Barbers and Ropemakers Shops, had been consecrated to the Honour of the Gods, which made Martial lay, L. 2 Epig. 17. viz. Lucus Cuperius Hostiliani, Lucus Egeria, & Lucus Camanarum : Alfo Four Temples, viz. those of Ifis, Serapis, Fortuna Reduci, and of Mars Quirinus, to diftinguish it from that without the Gate Capena, which was called Martis Gradivi Templum. The First was to denote as we are informed by the same Poet, L. 7. the Peace and Tranquility they expected to enjoy | Epig. 30. in the City, and the Second to flew that they Enemies. Ten Ædiculæ, of which we know but the Names of Five only, to wit, Adicula Fortuna obsequentis, Honoris, Virtutis, Rediculi & the Gate Capena, after Hamibal's Retreat. Carfura and Mercury. Six Publick Baths or Stoves, viz. thefe of Vertins Bolanus, Torquatus, Mamertinus, Abafcantianus, Mettianus Secundianu, Antiochianus, with 82 private ones more. their Springs ran. 4 Arches, viz. thole of Drufus Nero, Trajan, Verus Partbicus, and Janus Bithose of the Cornelii, Attilii, Calatini, Servilii,

The second Division called Calimontium, was fo named from Mount Calius: and contained 13200 Feet in Circumference, and had 2 Sur-Watches: It contained 12 Streets, 30 private or separate Houses. Baths, to fay nothing of the publick ones, 65 Wile Campus Martius where there were Horie- Forum Romanum and Comitia: It was called Sacra, might walk round.

Gate ran the little River Almo, where the God- | Races, when the Land below was overflowed

Between Mount Cellus and Mount Palatine

Tonftrix Subura faucibus sedet primis, Cruenta pendent qua flagella tortorum.

They also sold all forts of Fruits and Fowls there,

The third Division called this and Serapis Mowould imploy their Arms without against their neta, was 12450 Foot in Circumference: It began near Mount Calius and took up a great Part of the Exquilia: It had as well as the foregoing ones 2 Surveyors, 2 Denunciators, 32 Vico-Herculis: That of Rediculi was built without Magifri, and 8 Streets; it contained the Tribe Gratia Aurea the high Place, or that of the Play-Seven great open Places called Area, viz. those ers, called Summum choragium; the Entry into the of Apollo, Thallus, Gallus, Iss Eliana, Pinaria, Via Sacra near the Carina at the End of the Efquilia; the Lucus Cuperius of the Academy where they were instructed in the use of the Catapults; 2 Temples, that of Ifis and Serapis Moneta, and that of Concordia Virilia, near unto which flood 83 Lakes or Ponds, into which the Waters of the Portico of Livia, each were built as an Eternal Monument of the Concord that continually remained between her and Augustus her Husfrons. 14 borrea publica, Publick Granaries. | band. 8 Adicule, viz. Adicule Bona Spei, Se-16 Bake-houles or Hand-mills, called Piftrina. rapis, Sangi Fidoni, Minerva, Ifidis, Veneru, The Circus of Caracalla, and the Women's Se- Ejeulapii and Vulcani; the Portico of Claudius naculum; the Mutatory of Cafar at the Gate of Martialis, Vefpatian's Amphitheater, other wife Capena, called Mutatorium Cajaru, which was a called the Colifaum, where Fourscore Thousand Pleasure house; some famous Sepulchres, as People might early see the Plays; the great Games called Ludi Dacici and Mamertini; the Caciliani, Horasii, &c. 121 Palaces or fine Camp of the Soldiers of Miffena, and their old Houses, called Domm. 1250 Insula, or Houses Camp; the School of the Quastors and of Gallius, not contiguous to any others, about which a Man, the Baths of the Emperors Titus, Trajan and Phillip; 70 private Baths, 33 Mills, 29 Granaries, 160 Palaces, among which was Nero's Golden-House and Portico, those of Brutus, Pompey, Titus with the Portico where the Statue of Laocoon veyors, 2 Denunciators, 32 Vico-Magiffri, and 5 and his Two Children Rood, beides 2807 Infule

The fourth Division called Via Sacra or Tem-Lakes or Fonds; 3106 Infuls or leparate Houles, plum Pacis, took up 1800 Feet in Circumference, 2 facred Groves; 32 publick Granaries, 23 extending it felf between Mount Palatine and Hand-mills; 122 Noble-mens Houles, and a- the Exquilia, and containing no more than S mongft others those of Venellianus, Phillip, Late- Streets; It had 2 Surveyors, as many Denunciaranus, Cafar Dittator, Tiberius Claudius Centi- tors, and 32 Vico-Magiffri : The principal Patts majus, and the Poet Stella; 8 Adicula; 5 Tem- thereof were the ViaSacra which began at the Caples, viz. those of Tullius Hoftitius, Bacebus, rine and paffed by the Exquilia to the Adicula Faunus, the Emperor Claudius, Goddels Carnes Strenis, and extended as far as the Capitol along upon Mount Calius, where stood also the Curia the Colif sum and Titus his triumphal Arch, pai-Frofilia in which the Senate often met; as like- ling by that of Septimius, and so made aPart of the

tween Romalus and Tarius, King of the Sabines: Fullus Cafar covered it with Cloth from his Palace to the Capitol, as he did by the Forum Romanum, in order to represent the Plays where with he presented the Publick: The Entrance into the Carma was a Place well inhabited and adorned with fine Buildings, and fo Virgit calls them Laura Carina: The chief Edifices were Titus his Baths and Palace, where there were Subterranean Halls 137 Foot long, 17 broad, end 12 high, built by Vefpatian for the Colledge of the Forifices, Pompey's House, and the School of the Freedman Lengus the famous Grammahis Brother Quintus to go live on Monnt Palatine; The Equimelium, which was a round Place before the Temple of Tellus at one of the Ends of the exectable Street, where formerly flood the House of Sep. Melius, a Roman Knight, which was demolished and rated by a Decree of L.Quinrius Cincinnatus the Dictator, because he endeavoured to assume the Sovereign Power. Bufta Gallica, the Burying-place of the Gauls, where they were defeated by Camillus ; Tigillum fororium, the Sifter's Rafter, placed upon Two Walls, under which they made Horace pass in order to explate the Crime he had committed in killing his Sifter : Meta fudans, the fweating Goal; near unto Confluntine's Arch ; it was a Pile of Brick-work, made like an Obelisk, from whence Water dropped every way as Sweat does from the Body, and at the Top of which there flood Jupiter's Statue: Ten Temples, Two confectated Myrtles, one of which was cal-1ed Pawiels Myreus and the other Plebein; that of Faufthra the Wife of Marcus Aurelius the Emperor, of Tellus in the Carina devoted by the Conful T. Sempronius, of Concord, of Venus Cloacine, of the Sun, Moon, Augustus and Nerva in the Pallage to the Forum transitorium : 8 ... divile, viz, those of the Muses, Hope, Mercury, Lucina Valeriana, Juno Lucina, Mavors, Juvensies and Ifis. Vulcanalu, of the Place where Romulus planted that Lords whole Roots reached as far as Cafer's Forum the fatred Portico, Place of Victory; of Vultan, and the Coloffus of the Sun; the Odeum, which was a Place erected for the Practiting of Musick, made Theater-ways, with Seats like the Steps of a Ladder covered with a Lantern and Supported by Pillars: There fuch as played upon Mufick were taught the Art by a Mafter of the Science, and the Actors by a Player before they appeared upon the Stages : Forum Cupedinis or Macellum Cupedinis, the Mar- Saluft and Dioclefian, the Baths of Paulus Emiket of Dainties; the Ancient Bafilica of Paulus lius, and the Senaculum of the Roman Ladies. Amilius, that of Confiantine, the facred Repolitory of the Romans, Daphnis Bath, 79 Lakes ed from the Capitol, as far as the Place called or Refervatories of Water: The Arches of Ti- Septs in Campus Marsius, even to Trajan's Forum, tus and Vespatian, of Septimius Severus, and Con- and met with the Circus Flaminius, and the great because it was there the Peace was figned be | Stantine: 28 Granaries, 24 Hand-mills, 418 great Houses, and 275 injula or separate Houses. ..

The fifth Division called Esquilina, contained the Mounts Efquiline and Viminal, and was in Circumference 15950 Feet, containing fifteen Streets, and having Two Surveyors and as many Denunciators; the most considerable Things in it were thele, viz. Puticuli or Fusicula, Pitsdug in the Earth between Mount Ejquiline, the City Walls and Street which lead to Porta Querquesulana; where poor People were buried. which cauled a very ill Stench in all that Part of the City, to that Augustus with the Consent of rian : The old Houle of Cicero, who left it to the Senate and People of Rome, made a Prelent of it to Macense his tayouties, who built a fine House of Picature there, and the best Gardens in Rome, as Horace tells us. L. 1. S.s. S.

> Hue prius augustis ejetta cadavera cellis, Conferous vili portanda locabat in arca : Hoc mifera plebi stabas commune sepulcrum.... Nunc lices Esquiliis babitare falubribus, atque Aggere in aprico spatieri, què modò triftes Albis informem spectabant offibus agrum.

Virgil had a House near this Place, and so had Aquilius the Lawyer, Propertius, Perfem, and Pling the Younger. Here were leveral Temples, fuch as those of Jupiper Vimineus, of Juno Lucina. Minerva, Medicina, Esculapius, Venus Erycina that flood at the Gate Collina, round about which the Plays called Agonalia were celebrated, when the Tiber: overflowed: The Amphitheater called bir that of Peace, of Remus, before which food Cafirenfe, Aurelian's Circus, with an Obelisk, the Bafilica of Sicinius, the Pratorian Camp, the Park where the wild Beafts were kept, which was called Vivarium, several publick Baths, 180 Great Mens Houles, amongst which were those of Servius Tullius, Q. Lutatius Capilus, and M. Licineus Craffus.

The South Division was called Alta Semita, by reason of the Sciruation thereof, and contained 15600 Feet in Circumterence, began at the Two great Marble Horfes, made by Phidias and Praxitele, and reached to the Gate called Vininalu, it had 14 Streets in it, and 48 Towers, with 2 Surveyors, '2 Denunciators, and 52 Vico-Magistri: The most noted Place, here was the Execrable Camp near Porsa Collina, 10 Shops where Vermillion was fold, 15 Temples, vizthose of Health , Serapu, Flora, Venus, &c. a Portico 1000 Paces long, the Statues of Quirinus 20 Foot high, as also that Leaden one of Mamurius; the Circus of Flore, the Forums of

The Seventh Divition called Via Lata, reach-

and the new Street : It was 14867 Feet in Cir- Kennel that ran into the Tiber. cumference, had 12 Streets in it, 2 Surveyors, as many Denunciators, and 6 Watches: This na Publica, reached from the greater Circus a-Division took in also the following Places; the long Mount Avenine, as far as Caracalla's Baths; Milliarium aureum, Puteal Libonis, a Place much and was 12000 Feet in Circumference, and confrequented by Merchants; the Curtian Lake, tained 12 Streets. This Publica Pifeina was where Cursius in Armour threw himielf into a in the City between Mount Celius and Celiolus; Chafm of the Earth; the Horatian File, to which where the Boys of Rome went to learn to fwim; were fixed the Spoils of the 3 Curatit, and the it was a large Receptacle of Water at the Foot Statue of Marfyas, one of Bacibus his Compani- of Mount Aventine, into which the Appian Water ons, 15 Temples, and among others that of was conveyed, wherein they watered and the Capitol, Ge. of Jupiter Feretrius, Juli | washed their Horses: There were some Temus Cafer, where stood an Image of Venus proceeding from the Sea, devoted and built by Augustus; those of Concord, Vesta and Janus. Poliola, which were the Veffels wherein they laid up their Sacred Relicts, at the Taking of Rome by the Gauls; the Sepulcher of Romulus, of Acca aureum; Seven Bafilica, and the Gracoftafis; the Prison called Tullianum, built by Servius Tullius, 150 Pallaces, among which were those of Africanus, T. Annius Milo and Ovid.

The Ninth Division called Circus Flaminius, took in the Sides of the Gardens, the Campus Mar-30560 Feet about, containing 30 Streets, who they called Navalia; it was 3489 Feet in circuit, had each of them their particular Officers, as and had 28 Streets. the preceding ones had: They reckoned eight

The Tenth Division was called Palatium, be-ms, and besides the Great Circus took in all Infule: 144 Jakes of Privies, which were free for

Street, from which the whole Division took its | the Valley which lay between Mount Avenine Name: It contained 23700 Feet in Circumfe- and the Tiber, as far as the Gate called Rips, and mice, and 40 Streets, had 2 Surveyors, and Saline on one fide, and on the other the Herbas many Denunciators. Martial's House stood | Market, and the Foot of the Capitol, the Ternple of Piety, and Columna Lattaria, whither they The Eighth Division called Forum Romanum, carried their Bastard Children; belides their was the finest and most famous of all of them it had 8 Streets, that Place called Argiletum, Ir contained the Forum Romanum, the Capitol, where there were forme Bookiellers Shops, 4 the Tarpeian Rock, the Gate called Siercoraria, Temples, 30 Adicula, and the Sink of a great

The Tweifth Divition which was called Pifciples and inconfiderable Groves in this Part.

The Thirteenth Division was called Avensimis. and in Circumference contained 163 Feet, and 30 Streets, with the same Officers as the other Divisions had: The chief Places which it included were Clivus Publici, by which they went up Lourensia, and many Portico's: Four Courts to Mount Aventine, and began at the Forum Oviawhere the Senate met, viz. Hoftilia, Calabra, rjum, and reached to the Temple of Juno Regi-Pompiliana or Regia Numa, and the Senaculum na: Scala Gemonia, to which they tied Malefactors, from whence they were thrust down into the Tiber; the End of the Armiluftrium; The Doliolum on Mount Teffaceus ; Remuria,or the par-Turquinins Superbus, Manlius Capitolinus, Scipio ticular Place where Remus took his Augury by the Flight of Birds, and where he was buried.

The Fourteenth Divition was called Trans-Tiberim, and beginning at the faniculum contained tins, the Vaulted ftreet, Straight-ftreet, and was | the Varican, the Isle of the Tiber, and that which

The City of Rome in general contained thefe Temples here, and among the rest the Pantheon, following Things, 700 Temples or Edicule unand that of Janus near the Theater of Marcel- der the Names of Templum, Ades, Fanum, Delus: The Circus Flaminius, that of Alexander lubrum, Sacellum, Adieula; a great Number of Severus; the Obelisk with the Dial in Campus | Altars only comprized under these Words, Ara Martius, 4 Theaters and Amphitheaters, and and Ahare: The Differences of thele Words the Stables belonging to the 4Companies of Cour- will be found in their respective Alphabetical tiers: The Sepia, Ouile, or Place where the Order: Three Senzeulum's, which were the People gave their Suffrages; the Prilon of the Places where the Senate met; the first was in Centumviri, and Lucullus and Agrippa's Gar- the Temple of Concord, the fecond near the Gate called Capena, and the third in the Temple of Bellona. Several Courts under the Word Curia, Quie it begun on Mount Palaine, and was 11600 the Chief whereof were the Hoffilia, Jalia, Pom-Seet round, containing 7 Streets; 10 Temples, pela, &c. where the Senate tomerimes met: and among others that of Apollo Palatinus; 21 Eafilica, which were flately Edifices, where-190 Noblemens Houles, such as those of Hosti- of I have spoken in their proper order: 12 or 190 Fromenius routes, tout as time to raight of these thousand their project order; 192 of the Annus Martins, Valerius Publicola, L.C.41 - 18, Whipbea, from the Word Kympbea, which for the Orator, Hortenfins, Catiline, Julius Ca- were Halls to marry in; 1780 Great Mehs Houses, comprized under the Word Donar, and a The Eleventh Division was cailed Circus Maxi- vast Number of private Houses under the World

every Body to use: An Hospital in the Island of a Trident in one Hand, and a Net in the others the Tiber, where the Temple of Esculapius stood, wherein they endeavoured to entangle them called Nofocomium; as also an Hospital where Adversary. superannuated and inferior Soldiers, who had ferved in the Army, were taken care of; they called it Taberna meritoria: 22 famous Por- 25 Virgil fays: tico's to shelter People from the Rain; divers Arlenals, where they laid up Arms and Warlike Machines called Armamentaria: 20 publick Libraries; 5 Colleges and Publick Schools for the Breeding up of Youth: 254 Hind mills, and Strabo tells us, that Homer understanding that 327 Granaries, where they had Magazines of Corn, in order to supply the Peoples Wants at reasonable Rates, in the Time of Scarcity ; 909 private ones.

RELIQUIÆ; the Relicks, were the Ashes and Bones of the Dead that remain'd after the Burning of their Bodies, and which the Ancients the Time of their Death, and paffing no Senkept very religiously in Urns, and afterwards tence upon them till after their decease, and that laid them up in Tombs.

REMURIA: the Place where Remus took his Augury from the Flight of Birds, and where he was buried.

REMUS, the Son of Rhea Silvia, and Romulus his Brother, they were Twins, and ordered by the Command of their Uncle Anulius Silvius to be thrown into the Tiber; but they were mitor's Shepherd. Who carried them to his Wife. by whom they were carefully nursed: Some said that while the Cradle was upon the Brink of the River, a She-Wolf brought thither by the Crying of the Infants, gave them fuck: Others have been of Opinion, that the Wantonness of Laurentia, Fafiulus his Wife gave Occasion to this Fable, because such Women were called She-Wolves. Authors vary in their Opinions concerning the Death of Remus; some faving, that Romulus flew his Brother, because he ridiculed him upon the Account of the Fortifications he had made to his new City; while others will have him to have been killed by the Soldiery; but be it as it will, 'tis certain Remus cemented the Walls of Rome with his own Blood.

REPETUNDARUM CRIMEN, or DE REPETUNDIS; Bribes taken by the in Execution that were made against the Ve-Magistrates from the Allies and Subjects of the Romans, as also from the Citizens; this Crime was not at first made Capital, but became afterwards to be fo, as may be feen by the Example of Verres.

RETIARII: Gladiators, who fought with

RADAMANTHUS; was feigned by the Poets to be the Judge of departed Souls in Hell

Cnoffius bic Rhadamanthus babet duriffima regna. Caffigarque auditque dolos, cogitque fateri, &c.

Radamanibus, an ancient King of Crees, had formerly made very good Laws in his Country. wherein sometime after he had been imitated 39 Brais Coloffus's, and 51 of Marble; 6 great by Minos, he took occasion to make them the Obelisks, and 42 leffer ones, with divers Pyra- Judges of all Mankind, in a Place where they mids: Several fine Gardens, and 32 Sacred all met, i. e. in the other World, and called Groves, 23 Water-Pools for Horses to drink of, them Jupiter's Sons, because that they, in order whitening of Linnen, and quenching Fires; to give a greater Sanction to their Laws, gave 14 Aqueduds; 105 Fountains, 1352 Lakes or out, that they were dictated by Jupiter. Plate, Pools of franding Water, brought from several with admirable Dexterity, unfolds unto us the Springs; 17 great open Places, comprized un- Truths concealed under these Poetical Fistions, der the Word Forum; 117 publick Baths, and when he makes Jupiter to lay, that he was weary of the Complaints made him concerning the unrighteous Sentences pronounced upon Earth, which he would remedy by concealing from Men even by departed Souls themselves, that so neither Favour nor falle Witnesses, Relations nor Interests might take place any more, as they did whilft they were alive: That he entrufted three of his Sons with the faid Judicial Office, giving Rhadamanibus Power over the Afaticks, Eacus over the Europeans, and for Minos he was to terminate any Difficulties that might happen: And taken up and faved by Fauflulus, who was Nu- To the fame Plate places Mines above his Two Brothers, and represents him with a Golden Scepter in his Hand, whereas he makes the other Two to carry a Rod only : Minos autem confiderans fedet folus aureum babens sceptrum, xeusur ธหรัชโeov.

RHAMNUSIA; Ultrix Dea; a Name given to the Goddess Nemesis, and taken from the Town of Rhamnus in Attica-

RHEA. Numitor's Daughter, whom Amulius Silvius made a Vestal; some call her Ilia; but most Authors name her Rbea and Silvia; this Veftal was got with Child in a Wood dedicated to Mars, wherein the offered Sacrifice by her felf, and where an armed Man enjoy'd her: She was delivered of Two Children, whom Anulius exposed to be deftroy'd, and put those Laws stals, who proftituted their Virginity.

Rhea was called also Aftarte, Ops, Peffmuntia &C. as Apuleius says, who confounds several Goddeffes in the Person of Rhea; 'twas therefore rather a Multitude of Names, than a Multiplication of Deities, according to his Opinion, and muntia, Cybele. But how ancient foever Rhea to Romus, the Son of Aness. might have been in Phrygia, the was much more | Plutarib speaks of another Foundress of Rome, that Serum and Rhea his Wife were the Children of Oceanus and Teshys.

RICA; a Vail wherewith the Roman Ladies covered their Heads.

RICULA; a little Vail for the same use. RIDICULUS, and ÆDICULA RI-Commemoration of Hannibal's Flight from before that City, because of the Rains and Storms that fell during his belieging of it, which made the Romans laugh and fall to ridicule him: The Romans were not the first who deified Laughter, feeing we are informed by Plutarch in the Life of Lungus, that the Lacedamonians erected him a Statue, and the Hypateans of Theffaly annually offered Sacrifice to him, as also the Romans did in the Spring, accompanied with loud Laughter: Paufanias mentions Θεὸς γέλωτ Θ, a God latia. of Laughter.

ROBIGO, or ROBIGUS; a Deity worshipped by the Romans for driving away the Blaft which happened to the Corn in the Ear, occasioned thro' too much Drought. Numa Pompilius inftituted a Feaft in Honour of him about the Month of April, called Rob galia.

ROGATIO LEGIS; the Propoling of a Law to pais, which was made to the Romans for their Approbation thereof; from whence came those Expressions so frequent in Cicero, Rogationem ferre ad populum, to propole a Law to the People, and Rogator legis, he that proposes the

· ROMA; Rome; tho' the Founding of this City be attributed to Romulus, because he enmay be proved by divers Authorities, that there | ced, that Porta Romana did not take its Name was in reality Isis, Queen of Egypt, on was a City in Italy called Roma, before Romulus mom all these Names were conserred at divers was born. Solinus will have this City to have times, and in divers Countries, and whom they been founded near Mount Esquiline by Roma the represented under the Notion of so many Dei- Daughter of Kittim, to which she gave her ic. Strabo also mentions this multiplying of Name; but other Authors there are who attri-Names: Es Berecynthes & omnes Phryges, & qui bute the Foundation thereof to Roma, the Daughllam accolunt Troes, Rheam colunt, eique orgia ter of Afcanius : Sabellicus confirms this Proposiulbrant. Vocatur ab eis Mater Deorum, & mag- tion of Plutarch by a Quotation out of one Cephon 11 Dea; à locis autem Ilas, Dindymene, Peffi- Gergesius, who attributed the Founding of Rome to in Egypt, where Diodorus Siculus makes Ofirin named Roma; and fays, that after Aneas had and this to deleend from her and Saturn; or more landed at Laurentum, a Trojan Lady, whose Name immediately Jupiter and Juno, and from them was Roma, took the Opportunity in the Absence Of in and Ifis. We have an Account in the of Aness, and the other Trojans to perswade Phanician Theology of Sanchuniathon, who was the Women to burn the Ships, that to they might more ancient, that Saturn having married his be no longer exposed to the Dangers of the Sea ; Two Sisters Astarie and Rhea, he had Seven and this necessitated them to build a City at the Daughters by the first, and as many Sons by the | Foot of Mount Palatine, which from the Name other: And thus you fee from whence it is, the of the faid Lady they called Roma. Caius Sem-Greeks have derived the whole Fable of Rhea' proving in his Divition of Italy, proves that Romuor Cybele. Livy gives us the History at large of lus was not the Founder of Rome, but that it was the Transportation of the Goddess Rhea, from the Daughter of Italus; for he says, that he was Peffinuncia to Rome: Place in his Timaus fays, called Rumulus, and his Brother Rumus, and not Romulus and Remus, as is commonly thought. Rome when built or enlarged by Romulus, was divided into Four Parts; one called Roma, the fecond Germalia, the third Velia, and the fourth comprehended Romulus his House. It is plain that Roma was that little City built by Italus his DICULI; the Temple of Laughter, built at | Daughter; Velia was that Part of Mount Pala-Rome 2000 Paces without the Gate Capena, in ine, that looked towards that Place called Locus Romanus, and was so named from Vellus, a Fleece, because the Shepherds were wont to shear their Sheep there; Germalia was a low Place that looked towards the Capitol, where the Twins Cradle was found under a Fig-Tree called Ruminal, from the Word Rumo, to give luck, because it was under this Tree the She-Woif gave fuck to Romulus and Remus : From the House of Romulus, who was first King of Rome, built upon Mount Palatine, they call Princes Houses Pa-

Romulus made Three Gates to his New City, viz. Carmentalis, Remana and Pandana; to which fome have added fanualis. The Gate Carmentalis took its Name from Carmenta, Evander's Wife, who was buried there; the same was since called Porta Scelerata, because the Fabii went our at it, when they were defeated at Cremera: Porta Romana took its Name from Romulus, fays Livy, but I rather believe it came from the Village Roma; it was also named Mugonia, because of the Lowing of the Cattle fold at this Gate, and Trigonia, for being fortified with Three Angles: Pandana came from the Verb Pando, because it lay open to let in the Provisions that were continually brought into the City; the fame was alto called Libera and Romulida; and larged it, and founded a Monarchy there; yet it this confirms the Opinion which I have advanfrom Romalus; for 'tis not very likely that of dals of Maxentius represent Eternal Rome fitting but Four Gates, Romulus would have called Two upon Military Enfigns, armed with an Helmer according to his own Name: Porta Janualis was and holding a Scepter in one Hand, and a Globe so named from the Temple of Janus that stood in the other, which she presents the Emperor, near it.

Rome was founded in the 3961. Year of the Julian Period, Anno Mund. 3301. 753. Years before our Saviour's Nativity; in the third Year tori Urbis aterne. The Medals of Vefpatian reof the fixth Olympiad, on the 11th and 12th present her with an Helmet on her Head, and of May, the Day after the Feast of Pales, be- lying upon the Seven Hills of Rome, with a Sceptween the second and third Hour of the Day, ter in her Hand, and the Tiber in the Form of the Sun being in Taurus, the Moon in Libra, an old Man at her Feet; but upon the Medals Saturn, Mars, Venus and Mercury in Scorpio, and of Adrian she holds a Lawrel branch in her Lest-Jupiter in Pisces, according to the Testimony of hand, and Victory upon a Globe in the Right, Solinus, Pliny, and Eutropius. Titus Terentius as being victorious over all the World. The Firmianus, a learned Aftrologer, rejects the People of Smyrns were the first who erected a foresaid Time and according to his Computation; Temple to the City of Rome under the Consulmakes it to be on the 21ft of April, at full Moon, thip of Cato Major, when the was not yet come and when the Sun, Mercury and Venus were in to that Pitch of Grandeur (fhe afterwards at-Taurus, Jupiter in Pisces, Sasurn and Mars in tained to) before the Destruction of Carthage and Cancer, about the third Hour, and Plutarch ob- the Conquest of Afia. See Regio. ferves, that the Moon on the faid Day suffered a great Ecclipfe.

into Three Tribes or Classes, under Tribunes in the curious Sciences of the Chaldeans, having or Collonels, and each Tribe into Ten Curia exactly observed the Life and Death of Romulus, or Parishes, and each Curia into Ten Decurie; fays, He was born the 21ft Day of Thorb, which the first being under the Command of an Officer ! is our August, at Sun-riling, and that he was named Curio, as the other was under one called | begot the 23d of Cheac, which is our November, Decurio; he picked out of all the Tribes such at Three in the Afternoon, in the first Year of Persons, whose Birth, Age and Vertue made them. remarkable, and called them Patricii or Patres, and the reft of the People Plebeians. the Space of 243 Years, and became afterwards | the first Year of the first Olympiad, and Fucine a Republick, which was sometimes governed by afferts he was born in the 3d Year of the second Confuls, and other whiles by Decemviri, Tribunes, Dictators, and laftly, by Emperors: The lius his Command exposed to be drowned in the Goddess clad like Pallas, with a youthful Air, to intimate that Rome was always in the Vigour of her Youth, and did not grow old: They put is, that they were suckled by a She-wolf, because an Helmet on her Head and a Pike in her Hand, of the Leudness of Laurentia, Faustulus his Wife, with a long Robe, to denote that the was alike prepared for War and Peace, fince the was dreft like Pallas, whom they represented with a Helmet and Pike, and like Minerva who was habited with a long Robe: This Head of Rome is very often found on the Confulary Medals, and even on some Greek ones; the Inscriptions that are on the Greek Medals for Rome and the Senate, are, ΘEA P M H, the Goddess Rome, and ΘΕΟΣ ΣΥΓΚΛΗΤΟΥ or IEPA ΣΥΓ-KAHTOE: The God of the Senate, or the Sacred Senate: They also creeted Temples throughout the Empire to the Honour of the Goddels Rome, and at last the meanest flattering Titles they used were Roma Villrix, Victorious Rome; Roma

invida, Invincible Rome : Roma Aterna, Eternal

Rome, and Roma Sacra, Sacred Rome. The Me- Speaks of a Society instituted by Romalus, some-who is crowned with Lawrel, to let him know that he was the Mafter and Preferver of the whole World, with this Infcription; Conferva-ftal Rhea, otherwise called Silvia and Ilia; Lu-Romulus divided the Inhabitants of his City cius Terentius Firmianus, a Person well skilled the second Olympiad: Plutarch says, that the Sun, on the Day of his Conception suffered a great Eccliple from Eight to Nine in the Morn-

ROMULUS, the Son of Mars and the Ve-

This City was governed by Seven Kings for ing: Ant. Contins will have him to be born in Olympiad. He with his Brother were by Amu-Ancients represented Rome in the Form of a Tiber, but Faustulus, who was Numitor's Shepherd, faved him and his Brother Remus, and they were both nurfed by his Wife: The Story which gave occasion to the Fable : but the Thing has been even to represented on the Confulary Medals, where you have a She wolf and Two Twins fucking her: Romulus traced out the Plan of his new City and prescribed Laws to his People, who coalested together from all Parts into a Body, for he made an Afylum of a Valelying at the Foot of Mons Capitolinus, for all thole that came thirher; which increased the Number of his Subjects in a very little time: He regulated Matters of Religion, dividing his People into Three Tribes, and each Tribe into Curia or Parishes: Each Curia chose it's own Priests,

Priestesses, Augurs, and Camilla, who were to Sacrifices and facred Feafts that were folemnized throughout a Curia at certain Times. Pliny fupply what was require for the Charge of the

Monthus was the Sovereign or Grand-mafter of fighting any more; they were also called Ruthe Order, the Enligns of which was a Crown | diarii. of Ears of Corn tied with a white Riband, and in a Scuiffle, others will have it that he was cut in Pieces by the Senate, who gave out that the Gods had carried him into Heaven ; of Quivinus, according to the Relation of Procuus: Dionyfius of Hallicarnassus says, 'he lived 55 Years, and Plutarch 54, and that he reigned 37. other holding a 1 rophy on his Shoulders with the City.

this Inscription Romulo Augusto.

Gronovius excepts against all that has been hid by fuch a Multitude of Authors concerning the Origin of Romulus for near 2500 Years. He presends that a Greeck named Diocles was the first who invented the Fable of the She-wolf's fuckling Remulus and Remus, who were exposed by Anulius his order to be destroyed, and begotten that he lays it down as an established Principle that Romulus was not born in Italy, but that he came thither from another Country; and the Proof he gives for it is, That no People of Italy Wives. But 'tis by no means to be thought, in case Remalus was owned to be the Grandson of Numiror, after his expelling of the Usurper Amilius, and re-establishing his Grandfather upon the Throne, but that he would have found the Albans inclined to make an Alliance with him, and to supply him and his People with Wives. Whereas it is supposed he had Recourse w the Sabines or some other People; who ha ring refused him, he resolved upon the entire-Extirpation of them. Other Authors will have lounius to be a Greek by Birth; for this his Name implies, as Salmafius fays, who thought the Word Romalus to be a Diminitive of iauG. that in the Eolick Dialect fignifies Strength : Groworks is of Opinion, that Romulus was neither Gaulnor Affrican, but a Syrian, tince Fojephus Popletie, the Son of Romelia, of whom mention s made in Scripture.

ROSTRA; Stages or raifed and spacious Theaters which were adorned with the Prows of the Ships that were taken from the Antiata in the first Sea-fight obtained by the Romans: It was the Place from whence Orations were made to the People.

Pixtor gave the Gladiators as a Mark of their prized within the Number of Fifty, and then all that like unto the Knights of the French King's Freedom, whence the Latin Phrase Rude donore, Order, and they were called Fraires Arvales; to make a Gladiator free, to discharge him from

RUDUSCULANA PORTA; an Anthis Dignity they held for Life: He was killed | cient Gate of Rome, built after a ruftick clumfie manner, or called to because it was adorned with Brass, according to Valerius Maximus. ..

RUMA or RUMINA; this Goddess he was deified and worshipped under the Name | presided over the Nutting of Children at the Breaft; there was a little Temple built her at Rome wherein they offered Milk unto her.

RUTUMENIA; an Ancient Gate of We have Medals of the Emperor Antoninus Rome, so called from a Charjoteer of that Name, Plus where Romulus is represented habited like who proving victorious in a Horse-race from Mors with a Javilin in one Hand, and with the Veil to Rome, entred through this Gate into

S Is a Confonant, and the 18th Letter in the Alphabet; it was a Numeral amongst the by Mus upon Rhea Silvia a Vestal; and he is so Ancients, which signified Seven. It's called a affored that there is no need to refute this Pable, hiffing Letter by reason of its Sound, and has met with a different Reception from the Ancients, some having been much for rejecting it, while others affected the Use of it. Pinder calls it xi3Indor, adulterinam, and has avoided the would supply the first Inhabitants of Rome with Uie of it almost in all his Verses; Quintilian says, tis rough and makes an ill Sound in the Conjun-Rion of Words, which made it be often totally rejected, as dignu' omnibu' and the like are to be met with in Plautus and Terence. Some of the Latins also chang'd it into a T in Imitation of the Arbeneans, laying Mersare for merfare, pultare for pullare, &c. But others on the Contrary affected the Use of it every where, as Caimane for Camena, dujmofe for dumofa. And Quintilian fays, that from Cicero's Time and fo onward, they often doubled it in the Middle of Words, as in Cauffa, Divissiones, &c.

SABAZIA; the Feafts of Bacchus; fee Barchanalia.

SABAZIUS; Bacchus, or according to fome, the Son of Baccbus. See Baccbus.

SABATHUM; the Sabbath; the feres and Nicephorus translate the Name by vies reckoned their Years by Weeks, the Seventh whereof was the Sabbathick Year, wherein it was not lawful to till the Ground, and their Slavesthen were made free: They had also their Year of Jubilee or Remission, which was every 50th Year, or as fome will have 40th; infomuch that every Jubilee was also a Sabbathick Year. but more famous than the other, and the Years comprehending their Two Terms, i.e. the proceeding and following Jubilee were always comEstates, and whatever had been alienated, re- striking upon them musically. This was avery heturned to the Policifion of the first Owner.

SACERDOS; a Heathen-Prieft, whereof | chiefeft Men in the Empire. Augustales, 25 Priefts there were different Orders confecrated to the inftituted by the Emperor Tiberius, in Honourof Service of feveral Deicies: There was a Society Augustus, for whom they erested Temples and of Priests named Luperci, who were engag'd in Alcars, and instituted Sacrifices: The same was also the Worthip of Pan Lycaus, and on his Festival- done for other Emperors, who came afterwards to Day, ran stark naked through the City, with be deisied thro' Flattery, for we find there were Thongs in their Hands, which were made of the fuch as they called Sodales Flavii, Adriander, Skin of a Goat, that they had facrificed to their God, and with which they lash'd the Women, who willingly received the Blows out of a fuper- anciently facrifice Animals, if we believe Ports. fricious Belief they had, that the same contribu- 17, but the Fruits of the Earth, or Perfume ted to make them fruitful. Hercules his Priefts. which were altogether bloodless Sacrifices. Percalled Positii and Pinarii, were instituted by phyry in his Books concerning Abstinence, treats Hercules, they being taken out of those Two of this Matter at large; he fays, upon the Re-Noble Families in Evander's Time, because they lation of Theophrastus, that the Egyptians were had affifted Hercules at a Sacrifice which he offe- the first who made an Offering of the First fruits red to Jupiter, of the best Cow he had in his to their Deity, and not of Incense and Persume. Herd. Fratres Arvales to the Number of 12 were appointed by Romalus to facrifice to Ceres are the first Productions of the Earth. These and Bacchin, and to pray to them to make the first Sacrifices were confumed by Fire, and thence Earth fruitful; Romulus was their Institutor. Curiones, they were Priests establish'd with Supream Power, as to Spiritual Matters, in the Curie, to the Number of 30, into which the Three Tribes of the People of Rome were at first divided: Numa added Two Priests more in every Parish, to affift the Curiones, and these he called Sacerdotes publici: The Curiones had the Tenths and Parish-Offerings allowed them for their Maintenance; and this was called, as Curionum, quod dabatur Curioni ob facer dotium curionatiis, lays Festus. Titii Sodales, the Titian Priests, to the Number of 25, whom Titus Tasizs introduced formerly to Rome, in order to retain somewhat of the Sabines Religion, as Tacitus favs. L. 1. Annal. C.7. However this Author feems to contradict himself when he attributes the Instituting of this Priesthood to Romulus, Titii Sodales faces Augustales subdidere, quod Jacerdonium ut Romulus Tatio Regi, ita Cafar Tiberius Julie genti facravit. It may be faid if Tatius infittated this Priesthood; Romulus, after his Death, having made the Sabines and Romans coale ce into one Body, ordered these Priests to offer an Yearly Sacrifice in Honour of Tatius, King of the Sabines. Varro will have thefe Prielts to have been called Titii from fome Birds Ovid adds a fabulous Narration to this Historical or that Name, from which they took Auguries: Truth, viz. that Cores was the first that facts Titie aves quas in auguris certis Sodales Tivii ob ficed a Hog, because he had spoiled the Com: fervare folebant. They dweit without the City The fame Poet in another Place brings in Pribaof Rome, from whence they observed the Au- goras speaking against this Slaughtering of gury of the faid Birds. Flamines, Priests con- Beafts, whether the same were defigued for secrated to the Worthip of each particular Deity, Food or Sacrifice, he makes him say, that it every one of which bore the Name of his God, might be very pardonable to facrifice a Hog to as Flamen Dialis, Martialis and Quirinalu, the Ceres, and a Goat to Bacebus, because of the Ha-Priests of Jupiter, Mars and Romulus. See Flamen. vock, mide by those Animals in the Com and Salii, an Order of Priests instituted by Numa, Vineyards, but it must be extream Cruelty to who danced a Sicred Dance in Honour of Murs, offer innocent Sheep, and Oxen that are fo uleful carrying the Sacred Shields, named Ancilia, and for Tillage, though Mea endeavoured to con-nourable Priefthood at Rome, and held by the Aliani, Antonini, &c.

SACRIFICIA; Sacrifices; they did not much less of Animals, but of plain Herbs, which come those Greek Words Duein, Duela, Dunia-THOLOV. Which fignific to facrifice, &c. They afterwards burnt Perfumes called appeara, from the Greek apaiopeas, to pray. They did not begin to facrifice Animals till they had first eaten some Herbs or Fruits, that ought to be offered upon the Altar. Theophrasius adds, that before the facrincing of Beatts, besides the Offerings made of Herbs and Fruits of the Earth; the Sacrifices of Libations were very common when they poured out Water, Honey, Oyl and Wine; and these were called Nephalia, Melitofonda, Eleosponda, and Oenosponda. Ovid fays, that the very Name of Villim imported, that the fame was not killed till Victories were obtained over the Enemy; and that that of Hoftis denoted that Hostilities had been committed: In short, while Men yet lived upon Pulse, they minded not the offering of Beafts in Sacrifice, fince the Law of Sacrificing required that tome Part of them should be eaten, Ante Deos bomini quod conciliare valeret. Far erat, & puri lucida mica Salie.

the Worship of the Gods.

Nec fatis est quod tale ne fas committitur, ipfos Inscripsere Doos sceleri ; Numenque supernum Cade laboriferi credunt gaudere juvenci.

Horace also gives us to understand that the pureft and plainest Way of appealing the Gods, was to offer them Flower and Salt, and fome Odoriferous Herbs.

Te nibil attinet Tentare multâ cæle bidentium. . . Mollibit aversos Penates Farre pio & faliente mica.

servius observes they threw Flower and Salt upon the Victims, the Fire and the Knives; for they overspread with Idolatry, and 'tis very probable very common even before the Deluge. And thus it was convenient to offer Sanguinary Sacrifices to God, in order to hinder Men from doing the same to Idols or worshipping Beafts.

Temples to be built within the City.

Perjeus facrificed Horses to the Sun; the Greeks Historian in his Questiones Romana, asks, why cal their Fault in vain, under a Pretence of 1 an Hind to Diana, and the Arabians Dogs; and that an As was facrificed to Priapus: He then goes on to Birds, which he fays were offered in Sacrifice to the Gods, in Revenge for the Injuries they fometimes did them, or the Displeasure they conceived at their Discovering their Secrets by divers forts of Auguries: Amongst the Birds that were facrificed, there are no other mentioned than Doves: Gollings and Cocks were offered in Sacrifice to none but Nox, and that even in the Night-time.

The most remarkable of all the Pagan Sacrifices were those wherein Men were offered. Paufanias fays, that Lycaon, the second of that Name King of Arcadia, built the first City in Greece, which he called Lycofura, that he there facrificed Men to Jupiter; and that from thence they took occasion to say, that he made that God eat Humane Helh; who to punish him for the faid roafted the Corn, and then mixed Salt there- | Crime, transformed him into a Wolf. Porphyry fays, with, reducing the whole into falted Flower that these Humane Immolations continued in or Meal and this anciently was Mens Food, and Arcadia till the Time of Theophraftus, that they the Matter of the ancient Sacrifices, which they also spread themselves into Peloponesus, and that fometimes continued to celebrate apart after the they were abolished by Lycurgus at Sparta who Inflituting of Sanguinary Sactinees, which was changed this barbarous Cuftom, and brought never used by the Ancients. Not but that Noab the People to be content with the Blood of facrificed animals at his coming out of the Ark, fome young Men, that were whipped for this as Moses ordered Sanguinary Sacrifices to be Purpole. Pausanias speaks of an annual Sacrimade at the Fromulgation of the Law; but when i fice made to Diana Triclaria of a young Boy and Mojes published the Law, all the World was Girl by the Oracle's Command in order to expiate the inceftuous Familiarity that paffed bethat the Worthip of falle Deities was grown tween a Virgin Priestels of this Temple and a young Man. Strabo gives an Account of the feveral Ways used by the Gauls in Respect to Humane Sacrifices, and fays, that at Leucadia, in order to expiate the publick Sins, and avert The Example of Abel may be objected here- the Misfortunes wherewith they were menaced, in, of whom the Scripture feems to fay, that he they every Year threw some Body down headfactificed the best and fattest of his Lambs unto long from an high Rock, after they had first tied God from the Biginning of the World, but 'tis a great many Feathers and live Birds to him to much more probable that he only offered his keep him up in the Air, and that they received Lambs to God, without killing them; and Gro- him below as gently as could be, for which End tius has made it appear, that fince Sacrifices they made a Ring with their small Boats; Diowere offered only or fuch things as were in use nyfius of Hallicarnassus says, that there were among Men, it is by no means probable, that Humane Sacrifices offered to Saturn in the first Abel offered unto God the Flesh of Animals, Ages, not only at Tyre and Carthage, but also which Men did not yet make use of for their in Italy; that Hercules abolifhed the faid Cuftom, Food. That which Flutareb calls Immulation by perfwading the People to substitute the Efwas the Ceremony of throwing the falted figies of Men inflead of real Men, which they Flower, called Mola Salfa, and Wine upon the were wont to tie together to the Number of Victim before he was ilan; Macrobius fays, 30 and throw into the Tiber: And this was that the first Sacrifices of the Egyptims had no done afterwards on the Ides of May. Plutareb thing that was bloody in them, and that when in his Book of Superfition treats of these Sacrithey were even necessitated to receive the Wor- fices offered to Saurn: The Fathers and the flip of Serapu and Saiurn, to whom Victims were | Mothers facrificed their own Children and those to be facrificed, they would not allow their that had none bought some: They imposed a Fine upon fuch as could not forbear shedding The most common Victims were Sheep, Tears at so horrible a Sight, play'd upon Flutes Lamo, Oxen, Cows and Bulls, because these and beat Drums, that so the Cries of those inwere Meas most usual Food : Ovil observes that nocent Victims might not be heard : The same Historian, that the Emperor Adrian did almost abolish these abominable Sacrifices throughout the Empire; and he affures us, that as to Egypt,

King Amafis was the first who forbad Humane Sacrifices, according to Manetho, and that the Representations of Men made in Wax were sub-flituted in the room of them. Macrobius fays, that at the Feafts called Compitalia, they facrificed Children to the Lares, and their Mother

Heads should be offered to them; and that Brutus the Conful, after the Expulsion of the Tar-also, that the Pelasgi arriving in Italy, introduced a Cuftom thither of offering Humane Sacrifices to Pluto and Saturn, till fuch time as Hercules prevailed with their Descendants to facrifice the Effigies of Men made of Clay, called

Ofcilla, Sigilla, to Pluso, and Wax-Tapers to Saturn, inftead of Men: for the Word gas fignifies

The Pagans, fays Vigenere, had Three forts of Sacrifices, viz. Publick, Private and Foreign:

The Publick ones were performed at the Charge of the Publick for the Good of the State, to render Thanks unto the Gods for some fignal

Favour, or to pray unto them for averting the Misfortunes and other Calamities wherewith a

Feople or City were menaced or afflicted: The Private Sacrifices were made by each Family;

of fuch fort were those of the Family of Clodia done for fome particular Persons of it, and at their Charge, whereunto they many times obliged their Heirs. Plauses also makes a Servant named Ergafilm, who had found a Kettle full of Gold, to fay, that Jupiter had fent him so much a Man and a lighted Taper.

Sine facris bereditatem fum adeptus effertiffiman.

to offer Humane Sacrifices any more, feeing they had themselves but a few Years before buried two Men and two Women alive, viz. Two I bave got a good Inberitance without being obliged Greeks and as many Gauls? To which he answers, 10 go the Charge of a private Sacrifice. Foreign Satis not allowable to facrifice Men to God; but critices were to named when the Tutelary Gods that it was not the same Thing in respect to the of Cities and conquered Provinces were brought Genii or Damons, whose evil Deligns they to Rome, together with their Mysteries and Ceremonies. They were offered either for the thought to avert by such Sacrifices. Plutarch Benefit of the Living, or Good of the Dead: fays, when Gelon, King of Sicily, had overcome thefe laft, according to Festus, were called, Huthe Carsbaginians, he would not grant them a mana facra, or bumanum fa.rificium quod mortui Peace, but upon Condition that they should no causa fiebas: For the Ancients, as the Papifts do longer offer their Children in Sacrifice to Saturn: now, had their Feast of the Dead in February, This barbarous Cuftom was not disused at Rome, as Cicero lays : Februario menfe, qui tune extreaccording to Pliny, till the Year 657, from the mus anni menfis erat, mortuu parentari volue-Building thereof. Porphyry in his Second Book concerning Abstinence, makes a long Enumera-The Matter of which the Sacrifices confifted. tion of the Places where they formerly offered Humane Sacrifices, viz. Rhodes, Cyprus, Egypt Phanicia, Arabia, Thrace, Ashens, and Megalopolis: And he adds upon the Credit of Pallas the were, as before faid, the Fruits of the Earth, or Animals, whose Fielh and Entrails they sometimes presented to the Gods, and at other times contented themselves to offer them only the Animal Power of the Victims, as Virgil makes Entellus do, who facrificed a Bull to Eryx for the Death of Dares, and to gave Soul for Soul, (Daretia Hanc tibi, Eryx, meliorem animam pro morte

The Sacrifices varied according to the Diversity Mania, because Apollo had commanded that of Gods, worshipped by the Ancients ; for there were those that were offered to the Coeleffial. Infernal, Marine, Aerial and Terrestrial Gods, quins, offered the Heads of Garleek and Poppy to the first of which they facrificed white Victims inftead of those of Children unto them: He fays of an odd Number; to the second, black ones, with a Libation or pure Wine and warm Milk, which were poured into the Gutters with the victim's Blood; to the third they facrificed black and white ones on the Sca-fide, and threw their Entrails as far as they could into the Water, and poured some Wine on :

> Candensem in littore taurum Conflituam ante aras voti reus, extaque falfos Porriciam in fluctus, & vina liquentia fundam;

To the fourth they facrificed white Victims, and railed strars to them in the fame Manner as to the Coeleftial Gods: To the fifth they only offered Wine and Honey. As for the Gods of the Air, they kindled a Fire upon their Altars where the Body of the Victim was burnt, the same being powder'd with falt Pafte and Incenfe.

In chuting of the Victim, it was required it fhould be found and whole, without any blemish or Imperfection, his Tail was not to be too small at the and, his Tongue not black, nor Ears cleft, as Servius observes upon those Verses in the agram, net aurem fiffam: And those Bulls were not to be such as had drawn in the Yoak. When the Victim was pitched upon, they gilded his forehead and Horns, especially if they were Bulls, Heifers and Cows:

Totidem lestas de more bidentes.

REG

Et flatuam ante aras aurata fronte juvencum.

Murobius, L. 1. Saturn. recites an Order of the Senate, whereby the Decemviri at the Solemnizing of the Ludi spollinares, were ordered lusher or Verger went thro' the Temple, crying, tofacrifice an Ox with gilded Horns, and Two white Goats with gilded 'orns likewife to Apollo, and a Cow alto with gilt Horns to Latona: They adorned their Heads with a Woollen Infula, from whence hung down two Rows of Chaplets with twifted Ribands; and in the middle of the Body a kind of a Stole, that was pretty large, and hung down on both tides : The leffer Victims were only adorned with Bundles of Flowers and Garlands, together with white Tufts or Garlands. The Victims being thus made ready, were brought before the Altar, and this Action Gods in their Verses, L. 2. Falt. was exprest by the Greek Word a zer, shar, agere, ducere: The Victim was called Agonia, and those that conducted it Azones. The leffer Victims were not lead in a String, but were only conducted to the Place by driving them gently before them; whereas the greater ones were brought in an Halter to the Place of Sacrifice: The Victim was not to ftruggle, or refute to go, for the Reliftance made by it, was taken for an ill Augury, the Sacrifice being required to be free: The Victim being brought before the Altar, was examined again and view'd very circumspectly, in order to see whether there was bidden to affist at Sacrifices, viz. The Prophane, any defect in it; and this Action was called Probeing clad in his Sacerdotal Habit, and accompanied with the Sacrificers and other Attendants, Ceremonies prescribed them, of which we have already (poken, began the Szcrifice with making a loud Confession of his Unworthiness, acknowledging himself to be guilty of divers Sins, for The Hebrews made also a like general Confession, with this difference, that the Pagans confessed the Frailty of Mankind, and owned their Faults; but the others conlifted in a Confession of the Greatness of God, which was accompani-Cum Dominum laudare capiffent, G dicere : Confi- animis, and pascite linguam, to require Silence

temini Domino quoniam bonus, quoniam in facu-

lum mijericordia ejus, Paralipom. 2. C. 5. This Confession being over, the Priest cried uel, ne babeant caudam acuteatam, nec linguam aloud, Lice age, compole your felves and mind your Sacrifice; and presently a kind of an Usher holding a Rod in his Hand, called Commentaculum, went thro the Temple, and made all those withdraw who were not instructed in the Myfteries of R. ligion, or fuch as were excommunicated: For the Cuftom of the Greeks, from whom the Romans borrowed theirs, was that the Priest coming to the Altar should ask aloud, Tis Tes in Who is bere? The People answered, TORNOI x, dyaboi, Many good Persons. Then the Freds, inas erre Bierroi; that is, Away with the Wichel ; or elfe, Fras, saas ist dairpis. Away with the Prophane. The Romans commonly made wie of these Words, Nocentes, profani abfeedire. All those who were driven out of the Temples among the Greeks, were comprehended under these general Words, Beenan, duvirtor, axabarros, &c. ovid comprizes a great many of those who were forbidden to affift at the Mysteries of the Innocui veniant : procul bine, procul impius efto Frater, & in parsus mater acerba fuos : Cui pater eft vivax : qui matris digerit annos, Quæ premit invisam focrus amica nurum. Tantalida fratres abfint, & fafoni uxor," Et que ruricolis femina tofta dedit : Et foror & Progne, Tereufque duabus iniques, Et quicunque suas per scelus auget opes.

We understand by these Verses in general, that there were two forts of Persons, who were forthat is, such as were not yet instructed in the batio hostiarum & exploratio. Then the Priest Worthip of their false Deities, and those who had committed fome enormous Crime, as to kill or firike a Father or Mother : They had fome and being walhed and purified according to the kind of Sacrifices in Greece, whereat it was not allowed Virgins and Slaves to be prefent. The Prieft at Cherones with a Whip in his Hand, ftood at the Gate of the Temple of Masuta, and with a loud Voice forbad the Etolian Slaves to which he begged Pardon of the Gods, hoping enter in: Those among the Magi, who had Red that without their having regard thereunto, Spots in their Faces, must never draw near the they would be pleased to grant him his Re- Altars, as Pliny says, L. 30. C. 2. no more than those must do among the ancient Germans, who had loft their Shield in a Conflict; fo also among the Simbians, he that had not killed an Enemy in Battle must not come : The Roman Ladies were to affift at the Sacrifices with Vails on.

When prophane and excommunicated Persons ed with Hymns play'd upon Mufical Inftruments; were wit harawn, they cried, Favere lingui, or Riches, without obliging him to offer any Sacrifice, and Attention during the Sacrifice: The Egyp- Reader. Tu quidem fands & bumani generis fottisms for the same End were wont to expose the pisarix perpenus, semper fovendis mortalibus mai.

Statue of Harperater, the God of Silence, whom fies, dulcem matrix affectionem miserorum cabbases. they called Etyantava. As for the Romans, they tribuis, nec dies, nec quies ulla, ac ne momente placed the Statue of the Goddels Angeronia upon quidem tenue inis transcurris beneficiis otiofia; the Altar of Volupia, the said Goddes having que mari, terraque proteges bomines, & depuise her Mouth sealed up, to intimate that Men ought with procedlis salutarem porriges dexteram, que is to be attentive both in Body and Mind at the torum etiam inextricabiliter contorta retraftas lieis. Mysteries of Religion, and submit thereunto : In & fortune tempestates mitigus, & stellarum vois the mean time the Prieft bleft the Water, in or- measus cobibes. Te superi colunt, observant inferi der to sprinkle it with the ordinary Ceremonies, zu rotas orbem, luminas Solem, regis Mundum, est. either to throw the Wood-Ashes into it, that cas Tartarum, tibi respondent fidera, redeunt temhad been used in burning the Sacrifice, or to ex- pora, gaudent Numina, serviunt elementa, tuonuta tinguish the Tada or Sacrificial Torch therein. Spirant flamina, nutriunt nubila, germinant semi-He first sprinkled the Altars, and then all the Peo. na, crescunt gramina. Tuam Majestatem perborwith this Luftral Water, while the Chorus of rescunt aves calo meantes, fera montibus errantes Muficians fung Hymns in Honour of the Gods : ferpentes folo launtes, belluce ponto natantes. Atego Then they perfumed the Altars, Statues of the referendu taudibus suis exilis ingenio, & adhiben-Gods and Victims with Incense, and the Prieft du Sacrificies tenuis patrimonio : Nec mibi vacie turning his Face to the East, and laying hold on uberras ad dicenda que de ma Majestate sentio. the Horns of the Altar, read the Prayers out of Jufficit; nec or a mille, linguague totidem, vel indethe Book of Ceremonies, and began them with I fi fermonis aterna feries. Ergo quoa jolum poteft. Fanus and Vefta, as believing there could be no religiojus quidem, fed purper, alioquin efficere curaaccess had to the other Gods but by their Inter- bo, divinos tuos vultus numenque sandissimum inpolition: They also offered them Wine and Incense before all the reft.

The Emperor Antoninus, furnamed Heliogabalus, ordered that the Preface of those Prayers should be addrest to the God Heliogabalus, as Lampridim fays in his Life. Demitian would also have them begin with addressing themselves to Pallas, whose Son he called himself, as Philostratus fays: Nevertheless the Romans restored this Honour to Janus and Vesta, which was allowed them from all Antiquity. After this Preface addreft to Janus and Vefta, the Person that officiated began a long Prayer, which he directed to the God to whom the Sacrifice was made; and afterwards to all the rest of the Gods, whose chief Vertues he recounted, and whom he pray'd to be propitious and favourable to those for whom the Sacrifice was offered, according to the Institution of orpheus, who ordered that in all Prayers they should summarily touch upon the principal Vertues of the Gods, and that at laft they flould be entreated to affirt the Empire, Emperors, thief Ministers, particular Persons, and generally to relieve all the Necellities of the Publick. This is that which Virgil, L. 8. Ancid. has religiously observed in the Prayer, which he makes the Salii put up to Hercules, adding after having recounted his glorious Actions.

Salve, vera foun proles, deeus addite Divis, Et nos & tua dexter adi pede facra fecundo.

Apuleius makes a Prayer to the Goddess Isis, condifting of Thankfgiving, for her having reftored unto him his former Shape, and which I thall relate here for the Benefit of the curious tra pellori mei fecreta conditum perpetuo cuftodiens imaginabor.

These Prayers were usually made standing, fometimes with a low, and fometimes with a loud Voice, unless it were at the Sacrifices of the Dead, when they were performed fitting;

Multis dum precibus Fovem Calutat Stans summos resupinus usque in ungues. Mart. L. 12. Epigr. 78.

And Virgil, L. 9. Eneid.

- Luco sum fortè parentis Pilumni Turnus facrata valle fedebat.

There was a kind of an Oration made with the Prayers for the Prosperity of the Emperor and Government, as Apuleius L. 11. of his Golden Als informs us, Atter, fays he, the Procession was come back to the Temple of the Goddess Is, one of the Priefts, called Grammateus, ftanding up before the Door of the Quire, brought together all the Paffopbori, and getting up to a high Place like a Pulpit, took his Book and read leveral Orations aloud, and made Prayers for the Emperor, Senate, Roman Knights and People, adding some Things by way of Instruction in Religion: Tune ex iis, quem cundi Grammateum vocabant, pro foibus affiftens, canu Pajiophorum (qued facro-fanti Collegii nomen eft) velut in concionem vocato, ' indidem de sublimi suggestu, de libro, de litteris · faustâ voce præfatus Principi magno, Senatuique, Equiti, totique populo, nauticis navibus, &c.

Thefe

more being fet down, and the rest of them and Knives, as by way of Consecration. The moffered Sacrifice, came before him and pre- ed Pafte upon the Head of the Victim, which 'non my Mafter's Name, who gives his Daugh-Greeks have but too much felt, in order to appeafe him. These Words being over, he deher: We have also such another Speech in Luder, which he makes Phalaru his Embaffador deliver to the Priests at Delphi, as he made them a Present from him of a brasen Bull, that for Workmanship was a Master-piece.

As every one came to present his Offering, he went to wash his Hand, in a Place appointed in the Temple for that Purpole, that he might the better erepare himfelf for the Sacrifice he was to make, and to thank the Gods for being pleased to accept of the Victims. Lastly, When the Offering was made the Prieft that officiated, perfumed the Victims with Incenfe, and fprink-led them with Luftral Water; and having washed his Hands, and got up again to the Altar, | Priest sprinkled the Altar. be prayed to the God whom he presented the Sacrifice to, with a loud Voice, that he would accept of those Offerings, and be pleased with the Victims he went to facrifice to him, for the publick Good, and for fuch and fuch Things in particular : Thus the Priest Chryfer, in Homer, L. 1. Miad, when he had received hbigenia, and the other Sacrifices, lift up his Hands to Heaven, and made loud Prayers to Aprilo, earnestly beof his Petitions.

the Steps of the Altar, and from the Hand of that Paffage in Cicero against Pijo : Eequid recorone of his Affiftants received the Sacred Pafte | daris cum omni totius provincia pecore compulfo, pelcalled Mola falfa, that was made of Barley or lium nomine, omnem quaftum illum domeflicum pa-Wheat Flour, mixed with Salt and Water, which ternunque renovalit? And again from this other he threw upon the Head of the Victim, sprink- in Folks: Pelkm babere Hercules fingitur, us boling a little Wine upon it, and this was called mines cultus antiqui admoneantw: Lugemes quo-Immolatio, quass mole illatio, being as it were the que diebus ludius in pellibus sunt. Not but that Diffusion of this Pafe: Mola Jalja, fays Feflus, the Priefts oftentimes were the Sking of the watur far roflum & fale fparfum, quod co molico Victims, and that others went to fleer upon bofile apergantur. Virgil has express this Cere-them in the Temples of Esculapius and Faunus, mony in leveral parts of his foem; one of which that they might receive favourable Responses in take from Aneid. 2.

Famque dies infanda aderas mihi sacra parar i. Et falfa fruges, & circam tempora vitta.

Upon which Servins fays, that the Priest scattered little bits of this Pafte upon the Head of the

These Ceremonies being ended the chief Sa- Victim, the Altars where the Sacred Fire burnt, hading, the Magistrates or private Persons Priest having scattered the Crumbs of this saltforced him with the first Fruits and Victime, made the first part of the Consecration; he took and made functimes a flore Diffourfe or kind fome Wine in a Veffel called Simpulum, which complement, as we find Homer makes Ubife: was a kind of a Cruet; and having tafted it him b, when he presented the High Priest Copyes less first, and then made his Assistants do the shift his generation's Daughter to be sa- tame, to shew that they partaked of the Sactiafficed. 'I come to you, said he, in Agamem fice, he poured it between the Horns of the Victim, pronouncing these Words of Consecratiter a Sacrifice to Apollo, whose Difficulture the on, Mailus boc vino inferio effo; that is, Let this Villim be improved and bonoured by this Wine, that it may be the more pleafing to the Gods: I have litered her into his Hands, and Chryfes received explained the Word Mattue elsewhere, which you may fee: This done, they pulled off the Hair from between the Horns of the Victim, and threw them into the Fire, as Virgil fays, > Et summas carpens media inter cornua setas, Ignibus imponis facris.

He then commanded the Sacrificer, who asked him Agon', Shall I strike? To knock down the Victim with a great Blow on the Head with a Hammer or Ax; and prefently another of the Affistants named Popa, thrust a Knife into his Throat, while another received the Blood of the Animal, that gushed out, wherewith the Supponunt alii cultroc, tepidumque cruorem Sufeipiunt paterit.

When the Victim was flain, they flead him, if the same were not a Burnt offering, which was burnt Skin and all : They took the Flesh off of the Head, and then adorning it with Garlands feeching him to pardon the Greeks, and accept and Flower, faften's it to the Pillars of the Temples, as well as the Skins, as Entigns of Re-In the close of the Offertory and Prayer ligion, which they carried about in Procession in made by the Prices to the Gods, he came down fome publick Calamity; and this we learn from as Virgil fays, L. 7. An. v. 87.

> __ Et exfarum ovium sub noche filensi Pelibus incubuit ftraits, fomnofque perivit : Multa modis simulacra videt volitantia miris, Et varias audit voces, fruiturque Deorum

Hic & tum pater ipfe petens refponfa Latinus, Centum lanigeras madabat rite bidentes, Atque barum effultus tergo, stratisque jacebat

And Capadox, a Merchant that dealt in Slaves complains in that Comedy of Plaurus, entituled, Curculio, that having lain in Afculapius his Temple, he faw that God in his Dream remove Victims; an Account of which is given under far from him, which made him refolve to leave it, as having no hopes left of a Cure, Migrare certu'lt jam nunc è fano foras. Quando A sculapi ita sentio sententiam : Ut qui me nibili faciat, nec falvum velis.

They opened the Victim's Entrails, and after they had circumspectly view'd them in order to draw good or bad Prefages therefrom, according Litatio, when the Sacrifice was perfected and to the Art of the Arrupues; they floured them accomplished, without any Fault: Among the with Meal, and fprinkled them with Wine, and publick Sacrifices, there was one fort called Stata, made a Present of them to the Gods, reddebant fixed, immovable, which was annually performed exts Diis, by throwing them into the Fire in on the same Day, and other extraordinary ones finall bits boiled or parboiled. Thus Alexander | named Indita, because they were appointed ex-Neapolisanus, L. 4. C. 17. speaks of it: 'As floon as the Entrails were floured over, he put You'll find thefe Sacrifice delicibed in their Althem into Basons upon the Altars of the Gods, phabetical order, or under the Months of the Year. fprinkling them with Wine, and perfuming them with Incense, and then threw them into the Fire that was upon the Altar. And this made the Entrails to be called Porricia, qua in diers, which the Greeks and Romans used, and ara foco ponebaniur. Disque porrigebaniur: Info- was peculiar to the Gauls, according to the Temuch, that this ancient Form of Speech, porricias inferre fignified to prefent the Entrails: Ignis, made of Wool, and of a Square Form; they had Tays Solinus, in banc congeriem adponitur, cum poricias insulering. They often also sprinkled the Entrails with Oil, as we read, An. 6.

Et solida imponit taurorum viscera flammis, Pingue Super oleum fundens ardentibus extis;

And fometimes with Milk and the Blood of the Victim, particularly in the Sacrifices of the Dead; which we learn from Stacius, Theb. L. 6.

Spumantesque mero pateræ verguntur, & atri Sanguinis. & rapti gratifima cymbia lactis.

The Entrails being burnt, and all the other Ceremonies finished, they believed the Gods to be fully fatisfied, and that they could not fail to and their Vows accomplished, which they exprest by this Verb Litare, that is, all is finish'd, and well done; whereas non Litare on the contrary intimated there was something wanting for the Perfection of the Sacrifice, and that the Gods were not appealed. Suesonius speaking of Julius Cafar, fays he could not facrifice one favourable Victim on the Day he was flain in the Senate; Cafar vidimis casis litare non posuit, that Colloquio, arque imis Acheronsa affasur Avernis. \ is, fays Macrobius, facrificio fallo placare numen. The Priest afterwards difmift the People with thefe Words, I lices, which were also made use of at the End of Funeral Solemnities and Comedies for difiniting the People, as you may fee in Terence and Plausus: The Greeks made use of this Expression upon the same account A dois doings and the People answered feliciter: Then they made a Sacred Feath of the Flesh of the offered the Word Epulum.

From what has been faid, you may fee, that the Sacrifices confifted of Four principal Parts: the first of which was called Libatio, or the pouring a little Wine upon the Victim; the second Immolatio, when after they had scattered the Crumbs of falted Pafte thereon, they killed it: the third Redditio, when they offered the Entrails to the Gods; and the fourth was called traordinarily upon some important Occasion:

SACROS; Arabian Weights conlifting of an Ounce, worth Seven Denarii.

SAGUM; a fort of Coat or Habit for Solfilmony of Varro and Diodorus Siculus : It was one for Winter and another for Snmmer.

SALACIA; the Wife of Neptune, the God of the Sea, according to the Poets.

SALAPITIUM; Die magni Salicipplum difertum, Catul. Epigr. 54. Some fald it ought to have been called Salaputium, others Salpiticium, and some Saliiputum. Vossius in his Comment upon Pomponius M la, declares himfelf in favour of Salicippium; but he for lakes it for Sa-Lapicium, and thereupon informs us that Salappita, in the best Glostaries fignifies a Blow or Buffet; and hence it was that the Buffoons, who received a thousand Blows upon their Heads and Faces, in order to divert the Company, were called Salpitones, Salvitones, and Salutiones : He took there Words to be derived from the Greek Verb oux mirlery, which fignifies to found a Trumper, and that the Buffoons who fuffered themlelves to be buffetted as aforesaid, were called Salpittones, i. e. Trumpeters, because that like Trumpeters they blew out their Cheeks as much as they could, that fo the Blows they received might make the more noise, and afford greater Diversion; from this Remark he deduces the Etymology of Buffoon; for he pretends that the Tide of Buffoon was not given to those, who to mke others laugh, acted and faid a thousand fooleries, but upon account among other things, that they fuffered themselves to be ftruck on the Noe; and to the end that the Blow might make the more noise, they blew out their Cheeks as such as they could.

SALARIA; one of the Gates of old Rome. pealled because Salt was brought thro' it into the City; it was named also Quirinalu, Agonalis and Collina.

SALII; they were the Priests of Mars; they wore round Bonnets on their Heads, with Two Corners standing up, and a particoloured Tanick: They also wore a kind of a Coat of Arms, of which nothing could be seen but the Edges, which was a Purple-coloured Band fastand with Copper Buckles, carrying a fmall Rod in the Right-hand, and a little Buckler in the Left: These Salii confifted of young Noble Men, of whom there were Two very ancient Colleges in Rome: They began their Ceremonies with Sacrifices, and to we find a Trivet placed near a Salian upon a Medal, which Trivet was commonly made use of at Sacrifices.

When the Sacrifices were over, they walked along the Streets, one while dancing together, other whiles separately at the Sound of some Wind-mulick; they used a great many Gestures and fer Postures, striking mulically upon one anothers Bucklers with their Rods, and finging Hymns in Honour of Janus, Mars, Juno and Minerus, who were answered by a Chorns of Virgins dreft like themselves, that were made though of to affift at that Solemnity.

Authors give divers Originals to this Word, those who are for having the same to have been inflituted before Romulus, fay, that the Salii were so called from one Salius of Arcadia whom Eness prought from Mantinea into haly, where be taught the Youth of the Country a fort of Dance which they performed in Arms, called by the Greeks cromprov: Critolaus will have it to proceed from one Saon, who transported the Dia Penares from Samothracia to Lavinium, and inflitted this facred Dance; but Varro fays, that the Salii took their Name a Saliando and Saliendo, from the Dances and Capers they made: There were Two forts of Salii, viq. Salii Palatini, and Collini: The Institution of the first is owing to Numa, according to Livy and Dionysius of Hallisprassus, who appointed Twelve or them to attend the Service of Mars upon Mount Palatine; the Occasion of this Institution was that the City of Rome being afflicted with a great Plague in Numa's Reign, he made his People believe, that a Brass-shield was fent him from Heaven, as a fure Pledge of the Gods Protection, and Afkeep it carefully, the Fate of the Empire depending upon it; and to the end that it might not be stolen, he caused Vesurius Mammurius to make Eleven more so like it, that the facred Shield could never be diftinguished from the rest. Thus Numa erected a Colledge of Twelve Priests taken out of the Patritian Order, to whom he entrusted the Care of those Bucklers, which he laid up in Mars his Temple, and which were carried yearly with Dancing and Capering thro' the City at the Feast of Mars. This Priesthood was very august in Rome, and officiated by the chief Persons in the Empire, who were assumed into the Number of the Twelve: For we read in History that feveral Great Captains among the Romans made themselves of the Order of the Salii, such as Appius Claudius, the Emperor Titus, Antoninus and Scipio Africanus, who, Livy lays, left the Army because he was of the Order of the Salii, and that their Festival Day drew near; and this was the Reason that the Army continued for 'ome time incamped at the Heliespont, till the Return of Scipio who flaied in some Place in order to perform his Devotion on the Day of the faid Feaft. Stativa deinde ad Heliesponsum aliquandiu babuerunt, quia dies forte quibus Ancylia moventur, religiosi ad iter inciderant: iidem dies P. Scipionem propiore etiam religione, quia Salius erat, disjunxerant ab exercisu, caufaque & is ipfe mora erat dum confeaueretur.

The Salians called Collini were also to the Number of Twelve inflituted by Tullius Hoftilius, and all of the Patrician Order; for the faid King fighting against the Fidenates, as Livy fays, and finding he had the Worst of it, made a Vow to Mars that he would increase the Number of the Salii, if he won the Victory, who when he had so done, created Twelve Salians

SALINE, Salt-houses. Fling says, that Ancus Martius was the first that erected Salthouses near Oftia towards the Tiber's Mouth; Rex Ancus Salinas primus instituit. There were Granaries of Salt at Rome which flood near the Gate called Trigemina.

SALTATIO; a Dance; Lucian in his Dialogue concerning Dancing, lays, 'tis as ancient as the World, and took it's Original with Love; witness, adds he, the various Motions of the Stars and the different Conjunctions of those fixed and wandring Bodies; 5tis from the Motion of the Heavens and their Harmony that this Divine Art took it's Origin, which has been improved in Time: It's faid, that Rbea was the first who took Delight in this Exercise, and that the taught it her Priefts both in Creek. and Phrigia; and this Invention was not uteless to them, for by Leaping and Dancing they faved Jupiter's Life, whom his Father intended to devour, infomuch, that the King of the Heavens

it was a Military Exercise, which consisted in | since the Time of Augustus. I have not spoken Ariking their Swords and Javelins upon their of the Phrygian Dance, which was done for Shields: Pyrrbus invented the Pyrrbica, which | Debauchery, where you might see the Pealants was a Dance performed in Arms: The Laceda- jumping and tumbling about while the Finte monians, after they had learnt this Art of Castor | 'play'd, and the same is a painful and laborand Pollux; improved it with that Care, that cous Dance, ftill practifed in the Country. they never went to War without dancing to the | SALUS, Livy mentions the Goddes Salus; Flute, insomuch, that it may be said they owed by it was meant the Publick Weal : Ades, Co. part of their Glory to Dancing; and their reris Salutis, de cale talla. Youth accustomed themselves as much to the SANCTUS or SANCUS and SAN Exercise of Dancing as they did to that of Arms, GUS, and SEMO-SANCTUS and FL for a Player upon the Flute fixing himself in DIUS. Ovid informs us, that all these Names the Midfi of them, began the Motion with meant one Thing, and that this was a God pecu-Piping and Dancing, and they followed him ma- liar to the Sabines, which they communicated king a Thousand warlike Postures, in good order: to the Romans: The same Thing was practised at the Dance called Hormus, which was a Mixture composed of Boys and Girls, wherein the Boys lead the Dance with manly and warlike Postures, and the Girls followed with a gentler and more modest Pace, with a Design to compose a Harmony of Strength and Moderation: They had also another Dance which they performed bare-foot, to fay nothing of that which Homer represents in Achilles his Shield, wherein Dedalus instructed | ved that he was the first King of the Sabines, the fair Ariadne, nor of the Caperers and great | who was communicated to the Romans, he ha-Dancers that went before, who cut dangerous ving been deined after his Death. Varro and Capers: The Thessalians esteemed it to much, Festus believed the Contrary, and that he was that their chief Magistrates borrowed the Name | the same God as Hercules: These are Vario's from it, and called themselves Proorquestres, that | Words: Purabans bunc effe Santum à Sabina linis, those who lead the Dance, for this Inscripti gua, C Herculem a Graca; and for Fossus on was to be met with under their Statues, as lays: Fit sartscium Herculi aut Same, quisiwell as that, To the Honour of fu.b an one, for lices idem eft Deus. This Contradiction may having danced well in Fight, that is, for having be removed in the fame manner as that conbeen valliant in Battel.

Dance, and here they had young Boys, the Chief very Names of the Gods; and so Stercerius was whereof lead a Dance by the Sound of the Flute called Saturn, and Sanchus Hercules, as Encu and Harp: But what need we speak of the Greeks | was also named Jupiter: Dionysius of Halicarnastince the Indians themselves worship the Sun, sus shews how the Sabines were originally denot by killing their Hands, but dancing, as if | feended from the Lacedemonians: The Name thereby they meant to imitate the Motion of also of Sabines came from the Greek of 6:00 day that admirable Planet, and they have no other colere: Livy likewife mentions the God Sancus: Divine Worship, fince that same is performed In old Inicriptions these Words are to be met at Sun-fetting and Riling: The Ethiopians went with, Semoni Sanco Deo Fidio Sacrum. dancing to Battle, and before they let fly their Arrows, which were fet in order about their a rich kind of Wear for the Feet made of Heads in the Form of Sun-beams, they leaped Gold, Silk, or some valuable Stuff, and partiand danced to terrifie the Enemy; let us now cularly used by Ladies, consisting of a Sole, go into Egips, where the Story of Proteus repre- and hollow above the Foot; Terence speaks of tents an excellent Dancer, making a Thousand this Sandal, Utinam tibi committigari videam sandifferent Postures, and who with his supple Body dalio caput, I wish the would strike thee with her and imitate every thing.

The Three Sorts of nobleft Dances, are the of Rome, where Sandals were made. Cordacismus, Syncinnis, and Emmælia, who took their Names from the Sayrs. 'I'll pals by fe- the Bodies of poor People, and fuch as were exeveral other forts of Dances with their Names cuted to be buried, and thole who carried the and Authors, fays Lucian, my Denga being Corps were also called Sandapilarii. no other than to flew the Pleature and Benefit that may be got by this Exercise, especially,

Quærebam Nonas Santto, Fidio-ne referrem, An tibi, Semo Paser; tunc mibi Sandtus git Cuicumque ex istis dederis, ego munus babebo; Numina terna fero, fic voluere Cures : Hunc igitur veteres donarunt ade Sabini, Inque Quirinali conftssuere jugo.

St. Augustine L. 18. de Civ. Dei. C.9. beliecerning the Father of Picus, which some faid They offered no Sacrifice at Delos without a was Stercetius: They often gave unto Kings the

SANDALIUM, a Sandal, being and Ingenuity of Mind knew how to counterfeit | Sandal. Aulus Gellius call Apollo Sandalarium, because he had a Temple in one of the Streets

SANDAPILA; a Bier, or Coffin to bear

SANI

SANGUS. See Sandus.

SANITAS; Health, of which the Anci- [ents made a Deity: Paufanias shews us, that the crowned with medicinal Herbs in her Rightcut off in Honour of her; her Temple, as Publius Villor lays, flood in the Sixth Divition of the City of Rome, and Domitian creded a little Temple for her (after he had been freed from to Rome) with this Inscription :

SALUTI AUGUSTI.

There is a Medalion in Relidro of Mara Aurelius, whereon is represented a Sacrifice made to Afaulapius under the Form of a Serpent by Minerva, who holds a Cup covered with in Olive-Tree in her Hand, and before her appears Victory, holding a Basket full of Fruit. SARCOPHAGUS and SARCO-PHAGUM: It was a Stone-Tomb, wherein those Dead were laid, they had no mind to burn. The Word Sarcopbagus, which is derived from the Greek, tign fies in firsteness of Sence, one that tats Flelb, because at first they used a fort of Stones for the making of Tombs, which quickly they dug them were in a City of Tross, named Alum: They had the Virtue to wafte away a Body to nothing, tave the Teeth, in Forty Days: This Stone was like unto a reddish Pumice-stone, and had, a faltish taste; they made Vessels of it to cure the Gout, into which they put the Feet, . not fuffering them to continue there too

> D. M. CHSPIA ÆGLA-LIS HOC SARCO PHAG. APERIRI N. LIC.

To the Manes; Cuspia Æg'alis refts bere ; its tot lawful to open this Coffin.

SATURNALIA. See after Saturnus. SATURNUS; Saturn; all idolatrous Na-Worshipping of the Goddess of Health was very tions in general had a Saturn of their own, as common in Greece. Pofita funt Deorum figna they had also their Jupiter : Its certain in rethgia, quam filiam Afculapii fuife dieunt: & ipett to Saturn as well as Fupiter, that the first Minerva, cui itidem Hygia, id eff, Solpine cogno- of all of them was he of Babylon, or Affria, who mentum. by the first was plainly meant the was no other than Noah, as we shall shew, whose Health of the Body, and by the other that of Son they made to be Jupiter Belus. The Egypthe Mind: He fays elsewhere, that there was tians and Phanicians receiving their Religion in Altar for Iason, Venus, Panacer, Health, and as well as their Colonies, and peopling from Af-Minerva in the Temple of Amphiaraus: lason Syria, dignified also their Countries with a Saomes from Iagis Sanatio; and Panacea in turn and Jupiter of their own : The Religion and Greek is the same as Sanasio: They also make Worship of Saurn passed from Egypt and Phaniher to be Afculapius his Daughter: Pliny in cia into Greece; and the Greeks likewile framed like manner fays very well, that the Name of a Saturn and Inpiter to themselves, in Imitation Ponnees implies the Cure of all Diftempers : of those of the Eastern People : At laft the lame The Pagans herein pretended to no more than to. Superfition was carried from Greece into Italy; worship the Deity that bestowed and preserved and this is that which Terrullian calls post multas Health. The Romans worshipped Health upon expeditiones, post Attica bospitia: For these Mili-Mount Quirinal; by her Statue fine is repre- tary Expeditions confifted in no more, than that fented like a Roman Lady holding a Serpent Progress made by the Worlhip of Saturn, which fuccessively ran thro' all the Provinces from the hand: She was covered with Hair which Women East to the West; and by that Hospita or Entertainment which Greece gave to Saturn, is meant the long abode which that Religion had in Greece, before it was carried into Italy. Tertullian adds, that the Reason, upon Saturn's landthe Danger he was in upon Vitelius his coming ing in Italy, why he was taken there for the Son of Heaven and Earth, was because they did not know his Descent: As Noab was the Saturn of the Allyrians, and the Original from which all the other Saturns were copied, its not to be wondered that those Things which appertained more peculiarly to him, have been attributed to others; for he with the Ark coming out of the Waters of the Deluge, that had drown'd all his Predecessors, gave Men some Pretence to believe, that he had no other Father nor Mother, belides the Heaven and the Earth.

Lastantius was of Opinion, that Saturn being a very potent King, did in order to eternize the Memory and Glory of his Father and Mother, give their Names to the Heaven and Earth as many others did theirs to Rivers and Mountains, from which afterwards they feigned themselves confumed the Bodies: The Quarries from whence to be descended : Hence tis, that Trismegistus makes Saturn to be the Son of Uranus, who was a Man that had the fame Name as that of Heaven. The same Lastantius, after having refuted the Allegorical xplication given by the Stoicks, concerning the mainting of Calum, by his Son Saturn, concludes they were the real Enterprizes of Men against one another; and as to what he fays concerning Saturn's devouring his own Children; he relates out of Eubemerus his History how that Men in Saturn's Days, fed indifferently upon Humane Flesh, which came afterwards to he forbidden by an Edict of Jupiter: The same Sacred miltory of Eubemerus, as recited by La-Stantius, imports that Uranus was the first King upon Earth; and that Titan his Eldeft Son pretending to the Crown after his Death, was how- ! Noab's History has been also applied to saever perswaded by his Mother and Sisters, to turn; for Noah was the Father of all Mankind yield the Empire to Saturn, on Condition that after the Deluge; he was also the King and Auall Saturn's Male Children should be put to thor of another Golden Age: There were no Death, that so the Empire might return to Titan Slaves in the first Age after the Deluge; all the and his Children: They killed Saturn's eldeft Race of Men that were in the World making yet Son, but Fupiter, Neptune and Pluto, and fuch as it were but one numerous Family: As Noah as were born afterwards, were deliver'd from according to Scripture, was the first who plant-Titan's Cruelty, and brought up in remote ed a Vineyard, and began the Use of Wine: places. Titan coming to understand the News, the Pagans also gave unto Saturn the Glory of took up Arms with his Children the Titanes, made having taught Men the Way to cultivate Vine-War upon Saturn, took him with his Wife Ops, yards and the Earth, and the Ufe of the Sickle. and put them in Prifon. Jupiter in the mean | Plutareb fays, Saturn taught Icarus the Use of time was brought up in Crete, from whence Wine, and dreffing the Vineyards. Albentus. with an Army he came and defeated Titan, de after Berofus, fays, that the Saturnalia were ce. liver'd his Father out of Prison, re-establish'd lebrated at Babylon, as well as in Greece and hahim on his Throne, and then returned again in- by: In short, all the Ancients observe, that the to Crete; Saturn understanding that his Son had Saturnalia were Days appointed for Debauchery a mind to dethrone him, was willing to prevent and Drunkenness; as if the Pagans had had a it, and so laid Ambushes for him : Jupiter per- mind to keep in Remembrance the Crunkenness ceiving the Defien, made himself Master of the of Noab, which he unadvitedly fell into, he ha-Empire, by the Expulsion of his Father Saturn, ving not yet tried the Strength of Wine: of who fled, and went and reigned in Italy. This which the Babylonians, as being nigheft, might is the Story as Ladantin has borrowed it from he best informed. Eubemerus. Diodorus Siculus recounts the ancient Tradition of the Egyptians, who would have Sazurn to have been married to Rhee his Sifter, and and fo Saturn's Symbol at Rome was a ship. They to have Ofirm and Ifis by her; or elie Jupiter and feigned the Ocean to be the Father, and Tethis Juno, of whom Ofirm, Ifis, Typhon, Apollo and Vemus were born.

Saturn, according to the Poets, was the Fa- no other than Noab's Ark. ther and King of the Golden Age; that was the Age of Blil's wherein Adam lived in the Delights of a Terrestrial Paradice: The Name of Saturn agrees admirably well with the first Man, ing that Saturn had devoured all his Children. who for his Sin went to hide himself, as not da-1 but Three. ring to appear before God; for Satar in Hebrew fignifies to bide ones felf; whence also 'tis, that the Poets having made Saturn to pass into Italy, gave the Name of Latium to the Country where fay is true, that you devoured your Children, he landed, and reigned, according to their Relation : And fo Saiurnalia Tellus and Latium was Wife had not convey'd him away, and put a but the same Country, these two Names bearing | Stone in his room, which you swallow'd down like the same Signification, tho' the one was Hebrew a Pill: But when he grew up he dethroned you, and the other Latin. The Poets make Saturn and threw you Ficad-long into Hell, with all to be the Son of Heaven and Earth; fo Adam was formed of the Earth, and the God of Heaven was he that made him: The Empire of Saturn and the Golden Age ended together; after which out being choaked, or breaking my Teeth? Nei-Saturn applied himself to Agriculture : Adam also, after he had finned, was driven out of the Terreftrial Paradice, and from a King as he was, was reduced to the Condition of a Labourer: Laftly, All prophane Authors, as well Hiftorians as Poets, have recorded, that all Men lived free in the Reign of Saturn, without any mention yet made amongst them of Vassalage or Ser- Feet were put into Irons; infomuch, that I was vitude. And so during the Saturnalia, or Feat's | incapable to take care of every thing, and to puof Sation, Servants and Matters ear together; nish the Wicked, whole Number increases daily. and this was a Refemblance of the first Age un- - Bendes, I thought it the Duty of a good der Alam.

Plate in his Timous favs, that Saturn and Phoa his Wife proceeded from the Ocean and Teibrs: the Mother of Saturn, because he came out of the Waters of the Deluge; and this Ship was

As Noab left all Mankind to perish in the Waters of the Deluge, except his Three Sons, the Poets have imitated the miftory herein, by fav-

Lucian in his Saturnalia brings in a Minister speaking to God Saturn in this manner: Minister. Do but tell me whether what they and would have done as much by Jupiter, if your those who took your part.

Saturn. Tho' I should have been so cruel as to devour my Children, could I eat a Stone withther did Jupiter disposses me at all, but I have voluntarily refigned him the Throne, and am not in Hell, as you fee.

Minister. But what moved you to relinquish your Dominion ?

Saturn. It was because I was Old and Gouty, which has given them occasion to fay, that my Father to part with his Effate to his Children in his Life-time, to avoid Quarrels after his Death: | fed of being the Cause of all the Evil that hap-I'll live at Ease, without having my Head tor- pens upon Earth; its two Houses are Caprimented with a thouland importunate Petitions corn and Aquarius, and its Exaltation is in that are contradictory to each other, to fay nothing of the Trouble I was continually put to by cauling Thunder, Rain, Wind and Hail: Now f live early, and folace my felf with Netter and Ambrofia, in the Company of Faperus and other Old Men like my felf; without being incumbred with the Affairs of the World, as Jupiter is: for he has no reft any longer than while my Feaft lafts, when I re-affume the Empire for some Days, to the End I may not be despifed, and to put Men in mind of the Gentleness of my Reign, when Corn grew without fowing, Rivers flowed with Milk, and Fountains with Wine and Honey: All Things were then in common; there were neither Rich nor Poor, none cheated nor betrayed; in fhort, it was the Golden Age. Saturn was represented like an old Man grown crooked with Age, pale, fad, and with his Head covered; in his Right Hand he held a Sickle, and a Serpent biting her Tail, and a Child which he endeavoured to devour in his Left. The first Temple that was built to him at Rome, was that of Tatius, King of the Sabines, upon Mons Capholinus; the second was consecrated by Tullius Hostilius; and the third dedicated by the Confuls A. Sempronius Atratinus and M. Minutius. Valerius Publicola made it to be the Place where the publick Treasure was kept, and 'twas in this Names to be writ down in the publick Registers by the general Treasurers: Here also it was that they kept the Minutes and Registers of Contracts, and all fuch Actions as Parents did. Those who had recovered their Freedom, were dicharg'd out of Prison, or freed from the Hands of their Enemies, went to confecrate their Chains in that Place: The Statue even of Saturn himself wore Chains made of A ool, in Commemoration of those which Jupiter his Son put upon him; which Chains at the Saturnalia were taken off, to denote the great Liberty Men enby'd at that time. They factificed anciently a Feaft. 'During my whole Reign, which lafts Man to him ; but Hercules abolifhed this cruel ! Cuftom, and inflead thereof appointed them to offer little Statues made of Plaister unto him.

Saturn is also one of the Seven Planets, and the farthest from the Earth, who appears to move flower than the rest: Its placed between the Firmament, and the Orbit of Jupiter; and tho' it appears to be the leaft of the Planets, yet 'tis the greatest, for its Diameter contains of times that of the Earth : It performs its Revolution in the Zodiac in 29 Years, 157 Days, and 22 riours. It has two Suedines about it; there is to nothing new daily discovered concerning it: The aftrologers call it the Great Infor-

Libra.

SATURNALIA; they were Solemn Feafts instituted in Honour of Saturn, and kept at Rome Decemb. 17, or on the 16 Calends of Finuary, the same lafting a Week: This Feast was infrienced long before the Foundation of Rome. Macrobius, L. 1. Saturn. relates Three Opinions concerning the Original thereof: Some fay, that fanus appointed it by way of Acknowledgment for the Art of Agriculture, which he had learnt of Saurn: Others attribute the Origin thereof to Hercules his Companions, for their having been kept from Robbers by Samon, to whom they put up their Prayers for that Purpose: And lastly, Others maintain that the Pelafgi of Greece landing in the Ille of Delos, learnt of the Oracle that they ought to erect an Altar to Saturn, and celebrate a Feast in Honour of him: This reaft was therefore inftituted at Rome, according to the Relation of the faid Author, in the Reign of Tullus Hoftilius, after he had triumphed over the Albans. This Opinion is opposed by Varro, who lays Tarquinius Superbus built Saturn a Temple, and that T. Largius the Dictator dedicated the fame to the Saturnalia. Livy flews us, that they dedicated a Temple to Saturn, and inftituted Saturnalia, Three Years after the Victory which Postbumius Temple that Foreign Emballadors caused their the Dictator won over the Latins, near the Lake Regillium, which happen'd in the Year 257, in the Confulship of Aulus Sempronius, and M. Minutius Augurinus : His confulibus, fays he, Ades Saturno dedicata : Saturnalia, institutus festus dies. This Feaft lafted but for one Day at first, and this continued to the Reign of Augustus, who ordered it to continue for three; and afterwards they intermixed the Saturnalia with the Sigillaria, which made the Feaft last sometimes five, and fometimes feven Days, as Martial fays.

Lucian in his Saturnalia brings in Saturn himfelf speaking in this manner concerning the faid but for one Week, no publick nor private Bufiness is to be done, but only to drink, fing, play, create imaginary Kings, place Servants with their Mafters at Table, fmut them with Soot, or make them leap into the Water with Head foremoft, when they do not perform their Duty well. He afterwards recites the Laws of the Saturnalia. They shall do no publick nor private Bufiness during my whole keign; and of all Trades, none but common Cooks, Paftry-Cooks, and the like shall follow their Occupation : All Exercises of Body and Mind shall be banish'd, faving fuch as are for Recreation, and nothing shall be read or recited but what is conformable to the Time and Place: The Rich, Poor, mne: Its Nature is cold and dry; and its accu- 1 Mafters, Slaves, all shall be equal; there shall be neither Disputes, nor Quarrels, Reproaches, In- | C. 10. Satira quidem tota nofira eft; for which count of all such as they are minded to treat, their Satyrs ought to be read with Precaution. or ought to fend Prefents to, and for that End is of nouse to them, in order to make a Prefent of the same to their necessitous Friends. After they have on the Eve before cleared the 4 House of all Pollution, and expelled Pride, Ambition, and Covetoulnels from thence, in order to facrifice to Sweetness of Temper, Courtesie 'and Liberality, they shall read over the Lift they have made, and having laid every ones Portion by it felt; they shall towards Night fend their Presents to them by the Hands of I fome trufty Persons, with Orders to take nothing of them, unless a Cup of Drink; and for the furer delivery of the faid Prefent, mention fhall be made thereof in a Letter writ for that · Purpose: When the Mafter of the House shall treat his People according to Cuftom, his Friends shall serve at Table with him, and Liberty shall be given them to jeft, provided the Raillery be neatly done, and that he who is · Raillied laughs firft.

Thus Slaves had Liberty to fay what they would at this Feaft, and to ridicule their Mafters to their Faces for their Faults, as Horace fays, Sat. 7. L. 2.

Age libertate Decembri, Quando ita majores voluerunt, utere, narra.

They facrificed at the Saturnalia bare-headed contrary to the Cuftom of other Sacrifices.

SATYRI; Satyrs; they were fabulous Demi-Gods among the Pagans, who with the Fauni dancer, who tumbled about a Rope as a Wheel and Sylvani prefide over Forests. They were represented with Horns on their Heads, erested or Neck. Nicephorus Gregoras says, that these Ears, a Tail, Goat's feet, and hairy all over, forts of Tumblers or Rope-dancers lived in his and the Hair standing an end in their Foreheads: | time at Constantinople. Its thought this Word comes from Sathen, which in the old Greek fignified a Man's Genital; because the Satyrs were naturally very lascivi- Exercise of their Office, and were as Councel-

SATYRA, or rather SATIRA; a Satyr; in Matters of Law. its a Word that fignifies all manner of Discourse, | wherein any Person is reprehended: But a Satyr | appertaining to the Publick or Magistrate, that is commonly a Poem that wittily reproves Mens Vices. Cafaubon makes a Distinction between Every Magistrate had his Secretary, so that there the Satyrical Poetry of the Greeks, and the Satyr of the Romans, which was peculiar to them- litti, Pratorii, Quaftorii: They were not admit-juries, nor Menaces, nay, Men shall not be al- Reason Horace calls it, Gracis intadum carmen. lowed to be fo much as angry : No Accompt | a fort of Poerry unknown to the Greeks. See Cast. 'shall be kept of Income or Expence; no Inven- fabon upon the Word: A Satyr ought to be tory taken of Moveables and Plate used at my lively, pleasant, moral and full of variety ; Feaft. The Rich before hand shall take an Ac- wherein Juvenal and Horace excelled, though

SCABILLA, SCABELLA, SCA. ' lay afide the Tenth part of their Income, with- MILLA, and SCAMELLA; a fort of out being permitted to apply it to any other Castianets, which were like a little Joint-stool. "use under any Pretence whatsoever: They or Foot-flool, and which they beat after diffe-" shall also lay by their Superfluities, whether the rent ways, with Wooden or Iron Shoes: It was fame be Moveables or Cloaths, and that which a kind of Sandal made of two Soles, between which a Castianet was tied.

SCALÆ GEMONIÆ; to which they faftned the Bodies of Criminals after their Execution, and from whence they dragged them with Hooks into the Tiber, after they had expofed them for fome time.

SCELERATA: Porta is understood . otherwise called the execrable Gate, was one of the Gates of Rome; being so named from the Misfortune which befell the Three hundred and fix Fabii there.

SCENA; a Scene; the Theater whereon were represented the Dramma, and other publick Shews: According to Vitruvius, L. 5. C. 8. there are Three forts of Scenes, viz. the Tragical, Comick and Satyrical: Their Decorations vary, in that the Tragical Scene hath Columns, raifed Cornishes, Statues, and such other Ornaments as appertain to a King's Palace: In the Decoration of the Comick Scene are represented private Houses, with their Balconies and cross Bars, like common and ordinary Buildings: The Satyrical is adorned with Groves, Caverns, Mountains, and whatever is represented in Land-

SCENE; by this Word is also meant the Parts of a Drammatick Poem, when a fresh Actor enters upon the Stage, or that one that was thereon, goes off: A Drammatick Poem is divided into Acts, and Acts into Scenes.

SCHOENOBATES; a kind of a Ropedoes round the Axle-tree, and hung by the Feet

SCHOLASTICI; those who affifted the Governours and Intendants of Provinces in the ous: They were usually Bacchus his Companions. lors, who drew up Petitions, and instructed them

SCRIBA; a Secretary, who was an Officer wrote Acts or Decrees, and gave out Dispatches. were Secretaries, whom they called Scribe Adi- . felves only; and this is justified by Quintilian, L.1. ted to the Management of the principal Offices of the Republick, unless they relinquished their lava, suffodia monumenti Flam. Tymeles Amelofa upon it, as Livy lays, before he was first obliged fus Promagister subscrips. by Oath to exercise the Profession of Secretary no more: They were called by other Names in cause they made use of Abbreviations, and short and he that was the chief Officer here was called Notes in writing, infomuch that they writ as faft as one could speak, of which Martial informs us, L. 14. Epigr. 208.

Currant verba licet, manus est velocior illu : Nondum lingua, suum dextra peregit opus.

SCRINIUM; it was a Desk or Cubboard to put Papers in, but we may call it an Office or Chamber.

SCRINIUM MEMORIÆ; a Place where Minutes were kept, to put a Person in remembrance of the Prince's Order, to the End who were called Scriniarii Memoria and Memoriales, belonging to this Office; 12 of whom ferved the Chancery; and 7 more named Antiquarit, whose Bunnels it was to transcribe old Books, in order to transmit them to Posterity : The first of these Officers was called Magilter Scrinii Memoria, and received a Golden Belt from his Prince at the Time of his Creation. SCRINIUM EPISTOLARUM; the Office of those who wrote the Emperor's Letters; Augustus Casar wrote his own Letters, and gave them atterwards to Macenas and Agrippa to correft them, as Dio fays, L. 35. Other Emperors commonly made use of Secretaries, to whom they diffated, or only contented themselves to tell them the Substance of such Things as they Vale with their own Hand.

SCRINIUM LIBELLORUM; the Office of Requests, where the Petitions presented to the Emperor to beg fome Favour of him, Were kept : In Pancirolus his Notiria Imperii, C.96. we have the Copy of a Petition presented to the Emperor Antoninus Pius, by Arrius Alphius, the Freedman of Arria Fadilla, the Emperor's Mother, importing his begging leave to lay up the Bones of his Wife and Son in a Marble-Coffin, which before he had laid in an Earthen one, till such time as the Place which he had bought to erect a Monument for them, was ready: The Words are thefe : Cum ante bos dies conjugem & film amilerim, & preffus neceffiate corpora eorum forcopbago filili commendaverim, donec quietu loem quem emeram adificaretur via Flaminia inter miliare fecundum & tersium euntibus ab urbe parte

Profession, as we have an Instance of it in the M. Signii Orgili. Rogo, Domine, permittus mibi Person of Cn. Flavius, a Libertine's Son, who in colem loco, in marmoreo farcophago quem mibi was Secretary to an Adilu Curulu, who ha- modo comparavi, ea corpora colligere, ut quando & ving fued for and obtain'd the Office of Adile, ego effe desiero, pariter cum iu ponar. The Answer was opposed therein, and not allowed to enter below was: Decretum fieri placet. Jubentius Cel-

SCRÍNIUM DISPOSITIONUM, was the Office or Chamber where the Orders the Time of the Emperors, viz. Notarii, be and Commands of the Emperor were dispatched, Comes dispositionum.

SCRINIUM VESTIMENTO-RUM; the Wardrobe where the Emperor's Cloaths were kept.

SCRIPTURA; a Tribute paid for Wood and Pafturage, and secured to him that bid

SCRUPULUS; a Scruple; the leaft of the Weights used by the Ancients, and among the Romans was the 24th part of an Ounce.

SCULPTURA; Sculpture; its an Art, whereby in taking from or adding to some Matter, are form'd all forts of Figures, made of he might afterwards dispatch Letters Patents at | Earth, or Wax, or elfe of Wood, Stones or Metlarge for the same: There were 62 Secretaries, Itals. Its very difficult, by reason of the Obscurity of former Ages to find out who were the first Inventors of Sculpture; the Antiquity whereof is apparent to us from the Holy Scriptures, by the Idols of Laban, which Rachel ftole, and the Golden Calf made by the Children of Ijrael in the Wilderness: As to propliane Authors who have written hereof, some will have it, that a Potter of Sicyone, whole Name was Dubitadus, was the first Sculptor; and that his Daughter first began Portraiture, by drawing her Lover's Picture upon the Shadow, which the Light of a Lamp marked upon a Wall: Others maintain that this Art had its Origin in the Isle of Samos, where Ideocus and Theodorus who were the Inventors of it, made some Pieces long before any mention was made of Dibutadus; fould write, and only subscribed underneath that Demaratus, the Father of Tarquinius Priscus, was he that brought it into Italy, upon his retiring thither; for having brought Bucirapus and Eutigrammus, who were excellent Artists in this kind, along with him, they communicated the fame more especially to the Tuscans, who applied themselves to it, and went on with it to Perfection; that Tarquin caused one Tawianus afterwards to come thither, who was one of the moft famous of them, to make an Earthen Statue of Jupiter, and Four Horses of the same Matter to be placed in the Frontispiece of that God's. Temple: Its also thought, the same Sculptor made a Figure of Hercules, which was for a long time to be seen at Rome, and named upon account of the Matter whereof it was made Hercules of baked Earth.

There were several Sculptors in those Times, at this Day there are but very few remaining. both in Greece and Italy, who wrought in Earth : especially of any value. In the Time that Mar-There is mention made of Cakoftenes, an Aibe- cus Scaurus was Edile, as he was obliged by his nian, who made his Name and House famous, Place to provide for what was requisite towards upon account of the many Earthen Figures the publick Rojoycings, he adorned the flately wherewith he adorned it; of Demophiles and Theater, which he erected with 3000 brazen Gorjanus, who were also Painters, and beautified Statues; and the' L. Mummius and Lucullus the Temple of the Goddels Ceres with Pillures brought away a great Number out of Aha and and Earthen Images; and so the Representati- Greece, yet there were still above 3000 remainons of all the Heathen Gods, were at first no otherwise than in Earth and Wood; and 'twas not | Delphi; but what is most itrange, is the Bigso much because of the Brittleness of the Matter, and the little Value thereof, as from the Luxury and Riches of People, that they proceeded to make of Marble, and the most precious Mettals: In the mean time how rich foever the Matter was which Sculptors nied, they never laid Earth afide, which they always used to make their Statue made by Xenoderus after that of Mercu-Models of ; and whether they went about to make them Statues of Marble, or cast them in Met- 110 Feet high. In the mean time 'tis to be tal, they never undertook these laborious Works, observed, that Sculpture, after Phidia his Time. before they had first made a Model of Earth of continued not in any great Perfection but for them; and this without doubt gave Praxiteles about 150 Years, and that then it began infenoccasion to fay, that the Art of making Earthen fibly to decline; not but that after the faid time Figures, was the Mother that as it were brought | there were still some fine Pieces of Workmanship forth the Art of making Marble and Brass Figures; which began not to appear in its Perfecti- fo great a Fancy and exquisite Beauty : Beon, till about 300 Years after the Building of tides the Greek Statues are more effeemed for excelled all those that went before him, either | mans; in that the greatest part of the first are in working in Marble, Ivory, or Mettals; but almost always naked, like those who wrestle or quickly after there came up a great Number of perform some other bodily Exercise, wherein excellent Artifts, who advanced Sculpture to the the Youth of those Times placed all their Glohighest Pitch, it arrived to: For in Sieyone appear'd Polycletus, whole Figures were admired cularly have the Toga on, which was the greatby all the World, and a Model for all those that left Mark of Honour among the Romans. fludied the Art. Afterward: Myron came on, who was inimitable in all he did: Lylippus, whole they killed the Victims appointed for Sacrifices. Name will live as long as Alexander's, and who alone had the Reputation to cast that Prince his is often used comprehends the Space of 100 Statue in Brass; Praxiteles and Scopus, who made Years compleat, according to Feftus. Servine admirable Figures, and the Horles which are ftill observes that an Age is also taken for the to be seen at Rome before the Pope's Palace at Space of 30 Years, sometimes for 110 and Monte-Cavallo : This Scopes had Briaxis, Tim? theus and Leochares for Competitors, who wrought | Time into Four Ages, which they called the at the famous Tomb of Maufolus, King of Ca- Golden Age, that is attributed to Samun's ria: Fisodorus, Canachus, Dedalus, Buthireus, Reign, the Silver Age, to that of Jupiter, and rus, Xenocrates, Phyromachus, and Stratonicus Anti- comprehend that of the prefent Time. gonus, who wrote a Treatile concerning his Art. Those excellent Persons, who made the Laccoon, were formerly one of the most solemn Feasts viz. Agefander, Polydorus and Asbenodorus, are all kept at Rome: Several ancient Authors have Three worthy of immortal Praise for such curi- writ concerning it; but their Works being lot. ous Workmanship; and an infinite Number more, we should have remained ignorant of the chief the Names of foine of whom have been tranf- | Ceremonies thereof, if Zozimus, who lived tomitted to Posterity, and others have perish'd wards the End of the fourth Century, had not with their Works. For the there were logreat taken Care to give us an abridged Account a Number of Statues in Afia, Greece and Italy, thereof, in the frond Book of his Hiltory, and and that in Rome alone, there were more, as was | what he fays thereupon, we find confirmed and exreported, than there were living Persons; yet plained by someMedals of those Secular Plays still

Phidias of Athens, who lived at that time,

ing in Rhodes, as many at Arbens, and more at nels of the Figures, which those ancient Artiffs had the Courage to undertake: Amongst those which Lucullus cauled to be transported to Rome. there was a Statue of Apollo 30 Cubits high; the Colleffus of Rhodes, made by Gares of Lundor. the Disciple of Lycippus, far exceeded it. Nero's ry, was also of an extraordinary size, as being both in Greece and Italy, the' not performed with the Excellency of the Work: I here is a special Difference between them and those of the Rory, whereas the others are clad or armed, parti-

SECESPITA, was the Knife wherewith SECULUM; an Age. This Word which fometimes for 1000: The Ancients divided Myro's Disciple, Nyceratus, Euphranor, Theodo the Brazen and Iron Ages, under which they

SECULARES LUDI; Secular Games,

in being, especially by those of Dominian: The O-1 celebrated being come, they began with a Proriginal therefore of the faid Plays take as follows.

The City of Rome being afflicted with a great Plague, the very fame Year wherein they exthe Gods, ordered them to celebrate this Sowith great Care; 'twas the Year after the Founthat is 509 Years before our Saviour's Nativity. These Plays were called Secular, because they were obliged to renew them from Age to Age; flu his Time, who at Rome were to look after 800, because it was the Beginning of a Century : But Domitian without any Respect to Clauover all the Empire, according to ancient Cufrom. That every one might come and fee those gain. They opened those Games thus. Towards the Beginning of Harvest, the Emperor, as lovereign Pontiff, haranged the People in the Capitol, and exhorted them to prepare themfelves for fo folemn a Feaft, by purifying both their Bodies and Minds. The like Exhortations were made at the great Feafts, and particularly at the Mysteries of Ceres Eleusina, whole ing feated on a Tribunal before a Temple, which was that of Jupiter Capitolinus, gave fome Per-Perfumes confifted of Sulphur and Bitumen; the and afterwards diffributed them among the Peohim, in order to purifie himself: They also gave of the time to Children, who were at Years of Understanding.

cession, whereat the Priests of all the Colleges affifted; the Senate and all the Magifirates were prefent, the People being clad in White, welled the Tarquins, Valerius Publicola, who was crowned with Flowers, and every one having a then Conful, in order to appeale the Wrath of Lawrel in his Hand. As they went along the streets they fung fome Verfes made on Purpole lemnity, the Ceremonies whereof were found for this Feaft, and as they went into the Temin the Oracles of the Sibylls, which they kept ples and Crois ways worthipped the Statues of the Gods, which were expoted to view upon dation of Rome 2.15. according to the Calculati- Beds of State, and these were called Leaisterna on of Varro, which is the best and most followed, Deorum. They mee in the Temples on the Three following Nights to watch there, and put up their Prayers and Sacrifices, and this was called Pervigilium; and to the end that nothing that that is every 100 Years, according to the most was undecent might be committed in these pubreceived Opinion; or every 110 Years, as the 15 lick Affemblies, the Youth of both Sexes affifted Officers called Quindecim-viri, pretended in Augu- hereat under the In: pection of their Parents, or fome Person at Years of Discretion of their the Ceremonies of Religion, and by the faid Ex- Family, who might be responsible for their Bemie found a Way to clear themselves before haviour, as Angustus had ordered it; and bethat Emperor, who accused them for not having cause this Feast was chiefly instituted to appeale celebrated the faid Plays at the Time appointed, the Gods of Darkness, that is, Pluto, Proferpina, as you may fee in Father Taffin the jeinite's Ceres, the Destinies and Lucina; there were no Treatife concerning the Secular Plays: Augujtus other than black Victims offered to them, and having celebrated them under the Confullhip of that in the Night Time, which was then illu-Furnius and Silanus in the Year of Rome 737. minated by the Fires made in the Streets and the Emperor Claudius would renew them Anno an infinite Number of Lamps lighted upon that Occasion. They then facrificed a black Bull to Pluto, and a black Cow to Proferping. On the dius, contormed himself to what Augustus had Morrow during Day-light they offered the like done, and celebrated them 103 Years after that Victims, but fuch as were white, to Jupiter and Prince had done them, that is, in the Year of June. And this we learn from a Medal of Do-Rome 840. Some time before it was published mitian, where the said imperor powers a Cup of Wine upon the Afhes of the Altar: Here you have Two Musitians also, one playing upon the Plays, which he never had feen nor never should Harp, and the other upon Two Flutes; a Man upon his Knees holding a Bull, to which, he that was to facrifice him, whom they called the Viétimary, feemed to give a Blow on the Head with an Ax.

At these Sacrifices they brought the Victims washed and drest with Garlands of Howers, to the Altar, then Orders were given that all propliane Perions should withdraw, and others be Ceremonies were very like those of the Secular lilent, and attentive to what was done. After Plays, as Herodian observes: The Emperor be- this the Pontiff, who was the Emperor himself. put a little Flower mixed with Salt upon the Victim's Head and then poured a little Wine on. fames to be distributed to the People, and these which he gave to the Allistants to taffe: Then the Sacrificer presently gave the Victim a great Quindecim-viri received them of the Emperor, Blow on the Head with his Ax, and his Throat being cut at the same Time by the other Offiple, adding thereunto a little Piece of Fir-wood, cers, they prefented his Blood to the grand called Tada; they-lighted it at one End, and Pontiff, who immediately powred it upon the threw some of the said Persume upon it, the Fire of the Altar: This being done, they nar-Smoak whereof every one cauted to go round rowly observed the Entrails of the Animal, from the different Disposition and Colour of which the Aruspices drew good or bad Omens; wherein the Romans were so circumspect, and had so . The Days whereon these Plays were to be much Faith, that Julius Cafar himself, as Macrobius fays, at least writ Sixteen Books upon that | which is to be found in the End of his Book of Subject. They afterwards burnt the same En- Epods. It was undoubtedly, the same Day that trails, when they had taken Three Turns round was appointed for the Myflick Dance of the Sail, the Altar, offering this Sacrifice to the God or inflituted formerly by Numa, econd King of Rome Goddels for whom the same was deligned; and we should not have known that this Dancemade this they never did but they invoked all the one of the chief Ceremonies of the Secular Plays, other Gods at the same Time, as if they could if we had not learnt it from two Medals, one of do nothing but altogether; they usually refer- Augustus, and the other of Domisian, which were ved the Victim for the Feaft which was made; stamped on purpose for these Plays, and upon after the People were difinified, with thefe which may be feen the Figure of a Salian, aste-Words, Ilicet, that is, you may withdraw: These presented by the Ancients: He has a round Bon-Sacrifices being over, they affifted at the pub net on his Head, ending with two very long lick Plays, which were more particularly confe- Corners; upon his particoloured Tunick, he crated to Apollo and Diana, and went to the wears a kind of a Coat of Arms, of which nothing Theater where Comedies were afted; and to but the Edges is to be icen, which confifted of the Circus, where they were entertained with Purple Bands faffned with Brass Buckles : he Foot, Horse and Chariot Races: The Athletes | holds a small Rod in his Right Hand, and a Buckalso fignalized themselves at Wreftling and or ler in the Left, in the midst whereof Mineral's ther Exercises; In the Amphitheater they saw Head is to be seen, she being the Goddess chosen the Combats of the Gladiators, and wild Beafts by Domitian to be his Protectres: I hey affifted fight, the last of which were brought thither on the same Day at the Shews, in the same manner purpole from all Parts.

They returned their Prayers and Sacrifices the second Night, which they addrest to the Deftinies, and to whom they facrificed a Sheep and a Goat, both black: Next Day such Women as were free and no Slaves, went to the Capitol and other Temples, where they made them on Marble. their Prayers to Jupiter and the other Gods before mentioned: There they fung Hymns, to intreat them to profper the Empire and People | and the other of them had the fame Extent as of Rome, they also prayed for what related to the longest Life of Man, which is that called their own particular Occasions, and among o die's by the Greeks, but Seculum by the Romans. ther things for Ease in Child bearing: The rest In short, this Solemnity contributed very much of the Day was spent in publick Rejoycings, to the Diverting of the Plague, Morality, and and much the fame as those used the preceding Day.

The third Night they facrificed a Hog to the Earth, which the Ancients effeemed as one of their chief Goddesses, and adored under different Names: they believed this Animal to be ly eat the first Corn that was fowed: This Safrom the Verb Tero, to ufe, because the Bank of the Thunder denoted that the Gods were very the River was there worn away, and as it were angry, he went in the Way of his Duty to apof the best Families in Rome, and whose Parents Statue of Vesta, making a Tender to that Godwere yet alive; a Circumstance observed, that dess of his own, and their Mother's Life to re-

as on the preceding Days. This Feaft being over, the Emperor gave the Offerings to such Officers, as were to take care of these Ceremonies, who diffributed part of the fame among ft the People. They afterwards recorded these Plays in the publick Registries, and inscribed

They were called Secular Games, because the Time prescribed between the Celebration of one other Epidemical Diftempers; and now we will give you the Occasion of the Institution of them. Valesius, from whom the Family of the Valesii among the Sabines was defcended, having a Wood before his Houfe, the tall Trees whereof were reduced to Ashes by Thunder, he was the most pleasing Victim they could offer her, troubled that he could not understand the Reaas well because it always looked towards the fon of such a Prodigy. In a short Time after, Earth, as by reason, they said, a log former- his Children happening to fail sick of a dangerous Diftemper, against which no medicinal crifice was offered upon the Banks of the Tiber | Remedies could prevail, he had Recourse to the at a Place in Campus Martius, called Terenium, Aruspices, who telling him, that the manner of confumed by the Water. On the Day following peafe them, by Sacrifices; and being both himwhich was the third and laft of the Secular Games, felt and his Wife extreamly concerned for the they had I'wo Conforts of Mutick, one confift. Safety of his Children, of which they had no ing of Boys, and the other of Girls, all of them Hopes, he proftrated hunfelf at the feet of a there might be no Occasion administred for deem theirs; then turning his Eves towards the Mourning and Sadnets at a Feaft, where there Wood that had been burnt, he thought he had fhould be nothing found but Joy: They fung an heard a Voice commanding him to go to Taren-Hymn compoled on Purpole for the Secular tum, and there give them ione of the Water of Plays, we have that extant which was fung in the liber to drink, after he had warmed it upon Augullus his Time, and composed by Horace, the tire of Pluto and Proferpina's Altar: As was a little Town scituated in the farther Part | where he had offered Sacrifices. of lealy; befides he took it for an ill Augury; for him to heat that Water upon the Altar of the Internal Gods: The Arufpices had no better Opinion of it than he, however they advised him to obey, wherefore he embarked with his Children upon the Tiber, and took care to carry Fire along with him, but finding he could do it no longer because of its excessive Heat, he caused the Men to row toward a Place on the Shore, where the Stream was not fo rapid, and having stopped near a Shepherd's Cottage; he came to know of the faid Shepherd that the Name of the Place was Tarensum or Terensum, as well as the City scituate in the Promontory of lapyx: He gave God Thanks for this good News, caused the Water of the Tiber to be warmed upon the Fire he had lighted, and no looner gave it his Children to drink but they fcription:

TO PLUTO AND PROSERPINA.

found it. after he had offered Victims thereon, der the Confulfhip of Chilo and Libo. and spent the Nights in the Rejoveings prescribed by the Gods, he was called Manius Valerius are let down in the publick Registers; the He-

these Words he despaired still the more of the | Infernal Gods called Manes by the Latins, Vale-Lives of his fick Children; for how should he rius from the Word valeo which fighthes to be in and the Water of the Tiber at Tarentum, which | Health, and Terentinus, in respect to the Place

> Sometime after this Adventure, that is, the first Year after the Expulsion of the Tarquins, the City of Rome being afflicted with the Plague. Publius Valerius Publicola, who was then Conful, freed the People from this Evil, by offering in the same Place a black Ox to Plure, and a black Cow to Proferpina, and he caused this Inscription to be graven on the same Altar;

Publius Valerius Publicola hath confecruted a Fire to Pluto and Proferpina in Campus Martius; and celebrated Games in Honour of the faid. Gods, for the Deliverance of the People of Rome.

fell afleep; and when they a woke, found them- Rome being after that afflifted with Wars and felves well. They told their Father, that while Peffilence in the Fourth Confulfhip of Marine they were alleep, a Man of an extraordinary Positus, 352 Years after the Foundation there-Size appeared to them, who had an Air all Di-: of, the Senate ordered the Sibyll's Books to be vine, and commanded them to offer black. Vi- confulted by those whose Business it was: They Rims to Pluto and Projerping, and to fpend answered, that those Evils would be at an end. Three Nights successively in traging and dancing ; if they did but offer Sacrifices to Plus and Proto the Honour of those Deities in a Place in Jerpina: They prefently fought out the Place. Campus Maxitus, appointed for the exercising of where the Altar of these Gods was buried, Hories: Vanfius going about to lay the Foun-found it, and confectated it anew, and they had dations of an Aliar there, had not dug very no fooner finish'd their Sacrifices thereon, but far, but he found one to his Hand with this In- the Romans found themselves freed from the Evils they laboured under ; after which they buried the faid Altar again, and the fame is in a certain Place at the End of Campus Martin ; but there Sacrifices having been neglected from the Confulfhip of Lucius Cenforinus, and Manli-And having then his Doubts fully cleared to us Puelius, and new Misfortunes befalling them him, he factified black Victims on the faid Al- in Augustus his Reign, the faid Prince renew d tar, and thent Three Nights in this Place as those Plays under the Confuship of Lucius Centwas ordered him to do: Now this lar had formus, and Caius Sabinus, after Accius Capito had been erected for those Gods upon a remarkable informed them of the Ceremonies they were to Occasion during the War of the Romans against observe thereat, and that the Quindesim-viri, the Albans; when their Armies were just going in whose Custody the Sibyll's Books were, had to engage, all on a fudden there appeared a found out the Place where the Sacrifices and Man with a monffreus Afpert and clad in black Shews ought to be performed. The Emperor Skins, crying out with a loud Voice, That Fluto Claudius, after Augustus caused the same Games and Projerpina commanded them before they en- to be celebrated, without any regard had to giged, to fact fice to them under Ground, after the Law, that required they should not be perwhich he vanished: The Remans being aftoni- formed, but once every Age. Afterwards Drhed at this Apparition, immediately built an mitian not minding what Claudius had done; Altar 20 l'oot deep under Ground, and after celebrated them at the full Revolution of anhaving facrificed according to Order, they co- Age from the time of Augustus his folemnizing vered ir, to the end no Body but themselves of them : Laftly, Severus allifted by his Sons might have Knowledge of it: Valefius having Caracalla and Geta, renewed the fame Games un-

Terentinus; Manins in Commemoration of the ralds went about to invite the People to a Shew tee again but this once; Harvest-time being come a few Days before this Feaft, the Quindecim-viri, whole Bulmels it was to look after the Ceremonies of Religion, fate upon a Tribunal before the Capitol and Apollo's Temple, from whence they distributed Torches of Sulpbur, and Bitumen, to the People which every one used to purific himself with: They gave none to the Slaves, but only to fuch as were free: Afterwards all the People went to the Temples we have mentioned, and to that of Diana upon Mount Aventine; every one of which carried fome Wheat, Barley and Beans thither, and kept the facred Eve there all Night in Honour of the Destinies with a great deal of Company: Lastly, They folemnized this Veaft for Three Days and Three Nights, beginning with offering Sacrifices in Campus Martins upon the Banks of the Tiber in a Place named Terensum: The Gods to whom they offered, were Jupiter, Juno, Apollo, Latona and Diana, as also the Destinies, Lucina, Cores, Physo and Profespina. The first Night Two Hours after Sun-let, the Emperor being affifted by the Quikeim-viri, of whom before, facrificed Three Lambs upon Three Altars raifed apon the Banks of the Tiber, and when he had fininkled the Altars with the Vithms Blood, he burnethem all whole, during which Time the Muficians who were fer upon an advanced Place, fung an Hymn made for that Purpole: They lighted Fires and Lampsevery where, and gave Shews that agreed with those Sacrifices: Those who were to provide for Ceremonies, by way of Recompence receiv'd the first Fruits of the Earth; after some of them had been distributed to all the People: In the Morning they met in the Capitol, from whence after they had tacrificed the utual Victims, they went to the Theater to celebrate Games there in Honour of the great Magistrates of Romb had a Right to fit Spollo and Diana: On the second Day the Wo- and to be carried. men of Quality went to the Capitol, at the Hour affigned them in the sibyll's Books, and there facrificed to Jupiter, and lung Hymns in being jealous perswaded Semele, whom Jupiter his Praise. Laftly, On the third Day, a Com- loved, to lie with him in all his Glory; infomuch pany of Youths of good Birth, to the Num- that the lire of his Thunderbolt catching hold her of 27, and as many young Girls, all whole on the Wainfoot of her Chamber, burnt her: Fazents were alive, in fix Chorus's, fung Hymns All that could be done upon this Occasion, was to in Greek and Lasin, and Sacred Songs, for the fave the Child, for the was big, and to take him obtaining all manner of Prosperity to the Cities | hot out of his Mother's Womb, and put him in of Rome. There were moreover many other Jupiter's Thigh, where he flaid his time, and Things: done according to the Prescription of was called Bacchus. the Gods, and as long as these Ceremonies were observed, the Roman Empire remained entire; fituted in Seed-time, in order to pray unto the but to the end you may know the Truth of what | Gods to vouchfafe them a plentiful Harveft. has been faid, I'll here recite the Oracle of SEMONES; Demi-Gods: Fulgentins in

'is the longest Time of the Duration of a Man's tain Gods, who were not of the Number of the Life; I lay, remember to offer Sacrifice to the | Coeleftial Doiries, but fuch as were Demi-Gods, "immortal Gods, in the Field, that is watered by | quali femi-homines-

which they had never feen, and should never | the Tiber. When the Night is come, and that the Sun is fet, then offer Goats and Sheep th the Deftinies ; afterwards offer proper Sacrifices to Lucina, who prefides over Child-bearing: next facrifice a Hog and a black Sow to the Earth; and this done, offer white Oxen on Fr. piter's Altar : and this must be performed in the Day-time, and not by Night; for those Sacrifices that are made in the Day-time pleafe the Coeleftial Gods; by the fame Reason thou shall offer to Juno a young Cow that has a good Hide; the like Sacrifices thou shall make to Phabus-Apolio, the Son of Lasona, who is also called the Sun; and let the Roman Boys, accompanied with Girls, fing Hymns with a loud Voice in the Sacred Temples, but so that the Girls sing on one fide, and the Boys on the other, and the Parents both of the one and the other must be then alive; let married Women fall upon their Knees before Funo's Altar, and pray that Geddess to give Ear to the publick Yows, and theirs in particular; let every one according to his Ability offer first Praits to the Gods, to render them propitious, and these first Fruits ought to be kept with Care, and they must not forget to distribute some of them to every one that affifts at the Sacrifices; let there be a great Number of People Night and Day at the Hesting-places of the Gods, and there let ferious and diverting Things be agreeably intermix'd : See therefore, O Roman, that these Injunctions be always kept in mind by thee; and thus the Country of Italy, and that of the Latins will always be subject to thy Power. SELLA SOLIDA; a Chair or Seat made of a piece of Wood, wherein the Augurs fate, when they were taking their Augury.

SELLA . GURULIS; the Curule Chair, which was adorned with ivory, and on which

SEMELE; the Caughter of Cadmus, King of Thebes, with whom Jupiter was in Love; June

SEMENTINE FERIE: Feafts in-

the Sibylle her felf, as others have already done. his Treatife of ancient Words, fays, that the Roman, remember every 110th Year, which | Ancients would have the Semones to be the cerThree.

Senator, a Man must be a Citizen of Rome, or of nate. one of the Municipal Cities that had the fame Manners, Birth and Estate ; for a Senator ought to have a Revenue of 4000 Founds for the Maintenance of his Dignity; but Augustus required he should have 300000 Crowns : Senatorum cenfum ampliavit, fays Suetonius, ac pro offingintorum millium summa, duodecies H. S. taxavit, sup-Thirty Years old before he was made a Seat the Dignity of Senators; but this was brought about either by Intreague, or the Emperor's Authority. The Choice of Senators belonged were invested with this Power; and laftly, the an Account of them, substituted others in the room of those that were dead, or had been delick, the Emperors arrogated this Power to out a Tongue, themselves, and made as many Senators, and of what Quality they pleafed.

The Number of Senators varied according to various Times: Romulus at first created a Hun- Hence it is that when the Consuls would have dred of them, which he called Patres; and after the Senate meet, they must fay, Senatores, quithe Alliance made with the Sabines, increaled bufque in Senatu fententiam dicere licer; and this their Number to a Hundred more. Tarquinius shews the Difference between sentensiam verbie Prifcus, according to Livy, or as others will have dicere, and fententiam pedibus ferre, or dicere, it, King Servius added allo an Hundred, which which appertained to none but the Senatores he named Patres minorum gentium, because they Pedarii. were not of to noble an Extract as the former. The Senators were a very large Purple Tu-This Number of 300 Senators continued to the nick, with broad Edges called Lati-clavium; from Time of C. Graichus, Tribune of the People; which the Senators were called Lati-clavii, they who oppoing the Nobles, made the Peo- had a Right to fit or be carried in the Curuleple add 330 Roman Knights to the rest, in Chair, to affish at Plays and Shews in the Oraffift at the Plays with other Senators in the Or-

SENACULA; they were Places where | cheffra; as also at publick Feasts, which were for the Senate of Rome met, of which there were lemnized with Plays and Triumphs. And so of the 300 Senators, the 200 created by Romulus were SENATOR; a Senator. Romulus institu- called Patritii majorum gentium, and the other ted the first Hundred Senators at Rome, which 100 Adledi, or Conscripti, a Name which aftermade up the King's Council: In order to be a wards continued to be given to the whole Se-

Among these Senators, there was some who had Privileges or Freedom: Respect was had to their a decisive Vote, and spoke their Sentiments in the Matters that were proposed; and others who did no more than follow those Sentiments which to them appear'd most reasonable; and this made them be called Pediarii Senatores, who did not declare their own Opinions, but fided with those whose Opinions they approved of : Qui sensenplevitque non babentibus. He was to be at least tiam in Senatu non verbis dicerent, sed in alienam sententiam pedibus irent. Aulus Gellius rejects this Interpretation, and feems to follow that of We are not without Instances of Children af- Q. Bassas, who says in his Commentaries, that franchized, and of Persons yet of a meaner Con- those of the Senators who had never bore the dition, and even Stranger, who have arrived Office of Curule-Magistrate, went a foot to the Senate; and for that Reaton were called Pedarii Sensiores: But Varro pretends, that the Advice of fuch Senators as were tast admitted, was not at first to the Kings; the Consuls afterwards asked, and that they were obliged to espouse fome others Opinion : Et qui in postremis scripsi Cenfors being obliged every five Years to take erant, he ipeaks of the Lift of Cenfors, non regabantur fententias, fed quas principes duxer ant, in eas descendebant : For which reason Laberius fays, graded: But in the decaying Time of the Republish that a Pedarian Senator's Vote was a Head withorder to counterballance the Number of the 300 cheftra, and likewife at leasts and the Banquet Senators: Thus the Number of 600 Senators confecrated to Jupiter in the Capitol. The Cenlafted to the Time of Juliu: Cafar, who being fors took an Account of them every five Years, willing to gratifie a great many brave Men, calling them with a loud Voice; and those whom who had faithfully ferved him in his Wars a- they paffed over, were degraded from the Order gainst Pompey; increased the Number to 1000 of Senators, which was called Praterice: But if of all forts of People, without diffinction. But the Person who was passed over was minded to Augustus to purge this Body that was in an ill oblige the Cenfor to tell the Reason of it, he was habit, reduced it to the former Number of 600, under an Obligation to do it, fays Lipfus, and and expelled fuch as were most unfit for the then he was degraded with the greater Ignomi-Dignity; and this he did with fo much Mode- ny and Shame; this being called ejicere Senatu. ration, that in order to make those easie whom he He who was thus degraded had the Remedy of thus reduced, he granted them to wear the Lati- appealing to the People, who in fpight of the davium, and allowed them the Priviledge to Cenfor, did many times re-establish him.

Caput fine lingua pedaria sententia est.

SENATUS; the Senate; a Body confift | People, but they were afterwards admitted in: ing of Councellors of State, commonly called The Confuls, Dictators, Tribunes of the Peo-Senators, conftituted to give Advice to those ple, and the Governour of Rome in the Conful's who had the Sovereign Authority vested in Ablence, had a Right to call the Senate togethem; they called them Senators, that is, Old ther; which they did in these Words, Quadfau-Men, wherein the Romans imitated the Greeks, flum felixque fit, P. Cornel. Cof. edicit fie Senswho called their Senate peperian, that is, An sores, quibufque in Senatu fententiam dicere licet, Assembly of Cld Men : So when the Athenians conveniant ad XIII. Cal. fan. They notified the attembled the People to confult about the Place and Day, which was pitched upon some-Affairs of the Publick, the Officers summoned times in one, and sometimes in another Place. none but fuch as were Fifty Years old: The Egspiians and Persians followed the same Example viz. on the Calends, Nones and Ides, according after the Hebrews. The Livedismonians and to Suetonius; and this stated Assembly was called Carthaginians received none but fuch as were legitimus Senatus; and all the Senators were obli-Sixty Years of Age.

Rome was very confiderable; they decided any Day in each Month, and this they called concerning what was to be done in Matters of Peace and War, without faying any thing to the People, to whom the Sentiments of the faid Body were communicated in these Terms, Senatus decrevit, populus juffit. It was the Senace's Right to give the first sudience to Foreign Embassadors, to dispote of Provinces, appoint Triumphs, and receive Letters from the Generals of their Armies concerning the Success of the Republick's Arms. Their Power came fomewhat to be leffened under the Emperors; for Augustus conflituted to himself a Privy-Council, consisting of a certain Number of Senators, with whom he confulted concerning the most important Affairs of State. Tiberius endeavoured by little and little to assume the Power into his own Hands. Nero on the contrary ordered, that the Senate should retain their ancient Rights and met, before he took his Seat, or could consult Priviledges; but we may fay with Tacitus, that all this was but a specious Fretence, wherewith informs us. After which he was obliged to take he was minded to colour his Ufurpations. All an Oath, by touching the Altar, and calling the Authors are agreed, that the Senate of Rome. I Gods to witness it, that he would give his Opiwas of great Dignity and Authority, but had not nion with Sincerity, and without Hattery: This a full Power, nor an absolute Dominion, they Ceremony was exprest by these Words, Jurehaving none to command, and much less to exe- jurando obstringere Senatum, and from thence cute their Orders, as Dionylius of Hallicarnaffus came Juratus Senatus, as we read in Lacitus, has well observed; and so we meet with divers Lib. 4. Annal. This being done, the Senators Paffages in Livy to this Purpole; Senatus decre. took their Places when the Conful, or he who vit, populus juffit, that is, the Senate bave thought fate as Prefident, proposed both the publick and it good, and the People commanded it : And, in private Affairs, which they were to consult athort, the least Tribune, that opposed the Se- bout, and ended with these Word: P. Conscripti, nate, could obstruct all their Decrees, and the quid fieri placet? Senate gave out their Orders to the Confuls and Prætors, no otherwise than if it pleased them, f en ita videtur. All the great Magistrates had a Right to enter into the Senate, but not to give their Opi. manner: Referimus ad vos P. C. quod fapè renions there, unless they were Senators: The Se- lulimus. Imperator of deligendus. Exercitus fine nators Children had also the same Right that Principe diutius stare non potest; and concluded, they might betimes use themselves to the Affairs of the Republick : The Tribunes of the piet exercitus quem elegeritu ; aut fi refutaverit, People at first stood at the Door of the Senate to know their Deliberations, and to oppose them began with the Highest, and so on to the Low-

The Senate usually met three times a Month. ged to be refent under the Penalty of a Fine: The Senate's Authority in the Republick of They might be extraordinarily called together Senatus indidus or edidus. These Assemblies might be held from Morning to Evening in three places in the City appointed for this Purpose, viz. in the Temple of Concord, between that Place and the Capitol, at the Gate Capena, and in the Temple of Bellona, where they gave Foreign Embaffadors Audience, before they were introduced into the City: There were also a great many more places appointed for this Purpole, as Curia Hofilia, Pompeia, and Julia, which the Augurs first consecrated, according to Aulus-Gellius and Varro.

The Affembly of the Senate began with a Sacrifice offered to the Gods, but Augustus altered this Custom, and ordered every Senator, to offer a Sicrifice of Wine and Incense upon the Altar of the God, in whose Temple the Senate about any Bufinels, as Suctonius in his Life, C.25.

When the Question was put about the choosing of an Emperor to succeed Awelian, the Senate having met in Curia Pompilia, Cornificius Gordianus the Conful propoled the Thing in this Quare agite P.C. & Prin ipem dicite : Aut accialterum faciet. He asked their Opinion, and in case they were contrary to the Rights of the left: This Method was not always observed;

for fometimes they asked the Opinion of one | the Year, if you reckon from the Vernal Equiconditum eft Senatus confultum.

When the Debate contained feveral Heads, which required feveral Opinions to be given, the Name of Antonogus, in Honour of the Methey debated each of them in particular, dividebatur fententia: When any Bufiness was determined by a Plurality of Voices : the Conful pronounced the Decree of the Senate in thele Words:

S. C. A.

By these Three Letters they meant Senatus-Confulti Authoritates, the usual Title of all the Decrees of the Senace. Prilie Kalend, Octobric the 1st Day of it there was a Feast celebrated in in ale Apolinia scribendo adfuerunt L. Bomitius. Honour of Neptune; the 24 Day was remarkable Cn. filius, Anobarbus, Q. Cacilius, Qu. F. Metellus, Pius Scipio, &c. Quod Mircellus Conful. V. patra in the Fight of Adium. On the 4th the F. (i. e. verba fecit) de Provincia Confularibus, Roman Games were celebrated, which lafted D. E. R. I. C. (that is, de ea re its censue- Eight Days. The Eighth was remarkable for runt) usi L. Paulus, C. Marcellus Coff. cum Magi- the taking of Ferufalem by Vefpatian. The 13th firstum iniffent, &c. de Confularibus Provincia | the Practor drove the Nail into the Wall of Miad Senatum referrent, &c. and after having explained the Matter in Debate, and the Senate's ber of the Years of the Roman Empire. Writing imercesserit, Senatui placere authoritatem perseribi, remony of driving the Nail was applied to other & de care ad Senasum populumque referri. After Ules, especially to make the Plague cease, and which if any one opposed it, they wrote his for that end they conflituted a Dictator, On the Name underneath; Huic Senails-confulto inter- 14th there was a Cavalcade of Horses, in order uffit talu. Auftoritatem or auftoritates perferibere, to try them, which they called Equiria. On is to register the Names of those who have a the 20th Remulus his Birth-day was celebrated. of the Decrees to their own Houses, but because | The 25th was dedicated to Venus: The 20th of the Alterations formetimes made therein, it they prepared a Bangnet for Minerva, and celewas ordered in the Contul hip of L. Valerius and brated a Feast catted Meditrinalia. M. Horarius, that the Senate's Decrees should be laid up in the Temple of Ceres under the Cuflody of the Adiles; and at last the Censors carthem up in the Armories called Tabularia.

SENECA; a Philotoper, Nero's Præceptor | Ufe. and Governour of the Empire during his Minority: This Emperor put him to Death, as fuspecting him to have a Hand in Pilo's Conspiracy. He died by opening his Veins and bleeding to SENTINUS DEUS; a God who gives the Tiber, on Seven Rows of Pillars. according to the Fable.

SEPTA: Incloures or Rails made of Boards thro' which they went in to give their Votes in the Affemblies of the Romans.

and then of another, without any regard had nox, and the Ninth, if you begin with Fanuary; to their Quality; these Votes were given either they celebrated divers Feasts at Rome in this Viva voce, or only by holding up the Hand, or Month, such as the Dionystaqui or the Vintages; elfe by separating into two Parties; and this is the great Circensian Games, the Dedication of comprehended by Flavius Vepijeus in a fingle the Capitol, &c. See Calendarium. They would Paffage of Aurelian's Lite; Poli bec, lays he, in- have given the Name, of divers Roman Empeterrogati plerique Senatores fententias dixerunt; rors to this Month, the Senate would have had deinde aliu minus porrigentibus, aliu pedibus in it called Tiberius in Honour of the Emperor Ti-Cententias euntibus: plesifque verbo confentientibus berius, as Suetonius in his Lite informs us. C. 26. Domitian named it Germanicus, according to the Authority of the same Author. They gave it mory of Antoninus Pius, as Julius Capitolinus relates in his Life: The Emperor Commodus named it Herculeus or Hercules, as Herodian fays: And laftly, the Emperor Tacitus would have it called Tacitus after his own Name, as Vopifcus fays; but for all thefe, it has always retained the Name of September, given it by Nums. This Month was under Vulcan's Protection: On for Augustus his Victory over Aniony and Cleonerva's Temple, thereby to denote the Num-Refolution, he adds, Si quis buis Senatus confutto being not frequently used; but afterwards the Cegreed to the Decree, and caused it to be regi- On the 23d that of Augustus by the Romanfred: The Confuls at first carried the Minutes | Knights, and the same latted Two whole Days:

SEPTIMIANA PURTA; it was one of the Gates of Rome between the Tiber and the Janialum, being to named from Septimius Setied them into the Temple of Liberty, putting verus, according to Spartian in his Life, where he caused Baths to be built for the Publick:

> SEPTIMONTIUM, the Seven Mountains of the City of Rome, whereon they celebrated a Feaft called Septimontium.

SEPTIZONIUM; They were Baths built by Septimius Severus on the other Side of

Thought to an Infant in his Mother's Womb, | SEPTUNX; Seven Ounces of the Weights or a Roman Pound.

SEPULCRA. See Sepultura. SEPULTUR E; buryings; the Pagans always had a Regard to the Care that was taken SEPTEMBER. The Seventh Month of or Sepulcres, as a Religious Duty grounded upon the Fear of God, and the Belief of the Soul's 1 of those who had suffered Punishment by Death. Achilles the would take care his Body should not Homer grounds this upon the Ceremonies of the | Crows Meat. Egyptians; for the People of Memphis did not into the Deceased's Life, and if they found him rish, near unto which lay the Graves of the luft. which the Soul was excluded from the Elifian Fields, and loaded with Infamy: In speaking of these Burials I make use of the Terms in Fathion now-a-days, and fuch as have been used long before Homer; for in those ancient Times they put the Bodies into the Earth, after they had inbalmed them, as we do now. The most ancient Books of the Hiftory of the Old Testament bear witness hereof, and furnish us with divers Examples in the Persons of Abraham, Ilaac, 71cob and Fofeph; but in the Book of Kings it It was not enough that the most famous Per-Interring and Burying have been always commonly used, either because the same could not be abolished, or because there was still something remaining either of Bones or Ashes which the Fire confumed not, and which they interred in Urns. The Places appointed for Buryings grew to be facred, and were reckoned in the Number of holy and unalienable Things: They anciently allowed a Burial to those who were put to Death for their Offences. Fosephus, L. A. C. 6. of the Antiquities of the Jews, against Appian L. 2. fays, that Mofes commanded those to be

Immortality; and the Ancients accounted the the Romans being of Opinion, that the Souls of Buryings of the Dead to be a Thing to holy fuch Bodies as were not buried, wandered up and inviolable that they attributed the original and down for an Hundred Years, as not being Invention thereof to one of the Gods, viz. to able to get into the Elifean Fields: Hecomore him whom the Greeks called Pluto, and the Ro- quam cernin, inops, inhumataque turba eff. Virg. mans Du or Summanus. Priam in Homer's I- An. 6. In the mean time, Suctonius in the liads asks and obtains a Cessation of Arms for Life of Augustus says the Contrary: Uni femiluburying the Dead on both Sides; and in ano- ram precanti respondisse dicitur, jam illum in voluther Place Jupiter interposed and sent Apollo to crum potestatem fore: When a Prisoner of War procure Sarpedon to be buried; Iris also is ient | pray'd for Leave that he might be buried; the by the Gods to ftir up Achilles to fight, and to Answer made him was, that he should quickly pay this Duty to Patroclus: Thesis promifed become Birds Food; and Horace fays, Non beminem occidifti, non pasces in cruce corvos; thou corrupt, though he lay unburied a whole Year. has killed no Man, therefore thou fhall not be SEPULCRA; Sepulchres, Tombs, Funebury their Dead till after they had examined ral Monuments. They were Places appointed wherein to bury the Bodies of the Deceased, or to have been an ill Liver, Burial was denied the Bones and Ashes of the Bodies which they him: This Refusal was the Cause why they burned. The Pyramids were built for Sepulcres would not allow the Bodies of the Wicked to be to the Kings of Eg pp: Those who violated the carried to the other Side of the River and Ma- Sepulcres of the Dead, or fearched them, were hated by all Nations, and very feverly puni-And hence it was, that to be deprived of a fled: It was in order to comfort themselves Burial, was a kind of an Excommunication by upon Account of their Mortal State, that the Egyptians built them Eternal Houses, as they were wont to call those Sepulchres, whereas they honoured their Pallaces and Manlion Houses only with the Title of Inns, in Regard to the fhort Time we dwell here on Earth in Comparison of the Stay we make in the Grave.

> Perpetuas fine fine domos mors incolit atra. Asernofque levis poffider umbra Lares.

feems as if there were fome Examples of a con- lons among the Heathens bore witness by their trary Custom that was introduced of burning the | Conduct, that Vanity was the chief Spring Bodies. It was about Homer's Time: Thus in of their Actions, without they also made the his Iliads and Odyffes you find all the Bodies of fame to furvive after their Deaths; the Maufothe Dead conjumed with Fire: The Terms of leums, Obelifques, and flately Monuments erected by them are Eternal Proofs thereof; 'It was a fine Thing, faid a Queen, in Herodorus his Hiftory, to be honoured after her Death with a magnificent Monument which should be L' a Testimony of our Glory to Posterity. Varro speaks of a Barber whose Name was Licinus, that had the Ambition to have a Marble Tomberected for him.

> Marmoreo, Licinus tumulo jacet; & Cato, parvo; Pompeius nullo: Credimus effe Deos.

buried who had suffered Death according to the Cestius his Pyramid which is still in being at Laws. The Romans practifed the same Thing: Rome, and which had within it a Room painted Pilate gave Leave to take down the Body of by a very good Master among the Ancients, is the Son of God, and to lay it in a Tomb, tho' only the Tomb of a private Person. Persons he were put to Death as a Person guilty of Trea- of Quality had their burying Vaults, wherein ion. The Emperors Dioclesian and Maximinian they placed the Ashes of their Ancestors, and ordered that they hould not hinder the burying formerly there was such an one at Nifmes with no longer bury their Dead within the City, the who were put to Death by the I mperors. fame being expresly forbidden by the Law of the was prefently taken off, in order to shew they had a Priviledge to bury there, but they voluntarily diverted themselves of that Honour, and carried their dead Bodies to the Burying-place they had in the Country of Velia; those Persons also enjoy'd the same Priviledge, who had done any considerable Service for the Commonwealth, or triumphed over the Enemies of the Empire: The Veftal Virgins, as well as the Emperors, had a Right to be buried there; but otherwise belides the Three forts of Perfons now mentioned, we do not find in History that any other was buried in the City. The Emperor Adrian laid a Fine of Four Pieces of Gold upon those that buried within the City, and extended the Penalty to the very Magistrates that did allow it; he did moreover injoin, as Ulpian the Lawyer lays, that the Burying-place thould be forfeited and held prophane and that the Body or A hes of him that was buried there thould be taken up. 1 his Edict was renewed by the Emperors Dioclefian and Maximinian in the Year of Rome 1012. and of our Redemption 200, on the 28th of Sep-

They built Burying-places upon the most fre quented High-ways, as upon the Road to Brundufium, called via Appia; upon via Flaminia or Latina, whereon frood the Burying-places of the Calatini, Scipio's, Servilit and Marcelli; and this with an Intent to put Paffengers in mind of their Mortal State, and to excite them to imitate the Vertues of those great Men, who were reprefented upon those stately Tombs, or in the In-Exiptions on them. Agenu Urbious mentions after his Death: Wherefore 'tis very probable

a rich Pavement of inlaid Work, that had Ni- | fome other Places in the Suburbs, that were used thes round its Walls, in each of which there were for Sepulcres, one of which was named Culina, Rows of Urns of gilt Glass full of Ashes. The wherein the Poor and Slaves were buried, ano-Romans after the Expulsion of their Kings did ther Seftersium, where their Bodies were laid

There were some Burying-places belonging 12 Tables, In urbe ne sepelito ne-ve urito, in or- to certain Families, and others Hereditary : der to prevent an Infection which the buried Those belonging to certain Families were such Corps might occasion in so hot a Climate as Italy, as a Person caused to be built for himself and all and also to avoid Fires, as it happened at the Fu- his Family, that is, his Children and near Relaneral Solemnities of Clodius, who was burnt in the tions, and also his Freed-men: Hereditary Se-Place of the Refira, for the Fire casched hold or pulcres were those which the Testator appointthe Palace, and burnt all the Front looking to- ed for himself and his Heirs, or acquired by wards the Place with feveral neighbouring Right of Inheritance: Persons might reserve Houses. Altho' the Laws of the 12 Tables for- unto themselves a particular Burying-place, bad the burying of any Body within the City where no other had been laid; they could also Walls, yet there were some Romans who had that by Will hinder any of their Heirs to be interred Priviledge both before and after the making in the Burying-place belonging to their Family; of the faid Law, as the Family of the Claudit, and when they were minded to shew that it was who had a Burying-place in the Capitol, so had not allowed an Heir to be buried in a Sepulchre, also Valerius Publicola and Postbumius Tuberius, to they inscribed these Letters upon it, which are whom and their Descendants the People of Rome Still to be met with in a great many Places. by a particular Order granted Liberty to be bu H. M. H. N. S. that is, Hoc monumentum beried within the City: Indeed Plutarch writes, redes non fequitur, or thefe, H. M. ad H. N. that in his Time they interred none there of TRANS, that is, Hoc monumentum ad keredes Publicola's Race, they thinking it enough to put | non transit: The Right of Burying here does not a burning Torch over the Burying place, which descend unto the Heir: They had also another fort of a Burying-place which they called by a Greek Word zeroragior, which fignifies a Sepulchre made in Honour of some Person, and wherein his Body is not laid, the Use of these empty Sepulchres came up from a Superfitious Opinion the Ancients entertained, that the Souls of those whose Bodies were not buried, wandered by the Sides of the Rivers of Hell for an Hundred Years, and could not pass over. They first made a Tomb of Turf, which they called Injectio gleba: After which they practifed the same Ceremonies, as if the Corps were actually there. Thus Virgil, in L. 6. makes the Soul of Deiphobus pass over to Charon, tho' Aneas had erected him no more than a Cenotaphium, or empty Tomb. Sucronius in the Life of the Emperor Claudius calls them Honorary Tombs; and they were inscribed with these Words, Ob Honorem, or Memoria; whereas on others where they depolited their Ashes, these Letters were put, D. M. S. in order to shew they were dedicated to the Manes: When the Words Tacito nomine were added, it was to intimate that the Ashes which were inclosed in it, were declared infamous for some Crime or other, and buried in a By-place, by the Emperor or chief Magistrate's

> SERAPIS: the God of the Egyptians: Some derive the Word from Sarz and Apis, as Julius Masernas: Its not likely it should come from the Greek oupes, Apis, i. e. Loculus Apis, as if it were the Tomb wherein the Ox Opis was embalmed the Word must be derived from Ofirapis, by cut- | because it was believed Scrapis taught Men the ting off the first Letter : For the Learned are Use of Measures, or because he afforded Men Aalmost agreed, that Ofiris and Apis were but one | bundance of Fruit by the Help of the Nile, whose and the same Deity; or else Serapis comes from Sor Apis ; for Sor fignifies an Ox; as if they should fay, Joseph the Father of Egypt; which is fymbolically fignified by an Ox: Sor or Sar does also fignifie a Prince: Sara is the same as Dominari: Nothing agrees better with fofepb's Character, than to be the Father, Nourisher, and Ruler of Egypt. Tacitus, L. 4. Hift. fays, truly enough, that Ptolomy the Son of Lagus was he who fent to feek for the Statue of Serapis to Synope, a City in Pontus, in order to fet it up in Alexandria; from which Scaliger concludes that Serapis was a Foreign Deity. Clemens Alexandrinus repeats what Tacitus ia; s, with some Variation of Circumstances; but he adds, that the Statue which was fent by the People of Synope, was placed by Ptolomy upon the Promontory of Rucoris, where a Temple of Serapis flood before: from whence 'tis concluded against Vollius, that if there was a Temple of Serapis before in the faid Place, it was not then the first Time that they began to worthip him in Egypt; Tacitus himfelt agrees thereunto by giving the same Test. mony as Clemens Alexandrinus does, that there flood a Temple of Serapis and Ilis in the fame Place where they built one for the new-brought

Abian in his Return from Alexandria brought to Rome the Worship of Serapis and Isis, who were celebrated Deities among the Egyptians, to whom doubtle's he promifed to erect Altars when he arrived at Rome; In a Medal we have of his, Serapis holds out his Hand to him and promifes him his Protection; and Ifis twears by the Brazen Timbrel, that the would accomplish his De-

Microbius fays, the Egyptians ever excluded Saturn and Serapis from their Temples, because they offered no other to them than bloody Sacri- them, and fold them in Fairs and Markets. They fices, to which they had a ftrange Aversion in all | used Three forts of Ceremonies in the Sale of their Religious Worthin; but that after Alexan- them, for they told them either fub bafta, fub der's Death, their King Prolomy forced them to corona, or fub Plico: Sub bafta, to the highest receive those Two Deities in Imitation of the and last Bidder, by sticking a Spear in the Earth; People of Alexandria; the Egipsians yielded to Jub corma, when they pur a Garland or Crown Necessity; but they still retained Marks of their of Flowers upon their Heads like a Nofegavupold Avernon, tince they would not allow of thefe on the Ear; fub Pileo, when they put a Capon new Temples and new Worthip, within the Walls their Heads, that Notice might be taken of of their City: Paufanias tays, it was King Pto- them, and the Sellers not be obliged to warrant long that periwaded the Athenians, to erect a them. They wore a Writing about their Necks, Temple to Serapis, who had a very magnificent wherein their good and bad Qualities were conone at Alexandria, but the most ancient Rood at | tain'd, also their State of Health, or Infirmities, Memphis, into which the Priefts themselves never their Unfalmess and Faults, according to Aulus entred, unless it were when they buried the Gellius. Titulus fervorum fingularum ut feriptus Ox Apis.

The God Serapis was usually represented by vitilique cuique fier. a kind of a Barket upon the Head, which Macrobius fays, tignified the Highth of the Sun. Sui- Crowns upon their Heads, and thence comes the Overflowings made Egrpt fruitful. Some are of Opinion that the Bulhel was attributed to this God, in Commemoration of Joseph, who faved Egypt from Famine, by the Stores of Corn he took care to lay up during the Seven Years Plenty, as the holy Scriptures inform us.

SERPENS, a Serpent, an Animal worthinped by the Heathens; they kept Serpents in Bafke:s made of Bullrufhes or Ozier Twigs, which they confectated to Bacebus, Ceres and Proferpina: Epiphanius in his firft Book contra Herefes, ipeaks of a forcof Herericks called Ophine, who in their Temples kept a Serpent in a Cheft. worlhipped and kissed ir, and ted it with Bread : The Egyptians kept one of them in their Temples, and especially in those of Serapis and His: #Joulapius, the God of Phytick was worshipped under the Form of a great Serpent, and Fuffin Martyr, who had been a Pagan, upbraiding them with their Superflittons, Tays, You represent next unto those whom you account Gods a Serpent, as a Thing that is very mysterious, Ckmens Alexandrinus in the Celebration of the Bacchanalia lays, that those who affifted thereat, placed Serpents round their Bodies, and beimeared their Faces with the Blood of the Hegoats which were facrificed to that unclean

SERVUS, a Slave, one that is brought under his Mafter's Power whether by Bi th or War. The Riches of the Romans consisted in Slaves: There were Three Ways of having Slaves, either when they bought them with the Booty, taken from the Enemy, diffinct from the Share referved for the Publick, or of those who took them Unioners in War, whom they properly called Mancipia, quali manu capta, taken with ones own Hand, or of Merchants who dealt in fiet curato; ita ut intelligi rede pollit qui 1 morbi,

Those who were taken in War and fold, wore Ass and Rufinus call it a Buthel or Corn-measure, | Phrase, jub coronis venere. Those Siaves which were brought from beyond Sea to be fold, had their Feet rubbed with Chalk, and so they called them Cretati. The Slaves were fo entirely fubefted to their Mafters, that they had Power of Life and Death over them, might kill them ments. In the mean time Suesonius gives us an Account of the Edicts of some Emperors, which leffened this Power in Mafters over their fruck him on the Head, whom he made free, fay-Slaves, as that of Claudius, who ordered that in ing, we do declare this Man bere prefent to be free, case Slaves falling fick, came to be for taken by and a Citizen of Rome. Festus will have it to their Masters in the life of Esculapius, they were be the Master, who taking his Slave by the declared free if they recovered; and that of the Hand, faid thele Words, Hune bominem liberum Emperor Adrian, which prohibited Mafters to effe volo. They also give us an Account of anokill their Slaves any more.

Slaves were madefree, and obtained their Liberty divers ways: Their Matters many times granted them Freedom, and many affranchifed them, when they had affectionately and faithfully ferved them ; as Simon does in Terence, ___ Feci è servo ut esses libertus mibi, Propteres quod ferviebs liberaliter.

They sometimes purchased their Liberty with the Money they faved or got by their Labour, for they had a Peculium apart; and this is also jufified by Terence ;

Quod ille unciatim vix demenfo de fuo Suum defraudans genium, comparfit mifer, Id illa univerfum abripiet,

All that which a poor Slave took the Pains to gather Penny by Penny, by sparing it out of his Belly, and from what was allowed him for his daily Suftenance, this Women ftole at once. Slaves had formerly Four Bushels of Corn alloweda Month for their Subliftance, of which they were allowed to spare as much as they pleased, and make it their own, and this was called Peculium. When the Mafters had committed any Crime that was punishable by Law, they granteitheir Slaves their Liberty, and io made them Citizens of Rome, for Fear they should be cortured, and brought Witnesses against them. For it was not lawful to put a Roman Citizen upon the Wrack: There were tome who affranchifed their Slaves out of Covetoutness in the Time of the Emperors, that to they might participate of the Prince's Liberality, who bestowed somethat upon every one of the People; this Freedom was usually granted them before the Prætor at Rome, and before the Procontul in the Provinces with a certain form of Speech and a Switch alled Vindid: wherewith they ftruck them. Cir. L. 3. of his Topicks, speaks of it in this manner: The Vindida is a small Switch which the Prater lays upon the Head of the Slave he is about to make free, and pronounces certain Words, which are to be feen in a Greek Manuknpt, in the French King's Library.

Birdikta n jacd @- µso fis & apywr n πραίτως την τε ελευθερεμένε κεφαλήν έπαιον

DAMEN TON HAPONTA ANOand make them fuffer all imaginable Tor- POHON EINAI EAET OF PON KAI HOAITHN POMAION.

Vindicta is a Rod with which the Magistrate ther Form used by the Prator, who faid, Aio te jure Quirisium liberum effe; and in pronouncing of the faid Words he ftruck the Slave with a Switch, and gave him a turn round, which vas called Vertigo, from whence Perfeustays, Una Quiritem versigo facit.

They also affranchized Slaves by Will, or upon fome fudden and severe War, when they were necessitated to arm their Slaves for the Defence of the Commonwealth: But this Freedom they did not obtain till they had fignalized themselves by some considerable Action; this was caned fervos ad pileum vocare: Those who were made free, were called Liberti, and their Children Libertini: The Slaves were commonly skilled in Arts and Sciences, and they conferred divers Imploys on them, as the Tutoring of Children, &c.

SÉRVUS AB EPHEMERIDE; a Shave, whose Business it was to consult the Roman Calendar, and acquaint his Mafter with the Days of the Calends, Nones and Ides.

SERVUS AB EPISTOLIS; was one who wrote his Mafter's Letters, who dictated

SERVUS à MANU, or AMANUEN-SIS, and SERVUS AD MANUM; a Slave that was ready to do, and undertake any

SERVUS à PEDIBUS; a Footman or Lacquey, who a foot carried his Mafter's Or-

ACTORES SERVI; Stewards of the PROCURATOR SERVUS; he who had the Care of his Mafter's Business upon

CELLARIUS SERVUS; the But-

DISPENSATOR SERVUS; the Home-Steward, that buys and pays. NEGOTIATORES SERVI; those who traded or trafficked.

> Nu-Sff

NUTRITII SERVI; those whose Buness it was to nurse the Children of a Family in their Infancy.

MEDICI SERVI: Slaves who underflood and practifed Phytick, according to Suetonius in Caligula's Life : Mitto tibi præterea unum è fervis meis medicum ; I also send you one of my Slaves who is a Phytician.

SILENTIARII SERVI; those who caused Silence to be kept among the Slaves, as Senece fays. Procopius tells us, they were in the Emperor's Palaces, to keep every Body filent, Names of those that passed by, when they put and carry themselves with due Respect. They were also the Prince his Confidents; and were wealth. called Ministri ad ea que sunt quiesis.

who was in the Emperor's Chamber, like a Vales de Chambre.

VILLICUS SERVUS; a Slave, whose scribed Books by way of Abbreviations. Bufiness it was to look after the Country-houses and Lands of his Mafter.

ATRIENSIS SERVUS, or ad Limina cuffes; a Slave who kept the Arrium or Porch of who called the Affemblies of the People togehis Mafter's House, where flood the Waxen Images of the Ancestors of the Family, and the blies of the Priests and Pontists. Moveables: The riouse-keeper, as Columella informs us: Tum miftere Atrienfibm ut supellettilem exponent, of ferramenta deterfa nitidentur asque | way for them to go along. rubigine liberentur. This was the chiefest of LECTICARII SERVI; Slaves who in their Names. carry'd their Mafter's Litter, like unto our Chair-men, Martianus says, they were also those who made Litters.

whose Business it was to wash, anoint and trim med them into the Shapes of divers Animals. the Bodies of the Dead.

the Baths looked after the Cloaths of those who I Greens. bathed themselves; they were also Slaves who waited upon Persons of Qualities Children, when they went to the Schools, and carried their or Foresters. Books; as likewise those who were Merchants, and Bankers Cash-keepers; and again, such as made Desks and Chefts to keep Money in: They coners. were also called Arcarii Servi.

SACCULARII SERVI; Slaves who could convey Money out of a Bag by their Slight and Dexterity, of whom Ulpian speaks.

VESTISPICI: Slaves who looked after their Mafters Cloaths: They were also called Servi a vefte and ad veftem; as may be feen by these ancient Inscriptions:

CATULINO ET APRO. COSS. DULCISSIMÆ MEMORIÆ.

E JUS. VALENS. AUG. LIB. PHE-LIANUS, A VESTE, BEN. MER. FLCIT.

And this other.

T. STATILIUS, MALCHIO. AD VESTEM.

EMISSARII SERVI; Procurers, Horfe-Courfers, or others who endeavoured to injure and trick every Body.

NOMENCLATORES SERVI, or NOMENCULATORES; Slaves who accompanied their Mafters, and told them the in for some great Office in the Common-

CALCULATORES SERVI: those CUBICUL ARIUS SERVUS; a Slave who made use of small Stones to reckon by, inftead of Counters.

LIBRARII SERVI; Slaves who tran-TABELLARIUS SERVUS; he that carries his Mafter's Letters. CALATORES SERVI; those Slaves

ther by Curia and Centuria, or the other Affem-

ANTE-AMBULONES SERVI: Slaves who went before their Mafters to make

SALUTI-GERULI SERVI: Slaves who came to complement their Mafters Friends

CURSORES SERVI; Conriers who ran to carry News.

TOPIARII SERVI; those who pro-POLLING TOR SERVUS; a Slave, ned the Flower-Garden, Orchard, &c. and for-

VIRIDIARII SERVI; were those CAPSARII SERVI; Slaves, who at who looked after Orchards and Bowling-

> PASTORES SERVI; Shepherds. SALTUARII SERVI: Wood Wards

VENATORES; Honters.

AUCUPES SERVI: Fowlers or Fal-VESTIGATORES; those who hunted

Beafts by their traft. DIÆTARII SERVI; those who were to look after the Halls, wherein they eat in AQUARII SERVI; Water-Carriers. ANALECTA: Slaves, whose Business it was to gather up what fell down at a Feaft, and to sweep the Floor and Hall where they

POCILLATORES, or AD CYA-THOS SERVI; Cup-bearers, or those who ferved with Drink.

PRÆGUSTAFOR SERVUS; hethat tafted the Wine as he ferved his Mafter.

Provision for the Family.

waited at Table, and fet the Dilhes in order. vite Perions to Dinner.

duced Persons into the Emperor's Presence.

fore Mills were invented.

fhut it.

the Privies, and Close-stools.

PENICULI; those who were to clean the Table with a Spunge.

the Furnace of their Eaths.

BALNEATORES; Bathers; and UN-and always retained the S, which is Half; infomuch that Sefterius is put for Semifterius, two and an half; as if one should say an half taken τείτον καιτάλατον. Terrium femitalentum, for two Talents and an half. It may be asked whether the two forts of Seftertii, viz. the greater or leffer must be diftinguished.

There are Two Opinions concerning this Point, one is Budens's, and the most received of the two, who diftinguishes the Seftertii into two forts, viz. the leffer cailed Sefterius, which, as we worth two Alles and an half; and the greater called Seftersium in the Neuter Gender, which a thouland finall Seltertii: The other Opinion Seftertium is the fame as Seftertius, infomuch that | indeed, if we do but confider what Santius fays.

OBSONATORES; those who bought | Sestertii Deni and Sestertia Dena, were the same thing: But the Difference, fays he, confifts in STRUCTORES SERV ; those who the Way of Reckoning ; for when you find Dena Seffertium for Sefferijorum in the Genitive VOCATORES; those who went to in- Ca.e. Millia is understood; and the Transcribers, adds he, not understanding this Sence, ADMISSIONALES; those that intro- have put Sellertia infread of Sellertium, when they faw the Mark of the Seftertius, as you have PISTORES and MULITORES; it in this Example of Cicero against Verres, H.S. those that pounded Corn to make Meal of it, be- Ducents & quinquagings. But whether upon these Occasions we read Sefterrium ducenta, with OSTIARII and JANITORES; millia understood, or Sestertia ducenta, as taking Porters who attended at the Gate, to open and the Word Seffertium in the Neuter Gender for a thouland finall Seftertii; there is no Body but SCOPARII; Sweepers, who were to clean must be satisfied in the main, that it always comes to the fame Number.

The only Difficulty that remains, confifts in an Objection that may be made concerning the FOR NACATOR; was he that kindled Force of these Words Sesterius and Sesterium, which being Adjectives, as well as Semistereius and Semistersium, require a Substantive: For this CTORES were those who with perfumed Substantive can be no other than Alis nummus, Oil anointed"the Bodies of those who were for Sefierius, (two Asses and an half) and Assis pondo for Seftertium: As Masculine, and Pondo SESTERTIUS; the Ancients marked Neuter, being the fame with the Romans, for their Sefferces with their Two Letters H. S. the the As was a Pound weight. I know Scioppins Seffertive was a Piece of Silver Money, worth answers, that Mine pondo is understood with about the 4th part of a Roman Denarius; and Seftertium, infomuch that the great Seftertius, in English Money 1 d. For the Romans had may in respect to the Greeian Ming be the lesser ving for a long time made use of Brass Mo-lone in regard to the Roman As: But is there any ney, which they called As, quali As, or Libra likelihood that the Romans should invent Money, and Pondo, because it weighed a Pound, begun that had no other Foundation for it than that of at last with the Denarius to coin Silver Money, the Greeks, and not that which was peculiar to in the Year of Rome 585. This Denarius was themselves? To which we may add, if it were marked with an X, because it was worth Ten so, the Minz must of necessity answer exactly to Affer, and divided into two Cuinssii, marked with the Roman Pound, or the Drachma to the Denaan V, because each of them was worth five Asses, rius; to the End, that as the Mina was worth and the Quinarius was again divided into two 100 Drachma's, this also must be worth 100 De-Seflerces, marked L.L.S, because they were each marii, that is, 1000 Asses, in the same manner as of them worth two Ales: But the Transcribers the great Seftertium is worth 1000 leffer ones: at last for their own Conveniency have given But this we can never be sure of; at least wife us an H for the two L-L-, which fignified Pounds, Agricola, Manucius, Andreas Scotus, and Capella do not in the least agree about it. But whereas we find in Historians, that the Greeks wie the Word Drachma, or the Lains that of Denarius; from three; infomuch that the Greek fav, that, lays Manucius, comes to pass, because they had not a more proper and nearer Word to express themselves by; or else because the Emperors of latter Times, did really reduce the Denarius to be of the same Weight with the Drachma, that is, to a matter of eight to the Ounce; whereas formerly 'tis certain from the Testimonies of Pliny and Livy, it was heavier, fix of them only at first, and afterwards seven have faid, was a little piece of Silver Money, going to the Ounce. Hence its manifest, that what has given way to Budgus his Opinion, whether in respect to the great Sesterium, or in was a Word relating to Accounts, and imported | Comparison of the Denarius with the Drachma, was no more than because it was found to be is that of Agricola, who fays, that the Word the most easie, and came first to obtain. And. that of old almost all Nouns ending in as ended This Author in his 14th Letter endeavours to also in um, with the same Signification; and prove, that the Word Res or Negotium must be that befides this, the Expressions of the Romans understood so as when Juvenal says, were always concife, infomuch that there was nothing to common among ft them as the Figure Ellipsis, whereby they did not speak so little as two Words together, but somewhat was under. Here quantum being an Adjestive must necessaftood, and whereby they also regulated their rily suppose Negotium understood, insomuch that other Terms of Accompts; we shall find Agri- if we should say, Res or Negotium mille nummocola's Opinion is much better grounded than rum, the Syntax would be plain and very reguthe others, which either came from the Ignorance of the Transcribers, who upon a thousand in arca; the same will be figurative and the Occasions have corrupted those Words, that Word Res still understood, which will govern were written with fingle Letters, or by way of Abridgment : or from the Error of those, who not observing that Sestertium was the Genitive Cale, and put for Seftertiorum, have taken it to as Phadrus fays, Res cibi for cibus. be the Accufative or Nominative of the Neuter Gender.

be of the Neuter Gender, as H. S. dena, destersium dens, subaudi millia, according to Agricola, H. S. dena tignifies 10000 [mall Sefterces. But if with H. S. the Mark of a Sefterius, you find an indeclinable Noun of Number, or one that in the declining of it may be taken for Masculine and Neuter; you cannot find out the Signification of it but by the Confequence, Subject and Sence: Thus when Cicero, L. s. contra Verrem, faid, Ad fingula medimna multi H. S. duorum, mul-11 H. S. quinque accessionem cogebantur dare. you cannot judge but by what follows what Sum he nicans; for his Expression may suit with simple Money; the Roman Denarius 10 As's being 7 Numbers and with 1000, but the Consequence Pence of English; the little Sesterius 1d. ob. qu. discovers that he speaks only of single sefterces, | 4. but the great Seftertium contains 1000 Sefterfor should they be taken for Thousands, the same ces, which in our Money is 7 1. 16 s. 3 d. and would be ridiculous for that Occasion. Care in Latin they use unum Sesterium, duo Semust be had to observe that the Words Sestertim Stert, &c. or nummus fignific often times the fame thing; infomuch that mille nummum, mille Seftertium, or they cut the Throat of the Victims. mille mummûm Seftertiûm may be indifferently uled for one another; but there are various Opi- Affrica, and of a fierce and cruel Disposition, he nions concerning the Reason that is given for was cruel to the highest Degree against his this Construction and these Expressions; for to Competitors to the Empire, the Nobility, and fay nothing of that of Nonia and some of the those who sided with his Enemies; he grossy a-Ancients, who thought without any Grounds, bufed the famous City Bizantium, and subjected that these Genetives mummum and Seftertium it to Heraclea, because she took the Part of Pe-(put by a Syncope for nummorum and Seftertio- Scennius Niger; he also used the City of Lyons rum) were Acculatives, they usually take the after an inhumane manner, putting it to Fire Word mille for a Noun Substantive, that governs the Genetive nummum and Seffertium; however, it we believe Scioppius, Mille is ever | Frugality and Modesty in Apparel, which were an Adjective, as well as other Nouns of Num- Vertues common enough in Africa: He was ber, and therefore we must suppose a Nomina- couragious, valunt, indefatigable, and very use-

Quantum quifque fua nummorum poffides erca.

lar, but if it should be said, Mille nummorum eft the Genetive mille mummorum (which are the Adjective and the Substantive.) But Res mille nummorum is the same thing as mille nummi, just

Where we meet with Sestersium decies numeratum esse in Cicero, 'tis a Syllepsis numeri, where If with H. S. the Mark of a Seffertim we find | numeratum, which refers to negotium, is put for a Noun of Number which is declined, and is of Numerata which should have been so express, the Masculine Gender: It denotes the Sum it as'tis indeed in some Editions, because they supsimply expresses and no more: For Example, puse centena millia understood: Again, An accepto H. S. deni fignifies Ten small Sefterces; if it centies Seftertium fecerit, in Velleius Paterculus, is put for acceptie centies centenie millibus Seftertinotes 1000 small Sesterces; so that whether you | um; farther, you have in Plantus, Trapezine read Sefteriia dena, according to Budeus, or Se- mille Drachmarum funt reddita, put for res mille Drachmarum eft reddita: But as the Ancients used decies Sesterrium, or decies centena millia Seftersium, fo they also faid, decres æris, for decies centena millia aris. Authors often omit the Word Seftersium by an Ellipfis, as Suetonius does in Cafar's Life: Promissumque jus annulorum cum millibus C C C C diftulit; and the same he does in Vespatian's Life, Primus è fisco Latinia Gracisque Rhetoribus annus centena conflituit, that is, centena millia Sestertifim.

The Roman As was worth 3 Farthings of our

SEVA, a Knife used at Sacrifices wherewith

SEVERUS, a Roman Emperor, born in and Sword, because she stuck to the Interest of Albinus. He is commended for his Sobriety, tive Case of which this Genetive is governed : ful to the Commonwealth, infomuch that the Senate being sensible both of the good and bad | Erophile of Troy, the Daughter of the Margeflut; Qualities of this Prince, thought it might have redounded to the Benefit of the Empire, either that he had never been born . or never died.

SEXAGENARIUM DE PONTE the People went over a little Bridge in order to

SEXTANS; the Romans divided their As, which was a Pound of Brass into 12 Ounces The Ounce was called uncia, from the Word unum; and 2 Ounces fextans, being the fixth part of 12 Ounces, which made the As or Pound : It was also a Measure which contained 2 Ounces of Liquor:

Sextantes, Calliste, duos infunde Falerni:

Fill me two Sextans, or 2 Ounces of Falernian

SEXTARIUS; a Measure which held 24 Ounces of Wine, but according to Weight contained no more than a Pound and 8 Ounces; it held about a Pint English Measure.

SEXTILIS; the Month of August, or fixth in the Year, if you begin it as the Romans did with March, and the 8th, to reckon as we do: This Month was under the Protection of Ceres, and had several Feasts in it. See Calendarium.

SI VOBIS VIDETUR, DISCE DITE, QUIRITES; Citizens, if you pleafe, you may depart: It was an ancient Form of Speech among the Romans, for dismissing the Affembly of the People.

SI SCIENS FALLO, ME DIE-SPITER SALVA URBE ARCEQUE BONIS EJICIAT, UTIEGO HUNC LAPIDEM. If I have not an Intention to observe this Treaty and Alliance, may Jupiter throw me out of my Estate, with as much Violence as I do this Stone, without any Harm done to the City. It was the Form of an Oath used at the making of Treaties and Alliances, which imported an Imprecation against him who did not act flucerely in the faid Treaty; for 'twas a Custom to throw a Stone at the Victim, and to wish the Gods served them so, if they used any Cheat or Deceit in the Matter.

SIBYLLÆ; the Sibylls, Virgin-Prophesses fo called from cibe, which in the Laconic Tongue was the Genitive of the Word Zeu's, and from Buth Deliberation : Others derive it from the Hebrew Kibel and Kabala. Authors differ about Martianus Capella reckons but two Sibylls, viz. of the Erythreans, in a Place called Basa, where

whom he confounds with the Phygian and Cumaan Sibylis; and Symachia born at Erithrea, 2 City of the Lower Afia, who came to Cuma, and. there pronounced Oracles. Pliny, L.3 4. C.5. DEJICERE: It signified to deprive an old speaks of Three Statues of the Sibylis at Rome, Man of 60 Years of Age, of his Right to give near the Rollra, one erected by Paravius Taurus, his Vote in the Elections made at Rome; because | the Adile of the People; and the other I wo by Meffala, whom Solinus calls Sibylla Cumea, throw their Ballot into an Urn, for the chusing Delphica and Erithme. Elian L. 12. Hift. makes of Magistrates; and old Men of sixty were them to be Four, viz. Those of Erithrea, Samos, Egypt and Sardu, some have increased their Number even to Ten, as Varro does in his Six Books concerning Divine Things, dedicated to Julius Cafar, the Pontifex Maximus. The Perfian Sibyll, of whom Nicanor speaks, was born according to Suidas at Nos, a City near the Red-Sea, which they would have to be same as the Chaldean and Hebrew Sibyll, properly called Sambetha, who fore:old divers Things concerning the Mellias, his Birth, Life, Circumstances of his Death, and second Coming. The Libyan Sibyll, of whom Euripides the Poet speaks in his Prologue to Lamia, who was the Daughter of Jupiter and Lamia, Neptune's Daughter, as Paujanias writes in his Phocica: The Grecians, fays he, make her to be the Daughter of Jupiter and Lamia, Neptune's Daughter; the first of Womankind that delivered Oracles, and was called Sibylla by the Lybians: She spent a great. part of her Life in the Isle of Samos, at Claros, a City of the Colopbonians, at Delos and Delphi; the died in Troas. The Sibyll of Delphi, of whom Cryfippus makes mention in his Book of Divination. Diodorus, L. 4. C. 6. calls her Dapbne, the Daughter of Tirefias, whom the Argians, after the Destruction of Thebes, sent to Delphi, where the delivered Oracles, being inspired by Apollo, and fate upon the Tripod. Virgil, L. 6. An. speaks of her, where he introduces Anew entring into the Sibyll's Cave, and praying to unfold unto him the Will of the Gods viva voce, and not as the fometimes did upon the Leaves of Trees, which the Wind carried thither, and promiting withal to build a magnificent Temple for Apollo, and to recommend his Oracles to his Posterity. Sibylla Cumaa, which was born at Cuma in Iona. Lastantius says, 'twas the that carried the Nine Books to Tarquinius Prifeus. Sibylla Erythraa, Apollodorus will have her to be his Fellow-Citizen, and that when the Grecians went to the Siege of Troy, she prophefied to them, that they thould take it : Eufebius places her above 450 Years after the Siege of Trey, in the Reign of Romulus. Strabo Speaks of feveral Sibylls of the same Name, one before and another after the Time of Alexander, whose Name was Arbenais : Lastantius makes Babylon the Number of the Sibylls, and concerning the to be the Place of her Nativity, and calls her Places where they uttered their Predictions : Erythraa, because she was born in the Country the City Erybras was afterwards built: There! Stone-Trough: They were burnt with the Caare some Authors who make Sardie to be the pitol in the Year 670. The Senate Seven Years Place of her Birth, others Sicily; some again, after sent Deputies to all the Cities of Asia and Rhodes, Lybia and Samos. She composed o'des Italy, to collect and transcribe the Verses of the and Oracles, and invented a kind of a Triangu- Sibylls that might be yet in being. Tacinus also lar Lyre; the is the most Famous of all the Si- relates, that Angustus finding the Verses and bylls. The Senate sent to Ernbraa for the Verses, Predictions of these Sibylis passed through the and they were laid up in the Capitol. 'The Si- Hands of several Persons, ordered an exact of whom Virgil speaks;

Huic ubi delatus Cumaam accesseris urbem.

Ultima Cumzi venit jam carminis atas.

And Ovid de Fastis.

And again in Ecloque 4.

Cumaam veteres consuluistis anum.

The Sibyll of Hellespont, born at Troy, that li-Tiburtina, or of Tibur, a Country Five or Six Leagues from Rome, upon the River Anio.

These are the Names of the Ten Sibylls spohis Daughter.

wherein the Predictions of the Sibylls were writ- into the Field: It was of a Purple Colour befet ten; these Books were had in so great Autho. with Gold Fringe, and adorned with precious rity among the Romans, that they did nothing of Stones: All there Enfigns were fuffained by a moment, either in Peace or War, without hift Halfpike sharp at the End that it might the more confulting of them: They committed them to early be fixed in the Ground: Those who carthe Custody of two Persons of the Patrician Or. ried the Labarum were called Labariferi. der, who were called Duumviri facrorum, who! SIGNUM RUGNÆ; the Signal of Bathad leave to confult them by an Order of the tle; it was a Coat of Arms of a Purple Colour, Senate. Tarquin, who was the first that infti- fet upon the General's Pavillion. tuted this Sacerdotal Office, threw one of the SILENTIUM; the God of Silence; who Keepers of these Books, whose Name was M. Attilius, into the Sea, sowed up in a Leathern- Ammianus Marcellinus says, they also worshipped Bag, because he had given a Copy of them to this God of Silence, Silentii quoque colitur numers. Petronius Sabinus; and this fort of Punishment The Egyptians called him Harpocrates, and made was afterwards appointed for Parricides. This him to be the Son of Ofiris and Ifis. Aufonius Priefthood was exercised by Two Persons only calls him Sigateon, An tua Sigateon Agyptius oftill the Year 384, when they were increased to cula signet : The Name comes from oryan the Number of Ten, half of them Patricians, filere: The Angerona of the Romans was also a and the other half Plebeians; and Sylla made Goddess of Silence, and her Mouth was sealthem Fifteen; and at last they amounted to ed up. Sixty, but fill retained the Name of Quindesim- SILENUS, a Phygian living in the Reign viri.

tire above 450 Years, till the War with the dullo, ingentes aures suas tradidis: It's also likely byll of Samos, of which mention is made in the Search to be made for them at Samos, Erythrae, Samian Annals; her Name Was Pitho.

Iray, in Affrica, and throughout the Colonies of The Cumean Sibyll, or the of Cuma in Italy, Italy, and to put them into the Hands of the respecitive Governours, that so by the Advice of the Quindecim viri, they might retain those that were Genuine, and reject the reft; and this is also witnessed by Sucronius.

SIGILLARIA: Feafts celebrated after the Saturnalia, wherein they offered little Statues of Gold, Silver, and other Mettals to Sasurn, instead of Men which before were facrificed to him: Hercules changed this cruel Cufrom, by giving a favourable Interpretation to the Oracle.

SIGNA, Roman Enfigns, whereof there were different forts, on some of them the Ived in Solon and Cyrus his Time. The Phrygian mage of the Emperor was represented, and they Sibyll, that prophetied at Ancyra. The Sibylla that carried them were called Imaginiferi; others had an Hand stretched out as a Symbol of Concord, and these Entign bearers were called Signiferi; some had a Silver-Eagle which made those ken of by Varo; besides which, there were also that carried them be called Aquiliferi, Eaglethe Sibyll of Collopbon, whose Name was Lam- bearers; others had a Dragon with a Silver head, pufiz, the Daughter of the Prophet Colches; al- and the rest of his Body of Taffety, which was to the of The flaly, called Mantha, the Daughter blown by the Wind as if he were a real Dragon, of Tirefias of Thebes, and Cassandra, King Priamus and these Dragon-bearers were named Draconarii; laftly, the Emperor's Enfign was called SIBYLLINI LIBRI: the Sibylls Books, Labarum which they carried out when he went was represented with his Finger in his Mouth:

of Midas, who, as Terrulian lay, gave him his These Books of the Sibylls were preserved en- great Ears: Silenum I brigem, cui a pastoribus per-Mars, in a Vault of the Capitol, shut up in a he might have been one of the Princes of Caris, who was famous for his Wifdom and Learning: Diodorus Siculus speaks of him in this manner : Primum enim omnium Nyfe aiunt imperasse Silenum, cujus genns ignoratur ob temporis longinquitatem: The Fable of Midas his lending him his long Ears only denoted the great Knowledge he had in all Things, Cicero in his Quaftiones Tufculina, says, that Midas having seized upon the Person of Silenus, he paid his Ransom, and Auvenal we read Simpuvium. bought his Liberty with this excellent Sentence; 'That it was bell not to be born, but the second Degree of Happiness to die betimes. And now we may believe, that the Drunkenness in which Midas furprized Silenus, was a mysterious Drunkennels of superabounding Wisdom: So Bochart of Doors, the Liouse fell and crushed the Guefts following the Steps of Juftin Martyr, thinks, that the Name and Fable of Silenus, imported the Prophecy of Jacob under a Difguise, when he promifed the Meffias to Judab. Bochart will have the Name of Silenus to come from Silo, which is the Messias Name in the faid Prophesy: And fame Prophecy ought to be admired and attend-Silenus to ride upon an Als, to be tied to Bacchus, with their feeming to drown him in Wine tend only to express these Words of the Prophecy concerning the Messias; ligans ad vinam pulvino stolam suam, & in sanguine uva pallium suum. made Silenus to be Bacchus his Master, in respect learned Discourse concerning the Creation of the World, when he was scarce recovered out of his Drunkenness. Paufanias says, they shew'd the Stone in Attica where Silenus refted, when he accompanied Bacebus thither; that in short, they gave Silenus his Name to all the Sasyrs when they began to grow a little-old. They used to represent Silenus with a bald Pate, large Physiognomy of a Man given to Wine and in-

Bounds, as well as Mercury,

Et te pater Silvane, tutor finium.

See Sylvanus.

SIMPULUM: a Veffel with a long Handle. and made like a Cruet; In some Editions of SIMONIDES: a Lyrick Poet of the Isle of Ceos: Being at Supper with Scopas the Statuary, he was told there were Two young Men (who were Caftor and Pollux) that wanted to fpeak with him; and as foon as he was gone out to pieces. Phed. L.4. Fab. 22.

SIRENES; Syrens; the Pagans feigned they were Sea-monfters, with Women Faces and Fishes Tails. They were thought to be the Three Daughters of the River Achelous, whose Names were Parthenope, Ligea and Leucolia, whereas Diodorus Siculus makes Silenus to be the dwelling upon the Shoar of Sicily, they fung ad-Director of Bacchus his Studies and his Guide, mirably well, and threw themselves into the Sea this is because the Doctrine of the Messias in the for having been slighted by Ulyses, or Grief for the Lofs of Proferpina their Companion; but ed to by all Nations; again, the Poets making the Gods transformed them into those Monsters, who drew Paffengers to the Rocks, where they loft their Lives, and were devoured by them. The Syrens, of whom Homer in his Odyffes makes fo long a Discourse, had in all appearance no lum fuum, of ad vitem afinam fuam. Lavabit in other Foundation, than the Likeness there is between She-Tritons and Women. People pulchriores funt oculi ejus vino. Diodorus Siculus have experienced in their Course of Sailing, that there are some Sea-shoars and Promontoto the Whole of his Education and Exercises: ries, where the Winds by the various Reverbe-Virgil makes Silenus make a very ferious and rations they make there, cause a kind of Harmony, that furprizes and ftops Paffengers: This, perhaps, was the Ground of the Syrens Song, and was the Cause of giving the Name of Syrens to these Rocks.

The Syrens are undoubtedly an Invention of the Phanicians; they were Three Female Muticians, hair Birds and half Virgins, of whom Servius gives this Description : Sirenes secundum Forehead, and flat Nofe, which denoted the fabulam tres, in parte virgines fuerunt, in parte volucres : Achelor fluminis & Calliones Mufa filia. folent, as Silenus was said to be: He was also Harum una voce, altera tibiis, attera bra canebat: known by a Pot which he carried in one Hand. To primo juxta Pelorum, post in Capreis insula babiand a Basket of Fruits in the other. Paulanias tarunt, An. L. 5. Near unto the Isle of Caprea says, Silenus had Temples built him, wherein, frood the Isles called Sirenusse, the City and Drunkennels presented him with a Cup full of Promontory of Sorento, where there was a Temple dedicated to the Syrens, according to Strabo; SILVANUS; the God of Fields and laftly, the City of Naples, where flood the Fu-Cattle, whom they were wont to represent with neral Monument of Parthenone, one of the Syhis Right Hand firetched out, and holding a rens. Tho' the Syrens by these Authorities, and Cypres branch in his Left, or that or tome o- divers Testimonies of the Poets, seem to be conther Tree; he was crowned with the Leaves of fined either to Sicily, or the Coasts of Italy; yet Trees, because he was more especially worthip-1'tis very certain their Name is Hebrew. Sir. ped in the Country; Horace calls him the God of Sirum, Canticum, Cantica, and that they were the Phanicians who peopled these Islands and Sea Coafts, that left there tome Footsteps of their SISTRUM; an Infrument of the Goddess Is, adored by a particular fort of Worship in Egypt: The form of it was Oval, like a Racket with three Sticks, which croffed the Breadth thereof, and moved freely, that so they might thereby make a Sound, which the Ancients found To The Decayle of the Corruption which alvery melodious: One of these Sistra made all of Copper is to be feen in the Library of Genevieve Pyibon; for the Fable fays, that Latona being at Paris; it was the usual Mettal they were brought to Bed of Apollo and Diana, Juno sent made of, as Apuleius informs us, who gives a a Serpent to devour them in the Cradle, but Defcription of it. Several Authors have spoke Apollo, as little as he was, killed her with his of this Siftrum, and Ferom Bolius among others, Arrows. Now the natural Signification of this who has writ a Treatife on Purpose, entituled, Fable is, that the Sun and Moon being come Miscus de Siftro.

SISYPHUS; the Son of Jolus, a famous Robber, flain by Thefeus: The Poets feigned that he rolled up a great Mill-stone in Hell to en the Light of the Sun and Moon, but the the Top of a Mountain, from whence it prefent. Force of the Sun-beams did at length diffipate ly feil down again, and oblieg'd him to begin these Fogs. again, and to eternally perpetuated his Punish-

SITICENES; were those who founded upon a kind of a Trumpet that had a very for-the ancient Romans.

SOCCUS and SOCCULUS; a fort of Shooe used by the Greeks, the same was also in use among the Roman Ladies: It was a kind of Covering for the Feet among the Ancients who came upon the Theater, to represent Comedies, and was opposed to the Corburnus, which Aveirodat & meptasperdat, qued circumferatur in was a kind of Snooe or Busk in acting Trage-

SOCRATES; a Philosopher of Arbens, who by the Oracle of Apollo, was called the wifest Man in Greece. This Philosopher applied himfelf very much to Morality; but being accufed by divers I erfons of having spoke ill concerning the Gods, he was fentenced to poison himself, which he did with Hemlock.

SOL; the Sun. Macrobius endeavours to thew, that all the Deitics of the Poets were only the Sun under a Difguile, which being the Ruler of the other Stars, whose Influences reached unto all this lower World, it is by Conquence the Governour of the Universe. The Poets agree, that Apollo is the Sun : In fhort, Apollo's Name being composed of the Negative Particle, and monnie, multus, it bears the same Signification as Sol or Soluc; and this Macrobius fays, whereunto he adds, that Plato gave it another Greek Etymology, tending to the same purpole: Plato Solem' A won hove, cognominatum feribit, από τε αξί πάλλειν τας ακτίνας, a jadu radiorum. The fame Author fays, that as for Apollo's was transformed into a Cow; that is, the Sun being called inrede, Medicus, a Phylician; the ecclipses the Light of the Stars and the Hea-Reason is, because the Sun is the Preserver of vens by its Presence, these Stars during the Health: But as 'tis forcetimes also the Cause of Night having been as so many Eyes, to watch

Language, as they did also of their History and Diseases, it has likewise been called mula; Destroyer, and To nateste, à feriendo. They have called the Sun Delius, quod illuminando omnia clara Sina demonstrat. The Name of poil has been given it, and To coldar Bia, quod vi fertur: As alfo Phinera, and To paireir; and nillo, and ways proceeds from Heat, or from the Serpent out of the Chaos, the Earth remaining yet moist produced Serpents, or rather thick Vapours, wherewith Juno, that is, the Air, would dark-

The Sun is also the same as Bacchus, or Liber. according to Macrobius; he fays that the Sun in their myfterious Prayers was called Apollo, while it continued in the upper Hemisphere, or rowful and mournful Tone, at the Burying of during Day-light, and that they called it Liber Pater, in the Night, when it ran thro' the lower Hemisphere. Orpheus calls it alίοΔιονύσιον φάνητα. The Name of Dionylius comes from Sids vic. according to Macrobius, quia folem mundi memem effe dixeruns: Others deduce the Name dad 72 ambitum. Macrobius pretends that it was to the Sun, the Oracle of Apollo gave the Name of ide, faying he was the greatest of all the Goods: क्ष्यों क गरेर जवंशरका र जवीक द्राम्य विक.

The faid Macrobius endeavours also to prove that Mars is the fame as the Sun, because 'tis the same Principle of Martial Heat and Fire that inflames Mens Hearts and animates them to fight. Mercury also according to the faid Author is the Sun or Apollo, and this is the Reason why they represent Mercury with Wings to intimate the fwift Course of the Sun.

Apollo prefides over the Quire of Mufes, and Mercury is the Father of Eloquence and polite Learning, the Sun is the Soul and Understanding of the World, and this agrees with Mercury whose Name is derived and To spenreusen, ab interpretando.

Mercury is the Meffenger of the Gods, being often fent by the Coeleftial to the Infernal Del ties: because the Sun by Turns passes through the Superior and the Interior Signs: Mercary flew Argus, who had 100 Eyes to watch to that Nativities, viz. the Sun, Moon, Love and Neceffity; the Two Serpents are the Sun and Moon, the Knot is Necessity, and their kissing imports

SOL

Again, the Sun is Afculapius, which imports nothing elie but the wholfeme Influences of the Body of the Sun, and hence it is that they have made him to be Apollo's Son, the Father of Phyof these Statues the Image of a Serpent that grows young by cafting off her old Skin, as the Sun annually reaffumes Vigor and as is were a fresh Youth in the Spring. They make Afrula- Sun. sim to prefide over Divinations as well as Apollo, because 'tis requisite a Physician should foresee many Things to come.

Hercules was also confounded with the Sun, not Hercules of Ibebes, but he of Egypt, who was the ancientest of all of them, and was Sun it felf, to whom they owed the Victory obtained over the Giants; for 'twas this Sun that had the Power and Vertue of the Heavens, that flew those Sons of the arth who rose up in Arms against to fay, that Bacebus, Apollo, Musagetes and Afthe Gods. Farther; the Sun is the Serapu or Ofice of the ancient Egyptians, on whole Head different Vertues of the Sun. they represented the Head of a Lyon, Dog or Wol', to denote the Three Parts of Time, viz. the Times present, past and to come: The Lyon Nations give this Epithet, because of the Headand the Wolf intimated the time prefent and drefs wherewith he was represented: He was past, because of their Switzers, and the Dog also worshipped by this Name among the Roby his Fawnings fignined the vain Hopes Men mans, as you may fee by these Verles of Statius. entertain concerning Futurity. Tho the sun also is Adonis, who while in the fix Superior Signs of the Summer continues with Venus, that is, with this Hemisphear of the Earth wherein we dwell, and And by several Inscriptions at Nismes and for the other mx interior Signs of the Winter, elsewhere. flays with Proferpina, that is, our Antipodes: The Egyptians also took Apollo and Horus for the Sun, from whence the Four and Twenty Hours of the Day and the Four Seasons of the Year affumed their Names.

Jupiter Ammon in like manner is taken for the fetting Sun by the Lybians, and that is the Reafon why they represent him with Rams-horns, which denote the Beams of the Sun.

It need no longer to be doubted but that the Sun is Jupiter himfelt, that 'tis the Opinion of Homer, when he fays, that Jupiter went to Ocea- And again, nus his House in Ethiopia to a least, where all the Gods followed him, and that he returned to Heaven Twelve Days after: For the Ocean of the Western Eibiopians is the Place where the Sun fets, and whither he is followed by all the Stars, who let there also, and find Aliment to over and observe the Earth, which the Egyptians | ve Hours, or till after they have run through the represented under the Symbol of a Cow. Last- Twelve Houses or Signs of the Zodiac. Macroly, The Caduceus of Mercury composed of Two bius farther adds, that the Asyrians worshipped Serpents tied together and kiffing each other, Jupiter, as being but the same Deity with the fignifies the Four Gods that prefide over Mens Sun, and they called him Jupiter Heliopolitanus, because he was chiefly worshipped in the City of Heliopolis in Affria. Laftly, Macrobius fays, . that the Affrians worshipped the Sun as their only and fovereign Deity, and hence it is, that they called his Name Adad that is only: Adad was represented by the Beams of the Sun, that came down from on high, whereas Adargatu, which was the Earth, was on the Contrary pictufick and Health: They also place at the Feet | red with reversed Rays, with the Points turning upon herfelf, to fhew, that all was done by the Influences which the Sun had on the Earth, and that the Earth received the fame from the Julian the Apoffate observes, that the People of the lile of Cyprus erected Altars to the Sun and Jupiter, pretending they were the same Deities whom the Sovereign God of the Universe constituted to govern this visible World: He adds, that Homer and Hefiod were of the fame Opinion, when they made the Sun to be Hypercon and Ihea's Son. For these Two Names do plainly denote a Supream Deity: They feem culapius are no other than the Emanations and

The Misbra of the Perfians was the Sun likewife, to whom the Parthians and feveral Eaftern

Indignata fequi torquentem cornua Mithram.

Deo Invicto Mithra L. Calphurnius Pifo Cn. Paulinus Volusius D. D. S. D.

And at Rome this other Inscription may be seen-

Numini invitto Soli Mithra. M. Aurelius Aug. L. Euprepes una cum filiis piis. D. D.

M. Aurelius Aug. Lib. Euprepes Soli Invicto Mithra aram ex viso posuit.

These Two Roman Inscriptions were those upallay their Eternal Fires, without returning to on the Two Altars, which Marcus Aurelius Elithe Place from whence they parted under Twel- preper the Emperor's Freedman had dedicated to this God, who appeared to him in a Dream. of Ariffarchus of Samos was an Horizontal Dial, Mithra was an Epither given to the Sun and used whose Edges were a little elevated in order to in the East, from whence it was brought to Rome, remedy the Inconveniency of the Stile, being and LaGantius fays in the forecited Verses of Sta- straight and railed up prependicularly upon the sins, that Apollo was represented by the Persians with a Lyon's Face and a kind of Tiara on his dred the Shadows from extending too far. Head, because the Sun is in its Vigour when he comes to the Sign Leo; the Phanicians worthipped no other Deity than the Sun, which they called Beelfamen, that is, the King of the Heavens. The Lybians as well as the Messageles facrificed a Horse to him. The Emperor Galienus, after his was given it, because the Figures of the Coele-Expedition into the East, represented Apollo like | Stial Signs were represented thereon. Parmenio a Centaur, holding his Lyre in his Right-hand, was the Inventor of the Profpanclima, that is, fuch and a Globe in the other with this Inscription, Apollini Comisi.

ting on his Chariot and crowned with the Sun- Middle and open towards the Sides, which makes beams and with this Title Soli Invido. Other them be of the Shape of an Ax on both Sides. Emperors, fuch as Constantine, Aurelian and Crippus, fet him forth under the Form o'a naked Man, crowned with Sun-beams, and holding a Vertical, which being long, and polited in an Globe in his Right-hand, and a Whip in the oblique manner represent a Quiver. Left with these Words:

Soli invido comisi.

Lucius Plautius caufed a Medal to be coined. whereon was represented the Head of Apello with Two Serpents kiffing him: There was a made of Gold and Silk with Leather Soles only, Temple built him at Rome of a Spherical, i. e. | tied with Thongs on the back part of the Foot. a round Form.

fcribes feveral forts of Sundials in L. o. C. o. or his Architesture. The Hemicycle or half Cir | the Lustrum or numbred and taxed the Citizens cle hollowed fquare-wife and cut fo as to incline of Rome. in the same manner as the Equinox, was the Invention of Berofus the Chaldean : It's likely that Ferojus his Dial was a floaped Plintbis, like the Equinox, and that this Plintbis was interfected into an Hemicycle, or Concave Demicircle, at the Top of a high Place looking northwards, and that there was a Stile or Pin coming out of the Middle of the Hemicycle whose Point and the Poets, was the Sun of Nox and Erebus. Iwering to the Center of the Hemicycle repre- Ovid, L. 11. Mesamorph. describes him thus: fented the Center of the Earth; and its Sha- | Near unto the Cimmerians, fays he, there was dow falling upon the Concavity of the Hemicy- & a great Cave dug in a Mountain, where stupicle, which represented the Space between one field Sleep dwelt, the Sun-beams never enlight-Tropick and another, marked our not only the Declinations of the Sun, that is, the Days of the | a very thick Mift: The Birds never fing there Months, but also the Hours of each Day, for that might be done by dividing the Lineevery Day into Twelve equal Parts; by which must A profound Silence reigns continually there; be meant the Days that are between the Autunnal and Vernal Equinox; it being necessary Poppies and Mandrakes, Plants that create Stuto increase the Hemicycle for the other Days, which contain above Twelve Equinoxial Hours. The Hemisphear of Aritarchus his Dial was Midst of the Cave there is a Bed of Ebony all . Sperical and Concave, and not Oval. The Difers of one Colour, where the God sleep lies down

Horizon, for their Edges thus railed up, hin-

The Aftrologer Eudoxus found out the Aranem fome fay, Apollonius invented the Plinibis or iquare Dial, which was also fer up in the Flaminian Circus: Scopus of Syracuse made that called Prostabistoroumena; Cifaranus believes this Name an one as might ferve for all forts of Climares. Theodosius and Andreas Patrocles found out the Pelecinum which is a Dial made Ax-wife, wherein the Lines which crofs one another mark our Probus represented him like a Charioteer, fit- the Signs and Months; being close towards the Dionyfiodorus invented the Cone. Apolionius the Quiver Dial; these Two last Dials are plainly > SOLARIUM, was a Piece of Ground levell'd, or Place raifed up and expoted to the Sun. where People walked, as Ifidorus and Cyrill's Gloffary informs us.

> SOLE A., Sandals; among the Ancients it was a rich Wear or Covering for the Feet SOLITAURILIA; a Sacrifice confifting

SOLARIUM, a Sundial; Virruvius de of a Sow, Bull and Sheep, which the Cenfors offered every Live Years, when they performed

SOLON, one of the Seven wife Men of Greece, born at Salami, and Law-giver to the Athenians, They attribute the Erecting of the Court of the Areopagises to him: This wife Man faid, no Man could be called happy before his

SOMNUS, the God of Sleep, according to ened that Place, the fame being covered with at Break of Day, neither do the Dogs difturb the Silence of the Nights by their Barkings: at the Cave's Mouth there grows a great many pidity, whose Juice the Night extracts in order to throw it into the Eyes of Men. In the eny Dreams who fkip up and down round about him.

Seneca the Tragedian gives an admirable Defcription of Sleep, whom he represents in the same manner as Ovid does, to be a favourable God that gives Rest to the Mind, and puts an End to our Labours. The Greeks, as Paufaniss fays, facrificed on the fame Altar to Sleep and to the Mules, pretending that Sleep was the best Soul of the Muses: Sleep is a good old Man, King of a certain Palace, whose Masters were Taraxion and Plutocles; the fovereign Lord of the Fountain Careotis, great Master of the Tentple of Imposture and Truth, and Possessor Time out of Mind of a Sanctuary or Oracle taken away by Antipho; he is Death's younger Brother; who is an old Carcase as ancient as all Ages, says Columbus. M. Tollius pretends that Sleep is a young Man, and this he grounds upon the Inscription wherein Sleep is represented much like unto a Youth. This Sleep appeared indeed young, but according to M. Cuper, it was Somnus aternalis, because of the Torch that was thrown down which was a true Representation of a Life extinct; or by reason of this Torch being thrown down it was necelfary for keeping of the Children harmless, to light one for them in Hell.

His datum folis minus ut timerent, igne pralato relevare noctem.

M. Tollius infifts upon it and inftances in Euelids Two Sleeps, one of which was easie to be perfwaded and driven away from the Soul, and the same belonged to young People, and the other was perfectly gray with Age, and appertained to old Men. But the Moral is very good, Eudid would hereby flow that young People were eafily brought of from their idle Fancies, but that 'tis hard to bring old Men from their Opinions: Euclid did not pretend they were Two

SOMNIUM; a Dream. Ovid puts an infinite Number of Dreams under the Empire of Sleep, but he rakes notice of Three who were much more potent than the rest; viz. Morpheus, Mountains, Rivers and other inanimate Things: and they very well fignific what they intimate to us: Hereby we may know that the Grecians Ivory from whence proceeded doubtful and led to Jacob in Mesopotamia, and told him in a

foft and takes his Rest; there are a great ma- troublesome Dreams, the other of Horn through which clear and certain Dreams paffed: Virgil in these Verses borrowed the Thought from

> Sunt gemin Somni porta, quarum altera fertur Cornea, qua veru facilis datur exitus umbris: Altera candenti perfecta nitens elephante, Sed falfa ad colum mittunt infomnia Manes.

Lucian describes the Island of Dreams unto us in this manner. 'We had not failed long before we saw the Isle of Dreams, but obscurely, as Dreams are wont to be; for she seemed to remove farther off as we drew nearer to her; at last having reached the Island we entred into the Haven of Sleep, and there went ashoar: The Island was encompassed with a Forest of Poppies and Mandrakes, full of Owls and Bats, for there were no other Birds upon it : It had a River whose Waters did not run but in the Night, and Two Fountains of ftanding Water; the Wall of the City was very high and of a changeable Colour, like the Rainbow: It had Four Gates, though Homer makes it to have but Two, the first looked towards the Plain of Negligence, the one being made of Iron and the other of Earth through which frightful and melancholy Dreams passed; the other Two look towards the Harbour, the one being made of ' Horn and the other of Ivory, which is that through which we enter : Sleep is the King of the Illand, and his Falace stands on the Lefthand as you go in : On his Right-hand is the · Temple of Night, which the Goddess worhipped there, and afterwards that of the Cock: Sleep has Two Lieutenants under him, viz. Taraxion and Plutocles, who were begotten of Fancy and Norbing: In the Midft of the Place stands the Fountain of Sence, which has Two Temples by the Sides of it; the one of Falflood, and the other of Truth: There is the · Oracle and Sanctuary of that God, to whom Amipho, the Interpreter of Dreams, is Prophet, and has obtained this Favour of Sleep: All the Inhabitants of the Island differ from one another, fome are handfome and tall, others little and ugly, these appear to be kelus or Phobesor and Phonisjos: The first imi de rich, and clad in Gold and Purple, like Kings tated Men, the second Animals, and the third in a Play, and the others poor, beggerly and 'all in Rags. We met with feveral of our Ac-All these Names were taken from the Greek, 'quaintance who carried us to their Houses and rreated us nobly. Propherick Dreams were formerly as frequent were those who formed both the Names of and as they are now rare, and so they made a Part made Diftinctions between Dreams, as well as of and were an Ornament to Niftory, both fathe God of Sleep. Lucian tells us, Dreams were cred and prophane. God threatened King A. painted with Wings, because they flew away in bimelech in a Dream, and made him release Sarah an Inflant; Homer mentions Two Gates thro' Abraham's Wife: It was in a Dream that $4.06 which Dreams come to us; the one made of fawthe mysterious Ladder: The Angel appear-

Dream that he was the God who appeared to him in Betbel : Joseph's Dreams are well known, his Brothers Sheafs of Corn which worshipped his, and the Sun, Moon and Eleven Stars which they adored, have in a manner no need of Interpretation: The Dreams of Physics Two The Horn-Gate was very finall, but transparent, Eunuchs, and the Interpretation given them by the Ivory was not so. And so they are the true Toleph, and Pharaob's Two Dreams after that, Dreams, when the Soul being dilengaged from which were so happily interpreted by the said the Body pierces and penetrates thro' that Vail Foleph, were the Steps by which he was advan- which hides the Sight of Truth from it; and ced to the Height of Honour and Fower: Gi- Dreams have nothing that is real in them when deon was also instructed what he should do by a this Vail is not transparent; the Soul then con-Soldier's Dream: Saul answered Samuel who was | tinues involved with the Obscurity of Matter. conjured up by the Witch of Endor, that he | SORTES; Lots; Lot is the Effect of Hazmade his Application to her, because God would | zard, and as it were the Decision or Oracle of neither answer him, by the Mouths of the Pro- Fortune; but Lots were the Instruments made phets, nor by Dreams; for they were the Two | use of morder to know what this Decision would under the Old Testament.

and made it a Piece of the wicked Superfition course to Tables made for that Purpose. The of the Heathens: Nebuchodonogor told Daniel Use of Lots was various; in some Temples the Dream he had had, and he gave him the they threw themselves, in others they took them Interpretation thereof, that he thould be de- out of a Box, which gave occasion to this Form throned and be for Seven Years sent to dwell a- of Speech among the Grecians: The Lot in fallen. mong the Beafts of the Field : There were a Sacrifices and many other Ceremonies always vaft many People who made it their Butiness to preceded this Dice-playing: The Priests in all interpret Dreams, especially in Great Mens appearance knew how to manage the Dice; but Courts. Virgil represents unto us how the O- if they had no mind to be at that Pains, they had racle of Faunus was consulted by all the People | no more to do than to let them go, for they of haly, and the Answers were given them by were always Masters of the Explication given.

Dreams; for the Priests after they had offered. The Lacedamonians went one Day to consult Sacrifice, spent the Night lying upon the Skins the Loss of Dodona concerning some War they of the Victims, and there received those Prophe-; were engaged in : For bendes, the speaking tick Visions in a Dream.

.... Et casarum ovium sub noste silenti Pellibus incubuit ftratu, somnosque petivit, Multa modu simulachra videt volitantia miris, Et varias audit voces, fruiturque Deorum Colloquio....

It was the Cuftom of the Ancients to fleep upon Skins, and the Latin Word dormire comes from thence, being derived from the Creek Siegua, received a more fatal Prefage. The most Fapellis: And when they fought for Propherick mous of all Lots were those of Prenefle and An-Dreams, they affected to sleep upon the Skins of tium, two small Cities in Italy; Fortune was at Victims: Lucan makes Julia Pompey's first Wife | Praneste, and the Fortunes at Antium : The Forforetell him in a Dream all the Evils of the Civil tunes moved of themselves, as Mucrobius fays, War, wherein he should be engaged: Pompey and their different Motions either served for despifed this Dream; but it came to him thro' an Answer, or intimated whether they could the Horn-gate; the Effect followed, and the consult the Lots or no. Cicero, L. 2. de Divin. Dream came to pass; but some time after when fays, they consulted the Lots of Pranefte, with Pompey dream'd, that is, on the Day before the the Confent of Fortune; and this gave occasion fatal Battle of Pharfalia, that he was admired to believe, that this Fortune also knew how to and applauded in his Amphitheater at Rome; it move its flead, or give some other Sign of its was a Dream that came to him thro' the Ivory- Will. Gate, and had nothing but a falle Light in it. Juvenal speaks of the base Practices or shameful the Turks and Arabs make use of them in the Trade drove by some Jews, who for Money same manner. Ezekiel says, that Nebuchadnerfold fuch Dreams as were defired of them;

Qualiacumque voles Judai somnia vendunt.

Macrobius gives the Reason of the Difference of thele Two Gate, by which Dreams come to us:

usual Ways they had to learn the Will of God be. Lots were very often a kind of Dice, on which certain Characters were graven, or fome The Devil imitated these Prophetick Dreams, Words for the Explication of which they had re-

Oak-Trees, Doves, Baions, and the Oracle; there were Lots at Dodona: ' After all the other *Ceremonies that were performed with much Veneration and Respect, there went a Mon-'key belonging to the King of the Moloff into the Temple, and threw down the Los and 'Urn: The Prieftes in a Fright told the Lace-"damonians, that they must not think of overcoming, but only of faving themselves: And all Authors affure us, the Lacedamonians never

In the East Arrows were their Lots, and still gar mixed his Arrows against Ammon and Ferufrom Homer and Euripides; and that which prefinted it felf first to view at the opening of the flew Sphinx. Book, was the Decree of Heaven: Hiftury furbelieve them to be prophetical, and to use them inftead of the ancient Lots of Pranefte: For Amount the contrary Deflinies, thou shalt be Mar-

Lots continued even to the Time of Chriflianity; they took them out of the Scriptures, whereas the Pagans did it from their Poets, St. Auguftine, Epift. 119. ad Fanuarium, does not | Friends these Presents, of which Symmachus Speaks feem to dilapprove of this Custom, unless pradifed in fecular Affairs. Gregory of Tours does fire & bonori tuo debeo, banc in folido mifi. himself inform us, that it was his own Practise; went to St. Martin's Tomb, where he opened what Book of Scripture he had a Mind to, and took the first Passage he saw for God's Answer; but if the faid Patlage was nothing to the Purpole, he opened another Book of Scripture: O thers took the first I hing they heard sung as they entied the Church for a Divine Lot. The Emperor Heraclius being follicitous about the Place he should Winter-quarter with his Army, was refolved by this kind of Lot: He caused the Army to be purified for Three Days, then he opened the Book of the Gospels, and found his Winter-Quarters affigned him in Albania.

SOTERIA; a Sacrifice for Health; being the Games and Solemnities made by the People for the Health and Preservation of the Emperor, especially when he recovered of any fick-

SPHINX; a fabulous Monster, feigned by the Poets to have been begotten by Typhon, to have a Woman's Face, the Wings of a Bird, ftroy'd till Oedipus had explained the Riddle propoled by him; from which they have fince been wont to fay concerning Riddles hard to be refolved, that it was Sphinx his Riddle, and wanted an Oedipus. Diodorus fays, there were real Sphinx's, which were a fort of Monkeys, with long Hair, Bys Palephatus in a little Treatife concerning in the other farther End of the Hail, are pushed for-filen, and that his Arrow went forth against Fe-1 credible Stories, was Cadmus his first Wife, who instelem: That was the prety Way they had of deligning to be revenged on him, for having marrefolving on which of thole two Nations they ried another, retired with some Troops to the fould make War. In Greece and Italy they of alountains, where she laid Ambushes for Paften drew the Lots from some samous Poet, as sengers, and put them to death: These Ambulhes were Riddles, Cedipus escaped them, and

SPORTULA; a small present of Money, nifies us with a thousand Examples of this kind : which with Wine and Bread was diffributed at We also find that about 200 Years after Virgil's certain Feasts, or other solemn Days in the Year. Death, they valued his Verses so much, as to These Presents often consisted of Silver Medals, and Denarii were used upon this Occasion: But when the Emperors or other great Men bestowlexander Severus, who was yet but a private Man, ed these Presents, they consisted of Gold Meand at a time when the Emperor Heliogabalus | dals: Thus Trebellius Pollio speaking of the small had a Kindneis for him, received for Antwer in Prefents made by the Emperor Gallienus in his the Temple of Pranefle, that Passage out of Vir- | Consulthip, says he gave a Sportula to every Segil, that lignifies thus much; If thou canst jur. | nator, and one of his Gold Medals to every Roman Lady: Senatui Sportulam Sedens erogavit. Matronas al confulatum fuum rogavit, is denique manum fibi ofculantibus, quaternos aureos fui nominis delit. It was also a Custom for those who entred upon the Office of Conful to fend their thus: Sportulam Confulatus mei, & amicitie no-

The Name of Sportula, which fignified fmall he spent many Days in Fasting and Prayer, then Baskers, was given those Presents because they were fent in Baskets; and herein we are confirmed by these Verses of Coripus, L.4. wherein he speaks of the Consulfhip of Justin the Emperors

> Dona Calendarum, quorum est ea cara, parabant Officia. & turmis implent felicibus aulam, Convellant rutilum sportis capacibus aurum.

And for this Reason the Greek Glossaries in the Explication of the Word Sportula, fay they were Presents sent in Baskets; the Consuls with these Sportulæ beftowed also small Pocket-books made of Silver or Ivory, wherein their Names were written, and thele were those that they called Fafti. Sidonius, L. 8. E. 6. speaking of the Confulfhip of Allerius, mentions the Sportula and Fafti that were given.

STADIUM; a Furlong; it was a Space of 125 Paces, and the Word is derived from the Verb Sto, which fignifies to flop ; for 'tis faid' Hercules run over fuch a Space of Ground at one Claws of a Lion, and the reft of his Body like a Breath, and ftopt at the end of it: This fort of Dog. He ravaged the Country very much a- Measure was peculiar to the Grecians: Eight of bout Mount Sphingio, and could never be de- them goes to an Italian Mile: There were Stadia of different Measures, according to the Difference of Times and Places.

STATERA; a kind of Ballance, otherwise called the Roman Ballance. Viernvius, L. 10. C.8. describes it in this manner: The Handle which is as the Center of the Flail, being faftened, as great Teats, and for the rest of their Bodies like it is, near unto the End to which the Scale is unto the Representations made of them. Sphinx, hung; the more the Weights, which run along ward upon the Points marked thereon, the Time of Taius, King of the Sabines, who was the more Power it will have to equalize a great first that received Vervein gathered from the Weight according as the Weight's di- confectated \\ ood of the Goddes Strenia, for a ftance from the Center, shall put the Flail into an Aquilibrium; and so the Weights which were weak when they were too near the Center, cou'd in a Moment gain a great Power, and year's Day with a Golden Bill, or elfe they did given to make Statues increased the Number of ther'd the Vervein, and the Word Strenuut, Temples and Heathens: We do not know (says which signifies Valiant and Generous; and so the Civero) the Gods by their Faces, but because it Word Strena, which fignifies a New year's Gift. has pleased the Painters and Statuaries to repre- is sometimes found written Strenua by the Anfent them fountous: Deos ea facie novimus qua cients, as you have it in the Gloffory of Philozepillores & fillores voluerunt. Statues at first were nus: And so this Present was properly to be no more than shapeless Stones; but Dadalus was made to Persons of Valour and Merit, and to the first who left the Custom of imitating the those whose Divine Minds promised them more Egyptians, and separated the Feet and other by their Vigilancy, than the Instinct of an happy Parts of the Statues, which he made fo as to be Augury, Strenam, fays Feffus, vocamus qua datur diffinguished from the rest, and for that Reason | die religioso, ominis boni gratia. After that they were called Moving Parts, as Palephatus fays: Time they came to make Prejents of Figs, Dates Thus Aristophines calls Statuaries Geomores, Mikers of Gods; and Julius Pollux names a Statuary. Septempini, a Former of Gods.

STR

The Romans were 170 Years before they had either Statuaries or Painters, as were the Perfians, Scythians, and Lacedemonians for a long time: Constantine, as Eusebius fays, forbad Statues to be let up in the Temples of the Heathens, for Fear they should give them Divine Honours, which before was very common; for Taxius (lays Ladansius) confecrated the Image of the Goddess Cloarina, whom he took out of a Gutter and gave it the Name of the Place from whence he had it: They also dedicated (continued he) and confecrated Kings Statues after their Deceale, and represented them as they pleated; and Valerius Maximus fays, the Rhodians gave the Statues of Harmodius and Ariftogito the Procal Testimonics of Friendship to each other: fame Honours as they did to the Gods. The And as they prevailed as much in their Religion Statues, faid he, being come to Rholes, the as they did in the State, they were not wanting Citizens received them in a Body and having placed them in an Inn, they expoted them upon facred Beds to the View of the Feople.

were four forts of them; the greatest were the looking upon the Year past and present: They Coloffus's which were made only for the Gods: There were leffer ones made for Heroes; those for Kings and Princes fomewhat bigger than the Life, and for other Men who for iome special ever though the same were a Feast and solemn Defert were allowed this Honour, they were one too, fince it was also dedicated to Juno, unmade of the Bigness of the Life.

STOLA, a long Robe in use among the Roman Ladies; they put a large Mantle or | brated the Dedication of the Temples of Jupiter Cloack called Palla, and fometimes Pallium, over this Robe when they wore their ceremoni- ber; yet, I lay, notwithstanding, all these Conous Habits.

them is almost as ancient as the Building of Rome. thing in the Way of his Profession, that so he Symmachus fays, these were brought up in the might not be floathful the rest of the Year.

good Augury of the New-year, much like the Gaulifh Druids who held the Mifletoe in fo much Veneration, that they went to gather it on Newraife up a very heavy Burden with little trouble, herein make an Allufion between the Name of STATUA: Statues: the Use and Liberty the Goddes Strenia, in whole Wood they gaand Honey, by which they did as it were, with nothing might befal their Friends but what was weet and agreeable for the rest of the Year: The Romans afterwards rejecting their primitive Simplicity, and changing their Wooden Gods into Gold and Silver ones, began to be also more magnificent in their Prefents, and on that Day to fend feveral forts of Things and of greater Value to one another, but more particularly Silver Medals, as finding they were very filly in the foregoing Ages, to believe that Honey was fweeter than Silver, as Ovid brings in Fanus pleafantly talking of it. Wherefore Dio speaking of New years Gifts, plainly calls them depuper, Silver. With these Presents they sent to wish one another all manner of Profperity and Happinels for the rest of the Year, and gave recito enact Laws relating to them, and made that Day a Festival, dedicated and particularly confecrated to Fanus, who was represented with As to the Bigness of the Ancients Statues there | Two Faces, one before and another behind, as offered Sacrifices to him on that Day, and the People in Crowds and all new clad went to Mount Tarpeius where Fanus had an Altar: Howder whose Protection the first Days of this Month were, and that on the faid Day they also celeand Affeulapius, that flood in the Ifle of the Tifiderations, the People did not remain idle, but STRENÆ, New-years Gifts; the Use of on the Contrary every one began to do someof Money according to his Ability; that being upon meaner Persons. Augustus received so the Merriments and Debauches of that Day. much of it, that he was wont to buy and dedidid not love a Crowd, purpofely absented himwho would have run in Shoals to wish him a happy New-year, and he disapproved of Augustus first Day: Caligula who immediately succeeded fland by an Edict, that he would receive the Newyears Gifts on the Calends of January, which had been refused by his Predecessor, and for this end he flaid every Day in the Porch of his Palace, where he readily received the Money and the Prefents made him by the Crowd. Claudius his Successor disamulted what he had done, and by an Order forbad them to come and prefent him with any New-years Gifts. From thence forwards the Custom continued still among the People, as Herodian observes, under the Emperor Commodus; and Trebellius Pollio makes mention of it in the Life of Claudius Gothicus, who also attained to the Imperial Dignity.

It's the Question which Ovid puts to Janus, who by the Noise of Cymbals. answers with a Gravity becoming himself: It is, fays he, because all Things are contained in their Beginnings; and it is for that Reason, adds he, they drew Auguries from the first Bird they faw. thing Divine in the Beginnings of Things: The was, as a Man may fay, the Beginning of the Body. They began their Wars with Auguries, Sacrifices and publick Vows; and fo the Realon why they facrificed to Janus on the first Day of them, was because that he being Door-keeper lits Water, and that if they perjured themselves,

In short, the Custom of New years Gifts by 1 to the Gods, they were in Hopes by this means Degrees became to common in the Time of the to have obtained Admission of the others for the Emperors, that all the People went to wish him | rest of the Year, If they made fanus to be their ahappy Year, and each Man carried his Present | Friend at the Beginning of it : And as he prefided over the Beginning of the Year, they holooked upon as a Mark of the Veneration and ped for his Favour to themselves and their Efteem they had for their Princes; whereas Friends, if they could draw this God to espouse now the Method is altered, and they are rather their Interest: They sacrified Hower and Wine the Great ones who bestow New-years Gifts to him, which undoubtedly gave Occasion to

The Grecians amongst whom New-years Gifts ate Gold and Silver Idols for it, as being un- were not in Ule, before they received them from willing to apply the Liberality of his Subjects to the Romans, had no particular Word to fignific his own private tife. Tiberius his Successor, who | Strenz; for the Word Evapy 10 uds, which is to be met with in ancient Gloffaries, and which was felf on the first Day of the Year, that he might not used by ancient Authors, fignifies only agood avoid the Inconveniencies of the Peoples Vints, Beginning; that of giver, in general a Prefent; Sannes in Philoxenus his Gloffary, is rendered Verbena, Strenua, because the faid Word figninot convenient, and must have put him to lies a Branch, a Plant, such as Vervein was, of People by other Liberalities: The People were years Gifts confifted. Atheneus brings in Cyto taken up with these Ceremonies for the first nulsus reproving Upian for calling a New year's fixor leven Days of the Year, that he was obli- Gift extropis, in all likelihood because that ged to make an Edict, whereby they were forbid lignifies no other than a Thing that is given to make New-years Gifts any longer than for the above a Gratification: The way of fending New-years Gifts to Magistrates and Emperors Tiberius in the Empire, let the People under- | did not cease in the first Ages of Christianity, after the Destruction of Paganism, as you may ice by these Verses of Ceripus already mentioned, Dona Calendarum, quorum est ea cura, parabans Officia, & turmis implent felicibus aulam : Conveilant rutilum (portis capacibus aurum.

This Custom of folemnizing the first Day of the Year by Gitts and Rejoycings having paffed from Paganism unto Christianity, the Councils and l'athers declaimed against the Abuse made thereof, as you may fee in Tertullian and the fixth Council in Trullo.

STYMPHALIDES AVES; Birds of And here we might take Occasion to enquire an extraordinary Seize, which, they faid, in why the Romans were wont to make Presents to their Flight obscured the Light of the Sun. They and mutual Vows for one another, on the first fed only upon Humane Fleih, but Hercules by Day of the Year rather than any other Time? the relp of Minerva, drove them out of Arcadia

STYX, a River in Arcadia near Nonacris, its Water was of so cold and killing a Nature, it was present Poison, wherewith Historians say, Alexander the Great was poisoned: Pausanias In thort, the Romans thought there was iome- speaks at large of the Grecian Styx, and cites the Places in Homer and Hefiod wherein it is mention-Head was accounted a Divine Thing, because it ed: The Poets made it to be a River in Hell, the folemn Oaths of the Gods were made by the Water of Syx: The Fable fays, that Victory the Daughter of Styx, having given Jupiter Aifistance against the Giants, he by way of Acthe Year, and would make him propitious to knowledgment ordered the Gods to Iwear by they should be deprived of Life and Feeling Nature of the Business in hand: For Example, for 9000 Years: Servius gives us the Reason of it they were about to choose a Magistrate; they this Fable, and fays, that the Gods being pof- wrote down the first Letters of the Candidates feft of all Blifs and Immortal, swore by Syx, Names, and gave as many of them to every one which is a River of Grief and Sorrow, as by a as there were Competitors for the Place. In the Thing that was quite contrary to them; and the Affemblies held for Receiving of a Law, they gave Oath was taken by way of Execration. Hefod every one two, one of which was marked with thefe in his Theognis fays, that when one of the Gods two Letters U. R. fignifying as much as uti rolyed, Jupiter sent Irts to fetch some of the Water gas, and the other only with an A, which denoof Sign in a Gold Cup, by which the Lyar was ted Antiquo, I rejelt the Law. In Matters of to swear, and if he perjured himself, he was to Judgments or Sentences to pass, they gave three be for a Year without Life or Motion, but it of them, one marked with an A, and fignified must have been a great Year that continued se- Absolvo, I acquit the Persons accused; the other veral Millions of Years.

of Perswation, owned by the Romans, and called | ment cannot pass, the Matter is not clear enough. Pitho by the Grecians.

the Lives of the first Twelve Emperors, and was called Diribitores, and the Place or Office where Secretary to the Emperor Adrian; his Hiftory reaches to the Year of our Redemption 98, and comprehends 144 Years.

the Romans either at the Chooling of Magifrates thought fit into the Urn and then the Centuria or for the Receiving of Laws, or in Judgments: Tribe whose Right it was first to draw the Lots The People for a long time gave their Suffrages gave its Suffrage, having done, they told the by Word of Mouth in Matters relating to the Suffrages; and the Crier faid with a loud Voice: Commonwealth, which were taken by the Offi- Prarogativa renunciat talem Consulem: If the cers of the Tribes, called Rogstores, who after- | Matter related to the Enacting of a Law : Prewards acquainted the Prefident of the Affembly regative legem jubet, or non accipit: The Magiwith the Sentiments of their Tribes: This Method continued to the Year 615, after the Buil- first Clais to be called; those of the Cavalry ding of Rome, under the Confulfhip of Q. Cal- first and the Infantry next: When there were purnius Pilo, and M. Fopilius Lenas; when Gabi- not a furnicient Number of Suffrages for the ennius, Tribune of the People paffed the first Law tituling of a Perion to an Office, the People of Ballotting for the Chooling of Magistrates, might chuse whom they pleased, and this in Lathat enjoyined the Feople from thence forward sin they called, Non conficere legitima Suffragia, no longer to give their Suffrages viva voce, but & non explere tribus. that they should throw a Ballot into a Box or Urn, whereon the Name of the Person they gave Pluto, being as much as to say Summus Mawere minded to choose should be written. This nium, the Chief of the Manes. Law they called Tabellaria, because their Ballots | SYLLA, furnamed Lucius Cornelius, a Rewere named Tabella. Papyrius Carbo, who was man General of a Patrician Race; he was chosen also Tribune of the People, got another Law Quaffor, and had a great Quarrel with Marius passed called Papyria in the Year 625, whereby the Conful, which proved tatal to the Commonthe People were required to give their Suffrages wealth of Rome, for he panished divers Illustrious by Ballots in enacting of Laws: And Caffins, Citizens, and filled Rome with blood and Slaugh-Tribune of the People likewife obliged the ter: He was furnamed the Happy. He died of Judges by a Law to give their Votes by Ballots the lowie Difease. in Matters of Judgments. All these Laws were 5 Y L V A N US or S I L V A N US. A God very good for the Commonalty, who before whom the Poets faid did prejide over Forests and durft not give their Votes freely, for fear of Land-marks; some made him to be the Son of offending the Great ones: And this Cicero tells Faunus; but Plutarch in his Parallels will have him us in his Oration pro Plancio: Grata est tabella to have been begotten incestuously by Valerius que frontes aperit, hominum mentes tegit, datque on his Daughter Valeria. Feneftella fays, that eam libertatem ut quod velint faciant: And 'tis al- Pan, Faunus and Sylvanus were the fame Deity: fo in the Bergrian Law called Vindex libertatic: The Luperci were their Priests, and their Feats and in the Cornelius, Principium justiffima tiber- the Lupercalia. See Lupercalia, &c. tativ. Now these Ballots were little pieces of SILVIUS POSTHUMUS, King of Wood, or other Stuff, made very narrow, and Alba, the Son of Alcanius and Grandson to marked with feveral Letters, according to the Aneas; he was named Sylvius because he was with a C. Condemno, I condemn him; and the SUADA and SUADELA; the Goddeis third with these two Letters L.N. non liquer, Judg.

The Ballots were delivered at the Entry of SUETONIUS, named Tranquillus, Wrote a Bridge by the Diffributors of them, who were they were given was named Diribitorium: They went up to the Tribunal of the Conful, or of him who face as Prefident of the Affembly, qui SUFFRAGIUM; a Suffrage, given by ciftellam deferebat, and threw what Ballot they ftrates afterwards ordered the Centuria of the

SUMMANUS, an Epithet which the Poets

Birth happened to be after his Father's Death.

SYRE ES. Sec Sirenes. made Mu cal Instruments of mose Reeds join'd to be kept secret. together, which bore the same of his Nymph, and were in Request with Shepherds: Ovid gives the Story of it in thefe Veries.

Panaque, eim prenfam fibi jam Syringe putaret, Corpora pro Symple : alamos tenuiffe paluitres Dum ju: ibi fufpo at, motos in arundine ventos Effecife jonua tenuem, finilemque querenti;

Arte nova vocijque Deum dulcedine captum, Hoc mibi concilium tecum dixise manebit : Atque ita disparabus calamis compagine cerae Inter se junctis nomen tenuisse puelle.

SYRTES, Two Gulphs in the fartheft Part of Africa, full of quick Sands, and to called from the Word occase, to draw, because Ships at tracted to it, by the Current of these Gulphs are there fwallowed up and ouried. The Poets represent them to us as if they were Moniters.

T.

Is a Confonant, and the 19th Letter in the D; and for that Reason they are often taught the Tufrans the Art of Divination, as found put one for the other a arteral; which Cicero fays, L. 2. de Div. Ovid makes him to made Cummum raily those who scrupled to be the Son of the Earth; a Ploughman, faid he, write one indulerently for another, as fer for fel, East for Earl Tamong the Ancients was a Nu- Plough happening to fink deeper than ordinary meral Letter, that fignified 16 .; but if a Tittle | into the Ground, he faw a Child come out of a was pur out it figuified 16cer. .

Ho pit 1; was a Place in Rome where disabled plied homielf to teach the Tujcans the Way to Soldiers were maintained at the Charge of the know Things to come, wherein they became Government.

TABERNA TRES. Ck. Epift. 12. ad Art, and particularly the Romans. Animat. T. Time favorus. t was a Place TALARIUS LUD. IS; Dice-playing; Alegar Apples, C. D.

hom in a Forest, and Posibumus by reason his | Pompilius added to the Nine, and caused to be worthipped at Rome: The King pretended he hal frequent Conversation with the Nymph Ege-SYRINX and SYRINGA, were Pipes riz, and the Muse Tacita, that he might thereor Reeds of a different Length, joined together, by give the greater Authority to his Actions, wherein they blew, as Tinkers and Boors do and obtain more Esteem for his Laws : It's now-a-days, who are the Inheritors of the easie to find the Moral of these Two Fables, wretched Munck of the Sayrs. Pan was the line the Names themicives lead us to it. By the Inventor of this instrument, who running like Nymph Egeria Necessary is only meant, which a hair-brained Fellow after the Nymph Syrings, doubtless is an ingenious Councellor and a very whom he was desperately in Love with, could bold Executioner of all forts of Deligns; and catch nothing but Reads, into which the was the Mufe Liens or Silence is necessary to the transformed : no comfort himself for his Lois, he | Counfels of a wife Prince, whose Dengns ought TACITUS. See Cornelius Tacitus. TACITUS, a Roman Emperor, chosen by the Senare; he was a wife Prince and made good Laws: He was killed by the Soldiery after he had reigned Six Months: or as others will have it, died of a Leaver at Tarjus, in the Year of our Lord 274.

I ADA, a Torch, Pliny fays, they used Torches made of a kind of a Thorn, or as Dalechamp tays, of white Thorn, at Weddings. By the Description which Aristanesus gives of the Marriage of Acontius and Cydippe, he fays, there was Incense in their Torches, that so with their Light they might also afford a fragrant Smell. They likewise made use of Pine-branches, and other Trees which produce Pitch and Rofin, which made them call the Pine and Fir from the Word Tada, which fignifies a Torch.

T . NARUS, a Cape in Laconia, near unto which there was a Cave by which the Poets feigned there was a Defcent into fiell: There flood here, as Suidas fays, a Temple dedicated to Neptune, where the Lacedemonians killed the Pilots who offered Sacrifices therein: Near unto it was the Place where Hercules pulled the Dog

Cerberus out of Hell. T . GES, was the Son of Genius, according the Alphabet, which is very like unto to Festus, and the Grandson of Jupiter, who ploughing his Field, and the Coulter-Iron of his Clod of Earth, which the Coulter-Iron had turned TABLRINA MERITORIA, Mars's up, who was called Tages and who prefently apfo ikillful, that they taught leveral Nations this hetween Rome and Capita, upon the great Road Indeed, we have no proper Term whereby to called Via Appla, which was that that lead from express this Play in English; but 'tis certain, it Brandafton to Green, where rassillers willings was performed with a fort of Gold or Ivory ly flore as There is men ion made of it in the Dice, which they flook as we do in a kind of a Box, before they threw them: There was this TACITA, the Tenth M D, which Mana difference between them and ours, that whereas our Dice have fix Squares, because they are Cu-1 Mine in value, and the greater 80, that is the bical, those had but four, for they had but two greater in English Money was worth about 2331. opposite sides for the fix which they ought to 6 s. 8 d. or as some 133 l. and odd Money, and have, and they were conically shap'd. They the other 165 l. as some 100 l. as others 120 l. made use of them for Divination, as well as and after some 180. When you find nothing Playing; and they concluded on a good or evil added to the Word Talentum, then the common Augury, according to what came up. As they ufu- Attick or leffer Talent is meant : The Hebrem ally threw four of them at a time, the best Talent was worth two of the Greeks; so that Chance was when four different Sides came up, twenty Grecian Talents amounted only to ten for these Squares they called by the Name of of the Hebrens; its the same thing in respect to fome Animals, as the Dog, Vulture, Bafilisk, Ge. the Drachma's, and Greek Mine; for two Greek or of some Deity, as Venus, Hercules, &c. Some Drachma's go to make one Hebrew, and two Gres Authors have been of Opinion, that they were cian Mine the fame. marked with the Forms of Animals, or the 1-1 TANTALUS, King of Phygia, and 44. felf fays, but among the Grecians Childrens nippus in this manner: Play, as appears by the Description of an excellent Picture of Policletus, by Apollodorus in Pliny, what Torment do you endure in this Lake where who there makes Cupid play with Ganimede; and by Diogenes Laerting, who fays, the Epbelians laughed at Herachtus, because he play'd with the Children.

TALASSUS, and TALASIO, and TA- the Hollow of your Hand? LASSIUS; a Gcd whom the Romans made to prefide over Marriages, as Hymenaus was with ir, and when I fancy I have taken some in my the Greeks: They invoked him at Weddings, Hand, it prefently glides away. that they might prove happy; and here take Men. That is strange! But what occasion have Livy's Account of the Origin of this Superfitit you to drink, fince you have now no Body left on, when the Romans ravilly'd the Daughters of you; for that which was capable of Hunger and the Sabines, who came to Rome to fee the Plays Thirft was buried in Lydia, and the Soul hath no given there by Romulus, there was one very need of drinking and eating. beautiful Virgin among ft them, who was defign. Tani. 'Tis my Punishment, Menippus, that my ed for Talaffus, a young Roman, that was mighti- Soul should undergo the same Change, as my ly beloved by his Fellow-Citizens, and to the Body. End the might not be forced out of the Hands | Men. I believe it, fince you fay it, but tell me of thole who defigned her for him, they be- what is it you fear? Are you arraid to die of thought themselves to cry out, à Talago, a Ta- Thirst, as if there were another Death after laffio; for u for Talathus. In fhort, the was pre- this? fented to him, and because it proved to be a. Tant. No, but that is part of my Punishment, very happy Marriage, the Romans called upon to be thirfly and yet have no need to be for him at their Weddings, that fothey might have Men. Tantalus, you rave, and if you have any as much Content in their Marriage as he had need to drink, 'tis of Hellebore, to cure you of

TALENTUM; a Talent; this Word with Thirft, and not Water. the Ancients one time fignified Weights, ano- | Tane. I do not refuse to drink, provided any ther time a Sum of Money, and fometimes a be given me. Piece of Mon.y; the ewere feveral forts there. Men. Tantalus, be fatisfied, you are not the of; that which Authors speak oftenest of is the only one of the Dead that does not drink; for Artick, alent, of which there were two forts, all of them, who ever they be, having no Bodies, mages of those Gods, and not with Numbers or piter's Son, who treating the Gods with a Sun-Dots as our Dice are: But if that be true, per, dreft his own Son Peleps for them, in orthose Figures or Images must have been applied der to try whether they could perceive it or each of them to fignifie some particular Num- no; there were none of them deceived but the ber; for 'tis certain, that if two of the opposite Goddes Ceres, who eat some of the Shoulder: Sides fignified one, and the other fix; and that the Gods conceived fuch a Horror at this Cruelalso of the two other opposite ones, one was ac- ty, that they condemned Tantalm to be tormentcounted three, and the other four : This Game ed with Hunger and Thirst in the midst of Wawas very ancient, feeing the Lovers of Penelope ters, and plenty of all forts of Fruits, in Hell. play'd at it in the Temple of Minerva, for where all of them vanished as foon as ever it was a Cuftom to play in the Temples: 'twas a | he put forth his Hand to reach them. Lucion in Game used by old Men at Rome, as Augustus him- his Dialogue of the Dead makes him speak to Me-

> Menippus. Tantalus, why do you weep, and you dwell?

Tantalus, Menippus, I die with Thirft.

Men. Are you fo lazy, that you cannot floop to drink, or as much as take up fome Water in

Tant. The Water disappears when I draw near an Evil contrary to the Madness of feeling the greater and the leffer; the leffer was 60 cannot drink; but all of them are not fo exand beheld the Sabines going by, the was much taken with the rich Bracelets, which those People wore on their Left Arms; and this made her livering the Capicol up to him, upon Condition her the whole Sum. Those Books were found the Capitol, but the Sabiner cruthed her to thought to have been composed by Sibylla Cumea, Death with the Weight of their Shields: Some and were fo much efteemed at Rome, that they Authors impuse the Surrendring of the faid Place to Spurius Tarpeius, who was Governour, and affirm, that Romulus caused him to be thrown down headlong over that famous Work, which fince bore his Name, and was called the Tarpeian Rock. TARQUINIUS PRISCUS, before was called Lucumon, who with all his Family came Janicalum, an Eagle fell upon him, and took in the Year of the World 3545, of the Julian Peaway his Cap, with which he play'd for some riod 4205,509 before Christ's Nativity satter the time in the Air, and then put it upon his Head again: Tanaquilla his ite, who was a Tafaan hy Delicat and well skilled in the Art of Augury, gave her Husband a favourable Interpretation of βάραθρον. this Prodigy, and affured him he should be King, which came to pais accordingly; for he fucceeded Ancus Martins : He deleated the Sabines and Tufcans, the last of which fubmitted to him, and as a Mark of their hift clomage made him a Prefent of a Gold Crown, and a Scepter, at the Top of which there was an Eagle in Relievo, an Ivory emandered with Figures of various Colours, lays, There flood a Temple of Diana, in the file and 12 Lidors, acknowledging him for their of Linia, named Taugoment; and Lity, L. 4-King, and rightful Lord of the Twelve Divinons of the Infant: When he had confulted the Augur, Acres Navius, in order to know of him whether what he thought of might be put in Execution, and the dagur having affured him of the fulfilling of it, ook a Razor, and cut a Stone with it in two: He died when he was Eighty Years of ge by a Blow given him on the tlead with an Ax, by the Heirs of Ancus

TARQUINIUS LUCIUS; Tarquinius furnamed superbus, the Son of Tarquinius Prijeus, and King of Rome. As the Toundations of the Capitol were a digging up by his Order, they found a Man's Head there newly out off. This Accident was taken for a Prodigy that prognofficated the City of Rome (hould one Day be the Miffres) of the World; another Prodigy also happened, which was a firange Woman who came to Tarquin, and prefented him with Nine Volumes, which the offered to fell him for a very great them in any Preferre, and asked him is he would is the Bull that carried Europa from Phankis in-treamly thirfly as you are, to as not to be able take the fix that remained at the same Price she had asked for the Nine: Tarquin looked upon TARPEIA; the Daughter of Terpeius. As this Proposal to be ridiculous, but the Woman the was one Day upon the Walls of the Capitol, again burnt three of the fix Volumes, and full the same Price for the three that were leit, which she had done for the Nine. Tarquin having confulted the Pontiffs thereupon, paid it was to keep these Books, and to consult them as occasion required: They were called Duumviri: They had no recourse to these Books, but when the Affairs of the Commonwealth were very urgent, and that in order to find out a Way to expiate the Proligies, and avert publick Calamities. To quin was expelled Rome, after he had reigned 25 Years, and they fet up a popular Government

TARTARA; by this Name Hell was called by the Ancients, and Homer names it

TAUROPOLIUM, or TAUROPO-LIO >: Sacrifices of Bulls, which were offered to Cybele, the Mother of the Gods, to render Thanks to the Goddess of the Earth, for her teaching Men the Art to tame those Animals, and fit them for Labour : They also facrificed black Bulls to Neptune, to denote the Fury of the Sea. Strabo, L. 14. Of bis Hiftory of the World, Dec. s. calls this Temple Tauropolum; and the Sacrifices offered therein to Diana Tauropolia: In the mean time Dioryfius in his Book de fitu orbis fays, That Diana was not called Tauropola from the People, but from the Multitude of the Bolls in that Country, and over whom the fail Goddels prefided, which was the Occasion of giving her the Name of Taurica. Diodorus Siculus, L. 3. Hift. relates that the Queen of the Amazons, who trained up her Daughters to Hunting and Arms, instituted a Sacrifice called Tauponontor. The Silver Medal of Aulus Fostbumus represents this handsomly enough; for you have Diana on one fide with her Crescent, low and Quiver, and on the other a Bull facti-

TAURUS; a Bull; which anciently confifted of the great Sacrifices appertaining to the Pagan Religion: Its also the lecond Sign in the Zodiac, into which the Sun enters on the 21ft of April: It confifts of 14 Stars: Those who have writ of fabulous Aftronomy, fay, that this Sign to Candia: Others will have it to be Io, whom the Gods whom they adored, for fear of confi-Jupiter chang'd into a Cow, and afterwards ning them within too narrow Limits: Thus the placed in the Heavens among the Stars. There Perfians who worshipped the Sun believed they are divers Mountains of this Name, and among should wrong his Power to go about to enclose the reft, one in Afia, that is extraordinary large him within the Walls of a Temple, who had the and high, they gave it several Names, because whole world for his Habitation: And therefore 'tis composed of many other Mountains; and when they ravaged the Territories of Greece, TAYGETE; the Daughter of Allas fine the Divine Majesty to Bounds, who had the and Pleione, and one of the Pleiales, by whom Heaven and the Earth for his Habitation. Nee Jupiter had Lacedemon, who was the Founder fequor, favs Cicero, leg. fecun. Magos Perfarum, of the City Lacedemon. There was a Moun- quibus audoribus Xerxes inflammaffe templa Gracia tain of this Name in Laconia, near Sparta, con- dicitur, quod parietibus includerent Deos, quibus secrated to Castor and Pollux, at the Foot of omnia deberent effe parmia & libera, quorumque which they were born, as Homer fays.

TEGEA; a City of Arcadia; Statius fays, that Pan and Mercury, who were much honour- to the God., Diogenes fays, this World ferred this Name that which the Greets named Allas, Temple to their Goddeis Corona, nor the Albewhich were the Figures of Men supporting the mians erect a Statue to Clemency, because they Out jettings of Cornishes in Architecture: An said, the ought to dwell in the Hearts of Men, Author who lived in these last Ages, thinks that and not in Places not capable to contain her, the Word Tlemon, which in Greek is TANLOW, as Stati us fays; a Wretch that bears Misfortune with Patience, does not diagree with those Statues which in Architesture fustain the Cornishes of Buildings.

TELCHINES, the Sons of Minerva and Sol, or of Saturn and Aliepe: There are some Authors who fay, they were very wicked Persons, who bewitched People with their Looks only, and made it rain and hail when they pleafed; wherefore Ovid fays, Jupiter turned them into Rocks because of their Wickedness: Some there are who confound them with the Curetes and Corybantes. See Corybantes.

ped the Earth under the Name of Tellus and lays, that Deucalion was the first who founded Tellumo, of whom Tellus was the Female and the Cities and erected Temples for the Gods: Viother the Male; and so there was both a God and truvius says, that the Architect Pythills was the Goddeis of them: St. Augufine recites Varro's first who built a Temple at Priene; but Herodorus Words hereupon; Una eadem terra habet gemi- and Strabo are for the Egyptians having been the nam vim, & maj ulinam, quod semina producat; & People who first built Temples and Altars to femininam, quod recipial aique nutriat, unde a vi the Gods, and appointed Sacrifices. Livy infeminina diela eft Tellus, Cavi mafculina Tellumo: forms us, that Romnius was the first who built The same Farth hath a double Virtue, viz. a a Temple at Rome to Jupiter Feretrius. Malculine for the Production of Seeds, and a Feminine for the receiving and nourifhing of them : There was one fort of Temples called Antes or from the other Tellumo.

Place in The flaty watered by the River Peneus; which was a temple of Fortune, the Particulars The Agreeableness of this Place has been the Oc of which are not known. The fecond kind of Cation of giving the Name of Tempe to all Houtes | Temple was called Profiles, because it had no of theature.

Nation to barbarous as not to acknowledge and lo: The littory which is in Bas-relievo in the writing some Deity; but there have been many Gable End of the Front, is recounted by Panjathe Greeks call it altogether by the Name of their Magi pertwaded Xerxes to deftroy all the Temples he mer with, for they feemed to conbic mundus omnis templum effet & domus. Zeno and and all the Stoicks would have no Temples built ed here, from hence took the Name of Ie- them for a Temple; the Bithynians went up to Mountains when they were about worthipping IELAMONES; the Romans called by of Jupiter; the Sicyonians would never build a > Nulla autem effigies, nulli commissa metallo Forma Des, mentes babitare as pedora gaudet.

The Ancient Germans worshipped the Gods in Woods only, as did also a great many other

There are fome Authors who attribute the Original of Temples to Fanus, others to Fannus fome to Jupiter King of Crete, and many to Merops or Excus Jupiter's Son: There are some who will have the Egyptians or Arcadians to have TELLUS, the Earth, the Romans worship- built Temples to the Gods. spollonius Tyaneus

Temples were built after a different Manner: From this last it came to be named Tellus, and Parastaies, because there were no Pillars or Pediments, but only iquare Pilafters, cailed Antes by TEMPE; a very pleasant and delightful the Ancients; Virtuvius gives us a Model thereof, Pillars but in the Front, fuch was the Temple of TEMPLUM, a Temple; there was no Ceres Elufina begun by Idinus and finish'd by Phi-People who would not build any Temples to nias, who lays, that near the Temple of Ceres

Top of the other, from between which the ble and enriched with fuch fine Ornaments that Priefts went every Year to tike a Writing, they rendred their Names famous who built wherein was contained the Ceremonies that were them. The Defign of these Four 1 emples was to be performed at their Sacrifices during the fo well contrived, that the same was even ad-Year; and because the Ancients were went to mired in the Council of the Gods. The first of represent the particular Methods they used in these was the Temple of Diana begun by Cieoffering Sacrifices in the Front of their Temples, hipton a Native of Crett and his Son Mengenes, and that the same in Respect to the Sacrifices at Epbefus of the Ioni k Order, and which Deoffered in the Temple could not be done, be- metrius Diana's Slave and P.c.nius the Ephefian cause they varied every Year, it was thought fit | finished : The second was that which the same to give this Account here, which flews one of Paonius and Daphnii the Milefian built to Apollo the main Particulars relating to these Ceremo- in the City Miletus, and which was also built nies, which was to take a Writing from between according to the Ioni. I Order. The third was those Stones wherein the Method was prescribed | the Temple of Ceres and Proserpina at Eleusis, that ought to be observed at the Sac ifices of which saint according to the Dorick Order fered during this Year. The third fort of Tem- of a Prodigious Bignels, without any Pillars on ple they called Amphiproflylus, that is a double the Out-fide, that so there might be the more Fourth was called Periptere, because it had Pillars round it, and of this kind was a Temple nes: Pliny tays, they went to the Top of the Water of the River of Aipkans mixed together. Temple by a Pair of Stairs made of Vine-wood

TEM

Elufina there were Two great Stones one on the | Temples, tays Virruvius, in Greece built of Mar-Profishes having Columns behind as well as be- room for Sacrifices, and to which Philo afterfore, such as the Temple of Concord was. The wards on the Time that Demerius Phakreus commanded at Ailens, made a Proples by fetting Pillars before it, to render the Building built to Honour and Vertue by Murius the Archimore Majestick, and also make more room for ted. The fifth fort of Temple they named those who were not yet admitted to the Myste-Fleudodipierus, that is, a falie Dipierus; because ries appertaining to the Sacrifices of those Godit had not those Two Rows of Pillers which the defles. The Fourth was the Temple of Jupiter Dipterus has, and of this fort was the 1 emple of Olympius begun by Collutius at Atbens, of the Co-Diana in the City of Magnifia built by Hermoge- rinthian Order, very large and magnificent: Paunes Alabandinus the first and most famous Archi- Janias says it had Pillars within, that made a Petelt among the Ancients, who was the Inventor rilly in he also mentions a Ceremony represented of this kind of Temple. The fixth they called on the Front thereof, which was, that the Priefts Dipterus, because it had Two Rows of Pillars every Year on the 19th of February befineared round it, and of this fort was the Temple of the Altar of Jupiter Olympius with Stuff made of Diana at Ephefus built by Cuchibon and Mesage- Afnes, brought from the Protaneum, and the

The Romans built feveral Temples at Rome, which was all of one Piece and made of one Vine | and in other Parts of the Roman Empire to their only. The feventh was a Temple called Type- Gods, tince Numa's Time; before, tays Terrulthrum, it was open at Top and expected to the In- lian, the Romans worthipped their Gods without juries of the Air, of which fort was the Temple lany Temples and Images, and martifed their of Jupiter Olympius built at Athers by Coffucius, Religion Without Ceremonies: They had Three a Roman Architect: Paulanias fays, the Altar Temples at Rome in Honour of Fanus; the first was raifed, and there were leveral Steps to go was built by Konulus after he had made Peace with the Sabines, wherein he put Janus his The Temples of the Gods ought to be fo con- Statue with two Faces, intimating that the Ketrived, that provided nothing were in the Way, mans and Sabines were united into one People, the Image which was in the Temple should look and that the two Kings Romulus and Taius made towards the West, that to those who were to but one head to govern them. This Temple offer Sacrifice, might turn towards the East and had but two Gates, which were only open in time the Image; and that in making their Prayers of War, and flut in time of Peace. Into this they might fee all at once, both the Temple and Temple the Confuls, after the Declaring War, that part of the fleavens lying to the East, and went accompanied with the Senate and Soldiery, that the Images feemed to rife with the Sun, to and opened the Gates thereof; here also they look upon those who prayed unto them at the took Possession of their Othice, and for that Reaoffering of Sacrifices: The Temples of the An- Ion it was faid they opened the Year. Janus his cients were either round or iquare, the round fecond Temple was built by Cn. Duillius in the consisted of two forts, viz. the round Perspects, | Pear Market, after the fielt Funick War ; but and the Monopiers; the square were also two- lixing half ruined by time, it was rebuilt by the fold, one had no Pillars, or it any they were en- | Emperor Tiberius, as Tacitus lavs, L. 2. zinnal. closed within the Walls of the Porch; the others | The third under the Name of Janus Quadrifrons, had Columns without fide. There were Four for with four Faces, was built in the Ox-Market, in a little Valley called the Velabrum, between to them, that was represented by a thick shape. Mount Palarine and the Capitol, and the Oc- less rough Stone. M. Valerius, one of the Decasion of it was : . The Romans, says Servius, puties, being come to Terracina with this Stone. at first represented Janus with two Faces, but lent Advice to the Senate of it, and told them it after the Taking of Faleria in Tuscany, having wasnecessary, together with the Ladies, to fend met with a Statue of Fanus that had four Faces, the richeft Man in all the City to receive her. they were defirous to have one like it at Rome, and to honour him the more, they built him a 1 emple with four Faces, each having 12 Niches her to the Port of Oflia, and brought her to Rome. in it, with a great Gate, which denoted the four Seasons of the Year, and the 12 Months: Varro upon Mount Palatine: Next Year M. Livius fays there were Twelve Altars dedicated to fa- and Claudian the Centors built a Temple on purnus, each of which represented a Month of the pose for her, and M. Junius Brutus dedicated Year. But befides these Three Temples, there! was also a Chappel, known by the Name of A des Jani Curiatii, dedicated to Janus by that Horsius, who deseated the three Curiasii : There is also mention made of fanus Septimianus, tol was furnamed Capitolinus, as may be seen by tho' it was believed to have been an open Buld- a Medal of Aurelia Quirina, a Vestal Virgin, ing for all comers and goers, built by Septimius where Jupiter is represented litting in the middle Severus.

of Saturn. The first Temple built to Saturn ter in the other, with this Title, Jupiter Optiwas that erected by Tarius, King of the Sabines, at the Capitol, after the Peace made between first devoted by Tarquinius Priscus, and afterhim and Romulus; the fecond was confectated by wards built by Tarquinius Superbus. Upon the Tullus Hoffilius, after he had triumphed 3 times Frontispiece of it were the Tiophies of Arms over the Sabines, and twice over the Albans: and Triumphant Chariots represented. Histori-He dedicated it and inflituted the Saturnalia. ans lay Tarquinius Superbus expended in the Build-The third was dedicated by the Confuls A. Sem ling of this Temple above 3000 I. Sterl. Herethe provius Atratinus, and M. Minutius: Tho' others | Statue of that God was fet up of maffy Gold 10 lay it was Tarquinius Superbus that built it, and that Foot high, with feveral Veffels of Emeralds, according to the Advice of Valerius Publicola, he and other precious Stones: The Sibylls Books made it the Place wherein the publick Treasure | were kept in this Temple. They built him also was kept: It was in this 1 emple Foreign Em other Temples under various Names, as that of batfador, were first received by the publick Jupiter Vindex, which I. Papyrius Curfor vowed I realizers, who fet down their Names in the Re- to build him in a light against the Samnies; and gifters of the Treatury, and defray'd their Expences: There it was they kept the Minutes of Marriage-Contracts, and all Acts made by Pa. Augustus caused to be boilt on Mons Capitolinus, rents; as also the Names of all the Citizens of and that of Jupiter Ultor, or Vindex, which M. Rome, writ upon Ivory-books: Those also who | Agrips dedicated to him. had obtained their treedom went thither to hang up their Chains, and confectate them, accor ling to the T. it mony of Marrial :

Has care gemina compede dedicat catenas, Saturne, tibi Zotias annulos priores.

nelius S. pio, turnamed aprilanus and P. Licinus, Portico, and over against them the Statues of or the Silylis, and found that in order to drive were made by Myron; and by Propertius are the Carteagmians out of Italy, they must bring called Armenta Myronu, The Flork of Myron, the Mother of the Gods from Pefinuntia to Rome; which represented the Daughters of Piatus,

The Senate pitched upon P. Cornelius Scipio Nafe. ca, who with the Roman Ladies went to receive where they placed her in the Temple of Victory, the lame 12 Years after.

TEMPLUM | OVIS; Jupiter's Temple; the most famous was that of Jupiter Opt. Max. built at the Capitol, who from the Capiof his Temple, that was of a Square Form; he TEMPLUM SATURNI; the Temple holds his Thunderbolt in one Hand and his Scepmus Maximus Capitolinus. This Temple was which Fabrus built after the Defeat of that People : That of Ve-Foun, or Jupiter Ionans, which

TEMPLUM JUNONIS; the Temple of Juno, which Camilla dedicated upon Mount Aventine after the taking of Veil.

TEMPLUM APOLLINIS; Apollo's Temple; that doubtless was the chiefest and most famous of all, which was built by Augustus upon Mount Palatine, after his Victory over An-TEMPLUM CYBELES; the Temple tony and Cleopatra, at Adium : In this Temple of Cybele, the Mother of the Gods. The Ro- he erected a fine and spacious Portico for a Greek mans had no knowledge or this Deity till to- and Latin Library; the Daughters of Danaus wards the Year 548, in the Confulbin of Cor- were placed according to their Order in this when a Shower of Scones rell during the fecond Egyptus his Sons a : orfe-back; in the Court be-Puni. War. They had recourte to the Books tore the Temple were Four brazen Cows, which wherefore they presently dispatched Ambassa. King of argos, who were transformed into Cows dors to King Arralus, who delivered the Goddels for preferring themselves before Juno. The fill off the Capitol; and on the other the People that built Temples to Minerva for having Fourteen Children of Niobe, the Daughter of taught them the Art to make Coloffur's; but Instalus, who died miterably for the Pride of having not prepared Fire for a Sacrifice they meir Mother, who had incurred the Displeasure made to her, she in Spight withdrew to Albent, of Latons and Apollo. Upon the top of the Tem- where the was worthipped under the Name of ple the Sun appeard fitting in a Charlot of mat | παρθέν (Gr, that is, a Virgin. They built a very ir Gold, that gave so lively and bright a Light, magnificent Temple for her, and got her Statue that Men could not bear the Splendor of it. to be made by Phidias, all of Gold and Ivory 39 Feet Properties gives a Description of this Temple, high: They graved upon her Buskins the Fight L. 2. Eleg. 31. where he speaks to Cynthia: In between the Centaurs and Lapitha, round her this Temple there was a Brais Candleftick of Shield was represented the Battel fought by the wonderful Workmanship: It sesembled a Tree Amazons against the Athenians, and on the inside and its Branches, to which there hung lighted the Battel of the Giants with the Gods: She had Lamps instead of Fruit; to these Branches the also several Temples and Chappels at Rome, but Poets fastned their Works, after they had got the most famous was that which stood upon them approved by the Publick.

TEMPLUM DIANE; the Temple of on Mount Avenime, in the Reign of Servius Tul- Mercury in great Veneration, and the Germans Hus, by whole Perswasion the Romans and the worshipped him as the Sovereign of the Gods, Lains erected her a Temple at a common as we are informed by Tacinus, to whom they of-Charge, and there met every Year to offer Sa. fered Humane Sacrifices; Deorum maximum Mercrifice in the Name of all the People, and to curium column, cui bumanis quoque boftis litare fas terminate all their Differences; and to the End | babent. The Grecims erected Statues to him, which they might have an eternal Monument of this they placed before their Houses, as the Romans Confederacy, they graved the Conditions of this fet them in the Cross-ways and great Roads: Alliance upon a Pillar of Brafs, with the Names | These Statues they called Herma, which had of all the Cities comprized therein, and of the neither Arms nor Legs, and were only a great Deputies that had figned them. This Temple shapeless Lump of Matter, except the Head. was adorned with Cows-horns, the Reason Cow, an Angur told him, if he offer'd the lippict War, to revenge his lather's Death, acfaid Cow to Diana in her Temple upon Mount acording to Ovid. Aventine, he should never want, and that his City should bring all Italy under Subjection: Autro upon this Occasion coming to Rome, one of his Servants acquainted King Servius with the Augur's Prediction, who confulting the Pontiff Cornelius thereupon, Auro was ordered to go and wash himself in the liber, before he fat the Capitol, where their Enligns and other Mitrificed the Cow, and in the mean time King litary Cognizances were put up; and the Senate Servine offered the same in Secrifice, and affixed ordered that the Charlot wherein Cafer had triher Horns to the Walls of the Temple. Auguflus built her a Temple in Sicily after the De- Commensuration of his Victories. Sicily; on the Frontispiece of the faid Temple of Venus; Cafar Augustus built a Temple to Vehe caused three Legs to be graven, as a Symbol nus Generix, which flood in the publick Place of Trinacria or Swill, with this Inscription, Im that Julius Cafar made in Reme. of the World, says there was a Temple of Diana Volta; the Romans built it round as supposing perator Cafar. Strabo, L. 14.0 his Description Hip, 1.4. Der. 5. calls the faid Temple Tame- into this Temple, and the Goddess was served polium, and the Sacrifices offered there Transpolis, however, Dionyfus in his Book de fina Orbit, lays that Diany was not named Transpolis that Diany was not named Transpolis. that Diana was not named Tanapola from the panal was burnt, the Verfals faved the People, but from the Bulls, which were very numerous in that Country.

TEMPLUM MINERVE; the Temat one of which might be feen the Gault, who ple of Minerus: The Rhodians were the first Mount Aventine, mentioned by Ovid, L.6. Faft.

TEMPLUM MERCURII, the Tem-Diana; the first Temple built her at Rome was up- ple of Mercury, the Greets and the Romans had

TEMPLUM MARTIS; the Temple of whereof Plutareb and Licy relate unto us. They Mars; Augustus built a Temple to Mars upon lay, that a certain Sabine, whole Name was Au- Mons Capitolinus, inscribed Marti Ultori, to Mars to Coraius, having an extraordinary heautiful the Avenger; he had vowed to do it in the Phil-

> Templa feres, Emevillore vocaberis Ultor: Voverat, & fufo latus ab tofte redit.

Dio, L. 50. of his Roman History, fays, that Augustus built to Mars the Avenger a Temple on

TEMPLUM VENERIS; the Temple

TEMPLUM VESTÆ, the Temple of of the Via facra, and carrying it into the 1 mperor's Palace, the Figure of this was to be seen on Lording to the Order he received from his Mo. the Reverse of the Medals of Vespatian and Julia ther Livia, Augustus his Wife. Pia, which was only a small Statue of Pallas hold- TEMPLUM PIETATIS, the Temple ing her spear in one Hand and her Shield in of Piety dedicated by Assilius in the Place called the Temple of Ceres Elufina of the Dorick Or- | Breafts, lived. der, which was begun by Idinus and finished by TEMPLUM ÆSCULAPII, the Tem-Pillars in the Front thereof.

NORIS; the Temple of Vertue and Honour built him, and a Statue made of Gold and Ivobuilt by the Architect Mutius by Marius his Or- ry by Trasimedes the Parian : They built him a der, this Temple might have been reckoned of Temple at Rome in a little Island formed by the Number of the most excellent Buildings, the Tiber after his Image had been brought had it been made of Marble, and that the Mag- thither from Epidawus under the Form of a nincence of the Matter had been answerable to Serpent. the Greatness of the Defign. St. Augustine speaks | The Temples of the Tutelary Gods, says of this Temple, and lets us know that the first Virruvius, as well as those of Fupiter. Funo and Fart of it was dedicated to Vertue, and the o- Minerva, were scituated in a high Place, that ther to Honour, as a Toundation of good Mo- fo from thence they might fee the Walls of the rality, which Vientius also intimates by some City, those of Mercury, Isis and Serapis were in thing particularly related by him, which St. Au the Market place, those of Apollo and Bacchus gafine does not mention, and that is, that the near the Theater; that of Hercules in the Cir-Temple had no Posticum or Back door as most cus, if there be no Place particularly teraside to of the rest had; for that does intimate, that we perform their Exercises in, nor any Ampaimult not only pass through Vertue to attain to theater; that of Mas in the Field without the Honour, but that Honour is also obliged to re- City, as well as that of Venus which ought to pais through Vertue, that is, to persevere be near the Gates: The Reason hereof might therein, and acquire more of it.

STRIS, was built by Seylla at Preneste, where and Mars to stand without the City, to the end the Figure of the Goddels was gift: the Pave- that they might deprive young People and the inlaid A ork.

ple of Hercules built near the Circus Magnus.

that bood in the Circus Haminius.

the ca, which the Phanicians in their Language zens, and fecure them against the Attempts of Called II- legabalus: He was worthipped at Rome their knomies. The Temple of Ceres thould by smoothus from him furnamed Heliogabalus, also be built without the City in a remote Place. who must rim a Temple on Mount Palaine, and whither they were not obliged to go but with ner, a Lampridus tays, he would not only when they offered Sacrifice, because that Place have recover the Sacrifices of the Romans but ought to be used with much Respect and great almist 27 pr.

ple filip rey, which Clodius built upon Mount observed at Rome, for the Temple of Mars the seventice, considered with Braf-pillars and beau- Avenger frood in that called Augustus his Place beit 5 amaries.

Transle of H. p. ine s, to whom the R mans bris, Valean. Mala Fortuna and All nels. built a Temporal data A 19th, and por the Statue | T | 1. MINALLA, the healt of Landof that Goodes to be made by Arch cliss furnal marks. No after note this effects, to prevent med Potter or Section, that cost Lucians Sixty Men from our other, upon their Neighbours

Locus Romanus, where that Woman who nourish-TEMPLUM CERERIS ELUSINÆ; ed her Father in Prison with the Milk of her

Philo, who made it a Prollylus, having added ple of Afculapius, the God of Phylick; He was at first worshipped at Epidaurus a City of TEMPLUM VIRTUTIS & HO- Slavonia, where he had a magnificent Temple be found in the Writings of the Turan Arufpices, TEMPLUM FORTUNE EQUE- who would have the Temples of Venus, Vuncan ment of the faid Temple confilted of Mosaick or Mothers of Families or many Opportunities to debauch themselves, by the Romoseness of Venus TEMPLUM HERCULIS, the Tem- Temple, and free Houses from the Danger of Fires by drawing out of the City (in offering TEMPLUM CASTORIS & POL- Sacrifices to Vulcan) all the evil at att, that Dej-LUCIS, the Temple of Caffor and Follow by might cook, who presided over Fire, and also by placing Mars his Temple wi hour the Walis, T. MPLUM SOLIS, the Temple of prevent Morders and Quartels among the Cti-Purity of Mann vs. In the mean time we do not TEM. Lil M LIBERTATIS; the Tem- and thele Precious of the rate of absolutes were tine I will everal curious Stat les made by the and that of Venus in the Place of Julius Cafar: Nay, there were feveral beingers or the mit-T. M. I UM FOE: IC! TATIS, the chievous perties within the City, as table of Fe-

[Lard , as not t' : end he inftirated yearly TLM: LUM CONCORDIE; the Secretices upon their Landemicks, that to Re-Temple of Concord, dedicated by Tiberius ac ligion might be conjuined with juffice, and that in the Knowledge of the faid Land-marks, which were accounted as so many Gods, they having no other Representations of the God Terminis. They facrificed Wheat-cakes with the first Fruits would not have the Stones blooded, because the Terminus, Spargitur & caso communis Terminus agno, Nec queritur laitens cum fibi porca datur.

TERMINUS, a God confifting of fquare Stones, to which the Ancients fometimes added a Head, which they perfumed, and whereon they fet Crowns, which they wrapped up in Linnen, and were made use of to distinguish the Bounds of Fields and every Man's Estate: Terminus on the Revers of a Silver Medal of Augustus is represented over a I hunder-bolt to express the Device of that Emperor, Festina lente: Terminus which should not be removed from his Place not illy denoting Slownefs, but a Thunder-bolt on the Contrary Swiftness, with which it ought to be bined. Numa Pompilius dedicated a Temple to him upon Mons Tarpeius, which was open at Top. His Feafts which were celebrated in February were called Terminalia. It was forbidden both by the Greek and Roman Laws to take away thele Land-marks, as also by the Law of Mofes in Deuteronomy ; Thou halt not remove thy Neighbour's Land-mark. TERPSICORE, one of the 9 Mules, to whom they attribute the Invention of Dancing and Balls. TERRA, the Earth, a Sublunary Globe looked upon by the Philosophers to be a fimple, cold and dry Element; modern Aftrologers maintain that the Earth moves round the Sun; Alexander fent Diogenersus and Beso to measure the Earth; the Romans also fent Zenodorus, Theo-Encomium upon the Earth, where he lays, that we have with Region given it the Name of Mother, and that God has bestowed it upon us for our Palace, as Heaven is his. The Pagans called it the Mother of the Gods, because they meant those Gods who had been Men, and they worshipped it under the Name of Rhea, Cybele, round Form, to denote the Rotundity of the Earth: The Earth was also worshipped under the Name of Mara, which figurated a Nurie or Mo-

every Year they might reiresh their Memories ther. The Germans, says Tacisus, worshipped her Hersbe, they believed the walked up and down the World, and intermedled with the Affairs of Men; they had also a Forest conjectaof the Field to him, but no Animal, for they ted to her in one of the Illes of the Ocean, where 'fhe had a covered Chariot, that none durit draw night o but her Sacrificer: He took notice of Agreement, and not by Force with the Effution the Time when the went into it, and very redid not continue always, as to the Point of un- I drawn by two Heifers: where ever the came her bloody Sacrifices, for we find by Ovid and Horace Arrival was celebrated with Leftwals and pubthat they facrificed Swine and Lambs to the God lick Rejoicings: It was not then lawful for them to wage War, every Man locked up his Arms, and l'eace and Rest reigned every-where: Then the Sacrificer brought her back to her Temple, wearied with the Conversation of Men, after which the Chariot-Covering and even the Goddeis her felf, if we must believe them, plunged down into a Lake, where the was washed by the Slaves, whom they presently drowned.

TESTAMENTUM, a Testament or Will, was a solemn and authentick A&, whereby a Man at his Death exprest his Will concerning the Disposal of his Estate: The Laws which gave Men Power to make Wills, and to extend the same even beyond their Lives, thought these Wills ought to be exprest with Care, and for that end feveral Effential Solemnities accompanied them to make them valid. That of the Twelve Tables, was the most ancient Law we hear mentioned among the Romans, and the first that introduced the conferring of this lower upon the Father of the Family, that is, upon him that was the Mafter and Fossessor of his Priviledges, and not in the Power of another, from whence it follows that the Children of the Family who were under the Authority of their Fathers, could not make a Will; but herein Soldiers were excepted, tho' the Sons of a Family, the Imperial Constitutions impowered them to dilpote by Will the Goods obtained in War, which were called Bona caftrenfia aut quafi caftrenfia, and over which the Father had no Power. Slaves could not make a Will, because they had nothing of their own which they could dispose of, nay, they could not do it with the Confent of their Mafters: All fuch as were condemned to die or to the Authority of Julius Cafur. Plury makes an the Gallies, could make no Will after their of Punishment, but even their Wills that preceded were not valid, for they, by being condemned to undergo a Capital Punishment, ceased to be Citizens: It was the fame thing in refrect to those who were condemned to perpetual Banishment and to Strangers, for the one lost the Right of Citizens, and the other had never got ferping: . he Temple of Vefts at Rome was of a it of the Emperor, Thole who were given for less the same were made before their Captivity, Children could not make a Will before they became of Age, that is, Boys must be full Four-I whereon Actors appear and act, whereas the teen and Girls Twelve.

Vefta, and Saturn's Sifter, the was Neptune's Wife, | Etators were contained : Their ancient Theaters and the Mother of all the Nymphs and Rivers | were only built of Wood, and served but once. according to Hefiod in his Theogram. See under just as the Stages or Scaffoldings we now crest

the Poets made to be the Inventreis of Geome- took the Freedom to far as to begin a Stone

ing failing near unto certain Islands in the Egean | but Scipio Nafica did to vigoroully oppose it, that Sea, they were suddenly becalmed, when a their Design miscarried. Voice was heard which came from the Islands, and called Thamus; he fuffered himself to be cal- carried to Rome the Vetfels appertaining to a faled twice without answering, but answered the mous Theater there, and they were made use third time: Then the Voice commanded him, of at the Plays acted at his Triumph, some will that when he arrived at fuch a Place, to cry have him to have been the first Author of Woodthat the Great Pan was dead : All the Men in the en Theaters at Rome. M. Scaurus, fays Solinus, Ship were much frightened therewith; they confulted whether Thamus ought to obey the Voice, riched with extraordinary Ornaments: It had but Thamus concluded that if when they were 360 Pillars in Three Rows one upon another, come to the Place appointed they had Wind e- whereof the first was Marble, the second Chrisnough to pass by, he should say nothing, but if stal, and the third was of gilt Pillars; there were they were there becalmed, he must pursue the 3000 Brais Statues between the Pillars. Curio Order he had received: They were surprized built a Kind of a suspended and folding Theawith a Calm in the faid Place, when presently ter, which might be divided into two at Pleahe cried out aloud that Great Pan was dead; he lure. Pompey built a Stone Theater with fo had scarce done speaking, when they heard solid a foundation, that it seemed to have been Groans and Complaints round about them, as if built to last for ever. There was a kind of an a great many People were surprized at and af- Aqueduct made here, to convey Water into all flicted with this News: All the People in the the Rows of the Theater, either to cool the Ship were Witnesses of what happened; the Place, or to quench the Thirst of the Spectators. Noise whereof in a short time reached as far as Julius Cafur crected one of Stone near the Ca-Rome; and the Emperor Tiberius being defirous pitol, and Marcellus built another at the farther to fee Thamus himself, appointed a Meeting of all End of a Piece of Ground called Argiletum at those learned in Pagan Theology, that he might the End of the Tujcan-Street by the Foot of the know of them who this Great Pan was, and they Capitol in the second Division of the City. It concluded he was Mercury and Penelope's Son. was confectated by Augulius. There were no Dialogue where Plutarch treats of Oracles; and only; Trajan built a pompous and magnificent he fays, he had it of Epitherses his Grammar one, which was ruined by Adrian. Mafter, who was in Thamus his Snip when the The principal Parts of the Ancients Thea-Thing happened. We may fay this Great Pan ters were the Scene or Building which tenarated who died in Tiberius his Reign was Christ, whose between the Profeenium and Polifeenium, or Place Death caused a general Grief and Consternation whither the Actors withdrew, and where they among the Demons, who could not now as had their Paintings, Tapiftry-works, Curtains formerly exercise their Tiranny over Men.

nifying a Reward to be conferred on him who first Actors, who contented themselves with the had shew'd iome wonderful Thing to the People: Shade of Trees, to divert the Spectators with It was a Gift confifting of Denarii, which they and so the meanest at first consisted of no other were to pay who were present to see it; and this than Trees set together and well matched was like unto the Prize called Niceterium at the Greens: They made them fometimes of plain Clympick and Circonfian Games, and to the Bra- Linnen Cloth, or shapeless Boards, till Mens Leia, a Prize among the Ancients, given to those Luxury caused them to be adorned with the that acted on their Theaters, Dancers, Panto- best Paintings, and made use of the richest Hangmimes or Jampers.

entended it farther than the Sence we take it his Time they refted fatisfied with Diversity o

Ancients by it meant the whole Circumference TETNYS, the Daughter of Calum and of the Place within which the Actors and Speupon some extraordinary Occasions. M. Vales THALIA; one of the Nine Muses whom rius Messala and Cassias Longinus when Centurs Theater upon Mount Palasine, near the She-THAMUS, a Pilot whose Ship one Even- wolf's Picture that sucked Romalus and Remus.

L. Mummizs after he had deftroyed Corinib. undertook to build a very coftly Theater, en-Thus it is Cleombrotus relates this Hiftoryin a less than Four Theaters in Campus Flaminius deligned for Machines and Mulick. The Scene THAUMAIRON, a Greek Word fig- took its original from the Simplicity of the ings to fet them out. C. Pulcher was the firft THEAIRUM; the Theater, the Remans who adorned the Scene with Paintings, for till in; for hereby we mean no more than a Stage, Columns and Statues without any other Orna

the Scene with Silver: One Petreius gilt it, Catulus The Orchefira among the Grecians made a part covered it with Ebony, and Ners to entertain Ti- of the Scene; but in the Roman Theaters none ridates gilt the whole Theater. As for the Cur. of the Actors went down to the Orchestra, which tains, Hangings, &c. the one served only to diflinguish and adorn the Scene, the other were Doors of the Theaters called Hofpitalia, were for the Conveniency of the Spectators: Those those by which they made ftrange Actors enter, of the Scene represented somewhat of the Fable, that is, those who were to appear to be of anothat was acted: They had a kind of Versanile Scene, which was a suspended Triangle, and entered by a Door that was in the middle, or such as could easily turn about, and on whose elie it was the Place whereby they entred into Curtains some things were painted, that had a the Scene, as from another Place than that relation either to the Subject of the Fable, or Chorus, or Interludes. The Sails lerved inftead that one of these Doors which was the Left, was of Coverings, and they made use of the same for the Conveniency of the Spectators only, wherewith they were shaded from the Heat of Seats of the Theater, and explaining these Verses the Sun. Casulus was the first Inventer of this of Calpburnius, who mentions Chairs for Women Conveniency; for he caused the whole Theater | to fit on, and Amphitheather to be covered with Sails, extended with Lines tied to the Masts of Ships, or pieces of Trees fastned in the Walls. Lentulus Spinsber made them of fuch fine Linnen as was never before known: Nero not only dyed them Purple, but also added Gold Stars thereunto, in the midft whereof he was painted in a as were fet above them, on the top of the Thea-Chariot, all of it wrought with Needle work, ter, between the Pillars of the Portico, which with fo much Art and Judgment, that he appear'd like an Apollo in a Serene Heaven, who tonius, who fays, that Augustus made a Law that moderating his Beams form'd a Day in relipect torbad Women to fit upon the raifed Seats of the to its Light, which was agreeable to a fine Theater, and were allowed to place themselves Night. The Machines were very ingenious; made the Gods deteend upon Earth, and reprefented Hell, Palaces and Prifons: They used both Vocal and Inftrumental Muick.

The Scene in the Theater of the Ancients generally comprehended all that belonged to the Actors: It consisted of four Parts, viz. Profcenium, Scena, Posiscenium and Hyposcenium. The Profeenium was a raited Place where the Actors or Stage; and this Profeenium confifted of two tame were Pillows, or lomewhat elfe to fit on. Parts in the Grecian Theaters, the one was the Profession purely to called where the Actors that was like an Altar : Scena was the Front of the Building, by which the Professium was separanium, according to Poliux, was before the Prefienium, and reached from the lowest part of the the Professium was railed 12 Foot high, for that convenient in Winter, because of the Rivers

ment: Anony to appear extraordinary adorned 1 of the Romans was too low to admit of Pillars: was taken up with Seats for the Senators. The ther Scene than the common one, wherein they where the principal Actors were. Poliux fays, the Door of a Prison: Lipsus will not allow that they fate any where elfe but upon the gradual Veninus ad fedes ubi pullà fordida vefte Inter famineas fpedabat turba cathedras.

He thinks they ought not to be taken for Chairs placed upon the Steps of the Theater, but fuch crowned the Theater; which he proves by Sueno were but above among the common People. with them they drew Heroes up to Heaven, Propertius also intimates the same thing, when he fays in order to express the Prohibition of his Mistress, that he should not look upon her, when the was at the Play, Colla cave inflettas ad fummum obliqua Theatrum.

But for all this Vinuvius informs us, that in Augustus his Time, and so on, they laid some thing play'd; and is that which we call the Theater upon the Seats of the Theater, whether the

THEBÆ; Thebes; there were several Cities of this Name, the Chief of which was that acted, the other was the Legeion or Thymele, or in Baoria, built by Cadmas, and famous for the Bomos, where the Chorus came to rehearle, Birth of Bacchus, and Death of Oedipus; they and the Pantonimes acted their Parts. It was will have it to have been thus named from the called Bonnos and Ara, because of its square Form Syrias Theba, which signifies an Ox, because this Animal conducted Cadmus thither: Varro affures us, that Thebes is a Baotic Word, fignifying Hilted from the Poffcenium, which was the Attiring- locks, and that the lame was still used in his time place behind the Stage, whither the Actors among the Sabines, who were defeended from withdrew and dreft themselves. The Hypofee- | a Greek Colony : But Pausanias lays, this Name was given it by a Daughter of Afopus, whose Name was Thebæ. In the mean time all thele Crebestra, to the Level of the Profeenium: This Opinions are ill grounded fince the Word Thebes Author tays it was adorned with Pillars and Sta- is Phanician, and fignifies Dire, and this Name tues, which shews that the laid Hyposenium could was given it, because it was really a dirty City. be no where but in the Greek Theaters, where Dicarebus speaks thus of it; Thebes is very inwherewith 'tis watered, the Winds that blow | her Father Laban's Idols ; Rachel furata eft Idola apon it, and Snow and Dirt wherewith 'tis patris fui: The Hebrew Text has Theraphim inntied.

I'HEMIS; a Goddess of the Ancients, whom Clemens Alexandrinus does not diftinguish furatus es Deos meos? Eth Elobai: Its not withmuch from Ceres, in the fearful Account he out Reason that the vulgar I ranslation, and the gives of her obscene Mysteries: But Diodorus | Septuagint have taken Theraphim for Laban's Idols, si-ulus in the Relation he gives us of the Theo- which Rachel hid in the Baggage and fat upon iogy of the Cretians, represents her quite otherwile, for he makes her to be Sifter to the Titans, was purfued, the put the Theraphins in his room and Miffrels of Oracles, Laws and Sacred Ce- in the Bed, to amuse those who looked for him: remonies: Themis vaticinandi artem, facrorum ri- Hufea fays, the Children of Ifrael were during a sus, & leges Deum cultui fervientes princeps infor- long Captivity without Altar, Sacrifices, Epbod, mavit, & qua ad bonam jurifdictionem ac pacieftu- and Theraphims. We find in Ezekiel the King dia pertinent, edocuit. Quin & ipfum Apoltinem, quando responsum editurus est, Samierevair, his Idols, that he might know of them what was Themidu munus obire dicimus: quot Themu nimi- to come : And this made St. Augustine believe and inventrix oraculorum extiterit. This Portraiture seems to represent unto us a Moral Deity, rather like Vertue, Juffice and Wildom than | Facob should take in his Hight. an Historical Goddeis; and hereof the Readers Peace, and at last fixed Mens Fortunes, punishing their Vices, and rewarding their Vertues.

The Word Themu in all probability comes from fell into his Hands: He vanquished the Marathothe Hebrew Ibam, perfellum & integrum effe. It Srones were by the Mofaick High-Prieft, whole Luftre served the Ifraelises for Oracles when they confulted God, as Fofephus has explained the Scripture, and Tradition of the Synagogue. Ovid speaking of the Time of Deucation's Deluge, lays, Themu then pronounced Oracles:

Fatidicamque Themin, que tune oracla tenebat.

Lucian speaking of the same Subject, says,

Cum reena Themis Tripodasque teneret.

The Poets will have the Earth to have been another Etymology of the Word Themis, deducing it from the Greeck Tedeimera : The Marriage of Jupiter and Themis according to this Author was nothing but the Divine Wildom and Prescience which lie in the same Bed, and reign upon the same Throne as he. Plutarch in his Roman Que ftions fays, that Carmenta was named Itemis, and adds the was furnamed Car- you, as you have done your father, at leastwife on mia quali carens mente, because the Divine the Destinies threaten it; and therefore you prit of Prophetie took place of Man's Spirit. THERAPHIM, an Idol; when Faceb with his family withdrew in order to return to | Jupiter gave Theris to Pelaus; and this Wedfread of Idola. Laban purioed Facob, and complained of his being robbed of his Gods: Car them. When Michal faved David when he of Babylon confulted his Theraphims which were for no other end than to learn of them the Way THESEUS; the Son of Egaus, King of may be farther convinced, if they do but take the Aibens, who was Cotemporary with Hercules. Pains to examine Hefiot's Verses upon the same and related to him, and so was the frequent Themis; Poftes duxis Jupiter Plendidam The Companion of his Adventures and great Courage: min, &c. Its no more than an Allegory of Ju- He let upon one named Sciron, who took Deffice, which produced Laws, Rules, Rights, light to drown all Paffengers he met with in the Sea, he revenged the Cruelties of Procruftus. who miferably quartered the Bodies of those that

that Rachel ftole her Father Lagan's Theraphims

nian Bull, and Caledonian Boar; but his moft might also come from the famous Thummim, illustrious Exploit was the killing of the Minowhich was one of those precious and mysterious | taur, who was shut up in the Labyrinth of Crete: As he went with Pirithous to Hell to fetch back Proferging, he was there detained by Pluto, and could not get out but by the Favour of Hercules : He retired into the Island of Serros, where he was flain by King Lycomedes.

THESMOPHORIA; Feafts inftituted in Honour of the Goddel's Ceres, otherwife called Cercalia. See Cercalia.

THETIS, a Sea-Goddels, the Daughter of Chiron, or rather according to Homer, of Nereus and Doris, who was beloved of Jupiter, but being informed by Prometheus, that if he enjoy'd her, he should get a Child that should disposses him of the Kingdom of Heaven, he gave over the first that delivered Oracles, then Themis, the Intreague: And this we are informed of by and laftly Apollo: Ammianus Marcellinus gives us Lucian, in a Dialogue between Prometheus and Ju-Prometheus. If I tell you whither you are going, will you believe me? Aupiter. Why not ?

Prom. You go to lie with a Nereid.

Jup. Suppole it should be so?

Prom. You will get a Child who shall dethrone will do well not to go.

Fup. I'll believe you for once.

is elather Hate in Palefine, Rachel privately ftole I ding was celebrated by the Golden Apple, which which was written, It is for the most beautiful. The Word Tesbys comes from Thou, Nutrix, because it nourishes all Sublunary Bodies, and even the Stars themselves with its Moisture. Some took Tethys for the Earth, because the Ocean embraces it, as if the were his Wife: Now if Tethys be taken for the Earth, the Name might be as well deduced as that of the Titans from the Phxnicians or Hebrew Word Tit, Lutum: But yet 'tis much more common to take Techys ior the Sea it felf: There was another Theris, to whom Tethis was Grand-mother, for Dorn who married Nereus, and had Theris by her, was the Daughter of Oceanus and Teshys; and fo Teshys was the Grand-mother of Thetis, who married Peleus, and bare Achilles to him.

THYESTES; the Son of Pelops and Hippodamia, Father of Egiftus, and Arreus his Brother, who made him eat the Children he got on his Sifter-in-Law. In Seneca's Tragedies you have the Sun disappearing and obscured with Darkness, when Arreus tore Threstes his Brother's Children in pieces and made him eat them; and Thyestes on his part, who had comprize and Ignorance, by having to do with his the Munclians play'd upon these two Instruments own Daughter, without knowing her to be fo, conceived such an Horrour for the Fact, that he pray'd Junier to dart all his Thunderboits at his Head.

Faculare flammas, lumen ereptum polo Fulminibus exple.

T HY M E L E, a certain noted Dancer, whom Domitian took Delight in: Some Songs made in Honour of Bacchus were called Thimelia from his Name: And all the Perfons belonging to the were also called Thymelici, and the Place where they performed their Parts Ibymele.

TIBERIUS, a Roman Emperor, Son to the Empreis Livia, who was adopted and made Fartner in the Empire and Tribunicial Power by Augustus: By his Medals we find he was fat and tall and had alio large Eyes: Sueronius observes | the Left; which were called Phrygian Pipes. fomewhat very extraordinary in Respect to this Prince's yes, that he could fee as well in the Dark when he awoke, as at Noon-day, which fhews there was a great deal of Fire and Subtilty in his Nature: The same Author says, that besides this he had a fixed Look, and extended his Neck fo as he walked, and was ottentimes fo thoughtful, that 'twas a hard Matter to get a Word from him: Augustus taking Notice of his Air and Deportment, took him to be arrogant, though he endeavoured to excule him,

Differed three into the Hall, and fell as on purpose | a little turned up which was a Sign of Cruelarthe Feet of Venus, Pallas and Juno; and about ty, and indeed he was cruel, for he put his Wife Julia to Death, and flew Sempronius : Tiberius was smoothered with the hed-cloaths at the Age of 78. He was very famous as long as he continued a private Man, or commanded under Augustus, having the Art to conceal his Vices and discover his Virtues.

TIBIA, a Pipe, used among the Ancients in their Comedies: The Title of their ancient Comedies ran thus, Egerunt L. Ambivius Turpio L. Attilius Praneflinus : Modos fecit Flaccus tibits, paribus dextris & sinistris: This Comedy was acted by the Company of L. Ambivius Turpio and L. Attilius of Prenefte : Flaceus invented the Mutick, wherein he made ute of equal Pipes on the Right and Left: There is nothing about which the Ancients differed so much as about the Pipes which they called Right and Left, equal and unequal: The Pipers always play'd upon two Pipes at once in their Comedies : That which they touched with the Righthand was called the Right for that Realon, and that with the Left must consequently be termed the Left. The first had but a few Holes and made the Base, the other had more and a clearer and fharper Sound: Now when play'd Tibiu imparibus, with unequal Pipes, or Tibin dextru & finiftru, with Right and Left ones; and when they play'd with two Pipes of the same Sound, with two Rights or two Lefts, they faid, that Part was play'd with Tibiu paribus dextru, with equal Right-pipes, if they used the Base; or Tibin paribus sinistru, with equal Left pipes, if they used the Treble. Donatus lays, if the Subject was grave and lerious, they only made use of equal Right-pipes which they also called Lydian Pipes, and made a Base; but Stage, who danced and fung in the Interludes that when it was a merry Subject; they used no other than the Left-pipes, which were named Tyrian Pipes or Sarrana, that performed the Treble, and consequently were fitter for the Occanon: Laftiy, when the Subject was an Intermixture of Things merry and ferious, they used the unequal Pipes, that is the Right and TIRESIAS, the Gods took him to be a Judge of their Differences, and June took his Sight from him, but Jupiter in way of Recompence gave him the Gift of Prophene, he had been both a Man and a Woman, and faid, the Woman's Pleature was greater than that of a Man's, he having tried both of them.

TISIPHONE, one of the three Furies of Hell, and a Revenger of Murders, as her Name

TITAN, the Son of Calum and Vefta, and laying, it was rather a Defect of Nature than Saturn's Brother, whose Right it was to succeed of the Mind; he had a small Chin that was a his Father, but he quitted it in Favour of Saturn 4,13.1 upon Condition he should put all his Male Chil- who began by making his Actors ride in a Chadren to Death; but Rhea his Mother privately riot, painting their faces with Wine-lees ig orconvey'd Jupiter away, which coming to be der to difguile them, for Marks were not yet known by Titan, he made War upon Saturn, invented: Horace de arte Poetica gives us all but Fupiter fet him free. See Gigantes.

TITANES, the Titans were the Sons of Uranus and Inea, who gave them her Name, and who her felf was called the Earth: This Name comes from the Earth or Mud called Tit by the Hebrews. See Gigantes. TITHONUS, the Son of Laomedon, whom Aurora ftole away for his Beauty, and by whom the had Memnon: Jupiter at Aurora's Request he that advanced the magnificent and noble made him immortal: He forgot to ask of him that he might not grow old, therefore when he became very aged, and took no more Pleafure in worldly Things, he was transformed into a Grashopper.

TITUS, a Roman Emperor and Velbarian's Son; he proved quite contrary to other Prince's who grew more wicked when they became Emperors, than they appeared before to be in a pri- in his Ars Poetica fay, that at first there was Conduct effaced all the evil Impreffions that had the Chorus; Thefpir added a Comedian thereto, iition, liberal and benificent to every Body, which made him utter these excellent Words to his Domefticks, who put him in mind he should not promise more than he could perform. No Man, faid he, ought to return with Diffatufa-Sion from bis Prince.

TITYUS, the Son of Jupiter and Terra;

out killing him.

without any Sleeves, very large, and nied both brisk Wit; and to indeed he performed great by Men and women; but in Process of time none wore them but leud Women hence that of Horace,

In matrona, peccefue tagatas

If you commit Sin with a Woman of Quality or 64, when he had reigned full 20 Years, and most a Courtizan: The Toga was of divers Colours, justly acquired the Title of an excellent Prince. and admitted of various Ornaments: There was that called Toga domestica, wore within Doors, People, being Magnitrates taken from among Togs forenfis, abroad, Togs militaris, used by the People and choice of the People themselves. Soldiers, and tucked up after the Gabinian Fa- to withfrand whatever the Senate might atthion; and Toga pista or triumpbalu, wherewith tempt against their Liberty and Sovereignty, inthe Victorious triumphed, with imbroidered formuch that no other Power could do any thing Palms, that which had no Ornaments was called Topa Dura.

tick Poem which upon the Tileater represents withdrew to a Mountain Three Miles off from fome fignal Action performed by illustrious Per- Rome, which afterwards was called Mons Sacer, fons, and has often a ratal End. Suidas fays, and would not return to Kome but by the Per-

these Particulars,

Ignotum Tragica genus invenisse Camana Dicitur, & plauftris vexiffe poemata Thefpis Qui canerent, agerentque perundi fecious ora-

Estbylus was the first who invented Masks and Habits to disguise the Actors, and in short, 'twas Character of Tragedy to the highest Pitch.

Post banc persona pallaque repersor bonesta Afchylus, & modicis inftravit pulpita tignis. Et docuit magnumque loqui, nitique cotburno.

Diogenes Laertim in Plato's Life, and Ariftotle vate State; for he grew better, and by his wife but one Person in a Tragedy, who alone made been entertained of him fo far that he was ftiled in order to give the Chorus Leafure to take The Delight of Mankind; being of a tweet Difpo- Breath: Eschylus added a second, and Sophocles a third, and to Tragedy came to its Perfection; he that won the Prize in a Tragedy received a He goat which he was to facrifice to Bacebus, from whence came the Name of Tragedy, reaves. Hireus, fignifying a He goat.

TRAJANUS, Trajan; a Spaniar I by Birth, and the first Emperor of a Stranger that mountthis Giant was killed by Apollo, or as others will ed the Throne of Rome: His Head was like a have it, Thunder-struck, for endeavouring to en- Mallet, broad at Top and with very confiderable joy Latona, the Poets feigned he was racked Eminences before and behind, his Forehead in Hell, and that a Vulture tore his Heart with broad, and Neck thick, which was an infallible Sign of a prudent, vigorous Man and one that was TOGA, It was a great Woollen Mantle, steady in his Deligne rather than of a lively and Things, having extended the Bounds of the Roman Empire much beyond any of his Predeceffors; Armenia and Mejopotamia being fallen under the Yoke of the Roman Power: He had a Fit of an Apoplexy, which turned into a Palie in some Part of his Body, but he died of a Dropile, aged

TRIBUNI PLEBIS, Tribunes of the if they opposed it; he Occasion of creating them was this. The People finding themselves oppreft TRAGOEDIA, a Tragedy; a Dramma- by the great Ones, by the Intigation of Sicinius that Thefpir was the first Author of Tragedy, swaiion of Menenius Agripps, and being allowed pressions of the great Ones, and this happened the Benches in Subselliss. in the Year 266, and the two Tribunes were Sicinius Bellusus and L. Junius. The Law for creating them was called Sacred, and the fame declared the Tribunes to be facred and inviolable de camp of a Roman Legion. Perions, who must not be injured upon Pain of Death, and the Mountain whither the People TORIANARUM; the Tribune of the Prahad retired was called Mons Sacer, because of the torian Cohorts, much like our Captains of the Oath which the Deputies of the Senate made to Guard, whose Business it was to guard the Emthe People for allowing this Magistrate to them: peror. These two Tribunes took in three more, and their Number increased to ten. They had a Right to withfrand the Deliberations of the Senate, and the Orders of the very Confuls; there being nothing to be concluded mong the People, who kept the Money dengn'd on without their Confent, which they extrest by for the Uie of the War, in order to diffribute putting a Tunder the Order, and if the tame the fame, as Occasion required, to the Quariors did not please them, they hindred it to be put of the Army; They chole the richest Persons in Execution by subscribing the Word Vero without giving any Reason for it: They were a PurpleRobe, and they were the only Perfons be managed. of a Dictator: They could banish or imprison the People of Rome, which were distributed into whose Ornice did not cease upon the nominating tuch as they thought criminal; They summoned several Divisions : Romulus divided his People a Conful and a Dictator to be tried before the into three Tribes or Regiments, whose Collo-People, when they were out of their Offices, nels were called Tribunes, but different both and they could not tarry above one Day out of from the Tribunes of the People and Military the City: The coors of their Houses were o- Tribunes: These three first Tribes were thus pen Night and Day, that forthe People might called; viz the first Ramnensium, from Romulus, have Recourfe to them at all times; they had no | Tatienfium, from Tatius, and Lucerum, for which Curule Chair, nor a Scat at frit in the Senate; we can give no Reason : Livy contesses he was ignobut their Seats were at the Door, where they rant of it, Varro lays, they were to called from the examined the Deliberations of that Body: They had no Liftors to walk before them, but only Tatius: Each Tribe was divided into ten Curie one Uther: By the airnian Law they were ad- or Parifles: Servius Tulius, the fixth King of mitted into the Senate, and had a leight to give Rome, finding its Inhabitants much increased adtheir Advice there; but their Authority was ded more Tribes to the reft, and alfigned them much lessened by the Cornelian Law, in point of several Parts of the City to live in : He therefore and the same also supprest Appeals to the People ; but afterwards the Conful , Q. Aurelius Corta and L. Odavius in the Year of Rome 678 admitted them to the Exercise of the highest Offices in the Republick, and allowed them the Honour of having the Faices carried before them, and the same was confirmed to them by Pompey. The and illustrious under the Emperors, who took the whole Mountain called Efquilia, and the fourth Quality of Tribunes upon themselves; Augustus all the Quirinal and Vimmai. began it and held the Power of Tribune for 37

two Tribunes to protest them against the Op- | ministred Justice at Rome, as they sate upon lit-

TRIBUNUS MILITUM, a Military Tribune, was an Officer who commanded in Chief over a Body of Soldiers, being the Mafter

TRIBUNUS COHORTIUM PRA

TRIBUNI CELERUM, The Captains of the Guards.

TRIBUNI ÆRA EII, Tribunes of the Treasury; they were Orncers taken from athey could into this Office, for 'twas an Imployment where a great deal of Money was to

TRIBUS, a Tribe; a certain Number of Lucumones or Tulcans who ashired Romulus againft publishing of Laws and haranging the People, divided all the Inhabitants of the City into Four Tribes, for that reason called Tribus Urbana, to whom he gave particular Names according to the Divitions they lived in, viz. Suburana, Palatina, Efquilina and Collina. The first inhabited Mount Calius and the Vallies round about to the Eastward; the second almost all the old City, vig. the Mounts Palasine and Capitoline, with Office of Tribune became yet more connderable that Part called Locus Komanus; the third the

He divided the Inhabitants of the Country in-Years; A Quality, fays Tacinus, that was invent- to Fifteen Tribes which by one general Name ed for preferving of the Sovereign Authority Were called Tribus Ruffice, of which this is the above the other Magistrates, without taking Lift, viz. Romulia, Lemonia, Pupinia, Galeria; that of King or Dictator upon them. Tiberius Polita, Volunia, Claudia, Amilia, Cornelia, Faalso held this Office for live Years, and so did bia, Horaria, Menenia, Pappria, Sergia, Veturia, all the fucceeding Emperors to Conflantine the whole Names were either taken from the Places Great: It'strue, they annually created Tribunes of their Aboad, or from those who were the of the People, but this was only nominal, the Authors of them. Sigonius informs us, there Emperors carried all the Power from them. were two more added, viz. Crustumina and Uci-Ulpian places the Tribunes among those who ad- entine in the Year of Rome 258; and in 366

Four others were also added, viz. Stellatina, between Terracina and the Sea. 31. Falerina, enfis and Terensina, and laftly, in the Year 512 Cures a City of the Sabines. Velina and Quirina, infomuch that there were | TRIPTOLEMUS, the Son of Elufius, or 35 added at leveral Times and upon leveral Oc. Calaus King of Elufis, who, according to Paulacations which continued fo till the War called miss, was the first that brought the Invention Bellum Sociale, when there were ten more ad- of Tillage into Greece. Ceres took an Affection ded in order to pacifie them : But they were to Triptolemus while he was yet but a Child, tatometime atterwards incorporated into the old king care in the Day-time to feed him with Di-

M. Perpenna.

Here follows the Reason of the Names given to the 35 Tribes, as taken out of Gruchius and gons, that io he might go into all Parts of the Vigenere: Suburana, which was the first Tribe Earth to fettle the Art of Agriculture: He was of the City and took in Mount Calius and the the first that instituted the Feast called Thesmoadjacent Vallies, and was to named, according to phoria at Athens in clonour of Ceres, by way of Varro Quod fub terreo muro Carinarum effet. 2. Ef Acknowledgment for the Kindness she had shew. quilina, which comprehended the Esquilia, from ed him. whence it took its Name. 3. Colling the Quirinal and Viminal that were two little Hills. 4. Palating that took in the Mounts Palasine and Ca- cause the Island is of a Triangular Form, whose pitoline, with that called Locus Romanus. 5. Ro- three Promontories form three Points or Capes. mulia or Romilia, which was the first of the Country Tribes and contained all the ancient Territory of Romulus, from whom it had its Name, or | trite, or according to others, of Oceanus and Tebecause it was near Rome. 6. Lemonia so called this. The Poets made him to be the Trumpefrom the Village Lemonius by which they paffed ter of Nepums, under the Form of a Man down through the Gate Capena along the great Road | to his Navel, with Arms like a Dolphin's Tail, called Via Latina. 7. Pupinia, from the Pupinian | and his Fore-feet like the Fore-feet of a Horse, Territory beyond the Tiber in the Country of and carrying a hollow Shell in his Hand which the Lasms. 8. 5. 10. Galeria, Pollia and Volli- he put in his Mouth; he was carried by grey niz, the Original of these three I ribes is not Horses. known. 11. Claudia, from Appius Claudius, who retired to Rome from the Country of the Sabines. Triumphus. 12. Minilia, from one Amilius from whom many illuttrious Families descended. Cornelia, us, that that of Jupiter was drawn by Horses from the Family of the Cornelii. 14. Fabia and Eagles, of Neptune by Sea-horses; of Pluto from Fabius, 15. Horaria, from the Family of by black ones; of Mars by Horses; of the Sun, the Horaiti. 16. Menenia, from Menenius, by Horles vomiting Fire; of Bacchus by Lynxes 17. Papyria, from Papyrius of whom Livy speaks and Tigres; of Juno by Peacocks; of Theris by in his first Decad. 18. Sergis, from Sergius. Dolphins; of Venus by Swans; of Diana by Deer; 19. Veturia, from the Veturian Family. 20. Cru- of Geres by Dragons; of Cybele by Lyons; of Itumina, from a City of the Sabines called Cru- the Moon by Horses full of Stars; of Aurora by Stuminum. 21. Veienting, took in part of the Rose coloured Horses, Oc. Territory of the Ucientes in Iuicany. 22. Stellating, from the Territory of Stellats in Tulcany, 23. Tormenting, from the Terri ory of Tormen- less the most magnificent Show the Romans had; tum. 24. Sabatina, from a Lake of the same there were two forts of ir, the first which was Name in Tufcany. Arnienfis or Narnienfis, from the leffer, was funply called Ovario, whereas the the River Arnus that runs by Florence. 26. Pomp- greater was known only by that great and pomtina, from a Territory to called three Leagues pous Name of Triumph. The Origin of these from Terracina, Seven or Eight Miles from Rome two Names is more intricate than the Knowon the Road to Naples. 27. Popilia, whole Ori- ledge thereof is necessary; the Ovasio leems to ginal is not known. 28. Maria, from a Caftle be of Roman Original, it we regard Plutareb herenamed Marium. 29. Scapia, from the City of in, for the Name was given it because they only Scapia. 30. Uf mina or Oufentina, from the facrificed white Slicep upon this Occasion, where-

Tormentina, Sabatina, Arnienfis or Narnienfis; from the City Falerti belonging to the Falifti. neither did they end with this Number, for in | 32. Aniensis from the River Anio. 33. Terenthe Year 421 there were two new ones appoint- tina, from a Place called Terentum in Campus ed, called Maria and Scapia; in the Year 435 Martius. 34. Velina, from the Lake Velina in those called Ufentina and Falerina; in 454 Ani- the Country of the Sabines. 35. Quirina from ones by the Cenfors, L. Martius Philippus and vine Milk, and by Night to hide him under the Fire, which made him grow mightily: She also gave him a Charriot drawn by a Couple of Dra-

> TRIQUETRA, Sicily, fo called by the Romans, as the Grecians named it Trinacria; be-

TRISMEGISTUS. See Mercurius. TRITON, the Son of Nepsune and Amphi-

TRIUMPHALIS CURRUS. See

As to the Chariots of the Gods, the Poets tell

TRIUMPHATOR. See Triumphus.

TRIUMPHUS, a Triumph; 'twas doubt-Barer Oufens in the Country of the Privernaies, as at the Triumph they offered white Oxen. tained in its Name, which is Greek, and was gi- publick of Rome bad its Beginnings, and so great ven to Bacebus, because he was the first that in- an Increase, be at length pleased with it, and favented this way of rewarding Vertue by these vourably protest it. Festivals and publick Magnistence: But there | When this Prayer was over he went into a are more folid Reasons to be given for the Dif- Triumphal Chariot, that was adorned with Iferences between thele two Triumphs; for the vory and Gold Plates, and that they might conqueror the Title of Imperator, with Orders for the Severity of the Laws. his return, and to bring his victorious Troops back to Rome, there to triumph. When he was nity, were the Trumpeters, Fluters and Hautcome near Rome, the General and chief Officers boys, with Crowns on their Heads; then fevetook an Oath without the City, that the Victo- ral Chariots, wherein were Plans of the Cities ry was true; after which they appointed the which the Conqueror had taken, done in Relievo. Day of Triumph: The Senate went in a Body and made of feveral forts of Things. Scipio's to meet the Conqueror without the City-Gate, Triumph was adorned with a 137 Representaby which the Triumpher was to enter, and tions of Countries or Cities which he had reduwhich was called Porta Capina or Triumphalis: ced under the Power of the Roman Empire; There after the Complements were over, the then came leveral Charlots laden with the Spoils Senate marched in order and accompanied the of the Enemy, their Horfes, Arms, Riches, Tents, Conqueror to the Capitol: He was tead in a Machines, and generally all other Warlike Pomp Purple Robe mill of Gold Stars, or embroidered and Enfigns of Honour.

The Etymology of the greater Triumph is con- Gods, under whose Protection and Conduct the Re-

Ovation confifted of very little Pomp: The tinually intermix fomething that was Warlike Conqueror wore his usual Cloaths, and walked with a Ceremony that was purely Civil, they a Foot at the Head of his Troops, without any sprinkled Drops of Blood upon the Gold of the other Mark of his Success, than the Acclamati- | Chariot, and even upon the Spectators; this ons of the People, some Myrtle-Crowns, and Chariot was usually drawn by two white Horses, part of his Army to march before him with Mu- but lometimes by extraordinary Animals, as by fick playing, and they offered nothing but white | Elephants, as Pompey's was when he triumphed Sheep in Sacrifice to the Gods upon this Occasi- over Africa; by Lions, as Mark Antony's was; by on: The Ovation was decreed to those that had Tigers, as Heliogabal as did: Aurelian made use waged an ill-grounded War, or such as was not of Deer, Nero of Hermophrodise Mares, and Severy honourable; and those that fought against fostri was drawn by the Kings whom he had con-Pyrates, Slaves or pittiful Enemies were reward- | quered: The Triumpher was alone in his Chaed with this leffer Triumph, or the Ovatio; but riot, only he had his Children before him, or the Triumph was allowed to those who had per- at his Feet; for we read in Cicero, that Triumformed Martial or Brave Actions: For when a pher's Children were mounted upon the Cha-Victory was won, the Conqueror dispatch'd riot-Horses; and Tiberius and Marcellus had the Couriers with Letters containing the Particu- Honour, one of them to ride upon the Lettlars of the Fight, and the Success thereof: The Horse, and the other upon the Right, that Senate at first met in Bellona's Temple, which drew Augustus his Triumphant Chariot after flood without the City; Augustus afterward; the Battle of Astium. Pliny to this Pomp of a chole that of Mars for this Occasion. The Se- Chariot adds a kind of a Deity called Falcinus, nate being mer, the General and Officers Let- out of an Opinion they had, that this God was ters were read, and these Letters were wrap- very powerful against the Stings and Perplexiped up in Lawrel-Leaves; but when the Roman ties of Envy. Most Authors say, that the pub-Army was worfted, they made use of a Feather lick Executioner was behind the Conqueror, to inftead of a Lawrel, to notifie, that they must remind him from time to time that these Honours be diligent. They presently fenr to the Con- were transitory, and would not secure him from

Those who went foremost of all at this Solem-

Cyphers, which fet forth his glorious Actions: If they triumphed for a Naval Victory, they This Robe was called Toga pida, a painted Robe, carried along the Mafts of Ships, Sail-yards, and or Tunics palmata, and cometimes by the fingle the most confiderable Things belonging to a Name of Dabea: His Shoes were a kind of Buf- Veffel: Incullus caused 110 of them to be carkins embroi fered and belet with Pearls; upon ried in Pomp, and a Gold Statue of Mitbidates his Head he wore a Crown which at hift was of hix Foot high, with a Shield, enriched with pre-Lawrel but afterwards a Golden one; in one cious Stones. Pompey the Great at his Triumph Hand he carried a Lawrel branch, and in the o- had Tharnaces his Statue that was made of Silther a Scepter or Trancheon, which was made ver, another which he had got made of himself, of Lory, with an Eagle at top: Before he let coriched with Fearl, 3 little Gold Idols, some out he made his Prayers in thele Words: Dit, Myrde ones, and 33 Crowns adorned with pre-Rutu & Imperio quorum vara & aufla eft res Roma- cicus Stones; The Silver Coin taken from the na, tandem piacati propriatique fervate. O ye Enemy made part of the Solemnity, it was carried in Waggons, with a Specification in wri- be offered, before they had taken a full Revenge ting, of the Sums contained therein. Scipio Afri- on their Enemies. When the Victims were of canus brought 400000 Pound Weight of Silver fered, the Triumpher drew near unto the Al-Money from Carthage, and Gold Veffels to the cars, and pray'd thus: Weight of 200000 Pound. Paulu Amilius took fo great a Booty of Gold and Silver in Macedonia, as was enough to defray the Charges of the Republick: All theie Waggons were followed you have vouchfafed to this very Day and Hour, to by another, wherein was the Statue of Hercules preserve and increase the Republick by my means, I adorned with his Club and Lion's Skin : Next | carneftly pray you to be always favourable unto it, came the Kings, Princes and Captains that had and continually to keep, aggrandize and protect it. been vanquished, laden with Chains: It was not the leaft illustrious part of Pompey's Triumph, Junoni Regine, & careru bujus cuffodibus babito have Tigranes and Ariftobulus to attend it, tatoribufque Arcis Diis, lubens latufque Ago; re who were powerful Kings in the Eaft, the one Romana in banc diem & boram, per manus quod voof Armenia and the other of Judea: The Captives were followed by Buffoons and Mimicks, vate, ut facitis, fovete, protegite propitiati, fupwho infulted over them in their Misfortunes, plex oro. with a thousand Buffooneries: Next to them came the Officers of the victorious Troops, richly clad with Crowns on their Heads : Spoils of the Enemy, especially those that were Liftly, The triumphant Chariot appear'd, be- called opima spolia, which the General himself fore which, as it passed, they all along strewed had taken with his own Hand from the Enemy: Flowers, the Confort of Mufick play'd on in There were but Three, among to great a Num-Praise of the Triumpher, amidft the Asclama- ber of Roman Conquerors, who took these Spoils tions of the People, who often repeated these called opima spolia, and presented them to Jupi-Words: lo triumphs, lo triumpha: The Senate ter Feretrius: The First was Romulus who concame next after the Chariot, the Senators being | quered Acron, King of the Ceninenfians; the Seclad in white Robes, and were followed by those cond, Coffin, that flew King Tolomnius; and Mar-Citizens who had been let at Liberty, or ran- cellus was the Third, after the Victory he won formed. Flaminius had a thousand ransomed from Viridomarus: When all these holy Duties Perions to follow his Chariot, who had their were performed to the feveral Deities, the Heads shaved, and on which they wore a kind Triumpher treated the People, as most Authors of a Bonner, to let l'eople know that they were bear Witness, in the Capitol under the Portico's, freed from Slavery: The Sacrificers with their and sometimes in Hercules's his Temple. A-Officers closed up this numerous Company, each lexander ab Alexandro tays, Cafar made a pubof them being in his Ministerial Drefs, with lick reaft, wherein 22000 Tables were spread their Veffels, and other Inftruments appertain- and furnished with all imaginable Plenty, and ing to the Sacrifice, and bringing a white Ox all in good Order. The Triumpher was allowalong, which was to be offered as the chief ed to wear his Triumphal Crowns and Robes in Victim. This whole Company of Conquerors the publick Affemblies; they also erected Triand Conquered proceeded in this Order thro' umphal Arches, Statues, and all other Monuthe Triumphal Gate by the covered Market- ments for him, whereby the Memory of his place, and along the Via Sacra to the Capitol; Victories and Triumph might be perpetuawhere they offered the Victims appointed for ted. this End, and by a thousand Sacrifices gave Ju- TROCHUS; it was properly a Circle of ty were open, and all the Altars laden with a Wooden Handle to it: The Grecians called Offering, and Incense; all the Screets were full this Rod bast . and the Romans Radius: There of the People of Rome and Strangers: They ce | was Strength and Skill required to roll this Circle lebrated Games and Combats in the publick well, and the Rings by the Noile they made Places, and Rejoycings appear'd every-where; gave the People Notice to give way and rebut what was most horrible and cruel amidft fo tire. much follity, was the maffacring of the Conque- I ROPHONIUS, had a Cave in Lebared, whom, when they came to the End of the dia a Country of Baotia, where he delivered Market place, they carried back and lead into Oracles; but he died there of Hunger; an evil Priton, wher, they were strangled; for twas a Genius possessed himself of this Cave, and there Point and Mystery of the Superstition of these also pronounced Oracles; he did so frighten those publick.

Yyy

Most great and good Jupiter, and thou Queen uno, with all the other Gods, who guard this hole Place, I give you Thanks with all my Heart, there Gratias tibi, Jupiter optume, Maxume, tibique luiftes meas, servata bene gestaque; candem & ser-

These Vows being put up aloud, the Conqueror made Jupiter a Present of a Crown with the piter Thanks for the good Success of the Re- Five or Six Feet in Diameter, adorned every where on the Intide with Iron Rings; the Chil-In the mean time all the Temples of the Ci- dren rolled it along with an Iron Rod that had Great Men, not to dare to touch the Victim to who came to confulr him, by horrible Appari-

came the Proverb concerning mournful and me- had a Frolick to make Perions play upon Flutes, lancholy Persons, that they had consulted the Oracle | and beat Drums in his Presence, as if he were of Trophonius. They shewed a thousand apish celebrating the Bacchanalia. Tricks as they entered into his Cave, which they did, covered with a Linnen Cloth, holding against the Gods, and was buried alive under a Cake in one Hand, as Lucian tells us in his the Mountains. Apollonius in his Argonauticon, Dialogue of the Dead.

TUBAL-CAIN. the Son of Lamech, and makes to be the Master and Father of Smiths, Egypt and Palestine. Plutarch in the Life of and all those that worked in Iron and Steel : He Mark Antony, tells us, the Egyptians faid that was the Vulcan of the Pagans.

ceffor, and the third King of Rome, who made Victory of the three Horarii over the three Cu- tures and prophane Authors call Aramea from ratii, he died in the Fire that burnt his Palace, and was kindled by chance, or by his Domestick Enemies. Some will have it, that he was killed with Thunder; the Reason whereof Pliny says, was because Tullus had neglected some Ceremonies instituted by Nums, and so for that Impiety was Thunder-struck by Numa.

whereas the Men wore it before a little below the Knee, and behind as low as the middle of the I eg; for to have it any longer was efteem-ed effeminate, and shorter, looked like a Sol-VACUNA; this Goddess was worshipped ed effeminate, and shorter, looked like a Sol-

TYCHE, a Sea-Nymph, Daughter of Oceamus and Tethys: This was the Name of Fortune, perhaps given it upon account of the Dangers particularly prefides.

TYMPANA; 'twas a thin piece of Skin! or Leather extended upon a Wooden or Iron on for leaving his Bail. Circle, which was beat with the Hand. Some Authors fay this Word comes from ETUTETV, Small Hills of Rome, near the Tiber, adjoining to which in Greek fignifies to firite : But Voffize in the Janualum, where the Pope's Palace is, it his Etymology of the Laim Tongue, derives it was thus called from the Responses and Oracles, from a Hebrew Word, that fignifies a Drum, which is not ill grounded, fince the Invention of ceived here, according to Varro. There was althele Drums came from Syria, as Juvenal obferves.

Azm pridem Syrus in Tyberim defluxit Orontes. Et linguam & mores & cum tioicine chordas Obliquas, nec non gentilia sympana fecum of Bacchus and Cybele, as appears by their Veries to let it flie. of Catulius.

Cybiles Phrygia ad nemore Dea, Ubi combaium jonat, ubi compana reboant.

tions, that they could never laugh after, whence Herodian speaking of Heliogebalus, says he often

TYPHON; one of the Gyants that fought fays, that Typhon was defeated near Mount Nylla, and afterwards thrown down Headlong into the one of Cain's Descendants, whom the Scripture Waters of the Lake Serbonis, which is between the Vapours of the Lake Serbonis were caused TULLUS HOSTILIUS, Numa's Suc- by the Breath of Typhon. Homer makes his Death to have happened in Arimis, that is, ac-War upon the Albans, which was ended by the cording to Strabo, in Syria, which the Scrip-

TUNICA, an under Garment formerly | 1 1 Is the 20th Letter in the Alphabet, and wore by the Ancients, both at Rome and the I fifth Vowel: There is also a Consonant East: It was put under the Togs, and that worn V which is thus diffinguished by Grammarians, V. by the Women was to be long and with Sleeves; U is often changed into O, as in this Word volt put for vult. The V is also a Numeral Letter, fignifying five; and when it has a Tittle above > by Plough-men, and her Feaft celebrated in Winter.

VADARI ALIQUEM; 'tis a Law-Term, fignifying to oblige a Person to give Secuand Hazards of the Seas, over which the more rity, that promites he thall on a certain Day appear in Court: If he fails, his Surety has affionem vadimonii deferti againft him, i. e. an Acti-

VATICANUS, the Varican, one of the called in Latin Vaticinia, which the Romans refo a Deiry fo named in the fame Place, who was believed to be the Author of the first Speech of Children, which was Va; from whence comes the Word Vatican, and among the Latins Vagire, to cry like an Infant.

VE-IOVIS, a hurtful Deity, to whom the Romans erected Temples, and offered Sacrifices, that he might do them no Mischief: He was They were much in use at the Dances and Feafts | pictured with a Bow and Arrow in his Hand ready

VELABRUM; was a Place full of Tradefmens Shops, and especially of Oil-men; it was divid dinto two parts by the Fish Market, and flood near to the Tujean Division.

VENILIA; a Nymph, and the Mother of, fo we have Reason to believe, that as the Wor. Faunus: the was also reputed to be Neptune's, thipping of the Winds as well as that of other Wife, otherwise called Salacia. Venilia, says Var. parts of Nature, passed from the East to the 70, is the Water that washes the Shoar, and Sa- West, so the Grecians, Sicilians, and Italians lacia, that which returns into the Bottom of the took occasion from the Nature of those Islands,

Flux of Air agitated by an unequal and violent pours. Winds and Fire to proceed from thence. Motion; which is done, favs Virruvius, when Strabo relates unto us the Objervations of the Heat working upon the Moisture, by its Acti- Polybim upon the Itle of Lipara, which is the on produces a great Quantity of new Air, that greatest of Josus his Seven Illand, viz. that violently drives on the other: Those who were when the South Wind blew, it was covered with the Worthippers of the Wind in all likelihood fo thick a Cloud, that those who were but a little believed they worshipped the Air in the Agita- way off, could not see 'Sicily'; but when the tion thereof; from whence it is the Perhans wor- North Wind blew, the Island sent forth purer shipped the Stars and Earth, Water, Fire and Flames, and made a greater Noi'e and Concus-Winds. Herodorus tells us, that the Grecians fion; and this gave occasion to fay, that the being in a Confternation, because of Xerxes his King of these Illands was King of the Winds. formidable Army, that came to fall upon them, Hefiod openly declares for the Doctrine of Phythe Oracle of Delebos commanded them to offer follogy, when he gives us the Genealogy of Sacrifice to the Winds, from whom they were the Winds, and makes them to be the Chilto expect their greatest Relief. Incas facri- dren of Afraus and Aurora; for this is plainly fixed to the Winds; Pecudem Zephyris felicibus to make those Winds to proceed from the Stars albam. Augustus erected a Temple for the Wind and Aurora, or the Horizon, or rather from the Circius of the Gauls, because they were incom- Stars and Vapours that are always in the Horimoded therewith, and had their Houses blow'd 3m in a very great quantity, in order to form down by it. The Poets made Aolus to be King Aurora and the Winds therein. We know 'tis of the Winds; and Servius fays, they were Nine the Opinion of Naturalists and Aftrologers that Islands in the Sicilian Sea, of which Alolus, ac- the Stars have a great Influence in the Generacording Varre, was King; from whence they tion of the Winds: He fays a little farther, that feigned he had the Winds under his Dominion, except those three Winds that are ofeful to because he for told the Storms that should hap. Mankind, all the rest were the Children of Typen by observing the Vapours and Steams that phon, the famous Gyant, whom victorious fuarose from those Islands, and especially from that piter Thunder-struck, and buried under the called after Vulcan's Name: Ut Varro dixit, Rex Mountains, thro' which he ground, lighed and fuit infularum, ex quarum nebulis, & fumo Vul- vomited up Flames, Winds and Tempelts. The canie infule, predicens ventura flabra ventorum. Poet therefore diffinguilles between two forts ab imperitie vifus oft ventos fua potestate retinere, of Winds, the one which are moderate and use-Pliny fays, that Strongylus was one of those burnt ful, the other violent and dangerous; the first and imoaking Islands; and that the Inhabitants are the Children of the Stars and Aurora, and from the Fames thereof predicted what Winds the last those Winds which proceed from the should follow three Days before; and that for Caverns of Mountains, or Burning-Illands, from this Reason they seigned Zolm was Master of whence come Fires, Whirl-winds and Storms: the Winds: E cuim fumo, quinam flaturi fint and this gave occasion to the Fiction, that they venti in triduum pradicere incola traduntur : unde | were Gyants who breathed out thefe Winds tis certain, the Worfnipping of the Winds is burned. ancienter than Folus his Reign, whom they Paufanias fays, there was no Deity at Megalopretend to have lived in the Time of the Tro- polis in Greece, more honoured than the Wind jan War. The Persians, who, according to Stra- Boreas, for they had been powerfully affifted by to and Herodotus, worthipped the Winds, never him in the Enterprize made upon them by the heard of the King of these little Islands, and Lacedemonians: They sacrificed a Horse with twas not to him they addreft their Worship: | tersumes to the Winds, to the End that his As much may be faid in respect to the Scytbians, Ashes might be dispersed abroad, says Festus; of whom Lucian in his Toxaris, fays, that they Lacedemonii in monte Taygeto equum Ventis immofwore by the Wind and Sword, per ventum & lant; ibidenque adolent, ut corum flatu cinis eiuw acinacem. When Solomon in his Proverbs, fays, per fines deferatur. And whereas Homer fays. there were Men fo mad as to adore the Winds; that the Wind Boreas was transformed into a he little thought of Zolus in the Matter. All Horfe, which covered very fine Mares, that foalthose Eastern Idolaters worthipped the Winds ed twelve Colts, whole Lightness and Swiftness to make them to be the Kingdom of the Winds. VENTUS, the Wind, is nothing else but a because they often found Whirl-winds, Va-ventos Eolo paruisse existimatum. Nevertheleis from those Mountains where they continually before the Fable of Alls was invented: And was fo wonderful, that they could run over the Blades of Corn without bending them, and Temples of this Goddess; the Temples of Venus upon the Waves without linking; there was no other reason for it, but that People really believed, there were tome Mares that conceived by the Wind. Virgil tells that as a true Story concerning Zepbyrus, which Homer relates of Boreas for a Fable. Vollius al'o refers to the Winds the Fight of the Tisans with Jupiter, which he pretends to be no more than the War of the Winds in the Air, for which he cites Hefiod, who places Gyges, Briareus and Costus in the Amathus, and Urania in the Isle of Crorus, and Number of the Winds, who were also Ti-

The Winds according to some Mens Opinion, are no more than Four in Number, viz. Solanus, which blows from the South-East; Aufter thither by Sea, they feigned she was produced of from the South; Favonius from the South-Weft; the Foam of the Sea; fo Horace calls her Marina and Septembrio from the North. But those who Venus. Tacinus speaking of the Temple of Venus have been more curious Enquirers into the Na- lat Paphos, uses the following Words, that clearly ture of Winds, have made them to be Eight, and especially Andronicus Cyrpestes, who for the Sea, was nothing else but that she was this End built a Marble Tower at Athens, of an brought thither by Sea : Fama recentior tradit, Ologone Figure, which on every fide had the a Cinyra facratum Templum, Deamque infam con-Picture of one of the Winds, over-against that ceptam mari bue appulsant. This Historian, L. 2. Quarter from which they were wont to blow; Hill. speaks also or that Temple in this manner: and at the Top of the Tower which ended pyramidically, he placed a Brass Triton with a Rod | the Founder of it, altho' some were of Opinion, in his Frand; and the Machine was to contrived. that the Triton turning about, and always being opposite to the Wind that blew, with its Red hewed in what Corner it then was. The other Four Winds are Eurus, between Solamus and Aufler to the Winter-Eaft; Africus between Aufter and Favonius to the Winter-Weft : Caurus or Corus between Favonius and Sopientrio; and Aquilo between Septentrio and Solanus: We call them South : aft, South-West, North-West and North- Eaft. V E NUS, the Goddess of Beauty, that was always accompanied by the Graces. Cicero, L.2. de Nat. Deor. thews there were Four feveral Vewas's: The first, the Laughter of Calum; the fecond fhe, that fprung from the Foam of the Sea and Cupid's Mother; the third, was Jupiter and Dione's Daughter, who was married to Vulcan, and on whom Mars begot Anteros; the fourth Tyr, called Affarte, who was married to Adonis. The first and fourth were in all likelibood the same as the Venus of Allyria, which was called Urania or Cal-fils, as being the Daughter of Heaven, whole Worship palfed from Afnun's Wife, and the Mother of Seven Daugh-

in Crorus, and at Cythera or Cerigo were much in request; but they were built by the Phanicians according to the Model of that at Ascalon. The Worship of Venus passed to Arabia; from whence tis that Herodotus himself fays, the Arabians worshipped but two Deities, viz. Dionysius and Urania: The Perlians, in Imitation of the Allyriens, did also worthip Venus Urania, and called her Mitra. There were the Cities of Paphos, all these were famous for the Worship of Venus: and as 'twas but a short Paffage from Phanicia to Cyprus, the Wo. ship of this Goddess was easily carried thither; and as Venus was transported Thew that the Forming of Venus of the Foam of 'The Ancients, favs he, made King Aerias to be it was the Name of the Goddess; but modern Authors will have the Temple to have been built by Cinyra, when Venus coming by Sea landed in that Country; he adds, that he fent for the Prophet Thamyrus into Cilicia, and agreed that their Descendants should divide the Priefthood between them : But those of Thamyrus his Race did afterwards refign it to the King's Pofterity, as a Point of Prerogative 'yielded to the Royal Family, infomuch that no other were confulted there but the Succeffors 'of Cinyra. All forts of Victims were allowed of, provided they were of the Male kind, but the He-goat was accounted the best; they shed none of the Blood upon the Altar : for they oftered nothing there but Prayers and pure Fire, which no Rain could put out, tho' the fame were open to the Air: The Goddess was represented in the Form of a Globe, ending pyramidically, without any other resemblance, and the Reason is not known.

Paulanias acknowledges that Venus of Cribera came also from Phanicia: He elsewhere describes her bearing arms: Helychius favs as much, and fris or Babylon into Spis. Sanchuniathen makes in another place speaks of a Temple of Venus. Afterse to be the Daughter of Calum, and Sa- into which none but the Sacriftan ever entred. (and the same Person was forbid to marry) and a ters called Titanides. Lucian lipeaks of Venus Virgin that exercised the Priefthood here for that was worshipped at Biblos in Phanicia, and one Year only. This Author takes notice of of Adonis with whom the was in Love, and whofe feveral Places in Greece, where Venus Urania was Death the bewailed after he had been killed by worshipped, and wherein there was nothing a wild Boar. Herodorus makes the Temple of practifed like those Effeminacies and Impurities, Venus Urania to be in the City of Afcalon in which were attributed to the Common Venus ; Phanicia, which was the Ancientest of all the tince we find, besides the Name of Urania or Cakellis, that her Priestesses were Virgins, and to be drawn by Swans and two flying Cupital the Common one, and inspired Men with no- Way, and make that forry Smith her Husband. thing but pure and chafte Love, which raifed up the Heart to Heaven. Apuleius also in his Apology bears the same Testimony, wherein he thews, that that Venus Calettis, which is diffinguilhed from the Common Venus, allows us to love no other Beauty than that which can refurnamed Libiting, in whose Temple they fold all things belonging to Burials: He likewife adds. by Archefilaus. that those of Delphos, had also their Venus Sepulchralis, where they conjured up the Dead by Magick Spells. Celvus the Poet calls Venus a God. Pollentemane Deum Venerem, as well as Virgil, in Jin. 2.

Discedo, as ducente Deo flammam inter & bostes Expedior.

Some Criticks who have not perhaps made this Observation, would correct this place, and put Dea instead of Deo, contrary to the Authority of the Manuscripts. Levinus speaking of this Deitv. favs; having worthipped Venus, whether Female or Male, which is the fame as the Moon. Arillosbanes calls her azsishrov in the Neuter Gender, and Hejy bius apporter G, as Salmatius has corrected it. Theophrastus, says he, assures us, that Arbroditos or Venus is an Hermophrodite; and that her Statue with a Beard on like a Gardens; he was also an Emblem of the Year: Man was to be feen in the Island of Cyprus, near | This God was woshipped under a Thousand Amathufa. Venus Viltrix was represented some. Forms, for which reason Horace says, Vertumnis times carrying Victory in her Right Hand, and natus iniquis, as if there were as many different a Scepter in her Left, and leaning her Arm up- Vertumnus's, as there were different Forms by on a great Shield; and another time with a Mu- which this Deity was represented: He was in rion or Steal-piece in her Hand instead of Victo- Love with Pomona; the Greeks called him Prery, and the Apple which Paris adjudged to her teus. as the Reward or her Beauty, which the gor from | VERUS, a Roman Emperor that reigned that the her felf was represented armed. Pau- They represented her like a beautiful Godden fanias in another place diftinguishes between sitting in a Chariot drawn by two Swans and as Venus Urania, whose Statue was made of Gold or many Doves, crowned with Myrtle, and having Ivory by Phidias, and Venus Popularis, Tay Pana , a burning Torch in her Bolom. Paufanias allo that was made of Brass; he hath not forgot that I peaks of a Statue of Venus made of Ivory and place in Arcadia, where there were three Statues Gold by Phidias, with one Foot upon a Torfet up for Venus, one for Caleffu, the other for toile, and likewise another of Venus, riding Popularia, and the third without any Surname, upon a He-Goat, and made by Scopas; the which diftinguished it from the reft. Xenophon Venus of Praxiteles at Cnidos was made of white makes a Diffinction between Venus Caleffu and Marble, and half opened her Lips as if the Popularie, and attributes to the first a Love of smiled. Venus the Mother of Love, and the Knowledge and Vertue, as he does to the other Goddess of Pleasures would by no means comply the Love of Corporeal Pleafures. This Name to make Vulcan her Husband, but as he could not of Venus Caleffu comes either from her being compais his Detign in Heaven, and that he was repretented upon a Lion's Back, and afcending weary with her Coines, Jupiter advised him to up to Heaven, or from her being the Daughter give her some Poppy in her Drink, which put of Heaven; from whence the Greeks called her her unto fuch a Love-fit, that without think-Urania, or because the ancient and true Urania ing any more of the Persons that so entirely was very different from that which they called loved her, fhe took up with what fell in her

> Cum primum cupido Venus est dedusta marito. Hoc bibit; ex illo tempore nupra fuit.

But she reassumed her disdainful Carriage again when her Love fit was over, and the always lived vive the Idea and Love of Heavenly Beauties at Variance with her wretched Cripple. Auin our Souls. Plusareb speaks of Venus at Rome, guffus Cafar dedicated the Temple of Venus Genetrix to fulius Cafar, whose Statue was made

> VERBENA Vervein; an Herb used by the Pagans at their Sacrifices, and which they thought to have lomething that was Divine in it: The Romans in the Beginning of the Year made a Prefent of this Herb to their Friends.

> VERGILIÆ, Conftellations whose Appearance denote the Approach of the Spring: They were the Daughters of Atlas, according to the Poets, and by the Greeks were called Pleiades, but the Romans named them Vergilia.

> VERITAS, Truth, of whom the Ancients made a Deity and called her the Daughter of Saturn and Time, and the Mother of Vertue: they painted her like a handlome and modeft Woman clad very plain, but shining with Splendor and Majefty.

VERTICORDIA, a Surname given to Venus, who diverted the Minds of Men from impure and unlawful Love.

VERTUMNUS, a God of Change and Pallas and Juno: The Poets make her Chaziot with Marcus Aurelius, and who by his Beard at

had no Inclination nor Disposition to Learning: | retained the Name of Vestibulum. He was much addicted to the Vices of Drunkennels, Gaming and Women: So that what was called from Vefta the Foundrels of them, or bemost remarkable in his Physiogmony was, that cause they were consecrated to the Service of heresembled the Portraitures made of the Satyrs | the Goddels Vesta. They hold, that this Order by the Ancients, who were faid to be very le- and the Ceremonies they used came from Troy, cherous. Authors fay, he had a ruby and Copper Face by which they readily concluded he loved Wine, which he drunk to that Excess, that at his Return from Syria, he appointed an A- Son of Mineas, and the other Kings his Succespartment in his Pallace, which he called the Emperor's Tavern : He died of an Apoplexy at the cause Rbea Silvia who was a King's Grand-daugh-Age of 42.

VESPATIAN, a Roman Emperor that fucceeded Vitellius, the Lineaments of this Emperor's face, as Sucionius has described them, are very well exprest on his Medals; for he had the Mich of a costive Person, he was a valiant and good-natured Prince, and was guilty of no vice: The Divinity of Vefta was taken for the other Vice but Covetouineis, which he shewed by the Taxes he laid upon his Subjects: In the the Earth which conceals a Fire within it's Bomean time he was very liberal to poor Senators, learned Men and ruined Cities: He was much add and to Raillery and continued it to his dying Day, for being upon the Point of Expiring, he faid to those that were about him, I perceive I begin to become a God, and thereby ridiculed the Cuftom of the Romans deitying their Emperors after their Deceale. VESPER, the Evening-Star,

V .. S P E R U G O; the Planet Venus when

it appears in the Evening. makes Velta to be the Wire of Vranus, the Fa milia or Gamilia, and Tarpeia. Servius Tullus adbetween Titan the eideli Son of Uranus and Sa- the whole Roman Empire, according to the Telike unto that of Sanchuniarbon, laving that he but without any good Authority for it. alls the Earth the Wife of Uranus, which we | They were to be Virgins, and for that Reabow has been confounded with Vefts. Vefts lon they were received into the Order at the passed from Phanicia into Greece, where Diodo- Age of Six Years, and their Parents were then rus Sirulus ays, they made her to be the Daugh- to be living, and not of a Servile Condition. The ter of Saturn and Rhea, and the firft In- Papian Law required that upon the Death of a ventress of Architecture. Nevertheless it's Veital they should take Twenty Virgins, whom not to be doubted, but Velta was every-where | before the People they conducted to the Pontiff's felted to appear like a Philosopher, though he at the Entry of their Houses which from thence

VESTALES, Vestal Virgins, either for Eneas having carried that facred Fire into Italy, which represented Vesta, with the Image of Pallas and the Houshold Gods. Ascanius the fors highly honoured the Vestal Virgins, beter took upon her the folemn Profession of a

Livy will have Numa to have been the Inftitutor of this Order at Rome and that he built a Temple there for the Goddess Vesta, with a House for the Virgins consecrated to her Serfacred Fire that was kept in her Temple or for wels; and for this Reason that Temple was round as the Earth is, and the facred Fire kindled within it, to represent that which is hid in its Bowels: They had no Representation of Vesta there, because the Fire has none.

Nec tu aliud Veltam quam vivam intellige flammam..... Ignis inextinctus templo celatur in illo, Effigiem nullam Velta nec ignis babent.

VESTA, a Heathen Goddes; Lastaneius Numa instituted no more than Four Vestals, calrelates the Words of Englus or Euhemerus, who led in History Gegamia or Gegania, Berenia, Cather of Saturn, the first that reigned in the ded two more, if we believe Plutareb, and this World, and after having spoken of the Contest made the Number Six, which continued during non the younger about the Kingdom, he lays, fitmony of Plutarch and Dionyfius of Hallicarthat their Mother Vefta advised Sasurn not to nassus; nevertheies, St. Ambrose makes them sit the Sovereignty: This Genealogy is very to be Seven and Alexander Neapolitanus Twenty, efferather taken for a Goddess of Nature, un-Presence, who of the Twenty took one by der whole Name they worshipped the Earth Lot, and ordering her to kneel, said these and Fire, than an historical Goddei's. Ovid fays, Words over her: Sacerdotalem Veftalem, qua that Vesta being the Daughter of Saiurn and Sacrafaciat, que juss & Sacerdotalem Vestalem fa-Mea, as well as Juno and Ceres, these latt Two cere pro populo Romano Quiritibus, uti quod opriwere married, but Vesta continued a Virgin and ma lege fiat, thate simuta capio. This Ceremobarren, as the Fire is pure and barren : The ny was called Captio Virginia, and Capere Veflalem ; ame Poet adds, that the perpenual bire was the they afterwards shaved their Heads and hung only Representation they had of Vesta, the true the Hair to a certain Tree, which the Greeks Representation of Fire being not to be given ; and Romans called Lotos, the Lote-tree, as Pling that formerly it was a Custom to keep a Fire lays; Antiquior illa lotos que capillata diciture quoniam virginum Vestalium ad eam capillus defertur. They affigned them a particular habit, that confifted of a Head-dress called Infula, any other Bufinels, than to be affiltant only in Staviffet, verberibu necaretur. point of Advise to the other Vestals: Their gain by the Help of Burning-glasses and Sun- Flames. beams and no otherwise: This Order was very which the Kings and Emperors, and especially they had the Priviledge to be carried in a Chariot through the City and as far as the Capitol, Suesonius: Tefiamensum faclum ab eo depofiumque apud fex virgines Viftales; and the Articles and Vis Amilia, Amilius his Road. of the Treaty made between the Trium-virs were likewife put into the Hands of these Virgins, as Dio favi. They had a particular Place afrighted them at the Games and Shews made in some; they were priviledged to be buried in the Samnites in the Confulfhip of L. Postbumius the City, and they twore by no other than the and M. Authus Regulus, and dedicated to her a Goddels Veila.

to go among the other Veftals, and to make her Slaves free, for they were to be examined in order to prove the Crime: When the Crime Merping, a. July ins Placens fays.

Ultima virgineis tum flens dedit ofcula vinis which fat close to their Heads, and from whence | She was carried upon a Bier or in a Litter enclohung fome Hair-laces called Vitta; they wore lied on all Sides, and croffing the great Place, another white Vest uppermost with a Purple when they came to the Place of Execution, they Border to it, they had a Surplice or Rochet of took the Criminal out of the Litter, and then white Linnen, called Suparum linteum, and over the Pontist pray'd to the Gods with his Head that a great Purple Mantle with a long Train covered, and afterwards withdrew; which done, to it, which they tucked up when they facri- they made her go down into the Pit, wherein they had put a lighted Lamp, a little Water They were confecrated to the Service of this and Milk, and then covered the Pit with Earth, Godders for 20 Years, after which time they were and to buried her alive. As for the Person free to go out and be married; but if other- that deflowred a Veftal Virgin, he was whipwife, they continued in the House and without ped to Death, as Caso tells us, Vir qui eam ince-

VESUVIUS or VESEVUS, a Moun. chief Functions were to facrifice to Vefta, to keep tain in Campania near Naples, of a very fruitful the facred Fire in her Temple and not fuffer it Soil, yet from whose Top proceed Flames of to go out; but if through their Neglett that Fire. Pliny the younger lays, that Plinius fe-Misfortune happened, they were whipped by the cundus being delirous to find out the Cause Pontifex maximus, and the Fire was kindled a- thereof was swallowed up and stiffled by the

VIA. Streets and Roads: They reckoned rich as well upon the Account of the Allowances | there were 424 Streets in Rome in all the Divitions of the City, whereof there were but at Augustus, made them for their Maintenance, as that were considerable, which all began at a alio other Gifts and Legacies left them by Will. gilt Pillar, for that reason called Milliarium au-When they went abroad, there was an Ufher ream, that was fer up at the Entrance into the with a Bundle of Rods walked before them: great Flace below the Temple of Saturn, and lead to as many Gates and to made the like Number of great Roads, that pailed throughall and if they happened to meet with the Confels | Italy. These great Streets were called Vike reor fome great Magistrate, they turned aide, | gies, militares & publics, of which the three most or elfe were obliged to kifs the Bundle of Rods famous were Appias, the Road of Appias, which that were carried before them. Wills and the was made and pa ed by him, Flammia that of most secret Acts were afuelly committed to their Flaminius, made by a Confel of that Name, Cuftody,, as Julius Cafar did, according to and reach'd from Porta Flamentana near Campus Martius as far as Kunini upon the Adriatick Sea.

VICIORIA, Victory, a Deity adored but the Ancients, and made by Varro to be the Daughter of Calum and Terra, for whom the Romans built a Temple during their War with Temple of Jupiter Optimus, after the Overthrow When a Vestal was convided of Unchastity, at Canne, according to Livy: L. Sylla instituted the Possiff ordered her to be brought before Games in Honour of her. The Asbenians also ham, prohibited her to exercise her Functions, built her Statue without Wings that so she might not fly away from their City, in the fame manner as the Lacedemonians represented Mars with Chains, that fo he might continue with was proved, the was condemned to be buried a - them, according to Paulanias. She was usually Live in a Pit dug for that purpo e without Porta represented like a young Goddel's winged, and Collina in a Place cilled Campus Sectoratus : Exe Itanding upon a Globe, with a Lawrel Crown corion Day bring come, the Pontiff degraded in one Hand and a Palm in the other: Domition and flaight her of her Habit, which the killed represented her with a Horn of Plenty, to intimate that Victory brought Plenty of all 1 hings with it. On the Reverte of the Silver Medal of L. Hollilius, Victory is represented with a Cadu-

one Hand and a Trophy of the Enemies Spoils in formed by him, it was attributed to that Rod. the other. Victory is represented upon the Re- Virgit describes the Vertue of that Rod in his verse of a Gold Medal of Augustus, with her Feet upon a Globe, and extended Wings as if the flew, a Lawrel Crown in her Right-Hand and a Labarum or Emperor's Banner in the Left : She is also represented fitting upon the Spoils of the Enemy, with a Trophy let before her, and carrying a Crown with these Words Videria Au-

VINDICTA, the Rod or Switch wherehe was affranchifed.

VIRBIUS, furnamed Hippolytus, the Sonof Thefeus, whom Afculapius at Diana's Request | would to die: He expelled the Winds, and palraifed from the Dead, and wasfurnamed fo, as led through the Clouds. being born twice.

VIRGA, the Rod of Mofer, which, accord-Vespers of the Sabbath, that is, on the Evening of the fixth Day of the Creation of the World, and on which the Holy, Great and Glotious Name of God, called Tetragrammaton was inscribed after a wonderful Manner; and therefore tis faid in the Zoar upon Exodus, that the Miracles were graven and the most holy Name of God inscribed upon it. Galetinus writ a great deal concerning this Rod, and he relates tome Things remarkable out of a Fewish Book entituled Gale refais, i. e. Revelans areans. It's to be nour, to that you must first pass through the observed, according to the Sentiments of the Temple of Honour to ir. Fews, that this Rod by reason of the particular and divine Vertue it had to work Miracles, was never given to any other but Mofer; that Jo- People at the burying of great Men in Rome. fuab himfelt, though his Disciple and most worthy likewife endue him with a Rod twifted round with more Reason take it to be an Hundred. Ovid with Serpents, called Caducem, in Imitation of was of this Opinion, when he made Neffor lay, Moles his Rod that was changed into a Serpent, and was to famous amongst them, that what-sous, which was Mercurie's Rod of Peace, in lever miraculous and strange Thing was per-Aneids.

> Tum virgam capit, has animas ille evocat orce Pallentes, alias fub triffia tartara mittit. Dat fomnos, adimitque, & lumina morte refignat : Illa fretus agit ventos, & turbida tranat Nubila :

He therefore used his Rod as well when he fetch'd . with the Przetor touched a Slave's Head when Souls from Hell as when he carried them thicher: By the Help of this Rod he made the one fleep, and awaked the other, and made whom he VIRGILIUS, Virgit, the Prince of the Latin Poets, born at Andes near the City of Maning to the Rabins, God made between the two sua, and named Publius Maro. The Romans admired him for the Excellency of his Works, and honoured him as much as the Emperor himfelf; and his Modefty acquired him the Name of Parthenius : He has left us his Bucolicks, Four Books of Georgieks, and Twelve of the Aneids, wherein he has imitated the Iliads and Olyffes of Homer: The Emperor Augustus hindered this last Piece to be burnt, as Virgil had ordered it by his Will.

VIRTUS, Vertue, a Goddess among the Romans, whose Temple was joined to that of Ho-

VISCERATIONES, a Gift confifting of the Entrails of Animals conferred upon the

VIIA, Life; Homer teems to allude to the Succeffor, never made use of it, but only of a long Lives of Men in the first Ages of the World, Lance and Javelin: It's true, when other fa- when he fays, that Nofter was cotemporary with cred Things as Aaron's Rod, the Pot of Manna, the Men of the Two preceding Ages, and haand Veffel of facred incenf- were laid up in the ving survived them, did also then live with those Ark by Jofuzh, we could never learn what became of the third Age, and he told them, that the of Moles his Rod; and we do not find either in former leople with whom he had converted were the holy Scriptures, or Books of the Rabbins any a great deal stronger than thole born afterwards; mention made of it. And Abarbinel inferrs to that they were not airaid to encounter wild from Mojes his going up to the Mount Abarin Beafts; Hefiod gives us a compleat Description to die there, that he took Gods Rod in his Hand, of the Terrestrial Happiness of those People that and that it was buried with the Body of that lived in the first Age; but he has not given an Prophet in the same Grave, God being unwilling Account of the Duration of their Lives, which that any other Man should make use of it after he makes to end in a sweet Sleep, Moriebaniur him; for as there never was a Man in Ifrael like ceu fomno obruss; but he clearly intimates that unto Moles, either in respect to the Heighth of this Lite must have been very long, when he saye, Prophete or Signs and Wooders done by him, that those of the succeeding Age, who came far fo no other but himself made use of that Rod for short of the other, were a Hundred Years in a working all those Miracles: As Moses was the State of Infancy: We cannot truly determine Conductor of the People of God into the promisshow many Years an Age confifted of; by what fed Land, the Pagans also alcribe unto Mercury is faid concerning Neftor that he lived Three, the Charge of conducting sculs into Hell: They lome believe an Age was Thirty Years, others

The same Poet in another place seigned that Sybilla Cumes was 700 Years old, when Aness their Writings acknowledged and bore Testimocame to confult her, and that the was to live 200 ny to the Truth of the Length of Mens Lives Years longer,

Nam jam mibi secula septem Alla vides ; superest, numeros ut pulveris aquem, Tercentum meffes, tercentum mufta videre.

It was a Request the had made and obtained, that the Observations of several Ages to make it perthe thould live as many Years as the held Grains feet. These Two Reasons discover the Faility of Sand in her Hand. We do not know from of their Opinion, who thought that the Years whence ovid had this Fable, but he allows her which made up the first Mens long Lives, conabove 1000 Years to live. In the Argonauticon lifted of no more than One Month or at the most attributed to Orpheus we have an Account given Three; but the most convincing Proof of any of a People called Macrabit that comes near unto is, that the Year of the Deluge is to well circumthat of our Age of Innocence and Terrestrial Pa- stanciated in the Book of Genesis, that the 12 radice: The Length of their Lives from which | Months and 365 Days are there exprest. they derive their Names is no less than 1000

Omnique ex parte beatos Macrobios, facilem qui visam in longa trabentes Secula, millenos implens feliciter annos.

Horace attributes the shortening of Men's Lives only to Promethem his flealing Fire from Heaven, in order to facilitate the Understanding of a and the Vengeance of God that has poured an Truth that was fo univerfally received, he in-Infinity of Evil upon us,

Post ignem atbereà domo Subductum, macies, & nova febrium Terris incubuit cobors : Semotique priùstarda necellitas Lethi corribuit gradum.

Silius Italicus tells us of an ancient King of Spain icribes him, threatned him with an Apoplexy. called Arganthonius who lived 300 lears: Hero- if a violent Death had not shortened his Life dotus speaks of the Ethiopians of Africa who as well as his continual Debaucheries: Of the were called Macrobii, and fays, they commonly most sumpruous Feasts, wherewith he was treatlived 120 Years, and 'twas believed the Length ed, that which his Brother Lucius made for him of their Lives proceeded from the Water they is taken Notice of, where there were 2000 Fishes drank, which was lighter than Wood it felt: and 7000 Fowls ferved to the Table: He made Lucian gives the Title of Macrobii, that is, of one Feast wherein he was not so profuse, but Long livers, to one of his Dialogues: He does not more dainty, and wherein one Courte confifted only make an Enumeration of particular Persons, of the Livers of a fort of rare Fishes called Scari. but also of Nations tamous for their being long- Pheasants and Peacocks Brains, the Tengues of lived; he fays, it was reported that some People ! Phanicopteri, which are very rare Birds, and the in the Country of Seres, that is China, lived Rows of Lamprey's: All their Dainties were aco Years.

the Egyptians of their Gods, or rather Kings, In short, his whole Reign was but one continued fome of whom had reigned 300 Years, and o- Debauch and Profuseness, which made Vibius thers 112, but 'tis believed their Years were lie Crifpus lay, who had the good Fortune to fall fick nar, and no more than a Month: Others are of at that Time, and so to avoid those Excesses, that Opinion that they confounded their Hiftory with had it no been for his Illness he must infallibly Aftronomy, and attributed to then Kings the have burft. Vitellius was flain by the Soldiers Names of the Stars, and the Length of their Re- who advanced Vespasian to the Throne, and after volusions, and to that they are rather Aftrono- he had been dragged through the Streets of Rome

mical Computations which they have made, that the Dynafties and hiftorical Successions of their Kings. Eulebius relates a Passage out of Folephus which flews, that prophane Authors have in in the first Ages: Josephus says, that the first Men were permitted to live thus so extraordinarily long, not only upon the Account of their Piety, but out of a Necessity that the Earth fhould be peopled in a fhort time, and Arts invented, especially Aftronomy, which required

Neither would Mofes in Five or Six Chapters fuccessively have given such different Significations to this Term Tear: St. Augustine has very vigorously pushed on this Argument concerning the Year of the Deluge. Lastantius tells us. that Varro was to confident that Men in ancient Days lived even to be a Toufand Years old, that flanced in the lunar Years that contifted of one Month only, in which ti:ne the Moon ran thro'

the Twelve Signs of the the Zodiac. VITELLIUS, a Roman Emperor that fucceeded Otho: Fobannes Baptilla Porta in his Treatife of Phynognomy, observes, he had an Owl's Face: His thick short Neck, reddish Complexion and a great Belly, as Sueronius debrought from the Carpathian Sea, Straights of Diodorus Siculus relates the Account given by Gibraliar and other remote Parts of the World. through in several Parts, he was with his Bro- was revenged on him by putting out his only ther and Sonthrown into the Tiber, having reign- Eye with a Firebrand, after he had made him ed but Eight Months.

is very ancient, and 'tis long ago fince they have rus put up in an He goat's Skin : His Companimade very fine Things of it, neverthelefs, the Art of making Glass for Windows did not come in use till a long time after, and the same may drove him back to the Island from whence he be looked upon as an Invention of latter Ages: came. Aolus would not receive him a second Indeed Marcus Scaurus in Pompey's Time made time, and this made him fail away and land in part of the Scene of that stately Theater, which the Country of the Lestrigons; where near unto was built at Rome for the Peoples Diversion, of a Fountain they found the Daughters of King Glass; but in the mean time they had then no Ansiphates, who were come thither to draw Wa-Glass Windows to their Houses, and it any great ter; the Cruelty of that King and People ha-Men, and of the richeft fort had a mind to have ving forced them to flee away haffily. Laftly, ang cole coms in their Houses, and to which After they had loft Eleven of their Ships they their forts of Stones.

Wite, whom he loved to entirely, that to the to go to the Trojan war, he pretended himieli mad, and tied his Plough the wrong way to Two Animals of a different Kind, with which if he went about to kill his Son, or rather laying him in the furrow, that fo the Coulter of the Plough might kill him, as twas drawn along, Ulyffes that knew the Danger Stopt, and in pretended to be: He was a very wife and cun-He went afterwards to the Country of the Loto-that they were oblig'd to carry them away by From thence he went to the life of Cyclops, where home to Ithaca. When he was come to his Pa-Polyphemus in Contempt of Jupiter and other lace in the Habit of a poor Traveller, he was Gods, who were the Protectors of Holpitality, I known by his Dogs; but the Great Men of Ithaca with a Rope about his Neck and his Body run | devoured two of his Companions; but Unffer drunk: He landed at the life of Aolus, King VITRUM; Glas. The Invention of Glass of the Winds, who presented him with a Zephyons thinking it to be some hid Gold, opened the Skin while Ulyffer was afleep, and the Wind the Light might come, they closed up the arrived at an Island where Circe was Queen, who Paffage with Transparent Stones such as Agates, was the Daughter of the Sun, and a cunning Alabafter, and Marble finely polifhed; but Sorceress: She prefently changed his Compawhen they came afterwards to know the Use of nions, whom he had fent to view the Country, Glass for that Purpole, they used it instead of into Swine : Mercury prevented him from runing the same Danger, and gave him the Herb ULYSSES; Prince of Ibaca, and the Son called Moly, as a fure Prefervative against Circe's of Lacrees and Anticles; he had Penelope to Enchantments, and told him at the fame time, that when Circe struck him with her Rod, he end he might not leave her and not be obliged | should draw his Sword and threaten to kill her, till fuch time as the made an Offer of her Friendthip and Bed unto him, and fwear by the great Oath of the Gods, to do him no manner of hurt. Ulyffes punctually followed Mercury's Advice, and he ploughed; but Palamedes making a Shew as Circe restored his Companions to him in their former Shape: She foretold him his Descent into Hell, and order'd what Sacrifice he should first offer to Pluto, Proferpina, and the Prophet to doing discovered he was not really what he Tirefias. Circe also foretold him the Accidents he ought to avoid, as the Sirens, and the Rocks ning Prince, and performed a great many brave | Stylla and Carybdis, which he had much ado to Actions both in point of Valour and Prudence elcape, by being tied to the Maft of his Ship, at the Siege of Troy: After the taking of the and flopping his Ears. Soylla [wallowed fix of City, he embarked in order to return home; his Companions : He landed in Sicily, which but he wandered up and down a long time with her Flocks was confecrated to the Sun; but through Neptune's Hatred to him, that he might while he was alleep, his Companions killed some be revenged on him for the Death of his Son of thole Oxen : This Sacriledge was revenged Polyphemus. Homer in the ninth Book of his o- with a dreadful Tempest, which drove Uhiles dyfes makes him begin the Story of his Voyages and his Company to the Isle of Ogygia, where and Misfortunes, laying, that Jupiter at his the Nymph Calipse received and entertained him leaving of Iroy, cast him upon the Country of seven Years, and promised to make him immorthe Cirones, which he pillaged; but those Peotal, if he would confent to tarry with her. But ple getting together, flew feveral of his Men. Jupiter deputed Mercury to go and command bigi, who gave him a very kind Reception ; detained only by force, went on board : Nepume but after tome of he People had eaten of the role a great Storm, and dalh'd his Ship to pieces, Herb called Loros, which was the Food of the but Ino the Goddels of the Sea faved him from Natives, they wholly loft the Remembrance of, Shipwrack, gave him a Scarf which could keep and Love they had for their Country, infomuch him from being drowned, and Minerua fent a Force, and tie them fast till they went aboard. try of the Phases to Alcinous, who fent him who eat Uhffes his Bread, and courted his Wife, having conspired the Death of his Son Telemachus, used Ulyffes very fcornfully. Penelope entertained him without knowing him, then commanded his Feet to be washed, and that he should be put to Bed : Old Euryclea in washing his Feet, found he was Ulyfes by the Scar of a Wound When these Vows were accomplished, they co but he would not allow her to discover him : Penelope having promifed to marry that Perton who , Places. could bend Ulyffes his Bow, all the Great Men URANIA, which fignifies as much as Cadid it, they being unworthy of it : He after- over Aftronomy. with Antinous.

The Navel is the Middle of a Man; Ad umbili- Reme and Courts of Judicature; as also to keep sum ducere opus, in Horace, tignifies to finish a the Ashes of Mens Bodies after they had been Thing; for the Romans writing their Works up- burn'd, according to ancient Custom: The Anon Parchment, or the Barks of Trees long ways, cients placed these Urns either under the Stones they rolled them up when all was writ, and clo- on which their Epitaphs were cut, or under parfed them with little Study or Boffes made of Horn ticular Monuments, or elfe they kept them in or Ivory, in the Form of a Navel, to keep them their Houles. Traign would have his Ashes laid a Serpent; it was likewise a Volume, or Book; Demetrius was also made of Gold, as Plutarch for the ancient Romans before Paper was invent- fays; and the Great Marcellus, who took Syraed, wrote at first upon Table-Books covered cuje, had a Silver Urn. Spartian fays, the Aihes over with Wax; and when they had put the fi- of the Emperor Severus were carried to Rome in nishing Stroak to their Works, they neatly laid a Golden Urn : But Dio, who is of better Authothem long-ways upon Parchments, or Barks of rity, favs, it was only made of Porphyry; and He-Trees, and afterwards rolled them up; from 'rodian affures us, it was Alabaster. Glass-Urns whence Evolvere librum fignifies to read a Book, are a little more common. Marcus Varro would because the Volume must be unrolled to read have his Ashes put up in an Earthen Vessel, with

tily dreft, and treading upon Vertue.

Year after the Calends of January for the Eter- the Bones which were half burnt took up also nity of their Empire, and Health of the Empe- more room, or elfe they many times ferved for ror and Citizens; and this was called Nuncupare the Ashes of the whole Family, at leastwife, for vors. We find by the Emperors Moneys that there thole of Husband and Wife, as we are informwere Vows called Cuinquennalia, Decennalia, Vi- ed by the first Verse of this Antique Inscripcennalia, Tricennalia, and Quadricennalia: The tion: Mugistrates ordered these Vows to be graven upon Brais Plates and Marble, which denoted the Number of Years they pray'd for, as 5, 10, 20, 30, and 40 Years: We find these Words on Maxentius and Decentius's Money, Votin Quinquen- As to the Shape of the Upis, the Earthen ones nalibus, multiu Decennalibus. By the Medals of were made very near like to our common Earantoninus Pius and Marcus Aurelius, we find then Pots, faving that they were taller and Vows made for twenty Years, Vota Juscepta Vi- ftraighter about the Neck: There were several comalia; Which are thus inferibed:

VOT. XXX MULTIS XXXX.

which he had received in Hunting a wild Boar, refled Altare, kindled Fires, and offered Sacrifices, and feafted in the Streets and publick endeavoured to do it in vain, but Ulyses himself leftial, was one of the Nine Muses: she presided wards made himself known to his Son, and the | UR NA, an Urn, was a Vale made of diffe-Shepherd Eumaus, and by Minerva's Help killed rent Matter, and made use of to draw out of it all his Wife's Suitors with Arrows, beginning the Names of those who were first to entage at the publick Plays, or to throw in the Notes, UMBILICUS, the Middle of a Thing: and give their Votes in the Allemblies held at up in a Golden Urn, and put upon that noble VOLUMEN; the winding and folding of Pillar of his that is ftill franding. That of King Myrtle, Olive and Poplar Leaves, being that VOLUPIA, the Goddess of Pleasure, to which Pliny calls the Pythagorean Fashion, bewhom the Romans built a Temple, and repre- caule they were the meanest and most ordinary tented her like a young handsome Woman, pret- of any: Earthen Urns that were used by the Vulgar were commonly larger, for as there was VOTA, Vows made by the Romans every lels Care taken to reduce them entirely to Ashes,

Urna brevis geminum quamvis tenet ista Ca-of them whole Foot was tharp at the End, fome that had Handles and others none: They have no Fathion nor bafe Relievo, laving that there are some that have the Figures of Men or Animals u pon them.

as they were defigned for Persons of Quality; in the City for Persons of Quality. The comthere were few of them which had not some fort mon People were burnt upon Mount Efquiline. of Sculpture and base Relievo round them, as we For this Purpose they erected a Heap of Wood, find by feveral Authors who have given us the which they called a Pile, filled on the infide with Forms of them. There were some Egyptian Urns dry and combustible Matter, and with Cypress made of baked Earth, full of Hieroglyphicks and and Pine branches without. They were not spa-Mummy, which is remarkable enough, fince the ring of the rarest Persumes upon this Occasion, Egyptians being accustomed to embalm the Bo- which they threw lavishly upon the Pile. Pludies whole, the Urns were not big enough to tarch tells us, that they burnt 210 Handfuls at hold them. Among the greater Number of the Funeral Oblequies of Syllathe Dictator: But those that were to be leen at some, some were at the Funerals of meaner Citizens they contentround, others square, some great, others small, ed themselves with Pitch, as appears by this fome again all over plain, and others done in Antique Inscription: base Relievo: Some were to be met with that had Epitaphs on them, while others bare only the Names of the Persons to whom they belonged; but there were no other Characters upon some belides the two Letters D. M. or the Name of the Potter only that made them upon the Handle, or at the Bottom.

The Ancients had a Way to preferve their Urns, and to hinder the Ashes from mixing with the Earth ; in the first place they often placed the Urn on the Top of those imall square lillars on which their Epitaphs were infcribed, and which upon the account of the Shape of them we call Cippi or Grave-Stones. They also put them up in Stone or Marble Coffins: The following Inscriptions indicate both the said Cuftoms.

Te lapis obsestor, leviser super offa quiesce : Et nostro cineri ne gravu eje velu.

In the next place, Persons of Quality had their Burying-Vaults, where they isid up the Ashes of their Ancestors; and there was one like this formerly found at Nifmes, with a rich inlaid Pave. his Sayrs, Comes composus, that is, Ibave buried ment, with Niches round about in the Wall, in each of which guilded Glais Urns full of Afhes were let in order. The Urnalio Alas of use to caft the Lots of Pranejte, and this is noted by Horace, Diving mora anus Unia; The Prissies to burn the Bodies, and were called Uffarii. baving furred the inchanted Unt. Horace in that finished the rest of the Ceremony, by adorning place speaks of the Divination used by the Urn the Deceased with rich Purple Tapiftry, and great many Letters and whole Words into an Urn, which they ftirred together, and when those Letters were well mixed, they turned them; and that which Change effected in the place of those Letters, made the Divination: This is that which they called the Lots of Pranefte, because they were found in that place : This fort of Divination in Cicero's Time was little regarded, there being none but the combeen much in vogue among the Grecians.

But for those made of Brass or other Mettals, I some other place in the Suburbs, and sometimes Μ. P. Attilio Rufo & Actilia Beronica Uxor, Vixer. A. XXIIII. Sed Pub. Menf. X. Ante Natus Est & Eadem Hora Fungor. Esu Ambo Mortui Sunt. Ille Acu, Ista Lanificio Vitam Agebant. Nec ex Eorum Bonis Plus Inventum est quam quod Sufficeret ad Emendam Pyram & Picem quibus Corpora Cremarentur. Et Prafica Conducta, & Urna Empta.

When the Wood-pile was thus ordered and made ready, the Relations and Children of the Deceased helped to lay the Body upon the Pile, whence that Latin Expression in Horace in one of all my Relations; then the Perion who closed the Eyes of the Deceafed at his Departure, opened them that he might look up to Heaven as the Place of his abode: those whose Business it was and Lots which was practiced thus: They put a conferring on him the Enligns of his Dignity. Then the next of Kin taking a Torch in his Hand, and turning his Head aside, to intimate he did that Office with Regret, he fet the Pile on Fire at the mournful sound of Trumpets and Hautboys: Then the Relations and Friends of the Deceased offered Sacrifices, cut the Throats of Animals, and served the Manes with feveral Meffes to appeale them, praying to the Winds to blow through the Pile to fet it more mon People that made any account of it : It had on Fire and confume it, according to the Cuftom of the Gresians. When the Flame decreated and USTRINA, or USTRINUM; the that the Body feemed to have been burnt, the Place at Rome where they burnt the Bodies of Relations gave their lait Farewell to the Dethe Dead : It was commonly Campus Martius, or ceared in these Words ; Salve aternum & vale a-

who eat Uhffes his Bread, and courted his Wife, having conspired the Death of his Son Telemachus, used Vlysjes very scornfully. Penelope entertained him without knowing him, then commanded his feet to be washed, and that he should be put to Bed : Old Euryclea in washing his Feet, found he was Ulysses by the Scar of a Wound When these Vows were accomplished, they ewhich he had received in Hunting a wild Boar, rected Altars, kindled Fires, and offered Sacribut he would not allow her to discover him : Pe- fices, and feasted in the Streets and publick nelope having promifed to marry that Perion who , Places. could bend Uhffer his Bow, all the Great Men | URANIA, which fignifies as much as Cadid it, they being unworthy of it : He after- over Aftronomy. wards made himself known to his Son, and the | UR NA, an Urn, was a Vale made of diffewith Antinous.

tily dreft, and treading upon Vertue.

connalia, Tricennalia, and Quadricennalia: The tion : Magistrates ordered these Vows to be graven upon Brais Plates and Marble, which denoted the Number of Years they pray'd for, as 5, 10, 20, 30, and 40 Years : We find these Words on connaira; which are thus inferibed;

VOT. MULTIS XXXX.

URN

endeavoured to do it in vain, but Ulyffes himself Isfial, was one of the Nine Muses; she presided

Shepherd Eumaus, and by Minerva's Help killed rent Matter, and made use of to draw out of it all his Wife's Suitors with Arrows, beginning the Names of those who were first to en age at the publick Plays, or to throw in the Notes, UMBILICUS, the Middle of a Thing: and give their Votes in the Affemblies held at The Navel is the Middle of a Man; Ai umbili- Rome and Courts of Judicature; as also to keep cum ducere opus, in Horace, tignifies to finish a the Ashes of Mens Bodies after they had been Thing; for the Romans writing their Works up- burn'd, according to ancient Custom: The Anon Parchiment, or the Barks of Trees long ways, cients placed thele Urns either under the Stones they rolled them up when all was writ, and clo- on which their Epitaphs were cut, or under parfed them with little Studs or Boffes made of Horn | ticular Monuments, or elle they kept them in or Ivory, in the Form of a Navel, to keep them their Houles. Trajan would have his Ashes laid l up in a Golden Urn, and put upon that noble VOLUMEN; the winding and folding of Pillar of his that is still standing. That of King a Serpent; it was likewise a Volume, or Book; Demetrius was also made of Gold, as Plutarch for the ancient Romans before Paper was invent- fays; and the Great Marcellus, who took Syraed, wrote at first upon Table-Books covered cuje, had a Silver Urn. Spartian says, the Ashes over with Wax; and when they had put the fi- of the Emperor Severus were carried to Rome in nishing Stroak to their Works, they neatly laid a Golden Urn : But Dio, who is of better Authothem long-ways upon Parchments, or Barks of rity, fays, it was only made of Porphyry; and He-Trees, and afterwards rolled them up; from rodian affures us, it was Alabaster. Glass-Urns whence Evolvere librum fignifies to read a Book, are a little more common. Marcus Varro would because the Volume must be unrolled to read have his Ashes put up in an Earthen Vessel, with Myrtle, Olive and Poplar Leaves, being that VOLUPIA, the Goddess of Pleasure, to which Pliny calls the Pythagorean Fashion, bewhom the Romans built a Temple, and repre- caule they were the meanest and most ordinary fented her like a young handsome Woman, pret- of any: Earthen Urns that were used by the Vulgar were commonly larger, for as there was VO TA, Vows made by the Romans every less Care taken to reduce them entirely to Ashes, Year after the Calends of January for the Eter- the Bones which were half burnt took up also nity of their Empire, and Health of the Empe- more room, or elfe they many times ferved for for and Citizens; and this was called Nuncupare the Ashes of the whole Family, at leastwise, for vota. We find by the Emperors Moneys that there thole of Husband and Wife, as we are informwere Vows called Quinquennalia, Decennalia, Vi- ed by the first Verle of this Antique Interip-

Urna brevis geminum quamvis tenet ifta Ca-

Maxentius and Decentius's Money, Votu Quinquen- As to the Shape of the Unis, the Earthen ones nalibus, multin Decennalibus. By the Medals of were made very near like to our common Earantoninus Pius and Marcus Aurelius, we find then Pots, faving that they were taller and Vows made for twenty Years, Vota Jujecpta Vi- thraighter about the Neck: There were feveral of them whose Foot was sharp at the End. some that had Handles and others none: They have no Fathion nor base Relievo, saving that there are fome that have the Figures of Men or Animals u pon them.

as they were defigned for Persons of Quality; in the City for Persons of Quality. The comthere were few of them which had not fome fort mon People were burnt upon Mount Esquiline. of Sculpture and base Relievo round them, as we For this Purpose they erected a Heap of Wood, find by feveral Authors who have given us the which they called a Pile, filled on the infide with Forms of them. There were some Egyptian Urns dry and combustible Matter, and with Cyprels made of baked Earth, full of Hieroglyphicks and and Pine branches without. They were not spa-Mummy, which is remarkable enough, fince the ring of the rarest Perfumes upon this Occasion, Egyptians being accustomed to embalm the Bo- which they threw lavishly upon the Pile. Pludies whole, the Urns were not big enough to turch tells us, that they burnt 210 Handfuls at hold them. Among the greater Number of the Funeral Obsequies of Syllathe Dictator: But those that were to be seen at Rome, some were at the Funerals of meaner Citizens they contentround, others square, some great, others small, ed themselves with Pitch, as appears by this fome again all over plain, and others done in Antique Inscription: base Relievo: Some were to be met with that had Epitaphs on them, while others bare only the Names of the Persons to whom they belonged; but there were no other Characters upon some befides the two Letters D. M. or the Name of the Potter only that made them upon the Handle, or at the Bottom.

The Ancients had a Way to preferve their Urns, and to hinder the Afhes from mixing with the Earth ; in the first place they often placed the Urn on the Top of thole imall square l'illars on which their Epitaphs were interibed, and which upon the account of the Shape of them we call Cippi or Grave-frones. They also put them up in Stone or Marble Coffins: The following Inferiptions indicate both the faid Cu-Te lapis obsestor, leviter super offa quiesce : Et nostro cineri ne gravu ejje velu.

Burying Vaults, where they inidup the Afhes of Deceased helped to lay the Body upon the Pile; their Ancestors; and there was one like this for- whence that Latin Expression in Horace in one of merly found at Nijmes, with a rich inlaid Pave- his Satyrs, Cmnes compojni, that is, Ibave burich ment, with Niches round about in the Wall, in | alimy Relations; then the Perion who closed the each of which guilded Glass Urns toll of Albes Lyes of the Deceased at his Departure, opened were fet in order. The Urn allo was of use to cast the Lots of Pranefte, and this is noted by Place of his abode; those whose Business it was place speaks of the D.vination used by the Urn the Deceased with rich Purple Tapiftry, and been much in vogue among the Grecians.

But for those made of Brass or other Mettals, some other place in the Suburbs, and sometimes

P. Attilio Rufo & Actilia Beronica Uxor. Vixer. A. XXIIII. fed Pub. Menf. X. Ante Natus Est & Eadem Hora Fungor. Efu Ambo Mortui Sunt. Ille Acu, Ista Lanificio Vitam Agebant. Nec ex Eorum Bonis

Plus Inventum est quam quod Sufficeret ad Emendam Pyram & Picem quibus Corpora Cremarentur. Et Prafica Conducta, & Urna Empta.

When the Wood-pile was thus ordered and In the next place, Persons of Quality had their made ready, the Relations and Ghildren of the them that he might look up to Heaven as the Horace, Divina mota anus Uma; The Prinfiefs to burn the Bodies, and were called Uffarii, baving flurred the inchanted Urn. 120-ace in that finished the rest of the Ceremony, by adorning and Lots which was practiced thus : They put a conferring on him the Enigns of his Dignity. great many Letters and whole Words into an Then the next of Kin taking a Torch in his Urn, which they flirred together, and when Hand, and turning his Head alide, to intimate thole Letters were well mixed, they turned he did that Office with Regret, he for the Pile them; and that which Change effected in the on Fire at the mournful sound of Trumpets place of thole Letters, made the Divination: and Hautboys: Then the Relations and Friends This is that which they called the Lots of Pra- of the Deceased offered Sacrifices, cut the nefte, because they were found in that place : Throats of Animals, and served the Manes with This fort of Divination in Cicero's Time was feveral Meffes to appeale them, praying to the little regarded, there being none but the com- Winds to blow through the Pile to let it more mon People that made any account of it : It had on Fire and confume it, according to the Custom of the Greeians. When the Flame decreated and USTRINA, or USTRINUM; the that the Body feemed to have been burnt, the Place at Rome where they hurnt the Bodies of Relations gave their last Farewell to the Dethe Dead : It was commonly Campus Martius, or ceased in their Words; Salve aternum & vale aternum, nos eo ordine, quo Natura dederit, te | them, for which end he beset his Bed with invi-

'new Ways to elude them.

VULCANUS, Vulcan, whom they commonly make to be the Son of Funo, of whom she conceived without the Help of Jupiter her Huf. Siculus also affures us, the Egyptian Priefts rehand, the threw hun down from Heaven, and ckoned Vulcan among the Kings of Egypt, and he fell into the Isle of Lemnos, where he had said, he was the first of them all; lattly, they broke his Neck, fays Lucian, had not the Inha- attributed the Invention of Fire to him, for a bitants of the Country received him in their | Thunder-bolt happening to tall upon a Tree Arms as he tumbled through the Air, and pre- and fetting it on Fire, he brought more Wood to vented him from running the Fate of Allianax; it, and so preserved the Use of Fire. They attribuhowever, this could not prevent his having his Leg broke, which made him always go lame. occasion to lay, he made fupiter's Thunder-bolts, The same Lucian says in his Dialogue of the so they did those fiery Irruptions in Mountains Gods, where he introduces Jupiter and Vulcan which vomit out Flames, because they suppospeaking, that after the latter had cleft the o. sed that the Cyclops or Smiths wrought there thers Head with an Ax, there came an Amazon according to Vulcan's Directions; or laitly, they forth, who was Pallas, armed with a Lance and attributed to him the Fire made use of for all Shield, and he as his Reward for so happily deli- Arts and especially for Smithing; for Vulcan bevering him defired he might have her to Wife: ing the Tubal-cain of the ragans, he prefided Jupiter agreed to it, but he could not perswade over all those Arts that concerned the Working her to marry him, because she was resolved to of Mertals. live a Virgin all her Life-time: So he married Venus who proved falle to his Bed, profittuting alone, however, Homer gives him also Jupiter her felf to God Mars, which being suspected by , for his Father: Now Jupiter who is the Coele-

fible Nets and then went to his Forge: The Gal-USURA CENTESIMIS, afury: In- lant laying hold on the Opportunity of the Huf. terest at One per Cent. They paid Interest by band's Absence went to enjoy his Mistress, but the Month, and not by the Year, as we do: the Sun discovered them and informed Vulcan of and fo this implies the Hundredth Part of the it, who took them both in the Fact, and wrapped Sum every Month, and confequently Twelve them up in his Nets. Then he called all the per Cent. per Ann. This fort of Usury was looked Gods to be Witnesses of his Disgrace: They upon as exorbitant; and therefore the Law of made him to be the Smith of the Gods, and gave the I welve Tables, confirmed long after by the him the Islands of Lesbos and Lipara for his for-Tribunes, regulated Usury to One per Cent. ging Places, in the Company of the Cyclops. per Ann. and this was called Unciarium fanus, The Poets tell us, that Vulcan had once a Connay, and the same was regulated one Time at test with Neptune and Minerva about the Excelone Half less. Tacitus, L. 5. Ann. speaks of Usu- lency of their Aits; Neptune as his Mafter-piece rers thus; 'For, fays he, they had publickly acted made a Bull, Minerva a House, and Vulcan. a contrary to the Law which Calar had enacted Man; when they came before Monus whom they for regulating the Interest of Money and Mat- chose for Judge, he blamed Vulcan because he ters relating to the Estates that were possest had not made a Window in the Man's Heart. in Italy; and the Advantage of particular Per- to fee if his Words agreed with his Thoughts. tions made the Publick Good to be neglected: So much concerning the Fable of Vulcan, now 'Usury doubtless is one of the oldest Evils of we come to the History, and so Vulcan is found to the Republick, and the most usual Cause of be the first in the Dynasties of the Egyptian Seditions, and that is the Reason why so many Kings, who were Gods, as they have been trans-Laws have been made to reftrain it, even in mitted down to us by Syncellus: He is also called a Time when Mens Manners were not fo cor- the Father of the Gods in the proud Inscriptions 'rupt; for first it was forbid by the Laws of the Of the Kings of Egypt, Et Vulcanus Deorum paser. 'Twelve Tables to lend Money at an higher Herodotus Ipeaks of a magnificent Temple of Interest than the Eighth Denarius, whereas be- Vulcan's, whose Porch on the North-fide was ' fore, all kinds of Interests were allowed of : Af- built by Mærie King of Egypt, and Ramsinitus terwards it was at the Defire of the Tribunes erected that to the West: It's laid, it was King reduced to Sixteen Denarii, and some time after Menes who built that stately and magnificent 'forbidden altogether: The People afterwards Temple of Vulcan's at Thebes, from whom the ' made feveral Orders for the Prevention of the Prieffs reckoned 360 Kings in Egypt; be speaks ' Cheats practiled in this Respect, but notwith- in another Place of a Colossus of Vulcan's which franding any Regulations that they could make, was 75 Foot high, and frood before his Temple. the Coverousnels of Men always found out | Sanchuniathon does also place Vulcan among the Phanician Gods, and calls him Chryfor and gives him a far greater Extent of Power than that attributed to Vulcan by the Greeks: Diodorus ted the Lightning to Vulcan, which gave Men

The Poets made Vulcan to be the Son of Juno Vulcan he watched an Opportunity to surprize stial Fire might very well give Being to the Terforms Thunder. Laftly, if Juno be the Earth, them to Vulcan in the Field of Battle. it's also not to be doubted but that she alone forces out of her Bosom, those Fires which some Mountains fend forth, and which they call Vulcanoes: Servins fays fomething like this: In Lemnum infulam decidit Vulcanus, à Junone propter deformitatem dejettus, quam aerem effe constat, ex quo fulmina procreantur. Ideò autem Vulcanus de dere najeuntur. One might in my Opinion, fays Father Thomassin, from hence draw a Proof that
valent to cs, as Due put for Dues, whence duese femore Junonis fingitur natus, quod fulmina de imo could give some Weight to the Physiological in the Genitive; and so it is with gs, as Rex for Meaning of Fables, and shew that Fable upon fome Occasions has been invented only for the vailing of natural Truths, and thereby giving them a new Grace; wherefore after they had made Funo to be the Sifter and only Wife of Jupiter, and Queen of all the World, why should | never make use of it. the have no other Son but Vulcan only; or when Vulcan is made to be her Son, why should he have such and such Functions and Qualifications? But the Thunder-bolts being, as it were, Productions of the Air, which is Juno, or of the Air i peaking to the Sea thus: which is Jupiter, and of Juno that is the Earth, the Fable must have been accommodated to the thy Bolom to quench the Flame that devours Nature of those Things; and the Reason why me. they fhould fay, that Vulcan at his Birth was thrown down from Heaven to the Earth, and made a Cripple by the Fall, was because the Thunder never falls directly: Servius adds, that the Reason why the Poets say, that Vulcan fell in the Isle of Lesbos, was because it thundered often in that Island: Lastly, the same Author lays, that as to their Poets Fiction in refpect to gry, he vomitted to many i limes upon me, as Vulnar's marrying of Venus, twas because the dryed up all the Plants growing upon my Banks, And this is confirmed by St. Augustine, L. 7. de escape in the Condition you see me. Civ. Dei. C. 16.

Now we are to speak of the Fable of Mars and chilles? Venus being taken in Adultery, and wrapped up in invisible Nets by Vulcan, who at the Interceffion of Neptune let them free, according to Homer in his Odyffes. Varro gives us the Etymology of the Word Vulcan, ab ignis majori vi ac violentia Vulcanus dictus : The Greek Name noaisto comes from hobai antegbai, succendi. Tzetzes will have it to have been the Name of an Egyptian, that found out the Use of Fire in Noab's Time, and afterwards invented the Art of Smithing; the Greeks having attributed to him what they had learned of the Egyptians. Bochart derives they had treated them the first Day only, they the Name of Vulcan from the Hebrew Words of effo. Pater ignis; and that with great likelihood of fruth, fince Vulcan is reckoned to be of the Number of those who made up the ancient Dynafties of the Gods or Kings of Egypt: The Egyptians according to Elian confectated Lions to him: And Servius fays, it was a Custom after restrial, and Juno who is the Air, might also all the Gaining of a Victory, to gather the Arms of alone work that Agitation in the Clouds, that the Enemy together, and to make a Sacrifice of

Is a double Letter in the Latin Tongue, Regs, whence comes Regis in the Genitive Cafe. The X is sometime put with the C, as viexit, innexis, and iometimes with the S. as Cappadoxs. St. Ifidore fays, it was not in use before Augustus his Time; and Victorinus athrms, Nigidius would XAIPE, a Greek Word used in Epitaphs, fignifying as much as Salve, Good-morrow.

XANTHUS, a River of Troy: Lucian in a Dialogue of the Sea-Gods introduces this River

Xanthus. Mother of Rivers, receive me into

Sea. Poor Xanthus, who has abused thee in this manner.

Xant. Vulcan, because I defended the poor Trojans from the Fury of Achilles, who flew them upon my Banks; for the Multitude of the dead Bodies having caused me to overflow, I could not fwallow them, wherewith Vulcan growing angetting of Children proceeded from Heat only: and killed all my Filh; and I had much ado to Sea. But why would you meddle with A-

Nant. Would you have me betray the People that revered me?

Sea. And would you on your part have Vulcan forlake the Son of a Goddels he is in Love

XENIA, Presents made by the Greeks to their Guefts for the Renewal of Friendship and a Token of Hospitality; for such of the Grecians as were rich and magnificent, had Apartments to spare furnished with all Conveniencies, wherein they received those who came from afar to lodge with them: The Custom was, that when afterwards every Day fent them some Presents of fuch Things as were brought them from the Country, as Fullets, Eggs, Herbs and Fruits; and hence it was, that the Painters, who reprefented thole Things which every one lent to their Guefts, called them Xenia, and that we give the Name of Xenodochium to an Hospital lian after many Battles vanquished and carried that entertains Pilgrims and Strangers.

XPHETOE, Beft; it was also used in ancient Epitaphs, in respect to the Dead.

X Y S T O S; it was a large and spacious Portico among the Greeks, wherein the Wreftlers practifed in Winter-time.

XYSTUS; it fignified among the Romans an open Walking-place, where People entertained one another.

Y.

Is the 22th Letter in the Alphabet and the Sixth Vowel, used in Words derived from the Greek; 'tis the Upfildn of the Grecians, tos, celerem Zeplyrum, Boreamque rapidum & Nowhich is one of the Three Vowels that they call tum, in amore cum Deo Dea congressa. common. We make use of the Letter I very often in the End of Words in the English Tongue, though we have loft the Sound of it and pronounce it always like an I; and have also passed the same Pronunciation into the Latin, which in fome measure must be allowed of because of Cuftom, though it would by no means be received into the Greek Tongue, where the Upfilon fhould always be pronounced like our Vowel U, according to the Opinion both of ancient and and conceived by the Power of it without a modern Grammarians.

Z.

Is the 23d and last Letter in the Alphabet, of Stropbades; he was afterwards but to Death by and a double one among the Latins, as Hercules, and changed into a Wind that blew wen as the Z of the Greeks: Its Pronunciation is Eight Days before the rifing of the Dog star: Hymuch more loft than the A, which makes Quinti- ginus fays, he was buried, and that his Grave-stone lian call it molliffmum and fuaviffmum: Never-trembled when the Wind Boreas blew. thelefs, this Pronunciation was not always the fame as it is this Day, to which we allow it but and the Brother of Amphion, whom he helped to Half that of an S. Moreover it had fomething build the City of Thebes. in it of the D, but fuch as founded very fmoothly as Mezentius was pronounced as if it had in Antiquity; Tretres makes him to be a Native been Medfensius, &c. The Z had also an Affi- of Ephelus, and Cicero, Pliny and Elian would nity with the G, as Capella lays: Z. faid he, a have it, that he was born at Heraclea near Cro-Gracis venit, liest etiam igsi primo G Graca ute tonia in Italy: He flourished in the 29th Olympiad

Prince's who periodily understood the Oriental found the Art of Painting in the Iniancy of its Tongues, and the Greek and Latin in their Pu- Luftre, he raifed it, from the Beginning of the rity: Irebellius Polito faid, the was the handfo- Glory Apollodorus had brought it, to great Permelt and bravest of Women: She made all the section. Quintilian lays, it was he that found East tremble, beat the Lieutenants of the Em- out the Way of ordering Lights and Shadowperor Gailienus, and maintained a vigorous War ings.; against the Romans, wherein the Emperor Aure-her in Triumph to Rome : In Confequence to that famous Victory Aurelian built a Temple at Rome dedicated to the Sun, and enriched with the Spoils of the Palmyrenians, and the Statues of the Sun and Bacebus, which were brought from Palmyra thither, as Herodotus affures us.

ZEPHYRUS, the Wind which blows from the Cardinal Point of the Horizon in the West. It's also called Favonius, and some confound it with Africus, which blows from the Winter west because of the Nearness thereof. Virgil makes them facrifice a white Beaft to the Wind Zepbyrus.

Pecudem Zepbyr is felicibus albam.

Hefiod makes him to be the Son of Aftraa and Aurora: Aftrao verò Aurora Ventis peperit violen-

What Homer fays by way of Fable concerning Boreas, Virgil relates as a true Story of Zephyrus, in speaking concerning Mares.

Ore omnes verse in Zephyrum stant rapibus altis, Exceptant que leves auras, & fape fine ullis Conjugiu vento gravida. Georg. L. 2.

They turned up their Mouths to the West-wind

ZETES, one of the Sons of the Wind Boreas and Nymph Orithya, whom he stole away from Athens; he was engaged with the Argonauts in the Expedition to Colchos; and being descended from King Phineus the Son of Agenor, who was perfecuted by his own Daughters the Harptes, he expelled them and purfued them as far as the Ifles

ZEIHUS, the Son of Jupiter and Antiope, ZEUXIS, an ancient Painter very famous towards the Year of Rome 355, and about 400 ZENOBIA, Queen of Palmyra, and a Years before our Saviour's Nativity. Having his Painting, that Manners and Passions were not Crosonians, and he does not say whose Picture it exprest therein, however, Pliny witnesses quite was: We find he does in a manner tell the same the Contrary in respect to Penelope's Picture, Story as Ciero. We must not forget that Zenzie ed her Manners. He got a great Effate, and was the belt Painter, Zeuxu loft it: the Story once appeared very gay during the Celebration dered with Letters of Gold which formed his own Parrhafus painted a Curtain foingeniously, that Name, fays Pliny; and after he grew fo rich, Zenxis taking it for a real Curtain which hid he would tell no more of his Works, but gave his Antagonile's Work, he very confidently dethem away, faying plainly, he did not know how lired that Curtain might be quickly drawn, that to let a Price upon them equal to their Value: to he might fee what Parhafus had done, but Before he made People pay for the Sight of coming to know his miftake, he acknowledged them, and none were admitted to less his Helen he was outdone, lince he had deceived none but without Money in hand, and hence by way of Birds, but Parhafus had deceived the Mafters Raillery the Picture was called Helen the Cour- even of the Art it felf: Another time he painted tizan, Eti.in, L. 4. C. 22.

fays, that good King Priams and the venerable nough, feeing it he had drawn the Boy as well Senators of his Council agreed, that the Grecians and Trojans were not to be blamed for expoling themselves for fo long a Time to fo many Evils for the Love of Helen, whose Beauty was equal to that of the Goddeffes: Val. Max. L. 3. C.7. We cannot well fay whether this Helen of Painter was an Hereules in a Cradle, who Zeuxu was the same as that at Rome in Pliny's killed the Snakes in his frightened Mother's Pre-Time, or that which he made for the People of fence, but he valued his Champion more than Crossom to be fer upin Juno's Temple. Valerius any of the rest, under which he put a Verse that Maximus (ays, Marifias bound painted by Zeuxu afterward became famous. It's faid, that hawas to be feen in the Temple of Concord. It will not be impertinent in this Place to habitants of Croims for this Picture, they had this, with these Two Verses that allude to this got him to come thither by the Power of Money, that they might be furnished with a good Quantity of Pictures by his Hand, wherewith to adorn that emple; and when he told them, he had Thoughts of painting Helen, they were very well latistied, because they knew his Talent lay in painting of Women. He afterwards alked them what fine young Women they had in their City, and they brought him to the fes, and he had all the Conveniency imaginal in a Year's Space; it's interfected into Two eble to differn whether they were handfome, for | qual Parts by the Equator, one of which contains they were naked; and as he appeared much father Six Northern Signs towards the Articl Pole, tisfied therewith, they gave him to understand and the other the Six Southern Signs towards by that, that they had handiome Girls in the the Antartick: It's called the Zodize, that is, City, fince those Boys whom he most admired Life-beater, by reason of the Figure of the Anihad Sifters: He then defired he might fee the mals in it that represent the Twelve Signs, o/t. prettielt of them, and the Council of the City Aries, Taurus and Gemini, for the Spring; Carhaving ordered all of them to attemble in one cer, Leo and Virgo, for Summer; Libra, Scorpto Place, that Zenku might take his Choice, he and Sagittarius, for Autumn; Capricornus, Aquapitch'd upon live of them and taking what was rius and Pifers, for Winter: In Verle thus.

most beautiful from each of them, he made the Luminum umbrarumque rationem invenisse tra- Picture of Helen by that. Cicero and Pliny tell (ditur us all this. Inspexerit corum nudas virgines, & quinque elegerit, ut quod in quaque laudatiffimum And 'tis agreed on all hands that he was excel- effer pidura redderer. Pliny will have it, that he lent at Colours. Ariftede found this Fault with wrought for the Agrigentines, and not for the that the Birds alighted upon them to peck them : He scrupied not to put those Three Verses of that Picture, which made him angry, and ingeaffraid of him: It's faid, he rubbed out the Grapes, and that he referved nothing but the Figure wherein he had the leaft Success. Sen. Controv. 5. L. 5. The best Picture made by this Picture put him into such a Fit of Laughter that take Notice of what Zeunis required of the In- he died with it. 'Tis Verrius Flaceus who relates > Nam quid modi fasturus rifu denique, Ni pictor fieri vult, qui riju mortuus eft.

We have the Description of a Picture of Zeuxis in Lucian, that deserves Commendation.

ZODIACUS, the Zodiac, an imaginary Circle in the Heavens containing the Twelve Signs or Conftellations, which the Sun runs thro

ZONÆ, the Zones, are the Five Circles which divide the World and Sphear into Five Parts; one is called the Torrid Zone, because of its great Heat, Two more temperate, and the other Two Frigid Zones. Virg. in L. 1. Georg. gives a Description of these Zones, as Ovid does alfo, L. 1. Met. Those Five Circles have obtained this Name because the Word Zona in Latin fignifies a Girdle. The Torrid Zone is Night: They also find it very cold there in the the others that came after. Months of fune, fuly and August; as to the

Sunt Arles, Taurus, Gemini; Cancer, Lac, Virgo 76 Degrees: In the mean time the Lapland Hi-Libraque, Scorpius, Arcienens, Caper, Ampho-fory informs us, that the Heat is sometimes to great there, that they cannot let their bare Feet rest a Minute upon a Stone, without burn-

ZOROASTER, whom Pliny makes to be so much ancienter than Moses, is believed by Clemens in his Recognitions to be Cham, and to have been worshipped for a Deity: Justine fays politively, that Zoroafter was King of the Ballrians, and the Inventor of Magick. Rex Ballrianorum Zoroaster, qui primus dicisur aries magicas under the Equator, included between the Two Ninus made War: Suidss also places Zorouster invenisse: It was the fame Zoroafter against whom tween the Tropicks and Polar Circles, and the | Chief of the Migi and Magicians: Several Au-Frigid Zones reach from the Polar Circles to the thors make Zoroslier to have lived more lately, Poles. The Ancients thought the Torrid Zone and place him no higher than the Time of Dawas altogether uninhabitable, but now all the rius Hillaspes; but tis like they might confound World know the Contrary, and that it is ren- leveral corosflers in one, and that this being a dered very temperate by an Intermixture of common Name to leveral Magi, they attribu-Heat in the Day-time, and of Coolness in the red something of what appertained to the first to

I N I

BOOKS Printed for, and Sold by John Nicholson, at the King's-Arms, in Little-Britain; where may be had all forts of School-Books, and most Chymical-Books.

HE Characters or Manners of the Age. By Monf. de la Bruyere, with the Characters of Theophrastus. Translated from the Greek. The Second Edition corrected and enlarged, with a Key in the Margent. Printed for J. Bullord; and fold by J. Nicholfon, and Tho. Newborough.

Index Villaris, or an Alphabetical Register of all Cities, Market-Towns, Parifhes, Villages, the Hundred, Lath, Wapentake, or other Division of each County. The Valuations of the Livings, with the Seats of the Nobility and Gentry; and a Lift of the Lords to this Time. Folio. Price 16 s. The whole Comical Works of Monf. Scarron. Containing his Comical Romance. Compleat in Three Parts. All his Novels and Hiltories. His Letters, Characters, &c. Translated by Mr. Tho. Brown, Mr. Savage, and others. Illustrated with Cutts. In Octavo. Price 6s. The whole Works of the Reverend Divine Dr. Isaac Barrow, in Three Vol. Folio. Price 21. 10 s.

The Hillory of the Old and New Testament; with a large Historical Chronology. Illustrate: with Two Hundred and Forty large Cutts and Five Maps: Printed upon Royal Paper. Folio, Price 31, 10 s.

The history of the Old and New Teltament, &c. Illustrated with Two Hundred and Forty Cutts and Maps. Quarto. 15 s.

The History of the Buccaniers of America, from their first Original down to this Time Writtenin feveral Languages, and now collected into one Volume. Illustrated with Twenty Six Copper Cutts. Price 63.

A Compleat Hiltory of Europe, or a View of the Affairs thereof, Civil and Military, from the Treaty of Nimequen to this present Time, intermixt with above One Hundred Original Papers, as Declarations, Letters, Memoirs, &c. Octavo. Price 6 s.

The new est and best French Grammar. Written for the Use of his Highness the Duke of Glonceffer. By Mr. Boyer, Author of the Royal Dictionary. The Second Edition. Price 2 s.

The Gazetteer or Newsman's Interpreter, being a Geographical Index of all the confiderable Cities, Patriarchships, Bishopricks, Univerlities, Dukedoms, Earldoms, and fuch like: Imperial and Hans Towns, Ports, Forts, Castles, &c. in turope, shewing in what Kingdoms, Provinces and Counties they are; what Prince they are now subject to; upon or nigh what Rivers, Bays, Seas, Mountains, Oc. they stand; their Distances in English Miles, with their Longitude and Latitude, according to the best approved Maps. The Fourth Edition enlarg'd.

A most compleat Compendium of Geography, General and Special, describing all the Empires, Kingdoms and Dominions in the whole World. The Fifth Edition corrected. Price 1 s. 6 d. Both written by Lawrence Echard, M. A.

Mr. William Onehred's Key of the Mathematicks. Newly translated from the best Edition, with Notes rendring it case and intelligible to the less skilful Reader; abfolutely necessary for all Gangers, Surveyors, Gunners, Military Officers, Mariners, &c. Recommended by Mr. Halley, Fellow of the Royal Society. Price 2 s. 6 d.

Tullii Orationes Selectæ in ufum Delphini. In Octavo.

School-Books fold by Tho. Newborough, at the Golden-Ball, in St. Paul's Church-yard.

P. Ovidii Nasonis Fastorum, Libri VI. Cum notis selectissimis Variorum accurante C. Schrevelio. Ostavo.

C. Julii Cæsarisquæ extant Interpretatione & notis Illustravit Joannes Godvinus, Profellor Regis in usum Delphini juxta Editionem Parisiensem. Octavo.

Phodri Fabulæ. Interpretatione & notis illustravit Petrus Danet, in usum serenissimi Delphini. Octavo.

Novum Jesu Christi Testamentum è Schastiano Castalione Latine reditum in usum Scholarum. Editio Novissima prioribus longe immaculatior. Ottavo.

Mythologia Esopica in qua continentur Esopi Fabulæ, Græco Latinæ. 298. Secundum Editionem Gabriela Braëti omnium antiquissimam cum variis Lectionibus in thum Scholæ Etonensis. Octavo.

Electa ex Ovidio Tibullo & Propertio usui Scholæ Etonensis. Oltavo.

Decerpta ex Ovidio, Tibullo, Propertio & Pedone ad Scholarum Grammati-carum usus. Editio secunda. Octavo.

Phrafeologia Generalis, or, a Full, Large and General Phrafe-Book, comprehending whatfoever is necessary and useful in all other Phrafeological Books (hitherto published) and methodically digested for the more speedy and properous Progress of Students in their Humanity Studies. By William Robert-fom, A.M. Ottavo.

Idiomatologia Anglo-Latina, five Dictionarium Idiomaticum Anglo-Latinum: in quo Phrase stam Latinæ quam Anglicanæ Linguæ sibi mutuo respondentes, sub certis quibussam Capitibus secundum Alphabeti ordinem e regione collocantur. In usum tam Pereguinorum, qui Sermonem nostrum Anglicanum, quam Nostratium, qui Latinum Idioma callere student. Sexta Editio. Cui accesse is stinum di Phrasium & Idiomatum additio in Utraque Lingua ad minus trium Millium. Opera, Studio, & Industria Gulielmi Walker, S. T. B. Ottavo.

Some Improvements to the Art of Teaching, especially in the first grounding of a young Scholar in Grammar-Learning, being a short, sure and easie way to bring a Scholar to Variety and Excellency in writing Latin. Written for the Help and Ease of all Ushers of Schools, and for the Use and Profit of all young Scholars. By William Walker, B. D.

L. Annsi Senece Philosophi Sententiæ Morales præcipuæ: Ex omnibus ejus, quæ extant, operibus diligenter excerptæ: In certa capita, seu locos communes summa cura digestæ: In modum brevium orationum variis argumentis ac rationibus amplisscatæ; exemplis preclaris, summam prudentiam, summamque utilitatem large in lectorem sundentibus, ex ipso Authore totidem verbis illustratæ: Omni Christiano homine, tam sene quam juvene dignissimæ. Nune primum in usum Scholarum accommodatæ. Studio & Opera Georgii Sylvani Pannonii Medici. Editio Secunda.

Xenophon de lyri Institutione Libri duo juxta Exemplar Etonense cum Latina

Interpretatione Johannis Leunclavii, Gr. & Lat. Octavo.

Fachard's, Kennet's, Potter's, Codwin's and Brown's Roman and Greek Antiquities.